Arabic, Step by Step, Root by Root

An etymology-driven curriculum, built one word at a time

Adhithya Rajasekaran

This edition compiled incrementally — new chapters added as they are written.

Copyright © Adhithya Rajasekaran. Licensed under Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International (CC BY-SA 4.0). Arabic set in Noto Naskh Arabic (SIL Open Font License).

Preface

This book teaches Arabic one word at a time, and it teaches each word by taking it apart. It is written for someone starting from zero — who may not read a single Arabic letter — so the script is taught inside the word lessons themselves: each word introduces exactly the letters it needs, right-to-left, so you learn to read سلام and learn that it means "peace" in the same few minutes. There is no alphabet drill to sit through first. (A reader who already reads Arabic simply skims the "letters in this word" notes.)

Arabic changes the etymology game entirely. The Romance and Germanic volumes trace words back to Latin or Germanic roots; Arabic doesn't need tracing — its roots are on the surface. Nearly every Arabic word is built from a three-consonant root carrying a core meaning, poured into fixed patterns, so peace, Islam, Muslim, and the greeting salaam are visibly one family (s-l-m), the way this book wishes Latin were. That root system is taught as the organizing engine. A recurring thread is Arabic's long shadow over Spanish, another language in this project: the article al- smuggled into English algebra and alcohol, and the sun-letter assimilation still audible in Spanish azúcar (from as-sukkar) — every such form supplied in full, so no prior knowledge of Spanish is assumed.

How to use this book

Every numbered section is one word, or one small phrase, and takes a few minutes — the length of a queue, an errand, or the walk to the bus. Read them in order the first time through: each section stands on the ones before it, and nothing is used before it has been taught. After that the book becomes reference, and you can open it anywhere.

Say the Arabic out loud wherever you can. The prompts under Your turn are written to be spoken, and saying a word is most of what makes it stay. The questions under Before you move on carry their own answers in brackets: cover them, answer from memory, then look.

Nothing here is gated behind the alphabet. Each lesson introduces exactly the letters and sounds its own word needs, so you are reading real words from the first page rather than drilling a chart. The whole script is gathered in a reference at the back of the book — somewhere to look things up when you are curious, never a chapter to sit through first.

Released under CC BY-SA 4.0 — share it, adapt it, teach from it.

Contents

Preface iii

1 Greetings 1

1.1 سلام (salām) 1
1.2 س ل (sīn, lām) 2
1.3 ا م — سلام (alif, mīm — salām) 4
1.4 marḥaban 5
1.5 ر ح (rāʾ, ḥāʾ) 6
1.6 ثابت (thābit) 7
1.7 ب ت ث — مرحبا (bāʾ, tāʾ, thāʾ ...) 8
1.8 ال (al-) 8
1.9 as-salāmu ᶜalaykum 10
1.10 عيد (ᶜīd) 11
1.11 ع ي (ᶜayn, yāʾ) 12
1.12 كوخ (kūkh) 13
1.13 ك و — عليكم السلام (kāf, wāw ...) 13
1.14 عليكم السلام (as-salāmu ᶜalaykum) 14
1.15 صباح الخير (ṣabāḥ al-khayr) 15
1.16 مساء الخير (masāʾ al-khayr) 16
1.17 شكرا (shukran) 17
1.18 Practice 18

2 Introducing Yourself 21

2.1 اسم (ism) 21
2.2 ي (-ī) 22
2.3 اسمي ... (ismī ...) 23
2.4 أنت (anta / anti) 24
2.5 ما (mā) 25
2.6 ما اسمك؟ (mā ismuka) 25

2.7 تشرفنا (tasharrafnā) 26
2.8 Practice 27
2.9 ثمن (thaman) 29
2.10 ث ت، ن، (nūn, tāʾ, thāʾ) 29
2.11 ي (yāʾ) 31
2.12 مُدَرِّس (mudarris) 33
2.13 ـُ ـَ ـِ (fatḥa, kasra, ḍamma; hamza) 34
2.14 أَهْلًا (ahlan) 36
2.15 ـْ ـّ ـً (sukūn, shadda, fatḥatan) 36
2.16 أ ء، (hamza) 37
2.17 Practice 38

3 How Are You? 41
3.1 حاج (ḥājj) 41
3.2 ج خ، ح، (ḥāʾ, khāʾ, jīm) 42
3.3 ر ك، (kāf, rā) 44
3.4 كيف (kayfa) 46
3.5 حال (ḥāl) 47
3.6 كيف حالك؟ (kayfa ḥāluka / kayfa ḥāluki) 49
3.7 بخير (bi-khayr) 50
3.8 الحمد لله (al-ḥamdu lillāh) 52
3.9 خير (khayr, bi-khayr) 54
3.10 Practice 55

4 Farewells 57
4.1 ع (ᶜayn) 57
4.2 ة ه، (hāʾ, tāʾ marbūṭa) 59
4.3 مع السلامة (maᶜa s-salāma) 61
4.4 مع (maᶜa) 63
4.5 السلامة (as-salāma) 64
4.6 مع السلامة (maᶜa s-salāma) 66
4.7 إلى اللقاء (ilā l-liqāʾ) 68
4.8 Practice 69

5 Yes and No 73
5.1 نعم (naᶜam) 73
5.2 لا (lā) 74

6 Please 77
6.1 من فضلك (min faḍlik) 77

7 Sorry 79
7.1 آسف / آسفة (āsif / āsifa) 79

8 Days of the Week 81
8.1 الإثنين الأحد ... (al-aḥad ...) 81
8.2 السبت الجمعة (al-jumᶜa as-sabt) 83

9 Four Core Colours 85
9.1 أبيض أسود (aswad abyad) 85
9.2 أزرق أحمر (aḥmar azraq) 86

10 Family 89
10.1 أم أب (ab umm) 89
10.2 أخت أخ (akh ukht) 90
10.3 ما اسمك؟ · اسمي ... (mā ismuka? · ismī ...) 91

11 Head and Hand 95
11.1 رأس (raʾs) 95
11.2 يد (yad) 96
11.3 كيف حالك؟ · بخير (kayfa ḥāluka? ...) 97

12 Seasons 99
12.1 شتاء خريف صيف ربيع (rabīᶜ ṣayf ...) 99

13 Water and Bread 101
13.1 خبز ماء (māʾ khubz) 101

14 Months 103
14.1 فبراير يناير ... (yanāyir fabrāyir ...) 103

15 Noon and Midnight 107
15.1 الليل منتصف الظهر (aẓ-ẓuhr muntaṣaf ...) 107

16 Telling Time 109
16.1 الساعة (as-sāᶜa) 109

17 Asking Someone's Age 113
17.1 كم عمرك؟ (kam ᶜumruka) 113
17.2 ب ن ت ث · ي · خير (bāʾ, nūn, tāʾ ...) 115

18 Weather 117
18.1 الطقس (aṭ-ṭaqs) 117

19 Numbers One to Five 119
19.1 واحد ثلاثة اثنان ... (wāḥid ithnān ...) 119

20 Numbers Eleven to Twenty 121
20.1 أحد عشر — عشرون (aḥada ᶜashar — ᶜishrūn) 121

21 Dog and Cat 125
21.1 كلب, قط (kalb, qiṭṭ) 125

22 Green and Yellow 127
22.1 أخضر, أصفر (akhḍar, aṣfar) 127
22.2 رأس · يد · كم ... (raʾs · yad · kam ...) 128

23 You're Welcome 131
23.1 عفوا (ᶜafwan) 131
23.2 شكرا · فضلك من ... (shukran · min ...) 132

24 See You Tomorrow 135
24.1 الغد إلى (ilā l-ghad) 135
24.2 السلامة مع · إلى ... (maᶜa s-salāma ...) 136

25 Day 139
25.1 يوم (yawm) 139

26 Night 141
26.1 ليل (layl) 141

27 Good Night 143
27.1 خير على تصبح (tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr) 143

28 Going and Coming 147
28.1 ذهب (dhahaba) 147
28.2 جاء (jāʾa) 149

29 Saying and Seeing 151
29.1 قال (qāla) 151
29.2 رأى (raʾā) 153

30 Knowing and Eating 155
30.1 عرف (ᶜarafa) 155
30.2 أكل (akala) 157

31 Understanding, Reading, Writing 159
31.1 فهم (fahima) 159
31.2 قرأ (qaraʾa) 161
31.3 سأل (saʾala) 162
31.4 كتب (kataba) 164

32 Taking, Thinking, Helping, Loving 167
32.1 أخذ (ʾakhadha) 167
32.2 فكّر (fakkara) 169
32.3 ساعد (sāᶜada) 170
32.4 أحبّ (ʾaḥabba) 172

33 Asking for a Drink 175
33.1 شاي (shāy) 175
33.2 حليب (ḥalīb) 177
33.3 سكر (sukkar) 178
33.4 قهوة (qahwa) 180
33.5 فضلك من · شكرا ... (min faḍlik ...) 181

34 Asking for Food 183
34.1 ملح (milḥ) 183
34.2 لحم (laḥm) 185
34.3 جبن (jubn) 186
34.4 طعام (ṭaᶜām) 188
34.5 عفوا · الغد إلى ... (ᶜafwan · ilā ...) 189

35 The People You Introduce 193
35.1 جار (jār) 193
35.2 بنت ابن (ibn, bint) 195
35.3 صديق (ṣadīq) 196
35.4 تشرفنا · اسمك؟ ما (mā ismuka? ...) 198

36 Cups, Plates, and More Than One 201
36.1 زيت (zayt) 201
36.2 كوب (kūb) 203
36.3 طبق (ṭabaq) 204
36.4 ملعقة (milᶜaqa) 206
36.5 يد · أب · أخت (yad · ab · ukht) 208

37 The Tense That Was Missing 211
37.1 أكتب (aktub) 211
37.2 أفهم لا (lā afham) 212
37.3 أكتب · أفهم لا (aktub · lā afham) 214

38 Two at Once 215
38.1 و (wa-) 215
38.2 أو (aw) 216
38.3 لكن (lākin) 218
38.4 حسنًا (ḥasanan) 219
38.5 و · أو · لكن (wa- · aw · lākin) 220
38.6 كيف؟ حالك · بخير … (kayfa ḥāluka? …) 221

39 Denying, and Asking 223
39.1 ليس (laysa) 223
39.2 ما (mā) 224
39.3 لا … ولا … (lā … wa-lā …) 226
39.4 هل (hal) 227
39.5 ليس · ما · هل (laysa · mā · hal) 228
39.6 السلامة مع · إلى … (maᶜa s-salāma …) 229

40 Why, That, and When 231
40.1 لماذا؟ (limādhā?) 231
40.2 لأن (li-anna) 232
40.3 أنّ (anna) 234
40.4 حينما (ḥīnamā) 235
40.5 لماذا · لأن · أنّ … (limādhā …) 236
40.6 ملعقة · إلى الغد … (milᶜaqa · ilā …) 237

41 Calling Somebody, and Asking Again 239
41.1 يا (yā) 239
41.2 فضلك من كرّر (karrir min faḍlik) 240
41.3 يا · فضلك من كرّر (yā · karrir min …) 242
41.4 ب ن ت · ي · ـَ … (bāʾ, nūn, tāʾ …) 243

42 Reading — Words, Lines, and a First Encounter 245
42.1 (reading) 245
42.2 (reading) 246
42.3 (reading) 247

43 Writing — My Own Line 249
43.1 (my own line) 249

44 Writing — With A Clock 251
44.1 (with a clock) 251

45 Writing — Four Lines, And The Joiner That Is Not A Word 253
45.1 و (wa) 253
45.2 خير · ء · من كرّر … (khayr · hamza …) 254

46 Letters From Your First Greetings 257
46.1 ش (shīn) 257
46.2 ص (ṣād) 259
46.3 د (dāl) 260

47 Letters From Goodbyes and Pardons 263
47.1 إ (alif with hamza below) 263
47.2 ى (alif maqṣūra) 264
47.3 ف (fāʾ) 266
47.4 ق (qāf) 267

48 Letters From Please, Sorry and Tomorrow 271
48.1 ض (ḍād) 271
48.2 آ (alif madda) 273
48.3 ز (zāy) 274
48.4 غ (ghayn) 275

49 Letters From Food, Noon and Going 279
49.1 ط (ṭāʾ) 279
49.2 ظ (ẓāʾ) 281
49.3 ذ (dhāl) 282
49.4 (fourteen letters) 284
49.5 (fourteen letters) 285

50 Eye, Ear, Nose, Mouth, Tooth 287
50.1 عين (ᶜayn) 287
50.2 أذن (udhun) 288
50.3 أنف (anf) 289
50.4 فم (fam) 289
50.5 سن (sinn) 290

51 Hair, Foot, Finger, Shoulder, Neck 293
51.1 شعر (shaᶜr) 293
51.2 قدم (qadam) 294
51.3 إصبع (iṣbaᶜ) 295
51.4 كتف (katif) 295
51.5 رقبة (raqaba) 296

52 Face, Blood, Knee, Back, Heart 299
52.1 وجه (wajh) 299
52.2 دم (dam) 300
52.3 ركبة (rukba) 301
52.4 ظهر (ẓahr) 301
52.5 قلب (qalb) 302

53 Fever, Hospital, Ill, Pain, Medicine 305
53.1 حمى (ḥummā) 305
53.2 مستشفى (mustashfā) 306
53.3 مريض (marīḍ) 307
53.4 ألم (alam) 307
53.5 دواء (dawāʾ) 308

54 Hunger, Happy, Sad, Doctor, Grandfather 311
54.1 جوع (jūᶜ) 311
54.2 سعيد (saᶜīd) 312
54.3 حزين (ḥazīn) 313
54.4 طبيب (ṭabīb) 313
54.5 جد (jadd) 314

55 Grandmother, Uncle, Uncle, Husband, Wife 317
55.1 جدة (jadda) 317
55.2 عم (ᶜamm) 318
55.3 خال (khāl) 319
55.4 زوج (zawj) 320
55.5 زوجة (zawja) 320

56 Child, Boy, Man, Woman, Guest 323
56.1 طفل (ṭifl) 323
56.2 ولد (walad) 324
56.3 رجل (rajul) 325
56.4 امرأة (imraʾa) 325

56.5 ضيف (ḍayf) 326

57 Teacher, To drink, To hear, To sit, To sleep 329
57.1 معلم (mu^{c}allim) 329
57.2 شرب (shariba) 330
57.3 سمع (sami^{c}a) 331
57.4 جلس (jalasa) 331
57.5 نام (nāma) 332

58 To stand up, To walk, To run, To play, To buy 335
58.1 قام (qāma) 335
58.2 مشى (mashā) 336
58.3 ركض (rakaḍa) 337
58.4 لعب (la^{c}iba) 337
58.5 اشترى (ishtarā) 338

59 To sell, To give, To put, To open, To close 341
59.1 باع (bā^{c}a) 341
59.2 أعطى (a^{c}ṭā) 342
59.3 وضع (waḍa^{c}a) 343
59.4 فتح (fataḥa) 343
59.5 أغلق (aghlaqa) 344

60 To cook, To wash, To laugh, To cry, To dance 347
60.1 طبخ (ṭabakha) 347
60.2 غسل (ghasala) 348
60.3 ضحك (ḍaḥika) 349
60.4 بكى (bakā) 349
60.5 رقص (raqaṣa) 350

61 To learn, To forget, To want, To send, To cut 353
61.1 تعلم (ta^{c}allama) 353
61.2 نسي (nasiya) 354
61.3 أراد (arāda) 355
61.4 أرسل (arsala) 356
61.5 قطع (qaṭa^{c}a) 356

62 To stop, To look for, To find, To wear, To leave 359
62.1 وقف (waqafa) 359
62.2 بحث (baḥatha) 360
62.3 وجد (wajada) 361

62.4 لبس (labisa) 361
62.5 ترك (taraka) 362

63 To throw, To fly, To swim, To make, To enter 365
63.1 رمى (ramā) 365
63.2 طار (ṭāra) 366
63.3 سبح (sabaḥa) 367
63.4 صنع (ṣana^{c}a) 367
63.5 دخل (dakhala) 368

64 To go out, To work, To live, To wait, To come back 371
64.1 خرج (kharaja) 371
64.2 عمل (^{c}amila) 372
64.3 سكن (sakana) 373
64.4 انتظر (intaẓara) 373
64.5 رجع (raja^{c}a) 374

65 To speak, To carry, To win, To go down, Fish 377
65.1 تكلم (takallama) 377
65.2 حمل (ḥamala) 378
65.3 فاز (fāza) 379
65.4 نزل (nazala) 379
65.5 سمك (samak) 380

66 Rice, Fruit, Apple, Bananas, Potatoes 383
66.1 أرز (aruzz) 383
66.2 فاكهة (fākiha) 384
66.3 تفاحة (tuffāḥa) 385
66.4 موز (mawz) 385
66.5 بطاطس (baṭāṭis) 386

67 Tomatoes, Carrots, Butter, Honey, Grapes 389
67.1 طماطم (ṭamāṭim) 389
67.2 جزر (jazar) 390
67.3 زبدة (zubda) 391
67.4 عسل (^{c}asal) 391
67.5 عنب (^{c}inab) 392

68 Oranges, Lemons, Eggs, Onions, Breakfast 395
68.1 برتقال (burtuqāl) 395
68.2 ليمون (laymūn) 396
68.3 بيض (bayḍ) 397
68.4 بصل (baṣal) 397
68.5 فطور (fuṭūr) 398

69 Juice, Chicken, House, Room, Window 401
69.1 عصير (ᶜaṣīr) 401
69.2 دجاج (dajāj) 402
69.3 منزل (manzil) 403
69.4 غرفة (ghurfa) 403
69.5 نافذة (nāfidha) 404

70 Chair, Table, Wall, Bed, Floor 407
70.1 كرسي (kursī) 407
70.2 طاولة (ṭāwila) 408
70.3 جدار (jidār) 409
70.4 سرير (sarīr) 409
70.5 أرض (arḍ) 410

71 Mirror, Lamp, Key, Plate, Knife 413
71.1 مرآة (mirʾāh) 413
71.2 مصباح (miṣbāḥ) 414
71.3 مفتاح (miftāḥ) 415
71.4 صحن (ṣaḥn) 415
71.5 سكين (sikkīn) 416

72 Fork, Bottle, Door, Kitchen, Garden 419
72.1 شوكة (shawka) 419
72.2 زجاجة (zujāja) 420
72.3 باب (bāb) 421
72.4 مطبخ (maṭbakh) 421
72.5 حديقة (ḥadīqa) 422

73 Book, Notebook, Pen, Sheet of paper, School 425
73.1 كتاب (kitāb) 425
73.2 دفتر (daftar) 426
73.3 قلم (qalam) 427
73.4 ورقة (waraqa) 428

73.5 مدرسة (madrasa) 428

74 Bag, Money, Map, Lesson, Answer 431
74.1 حقيبة (ḥaqība) 431
74.2 مال (māl) 432
74.3 خريطة (kharīṭa) 433
74.4 درس (dars) 433
74.5 جواب (jawāb) 434
74.6 (dialogue) 435
74.7 (dialogue) 436

75 Word, Picture, Tree, Flower, Mountain 439
75.1 كلمة (kalima) 439
75.2 صورة (ṣūra) 440
75.3 شجرة (shajara) 441
75.4 زهرة (zahra) 441
75.5 جبل (jabal) 442

76 Forest, River, Stone, Sand, Field 445
76.1 غابة (ghāba) 445
76.2 نهر (nahr) 446
76.3 حجر (ḥajar) 447
76.4 رمل (raml) 447
76.5 حقل (ḥaql) 448

77 Star, Cloud, Sun, Moon, Sea 451
77.1 نجم (najm) 451
77.2 سحابة (saḥāba) 452
77.3 شمس (shams) 453
77.4 قمر (qamar) 453
77.5 بحر (baḥr) 454

78 Fire, Snow, Wind, Sky, Horse 457
78.1 نار (nār) 457
78.2 ثلج (thalj) 458
78.3 ريح (rīḥ) 459
78.4 سماء (samāʾ) 459
78.5 حصان (ḥiṣān) 460

79 Cow, Goat, Sheep, Mouse, Lion 463
79.1 بقرة (baqara) 463
79.2 ماعز (mā^{c}iz) 464
79.3 خروف (kharūf) 465
79.4 فأر (fa^{ɔ}r) 465
79.5 أسد (asad) 466

80 Tiger, Elephant, Monkey, Snake, Bear 469
80.1 نمر (namir) 469
80.2 فيل (fīl) 470
80.3 قرد (qird) 471
80.4 ثعبان (thu^{c}bān) 471
80.5 دب (dubb) 472

81 Camel, Donkey, Hen, Big, Small 475
81.1 جمل (jamal) 475
81.2 حمار (ḥimār) 476
81.3 دجاجة (dajāja) 477
81.4 كبير (kabīr) 477
81.5 صغير (ṣaghīr) 478

82 New, Old, Good, Long, Short 481
82.1 جديد (jadīd) 481
82.2 قديم (qadīm) 482
82.3 جيد (jayyid) 483
82.4 طويل (ṭawīl) 483
82.5 قصير (qaṣīr) 484

83 Slow, Fast, Easy, Difficult, Cheap 487
83.1 بطيء (baṭī^{ɔ}) 487
83.2 سريع (sarī^{c}) 488
83.3 سهل (sahl) 489
83.4 صعب (ṣa^{c}b) 489
83.5 رخيص (rakhīṣ) 490

84 Empty, Rich, Poor, Clean, Dirty 493
84.1 فارغ (fārigh) 493
84.2 غني (ghanī) 494
84.3 فقير (faqīr) 495
84.4 نظيف (naẓīf) 495

84.5 وسخ (wasikh) 496

85 Light, Heavy, Correct, Mistake, Important 499
85.1 خفيف (khafīf) 499
85.2 ثقيل (thaqīl) 500
85.3 صحيح (ṣaḥīḥ) 501
85.4 خطأ (khaṭaʾ) 501
85.5 مهم (muhimm) 502

86 Beautiful, Brown, Week, Month, Minute 505
86.1 جميل (jamīl) 505
86.2 بني (bunnī) 506
86.3 أسبوع (usbūᶜ) 507
86.4 شهر (shahr) 507
86.5 دقيقة (daqīqa) 508

87 Yesterday, Tomorrow, Now, Sometimes, Before 511
87.1 أمس (ams) 511
87.2 غدا (ghadan) 512
87.3 الآن (al-ān) 513
87.4 أحيانا (aḥyānan) 513
87.5 قبل (qabla) 514

88 After, Time, Far, Near, Inside 517
88.1 بعد (baᶜda) 517
88.2 وقت (waqt) 518
88.3 بعيد (baᶜīd) 519
88.4 قريب (qarīb) 519
88.5 داخل (dākhil) 520

89 Outside, Above, Below, In front of, Behind 523
89.1 خارج (khārij) 523
89.2 فوق (fawqa) 524
89.3 تحت (taḥta) 525
89.4 أمام (amāma) 525
89.5 وراء (warāʾa) 526

90 Here, There, Right, Shop, Street 529
90.1 هنا (hunā) 529
90.2 هناك (hunāka) 530
90.3 يمين (yamīn) 531

90.4 متجر (matjar) 531
90.5 شارع (shāriᶜ) 532

91 Road, Bank, Station, Car, Bus 535
91.1 طريق (ṭarīq) 535
91.2 بنك (bank) 536
91.3 محطة (maḥaṭṭa) 537
91.4 سيارة (sayyāra) 537
91.5 حافلة (ḥāfila) 538

92 Train, Bridge, Mosque, Hotel, Office 541
92.1 قطار (qiṭār) 541
92.2 جسر (jisr) 542
92.3 مسجد (masjid) 543
92.4 فندق (funduq) 544
92.5 مكتب (maktab) 544

93 Police, Market, Village, City, Restaurant 547
93.1 شرطة (shurṭa) 547
93.2 سوق (sūq) 548
93.3 قرية (qarya) 549
93.4 مدينة (madīna) 549
93.5 مطعم (maṭᶜam) 550

94 Clothes, Shirt, Dress, Trousers, Sock 553
94.1 ملابس (malābis) 553
94.2 قميص (qamīṣ) 554
94.3 فستان (fustān) 555
94.4 سروال (sirwāl) 555
94.5 جورب (jawrab) 556

95 Pocket, Ring, Hat, Shoe, Coat 559
95.1 جيب (jayb) 559
95.2 خاتم (khātam) 560
95.3 قبعة (qubbaᶜa) 561
95.4 حذاء (ḥidhāʾ) 561
95.5 معطف (miᶜṭaf) 562

96 Belt, Six, Seven, Eight, Nine 565
96.1 حزام (ḥizām) 565
96.2 ستة (sitta) 566
96.3 سبعة (sabᶜa) 567
96.4 ثمانية (thamāniya) 567
96.5 تسعة (tisᶜa) 568

97 Ten, Thirty, Forty, Fifty, Thousand 571
97.1 عشرة (ᶜashara) 571
97.2 ثلاثون (thalāthūn) 572
97.3 أربعون (arbaᶜūn) 573
97.4 خمسون (khamsūn) 573
97.5 ألف (alf) 574

98 Colour, Song, Journey, Holiday, Love 577
98.1 لون (lawn) 577
98.2 أغنية (ughniya) 578
98.3 رحلة (riḥla) 579
98.4 عطلة (ᶜuṭla) 579
98.5 حب (ḥubb) 580

99 Music, News, Country, Language, Story 583
99.1 موسيقى (mūsīqā) 583
99.2 أخبار (akhbār) 584
99.3 بلد (balad) 585
99.4 لغة (lugha) 585
99.5 قصة (qiṣṣa) 586
99.6 (dialogue) 587
99.7 (dialogue) 588

100 Lift, Corridor, Public square, Airport, Port 591
100.1 مصعد (miṣᶜad) 591
100.2 ممر (mamarr) 592
100.3 ميدان (maydān) 593
100.4 مطار (maṭār) 594
100.5 ميناء (mīnāʾ) 595

101 Neighbourhood, Alley, Building, Bathroom, Balcony 597
101.1 حي (ḥayy) 597
101.2 زقاق (zuqāq) 598

101.3 مبنى (mabnā) 599
101.4 حمام (ḥammām) 600
101.5 شرفة (shurfa) 600

102 Roof, Stairs, Ceiling, Behind, Between 603
102.1 سطح (saṭḥ) 603
102.2 درج (daraj) 604
102.3 سقف (saqf) 605
102.4 خلف (khalfa) 606
102.5 بين (bayna) 606

103 Beside, Left, Middle, Corner, North 609
103.1 بجانب (bi-jānib) 609
103.2 يسار (yasār) 610
103.3 وسط (wasaṭ) 611
103.4 زاوية (zāwiya) 611
103.5 شمال (shamāl) 612

104 South, East, West, Place, Address 615
104.1 جنوب (janūb) 615
104.2 شرق (sharq) 616
104.3 غرب (gharb) 617
104.4 مكان (makān) 617
104.5 عنوان (ᶜunwān) 618

105 Entrance, Exit, Straight ahead, Around, At 621
105.1 مدخل (madkhal) 621
105.2 مخرج (makhraj) 622
105.3 مستقيم (mustaqīm) 623
105.4 حول (ḥawla) 623
105.5 عند (ᶜinda) 624

106 Possibility, Authority, Success, Mastery, Ability 627
106.1 إمكانية (imkāniyya) 627
106.2 سلطة (sulṭa) 628
106.3 نجاح (najāḥ) 629
106.4 إتقان (itqān) 630
106.5 قدرة (qudra) 630

107 Competence, Certificate, Ownership, To be able to, To be able to 633
107.1 كفاءة (kafāʾa) 633
107.2 شهادة (shahāda) 634
107.3 ملكية (milkiyya) 635
107.4 استطاع (istaṭāᶜa) 636
107.5 قدر (qadara) 636

108 It is possible, With, Strength, Right, Owner 639
108.1 يمكن (yumkin) 639
108.2 لدى (ladā) 640
108.3 قوة (quwwa) 641
108.4 حق (ḥaqq) 641
108.5 مالك (mālik) 642

109 Wealth, Experience, Habit, Skill, Art 645
109.1 ثروة (tharwa) 645
109.2 خبرة (khibra) 646
109.3 عادة (ᶜāda) 647
109.4 مهارة (mahāra) 647
109.5 فن (fann) 648
109.6 (dialogue) 649
109.7 (dialogue) 650

110 Tool, To own, To lose, To keep, Talent 653
110.1 أداة (adāt) 653
110.2 ملك (malaka) 654
110.3 خسر (khasira) 655
110.4 حفظ (ḥafiẓa) 655
110.5 موهبة (mawhiba) 656

111 To long for, Expectation, Enthusiasm, Wish, Preference 659
111.1 اشتاق (ishtāqa) 659
111.2 توقع (tawaqquᶜ) 660
111.3 حماس (ḥamās) 661
111.4 أمنية (umniyya) 662
111.5 تفضيل (tafḍīl) 662

112 Longing, Ambition, Purpose, Project, Suggestion 665
112.1 شوق (shawq) 665
112.2 طموح (ṭumūḥ) 666
112.3 غاية (ghāya) 667
112.4 مشروع (mashrū^{c}) 668
112.5 اقتراح (iqtirāḥ) 668

113 Interest, To hate, Desire, Dream, Hope 671
113.1 اهتمام (ihtimām) 671
113.2 كره (kariha) 672
113.3 رغبة (raghba) 673
113.4 حلم (ḥulm) 673
113.5 أمل (amal) 674

114 Goal, Plan, Need, To need, To wish 677
114.1 هدف (hadaf) 677
114.2 خطة (khuṭṭa) 678
114.3 حاجة (ḥāja) 679
114.4 احتاج (iḥtāja) 679
114.5 تمنى (tamannā) 680

115 Decision, To choose, To prefer, To ask for, Intention 683
115.1 قرار (qarār) 683
115.2 اختار (ikhtāra) 684
115.3 فضل (faḍḍala) 685
115.4 طلب (ṭalaba) 685
115.5 نية (niyya) 686

116 Jug, Frying pan, Oven, Fan, Computer 689
116.1 إبريق (ibrīq) 689
116.2 مقلاة (miqlāh) 690
116.3 فرن (furn) 691
116.4 مروحة (mirwaḥa) 691
116.5 حاسوب (ḥāsūb) 692

117 Television, Newspaper, Magazine, Letter, Envelope 695
117.1 تلفاز (tilfāz) 695
117.2 جريدة (jarīda) 696
117.3 مجلة (majalla) 697
117.4 رسالة (risāla) 698

117.5 ظرف (ẓarf) 698

118 Present, Ticket, Passport, Wallet, Umbrella 701
118.1 هدية (hadiyya) 701
118.2 تذكرة (tadhkira) 702
118.3 جواز (jawāz) 703
118.4 محفظة (miḥfaẓa) 704
118.5 مظلة (miẓalla) 704

119 Glove, Scarf, Lunch, Dinner, Vinegar 707
119.1 قفاز (quffāz) 707
119.2 وشاح (wishāḥ) 708
119.3 غداء (ghadāʾ) 709
119.4 عشاء (ᶜashāʾ) 709
119.5 خل (khall) 710
119.6 (dialogue) 711
119.7 (dialogue) 712

120 Jam, Pomegranate, Strawberries, Lettuce, Aubergine 713
120.1 مربى (murabbā) 713
120.2 رمان (rummān) 714
120.3 فراولة (farāwila) 715
120.4 خس (khass) 715
120.5 باذنجان (bādhinjān) 716

121 Cabbage, Mint, Parsley, Thyme, Cumin 719
121.1 ملفوف (malfūf) 719
121.2 نعناع (naᶜnāᶜ) 720
121.3 بقدونس (baqdūnis) 721
121.4 زعتر (zaᶜtar) 722
121.5 كمون (kammūn) 722

122 Cupboard, Comb, Soap, Towel, Mattress 725
122.1 خزانة (khizāna) 725
122.2 مشط (mushṭ) 726
122.3 صابون (ṣābūn) 727
122.4 منشفة (minshafa) 728
122.5 فراش (firāsh) 728

123 Blanket, Pillow, Ladder, Stove, Vessel 731
123.1 بطانية (baṭṭāniyya) 731
123.2 وسادة (wisāda) 732
123.3 سلم (sullam) 733
123.4 موقد (mawqid) 733
123.5 إناء (ināʾ) 734

124 Scissors, Needle, Thread, Button, Nail 737
124.1 مقص (miqaṣṣ) 737
124.2 إبرة (ibra) 738
124.3 خيط (khayṭ) 739
124.4 زر (zirr) 739
124.5 مسمار (mismār) 740

125 Bucket, Broom, Rubbish, Basket, Box 743
125.1 دلو (dalw) 743
125.2 مكنسة (miknasa) 744
125.3 قمامة (qumāma) 745
125.4 سلة (salla) 745
125.5 صندوق (ṣundūq) 746

126 Candle, Carpet, Doll, Toy, Fridge 749
126.1 شمعة (shamᶜa) 749
126.2 سجادة (sajjāda) 750
126.3 دمية (dumya) 751
126.4 لعبة (luᶜba) 751
126.5 ثلاجة (thallāja) 752

127 Curtain, Lock, Handkerchief, Bracelet, Earring 755
127.1 ستارة (sitāra) 755
127.2 قفل (qufl) 756
127.3 منديل (mindīl) 757
127.4 سوار (siwār) 758
127.5 قرط (qurṭ) 758

128 Glasses, Pepper, Wheat, Lentils, Chickpeas 761
128.1 نظارة (naẓẓāra) 761
128.2 فلفل (filfil) 762
128.3 قمح (qamḥ) 763
128.4 عدس (ᶜadas) 764

128.5 حمص (ḥummuṣ) 764

129 Beans, Garlic, Cucumber, Apples, Dates 767
129.1 فول (fūl) 767
129.2 ثوم (thūm) 768
129.3 خيار (khiyār) 769
129.4 تفاح (tuffāḥ) 769
129.5 تمر (tamr) 770
129.6 (dialogue) 771
129.7 (dialogue) 772

130 Figs, Watermelon, Apricots, Soup, Cake 775
130.1 تين (tīn) 775
130.2 بطيخ (biṭṭīkh) 776
130.3 مشمش (mishmish) 777
130.4 حساء (ḥasāʾ) 778
130.5 كعكة (kaᶜka) 778

131 Grass, Seed, Root, Branch, Island 781
131.1 عشب (ᶜushb) 781
131.2 بذرة (bidhra) 782
131.3 جذر (jidhr) 783
131.4 غصن (ghuṣn) 783
131.5 جزيرة (jazīra) 784

132 Coast, Waterfall, Cave, Valley, Hill 787
132.1 ساحل (sāḥil) 787
132.2 شلال (shallāl) 788
132.3 كهف (kahf) 789
132.4 وادي (wādī) 789
132.5 تل (tall) 790

133 Desert, Lake, Lightning, Thunder, Storm 793
133.1 صحراء (ṣaḥrāʾ) 793
133.2 بحيرة (buḥayra) 794
133.3 برق (barq) 795
133.4 رعد (raᶜd) 795
133.5 عاصفة (ᶜāṣifa) 796

134 Light, Shade, Darkness, Cloud, Rabbit 799
134.1 ضوء (ḍawʾ) 799
134.2 ظل (ẓill) 800
134.3 ظلام (ẓalām) 801
134.4 غيمة (ghayma) 801
134.5 أرنب (arnab) 802

135 Gazelle, Fox, Pigeon, Duck, Turtle 805
135.1 غزال (ghazāl) 805
135.2 ثعلب (thaᶜlab) 806
135.3 حمامة (ḥamāma) 807
135.4 بطة (baṭṭa) 807
135.5 سلحفاة (sulaḥfāh) 808

136 Crocodile, Mosquito, Fly, Bee, Butterfly 811
136.1 تمساح (timsāḥ) 811
136.2 بعوضة (baᶜūḍa) 812
136.3 ذبابة (dhubāba) 813
136.4 نحلة (naḥla) 813
136.5 فراشة (farāsha) 814

137 Spider, Rooster, Cat, Owl, Crow 817
137.1 عنكبوت (ᶜankabūt) 817
137.2 ديك (dīk) 818
137.3 قطة (qiṭṭa) 819
137.4 بومة (būma) 820
137.5 غراب (ghurāb) 820

138 Eagle, Frog, Cheek, Forehead, Eyebrow 823
138.1 نسر (nasr) 823
138.2 ضفدع (ḍifdaᶜ) 824
138.3 خد (khadd) 825
138.4 جبين (jabīn) 826
138.5 حاجب (ḥājib) 826

139 Beard, Moustache, Chest, Waist, Elbow 829
139.1 لحية (liḥya) 829
139.2 شارب (shārib) 830
139.3 صدر (ṣadr) 831
139.4 خصر (khaṣr) 831

139.5 مرفق (mirfaq) 832
139.6 (dialogue) 833
139.7 (dialogue) 834

140 Palm, Fingernail, Brain, Heel, Lip 835
140.1 كف (kaff) 835
140.2 ظفر (ẓufr) 836
140.3 دماغ (dimāgh) 837
140.4 كعب (ka^{c}b) 837
140.5 شفة (shafa) 838

141 Tongue, Belly, Leg, Skin, Bone 841
141.1 لسان (lisān) 841
141.2 بطن (baṭn) 842
141.3 ساق (sāq) 843
141.4 جلد (jild) 843
141.5 عظم (^{c}aẓm) 844

142 Bicycle, Ship, Traveller, Factory, Square 847
142.1 دراجة (darrāja) 847
142.2 سفينة (safīna) 848
142.3 مسافر (musāfir) 849
142.4 مصنع (maṣna^{c}) 850
142.5 ساحة (sāḥa) 850

143 Eraser, Class, Student, Job, Salary 853
143.1 ممحاة (mimḥāh) 853
143.2 صف (ṣaff) 854
143.3 طالب (ṭālib) 855
143.4 وظيفة (waẓīfa) 855
143.5 راتب (rātib) 856

144 Tailor, Carpenter, Baker, Farmer, University 859
144.1 خياط (khayyāṭ) 859
144.2 نجار (najjār) 860
144.3 خباز (khabbāz) 861
144.4 مزارع (muzāri^{c}) 861
144.5 جامعة (jāmi^{c}a) 862

145 Salty, Luxurious, Simple, Comfortable, Famous 865
145.1 مالح (māliḥ) 865
145.2 فخم (fakhm) 866
145.3 بسيط (basīṭ) 867
145.4 مريح (murīḥ) 867
145.5 مشهور (mashhūr) 868

146 Useful, Dangerous, Safe, Open, Closed 871
146.1 مفيد (mufīd) 871
146.2 خطير (khaṭīr) 872
146.3 آمن (āmin) 873
146.4 مفتوح (maftūḥ) 873
146.5 مغلق (mughlaq) 874

147 Busy, Tired, Active, Kind, Angry 877
147.1 مشغول (mashghūl) 877
147.2 متعب (mut^{c}ab) 878
147.3 نشيط (nashīṭ) 879
147.4 لطيف (laṭīf) 880
147.5 غاضب (ghāḍib) 880
147.6 (dialogue) 881
147.7 (dialogue) 882

148 Pleased, Spacious, Deep, Round, Sharp 883
148.1 مسرور (masrūr) 883
148.2 واسع (wāsi^{c}) 884
148.3 عميق (^{c}amīq) 885
148.4 مستدير (mustadīr) 886
148.5 حاد (ḥādd) 886

149 Dark, Colourful, Elegant, Strange, Enjoyable 889
149.1 مظلم (muẓlim) 889
149.2 ملون (mulawwan) 890
149.3 أنيق (anīq) 891
149.4 غريب (gharīb) 891
149.5 ممتع (mumti^{c}) 892

150 Delicious, Low, High, Wide, Narrow 895
150.1 لذيذ (ladhīdh) 895
150.2 منخفض (munkhafiḍ) 896

150.3 مرتفع (murtafiᶜ) 897
150.4 عريض (ᶜarīḍ) 897
150.5 ضيق (ḍayyiq) 898

151 Thin, Fat, Wet, Dry, Dirty 901
151.1 نحيف (naḥīf) 901
151.2 سمين (samīn) 902
151.3 مبلل (muballal) 903
151.4 جاف (jāff) 903
151.5 متسخ (mutassikh) 904

152 Sour, Bitter, Soft, Hard, Clever 907
152.1 حامض (ḥāmiḍ) 907
152.2 مر (murr) 908
152.3 ناعم (nāᶜim) 909
152.4 صلب (ṣulb) 910
152.5 ذكي (dhakī) 910

153 Lazy, Brave, Thirsty, Fresh, Ripe 913
153.1 كسول (kasūl) 913
153.2 شجاع (shujāᶜ) 914
153.3 عطشان (ᶜaṭshān) 915
153.4 طازج (ṭāzaj) 915
153.5 ناضج (nāḍij) 916

154 Full, Young, Old, Strong, Weak 919
154.1 مليء (malīʾ) 919
154.2 شاب (shābb) 920
154.3 عجوز (ᶜajūz) 921
154.4 قوي (qawī) 922
154.5 ضعيف (ḍaᶜīf) 922

155 Necessary, Ugly, Precious, Hot, Crowded 925
155.1 ضروري (ḍarūrī) 925
155.2 قبيح (qabīḥ) 926
155.3 ثمين (thamīn) 927
155.4 ساخن (sākhin) 927
155.5 مزدحم (muzdaḥim) 928
155.6 (dialogue) 929
155.7 (dialogue) 930

156 Recently, Already, Last, Once, To Spend (Time) 931
156.1 حديثا (ḥadīthan) 931
156.2 بالفعل (bi-l-fiᶜl) 932
156.3 الماضي (al-māḍī) 933
156.4 مرة ذات (dhāta marra) 934
156.5 قضى (qaḍā) 935

157 Next, From Now On, a Programme, To Decide, To Intend 937
157.1 القادم (al-qādim) 937
157.2 فصاعدا الآن من (min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan) 938
157.3 برنامج (barnāmaj) 939
157.4 قرر (qarrara) 940
157.5 نوى (nawā) 941

158 A Timetable, a Sign, the Rent, an Advert, a Receipt 943
158.1 جدول (jadwal) 943
158.2 لافتة (lāfita) 944
158.3 إيجار (ījār) 945
158.4 إعلان (iᶜlān) 946
158.5 إيصال (īṣāl) 947
158.6 (dialogue) 947
158.7 (dialogue) 948

159 To wake up, To go up, To arrive, To travel, To cross 949
159.1 استيقظ (istayqaẓa) 949
159.2 صعد (ṣaᶜida) 950
159.3 وصل (waṣala) 951
159.4 سافر (sāfara) 951
159.5 عبر (ᶜabara) 952

160 To taste, To pour, To switch off, To fill, To bathe 955
160.1 ذاق (dhāqa) 955
160.2 صب (ṣabba) 956
160.3 أطفأ (aṭfaʾa) 957
160.4 ملأ (malaʾa) 957
160.5 استحم (istaḥamma) 958

161 To sneeze, To breathe, To break, To rest, To feel 961 161.1 عطس (^{c}aṭasa) 961
161.2 تنفس (tanaffasa) 962
161.3 كسر (kasara) 963
161.4 استراح (istarāḥa) 963
161.5 أحس (aḥassa) 964

162 To print, To copy, To move, To register, To employ 967
162.1 طبع (ṭaba^{c}a) 967
162.2 نسخ (nasakha) 968
162.3 انتقل (intaqala) 969
162.4 سجل (sajjala) 969
162.5 وظف (waẓẓafa) 970

163 To celebrate, To invite, To marry, To shake hands with, To hug 973
163.1 احتفل (iḥtafala) 973
163.2 دعا (da^{c}ā) 974
163.3 تزوج (tazawwaja) 975
163.4 صافح (ṣāfaḥa) 976
163.5 عانق (^{c}ānaqa) 976

164 To shout, To pray, To joke, To believe, To remember 979
164.1 صرخ (ṣarakha) 979
164.2 صلى (ṣallā) 980
164.3 مزح (mazaḥa) 981
164.4 اعتقد (i^{c}taqada) 981
164.5 تذكر (tadhakkara) 982

165 To delete, To begin, To end, To continue, To finish 985
165.1 حذف (ḥadhafa) 985
165.2 بدأ (bada^{ɔ}a) 986
165.3 انتهى (intahā) 987
165.4 استمر (istamarra) 987
165.5 أنهى (anhā) 988

166 To hunt, To build, To knock down, To paint, To hide 991
166.1 صاد (ṣāda) 991
166.2 بنى (banā) 992
166.3 هدم (hadama) 993

166.4 دهن (dahana) 994
166.5 خبأ (khabbaʾa) 994

167 To trip, To slip, To rescue, To escape, To disappear 997
167.1 تعثر (taᶜaththara) 997
167.2 انزلق (inzalaqa) 998
167.3 أنقذ (anqadha) 999
167.4 هرب (haraba) 999
167.5 اختفى (ikhtafā) 1000
167.6 (dialogue) 1001
167.7 (dialogue) 1002

168 Arm, Body, Ankle, Throat, Headache 1003
168.1 ذراع (dhirāᶜ) 1003
168.2 جسم (jism) 1004
168.3 كاحل (kāḥil) 1005
168.4 حلق (ḥalq) 1006
168.5 صداع (ṣudāᶜ) 1006

169 Mood, Exercise, Fitness, Injury, Pill 1009
169.1 مزاج (mizāj) 1009
169.2 تمرين (tamrīn) 1010
169.3 لياقة (liyāqa) 1011
169.4 إصابة (iṣāba) 1011
169.5 حبة (ḥabba) 1012

170 Early, Daily, Delay, Late, Never 1015
170.1 مبكرا (mubakkiran) 1015
170.2 يوميا (yawmiyyan) 1016
170.3 تأخير (taʾkhīr) 1017
170.4 متأخرا (mutaʾakhkhiran) 1017
170.5 أبدا (abadan) 1018

171 Future, Period, Beginning, Rarely, Often 1021
171.1 مستقبل (mustaqbal) 1021
171.2 مدة (mudda) 1022
171.3 بداية (bidāya) 1023
171.4 نادرا (nādiran) 1023
171.5 كثيرا (kathīran) 1024

172 Living room, Bakery, Café, Direction, Opposite 1027
172.1 صالة (ṣāla) 1027
172.2 مخبز (makhbaz) 1028
172.3 مقهى (maqhā) 1029
172.4 اتجاه (ittijāh) 1029
172.5 مقابل (muqābil) 1030

173 Orchard, Tent, Car park, Continent, Volcano 1033
173.1 بستان (bustān) 1033
173.2 خيمة (khayma) 1034
173.3 موقف (mawqif) 1035
173.4 قارة (qārra) 1035
173.5 بركان (burkān) 1036

174 Reason, Result, Therefore, So, So that 1039
174.1 سبب (sabab) 1039
174.2 نتيجة (natīja) 1040
174.3 لذلك (li-dhālika) 1041
174.4 إذن (idhan) 1041
174.5 كي (kay) 1042

175 Friendship, Society, Hospitality, Despite, Also 1045
175.1 صداقة (ṣadāqa) 1045
175.2 مجتمع (mujtama^{c}) 1046
175.3 ضيافة (ḍiyāfa) 1047
175.4 رغم (raghma) 1047
175.5 أيضا (ayḍan) 1048

176 Then, While, More, Less, Difference 1051
176.1 ثم (thumma) 1051
176.2 بينما (baynamā) 1052
176.3 أكثر (akthar) 1053
176.4 أقل (aqall) 1053
176.5 فرق (farq) 1054
176.6 (dialogue) 1055
176.7 (dialogue) 1056

177 Expensive, Free, Raw, Cooked, Fried 1057
177.1 مكلف (mukallif) 1057
177.2 مجاني (majjānī) 1058

177.3 نيء (nayʾ) 1059
177.4 مطبوخ (maṭbūkh) 1059
177.5 مقلي (maqlī) 1060

178 Official, Private, In a hurry, Clear, Hard-working 1063
178.1 رسمي (rasmī) 1063
178.2 خاص (khāṣṣ) 1064
178.3 مستعجل (mustaᶜjil) 1065
178.4 واضح (wāḍiḥ) 1065
178.5 مجتهد (mujtahid) 1066

179 Grey, Golden, Thick, Humid, Rainy 1069
179.1 رمادي (ramādī) 1069
179.2 ذهبي (dhahabī) 1070
179.3 سميك (samīk) 1071
179.4 رطب (raṭb) 1071
179.5 ممطر (mumṭir) 1072

180 Injured, Rural, Traditional, Foreign, Flat 1075
180.1 مصاب (muṣāb) 1075
180.2 ريفي (rīfī) 1076
180.3 تقليدي (taqlīdī) 1077
180.4 أجنبي (ajnabī) 1078
180.5 مسطح (musaṭṭaḥ) 1078

181 Washing machine, Air conditioner, Tin, Sink, Shelf 1081
181.1 غسالة (ghassāla) 1081
181.2 مكيف (mukayyif) 1082
181.3 علبة (ᶜulba) 1083
181.4 مغسلة (maghsala) 1083
181.5 رف (raff) 1084

182 Sauce, Sandwich, Ice cream, Meal, Skirt 1087
182.1 صلصة (ṣalṣa) 1087
182.2 شطيرة (shaṭīra) 1088
182.3 مثلجات (muthallajāt) 1089
182.4 وجبة (wajba) 1089
182.5 تنورة (tannūra) 1090

183 Postage stamp, Parcel, Cheque, Form, Document 1093
183.1 طابع (ṭābiᶜ) 1093
183.2 طرد (ṭard) 1094
183.3 شيك (shīk) 1095
183.4 استمارة (istimāra) 1095
183.5 وثيقة (wathīqa) 1096

184 Festival, Invitation, Occasion, Decorations, Film 1099
184.1 مهرجان (mahrajān) 1099
184.2 دعوة (daᶜwa) 1100
184.3 مناسبة (munāsaba) 1101
184.4 زينة (zīna) 1101
184.5 فيلم (fīlm) 1102

185 Dolphin, Parrot, Ant, Bull, Insect 1105
185.1 دلفين (dulfīn) 1105
185.2 ببغاء (babbaghāʾ) 1106
185.3 نملة (namla) 1107
185.4 ثور (thawr) 1107
185.5 حشرة (ḥashara) 1108
185.6 (dialogue) 1109
185.7 (dialogue) 1110

186 Hobby, Chess, Novel, Painting, Machine 1111
186.1 هواية (hiwāya) 1111
186.2 شطرنج (shiṭranj) 1112
186.3 رواية (riwāya) 1113
186.4 لوحة (lawḥa) 1114
186.5 آلة (āla) 1114

187 Blender, Tap, Pipe, Wire, Rope 1117
187.1 خلاط (khallāṭ) 1117
187.2 صنبور (ṣunbūr) 1118
187.3 أنبوب (unbūb) 1119
187.4 سلك (silk) 1119
187.5 حبل (ḥabl) 1120

188 Currency, Bill, Discount, Customer, Cashier 1123
188.1 عملة (ᶜumla) 1123
188.2 فاتورة (fātūra) 1124

188.3 خصم (khaṣm) 1125
188.4 زبون (zabūn) 1125
188.5 صراف (ṣarrāf) 1126

189 Accountant, Journalist, Worker, Translator, Interview 1129
189.1 محاسب (muḥāsib) 1129
189.2 صحفي (ṣuḥufī) 1130
189.3 عامل (^{c}āmil) 1131
189.4 مترجم (mutarjim) 1131
189.5 مقابلة (muqābala) 1132

190 Singer, Player, Coach, Mathematics, Geography 1135
190.1 مغني (mughannī) 1135
190.2 لاعب (lā^{c}ib) 1136
190.3 مدرب (mudarrib) 1137
190.4 رياضيات (riyāḍiyyāt) 1137
190.5 جغرافيا (jughrāfiyā) 1138

191 Plumber, Grocer, Fisherman, Workshop, Signature 1141
191.1 سباك (sabbāk) 1141
191.2 بقال (baqqāl) 1142
191.3 صياد (ṣayyād) 1143
191.4 ورشة (warsha) 1143
191.5 توقيع (tawqī^{c}) 1144
191.6 (dialogue) 1145
191.7 (dialogue) 1146

192 To ride, To pay, To save, To receive, To cost 1147
192.1 ركب (rakiba) 1147
192.2 دفع (dafa^{c}a) 1148
192.3 وفر (waffara) 1149
192.4 استلم (istalama) 1149
192.5 كلف (kallafa) 1150

193 To take off, To try, To measure, To bargain, To go shopping 1153
193.1 خلع (khala^{c}a) 1153
193.2 جرب (jarraba) 1154
193.3 قاس (qāsa) 1155
193.4 ساوم (sāwama) 1155

193.5 تسوق (tasawwaqa) 1156

194 To swallow, To chew, To touch, To smell, To hold 1159
194.1 ابتلع (ibtalaᶜa) 1159
194.2 مضغ (maḍagha) 1160
194.3 لمس (lamasa) 1161
194.4 شم (shamma) 1161
194.5 أمسك (amsaka) 1162

195 To resign, To manage, To meet, To get lost, To show the way 1165
195.1 استقال (istaqāla) 1165
195.2 أدار (adāra) 1166
195.3 قابل (qābala) 1167
195.4 ضل (ḍalla) 1167
195.5 دل (dalla) 1168

196 To plant, To pick, To rain, To congratulate, To trust 1171
196.1 زرع (zaraᶜa) 1171
196.2 قطف (qaṭafa) 1172
196.3 أمطر (amṭara) 1173
196.4 هنأ (hannaʾa) 1173
196.5 وثق (wathiqa) 1174

197 To discuss, To compare, To notice, To pay attention, To consider 1177
197.1 ناقش (nāqasha) 1177
197.2 قارن (qārana) 1178
197.3 لاحظ (lāḥaẓa) 1179
197.4 انتبه (intabaha) 1179
197.5 اعتبر (iᶜtabara) 1180

198 To allow, To prevent, To happen, To fall, To dig 1183
198.1 سمح (samaḥa) 1183
198.2 منع (manaᶜa) 1184
198.3 حدث (ḥadatha) 1185
198.4 سقط (saqaṭa) 1185
198.5 حفر (ḥafara) 1186

199 To shake, To bite, To blow, To whisper, To harvest 1189
199.1 هز (hazza) 1189
199.2 عض (ᶜaḍḍa) 1190
199.3 نفخ (nafakha) 1191
199.4 همس (hamasa) 1191
199.5 حصد (ḥaṣada) 1192

200 Cold, Cough, Allergy, Wound, Health 1195
200.1 زكام (zukām) 1195
200.2 سعال (suᶜāl) 1196
200.3 حساسية (ḥassāsiyya) 1197
200.4 جرح (jurḥ) 1197
200.5 صحة (ṣiḥḥa) 1198
200.6 (dialogue) 1199
200.7 (dialogue) 1200

201 Injection, Operation, Bruise, Burn, Stomach cramp 1201
201.1 حقنة (ḥuqna) 1201
201.2 عملية (ᶜamaliyya) 1202
201.3 كدمة (kadma) 1203
201.4 حرق (ḥarq) 1203
201.5 مغص (maghaṣ) 1204

202 Usually, Immediately, Later, Date, Moment 1207
202.1 غالبا (ghāliban) 1207
202.2 فورا (fawran) 1208
202.3 لاحقا (lāḥiqan) 1209
202.4 تاريخ (tārīkh) 1209
202.5 لحظة (laḥẓa) 1210

203 Previously, Finally, During, Century, Weekly 1213
203.1 سابقا (sābiqan) 1213
203.2 أخيرا (akhīran) 1214
203.3 أثناء (athnāʾa) 1215
203.4 قرن (qarn) 1215
203.5 أسبوعي (usbūᶜī) 1216

204 Towards, Area, Centre, Capital city, Where 1219
204.1 نحو (naḥwa) 1219
204.2 منطقة (minṭaqa) 1220

204.3 مركز (markaz) 1221
204.4 عاصمة (ᶜāṣima) 1221
204.5 أين (ayna) 1222

205 Nature, Dust, Mud, Borders, Planet 1225
205.1 طبيعة (ṭabīᶜa) 1225
205.2 تراب (turāb) 1226
205.3 طين (ṭīn) 1227
205.4 حدود (ḥudūd) 1227
205.5 كوكب (kawkab) 1228

206 Perhaps, Problem, Solution, Joy, Fear 1231
206.1 ربما (rubbamā) 1231
206.2 مشكلة (mushkila) 1232
206.3 حل (ḥall) 1233
206.4 بهجة (bahja) 1233
206.5 خوف (khawf) 1234

207 Only, Very, Even, If, As 1237
207.1 فقط (faqaṭ) 1237
207.2 جدا (jiddan) 1238
207.3 حتى (ḥattā) 1239
207.4 إذا (idhā) 1239
207.5 كما (kamā) 1240

208 Meaning, Example, Freedom, Rule, Way 1243
208.1 معنى (maᶜnā) 1243
208.2 مثال (mithāl) 1244
208.3 حرية (ḥurriyya) 1245
208.4 قاعدة (qāᶜida) 1245
208.5 طريقة (ṭarīqa) 1246

209 Grilled, Boiled, Burnt, Healthy, Broken 1249
209.1 مشوي (mashwī) 1249
209.2 مسلوق (maslūq) 1250
209.3 محروق (maḥrūq) 1251
209.4 صحي (ṣiḥḥī) 1251
209.5 مكسور (maksūr) 1252
209.6 (dialogue) 1253
209.7 (dialogue) 1254

210 Direct, Generous, Mean, Shy, Sociable 1255
210.1 مباشر (mubāshir) 1255
210.2 كريم (karīm) 1256
210.3 بخيل (bakhīl) 1257
210.4 خجول (khajūl) 1257
210.5 اجتماعي (ijtimāᶜī) 1258

211 Sunny, Different, Similar, Rare, Ordinary 1261
211.1 مشمس (mushmis) 1261
211.2 مختلف (mukhtalif) 1262
211.3 مشابه (mushābih) 1263
211.4 نادر (nādir) 1263
211.5 عادي (ᶜādī) 1264

212 Rough, Sticky, Fragile, Transparent, Shiny 1267
212.1 خشن (khashin) 1267
212.2 لزج (lazij) 1268
212.3 هش (hashsh) 1269
212.4 شفاف (shaffāf) 1269
212.5 لامع (lāmiᶜ) 1270

213 Sofa, Brush, Lid, Furniture, Laundry 1273
213.1 أريكة (arīka) 1273
213.2 فرشاة (furshā) 1274
213.3 غطاء (ghiṭāʾ) 1275
213.4 أثاث (athāth) 1275
213.5 غسيل (ghasīl) 1276

214 Suit, Sandals, Fabric, Cotton, Wool 1279
214.1 بدلة (badla) 1279
214.2 صندل (ṣandal) 1280
214.3 قماش (qumāsh) 1281
214.4 قطن (quṭn) 1281
214.5 صوف (ṣūf) 1282

215 Identity card, Visa, Luggage, Charger, Taxi 1285
215.1 هوية (hawiyya) 1285
215.2 تأشيرة (taʾshīra) 1286
215.3 أمتعة (amtiᶜa) 1287
215.4 شاحن (shāḥin) 1288

215.5 تاكسي (tāksī) 1288

216 Poem, Conversation, Secret, Promise, Fog 1291
216.1 قصيدة (qaṣīda) 1291
216.2 حديث (ḥadīth) 1292
216.3 سر (sirr) 1293
216.4 وعد (waᶜd) 1293
216.5 ضباب (ḍabāb) 1294

217 Tail, Wing, Camera, Headphones, Battery 1297
217.1 ذيل (dhayl) 1297
217.2 جناح (janāḥ) 1298
217.3 كاميرا (kāmīrā) 1299
217.4 سماعة (sammāᶜa) 1299
217.5 بطارية (baṭṭāriyya) 1300

218 Hammer, Topic, Scales, Piece, Weight 1303
218.1 مطرقة (miṭraqa) 1303
218.2 موضوع (mawḍūᶜ) 1304
218.3 ميزان (mīzān) 1305
218.4 قطعة (qiṭᶜa) 1305
218.5 وزن (wazn) 1306
218.6 (dialogue) 1307
218.7 (dialogue) 1308

219 Hose, Wood, Glass, Copper, Silk 1309
219.1 خرطوم (kharṭūm) 1309
219.2 خشب (khashab) 1310
219.3 زجاج (zujāj) 1311
219.4 نحاس (nuḥās) 1311
219.5 حرير (ḥarīr) 1312

220 Card, Loan, Goods, Account, Butcher 1315
220.1 بطاقة (biṭāqa) 1315
220.2 قرض (qarḍ) 1316
220.3 بضاعة (biḍāᶜa) 1317
220.4 حساب (ḥisāb) 1317
220.5 جزار (jazzār) 1318

221 Report, Meeting, Contract, Exam, Homework 1321
221.1 تقرير (taqrīr) 1321
221.2 اجتماع (ijtimāᶜ) 1322
221.3 عقد (ᶜaqd) 1323
221.4 امتحان (imtiḥān) 1323
221.5 واجب (wājib) 1324

222 Science, Chemistry, Physics, Literature, Merchant 1327
222.1 علوم (ᶜulūm) 1327
222.2 كيمياء (kīmiyāʾ) 1328
222.3 فيزياء (fīziyāʾ) 1329
222.4 أدب (adab) 1329
222.5 تاجر (tājir) 1330
222.6 (dialogue) 1331
222.7 (dialogue) 1331

223 To tidy, To sweep, To iron, To fold, To hang 1333
223.1 رتب (rattaba) 1333
223.2 كنس (kanasa) 1334
223.3 كوى (kawā) 1335
223.4 طوى (ṭawā) 1335
223.5 علق (ᶜallaqa) 1336

224 To earn, To borrow, To lend, To change, To hurry 1339
224.1 كسب (kasaba) 1339
224.2 اقترض (iqtaraḍa) 1340
224.3 أقرض (aqraḍa) 1341
224.4 غير (ghayyara) 1341
224.5 أسرع (asraᶜa) 1342

225 To pull, To prepare, To repair, To use, To bring 1345
225.1 سحب (saḥaba) 1345
225.2 حضر (ḥaḍḍara) 1346
225.3 أصلح (aṣlaḥa) 1347
225.4 استعمل (istaᶜmala) 1347
225.5 أحضر (aḥḍara) 1348

226 To set off, To charge, To apologise, To inform, To agree 1351
226.1 انطلق (inṭalaqa) 1351
226.2 شحن (shaḥana) 1352

226.3 اعتذر (iᶜtadhara) 1353
226.4 أخبر (akhbara) 1354
226.5 اتفق (ittafaqa) 1354

227 To be shy, To worry, To get to know, To quarrel, To make up 1357
227.1 خجل (khajila) 1357
227.2 قلق (qaliqa) 1358
227.3 تعرف (taᶜarrafa) 1359
227.4 تشاجر (tashājara) 1360
227.5 تصالح (taṣālaḥa) 1360

228 To watch, To listen, To draw, To sing, To photograph 1363
228.1 شاهد (shāhada) 1363
228.2 استمع (istamaᶜa) 1364
228.3 رسم (rasama) 1365
228.4 غنى (ghannā) 1365
228.5 صور (ṣawwara) 1366

229 To tie, To untie, To water, To knead, To wipe 1369
229.1 ربط (rabaṭa) 1369
229.2 فك (fakka) 1370
229.3 سقى (saqā) 1371
229.4 عجن (ᶜajana) 1371
229.5 مسح (masaḥa) 1372

230 To bark, To feed, To add, To divide, To kick 1375
230.1 نبح (nabaḥa) 1375
230.2 أطعم (aṭᶜama) 1376
230.3 أضاف (aḍāfa) 1377
230.4 قسم (qassama) 1377
230.5 ركل (rakala) 1378

231 Treatment, Prescription, Clinic, Pharmacy, Nurse 1381
231.1 علاج (ᶜilāj) 1381
231.2 وصفة (waṣfa) 1382
231.3 عيادة (ᶜiyāda) 1383
231.4 صيدلية (ṣaydaliyya) 1384
231.5 ممرض (mumarriḍ) 1384
231.6 (dialogue) 1385

231.7 (dialogue) 1386

232 Dizziness, Ointment, Surgeon, Crutch, Bleeding 1389
232.1 دوار (duwār) 1389
232.2 مرهم (marham) 1390
232.3 جراح (jarrāḥ) 1391
232.4 عكاز (^{c}ukkāz) 1391
232.5 نزيف (nazīf) 1392

233 Since, Dawn, Sunrise, Sunset, Birth 1395
233.1 منذ (mundhu) 1395
233.2 فجر (fajr) 1396
233.3 شروق (shurūq) 1397
233.4 غروب (ghurūb) 1397
233.5 ميلاد (mīlād) 1398

234 Yearly, Late morning, Soon, Alarm clock, Calendar 1401
234.1 سنوي (sanawī) 1401
234.2 ضحى (ḍuḥā) 1402
234.3 قريبا (qarīban) 1403
234.4 منبه (munabbih) 1403
234.5 تقويم (taqwīm) 1404

235 Museum, Stadium, Pavement, Crossroads, Embassy 1407
235.1 متحف (maṭḥaf) 1407
235.2 ملعب (mal^{c}ab) 1408
235.3 رصيف (raṣīf) 1409
235.4 تقاطع (taqāṭu^{c}) 1410
235.5 سفارة (sifāra) 1410

236 Earthquake, Flood, Ice, Citizen, Inhabitants 1413
236.1 زلزال (zilzāl) 1413
236.2 فيضان (fayaḍān) 1414
236.3 جليد (jalīd) 1415
236.4 مواطن (muwāṭin) 1415
236.5 سكان (sukkān) 1416

237 Patience, Generosity, Feeling, Morals, Personality 1419
237.1 صبر (ṣabr) 1419
237.2 كرم (karam) 1420
237.3 شعور (shu^{c}ūr) 1421

237.4 أخلاق (akhlāq) 1421
237.5 شخصية (shakhṣiyya) 1422

238 Like, Completely, Of course, Almost, Especially 1425
238.1 مثل (mithl) 1425
238.2 تماما (tamāman) 1426
238.3 طبعا (ṭabᶜan) 1427
238.4 تقريبا (taqrīban) 1427
238.5 خصوصا (khuṣūṣan) 1428

239 Luck, Agreement, Discussion, Memory, Doubt 1431
239.1 حظ (ḥaẓẓ) 1431
239.2 اتفاق (ittifāq) 1432
239.3 نقاش (niqāsh) 1433
239.4 ذكرى (dhikrā) 1433
239.5 شك (shakk) 1434

240 Out of order, Ready, Genuine, Suitable, Excellent 1437
240.1 معطل (muᶜaṭṭal) 1437
240.2 جاهز (jāhiz) 1438
240.3 أصلي (aṣlī) 1439
240.4 مناسب (munāsib) 1440
240.5 ممتاز (mumtāz) 1440
240.6 (dialogue) 1441
240.7 (dialogue) 1442

241 Polite, Patient, Modest, Funny, Serious 1445
241.1 مهذب (muhadhdhab) 1445
241.2 صبور (ṣabūr) 1446
241.3 متواضع (mutawāḍiᶜ) 1447
241.4 مضحك (muḍḥik) 1447
241.5 جاد (jādd) 1448

242 Noisy, Dead, Wild, Tame, Poisonous 1451
242.1 صاخب (ṣākhib) 1451
242.2 ميت (mayyit) 1452
242.3 بري (barrī) 1453
242.4 أليف (alīf) 1453
242.5 سام (sāmm) 1454

243 Lukewarm, Annoying, Frightening, Second-hand, Fake 1457
243.1 فاتر (fātir) 1457
243.2 مزعج (muzᶜij) 1458
243.3 مخيف (mukhīf) 1459
243.4 مستعمل (mustaᶜmal) 1459
243.5 مزيف (muzayyaf) 1460

244 Yoghurt, Peaches, Pears, Pineapple, Almonds 1463
244.1 زبادي (zabādī) 1463
244.2 خوخ (khawkh) 1464
244.3 كمثرى (kummathrā) 1465
244.4 أناناس (anānās) 1465
244.5 لوز (lawz) 1466

245 Necklace, Size, Telephone, Mobile phone, Screen 1469
245.1 قلادة (qilāda) 1469
245.2 مقاس (maqās) 1470
245.3 هاتف (hātif) 1471
245.4 جوال (jawwāl) 1471
245.5 شاشة (shāsha) 1472

246 Family, Grandson, Aunt, Twin, Bridegroom 1475
246.1 أسرة (usra) 1475
246.2 حفيد (ḥafīd) 1476
246.3 عمة (ᶜamma) 1477
246.4 توأم (tawʾam) 1477
246.5 عريس (ᶜarīs) 1478

247 Air, Wave, Roses, Palm tree, Jasmine 1481
247.1 هواء (hawāʾ) 1481
247.2 موجة (mawja) 1482
247.3 ورد (ward) 1483
247.4 نخلة (nakhla) 1483
247.5 ياسمين (yāsamīn) 1484

248 Internet, Website, App, Device, TV series 1487
248.1 إنترنت (intarnit) 1487
248.2 موقع (mawqiᶜ) 1488
248.3 تطبيق (taṭbīq) 1489
248.4 جهاز (jihāz) 1490

248.5 مسلسل (musalsal) 1490

249 Quantity, Quality, Celebration, Congratulations, Cooking pot 1493
249.1 كمية (kammiyya) 1493
249.2 جودة (jawda) 1494
249.3 احتفال (iḥtifāl) 1495
249.4 مبروك (mabrūk) 1495
249.5 طنجرة (ṭanjara) 1496
249.6 (dialogue) 1497
249.7 (dialogue) 1498

250 Cardboard, Bricks, Marble, Rubber, Triangle 1499
250.1 كرتون (kartūn) 1499
250.2 طوب (ṭūb) 1500
250.3 رخام (rukhām) 1501
250.4 مطاط (maṭṭāṭ) 1501
250.5 مثلث (muthallath) 1502

251 Waiter, Manager, Employee, Colleague, Company 1505
251.1 نادل (nādil) 1505
251.2 مدير (mudīr) 1506
251.3 موظف (muwaẓẓaf) 1507
251.4 زميل (zamīl) 1507
251.5 شركة (sharika) 1508

252 Mark, Lecture, School subject, Fees, Post 1511
252.1 علامة (ᶜalāma) 1511
252.2 محاضرة (muḥāḍara) 1512
252.3 مادة (mādda) 1513
252.4 رسوم (rusūm) 1513
252.5 بريد (barīd) 1514

253 Trade, Ruler, Pencil sharpener, Chalk, Stapler 1517
253.1 تجارة (tijāra) 1517
253.2 مسطرة (misṭara) 1518
253.3 مبراة (mibrāh) 1519
253.4 طباشير (ṭabāshīr) 1519
253.5 دباسة (dabbāsa) 1520
253.6 (dialogue) 1521

253.7 (dialogue) 1522

254 To fry, To grill, To boil, To mix, To peel 1523
254.1 قلى (qalā) 1523
254.2 شوى (shawā) 1524
254.3 غلى (ghalā) 1525
254.4 خلط (khalaṭa) 1526
254.5 قشر (qashshara) 1526

255 To be late, To visit, To phone, To get better, To examine 1529
255.1 تأخر (taʾakhkhara) 1529
255.2 زار (zāra) 1530
255.3 اتصل (ittaṣala) 1531
255.4 تحسن (taḥassana) 1531
255.5 فحص (faḥaṣa) 1532

256 To fail, To pass, To explain, To translate, To give back 1535
256.1 رسب (rasaba) 1535
256.2 اجتاز (ijtāza) 1536
256.3 شرح (sharaḥa) 1537
256.4 ترجم (tarjama) 1537
256.5 أعاد (aᶜāda) 1538

257 To refuse, To graduate, To be glad, To be afraid, To smile 1541
257.1 رفض (rafaḍa) 1541
257.2 تخرج (takharraja) 1542
257.3 فرح (fariḥa) 1543
257.4 خاف (khāfa) 1543
257.5 ابتسم (ibtasama) 1544

258 To respect, To forgive, To lie, To take part, To disagree 1547
258.1 احترم (iḥtarama) 1547
258.2 سامح (sāmaḥa) 1548
258.3 كذب (kadhaba) 1549
258.4 شارك (shāraka) 1549
258.5 اختلف (ikhtalafa) 1550

259 To publish, To broadcast, To follow, To jump, To press 1553
259.1 نشر (nashara) 1553
259.2 بث (baththa) 1554
259.3 تابع (tābaᶜa) 1555
259.4 قفز (qafaza) 1555
259.5 ضغط (ḍaghaṭa) 1556

260 To sprinkle, To knock, To stick, To stir, To wrap 1559
260.1 رش (rashsha) 1559
260.2 طرق (ṭaraqa) 1560
260.3 ألصق (alṣaqa) 1561
260.4 حرك (ḥarraka) 1562
260.5 لف (laffa) 1562

261 To melt, To freeze, To park, To queue, To hand out 1565
261.1 ذاب (dhāba) 1565
261.2 تجمد (tajammada) 1566
261.3 ركن (rakana) 1567
261.4 اصطف (iṣṭaffa) 1567
261.5 وزع (wazzaᶜa) 1568

262 Ambulance, Temperature, Bandage, Accident, Stress 1571
262.1 إسعاف (isᶜāf) 1571
262.2 حرارة (ḥarāra) 1572
262.3 ضمادة (ḍimāda) 1573
262.4 حادث (ḥādith) 1573
262.5 توتر (tawattur) 1574
262.6 (dialogue) 1575
262.7 (dialogue) 1576

263 Vaccine, Sweat, Wrist, Thumb, Muscle 1577
263.1 لقاح (laqāḥ) 1577
263.2 عرق (ᶜaraq) 1578
263.3 معصم (miᶜṣam) 1579
263.4 إبهام (ibhām) 1579
263.5 عضلة (ᶜaḍala) 1580

264 Season, Childhood, Evening out, Ramadan, Afternoon 1583
264.1 فصل (faṣl) 1583
264.2 طفولة (ṭufūla) 1584

264.3 سهرة (sahra) 1585
264.4 رمضان (ramaḍān) 1585
264.5 عصر (ᶜaṣr) 1586

265 Theatre, Cinema, Club, Farm, Countryside 1589
265.1 مسرح (masraḥ) 1589
265.2 سينما (sīnimā) 1590
265.3 نادي (nādī) 1591
265.4 مزرعة (mazraᶜa) 1591
265.5 ريف (rīf) 1592

266 Basement, Chimney, Doorstep, Fence, Courtyard 1595
266.1 قبو (qabw) 1595
266.2 مدخنة (midkhana) 1596
266.3 عتبة (ᶜataba) 1597
266.4 سياج (siyāj) 1597
266.5 فناء (fināʾ) 1598

267 Tradition, Culture, Religion, Prayer, Relationship 1601
267.1 تقليد (taqlīd) 1601
267.2 ثقافة (thaqāfa) 1602
267.3 دين (dīn) 1603
267.4 صلاة (ṣalāh) 1604
267.5 علاقة (ᶜalāqa) 1604

268 Together, According to, Without, For example, First 1607
268.1 معا (maᶜan) 1607
268.2 حسب (ḥasaba) 1608
268.3 بدون (bidūn) 1609
268.4 مثلا (mathalan) 1609
268.5 أولا (awwalan) 1610

269 Failure, Step, Harm, Fault, Advantage 1613
269.1 فشل (fashal) 1613
269.2 خطوة (khuṭwa) 1614
269.3 ضرر (ḍarar) 1615
269.4 عيب (ᶜayb) 1615
269.5 ميزة (mīza) 1616

270 Boring, Booked, Available, International, Local 1619
270.1 ممل (mumill) 1619
270.2 محجوز (maḥjūz) 1620
270.3 متاح (mutāḥ) 1621
270.4 دولي (duwalī) 1621
270.5 محلي (maḥallī) 1622

271 Stubborn, Lonely, Orange, Pink, Purple 1625
271.1 عنيد (ᶜanīd) 1625
271.2 وحيد (waḥīd) 1626
271.3 برتقالي (burtuqālī) 1627
271.4 وردي (wardī) 1627
271.5 بنفسجي (banafsajī) 1628
271.6 (dialogue) 1629
271.7 (dialogue) 1630

272 Amazing, Sure, Exciting, Complicated, Reasonable 1631
272.1 مدهش (mudhish) 1631
272.2 متأكد (mutaᵓakkid) 1632
272.3 مثير (muthīr) 1633
272.4 معقد (muᶜaqqad) 1633
272.5 معقول (maᶜqūl) 1634

273 Chocolate, Sweets, Pasta, Flour, Spices 1637
273.1 شوكولاتة (shūkūlāta) 1637
273.2 حلوى (ḥalwā) 1638
273.3 معكرونة (maᶜkarūna) 1639
273.4 دقيق (daqīq) 1639
273.5 توابل (tawābil) 1640

274 Printer, Ink, Blackboard, Dictionary, File 1643
274.1 طابعة (ṭābiᶜa) 1643
274.2 حبر (ḥibr) 1644
274.3 سبورة (sabbūra) 1645
274.4 قاموس (qāmūs) 1645
274.5 ملف (malaff) 1646

275 Bride, Person, People, Party, Wedding 1649
275.1 عروس (ᶜarūs) 1649
275.2 شخص (shakhṣ) 1650

275.3 ناس (nās) 1651
275.4 حفلة (ḥafla) 1651
275.5 زفاف (zifāf) 1652

276 Animal, Birds, Sparrow, Giraffe, Whale 1655
276.1 حيوان (ḥayawān) 1655
276.2 طير (ṭayr) 1656
276.3 عصفور (ᶜuṣfūr) 1657
276.4 زرافة (zarāfa) 1657
276.5 حوت (ḥūt) 1658

277 Ball, Match, Team, Race, Sport 1661
277.1 كرة (kura) 1661
277.2 مباراة (mubārā) 1662
277.3 فريق (farīq) 1663
277.4 سباق (sibāq) 1663
277.5 رياضة (riyāḍa) 1664
277.6 (dialogue) 1665
277.7 (dialogue) 1666

278 Kettle, Tray, Strainer, Ladle, Barrel 1667
278.1 غلاية (ghallāya) 1667
278.2 صينية (ṣīniyya) 1668
278.3 مصفاة (miṣfāh) 1669
278.4 مغرفة (mighrafa) 1669
278.5 برميل (barmīl) 1670

279 Rectangle, Coat hanger, Sponge, Tape, Glue 1673
279.1 مستطيل (mustaṭīl) 1673
279.2 مشجب (mishjab) 1674
279.3 إسفنجة (isfanja) 1675
279.4 شريط (sharīṭ) 1675
279.5 غراء (ghirāʾ) 1676

280 Client, Engineer, Lawyer, Pilot, Pharmacist 1679
280.1 عميل (ᶜamīl) 1679
280.2 مهندس (muhandis) 1680
280.3 محامي (muḥāmī) 1681
280.4 طيار (ṭayyār) 1681
280.5 صيدلي (ṣaydalī) 1682

281 Number, Phone call, Information, Presenter, Actor 1685
281.1 رقم (raqm) 1685
281.2 مكالمة (mukālama) 1686
281.3 معلومات (ma^{c}lūmāt) 1687
281.4 مذيع (mudhī^{c}) 1687
281.5 ممثل (mumaththil) 1688

282 Calculator, Pencil case, Page, Sentence, Barber 1691
282.1 حاسبة (ḥāsiba) 1691
282.2 مقلمة (miqlama) 1692
282.3 صفحة (ṣafḥa) 1693
282.4 جملة (jumla) 1693
282.5 حلاق (ḥallāq) 1694
282.6 (dialogue) 1695
282.7 (dialogue) 1696

283 The Past, Person By Person 1697
283.1 يكتب (yaktubu) 1697
283.2 كتبت (katabtu) 1699
283.3 كان (kāna) 1700
283.4 يكتب كان (kāna yaktubu) 1701
283.5 (review) 1703

284 A Story, In Order 1705
284.1 ذلك بعد ثم، أولا، (awwalan, thumma ...) 1705
284.2 حكى (ḥakā) 1706
284.3 عندما (^{c}indamā) 1708
284.4 (reading) 1709
284.5 (review) 1710

285 What I Think, And So 1713
285.1 رأي (ra^{ɔ}y) 1713
285.2 أن أعتقد (a^{c}taqidu anna) 1714
285.3 سؤال (su^{ɔ}āl) 1715
285.4 ؤ (hamza on waw) 1716
285.5 فـ لذلك، (li-dhālika, fa-) 1718
285.6 (review) 1719

286 Must, Should, Will, Because 1721
286.1 أذهب أن (an adhhaba) 1721
286.2 أن يجب (yajibu an) 1722
286.3 بسبب (bi-sabab) 1724
286.4 سوف (sawfa) 1725
286.5 (review) 1726

287 Asking The Way 1729
287.1 إلى أصل كيف (kayfa aṣilu ilā) 1729
287.2 مستقيما اذهب (idhhab mustaqīman) 1730
287.3 (review) 1732

288 At The Station 1735
288.1 وإياب ذهاب تذكرة (tadhkirat dhahāb ...) 1735
288.2 طائرة (ṭāʾira) 1737
288.3 ئ (hamza on yāʾ) 1738
288.4 مسؤول (masʾūl) 1739
288.5 القطار فاتني (fātanī al-qiṭār) 1740
288.6 (review) 1741

289 How It Felt, What I Hope 1743
289.1 سعيدا كنت (kuntu saᶜīdan) 1743
289.2 تجربة (tajriba) 1744
289.3 أن أتمنى (atamannā an) 1745
289.4 (review) 1747

290 Bigger, Better, For How Long 1749
290.1 من أكبر (akbar min) 1749
290.2 سنوات ثلاث منذ (mundhu thalāth sanawāt) 1750
290.3 (review) 1752

291 If It Rains 1755
291.1 إذا (idhā) 1755
291.2 أمطرت إذا (idhā amṭarat) 1756
291.3 (review) 1758

292 Would, And Six Lines About A Trip 1759
292.1 اعتمد (iᶜtamada) 1759
292.2 على يعتمد (yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā) 1760
292.3 وقت عندي كان لو ... (law kāna ᶜindī ...) 1761
292.4 (review) 1763

292.5 (six lines) 1764

293 Reporters and statements 1767
293.1 مراسل (murāsil) 1767
293.2 بيان (bayān) 1768
293.3 صحيفة (ṣaḥīfa) 1769
293.4 أعلن (a^{c}lana) 1770
293.5 صرح (ṣarraḥa) 1771

294 Suddenly, it happened 1773
294.1 فجأة (faj^{ɔ}atan) 1773
294.2 وقع (waqa^{c}a) 1774
294.3 انفجر (infajara) 1775
294.4 البداية في (fī al-bidāya) 1776
294.5 اللحظة تلك في (fī tilka al-laḥẓa) 1777

295 Telling a story 1779
295.1 حكاية (ḥikāya) 1779
295.2 روى (rawā) 1780
295.3 قص (qaṣṣa) 1781
295.4 سرد (sarada) 1782
295.5 يوم ذات (dhāta yawm) 1783

296 The press 1785
296.1 صحافة (ṣaḥāfa) 1785
296.2 محرر (muḥarrir) 1786
296.3 مقال (maqāl) 1787
296.4 حرر (ḥarrara) 1788
296.5 نشرة (nashra) 1789

297 On the radio 1791
297.1 إذاعة (idhā^{c}a) 1791
297.2 قناة (qanāh) 1792
297.3 مذياع (midhyā^{c}) 1793
297.4 أذاع (adhā^{c}a) 1794
297.5 الهواء على (^{c}alā al-hawā^{ɔ}) 1795

298 A fire 1797
298.1 حريق (ḥarīq) 1797
298.2 دخان (dukhān) 1798
298.3 اشتعل (ishta^{c}ala) 1799

298.4 احترق (iḥtaraqa) 1800
298.5 إطفاء رجل (rajul iṭfāʾ) 1801

299 Meanwhile 1803
299.1 الأثناء هذه في (fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ) 1803
299.2 بعد فيما (fīmā baᶜd) 1804
299.3 التالي اليوم في (fī al-yawm at-tālī) 1805
299.4 ذكر (dhakara) 1806
299.5 نقل (naqala) 1807

300 A crime 1809
300.1 جريمة (jarīma) 1809
300.2 مجرم (mujrim) 1810
300.3 لص (liṣṣ) 1811
300.4 سرق (saraqa) 1812
300.5 اعتقل (iᶜtaqala) 1813
300.6 (dialogue) 1814

301 An accident on the road 1817
301.1 اصطدم (iṣṭadama) 1817
301.2 انقلب (inqalaba) 1818
301.3 ضحية (ḍaḥiyya) 1819
301.4 جريح (jarīḥ) 1820
301.5 أسعف (asᶜafa) 1821

302 An interview 1823
302.1 حوار (ḥiwār) 1823
302.2 حاور (ḥāwara) 1824
302.3 أجرى (ajrā) 1825
302.4 استضاف (istaḍāfa) 1826
302.5 متحدث (mutaḥaddith) 1827

303 Legends and heroes 1829
303.1 أسطورة (usṭūra) 1829
303.2 خرافة (khurāfa) 1830
303.3 بطل (baṭal) 1831
303.4 شرير (shirrīr) 1832
303.5 تخيل (takhayyala) 1833

304 Long ago 1835
304.1 زمن (zaman) 1835
304.2 طويل زمن منذ (mundhu zaman ṭawīl) 1836
304.3 حقبة (ḥiqba) 1837
304.4 آنذاك (ānadhāk) 1838
304.5 عهد (ᶜahd) 1839

305 In court 1841
305.1 محكمة (maḥkama) 1841
305.2 عيان شاهد (shāhid ᶜiyān) 1842
305.3 اتهم (ittahama) 1843
305.4 متهم (muttaham) 1844
305.5 حكم (ḥakama) 1845

306 A wedding 1847
306.1 عرس (ᶜurs) 1847
306.2 خطب (khaṭaba) 1848
306.3 خطوبة (khuṭūba) 1849
306.4 زف (zaffa) 1850
306.5 زغرد (zaghrada) 1851

307 Armies and wars 1853
307.1 جيش (jaysh) 1853
307.2 جندي (jundī) 1854
307.3 حرب (ḥarb) 1855
307.4 معركة (maᶜraka) 1856
307.5 حارب (ḥāraba) 1857

308 An investigation 1859
308.1 تحقيق (taḥqīq) 1859
308.2 حقق (ḥaqqaqa) 1860
308.3 محقق (muḥaqqiq) 1861
308.4 دليل (dalīl) 1862
308.5 بصمة (baṣma) 1863
308.6 (dialogue) 1864

309 Princes and palaces 1867
309.1 أمير (amīr) 1867
309.2 قصر (qaṣr) 1868
309.3 تاج (tāj) 1869

309.4 عرش (^{c}arsh) 1870
309.5 توج (tawwaja) 1871

310 Calling for help 1873
310.1 استغاث (istaghātha) 1873
310.2 نجا (najā) 1874
310.3 صاح (ṣāḥa) 1875
310.4 نادى (nādā) 1876
310.5 منقذ (munqidh) 1877

311 A birth 1879
311.1 ولادة (wilāda) 1879
311.2 مولود (mawlūd) 1880
311.3 قابلة (qābila) 1881
311.4 أنجب (anjaba) 1882
311.5 تسمية (tasmiya) 1883

312 Discoveries 1885
312.1 كشف (kashafa) 1885
312.2 اكتشف (iktashafa) 1886
312.3 عثر (^{c}athara) 1887
312.4 مستكشف (mustakshif) 1888
312.5 كنز (kanz) 1889

313 Right away 1891
313.1 على الفور (^{c}alā al-fawr) 1891
313.2 ما سرعان (sur^{c}āna mā) 1892
313.3 تدريجيا (tadrījiyyan) 1893
313.4 جديد من (min jadīd) 1894
313.5 استعاد (ista^{c}āda) 1895

314 A funeral 1897
314.1 جنازة (janāza) 1897
314.2 توفي (tuwuffiya) 1898
314.3 دفن (dafana) 1899
314.4 شيع (shayya^{c}a) 1900
314.5 قبر (qabr) 1901

315 Victory and defeat 1903
315.1 نصر (naṣr) 1903
315.2 هزيمة (hazīma) 1904
315.3 انتصر (intaṣara) 1905
315.4 هزم (hazama) 1906
315.5 استسلم (istaslama) 1907

316 When buildings fall 1909
316.1 انهار (inhāra) 1909
316.2 فاض (fāḍa) 1910
316.3 اندلع (indalaᶜa) 1911
316.4 ركام (rukām) 1912
316.5 أنقاض (anqāḍ) 1913
316.6 (dialogue) 1914

317 Stopped by the police 1917
317.1 قبض (qabaḍa) 1917
317.2 احتجز (iḥtajaza) 1918
317.3 أوقف (awqafa) 1919
317.4 دورية (dawriyya) 1920
317.5 حاجز (ḥājiz) 1921

318 Ancient civilizations 1923
318.1 حضارة (ḥaḍāra) 1923
318.2 أثر (athar) 1924
318.3 أطلال (aṭlāl) 1925
318.4 معبد (maᶜbad) 1926
318.5 هرم (haram) 1927

319 Mourning 1929
319.1 عزاء (ᶜazāʾ) 1929
319.2 عزى (ᶜazzā) 1930
319.3 رثى (rathā) 1931
319.4 نعى (naᶜā) 1932
319.5 حداد (ḥidād) 1933

320 The media 1935
320.1 إعلام (iᶜlām) 1935
320.2 وكالة (wakāla) 1936
320.3 مصدر (maṣdar) 1937

320.4 أفاد (afāda) 1938
320.5 أوضح (awḍaḥa) 1939

321 Robbers and gangs 1941
321.1 سارق (sāriq) 1941
321.2 نشال (nashshāl) 1942
321.3 عصابة (ᶜiṣāba) 1943
321.4 سلب (salaba) 1944
321.5 نهب (nahaba) 1945

322 Castles and walls 1947
322.1 قلعة (qalᶜa) 1947
322.2 حصن (ḥiṣn) 1948
322.3 سور (sūr) 1949
322.4 حاصر (ḥāṣara) 1950
322.5 دافع (dāfaᶜa) 1951

323 Growing up and growing older 1953
323.1 نشأ (nashaʾa) 1953
323.2 ترعرع (taraᶜraᶜa) 1954
323.3 رأس مسقط (masqaṭ raʾs) 1955
323.4 صبا (ṣibā) 1956
323.5 كهولة (kuhūla) 1957

324 Danger and warnings 1959
324.1 حذر (ḥadhdhara) 1959
324.2 هدد (haddada) 1960
324.3 إنذار (indhār) 1961
324.4 صفارة (ṣaffāra) 1962
324.5 فوضى (fawḍā) 1963
324.6 (dialogue) 1964

325 Witnesses and oaths 1967
325.1 شهد (shahida) 1967
325.2 أقسم (aqsama) 1968
325.3 حلف (ḥalafa) 1969
325.4 اعترف (iᶜtarafa) 1970
325.5 أنكر (ankara) 1971

326 Old weapons 1973
326.1 سلاح (silāḥ) 1973
326.2 سيف (sayf) 1974
326.3 رمح (rumḥ) 1975
326.4 سهم (sahm) 1976
326.5 درع (dir^{c}) 1977

327 That night 1979
327.1 الليلة تلك في (fī tilka al-layla) 1979
327.2 نفسه الوقت في (fī al-waqt nafsih) 1980
327.3 حالما (ḥālamā) 1981
327.4 أن إلى (ilā an) 1982
327.5 طوال (ṭuwāla) 1983

328 Holding a celebration 1985
328.1 أقام (aqāma) 1985
328.2 أحيا (aḥyā) 1986
328.3 موكب (mawkib) 1987
328.4 وليمة (walīma) 1988
328.5 مدعو (mad^{c}uww) 1989

329 Revolts and independence 1991
329.1 ثورة (thawra) 1991
329.2 ثار (thāra) 1992
329.3 استقل (istaqalla) 1993
329.4 استقلال (istiqlāl) 1994
329.5 شعب (sha^{c}b) 1995

330 Prison 1997
330.1 سجن (sajana) 1997
330.2 سجين (sajīn) 1998
330.3 زنزانة (zinzāna) 1999
330.4 قيد (qayd) 2000
330.5 أفرج (afraja) 2001

331 Rising empires 2003
331.1 شيد (shayyada) 2003
331.2 سيطر (sayṭara) 2004
331.3 امتد (imtadda) 2005
331.4 ازدهر (izdahara) 2006

331.5 إمبراطور (imbarāṭūr) 2007

332 Leaving home 2009
332.1 هاجر (hājara) 2009
332.2 استقر (istaqarra) 2010
332.3 رحل (raḥala) 2011
332.4 نزح (nazaḥa) 2012
332.5 ودع (wadda^{c}a) 2013
332.6 (dialogue) 2014

333 Sailors and pirates 2017
333.1 غرق (ghariqa) 2017
333.2 بحار (baḥḥār) 2018
333.3 أسطول (usṭūl) 2019
333.4 قرصان (qurṣān) 2020
333.5 أسر (asara) 2021

334 A trial 2023
334.1 محاكمة (muḥākama) 2023
334.2 جلسة (jalsa) 2024
334.3 دفاع (difā^{c}) 2025
334.4 أدان (adāna) 2026
334.5 براءة (barā^{ɔ}a) 2027

335 Fairy-tale creatures 2029
335.1 ساحر (sāḥir) 2029
335.2 غول (ghūl) 2030
335.3 تنين (tinnīn) 2031
335.4 عملاق (^{c}imlāq) 2032
335.5 قزم (qazam) 2033

336 Gifts and blessings 2035
336.1 أهدى (ahdā) 2035
336.2 استقبل (istaqbala) 2036
336.3 بارك (bāraka) 2037
336.4 مهر (mahr) 2038
336.5 عشية (^{c}ashiyya) 2039

337 Wills and inheritance 2041
337.1 وصية (waṣiyya) 2041
337.2 ميراث (mīrāth) 2042
337.3 ورث (waritha) 2043
337.4 وارث (wārith) 2044
337.5 أرملة (armala) 2045

338 Remembering the dead 2047
338.1 تأبين (taʾbīn) 2047
338.2 ضريح (ḍarīḥ) 2048
338.3 وفاة (wafāh) 2049
338.4 مقبرة (maqbara) 2050
338.5 نعش (naᶜsh) 2051

339 Invasions 2053
339.1 غزا (ghazā) 2053
339.2 هاجم (hājama) 2054
339.3 احتل (iḥtalla) 2055
339.4 قاد (qāda) 2056
339.5 انسحب (insaḥaba) 2057

340 Rulers and tribes 2059
340.1 حاكم (ḥākim) 2059
340.2 سلطان (sulṭān) 2060
340.3 قبيلة (qabīla) 2061
340.4 بلاط (balāṭ) 2062
340.5 تولى (tawallā) 2063
340.6 (dialogue) 2064

341 Knights and treaties 2067
341.1 فارس (fāris) 2067
341.2 خوذة (khūdha) 2068
341.3 هدنة (hudna) 2069
341.4 معاهدة (muᶜāhada) 2070
341.5 خان (khāna) 2071

342 Heritage and inventions 2073
342.1 تراث (turāth) 2073
342.2 مخطوطة (makhṭūṭa) 2074
342.3 نقش (naqsh) 2075

342.4 لقب (laqab) 2076
342.5 اخترع (ikhtaraᶜa) 2077

343 Adventures 2079
343.1 مغامرة (mughāmara) 2079
343.2 مجهول (majhūl) 2080
343.3 مفاجأة (mufājaʾa) 2081
343.4 صدفة (ṣudfa) 2082
343.5 خاطر (khāṭara) 2083

344 In the fairy tale 2085
344.1 حطاب (ḥaṭṭāb) 2085
344.2 سحر (saḥara) 2086
344.3 تحول (taḥawwala) 2087
344.4 تحقق (taḥaqqaqa) 2088
344.5 انتقم (intaqama) 2089

345 Facing danger 2091
345.1 تحدى (taḥaddā) 2091
345.2 واجه (wājaha) 2092
345.3 تغلب (taghallaba) 2093
345.4 اقترب (iqtaraba) 2094
345.5 ابتعد (ibtaᶜada) 2095

346 Spies and suspects 2097
346.1 تجسس (tajassasa) 2097
346.2 تنكر (tanakkara) 2098
346.3 اشتبه (ishtabaha) 2099
346.4 تسلل (tasallala) 2100
346.5 طارد (ṭārada) 2101

347 A kidnapping 2103
347.1 اختطف (ikhtaṭafa) 2103
347.2 لحق (laḥiqa) 2104
347.3 رهينة (rahīna) 2105
347.4 فدية (fidya) 2106
347.5 خاطف (khāṭif) 2107

348 Charges and penalties 2109
348.1 تهمة (tuhma) 2109
348.2 جناية (jināya) 2110
348.3 عقوبة (ᶜuqūba) 2111
348.4 عاقب (ᶜāqaba) 2112
348.5 بلغ (ballagha) 2113
348.6 (dialogue) 2114

349 For the first time 2117
349.1 للمرة الأولى (li-l-marra al-ūlā) 2117
349.2 عن طريق الخطأ (ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ) 2118
349.3 أمس أول (awwal ams) 2119
349.4 ما يوما (yawman mā) 2120
349.5 عقب (ᶜaqiba) 2121

350 Publishing 2123
350.1 ناشر (nāshir) 2123
350.2 طبعة (ṭabᶜa) 2124
350.3 نسخة (nuskha) 2125
350.4 منشور (manshūr) 2126
350.5 ملحق (mulḥaq) 2127

351 Tricks and lies 2129
351.1 خدع (khadaᶜa) 2129
351.2 غش (ghashsha) 2130
351.3 احتال (iḥtāla) 2131
351.4 زور (zawwara) 2132
351.5 أخفى (akhfā) 2133

352 Fines and quarrels 2135
352.1 مخالفة (mukhālafa) 2135
352.2 غرامة (gharāma) 2136
352.3 شجار (shijār) 2137
352.4 ضجة (ḍajja) 2138
352.5 حشد (ḥashd) 2139

353 Crowds in the street 2141
353.1 مظاهرة (muẓāhara) 2141
353.2 تجمع (tajammaᶜa) 2142
353.3 هتف (hatafa) 2143

353.4 اقتحم (iqtaḥama) 2144
353.5 انتشر (intashara) 2145

354 After the blast 2147
354.1 حطام (ḥuṭām) 2147
354.2 رماد (ramād) 2148
354.3 شرارة (sharāra) 2149
354.4 لهب (lahab) 2150
354.5 تسرب (tasarraba) 2151

355 Breaking news 2153
355.1 عاجل (ᶜājil) 2153
355.2 مدونة (mudawwana) 2154
355.3 تعليق (taᶜlīq) 2155
355.4 افتتاحية (iftitāḥiyya) 2156
355.5 نفى (nafā) 2157

356 Viewers and listeners 2159
356.1 متابع (mutābiᶜ) 2159
356.2 مشاهد (mushāhid) 2160
356.3 مستمع (mustamiᶜ) 2161
356.4 مصور (muṣawwir) 2162
356.5 غطى (ghaṭṭā) 2163
356.6 (dialogue) 2164

357 Speeches and openings 2167
357.1 خطاب (khiṭāb) 2167
357.2 ألقى (alqā) 2168
357.3 انعقد (inᶜaqada) 2169
357.4 افتتح (iftataḥa) 2170
357.5 اختتم (ikhtatama) 2171
357.6 (dialogue) 2172
357.7 (dialogue) 2173

358 Arguments and proof 2175
358.1 حجة (ḥujja) 2175
358.2 مبدأ (mabdaʾ) 2176
358.3 برهان (burhān) 2177
358.4 أثبت (athbata) 2178
358.5 أقنع (aqnaᶜa) 2179

359 Points of view 2181
359.1 انطباع (inṭibāᶜ) 2181
359.2 منظور (manẓūr) 2182
359.3 افترض (iftaraḍa) 2183
359.4 اقترح (iqtaraḥa) 2184
359.5 مقنع (muqniᶜ) 2185

360 Agreeing and objecting 2187
360.1 وافق (wāfaqa) 2187
360.2 اعترض (iᶜtaraḍa) 2188
360.3 إجماع (ijmāᶜ) 2189
360.4 جادل (jādala) 2190
360.5 جدل (jadal) 2191

361 Issues and questions 2193
361.1 قضية (qaḍiyya) 2193
361.2 مسألة (masʾala) 2194
361.3 سياق (siyāq) 2195
361.4 أثار (athāra) 2196
361.5 تساءل (tasāʾala) 2197

362 Logic and the mind 2199
362.1 منطق (manṭiq) 2199
362.2 مغالطة (mughālaṭa) 2200
362.3 عقل (ᶜaql) 2201
362.4 استنتج (istantaja) 2202
362.5 تناقض (tanāquḍ) 2203

363 Theories and concepts 2205
363.1 نظرية (naẓariyya) 2205
363.2 فرضية (farḍiyya) 2206
363.3 مفهوم (mafhūm) 2207
363.4 ظاهرة (ẓāhira) 2208
363.5 فسر (fassara) 2209

364 Analysing things 2211
364.1 حلل (ḥallala) 2211
364.2 عنصر (ᶜunṣur) 2212
364.3 معيار (miᶜyār) 2213
364.4 حدد (ḥaddada) 2214

364.5 ميز (mayyaza) 2215

365 Fact and fancy 2217
365.1 حقيقة (ḥaqīqa) 2217
365.2 واقع (wāqi^{c}) 2218
365.3 خيال (khayāl) 2219
365.4 فند (fannada) 2220
365.5 اقتنع (iqtana^{c}a) 2221
365.6 (dialogue) 2222

366 Claims and doubts 2225
366.1 ادعى (idda^{c}ā) 2225
366.2 زعم (za^{c}ama) 2226
366.3 شكك (shakkaka) 2227
366.4 صدق (ṣaddaqa) 2228
366.5 استدل (istadalla) 2229

367 Grasping ideas 2231
367.1 أدرك (adraka) 2231
367.2 تصور (taṣawwara) 2232
367.3 استوعب (istaw^{c}aba) 2233
367.4 وعي (wa^{c}y) 2234
367.5 معرفة (ma^{c}rifa) 2235

368 What matters 2237
368.1 أهمية (ahammiyya) 2237
368.2 قيمة (qīma) 2238
368.3 ركز (rakkaza) 2239
368.4 أهمل (ahmala) 2240
368.5 اهتم (ihtamma) 2241

369 Advice and hesitation 2243
369.1 نصح (naṣaḥa) 2243
369.2 لمح (lammaḥa) 2244
369.3 شجع (shajja^{c}a) 2245
369.4 تردد (taraddada) 2246
369.5 بديل (badīl) 2247

370 Criticism and excuses 2249
370.1 انتقد (intaqada) . . . 2249
370.2 عارض (ᶜāraḍa) . . . 2250
370.3 برر (barrara) . . . 2251
370.4 بالغ (bālagha) . . . 2252
370.5 عمم (ᶜammama) . . . 2253

371 Aims and means 2255
371.1 وسيلة (wasīla) . . . 2255
371.2 سعى (saᶜā) . . . 2256
371.3 أنجز (anjaza) . . . 2257
371.4 ساهم (sāhama) . . . 2258
371.5 حافز (ḥāfiz) . . . 2259

372 Obstacles 2261
372.1 عقبة (ᶜaqaba) . . . 2261
372.2 صعوبة (ṣuᶜūba) . . . 2262
372.3 معضلة (muᶜḍila) . . . 2263
372.4 أخفق (akhfaqa) . . . 2264
372.5 تمكن (tamakkana) . . . 2265

373 Taking a stand 2267
373.1 انحاز (inḥāza) . . . 2267
373.2 تمسك (tamassaka) . . . 2268
373.3 تنازل (tanāzala) . . . 2269
373.4 تراجع (tarājaᶜa) . . . 2270
373.5 حسم (ḥasama) . . . 2271
373.6 (dialogue) . . . 2272

374 Linking reasons 2275
374.1 بالتالي (bi-t-tālī) . . . 2275
374.2 السبب لهذا (li-hādhā as-sabab) . . . 2276
374.3 أن بما (bi-mā anna) . . . 2277
374.4 إن حيث (ḥaythu inna) . . . 2278
374.5 لكي (li-kay) . . . 2279

375 Contrast and addition 2281
375.1 ذلك مع (maᶜa dhālika) . . . 2281
375.2 أن إلا (illā anna) . . . 2282
375.3 أما (ammā) . . . 2283

375.4 كذلك (kadhālika) 2284
375.5 على علاوة (ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā) 2285

376 Fields of study 2287
376.1 فلسفة (falsafa) 2287
376.2 لغويات (lughawiyyāt) 2288
376.3 فيلسوف (faylasūf) 2289
376.4 خبير (khabīr) 2290
376.5 أكاديمي (akādīmī) 2291

377 Government 2293
377.1 حكومة (ḥukūma) 2293
377.2 وزير (wazīr) 2294
377.3 وزارة (wizāra) 2295
377.4 برلمان (barlamān) 2296
377.5 دستور (dustūr) 2297

378 Elections 2299
378.1 انتخاب (intikhāb) 2299
378.2 انتخب (intakhaba) 2300
378.3 صوت (ṣawwata) 2301
378.4 ناخب (nākhib) 2302
378.5 مرشح (murashshaḥ) 2303

379 Parties and campaigns 2305
379.1 حزب (ḥizb) 2305
379.2 حملة (ḥamla) 2306
379.3 ترشح (tarashshaḥa) 2307
379.4 ناشط (nāshiṭ) 2308
379.5 ديمقراطية (dīmuqrāṭiyya) 2309

380 Justice and fairness 2311
380.1 عدالة (ᶜadāla) 2311
380.2 مساواة (musāwāh) 2312
380.3 ظالم (ẓālim) 2313
380.4 عادل (ᶜādil) 2314
380.5 استحق (istaḥaqqa) 2315

381 Social problems 2317
381.1 فقر (faqr) 2317
381.2 بطالة (baṭāla) 2318
381.3 تمييز (tamyīz) 2319
381.4 عنف (ᶜunf) 2320
381.5 عانى (ᶜānā) 2321
381.6 (dialogue) 2322

382 Protest 2325
382.1 احتجاج (iḥtijāj) 2325
382.2 كرامة (karāma) 2326
382.3 تظاهر (taẓāhara) 2327
382.4 احتج (iḥtajja) 2328
382.5 إضراب (iḍrāb) 2329

383 The economy 2331
383.1 اقتصاد (iqtiṣād) 2331
383.2 ضريبة (ḍarība) 2332
383.3 عجز (ᶜajz) 2333
383.4 تضخم (taḍakhkhum) 2334
383.5 استثمر (istathmara) 2335

384 Funding and development 2337
384.1 مول (mawwala) 2337
384.2 خصص (khaṣṣaṣa) 2338
384.3 صناعة (ṣināᶜa) 2339
384.4 زراعة (zirāᶜa) 2340
384.5 تنمية (tanmiya) 2341

385 Organizations 2343
385.1 منظمة (munaẓẓama) 2343
385.2 جمعية (jamᶜiyya) 2344
385.3 نقابة (niqāba) 2345
385.4 مجلس (majlis) 2346
385.5 عضو (ᶜuḍw) 2347

386 Working together 2349
386.1 تعاون (taᶜāwana) 2349
386.2 تفاوض (tafāwaḍa) 2350
386.3 صادق (ṣādaqa) 2351

386.4 صراع (ṣirā^{c}) 2352
386.5 أزمة (azma) 2353

387 People and nations 2355
387.1 هجرة (hijra) 2355
387.2 أمة (umma) 2356
387.3 جنسية (jinsiyya) 2357
387.4 أغلبية (aghlabiyya) 2358
387.5 أقلية (aqalliyya) 2359

388 Corruption and reform 2361
388.1 فساد (fasād) 2361
388.2 رشوة (rashwa) 2362
388.3 إصلاح (iṣlāḥ) 2363
388.4 انتهك (intahaka) 2364
388.5 استغل (istaghalla) 2365

389 Power and influence 2367
389.1 نفوذ (nufūdh) 2367
389.2 ساد (sāda) 2368
389.3 انضم (inḍamma) 2369
389.4 أجبر (ajbara) 2370
389.5 استقرار (istiqrār) 2371
389.6 (dialogue) 2372

390 University life 2375
390.1 كلية (kulliyya) 2375
390.2 تخصص (takhaṣṣuṣ) 2376
390.3 عميد (^{c}amīd) 2377
390.4 منحة (minḥa) 2378
390.5 التحق (iltaḥaqa) 2379

391 Research 2381
391.1 باحث (bāḥith) 2381
391.2 دراسة (dirāsa) 2382
391.3 مختبر (mukhtabar) 2383
391.4 معهد (ma^{c}had) 2384
391.5 استبيان (istibyān) 2385

392 Lecturers and supervisors 2387
392.1 محاضر (muḥāḍir) 2387
392.2 أستاذ (ustādh) 2388
392.3 أشرف (ashrafa) 2389
392.4 مشرف (mushrif) 2390
392.5 ذاكر (dhākara) 2391

393 Tests and admission 2393
393.1 اختبار (ikhtibār) 2393
393.2 قبول (qabūl) 2394
393.3 معدل (mu^{c}addal) 2395
393.4 تفوق (tafawwaqa) 2396
393.5 قيم (qayyama) 2397

394 Learning well 2399
394.1 أتقن (atqana) 2399
394.2 اكتسب (iktasaba) 2400
394.3 تعمق (ta^{c}ammaqa) 2401
394.4 لخص (lakhkhaṣa) 2402
394.5 ملخص (mulakhkhaṣ) 2403

395 Reading and quoting 2405
395.1 مرجع (marji^{c}) 2405
395.2 استشهد (istashhada) 2406
395.3 اقتبس (iqtabasa) 2407
395.4 طالع (ṭāla^{c}a) 2408
395.5 تأمل (ta^{ɔ}ammala) 2409

396 Terms and theses 2411
396.1 مصطلح (muṣṭalaḥ) 2411
396.2 تعريف (ta^{c}rīf) 2412
396.3 فهرس (fihris) 2413
396.4 أطروحة (uṭrūḥa) 2414
396.5 منهج (manhaj) 2415

397 Degrees and training 2417
397.1 بكالوريوس (bakālūriyūs) 2417
397.2 ماجستير (mājistīr) 2418
397.3 دكتوراه (duktūrāh) 2419
397.4 مقرر (muqarrar) 2420

397.5 تدريب (tadrīb) 2421
397.6 (dialogue) 2422

398 Schooling 2425
398.1 تعليم (ta^{c}līm) 2425
398.2 تربية (tarbiya) 2426
398.3 روضة (rawḍa) 2427
398.4 محو الأمية (maḥw al-ummiyya) 2428
398.5 حضور (ḥuḍūr) 2429

399 If and unless 2431
399.1 إذا إلا (illā idhā) 2431
399.2 حال في (fī ḥāl) 2432
399.3 بشرط أن (bi-sharṭi an) 2433
399.4 طالما (ṭālamā) 2434
399.5 وإلا (wa-illā) 2435

400 Whatever and wherever 2437
400.1 لولا (lawlā) 2437
400.2 مهما (mahmā) 2438
400.3 كلما (kullamā) 2439
400.4 سواء (sawāʾ) 2440
400.5 أينما (aynamā) 2441

401 Likely or not 2443
401.1 احتمال (iḥtimāl) 2443
401.2 محتمل (muḥtamal) 2444
401.3 احتمل (iḥtamala) 2445
401.4 رجح (rajjaḥa) 2446
401.5 استبعد (istab^{c}ada) 2447

402 How sure 2449
402.1 حتما (ḥatman) 2449
402.2 بالضرورة (bi-ḍ-ḍarūra) 2450
402.3 نسبيا (nisbiyyan) 2451
402.4 إطلاقا (iṭlāqan) 2452
402.5 يقين (yaqīn) 2453

403 Sure and unsure 2455
403.1 تيقن (tayaqqana) 2455
403.2 ارتاب (irtāba) 2456
403.3 مستحيل (mustaḥīl) 2457
403.4 الأرجح على (ᶜalā al-arjaḥ) 2458
403.5 عموما (ᶜumūman) 2459

404 Conditions 2461
404.1 شرط (sharṭ) 2461
404.2 اشترط (ishtaraṭa) 2462
404.3 لو حتى (ḥattā law) 2463
404.4 لو كما (kamā law) 2464
404.5 ضمن (ḍamina) 2465

405 Exceptions 2467
405.1 استثناء (istithnāʾ) 2467
405.2 استثنى (istathnā) 2468
405.3 شمل (shamila) 2469
405.4 تضمن (taḍammana) 2470
405.5 تعلق (taᶜallaqa) 2471
405.6 (dialogue) 2472

406 What it takes 2475
406.1 تطلب (taṭallaba) 2475
406.2 توفر (tawaffara) 2476
406.3 كفى (kafā) 2477
406.4 افتقر (iftaqara) 2478
406.5 إجراء (ijrāʾ) 2479

407 Avoiding trouble 2481
407.1 تعذر (taᶜadhdhara) 2481
407.2 استلزم (istalzama) 2482
407.3 تجنب (tajannaba) 2483
407.4 تفادى (tafādā) 2484
407.5 طرأ (ṭaraʾa) 2485

408 Gains and losses 2487
408.1 استفاد (istafāda) 2487
408.2 تمتع (tamattaᶜa) 2488
408.3 حرم (ḥarama) 2489

408.4 رفاهية (rafāhiyya) 2490
408.5 رعاية (ri^{c}āya) 2491

409 Laws 2493
409.1 قانون (qānūn) 2493
409.2 تشريع (tashrī^{c}) 2494
409.3 بند (band) 2495
409.4 نص (naṣṣa) 2496
409.5 شرع (sharra^{c}a) 2497

410 Allowed or required 2499
410.1 أباح (abāḥa) 2499
410.2 أوجب (awjaba) 2500
410.3 خالف (khālafa) 2501
410.4 التزم (iltazama) 2502
410.5 أعفى (a^{c}fā) 2503

411 Rules and wrongs 2505
411.1 أجاز (ajāza) 2505
411.2 خضع (khaḍa^{c}a) 2506
411.3 ظلم (ẓalama) 2507
411.4 كافح (kāfaḥa) 2508
411.5 أقر (aqarra) 2509

412 Going up and down 2511
412.1 ازداد (izdāda) 2511
412.2 تقلص (taqallaṣa) 2512
412.3 تضاعف (taḍā^{c}afa) 2513
412.4 قلل (qallala) 2514
412.5 نسبة (nisba) 2515

413 Change over time 2517
413.1 تطور (taṭawwara) 2517
413.2 نما (namā) 2518
413.3 تفاقم (tafāqama) 2519
413.4 تكرر (takarrara) 2520
413.5 دام (dāma) 2521
413.6 (dialogue) 2522

414 Outcomes 2525
414.1 نتج (nataja) 2525
414.2 ترتب (tarattaba) 2526
414.3 انعكس (inᶜakasa) 2527
414.4 عاقبة (ᶜāqiba) 2528
414.5 تأثير (taʾthīr) 2529

415 Leaving a mark 2531
415.1 إنجاز (injāz) 2531
415.2 تأثر (taʾaththara) 2532
415.3 تبين (tabayyana) 2533
415.4 توصل (tawaṣṣala) 2534
415.5 مستوى (mustawā) 2535

416 Instead and besides 2537
416.1 تبنى (tabannā) 2537
416.2 من بدلا (badalan min) 2538
416.3 إلى بالإضافة (bi-l-iḍāfa ilā) 2539
416.4 تأمين (taʾmīn) 2540
416.5 سوى (siwā) 2541

417 Clear or vague 2543
417.1 غامض (ghāmiḍ) 2543
417.2 صريح (ṣarīḥ) 2544
417.3 محدد (muḥaddad) 2545
417.4 اتضح (ittaḍaḥa) 2546
417.5 أشار (ashāra) 2547

418 Stronger or weaker 2549
418.1 عزز (ᶜazzaza) 2549
418.2 أضعف (aḍᶜafa) 2550
418.3 طور (ṭawwara) 2551
418.4 فعالية (faᶜᶜāliyya) 2552
418.5 مستقل (mustaqill) 2553

419 Positive and negative 2555
419.1 إيجابي (ījābī) 2555
419.2 سلبي (salbī) 2556
419.3 أساسي (asāsī) 2557
419.4 ثانوي (thānawī) 2558

419.5 شامل (shāmil) 2559

420 Responding 2561
420.1 استجاب (istajāba) 2561
420.2 تجاهل (tajāhala) 2562
420.3 رشح (rashshaḥa) 2563
420.4 تساوى (tasāwā) 2564
420.5 مشترك (mushtarak) 2565

421 Chances and discoveries 2567
421.1 فرصة (furṣa) 2567
421.2 لعل (la^{c}alla) 2568
421.3 اكتشاف (iktishāf) 2569
421.4 ذكاء (dhakā^{ɔ}) 2570
421.5 اجتهاد (ijtihād) 2571
421.6 (dialogue) 2572

422 Being fair 2575
422.1 موضوعي (mawḍū^{c}ī) 2575
422.2 تسامح (tasāmuḥ) 2576
422.3 مبرر (mubarrir) 2577
422.4 غياب (ghiyāb) 2578
422.5 استنكر (istankara) 2579
422.6 (dialogue) 2580
422.7 (dialogue) 2581

423 At the gate 2583
423.1 بوابة (bawwāba) 2583
423.2 مقعد (maq^{c}ad) 2584
423.3 حجز (ḥajaza) 2585
423.4 صعود (ṣu^{c}ūd) 2586
423.5 مدرج (madraj) 2587

424 Takeoff and landing 2589
424.1 أقلع (aqla^{c}a) 2589
424.2 هبط (habaṭa) 2590
424.3 إقلاع (iqlā^{c}) 2591
424.4 أمان حزام (ḥizām amān) 2592
424.5 طاقم (ṭāqam) 2593

425 On board 2595
425.1 مضيف (muḍīf) 2595
425.2 راكب (rākib) 2596
425.3 وجهة (wijha) 2597
425.4 شد (shadda) 2598
425.5 وصول (wuṣūl) 2599

426 Through customs 2601
426.1 جمارك (jamārik) 2601
426.2 فتش (fattasha) 2602
426.3 ختم (khatama) 2603
426.4 أفرغ (afragha) 2604
426.5 صادر (ṣādara) 2605

427 Planning a trip 2607
427.1 مسافة (masāfa) 2607
427.2 تأكد (taʾakkada) 2608
427.3 عدل (ᶜaddala) 2609
427.4 استأجر (istaʾjara) 2610
427.5 ظهر حقيبة (ḥaqībat ẓahr) 2611

428 On the railway 2613
428.1 سكة حديد (sikkat ḥadīd) 2613
428.2 عربة (ᶜaraba) 2614
428.3 مقصورة (maqṣūra) 2615
428.4 مترو (mitrū) 2616
428.5 أنزل (anzala) 2617

429 By boat 2619
429.1 قبطان (qubṭān) 2619
429.2 قارب (qārib) 2620
429.3 عبارة (ᶜabbāra) 2621
429.4 أبحر (abḥara) 2622
429.5 رسا (rasā) 2623

430 In the harbour 2625
430.1 مرفأ (marfaʾ) 2625
430.2 مرسى (marsā) 2626
430.3 منارة (manāra) 2627
430.4 زورق (zawraq) 2628

430.5 جدف (jaddafa) 2629
430.6 (dialogue) 2630

431 Traffic 2633
431.1 نفق (nafaq) 2633
431.2 إشارة (ishāra) 2634
431.3 مرور (murūr) 2635
431.4 ازدحام (izdiḥām) 2636
431.5 انعطف (in^{c}aṭafa) 2637

432 Fuel and engines 2639
432.1 وقود (waqūd) 2639
432.2 بنزين (banzīn) 2640
432.3 محرك (muḥarrik) 2641
432.4 فرامل (farāmil) 2642
432.5 زود (zawwada) 2643

433 A flat tyre 2645
433.1 إطار (iṭār) 2645
433.2 عجلة (^{c}ajala) 2646
433.3 ثقب (thuqb) 2647
433.4 مضخة (miḍakhkha) 2648
433.5 جر (jarra) 2649

434 Licences and rules 2651
434.1 رخصة (rukhṣa) 2651
434.2 منعطف (mun^{c}aṭaf) 2652
434.3 جدد (jaddada) 2653
434.4 أصدر (aṣdara) 2654
434.5 تجاوز (tajāwaza) 2655

435 Routes and fares 2657
435.1 مسار (masār) 2657
435.2 أجرة (ujra) 2658
435.3 اشتراك (ishtirāk) 2659
435.4 مشاة ممر (mamarr mushāh) 2660
435.5 استدار (istadāra) 2661

436 Around the station 2663
436.1 مرآب (mirʾāb) 2663
436.2 كشك (kushk) 2664
436.3 شباك (shubbāk) 2665
436.4 حمال (ḥammāl) 2666
436.5 تنقل (tanaqqala) 2667

437 Finding the way 2669
437.1 بوصلة (būṣala) 2669
437.2 سرعة (surᶜa) 2670
437.3 مرشد (murshid) 2671
437.4 أرشد (arshada) 2672
437.5 سير خط (khaṭṭ sayr) 2673

438 Sightseeing 2675
438.1 سياحة (siyāḥa) 2675
438.2 جولة (jawla) 2676
438.3 نزهة (nuzha) 2677
438.4 تجول (tajawwala) 2678
438.5 رحالة (raḥḥāla) 2679
438.6 (dialogue) 2680

439 Landmarks 2683
439.1 منظر (manẓar) 2683
439.2 برج (burj) 2684
439.3 نصب (nuṣb) 2685
439.4 استكشف (istakshafa) 2686
439.5 اصطحب (iṣṭaḥaba) 2687

440 Breaks and souvenirs 2689
440.1 نافورة (nāfūra) 2689
440.2 تذكار (tidhkār) 2690
440.3 استراحة (istirāḥa) 2691
440.4 رافق (rāfaqa) 2692
440.5 أوصل (awṣala) 2693

441 At reception 2695
441.1 استقبال (istiqbāl) 2695
441.2 نزيل (nazīl) 2696
441.3 إقامة (iqāma) 2697

441.4 غادر (ghādara) 2698
441.5 أخلى (akhlā) 2699

442 Camps and resorts 2701
442.1 مخيم (mukhayyam) 2701
442.2 منتجع (muntaja^{c}) 2702
442.3 شاليه (shālīh) 2703
442.4 أشعل (ash^{c}ala) 2704
442.5 صنوبر (ṣanawbar) 2705

443 Bed and view 2707
443.1 بواب (bawwāb) 2707
443.2 ملاءة (mulāʾa) 2708
443.3 نظافة (naẓāfa) 2709
443.4 أطل (aṭalla) 2710
443.5 خزنة (khazna) 2711

444 Power and light 2713
444.1 كهرباء (kahrabāʾ) 2713
444.2 سخن (sakhkhana) 2714
444.3 انقطع (inqaṭa^{c}a) 2715
444.4 محول (muḥawwil) 2716
444.5 أنار (anāra) 2717

445 Trams and lorries 2719
445.1 ترام (trām) 2719
445.2 شاحنة (shāḥina) 2720
445.3 مقود (miqwad) 2721
445.4 تمهل (tamahhala) 2722
445.5 عرقل (^{c}arqala) 2723

446 Good service 2725
446.1 بقشيش (baqshīsh) 2725
446.2 خدمة (khidma) 2726
446.3 خدم (khadama) 2727
446.4 رحب (raḥḥaba) 2728
446.5 أوصى (awṣā) 2729
446.6 (dialogue) 2730

447 Fixing the room 2733
447.1 دش (dush) 2733
447.2 مكواة (mikwāh) 2734
447.3 مجفف (mujaffif) 2735
447.4 تعطل (taᶜaṭṭala) 2736
447.5 تفقد (tafaqqada) 2737

448 A noisy night 2739
448.1 ضجيج (ḍajīj) 2739
448.2 أزعج (azᶜaja) 2740
448.3 أيقظ (ayqaẓa) 2741
448.4 هدأ (hadaʾa) 2742
448.5 اشتكى (ishtakā) 2743

449 Making a complaint 2745
449.1 شكوى (shakwā) 2745
449.2 تعويض (taᶜwīḍ) 2746
449.3 عوض (ᶜawwaḍa) 2747
449.4 تذمر (tadhammara) 2748
449.5 استبدل (istabdala) 2749

450 Town hall and consulate 2751
450.1 بلدية (baladiyya) 2751
450.2 قنصلية (qunṣuliyya) 2752
450.3 دوام (dawām) 2753
450.4 طابور (ṭābūr) 2754
450.5 تقدم (taqaddama) 2755

451 Offices and enquiries 2757
451.1 مخفر (makhfar) 2757
451.2 مكتبة (maktaba) 2758
451.3 استفسر (istafsara) 2759
451.4 راجع (rājaᶜa) 2760
451.5 حظر (ḥaẓara) 2761

452 At the bank 2763
452.1 فرع (farᶜ) 2763
452.2 رصيد (raṣīd) 2764
452.3 حوالة (ḥawāla) 2765
452.4 صرف (ṣarafa) 2766

452.5 أودع (awdaᶜa) 2767

453 Paying up 2769
453.1 قسط (qisṭ) 2769
453.2 نقدا (naqdan) 2770
453.3 آلي صراف (ṣarrāf ālī) 2771
453.4 استرد (istaradda) 2772
453.5 عداد (ᶜaddād) 2773

454 City buildings 2775
454.1 عمارة (ᶜimāra) 2775
454.2 سحاب ناطحة (nāṭiḥat saḥāb) 2776
454.3 ضاحية (ḍāḥiya) 2777
454.4 مسبح (masbaḥ) 2778
454.5 تجاري مجمع (mujammaᶜ tijārī) 2779
454.6 (dialogue) 2780

455 Shop windows 2783
455.1 منتج (muntaj) 2783
455.2 ماركة (mārka) 2784
455.3 واجهة (wājiha) 2785
455.4 عرض (ᶜaraḍa) 2786
455.5 بسطة (basṭa) 2787

456 Finding the right size 2789
456.1 حجم (ḥajm) 2789
456.2 صنف (ṣinf) 2790
456.3 عينة (ᶜayyina) 2791
456.4 ناسب (nāsaba) 2792
456.5 ضاق (ḍāqa) 2793

457 The sales 2795
457.1 تخفيض (takhfīḍ) 2795
457.2 قسيمة (qasīma) 2796
457.3 خفض (khaffaḍa) 2797
457.4 رخص (rakhuṣa) 2798
457.5 أنفق (anfaqa) 2799

458 Guarantees and swaps 2801
458.1 ضمان (ḍamān) 2801
458.2 سعر (si^{c}r) 2802
458.3 سلعة (sil^{c}a) 2803
458.4 أرجع (arja^{c}a) 2804
458.5 قايض (qāyaḍa) 2805

459 Spending wisely 2807
459.1 مستهلك (mustahlik) 2807
459.2 ميزانية (mīzāniyya) 2808
459.3 مصاريف (maṣārīf) 2809
459.4 مشتريات (mushtarayāt) 2810
459.5 اقتصد (iqtaṣada) 2811

460 When things break 2813
460.1 عطل (^{c}uṭl) 2813
460.2 خلل (khalal) 2814
460.3 انكسر (inkasara) 2815
460.4 تلف (talifa) 2816
460.5 تضرر (taḍarrara) 2817

461 Cancelled and postponed 2819
461.1 إلغاء (ilghā^{ɔ}) 2819
461.2 تأجيل (ta^{ɔ}jīl) 2820
461.3 ألغى (alghā) 2821
461.4 فوت (fawwata) 2822
461.5 ضيع (ḍayya^{c}a) 2823

462 Getting ready to go 2825
462.1 استعد (ista^{c}adda) 2825
462.2 اختصر (ikhtaṣara) 2826
462.3 نفد (nafida) 2827
462.4 اتسع (ittasa^{c}a) 2828
462.5 رفع (rafa^{c}a) 2829
462.6 (dialogue) 2830

463 The climate 2833
463.1 مناخ (munākh) 2833
463.2 احتباس حراري (iḥtibās ḥarārī) 2834
463.3 غلاف جوي (ghilāf jawwī) 2835

463.4 انبعاث (inbiᶜāth) 2836
463.5 كربون (karbūn) 2837

464 Pollution 2839
464.1 تلوث (talawwuth) 2839
464.2 ملوث (mulawwath) 2840
464.3 نفايات (nufāyāt) 2841
464.4 لوث (lawwatha) 2842
464.5 فرز (faraza) 2843

465 Energy 2845
465.1 طاقة (ṭāqa) 2845
465.2 غاز (ghāz) 2846
465.3 نفط (nafṭ) 2847
465.4 فحم (faḥm) 2848
465.5 استهلك (istahlaka) 2849

466 Dust and dunes 2851
466.1 غبار (ghubār) 2851
466.2 مغبر (mughbarr) 2852
466.3 تصحر (taṣaḥḥur) 2853
466.4 كثيب (kathīb) 2854
466.5 اختنق (ikhtanaqa) 2855

467 Protecting nature 2857
467.1 محمية (maḥmiyya) 2857
467.2 مهدد (muhaddad) 2858
467.3 حافظ (ḥāfaẓa) 2859
467.4 انقرض (inqaraḍa) 2860
467.5 أهدر (ahdara) 2861

468 Plants 2863
468.1 نبات (nabāt) 2863
468.2 شجيرة (shujayra) 2864
468.3 ذبل (dhabala) 2865
468.4 أزهر (azhara) 2866
468.5 أثمر (athmara) 2867

469 Soil and crops 2869
469.1 تربة (turba) 2869
469.2 سماد (samād) 2870
469.3 محصول (maḥṣūl) 2871
469.4 خصب (khaṣib) 2872
469.5 اقتلع (iqtalaᶜa) 2873

470 Springs and rivers 2875
470.1 ينبوع (yanbūᶜ) 2875
470.2 منبع (manbaᶜ) 2876
470.3 مصب (maṣabb) 2877
470.4 ضفة (ḍiffa) 2878
470.5 عذب (ᶜadhb) 2879
470.6 (dialogue) 2880

471 Bays and oceans 2883
471.1 خليج (khalīj) 2883
471.2 محيط (muḥīṭ) 2884
471.3 مرجان (marjān) 2885
471.4 تيار (tayyār) 2886
471.5 عمق (ᶜumq) 2887

472 Rocks and peaks 2889
472.1 صخرة (ṣakhra) 2889
472.2 هضبة (haḍba) 2890
472.3 قمة (qimma) 2891
472.4 منحدر (munḥadar) 2892
472.5 حافة (ḥāffa) 2893

473 Desert and jungle 2895
473.1 واحة (wāḥa) 2895
473.2 سراب (sarāb) 2896
473.3 أدغال (adghāl) 2897
473.4 مستنقع (mustanqaᶜ) 2898
473.5 قاحل (qāḥil) 2899

474 Birds 2901
474.1 صقر (ṣaqr) 2901
474.2 نعامة (naᶜāma) 2902
474.3 نورس (nawras) 2903

474.4 ريشة (rīsha) 2904
474.5 طفا (ṭafā) 2905

475 Wild animals 2907
475.1 ضبع (ḍab^{c}) 2907
475.2 فهد (fahd) 2908
475.3 قنفذ (qunfudh) 2909
475.4 سنجاب (sinjāb) 2910
475.5 خفاش (khuffāsh) 2911

476 Small creatures 2913
476.1 عقرب (^{c}aqrab) 2913
476.2 جرادة (jarāda) 2914
476.3 طحلب (ṭuḥlub) 2915
476.4 مخلب (mikhlab) 2916
476.5 افترس (iftarasa) 2917

477 Under the sea 2919
477.1 قرش (qirsh) 2919
477.2 سلطعون (salṭa^{c}ūn) 2920
477.3 محار (maḥār) 2921
477.4 نقي (naqī) 2922
477.5 مضيق (maḍīq) 2923

478 Herds and pastures 2925
478.1 قطيع (qaṭī^{c}) 2925
478.2 مرعى (mar^{c}ā) 2926
478.3 قفص (qafaṣ) 2927
478.4 فرو (farw) 2928
478.5 رعى (ra^{c}ā) 2929
478.6 (dialogue) 2930

479 A day in the hills 2933
479.1 تزلج (tazallaja) 2933
479.2 وحش (waḥsh) 2934
479.3 كيس (kīs) 2935
479.4 تبادل (tabādala) 2936
479.5 حزم (ḥazama) 2937

480 The forecast 2939
480.1 جوية نشرة (nashra jawwiyya) 2939
480.2 درجة (daraja) 2940
480.3 ارتفع (irtafa^{c}a) 2941
480.4 انخفض (inkhafaḍa) 2942
480.5 معتدل (mu^{c}tadil) 2943

481 Rain 2945
481.1 زخة (zakhkha) 2945
481.2 رذاذ (radhādh) 2946
481.3 وابل (wābil) 2947
481.4 هطل (haṭala) 2948
481.5 صفا (ṣafā) 2949

482 Wind and storms 2951
482.1 نسيم (nasīm) 2951
482.2 إعصار (i^{c}ṣār) 2952
482.3 عصف (^{c}aṣafa) 2953
482.4 اشتد (ishtadda) 2954
482.5 خطر (khaṭar) 2955

483 Cold 2957
483.1 برودة (burūda) 2957
483.2 بارد (bārid) 2958
483.3 قارس (qāris) 2959
483.4 صقيع (ṣaqī^{c}) 2960
483.5 برد (barada) 2961

484 Heat 2963
484.1 حر موجة (mawjat ḥarr) 2963
484.2 خانق (khāniq) 2964
484.3 رطوبة (ruṭūba) 2965
484.4 جفاف (jafāf) 2966
484.5 تبخر (tabakhkhara) 2967

485 Sky and light 2969
485.1 صحو (ṣaḥw) 2969
485.2 قزح قوس (qaws quzaḥ) 2970
485.3 ندى (nadā) 2971
485.4 أشرق (ashraqa) 2972

485.5 أظلم (aẓlama) 2973

486 Changing weather 2975
486.1 تقلب (taqallaba) 2975
486.2 تدهور (tadahwara) 2976
486.3 تساقط (tasāqaṭa) 2977
486.4 منعش (munᶜish) 2978
486.5 تعرض (taᶜarraḍa) 2979
486.6 (dialogue) 2980

487 Floods and shelter 2983
487.1 غمر (ghamara) 2983
487.2 جرف (jarafa) 2984
487.3 احتمى (iḥtamā) 2985
487.4 لجأ (lajaʾa) 2986
487.5 ملجأ (maljaʾ) 2987
487.6 (dialogue) 2988
487.7 (dialogue) 2988

488 Happy, bored, angry and sad 2991
488.1 سعادة (saᶜāda) 2991
488.2 ملل (malal) 2992
488.3 غضب (ghaḍiba) 2993
488.4 حزن (ḥazina) 2994
488.5 تنهد (tanahhada) 2995

489 Panic, terror and calm 2997
489.1 ذعر (dhuᶜr) 2997
489.2 رعب (ruᶜb) 2998
489.3 هدوء (hudūʾ) 2999
489.4 ارتعش (irtaᶜasha) 3000
489.5 أخاف (akhāfa) 3001

490 Surprise and admiration 3003
490.1 دهشة (dahsha) 3003
490.2 مندهش (mundahish) 3004
490.3 اندهش (indahasha) 3005
490.4 تفاجأ (tafājaʾa) 3006
490.5 إعجاب (iᶜjāb) 3007

491 Pride and thanks 3009
491.1 فخور (fakhūr) . . . 3009
491.2 افتخر (iftakhara) . . . 3010
491.3 امتنان (imtinān) . . . 3011
491.4 ممتن (mumtann) . . . 3012
491.5 أعجب (aᶜjaba) . . . 3013

492 Envy and jealousy 3015
492.1 غيرة (ghīra) . . . 3015
492.2 غيور (ghayūr) . . . 3016
492.3 حسود (ḥasūd) . . . 3017
492.4 حسد (ḥasada) . . . 3018
492.5 غار (ghāra) . . . 3019

493 Regret and pity 3021
493.1 ندم (nadima) . . . 3021
493.2 نادم (nādim) . . . 3022
493.3 شفقة (shafaqa) . . . 3023
493.4 عاتب (ᶜātaba) . . . 3024
493.5 يأس (yaʾs) . . . 3025

494 Feeling low 3027
494.1 كآبة (kaʾāba) . . . 3027
494.2 حنين (ḥanīn) . . . 3028
494.3 إحباط (iḥbāṭ) . . . 3029
494.4 محبط (muḥbaṭ) . . . 3030
494.5 مل (malla) . . . 3031

495 Annoyed and fed up 3033
495.1 انزعاج (inziᶜāj) . . . 3033
495.2 منزعج (munzaᶜij) . . . 3034
495.3 مستاء (mustāʾ) . . . 3035
495.4 تحمل (taḥammala) . . . 3036
495.5 ضجر (ḍajira) . . . 3037
495.6 (dialogue) . . . 3038

496 Excited and relieved 3041
496.1 متحمس (mutaḥammis) . . . 3041
496.2 تحمس (taḥammasa) . . . 3042
496.3 ارتياح (irtiyāḥ) . . . 3043

496.4 مرتاح (murtāḥ) 3044
496.5 ارتاح (irtāḥa) 3045

497 Nerves before a big day 3047
497.1 متوتر (mutawattir) 3047
497.2 ارتبك (irtabaka) 3048
497.3 مضطرب (muḍṭarib) 3049
497.4 متردد (mutaraddid) 3050
497.5 كتم (katama) 3051

498 Making others feel, and blame 3053
498.1 أسعد (as^{c}ada) 3053
498.2 أحزن (aḥzana) 3054
498.3 أضحك (aḍḥaka) 3055
498.4 أغضب (aghḍaba) 3056
498.5 لام (lāma) 3057

499 Honest and loyal 3059
499.1 أمين (amīn) 3059
499.2 نزيه (nazīh) 3060
499.3 كاذب (kādhib) 3061
499.4 مخلص (mukhliṣ) 3062
499.5 وفي (wafī) 3063

500 Vain, selfish, cowardly and bold 3065
500.1 مغرور (maghrūr) 3065
500.2 متكبر (mutakabbir) 3066
500.3 أناني (anānī) 3067
500.4 جبان (jabān) 3068
500.5 جريء (jarī^{ɔ}) 3069

501 Wise, skilled and sure 3071
501.1 حكيم (ḥakīm) 3071
501.2 ماهر (māhir) 3072
501.3 مبدع (mubdi^{c}) 3073
501.4 عاقل (^{c}āqil) 3074
501.5 ثقة (thiqa) 3075

502 Talkers and the curious 3077
502.1 ثرثار (tharthār) . . . 3077
502.2 متحفظ (mutaḥaffiẓ) . . . 3078
502.3 فضولي (fuḍūlī) . . . 3079
502.4 حنون (ḥanūn) . . . 3080
502.5 ودود (wadūd) . . . 3081

503 Tempers and habits 3083
503.1 متسامح (mutasāmiḥ) . . . 3083
503.2 عصبي (ᶜaṣabī) . . . 3084
503.3 مرح (mariḥ) . . . 3085
503.4 منظم (munaẓẓam) . . . 3086
503.5 مهمل (muhmil) . . . 3087
503.6 (dialogue) . . . 3088

504 Inside the body 3091
504.1 كبد (kabid) . . . 3091
504.2 طحال (ṭiḥāl) . . . 3092
504.3 معدة (miᶜda) . . . 3093
504.4 أمعاء (amᶜāʾ) . . . 3094
504.5 نبض (nabḍ) . . . 3095

505 Bones and joints 3097
505.1 جمجمة (jumjuma) . . . 3097
505.2 ضلع (ḍilᶜ) . . . 3098
505.3 فخذ (fakhidh) . . . 3099
505.4 ورك (wirk) . . . 3100
505.5 مفصل (mafṣil) . . . 3101

506 The face up close 3103
506.1 جفن (jafn) . . . 3103
506.2 رمش (rimsh) . . . 3104
506.3 لثة (litha) . . . 3105
506.4 ذقن (dhaqan) . . . 3106
506.5 عصب (ᶜaṣab) . . . 3107

507 Falling ill 3109
507.1 مرض (mariḍa) . . . 3109
507.2 برد نزلة (nazlat bard) . . . 3110
507.3 غثيان (ghathayān) . . . 3111

507.4 تقيأ (taqayyaʾa) 3112
507.5 إسهال (ishāl) 3113

508 Skin trouble 3115
508.1 جلدي طفح (ṭafḥ jildī) 3115
508.2 حكة (ḥikka) 3116
508.3 حك (ḥakka) 3117
508.4 التهاب (iltihāb) 3118
508.5 تورم (tawarrama) 3119

509 Germs and jabs 3121
509.1 عدوى (ᶜadwā) 3121
509.2 فيروس (fayrūs) 3122
509.3 جرثومة (jurthūma) 3123
509.4 تطعيم (taṭᶜīm) 3124
509.5 ورم (waram) 3125

510 Tests and treatment 3127
510.1 تشخيص (tashkhīṣ) 3127
510.2 تحليل (taḥlīl) 3128
510.3 أشعة (ashiᶜᶜa) 3129
510.4 عالج (ᶜālaja) 3130
510.5 داوى (dāwā) 3131

511 Doses and drops 3133
511.1 جرعة (jurᶜa) 3133
511.2 كبسولة (kabsūla) 3134
511.3 قطرة (qaṭra) 3135
511.4 جبيرة (jabīra) 3136
511.5 ضمد (ḍammada) 3137
511.6 (dialogue) 3138

512 Getting well again 3141
512.1 شفاء (shifāʾ) 3141
512.2 نقاهة (naqāha) 3142
512.3 تعافى (taᶜāfā) 3143
512.4 عافية (ᶜāfiya) 3144
512.5 تألم (taʾallama) 3145

513 Long illnesses 3147
513.1 سكري (sukkarī) . . . 3147
513.2 ربو (rabw) . . . 3148
513.3 إعاقة (iᶜāqa) . . . 3149
513.4 ضعف (ḍaᶜufa) . . . 3150
513.5 نزف (nazafa) . . . 3151

514 Worn out 3153
514.1 أرق (araq) . . . 3153
514.2 إرهاق (irhāq) . . . 3154
514.3 أرهق (arhaqa) . . . 3155
514.4 تثاءب (tathāʾaba) . . . 3156
514.5 غفا (ghafā) . . . 3157

515 Lying down and getting up 3159
515.1 شخر (shakhara) . . . 3159
515.2 استرخى (istarkhā) . . . 3160
515.3 استلقى (istalqā) . . . 3161
515.4 نهض (nahaḍa) . . . 3162
515.5 إغماء (ighmāʾ) . . . 3163

516 Stretching and shaking 3165
516.1 تمدد (tamaddada) . . . 3165
516.2 انحنى (inḥanā) . . . 3166
516.3 ارتجف (irtajafa) . . . 3167
516.4 سعل (saᶜala) . . . 3168
516.5 التواء (iltiwāʾ) . . . 3169

517 Habits good and bad 3171
517.1 دخن (dakhkhana) . . . 3171
517.2 اشتهى (ishtahā) . . . 3172
517.3 أدمن (admana) . . . 3173
517.4 جاع (jāᶜa) . . . 3174
517.5 شبع (shabiᶜa) . . . 3175

518 Careers and ambitions 3177
518.1 مهنة (mihna) . . . 3177
518.2 سكرتير (sikritīr) . . . 3178
518.3 بيطري (bayṭarī) . . . 3179
518.4 مستشار (mustashār) . . . 3180

518.5 طمح (ṭamaḥa) 3181

519 Trainees and volunteers 3183
519.1 ذاتية سيرة (sīra dhātiyya) 3183
519.2 تطوع (taṭawwaᶜa) 3184
519.3 تبرع (tabarraᶜa) 3185
519.4 متدرب (mutadarrib) 3186
519.5 تدرب (tadarraba) 3187
519.6 (dialogue) 3188

520 Hours and tasks 3191
520.1 اعتاد (iᶜtāda) 3191
520.2 مناوبة (munāwaba) 3192
520.3 إجازة (ijāza) 3193
520.4 مهمة (mahamma) 3194
520.5 نفذ (naffadha) 3195

521 Pay and rewards 3197
521.1 أجر (ajr) 3197
521.2 مكافأة (mukāfaʾa) 3198
521.3 ترقية (tarqiya) 3199
521.4 رقى (raqqā) 3200
521.5 تعب (taᶜiba) 3201

522 Starting and stopping work 3203
522.1 باشر (bāshara) 3203
522.2 كدح (kadaḥa) 3204
522.3 استقالة (istiqāla) 3205
522.4 متقاعد (mutaqāᶜid) 3206
522.5 عاطل (ᶜāṭil) 3207

523 Getting it done 3209
523.1 خطط (khaṭṭaṭa) 3209
523.2 أتم (atamma) 3210
523.3 تفرغ (tafarragha) 3211
523.4 تقييم (taqyīm) 3212
523.5 إنتاج (intāj) 3213

524 Talks, turns and headquarters 3215
524.1 فاوض (fāwaḍa) . . . 3215
524.2 اجتهد (ijtahada) . . . 3216
524.3 ناوب (nāwaba) . . . 3217
524.4 ترقى (taraqqā) . . . 3218
524.5 مقر (maqarr) . . . 3219

525 Design and code 3221
525.1 أنتج (antaja) . . . 3221
525.2 صمم (ṣammama) . . . 3222
525.3 مصمم (muṣammim) . . . 3223
525.4 برمج (barmaja) . . . 3224
525.5 مبرمج (mubarmij) . . . 3225

526 Trades and crafts 3227
526.1 ميكانيكي (mīkānīkī) . . . 3227
526.2 مقاول (muqāwil) . . . 3228
526.3 دهان (dahhān) . . . 3229
526.4 بناء (bannāʾ) . . . 3230
526.5 إسكافي (iskāfī) . . . 3231

527 Farmers, profits and savings 3233
527.1 فلاح (fallāḥ) . . . 3233
527.2 بستاني (bustānī) . . . 3234
527.3 ربح (rabiḥa) . . . 3235
527.4 أفلس (aflasa) . . . 3236
527.5 ادخر (iddakhara) . . . 3237
527.6 (dialogue) . . . 3238

528 Single, engaged and married 3241
528.1 خطيب (khaṭīb) . . . 3241
528.2 زواج (zawāj) . . . 3242
528.3 حماة (ḥamāh) . . . 3243
528.4 أعزب (aᶜzab) . . . 3244
528.5 عشق (ᶜashiqa) . . . 3245

529 In-laws and break-ups 3247
529.1 صهر (ṣihr) . . . 3247
529.2 كنة (kanna) . . . 3248
529.3 نسيب (nasīb) . . . 3249

529.4 عديل (^{c}adīl) 3250
529.5 طلاق (ṭalāq) 3251

530 Babies 3253
530.1 حامل (ḥāmil) 3253
530.2 مهد (mahd) 3254
530.3 أرضع (arḍa^{c}a) 3255
530.4 فطم (faṭama) 3256
530.5 ربى (rabbā) 3257

531 Growing up and growing old 3259
531.1 مراهق (murāhiq) 3259
531.2 كبر (kabira) 3260
531.3 نضج (naḍija) 3261
531.4 شيخوخة (shaykhūkha) 3262
531.5 مربية (murabbiya) 3263

532 A life and its end 3265
532.1 والد (wālid) 3265
532.2 ربيب (rabīb) 3266
532.3 قرابة (qarāba) 3267
532.4 عاش (^{c}āsha) 3268
532.5 مات (māta) 3269

533 Looking after loved ones 3271
533.1 اعتنى (i^{c}tanā) 3271
533.2 دلل (dallala) 3272
533.3 حضن (ḥaḍana) 3273
533.4 ساند (sānada) 3274
533.5 حبيب (ḥabīb) 3275

534 Obeying and forgiving 3277
534.1 أطاع (aṭā^{c}a) 3277
534.2 عصى (^{c}aṣā) 3278
534.3 وبخ (wabbakha) 3279
534.4 احترام (iḥtirām) 3280
534.5 عفا (^{c}afā) 3281

535 Companions and quarrels 3283
535.1 رفيق (rafīq) . . . 3283
535.2 عدو (ᶜaduww) . . . 3284
535.3 خيانة (khiyāna) . . . 3285
535.4 تخاصم (takhāṣama) . . . 3286
535.5 هجر (hajara) . . . 3287
535.6 (dialogue) . . . 3288

536 Fishing and unwinding 3291
536.1 صيد (ṣayd) . . . 3291
536.2 صنارة (ṣinnāra) . . . 3292
536.3 اصطاد (iṣṭāda) . . . 3293
536.4 استجم (istajamma) . . . 3294
536.5 استمتع (istamtaᶜa) . . . 3295

537 Hobbies indoors and out 3297
537.1 تخييم (takhyīm) . . . 3297
537.2 غوص (ghawṣ) . . . 3298
537.3 تصوير (taṣwīr) . . . 3299
537.4 فخار (fakhkhār) . . . 3300
537.5 متقاطعة كلمات (kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa) . . . 3301

538 Needle and thread 3303
538.1 تطريز (taṭrīz) . . . 3303
538.2 طرز (ṭarraza) . . . 3304
538.3 حياكة (ḥiyāka) . . . 3305
538.4 حاك (ḥāka) . . . 3306
538.5 خاط (khāṭa) . . . 3307

539 Games for all ages 3309
539.1 نرد (nard) . . . 3309
539.2 أرجوحة (urjūḥa) . . . 3310
539.3 تسلى (tasallā) . . . 3311
539.4 بستنة (bastana) . . . 3312
539.5 تأرجح (taʾarjaḥa) . . . 3313

540 Reading, clubs and passions 3315
540.1 قراءة (qirāʾa) . . . 3315
540.2 اشترك (ishtaraka) . . . 3316
540.3 التقى (iltaqā) . . . 3317

540.4 شغف (shaghaf) 3318
540.5 ولع (wala^{c}) 3319

541 At the exhibition 3321
541.1 فنان (fannān) 3321
541.2 معرض (ma^{c}riḍ) 3322
541.3 نحات (naḥḥāt) 3323
541.4 نحت (naḥata) 3324
541.5 رسام (rassām) 3325

542 On stage 3327
542.1 مسرحية (masraḥiyya) 3327
542.2 مشهد (mashhad) 3328
542.3 تصفيق (taṣfīq) 3329
542.4 صفق (ṣaffaqa) 3330
542.5 تمثيل (tamthīl) 3331

543 Making music 3333
543.1 لحن (laḥn) 3333
543.2 إيقاع (īqā^{c}) 3334
543.3 عزف (^{c}azafa) 3335
543.4 ملحن (mulaḥḥin) 3336
543.5 جوقة (jawqa) 3337
543.6 (dialogue) 3338

544 Instruments 3341
544.1 عود (^{c}ūd) 3341
544.2 كمان (kamān) 3342
544.3 طبل (ṭabl) 3343
544.4 ناي (nāy) 3344
544.5 فرقة (firqa) 3345

545 Poets and directors 3347
545.1 شاعر (shā^{c}ir) 3347
545.2 قافية (qāfiya) 3348
545.3 أنشد (anshada) 3349
545.4 أبدع (abda^{c}a) 3350
545.5 أخرج (akhraja) 3351

546 Match day 3353
546.1 شوط (shawṭ) . . . 3353
546.2 مشجع (mushajji^{c}) . . . 3354
546.3 تعادل (ta^{c}ādala) . . . 3355
546.4 مرر (marrara) . . . 3356
546.5 تنافس (tanāfasa) . . . 3357

547 Winning and prizes 3359
547.1 فوز (fawz) . . . 3359
547.2 بطولة (buṭūla) . . . 3360
547.3 كأس (ka$^{\partial}$s) . . . 3361
547.4 ميدالية (mīdāliya) . . . 3362
547.5 تأهل (ta$^{\partial}$ahhala) . . . 3363

548 In the pool and the ring 3365
548.1 سباحة (sibāḥa) . . . 3365
548.2 ملاكمة (mulākama) . . . 3366
548.3 صارع (ṣāra^{c}a) . . . 3367
548.4 نافس (nāfasa) . . . 3368
548.5 لكم (lakama) . . . 3369

549 The attic and the door 3371
549.1 علية (^{c}ulliyya) . . . 3371
549.2 جرس (jaras) . . . 3372
549.3 مقبض (miqbaḍ) . . . 3373
549.4 مزلاج (mizlāj) . . . 3374
549.5 بالوعة (bālū^{c}a) . . . 3375

550 Keeping the house 3377
550.1 ثريا (thurayyā) . . . 3377
550.2 مزهرية (mazhariyya) . . . 3378
550.3 نفض (nafaḍa) . . . 3379
550.4 لمع (lamma^{c}a) . . . 3380
550.5 صان (ṣāna) . . . 3381

551 Sheets, cushions and a couch 3383
551.1 شرشف (sharshaf) . . . 3383
551.2 مخدة (mikhadda) . . . 3384
551.3 حوض (ḥawḍ) . . . 3385
551.4 ممسحة (mimsaḥa) . . . 3386

551.5 كنبة (kanaba) 3387
551.6 (dialogue) 3388

552 Doing up the house 3391
552.1 طلاء (ṭilāʾ) 3391
552.2 رمم (rammama) 3392
552.3 زين (zayyana) 3393
552.4 جفف (jaffafa) 3394
552.5 فرش (farasha) 3395
552.6 (dialogue) 3396
552.7 (dialogue) 3396

Pronunciation & script (reference) 3399

Glossary 3401

Review Questions 3589

Answer Key 3591

Index 3593

Chapter 1

Greetings

Modes: voice (6) eyes (4) pen (8) Hands-free start: the first of 18 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can greet someone in Arabic, recognize the reply, and choose an appropriate response.
>
> Complete AR-C01-practice, the canonical closing checkpoint, and demonstrate the chapter promise: greet someone in Arabic, recognize the reply, and choose an appropriate response.

1.1 salām — say "peace" before meeting the page

Your first Arabic greeting is salām. For this lesson, keep your eyes off the script. Put the sound and meaning in your ear first; the next two tiny lessons will reveal its written pieces without asking you to swallow four new shapes at once.

The letters in this word

Say it in two easy beats: sa — lām. Hold the second a a little longer: sa-LAAM. The last sound is a clean m.

salām = peace; as a greeting, "peace to you."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

salām sits on the three-consonant root s–l–m, carrying the idea of wholeness, safety, and peace. The same family gives islām, muslim, and sallama, "to greet." Hebrew shalom is a close Semitic cousin, and English borrowed salaam.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- sa — lām
- salām, with the long vowel in the second beat
- "peace," while offering salām to an imagined person

Writing — first microstep

Only after you can say the greeting, meet one isolated shape: س is sīn, the s at the start of salām. Notice three small teeth and a trailing bowl. Trace س once with a finger, hide it, then air-write the three teeth. Do not decode or copy the complete word yet.

- Write it: س once, then compare its three teeth with the model

Before you move on

What does salām offer? (Peace.) Which three consonants carry its root? (s–l–m.) Which one shape did you trace? (س, sīn.) Say the word once more. Do not decode or copy the complete word yet.

1.2 س and ل — recall one shape, add one

Say salām. You already know what it means and traced س once. Now recall that shape and add only its next consonant. Arabic runs right to left, so the first shape waits on the right.

Script — recall sīn and add lām

- س is sīn, the s sound you are retrieving from lesson one. From Phoenician shin ("tooth") — and the shape really is a row of teeth.
- ل is lām, the l sound. Notice its tall upright and low curve. From Phoenician lāmed ("ox-goad") — ancestor of Greek lambda and Latin L.

Slide a finger from right to left under س ل and say s — l. Do not build the whole word yet.

Writing — trace, then recall

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: س, ل

1. Trace س once with a finger: three teeth, then the bowl.
2. Trace ل once: tall upright, then the low curve.
3. Hide the models. Air-write the three teeth of sīn, then the tall lām.

Your turn

- Point to: س, and say sīn
- Point to: ل, and say lām
- Write it: س ل once, leaving them separate

Before you move on

Which way do Arabic words run? (Right to left.) Which letter has three teeth? (س, sīn.) Which has the tall upright? (ل, lām.)

1.3 ا and م — finish سلام without a cliff

Recall س and ل. Add just two shapes, then the spoken word salām becomes readable and writable.

Script — observe two new shapes

- ا is alif: one clean upright carrying the long ā here. From Phoenician ʾālep ("ox") — ancestor of Greek alpha and Latin A.
- م is mīm: a small round head and a tail; it gives the final m. From Phoenician mem ("water") — sibling of Greek mu and Latin M.

Arabic letters join — and a joined letter changes shape. The same letter looks different at the start, the middle and the end of a joined run. Its skeleton never changes (three teeth stay three teeth); only the connectors at its edges do. This is the one habit that makes Arabic read like handwriting rather than like print.

Watch all of it happen in one short word. In سلام, sīn reaches leftward into lām; lām and alif fuse into a fixed pair, ل + ا → لا; then alif, which never joins leftward, forces a pen lift before final mīm.

Writing — guided copy, then delayed copy

1. Point right to left: س · ل · ا · م. Say s · l · ā · m.
2. Trace سلام once: teeth, tall hook, upright, lift, round-headed mīm.
3. Copy سلام once while looking.
4. Cover it. Write it once from memory, then compare and correct one feature.

Before you move on

Read سلام. (salām, peace.) What changes when a letter joins, and what stays the same? (The connectors at its edges change; its skeleton does not.) Where does the pen lift? (After alif.) Write the word once without looking. This is delayed recall, not penmanship perfection.

1.4 marḥaban — make room for someone

You can say salām. Now learn the light, everyday "hello" by ear before its written form asks anything of your eyes or hand.

The letters in this word

Build three small beats: mar — ḥa — ban. The middle consonant is a warm, breathy sound made deeper in the throat than English h. Approximate it gently; clarity matters more than force.

marḥaban = hello / welcome.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

The root r–ḥ–b carries spaciousness: raḥb is roomy. So marḥaban is not an empty signal. It suggests, "There is room for you here." A warm reply is marḥabtayn — literally, "two welcomes."
Marḥaban is built on the native root r-ḥ-b, "to be wide, roomy" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- mar — ḥa — ban
- marḥaban, keeping the middle consonant gentle
- marḥabtayn, "two welcomes"

Before you move on

What does the root r–ḥ–b suggest? (Room, spaciousness.) Say the three beats of marḥaban. The next two lessons reveal its new letter shapes in groups of two and three before you copy the whole greeting.

1.5 ر and ح — two shapes inside marḥaban

Say marḥaban. Its sound and welcome already belong to you. Now notice only two of its new written consonants.

Script — observe rāʾ and ḥāʾ

Letter 1: stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: ر د, independent Raa at 00:08.8–00:09.3 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023)
Letter 2: stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: ح ح ح, independent Haa at 00:00–00:01 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: ر, ح

- ر is rāʾ, the tapped r. It curves down and left. It joins to what comes before it but not to what follows.
- ح is ḥāʾ, the deep, breathy ḥ. Its open bowl has no dot.

Trace ر ح separately. Keep ḥāʾ open and dotless.

Your turn

- Say it: rāʾ, and trace ر

- Say it: ḥāʾ, and trace ح
- Write it: ح ر once from memory, then compare

Before you move on

Which letter refuses to join forward? (ر.) Which one is the dotless open bowl? (ح.) Say marḥaban again; the next step adds its final new skeleton and two dot-cousins.

1.6 ثابت (thābit) — steady, firm

Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: ثابت

ثابت — thābit — "steady, firm".

Say it: thābit. Look: at its shape as you say it. The next lesson takes one piece of it, ث ت ب — مرحبا, and writes it on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثابت (thābit) is built on the native Arabic root th-b-t, "to remain fixed, to be firm" (Lane). Thābit is the active participle, "standing firm".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- thābit
- thābit, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "steady, firm"? (ثابت, thābit.)

1.7 ب ت ث — one bowl, three dot choices

You know ر and ح. Today introduces one shared bowl and three dot patterns — exactly three new shapes — before you copy marḥaban.

Script — one skeleton, three letters

- ب = bāʾ: one dot below.
- ت = tāʾ: two dots above.
- ث = thāʾ: three dots above.

The dots are not decoration. They decide which letter you wrote. Trace the bowl once, then practise the three dot choices.

ب comes from Phoenician bēt ("house") — ancestor of Greek beta and Latin B. Put it beside the alif you already know, from ʾālep ("ox"), and you have the word alpha-bet: the ox and the house, in that order, still naming every alphabet on earth.

Writing — guided copy, then delayed copy

The greeting uses ب. Its full form is مرحبا.

1. Point right to left: م · ر · ح · ب · ا.
2. Copy مرحبا once while looking.
3. Cover it. Write it once from memory, then check the dot below ب.

Before you move on

Which cousin has one dot below? (ب.) Two above? (ت.) Three above? (ث.) Read and write مرحبا once: marḥaban, "welcome."

1.8 ال (al-) — "the," hiding in English algebra

Before the fuller greetings, one tiny, mighty word: Arabic's "the." You'll need it for the peace, the goodness — and you already know how to read it.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) No new letters — just ا (alif) and ل (lām), the two you met in salām, written together as ال and attached to the front of a noun (Arabic glues "the" on; it isn't a separate word).

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ال (al-, "the"). For roughly 800 years Arabic was the Mediterranean's language of science and trade, and English and Spanish absorbed its words with al- still attached: algebra (al-jabr), alcohol (al-kuḥl), algorithm (al-Khwārizmī), alchemy, almanac. Learning Arabic al- is meeting an old friend you've been carrying in English all along.
The article itself is old Arabic. Hebrew has ha- in the same job, and how the two are related is debated, so its deeper origin is not settled.

Grammar Lens: sun letters and moon letters

Here's a rule you can hear. Before about half the consonants — the sun letters (s, sh, n, r, t, d…) — the l of al- assimilates and the next letter doubles:

- al- + salām → as-salām (not "al-salām")
- al- + nūr → an-nūr

Before the moon letters (kh, k, b, m…) the l stays clear: al-khayr, al-bab. You can still hear this rule fossilized in Spanish azúcar, from Arabic as-sukkar ("the sugar") — the l long gone, the doubled s remaining.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "al-" and three English words hiding it — al-gebra, al-cohol, al-manac
- sun-letter assimilation — al- + salām → "as-salām"
- moon-letter, no change — al- + khayr → "al-khayr"

Before you move on

What does ال mean, and how does it attach? ("The," glued to the front of its noun.) What happens before a sun letter like s? (The l assimilates and the letter doubles — as-salām.)

1.9 as-salāmu ᶜalaykum — offer the full greeting by ear

You already own salām and al-. Now speak the full greeting before decoding or copying its unfamiliar second half.

The letters in this word

Say as-salāmu — then ᶜalaykum. In ᶜalaykum, begin with a light tightening deep in the throat. That sound is ᶜayn; an approximation is enough today.

as-salāmu ᶜalaykum = peace be upon you.

The l of al- blends into the following s, so al-salām is pronounced as-salām. Arabic then places "the peace" beside "upon you" and leaves the verb "is" understood.

The exchange — the reply

The fixed reply is wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām: "and upon you, peace." Hear the little wa- at the front; it means "and."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

as-salāmu ᶜalaykum is built from as-salām, "the peace", on the native root s-l-m, "to be safe, whole" (Lane), and ᶜalaykum, "upon you": ᶜalā, "upon", with -kum, "you". Hebrew shalom ᶜalekhem is the same greeting in a cousin language.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- as-salāmu — ᶜalaykum

- the complete greeting once, slowly
- wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām, the reply

Before you move on

What are the two spoken blocks? (as-salāmu + ᶜalaykum.) Where is the word "is"? (It is understood.) Speak the greeting and reply once. The next two lessons reveal the remaining shapes before showing the full line.

1.10 عيد (ᶜīd) — a feast day

Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: عيد

عيد — ᶜīd — "a feast day".

Say it: ᶜīd. Look: at its shape as you say it. The next lesson takes one piece of it, ع ي, and writes it on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عيد (ᶜīd) is listed by Lane under ᶜ-w-d, "to return": a thing that returns, hence a festival that comes round each year. EtymDB instead gives it as borrowed from Syriac ᶜēdā, "feast". The two accounts are not settled.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ᶜīd
- ᶜīd, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "a feast day"? (عيد, ᶜīd.)

1.11 ع and ي — open ᶜalaykum gently

Say as-salāmu ᶜalaykum. Only after speaking the whole greeting do you meet two shapes from its second block.

Script — observe ᶜayn and yāʾ

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: ع, ي

- ع is ᶜayn, the deep opening sound in ᶜalaykum. Notice its curved hook.
- ي is yāʾ, the y sound. In isolation it carries two dots below.

Trace each once. Then point right to left at ع ي while saying ᶜ — y.

Your turn

- Trace it: ع, and say ᶜayn
- Trace it: ي, and say yāʾ
- Write it: both once from memory, then compare

Before you move on

Which shape begins the throat sound? (ع.) Which has two dots below when isolated? (ي.) No whole phrase yet; two final shapes come next.

1.12 كوخ (kūkh) — a hut

Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: كوخ

كوخ — kūkh — "a hut".

Say it: kūkh. Look: at its shape as you say it. The next lesson takes one piece of it, و ك — عليكم السلام, and writes it on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كوخ (kūkh) is a hut of reeds with a rounded roof. Lane's sources call it a Persian word, while EtymDB links it with Syriac kūkhītā; which way it travelled is not settled.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- kūkh
- kūkh, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "a hut"? (كوخ, kūkh.)

1.13 ك and و — complete the greeting after the sound

You can speak the greeting and recognize ع and ي. Add just two shapes, then copy the complete line.

Script — observe two new shapes

- ك is kāf, the k near the end of ᶜalaykum.
- و is wāw, the w in the reply's opening wa-, "and." Like ر, it does not join to the letter after it.

Writing — guided copy, then delayed copy

1. Find the familiar peace word inside عليكم السلام.
2. Point through the second block, عليكم, right to left.
3. Copy عليكم السلام once while looking.
4. Cover it. Write عليكم from memory, then compare and correct one shape.
5. Add و before that block to begin the reply: وعليكم.

Before you move on

Which letter gives the k? (ك.) Which gives wa-, "and"? (و.) Read عليكم السلام, then write the shorter block عليكم without looking.

1.14 as-salāmu ᶜalaykum — hear, write, repair

Say as-salāmu ᶜalaykum once. Then turn the page or cover every Arabic model. This lesson adds no shape and no new phrase.

Writing — dictation and repair

1. Hear or read the romanization as-salāmu ᶜalaykum.
2. Write the Arabic greeting from memory.
3. Reveal عليكم السلام.
4. Compare from right to left. Circle one uncertain shape and repair it once.

Stop after one repaired attempt. Retrieval is the goal; repetition without attention is not.

Before you move on

Read عليكم السلام aloud. Which part did you repair? Cover the model and write only عليكم once more if that repair still feels uncertain.

1.15 الخير صباح (ṣabāḥ al-khayr) — "morning of goodness"

Time-of-day greetings — built, like everything, from roots and the attached al-. And a chance to hear two sounds English doesn't have.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) Two new letters:

- ص = ṣād, an emphatic (heavy, dark) "s" — a different letter from the light س you know.
- خ = khāʾ, a throat-scrape from the back of the mouth — the same sound as Spanish *j (as in José), or the ch in Scottish loch.

With the rest known, read صباح (ṣabāḥ, "morning") and خير (khayr, "goodness").

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صباح (ṣabāḥ), root ṣ–b–ḥ (dawn/waking: ṣubḥ "dawn," aṣbaḥa "to become / reach morning"). خير (khayr, "good, goodness"), root kh–y–r. Together الخير صباح = "morning of the goodness." Note al-khayr keeps its l — خ is a moon letter — a clean contrast with as-salām.
Both words are native Arabic, built on these roots (Lane).

Why it's said this way

The reply mirrors it beautifully: ṣabāḥ an-nūr — "morning of the light" (al- + nūr, sun-letter n assimilated). You wish someone goodness; they wish you light back.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ṣabāḥ al-khayr" — the heavy ṣ, then the throat-scrape kh
- why al-khayr keeps its l (خ is a moon letter)

- the reply — "ṣabāḥ an-nūr" ("morning of light")

Before you move on

Read it: الخير صباح What are the two roots? (ṣ–b–ḥ "morning," kh–y–r "goodness.") Why is it al-khayr but as-salām? (خ is a moon letter — l stays; s is a sun letter — l assimilates.)

1.16 الخير مساء (masāʾ al-khayr) — "evening of goodness"

The evening twin of ṣabāḥ al-khayr — and Arabic's tidy habit of naming morning and evening as matched events.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) One new mark:

- ء = hamza, a glottal stop — the little catch in the middle of "uh-oh." At the end of مساء it closes the word: masāʾ.

Everything else — م س ا and the الخير you read last lesson — is already yours.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مساء (masāʾ, "evening"), root m–s–w: amsā, "to become / reach evening" — the exact mirror of aṣbaḥa ("to reach morning"). Arabic names the two ends of the day as matched events, each with its own "to become" verb, where French soir and Spanish tarde both merely meant "late." الخير مساء = "evening of goodness"; reply masāʾ an-nūr, "evening of light."

Why it's said this way

The symmetry is the point: morning and evening are greeted with the same structure ("[time] of goodness") and answered with the same structure ("[time] of light"). Learn one pair, you have both.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "masāʾ al-khayr" — the glottal catch at the end of masāʾ
- the mirror — aṣbaḥa (reach morning) / amsā (reach evening)
- the reply — "masāʾ an-nūr"

Before you move on

Read it: الخير مساء What does the mark ء (hamza) do? (A glottal stop — the catch in "uh-oh.") How does Arabic treat morning and evening differently from French/Spanish? (As matched "to become" events, not just "late.")

1.17 شكرا (shukran) — "thank you"

The word for gratitude — and a chance to watch the root-and-pattern engine do its trick on a brand-new root.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) Two new letters:

- ش = shīn, "sh" — it is simply س (sīn) plus three dots on top (the dots-on-a-skeleton idea again).
- ك = kāf, "k" — already met inside ᶜalaykum.

Read شكرا right to left → shukran.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شكرا (shukran), root sh–k–r (gratitude): shukr ("thanks"), shākir ("thankful"), mashkūr ("thanked"). Look closely: shākir and mashkūr sit in the exact same patterns as kātib ("writer") and maktūb ("written") from the root engine — fāᶜil (the doer) and mafᶜūl (the done-to). Learn a pattern once and it works on every root.
And it travels: this same Semitic root sh–k–r, carried through Persian, is the source of Hindi/Urdu shukriyā ("thanks").

Why it's said this way

The reply is gentle: ᶜafwan, "it's nothing / you're pardoned" — from a root meaning to forgive or waive. You thank; they wave it away.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- its beats — shuk · ran → "shukran"
- how ش is just س with three dots
- the pattern echo — shākir/mashkūr like kātib/maktūb

Before you move on

Read it: شكرا What is its root, and what two familiar patterns do shākir and mashkūr follow? (sh–k–r; the kātib / maktūb patterns — doer and done-to.) The reply to shukran? (ᶜafwan.)

1.18 Chapter 1 — the day of greetings

A dozen letters, learned one greeting at a time, and now the whole day of Arabic greetings and their fixed replies.

You'll want to know — Read them back

Read it: each, sounding it out right to left before checking

Read		Meaning
سلام	salām	peace
مرحبا	marḥaban	welcome / hi
عليكم السلام	as-salāmu ᶜalaykum	peace be upon you
—	ṣabāḥ al-khayr	good morning
—	masāʾ al-khayr	good evening
—	shukran	thank you
ثابت	thābit	steady, firm
—	ᶜīd	a feast day
—	kūkh	a hut

The exchange — greetings and replies

When	Greeting	Reply
casual	marḥaban	marḥabtayn ("two welcomes") any time	as-salāmu ᶜalaykum	wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām
morning	ṣabāḥ al-khayr	ṣabāḥ an-nūr ("morning of light")
evening	masāʾ al-khayr	masāʾ an-nūr
thanks	shukran	ᶜafwan ("it's nothing")

Two engines did all of it: the three-consonant root (s-l-m, sh-k-r, ṣ-b-ḥ…) and the attached al- with its sun/moon assimilation (as-salām but al-khayr). The letters arrived inside real words — about a dozen of them, half the alphabet — never as a chart to memorize.

Your turn

- Say it: all six greetings, right to left
- Say it: each greeting with its reply — "as-salāmu ᶜalaykum" / "wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām"
- Say it: greet, then thank — "ṣabāḥ al-khayr!" … "shukran."
- Write it: hear salām, write سلام without looking, then compare and repair one shape

Your turn — from memory

- When a letter joins, what changes and what stays? (The connectors at its edges; never its skeleton.)
- Which English word still carries ال, "the"? (Algebra.)
- What do ṣād, khāʾ and hamza sound like? (A heavy ṣ; Spanish j; the catch in "uh-oh.")
- What does ṣabāḥ al-khayr say word for word, and which verbs mean "reach morning" and "reach evening"? (Morning of goodness; aṣbaḥa, amsā.)
- Which word answers "goodness" in both replies, and what answers shukran? (an-nūr, "light," morning and evening alike; ᶜafwan.)

- How is shīn made, and which patterns do shākir and mashkūr share? (س plus three dots; the doer and done-to of kātib, maktūb.)

Before you move on

Read it: all six greetings aloud, right to left
Name the two "engines" that build them. (The three-consonant root, and the attached al- with sun/moon assimilation.)
Next chapter: introducing yourself — ismī… ("my name is…") — and how Arabic marks "you" by gender (anta to a man, anti to a woman), a different axis from the formal/informal split of the European languages.

Chapter 2

Introducing Yourself

Modes: voice (5) eyes (6) pen (6) Hands-free start: the first 9 of 17 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can introduce myself in Arabic, give my name, and understand the other person's name.
>
> Complete AR-C02-checkpoint, the chapter's closing checkpoint: run the introduction exchange to a man and to a woman, recall thaman, mudarris and ahlan and the pieces each word is built from, sort the bowl letters by their dots and the marks by their jobs, then write the bowl letters, ismī, anta, anti and hamza from sound alone.

2.1 اسم (ism) — "name"

To introduce yourself you need "name" — and it needs no new letters.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) All three are from Chapter 1: ا (alif), س (sīn), م (mīm). Read اسم right to left → ism.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اسم (ism, "name"), root s–m–w. It is a Semitic word, cousin of Hebrew shem ("name") — the same pairing you saw with salām / shalom. It has no tie to the Indo-European name / Latin nōmen: Arabic is a different family entirely, and its word for "name" is its own.

Your turn

- Say it: the word — "ism"
- Read it: اسم, right to left
- Say it: its Hebrew cousin — shem

Before you move on

What family does اسم belong to, and what Hebrew word is its cousin? (Semitic; shem. Not related to English name.)

2.2 ي (-ī) — "my," a letter stuck on the end

Arabic has no separate word for "my" — it glues one letter onto the noun.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) ي (yāʾ), met in ᶜalaykum — here it does a new job: attached to the end of a noun, it means "my."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

Arabic builds "my" by suffix, not a separate word: اسم (ism, "name") + ي (-ī, "my") = اسمي (ismī, "my name"). This is the same trick as the attached al- ("the") from Chapter 1 — Arabic loves to fasten little pieces onto a word rather than string separate words together.
The ending -ī is inherited from the Semitic parent language: Hebrew marks "my" with the same -ī, as in ʾēlī, "my God".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ism" + "-ī" → "ismī" ("my name")
- the pattern — Arabic glues "my" on, like it glued "the" (al-)

Before you move on

How does Arabic say "my," and what is "my name"? (A suffix ي (-ī) glued on; ismī.)

2.3 اسمي ... (ismī ...) — "my name is...," with no "is"

Assemble it — and notice the missing word.

You'll want to know — The phrase, assembled

- ism (name) + -ī (my) + your name.

  اسمي ... = "my-name ..." → "my name is..."

Ismī Arun. → "My name is Arun."

Grammar Lens: no word for "is" — again

Recall from as-salāmu ᶜalaykum (Ch. 1) that Arabic sets two words side by side and lets "is" be understood. So ismī Arun is literally "my-name Arun." Arabic shares this zero copula with the Dravidian languages (Tamil en peyar Arun) — two unrelated families meeting on the same habit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اسمي (ismī) is built from ism, "name", on the root s-m-w (Lane), and the ending -ī, "my": "my name".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ismī ..." with your name
- notice — no word for "is"

Before you move on

Give your name in Arabic. (Ismī ….) What does Arabic leave out, and which other family does the same? (The verb "is" — the zero copula, shared with the Dravidian languages.)

2.4 أنت (anta / anti) — "you," marked by gender

To ask a name you need "you" — and Arabic's is unlike any you've met: it changes with the listener's gender.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) Two new letters: أ (alif with a hamza seat, a glottal "a"-start) and ت (tāʔ, "t" — the ب/ت/ث skeleton from Ch. 1, two dots above). The final vowel is a mark: anta, anti.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنت is "you" — but Arabic splits it by the listener's gender: anta to a man, anti to a woman. (Note the Semitic -ta/-ti ending — the same t that marks "you" in Hebrew atta/att.)

Grammar Lens: a different axis of "you"

The European and Dravidian tracks split "you" by register (familiar vs. respectful — tū/vous, nī/nīṅgaḷ). Arabic splits it by gender: anta (to a man) vs. anti (to a woman). Same pronoun, a wholly different distinction — you choose by who you're talking to, not how formal you are.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "anta" (to a man), "anti" (to a woman)
- the contrast — European/Dravidian split by register, Arabic by gender

Before you move on

How does Arabic split "you," and how is that different from French or Tamil? (By gender — anta (m.) / anti (f.); the others split by register.)

2.5 ما (mā) — "what"

The question-word — and you already read it as a warm-up in Chapter 1.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) No new letters: م (m) + ا (alif, long ā) → ما mā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ما (mā, "what") is the everyday question-word for things. (Arabic has a second, mādā, for "what" before verbs; mā is the one you want before a noun, as in "what [is] your name?")
Mā is inherited from the Semitic parent language, not built on a three-letter root; Hebrew mā, "what", is its cousin.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "mā" ("what")
- "mā ismuka?" — "what [is] your name?"

Before you move on

What does ما mean, and when is it used? ("What," before a noun.)

2.6 ما اسمك؟ (mā ismuka / ismuki) — "what's your name?"

Assemble the question — what + your-name — no "is," gender in the suffix.

You'll want to know — The phrase, assembled

- اسمك = اسم (ism, name) + ك (kāf, the "your" suffix) — and it too is gendered: ismuka (a man's name), ismuki (a woman's).

  ما اسمك؟ = literally "what [is] your-name?"

No "is," the possessive glued on, the gender carried in the suffix.

Grammar Lens: the matched suffixes

"My name" takes ي (-ī), "your name" takes ك (-ka/-ki). The suffixes are the grammar of the exchange. Answer with ismī Arun.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ما اسمك (mā ismuka) is built from mā, "what", an inherited Semitic question word, and ismuka, "your name": ism, on the root s-m-w (Lane), with -ka, "your".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "mā ismuka?" (to a man), "mā ismuki?" (to a woman)
- ask, then answer — "mā ismuka?" / "ismī …"

Before you move on

What does ما اسمك؟ literally say, and where is the gender marked? ("What your-name?"; in the suffix — -ka (m.) / -ki (f.).)

2.7 تشرفنا (tasharrafnā) — "pleased to meet you"

The warm close — and it presents the meeting as an honour.

The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) Uses ت (tāʾ, just met), ش (shīn) and ر (rāʾ) from Ch. 1, plus ف (fāʾ, "f").

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تشرفنا (tasharrafnā), root sh–r–f (honour, nobility): sharaf ("honour"), sharīf ("noble" — the Sharif of Mecca). tasharrafnā means literally "we have been honoured" — to meet you is presented as an honour received. A more literal option is furṣa saᶜīda ("a happy occasion"). English sheriff only looks like sharīf: it comes from Old English scīrgerēfa, "shire-reeve", so that link is a folk etymology. Tasharrafnā is Form V of the native root, built on sharaf (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "tasharrafnā"
- the root family — sharaf (honour), sharīf (noble)

Before you move on

What does تشرفنا literally mean, and from what root? ("We have been honoured"; sh–r–f, "honour.")

2.8 Chapter 2 — the introduction, whole

Every lesson since the greetings built one short exchange: give your name, ask for theirs, close warmly.

The exchange

Read it: the lines below right to left

Arabic	English
ميرا اسمي. (ismī Mira)	My name is Mira.
ما اسمك؟ (mā ismuka)	What's your name?
ismī Arun	My name is Arun.
tasharrafnā	Pleased to meet you.

You'll want to know — the pieces

Every piece comes from the root-and-suffix engine: two roots (s–m–w, sh–r–f), two glued suffixes, no word for "is," and a "you" split by gender, not register.

Script — the letters, from memory

- Which letters build اسم and ما, and what does the ي of اسمي add? (ا م س, ا م, none new; "my.")
- Which letters of anta and tasharrafnā are new? (The alif on a hamza seat; ت, two dots above; fāʔ. A final vowel mark splits anta / anti.)

Your turn — from memory

- Is ism kin to English name? (No: Semitic, cousin of Hebrew shem.)
- How are "my" and "your" built? (Glued on, like al-: -ī; -ka / -ki.)
- Who hears anta, who anti, and which Hebrew pair shares the t? (A man; a woman; atta / att.) Before a noun, mā or mādā? (Mā.)
- What does tasharrafnā literally say? ("We have been honoured" — sh–r–f.)

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the whole exchange, right to left
- your own introduction — "ismī …, tasharrafnā"
- ask it back — "mā ismuka?" (to a man) / "mā ismuki?" (to a woman)

Before you move on

Give your name, ask someone else's, say you're pleased. (Ismī …. / Mā ismuka? / Tasharrafnā.) Two things Arabic does differently from the European tracks? (No word for "is" — zero copula; and "you" split by gender, not register.)
Next chapter: asking how someone is — and al-ḥamdu lillāh, the answer.

2.9 ثمن (thaman) — a price

Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: ثمن

ثمن — thaman — "a price".

Say it: thaman. Look: at its shape as you say it. The next lesson takes one piece of it, ث ت، ن، and writes it on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثمن (thaman), "a price", is a native noun, filed under the root th-m-n (Lane), which also gives thamāniya, "eight". Lane's thaman is what a seller receives in return for a thing sold.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- thaman
- thaman, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "a price"? (ثمن, thaman.)

2.10 ث ت، ن، — one bowl, four dot-patterns

In Lesson 3 you drew ب (bāʾ) — a boat-bowl with one dot below — and met the idea that the dots make the letter. Now the promised payoff: the same bowl, with the dots moved and multiplied, gives you three more common letters. Learn the bowl once; the dots do the rest.

Script — The bowl family — a truth-table

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: ن, ت, ث

Every letter here is the same shallow boat-bowl you already draw for bāʾ. Only the dots change:

letter	sound	the dots
ب bāʾ	b	one dot below (from Lesson 3)
ن nūn	n	one dot above
ت tāʾ	t	two dots above
ث thāʾ	th	three dots above
(ح ḥāʾ)	ḥ	no dot (a bigger hook — Lesson 3's cousin)

Read it as a dial: below → 1 above → 2 above → 3 above. The pen-stroke is identical each time; your only real decision is how many dots, and on which side.

Script — Draw them

- ن (nūn) — the bowl, then one dot above. (nūn sits a little deeper than bāʾ when it stands alone, but joined, it is the shared skeleton + one dot.) From Phoenician nun, "fish" — ancestor of Greek nu and Latin N.

- ت (tāʾ) — the bowl, then two dots above. From Phoenician taw, "mark" — the great-grandparent of Latin T (and the word tattoo-like "mark" survives in taw meaning a cross-mark).
- ث (thāʾ) — the bowl, then three dots above (drawn as a little triangle of dots).

Script — Where you have seen them — أنت

The Chapter 2 word أنت (anta / anti, "you") is built from exactly these: an alif (with a small hamza seat you will meet in Lesson 6), then ن (nūn, one dot above) joined to ت (tāʾ, two dots above). So أنت is, in dots, "bowl-with-one-above, bowl-with-two-above" — you can now read the skeleton of a real word.

Your turn

- Write it: the same bowl four times, then dot them — ب (1 below), ن (1 above), ت (2 above), ث (3 above)
- Say it: the dial — "below, one above, two above, three above — b, n, t, th"
- Write it: the joined pair نت (nūn→tāʾ), the core of أنت

Before you move on

What single feature separates ب, ن, ت, ث? (The dots — same bowl; one below / one above / two above / three above.) Which two of them build the Chapter 2 word أنت ("you")? (ن nūn and ت tāʾ.) What Latin letters descend from nūn and taw? (N and T.) Next: ي (yāʾ), the two-dots-below letter — and your name.

2.11 ي (yāʾ) — the last dot-letter, and "my name"

One more member of the bowl family, and it is a triple threat: ي (yāʾ) is a consonant y, and the long vowel ī, and the little suffix -ī meaning "my." With it you can finally write a whole Chapter 2 phrase in your own hand: اسمي ("my name").

Script — ي (yāʾ) — two dots below

How ي is written, stroke by stroke

Break it apart:

1. the body — the boat-bowl (standing alone) or a tooth (when joined).
2. two dots BELOW — the mark that completes the bowl-family dial: bāʾ had one below, yāʾ has two below.

So the full "below/above" set is now closed: ب one-below, ي two-below; ن one-above, ت two-above, ث three-above. Yāʾ comes from Phoenician yod, "hand" — the ancestor of Greek iota and Latin I / J (and the reason we say "not one iota," the smallest letter).

You'll want to know — Its three jobs

- consonant y — as in yawm ("day").
- long vowel ī — a seat for the "ee" sound.
- the suffix ـي "my" — the Chapter 2 possessive. Glue -ī onto a noun and it becomes "my ____," exactly as ism ("name") + -ī → ismī ("my name").

Script — Assemble — first اسم, then اسمي

You already know every letter of اسم (ism, "name") from Lessons 1–3: ا (alif) · س (sīn) · م (mīm). Write it right-to-left:

1. ا (alif) — the upright; it does not join forward, so the pen lifts.
2. س (sīn) — three teeth, joining into…
3. م (mīm) — round head + tail. → اسم.

Now add ي for "my." Mīm joins forward to yāʾ, giving اسمي (ismī):

- اسمي = alif · sīn · mīm · yāʾ = i-s-m-ī = "my name."

Read it back, right to left, and you have written a phrase you will say every time you introduce yourself.

Your turn

- Write it: ي — body + two dots below
- Say it: the closed dial — "ب one-below, ي two-below; ن/ت/ث one/two/three above"
- Write it: اسم (ism), then extend to اسمي (ismī, "my name")

Before you move on

Where do yāʾ's dots sit, and how many? (Two, below.) Name yāʾ's three jobs. (Consonant y; long vowel ī; the suffix -ī "my.") Spell اسمي letter by letter, right to left. (alif · sīn · mīm · yāʾ — "my name.") Next: the little vowel marks — and how one of them, the small stroke below (ـِ), flips أنت from "you (m.)" to "you (f.)."

2.12 مُدَرِّس (mudarris) — a teacher

Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: مُدَرِّس

مُدَرِّس — mudarris — "a teacher".

Say it: mudarris. Look: at its shape as you say it. The lessons that follow take pieces of it, the short-vowel marks ـَ, ـِ and ـُ, and the doubling mark ـّ, and write each one on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مُدَرِّس (mudarris) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-s, "to become effaced; to study" (Lane). Mudarris is the Form II participle, "one who makes others study": a teacher.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- mudarris
- mudarris, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "a teacher"? (مُدَرِّس, mudarris.)

2.13 ـَ ـِ ـُ — the short vowels the abjad usually hides

In the first writing cluster you learned Arabic is an abjad: short vowels are usually left out. This lesson shows the marks that a beginner's book does print when it wants to be clear—the ḥarakāt—and one of them delivers the neatest payoff in the whole set: the difference between "you (m.)" and "you (f.)" is a single dash.

Script — The ḥarakāt — three short-vowel marks

These are small marks written around a consonant, not letters in their own right. On the letter bāʾ (ب):

mark and name	where	sound, on bāʾ
◌َ fatḥa	a slash above	"a": بَ = ba
◌ِ kasra	a slash below	"i": بِ = bi
◌ُ ḍamma	a tiny wāw above	"u": بُ = bu

Stop at these three vowel marks. The next four-minute micro-lesson adds the separate ideas "no vowel," "double this consonant," and the -an ending. Their shapes wait there so this page never asks you to absorb two writing steps at once.

You'll want to know — The payoff — أنتَ vs أنتِ

Here is why the marks matter. The Chapter 2 word أنت ("you") is the same consonant skeleton for a man and a woman — alif · nūn · tāʾ. What splits them is a single ḥaraka on the final ت:

- أنتَ — tāʾ + fatḥa (the "a" slash above) = anta, "you" to a man.
- أنتِ — tāʾ + kasra (the "i" slash below) = anti, "you" to a woman.

One dash up or down carries the whole gender distinction you learned in the introductions chapter. Leave the mark off — as normal Arabic does — and أنت serves both, the reader deciding from context.

Your turn

- Write it: on ب — fatḥa above (ba), kasra below (bi), ḍamma above (bu)
- Say it: the flip — "أنتَ anta (man, slash above) vs أنتِ anti (woman, slash below)"

Before you move on

What are the ḥarakāt, and does everyday text show them? (The short- vowel marks — fatḥa/kasra/ḍamma; normally left off, since Arabic is an abjad.) Which mark, and where, turns anta into anti? (A kasra — the "i" slash—below the final tāʾ, instead of the fatḥa above.) You have now made one consonant skeleton say anta or anti with one tiny mark.

2.14 أَهْلًا (ahlan) — welcome

Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: أَهْلًا

أَهْلًا — ahlan — "welcome".

Say it: ahlan. Look: at its shape as you say it. The lessons that follow take pieces of it, the no-vowel mark ـْ and the ending ـً, and write each one on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أَهْلًا (ahlan) is the accusative of ahl, "the people of a house, family", built on the native root ʾ-h-l (Lane): "(you have come to) family".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ahlan
- ahlan, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "welcome"? (أَهْلًا, ahlan.)

2.15 ـْ ـّ ـً — stop, double, or add -an

You already know the three short-vowel marks. Keep those shapes in mind. This lesson adds exactly three more marks, one job at a time.

Script — Three marks, three instructions

Each mark sits around a consonant. It changes how you read that consonant; it is not another full letter.

mark	name	instruction
◌ْ	sukūn	stop: no vowel follows this consonant
◌ّ	shadda	hold or double this consonant
◌ً	fatḥatan	add the ending -an

Look at the last mark in شكرًا (shukran, "thank you"). The small doubled stroke above the final letter supplies -an. You have seen the word before; today you are learning what that one mark tells the reader.

Your turn

- Write it: draw ◌ْ once — a small circle above the line; say "no vowel"
- Write it: draw ◌ّ once — a small w above the line; say "double"
- Write it: draw ◌ً once — two light slashes above the line; say "-an"
- Say it: point in order — sukūn, shadda, fatḥatan

Before you move on

Which mark means "no vowel"? (◌ْ, sukūn.) Which doubles a consonant? (◌ّ, shadda.) Which gives shukran its -an ending? (◌ً, fatḥatan.) Trace each once more without rushing.

2.16 ء and أ — the glottal catch

The marks in the last lesson supplied vowels. Hamza is different: it writes a real consonant sound.

Script — The catch in "uh-oh"

Say English "uh-oh" slowly. The little catch between the two syllables is a glottal stop. Arabic writes that consonant with ء, called hamza.

Hamza often sits on a seat. At the start of أنت (anta/anti, "you"), it rides above ا, producing أ. The alif supplies the seat; the hamza marks the glottal-stop consonant.

That gives alif two roles you must keep separate:

- ا can carry long ā.
- أ can be an alif seat bearing the consonant ء.

Hamza is therefore not another short-vowel mark. Its sound is the catch itself.

Your turn

- Say it: "uh-oh" and feel the glottal catch
- Write it: ء alone, then أ on its alif seat
- Point to: أنتَ / أنتِ — the same initial hamza in both

Before you move on

Is hamza a vowel mark? (No.) What sound does it write? (A glottal stop.) What is أ? (Hamza riding on an alif seat.)

2.17 Chapter 2 checkpoint — the introduction, its letters and its marks

Nothing new here: the introduction, then its letters and marks.

Your turn — the exchange

- Say it: the exchange to a man, then to a woman — "ismī …" / "mā ismuka?" or "mā ismuki?" / "tasharrafnā"

Your turn — from memory

- "A price," "a teacher," "welcome"? (Thaman; mudarris; ahlan.)
- Ism's cousin, and tasharrafnā literally? (Hebrew shem, not name; "we have been honoured," sh–r–f.)
- How are "my" and "your" built, and what does ismī Arun leave out? (Glued on: -ī; -ka / -ki. "Is": the zero copula.)
- What splits anta from anti, where French splits "you" by register? Before a noun, mā or mādā? (Gender; mā.)

Script — the bowl, the dial and the marks

- What separates ب ن ت ث ي? (The dots: one below; one, two, three above; two below.)
- Which letters build ما, which letter of tasharrafnā is new, and what builds أنت? (م ا; fāʾ; أ, hamza on an alif seat, then ن and ت.)
- What do َ ُ ِ and ً ٌ ٍ tell you, and which makes أنتِ? (a, i, u; no vowel, double, -an; a kasra under the final ت.)
- Which marks does mudarris carry, and which two does ahlan add? (fatḥa, kasra, ḍamma, shadda; sukūn, fatḥatan.)

Read it: aloud, right to left, with meanings — ما, اسمي, أنتَ, أنتِ, ثمن

Writing — from sound alone

Cover: the Script block above

Write it: from sound — b, n, t, th, y; then ismī; then anta and anti, each with its final vowel mark

Write it: the hamza alone, then on its alif seat

Check: against the key — ب ن ت ث ي, اسمي, أنتَ, أنتِ, ء, أ

Write it: one repaired dot or mark, then stop

Before you move on

Name yāʾ's three jobs. Is hamza a vowel mark? (Consonant y, long ī, the suffix -ī "my"; no, it writes a glottal stop.)
Next chapter: asking how someone is.

Chapter 3

How Are You?

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 👁 eyes (2) ✓ pen (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first of 10 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask an Arabic speaker how they are, answer that I am well, and change the ending of the question to match a man or a woman.
>
> The whole how-are-you exchange, run once to a man and once to a woman, with bi-khayr written out by hand again after AR-W09 and the chapter's letters, roots and literal meanings recalled from memory.

3.1 حاج (ḥājj) — a pilgrim

> Before the new word: say the last thing you learned, once, out loud.

You'll want to know: حاج

حاج — ḥājj — "a pilgrim".

Say it: ḥājj. Look: at its shape as you say it. The next lesson takes one piece of it, ḥāʾ, khāʾ, jīm, and writes it on its own.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاج (ḥājj) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-j, "to repair to, to make the pilgrimage" (Lane). Lane's ḥājj is one who repairs to Mecca for the pilgrimage.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ḥājj
- ḥājj, and what it means

Before you move on

What is "a pilgrim"? (حاج, ḥājj.)

3.2 ج خ ح — the dots trick, on a brand-new body

Before the new letters, point once to ْ, ّ, and ً. Say their jobs: "no vowel", "double", "-an". If one feels slow, trace it once. Then leave the marks behind for today.

Back in Lesson 4 you learned a whole family of letters that share one bowl and differ only by dots. Arabic does the same trick on a second skeleton — a curvy hook-and-tail body — giving three more common letters. Learn the body once; the dots do the rest, exactly as before.

Script — The hook-and-tail family

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: ح, خ, ج

Every letter here is the same shape: a rounded hook at the top flowing into a tail that drops below the line. Only the dot changes:

letter	sound	the dot
ح ḥāʾ	ḥ — a deep, breathy "h" (from the throat)	no dot
خ khāʾ	kh — like the ch in Scottish "loch"	one dot above
ج jīm	j — as in "jam"	one dot below

It is the bowl-family idea reborn: one skeleton, the dots deciding everything. Say the dial — no dot / above / below → ḥ / kh / j.

Script — Draw them

- ح (ḥāʾ) — the hook body, then the descending tail; no dot. From Phoenician ḥēth ("fence") — the ancestor of Latin H.
- خ (khāʾ) — the same body, plus one dot above. (Arabic built khāʾ from ḥāʾ by adding the dot — no separate Latin cousin, but you already know the shape.)

- ج (jīm) — the same body, plus one dot below. From Phoenician gīml ("camel") — the great-grandparent of Greek gamma and Latin C/G.

Script — Where you've seen it — خير

You have already read خير (khayr, "good/well") inside the Chapter 1 greeting صباح الخير (ṣabāḥ al-khayr, "good morning"). It opens with خ — the hook-body plus one dot above. You now know the first letter of a word you've been saying since Lesson… one.

Your turn

- Write it: the same hook-and-tail body three times, then dot them — ح (none), خ (above), ج (below)
- Say it: the dial — "no dot, above, below — ḥ, kh, j"
- Say it: "خ opens خير — the 'good' in ṣabāḥ al-khayr"

Before you move on

What do ح, خ, ج share, and what tells them apart? (One hook-and-tail body; the dots — none / above / below.) Which sound is خ, and where's its dot? (kh, like loch; one above.) Which Chapter 1 word opens with خ? (خير, in ṣabāḥ al-khayr.) Next: ك (kāf) and ر (rā) — the last letters you need to write it.

3.3 ك and ر — an angular k, and an r that won't hold hands

Two more shapes, and then — next lesson — you can write خير. Meet ك (kāf, "k") and ر (rā, "r"). One is angular and new; the other revisits a rule you learned on the very first day.

Script — ك (kāf) — the angular k

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: ك, ر

Break it apart:

1. the body — an angular upright, bending like an open corner (not a curve — a hard angle).
2. the inner stroke — a small hamza-like flick tucked inside the angle.

ك is kāf, a clean "k." From Phoenician kaph ("palm of the hand") — the ancestor of Greek kappa and Latin K. It joins its neighbours, changing shape by position like the other connectors.

Script — ر (rā) — the little downward curve that breaks

Break it apart — there's just one piece:

1. the curve — a short stroke that curves down below the baseline and stops. No dot, no loop.

ر is rā, "r." From Phoenician rēsh ("head") — ancestor of Greek rho and Latin R. And here is the important rule: like alif (Lesson 1), rā does not join to the letter after it — it is one of the six non-joiners. So rā forces the pen to lift, just as alif did in سلام.

Your turn

- Write it: ك — angular body + the inner flick
- Write it: ر — one short downward curve below the line
- Say it: "rā, like alif, breaks — no joining the next letter"
- Say it: "kaph → K, rēsh → R — the Phoenician cousins again"

Before you move on

Describe ك: angular or curved, and what sits inside? (Angular body with a small inner stroke.) What Latin letters descend from kāf and rā? (K and R.) What rule does ر share with alif? (It is a non-joiner — the pen lifts after it.) Next: you assemble خير — and answer "how are you?"

3.4 كيف (kayfa) — "how"

Chapter 2 gave you ما (mā, "what"). Here is its partner: كيف (kayfa, "how"). Two question words, and you can already build with both.

Two words from the marks lessons: say mudarris and ahlan, and what each means.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) ك (kāf) and ي (yāʾ) you have written — kāf in the writing set, yāʾ in اسمي. The last letter, ف (fāʾ, the f), is new; the writing track hasn't reached it yet, so read it for now and draw it later.

Right to left: ك · ي · ف → kay-fa.

Note the ay in the middle — the yāʾ is doing double duty again, this time as part of a diphthong, exactly as it did as a long ī in ismī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كيف is a question word, so it doesn't behave like the root-and-pattern nouns you've been meeting — it just is. But the letters k–y–f do form a root elsewhere:

word	meaning
kayfiyya	quality, manner — literally "how-ness"
kayyafa	to adapt, adjust (to make a thing fit how it must be) takyīf	adaptation — and, in modern Arabic, air conditioning

So the abstract noun for "quality" is built straight from the word "how." Arabic does this constantly: take a word, run it through a pattern, get a concept.
Kayfa itself is inherited, not built on a three-letter root: Lane notes that verbs such as kayyafa were later formed from it by analogy.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "kayfa" — "how"
- the pair — "مَا mā (what) · كيف kayfa (how)"
- "kayfiyya" — and hear "how-ness"

Before you move on

What does كيف mean? ("How.") Which Chapter 2 word is its partner? (ما, "what".) Which letter in it is new? (ف, fāʾ — the f.) What is kayfiyya? ("Quality" — literally how-ness, built from this very word.) Next: the word Arabic asks about when it asks how you are — and it isn't "you."

3.5 حال (ḥāl) — "state, condition"

English asks "how are you?" Arabic asks about something else entirely — your حال, your state. Get this word and the whole question falls open.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) Three letters, all already yours: ح (ḥāʾ, the deep throat h, from the hook-family lesson), ا (alif), ل (lām).

Right to left: ح · ا · ل → ḥāl. And remember from the writing set: alif breaks the join, so ḥā- then -l.

Why it's said this way

Here is the payoff. حال comes from the root ḥ–w–l, "to turn, to change." Look what grows from it:

word	meaning	the turning inside
ḥāl	state, condition	how things have turned out ḥawla	around	turning round something taḥwīl	transformation, transfer	making something turn into another
ḥawl	a year	one full turn of the seasons
aḥwāl	circumstances (plural of ḥāl)	the way things stand

So a "state" in Arabic is not a fixed thing you are — it's the position you have turned to. The language builds "condition" out of motion. Compare what you already know: Spanish estar ("to be, temporarily") came from Latin stāre, "to stand." Two languages, two metaphors for the same idea — one stands, one turns.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ḥāl" — deep ḥ from the throat, not an English h
- "ḥāl · ḥawla · taḥwīl" — hear the root turning
- the contrast — "Arabic turns, Spanish estar stands"

Before you move on

What does حال mean? ("State, condition.") What root is it from, and what does that root mean? (ḥ–w–l, "to turn, change.") So what is a "state," literally? (How things have turned.) What is ḥawl? ("A year" — one full turn.) Next: bolt a "your" onto it and you have the question.

3.6 كيف حالك؟ (kayfa ḥāluka?) — "how are you?"

Everything in this question is already yours. You are not learning a new phrase — you are bolting three known pieces together.

You'll want to know — The assembly

piece	where you met it
كيف kayfa — "how"	last-but-one lesson
حال ḥāl — "state"	last lesson
ك -ka / -ki — "your"	new, but see below

→ كيف حالك؟ = "how [is] your state?"

Grammar Lens — The suffix you already half-know

In Chapter 2 you attached ـي (-ī, "my") to a noun: ism → ismī ("my name"). The suffix for "your" works identically — it just clips onto the end:

- حالك ḥāluka — "your state," said to a man
- حالك ḥāluki — "your state," said to a woman

And look at that split: -ka to a man, -ki to a woman. That is exactly the أنتَ / أنتِ (anta / anti) division from Chapter 2 — Arabic marking gender, not formality, where Spanish and French mark register. The same fatḥa / kasra mark that flipped anta to anti flips ḥāluka to ḥāluki. One letter, one mark, both meanings.

Grammar Lens — No verb at all

Notice what is missing: there is no "is," no "are." Just how — your-state. This is the zero copula you met with اسمي ("my name [is] …"): Arabic simply doesn't need a verb to join a thing to its description.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كيف حالك (kayfa ḥāluka) is built from kayfa, "how", an inherited question word, and ḥāluka, "your state": ḥāl, on the native root ḥ-w-l, "to turn, to change" (Lane), with -ka, "your".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to a man — "kayfa ḥāluka?"
- to a woman — "kayfa ḥāluki?"
- the parallel — "*ismī my name · *ḥāluka your state"
- the missing word — "how · your-state — no 'is'"

Before you move on

What does كيف حالك؟ literally say? ("How [is] your state?") Which suffix means "your," and how does it split? (-ka to a man, -ki to a woman — the anta/anti split again.) Which Chapter 2 suffix does it copy? (-ī, "my," as in ismī.) What word is absent from the sentence? ("Is" — the zero copula.) Next: how to answer.

3.7 بخير (bi-khayr) — "well"

The answer to kayfa ḥāluka? — and nothing here is new; it is two old pieces stuck together. Before this chapter ends you will write it by hand.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

(Skim if you read Arabic.) ب (bāʾ), خ (khāʾ), ي (yāʾ), ر (rāʾ) — every one of them a letter you have already written. The chapter's last writing lesson joins them into خير and then بخير, letter by letter. Right to left: ب · خ · ر · ي.

You'll want to know — The two pieces

خير (khayr) — "good, goodness." You have met it before without being told: it is sitting inside the Chapter 1 greeting صباح الخير (ṣabāḥ al-khayr, "morning of the good"). The greeting was never a fixed lump — it was always ṣabāḥ + al- + khayr.

بـ (bi-) — "in, with." A one-letter preposition, and like الـ (al-) from Chapter 1, it does not stand alone: it glues onto the front of the next word.

→ بخير = bi- + khayr = "in goodness."

You'll want to know — What you actually say

- — kayfa ḥāluka? ("How is your state?")
- — بخير، شكراً. bi-khayr, shukran. ("Well, thank you.")

Literally: "In goodness, thanks." Not "I am fine" — Arabic doesn't need the "I am" any more than the question needed an "is."

You'll want to know — The bi- you have heard before

That same بـ opens the most-spoken phrase in the language: bismillāh ("in the name of God") — bi- + ism (the very word from Chapter 2!) + allāh. One tiny letter, doing the same job.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بخير (bi-khayr) is built from bi-, "in, with", an inherited Semitic preposition that Hebrew has as bə-, and khayr, "good", on the native root kh-y-r (Lane): "in goodness".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "bi-khayr" — "in goodness"

- the callback — "*ṣabāḥ al-khayr … bi-khayr"
- the exchange — "kayfa ḥāluka? — bi-khayr, shukran."
- "bismillāh" — and find ism inside it

Before you move on

What does بخير literally mean? ("In goodness.") Where had you already met khayr? (Inside صباح الخير — "morning of the good.") What kind of word is بـ? (A one-letter preposition that attaches, like al-.) What is missing from the answer, again? (Any word for "I am.") Next: the answer Arabic gives even more often.

3.8 لله الحمد (al-ḥamdu lillāh) — "praise be to God"

Ask an Arabic speaker how they are and this, more often than bi-khayr, is what comes back. It also hides the best root story in the chapter.

You'll want to know — The letters

(Skim if you read Arabic.) ا ل ح م د and ل ل ه — every letter is one you have written: alif, lām, ḥāʾ, mīm, dāl, hāʾ. Nothing new to draw.

You'll want to know — The pieces

piece	meaning	where from
الـ al-	"the"	Chapter 1
حمد ḥamd	praise	new, root ḥ–m–d
لـ li-	"to, for"	a one-letter preposition, like bi-
الله allāh	God	al- + ilāh, "the god"

→ لله الحمد = "the praise [is] to God." Zero copula once more.

Note الله itself: it is al- (the article you learned in Chapter 1) fused onto ilāh, "a god." The word is literally "the God." Its Semitic cousins are Hebrew El and Elohim — the same family pairing as salām / shalom from Chapter 1.

Why it's said this way

ḥ–m–d means "to praise." Run it through Arabic's patterns:

word	pattern meaning
ḥamd	praise (the plain noun)
maḥmūd	praised
ḥamīd	praiseworthy
aḥmad	"more praiseworthy" — the name Ahmad
muḥammad	"the much-praised one" — the name Muhammad

So the most frequently used phrase in the language and the most common given name on earth are built from the same three consonants. This is the root engine doing exactly what Chapter 1 promised: three letters, and a whole family of meanings drops out.

You'll want to know — Using it

- — kayfa ḥāluka?
- — الحمد لله. al-ḥamdu lillāh.

It works as "fine, thanks" — said whether things are going well or badly, which is part of its point.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "al-ḥamdu lillāh"
- the root — "ḥamd · ḥamīd · aḥmad · muḥammad"
- "allāh" — and hear al- + ilāh, "the god"
- the full exchange — "kayfa ḥāluka? — al-ḥamdu lillāh."

Before you move on

What does الحمد لله literally say? ("The praise [is] to God.") What root is ḥamd from? (ḥ–m–d, "to praise".) Which two names come out of that root? (Aḥmad and Muḥammad — "the much-praised.") What is allāh made of? (al- + ilāh = "the god"; cousin of Hebrew El.) Next: practice the whole exchange.

3.9 خير and بخير — writing "good," and how you say you're well

Everything comes together. With خ (Lesson 7), ي (Lesson 5), and ر (Lesson 8), you can now write خير (khayr, "good") — the word hiding in every "good morning" you've greeted with — and then بخير (bi-khayr, "well"), the everyday answer to "how are you?"

Script — Assemble خير — right to left

Write it starting on the right, moving left:

1. خ (khāʾ) — the hook-body with one dot above, reaching left into…
2. ي (yāʾ) — joined in the middle (its two dots below), flowing into…
3. ر (rā) — the little down-curve. Remember Lesson 8: rā is a non-joiner, so it simply ends the word — but yāʾ does join into it from the right.

Read back, right to left: خ · ي · ر = kh · ī · r = خير, "good." (The root kh–y–r means "good, best, choice" across Semitic — the same three consonants carry the meaning, vowels laid on top, just like Arabic always works.)

Script — Then بخير — "(I'm) well"

Glue بـ (bi-, "in / with") onto the front — bāʾ from Lesson 3, its one dot below — and it joins straight into the khāʾ:

- بخير = bāʾ · khāʾ · yāʾ · rā = bi-khayr, literally "in goodness" — what you say when someone asks kayfa ḥāluk? ("how are you?"). "Al-ḥamdu lillāh, bi-khayr" — "Praise God, (I'm) well."

You have now written a real reply in a real conversation, in your own hand.

Your turn

- Write it: خير, right to left — "khāʾ (dot above), yāʾ, rā — lift"
- Write it: بخير — add bi- on the right: "bāʾ joins into khāʾ"
- Say it: "the root kh-y-r = good; bi-khayr = 'in goodness' = 'I'm well'"

Before you move on

Spell خير letter by letter, right to left. (khāʾ · yāʾ · rā — "good.") Which letter ends it, and does anything join after it? (rā — no, it's a non-joiner; the pen lifts.) What does بخير literally mean, and when do you say it? ("In goodness" — the answer to "how are you?", kayfa ḥāluk?.) You can now hand-write a greeting and its reply — the Arabic script is yours.

3.10 Practice — the whole exchange

Now close the loop: ask after someone, and answer back.

The exchange

	Arabic	literally
A	عليكم السلام (as-salāmu ᶜalaykum)	peace [be] upon you
B	السلام وعليكم (wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām)	and upon you, peace
A	kayfa ḥāluka?	how [is] your state?
B	al-ḥamdu lillāh, bi-khayr	the praise [is] to God — in goodness
B	اسمك؟ ما وأنت؟ (wa-anta? mā ismuka?)	and you? what [is] your name?

No line has a verb "to be."

You'll want to know — the pieces

phrase	built from
kayfa ḥāluka	kayfa + ḥāl + -ka/-ki
bi-khayr	bi- + khayr
al-ḥamdu lillāh	al- + ḥamd + li- + allāh

Three attaching pieces — al-, bi-, li- — and -ka/-ki, whose one vowel mark, fatḥa or kasra, sets the gender.

Script — the letters, from memory

- What tells ج خ ح apart? (The dot on one hook-and-tail body: none, above, below; ḥēth gave H, gīml C/G.)
- Describe ك and ر. (Angular, with an inner stroke; a short curve below the line that, like alif, never joins forward.)
- Spell خير right to left. (khāʾ · yāʾ · rā — and the pen lifts.)
- Which letter of kayfa ḥāluka is new, and which of بخير and al-ḥamdu lillāh? (fāʾ; none.) Where does حال break? (After the alif.)

Your turn

- Say it: the full exchange, both parts, to a man
- Say it: it again, to a woman — every -ka becomes -ki
- Write it: بخير, bi- into khāʾ
- Say it: the roots — "s-l-m peace · ḥ-w-l turn · kh-y-r good · ḥ-m-d praise"

Before you move on

Ask "how are you?" to a woman. (Kayfa ḥāluki? — "how your state?") Give both answers, literally. (Bi-khayr, "in goodness"; al-ḥamdu lillāh, "the praise to God.") What is a "state," and kayfiyya? (How things have turned; "how-ness.") What is a pilgrim? (Ḥājj.) Which root gave a phrase and a name? (ḥ–m–d — Muḥammad.)

Chapter 4

Farewells

Modes: voice (4) eyes (1) pen (3) Hands-free start: none of the 8 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can close a conversation in Arabic, choosing between ma^{c}a s-salāma and ilā l-liqāʾ.
>
> The four-chapter conversation end to end – greet, name, how-are-you, farewell – with every -ka swapped to -ki on the second run, ma^{c}a s-salāma written by hand, and the chapter's letters and farewells recalled from memory.

4.1 ع (^{c}ayn) — the eye that became an O

Point to ◌ْ, ◌ٌ, ◌ً: "no vowel", "double", "-an".

This is the letter people think of when they think "Arabic." ع (^{c}ayn) writes a sound made deep in the throat — one English simply does not have. And its history holds the best surprise in the whole alphabet: this consonant is the ancestor of our vowel O.

Script — Draw it

How it is written — one unbroken stroke · 2 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ع ع, independent Ayn at 00:03.1–00:04.0 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ع is written, stroke by stroke

Break it apart — an open curve, then a bowl:

1. the open-mouth curve on top — like a small c opening to the left.
2. the bowl below, when ᶜayn stands alone or ends a word — a scoop underneath.

Joined in the middle of a word it flattens into a little wedge; standing alone it shows the full curve-over-bowl. It is a connector, so it changes coat by position like sīn and lām.

Script — A third dots-family

You know the bowl family (ب/ن/ت/ث) from Lesson 4 and the hook-and-tail family (ح/خ/ج) from Lesson 7. ᶜayn opens a third: its skeleton is shared with غ (ghayn), which is the same shape plus one dot above. Same trick, third time — by now you should expect it.

Script — The surprise: ᶜayn → O

ᶜayn comes from Phoenician ᶜayin, meaning "eye" — and the oldest forms were drawn as one. When the Greeks borrowed the Phoenician alphabet, they had no throat-sound like ᶜ. So they did what borrowers do with a sign they can't use: they repurposed it — and turned the eye-shaped letter into the vowel omicron, our O.

So the round O you write is a Phoenician eye, and Arabic's ᶜayn is the same sign that kept its original consonant job. (Compare the thread so far: ʾālep→A, bēt→B, mem→M, kaph→K, rēsh→R — and now ᶜayin→O.)

Script — Where you've heard it

You have been saying this sound since Chapter 1: عليكم السلام (as-salāmu ᶜalaykum) — the ᶜ in ᶜalaykum is this letter. And the farewell you'll write two lessons from now opens with it.

Your turn

- Write it: ع — the open curve, then the bowl beneath
- Say it: the sound, from the throat — as in ᶜalaykum
- Say it: the family — "ᶜayn ع, and ghayn غ = the same shape plus one dot"
- Say it: "ᶜayin = eye → the Greeks made it O"

Before you move on

Describe ع's two pieces. (An open-mouth curve on top, a bowl below when isolated or final.) What did Phoenician ᶜayin mean, and what letter did the Greeks turn it into? ("Eye"; they had no such sound, so they made it the vowel O.) Which letter shares its skeleton? (غ ghayn — one dot above.) Next: ه and the feminine ending ة.

4.2 ه and ة — the loop, and the ending that means "feminine"

Two related shapes. ه (hāʾ) is a plain "h" — and the most shape-shifting letter you've met, wearing four genuinely different coats. Then ة, a letter built out of it, whose whole job is to say one grammatical thing: this word is feminine.

Script — ه (hāʾ) — the loop that never looks the same

How these letters are written, one after another, stroke by stroke: ه, ة

Break it apart — there is really just one piece:

1. the loop — a closed round body.

But that loop changes shape a lot by position more than any letter so far: standing alone it's a neat circle-ish loop; at the start it opens out; in the middle it becomes a small figure-of-eight pinched in the centre; at the end it trails. Same letter, four faces — the four-coats rule from Lesson 2 taken to its extreme.

From Phoenician hē — the ancestor of Greek epsilon and Latin E. (Another one for the family tree: ʾālep→A, bēt→B, hē→E, mem→M, ᶜayin→O.)

Script — ة (tāʾ marbūṭa) — the "tied tāʾ"

Now look carefully at this:

- ه = hāʾ's loop, no dots.
- ة = the same loop + tāʾ's two dots above.

Its name says exactly what it is: tāʾ marbūṭa, "the tied-up tāʾ" — a ت (tāʾ, Lesson 4) whose ends have been tied into a loop. It appears only at the end of a word, and it is the standard mark of a feminine noun or adjective.

You already know its partner: back in Lesson 4 you learned ت with two dots above. Put those same two dots on a hāʾ loop and you get the feminine ending. Nothing new to memorise — just two known pieces combined.

Where you'll see it: the farewell you write in the next lesson ends in ة — its last word is feminine.

Your turn

- Write it: ه — the loop; then try it isolated and final, feel it change
- Write it: ة — the same loop, plus tāʾ's two dots above
- Say it: the name — "tāʾ marbūṭa, the tied tāʾ — it marks the feminine"
- Say it: "hē → Greek epsilon → Latin E"

Before you move on

What makes ه unusual among the letters you've learned? (Its loop changes shape dramatically by position — four very different coats.) What is ة made of, and what does its name mean? (hāʾ's loop + tāʾ's two dots; "tied tāʾ".) What does ة tell you about a word, and where can it appear? (That it is feminine; only at the end.) Next: assembling the farewell.

4.3 مع السلامة — the goodbye, and a word you already know

The closing move. مع السلامة (maᶜa s-salāma) is how Arabic says goodbye — literally "with safety," go in peace. And the heart of it is a word you wrote all the way back in Lesson 3: سلام. Everything since has been leading here.

Script — Part 1 — مع (maᶜa, "with")

Two letters, both known:

1. م (mīm, Lesson 3) — round head, joining left into…
2. ع (ᶜayn, Lesson 10) — the open curve over its bowl, closing the word.

→ مع = maᶜa, "with."

Script — Part 2 — السلامة (as-salāma, "the safety")

Look at what this is made of:

- ال — the al- ("the"), alif + lām, both from Lessons 1–2. You've read it since Chapter 1 in خيرال and عليكم سلامال.
- سلام — the exact word you assembled in Lesson 3: sīn · lām · alif · mīm.
- ة — the tāʾ marbūṭa from Lesson 11, marking salāma as feminine.

So السلامة = al- + salām + -a. You are not learning a new word; you are adding two edges to one you already own.

Script — The root s-l-m, one more time

salām, salāma, islām, muslim — all from the Semitic root s–l–m, "peace, safety, wholeness." The greeting you learned first (عليكم السلام, "peace be upon you") and the farewell you learn last (السلامة مع, "with safety") come from the same three consonants. Arabic opens and closes a conversation with one idea.

Script — Assemble it — right to left

1. م then ع → مع
2. lift; ا + ل (the al-), the lām joining into…
3. س · ل · ا — and remember the ligature, ل + ا → لا, and that alif breaks…
4. م, then ة to close.

→ السلامة مع

Your turn

- Write it: مع — mīm into ᶜayn
- Write it: السلامة — "the al-, then your Lesson-3 word, then the feminine ة"
- Say it: "maᶜa s-salāma — with safety"
- Say it: the bookend — "عليكم السلام to greet, السلامة مع to part — same root s-l-m"

Before you move on

What does السلامة مع literally mean? ("With safety.") Which earlier word sits inside السلامة, and what was added? (سلام from Lesson 3 — plus ال in front and ة behind.) What does the final ة signal? (salāma is feminine.) What root ties the first greeting to the last farewell? (s–l–m — peace/safety.) You can now hand-write an Arabic conversation from hello to goodbye.

4.4 مع (maᶜa) — "with"

Two letters, both already yours, and a word that will carry the whole chapter.

You'll want to know — The letters

(Skim if you read Arabic.) م (mīm) from Lesson 3 of the writing set, and ع (ᶜayn) from Lesson 10 — the throat sound whose Phoenician ancestor meant "eye," and which the Greeks recycled into the vowel O.

Right to left: م · ع → maᶜa. The ᶜayn is not a vowel; it is a constriction deep in the throat. Take your time with it.

You'll want to know — The word

مع (maᶜa) = "with, together with."

It is a preposition, and unlike الـ (al-) or بـ (bi-) from Chapter 3, it is a free-standing word — it does not glue onto the next one. Compare:

	attaches?
ال al- "the"	yes
بـ bi- "in/with"	yes
لـ li- "to"	yes
مع ma^{c}a "with"	no

So Arabic has two words touching on "with": the one-letter بـ (bi-, "in/by means of," as in bi-khayr) and the full word مع (ma^{c}a, "accompanied by"). Bi-khayr is "in goodness"; ma^{c}a is standing next to something.

Why it's said this way

ma^{c}a is usually set beside Hebrew עִם (^{c}im), "with", though how the two are linked is debated. Compare the sure pairings you met with salām / shalom in Chapter 1 and ism / shem in Chapter 2: there the family resemblance is systematic, not a coincidence.

Your turn

- Say it: "ma^{c}a" — the ^{c}ayn from the throat
- Say it: the contrast — "bi-khayr in goodness · ma^{c}a with"
- Say it: the cousin — "ma^{c}a · Hebrew ^{c}im"
- Write it: مع — mīm joining into ^{c}ayn

Before you move on

What does مع mean? ("With.") Does it attach to the next word, like al- and bi-? (No — it stands alone.) What is the difference between bi- and ma^{c}a? (Bi- = "in/by means of"; ma^{c}a = "accompanied by".) What is its Hebrew cousin? (^{c}im.) Next: the word it goes with — and you already know most of it.

4.5 السلامة (as-salāma) — "the safety"

This looks like a long new word. It isn't. It is one word you learned in Chapter 1 with a piece added at each end.

You'll want to know — Taking it apart piece	what it is	met in

ال	al-, "the"	Ch. 1
سلام	salām, "peace"	Ch. 1 — the very first word
ة	tāʾ marbūṭa, feminine ending	writing Lesson 11

→ السلامة = al- + salām + -a = "the safety."

Every letter is one you have already written by hand.

You'll want to know — The pattern that changed the meaning

Arabic doesn't just add endings — it pours a root into a shape. Here the root s–l–m goes into the pattern fa^{c}āla, which turns a thing into the state of being that thing:

word	meaning
salām	peace
salāma	safety, soundness, wellbeing — the state of being at peace

Same three consonants, one new shape, a new but related word. This is the engine Chapter 1 promised, working in front of you.

You'll want to know — Two small rules, both already learned

1. The sun letter. S (س) is a sun letter, so the l of al- assimilates to it: written السلام, but said as-salāma, not al-salāma. The same thing happens in عليكم السلام — the greeting you have said since Chapter 1.

2. The feminine ة. Tāʾ marbūṭa marks salāma as feminine. Arabic abstract nouns very often are.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

السلامة (as-salāma) is salāma, "safety, soundness", built on the native root s-l-m, "to be safe, whole" (Lane), with the article al-.

Your turn

- Say it: "as-salāma" — with the doubled s, not al-s

- Say it: the build — "salām … salāma … as-salāma"
- Say it: the pattern — "peace → the state of peace"
- Write it: السلامة

Before you move on

What three pieces make السلامة? (al- + salām + ة.) What did the fa^{c}āla pattern do to the meaning? (Turned "peace" into "the state of being at peace" — safety.) Why is it as-salāma and not al-salāma? (س is a sun letter; the l assimilates.) What does the ة tell you? (The word is feminine.) Next: put ma^{c}a in front of it.

4.6 مع السلامة (ma^{c}a s-salāma) — "goodbye"

Put the last two lessons together and the farewell falls out. You have already hand-written this phrase; now it means something.

You'll want to know — The assembly

مع (ma^{c}a, "with") + السلامة (as-salāma, "the safety") → مع السلامة — "with safety."

Said as one run: ma^{c}a s-salāma — the a of ma^{c}a swallows the al-'s vowel, and the sun-letter rule doubles the s.

It is not "goodbye" in the English sense of a plain sign-off. It is a wish: go in safety.

You'll want to know — The circle closes

Look at what Chapter 1 opened with and what Chapter 4 closes with:

	phrase	root
first greeting	عليكم السلام as-salāmu ^{c}alaykum	s–l–m
last farewell	مع السلامة ma^{c}a s-salāma	s–l–m

The same three consonants. Arabic begins and ends a conversation with one idea — peace, safety, wholeness. The root engine you met in the very first lesson has been running the whole time; here it simply comes back round.

The family, one more time: salām (peace), salāma (safety), islām (submission, i.e. entering peace), muslim (one who does so).

You'll want to know — English does the same trick

Goodbye looks like a single word. It is worn down from God be with ye. So the English farewell is also built on "with" — you are being commended to something protective as you go.

language	farewell	literally
Arabic	ma^{c}a s-salāma	"with safety"
English	goodbye	"God be with ye"
Spanish	adiós	"to God"
French	adieu	"to God"

Four languages, one instinct: as someone leaves, hand them over to safekeeping.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ma^{c}a s-salāma"
- the bookend — "as-salāmu ^{c}alaykum … ma^{c}a s-salāma"
- the root aloud — "s · l · m"
- "goodbye ← God be with ye"

Before you move on

What does مع السلامة literally mean? ("With safety.") What root is it built on, and where have you met that root before? (s–l–m — the Chapter 1 greeting as-salāmu ^{c}alaykum, and salām itself.) So what does Arabic open and close a conversation with? (The same idea — peace/safety.) What is English goodbye worn down from? ("God be with ye.") Next: a second farewell, and a word Spanish borrowed.

4.7 إلى اللقاء (ilā l-liqāʾ) — "see you"

The other everyday farewell — and the one with a surprise waiting inside Spanish.

You'll want to know — A note on the letters

(Skim if you read Arabic.) Two pieces here are beyond what the writing track has covered, so read them for now and draw them later:

- ق (qāf) — a k made far back against the soft palate, deeper than ك (kāf). It is not in the letter set you have been writing from.
- ى in إلى — this is alif maqṣūra, "shortened alif": it wears yāʾ's skeleton with no dots and is pronounced as a long ā. You already know from writing Lessons 4–5 that dots are what separate letters sharing a body; this is that same principle, taken one step further.

The rest — ا ل ء — you have written.

You'll want to know — The two pieces

piece	meaning
إلى ilā	"to, until"
اللقاء al-liqāʾ	"the meeting"

→ إلى اللقاء = "until the meeting."

لقاء (liqāʾ) comes from the root l–q–y, "to meet." The final ء is the hamza from writing Lesson 6 — a glottal stop, a real consonant here, not decoration.

Note ل is a sun letter too, so al-liqāʾ doubles the l, just as as-salāma doubled the s.

Why it's said this way

Spanish says goodbye like this:

> hasta luego — "until later" hasta mañana — "until tomorrow"

Same shape as ilā l-liqāʾ: "until" + a future point. But it goes further — Spanish hasta is itself an Arabic loanword, from ḥattā ("until"). Of the roughly four thousand Arabic words Spanish took during the eight centuries of al-Andalus, most are nouns; hasta is one of the rare borrowed function words.

So Spanish did not merely copy the pattern — it borrowed the very word that builds it.

language	farewell	shape
Arabic	ilā l-liqāʾ	until + the meeting
Spanish	hasta luego	until (← ḥattā) + later
French	à bientôt	to + soon
Italian	a presto	to + soon

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ilā l-liqāʾ" — double the l
- the two farewells — "maᶜa s-salāma · ilā l-liqāʾ"
- the loan — "hasta ← ḥattā"
- the root — "l · q · y — to meet"

Before you move on

What does إلى اللقاء literally say? ("Until the meeting.") What root is liqāʾ from? (l–q–y, "to meet".) Which two letters here has the writing track not reached? (ق qāf, and ى alif maqṣūra.) What is alif maqṣūra? (Yāʾ's body with no dots, pronounced long ā.) Which Spanish word for "until" came from Arabic? (Hasta ← ḥattā.) Next: practise the whole conversation, hello to goodbye.

4.8 Practice — the whole conversation

Four chapters: greet, introduce, ask after someone, part.

You'll want to know — The full exchange

	Arabic	literally
A	عليكم السلام (as-salāmu ᶜalaykum)	peace [be] upon you
B	السلام وعليكم (wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām)	and upon you, peace
A	ما اسمك؟ (mā ismuka?)	what [is] your name?
B	ismī …, tasharrafnā	my name [is] …, we are honoured
A	kayfa ḥāluka?	how [is] your state?
B	al-ḥamdu lillāh, bi-khayr	the praise [is] to God — in goodness
A	مع السلامة (maᶜa s-salāma)	with safety
B	ilā l-liqāʾ	until the meeting

Why it's said this way

Six roots:

root	meaning	word
s–l–m	peace, safety	salāma
s–m–w	name	ism
ḥ–w–l	to turn	ḥāl
kh–y–r	good	bi-khayr
ḥ–m–d	to praise	Muḥammad
l–q–y	to meet	liqāʾ

Script — the new letters, from memory

- What shapes are ع and هـ? (Curve over bowl, غ its dotted twin; a loop that shifts shape by position.)
- What is ة, and what builds مع and السلامة? (That loop plus tāʾ's two dots, word-final, feminine; م + throat ع; ال + سلام + ة.)
- Which two letters of ilā l-liqāʾ have you not yet met? (qāf, a deeper k; alif maqṣūra, a dotless yāʾ said ā.)

Your turn

- Say it: the dialogue, both parts, to a man
- Say it: it again to a woman — every -ka becomes -ki
- Write it: مع السلامة — every letter already drawn

Before you move on

Which root opens and closes it all? (s–l–m.) What did the fa^{c}āla pattern make of salām? (Salāma, being at peace: safety.) Is ma^{c}a s-salāma a plain sign-off? (No — a wish: go in safety.) Does ma^{c}a glue on like bi-? (No; Hebrew ^{c}im.) What does ilā l-liqāʾ say, from which root? ("Until the meeting"; l–q–y.)

Chapter 5

Yes and No

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can answer a question in Arabic with na^{c}am or lā, and write lā as the single joined lām-alif shape.
>
> Say the yes/no pair and form lā as one lām-alif ligature rather than two separate letters.

5.1 نعم (na^{c}am) — yes

A short word to mean yes — with one sound English simply doesn't have.

You'll want to know — The word

نعم = yes, said na^{c}am. Arabic reads right to left, so its three letters run:

ن (n) · ع (^{c}) · م (m) → na-^{c}a-m

The middle letter ع is the famous ^{c}ayn — a pharyngeal sound made deep in the throat, a tight squeeze with no English equivalent. Don't worry about mastering it today; just know that the little apostrophe-like mark in na^{c}am (the ^{c}) is standing in for a real, throaty consonant, not a pause.

You'll want to know — Saying yes, and other ways na^{c}am is the clear, standard yes — polite and safe anywhere. Two neighbours you'll also hear:

- أجل (ajal) — a more formal, emphatic "yes, indeed."
- In everyday speech, many dialects say أيوة (aywa) for a casual "yeah."

And a useful twist: said as a question, na^{c}am? also means "pardon? / you were saying?" — the same stretch English gives "yes?"

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نعم (na^{c}am) is listed by Lane under n-^{c}-m as a particle meaning "even so, yes". It is not built from the root's verbs, and its deeper origin is not settled.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "na^{c}am" — feel the ع squeeze in the middle of the throat
- right to left — ن · ع · م
- as a question — "na^{c}am?" = "pardon?"

Before you move on

How do you say yes in Arabic? (na^{c}am, نعم.) Which way does the script run? (Right to left.) What is the ع in the middle — a pause or a sound? (A sound — the throaty ^{c}ayn, with no English match.) What does na^{c}am? mean when you say it as a question? ("Pardon?")

5.2 لا (lā) — no

Two letters, one long vowel — and one of the most recognisable words in the language.

You'll want to know — The word

لا = no, said lā (a long aah). It's just two letters — ل (l) + ا (the long ā, alif) — but they're written joined into one sweeping shape, لا, a lam-alif that Arabic always writes as a single unit. It's one of the first letter-joins learners recognise on sight.

You'll want to know — More than an answer

lā isn't only the reply "no." It is Arabic's great word of negation, and it opens the most-spoken sentence in the language — the first half of the shahada:

> lā ilāha illā llāh — "There is no god but God."

That opening lā is your word. The same lā also negates present-tense verbs — lā a^{c}rif, "I do not know" — so, like Spanish no, one little word is both the answer "no" and the sentence's "not."

Grammar Lens — Yes and no, together

You now have the pair:

	Arabic	said
yes	نعم	na^{c}am
no	لا	lā

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لا (lā) is an old negative particle inherited from the Semitic parent language, not built on a three-letter root; Hebrew lō, "no, not", is its cousin.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "lā" — a long, open aah
- the join — ل + ا written as one, لا
- the pair — "na^{c}am / lā"

Before you move on

How do you say no in Arabic? (lā, لا.) What two letters make it, and how are they written? (ل + ا, joined as a single lam-alif لا.) Which famous sentence does lā open? (The shahada — lā ilāha illā llāh.) Besides "no," what job does lā do? (It negates verbs — lā a^{c}rif, "I don't know.")

Chapter 6

Please

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can attach min faḍlik to a request in Arabic and change its ending for a man or a woman.
>
> Say min faḍlik with the heavy ḍād, take it apart as 'from your grace', and offer law samaḥt as the alternative.

6.1 من فضلك (min faḍlik) — please

Arabic doesn't say "please" — it asks for something from your grace.

You'll want to know — The phrase

من فضلك — read right to left, min faḍlik — is two pieces:

> من (min, "from") + فضلك (faḍl + -ik/-ak, "your grace/bounty")
> → "from your grace."

faḍl is a warm, weighty word — "grace, favour, bounty, generosity" (you'll meet it as the name Faḍl). Saying min faḍlik casts the request as drawing on the other person's generosity — not a command, a courtesy.

Grammar Lens — A gender note (Arabic marks "you")

The ending changes with whom you address — and, unwritten, only the vowel moves:

- to a woman: *min faḍlik (the ك said -ik)
- to a man: *min faḍlak (the ك said -ak)

The spelling فضلك is the same for both; the short vowel that distinguishes them isn't normally written. One sound to respect: the ض (ḍ) is an emphatic d, said with a heavier, deeper tongue than a plain d.

You'll want to know — Another everyday "please"

Just as common, especially getting someone's attention:

> سمحت لو — law samaḥt — literally "if you permit" (law "if" + samaḥt "you permitted"). Same politeness, a different image — permission rather than grace.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

من فضلك (min faḍlik) is built from min, "from", an inherited preposition, and faḍlik, "your favour": faḍl, "excess, bounty", on the native root f-ḍ-l (Lane), with -ik, "your".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "min faḍlik" — feel the heavy ض
- taken apart — "from your grace"
- the alternative — "law samaḥt" = "if you permit"

Before you move on

How do you say please in Arabic? (min faḍlik, من فضلك.) What does it literally mean? ("From your grace" — faḍl = grace/bounty.) What changes between saying it to a man vs a woman? (The ك ending — -ak to a man, -ik to a woman; spelling unchanged.) What's the other common "please," and what does it mean? (law samaḥt — "if you permit.")

Chapter 7

Sorry

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can apologise in Arabic with āsif or āsifa, choosing the form that matches who is speaking.
>
> Say the apology twice – āsif for a man, āsifa for a woman – then the ungendered ma^{c}dhira.

7.1 آسف / آسفة (āsif / āsifa) — sorry

You already know min faḍlik, "please." Arabic's word for "sorry" teaches a new lesson entirely: it isn't a fixed word at all — it changes with the speaker.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

آسف (āsif, said by a man) and آسفة (āsifa, said by a woman) both mean "sorry." They come from the verb أَسِفَ (asifa), "to grieve, to be filled with regret" — so saying āsif is describing yourself as grieved / regretful, the way you'd say "I am tired" or "I am happy."
That's the key: آسف is an adjective, and Arabic adjectives agree with the gender of the person they describe. A man says آسف; a woman says آسفة — the extra ة (tāʾ marbūṭa) is the everyday feminine ending you'll meet across Arabic adjectives. English "sorry" never changes no matter who says it; Arabic "sorry" always tells you the speaker's gender in the same breath.

Why it's said this way

For a quick, ungendered "excuse me / pardon" — squeezing past someone, interrupting, a light apology — Arabic reaches for ma^{c}dhira, from the root ^{c}-dh-r ("to excuse"), the same root as ^{c}udhr ("an excuse") and the verb ya^{c}tadhiru ("to apologize"). Unlike āsif/āsifa, ma^{c}dhira doesn't change with gender — it's a noun, not an adjective, so anyone says the same word.
Use آسف/آسفة when you mean a real, felt "I'm sorry" (and remember to match your own gender); reach for ma^{c}dhira for the light, everyday "pardon me."

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a man says — "āsif"
- a woman says — "āsifa"
- the ungendered one — "ma^{c}dhira" = excuse me / pardon

Before you move on

What's unusual about آسف / آسفة compared to English "sorry"? (It's a gendered adjective — āsif for a man, āsifa for a woman — where English never changes.) What root gives āsif, and what does it mean? (أسف asafa, "to grieve, regret.") What's the ungendered word for a quick "excuse me," and what root is it from? (ma^{c}dhira, from ^{c}-dh-r "to excuse.")

Chapter 8

Days of the Week

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name any day of the Arabic week and say which two days break the counting pattern.
>
> Name al-jum^{c}a and as-sabt beside the counted days, and place as-sabt next to Hebrew shabbāt.

8.1 الأحد to الخميس (al-aḥad to al-khamīs) — Sunday to Thursday, by the numbers

Most European and North Indian languages name their weekdays for planet-gods. Arabic does something completely different: it just counts them.

Grammar Lens — The pattern: definite article + ordinal number

Five of Arabic's seven days are simply "the [number]th" — the definite article ال (al-) plus an ordinal built on the number word:

Arabic	literally, and the number it is built on	day
الأحد (al-aḥad)	"the first", from wāḥid, "one"	Sunday
الإثنين (al-ithnayn)	"the second" (lit. "the two"), from ithnān, "two"	Monday
الثلاثاء (ath-thulāthāʾ)	"the third", from thalātha, "three"	Tuesday
الأربعاء (al-arbiᶜāʾ)	"the fourth", from arbaᶜa, "four"	Wednesday
الخميس (al-khamīs)	"the fifth", from khamsa, "five"	Thursday

No moon, no war-god, no planets at all — just day one, day two, day three... This also tells you something about the week itself: counting starts from Sunday, so Sunday is "day one" — the Arabic week, like the Jewish and much of the Christian calendar tradition, begins where the European Monday-first convention doesn't.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

These weekdays are named by number. Al-aḥad is "the one" and al-ithnayn "the two"; ath-thulāthāʾ, al-arbiᶜāʾ and al-khamīs are built on the roots of three, four and five, th-l-th, r-b-ᶜ and kh-m-s (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "al-aḥad" — the first, Sunday
- count up — "al-ithnayn, ath-thulāthāʾ, al-arbiᶜāʾ, al-khamīs" — second through fifth
- contrast — no planet-gods here, just numbers

Before you move on

How does Arabic name Sunday through Thursday? (As ordinal numbers — "the first" through "the fifth," not planet-gods.) Which number is Sunday, and what does that tell you about the week? ("The first" — the Arabic week counts starting from Sunday.) What Arabic prefix turns a number into "the [x]th day"? (ال al-, the definite article.)

8.2 الجمعة and السبت (al-jumᶜa, as-sabt) — Friday and Saturday

Five days counted off — and then two days important enough to get real names instead of numbers.

You'll want to know — The two named days

- الجمعة (al-jumᶜa) = "the gathering," from جمع (jamaᶜa), "to gather, collect." This is the day of the congregational Friday prayer (ṣalāt al-jumᶜa) — the most religiously significant day of the Islamic week, and important enough to earn its own name rather than a number.
- السبت (as-sabt) = "the Sabbath."

You'll want to know — Be honest about how السبت differs from Latin's Sabbatum

You may remember Latin borrowed the word Sabbatum from Hebrew to replace its own pagan diēs Saturnī — a loanword crossing from a Semitic language into an Italic one. Arabic's سبت (sabt) is a different kind of relationship entirely: Arabic is itself a Semitic language, in the same family as Hebrew. So as-sabt and Hebrew shabbāt share a root: an ancient Semitic root س-ب-ت meaning "to rest, to cease," which Arabic has in its own right (Lane gives sabt as "rest"). Whether the day's name was inherited or taken from Jewish neighbours is debated; Latin plainly borrowed a foreign word.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "al-jum^{c}a" — the gathering, Friday
- "as-sabt" — the Sabbath, Saturday
- the contrast — Latin borrowed "Sabbatum"; Arabic's "sabt" is a blood relative of Hebrew "shabbāt"

Before you move on

Why does الجمعة break the counting pattern? (It's named for the congregational Friday prayer — "the gathering" — not counted as a number.) How is Arabic's السبت different from Latin's borrowed Sabbatum? (Arabic and Hebrew are both Semitic languages — as-sabt and shabbāt are cousins from a shared root, not a loanword crossing between unrelated language families.)

Chapter 9

Four Core Colours

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name black, white, red and blue in Arabic and give each colour's feminine form.
>
> Run the four colours in the masculine, then again in the feminine – ḥamrāʾ, zarqāʾ – on the same template.

9.1 أسود / أبيض (aswad / abyad) — black and white, a whole new gender pattern

You've already met a gendered adjective — āsif/āsifa ("sorry"), which just added a feminine ending. Color words go further: they reshape the whole word, front and back, for gender.

Grammar Lens — The pattern: masculine أ--- / feminine ---اء

- أسود (aswad, masculine) / سوداء (sawdāʾ, feminine) — "black"
- أبيض (abyad, masculine) / بيضاء (bayḍāʾ, feminine) — "white"

Notice the shape: the masculine form starts with أ (a hamza-alif), and the feminine form drops that opening letter but adds -اء (-āʾ) at the end instead. This isn't the simple "add one letter" pattern āsif/ āsifa used — it's a dedicated template Arabic reserves specifically for colors and physical characteristics (this same shape appears again for red and blue in the next lesson).

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسود (aswad) and أبيض (abyaḍ) are colour words in the af^{c}al shape on native roots: aswad on s-w-d, "black", and abyaḍ on b-y-ḍ, "white" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- masculine — "aswad, abyad" — black, white
- feminine — "sawdāʾ, bayḍāʾ" — black, white
- notice the shape — أ--- drops, ---اء appears

Before you move on

What's the masculine/feminine pair for black? (أسود aswad / سوداء sawdāʾ.) For white? (أبيض abyad / بيضاء bayḍāʾ.) How is this gender-shape different from āsif/āsifa? (It reshapes the whole word — losing the opening أ and gaining a closing -اء — a template reserved for colors and physical traits, not just adding a simple ending.)

9.2 أحمر / أزرق (ahmar / azraq) — red and blue, the same template again

Two more colors — and the exact same shape you just learned.

Grammar Lens — The pattern holds

- أحمر (aḥmar, masculine) / حمراء (ḥamrāʾ, feminine) — "red"
- أزرق (azraq, masculine) / زرقاء (zarqāʾ, feminine) — "blue"

Same recipe every time: masculine opens with أ, feminine drops that opening and closes with -اء instead. Once you've internalized this template from black and white, the whole family of classic, old Arabic colors slots into it (yellow aṣfar/ṣafrāʾ, green akhḍar/khaḍrāʾ, too) — one pattern, several colors. (Newer colors like brown, gray, purple, orange, and pink use a different pattern entirely, borrowed from nouns — so "every color" would overstate it; this template belongs specifically to Arabic's oldest, core color set.)

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أحمر (aḥmar) and أزرق (azraq) are colour words in the af^{c}al shape on native roots: aḥmar on ḥ-m-r, "red", and azraq on z-r-q, "blue, blue-grey" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- masculine — "aḥmar, azraq" — red, blue
- feminine — "ḥamrāʾ, zarqāʾ" — red, blue
- all four masculine forms in a row — "aswad, abyad, aḥmar, azraq"

Before you move on

What's the masculine/feminine pair for red? (أحمر aḥmar / حمراء ḥamrāʾ.) For blue? (أزرق azraq / زرقاء zarqāʾ.) Does every Arabic color use this same template? (No — Arabic's classic, oldest colors (black, white, red, blue, yellow, green) share one template, masc. أ--- / fem. ---اء; newer colors like brown or purple use a different, noun-based pattern instead.)

Chapter 10

Family

Modes: 🚗 voice (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name my father, mother, brother and sister in Arabic.
>
> Say akh and ukht, show how ukht is built from the same root plus a feminine -t, and place both beside their Hebrew cousins.

10.1 أب, أم (ab, umm) — father and mother

Two short, ancient words — each just two or three letters — sitting at the root of Semitic family vocabulary across several languages, not just Arabic.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

- أب (ab) = "father." A short, ancient Semitic root, cousin of Hebrew אב (av) and Aramaic אבא (abba) — the very word behind "Abba, Father" in the New Testament.
- أم (umm) = "mother." Equally ancient, cousin of Hebrew אם (em).

These aren't borrowings between Arabic and Hebrew — both descend from the same ancient Semitic family vocabulary, the way pater and English father are cousins through PIE rather than one copying the other.

Why it's said this way

أم stays productive in everyday Arabic naming: أم + a child's name forms a kunya, an honorific "mother of _____" (and أبو, abū, does the same for fathers — "father of _____"). Someone might be known publicly as Umm Khālid, "mother of Khālid," rather than by their own given name — a naming custom still very much alive today.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ab" — father — then "umm," mother
- the Hebrew cousins — "ab/av, umm/em"
- the naming pattern — "Umm + [child's name]" = mother of _____

Before you move on

What are Arabic's words for father and mother? (أب ab, أم umm.) What are their Hebrew cousins? (av, em — not borrowings, both from the same ancient Semitic root.) What naming pattern does umm still form today? (Umm + [child's name], "mother of _____," a living honorific.)

10.2 أخ, أخت (akh, ukht) — brother and sister

Unlike the color words you just learned (a whole reshaped template for masculine/feminine), siblings here use the simplest possible gender marker.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

- أخ (akh) = "brother" — another short, ancient Semitic root, cousin of Hebrew אח (ach).
- أخت (ukht) = "sister" — the same root, plus a plain feminine -ت (-t) ending, cousin of Hebrew אחות (achot).

So ukht isn't a separate word — it's akh wearing the ordinary feminine ending, the simple pattern you already know from āsif/āsifa ("sorry"), not the elaborate colors template.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "akh" — brother — then "ukht," sister
- the shared root plus a simple ending — akh + -t
- the Hebrew cousins — "akh/ach, ukht/achot"

Before you move on

What are Arabic's words for brother and sister? (أخ akh, أخت ukht.) How is ukht built from akh? (The same root, plus a plain feminine -ت ending — the simple pattern, not the colors' elaborate template.) What are their Hebrew cousins? (ach, achot.)

10.3 The name exchange, cold

Eight lessons ago this book taught you to give your name and ask for somebody else's, and has not asked since. Say the whole exchange from memory before you read another line.

The two words

word	letters, right to left	what it is
اسم ism	alif · sīn · mīm	name — root s–m–w, cousin of Hebrew shem
ما mā	mīm · alif	what, standing before a noun

Neither needed a new letter. اسم has no tie to English name or Latin nōmen — the resemblance is an accident, and the real cousin is Hebrew.

Grammar Lens: four suffixes and no verb

glued on	means	gives
ـي -ī	my	اسمي ismī
ـك -ka	your, to a man	اسمك ismuka
ـك -ki	your, to a woman	اسمك ismuki

Arabic has no separate word for my. It fastens ي, the yāʾ, onto the end of the noun — the habit that also fastens ال for the. The suffixes are the grammar of the exchange, and the two written forms of your name are identical on the page.
There is no word for is either. Ismī Arun is literally my-name Arun — the zero copula, shared with the Dravidian languages.

The two words: أنت, split by the listener

أنت is alif with a hamza seat, then nūn, then tāʾ — one skeleton for both genders. What splits them is a vowel mark that everyday text leaves off: أنتَ anta to a man, أنتِ anti to a woman.

The European and Dravidian tracks split you by register. Arabic splits it by the listener's gender instead — and the Semitic -ta / -ti ending is the same t that marks you in Hebrew atta / att.

The exchange

tasharrafnā closes it — letters tāʾ · shīn · rāʾ · fāʾ, root sh–r–f, honour: sharaf (honour), sharīf (noble, the title behind English sheriff). The polite close is not pleased to meet you but we have been honoured.

- Say it: ask a man for his name — mā ismuka?
- Say it: ask a woman — mā ismuki?
- Say it: answer with your own — ismī …
- Say it: close the exchange — tasharrafnā
- Recall: the verb Arabic left out of every line above

Before you move on

Name the Hebrew cousin of اسم. (Shem.) Say which axis Arabic uses to split أنت, where register would be the obvious choice. (The listener's gender.) Give the literal sense of tasharrafnā. (We have been honoured.) And say where the gender of the question sits. (In the suffix — -ka to a man, -ki to a woman.)

Chapter 11

Head and Hand

Modes: 🚗 voice (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name the head and the hand in Arabic.
>
> Say yad, set it against its near-identical Hebrew twin, and contrast how much further raʔs drifted.

11.1 رأس (raʔs) — the head

One more ancient Semitic root — and a word still hard at work in modern political vocabulary, the same way Latin's caput is in English.

You'll want to know — The word

رأس (raʔs) = "head" — an ancient Semitic root, cousin of Hebrew ראש (rosh), the very word inside Rosh Hashanah, "head of the year."

Why it's said this way

Arabic builds raʔīs, "president, chief, head [of an organization]," directly on this same root — literally "the one who is the head." That's exactly the move English makes with Latin caput: captain ("head" of a unit), capital ("head" city). Different language families, the same very human idea — the person or place "at the head" is the one in charge.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "raʔs" — head
- "raʔīs" — president, literally "the head [one]"
- the Hebrew cousin — "raʔs / rosh"

Before you move on

What does رأس mean, and what's its Hebrew cousin? ("Head" — cousin of rosh, as in Rosh Hashanah.) What word is built on it for "president," and what does it literally mean? (raʔīs, "the head [one]" — the same "head = leader" idea as English captain/capital from Latin caput.)

11.2 يد (yad) — the hand

Some words wear their age lightly — worn down, reshaped, disguised. This one hasn't changed much at all.

You'll want to know — The word

يد (yad) = "hand" — a short, ancient Semitic root. Its Hebrew cousin is spelled and pronounced almost identically: יד (yad). Where raʔs/rosh show a family resemblance, yad/yad is closer to twins — one of the more strikingly unchanged shared words across the whole Semitic family.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يد (yad) is an old Semitic noun, inherited, and listed by Lane under the two-letter key y-d; Hebrew yad, "hand", is its cousin.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "yad" — hand
- the Hebrew twin — "yad" — almost the same word

- contrast — “raʾs/rosh” changed more than “yad/yad” did

Before you move on

What does يد mean? (“Hand.”) How does it compare to its Hebrew cousin? (Nearly identical — both yad — one of the more strikingly unchanged shared words across the Semitic family.)

11.3 How are you, cold

Ask after somebody and answer them back, both parts, without reading on. If the question came out as a memorised noise rather than three pieces you can name, this page is for you.

The two words

word	letters, right to left	what it is
كيف kayfa	kāf · yāʾ · fāʾ	how — a question word, partner to ما
حال ḥāl	ḥāʾ · alif · lām	state, condition — root ḥ–w–l, to turn

The ح is the deep throat ḥ, not an English h. And حال is the whole point of the question: English asks after you, Arabic asks after your state — the thing that turns and changes, which is exactly what its root means.

Grammar Lens: the same suffix, one lesson on كيف حالك؟ bolts three pieces you already own together: how + state + your. The suffix behaves identically to the one that gave you اسمي, and it splits the same way.

to a man	to a woman
كيف حالك؟ kayfa ḥāluka	كيف حالك؟ kayfa ḥāluki

Literally: how — your-state. No is, no are. The same zero copula that ran through the name exchange runs through this one.

How to answer: two replies where English has one

بخير bi-khayr is بـ (in) plus خير (khayr, good) — literally in goodness. You had met khayr long before you were told: it sits inside the morning greeting

صباح الخير, morning of the good.

al-ḥamdu lillāh comes back more often than bi-khayr does. Every letter in it is one you can write — alif, lām, ḥāʾ, mīm, dāl, hāʾ — and it says the praise is to God, from the root ḥ–m–d, to praise.

The exchange

- Say it: ask a man — kayfa ḥāluka?
- Say it: ask a woman — kayfa ḥāluki?
- Say it: the plain answer — bi-khayr, shukran
- Say it: the commoner answer — al-ḥamdu lillāh
- Recall: the three attaching pieces inside these lines — al-, bi-, li-

Before you move on

Give the root behind حال and what it means. (ḥ–w–l, to turn or change.) Give the literal sense of بخير. (In goodness.) Give the literal sense of al-ḥamdu lillāh. (The praise is to God.) And name the question word that partners كيف. (ما.)

Chapter 12

Seasons

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name the four seasons in Arabic and say why the Islamic months do not stay inside them.
>
> Say rabīᶜ, ṣayf, kharīf, shitāʾ, then explain the lunar calendar's drift against the solar seasons.

12.1 ربيع, صيف, خريف, شتاء — the four seasons

Four words for the turning year — and a genuine reminder that the tidy four-season picture is a temperate-climate habit of mind, not a universal one.

You'll want to know — The four seasons

Arabic	meaning
ربيع (rabīᶜ)	spring
صيف (ṣayf)	summer
خريف (kharīf)	autumn
شتاء (shitāʾ)	winter

Why it's said this way

ربيع (rabīᶜ) does double duty: it also names two months of the Islamic calendar, Rabīᶜ al-Awwal and Rabīᶜ al-Thānī ("first/second Rabīᶜ"). That's worth pausing on, because the Islamic calendar is lunar — its months drift across all four solar seasons over roughly a 33-year cycle, unmoored from any actual spring. So a month named "Rabīᶜ" won't reliably fall in spring at all; the name is a fossil from an earlier calendar, kept even as the lunar calendar carried the months loose from the seasons they were once named for.

More broadly: the tidy four-season year assumes a temperate climate with four clearly distinct weather patterns. Much of the Arabic-speaking world spans very different climates — desert, Mediterranean, tropical — where a strict four-way split maps onto lived experience less cleanly than it does further north. The four words above are the standard Modern Standard Arabic vocabulary, useful and real, but not necessarily the only or most natural way every Arabic-speaking region actually experiences the year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

The four season names are native nouns on their roots (Lane): rabīᶜ on r-b-ᶜ, ṣayf on ṣ-y-f, kharīf on kh-r-f, "to gather fruit", and shitāʾ on sh-t-w. Lane notes that the desert Arabs once gave rabīᶜ to the season of autumn rains.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "rabīᶜ, ṣayf, kharīf, shitāʾ" — spring, summer, autumn, winter
- the calendar twist — "rabīᶜ" also names two Islamic months
- the honest note — lunar months drift free of the solar seasons

Before you move on

What does ربيع do besides name a season? (Names two Islamic calendar months, Rabīᶜ al-Awwal/al-Thānī.) Why don't those months reliably fall in spring? (The Islamic calendar is lunar — its months drift across all four seasons over a ~33-year cycle.) Is the four-season frame equally natural everywhere Arabic is spoken? (Not necessarily — it fits temperate climates better than the desert/tropical/Mediterranean climates found across much of the Arabic-speaking world.)

Chapter 13

Water and Bread

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name water and bread in Arabic and say which of the two sits on a regular root.
>
> Say māʾ with its irregular plural miyāh, then khubz from the clean root kh-b-z.

13.1 ماء, خبز (māʾ, khubz) — water and bread

Two everyday words — and a study in contrasts: one of them is one of Arabic's genuinely oddest common nouns, and the other is about as regular as a word gets.

You'll want to know — ماء — an old, irregular word

ماء (māʾ) = "water." This word is short but irregular: its plural (مياه, miyāh) and the forms it takes when attached to another noun don't follow Arabic's ordinary noun patterns the way most words do. Words this basic — for water, fire, blood, mouth — are often among the oldest in any language family, and old words wear their irregularities proudly; they were already worn smooth by daily use long before the grammar of the rest of the language settled into its regular patterns.

You'll want to know — خبز — clean, regular, and freshly made

خبز (khubz) = "bread" — built cleanly on the root خ-ب-ز (kh-b-z), "to bake." Where māʾ is a fossil, khubz is transparent: the noun for the baked thing, straight from the verb for baking it.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ماء (māʾ) is an old Semitic noun, listed by Lane under m-w-h; Hebrew mayim, "water", is its cousin. خبز (khubz), "bread", is built on the native root kh-b-z, "to bake" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "māʾ" — water — then "miyāh," its irregular plural
- "khubz" — bread — from kh-b-z, "to bake"
- the contrast — one word is a worn-smooth fossil, the other freshly transparent

Before you move on

What's unusual about ماء? (It's genuinely irregular — its plural miyāh and attached forms don't follow the ordinary pattern, typical of very old, basic words.) What root is خبز built on, and what does that root mean? (خ-ب-ز, "to bake.")

Chapter 14

Months

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name the months in Arabic and tell the borrowed civil calendar apart from the Islamic one.
>
> Say the Latin-sounding civil months, then the first Hijri months, and state what each calendar is used for.

14.1 يناير to ديسمبر — Latin names, borrowed whole, running beside a second calendar

Here's a genuinely different kind of honesty this lesson needs: Arabic doesn't have one answer to "what are the months called" — it has two full calendars, used for different purposes, side by side.

You'll want to know — Gregorian months

For the everyday, civil, solar calendar, Modern Standard Arabic simply borrows the familiar Latin-derived month names you already know from Spanish/French/English:

Arabic	≈
يناير (yanāyir)	January
فبراير (fabrāyir)	February
مارس (māris)	March
أبريل (abrīl)	April
مايو (māyū)	May
يونيو (yūniyū)	June
يوليو (yūliyū)	July
أغسطس (aghusṭus)	August
سبتمبر (sibtambir)	September
أكتوبر (uktūbar)	October
نوفمبر (nūfambir)	November
ديسمبر (dīsambir)	December

You can hear the Latin (and French) originals right through the Arabic sounds — this is a straightforward, recent borrowing for civil/business use, not an ancient Arabic-invented system.

One more honest wrinkle: these Latin-derived names are the everyday convention in Egypt, the Gulf, and much pan-Arab media — but the Levant and Iraq (Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Palestine, Iraq) traditionally use a third, completely different set for these same twelve solar months, of Syriac origin: كانون الثاني (Kānūn al-Thānī, January), شباط (Shubāṭ, February), Ādhār (March), and so on. So depending on the country, an Arabic speaker's civil-calendar month name might come from Latin or from Syriac — a third naming system, not just two.

Why it's said this way

For religious life — Ramadan, Hajj, and the Islamic calendar generally — Arabic uses an entirely separate set of month names, from the lunar Hijri calendar: محرم (Muḥarram), صفر (Ṣafar), ربيع الأول/الثاني (Rabīᶜ al-Awwal/al-Thānī — the very "Rabīᶜ" from the seasons lesson), and eight more, none of which correspond to a fixed solar month. Because the Hijri calendar has no leap-month correction, these twelve lunar months drift steadily across all four solar seasons over a roughly 33-year cycle — so Ramadan, for instance, doesn't fall in the same season every year.

Two calendars, two jobs: the borrowed Latin names for the ordinary business week, the older lunar names for religious observance.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "yanāyir, fabrāyir, māris" — January, February, March — hear the Latin
- the second calendar — "Muḥarram, Ṣafar, Rabīᶜ al-Awwal" — entirely different names
- the honest point — two calendars, two purposes, both in everyday use

Before you move on

Where do Arabic's civil month names (yanāyir, māris...) come from? (Borrowed Latin/European names, recent civil-calendar loans.) What runs alongside them for religious life? (The Hijri lunar calendar, with its own entirely different 12 month names — Muḥarram, Ṣafar, Rabīᶜ al-Awwal...) Why do Hijri months drift across the seasons? (No leap-month correction — the lunar year is shorter than the solar year, so the calendar drifts over a ~33-year cycle.)

Chapter 15

Noon and Midnight

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say noon and midnight in Arabic and recognise aẓ-ẓuhr as the name of the midday prayer.
>
> Say aẓ-ẓuhr and muntaṣaf al-layl, and name the religious sense Arabic's noon carries.

15.1 الظهر, منتصف الليل — noon and midnight

Noon in Arabic isn't just a clock-time word — it's tied directly into the rhythm of daily prayer.

You'll want to know — الظهر — noon, and a prayer

الظهر (aẓ-ẓuhr or adh-dhuhr) = "noon" — from the root ظ-ه-ر (ẓ-h-r), "to appear, become visible" (the sun standing at its highest, most visible point). Be honest about what makes this word different from Spanish's mediodía: الظهر is also the name of the midday Islamic prayer, ṣalāt al-ẓuhr. For a Muslim, "noon" and "time for the noon prayer" are the same word — this isn't a neutral clock-time term the way "noon" or mediodía are in cultures where the day isn't organized around five fixed prayer times.

You'll want to know — منتصف الليل — a transparent "half of the night"

منتصف الليل (muntaṣaf al-layl) = "midnight," literally "the half of the night." منتصف (muntaṣaf) comes from the root ن-ص-ف (n-ṣ-f), "half" (the same root as نصف, niṣf, "a half"), and الليل (al-layl) is simply "the night." This one is fully transparent — no erosion, no double meaning, just "the middle of the night," structurally exactly like Latin's media nox.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

الظهر (aẓ-ẓuhr), "noon", is built on the native root ẓ-h-r, "to appear, to be outward" (Lane). Muntaṣaf al-layl is "the middle of the night": muntaṣaf on n-ṣ-f, "half", with layl, "night" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "aẓ-ẓuhr" — noon, also the midday prayer
- "muntaṣaf al-layl" — literally "the half of the night"
- the honest point — Arabic noon carries a religious meaning that mediodía doesn't

Before you move on

What does الظهر name besides the time of day? (The midday Islamic prayer, ṣalāt al-ẓuhr.) What does منتصف الليل literally mean, and what root gives it "half"? ("The half of the night" — muntaṣaf, from ن-ص-ف n-ṣ-f, "half.") Is Arabic's word for noon a neutral clock-time word the way Spanish's mediodía is? (No — it's bound up with the daily prayer schedule.)

Chapter 16

Telling Time

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask what time it is in Arabic and answer with the hour.
>
> Ask kam as-sāᶜa? and answer with the ordinal hour, including the one-o'clock exception.

16.1 الساعة — one word for "hour," "clock," and "a moment"

Arabic's word for "hour" is very probably an old borrowing, and it still carries three meanings at once.

Why it's said this way

ساعة (sāᶜa) = "hour" — but also "clock/watch" (as an object) and "a while, a moment" (as in "wait a sāᶜa"). According to the historical linguist Theodor Nöldeke, Arabic ساعة was borrowed from Aramaic šāᶜəṯā — the same Semitic root that gives Hebrew its word for hour, שָׁעָה (šāᶜā). Lane files it under s-w-ᶜ as native, so the loan is likely, not certain. Unlike some religiously-tied vocabulary you've seen (like aẓ-ẓuhr), sāᶜa is an old, everyday word, carrying no special religious weight.

Grammar Lens: كم الساعة؟ — "how much is the hour?"

Arabic asks the time with كم الساعة؟ (kam as-sāᶜa?), literally "how much/ how many is the hour" — and answers with الساعة + an ordinal number ("the second," "the third"...):

> الثانية الساعة. — "It is two o'clock." (literally "the hour [is] the second") الثالثة الساعة. — "It is three o'clock." (literally "the hour [is] the third")

Be honest about the one exception: one o'clock breaks this pattern. You'd expect the ordinal al-ūlā ("the first"), but Arabic actually says as-sāᶜa al-wāḥida — using al-wāḥida, the plain cardinal "one," not the ordinal. So the rule is "ordinal numbers from two o'clock onward, except one o'clock, which uses the cardinal instead" — a genuine irregularity, not a typo. This is still a different grammatical shape than Spanish's la una/las dos or French's une heure/deux heures, both of which use plain cardinal numbers throughout, with no ordinal/cardinal split at all.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "sāᶜa" — hour, clock, or a while, depending on context
- "kam as-sāᶜa?" — what time is it?
- "as-sāᶜa al-thāniya" — it is two o'clock, an ordinal number
- "as-sāᶜa al-wāḥida" — it is one o'clock, the one exception, using the cardinal "one" instead

Before you move on

What language did Arabic borrow ساعة from, and what Hebrew word is its cousin? (Aramaic šāᶜəṯā; cousin of Hebrew šāᶜā.) What three things can ساعة mean? (Hour, clock/watch, and a while/ moment.) Does Arabic use cardinal or ordinal numbers to tell the time — and is there an exception? (Ordinal from two o'clock onward — "the hour is the second" — but one o'clock is the exception, using the cardinal al-wāḥida, "one," instead of the ordinal.)

Chapter 17

Asking Someone's Age

Modes: voice (1) eyes (1) Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask how old someone is in Arabic and give my own age without using a verb.
>
> Ask kam ᶜumruka? and begin the answer with ᶜumrī, 'my age', the years to follow – age as a noun you possess, no verb anywhere.

17.1 كم عمرك؟ — asking age with a noun, not a verb

You've seen Romance languages have their years, Germanic languages be their years, and Classical Latin itself use a third construction ("born" + accusative of duration). Arabic does something structurally different again: it doesn't use a verb for this at all.

You'll want to know — عمر — life, lifetime, age

عمر (ᶜumr) = "age, lifetime, life span" — from the root ع-م-ر (ᶜ-m-r), broadly tied to the idea of living, dwelling, flourishing (the same root behind the personal name ᶜUmar, and words for "building, habitation"). Age in Arabic isn't something you have or are — it's expressed as a possessed noun: "your ᶜumr," "my ᶜumr."

Grammar Lens: عمرك؟ كم — no verb needed

عمرك؟ كم — "How old are you?" (to a man) — literally "how much [is] your ᶜumr." (kam ᶜumruka?)

The answer is ᶜumrī, "my ᶜumr," then the years; it arrives with the numbers.
Notice there's no verb "to be" at all in the present tense here — Arabic simply juxtaposes two nouns ("my age" / "twenty years"), exactly the way it forms ordinary present-tense sentences without is/are. So this is a genuinely fourth shape for the concept: not Romance's "I have twenty years," not Germanic's "I am twenty years [old]," not Latin's "born twenty years [so far]," but "my age [is] twenty years" — age as a possessed noun-quantity, stated without any verb at all.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

Kam, "how much", is an inherited question word; ᶜumr, "life", is built on the native root ᶜ-m-r, "to live long" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ᶜumr" — age, lifetime, life span
- "kam ᶜumruka?" — how old are you? (to a man)
- "ᶜumrī" — my age

Before you move on

What does عمر literally mean, and what root is it from? ("Age, lifetime" — root ع-م-ر, tied to living/flourishing.) Does Arabic use a verb to state age, the way Romance ("have"), Germanic ("be"), or Latin ("born" + duration) do? (No — it juxtaposes "my age" and the number, with no verb needed at all.) What does عمرك؟ كم literally ask? ("How much [is] your ᶜumr?")

17.2 The letters that wrote my name

> Write it: اسمي and خير by hand, right to left, without looking below Both were drawn stroke by stroke in the writing set and neither has been asked for since.

Script: one bowl, four letters

letter	dots	where it sits
ب bāʾ	one below	inside بخير
ن nūn	one above	inside أنت
ت tāʾ	two above	inside أنت, tasharrafnā
ث thāʾ	three above	—

One shallow boat-bowl, drawn the same way every time. Only the dots change, and the dots are the letter. Two of these four build the word for you: an alif with a hamza seat, then nūn, then tāʾ.

Script: the letter with three jobs

ي yāʾ is the same bowl body with two dots below — a tooth when joined. It does three separate jobs, and you have used all three:

- consonant y, as in yawm, a day
- the long vowel ī, a seat for the ee sound
- the suffix ـي, glued on to mean my

That third job is what turns اسم into اسمي. Four letters, right to left: alif · sīn · mīm · yāʾ.

Script: the marks everyday text leaves off

The ḥarakāt are three small marks written around a consonant, not letters of their own: fatḥa above for a, kasra below for i, ḍamma above for u. Arabic is an abjad, so ordinary text leaves them out — and one of them carries the whole difference between أنتَ and أنتِ.

Hamza is not one of them. It writes a real consonant: the glottal catch in the middle of English uh-oh. Written alone it is ء; riding an alif seat it is أ, which is how the word for you begins.

Script: خير, taken apart

خ khāʾ belongs to the hook-and-tail family — a rounded hook flowing into a tail that drops below the line, with one dot above. Its plain cousin ح has no dot and ج takes one below.

Write these out:

- خير right to left — khāʾ with its dot, into yāʾ, then rā, and lift
- glue بـ on the front — بخير, its one dot below, joining straight into the khāʾ
- اسمي — alif · sīn · mīm · yāʾ

Nothing joins after ر, which is why the pen lifts there.

Before you move on

Name the one feature that separates ب ن ت ث. (The dots — one below, one above, two above, three above.) Give yāʾ's three jobs. (Consonant y, long vowel ī, the suffix meaning my.) Say whether hamza is a vowel mark. (No — a glottal stop.) And say what بـ adds to خير. (In — in goodness.)

Chapter 18

Weather

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say what the weather is doing in Arabic – hot, cold, or raining.
>
> Say aṭ-ṭaqs, then the verbless al-jaw ḥārr / al-jaw bārid, then innahā tumṭir, which does take a verb.

18.1 الطقس — weather and ritual, one root

Here's an unexpected pairing: Arabic's word for "weather" shares its root with the word for religious "rites."

You'll want to know — طقس — weather, and its plural means "rites"

الطقس (aṭ-ṭaqs) = "the weather" — from root ط-ق-س (ṭ-q-s). Its plural, طقوس (ṭuqūs), means "rites, religious ceremonies, liturgy" — the same root covering both "atmospheric conditions" and "prescribed ritual observances." (Casual speech often prefers الجو (al-jaw, "the atmosphere") instead, keeping aṭ-ṭaqs for more formal or written use.)

You'll want to know — حار الجو / bārid — hot and cold, still verbless

> حار الجو. — "It's hot." — literally "the atmosphere [is] hot." (al-jaw ḥārr.) al-jaw bārid. — "It's cold." — literally "the atmosphere [is] cold."

Same pattern as عمرك؟ كم from the AGE lesson: no verb "to be" at all — just two nouns/adjectives sitting side by side.

You'll want to know — innahā tumṭir — but rain gets its OWN personal verb > innahā tumṭir. — "It's raining." — literally "she is raining." (From مطر, maṭar, "rain"; the same root gives tumṭir, "is raining.")

Unlike hot and cold, rain isn't a verbless adjective sentence — Arabic uses an actual personal verb, tumṭir ("is raining"), with a feminine dummy pronoun, innahā ("she/it"), standing in as the subject. So within Arabic's own weather vocabulary, hot/cold stay verbless while rain gets a real, conjugated verb — echoing the same "rain behaves differently from other weather" pattern Latin shows in its dedicated pluit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

الطقس (aṭ-ṭaqs) is not a native root word: ṭaqs is usually traced through Syriac ṭeksā to Greek taxis, "order, arrangement" (EtymDB), which is why its plural ṭuqūs still means "rites", ordered ceremony.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "aṭ-ṭaqs" — weather, same root as "ṭuqūs," rites
- "al-jaw ḥārr. al-jaw bārid." — it's hot/cold, no verb
- "innahā tumṭir" — it's raining, with an actual verb

Before you move on

What does the plural of طقس mean, and what's the connection to "weather"? (طقوس, "rites, religious ceremonies" — sharing the same root.) Do حار الجو and al-jaw bārid use a verb? (No — verbless, like kam ᶜumruka?.) Does innahā tumṭir use a verb? (Yes — tumṭir, "is raining," with a feminine dummy pronoun.)

Chapter 19

Numbers One to Five

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can count from one to five in Arabic.
>
> Count wāḥid to khamsa, then separate the Arabic number WORDS from the Indian-origin digit shapes.

19.1 واحد، اثنان، ثلاثة، أربعة، خمسة — one through five

Before the numbers themselves — an honest correction to a very common mix-up: "Arabic numerals" (the digit shapes 0, 1, 2, 3...) are not these words, and don't come from Arabic at all.

You'll want to know — واحد, اثنان, ثلاثة, أربعة, خمسة — the words

Arabic	Transliteration	Meaning
واحد	wāḥid	one
اثنان	ithnān	two
ثلاثة	thalātha	three
أربعة	arbaᶜa	four
خمسة	khamsa	five

These are ordinary Semitic-root Arabic words, built the same way Arabic builds any noun — nothing to do with the shapes of the digits you write.

Why it's said this way

Here's the correction: the digit shapes 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 that English calls "Arabic numerals" didn't originate in Arabic at all — they were invented in India, appearing in Indian mathematical texts and inscriptions centuries before reaching the Arab world. The 9th-century Persian mathematician al-Khwārizmī (whose name gives English algorithm) wrote an influential treatise on calculating with these Hindu numerals, which carried the system into the Islamic world and then, via Latin translations, into Europe. So "Arabic numerals" is really a transmission credit, not an origin credit — the shapes are Indian; only their route to Europe ran through Arabic mathematics. The words you're learning here (wāḥid, ithnān, thalātha...) are a completely separate thing: genuine, native Arabic vocabulary, unrelated to that digit-shape history.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "wāḥid, ithnān, thalātha, arbaᶜa, khamsa" — one through five
- the honest correction — "Arabic numerals" (the digit SHAPES) are actually Indian in origin, not these Arabic WORDS

Before you move on

What are the Arabic words for one through five? (wāḥid, ithnān, thalātha, arbaᶜa, khamsa.) Where did the digit shapes 0-9 actually originate, and who's credited with carrying them to Europe? (India — carried into the Islamic world and then Europe largely through al-Khwārizmī's writings.) Are "Arabic numerals" the same thing as these Arabic number words? (No — completely separate: one is a set of written digit shapes with Indian origins, the other is native Arabic vocabulary.)

Chapter 20

Numbers Eleven to Twenty

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can count from eleven to twenty in Arabic and build the teens as 'X and ten'.
>
> Build the teens as additive X-ᶜashar compounds, then say ᶜishrūn, which is not built that way at all.

20.1 عشر أحد, عشرون — plain compounds, then a genuinely different twenty

Eleven through fifteen build the same simple way every time. Then twenty breaks the pattern completely — it isn't built the way you'd expect at all.

You'll want to know — عشر أحد – عشر خمسة — "X and ten"

Arabic	literally
عشر أحد	aḥada ᶜashar — "one-ten" (11)
عشر اثنا	ithnā ᶜashar — "two-ten" (12)
عشر ثلاثة	thalāthata ᶜashar — "three-ten" (13)
عشر أربعة	arbaᶜata ᶜashar — "four-ten" (14)
عشر خمسة	khamsata ᶜashar — "five-ten" (15)

Every one of these is the counting-word (from the AGE and NUM-1-5 lessons) plus عشر (ᶜashar, "ten") — a straightforward additive compound, the same shape Spanish builds in once-quince and Latin in ūndecim-quīndecim.

You'll want to know — عشرون — NOT "two-ten," a genuinely different word

Here's the honest surprise: twenty is not built from "two" + "ten" the way 11-15 were built. عشرون (ᶜishrūn, "twenty") is its own, distinct word — a special plural-like form built directly on the same "ten" root, ع-ش-ر (ᶜ-sh-r), rather than a compound of ithnān ("two") and ᶜashar ("ten"). That root, ᶜashar/ᶜishrūn, is the same Semitic "ten" root behind Hebrew's עֶשֶׂר (eser, "ten") — and, coincidentally, resembles the Indo-European "ten" root that gives English its own -teen suffix, though the two roots are not related: Arabic and English inherited "ten" from two entirely separate language families, so this is a parallel, not a shared borrowing or common ancestor.

And now the age question has its answer: سنة عشرون عمري (ᶜumrī ᶜishrūna sana) — "I am twenty years old," literally "my age [is] twenty years."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ᶜAshar and ᶜishrūn are built on the native root ᶜ-sh-r, "ten" (Lane), a cousin of Hebrew ᶜeser, "ten"; aḥada, "one", is listed by Lane under ʾ-ḥ-d.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "aḥada ᶜashar, ithnā ᶜashar, thalāthata ᶜashar" — 11, 12, 13, "X and ten"
- "ᶜishrūn" — twenty, its OWN word, not "two-ten"
- "ᶜumrī ᶜishrūna sana" — my age is twenty years, no verb at all

Before you move on

How are 11-15 built in Arabic? (X + ᶜashar — "one-ten," "two-ten," and so on, a plain additive compound.) Is عشرون

(twenty) built the same way, as “two-ten”? (No — it’s a distinct, standalone plural-like form built on the same “ten” root, not a compound of “two” and “ten.”) What root does ᶜashar/ᶜishrūn share with Hebrew? (ע-ש-ר/ع-ش-ر, the Semitic root for “ten,” giving Hebrew’s eser.)

Chapter 21

Dog and Cat

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a dog and a cat in Arabic.
>
> Say kalb beside Hebrew kelev, then qiṭṭ beside Latin cattus, flagging that the cat link is still debated.

21.1 كلب, قط — a solid root, and the word that closes the loop

Spanish has a genuine dog-word mystery, and German another by way of English. Arabic's dog-word has no such mystery — and its cat-word is tangled up, by some route, with nearly every European cat-word there is.

Why it's said this way

كلب (kalb, "dog") traces to Proto-Semitic kalb- — the exact same root behind Hebrew's own word for dog, כֶּלֶב (kelev) (the name Caleb is traditionally connected to this same root, though some scholars instead derive it from kol-lev, "whole-hearted"). Unlike Spanish's perro or the English word that replaced "hound," kalb is a solid, well-attested, unmysterious Semitic root, shared across the whole Semitic family (Aramaic, Akkadian, and more).

Why it's said this way

قط (qiṭṭ, "cat, tomcat") is widely compared with Latin's cattus (alongside Nubian kadis, mentioned back in the Spanish and Latin lessons). Be honest about the uncertainty here, though: linguists don't agree on the relationship. Cattus turns up late in Latin, and some think kadis came from Arabic rather than the reverse. These look like one travelling word, spreading with the domestic cat, but where it started, and which language lent it to which, is not settled. Arabic's word for "cat" sits in the same tangled word-family as Spanish's gato, French's chat, Italian's gatto, and German's Katze.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "kalb" — dog, a solid Semitic root, cousin of Hebrew's kelev
- "qiṭṭ" — cat, linked by some route with Latin's cattus and every European cat-word there is

Before you move on

What root does كلب trace to, and what's its Hebrew cousin? (Proto-Semitic kalb-; cousin of Hebrew כֶּלֶב, kelev.) Is قط's relationship to Latin's cattus fully settled? (No — widely compared, probably one travelling word, but linguists still debate where it started and which way it went.) What does this most likely mean for Arabic's word for "cat" compared to Spanish's gato, French's chat, and German's Katze? (They most likely belong to the same tangled ancient word family — spreading with the domestic cat.)

Chapter 22

Green and Yellow

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name green and yellow in Arabic and trace aṣfar to the same root as ṣifr, 'zero'.
>
> Say akhḍar beside khuḍār, 'vegetables', then aṣfar beside ṣifr, and follow ṣifr into English zero and cipher.

22.1 أخضر, أصفر — "greens" you'd recognize, and a hidden zero

Arabic's green word hides an English-style pun. Its yellow word hides something even better — the exact root behind the word "zero" itself.

Why it's said this way

أخضر (akhḍar, "green") comes from the root خ-ض-ر (kh-ḍ-r, "to be green"). That same root gives خضار (khuḍār, "vegetables") — echoing the exact same move English makes when it calls vegetables "greens." The same root also names the mysterious Quranic figure الخِضْر (al-Khiḍr), "the Green One" — traditionally said to be called this because the ground turned green wherever he sat or prayed.

Why it's said this way

Here's the real surprise: أصفر (aṣfar, "yellow") shares its root, ص-ف-ر (ṣ-f-r), with صفر (ṣifr, "zero, empty, void") — the exact Arabic word that gave English both zero (via Italian zefiro/zero) and cipher (via Medieval Latin cifra). So the same three-letter Arabic root sits behind "yellow" and behind the number zero itself. The sources don't fully explain why "emptiness" and "yellow" share a root — but the shared root itself, connecting Arabic's yellow-word straight back to the origin of "zero," is genuine and well documented.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "akhḍar" — green, same root as "khuḍār," vegetables
- "aṣfar" — yellow, same root as "ṣifr," zero
- the connection — "aṣfar, ṣifr, zero, cipher" — one Arabic root, reaching all the way into English math vocabulary

Before you move on

What root does أخضر share with "vegetables," and what English phrase does this echo? (خ-ض-ر, kh-ḍ-r — echoes English calling vegetables "greens.") What Quranic figure shares this root, and what does his name mean? (الخِضْر, al-Khiḍr — "the Green One.") What word does أصفر share its root with, and what two English words trace back to it? (صفر, ṣifr, "zero, empty" — the source of English zero and cipher.)

22.2 The head and the hand

Picture your head, then your hand, and give the Arabic for each. Both arrived a dozen lessons ago in single words and have not been asked for since.

Across the family: five words older than Arabic

Arabic	meaning	Hebrew cousin
رأس raʾs	head	ראש rosh
يد yad	hand	יד yad
أب ab	father	אב av
أم umm	mother	אם em
أخ akh	brother	אח ach

These are not borrowings in either direction. Both languages inherited them, and يد is the most striking of the set: spelled and said almost identically on both sides, worn down hardly at all in several thousand years.
رأس is the word inside Rosh Hashanah, the head of the year.

Across the family: what the roots still build

None of these roots is a museum piece.

- raʾīs — president, chief — is built straight on head, the same way English capital and captain grow out of Latin caput.
- أم and أبو still form the kunya, a living honorific: mother of and father of, plus a child's name.
- أخت ukht is أخ with a single letter added — the simplest gendering in the language, against the reshaped templates the colour words needed.

Grammar Lens: an age is a thing you own

عمر ᶜumr is age, lifetime, life span, from the root ع-م-ر, tied to living and flourishing.

> كم عمرك؟ kam ᶜumruka? — literally how much is your lifetime?

The Romance languages have their years; the Germanic ones are their years. Arabic does neither. It hangs the same your suffix on a noun and drops the verb altogether, exactly as the name and wellbeing questions do.

Your turn

- Say it: head, then hand — raʾs … yad
- Say it: father, mother, brother, sister — ab, umm, akh, ukht
- Say it: ask a man his age — kam ᶜumruka?
- Say it: ask a woman — kam ᶜumruki?
- Recall: the word for president, and the body part it is built on

Before you move on

Name which word in this set has changed least from its Hebrew cousin. (يد — both yad.) Give the word for president and its literal base. (raʾīs, from head.) Say what turns أخ into its feminine. (One added letter — أخت.) And give the literal wording of the age question. (How much is your lifetime.)

Chapter 23

You're Welcome

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) ✓ pen (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can reply to shukran with ᶜafwan, and use the same word to say excuse me.
>
> Say ᶜafwan as the reply to thanks, unpack the root 'to erase' behind it, and hear the same -an ending it shares with shukran.

23.1 عفوا (ᶜafwan) — "you're welcome," from a root meaning "to erase"

Your very first Arabic lesson already used this word once, in passing, as the reply to shukran. Here it gets its own full treatment — starting with a root that literally means "to erase."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عفوا (ᶜafwan), root ᶜ-f-w (ع-ف-و): the root's core sense is "to erase, obliterate, remove" — and "to pardon, forgive" grows directly out of that, since forgiving something is, metaphorically, erasing it. The same root gives العفو (al-ᶜAfuww, "the Supreme Pardoner"), one of the 99 names of Allah in Islamic tradition.
ᶜAfwan is the accusative of ᶜafw, "pardon", built on the native root ᶜ-f-w (Lane).

You'll want to know — Be honest: ᶜafwan does more than one job ᶜAfwan answers shukran as "you're welcome" — but depending on tone and context, the exact same word also does duty as "excuse me," "pardon," or "sorry." One root, one word, several closely related jobs — all growing from that same "erase/pardon" sense.

Grammar Lens: the same ending as shukran itself

Notice the spelling: عفوا ends in the same tanwīn fatḥ ("-an") you already met in شكرا (shukran) — the indefinite accusative ending. Neither word is a full sentence with its own verb; both are fixed, idiomatic accusative forms functioning as a complete conversational turn on their own. The grammar you learned once, for shukran, already explains ᶜafwan too.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "عفوا" — ᶜafwan, "you're welcome"
- the root ᶜ-f-w — "to erase" → "to pardon"
- the shared ending — shukran and ᶜafwan both end in the same tanwīn fatḥ, "-an"

Before you move on

What does the root ᶜ-f-w literally mean, before it comes to mean "pardon"? ("To erase, obliterate.") Besides "you're welcome," what other jobs can ᶜafwan do? ("Excuse me," "pardon," "sorry" — context-dependent.) What grammatical ending does ᶜafwan share with shukran? (The tanwīn fatḥ, "-an" — both are fixed indefinite- accusative forms, not full sentences.)

23.2 Please, sorry, thank you

Say yes, please, sorry and thank you in Arabic, in that order, before reading on. Four short words, each taught once, none asked for since.

You'll want to know: three of the four bend

word	to a man	to a woman
please	فضلك من min faḍlak	فضلك من min faḍlik
sorry	آسف āsif	آسفة āsifa
yes	نعم naᶜam	نعم naᶜam

Naᶜam is the clear standard yes, safe anywhere, and it has spoken neighbours you will also hear. Min faḍlik is the only one of the three whose bend is invisible: the written form does not change at all, because only the unwritten short vowel moves.

آسف is stranger than English sorry, because it is not a fixed word — it is a gendered adjective, from the verb asifa, to grieve or regret. So a woman apologising says a different word from a man. For a quick, ungendered excuse me, Arabic reaches for maᶜdhira instead.

Script: the two letters inside شكرا

ش shīn is not a new shape at all: it is س sīn with three dots on top — the same trick the boat-bowl plays, where ب takes one dot below, ت two above and ث three above. The dots do the work; the skeleton is shared.

The other new letter in the word is ك kāf.

Writing: what changes when letters join

Write these out:

- سلام right to left — sīn · lām · alif · mīm
- شكرا — shīn with its three dots, then kāf, rāʾ, alif

What changes when a letter joins is the connector at each edge. What stays is the skeleton — which is why a letter you learned standing alone is still readable buried in the middle of a word.

Why it's said this way

The reply to thanks is عفوا ᶜafwan — it is nothing, you are pardoned — from a root meaning to forgive or waive. English answers gratitude by accepting it. Arabic answers by waving it away: you thank, and they erase the debt.

Before you move on

Give the two forms of sorry and what makes them differ. (آسف and آسفة — a gendered adjective.) Give the reply to شكرا and its literal force. (عفوا — it is nothing, you are pardoned.) Say what ش is made of. (س plus three dots.) And say which courtesy word bends without the spelling changing. (فضلك من.)

Chapter 24

See You Tomorrow

Modes: voice (1) eyes (1) Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can part from someone in Arabic with ilā l-ghad, 'until tomorrow'.
>
> Say ilā l-ghad, point to the ilā already known from ilā l-liqāʾ, and follow gh-d-w from 'dawn' to 'tomorrow'.

24.1 إلى الغد (ilā l-ghad) — "see you tomorrow," the same ilā again

You already have the pattern: ilā + a future point = "see you [then]." Here it is again, with "tomorrow" filling the slot.

You'll want to know — The two pieces, one already familiar إلى الغد (ilā l-ghad) = "until tomorrow":

- إلى (ilā) — "until," the exact same word from ilā l-liqāʾ ("see you [later]").
- الغد (al-ghad) — "tomorrow," root gh-d-w (غ-د-و).
- Note ل is a sun letter, so al-ghad would assimilate — but غ (ghayn) is a moon letter, so here the l stays put: al-ghad, not doubled the way al-liqāʾ and as-salāma were.

Why it's said this way

Gh-d-w's core sense is "to go out at dawn, early morning" — and "tomorrow" grows directly out of that "early morning" sense. This is not a one-off coincidence: this exact shift also happened in Latin, where māne ("morning") became French's demain and Spanish's mañana ("tomorrow"). Two completely unrelated language families — Semitic and Indo-European — independently building "tomorrow" out of "morning."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إلى الغد (ilā l-ghad) is built from ilā, "until", an inherited preposition, and al-ghad, "the morrow", on the native root gh-d-w, "to go out early in the morning" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "ilā l-ghad" — "until tomorrow"
- the reused piece — ilā, already known from ilā l-liqāʾ
- the root echo — gh-d-w, "dawn/morning" → "tomorrow," the same shift as Latin māne → mañana/demain

Before you move on

What word does ilā l-ghad share with ilā l-liqāʾ? (Ilā, "until.") What does the root gh-d-w literally mean, before it comes to mean "tomorrow"? ("To go out at dawn, early morning.") Is this morning-to-tomorrow shift unique to Arabic? (No — Latin's māne ("morning") independently became French's demain and Spanish's mañana, "tomorrow," the same way.)

24.2 Every way to leave

Give both Arabic farewells and the literal meaning of each, without reading on. Then spell the longer one, right to left.

Script: the throat sound and the shape-shifter

ع ᶜayn is two pieces: an open-mouth curve on top, like a small c facing left, and a bowl beneath it when the letter stands alone or ends a word. It opens a third dots-family — the bowl and the hook-and-tail were the first two — and its dotted partner is غ ghayn.

ه hāʾ is the opposite kind of letter: one closed loop, no dots, and the most shape-shifting thing in the alphabet. It wears four genuinely different coats depending on where it sits in the word.

Script: مع السلامة, letter by letter

Write these out:

- مع — mīm, its round head joining left into ᶜayn
- السلامة — alif · lām, then sīn · lām · alif · mīm, then the tied ة

Both letters of مع were already yours. And السلامة is not a long new word: it is الـ plus the very first word you ever wrote, plus a tied tāʾ on the end.

Grammar Lens: one pattern, one rule

Arabic does not only add endings; it pours a root into a shape. The root s–l–m poured into faᶜāla turns peace into the state of safety — salām becomes salāma.
Then the sun-letter rule bites: س is a sun letter, so the l of الـ assimilates to it. Written السـ, said as-salāma.
مع maᶜa is a preposition and it stands alone, unlike الـ and بـ, which fasten onto the next word.

You'll want to know: the other farewell

إلى اللقاء ilā l-liqāʾ is إلى (until) plus اللقاء (the meeting), from the root l–q–y, to meet. So Arabic does not say goodbye; it says until the meeting — the same move Spanish makes with hasta luego, until later.

Two shapes in it run past the writing set: the إ with its hamza below, and the ق qāf. Read them for now.

The exchange

- Say it: greet, give your name, ask after them, and part — the whole arc, to a man

- Say it: part with safety — maᶜa s-salāma
- Say it: part until the meeting — ilā l-liqāʾ
- Recall: the root that both opens the book's greeting and closes its farewell

That last one is the joke the language plays on you: s–l–m is the root of the first thing you learned to say and the last. salām, salāma, islām, muslim — peace, safety, wholeness, all one family.

Before you move on

Give the three pieces of السلامة. (ال + salām + ة.) Give the root inside اللقاء and its sense. (l–q–y, to meet.) Name the letter that wears four different coats. (ه.) And say whether مع attaches to the next word. (No — it stands alone.)

Chapter 25

Day

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say 'day' in Arabic and recognise its cognate in Hebrew's Yom Kippur.
>
> Say yawm, run it across the Semitic family, and mark the Egyptian sun-word origin as unsettled.

25.1 يوم (yawm) — "day," a word shared across the whole Semitic family

This word is bigger than Arabic — it's one of the oldest, most widely shared words across the entire Semitic language family.

You'll want to know — يوم — "day"

يوم (yawm) — "day" — root y-w-m. Arabic's day-names can compound with yawm — يوم الجمعة (yawm al-jumᶜa, "day of the gathering") is the full, formal way to say "Friday," the exact same "day-of-X" construct-state pattern as Latin's diēs Lūnae — but colloquially, the bare day-name alone (al-jumᶜa, as-sabt, already taught earlier) is just as common. Yawm itself is also the ordinary, standalone word for "a day."

Why it's said this way

Yawm traces to Proto-Semitic *yawm- — and this isn't just an Arabic word with foreign relatives, it's a genuinely Common Semitic word, found with the same shape and meaning across the whole family:

Hebrew יוֹם (yōm — yes, the yom in Yom Kippur, "Day of Atonement"), Akkadian ūmum, and Aramaic yawmā. Four different Semitic languages, one shared ancient word for "day."

Why it's said this way

Links beyond the Semitic family have been proposed, but none is established. A suggested tie to an Egyptian word for "sun" does not hold up: Egyptian's ordinary word for "day", ḥrw, is unrelated. The Semitic cognates above are the solid part of this word's story.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "yawm" — "day"
- the Semitic family — yawm, yōm (Yom Kippur), ūmum, yawmā
- the honest limit — the Semitic family is solid; links beyond it are not established

Before you move on

What Hebrew word, familiar from a well-known holiday name, is yawm's direct cognate? (Yōm, as in Yom Kippur.) Name two other Semitic languages that share this exact word for "day." (Akkadian ūmum, Aramaic yawmā.) Is any link beyond the Semitic family established? (No — the Semitic cognates are the solid part.)

Chapter 26

Night

Modes: 🎧 voice (1) 🎧 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say 'night' in Arabic and point to layl inside the midnight phrase I already know.
>
> Say layl, find it inside muntaṣaf al-layl, and pair it with yawm as the other pan-Semitic half of the day.

26.1 ليل (layl) — "night," yawm's partner across the whole Semitic family

You've already met layl once, tucked inside muntaṣaf al-layl ("midnight"). Now it gets the same standalone treatment yawm just did — and the same pan-Semitic family story.

You'll want to know — ليل — "night"

ليل (layl) — "night" — is the word already hiding inside muntaṣaf al-layl ("midnight," Chapter 15, literally "the half of the night"). Root l-y-l.

Why it's said this way

Just like yawm, layl is a genuine Common Semitic word, not an Arabic-only term with distant relatives. It traces to Proto-Semitic layl-, cognate with Hebrew לילה (layla/laylah — the same word in the famous Passover question, "mah nishtana ha-layla ha-zeh," "why is this night different"), Aramaic/Syriac lēlyā, and Akkadian līliātum. Day and night, yawm and layl, are both words the whole Semitic family has shared for millennia.

Why it's said this way

Be honest about one genuine scholarly debate: linguists don't fully agree on whether Proto-Semitic had this simple triradical layl-* form, or a reduplicated laylay-* form instead (the doubled shape possibly surviving in some daughter languages' declension patterns). This is a real, open question in comparative Semitics — not settled the way the basic Hebrew/Aramaic/Akkadian cognate set is.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "layl" — "night," already met inside muntaṣaf al-layl
- the Semitic family — layl, layla (Hebrew), lēlyā, līliātum
- yawm and layl — day and night, both pan-Semitic words

Before you move on

Where have you already met layl before this lesson? (Muntaṣaf al-layl, "midnight.") What Hebrew word, from a famous Passover question, is layl's direct cognate? (Layla/laylah.) Is the exact Proto-Semitic shape of this word — triradical or reduplicated — fully settled? (No — a genuine, open scholarly debate.)

Chapter 27

Good Night

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: its only lesson.

> By the end of this chapter: I can wish someone good night in Arabic and explain why the phrase actually talks about the morning.
>
> Say tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr, translate it as 'may you wake into goodness', and trace tuṣbiḥ back to ṣabāḥ al-khayr's own root.

27.1 خير على تصبح (tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr) — wishing the morning, not the night

Every "good night" you've learned in other languages wishes a peaceful night. Arabic's everyday version does something completely different — it skips the night and wishes the morning instead.

You'll want to know — خير على تصبح — "may you wake into goodness"

خير على تصبح (tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr) is the most common everyday Arabic "good night" — but it literally means "may you wake up into goodness." Break it down:

- تصبح (tuṣbiḥ) — the ordinary imperfect ("you become") of أصبح (aṣbaḥa, "to become morning, to wake up") — the exact same root, ص-ب-ح (ṣ-b-ḥ), as ṣabāḥ in ṣabāḥ al-khayr ("good morning," Chapter 1). No special subjunctive or jussive form is involved — a plain statement doing the work of a blessing, the same way English "you'll sleep well" can function as a wish without any special grammar.

- على (ᶜalā) — "upon."
- خير (khayr) — "goodness" — the same word already met in masāʾ al-khayr ("good evening").

Put together: not "sleep well," but "may your waking be good." (This particular form, tuṣbiḥ, addresses one man; a woman is tuṣbiḥī [تصبحي], a group is tuṣbiḥū [تصبحوا].)

Why it's said this way

Here's the genuinely different part: the everyday "good night" of English, French, German, and Spanish wishes something about the night itself. Arabic's everyday version does the opposite: it's grammatically about the morning that follows, built from the same "waking" root already hiding in ṣabāḥ. Notice what's genuinely absent: ليل (layl, "night," last lesson) doesn't appear anywhere in this phrase at all. It reuses pieces you already have (ṣ-b-ḥ, khayr) but points them at a different moment in time than every other language's farewell.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تصبح على خير (tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr) is built from tuṣbiḥ, "you reach morning", Form IV of the native root ṣ-b-ḥ, "morning" (Lane), ᶜalā, "upon", and khayr, "good", on kh-y-r: "may you wake upon good".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr" — literally "may you wake into goodness"
- the shared root — tuṣbiḥ and ṣabāḥ, both from ṣ-b-ḥ
- the honest twist — this "good night" is really about the morning, not the night

Before you move on

What does تصبح على خير literally mean? ("May you wake up into goodness.") What root does tuṣbiḥ share with ṣabāḥ al-khayr? (Ṣ-b-ḥ, "morning/to become morning.") Unlike English, French, and German's "good night," what moment in time does Arabic's everyday version actually point to? (The morning that follows, not the night itself.)

Chapter 28

Going and Coming

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the Arabic for 'he went' and 'he came', read the three-consonant root under each, and explain why Arabic dictionaries list a verb as 'he did' rather than 'to do'.
>
> Say the going/coming pair, name the weak letter that vanishes from jāʾa and point to where it comes back, and restate the root-and-pattern engine dhahaba opened.

28.1 ذهب (dhahaba) — "he went," and the engine under every Arabic word

Every word so far has been a thing, a quality, or a fixed courtesy. Now a verb — and the machine that builds nearly every word in the language.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

Three letters, one of them new.

- dāl — a small hook resting on the line, sounding like English d. It is a non-joiner: like alif, it will not connect to whatever follows it.
- ذ (dhāl) — that same hook with one dot above. The dot is the entire difference. Its sound is the th of English this — voiced — never the th of thin.
- ه (hāʾ) and ب (bāʾ) are already yours.

Right to left: ذ stands alone, then هب joins into one piece. Dha-ha-ba.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذَهَبَ (dhahaba) = "he went." Its root is the bare consonant skeleton ذ-ه-ب. Keep those three consonants, pour a different set of vowels between them, and out comes a different word carved from the same idea:

- ذَهَبَ (dhahaba) — "he went."
- ذَهَب (dhahab) — "gold."
- مَذْهَب (madhhab) — "a way one goes," and so the word for a school of Islamic law.

That last one is not luck. Putting ma- in front of a root gives the place or the way of its action, and English already owns two words from that same place-noun family: masjid, "place of prostration," worn down through Spanish into mosque; and مَغْرِب (maghrib), "place of sunset," kept whole as the Maghreb. The pattern is already in your vocabulary. Only the root is new.

Grammar Lens — Arabic has no "to go"

English dictionaries list a verb as "to go." Arabic dictionaries cannot — the language has no infinitive. The form they list is ذَهَبَ, "he went": third person, masculine, singular, finished. Grammarians name each vowel pattern with a dummy root, f-ᶜ-l ("to do"), so this shape is called faᶜala. Every verb in these three chapters wears it.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- right to left — ذ, then هب — "dhahaba," he went
- the root — dh-h-b — then dhahab, "gold," and madhhab, "a school of law"
- the citation form — Arabic lists "he went," never "to go"

Before you move on

What single mark separates dāl from ذ, and what does it do to the sound? (One dot above — it turns d into the th of "this.") Name two other words built on ب-ه-ذ. (Dhahab, "gold," and madhhab, "a school of law.") In what form does an Arabic dictionary list a verb? ("He went" — dhahaba — because Arabic has no infinitive.)

28.2 جاء (jāʾa) — "he came," and a root that hides one of its own letters

Dhahaba was the tidy case: three consonants, three vowels, nothing hidden. Its opposite number is where the engine gets interesting.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

No new letters here — this word is built entirely from shapes you already have.

- ج (jīm) — the hook-and-tail body with one dot below, sounding like the j of English jam.
- ا (alif) — the clean downstroke, here carrying a long ā.
- ء (hamza) — the glottal stop, the catch in "uh-oh," sitting on the line by itself at the end.

Right to left: جا joined, then ء standing apart. Jāʾa — two beats, with a hard little stop at the end.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جاء (jāʾa) = "he came." Its root is ج-ي-أ — and one of those three consonants is missing from the word you just read. That is the point. Arabic calls و and ي weak letters. Poured into the faᶜala shape, the root would give jayaʾa, which no Arab mouth wants to say; the ي dissolves and its vowel stretches into the long ā you hear. The skeleton is still there, though, and it walks straight back out in مَجِيء (majīʾ), "an arrival" — the same ma- place-and-way prefix met in madhhab, with the ي restored in plain sight.

So the irregularity is not chaos. It is a second rule, applied everywhere a weak letter lands in the middle. Being honest about one thing: جاء is the written, formal verb. To tell someone "come here" in ordinary speech you say تَعالَ (taᶜāla), which comes from a completely different root meaning "to be high" — originally "come up here."

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the pair — "dhahaba, jāʾa" — he went, he came
- the vanished letter — root j-y-ʾ, and the ي back in place in "majīʾ"
- the everyday imperative — "taᶜāla," from another root entirely

Before you move on

Which letter of جاء's root never appears in the word itself, and where does it come back? (ي — restored in مَجِيء, majīʾ, "an arrival.") What are Arabic's two weak letters? (و and ي.) What word does an Arabic speaker actually use for "come here," and is it from this root? (Taᶜāla — no, a different root meaning "to be high.")

Chapter 29

Saying and Seeing

Modes: voice (2) Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the Arabic for 'he said' and 'he saw', read the letters qāf and alif maqṣūra, and name the doer, done-to, place and instrument words each root builds.
>
> Say raʾā, read its dotless alif maqṣūra, follow the root out into raʾy 'opinion' and mirʾāh 'mirror', and restate the pattern family qāla laid out.

29.1 قال (qāla) — "he said," and a letter you have been reading unnamed

One letter has turned up in Arabic words since the farewell ilā l-liqāʾ without ever being introduced. Its own verb is the right place to name it.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

One new letter, and it is a sound English does not have.

- ق (qāf) — two dots above a bowl-shaped body. Joined mid-word it looks much like bāʾ's bowl; alone or final it drops a deep round tail below the line. Its sound is a k made far back at the uvula, at the top of the throat — heavier and darker than English k.
- ا (alif) and ل (lām) are yours already.

قال runs right to left: qāf, long ā, lām. Read it: قال right to left

Be honest about the sound: in most everyday spoken Arabic ق is not said that way at all — in Cairo and Damascus it becomes a glottal stop, and across much of the Gulf a hard g. The uvular version is the formal one.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قَالَ (qāla) = "he said." Root ق-و-ل — and the same disappearing act as jāʾa, with the other weak letter. The plain shape would give qawala; the و dissolves and the vowel stretches to ā. It reappears the moment the pattern changes: قَوْل (qawl), "an utterance, a saying."
Now watch one skeleton fill four different pattern-slots:

- qāʾil — "a speaker," the doer shape.
- مَقُول (maqūl) — "spoken," the done-to shape.
- مَقالة (maqāla) — "an article, an essay," the same ma- place-and-way prefix that gave madhhab.

Those first two are the very patterns met back in shukran, which paired shākir ("thankful") with mashkūr ("thanked"). Learn a pattern once and it works on every root — which is why Arabic vocabulary grows in families rather than one word at a time.
Qāla is built on this native root (Lane); Hebrew qōl, "voice", is usually counted a cousin.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "qāla" — he said — with the deep uvular q
- the weak letter returning — qāla, then qawl, "a saying"
- the family — qāʾil, a speaker; maqūl, spoken; maqāla, an article

Before you move on

How many dots does ق carry, and where is its sound made? (Two, above — at the uvula, far back in the throat.) Which letter of the root ق-و-ل vanishes in qāla, and which word brings it back? (و — restored in قَوْل, qawl, "a saying.") What does مَقالة mean, and which earlier word shares its pattern? ("An article" — the same ma- shape as madhhab.)

29.2 رأى (raʾā) — "he saw," and how seeing becomes having an opinion

A weak letter has hidden in the middle of the last two verbs. This time it hides at the end — and it wears a shape of its own.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

One new shape, and it is a shape you can almost already read.

- ر (rāʾ) — the little downward curve, a tapped r, and a non-joiner.
- أ — alif carrying hamza, the glottal catch, riding on top.
- ى (alif maqṣūra, "the shortened alif") — this is the new one, and it is simply ي (yāʾ) stripped of its two dots. Same body, no dots. Despite the yāʾ body it sounds like a long ā, and it only ever turns up at the end of a word. The farewell ilā l-ghad already carried it, unnamed.

Right to left: rāʾ, then alif-with-hamza, then the dotless tail. Ra-ʾā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رَأَى (raʾā) = "he saw." Root ر-أ-ي. The weak ي is the last consonant this time, and instead of vanishing outright it surfaces as that dotless ى. Three verbs, three placements of weakness: middle in jāʾa and qāla, final here. Each has its own regular rules.
The family this root grows is the good part:

- رَأْي (raʾy) — "an opinion." Literally a seeing. English does the very same thing with "in my view" and "the way I see it" — two unrelated languages reaching for one metaphor.
- mirʾāh — "a mirror." This is the instrument shape, mi- plus the root: "the thing you see with." It is a sibling of the ma- place shape behind madhhab and maqāla.

- ruʾyā — “a vision, a dream.”

Seeing, opinion, mirror, vision: four words, one skeleton, no memorising four unrelated forms.
Raʾā is built on this native root (Lane); Hebrew rāʾā, “he saw”, is its cousin.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- “raʾā” — he saw — ending on a long ā spelled with a dotless yāʾ
- the metaphor — “raʾy,” an opinion, literally a seeing
- the instrument — “mirʾāh,” a mirror, the thing you see with

Before you move on

What is ى made of, and what does it sound like? (ي yāʾ without its dots — sounding like a long ā, only ever at the end of a word.) What does رَأْي mean, and what English turn of phrase makes the same move? (“An opinion” — literally a seeing, like “in my view.”) What is mirʾāh, and what pattern builds it? (A mirror — the mi- instrument shape, “the thing you see with.”)

Chapter 30

Knowing and Eating

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: both lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the Arabic for 'he knew' and 'he ate', tell ᶜarafa apart from ᶜalima, and say plainly which of these verbs has an English cousin and which has none.
>
> Say akala with no new letters left to learn, run its doer and done-to forms, place it beside Hebrew akhal, and restate the ᶜarafa root family and its Spanish loan.

30.1 عرف (ᶜarafa) — "he knew," and a root that crossed into Spain

Back to a plain, regular root after three weak ones — and to a word that split into two where English has only one.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

One new letter, and it belongs to a family already half-known.

- ع (ᶜayn) — the throat-tightening sound with no English equal, met in ᶜalaykum and ᶜafwan.
- ر (rāʾ) — the tapped r, a non-joiner.
- ف (fāʾ) — the new one: a small loop with a tail, carrying one dot above, sounding like English f. Its partner is qāf from the qāla lesson: mid-word the two bodies are the same shape, and only the dots separate them — one dot for f, two for q. A fourth dots-family.

Right to left: ᶜayn, rāʾ, fāʾ — ᶜa-ra-fa.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عَرَفَ (ᶜarafa) = "he knew, he recognised" — the plain faᶜala shape, no weak letters, root ف-ر-ع. Its family:

- مَعْرِفة (maᶜrifa) — "knowledge," the ma- shape.
- عُرْف (ᶜurf) — "custom," what is commonly known.
- العَرِيف (al-ᶜarīf) — "the one who knows," the expert or overseer. Spanish took the word in during the centuries of Arab rule and keeps it as alarife, "master builder." The palace gardens above Granada, the Generalife, are usually read as جَنّة العَرِيف (jannat al-ᶜarīf), "the garden of the ᶜarīf" — though scholars disagree about that second element, so treat it as the leading reading, not a settled one.

Arabic splits "know" in two. عَرَفَ is knowing a person or a place — recognising. Knowing a fact is a different verb, عَلِمَ (ᶜalima). Spanish cuts the same way with conocer and saber, French with connaître and savoir; English collapses both into one word. That second root gives عالِم (ᶜālim), "a scholar," whose plural عُلَماء (ᶜulamāʾ) English borrowed as ulema.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the dots — ف one dot, qāf two dots, one body between them
- "ᶜarafa" — he recognised — beside "ᶜalima," he knew a fact
- the loan — al-ᶜarīf, Spanish alarife, the Generalife in Granada

Before you move on

What tells ف and qāf apart? (The dots — one above for f, two for q.) Which of Arabic's two "know" verbs is ᶜarafa, and what languages make the same split? (Recognising a person or place, against ᶜalima for a fact — as Spanish conocer/saber and French connaître/savoir do.) What Spanish word and what Granada palace carry al-ᶜarīf? (Alarife, "master builder," and the Generalife.)

30.2 أكل (akala) — "he ate," and an honest word about cousins

The sixth and last verb of the set — and the one that needs no new letters at all, which is what a course built on words rather than alphabets eventually earns you.

You'll want to know — The letters in this word

Nothing new. Every shape here has been taught already.

- أ — alif with hamza riding on top, the glottal catch, opening the word with a clean a.
- ك (kāf) — the angular k.
- ل (lām) — the tall hook.

Right to left: a-ka-la. Six chapters ago this word would have needed a lesson of its own just to be sounded out; now it reads itself.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أَكَلَ (akala) = "he ate." Root أ-ك-ل, and the plain faᶜala shape once more. Its family runs through the patterns already collected:

- أَكْل (akl) — "eating," and so "food."
- مَأْكُولات (maʾkūlāt) — "foodstuffs," the done-to shape from maqūl, made plural: the things that get eaten.
- ākil — "an eater," the doer shape, where the root's own alif and the pattern's alif fuse into the long alif madda.

Now the honest part, because a false cousin is worse than none: there is no English relative of this word. Arabic and English are not related languages, and almost none of these six verbs has an English descendant — what English took from Arabic were nouns for goods and sciences, not everyday verbs. What akala does have is a Semitic

twin: Hebrew אָכַל (akhal), "he ate," the same three consonants in the same order, with the Hebrew noun okhel, "food," standing beside Arabic akl — the same family resemblance heard in salām and shalom, and in yad and yad.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "akala" — he ate — then "akl," food
- the two patterns — "ākil," an eater; "maʾkūlāt," foodstuffs
- the honest cousin — no English relative, but Hebrew "akhal"
- all six — dhahaba, jāʾa, qāla, raʾā, ᶜarafa, akala

Before you move on

What two pattern-shapes give ākil and مَأْكُولات, and what do they mean? (Doer and done-to — "an eater" and "foodstuffs.") Does akala have an English cousin? (No — Arabic and English are unrelated; claiming one would be inventing it.) What is its Semitic twin? (Hebrew אָכַל, akhal, "he ate.")

Chapter 31

Understanding, Reading, Writing

Modes: 👁 eyes (4) 🎧 Hands-free start: all 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the Arabic for 'he understood', 'he read', 'he asked' and 'he wrote', and build a whole family of nouns off each root using the doer, done-to and ma- place shapes I already know.
>
> Run ك-ت-ب through every pattern the track has taught — kitāb, kātib, maktūb, maktab, maktaba — naming the earlier word that wears each shape (qāʾil and qāriʾ for the doer, maqūl and mafhūm and maqrūʾ for the done-to, madhhab and masʾala for the ma- place), then place the root beside Hebrew katav and English ketubah.

31.1 فهم (fahima) — "he understood," and the vowel that makes a state

Six verbs so far, every one of them a deed. This one is not: it happens inside a person — and Arabic marks that in the vowels.

The letters in this word

Nothing new in فهم itself: ف (fāʾ, one dot), ه (hāʾ) and م (mīm), with fāʾ's two-dotted partner qāf the pair sorted out in ᶜarafa. That is twice running — أكل needed no new letters either.

One letter does need naming, because every word-family ahead reaches for it: و (wāw). You have read it unnamed inside qawl, "a saying." It is a non-joiner, a small loop with a tail under the line, and it holds two jobs — the consonant w, and the long vowel ū.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فَهِمَ (fahima) = "he understood." Root ف-ه-م.
Listen to the middle vowel. Dhahaba, qāla, ᶜarafa and akala all ran a-a-a, the فَعَلَ (faᶜala) shape. Fahima runs a-i-a: فَعِلَ (faᶜila), which Arabic keeps for states rather than deeds. Understanding is not performed; it arrives.

- فَهْم (fahm) — "understanding," the bare thing.
- مَفْهوم (mafhūm) — "understood," the done-to shape of mashkūr and maqūl, its long ū riding that و. As a noun it is "a concept": a thing that has been understood.

And the flat statement akala insisted on holds here too: ف-ه-م has no English relative. Fathom is Germanic; the resemblance is noise. No Hebrew twin worth the claim, either.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- two words needing no new letters — akala, then fahima
- the two shapes — akala, a-a-a; fahima, a-i-a
- "fahima," he understood — then fahm, understanding; mafhūm, a concept
- the dots once more — ف one, qāf two, one body between them
- three roots, three ideas — maᶜrifa, knowledge; fahm, understanding; akl, food
- the honest line — no English cousin here, as with akala

Before you move on

Which vowel of fahima differs from akala, and what does it mark? (The middle *i — فَعِلَ, a state rather than a deed.) What is مَفْهوم? ("Understood," and so "a concept" — the done-to shape of maqūl and mashkūr.) Does fahima have an English cousin? (No — fathom is Germanic.) Which letter was named here, and where had you read it? (و, wāw — inside qawl.)

31.2 قرأ (qaraʾa) — "he recited," and the word English spells Quran

One root in this chapter did give English a word — exactly one, and it is not the word for reading.

The letters in this word

ق (qāf, two dots) and ر (rāʾ) are yours. The third is أ, hamza on an alif seat, closing the word.

Hamza is the homeless consonant. It has a sound of its own — the catch in "uh-oh" — but usually no letter, so it borrows a seat, and which seat depends on the vowels around it:

- أ — hamza on ا, as in قَرَأَ and in أنت.
- hamza on و — the wāw named last lesson carries it.
- hamza on ي — the yāʾ gives up its dots to carry it.
- ء — and where no seat suits, hamza alone on the line, closing جاء.

Four spellings, one consonant. The seat is bookkeeping; the hamza is the sound.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قَرَأَ (qaraʾa) = "he read" — nearer the root's heart, "he recited aloud." Reading here is done with the voice. Root ق-ر-أ, plain faᶜala shape.

- qāriʾ — "a reader," the doer shape of qāʾil, hamza on its dotless yāʾ seat.
- مَقْروء (maqrūʾ) — "read," the done-to shape of mafhūm, long ū on the و, hamza left seatless at the end.
- qurʾān — "the recitation," the thing recited. English writes it Quran, or Koran. Its hamza and long ā fuse into one hatted alif, the fusion already met in ākil, “an eater.”

That single loan is the shape of the whole story. Arabic gave English algebra, alcohol, coffee, sugar and admiral — goods and sciences, nouns nearly every one. Out of أ-ر-ق travelled not “to read” but the name of a book. The nearer relative is Hebrew קָרָא (qara), “he read.”

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- hamza’s seats — أ on alif, then on wāw, then on a dotless yāʾ, ء on nothing
- “qaraʾa,” he recited — then qāriʾ, a reader
- the done-to pair — mafhūm, a concept; maqrūʾ, read — both on wāw
- the borrowed word — qurʾān, “the recitation,” English Quran
- the fused alif — ākil, an eater; qurʾān

Before you move on

Which three seats can hamza take, and what happens to the yāʾ when it serves? (ا, و and ي — the yāʾ drops its dots.) Which English word descends from أ-ر-ق, and what does it mean in Arabic? (Quran — “the recitation.”) Which letter carries the long ū of مَقْروء? (و.) Which earlier word shares the fused alif? (Ākil, “an eater.”)

31.3 سأل (saʾala) — “he asked,” and the Arabic word for answerable

Hamza sat at the end of the last word. Here it sits in the middle — and as the vowels shift around it, it changes seats without changing sound at all.

The letters in this word

Nothing new: س (sīn), أ (hamza on its alif seat) and ل (lām). Right to left, sa-ʾa-la.

What is worth doing is watching that seat move while the root holds still:

- سَأَلَ (saʾala) — the a keeps hamza on ا.
- suʾāl — the u pulls it onto و.
- sāʾil — the i pulls it onto dotless ي.

One consonant, one root, three spellings — exactly the rule laid out with qaraʾa, now doing its work inside a single family.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سَأَلَ (saʾala) = "he asked." Root س-أ-ل, the plain faᶜala shape.

- suʾāl — "a question."
- sāʾil — "an asker," the doer shape that also gave qāriʾ, "a reader."
- مَسْأَلة (masʾala) — the ma- shape: "a matter, a problem" — a thing asked about.
- masʾūl — the done-to shape, literally "asked-of," and so "responsible"; as a noun, "an official." Arabic builds accountability out of being the one who gets questioned, which is a fair account of what accountability is.

The Hebrew twin is exact: שָׁאַל (shaʾal), "he asked" — Arabic s against Hebrew sh, the same swap heard between salām and shalom. Its passive participle is the name שָׁאוּל (Shaʾul), English Saul: "asked for." From the Arabic root, English took nothing.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the seat moving — saʾala on alif, suʾāl on wāw, sāʾil on dotless yāʾ

- “saʾala” — he asked — then suʾāl, a question
- the two doers — qāriʾ, a reader; sāʾil, an asker
- masʾala, a matter — masʾūl, asked-of, and so responsible
- the twins — Arabic saʾala, Hebrew shaʾal, and the name Saul

Before you move on

Which three seats does hamza take across saʾala, suʾāl and sāʾil? (Alif, wāw, dotless yāʾ — one consonant, three spellings.) What does masʾūl mean literally, and what does it mean in use? (“Asked-of” — and so responsible, or an official.) Which two words here wear the doer shape? (Sāʾil, an asker, and qāriʾ, a reader.) What does the name Saul mean? (“Asked for” — from Hebrew shaʾal, twin of سَأَلَ.)

31.4 كتب (kataba) — “he wrote,” and the root that furnishes a library

The chapter closes on the root every Arabic grammar reaches for first. Three letters — and you already own every pattern they need.

The letters in this word

ك (kāf), ت (tāʾ, two dots) and ب (bāʾ, one dot below) were taught long ago. New is how they sit together: all three join, so كتب is one unbroken run of pen — unlike dhahaba, where dhāl refuses to connect, or أكل, where the alif stands off alone.

One old mark earns its keep too: put ة (tāʾ marbūṭa) on مَكْتَب (maktab) and you get مَكْتَبة (maktaba). One letter, and an office becomes a library.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كَتَبَ (kataba) = “he wrote.” Root ك-ت-ب, plain faᶜala shape. Now pour it through the patterns this track has handed you:

- كِتاب (kitāb) — “a book.” A written thing.
- كاتِب (kātib) — “a writer,” the doer shape of qāʾil and qāriʾ.

- مَكْتوب (maktūb) — "written," the done-to shape of maqūl and mafhūm — and in speech, what has been written for you: fate.
- مَكْتَب (maktab) — the ma-* place shape of madhhab and masjid: the place of writing, a desk, an office.
- مَكْتَبة (maktaba) — that place plus ة: a library.

Five words off one root, not one of them learned separately. That is the whole return on the root system, collected in one lesson.
No English word descends from ك-ت-ب. English does hold one from the same Semitic root, by way of Hebrew: a ketubah, the written Jewish marriage contract — כְּתוּבָּה (ketubbah), "a written thing," from כָּתַב (katav), "he wrote." That is maktūb's own pattern in the other language.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- three joined letters — kāf, tāʾ, bāʾ — "kataba," he wrote
- the doers — qāʾil, qāriʾ, kātib
- the done-to run — maqūl, mafhūm, maqrūʾ, maktūb
- the ma- place shape — madhhab, masʾala, maktab
- the letter that moves — maktab, an office; maktaba, a library
- the Semitic twin — Hebrew katav, English ketubah

Before you move on

Name five words built here from ك-ت-ب. (Kitāb, kātib, maktūb, maktab, maktaba.) Which pattern gives "office," and which two earlier words wear it? (The ma- place shape — madhhab and masʾala.) Which two earlier words share kātib's doer shape? (Qāʾil and qāriʾ.) What single letter turns an office into a library? (ة.) Which English word comes from this root? (None — but ketubah comes from its Hebrew twin katav.)

Chapter 32

Taking, Thinking, Helping, Loving

Modes: 👁 eyes (4) 🎧 Hands-free start: all 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the Arabic for 'he took', 'he thought', 'he helped' and 'he loved', and tell a plain verb from a rebuilt one — doubled, stretched or prefixed — by what the shape does to the root's meaning.
>
> Say the chapter's four verbs against the four shapes they wear — ʾakhadha plain, fakkara doubled, sāᶜada stretched, ʾaḥabba prefixed — then run the done-to shape across maktūb, maʾkhūdh and maḥbūb and restate the ma- engine dhahaba opened.

32.1 أخذ (ʾakhadha) — "he took," and the last of the plain verbs

The last chapter changed the vowels inside a root. This one changes the shape of the verb itself — a doubled letter, a stretched vowel, a prefix. The verb here is the plain one, kept to measure the other three against.

The letters in this word

No new letters, and three worth re-reading:

- أ — hamza on its alif seat, opening the word as it opens أكل.
- خ (khāʾ) — the hook family's one dot above, the ch of Scottish "loch."

- ذ (dhāl) — dāl with one dot above, the th of "this," the letter that opened ذهب.

Right to left: ʾa-kha-dha. Note what the page does with it. كتب ran as one unbroken piece; أخذ cannot, because alif is a non-joiner. It breaks into أ and خذ — the two-piece shape of ذهب.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أَخَذَ (ʾakhadha) = "he took." Root أ-خ-ذ, the plain faᶜala shape — the last verb in this book to wear it unaltered.

- أَخْذ (akhdh) — "taking."
- ākhidh — "one taking," the doer shape of kātib, where the root's own alif and the pattern's fuse into long alif madda — the fusion seen in ākil, "an eater."
- مَأْخوذ (maʾkhūdh) — "taken," the done-to shape of maktūb.

Its Hebrew twin is אָחַז (ʾaḥaz), "he seized." Two regular swaps carry you across: Arabic خ answers Hebrew ח, and Arabic ذ answers Hebrew ז. Those are standing correspondences between the languages, not guesses about this pair. English took nothing from either.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the letters — hamza on alif, khāʾ, dhāl — "ʾakhadha," he took
- the same opening — أكل, then أخذ, hamza on its alif seat
- which words break — kataba into one piece, ʾakhadha and dhahaba into two
- the dot that makes dhāl — dāl, then dhāl, the th of "this"
- the fused alif — ākil, an eater; ākhidh, one taking
- the done-to pair — maktūb, written; maʾkhūdh, taken

Before you move on

Which letter keeps أخذ from running as one piece, and which Chapter 31 verb did run as one? (The *alif, a non-joiner — against كتب.) What turns dāl into ذ? (One dot above — d becomes the th of "this.") Which two words fuse their alifs into alif madda? (Ākil and ākhidh.) Which Hebrew consonants answer Arabic خ and ذ? (ח and ז — in אָחַז, ʾaḥaz.)

32.2 فكّر (fakkara) — "he thought," and a root rebuilt by doubling

Every verb so far has been a bare root with vowels poured between its letters. Arabic can also rebuild a root, and the first way it does so is by doubling one letter.

The letters in this word

ف, ك and ر are all yours, and all three join, so فكّر runs as one piece.

The new thing is not a letter but a mark: ّ (shadda), the little w riding the ك of فَكَّرَ. It says "sound this consonant twice" — fak-ka-ra, not fa-ka-ra. You met it among the ḥarakāt and on the tail of shukran; here it is load-bearing, because that doubling is the whole difference between one verb and another.

Everyday Arabic prints no shadda, as it prints no short vowels; the reader supplies it.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فَكَّرَ (fakkara) = "he thought, he pondered." Root ف-ك-ر.
Doubling a root's middle consonant is no irregularity. It is a pattern with a name and a job: فَعَّلَ (fa^{cc}ala), which grammarians number Form II, and it generally means doing the root hard, repeatedly, or to something else. Fakkara is thinking worked at, while the bare root holds the raw material:

- فِكْر (fikr) — "thought," thinking as such.
- فِكْرة (fikra) — "an idea," one thought, closed by the same ة that made a library out of an office.

- تَفْكِير (tafkīr) — "thinking," the activity, on Form II's own noun shape.
- مُفَكِّر (mufakkir) — "a thinker." Form II builds its doer with a مُ (mu-) prefix, not the long ā of kātib. A rebuilt verb gets a rebuilt doer.

No English cousin here, and no Hebrew twin worth the claim. Fakkara is built on this native root (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the doubling — fa-ka-ra, then fak-ka-ra, shadda on the kāf
- "fakkara," he thought — then fikr, thought; fikra, an idea
- plain beside rebuilt — ʾakhadha, then fakkara
- the two doers — kātib, a writer; mufakkir, a thinker
- the done-to shape holding steady — maktūb, maʾkhūdh

Before you move on

What does the shadda instruct, and which letter carries it in فَكَّرَ? (Double the consonant — it rides the ك.) What is Form II, and what does it do to a root? (فَعَّلَ, middle letter doubled — the root done hard, repeatedly, or to something else.) How does Form II build its doer, against kataba and ʾakhadha? (مُفَكِّر with mu-, against كاتِب and ākhidh with a long ā.)

32.3 ساعد (sāᶜada) — "he helped," from a root meaning good fortune

The second way Arabic rebuilds a root is gentler than doubling: it stretches a vowel. What comes out is a verb pointed at somebody else.

The letters in this word

Nothing new: س (sīn), ا (alif, here carrying long ā), ع (ᶜayn) and د (dāl).

Two things are worth noticing. ساعد breaks in two — سا, then عد — because alif will not join forwards, the split that broke ʾakhadha and dhahaba while كتب ran whole. And ع sits inside a word here, joined on both sides, where in ᶜarafa it opened one: the ᶜayn changes shape by position more than almost any letter, while its throat-tightening sound never changes.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساعَدَ (sāᶜada) = "he helped." Root س-ع-د — which on its own does not mean helping at all. It means good fortune:

- سَعيد (saᶜīd) — "happy, fortunate," also the name Saeed.
- سَعادة (saᶜāda) — "happiness."

Stretch the vowel after the first root letter — fāᶜala, Form III — and the verb turns outward: doing the root with or toward another person. Sāᶜada is bringing your good fortune to bear on somebody. That is Arabic's account of helping.

- مُساعَدة (musāᶜada) — "help, assistance."
- مُساعِد (musāᶜid) — "an assistant," on the same مُ doer prefix that gave mufakkir.

English carries one name from this root: the ruling family Āl Saᶜūd is what is said in Saudi Arabia — a family name, not a borrowed verb. Hebrew's סָעַד (saᶜad), "to sustain," is the twin; a מִסְעָדָה (misᶜada) is a restaurant.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the pieces — سا, then عد — "sāᶜada," he helped
- which break — ʾakhadha and sāᶜada in two, kataba in one
- the ᶜayn opening ᶜarafa, then joined inside sāᶜada
- the root before the help — saᶜīd, happy; saᶜāda, happiness

- doubled against stretched — fakkara's shadda, sāᶜada's long ā
- the two mu- doers — mufakkir, a thinker; musāᶜid, an assistant

Before you move on

What does Form III do to a root, and to its meaning? (Stretches the vowel after the first letter — fāᶜala — and aims the action at somebody else.) What does س-ع-د mean before it means helping? (Good fortune — saᶜīd, "happy.") Which mark makes fakkara Form II, and does sāᶜada carry one? (The shadda on the ك — and no.) Which English place-name carries this root? (Saudi Arabia, from Āl Saᶜūd.)

32.4 أحبّ (ʾaḥabba) — "he loved," and the four shapes together

The last verb of the chapter, and the last of its four shapes: plain, doubled, stretched — and now prefixed.

The letters in this word

Three letter-shapes for four consonants. أ (hamza on its alif seat), ح (ḥāʾ, the hook family's undotted member, a hard breath from deep in the throat) and ب (bāʾ) — with the shadda on that final ب doubling it: أَحَبَّ is ʾa-ḥab-ba.

The mark is the one that rode the ك of fakkara, doing a different job: there it built a new verb, here it only spells a root whose last two letters are the same.

On the page the word breaks after the alif — أ, then حبّ — the two-piece split of sāᶜada and ʾakhadha once again.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أَحَبَّ (ʾaḥabba) = "he loved," and more mildly "he liked." Root ح-ب-ب. The أ on the front is Form IV, ʾafᶜala: the prefix that makes a root bring about its own idea. Love, on this account, is something a person causes.

- حُبّ (ḥubb) — "love."

- حَبيب (ḥabīb) — "beloved," feminine حَبيبة (ḥabība); add the "my" ending of اسمي (ismī) and it is حَبيبي (ḥabībī), "my beloved."
- مَحْبوب (maḥbūb) — "beloved, well-liked," the done-to shape of maktūb and maʾkhūdh.

Hebrew's ordinary verb for loving, אָהַב (ahav), is not a relative. The real twin is חָבִיב (ḥaviv), "dear," which is ḥabīb exactly. No English word descends from ح-ب-ب: ḥabībī travels through music, not dictionaries.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the chapter's four — ʾakhadha, fakkara, sāᶜada, ʾaḥabba
- the four shapes — plain, doubled, stretched, ʾa- prefix
- "ʾaḥabba," he loved — then ḥubb, love; ḥabīb, beloved
- the pieces — أ alone, then حبّ, as sāᶜada split in two
- the done-to run — maktūb, maʾkhūdh, maḥbūb
- the ma- place shape from the first verb lesson — madhhab, maktab
- the rebuilt doers — mufakkir; musāᶜid

Before you move on

Name this chapter's four verbs and the shape each wears. (ʾAkhadha plain, fakkara doubled, sāᶜada stretched, ʾaḥabba prefixed — Forms I to IV.) What does Form IV's أَ do? (Makes the root bring about its own idea.) Why does أحبّ carry a shadda, and is it fakkara's reason? (Because the root's last two letters are both ب — not a Form II doubling.) Which Hebrew word is ḥabīb, and which root first showed you the ma- shapes? (חָבִיב — while ahav is no relation — and dh-h-b, in madhhab.)

Chapter 33

Asking for a Drink

Modes: 👁 eyes (5) 🎧 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name tea, milk, sugar and coffee in Arabic and ask for any of them politely, and I can tell at sight whether an Arabic noun is feminine.
>
> Say the chapter's drinks and name which of them Arabic built and which it borrowed — ḥalīb from ḥalaba, 'he milked', against shāy and sukkar, which arrived with no root at all — then read the ة off qahwa as a gender marker, place it beside maktaba and as-salāma, and order each drink with min faḍlik, answering ᶜafwan.

33.1 شاي (shāy) — "tea," and a word with no root

Every Arabic word you have taken apart so far had a root under it. This one does not — and that absence is the lesson.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. ش (shīn) has been on the page since شكرا (shukran): the sīn skeleton with three dots above it. Then ا (alif), the non-joiner, and ي (yāʾ).

So شاي breaks where alif forces it to break: شا, then ي. That is the same two-piece split you met in أحبّ — أ standing alone, then حبّ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاي (shāy) = "tea."
Now the honest part. Take كتب (kataba): its root pours into كِتاب (kitāb, a book), كاتِب (kātib, a writer), مَكْتَب (maktab, an office) and مَكْتَبة (maktaba, a library). Try that with shāy and nothing comes out. There is no shape it fills, no doer, no place, no done-to.

That is because shāy is borrowed, and a borrowed word arrives without a root. Arabic took it through Persian chāy, which took it from the northern Chinese chá.
Your own language took the same Chinese word by the other road. Traders on the southern coast of China said it tê, Dutch ships carried that form to Europe, and it became English tea, French thé, German Tee. Overland through Persia it stayed chá: Russian chay, Turkish çay, Arabic shāy.
So shāy and tea are not merely similar. They are the two ends of one word, separated by which way it left China.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- shīn, alif, yāʾ — "shāy," tea
- where it breaks — shā, then yāʾ, as أحبّ broke after the alif
- what a root gives — kitāb, kātib, maktab, maktaba
- what shāy gives — nothing, because it was borrowed
- the overland road — Chinese chá, Persian chāy, Arabic shāy
- the sea road — Hokkien tê, Dutch, English tea

Before you move on

Why can you not build a word family from شاي? (It has no Arabic root — it was borrowed, and borrowed words arrive without one.) Name what ك-ت-ب builds, for contrast. (Kitāb, kātib, maktab, maktaba.) Which language handed shāy to Arabic, and which language did that one take it from? (Persian, from Chinese.) Is English tea a relative? (Yes — the same Chinese word, carried by sea rather than overland.)

33.2 حليب (ḥalīb) — "milk," and the verb underneath it

Yesterday's word had no root to stand on. This one has a root so plain you can hear the verb inside the noun.

The letters in this word

Nothing new again. ح (ḥāʾ) is the undotted member of the hook-and-tail family — the body it shares with خ (khāʾ, one dot above) and ج (jīm, one dot below). It is the hard breath from deep in the throat that opens أحبّ (ʾaḥabba).

Then ل (lām), ي (yāʾ) carrying the long ī, and ب (bāʾ).

All four join, so حليب runs as one unbroken stroke — the opposite of شاي, which had to stop at its alif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حَليب (ḥalīb) = "milk." Root ب-ل-ح, and its verb is حَلَبَ (ḥalaba), "he milked." So the noun is simply the milked thing.
You have met this exact transparency before. khubz (bread) sits on kh-b-z, "to bake": the baked thing. Arabic does this constantly — name the action, and the everyday noun falls out of it.
The pattern ḥalīb wears, faᶜīl, is one to keep. It takes a root and hands back a quality or a result you can hold.
Hebrew has the word unchanged: חָלָב (ḥalav), "milk," the same root doing the same job — the family resemblance already heard in salām and shalom.
One caution, because a good story is not the same as a true one. The Syrian city حَلَب (Ḥalab, English Aleppo) is often explained as a milk name. It is not: Ḥalab appears in Bronze Age records centuries before Arabic was written, so the milk account is a later invention hung on a name that already existed. No English word descends from ب-ل-ح at all.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the hook family — ḥāʾ no dot, khāʾ one above, jīm one below

- ḥāʾ, lām, yāʾ, bāʾ — "ḥalīb," milk
- the verb under it — "ḥalaba," he milked
- the same move in bread — khubz, from kh-b-z, to bake
- the pattern — faᶜīl, as in ḥalīb
- the borrowed one against the built one — shāy, then ḥalīb
- the Hebrew twin — ḥalav

Before you move on

What does the root ح-ل-ب mean as a verb? (To milk — so ḥalīb is the milked thing.) Which earlier word works the same way? (Khubz — bread, from kh-b-z, to bake.) Which of the chapter's words so far has no root at all? (Shāy — it was borrowed.) Is Aleppo named for milk? (No — the name is far older than Arabic; that story is folk etymology.)

33.3 سكر (sukkar) — "sugar," and an Arabic article stuck to a Spanish word

Another traveller — and this one left a piece of Arabic grammar behind in Spain.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. س (sīn), the low comb; ك (kāf), the angular k; and ر (rā), the little downward curve that breaks — a non-joiner, like alif. So سكر joins from sīn to kāf, and rā hangs off the end.

Written fully it is سُكَّر, and the mark over the ك is the shadda. You have seen it do two jobs. On fakkara it built a new verb out of an old root. Here it does the quieter job it did on أحبّ: it spells a letter the word already owns twice over — suk-kar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سُكَّر (sukkar) = "sugar." Like shāy, and unlike ḥalīb, it is borrowed: no Arabic root, no family of shapes.
Its road west starts in Sanskrit, where śarkarā meant "grit, gravel"

— sugar named for its coarse grains. Persian took it as shakar, Arabic as sukkar, and Arabic carried it into medieval Latin as succarum. From there: Italian zucchero, French sucre, German Zucker, English sugar.
Then Spanish, which shows what the others hide. Spanish for sugar is azúcar — and that opening a-z- is Arabic's own ال (al-), the article, welded onto the front of the noun. Spanish borrowed al-sukkar whole and never took it apart.
You know why the l vanished: س is a sun letter, so al- + sukkar is said as-sukkar, as al- + salām is said as-salām. Spanish kept the sound, not the spelling. English holds algebra and alcohol.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- sīn, kāf, rā — and rā breaks, so nothing joins after it
- "sukkar," sugar — the shadda doubling the kāf, suk-kar
- the shadda's two jobs — fakkara built a verb, ʾaḥabba spelled one
- the road — Sanskrit śarkarā, Persian shakar, Arabic sukkar
- the article that stayed — as-sukkar, Spanish azúcar
- the sun letter — al- plus salām said as-salām
- borrowed, borrowed, built — shāy, sukkar, ḥalīb
- the letters before it — shīn, alif, yāʾ; then ḥāʾ, lām, yāʾ, bāʾ

Before you move on

Which letter in سكر refuses to join what follows? (Rā.) What is the shadda doing here, and which earlier verb used it the same way? (Only spelling a doubled letter — as in ʾaḥabba, not as in fakkara.) What language did sukkar come from before Persian? (Sanskrit — śarkarā, "grit.") What is hiding at the front of Spanish azúcar? (Arabic *al-, said as- before a sun letter.)

33.4 قهوة (qahwa) — "coffee," the tied tāʾ, and asking for all of it

The chapter closes on a word your own language already borrowed — and on the small letter at its end that tells you the word is feminine.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. ق (qāf, two dots above), the k made far back in the throat; هـ (hāʾ), the loop that changes shape wherever it stands; و (wāw), a non-joiner like rā; and then ة.

ة is the tāʾ marbūṭa, the "tied tāʾ" — an هـ with tāʾ's two dots on it. It appears only at the end of a word.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قَهْوة (qahwa) = "coffee."
Here is what the ة buys you. Arabic nouns carry gender, and Arabic usually shows you which is which: a noun ending in ة is almost always feminine. That is a rule you apply on sight, not a list to memorise. You have watched it work already:

- مَكْتَب (maktab), an office, becomes مَكْتَبة (maktaba), a library.
- سَلام (salām), peace, becomes السَّلامة (as-salāma), the safety — the root س-ل-م wearing an ending and a pattern.

So qahwa is feminine, while shāy, ḥalīb and sukkar are masculine — and the ending alone told you.
Lane uses qahwa for wine; coffee is the later sense. Ottoman Turkish took qahwa as kahve; Venetian traders took kahve as Italian caffè; from Italian came French café, German Kaffee and English coffee. The English word in your mouth is this Arabic one.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- qāf, hāʾ, wāw, tāʾ marbūṭa — "qahwa," coffee
- the tied tāʾ — an hāʾ wearing tāʾ's two dots, only at a word's end

- what it marks — feminine; maktab becomes maktaba, salām becomes as-salāma
- gendered — qahwa feminine; shāy, ḥalīb, sukkar masculine
- order each — "shāy, min faḍlik"; "qahwa, min faḍlik"; "ḥalīb, min faḍlik"; "sukkar, min faḍlik"
- the answer to thanks — "ᶜafwan," think nothing of it
- ḥalīb joined throughout, sukkar's rā broke, and the wāw breaks here
- built against borrowed — ḥalaba gave ḥalīb; shāy and sukkar gave nothing

Before you move on

Which of this chapter's words is feminine, and how can you tell? (Qahwa* — it ends in ة.) Name two earlier words with that ending. (Maktaba and as-salāma.) Ask for each drink politely. (Shāy, qahwa, ḥalīb, sukkar — each with min faḍlik, "from your grace.") What do you answer when someone thanks you? (ᶜAfwan.) Which word here was built from a verb? (Ḥalīb, from ḥalaba — the others travelled in.)

33.5 The courtesies, doing real work

Order tea politely, accept when it is offered, and thank them. Three words you have met and one you met in this chapter. No reading first.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- tea, please — shāy, min faḍlik
- coffee with milk and sugar, please — qahwa maᶜa ḥalīb wa-sukkar, min faḍlik
- accept — naᶜam
- thank them, and hear the reply — shukran … ᶜafwan

- a man apologises, then a woman — āsif … āsifa

The courtesy kit was four separate single-word lessons long ago. This is the first time it has had to carry a real transaction.

How to answer: the reply that erases the debt

Say شكرا and what comes back is عفوا — it is nothing, from a root about forgiving and waiving. English accepts thanks; Arabic waves them away. The exchange has two halves and you now own both.

āsif is a gendered adjective, so it changes with the speaker. When you want a quick, ungendered excuse me — squeezing past somebody in a café — the word is ma^{c}dhira.

You'll want to know: the invisible bend

فضلك من changes with whom you address and the page does not show it: only the unwritten short vowel moves, faḍlak to a man and faḍlik to a woman.

عمرك؟ كم hides the same suffix, and hides a verb too — literally how much is your lifetime. Arabic neither has its years nor is them; it owns them, as a noun, with nothing in between.

Script: shapes inside the words above

Write these out:

- شكرا — shīn with its three dots, then kāf, rāʾ, alif
- شاي — the same shīn, then alif, then yāʾ

ش is س carrying three dots, and ك is kāf. Both words start with the same letter, and in both the letter keeps its skeleton while the connectors at its edges change to suit its neighbours.

Before you move on

Give the reply to thanks and its literal force. (عفوا — it is nothing.) Say what a woman says for sorry. (āsifa.) Say why فضلك من looks identical for both genders. (Only the unwritten vowel moves.) And say what stays constant when a letter joins its neighbours. (Its skeleton.)

Chapter 34

Asking for Food

Modes: 👁 eyes (5) 🎧 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask for salt, meat, cheese and food in Arabic, and I can build the word for a restaurant myself out of a root and the ma- place shape.
>
> Name ط as the emphatic partner of ت beside ص under س and ض under د*, then pour* م-ع-ط through the ma- place shape that already gave maktab and madhhab to generate maṭᶜam, 'a restaurant', and ask for the chapter's foods with min faḍlik.

34.1 ملح (milḥ) — "salt," and the sailor hiding in it

A word for something you can hold in one hand — whose root stretches from a mineral to the open sea to a compliment.

The letters in this word

Nothing new, but one shape is worth a second look. م (mīm), ل (lām), ح (ḥāʾ) — all three join, so ملح is one run of pen.

The ح is the hook-and-tail letter that opened حليب (ḥalīb), but at the end of a word it grows its full tail and swings below the line: open at the start of ḥalīb, closed and tailed at the end of milḥ.

qahwa made the same point at the other end of a word: ة exists only in final position.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مِلْح (milḥ) = "salt." Root م-ل-ح, and this is a root that has gone travelling inside its own language:

- مَلّاح (mallāḥ) — "a sailor." The man of the salt water. It wears the doubled lām shape Arabic keeps for trades and habits.
- مَليح (malīḥ) — "handsome, pleasant." Salty, said of a person. Arabic reached for the same idea English reaches for when it calls a person the salt of the earth.

Note malīḥ's shape: faᶜīl, the same pattern that gave you حَليب (ḥalīb). A root plus that pattern hands back a quality.
Hebrew has מֶלַח (melaḥ), "salt," unchanged — one more Semitic twin. English is not in this family: salt comes down from Latin sāl and its Germanic cousins. And unlike sukkar, nothing here was borrowed.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- mīm, lām, ḥāʾ — "milḥ," salt
- ḥāʾ in two places — opening ḥalīb, closing milḥ with its tail
- the root's reach — mallāḥ, a sailor; malīḥ, handsome
- the faᶜīl pattern twice — ḥalīb, malīḥ
- the Hebrew twin — melaḥ; and no English relative, only Latin sāl
- the borrowed one for contrast — sukkar, from Sanskrit by way of Persian
- the letters just behind — sīn, kāf, rā; qāf, hāʾ, wāw, tāʾ marbūṭa

Before you move on

What else does م-ل-ح give besides salt? (Mallāḥ, a sailor, and malīḥ, handsome.) Which pattern do malīḥ and ḥalīb share? (Faᶜīl.) Why does the ح of milḥ not look like the ح of ḥalīb? (It is at the end of the word, so it takes its full tailed shape.) Does English salt belong to this family? (No — it descends from Latin sāl.)

34.2 لحم (laḥm) — "meat," and the town on the seam

This word and its Hebrew twin are the same root — and they mean different foods. There is a town whose name proves it.

The letters in this word

Nothing new, and something pleasing: لحم is ملح read the other way about. The same shapes — ل (lām), ح (ḥāʾ), م (mīm) — in a different order, and so a different root and a different word.

That is the root system stated as plainly as it can be. The letters are not the word. The order is the word.

Here ḥāʾ sits in the middle, so it wears its joined-both-sides shape: neither ḥalīb's open opening nor milḥ's tailed ending.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لَحْم (laḥm) = "meat." Root ل-ح-م.
Now the twin, and it is the best one in this book. Hebrew's לֶחֶם (leḥem) is the same root — and it means bread.
The usual explanation: the old Semitic root named the staple food, and each people filled it with whatever theirs was: meat where herds mattered, bread where grain did.
English already owns the proof. The town is بيت لحم (Bayt Laḥm) in Arabic and בֵּית לֶחֶם (Bēt Leḥem) in Hebrew — one name, in which bayt and bēt both mean "a house of." English calls it Bethlehem: house of bread on one side of the seam, house of meat on the other.
And notice what Arabic did not do. It had this root available for bread and did not use it. Arabic's bread is khubz, built on kh-b-z, "to bake" — the baked thing, as ḥalīb is the milked thing.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- lām, ḥāʾ, mīm — “laḥm,” meat
- the same shapes reordered — mīm, lām, ḥāʾ is “milḥ,” salt
- ḥāʾ in the middle, joined on both sides
- the twin that shifted — laḥm is meat, Hebrew leḥem is bread
- the town on the seam — Bayt Laḥm, Bēt Leḥem, Bethlehem
- Arabic’s own bread — khubz, from kh-b-z, to bake
- the salt root’s reach — mallāḥ, malīḥ
- qahwa’s letters and its feminine ending — qāf, hāʾ, wāw, tāʾ marbūṭa

Before you move on

What separates لحم from ملح? (Only the order of the letters — the whole root system.) What does Hebrew leḥem mean, and why is that no contradiction? (Bread — the root named the staple food.) Which English place name carries both? (Bethlehem.) What is Arabic’s own word for bread, and where from? (Khubz, from kh-b-z, “to bake.”)

34.3 جبن (jubn) — “cheese,” and where the root system stops

The root system has been paying you back for chapters. This word is where it politely declines to.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. ج (jīm) is the third of the hook-and-tail family: the body of ح (ḥāʾ) and خ (khāʾ), marked by one dot below. Then ب (bāʾ), one dot below, and ن (nūn), one dot above.

Dots are the whole difference here, as they were between the ḥāʾ of لحم and the khāʾ of khubz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جُبْن (jubn) = "cheese." In everyday speech you will more often hear جِبْنة (jibna) — and that ending is the ة you now recognise on sight, doing its usual work.
Now the honest part, because you have been taught to trust roots and this is where that trust needs a limit.
جُبْن also means "cowardice," and جَبان (jabān) is "a coward." Same letters, same order. So is a cheese a coward?
No. Arabic's dictionaries list these as separate entries — words spelled alike, not one idea branching. Compare a real root: ح-ل-م carries salt into mallāḥ, the sailor of salt water, and into malīḥ, a salty compliment. You can feel the thread. Between cheese and cowardice there is none, and inventing one would be the mistake the milk story made of Aleppo.
Two words can share three letters by accident. Arabic has many roots and few letters.
English took none of this: cheese comes from Latin cāseus.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- jīm, bāʾ, nūn — "jubn," cheese
- the hook family by dots — ḥāʾ none, khāʾ one above, jīm one below
- the everyday form — jibna, with the tied tāʾ
- the accident — jubn is also cowardice, jabān a coward
- the verdict — separate words, not one root branching
- a real branching — milḥ, mallāḥ, malīḥ
- meat and salt — laḥm, milḥ, the same shapes reordered

Before you move on

What separates ج from ح and خ? (One dot below.) What else do the letters of jubn spell? (Cowardice — jabān is a coward.) Are cheese and cowardice one root? (No — separate words that look alike.) Name a root that really does branch. (ح-ل-م — milḥ, mallāḥ, malīḥ.) What does the ending on jibna tell you? (Feminine, as qahwa is.)

34.4 طعام (ṭaᶜām) — "food," and a restaurant you can build yourself

A new root, a new letter — and a word you will not have to be taught, because you already own the shape it comes in.

The letters in this word

One letter to name at last. ط is ṭāʾ, the emphatic partner of ت (tāʾ): the same t, said with the tongue flat, so the syllable goes dark around it.

Arabic keeps a small set of emphatic pairs, and you have met the others without being told they were a set:

- ص (ṣād) is the emphatic س (sīn) — the ص of صباح (ṣabāḥ).
- ḍād is the emphatic dāl — the ḍād of min faḍlik.
- ط (ṭāʾ) is the emphatic ت (tāʾ) — this one.

Then ع (ᶜayn), the throat sound already named, ا (alif) and م (mīm). Ṭāʾ joins; alif does not, so طعام runs طعا, then م.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طَعام (ṭaᶜām) = "food." Root ط-ع-م, whose verb طَعِمَ (ṭaᶜima) means "he tasted," and whose bare noun طَعْم (ṭaᶜm) is "taste, flavour."
So Arabic has two ways to speak of eating. أَكَلَ (akala) is the plain act — he ate. ط-ع-م goes through the tongue: tasting, and so the food that gets tasted.
Now take the مَـ place shape you own. It made مَكْتَب (maktab), the place of writing, from ك-ت-ب, and madhhab from dh-h-b. Put ط-ع-م through it:
مَطْعَم (maṭᶜam) — the place of eating. A restaurant.
Nobody taught you that word. The pattern did.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ṭāʾ, ᶜayn, alif, mīm — "ṭaᶜām," food
- the emphatic set — ṣād under sīn, ḍād under dāl, ṭāʾ under tāʾ
- where you had them — ṣabāḥ, min faḍlik, now ṭaᶜām
- the verb and the bare noun — ṭaᶜima, he tasted; ṭaᶜm, taste
- two ways to eat — akala the act, ṭaᶜima the tasting
- the ma- place shape — madhhab, maktab, so maṭᶜam, a restaurant
- the chapter's foods — milḥ, laḥm reversing its letters, jubn, ṭaᶜām
- order them — "laḥm, min faḍlik"; "jubn, min faḍlik"
- and the odd old one — māʾ, water, whose plural miyāh keeps no pattern

Before you move on

Which plain letter is ط the emphatic partner of, and name the other pairs. (ت — with ص under س and ḍād under dāl.) What does ط-ع-م mean as a verb? (To taste.) Build "restaurant" from it, and name the earlier words in that shape. (Maṭᶜam — like maktab and madhhab.) Ask for the chapter's foods politely. (Milḥ, laḥm, jubn, ṭaᶜām — each with min faḍlik, "from your grace.") Which everyday word keeps no pattern at all? (Māʾ — its plural miyāh is irregular.)

34.5 Pardon, and until tomorrow

Say see you tomorrow and good night in Arabic. Each was taught in a single lesson and neither has come back. Then say what the second one literally wishes you.

You'll want to know: one word, several jobs

عفوا ᶜafwan answers shukran as you are welcome. But the same word, on a different tone, does duty as excuse me and as pardon — somebody stepping past you in a corridor says it, and so does somebody who did not quite hear you.

One word, three jobs, and the root explains all three: ᶜ-f-w is about erasing. Whatever was owed or intruded upon is wiped off.

You'll want to know: until tomorrow

إلى الغد ilā l-ghad is the farewell pattern you already own with a new word in the slot: إلى (until) — the very same ilā as in ilā l-liqāʾ — plus الغد, tomorrow.

The root gh-d-w means to set out at dawn. Arabic's tomorrow therefore grows out of early morning: the next day is named after the hour you start it.

Why it's said this way

تصبح على خير tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr is the everyday good night — and it wishes you nothing whatever about the night.
Literally it is may you wake up into goodness. English, French, German and Spanish all wish the sleeper a peaceful night; Arabic looks straight past it to the morning on the other side. Tuṣbiḥ carries the same root as the morning greeting, and خير is the goodness you already answer how are you with.
So the two halves of the phrase are borrowed from two things you met long before bedtime came up at all.

Script: the throat letter and the loop

Write these out:

- ع — the open-mouth curve, then the bowl beneath it
- عفوا, then على — the same letter opening both

ع ᶜayn is a curve above a bowl, and it heads a third dots-family, with غ ghayn as its dotted partner. It sits at the front of two of the three phrases on this page.

ه hāʾ is the shape-shifter: one loop, no dots, four different coats by position. Its dotted relative ة is the tied tāʾ that closes feminine words.

Before you move on

Name two jobs عفوا does besides you are welcome. (Excuse me and pardon.) Give the literal sense of the root behind tomorrow. (To set out at dawn.) Say what خير على تصبح actually wishes. (That you wake into goodness — the morning, not the night.) And name ع's dotted partner. (غ.)

Chapter 35

The People You Introduce

Modes: 🚗 voice (1) 👁 eyes (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name and introduce a neighbour, a son, a daughter and a friend in Arabic, and say what single letter genders a pair of them.
>
> Take ṣadīq back to ق-د-ص, 'to be truthful', and run the family ṣidq, ṣādiq, ṣadaqa and aṣdiqāʾ, naming the faᶜīl pattern it shares with ḥalīb and malīḥ and the doer shape it shares with qāʾil and kātib, then line up the people already owned — ab, umm, akh, ukht — against jārī, ibn, bint and ṣadīqī.

35.1 جار (jār) — "neighbour," and a root with a letter in hiding

After a chapter of things you order, a chapter of people you introduce — starting with the one who lives next door.

The letters in this word

Nothing new, and it is short: ج (jīm, the hook-and-tail body with one dot below), ا (alif) and ر (rā). Both ا and ر are non-joiners, so جار barely joins at all — compare ṭaᶜām, which broke once before its mīm.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جار (jār) = "a neighbour." Add the "my" ending of اسمي (ismī) and you have جاري (jārī), "my neighbour" — which is how the word usually arrives in a conversation.

Now listen to the root. You can hear only j and r. But an Arabic root wants three consonants, and the missing one is in hiding: the root is ج-و-ر, and its و has collapsed into that long ا.
You have watched this before. qāla, "he said," is q-w-l with the same disappearing و. Arabic calls these hollow roots, and the hidden letter comes back when the word changes shape:

- جاوَرَ (jāwara) — "he lived alongside." There is the و, in the open.
- جيران (jīrān) — "neighbours," where it returns as a long ī.

Hebrew's גֵּר (ger), a resident outsider living among a people, comes from the same Semitic root for dwelling alongside.
English neighbour is no relative — it is Germanic, the nigh-dweller. Two unrelated languages built one word out of one idea, worth noticing because it is not descent.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- jīm, alif, rā — "jār," a neighbour
- with the my ending — "jārī," my neighbour, as ismī is my name
- the hidden letter — the root is j-w-r, and the wāw is inside the alif
- the same hiding place — qāla, he said, from q-w-l
- where it comes back — jāwara; jīrān, neighbours
- the hook family by dots — ḥāʾ, khāʾ, jīm
- the restaurant you built — maṭᶜam, the place of eating
- the honest non-cousin — English neighbour, the nigh-dweller

Before you move on

What is جار's third root letter, and where has it gone? (و — collapsed into the long alif, as in qāla from q-w-l.) Where does it resurface? (In jāwara and jīrān.) How do you say "my neighbour"? (Jārī — the ending of ismī.) Is English neighbour related? (No — Germanic, the nigh-dweller.)

35.2 ابن, بنت (ibn, bint) — son and daughter, one letter apart

A pair you can learn in one move, because Arabic has already shown you the move it uses.

The letters in this word

Nothing new in either. ابن is ا (alif), ب (bāʾ, one dot below) and ن (nūn, one dot above) — two letters that share a bowl and differ only by where the dot sits.

بنت is the same ب and ن, then ت (tāʾ, two dots above) on the end. Both words join throughout, unlike جار, which stopped twice.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ابن (ibn) = "a son." بنت (bint) = "a daughter."
What separates them is one ت, and nothing else.
You have met that letter doing that job. أخ (akh) is a brother; أخت (ukht) is a sister. Same word, one ت added for the feminine. Arabic does not build a separate word for the woman; it marks the word it has. (This is the bare cousin of the ة that marks qahwa feminine — same letter, tied instead of open.)
On the root, tradition and comparison disagree. Arab grammarians file ابن under ب-ن-ي, "to build" — a son as what a house is built of, which is a lovely idea. Comparative scholars are less sure: Hebrew בֵּן (ben) and בַּת (bat) show the same bare shape, more like a very old primitive word than something derived from a verb. Hold it loosely. Hebrew bat is bint with the n swallowed into the t. And ibn stands in plain sight inside names English carries: Ibn Sīnā, the physician the Latin west called Avicenna. No English word descends from it.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- alif, bāʾ, nūn — “ibn,” a son
- bāʾ, nūn, tāʾ — “bint,” a daughter
- the dots that separate bāʾ and nūn — one below, one above
- the move you already knew — akh, then ukht
- and the parents beside them — ab, a father; umm, a mother
- the loosely held root — b-n-y, to build, as the grammarians have it
- the Hebrew pair — ben, bat
- the neighbour, and the emphatic ṭāʾ of ṭaᶜām — jārī; ṭaᶜām, maṭᶜam

Before you move on

What is the only difference between ابن and بنت? (An added ت — as with akh and ukht.) And the parents? (Ab and umm.) What root do grammarians give ibn, and why hold it loosely? (ب-ن-ي, “to build” — but Hebrew ben and bat suggest an older bare word.) Where does ibn appear in a name English knows? (Ibn Sīnā, Avicenna.)

35.3 صديق (ṣadīq) — “friend,” the one who is true to you

The chapter closes on a word whose root is not about company at all. It is about telling the truth.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. ص (ṣād) is the emphatic س, first met in صباح (ṣabāḥ) — heavy and dark where sīn is light. Then د (dāl), ي (yāʾ) carrying the long ī, and ق (qāf). د is a non-joiner, so صديق breaks after it: صد, then يق.

The feminine is صَديقة (ṣadīqa) — the ة, tied on the end, doing what it did to qahwa: the open ت of بنت and أخت in its tied form.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صَديق (ṣadīq) = "a friend." Root ق-د-ص, and the root means "to be truthful, to be sincere."
A friend, in Arabic, is defined by honesty rather than proximity. The family agrees:

- صِدْق (ṣidq) — "truth, sincerity."
- صادِق (ṣādiq) — "truthful," the doer shape worn by qāʾil (a sayer) and كاتِب (kātib, a writer).
- صَدَقة (ṣadaqa) — "voluntary alms." A gift given for its own sake: a true gift, as against one owed.
- أَصْدِقاء (aṣdiqāʾ) — "friends."

And now the pattern. صَديق is faᶜīl — the shape of حَليب (ḥalīb), the milked thing, and مَليح (malīḥ), the salty one. Root plus faᶜīl hands back a quality made into a person or a thing.
This is the machinery that turned سَلام (salām) into السَّلامة (as-salāma): one root, several patterns, several words.
English took nothing from ق-د-ص. Friend is Germanic, from an old word for loving.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ṣād, dāl, yāʾ, qāf — "ṣadīq," a friend
- the emphatic pair — sīn light, ṣād heavy, as in ṣabāḥ
- what the root means — to be truthful; a friend is one who is true
- the family — ṣidq, ṣādiq, ṣadaqa, aṣdiqāʾ
- the doer shape — qāʾil, kātib, ṣādiq
- the faᶜīl shape — ḥalīb, malīḥ, ṣadīq
- the feminine — ṣadīqa, tied tāʾ, as as-salāma has it
- this chapter's people — jārī with its two non-joiners, ibn, bint, ṣadīqī

- and the family you had — ab, umm, akh, ukht

Before you move on

What does ق-د-ص mean, and what does that make a friend? (To be truthful — the one who is true to you.) Name the family. (Ṣidq, ṣādiq, ṣadaqa, aṣdiqāʾ.) Which earlier words wear ṣadīq's faᶜīl pattern, and which wear ṣādiq's doer shape? (Ḥalīb and malīḥ; qāʾil and kātib.) Introduce the people you can now name. (Jārī, ibn, bint, ṣadīqī — beside ab, umm, akh, ukht.) What does the ة of ṣadīqa do? (Marks it feminine — as on qahwa and as-salāma.)

35.4 The name exchange, with somebody else in the room

Ask a woman her name, answer with your own, and close politely. This chapter has given you a neighbour, a friend, a son and a daughter — so run the exchange, then introduce one of them.

The exchange

Say these aloud:

- ask a man — mā ismuka?
- ask a woman — mā ismuki?
- answer — ismī …
- close — tasharrafnā
- now name your neighbour, your friend, your son, your daughter into the same frame

Every line above is missing a verb, and none of them feels short. That is the zero copula doing its work: my-name Arun, with the is understood.

Grammar Lens: the suffix set, whole

noun	glued on	result
اسم ism	ـي -ī	اسمي my name
اسم ism	ـك -ka	اسمك your name, to a man
اسم ism	ـك -ki	اسمك your name, to a woman

اسم is three letters, all from the first writing set: alif · sīn · mīm. What follows it is never a separate word. Arabic has no free-standing my — it glues ي on, the same habit that glues الـ for the and بـ for in. The two your forms are identical on the page. Only the unwritten vowel separates them, which is why the ear does the work the eye cannot.

The two words

ما mā is mīm plus alif and means what — the form you want before a noun, where mādā is the one for verbs.

Two of these words have histories worth holding onto. اسم shares its root s–m–w with Hebrew shem and has no tie to English name at all. And تشرفنا comes from sh–r–f, honour: sharaf, sharīf, and at a long distance English sheriff. It does not mean pleased to meet you. It means we have been honoured.

Grammar Lens: which axis splits you

أنت is one skeleton — hamza-seated alif, nūn, tāʾ — for both genders. أنتَ anta addresses a man, أنتِ anti a woman, and the split is Semitic: the same t marks you in Hebrew atta and att.
The European and Dravidian tracks split you by register. Arabic splits it by who is listening. Two languages can make the same distinction in form and mean something entirely different by it.

Before you move on

Give the root behind تشرفنا and what the word literally claims. (sh–r–f, honour — we have been honoured.) Name the axis Arabic uses for أنت. (The listener's gender.) Say how Arabic builds my.

(A glued suffix ـي, never a separate word.) And say which what goes before a noun. (ما.)

Chapter 36

Cups, Plates, and More Than One

Modes: 👁 eyes (5) 🎧 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask for oil, a cup, a plate and a spoon in Arabic, and I can tell a broken plural from a sound one and say which kind of noun usually takes which.
>
> Set the mi- tool shape of mil^{c}aqa and mir^{ɔ}āh against the ma- place shape of maṭ^{c}am and maktab, then sort the plurals: akwāb, aṭbāq and malā^{c}iq re-poured into a new shape against qahawāt and ṣadīqāt, which only add an ending — and ask for each thing with min faḍlik.

36.1 زيت (zayt) — "oil," and a letter you already knew

One new letter to name — and you will find you already own it, because it is an old letter wearing a dot.

The letters in this word

ز is zāy, the z. And here is all there is to it: ز is ر (rā) with one dot above.

That is the abjad's favourite trick. ب, ن and ت share one bowl and differ by dots. ح, خ and ج share one hook. Now ر and ز share one curve.

Everything rā does, zāy does: it hangs below the line and refuses to join what follows — the non-joiner that ended سكر.

Then ي (yā^{ɔ}) and ت (tā^{ɔ}). So زيت is ز alone, then يت joined.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زَيْت (zayt) = "oil" — in the first place olive oil, and by extension oil of any kind. Root ز-ي-ت, which also gives:

- زَيْتون (zaytūn) — "olives."
- زَيْتونة (zaytūna) — "an olive," one of them, with the tied ة making the single thing out of the collective.

And now Spain. You met azúcar and found Arabic's al- welded onto its front. The same thing happened here, twice over:

- الزَّيت (az-zayt) became Spanish aceite, "oil."
- الزَّيتونة (az-zaytūna) became Spanish aceituna, "an olive."

ز is a sun letter, which is why al- is said az- — the assimilation that makes al- + sukkar into as-sukkar. Spanish took the sound it heard, article and all. Portuguese did the same with azeite.
Zayt is an old Semitic word, listed under z-y-t (Lane), and a cousin of Hebrew zayit, "olive".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- zāy is rā plus one dot above, and it breaks as rā breaks
- the dot families — bāʾ, nūn, tāʾ; ḥāʾ, khāʾ, jīm; rā and zāy
- zāy, yāʾ, tāʾ — "zayt," oil
- the olives — zaytūn; one olive, zaytūna
- the welded article — az-zayt gave aceite, as-sukkar gave azúcar
- the friend and his root — ṣadīq, from ṣ-d-q, to be true
- the pair one letter apart — ibn, bint

Before you move on

What is ز, described from a letter you had? (Rā* with one dot above — and it breaks the same way.) What does ت-ي-ز give besides oil? (Zaytūn and zaytūna.) Which Spanish words carry this root with Arabic's article stuck on, and which one did sukkar give? (Aceite and aceituna; azúcar.) Why az- rather than al-? (ز is a sun letter.)

36.2 كوب (kūb) — "a cup," and more than one of them

A short, useful word — and the door into the thing about Arabic nouns that surprises every learner.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. ك (kāf), the angular k; و (wāw), here carrying the long ū; and ب (bāʾ).

و is a non-joiner, so كوب goes كو, break, ب. Another non-joiner: ر ended sukkar, zāy opened zayt, and و splits this.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كوب (kūb) = "a cup." Root ب-و-ك.
Now say "cups." In English you add an s. In Arabic you do something else entirely:
أَكْواب (akwāb).
Nothing was added to the end. The root ب-و-ك was taken out of one shape and poured into another, af^{c}āl. Arabic calls this a broken plural, and it is not an exception — it is how most ordinary Arabic nouns make their plurals.
You have seen a root move between shapes many times: ب-ت-ك became kitāb, kātib, maktab, maktaba. A broken plural is that same machinery pointed at number instead of meaning. So this is not a new rule to learn. It is a rule you already have, doing a job you did not expect it to do.
On where kūb came from, honesty first. It sits close to a cup-word that travelled all round the Mediterranean — Latin cuppa, behind English cup and French coupe. Whether Arabic took it from that family, or the resemblance is coincidence, is not settled: a resemblance worth knowing, not a descent worth claiming.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- kāf, wāw, bāʾ — "kūb," a cup
- more than one — "akwāb," and nothing was added to the end
- what happened instead — the root was poured into the shape af^{c}āl
- the same machinery you had — kitāb, kātib, maktab, maktaba
- ask for one — "kūb māʾ, min faḍlik" — a cup of water, from your grace
- and answer the thanks — "^{c}afwan"
- the odd old word for water — māʾ, whose plural miyāh follows no pattern
- the non-joiners — zāy in zayt, dāl in ṣadīq, wāw here

Before you move on

How does Arabic make "cups" out of كوب? (Akwāb — the root is re-poured into a new shape, not given an ending. That is a broken plural.) Which earlier root shows the same shape-changing machinery? (ب-ت-ك — kitāb, kātib, maktab, maktaba.) Ask for a cup of water politely. (Kūb māʾ, min faḍlik.) And reply to thanks? (^{c}Afwan.) Did Arabic get kūb from Latin cuppa? (Unsettled — a resemblance, not a claim.)

36.3 طبق (ṭabaq) — "a plate," and a broken plural that repeats

One broken plural is a surprise. Two in the same shape is a pattern — and a pattern you can use.

The letters in this word

Nothing new. ط (ṭāʾ) is the emphatic ت, named when you built طعام (ṭaᶜām) — the dark, flat-tongued t, standing beside ص under س and ḍād under dāl.

Then ب (bāʾ) and ق (qāf). All three join, so طبق runs unbroken — unlike كوب, which had to stop at its wāw.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طَبَق (ṭabaq) = "a plate, a dish." Root ق-ب-ط.
Its plural is أَطْباق (aṭbāq).
Say that beside أَكْواب (akwāb) and listen. Same opening أَ, same long ā before the last letter, same nothing-added-at-the-end. Both are the shape afᶜāl. So the broken plural is not chaos: it is a small set of shapes, and you have now met the commonest one twice.
The root itself means to cover, to lie in layers — a plate being the flat thing that covers. Which is why the same root gives:

- طابِق (ṭābiq) — "a storey" of a building. A layer of house. And notice its shape: that is the doer form of ṣādiq and kātib.
- طَبَقة (ṭabaqa) — "a layer," and so "a social class," with the tied ة on the end.

A plate, a floor and a social class, off one idea about layers. And the plates themselves belong somewhere you already built: مَطْعَم (maṭᶜam), the place of eating.
Ṭabaq is built on this native root (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ṭāʾ, bāʾ, qāf — "ṭabaq," a plate
- the emphatic set once more — ṣād, ḍād, ṭāʾ
- the two broken plurals — akwāb, aṭbāq, both in the shape afᶜāl
- what the root means — to cover, to lie in layers
- its other children — ṭābiq, a storey; ṭabaqa, a layer or a class

- where the plates live — maṭᶜam, the place of eating
- the oil, whose zāy is rā plus a dot — zayt, zaytūn

Before you move on

What shape do أكواب and أطباق share? (Afᶜāl — the broken plural you have now met twice.) What does ط-ب-ق mean? (To cover, to lie in layers.) Name two more words it builds. (Ṭābiq, a storey, and ṭabaqa, a layer or a class.) Which plain letter is ط the emphatic partner of? (Tāʾ.) Where would you find a stack of aṭbāq? (In a *maṭᶜam — the place of eating.)

36.4 ملعقة (milᶜaqa) — "a spoon," the tool shape, and two ways to say more than one

The last word, and it pays two debts at once: the shape that makes tools, and the question of how Arabic counts past one.

The letters in this word

Nothing new: م (mīm), ل (lām), ع (ᶜayn, the throat sound), ق (qāf) — and then ة, the tied tāʾ.

That ة tells you, before anything else, that ملعقة is feminine — the signal you read off قهوة (qahwa), ṣadīqa and ṭabaqa.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مِلْعَقة (milᶜaqa) = "a spoon." Root ل-ع-ق, whose verb لَعِقَ (laᶜiqa) means "he licked, he lapped." A spoon is the thing you lap with. Two shapes now stand side by side, differing by one vowel:

- مَـ, the place shape: مَكْتَب (maktab), the place of writing; maṭᶜam, the place of eating.
- مِـ, the tool shape: mirʾāh, the thing you see with; مِلْعَقة (milᶜaqa), the thing you lap with.

Ma- builds a room. Mi- puts something in your hand.
Now the plurals this chapter has been circling.

Broken — the root re-poured, nothing added: أَكْواب (akwāb), aṭbāq, مَلاعِق (malāᶜiq), spoons.
Sound — an ending added, the word left intact. Arabic uses it for the ة words: قَهْوة gives قَهَوات (qahawāt), and ṣadīqa gives ṣadīqāt.
The rule of thumb: a noun in ة usually takes the added ending, and most other everyday nouns break. Milᶜaqa is the honest reminder that "usually" is doing work — it ends in ة and breaks anyway.
Milᶜaqa is built on this native root (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- mīm, lām, ᶜayn, qāf, tāʾ marbūṭa — "milᶜaqa," a spoon
- the verb under it — "laᶜiqa," he lapped
- the place shape — maktab, maṭᶜam
- the tool shape — mirʾāh, milᶜaqa
- the broken plurals — kūb with its breaking wāw gives akwāb; aṭbāq; malāᶜiq
- the sound plurals — qahwa gives qahawāt, ṣadīqa gives ṣadīqāt
- the tied tāʾ marking feminine — qahwa, ṣadīqa, ṭabaqa, milᶜaqa
- ask for each — "kūb, min faḍlik"; "ṭabaq, min faḍlik"; "milᶜaqa, min faḍlik"
- and the oil — zayt, whose Spanish child is aceite

Before you move on

What separates مَـ from مِـ? (Ma-* makes a place, mi-* a tool — maktab and maṭᶜam against mirʾāh and milᶜaqa.) What does ق-ع-ل mean? (To lap.) Name this chapter's broken plurals, and a sound one. (Akwāb, aṭbāq, malāᶜiq; qahawāt or ṣadīqāt.) What does the ة on milᶜaqa tell you? (Feminine — and unusually for a ة word, it still breaks.) Ask for a spoon politely. (Milᶜaqa, min faḍlik.)

36.5 The hand that holds the spoon

Pick up the spoon this chapter gave you and name the part of the body doing it. Then name the one at the other end. Both words came once, a long way back.

Across the family: the inherited stock

Arabic	meaning	Hebrew cousin
يد yad	hand	יד yad
رأس raʾs	head	ראש rosh
أب ab	father	אב av
أم umm	mother	אם em
أخ / أخت akh / ukht	brother / sister	אח ach

Neither language borrowed these from the other; both inherited them. يد has barely moved at all — two letters, one syllable, and its Hebrew cousin is said almost the same way after several thousand years.
أخت is أخ with one letter added. Set that beside the colour words, which needed a whole reshaped template to change gender, and the contrast is the point: the oldest words take the cheapest endings.

Why it's said this way

raʾīs, president or chief, is built on head with nothing borrowed — Arabic reached for its own oldest word, the way English reached for Latin caput to make capital and captain.
أم and أبو are still forming names today. Add a child's name and you have a kunya: mother of and father of, used as an honorific in ordinary speech.

Script: the two halves of the farewell

Write these out:

- مع — mīm, round head, joining left into ᶜayn
- السلامة — الـ, then sīn · lām · alif · mīm, then the tied ة

مع needed no new letters when you first wrote it. And السلامة is not a new word: it is الـ wrapped round the very first word you learned to draw, with a tied tāʾ closing it — the same ة that closes milᶜaqa, the spoon in your hand.

Your turn

- Say it: hand, head — yad, raʾs
- Say it: the four relatives — ab, umm, akh, ukht
- Recall: the word for president, and the body part underneath it

Before you move on

Name the word in this set that has changed least from its Hebrew cousin. (يد.) Say what separates أخ from أخت. (One added letter.) Name the letter that closes both السلامة and milᶜaqa. (ة, the tied tāʾ.) And give the chief built on the word for head. (raʾīs.)

Chapter 37

The Tense That Was Missing

Modes: 🚗 voice (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can put a verb in the present tense for myself with the أ- prefix, and I can say لا أفهم – 'I do not understand' – which is the sentence a beginner needs most and which this book was one form away from for six chapters.
>
> Eleven verbs taught as third-person past forms become first-person present forms, and each of them is then denied – so a reading list turns into a speaking stock on one prefix.

37.1 أكتب (aktub) — the tense that was missing

Eleven verbs in this book and every one of them is a past tense, third person, masculine: kataba, "he wrote." Nothing here has ever happened now, and nothing has ever happened to you.

You'll want to know: the أ- in front

كتب — kataba — he wrote · أكتب — aktub — I write

سأل — saʔala — he asked · أسأل — asʔal — I ask

The past tense marks who is speaking at the end of the word. The present marks it at the front, with a prefix, and أ is the prefix for I. Nothing is added at the back at all.

Grammar Lens: the front of the word, not the back

root	past, he	present, I
ب-ت-ك	كتب	أكتب
ل-أ-س	سأل	أسأل
ب-ب-ح	أحبّ	أحبّ

The third row is a warning as much as an example: أحبّ is he loved and I love on the page, and only the vowels tell them apart — aḥabba against uḥibb. Arabic does not usually write those vowels. Context does the work, and this is where a reader starts needing it.
That أ is old. Hebrew and Aramaic mark their first person the same way, at the front, with the same letter. It is older than either language.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the pair — kataba … aktub
- the second pair — saʔala … asʔal
- uḥibb — I love
- the one this book most needs, in romanization — afham, I understand

Before you move on

Where does the past tense mark the person, and where does the present? (Past at the end; present at the front.) Which letter is the prefix for I? (أ.) And why can أحبّ be read two ways? (The vowels that separate them are not written.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

37.2 لا أفهم (lā afham) — I do not understand

لا has been in this book since chapter five, named there as the word that negates a present-tense verb. The book had no present-tense verb until the lesson before this one.

- Recall: the item before this — the prefix that means I, on aktub

You'll want to know: لا أفهم

لا أفهم — lā afham — I do not understand.

Two words, and both halves were already in the book: لا from chapter five, and فهم — fahima, "he understood" — from chapter thirty-one. All that was missing was the prefix the last lesson taught.

لا goes in front of the verb, which is where the chapter-five lesson said it goes, and the verb keeps its own shape.

Grammar Lens: the same operation on every verb you own

said	means
أكتب	I write
لا أكتب	I do not write
لا أسأل	I do not ask

Nothing moves and nothing is added at the end. This is the operation a beginner uses more than any other, and this book could not perform it on any verb until this chapter.

One note on the page rather than the language: فاء, the letter in the middle of أفهم, has no lesson in this track's script ladder yet, so the sentence is printed whole here, in the lesson that owns it, and named in romanization wherever else it appears.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لا أفهم (lā afham) is built from lā, "not", an inherited negative, and afham, "I understand", the present tense of fahima on the native root f-h-m (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- lā afham
- the affirmative it denies — afham
- lā aktub … lā asˀal

Before you move on

Where does لا stand in relation to the verb? (In front of it.) Which two chapters supplied the halves of this sentence? (Five, for لا, and thirty-one, for فهم.) And what did the sentence need that neither of them had? (The present tense, from the lesson before this one.) Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

37.3 Now, and not

Two items landed in this chapter and one of them was a whole tense. Name the prefix, and name the sentence it unlocked.

Your turn

- Say it: three verbs in the past, as the book taught them — kataba, saʾala, fahima
- Say it: the same three in the present, for yourself — aktub, asʾal, afham
- Say it: each of them denied — lā aktub, lā asʾal, lā afham
- Recall: the very first verb this book taught, nine chapters back — dhahaba

Before you move on

Which end of the verb carries the person in the present tense? (The front.) Where does لا go? (In front of the whole verb.) And how many new words did lā afham need? (None — both halves were already taught, and only the tense was missing.)

Chapter 38

Two at Once

Modes: 🚗 voice (4) 👁 eyes (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first of 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can join two nouns with و, offer a choice with أو, turn a clause against the one before it with لكن, and accept what somebody said with حسنًا.
>
> The pantry and family of chapters 33-36 – tea, coffee, milk, sugar, salt, meat, cheese, food, a cup, a spoon, a son, a daughter, a neighbour, a friend – becomes combinable for the first time, joined, offered and turned.

38.1 و (wa-) — and

Chapter one taught the reply to the greeting and said of it: hear the little wa- at the front; it means and. That sentence taught nothing. This book has thirty-six chapters of vocabulary and has never joined two words.

You'll want to know: و

والحليب الشاي — ash-shāy wa-l-ḥalīb — the tea and the milk.

واللحم الملح — al-milḥ wa-l-laḥm — the salt and the meat.

One letter, and it is written joined to the word that follows it, never with a space after it. That is why it looks like part of the next word and why it has been on the page in front of you since chapter one without ever being a word you owned.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

و is the same conjunction Hebrew and Aramaic write with a single letter, in the same job, as far back as those languages are written. It is by a wide margin the commonest word in written Arabic: Arabic prose strings clauses with و where English would use a full stop, so a page of Arabic has far more ands in it than a page of English ever does.
Note that و is also the letter wāw, the long ū inside كوب and يوم. One shape, two jobs, told apart by whether it stands alone at the head of a word.
Wa is inherited from the Semitic parent language, a cousin of Hebrew wə-, "and".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ash-shāy wa-l-ḥalīb
- al-milḥ wa-l-laḥm
- three at once — ash-shāy wa-l-ḥalīb wa-s-sukkar
- the greeting reply that carried it all along — wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām

Before you move on

Is و written with a space after it? (No — it is joined to the word it introduces.) Which two languages write the same conjunction with the same single letter? (Hebrew and Aramaic.) And where has it been sitting since chapter one? (At the front of the greeting reply.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

38.2 أو (aw) — or

و gives somebody both things. Nothing in this book has ever made anybody choose.

- Recall: the joiner from the lesson before, and where it is written — wa-, joined on

You'll want to know: أو

الحليب أو الشاي — ash-shāy aw al-ḥalīb — the tea or the milk.

Unlike و, this one stands as its own word with a space on each side. It sits where و sits, between the two things, and nothing else in the sentence changes.

Look at the shape: أ — the hamza-carrying alif you know from أكل — followed by و, the letter that on its own means and. Arabic's two coordinators are one letter apart and mean opposite things.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أو is Semitic ʾaw, the same word Hebrew keeps. It is the whole apparatus a host needs: two nouns, أو between them, and the question particle a later lesson in this book will add. Until this lesson the corpus could name coffee, tea, milk and sugar and could not offer any one of them against another.
It is inherited from the Semitic parent language, a cousin of Hebrew ʾō, "or", and not built on a three-letter root.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ash-shāy aw al-qahwa
- the same pair joined instead of split — ash-shāy wa-l-qahwa
- and hear the difference — one hands you both, one makes you pick
- bi-sukkar aw bi-dūn — with sugar or without

Before you move on

Which joiner is written joined to the next word, and which stands apart? (و joins on; أو stands apart.) Which letter do they share? (و.) And which of them makes somebody choose? (أو.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

38.3 لكن (lākin) — but

Two joiners so far. One adds, one chooses, and neither of them can disagree with anything.

- Recall: the two items before this one — wa-, aw

You'll want to know: لكن

أكتب لا لكن أسمع — asma^c lākin lā aktub — I hear, but I do not write.

And with the sentence chapter thirty-seven built, whose verb carries a letter the script ladder has not reached: asma^c lākin lā afham, I hear, but I do not understand.

لا الحليب لكن حلو الشاي — ash-shāy ḥulw lākin al-ḥalīb lā — the tea is sweet but the milk is not.

و puts two clauses on the same side. لكن turns the second one against the first, and it stands at the head of the clause it turns.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

Look at the first two letters: لا, the negator this book taught in chapter five, with an old particle behind it. Arabic's but has a not inside it. English did the same thing by a different road. But is Old English be-ūtan, "be out, except" — and out is still visible in it if you look. Two unrelated languages built their adversative out of a word for leaving something aside.
In writing you will also meet لكنّ with a shadda, which takes a following noun in the accusative. The plain لكن in this lesson joins clauses and asks nothing of what follows.
Lākin is a native particle (Lane, under l-k-n); the grammarians differ over which old particle stands behind lā.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- asma^c lākin lā afham

- the same two clauses with the other joiner — asma^{c} wa-afham
- and hear what changed — the second clause no longer argues
- ash-shāy wa-l-ḥalīb … ash-shāy lākin lā al-ḥalīb

Before you move on

Which word is hiding at the front of لكن? (لا, the negator from chapter five.) Which English word was built the same way? (But, from be-ūtan, "be out.") And what does لكن do that و cannot? (Turn the second clause against the first.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

38.4 حسنًا (ḥasanan) — all right

نعم and لا answer a question. Neither of them says I am following you, and a conversation needs that more often than it needs an answer.

- Recall: the joiner from the lesson before, and the negator inside it — lākin

You'll want to know: حسنًا

حسنًا — ḥasanan — all right; fine; very well.

لكن حسنًا، … — ḥasanan, lākin … — all right, but …

The ending is one you have written twice already. شكرًا and ^{c}afwan wear the same ـًا, the two-stroke tanwīn over an alif that turns an Arabic adjective into an adverb. The root here is حَسَن, ḥasan, "good, beautiful." So ḥasanan is literally goodly.

Grammar Lens: agreeing, and half-agreeing said	does

نعم	answers a question
حسنًا	accepts what was said
لكن حسنًا، …	accepts, and then turns

The third row is the shape almost every real disagreement takes. A learner who can only say نعم or لا has to accept or refuse whole; this is the first thing in the book that lets them do neither.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حسنًا (ḥasanan) is ḥasan, "good", on the native root ḥ-s-n, "to be good, beautiful" (Lane), with the adverb ending -an: "well".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ḥasanan
- the three words with the same ending — shukran, ᶜafwan, ḥasanan
- the half-agreement — ḥasanan, lākin …

Before you move on

What does the ـًا ending do to an Arabic adjective? (Turns it into an adverb.) Which two words in this book already wear it? (شكرًا and ᶜafwan.) And what does حسنًا do that نعم does not? (Accepts what was said, without answering a question.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

38.5 Two at once

Three joiners landed in this chapter. Name them, and say for each one whether it adds, chooses, or turns — and which of the three is written joined to the word after it.

Your turn

- Say it: ash-shāy wa-l-qahwa, then ash-shāy aw al-qahwa
- Say it: the half-agreement — ḥasanan, lākin …
- Recall: five lessons back, the prefix that means I — on aktub

Your turn: the distant band — every noun in the pantry, two at a time

This is what the chapter actually bought. Chapters thirty-three to thirty-six taught a pantry and a family that could only ever be named one item at a time — and every one of them is now combinable. Take them two at a time, cold, from memory.

Say these aloud:

- the four drinks and their sweetener — ash-shāy wa-l-qahwa wa-l-ḥalīb wa-s-sukkar
- the same four as a choice, two at a time — shāy aw qahwa, ḥalīb aw sukkar
- what is on the table — al-milḥ wa-l-laḥm wa-l-jubn, and over it all aṭ-ṭaᶜām
- what you eat it with — kūb wa-milᶜaqa
- the people — ibn wa-bint, jār wa-ṣadīq
- one of each, turned — ash-shāy lākin lā al-qahwa

Before you move on

Which of this chapter's joiners has a negator inside it? (لكن.) Which one is a single letter with no space after it? (و.) And which word accepts what somebody said without answering a question? (حسنًا.)

38.6 How are you, joined up

Ask after a woman and answer as yourself, both parts. Then answer again using one of the joining words this chapter gave you.

The exchange

Say these aloud:

- ask a man, then a woman — kayfa ḥāluka? … kayfa ḥāluki?
- answer with both replies joined — bi-khayr wa-l-ḥamdu lillāh

- answer with a reservation — bi-khayr, lākin …
- accept what you hear — ḥasanan

For a long stretch this exchange could only be said one way, because there was nothing to join it with. This chapter is the first time the answer can carry two clauses.

Grammar Lens: what the question actually asks

English asks after you. Arabic asks after your حال — your state.
حال ḥāl is ḥāʾ · alif · lām, with the deep throat ḥ, and its root ḥ–w–l means to turn, to change. So the question is not are you well but how stands the thing about you that shifts.
كيف is the question word, partner to ما, and the phrase bolts three owned pieces together: how + state + your. There is no verb in it at all, exactly as there is none in the name sentence.

How to answer: two replies, both literal

reply	literally
بخير bi-khayr	in goodness — بـ (in) plus خير (good)
الحمد لله al-ḥamdu lillāh	the praise is to God — root ḥ–m–d, to praise

خير was hiding in the morning greeting long before it was named, and al-ḥamdu lillāh comes back more often in real speech than bi-khayr does. Neither is a polite noise: both say something, and both say it with a preposition glued to the front.

Before you move on

Give the root behind حال and its sense. (ḥ–w–l, to turn or change.) Give the literal reading of بخير. (In goodness.) Give the literal reading of الحمد لله. (The praise is to God.) And name the question word that partners كيف. (ما.)

Chapter 39

Denying, and Asking

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can deny a nominal sentence with ليس, a past-tense verb with ما and a present-tense verb with لا, refuse two things at once with لا … ولا, and turn any of them into a yes-or-no question with هل.
>
> Three negators sorted by the kind of sentence each one owns, then every one of them asked back with هل – so نعم and لا*, taught in chapter 5 as answers, finally have a question to answer.*

39.1 ليس (laysa) — is not

حسن اسمي — my name is Hasan — is a complete Arabic sentence with no verb in it, and it is the sentence shape this book teaches best. Try to deny it with لا and there is no verb for لا to stand in front of.

- Recall: the joiner two lessons back that has لا hiding inside it — lākin

You'll want to know: ليس

حسن ليس اسمي — ismī laysa Ḥasan — my name is not Hasan.

ماءً ليس الحليب — al-ḥalīb laysa māʾan — milk is not water.

Arabic leaves the present-tense is out. To deny a sentence that never had one, the language supplies a word that exists only for that job — and ليس is it.

Notice the ً on ماءً: ليس puts what follows it in the accusative, which is the one grammatical demand it makes and the reason its predicate wears a tanwīn where the affirmative would not.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

Arab grammarians read ليس as لا — the negator of chapter five — welded to أيس, an old word meaning there is. So the word began as there-is-not, and it still behaves like a verb: it takes person endings, even though nothing it denies is a verb. It is a fossil doing a job nothing else in the language does.
That reading is the grammarians' own, and comparison bears it out: Aramaic layt, "there is not", is likewise lā with an old word for "there is".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the affirmative, then the denial — ismī Ḥasan … ismī laysa Ḥasan
- al-ḥalīb laysa māʾan
- ash-shāy laysa ḥalīban

Before you move on

Why can a nominal sentence not be denied with لا? (There is no verb for لا to stand in front of — Arabic leaves is out.) What are the two pieces grammarians find inside ليس? (لا and أيس, there is.) And what does ليس do to the word after it? (Puts it in the accusative.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

39.2 ما (mā) — did not

لا denies a present-tense verb and ليس denies a sentence with no verb at all. Eleven verbs in this book are in the past, and neither of those two touches them.

- Recall: the item before this one, and what it demands of the word after it — laysa

You'll want to know: ما

كتب ما — mā kataba — he did not write.

أكل ما — mā akala — he did not eat.

Arabic uses a different word to negate the past from the one it uses for the present. لا in front of a past-tense verb is not a weaker sentence; it is the wrong word.

Grammar Lens: three negators, three kinds of sentence

negator	denies	example
لا	a present-tense verb	lā aktub
ما	a past-tense verb	mā kataba
ليس	a sentence with no verb	ismī laysa Ḥasan

That is the whole of A1 Arabic negation in three rows, and this chapter is where the second and third of them arrive.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

You have written these two letters before. اسمك ما — what is your name? — opens chapter two, and that ما means what. It is the same word. Semitic languages carry one very general particle that Arabic puts to work as what, as not, and as as long as, and only its position in the sentence tells you which one you are reading.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- kataba … mā kataba
- the present beside the past — lā aktub … mā kataba
- the two jobs of the same two letters — mā ismuka? … mā akala

Before you move on

Which negator goes with a past-tense verb, which with a present, and which with no verb? (ما, لا, ليس.) Which question word is spelled the same as this one? (ما, what.) And what tells the two apart? (Where they stand in the sentence.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

39.3 لا ... ولا ... — neither, nor

The last chapter taught the joiner that adds. This lesson uses it to refuse — which is the one place a coordinator and a negator arrive as a single written word.

- Recall: the negator of the past, from the lesson before — mā

You'll want to know: لا ... ولا ...

لا شاي ولا حليب — lā shāy wa-lā ḥalīb — neither tea nor milk.

One لا in front of the first thing, and ولا — the joiner و written onto a second لا — in front of the next. English needs two different words, neither and nor; Arabic uses the same word twice and glues the and onto the second.

Grammar Lens: the mirror of the joiner

said	means
والحليب الشاي	the tea and the milk
لا شاي ولا حليب	neither tea nor milk

The second line is the first with a لا put in front of each thing. Nothing else changes — and the definite article drops, because you are refusing tea in general rather than a particular cup of it.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- lā shāy wa-lā ḥalīb

- the affirmative it mirrors — ash-shāy wa-l-ḥalīb
- lā qahwa wa-lā sukkar

Before you move on

How many negators does neither … nor need in Arabic? (Two, and they are the same word.) What is welded onto the second one? (و, the joiner.) And what happens to the definite article? (It drops — the refusal is general.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

39.4 هل (hal) — a question is coming

نعم and لا were taught in chapter five as answers. Thirty-four chapters later this book still cannot ask the question they answer.

- Recall: the double refusal from the lesson before — lā shāy wa-lā ḥalīb

You'll want to know: هل

هل أنت بخير — hal anta bi-khayr? — are you well?

هل كتب — hal kataba? — did he write?

Put هل at the front of any statement and it becomes a yes-or-no question. Nothing else in the sentence moves — no word order changes, no ending changes.

Arabic needs the word. English asks by moving the verb in front of the subject; Bengali and Urdu ask by letting the voice rise. Written Arabic does neither: the particle carries the whole question, which is why a page of Arabic tells you a question is coming before you have read any of it.

Grammar Lens: what the particle replaces language	how a yes-or-no question is marked

English	the verb moves in front of the subject
Arabic	هل at the front, and nothing moves

A negative asks the same way, and that is the ordinary way to check something you suspect: hal laysa hunāka shāy? Answer either with نعم or with لا.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- hal anta bi-khayr? — and answer it naᶜam or lā
- hal kataba?
- the statement, then the question — anta bi-khayr … hal anta bi-khayr?

Before you move on

What moves when an Arabic statement becomes a yes-or-no question? (Nothing — هل goes at the front.) Why can it not be done with the voice alone, as in Bengali or Urdu? (Written Arabic marks it with a particle.) And which two words answer it? (نعم and لا, from chapter five.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

39.5 Denying, and asking

Arabic has three negators and each one owns a different kind of sentence. Name all three, and say what each one denies.

Your turn

- Say it: the verbless sentence denied — ismī laysa Ḥasan

- Say it: the past denied — mā kataba
- Say it: the present denied — lā aktub, and lā afham
- Say it: both refused at once — lā shāy wa-lā ḥalīb
- Say it: each of those asked back — put hal in front and change nothing else
- Recall: six lessons back, the word that accepts what was said — ḥasanan

Before you move on

Which negator would you use for حسن اسمي, which for كتب, and which for أكتب? (ليس, then ما, then لا.) What does هل ask of the sentence it fronts? (Nothing at all — it only marks it.)

39.6 Every way to leave, asked and denied

Give both farewells and what each one literally says. Then use this chapter's question particle to ask whether somebody is leaving, and its negator to answer that they are not.

The exchange

- Say it: the whole arc — greet, give your name, ask after them, part
- Say it: part with safety — maᶜa s-salāma
- Say it: part until the meeting — ilā l-liqāʾ
- Recall: the one root that opens the greeting and closes the farewell

Everything above stands on a handful of three-consonant roots, and the farewell uses the same one the first greeting did. s–l–m gives salām, salāma, islām, muslim — peace, safety, wholeness, one family.

Grammar Lens: with, until, and the pattern between them

مع maᶜa is mīm plus ᶜayn and means with. It is a preposition that stands apart — unlike الـ and بـ, which fasten onto the word after them. Its Hebrew cousin is ᶜim.

السلامة is الـ + salām + ة, and the middle piece has been poured into the pattern fa^{c}āla, which converts a thing into the state of that thing: peace becomes safety. Then the sun-letter rule bites, so الس is read as-, and the phrase is as-salāma, never al-salāma.

You'll want to know: until the meeting

إلى اللقاء is إلى (until) plus اللقاء (the meeting), root l–q–y, to meet. Arabic does not name the parting; it names the next meeting and points at it.

Spanish does the same thing with hasta luego, until later, and both leave the listener holding a future rather than an ending. The إ with its hamza below and the ق qāf both sit outside the writing set, so read them.

Before you move on

Give the three pieces of السلامة. (الـ + salām + ة.) Say whether مع attaches to the next word. (No.) Give the root inside اللقاء and its sense. (l–q–y, to meet.) And name the root that both opens and closes this book's first four chapters of speech. (s–l–m.)

Chapter 40

Why, That, and When

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 👁 eyes (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first of 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask why with لماذا, answer it with لأن, report what I write or think with أنّ, and put one event beside another in time with حينما.
>
> The first three-clause Arabic sentence in this track: an acceptance, an objection and a reason, built from حسنًا, لكن and لأن over the present tense of chapter 37.

40.1 لماذا (limādhā) — why

This book can ask what, how, how much and — since the last chapter — yes or no. It has never been able to ask for a reason.

- Recall: the particle from the lesson before, and what it moves — hal, and nothing

You'll want to know: لماذا

لماذا؟ — limādhā? — why?

It is a compound and every piece is recoverable: لـ, the preposition for, plus ماذا, what — which is itself ما plus ذا, this. Arabic's why is transparently for-what-this.

And the ما inside it is the same particle the last chapter taught as the negator of the past tense, and the same one chapter two taught as what in اسمك ما. Three jobs, one word, told apart by where it stands.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لماذا and هل are the two ends of Arabic questioning. هل asks for a yes or a no and adds no information; لماذا asks for a whole clause back, and the next lesson supplies the word that clause begins with.
The letter ذال in the middle of this word has no lesson in this track's script ladder yet, so the word is printed whole here, in the lesson that owns it, and named in romanization wherever else it appears.
Limādhā is built from li-, "for", and mādhā, "what": native particles with no borrowed part.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- limādhā? — on its own
- the question words this book now owns — mā, kayfa, kam, hal, limādhā
- the pieces it is built from — li- … mā … dhā

Before you move on

What are the three pieces of لماذا? (لـ for, ما what, ذا this.) Which of them has the book already taught twice, in two different jobs? (ما — what in chapter two, did not in chapter thirty-nine.) And what does لماذا ask for that هل does not? (A whole clause.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

40.2 لأن (li-anna) — because

The lesson before this taught the question. A question nobody can answer is worse than no question at all.

- Recall: the item before this, and the three pieces inside it — limādhā

You'll want to know: لأن

لا أكتب لأنني لا أسمع — lā aktub li-annanī lā asma^{c} — I am not writing because I do not hear.

Look at the first letter. limādhā opens with لـ, for, and so does this word — with أنّ, that, behind it instead of a question word. Arabic's why and because are one particle apart, and both are visibly built out of pieces rather than borrowed whole.

لأنّ needs a subject after it, so for I it becomes لأنني, li-annanī. That is one ending on one word, and it is the only thing the construction asks of you.

Grammar Lens: the claim, then the reason

head word	what follows it
لكن	an objection
لأن	a reason

Both stand at the head of the clause they govern, and both come after the claim they attach to. Put them in one sentence and you have the shape of an argument.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لأن (li-anna) is built from li-, "for", and anna, "that": "for that", hence "because". Both are inherited particles, not built on three-letter roots.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the question, then the answer word — limādhā? … li-anna
- lā aktub li-annanī lā asma^{c}
- an objection and a reason in one breath — ḥasanan, lākin … li-anna …

Before you move on

Which letter do limādhā and لأن share, and what does it mean? (لـ, for.) What follows it in each? (A question word in one, a complementiser in the other.) And which comes first, the claim or the reason? (The claim.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

40.3 أنّ (anna) — that fakkara — he thought — has been in this book since chapter thirty-two, and nobody has ever been able to say what they think.

- Recall: the reason word from the lesson before, and the piece behind its لـ — li-anna

You'll want to know: أنّ

جاري سامي أنّ أكتب — aktub anna Sāmī jārī — I write that Sami is my neighbour.

أنّ takes a whole sentence and makes it the object of a verb of writing, saying, knowing or thinking. Everything before it is the frame; everything after it is the reported thing.

You met it one lesson ago without being told: لأنّ is لـ plus this word. The shadda over the ن is the doubling mark, and it belongs to the word — this is anna, with the n doubled, not ana.

Grammar Lens: what follows it

The clause after أنّ is a nominal sentence — two nouns side by side, the shape chapter two taught — and أنّ puts the first of them in the accusative, in the same way ليس does to what follows it. Two particles, one grammatical habit, and it is worth seeing them together.
English lets that be dropped: I think it is good. Arabic does not.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- aktub anna Sāmī jārī
- the word it hides in — li-anna … anna
- with the verb from chapter thirty-two, in romanization — fakkara anna …

Before you move on

Where have you already read أنّ? (Inside لأنّ, in the lesson before.) What kind of clause follows it? (A nominal sentence, whose first noun goes into the accusative.) And can it be dropped, the way English drops that? (No.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

40.4 حينما (ḥīnamā) — when

أنّ hangs a sentence off a verb. This lesson's word hangs one off a moment.

- Recall: the complementiser from the lesson before — anna

You'll want to know: حينما

كتب جاء، حينما — ḥīnamā jāʾa, kataba — when he came, he wrote.

أكتب أسمع حينما — aktub ḥīnamā asmaᶜ — I write when I hear.

The clause it opens can come first or second, and Arabic marks the seam with a comma when it comes first — which is the same rule English follows and one of the few places the two languages punctuate alike.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حين is an ordinary noun meaning a time, a moment, and ما is the same general particle you have now met three times: as what in chapter two, as the past-tense negator in chapter thirty-nine, and inside limādhā in this chapter. Stuck onto حين it makes at-the-moment-that. Arabic writes another word here, ᶜindamā, built the same way on a preposition meaning at. It is the commoner of the two in modern prose and it needs a letter this track's script ladder has not reached, so it is named in romanization and left for a script lesson. حينما costs no new letters at all.
Ḥīn is built on the native root ḥ-y-n, "(of a time) to draw near" (Lane).

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ḥīnamā jāʾa, kataba
- the same joined the other way round — kataba ḥīnamā jāʾa
- aktub ḥīnamā asmaᶜ

Before you move on

What are the two pieces of حينما? (حين, a moment, and ما.) How many jobs has that ما now done in this book? (Three — what, did not, and this one.) And when does Arabic put a comma at the seam? (When the time clause comes first, as English does.) Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

40.5 Why, that, and when

Four items landed in this chapter and three of them share a piece with another. Name all four, and say which piece each one shares.

Your turn

- Say it: the question and its answer — limādhā? … li-anna …
- Say it: a reported thought — aktub anna Sāmī jārī
- Say it: a moment — ḥīnamā jāʾa, kataba
- Say it: the three-clause sentence — ḥasanan, lākin lā afham li-annanī lā asmaᶜ
- Recall: six lessons back, the particle that makes any statement a question — hal
- Recall: eleven lessons back, the joiner written with no space after it — wa-

Before you move on

Which two of this chapter's words begin with the same لـ? (limādhā and لأن.) Which particle sits inside لأن? (أنّ.) And which of the four hangs a clause off a moment rather than off a verb? (حينما.)

40.6 Words that carry their own reason

Name the plate and the spoon in Arabic and spell each one aloud. Then use this chapter's why and because to explain where the spoon got its name.

Why it's said this way

word, spelled out	root	what the root means
ملعقة milᶜaqa — mīm · lām · ᶜayn · qāf · ة	ل-ع-ق	he licked, he lapped
ṭabaq — ṭāʾ · bāʾ · qāf	ṭ-b-q	to cover, to fit over

So a spoon is the licking-thing and a plate is the covering-thing. Nothing in either word had to be learned as an arbitrary noise: the root says what the object is for, and the shape says it is an object. aṭbāq is the plural of ṭabaq, in the same broken shape as أكواب. One broken plural is a surprise; two in the same shape is a pattern, and a pattern is something you can use on the next word.

Your turn: because, and when

Say these aloud:

- ask why the spoon is called that, then answer — limādhā? … li-anna …
- until tomorrow — ilā l-ghad
- the other farewell built on the same word — ilā l-liqāʾ

إلى الغد is the same ilā, until, with a new word in the slot. And الغد has its reason inside it too: the root gh-d-w means to set out at dawn, so tomorrow in Arabic is named after the hour you begin it.

Why it's said this way

خير على تصبح is the everyday good night, and it says nothing about the night. Literally: may you wake up into goodness.
English, French, German and Spanish all wish the sleeper a quiet night. Arabic looks past the night to the far side of it — tuṣbiḥ carries the morning root, and خير is the goodness the wellbeing answer already uses. The phrase is built entirely from two things met long before bedtime came up.

How to answer: the word that erases what was owed ᶜafwan answers thanks as you are welcome, and the same word, on a different tone, means excuse me and pardon. The reason is the root ᶜ-f-w, to erase: a debt, an intrusion or a mistake, all wiped away by one word.

Before you move on

Say what the root under ملعقة means. (He licked.) Say what the root under الغد means. (To set out at dawn.) Give the literal wish inside خير على تصبح. (That you wake into goodness.) And give the root under ᶜafwan. (ᶜ-f-w, to erase.)

Chapter 41

Calling Somebody, and Asking Again

Modes: 🚗 voice (2) 👁 eyes (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first of 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can call somebody by name with يا, ask them to say it again with فضلك من كرّر, and run the whole first meeting of chapters one to four with the repair kit inside it.
>
> The greeting, name and wellbeing exchanges of chapters 1-4 – untouched for more than a hundred lessons – are run cold and then broken on purpose, so the learner uses عفوا, لا أفهم and فضلك من كرّر to get the conversation back.

41.1 يا (yā) — calling somebody

Chapter two taught you to give your name and to ask for somebody else's. Forty chapters later you still cannot call them by it.

- Recall: the time joiner from the lesson before — ḥīnamā

You'll want to know: يا

حسن يا — yā Ḥasan — Hasan! (calling him)

جار يا — yā jār — neighbour!

Arabic does not address a person with a bare name. حسن on its own is a statement about Hasan; يا حسن is speaking to him. The particle is not optional politeness — it is how the language marks the difference between naming somebody and calling them.

Two letters, both long since yours, and no ending changes on the name.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يا is pan-Semitic and English has no particle of its own to match it. The one place English reaches for something similar is old translation — O Lord, O Israel — where the O is standing in for exactly this. It sounds archaic in English and is entirely everyday in Arabic.
It goes before a title or a kin term as readily as before a name: يا ابن, يا بنت, yā ṣadīqī.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- yā Ḥasan
- yā jār … yā ṣadīqī
- the name alone, then called — Ḥasan … yā Ḥasan

Before you move on

What is the difference between حسن and يا حسن? (One names him; the other calls him.) Does the name change shape after it? (No.) And what does English use where Arabic uses يا? (Nothing, ordinarily — only O in old translation.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

41.2 فضلك من كرّر — say it again, please

Chapter thirty-seven gave you the first thing a lost learner says. Saying it only helps if you can also ask for the sentence back.

- Recall: the particle from the lesson before, and what it turns a name into — yā

You'll want to know: كرّر

كرّر — karrir — repeat.

فضلك من كرّر — karrir min faḍlik — say it again, please.

The please is not new: chapter six taught it. What is new is the verb, and the shape it comes in — this is the first command in the book, and Arabic builds one by stripping the present tense back to its bare stem.

Look at the shadda. كرّر doubles its middle letter, which is the same Form II shape as fakkara in chapter thirty-two — a pattern that means do it thoroughly, do it repeatedly. On the root ك-ر-ر, "to return", that gives exactly do it again.

Grammar Lens: the repair kit, whole

when	say
you did not follow	lā afham
you want it again	karrir min faḍlik
you are grateful for it	shukran

The inventory that measured this track said the repair kit was strong with one hole in it: sorry, excuse me, pardon, please and thank you were all taught, and I do not understand and say it again were not. Those two are what chapters thirty-seven and forty-one add, and between them they needed one new verb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فضلك من كرّر (karrir min faḍlik) is built from karrir, "repeat", the Form II command of the native root k-r-r, "to return" (Lane), and min faḍlik, "please", from faḍl, "favour", on f-ḍ-l.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- karrir
- karrir min faḍlik
- the whole kit in order — lā afham … karrir min faḍlik … shukran
- and get their attention first — yā Ḥasan, karrir min faḍlik

Before you move on

Which chapter taught the please in this sentence? (Six.) Which earlier verb wears the same doubled shape? (fakkara, chapter thirty-two.) And what does that shape add to a root? (Doing it thoroughly, or again.)
Source: Unicode Arabic chart.

41.3 Calling somebody, and asking again

Two items landed in this chapter: one gets somebody's attention and one asks them for the sentence back. Name both.

Your turn

- Say it: yā Ḥasan, karrir min faḍlik
- Say it: the reason you are asking — lā afham li-annanī lā asmaᶜ
- Recall: four lessons back, the particle that fronts a question — hal
- Recall: nine lessons back, the word that accepts what was said — ḥasanan
- Recall: five lessons back, ask why, then report the answer — limādhā? … aktub anna …
- Recall: ten lessons back, refuse both at once — lā shāy wa-lā ḥalīb

Your turn: the distant band — the first meeting, and what to do when it goes wrong

The exchange this book opened with was taught more than a hundred lessons ago and has not been asked for since. It is also the exact place a beginner loses the thread. Run it cold, and put the new chapter inside it.

Say these aloud:

- the greeting and its reply, and hear the و at the front of the reply — as-salāmu ᶜalaykum … wa-ᶜalaykum as-salām
- the name exchange — mā ismuka? … ismī … … tasharrafnā
- the wellbeing exchange — kayfa ḥāluka? … bi-khayr, al-ḥamdu li-llāh

- now lose the thread and rescue it — ᶜafwan, lā afham. karrir min faḍlik
- thank them, and close — shukran … maᶜa s-salāma

Before you move on

Five chapters ago this book could not say a verb in the present, deny a nominal sentence, join two nouns, ask a yes-or-no question, give a reason, or say that it had not understood. Say the sentence that was one tense away for thirty-one chapters. (lā afham.) Say what you ask next. (karrir min faḍlik.) And say how you get somebody's attention first. (yā* plus their name.)

41.4 Why you have to ask for it back

Name the three short-vowel marks and say whether ordinary text prints them. Then say what this chapter taught you to do when a word arrives without enough of it to go on.

Script: one bowl, four letters

letter	dots
ب bāʾ	one below
ن nūn	one above
ت tāʾ	two above
ث thāʾ	three above

One shallow boat-bowl, four letters. The dots are the letter, so a smudge or a bad line is not a small error — it is a different word. Two of the four build أنت: hamza-seated alif, then nūn, then tāʾ.

Script: the letter with three jobs

ي yāʾ is the same bowl with two dots below — a tooth when joined — and it does three jobs at once:

- the consonant y
- the long vowel ī

- the suffix ـي, meaning my
- Write it: اسم, then اسمي — alif · sīn · mīm, then the yāʾ

That one added letter is the whole difference between a name and my name, and it is the third job doing the work.

Grammar Lens: one unwritten vowel, two different words

The ḥarakāt are three marks written around a consonant, not letters: fatḥa above for a, kasra below for i, ḍamma above for u. Arabic is an abjad, so everyday text leaves them out — and here is what that costs.

shape	makes	example
مَـ ma-	a place	maktab, an office
مِـ mi-	a tool	mil^{c}aqa, a spoon

A place and a tool are separated by one mark that nobody prints. mil^{c}aqa is the licking-tool, from the root l-^{c}-q, and the only thing marking it as a tool rather than a licking-place is a vowel you have to know.

This is the honest reason the repair kit exists. When the vowels are missing and the context is thin, a reader guesses — and a listener asks.

Before you move on

Name the one feature separating ب ن ت ث. (The dots.) Give yāʾ's three jobs. (Consonant y, long vowel ī, the suffix meaning my.) Say whether the ḥarakāt appear in ordinary print. (No.) And say what separates مَـ from مِـ. (Ma-* makes a place, mi- a tool — one unwritten vowel.)

Chapter 42

Reading — Words, Lines, and a First Encounter

Modes: 👁 eyes (3) 🎧 Hands-free start: none of the 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can read familiar Arabic words without romanization, follow complete lines in right-to-left script, and understand a connected encounter from greeting through a choice to farewell.
>
> One complete Arabic encounter made only from previously taught forms and glyphs, with the script carrying greeting, names, a choice and farewell without a romanized line underneath.

42.1 (reading) — six old words, with the training wheels gone

You have heard, said and written every word below. Nothing here is new.

What is new is the empty space beneath each word. There is no romanized line to catch you. Let the Arabic carry its own sound.

Read this

حسنًا لا نعم شاي شكرًا سلام

Read it: the six words down once, right to left, without translating
Read it: the six words again
The first and third words stretch an ا into a long sound, while شكرًا and حسنًا share the little ـًا ending.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

Arabic letters change coat when they join, but they do not change identity. The ح in حسنًا is the same hook body you learned in خير; the word only asks you to recognize it at speed.
And لا is still the lām-alif pair from chapter five. Reading is not a new script lesson. It is trusting the shapes you already paid for.

Your turn

- Say it: the six words in order, once, without stopping

Twice through:

Before you move on

Which two words share the written ـًا ending? (حسنًا شكرًا.)
How many new Arabic words did you meet? (None.)

42.2 (reading) — six lines that already know each other

The last lesson gave you words standing alone. Now the words join other words, in the same way that the letters inside them join one another.

You have said every line. Read it: the Arabic first; let meaning arrive before any romanization does

Read this

عليكم السلام. السلام وعليكم. ما اسمك؟ اسمي سامي. شاي أو حليب؟ شاي.

Read it: all six lines once without stopping
Read it: the six lines again
The question mark tells you where a voice asks; the full stop tells you where it answers. Arabic puts its question mark the other way round — ؟ — because the line itself runs the other way.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سامي اسمي has no written word for is. The zero copula from chapter two is not missing ink; it is how an Arabic present-tense sentence works.
That is one gift of reading whole lines: the blank between ideas can carry grammar too. You already learned that blank by ear. Now you can see it.

Your turn

- Say it: the six lines in order, once, without stopping

Twice through:

Before you move on

Which two lines ask questions? (حليب؟ أو شاي اسمك؟ ما)
Where is is in سامي اسمي? (Nowhere on the page — Arabic does not need it here.)

42.3 (reading) — the first whole encounter

Six words, then six lines. Now one encounter, from its first peace to its last.

Every form has appeared before. The only new thing is holding all of them together without a romanized line underneath.

Read this

سامي يا مرحبًا. سامي اسمي اسمك؟ ما. السلام وعليكم. عليكم السلام
السلامة مع. شكرًا. حسنًا. نعم شاي؟ لا حليب؟ حليب؟ أو شاي

Read it: the whole encounter once; do not stop to translate a word — let each turn answer the turn before it
Read it: the encounter again for the hinge
The hinge is حليب؟ أو شاي One choice becomes two tiny questions, then a clear answer.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

A connected passage does not have to be one speaker's paragraph. Here the connection is the work each line does: greeting invites reply, a name invites welcome, and حليب؟ أو شاي opens a choice.
لا closes the first option. نعم accepts the second. حسنًا closes the choice, and شكرًا acknowledges it. The passage is connected by meaning before it is connected by grammar.
The first and last lines share م-ل-س. Arabic opens the encounter with peace and closes it with safety, so the oldest root in the book gives the whole reading a frame.

Your turn

- Say it: the whole encounter aloud, once, without stopping

Twice through:

Before you move on

Which line calls the learner by name? (سامي يا مرحبًا.)
Which drink is declined, and which is accepted? (حليب: لا. شاي: نعم.)
Which line closes the encounter? (السلامة مع.)

Chapter 43

Writing — My Own Line

Modes: ✓ pen (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: none (1 lesson).

> By the end of this chapter: I can write one line of Arabic about myself from a closed supply of known words, choosing not only the words but the shape each letter takes where it stands.
>
> Complete AR-W02-satri-al-khass: one line chosen rather than copied, with the joins checked before anything else.

43.1 My own line — the first writing with no model

Everything you have written so far had something to reach for.

This does not. You choose the words, from a supply that is closed: only what this book has taught you.

Writing — controlled composition

Write one line about yourself, right to left.

And here is the extra decision Arabic asks for that most scripts do not. A letter does not have one shape. It has up to four, and which one you write depends on where in the word it stands — alone, at the start, in the middle, at the end.

Copying hid that from you: the model already showed the right shape. Choosing your own words means choosing the shapes too, and a letter you have only ever copied in the middle of a word is a letter you may not yet be able to start one with.

Write the line. Then read it back and check the joins before you check anything else — a letter that should have connected and did not is the error a reader notices first.

Before you move on

How many shapes can one Arabic letter have? (Up to four.)
And what decides which one you write? (Where it stands in the word.)

Chapter 44

Writing — With A Clock

Modes: ✓ pen (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: none (1 lesson).

> By the end of this chapter: I can produce Arabic writing at my own ceiling inside the target's twenty-to-twenty-five minutes, knowing that the test adapts to what I write.
>
> Complete AR-W03-maa-al-saaa: twenty minutes at the top of what you can actually do, rather than a rehearsed answer to a paper that does not exist.

44.1 The same writing, with a clock

You wrote your own line with as long as you liked.

A task you can only do untimed is not yet a task you can do.

Writing — timed production

What the target publishes. The writing section runs 20 to 25 minutes and holds three prompts. Those numbers come out of `task-shapes/a1.json`.

Now the part that makes this different from every other timed paper, and it is worth knowing before the clock starts rather than during it: the test is adaptive. It chooses your next prompt from how you answered the last one. Two candidates sitting the same test do not see the same questions.

Three things follow, and they change how to practise rather than how to write:

One — there is no paper to rehearse. Memorising an answer buys nothing, because the question it answered may never be asked of you.

Two — a weak answer makes the next question easier, and an easier question caps the level you can be reported at. Guessing short to save time is not neutral here; it lowers the ceiling of everything after it.

Three — the result is not a pass mark. This test reports a separate benchmark level per skill and publishes no pass or fail. The A1 claim in this book is the project's own mapping, stated in the contract, not something the test awards.

Write for twenty minutes to one prompt of your choosing, at the top of what you can actually do. Stop when the time is up.

Before you move on

Did you write at your ceiling, or somewhere comfortably below it? On a fixed paper the difference costs you a few marks. On an adaptive one it costs you the questions you never got to see.

Chapter 45

Writing — Four Lines, And The Joiner That Is Not A Word

Modes: ✓ pen (2) 🚗 Hands-free start: neither of the 2 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can write four connected lines of Arabic to a named reader, attaching the and-joiner to the following word and giving a reason with the because-word.
>
> Complete AR-W04-arbaa-sutur: four lines to one reader, at least one joined with the attached and-letter and one reasoned, then check no space follows it.

45.1 Four lines, and the joiner that is not a separate word

The last lesson asked for writing finished on time. This one asks for writing that holds together.

Pick one person who will read it.

What to know first

Connected writing is not longer writing. Four short lines can be connected; one long line can fail to be. What makes it connected is that a sentence stops standing on its own.

You hold three joiners. و adds. لكن sets against. لأن gives the reason.

And the first of those does something the others do not. لكن and لأن stand as words, with space on both sides. و does not. It is written onto the front of the next word, with no space at all.

So in Arabic the join is not a word the eye can skip over on its way to the content. It is a letter the following word now begins with — the two things being joined are physically fastened, and a reader meets the joint before they meet the second thing.

A hand that leaves a space after و has not made a small typographic slip. It has written a letter that now belongs to nothing.

Writing — connected composition

Write four lines to the person you picked, right to left.

At least one must use و — attached, no space. At least one must use لأن.

Use only words you already write. This lesson adds no vocabulary; the whole exercise is the joining.

Before you move on

Cover your first line and read the second alone. Does it still make sense without the first? If it does, you wrote a list — which is where you were one lesson ago.
Then look at every و you wrote. Is there a space after it? There should not be.

45.2 The last page

> Write it: خير by hand, right to left Then say the one sentence that gets a lost conversation moving. Both were taught once, at opposite ends of this book.

Writing: the hook family, and the word it builds ج خ ح ح share one body: a rounded hook flowing into a tail that drops below the line. Only the dot tells them apart — ح has none, خ takes one above, ج one below.

Write these out:

- خير — khāʾ with its dot above, reaching left into yāʾ, then rā, and lift
- بخير — glue بـ on the front, one dot below, joining into the khāʾ

Nothing joins after ر, which is why the pen lifts. And خير is the word that was hiding inside the morning greeting before anyone told you it was there; adding بـ, in, turns good into the answer in goodness.

Script: the mark that is not a vowel

Say English uh-oh slowly and feel the catch between the halves. That catch is a glottal stop, and Arabic writes it as a real consonant: ء, the hamza. It is not one of the short-vowel marks. Sitting on an alif seat it becomes أ, which is how the word for you begins.

The short-vowel marks do something else entirely, and the clearest proof is the word for you: أنت is one consonant skeleton, and a single mark that ordinary print omits decides whether you have addressed أنتَ, a man, or أنتِ, a woman.

Your turn: the sentence to keep

فضلك من كرّر — karrir min faḍlik

Say these aloud:

- you have not understood, then ask for the sentence back — lā afham. karrir min faḍlik
- call somebody first, then ask — yā …, karrir min faḍlik

Of everything in this book, that is the line to carry out of it. The marks Arabic leaves off the page are the ones a beginner most needs, so a beginner will miss words — and the fix is not a better memory. It is four syllables asking for another pass.

Before you move on

Say whether hamza is a vowel mark and what it writes. (No — a glottal stop.) Say what tells ح, خ and ج apart. (The dot — none, one above, one below.) Say what بـ adds to خير. (In — in goodness.) And give the sentence that rescues a conversation. (Karrir min faḍlik.)

Chapter 46

Letters From Your First Greetings

Modes: ✓ pen (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: none of the 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can write shin, sad and dal, and find each one in a greeting or thanks I have said since the first chapters.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 46: I can write shin, sad and dal, and find each one in a greeting or thanks I have said since the first chapters.

46.1 ش (shīn) — the letter that opens شكرا

Before the new one: write ع and ه once each, and name them.

Now say شكرا (shukran), "thank you". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ش

ش — shīn, the sound sh.

It opens شكرا (shukran), "thank you", one of the first words in this book. You already write س (sīn): three small teeth and a bowl. ش is the same body with three dots above. One skeleton, and the dots decide the sound.

Writing: ش

How ش is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: shape the three close teeth from right to left
- 2. flow directly into the final bowl without lifting
- 3. lift, then place the lower-left dot
- 4. lift again, then place the lower-right dot
- 5. lift a third time, then place the centered upper dot — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 3.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: س ش ص ض, independent Shiin at 00:00.7–00:03.0 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023).

Your turn

- Look: at شكرا and point at ش inside it
- Trace it: ش three times, saying sh as you finish each one
- Write it: ه, then ش, from memory
- Read it: شكرا aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ش? (shīn, sh.) Which word did it come from? (شكرا, shukran, "thank you".)

46.2 ص (ṣād) — the letter that opens صباح

Before the new one: write ه and ش once each, and name them.

Now say صباح الخير (ṣabāḥ al-khayr), "good morning". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ص

ص — ṣād, a heavy s.

It opens صباح الخير (ṣabāḥ al-khayr), "good morning". Say ṣabāḥ and feel the tongue press low and the back of the mouth widen: that heaviness is what the dot under the romanization (ṣ) marks. The letter is a closed oval with a bowl trailing after it.

Writing: ص

How it is written — 2 strokes · 1 pen lift · 3 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: س ش ص ض, independent Saad at 00:01.1–00:03.3 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ص is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: close the oval clockwise from its lower-left junction
- 2. turn left and rise into the short shoulder without lifting
- 3. lift, restart at the baseline junction, and sweep through the trailing bowl — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 1.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: ض ص ش س, independent Saad at 00:01.1–00:03.3 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023).

Your turn

- Look: at الخير صباح and point at ص inside it
- Trace it: ص three times, saying ṣ as you finish each one
- Write it: ش, then ص, from memory
- Read it: الخير صباح aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ص? (ṣād, ṣ.) Which word did it come from? (الخير صباح, ṣabāḥ al-khayr, "good morning".)

46.3 د (dāl) — the letter that ends الحمد

Before the new one: write ش and ص once each, and name them.

Now say لله الحمد (al-ḥamdu lillāh), "praise be to God". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: د

د — dāl, the sound d.

It closes الحمد in لله الحمد (al-ḥamdu lillāh), the everyday answer to "how are you?". د is a non-connector, like ا and ر: it joins to the letter before it but never to the one after, so a small gap always follows it.

Writing: د

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: د ذ ر, independent Daal at 00:07.0–00:07.6 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How د is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: begin at the upper tip and descend diagonally down and right through the curved shoulder
- 2. turn left along the baseline without lifting — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 0. The pen never leaves the paper.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: د ذ ر, independent Daal at 00:07.0–00:07.6 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023).

Your turn

- Look: at الحمد لله and point at د inside it
- Trace it: د three times, saying d as you finish each one
- Write it: ص, then د, from memory
- Read it: الحمد لله aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — د? (dāl, d.) Which word did it come from? (لله الحمد, al-ḥamdu lillāh, “praise be to God”.)

Chapter 47

Letters From Goodbyes and Pardons

Modes: ✓ pen (4) 🚗 Hands-free start: none of the 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can write alif with hamza below, alif maqsura, fa and qaf, and find each one in a goodbye or a pardon I already say.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 47: I can write alif with hamza below, alif maqsura, fa and qaf, and find each one in a goodbye or a pardon I already say.

47.1 إ (alif with hamza below) — the alif that opens إلى

Before the new one: write ص and د once each, and name them.

Now say اللقاء إلى (ilā l-liqāʾ), "see you". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: إ

إ — alif with a hamza below, read i at the start of a word.

It opens إلى (ilā), "until", in اللقاء إلى (ilā l-liqāʾ), "see you". You already write ا and the hamza ء. Put the small hamza under the alif and the word opens on i; put it over the alif (أ) and it opens on a or u.

Writing: إ

Put your pen on إ and follow its line. Copy the shape you can see — slowly, and larger than it is printed.

> This book does not yet tell you where to start this character or which way to travel. It is not written down here until it can be written down with a source. Copying what is in front of you needs no such source, and it is how the shape gets into your hand in the meantime.

Your turn

- Look: at اللقاء إلى and point at إ inside it
- Trace it: إ three times, saying i as you finish each one
- Write it: د, then إ, from memory
- Read it: اللقاء إلى aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — إ? (alif with hamza below, i.) Which word did it come from? (اللقاء إلى, ilā l-liqāʾ, "see you".)

47.2 ى (alif maqṣūra) — the letter that ends إلى

> Before the new one: write د and إ once each, and name them.
>
> Now say اللقاء إلى (ilā l-liqāʾ), "see you". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ى

ى — alif maqṣūra, a long ā at the very end of a word.

It ends إلى (ilā) in اللقاء إلى. It looks like ي with its two dots taken away, and that is the whole trick: no dots, no y. It only ever stands at the end of a word, and there it is read as a long ā.

Writing: ى

How ى is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: curve from above the baseline through the upper half of the S
- 2. without lifting, continue through the wide flat lower curve and finish near the baseline — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 0. The pen never leaves the paper.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Arabic Language Learning Notes, Learn How to Write Arabic Letters — Basic Naskh: Alif Maqsura ى, isolated form and stroke order (updated 2025-01-29; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at اللقاء إلى and point at ى inside it
- Trace it: ى three times, saying ā as you finish each one

- Write it: إ, then ى, from memory
- Read it: اللقاء إلى aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ى? (alif maqṣūra, ā.) Which word did it come from? (اللقاء إلى, ilā l-liqāʾ, "see you".)

47.3 ف (fāʾ) — the letter inside عفوا

Before the new one: write إ and ى once each, and name them.

Now say عفوا (ʿafwan), "you're welcome". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ف

ف — fāʾ, the sound f.

It is the second letter of عفوا (ʿafwan), "you're welcome". The letter is a small closed head on a broad bowl, with one dot above.

Writing: ف

How it is written — 2 strokes · 1 pen lift · 3 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ق ف, independent Faa at 00:01.7–00:03.3 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ف is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: loop counterclockwise around the small closed head
- 2. continue left through the broad bowl without lifting
- 3. lift once, then place the upper dot last — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 1.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ف ق, independent Faa at 00:01.7–00:03.3 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at عفوا and point at ف inside it
- Trace it: ف three times, saying f as you finish each one
- Write it: ى, then ف, from memory
- Read it: عفوا aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ف? (fāʔ, f.) Which word did it come from? (عفوا, ᶜafwan, "you're welcome".)

47.4 ق (qāf) — the letter inside اللقاء

Before the new one: write ى and ف once each, and name them.

Now say إلى اللقاء (ilā l-liqāʔ), "see you". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ق

ق — qāf, a k made far back in the throat.

It is inside اللقاء (al-liqāʾ), "the meeting", in إلى اللقاء. Its head is the same as ف, which you wrote in the last lesson, but it carries two dots and, standing alone, its bowl dips deeper, below the line.

Writing: ق

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ق ف, independent Qaf at 00:01.5–00:03.5 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ق is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: loop counterclockwise around the small closed head
- 2. continue down and left through the deep bowl without lifting
- 3. lift once, then place the upper-right dot
- 4. lift again, then place the upper-left dot — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 2.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ق ف, independent Qaf at 00:01.5–00:03.5 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at إلى اللقاء and point at ق inside it
- Trace it: ق three times, saying q as you finish each one
- Write it: ف, then ق, from memory
- Read it: إلى اللقاء aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ق? (qāf, q.) Which word did it come from? (إلى اللقاء, ilā l-liqāʾ, "see you".)

Chapter 48

Letters From Please, Sorry and Tomorrow

Modes: ✓ pen (4) 🚗 Hands-free start: none of the 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can write dad, alif madda, zay and ghayn, and find each one in a word I already say.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 48: I can write dad, alif madda, zay and ghayn, and find each one in a word I already say.

48.1 ض (ḍād) — the letter inside فضلك

Before the new one: write ف and ق once each, and name them.

Now say فضلك من (min faḍlik), "please". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ض

ض — ḍād, a heavy d.

It is inside فضلك من (min faḍlik), "please". It is ص (ṣād), which you already write, with one dot above. Arabic is sometimes called the language of the ḍād, because the sound is so rare in other languages.

Writing: ض

How ض is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: close the oval clockwise from its lower-left junction
- 2. turn left and rise into the short shoulder without lifting
- 3. lift, restart at the baseline junction, and sweep through the trailing bowl
- 4. lift again, then place the upper dot last — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 2.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: س ش ص ض, independent Daad at 00:43.1–00:46.3 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023).

Your turn

- Look: at فضلك من and point at ض inside it
- Trace it: ض three times, saying ḍ as you finish each one
- Write it: ق, then ض, from memory
- Read it: فضلك من aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ض? (ḍād, ḍ.) Which word did it come from? (فضلك من, min faḍlik, "please".)

48.2 آ (alif madda) — the alif that opens آسف

Before the new one: write ق and ض once each, and name them.

Now say آسف (āsif), "sorry". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: آ

آ — alif with a madda, a long ā at the start of a word.

It opens آسف (āsif), "sorry". The wavy stroke on top, the madda, stretches the vowel: where a plain ا at the start of a word needs a hamza to say a, آ says a long ā.

Writing: آ

Put your pen on آ and follow its line. Copy the shape you can see — slowly, and larger than it is printed.

> This book does not yet tell you where to start this character or which way to travel. It is not written down here until it can be written down with a source. Copying what is in front of you needs no such source, and it is how the shape gets into your hand in the meantime.

Your turn

- Look: at آسف and point at آ inside it
- Trace it: آ three times, saying ā as you finish each one
- Write it: ض, then آ, from memory
- Read it: آسف aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — آ? (alif madda, ā.) Which word did it come from? (آسف, āsif, "sorry".)

48.3 ز (zāy) — the letter inside أزرق

Before the new one: write ض and آ once each, and name them.

Now say أزرق (azraq), "blue". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ز

ز — zāy, the sound z.

It is inside أزرق (azraq), "blue", from أزرق أحمر. It is ر (rāʾ), which you already write, with one dot above, and like ر it never joins to the letter after it.

Writing: ز

How it is written — 2 strokes · 1 pen lift · 3 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ر ز و, independent Zay body followed by its upper dot (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ز is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: begin at the upper tip and descend through the short stroke
- 2. without lifting, sweep left through the lower curve without lifting
- 3. lift once, then place the dot above — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 1.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet و ز ر, independent Zay body followed by its upper dot (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at أزرق and point at ز inside it
- Trace it: ز three times, saying z as you finish each one
- Write it: آ, then ز, from memory
- Read it: أزرق aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ز? (zāy, z.) Which word did it come from? (أزرق, azraq, "blue".)

48.4 غ (ghayn) — the letter inside الغد

Before the new one: write آ and ز once each, and name them.

Now say إلى الغد (ilā l-ghad), "see you tomorrow". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: غ

غ — ghayn, a gh gargled at the back of the throat.

It is inside إلى الغد (ilā l-ghad), "see you tomorrow". It is ع (ʿayn), which you already write, with one dot above, the third family where a single dot turns one sound into another.

Writing: غ

How it is written — 2 strokes · 1 pen lift · 3 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ع غ, independent Ghayn at 00:02.4–00:04.0 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How غ is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: sweep left from the upper-right tip and shape the open head
- 2. continue down and around the lower bowl without lifting
- 3. lift once, then place the upper dot last — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 1.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ع غ, independent Ghayn at 00:02.4– 00:04.0 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at إلى الغد and point at غ inside it
- Trace it: غ three times, saying gh as you finish each one
- Write it: ز, then غ, from memory
- Read it: إلى الغد aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — غ? (ghayn, gh.) Which word did it come from? (إلى الغد, ilā l-ghad, "see you tomorrow".)

Chapter 49

Letters From Food, Noon and Going

Modes: 👁 eyes (2) ✓ pen (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: none of the 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can write ta, za and dhal, and I have now written every letter the words of this book use.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 49: I can write ta, za and dhal, and I have now written every letter the words of this book use.

49.1 ط (ṭāʾ) — the letter that opens طعام

Before the new one: write ز and غ once each, and name them.

Now say طعام (ṭaᶜām), "food". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ط

ط — ṭāʾ, a heavy t.

It opens طعام (ṭaᶜām), "food". A closed oval on the line, and a tall upright drawn last, from the top down.

Writing: ط

How it is written — 2 strokes · 1 pen lift · 3 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ط ظ, independent emphatic Taa at 00:01.2–00:03.0 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ط is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: loop counterclockwise around the closed oval
- 2. finish left along the baseline without lifting
- 3. lift once, then draw the tall upright top-to-bottom — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 1.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ط ظ, independent emphatic Taa at 00:01.2–00:03.0 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at طعام and point at ط inside it
- Trace it: ط three times, saying ṭ as you finish each one
- Write it: غ, then ط, from memory

- Read it: طعام aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ط? (ṭāʾ, ṭ.) Which word did it come from? (طعام, ṭaᶜām, "food".)

49.2 ظ (ẓāʾ) — the letter inside الظهر

Before the new one: write غ and ط once each, and name them.

Now say الظهر (aẓ-ẓuhr), "noon". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ظ

ظ — ẓāʾ, a heavy dh.

It is inside الظهر (aẓ-ẓuhr), "noon". It is ط, from the last lesson, with one dot above.

Writing: ظ

How it is written — 3 strokes · 2 pen lifts · 4 movements

Stroke order after Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ط ظ, independent emphatic DHaa at 00:01.3–00:02.8 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23)
This order is attested, not standardised; the source records where it varies.

How ظ is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: loop counterclockwise around the closed oval
- 2. finish left along the baseline without lifting

- 3. lift once, then place the upper dot
- 4. lift again, then draw the tall upright top-to-bottom — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 2.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet ط ظ, independent emphatic DHaa at 00:01.3–00:02.8 (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-23).

Your turn

- Look: at الظهر and point at ظ inside it
- Trace it: ظ three times, saying ẓ as you finish each one
- Write it: ط, then ظ, from memory
- Read it: الظهر aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ظ? (ẓāʾ, ẓ.) Which word did it come from? (الظهر, aẓ-ẓuhr, "noon".)

49.3 ذ (dhāl) — the letter that opens ذهب

Before the new one: write ط and ظ once each, and name them.

Now say ذهب (dhahaba), "he went". You have read it for a long time. This lesson takes one letter out of it and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ذ

ذ — dhāl, the th of English "this".

It opens ذهب (dhahaba), "he went", the first verb in this book. It is د (dāl) with one dot above, and like د it never joins to the letter after it.

Writing: ذ

How ذ is written, stroke by stroke

- 1. start here: begin at the upper tip and descend diagonally down and right through the curved shoulder
- 2. turn left along the baseline without lifting
- 3. lift once, then place the dot above — and only now lift

Pen lifts: 1.

Stroke order is one attested teaching order; hands and teachers vary. Source: Introduction to Arabic: Egyptian Arabic for first-year students, Alphabet: د ذ ر, independent Dhaal body followed by its upper dot (University of Oregon Libraries Open Textbook, 2023; accessed 2026-08-21).

Your turn

- Look: at ذهب and point at ذ inside it

- Trace it: ذ three times, saying dh as you finish each one
- Write it: ظ, then ذ, from memory
- Read it: ذهب aloud once more

Before you move on

Which letter is this — ذ? (dhāl, dh.) Which word did it come from? (ذهب, dhahaba, "he went".)

49.4 (fourteen letters) — Fourteen letters, fourteen words — a first pass

Write the letter that opens شكرا, then the one that opens صباح.

Your turn

letter	name	the word it came from
ش	shīn	شكرا shukran
ص	ṣād	صباح الخير ṣabāḥ al-khayr
د	dāl	الحمد لله al-ḥamdu lillāh
إ	alif with hamza below	إلى اللقاء ilā l-liqāʾ
ى	alif maqṣūra	إلى اللقاء ilā l-liqāʾ
ف	fāʾ	عفوا ᶜafwan
ق	qāf	إلى اللقاء ilā l-liqāʾ
ض	ḍād	من فضلك min faḍlik
آ	alif madda	آسف āsif
ز	zāy	أزرق azraq
غ	ghayn	إلى الغد ilā l-ghad
ط	ṭāʾ	طعام ṭaᶜām
ظ	ẓāʾ	الظهر aẓ-ẓuhr
ذ	dhāl	ذهب dhahaba

- Write it: each letter in the table from memory, then check it
- Say it: the word each one came from

- Write it: the four one-dot pairs side by side: ذ د, ز ر, ض ص, ظ ط

Before you move on

Which letters here never join to the letter after them? (ز ذ د, and the alifs إ آ.)

49.5 (fourteen letters) — From the word back to the letter — a second pass

Say ilā l-liqāʾ, then write the three new letters it holds.

Your turn

letter	name	the word it came from
ش	shīn	شكرا shukran
ص	ṣād	الخير صباح ṣabāḥ al-khayr
د	dāl	لله الحمد al-ḥamdu lillāh
إ	alif with hamza below	اللقاء إلى ilā l-liqāʾ
ى	alif maqṣūra	اللقاء إلى ilā l-liqāʾ
ف	fāʾ	عفوا ᶜafwan
ق	qāf	اللقاء إلى ilā l-liqāʾ
ض	ḍād	فضلك من min faḍlik
آ	alif madda	آسف āsif
ز	zāy	أزرق azraq
غ	ghayn	الغد إلى ilā l-ghad
ط	ṭāʾ	طعام ṭaᶜām
ظ	ẓāʾ	الظهر aẓ-ẓuhr
ذ	dhāl	ذهب dhahaba

- Say it: each word in the table, then write the letter it gave you without looking
- Write it: ف beside ق, and ع beside غ, and say how each pair differs
- Write it: ى beside ي, and إ beside آ

Before you move on

Which letter only ever ends a word? (ى, alif maqṣūra.) Which dot pattern makes ش from س? (Three dots above.)

Chapter 50

Eye, Ear, Nose, Mouth, Tooth

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an eye, an ear, a nose, a mouth and a tooth.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 50: I can say an eye, an ear, a nose, a mouth and a tooth.

50.1 عين (ᶜayn) — an eye

Before the new one: say the Arabic for because, then the Arabic for when.

You'll want to know: عين

عين — ᶜayn — "an eye".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عين (ᶜayn) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-y-n, "an eye; a spring of water" (Lane). The letter ᶜayn carries the same name, and Hebrew ᶜayin, "eye", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜayn
- Say it: ᶜayn, once more
- Say it: say ᶜayn
- Recall: say the Arabic for because, then the Arabic for when, then say ᶜayn again

Before you move on

What does عين mean? ("An eye".) Say it once more.

50.2 أذن (udhun) — an ear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for when, then the Arabic for an eye.

You'll want to know: أذن

أذن — udhun — "an ear".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أذن (udhun) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-dh-n, "the ear; to listen" (Lane). The call to prayer, adhān, is built on the same root; Hebrew ʾozen, "ear", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: udhun
- Say it: udhun, once more
- Say it: say udhun
- Recall: say the Arabic for when, then the Arabic for an eye, then say udhun again

Before you move on

What does أذن mean? ("An ear".) Say it once more.

50.3 أنف (anf) — a nose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eye, then the Arabic for an ear.

You'll want to know: أنف

أنف — anf — "a nose".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنف (anf) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-n-f, "the nose" (Lane). An old Semitic noun: Hebrew ʾaf, "nose", is usually counted its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: anf
- Say it: anf, once more
- Say it: say anf
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eye, then the Arabic for an ear, then say anf again

Before you move on

What does أنف mean? ("A nose".) Say it once more.

50.4 فم (fam) — a mouth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ear, then the Arabic for a nose.

You'll want to know: فم

فم — fam — "a mouth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فم (fam) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-h, "the mouth" (Lane). Lane gives fam as the short form of fūh; Hebrew pe, "mouth", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fam
- Say it: fam, once more
- Say it: say fam
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ear, then the Arabic for a nose, then say fam again

Before you move on

What does فم mean? ("A mouth".) Say it once more.

50.5 سن (sinn) — a tooth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nose, then the Arabic for a mouth.

You'll want to know: سن

سن — sinn — "a tooth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سن (sinn) is built on the native Arabic root s-n-n, "a tooth" (Lane). Hebrew shen, "tooth", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sinn
- Say it: sinn, once more
- Say it: say sinn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nose, then the Arabic for a mouth, then say sinn again

Before you move on

What does سن mean? ("A tooth".) Say it once more.

Chapter 51

Hair, Foot, Finger, Shoulder, Neck

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say hair, a foot, a finger, a shoulder and the neck.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 51: I can say hair, a foot, a finger, a shoulder and the neck.

51.1 شعر (sha^{c}r) — hair

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mouth, then the Arabic for a tooth.

You'll want to know: شعر

شعر — sha^{c}r — "hair".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شعر (sha^{c}r) is built on the native Arabic root sh-^{c}-r, "hair; to perceive" (Lane). The same root gives shi^{c}r, "poetry"; Hebrew se^{c}ar, "hair", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sha^{c}r
- Say it: sha^{c}r, once more
- Say it: say sha^{c}r
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mouth, then the Arabic for a tooth, then say sha^{c}r again

Before you move on

What does شعر mean? ("Hair".) Say it once more.

51.2 قدم (qadam) — a foot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tooth, then the Arabic for hair.

You'll want to know: قدم

قدم — qadam — "a foot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قدم (qadam) is built on the native Arabic root q-d-m, "to go before, to precede" (Lane). Lane gives qadam, the foot, under this root, which also gives qadīm, "old".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qadam
- Say it: qadam, once more
- Say it: say qadam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tooth, then the Arabic for hair, then say qadam again

Before you move on

What does قدم mean? ("A foot".) Say it once more.

51.3 إصبع (iṣba^c) — a finger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hair, then the Arabic for a foot.

You'll want to know: إصبع

إصبع — iṣba^c — "a finger".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إصبع (iṣba^c) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-^{c}, "a finger" (Lane). Hebrew etsba^c, "finger", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣba^c
- Say it: iṣba^c, once more
- Say it: say iṣba^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for hair, then the Arabic for a foot, then say iṣba^c again

Before you move on

What does إصبع mean? ("A finger".) Say it once more.

51.4 كتف (katif) — a shoulder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a foot, then the Arabic for a finger.

You'll want to know: كتف

كتف — katif — "a shoulder".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كتف (katif) is built on the native Arabic root k-t-f, "the shoulder, the shoulder-blade" (Lane). Hebrew katef, "shoulder", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: katif
- Say it: katif, once more
- Say it: say katif
- Recall: say the Arabic for a foot, then the Arabic for a finger, then say katif again

Before you move on

What does كتف mean? ("A shoulder".) Say it once more.

51.5 رقبة (raqaba) — the neck

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a finger, then the Arabic for a shoulder.

You'll want to know: رقبة

رقبة — raqaba — "the neck".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رقبة (raqaba) is built on the native Arabic root r-q-b, "the neck; to watch over" (Lane). The verb raqaba, "to watch", sits under the same root in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raqaba
- Say it: raqaba, once more
- Say it: say raqaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a finger, then the Arabic for a shoulder, then say raqaba again

Before you move on

What does رقبة mean? ("The neck".) Say it once more.

Chapter 52

Face, Blood, Knee, Back, Heart

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a face, blood, a knee, the back and the heart.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 52: I can say a face, blood, a knee, the back and the heart.

52.1 وجه (wajh) — a face

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shoulder, then the Arabic for the neck.

You'll want to know: وجه

وجه — wajh — "a face".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وجه (wajh) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-h, "the face; to face toward" (Lane). The same root gives ittijāh, "a direction", the way one faces.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wajh
- Say it: wajh, once more
- Say it: say wajh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shoulder, then the Arabic for the neck, then say wajh again

Before you move on

What does وجه mean? ("A face".) Say it once more.

52.2 دم (dam) — blood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the neck, then the Arabic for a face.

You'll want to know: دم

دم — dam — "blood".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دم (dam) is built on the native Arabic root d-m-y, "blood" (Lane). An old Semitic noun: Hebrew dam, "blood", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dam
- Say it: dam, once more
- Say it: say dam
- Recall: say the Arabic for the neck, then the Arabic for a face, then say dam again

Before you move on

What does دم mean? ("Blood".) Say it once more.

52.3 ركبة (rukba) — a knee

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a face, then the Arabic for blood.

You'll want to know: ركبة

ركبة — rukba — "a knee".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركبة (rukba) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-b, "to ride, to mount" (Lane). Rukba is the knee; the verb rakiba, "to ride", is on the same root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rukba
- Say it: rukba, once more
- Say it: say rukba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a face, then the Arabic for blood, then say rukba again

Before you move on

What does ركبة mean? ("A knee".) Say it once more.

52.4 ظهر (ẓahr) — the back

Before the new one: say the Arabic for blood, then the Arabic for a knee.

You'll want to know: ظهر

ظهر — ẓahr — "the back".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظهر (ẓahr) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-h-r, "the back; to appear, to be outward" (Lane). The same root gives ẓuhr, "noon", when the sun stands out plainly.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓahr
- Say it: ẓahr, once more
- Say it: say ẓahr
- Recall: say the Arabic for blood, then the Arabic for a knee, then say ẓahr again

Before you move on

What does ظهر mean? ("The back".) Say it once more.

52.5 قلب (qalb) — the heart

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a knee, then the Arabic for the back.

You'll want to know: قلب

قلب — qalb — "the heart".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلب (qalb) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-b, "to turn over, to turn about" (Lane). Lane reports that the heart is said to be named for its turning about; both are under q-l-b.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qalb
- Say it: qalb, once more
- Say it: say qalb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a knee, then the Arabic for the back, then say qalb again

Before you move on

What does قلب mean? ("The heart".) Say it once more.

Chapter 53

Fever, Hospital, Ill, Pain, Medicine

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a fever, a hospital, ill, sick, pain and medicine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 53: I can say a fever, a hospital, ill, sick, pain and medicine.

53.1 حمى (ḥummā) — a fever

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the back, then the Arabic for the heart.

You'll want to know: حمى

حمى — ḥummā — "a fever".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمى (ḥummā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-m, "to be hot, to heat" (Lane). Fever is named on the root of heat, like ḥammām, "a hot bath".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥummā
- Say it: ḥummā, once more
- Say it: say ḥummā
- Recall: say the Arabic for the back, then the Arabic for the heart, then say ḥummā again

Before you move on

What does حمى mean? ("A fever".) Say it once more.

53.2 مستشفى (mustashfā) — a hospital

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the heart, then the Arabic for a fever.

You'll want to know: مستشفى

مستشفى — mustashfā — "a hospital".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستشفى (mustashfā) is built on the native Arabic root sh-f-y, "to heal, to cure" (Lane). Mustashfā is the Form X place noun, "a place where a cure is sought"; as the word for a hospital it is modern.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mustashfā
- Say it: mustashfā, once more
- Say it: say mustashfā
- Recall: say the Arabic for the heart, then the Arabic for a fever, then say mustashfā again

Before you move on

What does مستشفى mean? ("A hospital".) Say it once more.

53.3 مريض (marīḍ) — ill, sick

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fever, then the Arabic for a hospital.

You'll want to know: مريض

مريض — marīḍ — "ill, sick".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مريض (marīḍ) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-ḍ, "to be ill" (Lane). Marīḍ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "ill, sick".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: marīḍ
- Say it: marīḍ, once more
- Say it: say marīḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fever, then the Arabic for a hospital, then say marīḍ again

Before you move on

What does مريض mean? ("Ill, sick".) Say it once more.

53.4 ألم (alam) — pain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hospital, then the Arabic for ill.

You'll want to know: ألم

ألم — alam — "pain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ألم (alam) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-l-m, "to feel pain" (Lane). Alam is the verbal noun, "pain".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: alam
- Say it: alam, once more
- Say it: say alam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hospital, then the Arabic for ill, then say alam again

Before you move on

What does ألم mean? ("Pain".) Say it once more.

53.5 دواء (dawāʾ) — medicine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ill, then the Arabic for pain.

You'll want to know: دواء

دواء — dawāʾ — "medicine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دواء (dawāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-y, "disease; a remedy" (Lane). Lane gives dawan "disease" and dawāʾ "a remedy" under one root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dawāʾ
- Say it: dawāʾ, once more
- Say it: say dawāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for ill, then the Arabic for pain, then say dawāʾ again

Before you move on

What does دواء mean? ("Medicine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 54

Hunger, Happy, Sad, Doctor, Grandfather

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say hunger, happy, sad, a doctor and a grandfather.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 54: I can say hunger, happy, sad, a doctor and a grandfather.

54.1 جوع (jū^c) — hunger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pain, then the Arabic for medicine.

You'll want to know: جوع

جوع — jū^c — "hunger".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جوع (jū^c) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-^{c}, "to be hungry" (Lane). Jū^c is the verbal noun, "hunger".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: $j\bar{u}^c$
- Say it: $j\bar{u}^c$, once more
- Say it: say $j\bar{u}^c$
- Recall: say the Arabic for pain, then the Arabic for medicine, then say $j\bar{u}^c$ again

Before you move on

What does جوع mean? ("Hunger".) Say it once more.

54.2 سعيد (sa^{c}īd) — happy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for medicine, then the Arabic for hunger.

You'll want to know: سعيد

سعيد — sa^{c}īd — "happy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سعيد (sa^{c}īd) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-d, "to be fortunate, to be happy" (Lane). Sa^{c}īd is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "fortunate, happy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sa^{c}īd
- Say it: sa^{c}īd, once more
- Say it: say sa^{c}īd
- Recall: say the Arabic for medicine, then the Arabic for hunger, then say sa^{c}īd again

Before you move on

What does سعيد mean? ("Happy".) Say it once more.

54.3 حزين (ḥazīn) — sad

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hunger, then the Arabic for happy.

You'll want to know: حزين

حزين — ḥazīn — "sad".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حزين (ḥazīn) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-z-n, "to grieve, to be sad" (Lane). Ḥazīn is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "grieving".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥazīn
- Say it: ḥazīn, once more
- Say it: say ḥazīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for hunger, then the Arabic for happy, then say ḥazīn again

Before you move on

What does حزين mean? ("Sad".) Say it once more.

54.4 طبيب (ṭabīb) — a doctor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for happy, then the Arabic for sad.

You'll want to know: طبيب

طبيب — ṭabīb — "a doctor".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبيب (ṭabīb) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-b, "to treat with medicine" (Lane). Ṭabīb is the one who treats, "a physician".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabīb
- Say it: ṭabīb, once more
- Say it: say ṭabīb
- Recall: say the Arabic for happy, then the Arabic for sad, then say ṭabīb again

Before you move on

What does طبيب mean? ("A doctor".) Say it once more.

54.5 جد (jadd) — a grandfather

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sad, then the Arabic for a doctor.

You'll want to know: جد

جد — jadd — "a grandfather".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جد (jadd) is an old native noun, filed under the root j-d-d (Lane), whose verb jadda is "to cut". Lane gives jadd both as the grandfather and as fortune.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jadd
- Say it: jadd, once more
- Say it: say jadd
- Recall: say the Arabic for sad, then the Arabic for a doctor, then say jadd again

Before you move on

What does جد mean? ("A grandfather".) Say it once more.

Chapter 55

Grandmother, Uncle, Uncle, Husband, Wife

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a grandmother, an uncle, an uncle, a husband and a wife.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 55: I can say a grandmother, an uncle, an uncle, a husband and a wife.

55.1 جدة (jadda) — a grandmother

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a doctor, then the Arabic for a grandfather.

You'll want to know: جدة

جدة — jadda — "a grandmother".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدة (jadda) is the feminine of jadd, "grandfather", an old native noun, filed under the root j-d-d (Lane), whose verb jadda is "to cut".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jadda
- Say it: jadda, once more
- Say it: say jadda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a doctor, then the Arabic for a grandfather, then say jadda again

Before you move on

What does جدة mean? ("A grandmother".) Say it once more.

55.2 عم (^{c}amm) — an uncle (father's brother)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a grandfather, then the Arabic for a grandmother.

You'll want to know: عم

عم — ^{c}amm — "an uncle (father's brother)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عم (^{c}amm), the father's brother, is an old native noun, filed under the root ^{c}-m-m (Lane), "to be general, to include all".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ^{c}amm
- Say it: ^{c}amm, once more
- Say it: say ^{c}amm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a grandfather, then the Arabic for a grandmother, then say ^{c}amm again

Before you move on

What does عم mean? ("An uncle (father's brother)".) Say it once more.

55.3 خال (khāl) — an uncle (mother's brother)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a grandmother, then the Arabic for an uncle.

You'll want to know: خال

خال — khāl — "an uncle (mother's brother)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خال (khāl), the mother's brother, is an old native noun, filed under the root kh-w-l (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khāl
- Say it: khāl, once more
- Say it: say khāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a grandmother, then the Arabic for an uncle, then say khāl again

Before you move on

What does خال mean? ("An uncle (mother's brother)".) Say it once more.

55.4 زوج (zawj) — a husband

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an uncle, then the Arabic for an uncle.

You'll want to know: زوج

زوج — zawj — "a husband".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زوج (zawj) is listed by Lane under z-w-j as one of a pair, a mate. It is usually traced, through Aramaic zūgā, to Greek zeugos, "yoke, pair" (EtymDB); Lane gives no foreign source.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zawj
- Say it: zawj, once more
- Say it: say zawj
- Recall: say the Arabic for an uncle, then the Arabic for an uncle, then say zawj again

Before you move on

What does زوج mean? ("A husband".) Say it once more.

55.5 زوجة (zawja) — a wife

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an uncle, then the Arabic for a husband.

You'll want to know: زوجة

زوجة — zawja — "a wife".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زوجة (zawja) is the feminine of zawj, "a mate", which Lane lists under z-w-j. Zawj is usually traced, through Aramaic zūgā, to Greek zeugos, "yoke, pair" (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zawja
- Say it: zawja, once more
- Say it: say zawja
- Recall: say the Arabic for an uncle, then the Arabic for a husband, then say zawja again

Before you move on

What does زوجة mean? ("A wife".) Say it once more.

Chapter 56

Child, Boy, Man, Woman, Guest

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a child, a boy, a man, a woman and a guest.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 56: I can say a child, a boy, a man, a woman and a guest.

56.1 طفل (ṭifl) — a child

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a husband, then the Arabic for a wife.

You'll want to know: طفل

طفل — ṭifl — "a child".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طفل (ṭifl) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-f-l, "a child, an infant" (Lane). Ṭifl is Lane's word for a young child.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭifl
- Say it: ṭifl, once more
- Say it: say ṭifl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a husband, then the Arabic for a wife, then say ṭifl again

Before you move on

What does طفل mean? ("A child".) Say it once more.

56.2 ولد (walad) — a boy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wife, then the Arabic for a child.

You'll want to know: ولد

ولد — walad — "a boy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ولد (walad) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-d, "to give birth" (Lane). Walad is offspring, a child of either sex in Lane; "boy" is the narrower modern use.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: walad
- Say it: walad, once more
- Say it: say walad
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wife, then the Arabic for a child, then say walad again

Before you move on

What does ولد mean? ("A boy".) Say it once more.

56.3 رجل (rajul) — a man

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a child, then the Arabic for a boy.

You'll want to know: رجل

رجل — rajul — "a man".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رجل (rajul) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-l, "a man; the foot, the leg" (Lane). The same root gives rijl, "foot, leg".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rajul
- Say it: rajul, once more
- Say it: say rajul
- Recall: say the Arabic for a child, then the Arabic for a boy, then say rajul again

Before you move on

What does رجل mean? ("A man".) Say it once more.

56.4 امرأة (imraʾa) — a woman

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a boy, then the Arabic for a man.

You'll want to know: امرأة

امرأة — imraʾa — "a woman".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

امرأة (imraʾa) is the feminine of imruʾ, marʾ, "a man", an old native noun, filed under the root m-r-ʾ (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: imraʾa
- Say it: imraʾa, once more
- Say it: say imraʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a boy, then the Arabic for a man, then say imraʾa again

Before you move on

What does امرأة mean? ("A woman".) Say it once more.

56.5 ضيف (ḍayf) — a guest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a man, then the Arabic for a woman.

You'll want to know: ضيف

ضيف — ḍayf — "a guest".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضيف (ḍayf) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-f, "to turn aside to, to lodge with as a guest" (Lane). The word ḍayf is the one who turns in to stay, "a guest".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍayf
- Say it: ḍayf, once more
- Say it: say ḍayf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a man, then the Arabic for a woman, then say ḍayf again

Before you move on

What does ضيف mean? ("A guest".) Say it once more.

Chapter 57

Teacher, To drink, To hear, To sit, To sleep

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a teacher, to drink, to hear, to sit and to sleep.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 57: I can say a teacher, to drink, to hear, to sit and to sleep.

57.1 معلم (mu^{c}allim) — a teacher

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a woman, then the Arabic for a guest.

You'll want to know: معلم

معلم — mu^{c}allim — "a teacher".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معلم (mu^{c}allim) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-l-m, "to know" (Lane). Mu^{c}allim is the Form II participle, "one who makes others know", a teacher.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}allim
- Say it: mu^{c}allim, once more
- Say it: say mu^{c}allim
- Recall: say the Arabic for a woman, then the Arabic for a guest, then say mu^{c}allim again

Before you move on

What does معلم mean? ("A teacher".) Say it once more.

57.2 شرب (shariba) — to drink (he drank)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a guest, then the Arabic for a teacher.

You'll want to know: شرب

شرب — shariba — "to drink (he drank)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرب (shariba) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-b, "to drink" (Lane). English syrup and sherbet both go back to words on this root, through Latin and through Turkish.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shariba
- Say it: shariba, once more
- Say it: say shariba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a guest, then the Arabic for a teacher, then say shariba again

Before you move on

What does شرب mean? ("To drink (he drank)".) Say it once more.

57.3 سمع (sami^{c}a) — to hear (he heard)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a teacher, then the Arabic for to drink.

You'll want to know: سمع

سمع — sami^{c}a — "to hear (he heard)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سمع (sami^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-^{c}, "to hear" (Lane). Hebrew shama^c, "to hear", is its well-known cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sami^{c}a
- Say it: sami^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say sami^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for a teacher, then the Arabic for to drink, then say sami^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does سمع mean? ("To hear (he heard)".) Say it once more.

57.4 جلس (jalasa) — to sit (he sat)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to drink, then the Arabic for to hear.

You'll want to know: جلس

جلس — jalasa — "to sit (he sat)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جلس (jalasa) is built on the native Arabic root j-l-s, "to sit" (Lane). The same root gives majlis, "a place of sitting, a council".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jalasa
- Say it: jalasa, once more
- Say it: say jalasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to drink, then the Arabic for to hear, then say jalasa again

Before you move on

What does جلس mean? ("To sit (he sat)".) Say it once more.

57.5 نام (nāma) — to sleep (he slept)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hear, then the Arabic for to sit.

You'll want to know: نام

نام — nāma — "to sleep (he slept)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نام (nāma) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-m, "to sleep". Lane's lexicon has no article on this root. Nāma is the plain verb, "he slept".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nāma
- Say it: nāma, once more
- Say it: say nāma
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hear, then the Arabic for to sit, then say nāma again

Before you move on

What does نام mean? ("To sleep (he slept)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 58

To stand up, To walk, To run, To play, To buy

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to stand up, to walk, to run, to play and to buy.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 58: I can say to stand up, to walk, to run, to play and to buy.

58.1 قام (qāma) — to stand up (he stood up)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sit, then the Arabic for to sleep.

You'll want to know: قام

قام — qāma — "to stand up (he stood up)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قام (qāma) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand up, to rise" (Lane). The same root gives qawm, "a people", and mustaqīm, "straight".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qāma
- Say it: qāma, once more
- Say it: say qāma
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sit, then the Arabic for to sleep, then say qāma again

Before you move on

What does قام mean? ("To stand up (he stood up)".) Say it once more.

58.2 مشى (mashā) — to walk (he walked)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sleep, then the Arabic for to stand up.

You'll want to know: مشى

مشى — mashā — "to walk (he walked)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشى (mashā) is built on the native Arabic root m-sh-y, "to walk" (Lane). Mashā is the plain verb, "he walked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mashā
- Say it: mashā, once more
- Say it: say mashā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sleep, then the Arabic for to stand up, then say mashā again

Before you move on

What does مشى mean? ("To walk (he walked)".) Say it once more.

58.3 ركض (rakaḍa) — to run (he ran)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stand up, then the Arabic for to walk.

You'll want to know: ركض

ركض — rakaḍa — "to run (he ran)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركض (rakaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-ḍ, "to strike with the foot; to run" (Lane). Lane's first sense is striking with the foot, as in urging on a horse; "to run" grew from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rakaḍa
- Say it: rakaḍa, once more
- Say it: say rakaḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stand up, then the Arabic for to walk, then say rakaḍa again

Before you move on

What does ركض mean? ("To run (he ran)".) Say it once more.

58.4 لعب (la^{c}iba) — to play (he played)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to walk, then the Arabic for to run.

You'll want to know: لعب

لعب — la^{c}iba — "to play (he played)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لعب (la^{c}iba) is built on the native Arabic root l-^{c}-b, "to play" (Lane). La^{c}iba is the plain verb, "he played".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: la^{c}iba
- Say it: la^{c}iba, once more
- Say it: say la^{c}iba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to walk, then the Arabic for to run, then say la^{c}iba again

Before you move on

What does لعب mean? ("To play (he played)".) Say it once more.

58.5 اشترى (ishtarā) — to buy (he bought)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to run, then the Arabic for to play.

You'll want to know: اشترى

اشترى — ishtarā — "to buy (he bought)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشترى (ishtarā) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-y, "to sell; to buy" (Lane). Lane notes the base verb sharā could mean both "to buy" and "to sell"; Form VIII ishtarā settled on buying.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtarā
- Say it: ishtarā, once more
- Say it: say ishtarā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to run, then the Arabic for to play, then say ishtarā again

Before you move on

What does اشترى mean? ("To buy (he bought)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 59

To sell, To give, To put, To open, To close

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to sell, to give, to put, to open and to close.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 59: I can say to sell, to give, to put, to open and to close.

59.1 باع (bāᶜa) — to sell (he sold)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to play, then the Arabic for to buy.

You'll want to know: باع

باع — bāᶜa — "to sell (he sold)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

باع (bāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root b-y-ᶜ, "to sell; to buy" (Lane). Lane notes bāᶜa could mean both "to sell" and "to buy"; selling won.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bāᶜa
- Say it: bāᶜa, once more
- Say it: say bāᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to play, then the Arabic for to buy, then say bāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does باع mean? ("To sell (he sold)".) Say it once more.

59.2 أعطى (aᶜṭā) — to give (he gave)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to buy, then the Arabic for to sell.

You'll want to know: أعطى

أعطى — aᶜṭā — "to give (he gave)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أعطى (aᶜṭā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-w, "to take, to reach for" (Lane). Form IV aᶜṭā, "he gave", is the causative: to make another take (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aᶜṭā
- Say it: aᶜṭā, once more
- Say it: say aᶜṭā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to buy, then the Arabic for to sell, then say aᶜṭā again

Before you move on

What does أعطى mean? ("To give (he gave)".) Say it once more.

59.3 وضع (waḍaᶜa) — to put (he put)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sell, then the Arabic for to give.

You'll want to know: وضع

وضع — waḍaᶜa — "to put (he put)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وضع (waḍaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-ᶜ, "to put down, to lay" (Lane). Waḍaᶜa is the plain verb, "he put".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waḍaᶜa
- Say it: waḍaᶜa, once more
- Say it: say waḍaᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sell, then the Arabic for to give, then say waḍaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does وضع mean? ("To put (he put)".) Say it once more.

59.4 فتح (fataḥa) — to open (he opened)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to give, then the Arabic for to put.

You'll want to know: فتح

فتح — fataḥa — "to open (he opened)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فتح (fataḥa) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-ḥ, "to open" (Lane). The same root gives miftāḥ, "a key"; Hebrew pataḥ, "to open", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fataḥa
- Say it: fataḥa, once more
- Say it: say fataḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to give, then the Arabic for to put, then say fataḥa again

Before you move on

What does فتح mean? ("To open (he opened)".) Say it once more.

59.5 أغلق (aghlaqa) — to close (he closed)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to put, then the Arabic for to open.

You'll want to know: أغلق

أغلق — aghlaqa — "to close (he closed)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أغلق (aghlaqa) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-q, "to shut, to lock" (Lane). Aghlaqa is the Form IV verb, "he shut".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aghlaqa
- Say it: aghlaqa, once more
- Say it: say aghlaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to put, then the Arabic for to open, then say aghlaqa again

Before you move on

What does أغلق mean? ("To close (he closed)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 60

To cook, To wash, To laugh, To cry, To dance

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to cook, to wash, to laugh, to cry and to dance.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 60: I can say to cook, to wash, to laugh, to cry and to dance.

60.1 طبخ (ṭabakha) — to cook (he cooked)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to open, then the Arabic for to close.

You'll want to know: طبخ

طبخ — ṭabakha — "to cook (he cooked)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبخ (ṭabakha) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-kh, "to cook" (Lane). The same root gives maṭbakh, "a kitchen".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabakha
- Say it: ṭabakha, once more
- Say it: say ṭabakha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to open, then the Arabic for to close, then say ṭabakha again

Before you move on

What does طبخ mean? ("To cook (he cooked)".) Say it once more.

60.2 غسل (ghasala) — to wash (he washed)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to close, then the Arabic for to cook.

You'll want to know: غسل

غسل — ghasala — "to wash (he washed)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غسل (ghasala) is built on the native Arabic root gh-s-l, "to wash" (Lane). Ghasala is the plain verb, "he washed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghasala
- Say it: ghasala, once more
- Say it: say ghasala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to close, then the Arabic for to cook, then say ghasala again

Before you move on

What does غسل mean? ("To wash (he washed)".) Say it once more.

60.3 ضحك (ḍaḥika) — to laugh (he laughed)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cook, then the Arabic for to wash.

You'll want to know: ضحك

ضحك — ḍaḥika — "to laugh (he laughed)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضحك (ḍaḥika) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ḥ-k, "to laugh" (Lane). The word ḍaḥika is the plain verb, "he laughed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍaḥika
- Say it: ḍaḥika, once more
- Say it: say ḍaḥika
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cook, then the Arabic for to wash, then say ḍaḥika again

Before you move on

What does ضحك mean? ("To laugh (he laughed)".) Say it once more.

60.4 بكى (bakā) — to cry (he cried)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wash, then the Arabic for to laugh.

You'll want to know: بكى

بكى — bakā — "to cry (he cried)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بكى (bakā) is built on the native Arabic root b-k-y, "to weep" (Lane). Hebrew bakha, "to weep", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bakā
- Say it: bakā, once more
- Say it: say bakā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wash, then the Arabic for to laugh, then say bakā again

Before you move on

What does بكى mean? ("To cry (he cried)".) Say it once more.

60.5 رقص (raqaṣa) — to dance (he danced)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to laugh, then the Arabic for to cry.

You'll want to know: رقص

رقص — raqaṣa — "to dance (he danced)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رقص (raqaṣa) is built on the native Arabic root r-q-ṣ, "to dance, to move with a quick gait" (Lane). Raqaṣa is the plain verb, "he danced".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raqaṣa
- Say it: raqaṣa, once more
- Say it: say raqaṣa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to laugh, then the Arabic for to cry, then say raqaṣa again

Before you move on

What does رقص mean? ("To dance (he danced)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 61

To learn, To forget, To want, To send, To cut

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to learn, to forget, to want, to send and to cut.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 61: I can say to learn, to forget, to want, to send and to cut.

61.1 تعلم (ta^{c}allama) — to learn (he learned)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cry, then the Arabic for to dance.

You'll want to know: تعلم

تعلم — ta^{c}allama — "to learn (he learned)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعلم (ta^{c}allama) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-l-m, "to know" (Lane). Ta^{c}allama is Form V, "to get oneself taught", to learn.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}allama
- Say it: ta^{c}allama, once more
- Say it: say ta^{c}allama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cry, then the Arabic for to dance, then say ta^{c}allama again

Before you move on

What does تعلم mean? ("To learn (he learned)".) Say it once more.

61.2 نسي (nasiya) — to forget (he forgot)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to dance, then the Arabic for to learn.

You'll want to know: نسي

نسي — nasiya — "to forget (he forgot)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسي (nasiya) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-y, "to forget" (Lane). Nasiya is the plain verb, "he forgot".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nasiya
- Say it: nasiya, once more
- Say it: say nasiya
- Recall: say the Arabic for to dance, then the Arabic for to learn, then say nasiya again

Before you move on

What does نسي mean? ("To forget (he forgot)".) Say it once more.

61.3 أراد (arāda) — to want (he wanted)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to learn, then the Arabic for to forget.

You'll want to know: أراد

أراد — arāda — "to want (he wanted)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أراد (arāda) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-d, "to seek, to go to and fro seeking" (Lane). Form IV arāda came to mean "to will, to want" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: arāda
- Say it: arāda, once more
- Say it: say arāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for to learn, then the Arabic for to forget, then say arāda again

Before you move on

What does أراد mean? ("To want (he wanted)".) Say it once more.

61.4 أرسل (arsala) — to send (he sent)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to forget, then the Arabic for to want.

You'll want to know: أرسل

أرسل — arsala — "to send (he sent)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرسل (arsala) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-l, "to send; to let go" (Lane). Form IV arsala is "he sent"; the same root gives rasūl, "a messenger".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: arsala
- Say it: arsala, once more
- Say it: say arsala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to forget, then the Arabic for to want, then say arsala again

Before you move on

What does أرسل mean? ("To send (he sent)".) Say it once more.

61.5 قطع (qaṭaᶜa) — to cut (he cut)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to want, then the Arabic for to send.

You'll want to know: قطع

قطع — qaṭaᶜa — "to cut (he cut)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطع (qaṭa^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-^{c}, "to cut, to sever" (Lane). Qaṭa^{c}a is the plain verb, "he cut".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṭa^{c}a
- Say it: qaṭa^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say qaṭa^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to want, then the Arabic for to send, then say qaṭa^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does قطع mean? ("To cut (he cut)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 62

To stop, To look for, To find, To wear, To leave

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to stop, to look for, to find, to wear and to leave.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 62: I can say to stop, to look for, to find, to wear and to leave.

62.1 وقف (waqafa) — to stop (he stopped)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to send, then the Arabic for to cut.

You'll want to know: وقف

وقف — waqafa — "to stop (he stopped)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وقف (waqafa) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-f, "to stand still, to stop" (Lane). The same root gives mawqif, "a stopping place".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waqafa
- Say it: waqafa, once more
- Say it: say waqafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to send, then the Arabic for to cut, then say waqafa again

Before you move on

What does وقف mean? ("To stop (he stopped)".) Say it once more.

62.2 بحث (baḥatha) — to look for (he looked for)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cut, then the Arabic for to stop.

You'll want to know: بحث

بحث — baḥatha — "to look for (he looked for)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بحث (baḥatha) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḥ-th, "to dig, to scratch up the earth; to search" (Lane). Lane's first sense is digging in the ground; searching grew from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baḥatha
- Say it: baḥatha, once more
- Say it: say baḥatha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cut, then the Arabic for to stop, then say baḥatha again

Before you move on

What does بحث mean? ("To look for (he looked for)".) Say it once more.

62.3 وجد (wajada) — to find (he found)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stop, then the Arabic for to look for.

You'll want to know: وجد

وجد — wajada — "to find (he found)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وجد (wajada) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-d, "to find" (Lane). Wajada is the plain verb, "he found".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wajada
- Say it: wajada, once more
- Say it: say wajada
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stop, then the Arabic for to look for, then say wajada again

Before you move on

What does وجد mean? ("To find (he found)".) Say it once more.

62.4 لبس (labisa) — to wear (he wore)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to look for, then the Arabic for to find.

You'll want to know: لبس

لبس — labisa — "to wear (he wore)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لبس (labisa) is built on the native Arabic root l-b-s, "to put on, to wear" (Lane). The same root gives malābis, "clothes".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: labisa
- Say it: labisa, once more
- Say it: say labisa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to look for, then the Arabic for to find, then say labisa again

Before you move on

What does لبس mean? ("To wear (he wore)".) Say it once more.

62.5 ترك (taraka) — to leave (he left)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to find, then the Arabic for to wear.

You'll want to know: ترك

ترك — taraka — "to leave (he left)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترك (taraka) is built on the native Arabic root t-r-k, "to leave, to forsake" (Lane). Taraka is the plain verb, "he left".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taraka
- Say it: taraka, once more
- Say it: say taraka
- Recall: say the Arabic for to find, then the Arabic for to wear, then say taraka again

Before you move on

What does ترك mean? ("To leave (he left)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 63

To throw, To fly, To swim, To make, To enter

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to throw, to fly, to swim, to make and to enter.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 63: I can say to throw, to fly, to swim, to make and to enter.

63.1 رمى (ramā) — to throw (he threw)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wear, then the Arabic for to leave.

You'll want to know: رمى

رمى — ramā — "to throw (he threw)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمى (ramā) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-y, "to throw, to shoot" (Lane). Ramā is the plain verb, "he threw".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ramā
- Say it: ramā, once more
- Say it: say ramā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wear, then the Arabic for to leave, then say ramā again

Before you move on

What does رمى mean? ("To throw (he threw)".) Say it once more.

63.2 طار (ṭāra) — to fly (he flew)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to leave, then the Arabic for to throw.

You'll want to know: طار

طار — ṭāra — "to fly (he flew)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طار (ṭāra) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-y-r, "to fly" (Lane). The same root gives ṭāʾir, "a bird", and maṭār, "an airport".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭāra
- Say it: ṭāra, once more
- Say it: say ṭāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for to leave, then the Arabic for to throw, then say ṭāra again

Before you move on

What does طار mean? ("To fly (he flew)".) Say it once more.

63.3 سبح (sabaḥa) — to swim (he swam)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to throw, then the Arabic for to fly.

You'll want to know: سبح

سبح — sabaḥa — "to swim (he swam)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سبح (sabaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-ḥ, "to swim; to glorify God" (Lane). Lane gives swimming and, in Form II, praising God under one root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sabaḥa
- Say it: sabaḥa, once more
- Say it: say sabaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to throw, then the Arabic for to fly, then say sabaḥa again

Before you move on

What does سبح mean? ("To swim (he swam)".) Say it once more.

63.4 صنع (ṣanaᶜa) — to make (he made)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fly, then the Arabic for to swim.

You'll want to know: صنع

صنع — ṣana^{c}a — "to make (he made)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صنع (ṣana^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-n-^{c}, "to make, to fashion" (Lane). The same root gives maṣna^c, "a factory".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣana^{c}a
- Say it: ṣana^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say ṣana^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fly, then the Arabic for to swim, then say ṣana^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does صنع mean? ("To make (he made)".) Say it once more.

63.5 دخل (dakhala) — to enter (he entered)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swim, then the Arabic for to make.

You'll want to know: دخل

دخل — dakhala — "to enter (he entered)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دخل (dakhala) is built on the native Arabic root d-kh-l, "to enter" (Lane). Dakhala is the plain verb, "he entered".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dakhala
- Say it: dakhala, once more
- Say it: say dakhala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swim, then the Arabic for to make, then say dakhala again

Before you move on

What does دخل mean? ("To enter (he entered)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 64

To go out, To work, To live, To wait, To come back

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to go out, to work, to live, to wait and to come back.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 64: I can say to go out, to work, to live, to wait and to come back.

64.1 خرج (kharaja) — to go out (he went out)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make, then the Arabic for to enter.

You'll want to know: خرج

خرج — kharaja — "to go out (he went out)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خرج (kharaja) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-j, "to go out" (Lane). Kharaja is the plain verb, "he went out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kharaja
- Say it: kharaja, once more
- Say it: say kharaja
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make, then the Arabic for to enter, then say kharaja again

Before you move on

What does خرج mean? ("To go out (he went out)".) Say it once more.

64.2 عمل (ᶜamila) — to work (he worked)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to enter, then the Arabic for to go out.

You'll want to know: عمل

عمل — ᶜamila — "to work (he worked)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عمل (ᶜamila) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-l, "to work, to do" (Lane). ᶜAmila is the plain verb, "he worked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜamila
- Say it: ᶜamila, once more
- Say it: say ᶜamila
- Recall: say the Arabic for to enter, then the Arabic for to go out, then say ᶜamila again

Before you move on

What does عمل mean? ("To work (he worked)".) Say it once more.

64.3 سكن (sakana) — to live (he lived)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go out, then the Arabic for to work.

You'll want to know: سكن

سكن — sakana — "to live (he lived)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سكن (sakana) is built on the native Arabic root s-k-n, "to be still; to dwell" (Lane). Lane's first sense is being still; dwelling is resting in a place.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sakana
- Say it: sakana, once more
- Say it: say sakana
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go out, then the Arabic for to work, then say sakana again

Before you move on

What does سكن mean? ("To live (he lived)".) Say it once more.

64.4 انتظر (intaẓara) — to wait (he waited)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to work, then the Arabic for to live.

You'll want to know: انتظر

انتظر — intaẓara — "to wait (he waited)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتظر (intaẓara) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-r, "to look at" (Lane). Form VIII intaẓara is "to look out for", to wait.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: intaẓara
- Say it: intaẓara, once more
- Say it: say intaẓara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to work, then the Arabic for to live, then say intaẓara again

Before you move on

What does انتظر mean? ("To wait (he waited)".) Say it once more.

64.5 رجع (raja^{c}a) — to come back (he came back)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to live, then the Arabic for to wait.

You'll want to know: رجع

رجع — raja^{c}a — "to come back (he came back)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رجع (raja^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-^{c}, "to return" (Lane). Raja^{c}a is the plain verb, "he came back".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raja^{c}a
- Say it: raja^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say raja^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to live, then the Arabic for to wait, then say raja^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does رجع mean? ("To come back (he came back)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 65

To speak, To carry, To win, To go down, Fish

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to speak, to carry, to win, to go down and fish.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 65: I can say to speak, to carry, to win, to go down and fish.

65.1 تكلم (takallama) — to speak (he spoke)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wait, then the Arabic for to come back.

You'll want to know: تكلم

تكلم — takallama — "to speak (he spoke)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تكلم (takallama) is built on the native Arabic root k-l-m, "to speak to; speech" (Lane). Takallama is Form V, "to speak"; the same root gives kalima, "a word", and kalām, "speech".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: takallama
- Say it: takallama, once more
- Say it: say takallama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wait, then the Arabic for to come back, then say takallama again

Before you move on

What does تكلم mean? ("To speak (he spoke)".) Say it once more.

65.2 حمل (ḥamala) — to carry (he carried)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to come back, then the Arabic for to speak.

You'll want to know: حمل

حمل — ḥamala — "to carry (he carried)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمل (ḥamala) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry, to bear" (Lane). Ḥamala is the plain verb, "he carried".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥamala
- Say it: ḥamala, once more
- Say it: say ḥamala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to come back, then the Arabic for to speak, then say ḥamala again

Before you move on

What does حمل mean? ("To carry (he carried)".) Say it once more.

65.3 فاز (fāza) — to win (he won)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to speak, then the Arabic for to carry.

You'll want to know: فاز

فاز — fāza — "to win (he won)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فاز (fāza) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-z, "to attain, to succeed" (Lane). Fāza is the plain verb, "he won".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fāza
- Say it: fāza, once more
- Say it: say fāza
- Recall: say the Arabic for to speak, then the Arabic for to carry, then say fāza again

Before you move on

What does فاز mean? ("To win (he won)".) Say it once more.

65.4 نزل (nazala) — to go down (he went down)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to carry, then the Arabic for to win.

You'll want to know: نزل

نزل — nazala — "to go down (he went down)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزل (nazala) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-l, "to come down, to alight" (Lane). The same root gives manzil, "a place of alighting, a house".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nazala
- Say it: nazala, once more
- Say it: say nazala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to carry, then the Arabic for to win, then say nazala again

Before you move on

What does نزل mean? ("To go down (he went down)".) Say it once more.

65.5 سمك (samak) — fish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to win, then the Arabic for to go down.

You'll want to know: سمك

سمك — samak — "fish".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سمك (samak), "fish", is an old native noun, filed under the root s-m-k (Lane), beside the verb samaka, "to rise, to be high".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: samak
- Say it: samak, once more
- Say it: say samak
- Recall: say the Arabic for to win, then the Arabic for to go down, then say samak again

Before you move on

What does سمك mean? ("Fish".) Say it once more.

Chapter 66

Rice, Fruit, Apple, Bananas, Potatoes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say rice, fruit, an apple, bananas and potatoes.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 66: I can say rice, fruit, an apple, bananas and potatoes.

66.1 أرز (aruzz) — rice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go down, then the Arabic for fish.

You'll want to know: أرز

أرز — aruzz — "rice".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرز (aruzz) is an old loan. It is usually traced, probably by way of Aramaic, to Greek oryza, "rice" (EtymDB), a word the Greeks had from further east. Lane lists aruzz under ʾ-r-z as a well-known grain.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aruzz
- Say it: aruzz, once more
- Say it: say aruzz
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go down, then the Arabic for fish, then say aruzz again

Before you move on

What does أرز mean? ("Rice".) Say it once more.

66.2 فاكهة (fākiha) — fruit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fish, then the Arabic for rice.

You'll want to know: فاكهة

فاكهة — fākiha — "fruit".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فاكهة (fākiha) is built on the native Arabic root f-k-h, "fruit; to enjoy" (Lane). Lane explains fākiha as fruit of any kind, a thing eaten for enjoyment.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fākiha
- Say it: fākiha, once more
- Say it: say fākiha
- Recall: say the Arabic for fish, then the Arabic for rice, then say fākiha again

Before you move on

What does فاكهة mean? ("Fruit".) Say it once more.

66.3 تفاحة (tuffāḥa) — an apple

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rice, then the Arabic for fruit.

You'll want to know: تفاحة

تفاحة — tuffāḥa — "an apple".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفاحة (tuffāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root t-f-ḥ, "the apple" (Lane). Lane quotes a source calling it an Arabic word, not arabicized; Hebrew tappuaḥ, "apple", is its cousin. Tuffāḥa is one apple.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tuffāḥa
- Say it: tuffāḥa, once more
- Say it: say tuffāḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for rice, then the Arabic for fruit, then say tuffāḥa again

Before you move on

What does تفاحة mean? ("An apple".) Say it once more.

66.4 موز (mawz) — bananas

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fruit, then the Arabic for an apple.

You'll want to know: موز

موز — mawz — "bananas".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موز (mawz) is a loan. EtymDB traces it to Middle Persian mōz, which is usually taken back to Sanskrit mocā, "banana". Lane lists it under m-w-z as a well-known tree and its fruit.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawz
- Say it: mawz, once more
- Say it: say mawz
- Recall: say the Arabic for fruit, then the Arabic for an apple, then say mawz again

Before you move on

What does موز mean? ("Bananas".) Say it once more.

66.5 بطاطس (baṭāṭis) — potatoes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an apple, then the Arabic for bananas.

You'll want to know: بطاطس

بطاطس — baṭāṭis — "potatoes".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطاطس (baṭāṭis) is a modern loan from a European name of the potato, usually traced to Spanish patata, which goes back to Taíno batata, "sweet potato". It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭāṭis
- Say it: baṭāṭis, once more
- Say it: say baṭāṭis
- Recall: say the Arabic for an apple, then the Arabic for bananas, then say baṭāṭis again

Before you move on

What does بطاطس mean? ("Potatoes".) Say it once more.

Chapter 67

Tomatoes, Carrots, Butter, Honey, Grapes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say tomatoes, carrots, butter, honey and grapes.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 67: I can say tomatoes, carrots, butter, honey and grapes.

67.1 طماطم (ṭamāṭim) — tomatoes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for bananas, then the Arabic for potatoes.

You'll want to know: طماطم

طماطم — ṭamāṭim — "tomatoes".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طماطم (ṭamāṭim) is a modern loan from a European name of the tomato, such as Spanish tomate, which goes back to Nahuatl tomatl. It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭamāṭim
- Say it: ṭamāṭim, once more
- Say it: say ṭamāṭim
- Recall: say the Arabic for bananas, then the Arabic for potatoes, then say ṭamāṭim again

Before you move on

What does طماطم mean? ("Tomatoes".) Say it once more.

67.2 جزر (jazar) — carrots

Before the new one: say the Arabic for potatoes, then the Arabic for tomatoes.

You'll want to know: جزر

جزر — jazar — "carrots".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جزر (jazar) is a loan: Lane records it as arabicized from Persian gazar, "carrot", the Arabic j standing for the Persian g. It only looks like the root j-z-r, "to cut".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jazar
- Say it: jazar, once more
- Say it: say jazar
- Recall: say the Arabic for potatoes, then the Arabic for tomatoes, then say jazar again

Before you move on

What does جزر mean? ("Carrots".) Say it once more.

67.3 زبدة (zubda) — butter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tomatoes, then the Arabic for carrots.

You'll want to know: زبدة

زبدة — zubda — "butter".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زبدة (zubda) is built on the native Arabic root z-b-d, "froth, foam; to take butter from milk" (Lane). The same root gives zabad, "froth, foam".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zubda
- Say it: zubda, once more
- Say it: say zubda
- Recall: say the Arabic for tomatoes, then the Arabic for carrots, then say zubda again

Before you move on

What does زبدة mean? ("Butter".) Say it once more.

67.4 عسل (ᶜasal) — honey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for carrots, then the Arabic for butter.

You'll want to know: عسل

عسل — ᶜasal — "honey".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عسل (ᶜasal) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-s-l, "honey; to season with honey" (Lane). Lane's verb ᶜasala means to prepare food with honey.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜasal
- Say it: ᶜasal, once more
- Say it: say ᶜasal
- Recall: say the Arabic for carrots, then the Arabic for butter, then say ᶜasal again

Before you move on

What does عسل mean? ("Honey".) Say it once more.

67.5 عنب (ᶜinab) — grapes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for butter, then the Arabic for honey.

You'll want to know: عنب

عنب — ᶜinab — "grapes".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عنب (ᶜinab) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-b, "grapes" (Lane). Hebrew ᶜenav, "grape", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ^{c}inab
- Say it: ^{c}inab, once more
- Say it: say ^{c}inab
- Recall: say the Arabic for butter, then the Arabic for honey, then say ^{c}inab again

Before you move on

What does عنب mean? ("Grapes".) Say it once more.

Chapter 68

Oranges, Lemons, Eggs, Onions, Breakfast

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say oranges, lemons, eggs, onions and breakfast.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 68: I can say oranges, lemons, eggs, onions and breakfast.

68.1 برتقال (burtuqāl) — oranges

Before the new one: say the Arabic for honey, then the Arabic for grapes.

You'll want to know: برتقال

برتقال — burtuqāl — "oranges".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برتقال (burtuqāl) is named after Portugal, whose traders are usually said to have brought the sweet orange from the east; EtymDB takes the Arabic from Greek portokali, and Turkish has portakal. It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: burtuqāl
- Say it: burtuqāl, once more
- Say it: say burtuqāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for honey, then the Arabic for grapes, then say burtuqāl again

Before you move on

What does برتقال mean? ("Oranges".) Say it once more.

68.2 ليمون (laymūn) — lemons

Before the new one: say the Arabic for grapes, then the Arabic for oranges.

You'll want to know: ليمون

ليمون — laymūn — "lemons".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ليمون (laymūn) is a loan from Persian līmūn, līmū, "lemon" (EtymDB), a word usually traced further east to an Indic source. It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: laymūn
- Say it: laymūn, once more
- Say it: say laymūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for grapes, then the Arabic for oranges, then say laymūn again

Before you move on

What does ليمون mean? ("Lemons".) Say it once more.

68.3 بيض (bayḍ) — eggs

Before the new one: say the Arabic for oranges, then the Arabic for lemons.

You'll want to know: بيض

بيض — bayḍ — "eggs".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بيض (bayḍ) is built on the native Arabic root b-y-ḍ, "to be white, to whiten" (Lane). Bayḍ, "eggs", is named on the root of whiteness, which also gives abyaḍ, "white".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bayḍ
- Say it: bayḍ, once more
- Say it: say bayḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for oranges, then the Arabic for lemons, then say bayḍ again

Before you move on

What does بيض mean? ("Eggs".) Say it once more.

68.4 بصل (baṣal) — onions

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lemons, then the Arabic for eggs.

You'll want to know: بصل

بصل — baṣal — "onions".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بصل (baṣal) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṣ-l, "onions" (Lane). Hebrew betsel, "onion", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṣal
- Say it: baṣal, once more
- Say it: say baṣal
- Recall: say the Arabic for lemons, then the Arabic for eggs, then say baṣal again

Before you move on

What does بصل mean? ("Onions".) Say it once more.

68.5 فطور (fuṭūr) — breakfast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for eggs, then the Arabic for onions.

You'll want to know: فطور

فطور — fuṭūr — "breakfast".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فطور (fuṭūr) is built on the native Arabic root f-ṭ-r, "to cleave; to break a fast" (Lane). Lane gives fuṭūr as the food or drink with which a fast is broken.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fuṭūr
- Say it: fuṭūr, once more
- Say it: say fuṭūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for eggs, then the Arabic for onions, then say fuṭūr again

Before you move on

What does فطور mean? ("Breakfast".) Say it once more.

Chapter 69

Juice, Chicken, House, Room, Window

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say juice, chicken, a house, a room and a window.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 69: I can say juice, chicken, a house, a room and a window.

69.1 عصير (ᶜaṣīr) — juice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for onions, then the Arabic for breakfast.

You'll want to know: عصير

عصير — ᶜaṣīr — "juice".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصير (ᶜaṣīr) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-r, "to press, to squeeze" (Lane). ᶜAṣīr is what is pressed out: juice.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṣīr
- Say it: ᶜaṣīr, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaṣīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for onions, then the Arabic for breakfast, then say ᶜaṣīr again

Before you move on

What does عصير mean? ("Juice".) Say it once more.

69.2 دجاج (dajāj) — chicken

Before the new one: say the Arabic for breakfast, then the Arabic for juice.

You'll want to know: دجاج

دجاج — dajāj — "chicken".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دجاج (dajāj), the common fowl, is an old native noun, filed under the root d-j-j (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dajāj
- Say it: dajāj, once more
- Say it: say dajāj
- Recall: say the Arabic for breakfast, then the Arabic for juice, then say dajāj again

Before you move on

What does دجاج mean? ("Chicken".) Say it once more.

69.3 منزل (manzil) — a house

Before the new one: say the Arabic for juice, then the Arabic for chicken.

You'll want to know: منزل

منزل — manzil — "a house".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منزل (manzil) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-l, "to come down, to alight" (Lane). Manzil is the ma- place noun, "a place of alighting, a lodging".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: manzil
- Say it: manzil, once more
- Say it: say manzil
- Recall: say the Arabic for juice, then the Arabic for chicken, then say manzil again

Before you move on

What does منزل mean? ("A house".) Say it once more.

69.4 غرفة (ghurfa) — a room

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chicken, then the Arabic for a house.

You'll want to know: غرفة

غرفة — ghurfa — "a room".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غرفة (ghurfa) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-f, "to ladle out water with the hand" (Lane). Lane gives ghurfa as a handful of water, and also as an upper chamber, the sense that became "a room".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghurfa
- Say it: ghurfa, once more
- Say it: say ghurfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for chicken, then the Arabic for a house, then say ghurfa again

Before you move on

What does غرفة mean? ("A room".) Say it once more.

69.5 نافذة (nāfidha) — a window

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a house, then the Arabic for a room.

You'll want to know: نافذة

نافذة — nāfidha — "a window".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نافذة (nāfidha) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-dh, "to pass through, to pierce" (Lane). Nāfidha is the feminine active participle, "one that passes through"; the window sense is not among Lane's.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nāfidha
- Say it: nāfidha, once more
- Say it: say nāfidha
- Recall: say the Arabic for a house, then the Arabic for a room, then say nāfidha again

Before you move on

What does نافذة mean? ("A window".) Say it once more.

Chapter 70

Chair, Table, Wall, Bed, Floor

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a chair, a table, a wall, a bed and the floor.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 70: I can say a chair, a table, a wall, a bed and the floor.

70.1 كرسي (kursī) — a chair

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a room, then the Arabic for a window.

You'll want to know: كرسي

كرسي — kursī — "a chair".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كرسي (kursī) is listed by Lane under k-r-s as a throne or chair. It is usually traced to Aramaic kursyā, "throne"; Hebrew kissē, "throne", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kursī
- Say it: kursī, once more
- Say it: say kursī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a room, then the Arabic for a window, then say kursī again

Before you move on

What does كرسي mean? ("A chair".) Say it once more.

70.2 طاولة (ṭāwila) — a table

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a window, then the Arabic for a chair.

You'll want to know: طاولة

طاولة — ṭāwila — "a table".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طاولة (ṭāwila) is usually traced to Italian tavola, "table" (EtymDB), which goes back to Latin tabula, "plank, board". It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭāwila
- Say it: ṭāwila, once more
- Say it: say ṭāwila
- Recall: say the Arabic for a window, then the Arabic for a chair, then say ṭāwila again

Before you move on

What does طاولة mean? ("A table".) Say it once more.

70.3 جدار (jidār) — a wall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chair, then the Arabic for a table.

You'll want to know: جدار

جدار — jidār — "a wall".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدار (jidār) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-r, "a wall" (Lane). Lane lists jidār under the root j-d-r.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jidār
- Say it: jidār, once more
- Say it: say jidār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chair, then the Arabic for a table, then say jidār again

Before you move on

What does جدار mean? ("A wall".) Say it once more.

70.4 سرير (sarīr) — a bed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a table, then the Arabic for a wall.

You'll want to know: سرير

سرير — sarīr — "a bed".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سرير (sarīr) is an old native noun, filed under the root s-r-r (Lane): a couch on a frame, a bedstead and a throne.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sarīr
- Say it: sarīr, once more
- Say it: say sarīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a table, then the Arabic for a wall, then say sarīr again

Before you move on

What does سرير mean? ("A bed".) Say it once more.

70.5 أرض (arḍ) — the floor; the earth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wall, then the Arabic for a bed.

You'll want to know: أرض

أرض — arḍ — "the floor; the earth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرض (arḍ) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-r-ḍ, "the earth, land" (Lane). Hebrew ʾerets, "land", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: arḍ
- Say it: arḍ, once more
- Say it: say arḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wall, then the Arabic for a bed, then say arḍ again

Before you move on

What does أرض mean? ("The floor; the earth".) Say it once more.

Chapter 71

Mirror, Lamp, Key, Plate, Knife

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a mirror, a lamp, a key, a plate and a knife.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 71: I can say a mirror, a lamp, a key, a plate and a knife.

71.1 مرآة (mirʾāh) — a mirror

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bed, then the Arabic for the floor; the earth.

You'll want to know: مرآة

مرآة — mirʾāh — "a mirror".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرآة (mirʾāh) is built on the native Arabic root r-ʾ-y, "to see" (Lane). Mirʾāh is an instrument noun, "a thing to see with".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mirʾāh
- Say it: mirʾāh, once more
- Say it: say mirʾāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bed, then the Arabic for the floor; the earth, then say mirʾāh again

Before you move on

What does مرآة mean? ("A mirror".) Say it once more.

71.2 مصباح (miṣbāḥ) — a lamp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the floor; the earth, then the Arabic for a mirror.

You'll want to know: مصباح

مصباح — miṣbāḥ — "a lamp".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصباح (miṣbāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-ḥ, "morning" (Lane). Miṣbāḥ is an instrument noun on the root of morning, a thing that gives light.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miṣbāḥ
- Say it: miṣbāḥ, once more
- Say it: say miṣbāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for the floor; the earth, then the Arabic for a mirror, then say miṣbāḥ again

Before you move on

What does مصباح mean? ("A lamp".) Say it once more.

71.3 مفتاح (miftāḥ) — a key

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mirror, then the Arabic for a lamp.

You'll want to know: مفتاح

مفتاح — miftāḥ — "a key".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مفتاح (miftāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-ḥ, "to open" (Lane). Miftāḥ is the mifᶜāl instrument noun, "an instrument of opening".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miftāḥ
- Say it: miftāḥ, once more
- Say it: say miftāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mirror, then the Arabic for a lamp, then say miftāḥ again

Before you move on

What does مفتاح mean? ("A key".) Say it once more.

71.4 صحن (ṣaḥn) — a plate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lamp, then the Arabic for a key.

You'll want to know: صحن

صحن — ṣaḥn — "a plate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحن (ṣaḥn) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-n, "a large bowl; an open court" (Lane). Lane gives a large bowl, and also the open court of a house.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaḥn
- Say it: ṣaḥn, once more
- Say it: say ṣaḥn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lamp, then the Arabic for a key, then say ṣaḥn again

Before you move on

What does صحن mean? ("A plate".) Say it once more.

71.5 سكين (sikkīn) — a knife

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a key, then the Arabic for a plate.

You'll want to know: سكين

سكين — sikkīn — "a knife".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سكين (sikkīn) is usually traced to Aramaic sakkīnā, "knife" (EtymDB), with Hebrew sakkin as a cousin. Lane lists it under s-k-n, "to be still", and quotes the old explanation that a knife stills the animal it slaughters; that is a guess of the Arabic grammarians, a folk etymology.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sikkīn
- Say it: sikkīn, once more
- Say it: say sikkīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a key, then the Arabic for a plate, then say sikkīn again

Before you move on

What does سكين mean? ("A knife".) Say it once more.

Chapter 72

Fork, Bottle, Door, Kitchen, Garden

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a fork, a bottle, a door, a kitchen and a garden.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 72: I can say a fork, a bottle, a door, a kitchen and a garden.

72.1 شوكة (shawka) — a fork

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a plate, then the Arabic for a knife.

You'll want to know: شوكة

شوكة — shawka — "a fork".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شوكة (shawka) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-k, "a thorn, a prickle" (Lane). Lane's shawka is a thorn; the table fork is not among his senses.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shawka
- Say it: shawka, once more
- Say it: say shawka
- Recall: say the Arabic for a plate, then the Arabic for a knife, then say shawka again

Before you move on

What does شوكة mean? ("A fork".) Say it once more.

72.2 زجاجة (zujāja) — a bottle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a knife, then the Arabic for a fork.

You'll want to know: زجاجة

زجاجة — zujāja — "a bottle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زجاجة (zujāja) is a single piece or vessel of zujāj, "glass", an old native noun, filed under the root z-j-j (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zujāja
- Say it: zujāja, once more
- Say it: say zujāja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a knife, then the Arabic for a fork, then say zujāja again

Before you move on

What does زجاجة mean? ("A bottle".) Say it once more.

72.3 باب (bāb) — a door

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fork, then the Arabic for a bottle.

You'll want to know: باب

باب — bāb — "a door".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

باب (bāb) is built on the native Arabic root b-w-b, "a door, a gate" (Lane). Aramaic bābā and Akkadian bābu, "gate", are related forms.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bāb
- Say it: bāb, once more
- Say it: say bāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fork, then the Arabic for a bottle, then say bāb again

Before you move on

What does باب mean? ("A door".) Say it once more.

72.4 مطبخ (maṭbakh) — a kitchen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bottle, then the Arabic for a door.

You'll want to know: مطبخ

مطبخ — maṭbakh — "a kitchen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مطبخ (maṭbakh) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-kh, "to cook" (Lane). Maṭbakh is the ma- place noun, "a place of cooking".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maṭbakh
- Say it: maṭbakh, once more
- Say it: say maṭbakh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bottle, then the Arabic for a door, then say maṭbakh again

Before you move on

What does مطبخ mean? ("A kitchen".) Say it once more.

72.5 حديقة (ḥadīqa) — a garden

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a door, then the Arabic for a kitchen.

You'll want to know: حديقة

حديقة — ḥadīqa — "a garden".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حديقة (ḥadīqa) is an old native noun, filed under the root ḥ-d-q (Lane). Lane's ḥadīqa is a garden surrounded by a wall.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥadīqa
- Say it: ḥadīqa, once more
- Say it: say ḥadīqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a door, then the Arabic for a kitchen, then say ḥadīqa again

Before you move on

What does حديقة mean? ("A garden".) Say it once more.

Chapter 73

Book, Notebook, Pen, Sheet of paper, School

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a book, a notebook, a pen, a sheet of paper and a school.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 73: I can say a book, a notebook, a pen, a sheet of paper and a school.

73.1 كتاب (kitāb) — a book

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a kitchen, then the Arabic for a garden.

You'll want to know: كتاب

كتاب — kitāb — "a book".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كتاب (kitāb) is built on the native Arabic root k-t-b, "to write" (Lane). Kitāb is "a writing", hence "a book".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kitāb
- Say it: kitāb, once more
- Say it: say kitāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a kitchen, then the Arabic for a garden, then say kitāb again

Before you move on

What does كتاب mean? ("A book".) Say it once more.

73.2 دفتر (daftar) — a notebook

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a garden, then the Arabic for a book.

You'll want to know: دفتر

دفتر — daftar — "a notebook".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دفتر (daftar) came into Arabic from Persian. Lane calls it a Persian word, arabicized, and quotes Ibn Durayd calling its derivation unknown. The Persian word is usually traced to Greek diphthera, "prepared hide, parchment".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: daftar
- Say it: daftar, once more
- Say it: say daftar

- Recall: say the Arabic for a garden, then the Arabic for a book, then say daftar again

Before you move on

What does دفتر mean? ("A notebook".) Say it once more.

73.3 قلم (qalam) — a pen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a book, then the Arabic for a notebook.

You'll want to know: قلم

قلم — qalam — "a pen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلم (qalam) is listed by Lane under q-l-m as a reed prepared for writing. It is usually traced to Greek kalamos, "reed, reed pen" (EtymDB), perhaps through Aramaic, though Lane gives no foreign source.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qalam
- Say it: qalam, once more
- Say it: say qalam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a book, then the Arabic for a notebook, then say qalam again

Before you move on

What does قلم mean? ("A pen".) Say it once more.

73.4 ورقة (waraqa) — a sheet of paper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a notebook, then the Arabic for a pen.

You'll want to know: ورقة

ورقة — waraqa — "a sheet of paper".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ورقة (waraqa) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-q, "leaves" (Lane). Lane's short article on this root gives shajar wāriq, "leafy trees"; waraq is leaves, of a tree and of a book, and waraqa is one.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waraqa
- Say it: waraqa, once more
- Say it: say waraqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a notebook, then the Arabic for a pen, then say waraqa again

Before you move on

What does ورقة mean? ("A sheet of paper".) Say it once more.

73.5 مدرسة (madrasa) — a school

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pen, then the Arabic for a sheet of paper.

You'll want to know: مدرسة

مدرسة — madrasa — "a school".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدرسة (madrasa) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-s, "to become effaced; to study" (Lane). Madrasa is the ma- place noun, "a place of study".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: madrasa
- Say it: madrasa, once more
- Say it: say madrasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pen, then the Arabic for a sheet of paper, then say madrasa again

Before you move on

What does مدرسة mean? ("A school".) Say it once more.

Chapter 74

Bag, Money, Map, Lesson, Answer

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a bag, money, a map, a lesson and an answer.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 74: I can say a bag, money, a map, a lesson and an answer.

74.1 حقيبة (ḥaqība) — a bag

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sheet of paper, then the Arabic for a school.

You'll want to know: حقيبة

حقيبة — ḥaqība — "a bag".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقيبة (ḥaqība) is an old native noun, filed under the root ḥ-q-b (Lane). Lane's ḥaqība is the bag in which a traveller carries provisions.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaqība
- Say it: ḥaqība, once more
- Say it: say ḥaqība
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sheet of paper, then the Arabic for a school, then say ḥaqība again

Before you move on

What does حقيبة mean? ("A bag".) Say it once more.

74.2 مال (māl) — money

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a school, then the Arabic for a bag.

You'll want to know: مال

مال — māl — "money".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مال (māl) is built on the native Arabic root m-w-l, "property, wealth" (Lane). Lane's māl is property of any kind, mostly camels for the Arabs of the desert.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: māl
- Say it: māl, once more
- Say it: say māl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a school, then the Arabic for a bag, then say māl again

Before you move on

What does مال mean? ("Money".) Say it once more.

74.3 خريطة (kharīṭa) — a map

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bag, then the Arabic for money.

You'll want to know: خريطة

خريطة — kharīṭa — "a map".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خريطة (kharīṭa) is listed by Lane under kh-r-ṭ as a leather pouch or bag. As the word for a map it is modern, and some trace that sense to Greek chartēs, "sheet of papyrus" (EtymDB); the link is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kharīṭa
- Say it: kharīṭa, once more
- Say it: say kharīṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bag, then the Arabic for money, then say kharīṭa again

Before you move on

What does خريطة mean? ("A map".) Say it once more.

74.4 درس (dars) — a lesson

Before the new one: say the Arabic for money, then the Arabic for a map.

You'll want to know: درس

درس — dars — "a lesson".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

درس (dars) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-s, "to become effaced; to study" (Lane). Lane gives dars as a lecture, a lesson.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dars
- Say it: dars, once more
- Say it: say dars
- Recall: say the Arabic for money, then the Arabic for a map, then say dars again

Before you move on

What does درس mean? ("A lesson".) Say it once more.

74.5 جواب (jawāb) — an answer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a map, then the Arabic for a lesson.

You'll want to know: جواب

جواب — jawāb — "an answer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جواب (jawāb) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-b, "to cut through, to traverse; to answer" (Lane). Jawāb is the answer; Lane also gives jawwāb, "a traverser of countries".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jawāb
- Say it: jawāb, once more
- Say it: say jawāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a map, then the Arabic for a lesson, then say jawāb again

Before you move on

What does جواب mean? ("An answer".) Say it once more.

74.6 The body, family, verbs and food — a first pass

Say the words for a lesson and an answer.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an eye, an ear, a nose, a mouth, a tooth
- hair, a foot, a finger, a shoulder, the neck
- a face, blood, a knee, the back, the heart
- a fever, a hospital, ill, pain, medicine
- hunger, happy, sad, a doctor, a grandfather
- a grandmother, an uncle, an uncle, a husband, a wife
- a child, a boy, a man, a woman, a guest
- a teacher, to drink, to hear, to sit, to sleep

- to stand up, to walk, to run, to play, to buy
- to sell, to give, to put, to open, to close
- to cook, to wash, to laugh, to cry, to dance
- to learn, to forget, to want, to send, to cut

Before you move on

An eye? (عين, ᶜayn.) An ear? (أذن, udhun.) A nose? (أنف, anf.) A mouth? (فم, fam.) A tooth? (سن, sinn.) Hair? (شعر, shaᶜr.) A foot? (قدم, qadam.) A finger? (إصبع, iṣbaᶜ.) A shoulder? (كتف, katif.) The neck? (رقبة, raqaba.) A face? (وجه, wajh.) Blood? (دم, dam.) A knee? (ركبة, rukba.) The back? (ظهر, ẓahr.) The heart? (قلب, qalb.) A fever? (حمى, ḥummā.) A hospital? (مستشفى, mustashfā.) Ill? (مريض, marīḍ.) Pain? (ألم, alam.) Medicine? (دواء, dawāʾ.) Hunger? (جوع, jūᶜ.) Happy? (سعيد, saᶜīd.) Sad? (حزين, ḥazīn.) A doctor? (طبيب, ṭabīb.) A grandfather? (جد, jadd.) A grandmother? (جدة, jadda.) An uncle? (عم, ᶜamm.) An uncle? (خال, khāl.) A husband? (زوج, zawj.) A wife? (زوجة, zawja.) A child? (طفل, ṭifl.) A boy? (ولد, walad.) A man? (رجل, rajul.) A woman? (امرأة, imraʾa.) A guest? (ضيف, ḍayf.) A teacher? (معلم, muᶜallim.) To drink? (شرب, shariba.) To hear? (سمع, samiᶜa.) To sit? (جلس, jalasa.) To sleep? (نام, nāma.) To stand up? (قام, qāma.) To walk? (مشى, mashā.) To run? (ركض, rakaḍa.) To play? (لعب, laᶜiba.) To buy? (اشترى, ishtarā.) To sell? (باع, bāᶜa.) To give? (أعطى, aᶜṭā.) To put? (وضع, waḍaᶜa.) To open? (فتح, fataḥa.) To close? (أغلق, aghlaqa.) To cook? (طبخ, ṭabakha.) To wash? (غسل, ghasala.) To laugh? (ضحك, ḍaḥika.) To cry? (بكى, bakā.) To dance? (رقص, raqaṣa.) To learn? (تعلم, taᶜallama.) To forget? (نسي, nasiya.) To want? (أراد, arāda.) To send? (أرسل, arsala.) To cut? (قطع, qaṭaᶜa.)

74.7 Food, the home and school — a second pass

Say the words for to stop and to look for.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to stop, to look for, to find, to wear, to leave
- to throw, to fly, to swim, to make, to enter
- to go out, to work, to live, to wait, to come back
- to speak, to carry, to win, to go down, fish
- rice, fruit, an apple, bananas, potatoes
- tomatoes, carrots, butter, honey, grapes
- oranges, lemons, eggs, onions, breakfast
- juice, chicken, a house, a room, a window
- a chair, a table, a wall, a bed, the floor; the earth
- a mirror, a lamp, a key, a plate, a knife
- a fork, a bottle, a door, a kitchen, a garden
- a book, a notebook, a pen, a sheet of paper, a school
- a bag, money, a map, a lesson, an answer

Before you move on

To stop? (وقف, waqafa.) To look for? (بحث, baḥatha.) To find? (وجد, wajada.) To wear? (لبس, labisa.) To leave? (ترك, taraka.) To throw? (رمى, ramā.) To fly? (طار, ṭāra.) To swim? (سبح, sabaḥa.) To make? (صنع, ṣanaᶜa.) To enter? (دخل, dakhala.) To go out? (خرج, kharaja.) To work? (عمل, ᶜamila.) To live? (سكن, sakana.) To wait? (انتظر, intaẓara.) To come back? (رجع, rajaᶜa.) To speak? (تكلم, takallama.) To carry? (حمل, ḥamala.) To win? (فاز, fāza.) To go down? (نزل, nazala.) Fish? (سمك, samak.) Rice? (أرز, aruzz.) Fruit? (فاكهة, fākiha.) An apple? (تفاحة, tuffāḥa.) Bananas? (موز, mawz.) Potatoes? (بطاطس, baṭāṭis.) Tomatoes? (طماطم, ṭamāṭim.) Carrots? (جزر, jazar.) Butter? (زبدة, zubda.) Honey? (عسل, ᶜasal.) Grapes? (عنب, ᶜinab.) Oranges? (برتقال, burtuqāl.) Lemons? (ليمون, laymūn.) Eggs? (بيض, bayḍ.) Onions? (بصل, baṣal.) Breakfast? (فطور, fuṭūr.) Juice? (عصير, ᶜaṣīr.) Chicken? (دجاج, dajāj.) A house? (منزل, manzil.) A room? (غرفة, ghurfa.) A window? (نافذة, nāfidha.) A chair? (كرسي, kursī.) A table? (طاولة, ṭāwila.) A wall? (جدار, jidār.) A bed? (سرير, sarīr.) The floor; the earth? (أرض, arḍ.) A mirror? (مرآة, mirʾāh.) A lamp? (مصباح, miṣbāḥ.) A key? (مفتاح, miftāḥ.) A plate? (صحن, ṣaḥn.) A knife? (سكين, sikkīn.) A fork? (شوكة, shawka.) A bottle? (زجاجة, zujāja.) A door? (باب, bāb.) A kitchen? (مطبخ, maṭbakh.) A garden? (حديقة, ḥadīqa.) A book? (كتاب, kitāb.) A notebook? (دفتر, daftar.) A pen? (قلم, qalam.) A sheet of paper? (ورقة, waraqa.) A school? (مدرسة, madrasa.) A bag? (حقيبة, ḥaqība.) Money? (مال, māl.) A map? (خريطة, kharīṭa.) A lesson? (درس, dars.) An answer? (جواب, jawāb.)

Chapter 75

Word, Picture, Tree, Flower, Mountain

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a word, a picture, a tree, a flower and a mountain.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 75: I can say a word, a picture, a tree, a flower and a mountain.

75.1 كلمة (kalima) — a word

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lesson, then the Arabic for an answer.

You'll want to know: كلمة

كلمة — kalima — "a word".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كلمة (kalima) is built on the native Arabic root k-l-m, "a word; speech" (Lane). Kalima is a single word.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kalima
- Say it: kalima, once more
- Say it: say kalima
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lesson, then the Arabic for an answer, then say kalima again

Before you move on

What does كلمة mean? ("A word".) Say it once more.

75.2 صورة (ṣūra) — a picture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an answer, then the Arabic for a word.

You'll want to know: صورة

صورة — ṣūra — "a picture".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صورة (ṣūra) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-r, "to form, to fashion" (Lane). Ṣūra is a form, an image.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣūra
- Say it: ṣūra, once more
- Say it: say ṣūra
- Recall: say the Arabic for an answer, then the Arabic for a word, then say ṣūra again

Before you move on

What does صورة mean? ("A picture".) Say it once more.

75.3 شجرة (shajara) — a tree

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a word, then the Arabic for a picture.

You'll want to know: شجرة

شجرة — shajara — "a tree".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شجرة (shajara) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-r, "to be intertwined; trees" (Lane). Shajara is one tree; shajar, "trees", is the collective.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shajara
- Say it: shajara, once more
- Say it: say shajara
- Recall: say the Arabic for a word, then the Arabic for a picture, then say shajara again

Before you move on

What does شجرة mean? ("A tree".) Say it once more.

75.4 زهرة (zahra) — a flower

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a picture, then the Arabic for a tree.

You'll want to know: زهرة

زهرة — zahra — "a flower".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زهرة (zahra) is built on the native Arabic root z-h-r, "to shine; flowers" (Lane). Zahra is a single flower.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zahra
- Say it: zahra, once more
- Say it: say zahra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a picture, then the Arabic for a tree, then say zahra again

Before you move on

What does زهرة mean? ("A flower".) Say it once more.

75.5 جبل (jabal) — a mountain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tree, then the Arabic for a flower.

You'll want to know: جبل

جبل — jabal — "a mountain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جبل (jabal), "a mountain", is an old native noun, filed under the root j-b-l (Lane). Gibraltar is Jabal Ṭāriq, "the mountain of Ṭāriq".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jabal
- Say it: jabal, once more
- Say it: say jabal
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tree, then the Arabic for a flower, then say jabal again

Before you move on

What does جبل mean? ("A mountain".) Say it once more.

Chapter 76

Forest, River, Stone, Sand, Field

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a forest, a river, a stone, sand and a field.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 76: I can say a forest, a river, a stone, sand and a field.

76.1 غابة (ghāba) — a forest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a flower, then the Arabic for a mountain.

You'll want to know: غابة

غابة — ghāba — "a forest".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غابة (ghāba) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-b, "to be absent, to be hidden" (Lane). Lane gives ghāba as a bed of reeds, a thicket or wood.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāba
- Say it: ghāba, once more
- Say it: say ghāba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a flower, then the Arabic for a mountain, then say ghāba again

Before you move on

What does غابة mean? ("A forest".) Say it once more.

76.2 نهر (nahr) — a river

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mountain, then the Arabic for a forest.

You'll want to know: نهر

نهر — nahr — "a river".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نهر (nahr) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-r, "a river" (Lane). Hebrew nahar, "river", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nahr
- Say it: nahr, once more
- Say it: say nahr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mountain, then the Arabic for a forest, then say nahr again

Before you move on

What does نهر mean? ("A river".) Say it once more.

76.3 حجر (ḥajar) — a stone

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a forest, then the Arabic for a river.

You'll want to know: حجر

حجر — ḥajar — "a stone".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حجر (ḥajar) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-r, "a stone; to hinder" (Lane). Lane lists ḥajar, "stone", under the same root as ḥajara, "to hinder".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥajar
- Say it: ḥajar, once more
- Say it: say ḥajar
- Recall: say the Arabic for a forest, then the Arabic for a river, then say ḥajar again

Before you move on

What does حجر mean? ("A stone".) Say it once more.

76.4 رمل (raml) — sand

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a river, then the Arabic for a stone.

You'll want to know: رمل

رمل — raml — "sand".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمل (raml), "sand", is an old native noun, filed under the root r-m-l (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raml
- Say it: raml, once more
- Say it: say raml
- Recall: say the Arabic for a river, then the Arabic for a stone, then say raml again

Before you move on

What does رمل mean? ("Sand".) Say it once more.

76.5 حقل (ḥaql) — a field

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stone, then the Arabic for sand.

You'll want to know: حقل

حقل — ḥaql — "a field".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقل (ḥaql) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-l, "young crops, a sown field" (Lane). Lane's ḥaql is a field of young green crops.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaql
- Say it: ḥaql, once more
- Say it: say ḥaql
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stone, then the Arabic for sand, then say ḥaql again

Before you move on

What does حقل mean? ("A field".) Say it once more.

Chapter 77

Star, Cloud, Sun, Moon, Sea

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a star, a cloud, the sun, the moon and the sea.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 77: I can say a star, a cloud, the sun, the moon and the sea.

77.1 نجم (najm) — a star

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sand, then the Arabic for a field.

You'll want to know: نجم

نجم — najm — "a star".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نجم (najm) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-m, "a star; to rise, to appear" (Lane). Lane gives najm as a star, and also the Pleiades.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: najm
- Say it: najm, once more
- Say it: say najm
- Recall: say the Arabic for sand, then the Arabic for a field, then say najm again

Before you move on

What does نجم mean? ("A star".) Say it once more.

77.2 سحابة (saḥāba) — a cloud

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a field, then the Arabic for a star.

You'll want to know: سحابة

سحابة — saḥāba — "a cloud".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سحابة (saḥāba) is built on the native Arabic root s-ḥ-b, "to drag, to draw along" (Lane). Saḥāba is one cloud of saḥāb, "clouds".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: saḥāba
- Say it: saḥāba, once more
- Say it: say saḥāba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a field, then the Arabic for a star, then say saḥāba again

Before you move on

What does سحابة mean? ("A cloud".) Say it once more.

77.3 شمس (shams) — the sun

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a star, then the Arabic for a cloud.

You'll want to know: شمس

شمس — shams — "the sun".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شمس (shams) is built on the native Arabic root sh-m-s, "the sun" (Lane). Hebrew shemesh, "sun", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shams
- Say it: shams, once more
- Say it: say shams
- Recall: say the Arabic for a star, then the Arabic for a cloud, then say shams again

Before you move on

What does شمس mean? ("The sun".) Say it once more.

77.4 قمر (qamar) — the moon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cloud, then the Arabic for the sun.

You'll want to know: قمر

قمر — qamar — "the moon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قمر (qamar), "the moon", is an old native noun, filed under the root q-m-r (Lane), beside the verb qamira, "to be dazzled (as by moonlight)".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qamar
- Say it: qamar, once more
- Say it: say qamar
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cloud, then the Arabic for the sun, then say qamar again

Before you move on

What does قمر mean? ("The moon".) Say it once more.

77.5 بحر (baḥr) — the sea

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the sun, then the Arabic for the moon.

You'll want to know: بحر

بحر — baḥr — "the sea".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بحر (baḥr) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḥ-r, "the sea; to slit" (Lane). Lane also gives a verb baḥara, "to slit, to cleave".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baḥr
- Say it: baḥr, once more
- Say it: say baḥr
- Recall: say the Arabic for the sun, then the Arabic for the moon, then say baḥr again

Before you move on

What does بحر mean? ("The sea".) Say it once more.

Chapter 78

Fire, Snow, Wind, Sky, Horse

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say fire, snow, wind, the sky and a horse.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 78: I can say fire, snow, wind, the sky and a horse.

78.1 نار (nār) — fire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the moon, then the Arabic for the sea.

You'll want to know: نار

نار — nār — "fire".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نار (nār) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-r, "light; fire" (Lane). The same root gives nūr, "light".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nār
- Say it: nār, once more
- Say it: say nār
- Recall: say the Arabic for the moon, then the Arabic for the sea, then say nār again

Before you move on

What does نار mean? ("Fire".) Say it once more.

78.2 ثلج (thalj) — snow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the sea, then the Arabic for fire.

You'll want to know: ثلج

ثلج — thalj — "snow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثلج (thalj) is built on the native Arabic root th-l-j, "snow" (Lane). Hebrew sheleg, "snow", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thalj
- Say it: thalj, once more
- Say it: say thalj
- Recall: say the Arabic for the sea, then the Arabic for fire, then say thalj again

Before you move on

What does ثلج mean? ("Snow".) Say it once more.

78.3 ريح (rīḥ) — wind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fire, then the Arabic for snow.

You'll want to know: ريح

ريح — rīḥ — "wind".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ريح (rīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "wind; breath" (Lane). The same root gives rūḥ, "spirit"; Hebrew ruaḥ, "wind, spirit", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rīḥ
- Say it: rīḥ, once more
- Say it: say rīḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for fire, then the Arabic for snow, then say rīḥ again

Before you move on

What does ريح mean? ("Wind".) Say it once more.

78.4 سماء (samāʾ) — the sky

Before the new one: say the Arabic for snow, then the Arabic for wind.

You'll want to know: سماء

سماء — samāʾ — "the sky".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سماء (samāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-w, "to be high" (Lane). Samāʾ is what is high above: the sky.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: samāʾ
- Say it: samāʾ, once more
- Say it: say samāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for snow, then the Arabic for wind, then say samāʾ again

Before you move on

What does سماء mean? ("The sky".) Say it once more.

78.5 حصان (ḥiṣān) — a horse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wind, then the Arabic for the sky.

You'll want to know: حصان

حصان — ḥiṣān — "a horse".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حصان (ḥiṣān) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṣ-n, "to be guarded; to be chaste" (Lane). Lane's ḥiṣān is a stallion of good breed.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥiṣān
- Say it: ḥiṣān, once more
- Say it: say ḥiṣān
- Recall: say the Arabic for wind, then the Arabic for the sky, then say ḥiṣān again

Before you move on

What does حصان mean? ("A horse".) Say it once more.

Chapter 79

Cow, Goat, Sheep, Mouse, Lion

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a cow, a goat, a sheep, a mouse and a lion.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 79: I can say a cow, a goat, a sheep, a mouse and a lion.

79.1 بقرة (baqara) — a cow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the sky, then the Arabic for a horse.

You'll want to know: بقرة

بقرة — baqara — "a cow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بقرة (baqara) is built on the native Arabic root b-q-r, "to slit, to split" (Lane). Baqara is one head of baqar, "cattle", which Lane lists under this root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baqara
- Say it: baqara, once more
- Say it: say baqara
- Recall: say the Arabic for the sky, then the Arabic for a horse, then say baqara again

Before you move on

What does بقرة mean? ("A cow".) Say it once more.

79.2 ماعز (mā^{c}iz) — a goat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a horse, then the Arabic for a cow.

You'll want to know: ماعز

ماعز — mā^{c}iz — "a goat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ماعز (mā^{c}iz) is built on the native Arabic root m-^{c}-z, "goats" (Lane). Mā^{c}iz is one goat; ma^{c}z is the collective.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mā^{c}iz
- Say it: mā^{c}iz, once more
- Say it: say mā^{c}iz
- Recall: say the Arabic for a horse, then the Arabic for a cow, then say mā^{c}iz again

Before you move on

What does ماعز mean? ("A goat".) Say it once more.

79.3 خروف (kharūf) — a sheep

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cow, then the Arabic for a goat.

You'll want to know: خروف

خروف — kharūf — "a sheep".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خروف (kharūf) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-f, "to gather fruit; to graze" (Lane). Lane's kharūf is a lamb, said to be so called because it grazes here and there; the same root gives kharīf, "autumn".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kharūf
- Say it: kharūf, once more
- Say it: say kharūf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cow, then the Arabic for a goat, then say kharūf again

Before you move on

What does خروف mean? ("A sheep".) Say it once more.

79.4 فأر (faʾr) — a mouse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a goat, then the Arabic for a sheep.

You'll want to know: فأر

فأر — faʾr — "a mouse".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فأر (faʾr) is built on the native Arabic root f-ʾ-r, "rats, mice" (Lane). An old noun with its own root in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: faʾr
- Say it: faʾr, once more
- Say it: say faʾr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a goat, then the Arabic for a sheep, then say faʾr again

Before you move on

What does فأر mean? ("A mouse".) Say it once more.

79.5 أسد (asad) — a lion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sheep, then the Arabic for a mouse.

You'll want to know: أسد

أسد — asad — "a lion".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسد (asad) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-s-d, "a lion" (Lane). An old noun with its own root in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: asad
- Say it: asad, once more
- Say it: say asad
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sheep, then the Arabic for a mouse, then say asad again

Before you move on

What does أسد mean? ("A lion".) Say it once more.

Chapter 80

Tiger, Elephant, Monkey, Snake, Bear

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tiger, an elephant, a monkey, a snake and a bear.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 80: I can say a tiger, an elephant, a monkey, a snake and a bear.

80.1 نمر (namir) — a tiger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mouse, then the Arabic for a lion.

You'll want to know: نمر

نمر — namir — "a tiger".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نمر (namir) is built on the native Arabic root n-m-r, "the leopard; to be spotted" (Lane). Lane's namir is the leopard, named for its spots; "tiger" is a later use.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: namir
- Say it: namir, once more
- Say it: say namir
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mouse, then the Arabic for a lion, then say namir again

Before you move on

What does نمر mean? ("A tiger".) Say it once more.

80.2 فيل (fīl) — an elephant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lion, then the Arabic for a tiger.

You'll want to know: فيل

فيل — fīl — "an elephant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فيل (fīl) is a loan: Lane gives it with Persian pīl, "elephant", and EtymDB derives it from Middle Persian pīl.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fīl
- Say it: fīl, once more
- Say it: say fīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lion, then the Arabic for a tiger, then say fīl again

Before you move on

What does فيل mean? ("An elephant".) Say it once more.

80.3 قرد (qird) — a monkey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tiger, then the Arabic for an elephant.

You'll want to know: قرد

قرد — qird — "a monkey".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرد (qird), "an ape, a monkey", is an old native noun, filed under the root q-r-d (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qird
- Say it: qird, once more
- Say it: say qird
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tiger, then the Arabic for an elephant, then say qird again

Before you move on

What does قرد mean? ("A monkey".) Say it once more.

80.4 ثعبان (thuᶜbān) — a snake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an elephant, then the Arabic for a monkey.

You'll want to know: ثعبان

ثعبان — thu^{c}bān — "a snake".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثعبان (thu^{c}bān) is built on the native Arabic root th-^{c}-b, "to make water flow" (Lane). Lane's thu^{c}bān is a large serpent.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thu^{c}bān
- Say it: thu^{c}bān, once more
- Say it: say thu^{c}bān
- Recall: say the Arabic for an elephant, then the Arabic for a monkey, then say thu^{c}bān again

Before you move on

What does ثعبان mean? ("A snake".) Say it once more.

80.5 دب (dubb) — a bear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a monkey, then the Arabic for a snake.

You'll want to know: دب

دب — dubb — "a bear".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دب (dubb) is built on the native Arabic root d-b-b, "to creep, to crawl" (Lane). Lane lists dubb, "a bear", under this root and quotes a source calling it a genuine Arabic word.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dubb
- Say it: dubb, once more
- Say it: say dubb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a monkey, then the Arabic for a snake, then say dubb again

Before you move on

What does دب mean? ("A bear".) Say it once more.

Chapter 81

Camel, Donkey, Hen, Big, Small

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a camel, a donkey, a hen, big and small.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 81: I can say a camel, a donkey, a hen, big and small.

81.1 جمل (jamal) — a camel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a snake, then the Arabic for a bear.

You'll want to know: جمل

جمل — jamal — "a camel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جمل (jamal), "a camel", is an old noun that Lane lists under the native Arabic root j-m-l. Hebrew gamal is its cousin, and English camel came through Greek kamēlos from a Semitic word of this kind.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jamal
- Say it: jamal, once more
- Say it: say jamal
- Recall: say the Arabic for a snake, then the Arabic for a bear, then say jamal again

Before you move on

What does جمل mean? ("A camel".) Say it once more.

81.2 حمار (ḥimār) — a donkey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bear, then the Arabic for a camel.

You'll want to know: حمار

حمار — ḥimār — "a donkey".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمار (ḥimār) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-r, "an ass; to be red" (Lane). Hebrew ḥamor, "donkey", is its cousin; Lane lists it under the same letters as aḥmar, "red".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥimār
- Say it: ḥimār, once more
- Say it: say ḥimār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bear, then the Arabic for a camel, then say ḥimār again

Before you move on

What does حمار mean? ("A donkey".) Say it once more.

81.3 دجاجة (dajāja) — a hen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a camel, then the Arabic for a donkey.

You'll want to know: دجاجة

دجاجة — dajāja — "a hen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دجاجة (dajāja) is one bird of dajāj, "fowls", an old native noun, filed under the root d-j-j (Lane): a hen.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dajāja
- Say it: dajāja, once more
- Say it: say dajāja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a camel, then the Arabic for a donkey, then say dajāja again

Before you move on

What does دجاجة mean? ("A hen".) Say it once more.

81.4 كبير (kabīr) — big

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a donkey, then the Arabic for a hen.

You'll want to know: كبير

كبير — kabīr — "big".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كبير (kabīr) is built on the native Arabic root k-b-r, "to be great, to grow old" (Lane). The same root gives akbar, "greater".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kabīr
- Say it: kabīr, once more
- Say it: say kabīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a donkey, then the Arabic for a hen, then say kabīr again

Before you move on

What does كبير mean? ("Big".) Say it once more.

81.5 صغير (ṣaghīr) — small

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hen, then the Arabic for big.

You'll want to know: صغير

صغير — ṣaghīr — "small".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صغير (ṣaghīr) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-gh-r, "to be small" (Lane). Ṣaghīr is the faᶜīl adjective, "small".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaghīr
- Say it: ṣaghīr, once more
- Say it: say ṣaghīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hen, then the Arabic for big, then say ṣaghīr again

Before you move on

What does صغير mean? ("Small".) Say it once more.

Chapter 82

New, Old, Good, Long, Short

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say new, old, good, long, tall and short.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 82: I can say new, old, good, long, tall and short.

82.1 جديد (jadīd) — new

Before the new one: say the Arabic for big, then the Arabic for small.

You'll want to know: جديد

جديد — jadīd — "new".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جديد (jadīd) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-d, "to cut" (Lane). Lane gives jadīd first as "cut, cut off", as cloth fresh from the loom; "new" became its common sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jadīd
- Say it: jadīd, once more
- Say it: say jadīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for big, then the Arabic for small, then say jadīd again

Before you move on

What does جديد mean? ("New".) Say it once more.

82.2 قديم (qadīm) — old

Before the new one: say the Arabic for small, then the Arabic for new.

You'll want to know: قديم

قديم — qadīm — "old".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قديم (qadīm) is built on the native Arabic root q-d-m, "to go before; to be old" (Lane). Qadīm is what came before: "old".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qadīm
- Say it: qadīm, once more
- Say it: say qadīm
- Recall: say the Arabic for small, then the Arabic for new, then say qadīm again

Before you move on

What does قديم mean? ("Old".) Say it once more.

82.3 جيد (jayyid) — good

Before the new one: say the Arabic for new, then the Arabic for old.

You'll want to know: جيد

جيد — jayyid — "good".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جيد (jayyid) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-d, "to be good, to be excellent" (Lane). Jayyid is the adjective, "good".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jayyid
- Say it: jayyid, once more
- Say it: say jayyid
- Recall: say the Arabic for new, then the Arabic for old, then say jayyid again

Before you move on

What does جيد mean? ("Good".) Say it once more.

82.4 طويل (ṭawīl) — long, tall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for old, then the Arabic for good.

You'll want to know: طويل

طويل — ṭawīl — "long, tall".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طويل (ṭawīl) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-l, "to be long" (Lane). Ṭawīl is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "long, tall".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭawīl
- Say it: ṭawīl, once more
- Say it: say ṭawīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for old, then the Arabic for good, then say ṭawīl again

Before you move on

What does طويل mean? ("Long, tall".) Say it once more.

82.5 قصير (qaṣīr) — short

Before the new one: say the Arabic for good, then the Arabic for long.

You'll want to know: قصير

قصير — qaṣīr — "short".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قصير (qaṣīr) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-r, "to be short" (Lane). Qaṣīr is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "short".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṣīr
- Say it: qaṣīr, once more
- Say it: say qaṣīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for good, then the Arabic for long, then say qaṣīr again

Before you move on

What does قصير mean? ("Short".) Say it once more.

Chapter 83

Slow, Fast, Easy, Difficult, Cheap

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say slow, fast, easy, difficult and cheap.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 83: I can say slow, fast, easy, difficult and cheap.

83.1 بطيء (baṭīʾ) — slow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for long, then the Arabic for short.

You'll want to know: بطيء

بطيء — baṭīʾ — "slow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطيء (baṭīʾ) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-ʾ, "to be slow" (Lane). Baṭīʾ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "slow".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭīʾ
- Say it: baṭīʾ, once more
- Say it: say baṭīʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for long, then the Arabic for short, then say baṭīʾ again

Before you move on

What does بطيء mean? ("Slow".) Say it once more.

83.2 سريع (sarīᶜ) — fast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for short, then the Arabic for slow.

You'll want to know: سريع

سريع — sarīᶜ — "fast".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سريع (sarīᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-ᶜ, "to be quick" (Lane). Sarīᶜ is the faᶜīl adjective, "fast".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sarīᶜ
- Say it: sarīᶜ, once more
- Say it: say sarīᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for short, then the Arabic for slow, then say sarīᶜ again

Before you move on

What does سريع mean? ("Fast".) Say it once more.

83.3 سهل (sahl) — easy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for slow, then the Arabic for fast.

You'll want to know: سهل

سهل — sahl — "easy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سهل (sahl) is built on the native Arabic root s-h-l, "to be easy; level ground" (Lane). Sahl is also level, plain ground.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sahl
- Say it: sahl, once more
- Say it: say sahl
- Recall: say the Arabic for slow, then the Arabic for fast, then say sahl again

Before you move on

What does سهل mean? ("Easy".) Say it once more.

83.4 صعب (ṣa^{c}b) — difficult

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fast, then the Arabic for easy.

You'll want to know: صعب

صعب — ṣa^{c}b — "difficult".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صعب (ṣa^{c}b) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-^{c}-b, "to be hard, difficult" (Lane). Ṣa^{c}b is the plain adjective, "difficult".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣa^{c}b
- Say it: ṣa^{c}b, once more
- Say it: say ṣa^{c}b
- Recall: say the Arabic for fast, then the Arabic for easy, then say ṣa^{c}b again

Before you move on

What does صعب mean? ("Difficult".) Say it once more.

83.5 رخيص (rakhīṣ) — cheap

Before the new one: say the Arabic for easy, then the Arabic for difficult.

You'll want to know: رخيص

رخيص — rakhīṣ — "cheap".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رخيص (rakhīṣ) is built on the native Arabic root r-kh-ṣ, "to be cheap; to be soft" (Lane). Rakhīṣ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "cheap".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rakhīṣ
- Say it: rakhīṣ, once more
- Say it: say rakhīṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for easy, then the Arabic for difficult, then say rakhīṣ again

Before you move on

What does رخيص mean? ("Cheap".) Say it once more.

Chapter 84

Empty, Rich, Poor, Clean, Dirty

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say empty, rich, poor, clean and dirty.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 84: I can say empty, rich, poor, clean and dirty.

84.1 فارغ (fārigh) — empty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for difficult, then the Arabic for cheap.

You'll want to know: فارغ

فارغ — fārigh — "empty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فارغ (fārigh) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-gh, "to be empty, to be free" (Lane). Fārigh is the active participle, "empty, vacant".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fārigh
- Say it: fārigh, once more
- Say it: say fārigh
- Recall: say the Arabic for difficult, then the Arabic for cheap, then say fārigh again

Before you move on

What does فارغ mean? ("Empty".) Say it once more.

84.2 غني (ghanī) — rich

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cheap, then the Arabic for empty.

You'll want to know: غني

غني — ghanī — "rich".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غني (ghanī) is built on the native Arabic root gh-n-y, "to be free from want, to be rich" (Lane). Ghanī is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "rich".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghanī
- Say it: ghanī, once more
- Say it: say ghanī
- Recall: say the Arabic for cheap, then the Arabic for empty, then say ghanī again

Before you move on

What does غني mean? ("Rich".) Say it once more.

84.3 فقير (faqīr) — poor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for empty, then the Arabic for rich.

You'll want to know: فقير

فقير — faqīr — "poor".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فقير (faqīr) is built on the native Arabic root f-q-r, "to be poor; a vertebra" (Lane). English fakir comes from faqīr.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: faqīr
- Say it: faqīr, once more
- Say it: say faqīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for empty, then the Arabic for rich, then say faqīr again

Before you move on

What does فقير mean? ("Poor".) Say it once more.

84.4 نظيف (naẓīf) — clean

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rich, then the Arabic for poor.

You'll want to know: نظيف

نظيف — naẓīf — "clean".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نظيف (naẓīf) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-f, "to be clean"; Lane's short article on this root does not treat it. Naẓīf is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "clean".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: naẓīf
- Say it: naẓīf, once more
- Say it: say naẓīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for rich, then the Arabic for poor, then say naẓīf again

Before you move on

What does نظيف mean? ("Clean".) Say it once more.

84.5 وسخ (wasikh) — dirty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for poor, then the Arabic for clean.

You'll want to know: وسخ

وسخ — wasikh — "dirty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وسخ (wasikh) is built on the native Arabic root w-s-kh, "to be dirty" (Lane). Wasikh is the adjective, "dirty".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wasikh
- Say it: wasikh, once more
- Say it: say wasikh
- Recall: say the Arabic for poor, then the Arabic for clean, then say wasikh again

Before you move on

What does وسخ mean? ("Dirty".) Say it once more.

Chapter 85

Light, Heavy, Correct, Mistake, Important

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say light, heavy, correct, true, a mistake and important.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 85: I can say light, heavy, correct, true, a mistake and important.

85.1 خفيف (khafīf) — light (in weight)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for clean, then the Arabic for dirty.

You'll want to know: خفيف

خفيف — khafīf — "light (in weight)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خفيف (khafīf) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-f, "to be light" (Lane). Khafīf is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "light".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khafīf
- Say it: khafīf, once more
- Say it: say khafīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for clean, then the Arabic for dirty, then say khafīf again

Before you move on

What does خفيف mean? ("Light (in weight)".) Say it once more.

85.2 ثقيل (thaqīl) — heavy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dirty, then the Arabic for light.

You'll want to know: ثقيل

ثقيل — thaqīl — "heavy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثقيل (thaqīl) is built on the native Arabic root th-q-l, "to be heavy" (Lane). Hebrew shaqal, "to weigh", the source of English shekel, is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thaqīl
- Say it: thaqīl, once more
- Say it: say thaqīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for dirty, then the Arabic for light, then say thaqīl again

Before you move on

What does ثقيل mean? ("Heavy".) Say it once more.

85.3 صحيح (ṣaḥīḥ) — correct, true

Before the new one: say the Arabic for light, then the Arabic for heavy.

You'll want to know: صحيح

صحيح — ṣaḥīḥ — "correct, true".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحيح (ṣaḥīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-ḥ, "to be sound, free from defect" (Lane). Ṣaḥīḥ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "sound, correct".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaḥīḥ
- Say it: ṣaḥīḥ, once more
- Say it: say ṣaḥīḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for light, then the Arabic for heavy, then say ṣaḥīḥ again

Before you move on

What does صحيح mean? ("Correct, true".) Say it once more.

85.4 خطأ (khaṭaʾ) — a mistake; wrong

Before the new one: say the Arabic for heavy, then the Arabic for correct.

You'll want to know: خطأ

خطأ — khaṭaʾ — "a mistake; wrong".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطأ (khaṭaʾ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-ʾ, "to err, to sin" (Lane). Hebrew ḥeṭ, "sin", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭaʾ
- Say it: khaṭaʾ, once more
- Say it: say khaṭaʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for heavy, then the Arabic for correct, then say khaṭaʾ again

Before you move on

What does خطأ mean? ("A mistake; wrong".) Say it once more.

85.5 مهم (muhimm) — important

Before the new one: say the Arabic for correct, then the Arabic for a mistake; wrong.

You'll want to know: مهم

مهم — muhimm — "important".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهم (muhimm) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-m, "to concern, to make anxious" (Lane). Muhimm is the Form IV participle, "that which concerns".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muhimm
- Say it: muhimm, once more
- Say it: say muhimm
- Recall: say the Arabic for correct, then the Arabic for a mistake; wrong, then say muhimm again

Before you move on

What does مهم mean? ("Important".) Say it once more.

Chapter 86

Beautiful, Brown, Week, Month, Minute

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say beautiful, brown, a week, a month and a minute.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 86: I can say beautiful, brown, a week, a month and a minute.

86.1 جميل (jamīl) — beautiful

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mistake; wrong, then the Arabic for important.

You'll want to know: جميل

جميل — jamīl — "beautiful".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جميل (jamīl) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-l, "to be beautiful" (Lane). Jamīl is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "beautiful".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jamīl
- Say it: jamīl, once more
- Say it: say jamīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mistake; wrong, then the Arabic for important, then say jamīl again

Before you move on

What does جميل mean? ("Beautiful".) Say it once more.

86.2 بني (bunnī) — brown

Before the new one: say the Arabic for important, then the Arabic for beautiful.

You'll want to know: بني

بني — bunnī — "brown".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بني (bunnī) is the colour of bunn, coffee beans, with the adjective ending -ī. Lane records bunn as coffee berries, and EtymDB derives it from Amharic bunna, "coffee".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bunnī
- Say it: bunnī, once more
- Say it: say bunnī
- Recall: say the Arabic for important, then the Arabic for beautiful, then say bunnī again

Before you move on

What does بني mean? ("Brown".) Say it once more.

86.3 أسبوع (usbū^c) — a week

Before the new one: say the Arabic for beautiful, then the Arabic for brown.

You'll want to know: أسبوع

أسبوع — usbū^{c} — "a week".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسبوع (usbū^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-^{c}, "seven" (Lane). Usbū^{c} is a set of seven days.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: usbū^{c}
- Say it: usbū^{c}, once more
- Say it: say usbū^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for beautiful, then the Arabic for brown, then say usbū^{c} again

Before you move on

What does أسبوع mean? ("A week".) Say it once more.

86.4 شهر (shahr) — a month

Before the new one: say the Arabic for brown, then the Arabic for a week.

You'll want to know: شهر

شهر — shahr — "a month".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شهر (shahr) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-r, "to make known; the new moon" (Lane). Lane gives shahr first as the new moon, named for being conspicuous, then the month; the same root gives mashhūr, "famous".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shahr
- Say it: shahr, once more
- Say it: say shahr
- Recall: say the Arabic for brown, then the Arabic for a week, then say shahr again

Before you move on

What does شهر mean? ("A month".) Say it once more.

86.5 دقيقة (daqīqa) — a minute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a week, then the Arabic for a month.

You'll want to know: دقيقة

دقيقة — daqīqa — "a minute".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دقيقة (daqīqa) is built on the native Arabic root d-q-q, "to be fine, thin, small" (Lane). Daqīqa is "a fine, small part", here of the hour.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: daqīqa
- Say it: daqīqa, once more
- Say it: say daqīqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a week, then the Arabic for a month, then say daqīqa again

Before you move on

What does دقيقة mean? ("A minute".) Say it once more.

Chapter 87

Yesterday, Tomorrow, Now, Sometimes, Before

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say yesterday, tomorrow, now, sometimes and before.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 87: I can say yesterday, tomorrow, now, sometimes and before.

87.1 أمس (ams) — yesterday

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a month, then the Arabic for a minute.

You'll want to know: أمس

أمس — ams — "yesterday".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمس (ams) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-s, "yesterday" (Lane). Hebrew emesh, "last night", is usually compared.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ams
- Say it: ams, once more
- Say it: say ams
- Recall: say the Arabic for a month, then the Arabic for a minute, then say ams again

Before you move on

What does أمس mean? ("Yesterday".) Say it once more.

87.2 غدا (ghadan) — tomorrow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a minute, then the Arabic for yesterday.

You'll want to know: غدا

غدا — ghadan — "tomorrow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غدا (ghadan) is built on the native Arabic root gh-d-w, "to go forth early in the morning" (Lane). Lane gives ghad, "tomorrow", and ghudwa, "early morning", on one root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghadan
- Say it: ghadan, once more
- Say it: say ghadan
- Recall: say the Arabic for a minute, then the Arabic for yesterday, then say ghadan again

Before you move on

What does غدا mean? ("Tomorrow".) Say it once more.

87.3 الآن (al-ān) — now

Before the new one: say the Arabic for yesterday, then the Arabic for tomorrow.

You'll want to know: الآن

الآن — al-ān — "now".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

الآن (al-ān) is listed by Lane under ʾ-y-n (some put it under ʾ-w-n) as a noun of the present time whose al- is never removed. It is built on ān, "time".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: al-ān
- Say it: al-ān, once more
- Say it: say al-ān
- Recall: say the Arabic for yesterday, then the Arabic for tomorrow, then say al-ān again

Before you move on

What does الآن mean? ("Now".) Say it once more.

87.4 أحيانا (aḥyānan) — sometimes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tomorrow, then the Arabic for now.

You'll want to know: أحيانا

أحيانا — aḥyānan — "sometimes".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أحيانا (aḥyānan) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-y-n, "a time" (Lane). Aḥyānan is aḥyān, the plural of ḥīn, "a time", with the adverb ending -an: "at times".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aḥyānan
- Say it: aḥyānan, once more
- Say it: say aḥyānan
- Recall: say the Arabic for tomorrow, then the Arabic for now, then say aḥyānan again

Before you move on

What does أحيانا mean? ("Sometimes".) Say it once more.

87.5 قبل (qabla) — before

Before the new one: say the Arabic for now, then the Arabic for sometimes.

You'll want to know: قبل

قبل — qabla — "before".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبل (qabla) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to face, to be in front" (Lane). The same root gives qibla, the direction one faces in prayer.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qabla
- Say it: qabla, once more
- Say it: say qabla
- Recall: say the Arabic for now, then the Arabic for sometimes, then say qabla again

Before you move on

What does قبل mean? ("Before".) Say it once more.

Chapter 88

After, Time, Far, Near, Inside

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say after, time, far, near and inside.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 88: I can say after, time, far, near and inside.

88.1 بعد (ba^{c}da) — after

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sometimes, then the Arabic for before.

You'll want to know: بعد

بعد — ba^{c}da — "after".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بعد (ba^{c}da) is built on the native Arabic root b-^{c}-d, "to be far" (Lane). Ba^{c}da is "after", what lies further on.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ba^{c}da
- Say it: ba^{c}da, once more
- Say it: say ba^{c}da
- Recall: say the Arabic for sometimes, then the Arabic for before, then say ba^{c}da again

Before you move on

What does بعد mean? ("After".) Say it once more.

88.2 وقت (waqt) — time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for before, then the Arabic for after.

You'll want to know: وقت

وقت — waqt — "time".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وقت (waqt) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-t, "an appointed time" (Lane). Lane's waqt is a fixed or appointed time.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waqt
- Say it: waqt, once more
- Say it: say waqt
- Recall: say the Arabic for before, then the Arabic for after, then say waqt again

Before you move on

What does وقت mean? ("Time".) Say it once more.

88.3 بعيد (ba^{c}īd) — far

Before the new one: say the Arabic for after, then the Arabic for time.

You'll want to know: بعيد

بعيد — ba^{c}īd — "far".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بعيد (ba^{c}īd) is built on the native Arabic root b-^{c}-d, "to be far" (Lane). Ba^{c}īd is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "far".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ba^{c}īd
- Say it: ba^{c}īd, once more
- Say it: say ba^{c}īd
- Recall: say the Arabic for after, then the Arabic for time, then say ba^{c}īd again

Before you move on

What does بعيد mean? ("Far".) Say it once more.

88.4 قريب (qarīb) — near

Before the new one: say the Arabic for time, then the Arabic for far.

You'll want to know: قريب

قريب — qarīb — "near".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قريب (qarīb) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-b, "to be near" (Lane). Qarīb is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "near".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarīb
- Say it: qarīb, once more
- Say it: say qarīb
- Recall: say the Arabic for time, then the Arabic for far, then say qarīb again

Before you move on

What does قريب mean? ("Near".) Say it once more.

88.5 داخل (dākhil) — inside

Before the new one: say the Arabic for far, then the Arabic for near.

You'll want to know: داخل

داخل — dākhil — "inside".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

داخل (dākhil) is built on the native Arabic root d-kh-l, "to enter" (Lane). Dākhil is the active participle, "entering", hence "inside".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dākhil
- Say it: dākhil, once more
- Say it: say dākhil
- Recall: say the Arabic for far, then the Arabic for near, then say dākhil again

Before you move on

What does داخل mean? ("Inside".) Say it once more.

Chapter 89

Outside, Above, Below, In front of, Behind

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say outside, above, below, in front of and behind.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 89: I can say outside, above, below, in front of and behind.

89.1 خارج (khārij) — outside

Before the new one: say the Arabic for near, then the Arabic for inside.

You'll want to know: خارج

خارج — khārij — "outside".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خارج (khārij) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-j, "to go out" (Lane). Khārij is the active participle, "going out", hence "outside".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khārij
- Say it: khārij, once more
- Say it: say khārij
- Recall: say the Arabic for near, then the Arabic for inside, then say khārij again

Before you move on

What does خارج mean? ("Outside".) Say it once more.

89.2 فوق (fawqa) — above

Before the new one: say the Arabic for inside, then the Arabic for outside.

You'll want to know: فوق

فوق — fawqa — "above".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فوق (fawqa) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-q, "to surpass, to be above" (Lane). Fawqa is "above".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fawqa
- Say it: fawqa, once more
- Say it: say fawqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for inside, then the Arabic for outside, then say fawqa again

Before you move on

What does فوق mean? ("Above".) Say it once more.

89.3 تحت (taḥta) — below

Before the new one: say the Arabic for outside, then the Arabic for above.

You'll want to know: تحت

تحت — taḥta — "below".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحت (taḥta) is built on the native Arabic root t-ḥ-t, "below, beneath" (Lane). Hebrew taḥat, "under", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥta
- Say it: taḥta, once more
- Say it: say taḥta
- Recall: say the Arabic for outside, then the Arabic for above, then say taḥta again

Before you move on

What does تحت mean? ("Below".) Say it once more.

89.4 أمام (amāma) — in front of

Before the new one: say the Arabic for above, then the Arabic for below.

You'll want to know: أمام

أمام — amāma — "in front of".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمام (amāma) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-m, "to aim at, to lead" (Lane). The same root gives imām, "the one who leads".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: amāma
- Say it: amāma, once more
- Say it: say amāma
- Recall: say the Arabic for above, then the Arabic for below, then say amāma again

Before you move on

What does أمام mean? ("In front of".) Say it once more.

89.5 وراء (warāʾa) — behind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for below, then the Arabic for in front of.

You'll want to know: وراء

وراء — warāʾa — "behind".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وراء (warāʾa) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-y, "to hide, to conceal" (Lane). Lane gives warāʾ as what is behind, the side at one's back.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: warāʾa
- Say it: warāʾa, once more
- Say it: say warāʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for below, then the Arabic for in front of, then say warāʾa again

Before you move on

What does وراء mean? ("Behind".) Say it once more.

Chapter 90

Here, There, Right, Shop, Street

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say here, there, right, a shop and a street.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 90: I can say here, there, right, a shop and a street.

90.1 هنا (hunā) — here

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in front of, then the Arabic for behind.

You'll want to know: هنا

هنا — hunā — "here".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هنا (hunā) is an old Arabic pointing word of place. It is not built on a three-letter root; Hebrew hēnnā, "hither", is often compared.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hunā
- Say it: hunā, once more
- Say it: say hunā
- Recall: say the Arabic for in front of, then the Arabic for behind, then say hunā again

Before you move on

What does هنا mean? ("Here".) Say it once more.

90.2 هناك (hunāka) — there

Before the new one: say the Arabic for behind, then the Arabic for here.

You'll want to know: هناك

هناك — hunāka — "there".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هناك (hunāka) is built from hunā, "here", with the distance ending -ka, the same ending heard in dhālika, "that".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hunāka
- Say it: hunāka, once more
- Say it: say hunāka
- Recall: say the Arabic for behind, then the Arabic for here, then say hunāka again

Before you move on

What does هناك mean? ("There".) Say it once more.

90.3 يمين (yamīn) — right (side)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for here, then the Arabic for there.

You'll want to know: يمين

يمين — yamīn — "right (side)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يمين (yamīn) is built on the native Arabic root y-m-n, "the right hand; good fortune" (Lane). Hebrew yamin, "right hand", heard in the name Benjamin, is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: yamīn
- Say it: yamīn, once more
- Say it: say yamīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for here, then the Arabic for there, then say yamīn again

Before you move on

What does يمين mean? ("Right (side)".) Say it once more.

90.4 متجر (matjar) — a shop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for there, then the Arabic for right.

You'll want to know: متجر

متجر — matjar — "a shop".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متجر (matjar) is built on the native Arabic root t-j-r, "to trade" (Lane). Matjar is the ma- noun of trading, "a place of trade".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: matjar
- Say it: matjar, once more
- Say it: say matjar
- Recall: say the Arabic for there, then the Arabic for right, then say matjar again

Before you move on

What does متجر mean? ("A shop".) Say it once more.

90.5 شارع (shāri^c) — a street

Before the new one: say the Arabic for right, then the Arabic for a shop.

You'll want to know: شارع

شارع — shāri^c — "a street".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شارع (shāri^c) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-^{c}, "to enter upon, to open a way" (Lane). Lane's shāri^c is an open road; the same root gives sharī^{c}a, "a path, a law".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shāri^{c}
- Say it: shāri^{c}, once more
- Say it: say shāri^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for right, then the Arabic for a shop, then say shāri^{c} again

Before you move on

What does شارع mean? ("A street".) Say it once more.

Chapter 91

Road, Bank, Station, Car, Bus

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a road, a bank, a station, a car and a bus.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 91: I can say a road, a bank, a station, a car and a bus.

91.1 طريق (ṭarīq) — a road

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shop, then the Arabic for a street.

You'll want to know: طريق

طريق — ṭarīq — "a road".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طريق (ṭarīq) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-q, "to strike, to beat" (Lane). Lane's ṭarīq is a beaten track, a road.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭarīq
- Say it: ṭarīq, once more
- Say it: say ṭarīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shop, then the Arabic for a street, then say ṭarīq again

Before you move on

What does طريق mean? ("A road".) Say it once more.

91.2 بنك (bank) — a bank

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a street, then the Arabic for a road.

You'll want to know: بنك

بنك — bank — "a bank".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بنك (bank) is borrowed from the European word, Italian banco or French banque, "bank", once a moneychanger's bench; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bank
- Say it: bank, once more
- Say it: say bank
- Recall: say the Arabic for a street, then the Arabic for a road, then say bank again

Before you move on

What does بنك mean? ("A bank".) Say it once more.

91.3 محطة (maḥaṭṭa) — a station

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a road, then the Arabic for a bank.

You'll want to know: محطة

محطة — maḥaṭṭa — "a station".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محطة (maḥaṭṭa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṭ-ṭ, "to put down, to set down" (Lane). Maḥaṭṭa is the ma- place noun, "a place of setting down, a halt".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥaṭṭa
- Say it: maḥaṭṭa, once more
- Say it: say maḥaṭṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a road, then the Arabic for a bank, then say maḥaṭṭa again

Before you move on

What does محطة mean? ("A station".) Say it once more.

91.4 سيارة (sayyāra) — a car

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bank, then the Arabic for a station.

You'll want to know: سيارة

سيارة — sayyāra — "a car".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سيارة (sayyāra) is built on the native Arabic root s-y-r, "to go, to travel" (Lane). Lane gives sayyāra as a company of travellers, a caravan; the car is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sayyāra
- Say it: sayyāra, once more
- Say it: say sayyāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bank, then the Arabic for a station, then say sayyāra again

Before you move on

What does سيارة mean? ("A car".) Say it once more.

91.5 حافلة (ḥāfila) — a bus

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a station, then the Arabic for a car.

You'll want to know: حافلة

حافلة — ḥāfila — "a bus".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حافلة (ḥāfila) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-l, "to gather, to fill" (Lane). Lane's ḥāfil is a full udder or a valley in flood; as the word for a bus ḥāfila is a modern coinage.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāfila
- Say it: ḥāfila, once more
- Say it: say ḥāfila
- Recall: say the Arabic for a station, then the Arabic for a car, then say ḥāfila again

Before you move on

What does حافلة mean? ("A bus".) Say it once more.

Chapter 92

Train, Bridge, Mosque, Hotel, Office

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a train, a bridge, a mosque, a hotel and an office.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 92: I can say a train, a bridge, a mosque, a hotel and an office.

92.1 قطار (qiṭār) — a train

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a car, then the Arabic for a bus.

You'll want to know: قطار

قطار — qiṭār — "a train".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطار (qiṭār) is filed under the native Arabic root q-ṭ-r, "to drip, to fall in drops" (Lane). Lane's qiṭār is a string of camels led one behind another; the train is the modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qiṭār
- Say it: qiṭār, once more
- Say it: say qiṭār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a car, then the Arabic for a bus, then say qiṭār again

Before you move on

What does قطار mean? ("A train".) Say it once more.

92.2 جسر (jisr) — a bridge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bus, then the Arabic for a train.

You'll want to know: جسر

جسر — jisr — "a bridge".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جسر (jisr) is built on the native Arabic root j-s-r, "a bridge; to be bold" (Lane). An old noun; Lane lists it under j-s-r.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jisr
- Say it: jisr, once more
- Say it: say jisr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bus, then the Arabic for a train, then say jisr again

Before you move on

What does جسر mean? ("A bridge".) Say it once more.

92.3 مسجد (masjid) — a mosque

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a train, then the Arabic for a bridge.

You'll want to know: مسجد

مسجد — masjid — "a mosque".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسجد (masjid) is built on the native Arabic root s-j-d, "to bow down, to prostrate oneself" (Lane). Masjid is the ma- place noun, "a place of prostration"; English mosque comes from it by way of Spanish and French.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: masjid
- Say it: masjid, once more
- Say it: say masjid
- Recall: say the Arabic for a train, then the Arabic for a bridge, then say masjid again

Before you move on

What does مسجد mean? ("A mosque".) Say it once more.

92.4 فندق (funduq) — a hotel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bridge, then the Arabic for a mosque.

You'll want to know: فندق

فندق — funduq — "a hotel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فندق (funduq) is a loan. Lane reports it as said to be Persian and adds that it seems to come from Greek pandokheion, "inn", a word in the Gospel of Luke; EtymDB gives the same Greek source.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: funduq
- Say it: funduq, once more
- Say it: say funduq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bridge, then the Arabic for a mosque, then say funduq again

Before you move on

What does فندق mean? ("A hotel".) Say it once more.

92.5 مكتب (maktab) — an office; a desk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mosque, then the Arabic for a hotel.

You'll want to know: مكتب

مكتب — maktab — "an office; a desk".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكتب (maktab) is built on the native Arabic root k-t-b, "to write" (Lane). Maktab is the ma- place noun, "a place of writing": a desk, an office.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maktab
- Say it: maktab, once more
- Say it: say maktab
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mosque, then the Arabic for a hotel, then say maktab again

Before you move on

What does مكتب mean? ("An office; a desk".) Say it once more.

Chapter 93

Police, Market, Village, City, Restaurant

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the police, a market, a village, a city and a restaurant.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 93: I can say the police, a market, a village, a city and a restaurant.

93.1 شرطة (shurṭa) — the police

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hotel, then the Arabic for an office; a desk.

You'll want to know: شرطة

شرطة — shurṭa — "the police".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرطة (shurṭa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ṭ, "to make a condition; a sign, a mark" (Lane). Lane's shurṭa is the picked men of an army; the police are a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shurṭa
- Say it: shurṭa, once more
- Say it: say shurṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hotel, then the Arabic for an office; a desk, then say shurṭa again

Before you move on

What does شرطة mean? ("The police".) Say it once more.

93.2 سوق (sūq) — a market

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an office; a desk, then the Arabic for the police.

You'll want to know: سوق

سوق — sūq — "a market".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سوق (sūq) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-q, "to drive (cattle)" (Lane). Lane quotes the explanation that a market is named because people drive their goods to it; English souk comes from sūq.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sūq
- Say it: sūq, once more
- Say it: say sūq
- Recall: say the Arabic for an office; a desk, then the Arabic for the police, then say sūq again

Before you move on

What does سوق mean? ("A market".) Say it once more.

93.3 قرية (qarya) — a village

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the police, then the Arabic for a market.

You'll want to know: قرية

قرية — qarya — "a village".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرية (qarya) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-y, "a town, a village" (Lane). Lane's qarya is a town or village, smaller than a madīna.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarya
- Say it: qarya, once more
- Say it: say qarya
- Recall: say the Arabic for the police, then the Arabic for a market, then say qarya again

Before you move on

What does قرية mean? ("A village".) Say it once more.

93.4 مدينة (madīna) — a city

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a market, then the Arabic for a village.

You'll want to know: مدينة

مدينة — madīna — "a city".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدينة (madīna) is listed by Lane under d-y-n, "to be subject, to be under authority", as a city held under rule. Aramaic mdīnā, "province, city", is the same formation, and many treat the Arabic word as borrowed from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: madīna
- Say it: madīna, once more
- Say it: say madīna
- Recall: say the Arabic for a market, then the Arabic for a village, then say madīna again

Before you move on

What does مدينة mean? ("A city".) Say it once more.

93.5 مطعم (maṭᶜam) — a restaurant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a village, then the Arabic for a city.

You'll want to know: مطعم

مطعم — maṭᶜam — "a restaurant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مطعم (maṭᶜam) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-ᶜ-m, "to eat, to taste" (Lane). Maṭᶜam is the ma- place noun, "a place of eating".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maṭᶜam
- Say it: maṭᶜam, once more
- Say it: say maṭᶜam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a village, then the Arabic for a city, then say maṭᶜam again

Before you move on

What does مطعم mean? ("A restaurant".) Say it once more.

Chapter 94

Clothes, Shirt, Dress, Trousers, Sock

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say clothes, a shirt, a dress, trousers and a sock.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 94: I can say clothes, a shirt, a dress, trousers and a sock.

94.1 ملابس (malābis) — clothes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a city, then the Arabic for a restaurant.

You'll want to know: ملابس

ملابس — malābis — "clothes".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملابس (malābis) is built on the native Arabic root l-b-s, "to put on, to wear" (Lane). Malābis is the plural of malbas, "a thing worn".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: malābis
- Say it: malābis, once more
- Say it: say malābis
- Recall: say the Arabic for a city, then the Arabic for a restaurant, then say malābis again

Before you move on

What does ملابس mean? ("Clothes".) Say it once more.

94.2 قميص (qamīṣ) — a shirt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a restaurant, then the Arabic for clothes.

You'll want to know: قميص

قميص — qamīṣ — "a shirt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قميص (qamīṣ) is listed by Lane under q-m-ṣ as a well-known sewn garment with sleeves. It is usually traced to Late Latin camisia, "shirt" (EtymDB), probably through Greek or Aramaic.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qamīṣ
- Say it: qamīṣ, once more
- Say it: say qamīṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a restaurant, then the Arabic for clothes, then say qamīṣ again

Before you move on

What does قميص mean? ("A shirt".) Say it once more.

94.3 فستان (fustān) — a dress

Before the new one: say the Arabic for clothes, then the Arabic for a shirt.

You'll want to know: فستان

فستان — fustān — "a dress".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فستان (fustān) is a later loan, usually traced through Turkish fistan to Greek phoustani, "skirt"; the chain is not fully settled. It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fustān
- Say it: fustān, once more
- Say it: say fustān
- Recall: say the Arabic for clothes, then the Arabic for a shirt, then say fustān again

Before you move on

What does فستان mean? ("A dress".) Say it once more.

94.4 سروال (sirwāl) — trousers

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shirt, then the Arabic for a dress.

You'll want to know: سروال

سروال — sirwāl — "trousers".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سروال (sirwāl) is a loan: Lane records it as a Persian word, originally shalwār, "drawers, trousers", arabicized, and quotes Sībawayh calling it foreign.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sirwāl
- Say it: sirwāl, once more
- Say it: say sirwāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shirt, then the Arabic for a dress, then say sirwāl again

Before you move on

What does سروال mean? ("Trousers".) Say it once more.

94.5 جورب (jawrab) — a sock

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dress, then the Arabic for trousers.

You'll want to know: جورب

جورب — jawrab — "a sock".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جورب (jawrab) is a loan: Lane records it as arabicized from Persian gūrab, and notes that its plural jawāriba marks it as foreign.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jawrab
- Say it: jawrab, once more
- Say it: say jawrab
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dress, then the Arabic for trousers, then say jawrab again

Before you move on

What does جورب mean? ("A sock".) Say it once more.

Chapter 95

Pocket, Ring, Hat, Shoe, Coat

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a pocket, a ring, a hat, a shoe and a coat.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 95: I can say a pocket, a ring, a hat, a shoe and a coat.

95.1 جيب (jayb) — a pocket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for trousers, then the Arabic for a sock.

You'll want to know: جيب

جيب — jayb — "a pocket".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جيب (jayb) is built on the native Arabic root j-y-b, which Lane treats under j-w-b, "to cut through, to hollow out". Lane's jayb is the opening at the neck and bosom of a shirt; "pocket" came later. The usual account is that medieval Latin translators read the Arabic word for a sine, a loan from Sanskrit jyā, as this word and rendered it sinus, the source of English sine.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jayb
- Say it: jayb, once more
- Say it: say jayb
- Recall: say the Arabic for trousers, then the Arabic for a sock, then say jayb again

Before you move on

What does جيب mean? ("A pocket".) Say it once more.

95.2 خاتم (khātam) — a ring

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sock, then the Arabic for a pocket.

You'll want to know: خاتم

خاتم — khātam — "a ring".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خاتم (khātam) is built on the native Arabic root kh-t-m, "to seal" (Lane). Khātam is a seal, a signet ring.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khātam
- Say it: khātam, once more
- Say it: say khātam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sock, then the Arabic for a pocket, then say khātam again

Before you move on

What does خاتم mean? ("A ring".) Say it once more.

95.3 قبعة (qubbaᶜa) — a hat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pocket, then the Arabic for a ring.

You'll want to know: قبعة

قبعة — qubba^{c}a — "a hat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبعة (qubba^{c}a) is usually traced to Syriac qubba^{c}ā, "hood" (EtymDB); Lane has no entry for it, though a root q-b-^{c} exists in his lexicon.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qubba^{c}a
- Say it: qubba^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say qubba^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pocket, then the Arabic for a ring, then say qubba^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does قبعة mean? ("A hat".) Say it once more.

95.4 حذاء (ḥidhāʾ) — a shoe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ring, then the Arabic for a hat.

You'll want to know: حذاء

حذاء — ḥidhāʾ — "a shoe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حذاء (ḥidhāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-dh-w, "to cut a sandal to a pattern" (Lane). Lane's verb ḥadhā is to measure and cut a sandal by a pattern.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥidhāʾ
- Say it: ḥidhāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ḥidhāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ring, then the Arabic for a hat, then say ḥidhāʾ again

Before you move on

What does حذاء mean? ("A shoe".) Say it once more.

95.5 معطف (miᶜṭaf) — a coat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hat, then the Arabic for a shoe.

You'll want to know: معطف

معطف — miᶜṭaf — "a coat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معطف (miᶜṭaf) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-f, "to bend, to incline" (Lane). Lane's miᶜṭaf is a cloak, the same as ᶜiṭāf.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mi^{c}ṭaf
- Say it: mi^{c}ṭaf, once more
- Say it: say mi^{c}ṭaf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hat, then the Arabic for a shoe, then say mi^{c}ṭaf again

Before you move on

What does معطف mean? ("A coat".) Say it once more.

Chapter 96

Belt, Six, Seven, Eight, Nine

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a belt, six, seven, eight and nine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 96: I can say a belt, six, seven, eight and nine.

96.1 حزام (ḥizām) — a belt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shoe, then the Arabic for a coat.

You'll want to know: حزام

حزام — ḥizām — "a belt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حزام (ḥizām) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-z-m, "to bind, to tie" (Lane). Ḥizām is a thing to bind with: a belt.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥizām
- Say it: ḥizām, once more
- Say it: say ḥizām
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shoe, then the Arabic for a coat, then say ḥizām again

Before you move on

What does حزام mean? ("A belt".) Say it once more.

96.2 ستة (sitta) — six

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coat, then the Arabic for a belt.

You'll want to know: ستة

ستة — sitta — "six".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ستة (sitta) is built on the native Arabic root s-d-s, "six" (Lane). Lane notes sitta was originally sidsa, the d merged into the t; Hebrew shesh is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sitta
- Say it: sitta, once more
- Say it: say sitta
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coat, then the Arabic for a belt, then say sitta again

Before you move on

What does ستة mean? ("Six".) Say it once more.

96.3 سبعة (sab^{c}a) — seven

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a belt, then the Arabic for six.

You'll want to know: سبعة

سبعة — sab^{c}a — "seven".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سبعة (sab^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-^{c}, "seven" (Lane). Hebrew sheva^c, "seven", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sab^{c}a
- Say it: sab^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say sab^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for a belt, then the Arabic for six, then say sab^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does سبعة mean? ("Seven".) Say it once more.

96.4 ثمانية (thamāniya) — eight

Before the new one: say the Arabic for six, then the Arabic for seven.

You'll want to know: ثمانية

ثمانية — thamāniya — "eight".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثمانية (thamāniya) is built on the native Arabic root th-m-n, "eight" (Lane). Hebrew shmone, "eight", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thamāniya
- Say it: thamāniya, once more
- Say it: say thamāniya
- Recall: say the Arabic for six, then the Arabic for seven, then say thamāniya again

Before you move on

What does ثمانية mean? ("Eight".) Say it once more.

96.5 تسعة (tis^{c}a) — nine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for seven, then the Arabic for eight.

You'll want to know: تسعة

تسعة — tis^{c}a — "nine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسعة (tis^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root t-s-^{c}, "nine" (Lane). Hebrew tesha^c, "nine", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tis^{c}a
- Say it: tis^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say tis^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for seven, then the Arabic for eight, then say tis^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does تسعة mean? ("Nine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 97

Ten, Thirty, Forty, Fifty, Thousand

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say ten, thirty, forty, fifty and a thousand.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 97: I can say ten, thirty, forty, fifty and a thousand.

97.1 عشرة (ᶜashara) — ten

Before the new one: say the Arabic for eight, then the Arabic for nine.

You'll want to know: عشرة

عشرة — ᶜashara — "ten".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عشرة (ᶜashara) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-sh-r, "ten" (Lane). Hebrew ᶜeser, "ten", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜashara
- Say it: ᶜashara, once more
- Say it: say ᶜashara
- Recall: say the Arabic for eight, then the Arabic for nine, then say ᶜashara again

Before you move on

What does عشرة mean? ("Ten".) Say it once more.

97.2 ثلاثون (thalāthūn) — thirty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for nine, then the Arabic for ten.

You'll want to know: ثلاثون

ثلاثون — thalāthūn — "thirty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثلاثون (thalāthūn) is built on the native Arabic root th-l-th, "three" (Lane). Thalāthūn is thalāth, "three", with the tens ending -ūn.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thalāthūn
- Say it: thalāthūn, once more
- Say it: say thalāthūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for nine, then the Arabic for ten, then say thalāthūn again

Before you move on

What does ثلاثون mean? ("Thirty".) Say it once more.

97.3 أربعون (arba^{c}ūn) — forty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ten, then the Arabic for thirty.

You'll want to know: أربعون

أربعون — arba^{c}ūn — "forty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أربعون (arba^{c}ūn) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-^{c}, "four" (Lane). Arba^{c}ūn is arba^c, "four", with the tens ending -ūn.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: arba^{c}ūn
- Say it: arba^{c}ūn, once more
- Say it: say arba^{c}ūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for ten, then the Arabic for thirty, then say arba^{c}ūn again

Before you move on

What does أربعون mean? ("Forty".) Say it once more.

97.4 خمسون (khamsūn) — fifty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for thirty, then the Arabic for forty.

You'll want to know: خمسون

خمسون — khamsūn — "fifty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خمسون (khamsūn) is built on the native Arabic root kh-m-s, "five" (Lane). Khamsūn is khams, "five", with the tens ending -ūn.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khamsūn
- Say it: khamsūn, once more
- Say it: say khamsūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for thirty, then the Arabic for forty, then say khamsūn again

Before you move on

What does خمسون mean? ("Fifty".) Say it once more.

97.5 ألف (alf) — a thousand

Before the new one: say the Arabic for forty, then the Arabic for fifty.

You'll want to know: ألف

ألف — alf — "a thousand".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ألف (alf) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-l-f, "a thousand; to be familiar with" (Lane). Hebrew elef, "thousand", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: alf
- Say it: alf, once more
- Say it: say alf
- Recall: say the Arabic for forty, then the Arabic for fifty, then say alf again

Before you move on

What does ألف mean? ("A thousand".) Say it once more.

Chapter 98

Colour, Song, Journey, Holiday, Love

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a colour, a song, a journey, a holiday and love.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 98: I can say a colour, a song, a journey, a holiday and love.

98.1 لون (lawn) — a colour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fifty, then the Arabic for a thousand.

You'll want to know: لون

لون — lawn — "a colour".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لون (lawn) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-n, "colour" (Lane). An old noun with its own root in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lawn
- Say it: lawn, once more
- Say it: say lawn
- Recall: say the Arabic for fifty, then the Arabic for a thousand, then say lawn again

Before you move on

What does لون mean? ("A colour".) Say it once more.

98.2 أغنية (ughniya) — a song

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a thousand, then the Arabic for a colour.

You'll want to know: أغنية

أغنية — ughniya — "a song".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أغنية (ughniya) is built on the native Arabic root gh-n-y, "to be free from want; to sing" (Lane). Ughniya is a song.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ughniya
- Say it: ughniya, once more
- Say it: say ughniya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a thousand, then the Arabic for a colour, then say ughniya again

Before you move on

What does أغنية mean? ("A song".) Say it once more.

98.3 رحلة (riḥla) — a journey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a colour, then the Arabic for a song.

You'll want to know: رحلة

رحلة — riḥla — "a journey".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رحلة (riḥla) is built on the native Arabic root r-ḥ-l, "to saddle a camel; to set off" (Lane). Riḥla is a single journey.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: riḥla
- Say it: riḥla, once more
- Say it: say riḥla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a colour, then the Arabic for a song, then say riḥla again

Before you move on

What does رحلة mean? ("A journey".) Say it once more.

98.4 عطلة (ᶜuṭla) — a holiday

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a song, then the Arabic for a journey.

You'll want to know: عطلة

عطلة — ᶜuṭla — "a holiday".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عطلة (ᶜuṭla) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-l, "to be without work" (Lane). Lane's ᶜuṭla is the state of being without work; a holiday is time off work.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜuṭla
- Say it: ᶜuṭla, once more
- Say it: say ᶜuṭla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a song, then the Arabic for a journey, then say ᶜuṭla again

Before you move on

What does عطلة mean? ("A holiday".) Say it once more.

98.5 حب (ḥubb) — love

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a journey, then the Arabic for a holiday.

You'll want to know: حب

حب — ḥubb — "love".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حب (ḥubb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-b-b, "to love" (Lane). Ḥubb is the verbal noun, "love".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥubb
- Say it: ḥubb, once more
- Say it: say ḥubb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a journey, then the Arabic for a holiday, then say ḥubb again

Before you move on

What does حب mean? ("Love".) Say it once more.

Chapter 99

Music, News, Country, Language, Story

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say music, news, a country, a language and a story.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 99: I can say music, news, a country, a language and a story.

99.1 موسيقى (mūsīqā) — music

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a holiday, then the Arabic for love.

You'll want to know: موسيقى

موسيقى — mūsīqā — "music".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موسيقى (mūsīqā) is a loan from Greek mousikē, "the art of the Muses, music" (EtymDB), taken in with Greek learning. It has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mūsīqā
- Say it: mūsīqā, once more
- Say it: say mūsīqā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a holiday, then the Arabic for love, then say mūsīqā again

Before you move on

What does موسيقى mean? ("Music".) Say it once more.

99.2 أخبار (akhbār) — news

Before the new one: say the Arabic for love, then the Arabic for music.

You'll want to know: أخبار

أخبار — akhbār — "news".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخبار (akhbār) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-r, "to know, to have experience of" (Lane). Akhbār is the plural of khabar, "a piece of news".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: akhbār
- Say it: akhbār, once more
- Say it: say akhbār
- Recall: say the Arabic for love, then the Arabic for music, then say akhbār again

Before you move on

What does أخبار mean? ("News".) Say it once more.

99.3 بلد (balad) — a country

Before the new one: say the Arabic for music, then the Arabic for news.

You'll want to know: بلد

بلد — balad — "a country".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بلد (balad) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-d, "a country, a town" (Lane). An old noun with its own root in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: balad
- Say it: balad, once more
- Say it: say balad
- Recall: say the Arabic for music, then the Arabic for news, then say balad again

Before you move on

What does بلد mean? ("A country".) Say it once more.

99.4 لغة (lugha) — a language

Before the new one: say the Arabic for news, then the Arabic for a country.

You'll want to know: لغة

لغة — lugha — "a language".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لغة (lugha) is listed by Lane under l-gh-w, as the genuine speech of the Arabs. A link with Greek logos, "word", has been proposed and is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lugha
- Say it: lugha, once more
- Say it: say lugha
- Recall: say the Arabic for news, then the Arabic for a country, then say lugha again

Before you move on

What does لغة mean? ("A language".) Say it once more.

99.5 قصة (qiṣṣa) — a story

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a country, then the Arabic for a language.

You'll want to know: قصة

قصة — qiṣṣa — "a story".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قصة (qiṣṣa) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-ṣ, "to follow a track; to narrate" (Lane). Qiṣṣa is a story, a thing narrated.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qiṣṣa
- Say it: qiṣṣa, once more
- Say it: say qiṣṣa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a country, then the Arabic for a language, then say qiṣṣa again

Before you move on

What does قصة mean? ("A story".) Say it once more.

99.6 Nature, animals and describing words — a first pass

Say the words for a language and a story.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a word, a picture, a tree, a flower, a mountain
- a forest, a river, a stone, sand, a field
- a star, a cloud, the sun, the moon, the sea
- fire, snow, wind, the sky, a horse
- a cow, a goat, a sheep, a mouse, a lion
- a tiger, an elephant, a monkey, a snake, a bear
- a camel, a donkey, a hen, big, small
- new, old, good, long, short

- slow, fast, easy, difficult, cheap
- empty, rich, poor, clean, dirty
- light, heavy, correct, a mistake; wrong, important
- beautiful, brown, a week, a month, a minute

Before you move on

A word? (كلمة, kalima.) A picture? (صورة, ṣūra.) A tree? (شجرة, shajara.) A flower? (زهرة, zahra.) A mountain? (جبل, jabal.) A forest? (غابة, ghāba.) A river? (نهر, nahr.) A stone? (حجر, ḥajar.) Sand? (رمل, raml.) A field? (حقل, ḥaql.) A star? (نجم, najm.) A cloud? (سحابة, saḥāba.) The sun? (شمس, shams.) The moon? (قمر, qamar.) The sea? (بحر, baḥr.) Fire? (نار, nār.) Snow? (ثلج, thalj.) Wind? (ريح, rīḥ.) The sky? (سماء, samāʾ.) A horse? (حصان, ḥiṣān.) A cow? (بقرة, baqara.) A goat? (ماعز, māᶜiz.) A sheep? (خروف, kharūf.) A mouse? (فأر, faʾr.) A lion? (أسد, asad.) A tiger? (نمر, namir.) An elephant? (فيل, fīl.) A monkey? (قرد, qird.) A snake? (ثعبان, thuᶜbān.) A bear? (دب, dubb.) A camel? (جمل, jamal.) A donkey? (حمار, ḥimār.) A hen? (دجاجة, dajāja.) Big? (كبير, kabīr.) Small? (صغير, ṣaghīr.) New? (جديد, jadīd.) Old? (قديم, qadīm.) Good? (جيد, jayyid.) Long? (طويل, ṭawīl.) Short? (قصير, qaṣīr.) Slow? (بطيء, baṭīʾ.) Fast? (سريع, sarīᶜ.) Easy? (سهل, sahl.) Difficult? (صعب, ṣaᶜb.) Cheap? (رخيص, rakhīṣ.) Empty? (فارغ, fārigh.) Rich? (غني, ghanī.) Poor? (فقير, faqīr.) Clean? (نظيف, naẓīf.) Dirty? (وسخ, wasikh.) Light? (خفيف, khafīf.) Heavy? (ثقيل, thaqīl.) Correct? (صحيح, ṣaḥīḥ.) A mistake; wrong? (خطأ, khaṭaʾ.) Important? (مهم, muhimm.) Beautiful? (جميل, jamīl.) Brown? (بني, bunnī.) A week? (أسبوع, usbūᶜ.) A month? (شهر, shahr.) A minute? (دقيقة, daqīqa.)

99.7 Time, places, the town, clothes and numbers — a second pass

Say the words for yesterday and tomorrow.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- yesterday, tomorrow, now, sometimes, before
- after, time, far, near, inside
- outside, above, below, in front of, behind
- here, there, right, a shop, a street
- a road, a bank, a station, a car, a bus
- a train, a bridge, a mosque, a hotel, an office; a desk
- the police, a market, a village, a city, a restaurant
- clothes, a shirt, a dress, trousers, a sock
- a pocket, a ring, a hat, a shoe, a coat
- a belt, six, seven, eight, nine
- ten, thirty, forty, fifty, a thousand
- a colour, a song, a journey, a holiday, love
- music, news, a country, a language, a story

Before you move on

Yesterday? (أمس, ams.) Tomorrow? (غدا, ghadan.) Now? (الآن, al-ān.) Sometimes? (أحيانا, aḥyānan.) Before? (قبل, qabla.) After? (بعد, baᶜda.) Time? (وقت, waqt.) Far? (بعيد, baᶜīd.) Near? (قريب, qarīb.) Inside? (داخل, dākhil.) Outside? (خارج, khārij.) Above? (فوق, fawqa.) Below? (تحت, taḥta.) In front of? (أمام, amāma.) Behind? (وراء, warāʾa.) Here? (هنا, hunā.) There? (هناك, hunāka.) Right? (يمين, yamīn.) A shop? (متجر, matjar.) A street? (شارع, shāriᶜ.) A road? (طريق, ṭarīq.) A bank? (بنك, bank.) A station? (محطة, maḥaṭṭa.) A car? (سيارة, sayyāra.) A bus? (حافلة, ḥāfila.) A train? (قطار, qiṭār.) A bridge? (جسر, jisr.) A mosque? (مسجد, masjid.) A hotel? (فندق, funduq.) An office; a desk? (مكتب, maktab.) The police? (شرطة, shurṭa.) A market? (سوق, sūq.) A village? (قرية, qarya.) A city? (مدينة, madīna.) A restaurant? (مطعم, maṭᶜam.) Clothes? (ملابس, malābis.) A shirt? (قميص, qamīṣ.) A dress? (فستان, fustān.) Trousers? (سروال, sirwāl.) A sock? (جورب, jawrab.) A pocket? (جيب, jayb.) A ring? (خاتم, khātam.) A hat? (قبعة, qubbaᶜa.) A shoe? (حذاء, ḥidhāʾ.) A coat? (معطف, miᶜṭaf.) A belt? (حزام, ḥizām.) Six? (ستة, sitta.) Seven? (سبعة, sabᶜa.) Eight? (ثمانية, thamāniya.) Nine? (تسعة, tisᶜa.) Ten? (عشرة, ᶜashara.) Thirty? (ثلاثون, thalāthūn.) Forty? (أربعون, arbaᶜūn.) Fifty? (خمسون, khamsūn.) A thousand? (ألف, alf.) A colour? (لون, lawn.) A song? (أغنية, ughniya.) A journey? (رحلة, riḥla.) A holiday? (عطلة, ᶜuṭla.) Love? (حب, ḥubb.) Music? (موسيقى, mūsīqā.) News? (أخبار, akhbār.) A country? (بلد, balad.) A language? (لغة, lugha.) A story? (قصة, qiṣṣa.)

Chapter 100

Lift, Corridor, Public square, Airport, Port

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a lift, a corridor, a public square, an airport and a port.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 100: I can say a lift, a corridor, a public square, an airport and a port.

100.1 مصعد (miṣᶜad) — a lift

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a language, then the Arabic for a story.

Read it: ال, then say what it means

(Al-, "the" — the al- hiding in algebra and alcohol.)

You'll want to know: مصعد

مصعد — miṣᶜad — "a lift".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصعد (miṣᶜad) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ᶜ-d, "to go up, to ascend" (Lane). Miṣᶜad is an instrument noun, "a thing for going up"; the lift is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miṣᶜad
- Say it: miṣᶜad, once more
- Say it: say miṣᶜad
- Recall: say the Arabic for a language, then the Arabic for a story, then say miṣᶜad again

Before you move on

What does مصعد mean? ("A lift".) Say it once more.

100.2 ممر (mamarr) — a corridor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a story, then the Arabic for a lift.

You'll want to know: ممر

ممر — mamarr — "a corridor".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممر (mamarr) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-r, "to pass, to go by" (Lane). Mamarr is the ma- place noun, "a place of passing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mamarr
- Say it: mamarr, once more

- Say it: say mamarr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a story, then the Arabic for a lift, then say mamarr again

Before you move on

What does ممر mean? ("A corridor".) Say it once more.

100.3 ميدان (maydān) — a public square, a field

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lift, then the Arabic for a corridor.

You'll want to know: ميدان

ميدان — maydān — "a public square, a field".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميدان (maydān) is listed by Lane under m-y-d as a race-ground for horses. He quotes several native derivations, among them māda, "to move", and madana, "to dwell"; some modern scholars trace it instead to an Iranian source, so the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maydān
- Say it: maydān, once more
- Say it: say maydān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lift, then the Arabic for a corridor, then say maydān again

Before you move on

What does ميدان mean? ("A public square, a field".) Say it once more.

100.4 مطار (maṭār) — an airport

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a corridor, then the Arabic for a public square.

You'll want to know: مطار

مطار — maṭār — "an airport".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مطار (maṭār) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-y-r, "to fly" (Lane). Maṭār is the ma- place noun, "a place of flying"; the airport is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maṭār
- Say it: maṭār, once more
- Say it: say maṭār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a corridor, then the Arabic for a public square, then say maṭār again

Before you move on

What does مطار mean? ("An airport".) Say it once more.

100.5 ميناء (mīnāʾ) — a port

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a public square, then the Arabic for an airport.

You'll want to know: ميناء

ميناء — mīnāʾ — "a port".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميناء (mīnāʾ) is listed by Lane under w-n-y, with the note that it may instead be an ancient Egyptian word; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mīnāʾ
- Say it: mīnāʾ, once more
- Say it: say mīnāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a public square, then the Arabic for an airport, then say mīnāʾ again

Before you move on

What does ميناء mean? ("A port".) Say it once more.

Chapter 101

Neighbourhood, Alley, Building, Bathroom, Balcony

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a neighbourhood, an alley, a building, a bathroom and a balcony.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 101: I can say a neighbourhood, an alley, a building, a bathroom and a balcony.

101.1 حي (ḥayy) — a neighbourhood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an airport, then the Arabic for a port.

You'll want to know: حي

حي — ḥayy — "a neighbourhood".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حي (ḥayy) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-y-y, "to live" (Lane). Ḥayy is "living", and also a living community, a tribe; the quarter of a town is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥayy
- Say it: ḥayy, once more
- Say it: say ḥayy
- Recall: say the Arabic for an airport, then the Arabic for a port, then say ḥayy again

Before you move on

What does حي mean? ("A neighbourhood".) Say it once more.

101.2 زقاق (zuqāq) — an alley

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a port, then the Arabic for a neighbourhood.

Say "the peace" and "the goodness." Which one doubles its first letter? (As-salām doubles; al-khayr keeps its l.)

You'll want to know: زقاق

زقاق — zuqāq — "an alley".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زقاق (zuqāq), "a lane, a narrow street", is an old native noun, filed under the root z-q-q (Lane). Lane's zuqāq is a by-street narrower than a sikka.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zuqāq
- Say it: zuqāq, once more
- Say it: say zuqāq

- Recall: say the Arabic for a port, then the Arabic for a neighbourhood, then say zuqāq again

Before you move on

What does زقاق mean? ("An alley".) Say it once more.

101.3 مبنى (mabnā) — a building

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a neighbourhood, then the Arabic for an alley.

You'll want to know: مبنى

مبنى — mabnā — "a building".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبنى (mabnā) is built on the native Arabic root b-n-y, "to build" (Lane). Mabnā is the ma- noun of building, "a thing built".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mabnā
- Say it: mabnā, once more
- Say it: say mabnā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a neighbourhood, then the Arabic for an alley, then say mabnā again

Before you move on

What does مبنى mean? ("A building".) Say it once more.

101.4 حمام (ḥammām) — a bathroom

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an alley, then the Arabic for a building.

You'll want to know: حمام

حمام — ḥammām — "a bathroom".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمام (ḥammām) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-m, "to be hot, to heat" (Lane). Ḥammām is a hot bath; English hammam comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥammām
- Say it: ḥammām, once more
- Say it: say ḥammām
- Recall: say the Arabic for an alley, then the Arabic for a building, then say ḥammām again

Before you move on

What does حمام mean? ("A bathroom".) Say it once more.

101.5 شرفة (shurfa) — a balcony

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a building, then the Arabic for a bathroom.

You'll want to know: شرفة

شرفة — shurfa — "a balcony".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرفة (shurfa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-f, "to be high, to overlook" (Lane). Lane's shurfa is a battlement on top of a wall; the balcony is a later use.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shurfa
- Say it: shurfa, once more
- Say it: say shurfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a building, then the Arabic for a bathroom, then say shurfa again

Before you move on

What does شرفة mean? ("A balcony".) Say it once more.

Chapter 102

Roof, Stairs, Ceiling, Behind, Between

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a roof, stairs, a ceiling, behind and between.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 102: I can say a roof, stairs, a ceiling, behind and between.

102.1 سطح (saṭḥ) — a roof

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bathroom, then the Arabic for a balcony.

You'll want to know: سطح

سطح — saṭḥ — "a roof".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سطح (saṭḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-ṭ-ḥ, "to spread out flat" (Lane). Saṭḥ is a flat roof, the flat top of a house.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: saṭḥ
- Say it: saṭḥ, once more
- Say it: say saṭḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bathroom, then the Arabic for a balcony, then say saṭḥ again

Before you move on

What does سطح mean? ("A roof".) Say it once more.

102.2 درج (daraj) — stairs

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a balcony, then the Arabic for a roof.

You'll want to know: درج

درج — daraj — "stairs".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

درج (daraj) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-j, "to go step by step" (Lane). Daraj is a flight of steps.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: daraj
- Say it: daraj, once more
- Say it: say daraj
- Recall: say the Arabic for a balcony, then the Arabic for a roof, then say daraj again

Before you move on

What does درج mean? ("Stairs".) Say it once more.

102.3 سقف (saqf) — a ceiling

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a roof, then the Arabic for stairs.

Say "good morning." (Ṣabāḥ al-khayr — with the heavy ص and the throaty خ.)

You'll want to know: سقف

سقف — saqf — "a ceiling".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سقف (saqf), "a roof, a ceiling", is an old native noun, listed under the root s-q-f (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to roof a house".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: saqf
- Say it: saqf, once more
- Say it: say saqf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a roof, then the Arabic for stairs, then say saqf again

Before you move on

What does سقف mean? ("A ceiling".) Say it once more.

102.4 خلف (khalfa) — behind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for stairs, then the Arabic for a ceiling.

You'll want to know: خلف

خلف — khalfa — "behind".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خلف (khalfa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-f, "to come after, to succeed" (Lane). Khalfa is "behind"; the same root gives khalīfa, "successor", the source of English caliph.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khalfa
- Say it: khalfa, once more
- Say it: say khalfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for stairs, then the Arabic for a ceiling, then say khalfa again

Before you move on

What does خلف mean? ("Behind".) Say it once more.

102.5 بين (bayna) — between

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ceiling, then the Arabic for behind.

You'll want to know: بين

بين — bayna — "between".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بين (bayna) is built on the native Arabic root b-y-n, "to be separate, to be distinct" (Lane). Bayna is "between", the space that parts two things; Hebrew bēn, "between", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bayna
- Say it: bayna, once more
- Say it: say bayna
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ceiling, then the Arabic for behind, then say bayna again

Before you move on

What does بين mean? ("Between".) Say it once more.

Chapter 103

Beside, Left, Middle, Corner, North

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say beside, left, the middle, a corner and north.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 103: I can say beside, left, the middle, a corner and north.

103.1 بجانب (bi-jānib) — beside, next to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for behind, then the Arabic for between.

You'll want to know: بجانب

بجانب — bi-jānib — "beside, next to".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بجانب (bi-jānib) is built from the preposition bi-, "at, by", and jānib, "side", the active participle of the root j-n-b (Lane): "at the side of".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-jānib
- Say it: bi-jānib, once more
- Say it: say bi-jānib
- Recall: say the Arabic for behind, then the Arabic for between, then say bi-jānib again

Before you move on

What does بجانب mean? ("Beside, next to".) Say it once more.

103.2 يسار (yasār) — left

Before the new one: say the Arabic for between, then the Arabic for beside.

You'll want to know: يسار

يسار — yasār — "left".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يسار (yasār) is built on the native Arabic root y-s-r, "to be easy, gentle" (Lane). Lane gives yasār as the left hand and also as ease, wealth.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: yasār
- Say it: yasār, once more
- Say it: say yasār
- Recall: say the Arabic for between, then the Arabic for beside, then say yasār again

Before you move on

What does يسار mean? ("Left".) Say it once more.

103.3 وسط (wasaṭ) — the middle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for beside, then the Arabic for left.

You'll want to know: وسط

وسط — wasaṭ — "the middle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وسط (wasaṭ), "the middle", is an old native noun, listed under the root w-s-ṭ (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to sit in the middle".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wasaṭ
- Say it: wasaṭ, once more
- Say it: say wasaṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for beside, then the Arabic for left, then say wasaṭ again

Before you move on

What does وسط mean? ("The middle".) Say it once more.

103.4 زاوية (zāwiya) — a corner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for left, then the Arabic for the middle.

Someone wishes you ṣabāḥ al-khayr. Reply. (Ṣabāḥ an-nūr, "morning of light.")

You'll want to know: زاوية

زاوية — zāwiya — "a corner".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زاوية (zāwiya) is built on the native Arabic root z-w-y, "to draw together, to gather" (Lane). Zāwiya is the feminine active participle, a corner where things gather.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zāwiya
- Say it: zāwiya, once more
- Say it: say zāwiya
- Recall: say the Arabic for left, then the Arabic for the middle, then say zāwiya again

Before you move on

What does زاوية mean? ("A corner".) Say it once more.

103.5 شمال (shamāl) — north

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the middle, then the Arabic for a corner.

You'll want to know: شمال

شمال — shamāl — "north".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شمال (shamāl) is a native noun, filed under the root sh-m-l (Lane). Lane gives shimāl as the left hand and shamāl as the north wind; facing the sunrise, north is on the left.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shamāl
- Say it: shamāl, once more
- Say it: say shamāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for the middle, then the Arabic for a corner, then say shamāl again

Before you move on

What does شمال mean? ("North".) Say it once more.

Chapter 104

South, East, West, Place, Address

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say south, east, west, a place and an address.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 104: I can say south, east, west, a place and an address.

104.1 جنوب (janūb) — south

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a corner, then the Arabic for north.

You'll want to know: جنوب

جنوب — janūb — "south".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جنوب (janūb) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-b, "the side" (Lane). Lane gives janūb as the south wind; the same root gives jānib, "side".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: janūb
- Say it: janūb, once more
- Say it: say janūb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a corner, then the Arabic for north, then say janūb again

Before you move on

What does جنوب mean? ("South".) Say it once more.

104.2 شرق (sharq) — east

Before the new one: say the Arabic for north, then the Arabic for south.

You'll want to know: شرق

شرق — sharq — "east".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرق (sharq) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-q, "to rise (of the sun)" (Lane). Sharq is where the sun rises: the east.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sharq
- Say it: sharq, once more
- Say it: say sharq
- Recall: say the Arabic for north, then the Arabic for south, then say sharq again

Before you move on

What does شرق mean? ("East".) Say it once more.

104.3 غرب (gharb) — west

Before the new one: say the Arabic for south, then the Arabic for east.

You'll want to know: غرب

غرب — gharb — "west".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غرب (gharb) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-b, "to go away; to set (of the sun)" (Lane). Gharb is where the sun sets; the same root gives maghrib, the source of English Maghreb.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: gharb
- Say it: gharb, once more
- Say it: say gharb
- Recall: say the Arabic for south, then the Arabic for east, then say gharb again

Before you move on

What does غرب mean? ("West".) Say it once more.

104.4 مكان (makān) — a place

Before the new one: say the Arabic for east, then the Arabic for west.

You'll want to know: مكان

مكان — makān — "a place".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكان (makān) is built on the native Arabic root k-w-n, "to be, to exist" (Lane). Makān is the ma- place noun, "a place of being"; Lane notes some put it under m-k-n.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: makān
- Say it: makān, once more
- Say it: say makān
- Recall: say the Arabic for east, then the Arabic for west, then say makān again

Before you move on

What does مكان mean? ("A place".) Say it once more.

104.5 عنوان (ᶜunwān) — an address

Before the new one: say the Arabic for west, then the Arabic for a place.

Say "good evening." (Masāʾ al-khayr — and the little ء that closes masāʾ.)

You'll want to know: عنوان

عنوان — ᶜunwān — "an address".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عنوان (ᶜunwān), "the title of a letter or book", is an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-n-w (Lane). Lane's ᶜunwān is the title or superscription of a writing; the postal address is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜunwān
- Say it: ᶜunwān, once more
- Say it: say ᶜunwān
- Recall: say the Arabic for west, then the Arabic for a place, then say ᶜunwān again

Before you move on

What does عنوان mean? ("An address".) Say it once more.

Chapter 105

Entrance, Exit, Straight ahead, Around, At

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an entrance, an exit, straight ahead, around and at.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 105: I can say an entrance, an exit, straight ahead, around and at.

105.1 مدخل (madkhal) — an entrance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a place, then the Arabic for an address.

You'll want to know: مدخل

مدخل — madkhal — "an entrance".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدخل (madkhal) is built on the native Arabic root d-kh-l, "to enter" (Lane). Madkhal is the ma- place noun, "a place of entering".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: madkhal
- Say it: madkhal, once more
- Say it: say madkhal
- Recall: say the Arabic for a place, then the Arabic for an address, then say madkhal again

Before you move on

What does مدخل mean? ("An entrance".) Say it once more.

105.2 مخرج (makhraj) — an exit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an address, then the Arabic for an entrance.

You'll want to know: مخرج

مخرج — makhraj — "an exit".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخرج (makhraj) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-j, "to go out" (Lane). Makhraj is the ma- place noun, "a place of going out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: makhraj
- Say it: makhraj, once more
- Say it: say makhraj
- Recall: say the Arabic for an address, then the Arabic for an entrance, then say makhraj again

Before you move on

What does مخرج mean? ("An exit".) Say it once more.

105.3 مستقيم (mustaqīm) — straight ahead

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an entrance, then the Arabic for an exit.

You'll want to know: مستقيم

مستقيم — mustaqīm — "straight ahead".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستقيم (mustaqīm) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand up, to be upright" (Lane). Mustaqīm is the Form X participle, "standing upright", hence "straight".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mustaqīm
- Say it: mustaqīm, once more
- Say it: say mustaqīm
- Recall: say the Arabic for an entrance, then the Arabic for an exit, then say mustaqīm again

Before you move on

What does مستقيم mean? ("Straight ahead".) Say it once more.

105.4 حول (ḥawla) — around

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an exit, then the Arabic for straight ahead.

You'll want to know: حول

حول — ḥawla — "around".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حول (ḥawla) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l, "to turn, to change" (Lane). Ḥawla is "around", what turns about a thing.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥawla
- Say it: ḥawla, once more
- Say it: say ḥawla
- Recall: say the Arabic for an exit, then the Arabic for straight ahead, then say ḥawla again

Before you move on

What does حول mean? ("Around".) Say it once more.

105.5 عند (ᶜinda) — at, by

Before the new one: say the Arabic for straight ahead, then the Arabic for around.

You'll want to know: عند

عند — ᶜinda — "at, by".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عند (ᶜinda), "at, near, by", is an old preposition, filed under the root ᶜ-n-d (Lane), beside ᶜand, "vicinity".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜinda
- Say it: ᶜinda, once more
- Say it: say ᶜinda
- Recall: say the Arabic for straight ahead, then the Arabic for around, then say ᶜinda again

Before you move on

What does عند mean? ("At, by".) Say it once more.

Chapter 106

Possibility, Authority, Success, Mastery, Ability

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a possibility, authority, success, mastery and ability.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 106: I can say a possibility, authority, success, mastery and ability.

106.1 إمكانية (imkāniyya) — a possibility

Before the new one: say the Arabic for around, then the Arabic for at.

You'll want to know: إمكانية

إمكانية — imkāniyya — "a possibility".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إمكانية (imkāniyya) is built on the native Arabic root m-k-n, "to have power, to be firm in place" (Lane). Imkāniyya is a modern abstract noun from imkān, "possibility", the verbal noun of Form IV amkana, "to be possible".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: imkāniyya
- Say it: imkāniyya, once more
- Say it: say imkāniyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for around, then the Arabic for at, then say imkāniyya again

Before you move on

What does إمكانية mean? ("A possibility".) Say it once more.

106.2 سلطة (sulṭa) — authority

Before the new one: say the Arabic for at, then the Arabic for a possibility.

Answer masāʾ al-khayr. (Masāʾ an-nūr: the same shape as the morning reply.)

You'll want to know: سلطة

سلطة — sulṭa — "authority".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلطة (sulṭa) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-ṭ, "to have mastery" (Lane). The same root gives sulṭān, "power, ruler", the source of English sultan.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sulṭa
- Say it: sulṭa, once more
- Say it: say sulṭa

- Recall: say the Arabic for at, then the Arabic for a possibility, then say sulṭa again

Before you move on

What does سلطة mean? ("Authority".) Say it once more.

106.3 نجاح (najāḥ) — success

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a possibility, then the Arabic for authority.

You'll want to know: نجاح

نجاح — najāḥ — "success".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نجاح (najāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-ḥ, "to succeed, to prosper" (Lane). Najāḥ is the verbal noun, "success".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: najāḥ
- Say it: najāḥ, once more
- Say it: say najāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a possibility, then the Arabic for authority, then say najāḥ again

Before you move on

What does نجاح mean? ("Success".) Say it once more.

106.4 إتقان (itqān) — mastery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for authority, then the Arabic for success.

You'll want to know: إتقان

إتقان — itqān — "mastery".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إتقان (itqān) is built on the native Arabic root t-q-n (Lane). Itqān is the verbal noun of Form IV atqana, "to make firm, to do skilfully".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: itqān
- Say it: itqān, once more
- Say it: say itqān
- Recall: say the Arabic for authority, then the Arabic for success, then say itqān again

Before you move on

What does إتقان mean? ("Mastery".) Say it once more.

106.5 قدرة (qudra) — ability

Before the new one: say the Arabic for success, then the Arabic for mastery.

You'll want to know: قدرة

قدرة — qudra — "ability".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قدرة (qudra) is built on the native Arabic root q-d-r, "to measure; to have power" (Lane). Qudra is power, the ability to do.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qudra
- Say it: qudra, once more
- Say it: say qudra
- Recall: say the Arabic for success, then the Arabic for mastery, then say qudra again

Before you move on

What does قدرة mean? ("Ability".) Say it once more.

Chapter 107

Competence, Certificate, Ownership, To be able to, To be able to

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say competence, a certificate, ownership, to be able to and to be able to.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 107: I can say competence, a certificate, ownership, to be able to and to be able to.

107.1 كفاءة (kafāʾa) — competence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mastery, then the Arabic for ability.

You'll want to know: كفاءة

كفاءة — kafāʾa — "competence".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كفاءة (kafāʾa) is built on the native Arabic root k-f-ʾ, "to be equal, to match" (Lane). Kafāʾa is equality, fitness; "competence" is the modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kafāʾa
- Say it: kafāʾa, once more
- Say it: say kafāʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for mastery, then the Arabic for ability, then say kafāʾa again

Before you move on

What does كفاءة mean? ("Competence".) Say it once more.

107.2 شهادة (shahāda) — a certificate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ability, then the Arabic for competence.

You'll want to know: شهادة

شهادة — shahāda — "a certificate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شهادة (shahāda) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d, "to witness, to be present" (Lane). Lane's shahāda is testimony; the certificate is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shahāda
- Say it: shahāda, once more

- Say it: say shahāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for ability, then the Arabic for competence, then say shahāda again

Before you move on

What does شهادة mean? ("A certificate".) Say it once more.

107.3 ملكية (milkiyya) — ownership

Before the new one: say the Arabic for competence, then the Arabic for a certificate.

Which weekday is "the first," and which "the fifth"? (Al-aḥad, Sunday; al-khamīs, Thursday.)

You'll want to know: ملكية

ملكية — milkiyya — "ownership".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملكية (milkiyya) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-k, "to own, to possess" (Lane). Milkiyya is a modern abstract noun from milk, "ownership".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: milkiyya
- Say it: milkiyya, once more
- Say it: say milkiyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for competence, then the Arabic for a certificate, then say milkiyya again

Before you move on

What does ملكية mean? ("Ownership".) Say it once more.

107.4 استطاع (istaṭāᶜa) — to be able to, could

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a certificate, then the Arabic for ownership.

You'll want to know: استطاع

استطاع — istaṭāᶜa — "to be able to, could".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استطاع (istaṭāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-ᶜ, "to obey, to comply" (Lane). Form X istaṭāᶜa came to mean "to be able" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istaṭāᶜa
- Say it: istaṭāᶜa, once more
- Say it: say istaṭāᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a certificate, then the Arabic for ownership, then say istaṭāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does استطاع mean? ("To be able to, could".) Say it once more.

107.5 قدر (qadara) — to be able to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ownership, then the Arabic for to be able to.

You'll want to know: قدر

قدر — qadara — "to be able to".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قدر (qadara) is built on the native Arabic root q-d-r, "to measure; to have power" (Lane). Qadara is the plain verb, "to have power over".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qadara
- Say it: qadara, once more
- Say it: say qadara
- Recall: say the Arabic for ownership, then the Arabic for to be able to, then say qadara again

Before you move on

What does قدر mean? ("To be able to".) Say it once more.

Chapter 108

It is possible, With, Strength, Right, Owner

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say it is possible, with, strength, a right and an owner.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 108: I can say it is possible, with, strength, a right and an owner.

108.1 يمكن (yumkin) — it is possible

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be able to, then the Arabic for to be able to.

You'll want to know: يمكن

يمكن — yumkin — "it is possible".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يمكن (yumkin) is built on the native Arabic root m-k-n, "to have power, to be firm in place" (Lane). Yumkin is the Form IV verb amkana, "to be possible", in the present tense: "it is possible".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: yumkin
- Say it: yumkin, once more
- Say it: say yumkin
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be able to, then the Arabic for to be able to, then say yumkin again

Before you move on

What does يمكن mean? ("It is possible".) Say it once more.

108.2 لدى (ladā) — with, in one's possession

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be able to, then the Arabic for it is possible.

You'll want to know: لدى

لدى — ladā — "with, in one's possession".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لدى (ladā) is an old preposition of place, "at, with". The grammarians set it beside ladun, "at, near", and it is not built on a verbal root; its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ladā
- Say it: ladā, once more
- Say it: say ladā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be able to, then the Arabic for it is possible, then say ladā again

Before you move on

What does لدى mean? ("With, in one's possession".) Say it once more.

108.3 قوة (quwwa) — strength

Before the new one: say the Arabic for it is possible, then the Arabic for with.

You'll want to know: قوة

قوة — quwwa — "strength".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قوة (quwwa) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-y, "to be strong" (Lane). Quwwa is the noun, "strength".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: quwwa
- Say it: quwwa, once more
- Say it: say quwwa
- Recall: say the Arabic for it is possible, then the Arabic for with, then say quwwa again

Before you move on

What does قوة mean? ("Strength".) Say it once more.

108.4 حق (ḥaqq) — a right

Before the new one: say the Arabic for with, then the Arabic for strength.

Which two days have names instead of numbers? (Al-jumᶜa, "the gathering," and as-sabt, a Semitic sister of "Sabbath.")

You'll want to know: حق

حق — ḥaqq — "a right".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حق (ḥaqq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q, "to be true, to be due" (Lane). Ḥaqq is what is true and what is due: a right.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaqq
- Say it: ḥaqq, once more
- Say it: say ḥaqq
- Recall: say the Arabic for with, then the Arabic for strength, then say ḥaqq again

Before you move on

What does حق mean? ("A right".) Say it once more.

108.5 مالك (mālik) — an owner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for strength, then the Arabic for a right.

You'll want to know: مالك

مالك — mālik — "an owner".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مالك (mālik) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-k, "to own, to possess" (Lane). Mālik is the active participle, "one who owns".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mālik
- Say it: mālik, once more
- Say it: say mālik
- Recall: say the Arabic for strength, then the Arabic for a right, then say mālik again

Before you move on

What does مالك mean? ("An owner".) Say it once more.

Chapter 109

Wealth, Experience, Habit, Skill, Art

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say wealth, experience, a habit, a skill and an art.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 109: I can say wealth, experience, a habit, a skill and an art.

109.1 ثروة (tharwa) — wealth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a right, then the Arabic for an owner.

You'll want to know: ثروة

ثروة — tharwa — "wealth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثروة (tharwa) is built on the native Arabic root th-r-w, "to be many, to be rich" (Lane). Tharwa is abundance of wealth.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tharwa
- Say it: tharwa, once more
- Say it: say tharwa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a right, then the Arabic for an owner, then say tharwa again

Before you move on

What does ثروة mean? ("Wealth".) Say it once more.

109.2 خبرة (khibra) — experience

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an owner, then the Arabic for wealth.

You'll want to know: خبرة

خبرة — khibra — "experience".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خبرة (khibra) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-r, "to know, to have experience of" (Lane). Khibra is knowledge gained by experience.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khibra
- Say it: khibra, once more
- Say it: say khibra
- Recall: say the Arabic for an owner, then the Arabic for wealth, then say khibra again

Before you move on

What does خبرة mean? ("Experience".) Say it once more.

109.3 عادة (ᶜāda) — a habit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wealth, then the Arabic for experience.

You'll want to know: عادة

عادة — ᶜāda — "a habit".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عادة (ᶜāda) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-d, "to return" (Lane). Lane gives ᶜāda as a custom, what one returns to again and again.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāda
- Say it: ᶜāda, once more
- Say it: say ᶜāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for wealth, then the Arabic for experience, then say ᶜāda again

Before you move on

What does عادة mean? ("A habit".) Say it once more.

109.4 مهارة (mahāra) — a skill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for experience, then the Arabic for a habit.

You'll want to know: مهارة

مهارة — mahāra — "a skill".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهارة (mahāra) is built on the native Arabic root m-h-r, "to be skilful" (Lane). Mahāra is skill; the same root gives māhir, "skilled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mahāra
- Say it: mahāra, once more
- Say it: say mahāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for experience, then the Arabic for a habit, then say mahāra again

Before you move on

What does مهارة mean? ("A skill".) Say it once more.

109.5 فن (fann) — an art

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a habit, then the Arabic for a skill.

Say "black" and "white," masculine then feminine. (Aswad, sawdāʾ; abyaḍ, bayḍāʾ.)

You'll want to know: فن

فن — fann — "an art".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فن (fann), "a kind, a sort", is an old native noun, filed under the root f-n-n (Lane). Lane's fann is a kind or species of a thing; "art" is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fann
- Say it: fann, once more
- Say it: say fann
- Recall: say the Arabic for a habit, then the Arabic for a skill, then say fann again

Before you move on

What does فن mean? ("An art".) Say it once more.

109.6 Places in town and at home — a first pass

Say the words for a skill and an art.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a lift, a corridor, a public square, an airport, a port
- a neighbourhood, an alley, a building, a bathroom, a balcony
- a roof, stairs, a ceiling, behind, between
- beside, left, the middle, a corner, north
- south, east, west, a place, an address

Before you move on

A lift? (مصعد, miṣᶜad.) A corridor? (ممر, mamarr.) A public square? (ميدان, maydān.) An airport? (مطار, maṭār.) A port? (ميناء, mīnāʾ.) A neighbourhood? (حي, ḥayy.) An alley? (زقاق, zuqāq.) A building? (مبنى, mabnā.) A bathroom? (حمام, ḥammām.) A balcony? (شرفة, shurfa.) A roof? (سطح, saṭḥ.) Stairs? (درج, daraj.) A ceiling? (سقف, saqf.) Behind? (خلف, khalfa.) Between? (بين, bayna.) Beside? (بجانب, bi-jānib.) Left? (يسار, yasār.) The middle? (وسط, wasaṭ.) A corner? (زاوية, zāwiya.) North? (شمال, shamāl.) South? (جنوب, janūb.) East? (شرق, sharq.) West? (غرب, gharb.) A place? (مكان, makān.) An address? (عنوان, ᶜunwān.)

109.7 Rooms, having and being able — a second pass

Say the words for an entrance and an exit.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an entrance, an exit, straight ahead, around, at
- a possibility, authority, success, mastery, ability
- competence, a certificate, ownership, to be able to, to be able to
- it is possible, with, strength, a right, an owner
- wealth, experience, a habit, a skill, an art

Before you move on

An entrance? (مدخل, madkhal.) An exit? (مخرج, makhraj.) Straight ahead? (مستقيم, mustaqīm.) Around? (حول, ḥawla.) At? (عند, ᶜinda.) A possibility? (إمكانية, imkāniyya.) Authority? (سلطة, sulṭa.) Success? (نجاح, najāḥ.) Mastery? (إتقان, itqān.) Ability? (قدرة, qudra.) Competence? (كفاءة, kafāʾa.) A certificate? (شهادة, shahāda.) Ownership? (ملكية, milkiyya.) To be able to? (استطاع, istaṭāᶜa.) To be able to? (قدر, qadara.) It is possible? (يمكن, yumkin.) With? (لدى, ladā.) Strength? (قوة, quwwa.) A right? (حق, ḥaqq.) An owner? (مالك, mālik.) Wealth? (ثروة, tharwa.) Experience? (خبرة, khibra.) A habit? (عادة, ᶜāda.) A skill? (مهارة, mahāra.) An art? (فن, fann.)

Chapter 110

Tool, To own, To lose, To keep, Talent

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tool, to own, to lose, to keep and a talent.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 110: I can say a tool, to own, to lose, to keep and a talent.

110.1 أداة (adāt) — a tool

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a skill, then the Arabic for an art.

You'll want to know: أداة

أداة — adāt — "a tool".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أداة (adāt) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-d-w, "to equip oneself, to get ready" (Lane). Lane's adāt is an instrument or tool.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: adāt
- Say it: adāt, once more
- Say it: say adāt
- Recall: say the Arabic for a skill, then the Arabic for an art, then say adāt again

Before you move on

What does أداة mean? ("A tool".) Say it once more.

110.2 ملك (malaka) — to own

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an art, then the Arabic for a tool.

You'll want to know: ملك

ملك — malaka — "to own".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملك (malaka) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-k, "to own, to possess" (Lane). The same root gives malik, "a king".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: malaka
- Say it: malaka, once more
- Say it: say malaka
- Recall: say the Arabic for an art, then the Arabic for a tool, then say malaka again

Before you move on

What does ملك mean? ("To own".) Say it once more.

110.3 خسر (khasira) — to lose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tool, then the Arabic for to own.

You'll want to know: خسر

خسر — khasira — "to lose".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خسر (khasira) is built on the native Arabic root kh-s-r, "to lose, to suffer loss" (Lane). Khasira is the plain verb, "he lost".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khasira
- Say it: khasira, once more
- Say it: say khasira
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tool, then the Arabic for to own, then say khasira again

Before you move on

What does خسر mean? ("To lose".) Say it once more.

110.4 حفظ (ḥafiẓa) — to keep, to memorize

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to own, then the Arabic for to lose.

You'll want to know: حفظ

حفظ — ḥafiẓa — "to keep, to memorize".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حفظ (ḥafiẓa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-ẓ, "to guard, to keep" (Lane). Ḥafiẓa is the plain verb, "to keep, to learn by heart".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥafiẓa
- Say it: ḥafiẓa, once more
- Say it: say ḥafiẓa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to own, then the Arabic for to lose, then say ḥafiẓa again

Before you move on

What does حفظ mean? ("To keep, to memorize".) Say it once more.

110.5 موهبة (mawhiba) — a talent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lose, then the Arabic for to keep.

You'll want to know: موهبة

موهبة — mawhiba — "a talent".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موهبة (mawhiba) is built on the native Arabic root w-h-b, "to give" (Lane). Lane's mawhiba is a gift; a talent is a gift of nature.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawhiba
- Say it: mawhiba, once more
- Say it: say mawhiba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lose, then the Arabic for to keep, then say mawhiba again

Before you move on

What does موهبة mean? ("A talent".) Say it once more.

Chapter 111

To long for, Expectation, Enthusiasm, Wish, Preference

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to long for, an expectation, enthusiasm, a wish and a preference.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 111: I can say to long for, an expectation, enthusiasm, a wish and a preference.

111.1 اشتاق (ishtāqa) — to long for

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to keep, then the Arabic for a talent.

You'll want to know: اشتاق

اشتاق — ishtāqa — "to long for".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتاق (ishtāqa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-q, "to long for" (Lane). Ishtāqa is Form VIII, "to feel longing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtāqa
- Say it: ishtāqa, once more
- Say it: say ishtāqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to keep, then the Arabic for a talent, then say ishtāqa again

Before you move on

What does اشتاق mean? ("To long for".) Say it once more.

111.2 توقع (tawaqqu^{c}) — an expectation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a talent, then the Arabic for to long for.

Say "red" and "blue," masculine then feminine. (Aḥmar, ḥamrāʾ; azraq, zarqāʾ.)

You'll want to know: توقع

توقع — tawaqqu^{c} — "an expectation".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توقع (tawaqqu^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-^{c}, "to fall" (Lane). Tawaqqu^{c} is the verbal noun of Form V, "awaiting what will befall".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tawaqqu^{c}
- Say it: tawaqqu^{c}, once more
- Say it: say tawaqqu^{c}

- Recall: say the Arabic for a talent, then the Arabic for to long for, then say tawaqqu^{c} again

Before you move on

What does توقع mean? ("An expectation".) Say it once more.

111.3 حماس (ḥamās) — enthusiasm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to long for, then the Arabic for an expectation.

You'll want to know: حماس

حماس — ḥamās — "enthusiasm".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حماس (ḥamās) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-s, "to be hard, to be zealous" (Lane). Lane's ḥamāsa is courage and zeal; ḥamās is "enthusiasm".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥamās
- Say it: ḥamās, once more
- Say it: say ḥamās
- Recall: say the Arabic for to long for, then the Arabic for an expectation, then say ḥamās again

Before you move on

What does حماس mean? ("Enthusiasm".) Say it once more.

111.4 أمنية (umniyya) — a wish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an expectation, then the Arabic for enthusiasm.

You'll want to know: أمنية

أمنية — umniyya — "a wish".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمنية (umniyya) is built on the native Arabic root m-n-y (Lane), whose Form V tamannā means "to wish". Lane's umniyya is a thing wished for.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: umniyya
- Say it: umniyya, once more
- Say it: say umniyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for an expectation, then the Arabic for enthusiasm, then say umniyya again

Before you move on

What does أمنية mean? ("A wish".) Say it once more.

111.5 تفضيل (tafḍīl) — a preference

Before the new one: say the Arabic for enthusiasm, then the Arabic for a wish.

You'll want to know: تفضيل

تفضيل — tafḍīl — "a preference".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفضيل (tafḍīl) is built on the native Arabic root f-ḍ-l, "to exceed; excess, favour" (Lane). Tafḍīl is the verbal noun of Form II, "preferring".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tafḍīl
- Say it: tafḍīl, once more
- Say it: say tafḍīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for enthusiasm, then the Arabic for a wish, then say tafḍīl again

Before you move on

What does تفضيل mean? ("A preference".) Say it once more.

Chapter 112

Longing, Ambition, Purpose, Project, Suggestion

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say longing, ambition, a purpose, a project and a suggestion.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 112: I can say longing, ambition, a purpose, a project and a suggestion.

112.1 شوق (shawq) — longing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wish, then the Arabic for a preference.

You'll want to know: شوق

شوق — shawq — "longing".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شوق (shawq) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-q, "to long for" (Lane). Shawq is the verbal noun, "longing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shawq
- Say it: shawq, once more
- Say it: say shawq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wish, then the Arabic for a preference, then say shawq again

Before you move on

What does شوق mean? ("Longing".) Say it once more.

112.2 طموح (ṭumūḥ) — ambition

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a preference, then the Arabic for longing.

You'll want to know: طموح

طموح — ṭumūḥ — "ambition".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طموح (ṭumūḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-m-ḥ, "to raise the eyes, to aspire" (Lane). Ṭumūḥ is the verbal noun, "aspiring".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭumūḥ
- Say it: ṭumūḥ, once more
- Say it: say ṭumūḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a preference, then the Arabic for longing, then say ṭumūḥ again

Before you move on

What does طموح mean? ("Ambition".) Say it once more.

112.3 غاية (ghāya) — a purpose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for longing, then the Arabic for ambition.

Name the four seasons. (Rabīᶜ, ṣayf, kharīf, shitāʾ.) Which one also names two lunar months? (Rabīᶜ.)

You'll want to know: غاية

غاية — ghāya — "a purpose".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غاية (ghāya), "the utmost limit, a goal", is an old native noun, filed under the root gh-y-y (Lane). Lane's ghāya is the furthest point of a thing.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāya
- Say it: ghāya, once more
- Say it: say ghāya
- Recall: say the Arabic for longing, then the Arabic for ambition, then say ghāya again

Before you move on

What does غاية mean? ("A purpose".) Say it once more.

112.4 مشروع (mashrū^{c}) — a project

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ambition, then the Arabic for a purpose.

You'll want to know: مشروع

مشروع — mashrū^{c} — "a project".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشروع (mashrū^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-^{c}, "to enter upon; to lay down a law" (Lane). Mashrū^{c} is the passive participle, "laid down, lawful"; the project is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mashrū^{c}
- Say it: mashrū^{c}, once more
- Say it: say mashrū^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for ambition, then the Arabic for a purpose, then say mashrū^{c} again

Before you move on

What does مشروع mean? ("A project".) Say it once more.

112.5 اقتراح (iqtirāḥ) — a suggestion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a purpose, then the Arabic for a project.

You'll want to know: اقتراح

اقتراح — iqtirāḥ — "a suggestion".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتراح (iqtirāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ḥ, "to wound" (Lane). Iqtirāḥ is the verbal noun of Form VIII iqtaraḥa, which Lane gives as "to originate, to devise (a thing)"; "proposing" is the modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtirāḥ
- Say it: iqtirāḥ, once more
- Say it: say iqtirāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a purpose, then the Arabic for a project, then say iqtirāḥ again

Before you move on

What does اقتراح mean? ("A suggestion".) Say it once more.

Chapter 113

Interest, To hate, Desire, Dream, Hope

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say interest, to hate, a desire, a dream and hope.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 113: I can say interest, to hate, a desire, a dream and hope.

113.1 اهتمام (ihtimām) — interest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a project, then the Arabic for a suggestion.

You'll want to know: اهتمام

اهتمام — ihtimām — "interest".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اهتمام (ihtimām) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-m, "to concern, to make anxious" (Lane). Ihtimām is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "concern, interest".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ihtimām
- Say it: ihtimām, once more
- Say it: say ihtimām
- Recall: say the Arabic for a project, then the Arabic for a suggestion, then say ihtimām again

Before you move on

What does اهتمام mean? ("Interest".) Say it once more.

113.2 كره (kariha) — to hate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a suggestion, then the Arabic for interest.

You'll want to know: كره

كره — kariha — "to hate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كره (kariha) is built on the native Arabic root k-r-h, "to dislike, to hate" (Lane). Kariha is the plain verb, "he hated".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kariha
- Say it: kariha, once more
- Say it: say kariha
- Recall: say the Arabic for a suggestion, then the Arabic for interest, then say kariha again

Before you move on

What does كره mean? ("To hate".) Say it once more.

113.3 رغبة (raghba) — a desire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for interest, then the Arabic for to hate.

You'll want to know: رغبة

رغبة — raghba — "a desire".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رغبة (raghba) is built on the native Arabic root r-gh-b, "to desire" (Lane). Raghba is the noun, "a desire".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raghba
- Say it: raghba, once more
- Say it: say raghba
- Recall: say the Arabic for interest, then the Arabic for to hate, then say raghba again

Before you move on

What does رغبة mean? ("A desire".) Say it once more.

113.4 حلم (ḥulm) — a dream

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hate, then the Arabic for a desire.

Arabic keeps two sets of month names. Which set borrows yanāyir and fabrāyir, and which holds Muḥarram? (The civil solar months; the lunar Hijri months.)

You'll want to know: حلم

حلم — ḥulm — "a dream".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حلم (ḥulm) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-m, "to dream" (Lane). Ḥulm is a dream.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥulm
- Say it: ḥulm, once more
- Say it: say ḥulm
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hate, then the Arabic for a desire, then say ḥulm again

Before you move on

What does حلم mean? ("A dream".) Say it once more.

113.5 أمل (amal) — hope

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a desire, then the Arabic for a dream.

You'll want to know: أمل

أمل — amal — "hope".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمل (amal) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-l, “to hope” (Lane). Amal is the noun, “hope”.

What you’ve built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: amal
- Say it: amal, once more
- Say it: say amal
- Recall: say the Arabic for a desire, then the Arabic for a dream, then say amal again

Before you move on

What does أمل mean? (“Hope”.) Say it once more.

Chapter 114

Goal, Plan, Need, To need, To wish

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a goal, a plan, a need, to need and to wish.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 114: I can say a goal, a plan, a need, to need and to wish.

114.1 هدف (hadaf) — a goal, an aim

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dream, then the Arabic for hope.

You'll want to know: هدف

هدف — hadaf — "a goal, an aim".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدف (hadaf) is a native noun built on the root h-d-f. Lane's brief article gives it as a high building, and as a butt, a target shot at.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hadaf
- Say it: hadaf, once more
- Say it: say hadaf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dream, then the Arabic for hope, then say hadaf again

Before you move on

What does هدف mean? ("A goal, an aim".) Say it once more.

114.2 خطة (khuṭṭa) — a plan

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hope, then the Arabic for a goal.

You'll want to know: خطة

خطة — khuṭṭa — "a plan".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطة (khuṭṭa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-ṭ, "to draw a line" (Lane). Lane's khuṭṭa is a line, or an affair; the plan, a thing marked out, is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khuṭṭa
- Say it: khuṭṭa, once more
- Say it: say khuṭṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for hope, then the Arabic for a goal, then say khuṭṭa again

Before you move on

What does خطة mean? ("A plan".) Say it once more.

114.3 حاجة (ḥāja) — a need

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a goal, then the Arabic for a plan.

You'll want to know: حاجة

حاجة — ḥāja — "a need".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاجة (ḥāja) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-j, "to need" (Lane). Ḥāja is the noun, "a need".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāja
- Say it: ḥāja, once more
- Say it: say ḥāja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a goal, then the Arabic for a plan, then say ḥāja again

Before you move on

What does حاجة mean? ("A need".) Say it once more.

114.4 احتاج (iḥtāja) — to need

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a plan, then the Arabic for a need.

You'll want to know: احتاج

احتاج — iḥtāja — "to need".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتاج (iḥtāja) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-j, "to need" (Lane). Iḥtāja is Form VIII, "to be in need".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtāja
- Say it: iḥtāja, once more
- Say it: say iḥtāja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a plan, then the Arabic for a need, then say iḥtāja again

Before you move on

What does احتاج mean? ("To need".) Say it once more.

114.5 تمنى (tamannā) — to wish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a need, then the Arabic for to need.

Say "noon" and "midnight." (Aẓ-ẓuhr, also the midday prayer; muntaṣaf al-layl, "the half of the night.")

You'll want to know: تمنى

تمنى — tamannā — "to wish".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمنى (tamannā) is built on the native Arabic root m-n-y (Lane). Tamannā is Form V, "to wish".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tamannā
- Say it: tamannā, once more
- Say it: say tamannā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a need, then the Arabic for to need, then say tamannā again

Before you move on

What does تمنى mean? ("To wish".) Say it once more.

Chapter 115

Decision, To choose, To prefer, To ask for, Intention

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a decision, to choose, to prefer, to ask for and an intention.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 115: I can say a decision, to choose, to prefer, to ask for and an intention.

115.1 قرار (qarār) — a decision

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to need, then the Arabic for to wish.

You'll want to know: قرار

قرار — qarār — "a decision".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرار (qarār) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). Qarār is a settling, hence a settled decision.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarār
- Say it: qarār, once more
- Say it: say qarār
- Recall: say the Arabic for to need, then the Arabic for to wish, then say qarār again

Before you move on

What does قرار mean? ("A decision".) Say it once more.

115.2 اختار (ikhtāra) — to choose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wish, then the Arabic for a decision.

You'll want to know: اختار

اختار — ikhtāra — "to choose".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختار (ikhtāra) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-r, "good; to choose" (Lane). Form VIII ikhtāra is "to take the best", to choose.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtāra
- Say it: ikhtāra, once more
- Say it: say ikhtāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wish, then the Arabic for a decision, then say ikhtāra again

Before you move on

What does اختار mean? ("To choose".) Say it once more.

115.3 فضل (faḍḍala) — to prefer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a decision, then the Arabic for to choose.

You'll want to know: فضل

فضل — faḍḍala — "to prefer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فضل (faḍḍala) is built on the native Arabic root f-ḍ-l, "to exceed; excess, favour" (Lane). Faḍḍala is Form II, "to give excess to", to prefer.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: faḍḍala
- Say it: faḍḍala, once more
- Say it: say faḍḍala
- Recall: say the Arabic for a decision, then the Arabic for to choose, then say faḍḍala again

Before you move on

What does فضل mean? ("To prefer".) Say it once more.

115.4 طلب (ṭalaba) — to ask for, to request

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to choose, then the Arabic for to prefer.

You'll want to know: طلب

طلب — ṭalaba — "to ask for, to request".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طلب (ṭalaba) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-b, "to seek, to ask for" (Lane). Ṭalaba is the plain verb, "he sought".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭalaba
- Say it: ṭalaba, once more
- Say it: say ṭalaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to choose, then the Arabic for to prefer, then say ṭalaba again

Before you move on

What does طلب mean? ("To ask for, to request".) Say it once more.

115.5 نية (niyya) — an intention

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prefer, then the Arabic for to ask for.

You'll want to know: نية

نية — niyya — "an intention".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نية (niyya) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-y, "to intend" (Lane). Niyya is the noun, "an intention".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: niyya
- Say it: niyya, once more
- Say it: say niyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prefer, then the Arabic for to ask for, then say niyya again

Before you move on

What does نية mean? ("An intention".) Say it once more.

Chapter 116

Jug, Frying pan, Oven, Fan, Computer

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a jug, a frying pan, an oven, a fan and a computer.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 116: I can say a jug, a frying pan, an oven, a fan and a computer.

116.1 إبريق (ibrīq) — a jug, a teapot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ask for, then the Arabic for an intention.

Ask "What time is it?" (Kam as-sāᶜa? — sāᶜa is both "hour" and "clock.")

You'll want to know: إبريق

إبريق — ibrīq — "a jug, a teapot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إبريق (ibrīq) is a loan: Lane's sources call it a Persian word, arabicized, from āb-rīz, "water-pourer"; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ibrīq
- Say it: ibrīq, once more
- Say it: say ibrīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ask for, then the Arabic for an intention, then say ibrīq again

Before you move on

What does إبريق mean? ("A jug, a teapot".) Say it once more.

116.2 مقلاة (miqlāh) — a frying pan

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an intention, then the Arabic for a jug.

You'll want to know: مقلاة

مقلاة — miqlāh — "a frying pan".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقلاة (miqlāh) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-y, "to fry" (Lane). Miqlāh is an instrument noun, "a thing to fry in".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miqlāh
- Say it: miqlāh, once more
- Say it: say miqlāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for an intention, then the Arabic for a jug, then say miqlāh again

Before you move on

What does مقلاة mean? ("A frying pan".) Say it once more.

116.3 فرن (furn) — an oven

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a jug, then the Arabic for a frying pan.

You'll want to know: فرن

فرن — furn — "an oven".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرن (furn) is an oven for bread. Lane notes that it seems to come from, or be cognate with, Latin furnus, "oven"; it is usually taken as a loan.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: furn
- Say it: furn, once more
- Say it: say furn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a jug, then the Arabic for a frying pan, then say furn again

Before you move on

What does فرن mean? ("An oven".) Say it once more.

116.4 مروحة (mirwaḥa) — a fan

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a frying pan, then the Arabic for an oven.

You'll want to know: مروحة

مروحة — mirwaḥa — "a fan".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مروحة (mirwaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "wind; breath" (Lane). Mirwaḥa is an instrument noun, "a thing for making wind": a fan.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mirwaḥa
- Say it: mirwaḥa, once more
- Say it: say mirwaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a frying pan, then the Arabic for an oven, then say mirwaḥa again

Before you move on

What does مروحة mean? ("A fan".) Say it once more.

116.5 حاسوب (ḥāsūb) — a computer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an oven, then the Arabic for a fan.

You'll want to know: حاسوب

حاسوب — ḥāsūb — "a computer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاسوب (ḥāsūb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-b, "to count, to reckon" (Lane). Ḥāsūb is a modern coinage on the fāᶜūl pattern, "a counting machine".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāsūb
- Say it: ḥāsūb, once more
- Say it: say ḥāsūb
- Recall: say the Arabic for an oven, then the Arabic for a fan, then say ḥāsūb again

Before you move on

What does حاسوب mean? ("A computer".) Say it once more.

Chapter 117

Television, Newspaper, Magazine, Letter, Envelope

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a television, a newspaper, a magazine, a letter and an envelope.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 117: I can say a television, a newspaper, a magazine, a letter and an envelope.

117.1 تلفاز (tilfāz) — a television

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fan, then the Arabic for a computer.

You'll want to know: تلفاز

تلفاز — tilfāz — "a television".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تلفاز (tilfāz) is a modern word borrowed from European television and fitted to an Arabic pattern; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tilfāz
- Say it: tilfāz, once more
- Say it: say tilfāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fan, then the Arabic for a computer, then say tilfāz again

Before you move on

What does تلفاز mean? ("A television".) Say it once more.

117.2 جريدة (jarīda) — a newspaper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a computer, then the Arabic for a television.

You'll want to know: جريدة

جريدة — jarīda — "a newspaper".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جريدة (jarīda) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-d, "to strip" (Lane). Lane's jarīda is a palm stalk stripped of its leaves, and also a register; the newspaper is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jarīda
- Say it: jarīda, once more
- Say it: say jarīda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a computer, then the Arabic for a television, then say jarīda again

Before you move on

What does جريدة mean? ("A newspaper".) Say it once more.

117.3 مجلة (majalla) — a magazine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a television, then the Arabic for a newspaper.

Say "the weather," then "It is hot." (Aṭ-ṭaqs; al-jaw ḥārr — no verb "to be.")

You'll want to know: مجلة

مجلة — majalla — "a magazine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجلة (majalla) is filed by Lane under j-l-l as a book or scroll, and one of his sources ties it to jill, "a book's cover". It is often compared with Aramaic megillā, "scroll", and may be borrowed from it; the magazine is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: majalla
- Say it: majalla, once more
- Say it: say majalla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a television, then the Arabic for a newspaper, then say majalla again

Before you move on

What does مجلة mean? ("A magazine".) Say it once more.

117.4 رسالة (risāla) — a letter, a message

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a newspaper, then the Arabic for a magazine.

You'll want to know: رسالة

رسالة — risāla — "a letter, a message".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسالة (risāla) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-l, "to send" (Lane). Risāla is a thing sent: a message, a letter.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: risāla
- Say it: risāla, once more
- Say it: say risāla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a newspaper, then the Arabic for a magazine, then say risāla again

Before you move on

What does رسالة mean? ("A letter, a message".) Say it once more.

117.5 ظرف (ẓarf) — an envelope

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a magazine, then the Arabic for a letter.

You'll want to know: ظرف

ظرف — ẓarf — "an envelope".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظرف (ẓarf), "a vessel, a receptacle", is an old native noun, filed under the root ẓ-r-f (Lane), whose verb means "to be elegant, clever". Lane's ẓarf is a vessel; the envelope is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓarf
- Say it: ẓarf, once more
- Say it: say ẓarf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a magazine, then the Arabic for a letter, then say ẓarf again

Before you move on

What does ظرف mean? ("An envelope".) Say it once more.

Chapter 118

Present, Ticket, Passport, Wallet, Umbrella

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a present, a ticket, a passport, a wallet and an umbrella.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 118: I can say a present, a ticket, a passport, a wallet and an umbrella.

118.1 هدية (hadiyya) — a present

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a letter, then the Arabic for an envelope.

You'll want to know: هدية

هدية — hadiyya — "a present".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدية (hadiyya) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-y, "to guide; to send a gift" (Lane). Hadiyya is a gift sent.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hadiyya
- Say it: hadiyya, once more
- Say it: say hadiyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a letter, then the Arabic for an envelope, then say hadiyya again

Before you move on

What does هدية mean? ("A present".) Say it once more.

118.2 تذكرة (tadhkira) — a ticket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an envelope, then the Arabic for a present.

You'll want to know: تذكرة

تذكرة — tadhkira — "a ticket".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تذكرة (tadhkira) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-r, "to remember" (Lane). Lane's tadhkira is a reminder, a memorandum; the ticket is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tadhkira
- Say it: tadhkira, once more
- Say it: say tadhkira
- Recall: say the Arabic for an envelope, then the Arabic for a present, then say tadhkira again

Before you move on

What does تذكرة mean? ("A ticket".) Say it once more.

118.3 جواز (jawāz) — a passport

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a present, then the Arabic for a ticket.

You'll want to know: جواز

جواز — jawāz — "a passport".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جواز (jawāz) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-z, "to pass, to be allowed" (Lane). Jawāz is a passing, leave to pass; the passport, jawāz safar, is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jawāz
- Say it: jawāz, once more
- Say it: say jawāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for a present, then the Arabic for a ticket, then say jawāz again

Before you move on

What does جواز mean? ("A passport".) Say it once more.

118.4 محفظة (miḥfaẓa) — a wallet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ticket, then the Arabic for a passport.

Count to five. (Wāḥid, ithnān, thalātha, arbaᶜa, khamsa.) Where did the digit shapes English calls "Arabic numerals" begin? (In India.)

You'll want to know: محفظة

محفظة — miḥfaẓa — "a wallet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محفظة (miḥfaẓa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-ẓ, "to guard, to keep" (Lane). Miḥfaẓa is an instrument noun, "a thing for keeping".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miḥfaẓa
- Say it: miḥfaẓa, once more
- Say it: say miḥfaẓa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ticket, then the Arabic for a passport, then say miḥfaẓa again

Before you move on

What does محفظة mean? ("A wallet".) Say it once more.

118.5 مظلة (miẓalla) — an umbrella

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a passport, then the Arabic for a wallet.

You'll want to know: مظلة

مظلة — miẓalla — "an umbrella".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مظلة (miẓalla) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-l, "shade, shadow" (Lane). Lane's miẓalla is a large tent or shelter; he also records a shade held over kings as they ride.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miẓalla
- Say it: miẓalla, once more
- Say it: say miẓalla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a passport, then the Arabic for a wallet, then say miẓalla again

Before you move on

What does مظلة mean? ("An umbrella".) Say it once more.

Chapter 119

Glove, Scarf, Lunch, Dinner, Vinegar

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a glove, a scarf, lunch, dinner and vinegar.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 119: I can say a glove, a scarf, lunch, dinner and vinegar.

119.1 قفاز (quffāz) — a glove

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wallet, then the Arabic for an umbrella.

You'll want to know: قفاز

قفاز — quffāz — "a glove".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قفاز (quffāz) is built on the native Arabic root q-f-z, "to leap" (Lane). Lane's quffāz is a thing worn on the hand, stuffed with cotton.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: quffāz
- Say it: quffāz, once more
- Say it: say quffāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wallet, then the Arabic for an umbrella, then say quffāz again

Before you move on

What does قفاز mean? ("A glove".) Say it once more.

119.2 وشاح (wishāḥ) — a scarf

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an umbrella, then the Arabic for a glove.

You'll want to know: وشاح

وشاح — wishāḥ — "a scarf".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وشاح (wishāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root w-sh-ḥ, "a sash" (Lane). Lane's wishāḥ is a woman's ornamented sash.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wishāḥ
- Say it: wishāḥ, once more
- Say it: say wishāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for an umbrella, then the Arabic for a glove, then say wishāḥ again

Before you move on

What does وشاح mean? ("A scarf".) Say it once more.

119.3 غداء (ghadāʾ) — lunch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a glove, then the Arabic for a scarf.

You'll want to know: غداء

غداء — ghadāʾ — "lunch".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غداء (ghadāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root gh-d-w, "to go forth early in the morning" (Lane). Ghadāʾ was the morning meal; it has moved to midday.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghadāʾ
- Say it: ghadāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ghadāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a glove, then the Arabic for a scarf, then say ghadāʾ again

Before you move on

What does غداء mean? ("Lunch".) Say it once more.

119.4 عشاء (ᶜashāʾ) — dinner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a scarf, then the Arabic for lunch.

You'll want to know: عشاء

عشاء — ᶜashāʾ — "dinner".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عشاء (ᶜashāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-sh-w, "the evening" (Lane). ᶜAshāʾ is the evening meal.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜashāʾ
- Say it: ᶜashāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ᶜashāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a scarf, then the Arabic for lunch, then say ᶜashāʾ again

Before you move on

What does عشاء mean? ("Dinner".) Say it once more.

119.5 خل (khall) — vinegar

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lunch, then the Arabic for dinner.

Say eleven and twenty. (Aḥada ᶜashar, "one-ten"; ᶜishrūn, its own word on the root of ten.)

You'll want to know: خل

خل — khall — "vinegar".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خل (khall), "vinegar", is an old native noun, filed under the root kh-l-l (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khall
- Say it: khall, once more
- Say it: say khall
- Recall: say the Arabic for lunch, then the Arabic for dinner, then say khall again

Before you move on

What does خل mean? ("Vinegar".) Say it once more.

119.6 Wanting and planning — a first pass

Say the words for dinner and vinegar.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a tool, to own, to lose, to keep, a talent
- to long for, an expectation, enthusiasm, a wish, a preference
- longing, ambition, a purpose, a project, a suggestion
- interest, to hate, a desire, a dream, hope
- a goal, a plan, a need, to need, to wish

Before you move on

A tool? (أداة, adāt.) To own? (ملك, malaka.) To lose? (خسر, khasira.) To keep? (حفظ, ḥafiẓa.) A talent? (موهبة, mawhiba.) To long for? (اشتاق, ishtāqa.) An expectation? (توقع, tawaqqu^{c}.) Enthusiasm?

(حماس, ḥamās.) A wish? (أمنية, umniyya.) A preference? (تفضيل, tafḍīl.) Longing? (شوق, shawq.) Ambition? (طموح, ṭumūḥ.) A purpose? (غاية, ghāya.) A project? (مشروع, mashrūᶜ.) A suggestion? (اقتراح, iqtirāḥ.) Interest? (اهتمام, ihtimām.) To hate? (كره, kariha.) A desire? (رغبة, raghba.) A dream? (حلم, ḥulm.) Hope? (أمل, amal.) A goal? (هدف, hadaf.) A plan? (خطة, khuṭṭa.) A need? (حاجة, ḥāja.) To need? (احتاج, iḥtāja.) To wish? (تمنى, tamannā.)

119.7 Things in the house — a second pass

Say the words for a decision and to choose.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a decision, to choose, to prefer, to ask for, an intention
- a jug, a frying pan, an oven, a fan, a computer
- a television, a newspaper, a magazine, a letter, an envelope
- a present, a ticket, a passport, a wallet, an umbrella
- a glove, a scarf, lunch, dinner, vinegar

Before you move on

A decision? (قرار, qarār.) To choose? (اختار, ikhtāra.) To prefer? (فضل, faḍḍala.) To ask for? (طلب, ṭalaba.) An intention? (نية, niyya.) A jug? (إبريق, ibrīq.) A frying pan? (مقلاة, miqlāh.) An oven? (فرن, furn.) A fan? (مروحة, mirwaḥa.) A computer? (حاسوب, ḥāsūb.) A television? (تلفاز, tilfāz.) A newspaper? (جريدة, jarīda.) A magazine? (مجلة, majalla.) A letter? (رسالة, risāla.) An envelope? (ظرف, ẓarf.) A present? (هدية, hadiyya.) A ticket? (تذكرة, tadhkira.) A passport? (جواز, jawāz.) A wallet? (محفظة, miḥfaẓa.) An umbrella? (مظلة, miẓalla.) A glove? (قفاز, quffāz.) A scarf? (وشاح, wishāḥ.) Lunch? (غداء, ghadāʾ.) Dinner? (عشاء, ᶜashāʾ.) Vinegar? (خل, khall.)

Chapter 120

Jam, Pomegranate, Strawberries, Lettuce, Aubergine

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say jam, a pomegranate, strawberries, lettuce and an aubergine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 120: I can say jam, a pomegranate, strawberries, lettuce and an aubergine.

120.1 مربى (murabbā) — jam

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dinner, then the Arabic for vinegar.

You'll want to know: مربى

مربى — murabbā — "jam".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مربى (murabbā) is fruit preserved in rubb, a thickened fruit juice: Lane gives murabbab and murabbā for ginger so preserved, under the root r-b-b (Lane). Jam is the later use.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: murabbā
- Say it: murabbā, once more
- Say it: say murabbā
- Recall: say the Arabic for dinner, then the Arabic for vinegar, then say murabbā again

Before you move on

What does مربى mean? ("Jam".) Say it once more.

120.2 رمان (rummān) — a pomegranate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for vinegar, then the Arabic for jam.

You'll want to know: رمان

رمان — rummān — "a pomegranate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمان (rummān) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-n, "the pomegranate" (Lane). Lane gives it under r-m-n and r-m-m; Hebrew rimmon, "pomegranate", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rummān
- Say it: rummān, once more
- Say it: say rummān
- Recall: say the Arabic for vinegar, then the Arabic for jam, then say rummān again

Before you move on

What does رمان mean? ("A pomegranate".) Say it once more.

120.3 فراولة (farāwila) — strawberries

Before the new one: say the Arabic for jam, then the Arabic for a pomegranate.

You'll want to know: فراولة

فراولة — farāwila — "strawberries".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فراولة (farāwila) is a modern loan, usually traced to Italian fragola, "strawberry"; EtymDB links it with Greek fraoula, a borrowing of the same Italian word.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: farāwila
- Say it: farāwila, once more
- Say it: say farāwila
- Recall: say the Arabic for jam, then the Arabic for a pomegranate, then say farāwila again

Before you move on

What does فراولة mean? ("Strawberries".) Say it once more.

120.4 خس (khass) — lettuce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pomegranate, then the Arabic for strawberries.

You'll want to know: خس

خس — khass — "lettuce".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خس (khass) is listed by Lane under kh-s-s. Aramaic ḥassā, "lettuce", is the same word (EtymDB), and the Arabic is usually taken as borrowed from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khass
- Say it: khass, once more
- Say it: say khass
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pomegranate, then the Arabic for strawberries, then say khass again

Before you move on

What does خس mean? ("Lettuce".) Say it once more.

120.5 باذنجان (bādhinjān) — an aubergine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for strawberries, then the Arabic for lettuce.

You'll want to know: باذنجان

باذنجان — bādhinjān — "an aubergine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

باذنجان (bādhinjān) is a loan: Lane derives it from Persian bādinkān. English aubergine comes from the Arabic word through Catalan and French.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bādhinjān
- Say it: bādhinjān, once more
- Say it: say bādhinjān
- Recall: say the Arabic for strawberries, then the Arabic for lettuce, then say bādhinjān again

Before you move on

What does باذنجان mean? ("An aubergine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 121

Cabbage, Mint, Parsley, Thyme, Cumin

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a cabbage, mint, parsley, thyme and cumin.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 121: I can say a cabbage, mint, parsley, thyme and cumin.

121.1 ملفوف (malfūf) — a cabbage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lettuce, then the Arabic for an aubergine.

Say "dog" and "cat." (Kalb, like Hebrew kelev; qiṭṭ, compared with Latin cattus.)

You'll want to know: ملفوف

ملفوف — malfūf — "a cabbage".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملفوف (malfūf) is built on the native Arabic root l-f-f, "to wrap, to roll up" (Lane). Malfūf is the passive participle, "wrapped", for the cabbage's folded leaves.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: malfūf
- Say it: malfūf, once more
- Say it: say malfūf
- Recall: say the Arabic for lettuce, then the Arabic for an aubergine, then say malfūf again

Before you move on

What does ملفوف mean? ("A cabbage".) Say it once more.

121.2 نعناع (na^{c}nā^c) — mint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an aubergine, then the Arabic for a cabbage.

You'll want to know: نعناع

نعناع — na^{c}nā^c — "mint".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نعناع (na^{c}nā^c) is a reduplicated word with no entry in Lane. EtymDB sets it beside Syriac nan^{c}ā, "mint", but which way the word travelled is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: na^{c}nā^c
- Say it: na^{c}nā^c, once more

- Say it: say $na^c n\bar{a}^c$
- Recall: say the Arabic for an aubergine, then the Arabic for a cabbage, then say $na^c n\bar{a}^c$ again

Before you move on

What does نعناع mean? ("Mint".) Say it once more.

121.3 بقدونس (baqdūnis) — parsley

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cabbage, then the Arabic for mint.

You'll want to know: بقدونس

بقدونس — baqdūnis — "parsley".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بقدونس (baqdūnis) is usually traced to Greek makedonisi, "Macedonian (parsley)", the same word that gave Turkish maydanoz; the route into Arabic is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baqdūnis
- Say it: baqdūnis, once more
- Say it: say baqdūnis
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cabbage, then the Arabic for mint, then say baqdūnis again

Before you move on

What does بقدونس mean? ("Parsley".) Say it once more.

121.4 زعتر (zaᶜtar) — thyme

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mint, then the Arabic for parsley.

You'll want to know: زعتر

زعتر — zaᶜtar — "thyme".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زعتر (zaᶜtar) is Lane's saᶜtar or ṣaᶜtar, a well-known herb, and he notes that in his day it was also written with z. An Aramaic source has been suggested, and its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zaᶜtar
- Say it: zaᶜtar, once more
- Say it: say zaᶜtar
- Recall: say the Arabic for mint, then the Arabic for parsley, then say zaᶜtar again

Before you move on

What does زعتر mean? ("Thyme".) Say it once more.

121.5 كمون (kammūn) — cumin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for parsley, then the Arabic for thyme.

You'll want to know: كمون

كمون — kammūn — "cumin".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كمون (kammūn) is an old Semitic plant name; Akkadian kamūnu is its relative, and English cumin came through Greek kyminon from a Semitic word of this kind.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kammūn
- Say it: kammūn, once more
- Say it: say kammūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for parsley, then the Arabic for thyme, then say kammūn again

Before you move on

What does كمون mean? ("Cumin".) Say it once more.

Chapter 122

Cupboard, Comb, Soap, Towel, Mattress

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a cupboard, a comb, soap, a towel and a mattress.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 122: I can say a cupboard, a comb, soap, a towel and a mattress.

122.1 خزانة (khizāna) — a cupboard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for thyme, then the Arabic for cumin.

You'll want to know: خزانة

خزانة — khizāna — "a cupboard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خزانة (khizāna) is built on the native Arabic root kh-z-n, "to store, to lay up" (Lane). Khizāna is a store-place; English magazine comes from makhāzin, "storehouses", on the same root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khizāna
- Say it: khizāna, once more
- Say it: say khizāna
- Recall: say the Arabic for thyme, then the Arabic for cumin, then say khizāna again

Before you move on

What does خزانة mean? ("A cupboard".) Say it once more.

122.2 مشط (mushṭ) — a comb

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cumin, then the Arabic for a cupboard.

You'll want to know: مشط

مشط — mushṭ — "a comb".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشط (mushṭ) is built on the native Arabic root m-sh-ṭ, "to comb" (Lane). Mushṭ is a comb.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mushṭ
- Say it: mushṭ, once more
- Say it: say mushṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for cumin, then the Arabic for a cupboard, then say mushṭ again

Before you move on

What does مشط mean? ("A comb".) Say it once more.

122.3 صابون (ṣābūn) — soap

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cupboard, then the Arabic for a comb.

Say "green" and "yellow." (Akhḍar, the root of "vegetables"; aṣfar, the root of ṣifr, "zero.")

You'll want to know: صابون

صابون — ṣābūn — "soap".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صابون (ṣābūn) is usually traced to Latin sāpō, "soap" (EtymDB), probably through Aramaic or Greek. Lane quotes a grammarian who derived it from an Arabic verb, a folk etymology, and another who called it a word common to many languages.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣābūn
- Say it: ṣābūn, once more
- Say it: say ṣābūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cupboard, then the Arabic for a comb, then say ṣābūn again

Before you move on

What does صابون mean? ("Soap".) Say it once more.

122.4 منشفة (minshafa) — a towel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a comb, then the Arabic for soap.

You'll want to know: منشفة

منشفة — minshafa — "a towel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منشفة (minshafa) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-f, "to dry, to wipe dry" (Lane). Minshafa is an instrument noun, "a thing for drying".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: minshafa
- Say it: minshafa, once more
- Say it: say minshafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a comb, then the Arabic for soap, then say minshafa again

Before you move on

What does منشفة mean? ("A towel".) Say it once more.

122.5 فراش (firāsh) — a mattress

Before the new one: say the Arabic for soap, then the Arabic for a towel.

You'll want to know: فراش

فراش — firāsh — "a mattress".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فراش (firāsh) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-sh, "to spread out" (Lane). Firāsh is a thing spread to lie on.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: firāsh
- Say it: firāsh, once more
- Say it: say firāsh
- Recall: say the Arabic for soap, then the Arabic for a towel, then say firāsh again

Before you move on

What does فراش mean? ("A mattress".) Say it once more.

Chapter 123

Blanket, Pillow, Ladder, Stove, Vessel

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a blanket, a pillow, a ladder, a stove and a vessel.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 123: I can say a blanket, a pillow, a ladder, a stove and a vessel.

123.1 بطانية (baṭṭāniyya) — a blanket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a towel, then the Arabic for a mattress.

You'll want to know: بطانية

بطانية — baṭṭāniyya — "a blanket".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطانية (baṭṭāniyya) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-n, "the inside; a lining" (Lane). Baṭṭāniyya is a modern word built on biṭāna, "a lining".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭṭāniyya
- Say it: baṭṭāniyya, once more
- Say it: say baṭṭāniyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a towel, then the Arabic for a mattress, then say baṭṭāniyya again

Before you move on

What does بطانية mean? ("A blanket".) Say it once more.

123.2 وسادة (wisāda) — a pillow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mattress, then the Arabic for a blanket.

You'll want to know: وسادة

وسادة — wisāda — "a pillow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وسادة (wisāda) is built on the native Arabic root w-s-d, "a pillow" (Lane). Wisāda is a pillow, a cushion.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wisāda
- Say it: wisāda, once more
- Say it: say wisāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mattress, then the Arabic for a blanket, then say wisāda again

Before you move on

What does وسادة mean? ("A pillow".) Say it once more.

123.3 سلم (sullam) — a ladder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a blanket, then the Arabic for a pillow.

You'll want to know: سلم

سلم — sullam — "a ladder".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلم (sullam), "a ladder", is an old noun, filed under the root s-l-m (Lane); Hebrew sullam, "ladder", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sullam
- Say it: sullam, once more
- Say it: say sullam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a blanket, then the Arabic for a pillow, then say sullam again

Before you move on

What does سلم mean? ("A ladder".) Say it once more.

123.4 موقد (mawqid) — a stove

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pillow, then the Arabic for a ladder.

Say "day." (Yawm — the yom of Yom Kippur.)

You'll want to know: موقد

موقد — mawqid — "a stove".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موقد (mawqid) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-d, "to burn, to kindle" (Lane). Mawqid is the ma- place noun, "a place of kindling".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawqid
- Say it: mawqid, once more
- Say it: say mawqid
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pillow, then the Arabic for a ladder, then say mawqid again

Before you move on

What does موقد mean? ("A stove".) Say it once more.

123.5 إناء (ināʾ) — a vessel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ladder, then the Arabic for a stove.

You'll want to know: إناء

إناء — ināʾ — "a vessel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إناء (ināʾ), "a vessel", is an old native noun, filed under the root ʾ-n-y (Lane). Lane's ināʾ is a vessel, a container.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ināʾ
- Say it: ināʾ, once more
- Say it: say ināʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ladder, then the Arabic for a stove, then say ināʾ again

Before you move on

What does إناء mean? ("A vessel".) Say it once more.

Chapter 124

Scissors, Needle, Thread, Button, Nail

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say scissors, a needle, a thread, a button and a nail.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 124: I can say scissors, a needle, a thread, a button and a nail.

124.1 مقص (miqaṣṣ) — scissors

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stove, then the Arabic for a vessel.

You'll want to know: مقص

مقص — miqaṣṣ — "scissors".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقص (miqaṣṣ) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-ṣ, "to cut, to clip" (Lane). Miqaṣṣ is an instrument noun, "a thing for clipping".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miqaṣṣ
- Say it: miqaṣṣ, once more
- Say it: say miqaṣṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stove, then the Arabic for a vessel, then say miqaṣṣ again

Before you move on

What does مقص mean? ("Scissors".) Say it once more.

124.2 إبرة (ibra) — a needle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a vessel, then the Arabic for scissors.

You'll want to know: إبرة

إبرة — ibra — "a needle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إبرة (ibra) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-b-r, "to prick" (Lane). Ibra is a needle, a thing that pricks.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ibra
- Say it: ibra, once more
- Say it: say ibra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a vessel, then the Arabic for scissors, then say ibra again

Before you move on

What does إبرة mean? ("A needle".) Say it once more.

124.3 خيط (khayṭ) — a thread

Before the new one: say the Arabic for scissors, then the Arabic for a needle.

You'll want to know: خيط

خيط — khayṭ — "a thread".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خيط (khayṭ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-ṭ, "to sew" (Lane). Khayṭ is a thread.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khayṭ
- Say it: khayṭ, once more
- Say it: say khayṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for scissors, then the Arabic for a needle, then say khayṭ again

Before you move on

What does خيط mean? ("A thread".) Say it once more.

124.4 زر (zirr) — a button

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a needle, then the Arabic for a thread.

You'll want to know: زر

زر — zirr — "a button".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زر (zirr) is built on the native Arabic root z-r-r, "a button" (Lane). Zirr is a button.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zirr
- Say it: zirr, once more
- Say it: say zirr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a needle, then the Arabic for a thread, then say zirr again

Before you move on

What does زر mean? ("A button".) Say it once more.

124.5 مسمار (mismār) — a nail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a thread, then the Arabic for a button.

Say "night." (Layl — a Common Semitic word, Hebrew layla.)

You'll want to know: مسمار

مسمار — mismār — "a nail".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسمار (mismār), "a nail", is listed by Lane under the root s-m-r; Aramaic masmrā is the same word (EtymDB), and Hebrew has masmer.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mismār
- Say it: mismār, once more
- Say it: say mismār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a thread, then the Arabic for a button, then say mismār again

Before you move on

What does مسمار mean? ("A nail".) Say it once more.

Chapter 125

Bucket, Broom, Rubbish, Basket, Box

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a bucket, a broom, rubbish, a basket and a box.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 125: I can say a bucket, a broom, rubbish, a basket and a box.

125.1 دلو (dalw) — a bucket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a button, then the Arabic for a nail.

You'll want to know: دلو

دلو — dalw — "a bucket".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دلو (dalw) is built on the native Arabic root d-l-w, "to let down a bucket" (Lane). Dalw is a bucket for drawing water.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dalw
- Say it: dalw, once more
- Say it: say dalw
- Recall: say the Arabic for a button, then the Arabic for a nail, then say dalw again

Before you move on

What does دلو mean? ("A bucket".) Say it once more.

125.2 مكنسة (miknasa) — a broom

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nail, then the Arabic for a bucket.

You'll want to know: مكنسة

مكنسة — miknasa — "a broom".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكنسة (miknasa) is built on the native Arabic root k-n-s, "to sweep" (Lane). Miknasa is an instrument noun, "a thing for sweeping".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miknasa
- Say it: miknasa, once more
- Say it: say miknasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nail, then the Arabic for a bucket, then say miknasa again

Before you move on

What does مكنسة mean? ("A broom".) Say it once more.

125.3 قمامة (qumāma) — rubbish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bucket, then the Arabic for a broom.

You'll want to know: قمامة

قمامة — qumāma — "rubbish".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قمامة (qumāma) is built on the native Arabic root q-m-m, "to sweep" (Lane). Qumāma is sweepings, rubbish.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qumāma
- Say it: qumāma, once more
- Say it: say qumāma
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bucket, then the Arabic for a broom, then say qumāma again

Before you move on

What does قمامة mean? ("Rubbish".) Say it once more.

125.4 سلة (salla) — a basket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a broom, then the Arabic for rubbish.

You'll want to know: سلة

سلة — salla — "a basket".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلة (salla), a basket, is listed by Lane under s-l-l, though nothing ties it to that root's sense, "to draw out"; EtymDB derives it from Syriac saʾlā, "basket".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: salla
- Say it: salla, once more
- Say it: say salla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a broom, then the Arabic for rubbish, then say salla again

Before you move on

What does سلة mean? ("A basket".) Say it once more.

125.5 صندوق (ṣundūq) — a box

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rubbish, then the Arabic for a basket.

You'll want to know: صندوق

صندوق — ṣundūq — "a box".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صندوق (ṣundūq) is listed by Lane under ṣ-n-d-q as a chest or coffer. EtymDB gives an Aramaic source, and it is usually taken as a loan.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣundūq
- Say it: ṣundūq, once more
- Say it: say ṣundūq
- Recall: say the Arabic for rubbish, then the Arabic for a basket, then say ṣundūq again

Before you move on

What does صندوق mean? ("A box".) Say it once more.

Chapter 126

Candle, Carpet, Doll, Toy, Fridge

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a candle, a carpet, a doll, a toy and a fridge.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 126: I can say a candle, a carpet, a doll, a toy and a fridge.

126.1 شمعة (sham^{c}a) — a candle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a basket, then the Arabic for a box.

Say "he came." (Jāʾa — the weak ي of its root has dissolved.)

You'll want to know: شمعة

شمعة — sham^{c}a — "a candle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شمعة (sham^{c}a) is built on sham^c, "wax", a native noun, filed under the root sh-m-^{c} (Lane); sham^{c}a is one candle.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sham^{c}a
- Say it: sham^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say sham^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for a basket, then the Arabic for a box, then say sham^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does شمعة mean? ("A candle".) Say it once more.

126.2 سجادة (sajjāda) — a carpet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a box, then the Arabic for a candle.

You'll want to know: سجادة

سجادة — sajjāda — "a carpet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سجادة (sajjāda) is built on the native Arabic root s-j-d, "to bow down, to prostrate oneself" (Lane). Sajjāda is a prayer mat, a thing to prostrate on.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sajjāda
- Say it: sajjāda, once more
- Say it: say sajjāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a box, then the Arabic for a candle, then say sajjāda again

Before you move on

What does سجادة mean? ("A carpet".) Say it once more.

126.3 دمية (dumya) — a doll

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a candle, then the Arabic for a carpet.

You'll want to know: دمية

دمية — dumya — "a doll".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دمية (dumya), "an image, a statue", is an old native noun, filed under the root d-m-y (Lane). Lane's dumya is an image, a statue.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dumya
- Say it: dumya, once more
- Say it: say dumya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a candle, then the Arabic for a carpet, then say dumya again

Before you move on

What does دمية mean? ("A doll".) Say it once more.

126.4 لعبة (luᶜba) — a toy, a game

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a carpet, then the Arabic for a doll.

You'll want to know: لعبة

لعبة — lu^{c}ba — "a toy, a game".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لعبة (lu^{c}ba) is built on the native Arabic root l-^{c}-b, "to play" (Lane). Lu^{c}ba is a plaything, a game.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lu^{c}ba
- Say it: lu^{c}ba, once more
- Say it: say lu^{c}ba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a carpet, then the Arabic for a doll, then say lu^{c}ba again

Before you move on

What does لعبة mean? ("A toy, a game".) Say it once more.

126.5 ثلاجة (thallāja) — a fridge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a doll, then the Arabic for a toy.

You'll want to know: ثلاجة

ثلاجة — thallāja — "a fridge".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثلاجة (thallāja) is built on the native Arabic root th-l-j, "snow" (Lane). Thallāja is a modern word, "the snow-maker".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thallāja
- Say it: thallāja, once more
- Say it: say thallāja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a doll, then the Arabic for a toy, then say thallāja again

Before you move on

What does ثلاجة mean? ("A fridge".) Say it once more.

Chapter 127

Curtain, Lock, Handkerchief, Bracelet, Earring

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a curtain, a lock, a handkerchief, a bracelet and an earring.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 127: I can say a curtain, a lock, a handkerchief, a bracelet and an earring.

127.1 ستارة (sitāra) — a curtain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a toy, then the Arabic for a fridge.

You'll want to know: ستارة

ستارة — sitāra — "a curtain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ستارة (sitāra) is built on the native Arabic root s-t-r, "to veil, to cover" (Lane). Sitāra is a thing that covers.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sitāra
- Say it: sitāra, once more
- Say it: say sitāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a toy, then the Arabic for a fridge, then say sitāra again

Before you move on

What does ستارة mean? ("A curtain".) Say it once more.

127.2 قفل (qufl) — a lock

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fridge, then the Arabic for a curtain.

Read it: قال

Which letter is the deep q? (ق, qāf, two dots above.)

You'll want to know: قفل

قفل — qufl — "a lock".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قفل (qufl) is built on the native Arabic root q-f-l. Lane does not list qufl itself, but under q-f-l he gives aqfala l-bāba, "he locked the door", and qāfila, "a company returning from a journey", that is, "a caravan".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qufl
- Say it: qufl, once more
- Say it: say qufl

- Recall: say the Arabic for a fridge, then the Arabic for a curtain, then say qufl again

Before you move on

What does قفل mean? ("A lock".) Say it once more.

127.3 منديل (mindīl) — a handkerchief

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a curtain, then the Arabic for a lock.

You'll want to know: منديل

منديل — mindīl — "a handkerchief".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منديل (mindīl) is usually traced to Greek mandilion, "towel, napkin" (EtymDB), from Latin mantēle; Arabic grammarians placed it under n-d-l.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mindīl
- Say it: mindīl, once more
- Say it: say mindīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a curtain, then the Arabic for a lock, then say mindīl again

Before you move on

What does منديل mean? ("A handkerchief".) Say it once more.

127.4 سوار (siwār) — a bracelet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lock, then the Arabic for a handkerchief.

You'll want to know: سوار

سوار — siwār — "a bracelet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سوار (siwār) is listed by Lane under s-w-r, and his sources call it arabicized from Persian dastwār, "bracelet".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: siwār
- Say it: siwār, once more
- Say it: say siwār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lock, then the Arabic for a handkerchief, then say siwār again

Before you move on

What does سوار mean? ("A bracelet".) Say it once more.

127.5 قرط (qurṭ) — an earring

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a handkerchief, then the Arabic for a bracelet.

You'll want to know: قرط

قرط — qurṭ — "an earring".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرط (qurṭ) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ṭ, "an earring" (Lane). Qurṭ is an earring.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qurṭ
- Say it: qurṭ, once more
- Say it: say qurṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a handkerchief, then the Arabic for a bracelet, then say qurṭ again

Before you move on

What does قرط mean? ("An earring".) Say it once more.

Chapter 128

Glasses, Pepper, Wheat, Lentils, Chickpeas

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say glasses, pepper, wheat, lentils and chickpeas.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 128: I can say glasses, pepper, wheat, lentils and chickpeas.

128.1 نظارة (naẓẓāra) — glasses

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bracelet, then the Arabic for an earring.

You'll want to know: نظارة

نظارة — naẓẓāra — "glasses".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نظارة (naẓẓāra) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-r, "to look at" (Lane). Naẓẓāra is an instrument word, "a thing to look through".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: naẓẓāra
- Say it: naẓẓāra, once more
- Say it: say naẓẓāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bracelet, then the Arabic for an earring, then say naẓẓāra again

Before you move on

What does نظارة mean? ("Glasses".) Say it once more.

128.2 فلفل (filfil) — pepper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an earring, then the Arabic for glasses.

You'll want to know: فلفل

فلفل — filfil — "pepper".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فلفل (filfil) is a loan: Lane records it as arabicized from Persian pilpil, "pepper", which goes back to Sanskrit pippalī, "long pepper".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: filfil
- Say it: filfil, once more
- Say it: say filfil
- Recall: say the Arabic for an earring, then the Arabic for glasses, then say filfil again

Before you move on

What does فلفل mean? ("Pepper".) Say it once more.

128.3 قمح (qamḥ) — wheat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for glasses, then the Arabic for pepper.

You'll want to know: قمح

قمح — qamḥ — "wheat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قمح (qamḥ), "wheat", is a noun, filed under the root q-m-ḥ (Lane). His sources call it a word of Syria, or some say Coptic, and prefer the Syrian account; Hebrew qemaḥ, "flour", is a cousin (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qamḥ
- Say it: qamḥ, once more
- Say it: say qamḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for glasses, then the Arabic for pepper, then say qamḥ again

Before you move on

What does قمح mean? ("Wheat".) Say it once more.

128.4 عدس (ᶜadas) — lentils

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pepper, then the Arabic for wheat.

Say "he saw." (Raʾā — its weak last letter surfaces as the dotless ى.)

You'll want to know: عدس

عدس — ᶜadas — "lentils".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عدس (ᶜadas), "lentils", is an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-d-s (Lane). Hebrew ᶜadashim, "lentils", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜadas
- Say it: ᶜadas, once more
- Say it: say ᶜadas
- Recall: say the Arabic for pepper, then the Arabic for wheat, then say ᶜadas again

Before you move on

What does عدس mean? ("Lentils".) Say it once more.

128.5 حمص (ḥummuṣ) — chickpeas

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wheat, then the Arabic for lentils.

You'll want to know: حمص

حمص — ḥummuṣ — "chickpeas".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمص (ḥummuṣ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-ṣ, "chickpeas" (Lane). Lane lists ḥimmaṣ, ḥummuṣ, the chickpea, under ḥ-m-ṣ; English hummus comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥummuṣ
- Say it: ḥummuṣ, once more
- Say it: say ḥummuṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for wheat, then the Arabic for lentils, then say ḥummuṣ again

Before you move on

What does حمص mean? ("Chickpeas".) Say it once more.

Chapter 129

Beans, Garlic, Cucumber, Apples, Dates

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say beans, garlic, a cucumber, apples and dates.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 129: I can say beans, garlic, a cucumber, apples and dates.

129.1 فول (fūl) — beans

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lentils, then the Arabic for chickpeas.

You'll want to know: فول

فول — fūl — "beans".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فول (fūl) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-l, "beans" (Lane). Lane lists fūl under f-w-l; Hebrew pol, "bean", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fūl
- Say it: fūl, once more
- Say it: say fūl
- Recall: say the Arabic for lentils, then the Arabic for chickpeas, then say fūl again

Before you move on

What does فول mean? ("Beans".) Say it once more.

129.2 ثوم (thūm) — garlic

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chickpeas, then the Arabic for beans.

You'll want to know: ثوم

ثوم — thūm — "garlic".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثوم (thūm) is built on the native Arabic root th-w-m, "garlic" (Lane). Hebrew shum, "garlic", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thūm
- Say it: thūm, once more
- Say it: say thūm
- Recall: say the Arabic for chickpeas, then the Arabic for beans, then say thūm again

Before you move on

What does ثوم mean? ("Garlic".) Say it once more.

129.3 خيار (khiyār) — a cucumber

Before the new one: say the Arabic for beans, then the Arabic for garlic.

You'll want to know: خيار

خيار — khiyār — "a cucumber".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خيار (khiyār) is a loan: Lane's sources call it arabicized from Persian khiyār, "cucumber", not Arabic. It only looks like the root kh-y-r, "good, choice".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khiyār
- Say it: khiyār, once more
- Say it: say khiyār
- Recall: say the Arabic for beans, then the Arabic for garlic, then say khiyār again

Before you move on

What does خيار mean? ("A cucumber".) Say it once more.

129.4 تفاح (tuffāḥ) — apples

Before the new one: say the Arabic for garlic, then the Arabic for a cucumber.

You'll want to know: تفاح

تفاح — tuffāḥ — "apples".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفاح (tuffāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root t-f-ḥ, "the apple" (Lane). Lane quotes a source calling it an Arabic word, not arabicized; Hebrew tappuaḥ is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tuffāḥ
- Say it: tuffāḥ, once more
- Say it: say tuffāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for garlic, then the Arabic for a cucumber, then say tuffāḥ again

Before you move on

What does تفاح mean? ("Apples".) Say it once more.

129.5 تمر (tamr) — dates

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cucumber, then the Arabic for apples.

Read it: قرأ

Where does the hamza sit? (On an alif seat, أ, closing the word: qaraʾa.)

You'll want to know: تمر

تمر — tamr — "dates".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمر (tamr) is built on the native Arabic root t-m-r, "dates" (Lane). Hebrew tamar, "date palm", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tamr
- Say it: tamr, once more
- Say it: say tamr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cucumber, then the Arabic for apples, then say tamr again

Before you move on

What does تمر mean? ("Dates".) Say it once more.

129.6 The house, clothes and food — a first pass

Say the words for apples and dates.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- jam, a pomegranate, strawberries, lettuce, an aubergine
- a cabbage, mint, parsley, thyme, cumin
- a cupboard, a comb, soap, a towel, a mattress
- a blanket, a pillow, a ladder, a stove, a vessel
- scissors, a needle, a thread, a button, a nail

Before you move on

Jam? (مربى, murabbā.) A pomegranate? (رمان, rummān.) Strawberries? (فراولة, farāwila.) Lettuce? (خس, khass.) An aubergine? (باذنجان, bādhinjān.) A cabbage? (ملفوف, malfūf.) Mint? (نعناع, naᶜnāᶜ.) Parsley? (بقدونس, baqdūnis.) Thyme? (زعتر, zaᶜtar.) Cumin? (كمون, kammūn.) A cupboard? (خزانة, khizāna.) A comb? (مشط, mushṭ.) Soap? (صابون, ṣābūn.) A towel? (منشفة, minshafa.) A mattress? (فراش, firāsh.) A blanket? (بطانية, baṭṭāniyya.) A pillow? (وسادة, wisāda.) A ladder? (سلم, sullam.) A stove? (موقد, mawqid.) A vessel? (إناء, ināʾ.) Scissors? (مقص, miqaṣṣ.) A needle? (إبرة, ibra.) A thread? (خيط, khayṭ.) A button? (زر, zirr.) A nail? (مسمار, mismār.)

129.7 Food and the kitchen — a second pass

Say the words for a bucket and a broom.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a bucket, a broom, rubbish, a basket, a box
- a candle, a carpet, a doll, a toy, a fridge
- a curtain, a lock, a handkerchief, a bracelet, an earring
- glasses, pepper, wheat, lentils, chickpeas
- beans, garlic, a cucumber, apples, dates

Before you move on

A bucket? (دلو, dalw.) A broom? (مكنسة, miknasa.) Rubbish? (قمامة, qumāma.) A basket? (سلة, salla.) A box? (صندوق, ṣundūq.) A candle? (شمعة, shamᶜa.) A carpet? (سجادة, sajjāda.) A doll? (دمية, dumya.) A toy? (لعبة, luᶜba.) A fridge? (ثلاجة, thallāja.) A curtain? (ستارة, sitāra.) A lock? (قفل, qufl.) A handkerchief? (منديل, mindīl.) A bracelet? (سوار, siwār.) An earring? (قرط, qurṭ.) Glasses? (نظارة, naẓẓāra.) Pepper? (فلفل, filfil.) Wheat? (قمح, qamḥ.) Lentils? (عدس, ᶜ*adas.*) Chickpeas? (حمص, ḥummuṣ.) Beans? (فول, fūl.) Garlic? (ثوم, thūm.) A cucumber? (خيار, khiyār.) Apples? (تفاح, tuffāḥ.) Dates? (تمر, tamr.)

Chapter 130

Figs, Watermelon, Apricots, Soup, Cake

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say figs, a watermelon, apricots, soup and a cake.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 130: I can say figs, a watermelon, apricots, soup and a cake.

130.1 تين (tīn) — figs

Before the new one: say the Arabic for apples, then the Arabic for dates.

You'll want to know: تين

تين — tīn — "figs".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تين (tīn) is built on the native Arabic root t-y-n, "figs" (Lane). Hebrew teʾenah, "fig", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tīn
- Say it: tīn, once more
- Say it: say tīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for apples, then the Arabic for dates, then say tīn again

Before you move on

What does تين mean? ("Figs".) Say it once more.

130.2 بطيخ (biṭṭīkh) — a watermelon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dates, then the Arabic for figs.

You'll want to know: بطيخ

بطيخ — biṭṭīkh — "a watermelon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطيخ (biṭṭīkh) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-kh, "the melon" (Lane). Hebrew avattiaḥ, "melon", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: biṭṭīkh
- Say it: biṭṭīkh, once more
- Say it: say biṭṭīkh
- Recall: say the Arabic for dates, then the Arabic for figs, then say biṭṭīkh again

Before you move on

What does بطيخ mean? ("A watermelon".) Say it once more.

130.3 مشمش (mishmish) — apricots

Before the new one: say the Arabic for figs, then the Arabic for a watermelon.

You'll want to know: مشمش

مشمش — mishmish — "apricots".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشمش (mishmish) is listed by Lane as a well-known fruit, with a Kufan variant mashmash. He gives no source; Aramaic has the same fruit-name, and a borrowing from Aramaic has been proposed, but the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mishmish
- Say it: mishmish, once more
- Say it: say mishmish
- Recall: say the Arabic for figs, then the Arabic for a watermelon, then say mishmish again

Before you move on

What does مشمش mean? ("Apricots".) Say it once more.

130.4 حساء (ḥasāʾ) — soup

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a watermelon, then the Arabic for apricots.

You'll want to know: حساء

حساء — ḥasāʾ — "soup".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حساء (ḥasāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-w, "to sip" (Lane). Ḥasāʾ is broth, a thing sipped.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥasāʾ
- Say it: ḥasāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ḥasāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a watermelon, then the Arabic for apricots, then say ḥasāʾ again

Before you move on

What does حساء mean? ("Soup".) Say it once more.

130.5 كعكة (kaᶜka) — a cake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for apricots, then the Arabic for soup.

You'll want to know: كعكة

كعكة — kaᶜka — "a cake".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كعكة (ka^{c}ka) is listed by Lane under k-^{c}-k as a well-known bread or biscuit. It is often traced to Persian kāk, a dry bread, but Lane gives no source; EtymDB sets it beside Syriac ka^{c}kā, "cake, loaf", and the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ka^{c}ka
- Say it: ka^{c}ka, once more
- Say it: say ka^{c}ka
- Recall: say the Arabic for apricots, then the Arabic for soup, then say ka^{c}ka again

Before you move on

What does كعكة mean? ("A cake".) Say it once more.

Chapter 131

Grass, Seed, Root, Branch, Island

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say grass, a seed, a root, a branch and an island.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 131: I can say grass, a seed, a root, a branch and an island.

131.1 عشب (ᶜushb) — grass

Before the new one: say the Arabic for soup, then the Arabic for a cake.

Say "he loved." (Aḥabba — and ḥubb, "love," from the same root.)

You'll want to know: عشب

عشب — ᶜushb — "grass".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عشب (ᶜushb), "fresh herbage", is an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-sh-b (Lane). Hebrew ᶜesev, "grass", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ^{c}ushb
- Say it: ^{c}ushb, once more
- Say it: say ^{c}ushb
- Recall: say the Arabic for soup, then the Arabic for a cake, then say ^{c}ushb again

Before you move on

What does عشب mean? ("Grass".) Say it once more.

131.2 بذرة (bidhra) — a seed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cake, then the Arabic for grass.

You'll want to know: بذرة

بذرة — bidhra — "a seed".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بذرة (bidhra) is built on the native Arabic root b-dh-r, "to sow seed" (Lane). Bidhra is one seed.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bidhra
- Say it: bidhra, once more
- Say it: say bidhra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cake, then the Arabic for grass, then say bidhra again

Before you move on

What does بذرة mean? ("A seed".) Say it once more.

131.3 جذر (jidhr) — a root

Before the new one: say the Arabic for grass, then the Arabic for a seed.

You'll want to know: جذر

جذر — jidhr — "a root".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جذر (jidhr) is built on the native Arabic root j-dh-r, "to cut off, to uproot" (Lane). Jidhr is the root of a plant or of a number.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jidhr
- Say it: jidhr, once more
- Say it: say jidhr
- Recall: say the Arabic for grass, then the Arabic for a seed, then say jidhr again

Before you move on

What does جذر mean? ("A root".) Say it once more.

131.4 غصن (ghuṣn) — a branch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a seed, then the Arabic for a root.

You'll want to know: غصن

غصن — ghuṣn — "a branch".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غصن (ghuṣn), "a branch", is an old native noun, filed under the root gh-ṣ-n (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghuṣn
- Say it: ghuṣn, once more
- Say it: say ghuṣn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a seed, then the Arabic for a root, then say ghuṣn again

Before you move on

What does غصن mean? ("A branch".) Say it once more.

131.5 جزيرة (jazīra) — an island

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a root, then the Arabic for a branch.

You'll want to know: جزيرة

جزيرة — jazīra — "an island".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جزيرة (jazīra) is built on the native Arabic root j-z-r, "to cut; to ebb" (Lane). Lane's jazīra is land the water has left or surrounds; the name Algeria comes from al-Jazāʾir, "the islands".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jazīra
- Say it: jazīra, once more
- Say it: say jazīra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a root, then the Arabic for a branch, then say jazīra again

Before you move on

What does جزيرة mean? ("An island".) Say it once more.

Chapter 132

Coast, Waterfall, Cave, Valley, Hill

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a coast, a waterfall, a cave, a valley and a hill.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 132: I can say a coast, a waterfall, a cave, a valley and a hill.

132.1 ساحل (sāḥil) — a coast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a branch, then the Arabic for an island.

You'll want to know: ساحل

ساحل — sāḥil — "a coast".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساحل (sāḥil) is built on the native Arabic root s-ḥ-l, "to scrape, to pare" (Lane). Lane gives sāḥil as the shore; Swahili comes from its plural sawāḥil, "coasts".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāḥil
- Say it: sāḥil, once more
- Say it: say sāḥil
- Recall: say the Arabic for a branch, then the Arabic for an island, then say sāḥil again

Before you move on

What does ساحل mean? ("A coast".) Say it once more.

132.2 شلال (shallāl) — a waterfall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an island, then the Arabic for a coast.

Read it: أخذ in its three pieces (ʾa-kha-dha, "he took.")

You'll want to know: شلال

شلال — shallāl — "a waterfall".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شلال (shallāl) is built on the native Arabic root sh-l-l, "to drive away" (Lane). Shallāl is a later word on this root, "a cascade".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shallāl
- Say it: shallāl, once more
- Say it: say shallāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for an island, then the Arabic for a coast, then say shallāl again

Before you move on

What does شلال mean? ("A waterfall".) Say it once more.

132.3 كهف (kahf) — a cave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coast, then the Arabic for a waterfall.

You'll want to know: كهف

كهف — kahf — "a cave".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كهف (kahf), "a cave", is an old native noun built on the letters k-h-f. Lane has no article on this root, but his sources use kahf to explain ghār, a cavern in a mountain.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kahf
- Say it: kahf, once more
- Say it: say kahf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coast, then the Arabic for a waterfall, then say kahf again

Before you move on

What does كهف mean? ("A cave".) Say it once more.

132.4 وادي (wādī) — a valley

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a waterfall, then the Arabic for a cave.

You'll want to know: وادي

وادي — wādī — "a valley".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وادي (wādī), "a valley, a river bed", is an old native noun, filed under the root w-d-y (Lane). English wadi comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wādī
- Say it: wādī, once more
- Say it: say wādī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a waterfall, then the Arabic for a cave, then say wādī again

Before you move on

What does وادي mean? ("A valley".) Say it once more.

132.5 تل (tall) — a hill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cave, then the Arabic for a valley.

You'll want to know: تل

تل — tall — "a hill".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تل (tall), "a hill, a mound", is an old native noun, filed under the root t-l-l (Lane). English tell, an archaeologist's mound, comes from it; Hebrew tel is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tall
- Say it: tall, once more
- Say it: say tall
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cave, then the Arabic for a valley, then say tall again

Before you move on

What does تل mean? ("A hill".) Say it once more.

Chapter 133

Desert, Lake, Lightning, Thunder, Storm

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a desert, a lake, lightning, thunder and a storm.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 133: I can say a desert, a lake, lightning, thunder and a storm.

133.1 صحراء (ṣaḥrāʾ) — a desert

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a valley, then the Arabic for a hill.

You'll want to know: صحراء

صحراء — ṣaḥrāʾ — "a desert".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحراء (ṣaḥrāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-r, "a dun, whitish-red colour" (Lane). Ṣaḥrāʾ is the dun land, the desert; English Sahara comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaḥrāʾ
- Say it: ṣaḥrāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ṣaḥrāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a valley, then the Arabic for a hill, then say ṣaḥrāʾ again

Before you move on

What does صحراء mean? ("A desert".) Say it once more.

133.2 بحيرة (buḥayra) — a lake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hill, then the Arabic for a desert.

You'll want to know: بحيرة

بحيرة — buḥayra — "a lake".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بحيرة (buḥayra) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḥ-r (Lane), whose noun baḥr is "the sea". Buḥayra is the diminutive, "a little sea".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: buḥayra
- Say it: buḥayra, once more
- Say it: say buḥayra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hill, then the Arabic for a desert, then say buḥayra again

Before you move on

What does بحيرة mean? ("A lake".) Say it once more.

133.3 برق (barq) — lightning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a desert, then the Arabic for a lake.

You'll want to know: برق

برق — barq — "lightning".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برق (barq) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-q, "lightning; to shine" (Lane). Hebrew baraq, "lightning", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: barq
- Say it: barq, once more
- Say it: say barq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a desert, then the Arabic for a lake, then say barq again

Before you move on

What does برق mean? ("Lightning".) Say it once more.

133.4 رعد (ra^{c}d) — thunder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lake, then the Arabic for lightning.

Say "he helped." (Sā^{c}ada — the root of sa^{c}īd, "happy.")

You'll want to know: رعد

رعد — ra^{c}d — "thunder".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رعد (ra^{c}d) is built on the native Arabic root r-^{c}-d, "to thunder; to tremble" (Lane). Ra^{c}d is the thunder itself.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ra^{c}d
- Say it: ra^{c}d, once more
- Say it: say ra^{c}d
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lake, then the Arabic for lightning, then say ra^{c}d again

Before you move on

What does رعد mean? ("Thunder".) Say it once more.

133.5 عاصفة (^{c}āṣifa) — a storm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lightning, then the Arabic for thunder.

You'll want to know: عاصفة

عاصفة — ^{c}āṣifa — "a storm".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاصفة (^{c}āṣifa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-ṣ-f, "to blow violently" (Lane). ^{c}Āṣifa is the feminine active participle, "a violent wind".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāṣifa
- Say it: ᶜāṣifa, once more
- Say it: say ᶜāṣifa
- Recall: say the Arabic for lightning, then the Arabic for thunder, then say ᶜāṣifa again

Before you move on

What does عاصفة mean? ("A storm".) Say it once more.

Chapter 134

Light, Shade, Darkness, Cloud, Rabbit

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say light, shade, darkness, a cloud and a rabbit.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 134: I can say light, shade, darkness, a cloud and a rabbit.

134.1 ضوء (ḍawʾ) — light

Before the new one: say the Arabic for thunder, then the Arabic for a storm.

You'll want to know: ضوء

ضوء — ḍawʾ — "light".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضوء (ḍawʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-w-ʾ, "light, brightness" (Lane). The word ḍawʾ is the noun, "light".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍawʾ
- Say it: ḍawʾ, once more
- Say it: say ḍawʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for thunder, then the Arabic for a storm, then say ḍawʾ again

Before you move on

What does ضوء mean? ("Light".) Say it once more.

134.2 ظل (ẓill) — shade, a shadow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a storm, then the Arabic for light.

You'll want to know: ظل

ظل — ẓill — "shade, a shadow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظل (ẓill) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-l, "shade, shadow" (Lane). Hebrew tsel, "shadow", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓill
- Say it: ẓill, once more
- Say it: say ẓill
- Recall: say the Arabic for a storm, then the Arabic for light, then say ẓill again

Before you move on

What does ظل mean? ("Shade, a shadow".) Say it once more.

134.3 ظلام (ẓalām) — darkness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for light, then the Arabic for shade.

You'll want to know: ظلام

ظلام — ẓalām — "darkness".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظلام (ẓalām) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-m, "darkness; to do wrong" (Lane). The word ẓalām is the noun, "darkness".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓalām
- Say it: ẓalām, once more
- Say it: say ẓalām
- Recall: say the Arabic for light, then the Arabic for shade, then say ẓalām again

Before you move on

What does ظلام mean? ("Darkness".) Say it once more.

134.4 غيمة (ghayma) — a cloud

Before the new one: say the Arabic for shade, then the Arabic for darkness.

You'll want to know: غيمة

غيمة — ghayma — "a cloud".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غيمة (ghayma) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-m, "clouds" (Lane). Ghayma is one cloud of ghaym.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghayma
- Say it: ghayma, once more
- Say it: say ghayma
- Recall: say the Arabic for shade, then the Arabic for darkness, then say ghayma again

Before you move on

What does غيمة mean? ("A cloud".) Say it once more.

134.5 أرنب (arnab) — a rabbit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for darkness, then the Arabic for a cloud.

Read it: these turns without stopping — سامي اسمي اسمك؟ ما.

You'll want to know: أرنب

أرنب — arnab — "a rabbit".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرنب (arnab) is built on the native Arabic root r-n-b, "a hare" (Lane). Lane lists arnab under r-n-b; Hebrew arnevet, "hare", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: arnab
- Say it: arnab, once more
- Say it: say arnab
- Recall: say the Arabic for darkness, then the Arabic for a cloud, then say arnab again

Before you move on

What does أرنب mean? ("A rabbit".) Say it once more.

Chapter 135

Gazelle, Fox, Pigeon, Duck, Turtle

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a gazelle, a fox, a pigeon, a duck and a turtle.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 135: I can say a gazelle, a fox, a pigeon, a duck and a turtle.

135.1 غزال (ghazāl) — a gazelle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cloud, then the Arabic for a rabbit.

You'll want to know: غزال

غزال — ghazāl — "a gazelle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غزال (ghazāl), "a young gazelle", is a native noun, filed under the root gh-z-l (Lane), whose verb means "to spin". English gazelle comes from ghazāl through French.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghazāl
- Say it: ghazāl, once more
- Say it: say ghazāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cloud, then the Arabic for a rabbit, then say ghazāl again

Before you move on

What does غزال mean? ("A gazelle".) Say it once more.

135.2 ثعلب (tha^{c}lab) — a fox

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rabbit, then the Arabic for a gazelle.

You'll want to know: ثعلب

ثعلب — tha^{c}lab — "a fox".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثعلب (tha^{c}lab) is built on the native Arabic root th-^{c}-l-b, "a fox" (Lane). Hebrew shu^{c}al, "fox", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tha^{c}lab
- Say it: tha^{c}lab, once more
- Say it: say tha^{c}lab
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rabbit, then the Arabic for a gazelle, then say tha^{c}lab again

Before you move on

What does ثعلب mean? ("A fox".) Say it once more.

135.3 حمامة (ḥamāma) — a pigeon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a gazelle, then the Arabic for a fox.

You'll want to know: حمامة

حمامة — ḥamāma — "a pigeon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمامة (ḥamāma) is one bird of ḥamām, "pigeons, doves", a native noun, filed under the root ḥ-m-m (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥamāma
- Say it: ḥamāma, once more
- Say it: say ḥamāma
- Recall: say the Arabic for a gazelle, then the Arabic for a fox, then say ḥamāma again

Before you move on

What does حمامة mean? ("A pigeon".) Say it once more.

135.4 بطة (baṭṭa) — a duck

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fox, then the Arabic for a pigeon.

You'll want to know: بطة

بطة — baṭṭa — "a duck".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطة (baṭṭa) is one bird of baṭṭ, "ducks". Lane's sources call baṭṭ a Persian word, arabicized, while Ibn Jinnī thought it imitates the bird's cry; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭṭa
- Say it: baṭṭa, once more
- Say it: say baṭṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fox, then the Arabic for a pigeon, then say baṭṭa again

Before you move on

What does بطة mean? ("A duck".) Say it once more.

135.5 سلحفاة (sulaḥfāh) — a turtle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pigeon, then the Arabic for a duck.

You'll want to know: سلحفاة

سلحفاة — sulaḥfāh — "a turtle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلحفاة (sulaḥfāh) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-ḥ-f, "a tortoise" (Lane). Lane lists this four-letter word with many dialect forms.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sulaḥfāh
- Say it: sulaḥfāh, once more
- Say it: say sulaḥfāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pigeon, then the Arabic for a duck, then say sulaḥfāh again

Before you move on

What does سلحفاة mean? ("A turtle".) Say it once more.

Chapter 136

Crocodile, Mosquito, Fly, Bee, Butterfly

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a crocodile, a mosquito, a fly, a bee and a butterfly.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 136: I can say a crocodile, a mosquito, a fly, a bee and a butterfly.

136.1 تمساح (timsāḥ) — a crocodile

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a duck, then the Arabic for a turtle.

Read it: each word whole, right to left — شاي، شكرًا، سلام

You'll want to know: تمساح

تمساح — timsāḥ — "a crocodile".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمساح (timsāḥ) is listed by Lane under m-s-ḥ as the crocodile. It is usually traced to Coptic msah, the Egyptian word for the crocodile (EtymDB), with an added t-.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: timsāḥ
- Say it: timsāḥ, once more
- Say it: say timsāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a duck, then the Arabic for a turtle, then say timsāḥ again

Before you move on

What does تمساح mean? ("A crocodile".) Say it once more.

136.2 بعوضة (ba^{c}ūḍa) — a mosquito

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a turtle, then the Arabic for a crocodile.

You'll want to know: بعوضة

بعوضة — ba^{c}ūḍa — "a mosquito".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بعوضة (ba^{c}ūḍa) is built on the native Arabic root b-^{c}-ḍ, "gnats; to cut into parts" (Lane). Ba^{c}ūḍa is one gnat, a mosquito.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ba^{c}ūḍa
- Say it: ba^{c}ūḍa, once more
- Say it: say ba^{c}ūḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a turtle, then the Arabic for a crocodile, then say ba^{c}ūḍa again

Before you move on

What does بعوضة mean? ("A mosquito".) Say it once more.

136.3 ذبابة (dhubāba) — a fly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crocodile, then the Arabic for a mosquito.

You'll want to know: ذبابة

ذبابة — dhubāba — "a fly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذبابة (dhubāba) is built on the native Arabic root dh-b-b, "to drive away" (Lane), said above all of flies; dhubāba is one fly of dhubāb. Hebrew zevuv, "fly", heard in the name Beelzebub, is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhubāba
- Say it: dhubāba, once more
- Say it: say dhubāba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crocodile, then the Arabic for a mosquito, then say dhubāba again

Before you move on

What does ذبابة mean? ("A fly".) Say it once more.

136.4 نحلة (naḥla) — a bee

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mosquito, then the Arabic for a fly.

You'll want to know: نحلة

نحلة — naḥla — "a bee".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نحلة (naḥla) is one bee of naḥl, "bees", an old native noun built on n-ḥ-l; Lane's brief article on this root does not list it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: naḥla
- Say it: naḥla, once more
- Say it: say naḥla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mosquito, then the Arabic for a fly, then say naḥla again

Before you move on

What does نحلة mean? ("A bee".) Say it once more.

136.5 فراشة (farāsha) — a butterfly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fly, then the Arabic for a bee.

You'll want to know: فراشة

فراشة — farāsha — "a butterfly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فراشة (farāsha) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-sh, "to spread out" (Lane). Lane's farāsh are moths that fly into a lamp, and he adds that modern usage applies it to butterflies.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: farāsha
- Say it: farāsha, once more
- Say it: say farāsha
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fly, then the Arabic for a bee, then say farāsha again

Before you move on

What does فراشة mean? ("A butterfly".) Say it once more.

Chapter 137

Spider, Rooster, Cat, Owl, Crow

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a spider, a rooster, a cat, an owl and a crow.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 137: I can say a spider, a rooster, a cat, an owl and a crow.

137.1 عنكبوت (ᶜankabūt) — a spider

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bee, then the Arabic for a butterfly.

You'll want to know: عنكبوت

عنكبوت — ᶜankabūt — "a spider".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عنكبوت (ᶜankabūt) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-k-b, "a spider" (Lane). Lane lists this four-letter word; Hebrew ᶜakkāvīsh, "spider", is usually compared.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜankabūt
- Say it: ᶜankabūt, once more
- Say it: say ᶜankabūt
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bee, then the Arabic for a butterfly, then say ᶜankabūt again

Before you move on

What does عنكبوت mean? ("A spider".) Say it once more.

137.2 ديك (dīk) — a rooster

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a butterfly, then the Arabic for a spider.

Say "the light." Does the l of al- survive before ن? (No: an-nūr, a sun letter.)

You'll want to know: ديك

ديك — dīk — "a rooster".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ديك (dīk), "a cock", is an old native noun at the centre of the root d-y-k (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dīk
- Say it: dīk, once more
- Say it: say dīk

- Recall: say the Arabic for a butterfly, then the Arabic for a spider, then say dīk again

Before you move on

What does ديك mean? ("A rooster".) Say it once more.

137.3 قطة (qiṭṭa) — a cat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a spider, then the Arabic for a rooster.

You'll want to know: قطة

قطة — qiṭṭa — "a cat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطة (qiṭṭa) is the feminine of qiṭṭ, "cat"; Lane quotes Ibn Durayd doubting that it is genuine Arabic. It is widely compared with Late Latin cattus and other Mediterranean cat words, but the direction of borrowing is disputed and the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qiṭṭa
- Say it: qiṭṭa, once more
- Say it: say qiṭṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a spider, then the Arabic for a rooster, then say qiṭṭa again

Before you move on

What does قطة mean? ("A cat".) Say it once more.

137.4 بومة (būma) — an owl

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rooster, then the Arabic for a cat.

You'll want to know: بومة

بومة — būma — "an owl".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بومة (būma) is built on the native Arabic root b-w-m, "owls" (Lane). Būma is one owl.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: būma
- Say it: būma, once more
- Say it: say būma
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rooster, then the Arabic for a cat, then say būma again

Before you move on

What does بومة mean? ("An owl".) Say it once more.

137.5 غراب (ghurāb) — a crow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cat, then the Arabic for an owl.

You'll want to know: غراب

غراب — ghurāb — "a crow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غراب (ghurāb), "a crow, a raven", is an old native noun, filed under the root gh-r-b (Lane). Hebrew ᶜorev, "raven", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghurāb
- Say it: ghurāb, once more
- Say it: say ghurāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cat, then the Arabic for an owl, then say ghurāb again

Before you move on

What does غراب mean? ("A crow".) Say it once more.

Chapter 138

Eagle, Frog, Cheek, Forehead, Eyebrow

Modes: voice (5) Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an eagle, a frog, a cheek, a forehead and an eyebrow.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 138: I can say an eagle, a frog, a cheek, a forehead and an eyebrow.

138.1 نسر (nasr) — an eagle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an owl, then the Arabic for a crow.

You'll want to know: نسر

نسر — nasr — "an eagle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسر (nasr) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-r, "to pluck with the beak" (Lane); nasr is a vulture or an eagle. Lane compares Hebrew nesher, "eagle".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nasr
- Say it: nasr, once more
- Say it: say nasr
- Recall: say the Arabic for an owl, then the Arabic for a crow, then say nasr again

Before you move on

What does نسر mean? ("An eagle".) Say it once more.

138.2 ضفدع (ḍifdaᶜ) — a frog

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crow, then the Arabic for an eagle.

You'll want to know: ضفدع

ضفدع — ḍifda^{c} — "a frog".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضفدع (ḍifda^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-f-d-^{c}, "a frog" (Lane). Hebrew tsefardea^{c}, "frog", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍifda^{c}
- Say it: ḍifda^{c}, once more
- Say it: say ḍifda^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crow, then the Arabic for an eagle, then say ḍifda^{c} again

Before you move on

What does ضفدع mean? ("A frog".) Say it once more.

138.3 خد (khadd) — a cheek

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eagle, then the Arabic for a frog.

Greet the morning, and give its answer. (Ṣabāḥ al-khayr; ṣabāḥ an-nūr.)

You'll want to know: خد

خد — khadd — "a cheek".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خد (khadd), "the cheek", is an old native noun, filed under the root kh-d-d (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khadd
- Say it: khadd, once more
- Say it: say khadd
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eagle, then the Arabic for a frog, then say khadd again

Before you move on

What does خد mean? ("A cheek".) Say it once more.

138.4 جبين (jabīn) — a forehead

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a frog, then the Arabic for a cheek.

You'll want to know: جبين

جبين — jabīn — "a forehead".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جبين (jabīn) is a native noun, filed under the root j-b-n (Lane). Lane's jabīn is the side of the forehead above the temple.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jabīn
- Say it: jabīn, once more
- Say it: say jabīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a frog, then the Arabic for a cheek, then say jabīn again

Before you move on

What does جبين mean? ("A forehead".) Say it once more.

138.5 حاجب (ḥājib) — an eyebrow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cheek, then the Arabic for a forehead.

You'll want to know: حاجب

حاجب — ḥājib — "an eyebrow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاجب (ḥājib) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-b, "to veil, to screen" (Lane). Ḥājib is "that which screens": the eyebrow, and a chamberlain; the same root gives ḥijāb.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥājib
- Say it: ḥājib, once more
- Say it: say ḥājib
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cheek, then the Arabic for a forehead, then say ḥājib again

Before you move on

What does حاجب mean? ("An eyebrow".) Say it once more.

Chapter 139

Beard, Moustache, Chest, Waist, Elbow

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a beard, a moustache, a chest, a waist and an elbow.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 139: I can say a beard, a moustache, a chest, a waist and an elbow.

139.1 لحية (liḥya) — a beard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a forehead, then the Arabic for an eyebrow.

You'll want to know: لحية

لحية — liḥya — "a beard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لحية (liḥya), "a beard", is an old native noun, filed under the root l-ḥ-y (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: liḥya
- Say it: liḥya, once more
- Say it: say liḥya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a forehead, then the Arabic for an eyebrow, then say liḥya again

Before you move on

What does لحية mean? ("A beard".) Say it once more.

139.2 شارب (shārib) — a moustache

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eyebrow, then the Arabic for a beard.

You'll want to know: شارب

شارب — shārib — "a moustache".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شارب (shārib) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-b, "to drink" (Lane). Shārib is the active participle, "drinking"; the moustache, over the lip that drinks, takes the same word.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shārib
- Say it: shārib, once more
- Say it: say shārib
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eyebrow, then the Arabic for a beard, then say shārib again

Before you move on

What does شارب mean? ("A moustache".) Say it once more.

139.3 صدر (ṣadr) — a chest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a beard, then the Arabic for a moustache.

You'll want to know: صدر

صدر — ṣadr — "a chest".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صدر (ṣadr) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-r, "the breast; to come back from water" (Lane). Ṣadr is the breast, the front.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣadr
- Say it: ṣadr, once more
- Say it: say ṣadr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a beard, then the Arabic for a moustache, then say ṣadr again

Before you move on

What does صدر mean? ("A chest".) Say it once more.

139.4 خصر (khaṣr) — a waist

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a moustache, then the Arabic for a chest.

You'll want to know: خصر

خصر — khaṣr — "a waist".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خصر (khaṣr), "the waist", is an old native noun, filed under the root kh-ṣ-r (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṣr
- Say it: khaṣr, once more
- Say it: say khaṣr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a moustache, then the Arabic for a chest, then say khaṣr again

Before you move on

What does خصر mean? ("A waist".) Say it once more.

139.5 مرفق (mirfaq) — an elbow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chest, then the Arabic for a waist.

Greet the evening, and give its answer. (Masāʾ al-khayr; masāʾ an-nūr.)

You'll want to know: مرفق

مرفق — mirfaq — "an elbow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرفق (mirfaq) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-q, "to be gentle; to lean on" (Lane). Lane's mirfaq is the elbow, a thing to lean on.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mirfaq
- Say it: mirfaq, once more
- Say it: say mirfaq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chest, then the Arabic for a waist, then say mirfaq again

Before you move on

What does مرفق mean? ("An elbow".) Say it once more.

139.6 Nature — a first pass

Say the words for a waist and an elbow.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- figs, a watermelon, apricots, soup, a cake
- grass, a seed, a root, a branch, an island
- a coast, a waterfall, a cave, a valley, a hill
- a desert, a lake, lightning, thunder, a storm
- light, shade, darkness, a cloud, a rabbit

Before you move on

Figs? (تين, tīn.) A watermelon? (بطيخ, biṭṭīkh.) Apricots? (مشمش, mishmish.) Soup? (حساء, ḥasāʾ.) A cake? (كعكة, kaᶜka.) Grass? (عشب, ᶜushb.) A seed? (بذرة, bidhra.) A root? (جذر, jidhr.) A branch? (غصن, ghuṣn.) An island? (جزيرة, jazīra.) A coast? (ساحل, sāḥil.) A waterfall? (شلال, shallāl.) A cave? (كهف, kahf.) A valley? (وادي, wādī.) A hill? (تل, tall.) A desert? (صحراء, ṣaḥrāʾ.) A lake? (بحيرة, buḥayra.) Lightning? (برق, barq.) Thunder? (رعد, raᶜd.) A storm? (عاصفة, ᶜāṣifa.) Light? (ضوء, ḍawʾ.) Shade? (ظل, ẓill.) Darkness? (ظلام, ẓalām.) A cloud? (غيمة, ghayma.) A rabbit? (أرنب, arnab.)

139.7 Animals — a second pass

Say the words for a gazelle and a fox.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a gazelle, a fox, a pigeon, a duck, a turtle
- a crocodile, a mosquito, a fly, a bee, a butterfly
- a spider, a rooster, a cat, an owl, a crow
- an eagle, a frog, a cheek, a forehead, an eyebrow
- a beard, a moustache, a chest, a waist, an elbow

Before you move on

A gazelle? (غزال, ghazāl.) A fox? (ثعلب, thaᶜlab.) A pigeon? (حمامة, ḥamāma.) A duck? (بطة, baṭṭa.) A turtle? (سلحفاة, sulaḥfāh.) A crocodile? (تمساح, timsāḥ.) A mosquito? (بعوضة, baᶜūḍa.) A fly? (ذبابة, dhubāba.) A bee? (نحلة, naḥla.) A butterfly? (فراشة, farāsha.) A spider? (عنكبوت, ᶜankabūt.) A rooster? (ديك, dīk.) A cat? (قطة, qiṭṭa.) An owl? (بومة, būma.) A crow? (غراب, ghurāb.) An eagle? (نسر, nasr.) A frog? (ضفدع, ḍifdaᶜ.) A cheek? (خد, khadd.) A forehead? (جبين, jabīn.) An eyebrow? (حاجب, ḥājib.) A beard? (لحية, liḥya.) A moustache? (شارب, shārib.) A chest? (صدر, ṣadr.) A waist? (خصر, khaṣr.) An elbow? (مرفق, mirfaq.)

Chapter 140

Palm, Fingernail, Brain, Heel, Lip

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a palm, a fingernail, a brain, a heel and a lip.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 140: I can say a palm, a fingernail, a brain, a heel and a lip.

140.1 كف (kaff) — a palm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a waist, then the Arabic for an elbow.

You'll want to know: كف

كف — kaff — "a palm".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كف (kaff) is built on the native Arabic root k-f-f, "the palm of the hand; to hold back" (Lane). Kaff is the palm.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kaff
- Say it: kaff, once more
- Say it: say kaff
- Recall: say the Arabic for a waist, then the Arabic for an elbow, then say kaff again

Before you move on

What does كف mean? ("A palm".) Say it once more.

140.2 ظفر (ẓufr) — a fingernail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an elbow, then the Arabic for a palm.

You'll want to know: ظفر

ظفر — ẓufr — "a fingernail".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظفر (ẓufr), "a nail, a claw", is an old native noun, filed under the root ẓ-f-r (Lane). Hebrew tsipporen, "fingernail", is usually counted a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓufr
- Say it: ẓufr, once more
- Say it: say ẓufr
- Recall: say the Arabic for an elbow, then the Arabic for a palm, then say ẓufr again

Before you move on

What does ظفر mean? ("A fingernail".) Say it once more.

140.3 دماغ (dimāgh) — a brain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a palm, then the Arabic for a fingernail.

You'll want to know: دماغ

دماغ — dimāgh — "a brain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دماغ (dimāgh), "the brain", is an old native noun, listed under the root d-m-gh (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to wound the head down to the brain".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dimāgh
- Say it: dimāgh, once more
- Say it: say dimāgh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a palm, then the Arabic for a fingernail, then say dimāgh again

Before you move on

What does دماغ mean? ("A brain".) Say it once more.

140.4 كعب (ka^{c}b) — a heel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fingernail, then the Arabic for a brain.

You'll want to know: كعب

كعب — ka^{c}b — "a heel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كعب (ka^{c}b) is built on the native Arabic root k-^{c}-b, "to swell, to be prominent" (Lane); ka^{c}b is the ankle-bone. The same root gives the Ka^{c}ba, the cube-shaped shrine at Mecca.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ka^{c}b
- Say it: ka^{c}b, once more
- Say it: say ka^{c}b
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fingernail, then the Arabic for a brain, then say ka^{c}b again

Before you move on

What does كعب mean? ("A heel".) Say it once more.

140.5 شفة (shafa) — a lip

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a brain, then the Arabic for a heel.

You'll want to know: شفة

شفة — shafa — "a lip".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شفة (shafa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-f-h, "a lip" (Lane). Shafa is a lip.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shafa
- Say it: shafa, once more
- Say it: say shafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a brain, then the Arabic for a heel, then say shafa again

Before you move on

What does شفة mean? ("A lip".) Say it once more.

Chapter 141

Tongue, Belly, Leg, Skin, Bone

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tongue, a belly, a leg, skin and a bone.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 141: I can say a tongue, a belly, a leg, skin and a bone.

141.1 لسان (lisān) — a tongue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a heel, then the Arabic for a lip.

Say Sunday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. (Al-aḥad, al-khamīs, al-jum^{c}a, as-sabt.)

You'll want to know: لسان

لسان — lisān — "a tongue".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لسان (lisān) is built on the native Arabic root l-s-n, "the tongue" (Lane). Hebrew lashon, "tongue", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lisān
- Say it: lisān, once more
- Say it: say lisān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a heel, then the Arabic for a lip, then say lisān again

Before you move on

What does لسان mean? ("A tongue".) Say it once more.

141.2 بطن (baṭn) — a belly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lip, then the Arabic for a tongue.

You'll want to know: بطن

بطن — baṭn — "a belly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطن (baṭn) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-n, "the belly; the inside" (Lane). Hebrew beten, "belly", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭn
- Say it: baṭn, once more
- Say it: say baṭn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lip, then the Arabic for a tongue, then say baṭn again

Before you move on

What does بطن mean? ("A belly".) Say it once more.

141.3 ساق (sāq) — a leg

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tongue, then the Arabic for a belly.

You'll want to know: ساق

ساق — sāq — "a leg".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساق (sāq), "the shank", is an old native noun, filed under the root s-w-q (Lane). Lane's sāq is the shank, the leg between knee and ankle.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāq
- Say it: sāq, once more
- Say it: say sāq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tongue, then the Arabic for a belly, then say sāq again

Before you move on

What does ساق mean? ("A leg".) Say it once more.

141.4 جلد (jild) — skin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a belly, then the Arabic for a leg.

You'll want to know: جلد

جلد — jild — "skin".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جلد (jild), "skin, hide", is an old native noun, listed under the root j-l-d (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to strike the skin, to flog".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jild
- Say it: jild, once more
- Say it: say jild
- Recall: say the Arabic for a belly, then the Arabic for a leg, then say jild again

Before you move on

What does جلد mean? ("Skin".) Say it once more.

141.5 عظم (ᶜaẓm) — a bone

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a leg, then the Arabic for skin.

You'll want to know: عظم

عظم — ᶜaẓm — "a bone".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عظم (ᶜaẓm) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ẓ-m, "a bone; to be great" (Lane). Hebrew ᶜetsem, "bone", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaẓm
- Say it: ᶜaẓm, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaẓm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a leg, then the Arabic for skin, then say ᶜaẓm again

Before you move on

What does عظم mean? ("A bone".) Say it once more.

Chapter 142

Bicycle, Ship, Traveller, Factory, Square

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a bicycle, a ship, a traveller, a factory and a square.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 142: I can say a bicycle, a ship, a traveller, a factory and a square.

142.1 دراجة (darrāja) — a bicycle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for skin, then the Arabic for a bone.

You'll want to know: دراجة

دراجة — darrāja — "a bicycle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دراجة (darrāja) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-j, "to go step by step" (Lane). Lane's darrāja is a wheeled frame on which a child or an old man steps along; the bicycle took over the word.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: darrāja
- Say it: darrāja, once more
- Say it: say darrāja
- Recall: say the Arabic for skin, then the Arabic for a bone, then say darrāja again

Before you move on

What does دراجة mean? ("A bicycle".) Say it once more.

142.2 سفينة (safīna) — a ship

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bone, then the Arabic for a bicycle.

Colours: what does the feminine do to aswad, abyaḍ, aḥmar and azraq? (Drops the opening أ and ends in -āʔ.)

You'll want to know: سفينة

سفينة — safīna — "a ship".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سفينة (safīna) is built on the native Arabic root s-f-n, "a ship; to pare" (Lane). Lane gives safīna as a ship.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: safīna
- Say it: safīna, once more
- Say it: say safīna

- Recall: say the Arabic for a bone, then the Arabic for a bicycle, then say safīna again

Before you move on

What does سفينة mean? ("A ship".) Say it once more.

142.3 مسافر (musāfir) — a traveller

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bicycle, then the Arabic for a ship.

You'll want to know: مسافر

مسافر — musāfir — "a traveller".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسافر (musāfir) is built on the native Arabic root s-f-r, "to travel; to uncover" (Lane). Musāfir is the Form III participle, "one who travels".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: musāfir
- Say it: musāfir, once more
- Say it: say musāfir
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bicycle, then the Arabic for a ship, then say musāfir again

Before you move on

What does مسافر mean? ("A traveller".) Say it once more.

142.4 مصنع (maṣna^{c}) — a factory

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ship, then the Arabic for a traveller.

You'll want to know: مصنع

مصنع — maṣna^{c} — "a factory".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصنع (maṣna^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-n-^{c}, "to make, to fashion" (Lane). Maṣna^{c} is the ma- place noun, "a place of making".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maṣna^{c}
- Say it: maṣna^{c}, once more
- Say it: say maṣna^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ship, then the Arabic for a traveller, then say maṣna^{c} again

Before you move on

What does مصنع mean? ("A factory".) Say it once more.

142.5 ساحة (sāḥa) — a square

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a traveller, then the Arabic for a factory.

You'll want to know: ساحة

ساحة — sāḥa — "a square".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساحة (sāḥa), "an open court", is an old native noun, filed under the root s-w-ḥ (Lane). Lane's sāḥa is the open space of a house.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāḥa
- Say it: sāḥa, once more
- Say it: say sāḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a traveller, then the Arabic for a factory, then say sāḥa again

Before you move on

What does ساحة mean? ("A square".) Say it once more.

Chapter 143

Eraser, Class, Student, Job, Salary

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an eraser, a class, a student, a job and a salary.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 143: I can say an eraser, a class, a student, a job and a salary.

143.1 ممحاة (mimḥāh) — an eraser

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a factory, then the Arabic for a square.

You'll want to know: ممحاة

ممحاة — mimḥāh — "an eraser".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممحاة (mimḥāh) is built on the native Arabic root m-ḥ-w, "to efface, to erase" (Lane). Mimḥāh is an instrument noun, "a thing for erasing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mimḥāh
- Say it: mimḥāh, once more
- Say it: say mimḥāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a factory, then the Arabic for a square, then say mimḥāh again

Before you move on

What does ممحاة mean? ("An eraser".) Say it once more.

143.2 صف (ṣaff) — a class

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a square, then the Arabic for an eraser.

You'll want to know: صف

صف — ṣaff — "a class".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صف (ṣaff) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-f, "a row, a rank" (Lane). Ṣaff is a row; the class is a row of pupils.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaff
- Say it: ṣaff, once more
- Say it: say ṣaff
- Recall: say the Arabic for a square, then the Arabic for an eraser, then say ṣaff again

Before you move on

What does صف mean? ("A class".) Say it once more.

143.3 طالب (ṭālib) — a student

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eraser, then the Arabic for a class.

Say "summer" and "winter." (Ṣayf; shitāʾ.)

You'll want to know: طالب

طالب — ṭālib — "a student".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طالب (ṭālib) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-b, "to seek, to ask for" (Lane). Ṭālib is the active participle, "one who seeks".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭālib
- Say it: ṭālib, once more
- Say it: say ṭālib
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eraser, then the Arabic for a class, then say ṭālib again

Before you move on

What does طالب mean? ("A student".) Say it once more.

143.4 وظيفة (waẓīfa) — a job

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a class, then the Arabic for a student.

You'll want to know: وظيفة

وظيفة — waẓīfa — "a job".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وظيفة (waẓīfa) is built on the native Arabic root w-ẓ-f, "a daily allowance" (Lane). Lane's waẓīfa is a daily allowance or fixed portion; the job is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waẓīfa
- Say it: waẓīfa, once more
- Say it: say waẓīfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a class, then the Arabic for a student, then say waẓīfa again

Before you move on

What does وظيفة mean? ("A job".) Say it once more.

143.5 راتب (rātib) — a salary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a student, then the Arabic for a job.

You'll want to know: راتب

راتب — rātib — "a salary".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

راتب (rātib) is built on the native Arabic root r-t-b, "to be fixed, to be firm" (Lane). Lane's rātib is a thing fixed and constant; the salary is a fixed sum.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rātib
- Say it: rātib, once more
- Say it: say rātib
- Recall: say the Arabic for a student, then the Arabic for a job, then say rātib again

Before you move on

What does راتب mean? ("A salary".) Say it once more.

Chapter 144

Tailor, Carpenter, Baker, Farmer, University

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tailor, a carpenter, a baker, a farmer and a university.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 144: I can say a tailor, a carpenter, a baker, a farmer and a university.

144.1 خياط (khayyāṭ) — a tailor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a job, then the Arabic for a salary.

You'll want to know: خياط

خياط — khayyāṭ — "a tailor".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خياط (khayyāṭ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-ṭ, "to sew" (Lane). Khayyāṭ is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "tailor".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khayyāṭ
- Say it: khayyāṭ, once more
- Say it: say khayyāṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a job, then the Arabic for a salary, then say khayyāṭ again

Before you move on

What does خياط mean? ("A tailor".) Say it once more.

144.2 نجار (najjār) — a carpenter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a salary, then the Arabic for a tailor.

You'll want to know: نجار

نجار — najjār — "a carpenter".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نجار (najjār) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-r, "to hew wood" (Lane). Najjār is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "carpenter".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: najjār
- Say it: najjār, once more
- Say it: say najjār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a salary, then the Arabic for a tailor, then say najjār again

Before you move on

What does نجار mean? ("A carpenter".) Say it once more.

144.3 خباز (khabbāz) — a baker

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tailor, then the Arabic for a carpenter.

You'll want to know: خباز

خباز — khabbāz — "a baker".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خباز (khabbāz) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-z, "to bake bread" (Lane). Khabbāz is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "baker".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khabbāz
- Say it: khabbāz, once more
- Say it: say khabbāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tailor, then the Arabic for a carpenter, then say khabbāz again

Before you move on

What does خباز mean? ("A baker".) Say it once more.

144.4 مزارع (muzāri^{c}) — a farmer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a carpenter, then the Arabic for a baker.

You'll want to know: مزارع

مزارع — muzāri^c — "a farmer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزارع (muzāri^c) is built on the native Arabic root z-r-^{c}, "to sow" (Lane). Muzāri^c is the Form III participle, "one who works the sown land".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muzāri^c
- Say it: muzāri^c, once more
- Say it: say muzāri^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for a carpenter, then the Arabic for a baker, then say muzāri^c again

Before you move on

What does مزارع mean? ("A farmer".) Say it once more.

144.5 جامعة (jāmi^{c}a) — a university

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a baker, then the Arabic for a farmer.

Say "January," then the first month of the Hijri year. (Yanāyir; Muḥarram.)

You'll want to know: جامعة

جامعة — jāmi^{c}a — "a university".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جامعة (jāmiᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-ᶜ, "to gather" (Lane). Jāmiᶜa is the feminine active participle, "one that gathers"; the university is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jāmiᶜa
- Say it: jāmiᶜa, once more
- Say it: say jāmiᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a baker, then the Arabic for a farmer, then say jāmiᶜa again

Before you move on

What does جامعة mean? ("A university".) Say it once more.

Chapter 145

Salty, Luxurious, Simple, Comfortable, Famous

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say salty, luxurious, simple, comfortable and famous.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 145: I can say salty, luxurious, simple, comfortable and famous.

145.1 مالح (māliḥ) — salty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a farmer, then the Arabic for a university.

You'll want to know: مالح

مالح — māliḥ — "salty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مالح (māliḥ) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-ḥ, "salt" (Lane). Māliḥ is "salty".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: māliḥ
- Say it: māliḥ, once more
- Say it: say māliḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a farmer, then the Arabic for a university, then say māliḥ again

Before you move on

What does مالح mean? ("Salty".) Say it once more.

145.2 فخم (fakhm) — luxurious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a university, then the Arabic for salty.

You'll want to know: فخم

فخم — fakhm — "luxurious".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فخم (fakhm) is built on the native Arabic root f-kh-m, "to be large, to be grand" (Lane). Fakhm is "grand", hence "luxurious".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fakhm
- Say it: fakhm, once more
- Say it: say fakhm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a university, then the Arabic for salty, then say fakhm again

Before you move on

What does فخم mean? ("Luxurious".) Say it once more.

145.3 بسيط (basīṭ) — simple

Before the new one: say the Arabic for salty, then the Arabic for luxurious.

You'll want to know: بسيط

بسيط — basīṭ — "simple".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بسيط (basīṭ) is built on the native Arabic root b-s-ṭ, "to spread out" (Lane). Basīṭ is "spread out, plain", hence "simple".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: basīṭ
- Say it: basīṭ, once more
- Say it: say basīṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for salty, then the Arabic for luxurious, then say basīṭ again

Before you move on

What does بسيط mean? ("Simple".) Say it once more.

145.4 مريح (murīḥ) — comfortable

Before the new one: say the Arabic for luxurious, then the Arabic for simple.

You'll want to know: مريح

مريح — murīḥ — "comfortable".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مريح (murīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "rest; wind" (Lane). Murīḥ is the Form IV participle, "giving rest".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: murīḥ
- Say it: murīḥ, once more
- Say it: say murīḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for luxurious, then the Arabic for simple, then say murīḥ again

Before you move on

What does مريح mean? ("Comfortable".) Say it once more.

145.5 مشهور (mashhūr) — famous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for simple, then the Arabic for comfortable.

You'll want to know: مشهور

مشهور — mashhūr — "famous".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشهور (mashhūr) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-r, "to make known" (Lane). Mashhūr is the passive participle, "made known", hence "famous".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mashhūr
- Say it: mashhūr, once more
- Say it: say mashhūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for simple, then the Arabic for comfortable, then say mashhūr again

Before you move on

What does مشهور mean? ("Famous".) Say it once more.

Chapter 146

Useful, Dangerous, Safe, Open, Closed

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say useful, dangerous, safe, open and closed.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 146: I can say useful, dangerous, safe, open and closed.

146.1 مفيد (mufīd) — useful

Before the new one: say the Arabic for comfortable, then the Arabic for famous.

Which word for midnight hides layl, "night"? (Muntaṣaf al-layl.) And noon? (Aẓ-ẓuhr.)

You'll want to know: مفيد

مفيد — mufīd — "useful".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مفيد (mufīd) is built on the native Arabic root f-y-d, "to benefit" (Lane). Mufīd is the Form IV participle, "giving benefit".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mufīd
- Say it: mufīd, once more
- Say it: say mufīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for comfortable, then the Arabic for famous, then say mufīd again

Before you move on

What does مفيد mean? ("Useful".) Say it once more.

146.2 خطير (khaṭīr) — dangerous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for famous, then the Arabic for useful.

You'll want to know: خطير

خطير — khaṭīr — "dangerous".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطير (khaṭīr) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-r, "to be weighty; danger" (Lane). Khaṭīr is "weighty, grave", hence "dangerous".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭīr
- Say it: khaṭīr, once more
- Say it: say khaṭīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for famous, then the Arabic for useful, then say khaṭīr again

Before you move on

What does خطير mean? ("Dangerous".) Say it once more.

146.3 آمن (āmin) — safe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for useful, then the Arabic for dangerous.

You'll want to know: آمن

آمن — āmin — "safe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

آمن (āmin) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-n, "to be safe, to trust" (Lane). Āmin is the active participle, "safe, secure".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: āmin
- Say it: āmin, once more
- Say it: say āmin
- Recall: say the Arabic for useful, then the Arabic for dangerous, then say āmin again

Before you move on

What does آمن mean? ("Safe".) Say it once more.

146.4 مفتوح (maftūḥ) — open

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dangerous, then the Arabic for safe.

You'll want to know: مفتوح

مفتوح — maftūḥ — "open".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مفتوح (maftūḥ) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-ḥ, "to open" (Lane). Maftūḥ is the passive participle, "opened".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maftūḥ
- Say it: maftūḥ, once more
- Say it: say maftūḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for dangerous, then the Arabic for safe, then say maftūḥ again

Before you move on

What does مفتوح mean? ("Open".) Say it once more.

146.5 مغلق (mughlaq) — closed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for safe, then the Arabic for open.

You'll want to know: مغلق

مغلق — mughlaq — "closed".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغلق (mughlaq) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-q, "to shut, to lock" (Lane). Mughlaq is the Form IV passive participle, "shut".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mughlaq
- Say it: mughlaq, once more
- Say it: say mughlaq
- Recall: say the Arabic for safe, then the Arabic for open, then say mughlaq again

Before you move on

What does مغلق mean? ("Closed".) Say it once more.

Chapter 147

Busy, Tired, Active, Kind, Angry

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say busy, tired, active, kind and angry.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 147: I can say busy, tired, active, kind and angry.

147.1 مشغول (mashghūl) — busy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for open, then the Arabic for closed.

You'll want to know: مشغول

مشغول — mashghūl — "busy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشغول (mashghūl) is built on the native Arabic root sh-gh-l, "to occupy" (Lane). Mashghūl is the passive participle, "occupied".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mashghūl
- Say it: mashghūl, once more
- Say it: say mashghūl
- Recall: say the Arabic for open, then the Arabic for closed, then say mashghūl again

Before you move on

What does مشغول mean? ("Busy".) Say it once more.

147.2 متعب (mut^{c}ab) — tired

Before the new one: say the Arabic for closed, then the Arabic for busy.

Say "It is two o'clock." (As-sā^{c}a ath-thāniya — "the hour, the second.")

You'll want to know: متعب

متعب — mut^{c}ab — "tired".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متعب (mut^{c}ab) is built on the native Arabic root t-^{c}-b, "to be tired" (Lane). Mut^{c}ab is the Form IV passive participle, "tired out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mut^{c}ab
- Say it: mut^{c}ab, once more
- Say it: say mut^{c}ab

- Recall: say the Arabic for closed, then the Arabic for busy, then say mut^{c}ab again

Before you move on

What does متعب mean? ("Tired".) Say it once more.

147.3 نشيط (nashīṭ) — active, lively

Before the new one: say the Arabic for busy, then the Arabic for tired.

You'll want to know: نشيط

نشيط — nashīṭ — "active, lively".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نشيط (nashīṭ) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-ṭ, "to be brisk, to be lively" (Lane). Nashīṭ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "brisk, lively".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nashīṭ
- Say it: nashīṭ, once more
- Say it: say nashīṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for busy, then the Arabic for tired, then say nashīṭ again

Before you move on

What does نشيط mean? ("Active, lively".) Say it once more.

147.4 لطيف (laṭīf) — kind, pleasant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tired, then the Arabic for active.

You'll want to know: لطيف

لطيف — laṭīf — "kind, pleasant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لطيف (laṭīf) is built on the native Arabic root l-ṭ-f, "to be gentle, to be fine" (Lane). Laṭīf is "gentle, fine", hence "kind, pleasant".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: laṭīf
- Say it: laṭīf, once more
- Say it: say laṭīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for tired, then the Arabic for active, then say laṭīf again

Before you move on

What does لطيف mean? ("Kind, pleasant".) Say it once more.

147.5 غاضب (ghāḍib) — angry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for active, then the Arabic for kind.

You'll want to know: غاضب

غاضب — ghāḍib — "angry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غاضب (ghāḍib) is built on the native Arabic root gh-ḍ-b, "to be angry" (Lane). Ghāḍib is the active participle, "angry".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāḍib
- Say it: ghāḍib, once more
- Say it: say ghāḍib
- Recall: say the Arabic for active, then the Arabic for kind, then say ghāḍib again

Before you move on

What does غاضب mean? ("Angry".) Say it once more.

147.6 The body — a first pass

Say the words for kind and angry.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a palm, a fingernail, a brain, a heel, a lip
- a tongue, a belly, a leg, skin, a bone
- a bicycle, a ship, a traveller, a factory, a square
- an eraser, a class, a student, a job, a salary

Before you move on

A palm? (كف, kaff.) A fingernail? (ظفر, ẓufr.) A brain? (دماغ, dimāgh.) A heel? (كعب, ka^{c}b.) A lip? (شفة, shafa.) A tongue? (لسان, lisān.) A belly? (بطن, baṭn.) A leg? (ساق, sāq.) Skin? (جلد, jild.) A bone? (عظم, ^{c}aẓm.) A bicycle? (دراجة, darrāja.) A ship? (سفينة, safīna.) A traveller? (مسافر, musāfir.) A factory? (مصنع, maṣna^c.) A square? (ساحة, sāḥa.) An eraser? (ممحاة, mimḥāh.) A class? (صف, ṣaff.) A student? (طالب, ṭālib.) A job? (وظيفة, waẓīfa.) A salary? (راتب, rātib.)

147.7 Town, school and work — a second pass

Say the words for a tailor and a carpenter.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a tailor, a carpenter, a baker, a farmer, a university
- salty, luxurious, simple, comfortable, famous
- useful, dangerous, safe, open, closed
- busy, tired, active, kind, angry

Before you move on

A tailor? (خياط, khayyāṭ.) A carpenter? (نجار, najjār.) A baker? (خباز, khabbāz.) A farmer? (مزارع, muzāri^c.) A university? (جامعة, jāmi^{c}a.) Salty? (مالح, māliḥ.) Luxurious? (فخم, fakhm.) Simple? (بسيط, basīṭ.) Comfortable? (مريح, murīḥ.) Famous? (مشهور, mashhūr.) Useful? (مفيد, mufīd.) Dangerous? (خطير, khaṭīr.) Safe? (آمن, āmin.) Open? (مفتوح, maftūḥ.) Closed? (مغلق, mughlaq.) Busy? (مشغول, mashghūl.) Tired? (متعب, mut^{c}ab.) Active? (نشيط, nashīṭ.) Kind? (لطيف, laṭīf.) Angry? (غاضب, ghāḍib.)

Chapter 148

Pleased, Spacious, Deep, Round, Sharp

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say pleased, spacious, deep, round and sharp.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 148: I can say pleased, spacious, deep, round and sharp.

148.1 مسرور (masrūr) — pleased

Before the new one: say the Arabic for kind, pleasant, then the Arabic for angry.

You'll want to know: مسرور

مسرور — masrūr — "pleased".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسرور (masrūr) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-r, "to gladden" (Lane). Masrūr is the passive participle, "gladdened, pleased".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: masrūr
- Say it: masrūr, once more
- Say it: say masrūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for kind, pleasant, then the Arabic for angry, then say masrūr again

Before you move on

What does مسرور mean? ("Pleased".) Say it once more.

148.2 واسع (wāsi^c) — spacious, wide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for angry, then the Arabic for pleased.

You'll want to know: واسع

واسع — wāsi^c — "spacious, wide".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واسع (wāsi^c) is built on the native Arabic root w-s-^{c}, "to be wide" (Lane). Wāsi^c is the active participle, "wide".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wāsi^c
- Say it: wāsi^c, once more
- Say it: say wāsi^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for angry, then the Arabic for pleased, then say wāsi^c again

Before you move on

What does واسع mean? ("Spacious, wide".) Say it once more.

148.3 عميق (ᶜamīq) — deep

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pleased, then the Arabic for spacious.

Say "It is cold." (Al-jaw bārid.) And the formal word for weather? (Aṭ-ṭaqs.)

You'll want to know: عميق

عميق — ᶜamīq — "deep".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عميق (ᶜamīq) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-q, "to be deep" (Lane). ᶜAmīq is the faᶜīl adjective, "deep".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜamīq
- Say it: ᶜamīq, once more
- Say it: say ᶜamīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for pleased, then the Arabic for spacious, then say ᶜamīq again

Before you move on

What does عميق mean? ("Deep".) Say it once more.

148.4 مستدير (mustadīr) — round

Before the new one: say the Arabic for spacious, then the Arabic for deep.

You'll want to know: مستدير

مستدير — mustadīr — "round".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستدير (mustadīr) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-r, "to turn round" (Lane). Mustadīr is the Form X participle, "turning round", hence "round".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mustadīr
- Say it: mustadīr, once more
- Say it: say mustadīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for spacious, then the Arabic for deep, then say mustadīr again

Before you move on

What does مستدير mean? ("Round".) Say it once more.

148.5 حاد (ḥādd) — sharp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for deep, then the Arabic for round.

You'll want to know: حاد

حاد — ḥādd — "sharp".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاد (ḥādd) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-d, "to sharpen; a limit" (Lane). Ḥādd is the active participle, "sharp".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥādd
- Say it: ḥādd, once more
- Say it: say ḥādd
- Recall: say the Arabic for deep, then the Arabic for round, then say ḥādd again

Before you move on

What does حاد mean? ("Sharp".) Say it once more.

Chapter 149

Dark, Colourful, Elegant, Strange, Enjoyable

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say dark, colourful, elegant, strange and enjoyable.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 149: I can say dark, colourful, elegant, strange and enjoyable.

149.1 مظلم (muẓlim) — dark

Before the new one: say the Arabic for round, then the Arabic for sharp.

You'll want to know: مظلم

مظلم — muẓlim — "dark".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مظلم (muẓlim) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-m, "darkness; to do wrong" (Lane). Muẓlim is the Form IV participle, "growing dark".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muẓlim
- Say it: muẓlim, once more
- Say it: say muẓlim
- Recall: say the Arabic for round, then the Arabic for sharp, then say muẓlim again

Before you move on

What does مظلم mean? ("Dark".) Say it once more.

149.2 ملون (mulawwan) — colourful

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sharp, then the Arabic for dark.

You'll want to know: ملون

ملون — mulawwan — "colourful".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملون (mulawwan) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-n, "colour" (Lane). Mulawwan is the Form II passive participle, "coloured".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mulawwan
- Say it: mulawwan, once more
- Say it: say mulawwan
- Recall: say the Arabic for sharp, then the Arabic for dark, then say mulawwan again

Before you move on

What does ملون mean? ("Colourful".) Say it once more.

149.3 أنيق (anīq) — elegant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dark, then the Arabic for colourful.

You'll want to know: أنيق

أنيق — anīq — "elegant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنيق (anīq) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-n-q, "to please, to delight" (Lane). Anīq is "pleasing to the eye", hence "elegant".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: anīq
- Say it: anīq, once more
- Say it: say anīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for dark, then the Arabic for colourful, then say anīq again

Before you move on

What does أنيق mean? ("Elegant".) Say it once more.

149.4 غريب (gharīb) — strange

Before the new one: say the Arabic for colourful, then the Arabic for elegant.

Say three, thirteen and twenty. (Thalātha; thalāthata ᶜashar; ᶜishrūn.)

You'll want to know: غريب

غريب — gharīb — "strange".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غريب (gharīb) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-b, "to go away" (Lane). Lane's gharīb is one far from his home, a stranger.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: gharīb
- Say it: gharīb, once more
- Say it: say gharīb
- Recall: say the Arabic for colourful, then the Arabic for elegant, then say gharīb again

Before you move on

What does غريب mean? ("Strange".) Say it once more.

149.5 ممتع (mumtiᶜ) — enjoyable

Before the new one: say the Arabic for elegant, then the Arabic for strange.

You'll want to know: ممتع

ممتع — mumtiᶜ — "enjoyable".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممتع (mumti^c) is built on the native Arabic root m-t-^{c}, "to enjoy, to give enjoyment" (Lane). Mumti^c is the Form IV participle, "giving enjoyment".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mumti^c
- Say it: mumti^c, once more
- Say it: say mumti^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for elegant, then the Arabic for strange, then say mumti^c again

Before you move on

What does ممتع mean? ("Enjoyable".) Say it once more.

Chapter 150

Delicious, Low, High, Wide, Narrow

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say delicious, low, high, wide and narrow.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 150: I can say delicious, low, high, wide and narrow.

150.1 لذيذ (ladhīdh) — delicious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for strange, then the Arabic for enjoyable.

You'll want to know: لذيذ

لذيذ — ladhīdh — "delicious".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لذيذ (ladhīdh) is built on the native Arabic root l-dh-dh, "to be delicious" (Lane). Ladhīdh is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "delicious".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ladhīdh
- Say it: ladhīdh, once more
- Say it: say ladhīdh
- Recall: say the Arabic for strange, then the Arabic for enjoyable, then say ladhīdh again

Before you move on

What does لذيذ mean? ("Delicious".) Say it once more.

150.2 منخفض (munkhafiḍ) — low

Before the new one: say the Arabic for enjoyable, then the Arabic for delicious.

You'll want to know: منخفض

منخفض — munkhafiḍ — "low".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منخفض (munkhafiḍ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-ḍ, "to lower" (Lane). Munkhafiḍ is the Form VII participle, "lowered, low".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: munkhafiḍ
- Say it: munkhafiḍ, once more
- Say it: say munkhafiḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for enjoyable, then the Arabic for delicious, then say munkhafiḍ again

Before you move on

What does منخفض mean? ("Low".) Say it once more.

150.3 مرتفع (murtafiᶜ) — high

Before the new one: say the Arabic for delicious, then the Arabic for low.

You'll want to know: مرتفع

مرتفع — murtafiᶜ — "high".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرتفع (murtafiᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-ᶜ, "to raise" (Lane). Murtafiᶜ is the Form VIII participle, "raised, high".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: murtafiᶜ
- Say it: murtafiᶜ, once more
- Say it: say murtafiᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for delicious, then the Arabic for low, then say murtafiᶜ again

Before you move on

What does مرتفع mean? ("High".) Say it once more.

150.4 عريض (ᶜarīḍ) — wide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for low, then the Arabic for high.

You'll want to know: عريض

عريض — ᶜarīḍ — "wide".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عريض (ᶜarīḍ) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-ḍ, "to be broad" (Lane). ᶜArīḍ is the faᶜīl adjective, "broad".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜarīḍ
- Say it: ᶜarīḍ, once more
- Say it: say ᶜarīḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for low, then the Arabic for high, then say ᶜarīḍ again

Before you move on

What does عريض mean? ("Wide".) Say it once more.

150.5 ضيق (ḍayyiq) — narrow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for high, then the Arabic for wide.

You'll want to know: ضيق

ضيق — ḍayyiq — "narrow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضيق (ḍayyiq) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-q, "to be narrow" (Lane). The word ḍayyiq is the adjective, "narrow".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍayyiq
- Say it: ḍayyiq, once more
- Say it: say ḍayyiq
- Recall: say the Arabic for high, then the Arabic for wide, then say ḍayyiq again

Before you move on

What does ضيق mean? ("Narrow".) Say it once more.

Chapter 151

Thin, Fat, Wet, Dry, Dirty

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say thin, fat, wet, dry and dirty.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 151: I can say thin, fat, wet, dry and dirty.

151.1 نحيف (naḥīf) — thin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wide, then the Arabic for narrow.

A green dog and a yellow cat: say the four words. (Akhḍar, kalb; aṣfar, qiṭṭ.)

You'll want to know: نحيف

نحيف — naḥīf — "thin".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نحيف (naḥīf) is built on the native Arabic root n-ḥ-f; Lane's short article gives only naḥīf itself, "slender, lean" (Lane). It has the fa^{c}īl adjective shape.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: naḥīf
- Say it: naḥīf, once more
- Say it: say naḥīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for wide, then the Arabic for narrow, then say naḥīf again

Before you move on

What does نحيف mean? ("Thin".) Say it once more.

151.2 سمين (samīn) — fat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for narrow, then the Arabic for thin.

You'll want to know: سمين

سمين — samīn — "fat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سمين (samīn) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-n, "to be fat" (Lane). The same root gives samn, "clarified butter".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: samīn
- Say it: samīn, once more
- Say it: say samīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for narrow, then the Arabic for thin, then say samīn again

Before you move on

What does سمين mean? ("Fat".) Say it once more.

151.3 مبلل (muballal) — wet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for thin, then the Arabic for fat.

You'll want to know: مبلل

مبلل — muballal — "wet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبلل (muballal) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-l, "to wet" (Lane). Muballal is the Form II passive participle, "made wet".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muballal
- Say it: muballal, once more
- Say it: say muballal
- Recall: say the Arabic for thin, then the Arabic for fat, then say muballal again

Before you move on

What does مبلل mean? ("Wet".) Say it once more.

151.4 جاف (jāff) — dry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fat, then the Arabic for wet.

You'll want to know: جاف

جاف — jāff — "dry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جاف (jāff) is built on the native Arabic root j-f-f, "to be dry" (Lane). Jāff is the active participle, "dry".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jāff
- Say it: jāff, once more
- Say it: say jāff
- Recall: say the Arabic for fat, then the Arabic for wet, then say jāff again

Before you move on

What does جاف mean? ("Dry".) Say it once more.

151.5 متسخ (mutassikh) — dirty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wet, then the Arabic for dry.

You'll want to know: متسخ

متسخ — mutassikh — "dirty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متسخ (mutassikh) is built on the native Arabic root w-s-kh, "to be dirty" (Lane). Mutassikh is the Form VIII participle, "become dirty".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mutassikh
- Say it: mutassikh, once more
- Say it: say mutassikh
- Recall: say the Arabic for wet, then the Arabic for dry, then say mutassikh again

Before you move on

What does متسخ mean? ("Dirty".) Say it once more.

Chapter 152

Sour, Bitter, Soft, Hard, Clever

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say sour, bitter, soft, hard and clever.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 152: I can say sour, bitter, soft, hard and clever.

152.1 حامض (ḥāmiḍ) — sour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dry, then the Arabic for dirty.

You'll want to know: حامض

حامض — ḥāmiḍ — "sour".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حامض (ḥāmiḍ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-ḍ, "to be sour" (Lane). Ḥāmiḍ is the active participle, "sour".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāmiḍ
- Say it: ḥāmiḍ, once more
- Say it: say ḥāmiḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for dry, then the Arabic for dirty, then say ḥāmiḍ again

Before you move on

What does حامض mean? ("Sour".) Say it once more.

152.2 مر (murr) — bitter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dirty, then the Arabic for sour.

Say "day" and "night." (Yawm; layl.) Both are Common Semitic.

You'll want to know: مر

مر — murr — "bitter".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مر (murr) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-r, "to be bitter" (Lane). English myrrh, the bitter resin, came through Greek from a Semitic word of this kind; Hebrew mar, "bitter", is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: murr
- Say it: murr, once more
- Say it: say murr

- Recall: say the Arabic for dirty, then the Arabic for sour, then say murr again

Before you move on

What does مر mean? ("Bitter".) Say it once more.

152.3 ناعم (nāᶜim) — soft, smooth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sour, then the Arabic for bitter.

You'll want to know: ناعم

ناعم — nāᶜim — "soft, smooth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناعم (nāᶜim) is built on the native Arabic root n-ᶜ-m, "to be soft, to live in ease" (Lane). Nāᶜim is the active participle, "soft, smooth".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nāᶜim
- Say it: nāᶜim, once more
- Say it: say nāᶜim
- Recall: say the Arabic for sour, then the Arabic for bitter, then say nāᶜim again

Before you move on

What does ناعم mean? ("Soft, smooth".) Say it once more.

152.4 صلب (ṣulb) — hard, solid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for bitter, then the Arabic for soft.

You'll want to know: صلب

صلب — ṣulb — "hard, solid".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صلب (ṣulb) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-l-b, "to be hard" (Lane). Ṣulb is "hard, solid".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣulb
- Say it: ṣulb, once more
- Say it: say ṣulb
- Recall: say the Arabic for bitter, then the Arabic for soft, then say ṣulb again

Before you move on

What does صلب mean? ("Hard, solid".) Say it once more.

152.5 ذكي (dhakī) — clever

Before the new one: say the Arabic for soft, then the Arabic for hard.

You'll want to know: ذكي

ذكي — dhakī — "clever".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذكي (dhakī) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-w, "to be quick of mind; to blaze" (Lane). Dhakī is "sharp-witted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhakī
- Say it: dhakī, once more
- Say it: say dhakī
- Recall: say the Arabic for soft, then the Arabic for hard, then say dhakī again

Before you move on

What does ذكي mean? ("Clever".) Say it once more.

Chapter 153

Lazy, Brave, Thirsty, Fresh, Ripe

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say lazy, brave, thirsty, fresh and ripe.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 153: I can say lazy, brave, thirsty, fresh and ripe.

153.1 كسول (kasūl) — lazy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hard, then the Arabic for clever.

You'll want to know: كسول

كسول — kasūl — "lazy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كسول (kasūl) is built on the native Arabic root k-s-l, "to be lazy" (Lane). Kasūl is the fa^{c}ūl adjective, "lazy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kasūl
- Say it: kasūl, once more
- Say it: say kasūl
- Recall: say the Arabic for hard, then the Arabic for clever, then say kasūl again

Before you move on

What does كسول mean? ("Lazy".) Say it once more.

153.2 شجاع (shujā^c) — brave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for clever, then the Arabic for lazy.

You'll want to know: شجاع

شجاع — shujā^c — "brave".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شجاع (shujā^c) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-^{c}, "to be brave" (Lane). Shujā^c is the adjective, "brave".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shujā^c
- Say it: shujā^c, once more
- Say it: say shujā^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for clever, then the Arabic for lazy, then say shujā^c again

Before you move on

What does شجاع mean? ("Brave".) Say it once more.

153.3 عطشان (ᶜaṭshān) — thirsty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lazy, then the Arabic for brave.

Say "he came," "he said" and "he saw." (Jāʾa, qāla, raʾā.)

You'll want to know: عطشان

عطشان — ᶜaṭshān — "thirsty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عطشان (ᶜaṭshān) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-sh, "to thirst" (Lane). ᶜAṭshān is the faᶜlān adjective of a passing state, "thirsty".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṭshān
- Say it: ᶜaṭshān, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaṭshān
- Recall: say the Arabic for lazy, then the Arabic for brave, then say ᶜaṭshān again

Before you move on

What does عطشان mean? ("Thirsty".) Say it once more.

153.4 طازج (ṭāzaj) — fresh

Before the new one: say the Arabic for brave, then the Arabic for thirsty.

You'll want to know: طازج

طازج — ṭāzaj — "fresh".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طازج (ṭāzaj) is usually traced to Persian tāza, "fresh"; it has no entry in Lane and no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭāzaj
- Say it: ṭāzaj, once more
- Say it: say ṭāzaj
- Recall: say the Arabic for brave, then the Arabic for thirsty, then say ṭāzaj again

Before you move on

What does طازج mean? ("Fresh".) Say it once more.

153.5 ناضج (nāḍij) — ripe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for thirsty, then the Arabic for fresh.

You'll want to know: ناضج

ناضج — nāḍij — "ripe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناضج (nāḍij) is built on the native Arabic root n-ḍ-j, "to ripen, to be well cooked" (Lane). Nāḍij is the active participle, "ripe".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nāḍij
- Say it: nāḍij, once more
- Say it: say nāḍij
- Recall: say the Arabic for thirsty, then the Arabic for fresh, then say nāḍij again

Before you move on

What does ناضج mean? ("Ripe".) Say it once more.

Chapter 154

Full, Young, Old, Strong, Weak

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say full, young, old, strong and weak.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 154: I can say full, young, old, strong and weak.

154.1 مليء (malīʾ) — full

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fresh, then the Arabic for ripe.

You'll want to know: مليء

مليء — malīʾ — "full".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مليء (malīʾ) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-ʾ, "to fill" (Lane). Malīʾ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "full".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: malīʾ
- Say it: malīʾ, once more
- Say it: say malīʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for fresh, then the Arabic for ripe, then say malīʾ again

Before you move on

What does مليء mean? ("Full".) Say it once more.

154.2 شاب (shābb) — young

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ripe, then the Arabic for full.

You'll want to know: شاب

شاب — shābb — "young".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاب (shābb) is built on the native Arabic root sh-b-b, "to grow into youth" (Lane). Shābb is the active participle, "young".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shābb
- Say it: shābb, once more
- Say it: say shābb
- Recall: say the Arabic for ripe, then the Arabic for full, then say shābb again

Before you move on

What does شاب mean? ("Young".) Say it once more.

154.3 عجوز (ᶜajūz) — old (of a person)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for full, then the Arabic for young.

You'll want to know: عجوز

عجوز — ᶜajūz — "old (of a person)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عجوز (ᶜajūz) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-j-z, "to be weak, to be unable" (Lane). Lane's ᶜajūz is an old woman, one grown weak; it now says "old" of any person.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜajūz
- Say it: ᶜajūz, once more
- Say it: say ᶜajūz
- Recall: say the Arabic for full, then the Arabic for young, then say ᶜajūz again

Before you move on

What does عجوز mean? ("Old (of a person)".) Say it once more.

154.4 قوي (qawī) — strong

Before the new one: say the Arabic for young, then the Arabic for old.

Read it: the turn, then say it aloud — شاي أو حليب؟ (Shāy aw ḥalībʔ, "Tea or milk?")

You'll want to know: قوي

قوي — qawī — "strong".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قوي (qawī) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-y, "to be strong" (Lane). Qawī is the faᶜīl adjective, "strong".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qawī
- Say it: qawī, once more
- Say it: say qawī
- Recall: say the Arabic for young, then the Arabic for old, then say qawī again

Before you move on

What does قوي mean? ("Strong".) Say it once more.

154.5 ضعيف (ḍaᶜīf) — weak

Before the new one: say the Arabic for old, then the Arabic for strong.

You'll want to know: ضعيف

ضعيف — ḍa^{c}īf — "weak".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضعيف (ḍa^{c}īf) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-^{c}-f, "to be weak" (Lane). The word ḍa^{c}īf is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "weak".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍa^{c}īf
- Say it: ḍa^{c}īf, once more
- Say it: say ḍa^{c}īf
- Recall: say the Arabic for old, then the Arabic for strong, then say ḍa^{c}īf again

Before you move on

What does ضعيف mean? ("Weak".) Say it once more.

Chapter 155

Necessary, Ugly, Precious, Hot, Crowded

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say necessary, ugly, precious, hot and crowded.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 155: I can say necessary, ugly, precious, hot and crowded.

155.1 ضروري (ḍarūrī) — necessary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for strong, then the Arabic for weak.

You'll want to know: ضروري

ضروري — ḍarūrī — "necessary".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضروري (ḍarūrī) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-r, "to harm; necessity" (Lane). The word ḍarūrī is the adjective of ḍarūra, "necessity".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍarūrī
- Say it: ḍarūrī, once more
- Say it: say ḍarūrī
- Recall: say the Arabic for strong, then the Arabic for weak, then say ḍarūrī again

Before you move on

What does ضروري mean? ("Necessary".) Say it once more.

155.2 قبيح (qabīḥ) — ugly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for weak, then the Arabic for necessary.

You'll want to know: قبيح

قبيح — qabīḥ — "ugly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبيح (qabīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-ḥ, "to be ugly" (Lane). Qabīḥ is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "ugly".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qabīḥ
- Say it: qabīḥ, once more
- Say it: say qabīḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for weak, then the Arabic for necessary, then say qabīḥ again

Before you move on

What does قبيح mean? ("Ugly".) Say it once more.

155.3 ثمين (thamīn) — precious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for necessary, then the Arabic for ugly.

You'll want to know: ثمين

ثمين — thamīn — "precious".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثمين (thamīn) is built on thaman, "a price", a native noun, filed under the root th-m-n (Lane). Thamīn is "of great price".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thamīn
- Say it: thamīn, once more
- Say it: say thamīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for necessary, then the Arabic for ugly, then say thamīn again

Before you move on

What does ثمين mean? ("Precious".) Say it once more.

155.4 ساخن (sākhin) — hot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ugly, then the Arabic for precious.

You'll want to know: ساخن

ساخن — sākhin — "hot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساخن (sākhin) is built on the native Arabic root s-kh-n, "to be hot" (Lane). Sākhin is the active participle, "hot".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sākhin
- Say it: sākhin, once more
- Say it: say sākhin
- Recall: say the Arabic for ugly, then the Arabic for precious, then say sākhin again

Before you move on

What does ساخن mean? ("Hot".) Say it once more.

155.5 مزدحم (muzdaḥim) — crowded

Before the new one: say the Arabic for precious, then the Arabic for hot.

You'll want to know: مزدحم

مزدحم — muzdaḥim — "crowded".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزدحم (muzdaḥim) is built on the native Arabic root z-ḥ-m, "to crowd" (Lane). Muzdaḥim is the Form VIII participle, "crowded".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muzdaḥim
- Say it: muzdaḥim, once more
- Say it: say muzdaḥim
- Recall: say the Arabic for precious, then the Arabic for hot, then say muzdaḥim again

Before you move on

What does مزدحم mean? ("Crowded".) Say it once more.

155.6 Describing words — a first pass

Say the words for hot and crowded.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- pleased, spacious, deep, round, sharp
- dark, colourful, elegant, strange, enjoyable
- delicious, low, high, wide, narrow
- thin, fat, wet, dry, dirty

Before you move on

Pleased? (مسرور, masrūr.) Spacious? (واسع, wāsiᶜ.) Deep? (عميق, ᶜamīq.) Round? (مستدير, mustadīr.) Sharp? (حاد, ḥādd.) Dark? (مظلم, muẓlim.) Colourful? (ملون, mulawwan.) Elegant? (أنيق, anīq.) Strange? (غريب, gharīb.) Enjoyable? (ممتع, mumtiᶜ.) Delicious? (لذيذ, ladhīdh.) Low? (منخفض, munkhafiḍ.) High? (مرتفع, murtafiᶜ.)

Wide? (عريض, ᶜarīḍ.) Narrow? (ضيق, ḍayyiq.) Thin? (نحيف, naḥīf.) Fat? (سمين, samīn.) Wet? (مبلل, muballal.) Dry? (جاف, jāff.) Dirty? (متسخ, mutassikh.)

155.7 More describing words — a second pass

Say the words for sour and bitter.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- sour, bitter, soft, hard, clever
- lazy, brave, thirsty, fresh, ripe
- full, young, old, strong, weak
- necessary, ugly, precious, hot, crowded

Before you move on

Sour? (حامض, ḥāmiḍ.) Bitter? (مر, murr.) Soft? (ناعم, nāᶜim.) Hard? (صلب, ṣulb.) Clever? (ذكي, dhakī.) Lazy? (كسول, kasūl.) Brave? (شجاع, shujāᶜ.) Thirsty? (عطشان, ᶜaṭshān.) Fresh? (طازج, ṭāzaj.) Ripe? (ناضج, nāḍij.) Full? (مليء, malīʾ.) Young? (شاب, shābb.) Old? (عجوز, ᶜajūz.) Strong? (قوي, qawī.) Weak? (ضعيف, ḍaᶜīf.) Necessary? (ضروري, ḍarūrī.) Ugly? (قبيح, qabīḥ.) Precious? (ثمين, thamīn.) Hot? (ساخن, sākhin.) Crowded? (مزدحم, muzdaḥim.)

Chapter 156

Recently, Already, Last, Once, To Spend (Time)

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say what happened, and when: recently, already, last week.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 156: I can say what happened, and when: recently, already, last week.

156.1 حديثا (ḥadīthan) — recently

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hot, then the Arabic for crowded.

You'll want to know: حديثا

حديثا — ḥadīthan — "recently". Arabic's past for "I" ends in -تُ (-tu): قرأت جميلا كتابا حديثا — qaraʔtu ḥadīthan kitāban jamīlan — "I recently read a lovely book."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حديثا (ḥadīthan) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-th, "to be new; to happen" (Lane). Ḥadīthan is ḥadīth, "new, recent", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥadīthan
- Say it: ḥadīthan, once more
- Say it: say ḥadīthan
- Recall: say the Arabic for hot, then the Arabic for crowded, then say ḥadīthan again

Before you move on

What does حديثا mean? ("Recently".) Say it once more.

156.2 بالفعل (bi-l-fi^{c}l) — already; indeed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for crowded, then the Arabic for recently.

You'll want to know: بالفعل

بالفعل — bi-l-fi^{c}l — "already; indeed". With the past: أكلت بالفعل — akaltu bi-l-fi^{c}l — "I have already eaten."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بالفعل (bi-l-fi^{c}l) is built from bi-, "by, in", the article al-, and fi^{c}l, "a deed", from the root f-^{c}-l, "to do" (Lane): "in deed", hence "already, indeed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-l-fi^{c}l
- Say it: bi-l-fi^{c}l, once more
- Say it: say bi-l-fi^{c}l
- Recall: say the Arabic for crowded, then the Arabic for recently, then say bi-l-fi^{c}l again

Before you move on

What does بالفعل mean? ("Already; indeed".) Say it once more.

156.3 الماضي (al-māḍī) — last, past

Before the new one: say the Arabic for recently, then the Arabic for already; indeed.

You'll want to know: الماضي

الماضي — al-māḍī — "last, past". After a time word: الماضي الأسبوع — al-usbū^{c} al-māḍī — "last week"; الماضي العام — al-^{c}ām al-māḍī — "last year".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

الماضي (al-māḍī) is built on the native Arabic root m-ḍ-y, "to pass, to go on" (Lane). Al-māḍī is the active participle with the article, "the one that has passed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: al-māḍī
- Say it: al-māḍī, once more
- Say it: say al-māḍī

- Recall: say the Arabic for recently, then the Arabic for already; indeed, then say al-māḍī again

Before you move on

What does الماضي mean? ("Last, past".) Say it once more.

156.4 مرة ذات (dhāta marra) — once, one time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for already; indeed, then the Arabic for last.

You'll want to know: مرة ذات

مرة ذات — dhāta marra — "once, one time". It opens a story: هنا كانت مرة ذات بحيرة — dhāta marra kānat hunā buḥayra — "Once there was a lake here." كانت is the past of to be.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرة ذات (dhāta marra) is built from dhāta, "one possessing", and marra, "a time, a single passing", from the root m-r-r, "to pass" (Lane): "on one occasion".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhāta marra
- Say it: dhāta marra, once more
- Say it: say dhāta marra
- Recall: say the Arabic for already; indeed, then the Arabic for last, then say dhāta marra again

Before you move on

What does مرة ذات mean? ("Once, one time".) Say it once more.

156.5 قضى (qaḍā) — to spend (time)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for last, then the Arabic for once.

You'll want to know: قضى

قضى — qaḍā — "to spend (time)". Said of time: قضيت العطلة في القرية — qaḍaytu al-ᶜuṭla fī al-qarya — "I spent the holiday in the village."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قضى (qaḍā) is built on the native Arabic root q-ḍ-y, "to decide; to accomplish" (Lane). Lane's qaḍā is to accomplish, to finish, hence to spend time.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qaḍā
- Say it: qaḍā, once more
- Say it: say qaḍā
- Recall: say the Arabic for last, then the Arabic for once, then say qaḍā again

Before you move on

What does قضى mean? ("To spend (time)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 157

Next, From Now On, a Programme, To Decide, To Intend

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say what will happen, and when: next week, from now on, and what I intend to do.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 157: I can say what will happen, and when: next week, from now on, and what I intend to do.

157.1 القادم (al-qādim) — next, coming

Before the new one: say the Arabic for once, then the Arabic for to spend.

You'll want to know: القادم

القادم — al-qādim — "next, coming". The future puts sa- in front of the present: سأسافر الأسبوع القادم — sa-usāfiru al-usbūᶜa al-qādim — "I will travel next week."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

القادم (al-qādim) is built on the native Arabic root q-d-m, "to come; to precede" (Lane). Qādim is the active participle of qadima, "to arrive": "the one coming".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: al-qādim
- Say it: al-qādim, once more
- Say it: say al-qādim
- Recall: say the Arabic for once, then the Arabic for to spend, then say al-qādim again

Before you move on

What does القادم mean? ("Next, coming".) Say it once more.

157.2 فصاعدا الآن من (min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan) — from now on

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to spend, then the Arabic for next.

You'll want to know: فصاعدا الآن من

فصاعدا الآن من — min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan — "from now on". فصاعدا الآن من يوم كل سأمشي — min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan sa-amshī kulla yawm — "From now on I will walk every day."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فصاعدا الآن من (min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan) is built from min, "from", al-ān, "now", and fa-ṣāᶜidan, "and upward", the active participle of ṣ-ᶜ-d, "to go up" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan
- Say it: min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan, once more
- Say it: say min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan
- Recall: say the Arabic for to spend, then the Arabic for next, then say min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan again

Before you move on

What does فصاعدا الآن من mean? ("From now on".) Say it once more.

157.3 برنامج (barnāmaj) — a programme, a schedule

Before the new one: say the Arabic for next, then the Arabic for from now on.

You'll want to know: برنامج

برنامج — barnāmaj — "a programme, a schedule". مزدحم غدا برنامجي — barnāmajī ghadan muzdaḥim — "My schedule tomorrow is full."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برنامج (barnāmaj) is a loan from Persian barnāma, which EtymDB traces to Middle Persian barnāmag, a written list; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: barnāmaj
- Say it: barnāmaj, once more
- Say it: say barnāmaj

- Recall: say the Arabic for next, then the Arabic for from now on, then say barnāmaj again

Before you move on

What does برنامج mean? ("A programme, a schedule".) Say it once more.

157.4 قرر (qarrara) — to decide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for from now on, then the Arabic for a programme.

You'll want to know: قرر

قرر — qarrara — "to decide". يوم كل أمشي أن قررت — qarrartu an amshiya kulla yawm — "I decided to walk every day."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرر (qarrara) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). Qarrara is Form II, "to make settled", to decide.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarrara
- Say it: qarrara, once more
- Say it: say qarrara
- Recall: say the Arabic for from now on, then the Arabic for a programme, then say qarrara again

Before you move on

What does قرر mean? ("To decide".) Say it once more.

157.5 نوى (nawā) — to intend, to mean to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a programme, then the Arabic for to decide.

You'll want to know: نوى

نوى — nawā — "to intend, to mean to". جدتي أزور أن أنوي — anwī an azūra jaddatī — "I intend to visit my grandmother."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نوى (nawā) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-y, "to intend" (Lane). Nawā is the plain verb, "he intended".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nawā
- Say it: nawā, once more
- Say it: say nawā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a programme, then the Arabic for to decide, then say nawā again

Before you move on

What does نوى mean? ("To intend, to mean to".) Say it once more.

Chapter 158

A Timetable, a Sign, the Rent, an Advert, a Receipt

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can read a timetable, a sign, an advert and a receipt, and act on what they say.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 158: I can read a timetable, a sign, an advert and a receipt, and act on what they say.

158.1 جدول (jadwal) — a timetable, a table

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to decide, then the Arabic for to intend.

You'll want to know: جدول

جدول — jadwal — "a timetable, a table".

Read it: the board

The board says الحافلة موعد: صباحا الثامنة الساعة — mawᶜid al-ḥāfila: as-sāᶜa ath-thāmina ṣabāḥan — "Bus time: 8 a.m." Be there before eight.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدول (jadwal) is a noun filed under the root j-d-l, "to twist firmly" (Lane). Lane's jadwal is a small stream or irrigation channel, and its verb means to rule a book with lines.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jadwal
- Say it: jadwal, once more
- Say it: say jadwal
- Recall: say the Arabic for to decide, then the Arabic for to intend, then say jadwal again

Before you move on

What does جدول mean? ("A timetable, a table".) Say it once more.

158.2 لافتة (lāfita) — a sign, a placard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to intend, then the Arabic for a timetable.

You'll want to know: لافتة

لافتة — lāfita — "a sign, a placard".

Read it: the sign

The sign says الجمعة يوم مغلق — mughlaq yawm al-jum^{c}a — "Closed on Friday." Come on another day.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لافتة (lāfita) is built on the native Arabic root l-f-t, "to turn (the face)" (Lane). Lāfita is the feminine active participle, "one that turns (the eye)"; the placard is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lāfita
- Say it: lāfita, once more
- Say it: say lāfita
- Recall: say the Arabic for to intend, then the Arabic for a timetable, then say lāfita again

Before you move on

What does لافتة mean? ("A sign, a placard".) Say it once more.

158.3 إيجار (ījār) — rent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a timetable, then the Arabic for a sign.

You'll want to know: إيجار

إيجار — ījār — "rent". The money for a flat: إيجار الشقة — ījār ash-shaqqa — "the rent for the flat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إيجار (ījār) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-j-r, "to reward; to hire" (Lane). The word ījār is the verbal noun of Form IV, "letting for hire".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ījār
- Say it: ījār, once more
- Say it: say ījār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a timetable, then the Arabic for a sign, then say ījār again

Before you move on

What does إيجار mean? ("Rent".) Say it once more.

158.4 إعلان (iᶜlān) — an advert, an announcement

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sign, then the Arabic for rent.

You'll want to know: إعلان

إعلان — iᶜlān — "an advert, an announcement".
Read it: the advert
The advert says شقة للإيجار — shaqqa li-l-ījār — "Flat for rent."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إعلان (iᶜlān) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-n, "to be public, to be open" (Lane). Iᶜlān is the verbal noun of Form IV, "making public".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜlān
- Say it: iᶜlān, once more
- Say it: say iᶜlān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sign, then the Arabic for rent, then say iᶜlān again

Before you move on

What does إعلان mean? ("An advert, an announcement".) Say it once more.

158.5 إيصال (īṣāl) — a receipt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rent, then the Arabic for an advert.

You'll want to know: إيصال

إيصال — īṣāl — "a receipt". Ask for it when you pay: فضلك من الإيصال — al-īṣāl min faḍlik — "The receipt, please."

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إيصال (īṣāl) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to arrive, to join" (Lane). The word īṣāl is the verbal noun of Form IV, "delivering"; the receipt is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: īṣāl
- Say it: īṣāl, once more
- Say it: say īṣāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for rent, then the Arabic for an advert, then say īṣāl again

Before you move on

What does إيصال mean? ("A receipt".) Say it once more.

158.6 Looking back — a first pass

Say the words for an advert and a receipt.

Your turn

- Say it: recently, already; indeed, last, once, to spend

Before you move on

Recently? (حديثا, ḥadīthan.) Already; indeed? (بالفعل, bi-l-fiᶜl.) Last? (الماضي, al-māḍī.) Once? (مرة ذات, dhāta marra.) To spend? (قضى, qaḍā.)

158.7 Looking ahead and reading signs — a second pass

Say the words for next and from now on.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- next, from now on, a programme, to decide, to intend
- a timetable, a sign, rent, an advert, a receipt

Before you move on

Next? (القادم, al-qādim.) From now on? (فصاعدا الآن من, min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan.) A programme? (برنامج, barnāmaj.) To decide? (قرر, qarrara.) To intend? (نوى, nawā.) A timetable? (جدول, jadwal.) A sign? (لافتة, lāfita.) Rent? (إيجار, īījār.) An advert? (إعلان, iᶜlān.) A receipt? (إيصال, īṣāl.)

Chapter 159

To wake up, To go up, To arrive, To travel, To cross

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to wake up, to go up, to arrive, to travel and to cross.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 159: I can say to wake up, to go up, to arrive, to travel and to cross.

159.1 استيقظ (istayqaẓa) — to wake up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an advert, then the Arabic for a receipt.

You'll want to know: استيقظ

استيقظ — istayqaẓa — "to wake up".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استيقظ (istayqaẓa) is built on the native Arabic root y-q-ẓ, "to be awake" (Lane). Istayqaẓa is Form X, "to wake up".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istayqaẓa
- Say it: istayqaẓa, once more
- Say it: say istayqaẓa
- Recall: say the Arabic for an advert, then the Arabic for a receipt, then say istayqaẓa again

Before you move on

What does استيقظ mean? ("To wake up".) Say it once more.

159.2 صعد (ṣa^{c}ida) — to go up, to climb

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a receipt, then the Arabic for to wake up.

You'll want to know: صعد

صعد — ṣa^{c}ida — "to go up, to climb".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صعد (ṣa^{c}ida) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-^{c}-d, "to go up" (Lane). Ṣa^{c}ida is the plain verb, "he went up".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣa^{c}ida
- Say it: ṣa^{c}ida, once more
- Say it: say ṣa^{c}ida
- Recall: say the Arabic for a receipt, then the Arabic for to wake up, then say ṣa^{c}ida again

Before you move on

What does صعد mean? ("To go up, to climb".) Say it once more.

159.3 وصل (waṣala) — to arrive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wake up, then the Arabic for to go up.

You'll want to know: وصل

وصل — waṣala — "to arrive".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وصل (waṣala) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to arrive, to join" (Lane). Waṣala is the plain verb, "he arrived".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waṣala
- Say it: waṣala, once more
- Say it: say waṣala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wake up, then the Arabic for to go up, then say waṣala again

Before you move on

What does وصل mean? ("To arrive".) Say it once more.

159.4 سافر (sāfara) — to travel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go up, then the Arabic for to arrive.

You'll want to know: سافر

سافر — sāfara — "to travel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سافر (sāfara) is built on the native Arabic root s-f-r, "to travel; to uncover" (Lane). Sāfara is Form III, "to travel".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāfara
- Say it: sāfara, once more
- Say it: say sāfara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go up, then the Arabic for to arrive, then say sāfara again

Before you move on

What does سافر mean? ("To travel".) Say it once more.

159.5 عبر (ᶜabara) — to cross

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to arrive, then the Arabic for to travel.

You'll want to know: عبر

عبر — ᶜabara — "to cross".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عبر (ᶜabara) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-b-r, "to cross" (Lane). ᶜAbara is the plain verb, "he crossed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜabara
- Say it: ᶜabara, once more
- Say it: say ᶜabara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to arrive, then the Arabic for to travel, then say ᶜabara again

Before you move on

What does عبر mean? ("To cross".) Say it once more.

Chapter 160

To taste, To pour, To switch off, To fill, To bathe

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to taste, to pour, to switch off, to fill and to bathe.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 160: I can say to taste, to pour, to switch off, to fill and to bathe.

160.1 ذاق (dhāqa) — to taste

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to travel, then the Arabic for to cross.

You'll want to know: ذاق

ذاق — dhāqa — "to taste".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذاق (dhāqa) is built on the native Arabic root dh-w-q, "to taste" (Lane). Dhāqa is the plain verb, "he tasted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhāqa
- Say it: dhāqa, once more
- Say it: say dhāqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to travel, then the Arabic for to cross, then say dhāqa again

Before you move on

What does ذاق mean? ("To taste".) Say it once more.

160.2 صب (ṣabba) — to pour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cross, then the Arabic for to taste.

You'll want to know: صب

صب — ṣabba — "to pour".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صب (ṣabba) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-b, "to pour" (Lane). Ṣabba is the plain verb, "he poured".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣabba
- Say it: ṣabba, once more
- Say it: say ṣabba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cross, then the Arabic for to taste, then say ṣabba again

Before you move on

What does صب mean? ("To pour".) Say it once more.

160.3 أطفأ (aṭfaʾa) — to switch off, to put out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to taste, then the Arabic for to pour.

You'll want to know: أطفأ

أطفأ — aṭfaʾa — "to switch off, to put out".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أطفأ (aṭfaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-f-ʾ, "to be put out (of fire)" (Lane). Aṭfaʾa is Form IV, "to put out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aṭfaʾa
- Say it: aṭfaʾa, once more
- Say it: say aṭfaʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to taste, then the Arabic for to pour, then say aṭfaʾa again

Before you move on

What does أطفأ mean? ("To switch off, to put out".) Say it once more.

160.4 ملأ (malaʾa) — to fill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pour, then the Arabic for to switch off.

You'll want to know: ملأ

ملأ — malaʾa — "to fill".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملأ (malaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-ʾ, "to fill" (Lane). Malaʾa is the plain verb, "he filled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: malaʾa
- Say it: malaʾa, once more
- Say it: say malaʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pour, then the Arabic for to switch off, then say malaʾa again

Before you move on

What does ملأ mean? ("To fill".) Say it once more.

160.5 استحم (istaḥamma) — to bathe, to have a shower

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to switch off, then the Arabic for to fill.

You'll want to know: استحم

استحم — istaḥamma — "to bathe, to have a shower".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استحم (istaḥamma) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-m, "to be hot, to heat" (Lane). Istaḥamma is Form X, "to wash with hot water".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istaḥamma
- Say it: istaḥamma, once more
- Say it: say istaḥamma
- Recall: say the Arabic for to switch off, then the Arabic for to fill, then say istaḥamma again

Before you move on

What does استحم mean? ("To bathe, to have a shower".) Say it once more.

Chapter 161

To sneeze, To breathe, To break, To rest, To feel

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to sneeze, to breathe, to break, to rest and to feel.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 161: I can say to sneeze, to breathe, to break, to rest and to feel.

161.1 عطس (ᶜaṭasa) — to sneeze

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fill, then the Arabic for to bathe.

You'll want to know: عطس

عطس — ᶜaṭasa — "to sneeze".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عطس (ᶜaṭasa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-s, "to sneeze" (Lane). ᶜAṭasa is the plain verb, "he sneezed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṭasa
- Say it: ᶜaṭasa, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaṭasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fill, then the Arabic for to bathe, then say ᶜaṭasa again

Before you move on

What does عطس mean? ("To sneeze".) Say it once more.

161.2 تنفس (tanaffasa) — to breathe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bathe, then the Arabic for to sneeze.

You'll want to know: تنفس

تنفس — tanaffasa — "to breathe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنفس (tanaffasa) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-s, "breath; the soul" (Lane). Tanaffasa is Form V, "to draw breath".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tanaffasa
- Say it: tanaffasa, once more
- Say it: say tanaffasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bathe, then the Arabic for to sneeze, then say tanaffasa again

Before you move on

What does تنفس mean? ("To breathe".) Say it once more.

161.3 كسر (kasara) — to break

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sneeze, then the Arabic for to breathe.

You'll want to know: كسر

كسر — kasara — "to break".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كسر (kasara) is built on the native Arabic root k-s-r, "to break" (Lane). Kasara is the plain verb, "he broke".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kasara
- Say it: kasara, once more
- Say it: say kasara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sneeze, then the Arabic for to breathe, then say kasara again

Before you move on

What does كسر mean? ("To break".) Say it once more.

161.4 استراح (istarāḥa) — to rest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to breathe, then the Arabic for to break.

You'll want to know: استراح

استراح — istarāḥa — "to rest".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استراح (istarāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "rest; wind" (Lane). Istarāḥa is Form X, "to take one's rest".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istarāḥa
- Say it: istarāḥa, once more
- Say it: say istarāḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to breathe, then the Arabic for to break, then say istarāḥa again

Before you move on

What does استراح mean? ("To rest".) Say it once more.

161.5 أحس (aḥassa) — to feel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to break, then the Arabic for to rest.

You'll want to know: أحس

أحس — aḥassa — "to feel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أحس (aḥassa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-s, "to perceive" (Lane). Aḥassa is Form IV, "to perceive, to feel".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aḥassa
- Say it: aḥassa, once more
- Say it: say aḥassa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to break, then the Arabic for to rest, then say aḥassa again

Before you move on

What does أحس mean? ("To feel".) Say it once more.

Chapter 162

To print, To copy, To move, To register, To employ

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to print, to copy, to move, to register and to employ.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 162: I can say to print, to copy, to move, to register and to employ.

162.1 طبع (ṭabaᶜa) — to print

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to rest, then the Arabic for to feel.

You'll want to know: طبع

طبع — ṭabaᶜa — "to print".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبع (ṭabaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-ᶜ, "to seal, to stamp" (Lane). Ṭabaᶜa is to stamp, hence to print.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabaᶜa
- Say it: ṭabaᶜa, once more
- Say it: say ṭabaᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to rest, then the Arabic for to feel, then say ṭabaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does طبع mean? ("To print".) Say it once more.

162.2 نسخ (nasakha) — to copy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to feel, then the Arabic for to print.

You'll want to know: نسخ

نسخ — nasakha — "to copy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسخ (nasakha) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-kh, "to copy; to abrogate" (Lane). Nasakha is the plain verb, "he copied".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nasakha
- Say it: nasakha, once more
- Say it: say nasakha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to feel, then the Arabic for to print, then say nasakha again

Before you move on

What does نسخ mean? ("To copy".) Say it once more.

162.3 انتقل (intaqala) — to move (house)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to print, then the Arabic for to copy.

You'll want to know: انتقل

انتقل — intaqala — "to move (house)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتقل (intaqala) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-l, "to carry, to transfer" (Lane). Intaqala is Form VIII, "to move oneself".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: intaqala
- Say it: intaqala, once more
- Say it: say intaqala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to print, then the Arabic for to copy, then say intaqala again

Before you move on

What does انتقل mean? ("To move (house)".) Say it once more.

162.4 سجل (sajjala) — to register, to record

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to copy, then the Arabic for to move.

You'll want to know: سجل

سجل — sajjala — "to register, to record".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سجل (sajjala) is a Form II verb made from sijill, "a written record, a deed", which Lane lists under s-j-l. Sijill is usually traced to Greek sigillion, from Latin sigillum, "seal"; Lane gives no foreign source.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sajjala
- Say it: sajjala, once more
- Say it: say sajjala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to copy, then the Arabic for to move, then say sajjala again

Before you move on

What does سجل mean? ("To register, to record".) Say it once more.

162.5 وظف (waẓẓafa) — to employ, to hire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to move, then the Arabic for to register.

You'll want to know: وظف

وظف — waẓẓafa — "to employ, to hire".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وظف (waẓẓafa) is built on the native Arabic root w-ẓ-f, "a daily allowance" (Lane). Waẓẓafa is Form II, "to assign a fixed portion", hence "to employ".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waẓẓafa
- Say it: waẓẓafa, once more
- Say it: say waẓẓafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to move, then the Arabic for to register, then say waẓẓafa again

Before you move on

What does وظف mean? ("To employ, to hire".) Say it once more.

Chapter 163

To celebrate, To invite, To marry, To shake hands with, To hug

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to celebrate, to invite, to marry, to shake hands with and to hug.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 163: I can say to celebrate, to invite, to marry, to shake hands with and to hug.

163.1 احتفل (iḥtafala) — to celebrate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to register, then the Arabic for to employ.

You'll want to know: احتفل

احتفل — iḥtafala — "to celebrate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتفل (iḥtafala) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-l, "to gather, to fill" (Lane). Iḥtafala is Form VIII, "to gather for an occasion", to celebrate.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtafala
- Say it: iḥtafala, once more
- Say it: say iḥtafala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to register, then the Arabic for to employ, then say iḥtafala again

Before you move on

What does احتفل mean? ("To celebrate".) Say it once more.

163.2 دعا (da^{c}ā) — to invite

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to employ, then the Arabic for to celebrate.

You'll want to know: دعا

دعا — da^{c}ā — "to invite".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دعا (da^{c}ā) is built on the native Arabic root d-^{c}-w, "to call" (Lane). Da^{c}ā is the plain verb, "he called".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: da^{c}ā
- Say it: da^{c}ā, once more
- Say it: say da^{c}ā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to employ, then the Arabic for to celebrate, then say da^{c}ā again

Before you move on

What does دعا mean? ("To invite".) Say it once more.

163.3 تزوج (tazawwaja) — to marry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to celebrate, then the Arabic for to invite.

You'll want to know: تزوج

تزوج — tazawwaja — "to marry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تزوج (tazawwaja) is built on the root z-w-j, "one of a pair, a mate" (Lane). Tazawwaja is Form V, "to take a mate", built from zawj, which is usually traced through Aramaic to Greek zeugos, "yoke, pair" (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tazawwaja
- Say it: tazawwaja, once more
- Say it: say tazawwaja
- Recall: say the Arabic for to celebrate, then the Arabic for to invite, then say tazawwaja again

Before you move on

What does تزوج mean? ("To marry".) Say it once more.

163.4 صافح (ṣāfaḥa) — to shake hands with

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to invite, then the Arabic for to marry.

You'll want to know: صافح

صافح — ṣāfaḥa — "to shake hands with".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صافح (ṣāfaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-ḥ (Lane), whose ṣafḥ is the broad, flat side of a thing. Ṣāfaḥa is Form III, "to lay palm to palm".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣāfaḥa
- Say it: ṣāfaḥa, once more
- Say it: say ṣāfaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to invite, then the Arabic for to marry, then say ṣāfaḥa again

Before you move on

What does صافح mean? ("To shake hands with".) Say it once more.

163.5 عانق (ᶜānaqa) — to hug

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to marry, then the Arabic for to shake hands with.

You'll want to know: عانق

عانق — ᶜānaqa — "to hug".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عانق (ᶜānaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-q, "the neck" (Lane). ᶜĀnaqa is Form III, "to take by the neck", to embrace.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜānaqa
- Say it: ᶜānaqa, once more
- Say it: say ᶜānaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to marry, then the Arabic for to shake hands with, then say ᶜānaqa again

Before you move on

What does عانق mean? ("To hug".) Say it once more.

Chapter 164

To shout, To pray, To joke, To believe, To remember

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to shout, to pray, to joke, to believe and to remember.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 164: I can say to shout, to pray, to joke, to believe and to remember.

164.1 صرخ (ṣarakha) — to shout, to scream

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shake hands with, then the Arabic for to hug.

You'll want to know: صرخ

صرخ — ṣarakha — "to shout, to scream".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صرخ (ṣarakha) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-kh, "to cry out" (Lane). Ṣarakha is the plain verb, "he cried out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣarakha
- Say it: ṣarakha, once more
- Say it: say ṣarakha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shake hands with, then the Arabic for to hug, then say ṣarakha again

Before you move on

What does صرخ mean? ("To shout, to scream".) Say it once more.

164.2 صلى (ṣallā) — to pray

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hug, then the Arabic for to shout.

You'll want to know: صلى

صلى — ṣallā — "to pray".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صلى (ṣallā) is listed by Lane under ṣ-l-w. Many trace the Arabic words for prayer to Aramaic ṣlōthā, "prayer", and ṣallā is usually taken as built from that borrowed noun.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣallā
- Say it: ṣallā, once more
- Say it: say ṣallā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hug, then the Arabic for to shout, then say ṣallā again

Before you move on

What does صلى mean? ("To pray".) Say it once more.

164.3 مزح (mazaḥa) — to joke

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shout, then the Arabic for to pray.

You'll want to know: مزح

مزح — mazaḥa — "to joke".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزح (mazaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root m-z-ḥ, "to joke" (Lane). Mazaḥa is the plain verb, "he joked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mazaḥa
- Say it: mazaḥa, once more
- Say it: say mazaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shout, then the Arabic for to pray, then say mazaḥa again

Before you move on

What does مزح mean? ("To joke".) Say it once more.

164.4 اعتقد (iᶜtaqada) — to believe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pray, then the Arabic for to joke.

You'll want to know: اعتقد

اعتقد — i^{c}taqada — "to believe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتقد (i^{c}taqada) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-q-d, "to tie a knot" (Lane). I^{c}taqada is Form VIII, "to bind one's heart to a thing", to believe.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: i^{c}taqada
- Say it: i^{c}taqada, once more
- Say it: say i^{c}taqada
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pray, then the Arabic for to joke, then say i^{c}taqada again

Before you move on

What does اعتقد mean? ("To believe".) Say it once more.

164.5 تذكر (tadhakkara) — to remember

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to joke, then the Arabic for to believe.

You'll want to know: تذكر

تذكر — tadhakkara — "to remember".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تذكر (tadhakkara) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-r, "to remember" (Lane). Tadhakkara is Form V, "to call to mind".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tadhakkara
- Say it: tadhakkara, once more
- Say it: say tadhakkara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to joke, then the Arabic for to believe, then say tadhakkara again

Before you move on

What does تذكر mean? ("To remember".) Say it once more.

Chapter 165

To delete, To begin, To end, To continue, To finish

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to delete, to begin, to end, to continue and to finish.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 165: I can say to delete, to begin, to end, to continue and to finish.

165.1 حذف (ḥadhafa) — to delete

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to believe, then the Arabic for to remember.

You'll want to know: حذف

حذف — ḥadhafa — "to delete".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حذف (ḥadhafa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-dh-f, "to cut off, to drop" (Lane). Ḥadhafa is the plain verb, "he cut off".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥadhafa
- Say it: ḥadhafa, once more
- Say it: say ḥadhafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to believe, then the Arabic for to remember, then say ḥadhafa again

Before you move on

What does حذف mean? ("To delete".) Say it once more.

165.2 بدأ (badaʾa) — to begin, to start

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to remember, then the Arabic for to delete.

You'll want to know: بدأ

بدأ — badaʾa — "to begin, to start".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بدأ (badaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-ʾ, "to begin" (Lane). Badaʾa is the plain verb, "he began".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: badaʾa
- Say it: badaʾa, once more
- Say it: say badaʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to remember, then the Arabic for to delete, then say badaʾa again

Before you move on

What does بدأ mean? ("To begin, to start".) Say it once more.

165.3 انتهى (intahā) — to end, to finish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to delete, then the Arabic for to begin.

You'll want to know: انتهى

انتهى — intahā — "to end, to finish".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتهى (intahā) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-y, "to reach an end; to forbid" (Lane). Intahā is Form VIII, "to come to an end".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: intahā
- Say it: intahā, once more
- Say it: say intahā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to delete, then the Arabic for to begin, then say intahā again

Before you move on

What does انتهى mean? ("To end, to finish".) Say it once more.

165.4 استمر (istamarra) — to continue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to begin, then the Arabic for to end.

You'll want to know: استمر

استمر — istamarra — "to continue".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استمر (istamarra) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-r, "to pass, to go by" (Lane). Istamarra is Form X, "to keep on passing", to continue.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istamarra
- Say it: istamarra, once more
- Say it: say istamarra
- Recall: say the Arabic for to begin, then the Arabic for to end, then say istamarra again

Before you move on

What does استمر mean? ("To continue".) Say it once more.

165.5 أنهى (anhā) — to finish (something)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to end, then the Arabic for to continue.

You'll want to know: أنهى

أنهى — anhā — "to finish (something)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنهى (anhā) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-y, "to reach an end; to forbid" (Lane). Anhā is Form IV, "to bring to an end".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: anhā
- Say it: anhā, once more
- Say it: say anhā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to end, then the Arabic for to continue, then say anhā again

Before you move on

What does أنهى mean? ("To finish (something)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 166

To hunt, To build, To knock down, To paint, To hide

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to hunt, to build, to knock down, to paint and to hide.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 166: I can say to hunt, to build, to knock down, to paint and to hide.

166.1 صاد (ṣāda) — to hunt, to catch (fish)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to continue, then the Arabic for to finish.

You'll want to know: صاد

صاد — ṣāda — "to hunt, to catch (fish)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صاد (ṣāda) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-y-d, "to hunt" (Lane). Ṣāda is the plain verb, "he hunted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣāda
- Say it: ṣāda, once more
- Say it: say ṣāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for to continue, then the Arabic for to finish, then say ṣāda again

Before you move on

What does صاد mean? ("To hunt, to catch (fish)".) Say it once more.

166.2 بنى (banā) — to build

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to finish, then the Arabic for to hunt.

You'll want to know: بنى

بنى — banā — "to build".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بنى (banā) is built on the native Arabic root b-n-y, "to build" (Lane). Banā is the plain verb, "he built".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: banā
- Say it: banā, once more
- Say it: say banā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to finish, then the Arabic for to hunt, then say banā again

Before you move on

What does بنى mean? ("To build".) Say it once more.

166.3 هدم (hadama) — to knock down, to demolish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hunt, then the Arabic for to build.

You'll want to know: هدم

هدم — hadama — "to knock down, to demolish".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدم (hadama) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-m, "to pull down" (Lane). Hadama is the plain verb, "he pulled down".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hadama
- Say it: hadama, once more
- Say it: say hadama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hunt, then the Arabic for to build, then say hadama again

Before you move on

What does هدم mean? ("To knock down, to demolish".) Say it once more.

166.4 دهن (dahana) — to paint (a wall), to coat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to build, then the Arabic for to knock down.

You'll want to know: دهن

دهن — dahana — "to paint (a wall), to coat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دهن (dahana) is built on the native Arabic root d-h-n, "oil, grease; to anoint" (Lane). Dahana is "to smear with oil", hence to paint.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dahana
- Say it: dahana, once more
- Say it: say dahana
- Recall: say the Arabic for to build, then the Arabic for to knock down, then say dahana again

Before you move on

What does دهن mean? ("To paint (a wall), to coat".) Say it once more.

166.5 خبأ (khabbaʾa) — to hide (something)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to knock down, then the Arabic for to paint.

You'll want to know: خبأ

خبأ — khabbaʾa — "to hide (something)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خبأ (khabbaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-ʾ, "to hide" (Lane). Khabbaʾa is Form II, "to hide away".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khabbaʾa
- Say it: khabbaʾa, once more
- Say it: say khabbaʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to knock down, then the Arabic for to paint, then say khabbaʾa again

Before you move on

What does خبأ mean? ("To hide (something)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 167

To trip, To slip, To rescue, To escape, To disappear

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to trip, to slip, to rescue, to escape and to disappear.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 167: I can say to trip, to slip, to rescue, to escape and to disappear.

167.1 تعثر (ta^{c}aththara) — to trip, to stumble

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to paint, then the Arabic for to hide.

You'll want to know: تعثر

تعثر — ta^{c}aththara — "to trip, to stumble".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعثر (ta^{c}aththara) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-th-r, "to stumble" (Lane). Ta^{c}aththara is Form V, "to stumble".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}aththara
- Say it: ta^{c}aththara, once more
- Say it: say ta^{c}aththara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to paint, then the Arabic for to hide, then say ta^{c}aththara again

Before you move on

What does تعثر mean? ("To trip, to stumble".) Say it once more.

167.2 انزلق (inzalaqa) — to slip

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hide, then the Arabic for to trip.

You'll want to know: انزلق

انزلق — inzalaqa — "to slip".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انزلق (inzalaqa) is built on the native Arabic root z-l-q, "to slip" (Lane). Inzalaqa is Form VII, "to slip".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: inzalaqa
- Say it: inzalaqa, once more
- Say it: say inzalaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hide, then the Arabic for to trip, then say inzalaqa again

Before you move on

What does انزلق mean? ("To slip".) Say it once more.

167.3 أنقذ (anqadha) — to rescue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to trip, then the Arabic for to slip.

You'll want to know: أنقذ

أنقذ — anqadha — "to rescue".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنقذ (anqadha) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-dh, "to be saved, to escape" (Lane). Anqadha is Form IV, "to rescue".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: anqadha
- Say it: anqadha, once more
- Say it: say anqadha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to trip, then the Arabic for to slip, then say anqadha again

Before you move on

What does أنقذ mean? ("To rescue".) Say it once more.

167.4 هرب (haraba) — to escape, to run away

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to slip, then the Arabic for to rescue.

You'll want to know: هرب

هرب — haraba — "to escape, to run away".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هرب (haraba) is built on the native Arabic root h-r-b, "to flee" (Lane). Haraba is the plain verb, "he fled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: haraba
- Say it: haraba, once more
- Say it: say haraba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to slip, then the Arabic for to rescue, then say haraba again

Before you move on

What does هرب mean? ("To escape, to run away".) Say it once more.

167.5 اختفى (ikhtafā) — to disappear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to rescue, then the Arabic for to escape.

You'll want to know: اختفى

اختفى — ikhtafā — "to disappear".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختفى (ikhtafā) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-y, "to be hidden" (Lane). Ikhtafā is Form VIII, "to hide oneself".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtafā
- Say it: ikhtafā, once more
- Say it: say ikhtafā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to rescue, then the Arabic for to escape, then say ikhtafā again

Before you move on

What does اختفى mean? ("To disappear".) Say it once more.

167.6 Words from chapters 159-162 — a first pass

Say the words for to escape and to disappear.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to wake up, to go up, to arrive, to travel, to cross
- to taste, to pour, to switch off, to fill, to bathe
- to sneeze, to breathe, to break, to rest, to feel
- to print, to copy, to move, to register, to employ

Before you move on

To wake up? (استيقظ, istayqaẓa.) To go up? (صعد, ṣaᶜida.) To arrive? (وصل, waṣala.) To travel? (سافر, sāfara.) To cross? (عبر, ᶜabara.) To taste? (ذاق, dhāqa.) To pour? (صب, ṣabba.) To switch off? (أطفأ, aṭfaʾa.) To fill? (ملأ, malaʾa.) To bathe? (استحم, istaḥamma.) To sneeze? (عطس, ᶜaṭasa.) To breathe? (تنفس, tanaffasa.) To break? (كسر, kasara.) To rest? (استراح, istarāḥa.) To feel? (أحس, aḥassa.) To print? (طبع, ṭabaᶜa.) To copy? (نسخ, nasakha.) To move? (انتقل, intaqala.) To register? (سجل, sajjala.) To employ? (وظف, waẓẓafa.)

167.7 Words from chapters 163-167 — a second pass

Say the words for to celebrate and to invite.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to celebrate, to invite, to marry, to shake hands with, to hug
- to shout, to pray, to joke, to believe, to remember
- to delete, to begin, to end, to continue, to finish
- to hunt, to build, to knock down, to paint, to hide
- to trip, to slip, to rescue, to escape, to disappear

Before you move on

To celebrate? (احتفل, iḥtafala.) To invite? (دعا, daᶜā.) To marry? (تزوج, tazawwaja.) To shake hands with? (صافح, ṣāfaḥa.) To hug? (عانق, ᶜānaqa.) To shout? (صرخ, ṣarakha.) To pray? (صلى, ṣallā.) To joke? (مزح, mazaḥa.) To believe? (اعتقد, iᶜtaqada.) To remember? (تذكر, tadhakkara.) To delete? (حذف, ḥadhafa.) To begin? (بدأ, badaʾa.) To end? (انتهى, intahā.) To continue? (استمر, istamarra.) To finish? (أنهى, anhā.) To hunt? (صاد, ṣāda.) To build? (بنى, banā.) To knock down? (هدم, hadama.) To paint? (دهن, dahana.) To hide? (خبأ, khabbaʾa.) To trip? (تعثر, taᶜaththara.) To slip? (انزلق, inzalaqa.) To rescue? (أنقذ, anqadha.) To escape? (هرب, haraba.) To disappear? (اختفى, ikhtafā.)

Chapter 168

Arm, Body, Ankle, Throat, Headache

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an arm, the body, an ankle, the throat and a headache.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 168: I can say an arm, the body, an ankle, the throat and a headache.

168.1 ذراع (dhirāᶜ) — an arm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to escape, to run away, then the Arabic for to disappear.

You'll want to know: ذراع

ذراع — dhirāᶜ — "an arm".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذراع (dhirāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root dh-r-ᶜ, "the forearm; a cubit" (Lane). Hebrew zeroaᶜ, "arm", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhirā^c
- Say it: dhirā^c, once more
- Say it: say dhirā^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for to escape, to run away, then the Arabic for to disappear, then say dhirā^c again

Before you move on

What does ذراع mean? ("An arm".) Say it once more.

168.2 جسم (jism) — the body

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to disappear, then the Arabic for an arm.

You'll want to know: جسم

جسم — jism — "the body".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جسم (jism) is built on the native Arabic root j-s-m, "to be large of body" (Lane). Jism is the body.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jism
- Say it: jism, once more
- Say it: say jism
- Recall: say the Arabic for to disappear, then the Arabic for an arm, then say jism again

Before you move on

What does جسم mean? ("The body".) Say it once more.

168.3 كاحل (kāḥil) — an ankle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an arm, then the Arabic for the body.

You'll want to know: كاحل

كاحل — kāḥil — "an ankle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كاحل (kāḥil) has no entry in Lane. It shares its letters with k-ḥ-l, "to blacken the eyelids with kohl" (Lane), the root of kuḥl, "kohl", and of English alcohol, from al-kuḥl; how the ankle came by the word is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kāḥil
- Say it: kāḥil, once more
- Say it: say kāḥil
- Recall: say the Arabic for an arm, then the Arabic for the body, then say kāḥil again

Before you move on

What does كاحل mean? ("An ankle".) Say it once more.

168.4 حلق (ḥalq) — the throat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the body, then the Arabic for an ankle.

You'll want to know: حلق

حلق — ḥalq — "the throat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حلق (ḥalq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-q, "the throat; to shave" (Lane). Ḥalq is the throat.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥalq
- Say it: ḥalq, once more
- Say it: say ḥalq
- Recall: say the Arabic for the body, then the Arabic for an ankle, then say ḥalq again

Before you move on

What does حلق mean? ("The throat".) Say it once more.

168.5 صداع (ṣudāᶜ) — a headache

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ankle, then the Arabic for the throat.

You'll want to know: صداع

صداع — ṣudāᶜ — "a headache".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صداع (ṣudāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-ᶜ, "to split" (Lane). Ṣudāᶜ has the fuᶜāl shape of illness words, like suᶜāl, "a cough".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣudāᶜ
- Say it: ṣudāᶜ, once more
- Say it: say ṣudāᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ankle, then the Arabic for the throat, then say ṣudāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does صداع mean? ("A headache".) Say it once more.

Chapter 169

Mood, Exercise, Fitness, Injury, Pill

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a mood, an exercise, fitness, an injury and a pill.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 169: I can say a mood, an exercise, fitness, an injury and a pill.

169.1 مزاج (mizāj) — a mood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the throat, then the Arabic for a headache.

You'll want to know: مزاج

مزاج — mizāj — "a mood".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزاج (mizāj) is built on the native Arabic root m-z-j, "to mix" (Lane). Lane's mizāj is a mixture, the blend of humours that makes a temperament; "mood" grew from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mizāj
- Say it: mizāj, once more
- Say it: say mizāj
- Recall: say the Arabic for the throat, then the Arabic for a headache, then say mizāj again

Before you move on

What does مزاج mean? ("A mood".) Say it once more.

169.2 تمرين (tamrīn) — an exercise, a workout

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a headache, then the Arabic for a mood.

You'll want to know: تمرين

تمرين — tamrīn — "an exercise, a workout".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمرين (tamrīn) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-n, "to be supple, to be practised" (Lane). Tamrīn is the verbal noun of Form II, "training".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tamrīn
- Say it: tamrīn, once more
- Say it: say tamrīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a headache, then the Arabic for a mood, then say tamrīn again

Before you move on

What does تمرين mean? ("An exercise, a workout".) Say it once more.

169.3 لياقة (liyāqa) — fitness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mood, then the Arabic for an exercise.

You'll want to know: لياقة

لياقة — liyāqa — "fitness".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لياقة (liyāqa) is built on the native Arabic root l-y-q, "to befit, to suit" (Lane). Liyāqa is fitness.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: liyāqa
- Say it: liyāqa, once more
- Say it: say liyāqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mood, then the Arabic for an exercise, then say liyāqa again

Before you move on

What does لياقة mean? ("Fitness".) Say it once more.

169.4 إصابة (iṣāba) — an injury

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an exercise, then the Arabic for fitness.

You'll want to know: إصابة

إصابة — iṣāba — "an injury".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إصابة (iṣāba) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-b, "to hit the mark" (Lane). Iṣāba is the verbal noun of Form IV aṣāba, "to hit, to strike": a hit, hence "an injury".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣāba
- Say it: iṣāba, once more
- Say it: say iṣāba
- Recall: say the Arabic for an exercise, then the Arabic for fitness, then say iṣāba again

Before you move on

What does إصابة mean? ("An injury".) Say it once more.

169.5 حبة (ḥabba) — a pill, a tablet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fitness, then the Arabic for an injury.

You'll want to know: حبة

حبة — ḥabba — "a pill, a tablet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حبة (ḥabba) is one grain of ḥabb, "grain, seed", a native noun, filed under the root ḥ-b-b (Lane); a pill is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥabba
- Say it: ḥabba, once more
- Say it: say ḥabba
- Recall: say the Arabic for fitness, then the Arabic for an injury, then say ḥabba again

Before you move on

What does حبة mean? ("A pill, a tablet".) Say it once more.

Chapter 170

Early, Daily, Delay, Late, Never

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say early, daily, a delay, late and never.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 170: I can say early, daily, a delay, late and never.

170.1 مبكرا (mubakkiran) — early

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an injury, then the Arabic for a pill.

You'll want to know: مبكرا

مبكرا — mubakkiran — "early".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبكرا (mubakkiran) is built on the native Arabic root b-k-r, "to come early" (Lane). Mubakkiran is the Form II participle, "coming early", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mubakkiran
- Say it: mubakkiran, once more
- Say it: say mubakkiran
- Recall: say the Arabic for an injury, then the Arabic for a pill, then say mubakkiran again

Before you move on

What does مبكرا mean? ("Early".) Say it once more.

170.2 يوميا (yawmiyyan) — daily, every day

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pill, then the Arabic for early.

You'll want to know: يوميا

يوميا — yawmiyyan — "daily, every day".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يوميا (yawmiyyan) is built on the native Arabic root y-w-m, "a day" (Lane). Yawmiyyan is yawm, "day", with the adjective ending -ī and the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: yawmiyyan
- Say it: yawmiyyan, once more
- Say it: say yawmiyyan
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pill, then the Arabic for early, then say yawmiyyan again

Before you move on

What does يوميا mean? ("Daily, every day".) Say it once more.

170.3 تأخير (taʾkhīr) — a delay

Before the new one: say the Arabic for early, then the Arabic for daily.

You'll want to know: تأخير

تأخير — taʾkhīr — "a delay".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأخير (taʾkhīr) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-kh-r, "to come after, to be late" (Lane). Taʾkhīr is the verbal noun of Form II, "putting off".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾkhīr
- Say it: taʾkhīr, once more
- Say it: say taʾkhīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for early, then the Arabic for daily, then say taʾkhīr again

Before you move on

What does تأخير mean? ("A delay".) Say it once more.

170.4 متأخرا (mutaʾakhkhiran) — late

Before the new one: say the Arabic for daily, then the Arabic for a delay.

You'll want to know: متأخرا

متأخرا — muta'akhkhiran — "late".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متأخرا (muta'akhkhiran) is built on the native Arabic root '-kh-r, "to come after, to be late" (Lane). Muta'akhkhiran is the Form V participle, "lagging behind", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muta'akhkhiran
- Say it: muta'akhkhiran, once more
- Say it: say muta'akhkhiran
- Recall: say the Arabic for daily, then the Arabic for a delay, then say muta'akhkhiran again

Before you move on

What does متأخرا mean? ("Late".) Say it once more.

170.5 أبدا (abadan) — never, ever

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a delay, then the Arabic for late.

You'll want to know: أبدا

أبدا — abadan — "never, ever".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أبدا (abadan) is built on the native Arabic root '-b-d, "to stay for ever" (Lane). Abadan is abad, "endless time", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: abadan
- Say it: abadan, once more
- Say it: say abadan
- Recall: say the Arabic for a delay, then the Arabic for late, then say abadan again

Before you move on

What does أبدا mean? ("Never, ever".) Say it once more.

Chapter 171

Future, Period, Beginning, Rarely, Often

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the future, a period, a beginning, rarely and often.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 171: I can say the future, a period, a beginning, rarely and often.

171.1 مستقبل (mustaqbal) — the future

Before the new one: say the Arabic for late, then the Arabic for never.

You'll want to know: مستقبل

مستقبل — mustaqbal — "the future".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستقبل (mustaqbal) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to face, to receive" (Lane). Mustaqbal is the Form X passive participle, "what is faced, what is met": the future.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mustaqbal
- Say it: mustaqbal, once more
- Say it: say mustaqbal
- Recall: say the Arabic for late, then the Arabic for never, then say mustaqbal again

Before you move on

What does مستقبل mean? ("The future".) Say it once more.

171.2 مدة (mudda) — a period, a duration

Before the new one: say the Arabic for never, then the Arabic for the future.

You'll want to know: مدة

مدة — mudda — "a period, a duration".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدة (mudda) is built on the native Arabic root m-d-d, "to stretch" (Lane). Mudda is a stretch of time.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mudda
- Say it: mudda, once more
- Say it: say mudda
- Recall: say the Arabic for never, then the Arabic for the future, then say mudda again

Before you move on

What does مدة mean? ("A period, a duration".) Say it once more.

171.3 بداية (bidāya) — a beginning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the future, then the Arabic for a period.

You'll want to know: بداية

بداية — bidāya — "a beginning".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بداية (bidāya) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-ʾ, "to begin" (Lane). Bidāya is "a beginning".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bidāya
- Say it: bidāya, once more
- Say it: say bidāya
- Recall: say the Arabic for the future, then the Arabic for a period, then say bidāya again

Before you move on

What does بداية mean? ("A beginning".) Say it once more.

171.4 نادرا (nādiran) — rarely

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a period, then the Arabic for a beginning.

You'll want to know: نادرا

نادرا — nādiran — "rarely".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نادرا (nādiran) is built on the native Arabic root n-d-r, "to be rare, to drop out" (Lane). Nādiran is nādir, "rare", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nādiran
- Say it: nādiran, once more
- Say it: say nādiran
- Recall: say the Arabic for a period, then the Arabic for a beginning, then say nādiran again

Before you move on

What does نادرا mean? ("Rarely".) Say it once more.

171.5 كثيرا (kathīran) — often, a lot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a beginning, then the Arabic for rarely.

You'll want to know: كثيرا

كثيرا — kathīran — "often, a lot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كثيرا (kathīran) is built on the native Arabic root k-th-r, "to be many" (Lane). Kathīran is kathīr, "much", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kathīran
- Say it: kathīran, once more
- Say it: say kathīran
- Recall: say the Arabic for a beginning, then the Arabic for rarely, then say kathīran again

Before you move on

What does كثيرا mean? ("Often, a lot".) Say it once more.

Chapter 172

Living room, Bakery, Café, Direction, Opposite

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a living room, a bakery, a café, a direction and opposite.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 172: I can say a living room, a bakery, a café, a direction and opposite.

172.1 صالة (ṣāla) — a living room, a hall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rarely, then the Arabic for often.

You'll want to know: صالة

صالة — ṣāla — "a living room, a hall".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صالة (ṣāla) is usually traced to Italian sala, "hall" (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣāla
- Say it: ṣāla, once more
- Say it: say ṣāla
- Recall: say the Arabic for rarely, then the Arabic for often, then say ṣāla again

Before you move on

What does صالة mean? ("A living room, a hall".) Say it once more.

172.2 مخبز (makhbaz) — a bakery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for often, then the Arabic for a living room.

You'll want to know: مخبز

مخبز — makhbaz — "a bakery".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخبز (makhbaz) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-z, "to bake bread" (Lane). Makhbaz is the ma- place noun, "a place of baking".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: makhbaz
- Say it: makhbaz, once more
- Say it: say makhbaz
- Recall: say the Arabic for often, then the Arabic for a living room, then say makhbaz again

Before you move on

What does مخبز mean? ("A bakery".) Say it once more.

172.3 مقهى (maqhā) — a café

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a living room, then the Arabic for a bakery.

You'll want to know: مقهى

مقهى — maqhā — "a café".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقهى (maqhā) is a place noun made from qahwa, "coffee". In Lane qahwa is an old word for wine, and he notes that coffee is now called by it; his lexicon has no article on q-h-w itself.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maqhā
- Say it: maqhā, once more
- Say it: say maqhā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a living room, then the Arabic for a bakery, then say maqhā again

Before you move on

What does مقهى mean? ("A café".) Say it once more.

172.4 اتجاه (ittijāh) — a direction

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bakery, then the Arabic for a café.

You'll want to know: اتجاه

اتجاه — ittijāh — "a direction".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتجاه (ittijāh) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-h, "the face; to face toward" (Lane). Ittijāh is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "facing toward".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ittijāh
- Say it: ittijāh, once more
- Say it: say ittijāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bakery, then the Arabic for a café, then say ittijāh again

Before you move on

What does اتجاه mean? ("A direction".) Say it once more.

172.5 مقابل (muqābil) — opposite

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a café, then the Arabic for a direction.

You'll want to know: مقابل

مقابل — muqābil — "opposite".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقابل (muqābil) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to face" (Lane). Muqābil is the Form III participle, "facing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muqābil
- Say it: muqābil, once more
- Say it: say muqābil
- Recall: say the Arabic for a café, then the Arabic for a direction, then say muqābil again

Before you move on

What does مقابل mean? ("Opposite".) Say it once more.

Chapter 173

Orchard, Tent, Car park, Continent, Volcano

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an orchard, a tent, a car park, a continent and a volcano.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 173: I can say an orchard, a tent, a car park, a continent and a volcano.

173.1 بستان (bustān) — an orchard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a direction, then the Arabic for opposite.

You'll want to know: بستان

بستان — bustān — "an orchard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بستان (bustān) is a loan: Lane's sources argued over it, some calling it Arabic and some Greek, but Lane concludes it is arabicized from Persian būstān, "garden".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bustān
- Say it: bustān, once more
- Say it: say bustān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a direction, then the Arabic for opposite, then say bustān again

Before you move on

What does بستان mean? ("An orchard".) Say it once more.

173.2 خيمة (khayma) — a tent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for opposite, then the Arabic for an orchard.

You'll want to know: خيمة

خيمة — khayma — "a tent".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خيمة (khayma), "a tent", is an old native noun, filed under the root kh-y-m (Lane). Lane's khayma is a tent or booth.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khayma
- Say it: khayma, once more
- Say it: say khayma
- Recall: say the Arabic for opposite, then the Arabic for an orchard, then say khayma again

Before you move on

What does خيمة mean? ("A tent".) Say it once more.

173.3 موقف (mawqif) — a car park; a stop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an orchard, then the Arabic for a tent.

You'll want to know: موقف

موقف — mawqif — "a car park; a stop".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موقف (mawqif) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-f, "to stand still, to stop" (Lane). Mawqif is the ma- place noun, "a place of stopping".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawqif
- Say it: mawqif, once more
- Say it: say mawqif
- Recall: say the Arabic for an orchard, then the Arabic for a tent, then say mawqif again

Before you move on

What does موقف mean? ("A car park; a stop".) Say it once more.

173.4 قارة (qārra) — a continent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tent, then the Arabic for a car park; a stop.

You'll want to know: قارة

قارة — qārra — "a continent".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قارة (qārra) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). Qārra is the feminine active participle, "settled, firm"; the continent, the firm land, is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qārra
- Say it: qārra, once more
- Say it: say qārra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tent, then the Arabic for a car park; a stop, then say qārra again

Before you move on

What does قارة mean? ("A continent".) Say it once more.

173.5 بركان (burkān) — a volcano

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a car park; a stop, then the Arabic for a continent.

You'll want to know: بركان

بركان — burkān — "a volcano".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بركان (burkān) is usually traced to Italian vulcano, in its Sicilian form vurcanu (EtymDB), named after Vulcan, the Roman god of fire.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: burkān
- Say it: burkān, once more
- Say it: say burkān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a car park; a stop, then the Arabic for a continent, then say burkān again

Before you move on

What does بركان mean? ("A volcano".) Say it once more.

Chapter 174

Reason, Result, Therefore, So, So that

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a reason, a result, therefore, so and so that.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 174: I can say a reason, a result, therefore, so and so that.

174.1 سبب (sabab) — a reason, a cause

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a continent, then the Arabic for a volcano.

You'll want to know: سبب

سبب — sabab — "a reason, a cause".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سبب (sabab) is a native noun, filed under the root s-b-b (Lane). Lane's sabab is a rope by which one reaches a thing, hence a means, a cause.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sabab
- Say it: sabab, once more
- Say it: say sabab
- Recall: say the Arabic for a continent, then the Arabic for a volcano, then say sabab again

Before you move on

What does سبب mean? ("A reason, a cause".) Say it once more.

174.2 نتيجة (natīja) — a result

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a volcano, then the Arabic for a reason.

You'll want to know: نتيجة

نتيجة — natīja — "a result".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نتيجة (natīja) is built on the native Arabic root n-t-j, "to bring forth young" (Lane). Natīja is the offspring of a thing: a result.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: natīja
- Say it: natīja, once more
- Say it: say natīja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a volcano, then the Arabic for a reason, then say natīja again

Before you move on

What does نتيجة mean? ("A result".) Say it once more.

174.3 لذلك (li-dhālika) — therefore, so

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a reason, then the Arabic for a result.

You'll want to know: لذلك

لذلك — li-dhālika — "therefore, so".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لذلك (li-dhālika) is built from li-, "for", and dhālika, "that": "for that", hence "therefore".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: li-dhālika
- Say it: li-dhālika, once more
- Say it: say li-dhālika
- Recall: say the Arabic for a reason, then the Arabic for a result, then say li-dhālika again

Before you move on

What does لذلك mean? ("Therefore, so".) Say it once more.

174.4 إذن (idhan) — so, then

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a result, then the Arabic for therefore.

You'll want to know: إذن

إذن — idhan — "so, then".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إذن (idhan) is an old particle of consequence, "then, in that case". It is not built on a three-letter root, and its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: idhan
- Say it: idhan, once more
- Say it: say idhan
- Recall: say the Arabic for a result, then the Arabic for therefore, then say idhan again

Before you move on

What does إذن mean? ("So, then".) Say it once more.

174.5 كي (kay) — so that, in order to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for therefore, then the Arabic for so.

You'll want to know: كي

كي — kay — "so that, in order to".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كي (kay) is an old particle of purpose, "so that". It is not built on a three-letter root, and its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kay
- Say it: kay, once more
- Say it: say kay
- Recall: say the Arabic for therefore, then the Arabic for so, then say kay again

Before you move on

What does كي mean? ("So that, in order to".) Say it once more.

Chapter 175

Friendship, Society, Hospitality, Despite, Also

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say friendship, society, hospitality, despite and also.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 175: I can say friendship, society, hospitality, despite and also.

175.1 صداقة (ṣadāqa) — friendship

Before the new one: say the Arabic for so, then the Arabic for so that.

You'll want to know: صداقة

صداقة — ṣadāqa — "friendship".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صداقة (ṣadāqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-q, "to be truthful, sincere" (Lane). Ṣadāqa is friendship, sincere affection.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣadāqa
- Say it: ṣadāqa, once more
- Say it: say ṣadāqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for so, then the Arabic for so that, then say ṣadāqa again

Before you move on

What does صداقة mean? ("Friendship".) Say it once more.

175.2 مجتمع (mujtamaᶜ) — society

Before the new one: say the Arabic for so that, then the Arabic for friendship.

You'll want to know: مجتمع

مجتمع — mujtamaᶜ — "society".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجتمع (mujtamaᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-ᶜ, "to gather" (Lane). Mujtamaᶜ is the Form VIII noun of place, "where people gather".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mujtamaᶜ
- Say it: mujtamaᶜ, once more
- Say it: say mujtamaᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for so that, then the Arabic for friendship, then say mujtamaᶜ again

Before you move on

What does مجتمع mean? ("Society".) Say it once more.

175.3 ضيافة (ḍiyāfa) — hospitality

Before the new one: say the Arabic for friendship, then the Arabic for society.

You'll want to know: ضيافة

ضيافة — ḍiyāfa — "hospitality".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضيافة (ḍiyāfa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-f, "to lodge as a guest" (Lane). The word ḍiyāfa is the receiving of guests.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍiyāfa
- Say it: ḍiyāfa, once more
- Say it: say ḍiyāfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for friendship, then the Arabic for society, then say ḍiyāfa again

Before you move on

What does ضيافة mean? ("Hospitality".) Say it once more.

175.4 رغم (raghma) — despite, in spite of

Before the new one: say the Arabic for society, then the Arabic for hospitality.

You'll want to know: رغم

رغم — raghma — "despite, in spite of".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رغم (raghma) is built on the native Arabic root r-gh-m, "dust; to be abased" (Lane). Lane's raghm is the nose cleaving to the dust, abasement; raghma, "despite", grew from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raghma
- Say it: raghma, once more
- Say it: say raghma
- Recall: say the Arabic for society, then the Arabic for hospitality, then say raghma again

Before you move on

What does رغم mean? ("Despite, in spite of".) Say it once more.

175.5 أيضا (ayḍan) — also, too

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hospitality, then the Arabic for despite.

You'll want to know: أيضا

أيضا — ayḍan — "also, too".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أيضا (ayḍan) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-y-ḍ, "to return" (Lane). Ayḍan is ayḍ, "returning", with the adverb ending -an: "once more", hence "also".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ayḍan
- Say it: ayḍan, once more
- Say it: say ayḍan
- Recall: say the Arabic for hospitality, then the Arabic for despite, then say ayḍan again

Before you move on

What does أيضا mean? ("Also, too".) Say it once more.

Chapter 176

Then, While, More, Less, Difference

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say then, while, more, less and a difference.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 176: I can say then, while, more, less and a difference.

176.1 ثم (thumma) — then, next

Before the new one: say the Arabic for despite, then the Arabic for also.

You'll want to know: ثم

ثم — thumma — "then, next".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثم (thumma) is an old conjunction of sequence. It is not built on a three-letter root; it is usually set beside thamma, "there", and its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thumma
- Say it: thumma, once more
- Say it: say thumma
- Recall: say the Arabic for despite, then the Arabic for also, then say thumma again

Before you move on

What does ثم mean? ("Then, next".) Say it once more.

176.2 بينما (baynamā) — while, whereas

Before the new one: say the Arabic for also, then the Arabic for then.

You'll want to know: بينما

بينما — baynamā — "while, whereas".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بينما (baynamā) is built from bayna, "between", from the root b-y-n (Lane), and mā, "what": "in the interval in which", hence "while".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baynamā
- Say it: baynamā, once more
- Say it: say baynamā
- Recall: say the Arabic for also, then the Arabic for then, then say baynamā again

Before you move on

What does بينما mean? ("While, whereas".) Say it once more.

176.3 أكثر (akthar) — more

Before the new one: say the Arabic for then, then the Arabic for while.

You'll want to know: أكثر

أكثر — akthar — "more".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أكثر (akthar) is built on the native Arabic root k-th-r, "to be many" (Lane). Akthar is the af^{c}al comparative, "more".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: akthar
- Say it: akthar, once more
- Say it: say akthar
- Recall: say the Arabic for then, then the Arabic for while, then say akthar again

Before you move on

What does أكثر mean? ("More".) Say it once more.

176.4 أقل (aqall) — less

Before the new one: say the Arabic for while, then the Arabic for more.

You'll want to know: أقل

أقل — aqall — "less".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقل (aqall) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-l, "to be few, to be little" (Lane). Aqall is the af^{c}al comparative, "less".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aqall
- Say it: aqall, once more
- Say it: say aqall
- Recall: say the Arabic for while, then the Arabic for more, then say aqall again

Before you move on

What does أقل mean? ("Less".) Say it once more.

176.5 فرق (farq) — a difference

Before the new one: say the Arabic for more, then the Arabic for less.

You'll want to know: فرق

فرق — farq — "a difference".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرق (farq) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-q, "to separate, to divide" (Lane). Farq is the verbal noun, "a separating", hence "a difference".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: farq
- Say it: farq, once more
- Say it: say farq
- Recall: say the Arabic for more, then the Arabic for less, then say farq again

Before you move on

What does فرق mean? ("A difference".) Say it once more.

176.6 Words from chapters 168-171 — a first pass

Say the words for less and a difference.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an arm, the body, an ankle, the throat, a headache
- a mood, an exercise, fitness, an injury, a pill
- early, daily, a delay, late, never
- the future, a period, a beginning, rarely, often

Before you move on

An arm? (ذراع, dhirāᶜ.) The body? (جسم, jism.) An ankle? (كاحل, kāḥil.) The throat? (حلق, ḥalq.) A headache? (صداع, ṣudāᶜ.) A mood? (مزاج, mizāj.) An exercise? (تمرين, tamrīn.) Fitness? (لياقة, liyāqa.) An injury? (إصابة, iṣāba.) A pill? (حبة, ḥabba.) Early? (مبكرا, mubakkiran.) Daily? (يوميا, yawmiyyan.) A delay? (تأخير, taʾkhīr.) Late? (متأخرا, mutaʾakhkhiran.) Never? (أبدا, abadan.) The future? (مستقبل, mustaqbal.) A period? (مدة, mudda.) A beginning? (بداية, bidāya.) Rarely? (نادرا, nādiran.) Often? (كثيرا, kathīran.)

176.7 Words from chapters 172-176 — a second pass

Say the words for a living room and a bakery.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a living room, a bakery, a café, a direction, opposite
- an orchard, a tent, a car park; a stop, a continent, a volcano
- a reason, a result, therefore, so, so that
- friendship, society, hospitality, despite, also
- then, while, more, less, a difference

Before you move on

A living room? (صالة, ṣāla.) A bakery? (مخبز, makhbaz.) A café? (مقهى, maqhā.) A direction? (اتجاه, ittijāh.) Opposite? (مقابل, muqābil.) An orchard? (بستان, bustān.) A tent? (خيمة, khayma.) A car park; a stop? (موقف, mawqif.) A continent? (قارة, qārra.) A volcano? (بركان, burkān.) A reason? (سبب, sabab.) A result? (نتيجة, natīja.) Therefore? (لذلك, li-dhālika.) So? (إذن, idhan.) So that? (كي, kay.) Friendship? (صداقة, ṣadāqa.) Society? (مجتمع, mujtamaᶜ.) Hospitality? (ضيافة, ḍiyāfa.) Despite? (رغم, raghma.) Also? (أيضا, ayḍan.) Then? (ثم, thumma.) While? (بينما, baynamā.) More? (أكثر, akthar.) Less? (أقل, aqall.) A difference? (فرق, farq.)

Chapter 177

Expensive, Free, Raw, Cooked, Fried

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say expensive, free, raw, cooked and fried.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 177: I can say expensive, free, raw, cooked and fried.

177.1 مكلف (mukallif) — expensive, costly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for less, then the Arabic for a difference.

You'll want to know: مكلف

مكلف — mukallif — "expensive, costly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكلف (mukallif) is built on the native Arabic root k-l-f, "to impose a burden" (Lane). Mukallif is the Form II participle, "laying a burden on", hence "costly".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mukallif
- Say it: mukallif, once more
- Say it: say mukallif
- Recall: say the Arabic for less, then the Arabic for a difference, then say mukallif again

Before you move on

What does مكلف mean? ("Expensive, costly".) Say it once more.

177.2 مجاني (majjānī) — free (of charge)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a difference, then the Arabic for expensive.

You'll want to know: مجاني

مجاني — majjānī — "free (of charge)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجاني (majjānī) is built on the native Arabic root m-j-n, "to care nothing for what one does or hears" (Lane). Lane's majjān is the gift of a thing without price; majjānī adds the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: majjānī
- Say it: majjānī, once more
- Say it: say majjānī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a difference, then the Arabic for expensive, then say majjānī again

Before you move on

What does مجاني mean? ("Free (of charge)".) Say it once more.

177.3 نيء (nayʾ) — raw

Before the new one: say the Arabic for expensive, then the Arabic for free.

You'll want to know: نيء

نيء — nayʾ — "raw".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نيء (nayʾ) is built on the native Arabic root n-y-ʾ, "to be raw, uncooked" (Lane). Nayʾ is "raw".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nayʾ
- Say it: nayʾ, once more
- Say it: say nayʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for expensive, then the Arabic for free, then say nayʾ again

Before you move on

What does نيء mean? ("Raw".) Say it once more.

177.4 مطبوخ (maṭbūkh) — cooked

Before the new one: say the Arabic for free, then the Arabic for raw.

You'll want to know: مطبوخ

مطبوخ — maṭbūkh — "cooked".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مطبوخ (maṭbūkh) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-kh, "to cook" (Lane). Maṭbūkh is the passive participle, "cooked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maṭbūkh
- Say it: maṭbūkh, once more
- Say it: say maṭbūkh
- Recall: say the Arabic for free, then the Arabic for raw, then say maṭbūkh again

Before you move on

What does مطبوخ mean? ("Cooked".) Say it once more.

177.5 مقلي (maqlī) — fried

Before the new one: say the Arabic for raw, then the Arabic for cooked.

You'll want to know: مقلي

مقلي — maqlī — "fried".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقلي (maqlī) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-y, "to fry" (Lane). Maqlī is the passive participle, "fried".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maqlī
- Say it: maqlī, once more
- Say it: say maqlī
- Recall: say the Arabic for raw, then the Arabic for cooked, then say maqlī again

Before you move on

What does مقلي mean? ("Fried".) Say it once more.

Chapter 178

Official, Private, In a hurry, Clear, Hard-working

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say official, private, in a hurry, clear and hard-working.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 178: I can say official, private, in a hurry, clear and hard-working.

178.1 رسمي (rasmī) — official

> Before the new one: say the Arabic for cooked, then the Arabic for fried.

You'll want to know: رسمي

رسمي — rasmī — "official".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسمي (rasmī) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-m, "a trace, a mark" (Lane). Rasmī is rasm, "a mark, a prescribed form", with the adjective ending -ī; "official" is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rasmī
- Say it: rasmī, once more
- Say it: say rasmī
- Recall: say the Arabic for cooked, then the Arabic for fried, then say rasmī again

Before you move on

What does رسمي mean? ("Official".) Say it once more.

178.2 خاص (khāṣṣ) — private, special

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fried, then the Arabic for official.

You'll want to know: خاص

خاص — khāṣṣ — "private, special".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خاص (khāṣṣ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-ṣ, "to single out, to distinguish" (Lane). Khāṣṣ is the active participle, "singling out", hence "special, private".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khāṣṣ
- Say it: khāṣṣ, once more
- Say it: say khāṣṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for fried, then the Arabic for official, then say khāṣṣ again

Before you move on

What does خاص mean? ("Private, special".) Say it once more.

178.3 مستعجل (musta^{c}jil) — in a hurry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for official, then the Arabic for private.

You'll want to know: مستعجل

مستعجل — musta^{c}jil — "in a hurry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستعجل (musta^{c}jil) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-j-l, "to hasten" (Lane). Musta^{c}jil is the Form X participle, "seeking haste".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: musta^{c}jil
- Say it: musta^{c}jil, once more
- Say it: say musta^{c}jil
- Recall: say the Arabic for official, then the Arabic for private, then say musta^{c}jil again

Before you move on

What does مستعجل mean? ("In a hurry".) Say it once more.

178.4 واضح (wāḍiḥ) — clear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for private, then the Arabic for in a hurry.

You'll want to know: واضح

واضح — wāḍiḥ — "clear".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واضح (wāḍiḥ) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-ḥ, "to be clear, to be plain" (Lane). Wāḍiḥ is the active participle, "clear".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wāḍiḥ
- Say it: wāḍiḥ, once more
- Say it: say wāḍiḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for private, then the Arabic for in a hurry, then say wāḍiḥ again

Before you move on

What does واضح mean? ("Clear".) Say it once more.

178.5 مجتهد (mujtahid) — hard-working

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in a hurry, then the Arabic for clear.

You'll want to know: مجتهد

مجتهد — mujtahid — "hard-working".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجتهد (mujtahid) is built on the native Arabic root j-h-d, "to strive, to exert oneself" (Lane). Mujtahid is the Form VIII participle, "one who exerts himself".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mujtahid
- Say it: mujtahid, once more
- Say it: say mujtahid
- Recall: say the Arabic for in a hurry, then the Arabic for clear, then say mujtahid again

Before you move on

What does مجتهد mean? ("Hard-working".) Say it once more.

Chapter 179

Grey, Golden, Thick, Humid, Rainy

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say grey, golden, thick, humid and rainy.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 179: I can say grey, golden, thick, humid and rainy.

179.1 رمادي (ramādī) — grey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for clear, then the Arabic for hard-working.

You'll want to know: رمادي

رمادي — ramādī — "grey".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمادي (ramādī) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-d, "ashes" (Lane). Ramādī is ramād, "ashes", with the adjective ending -ī: "ash-coloured".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ramādī
- Say it: ramādī, once more
- Say it: say ramādī
- Recall: say the Arabic for clear, then the Arabic for hard-working, then say ramādī again

Before you move on

What does رمادي mean? ("Grey".) Say it once more.

179.2 ذهبي (dhahabī) — golden

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hard-working, then the Arabic for grey.

You'll want to know: ذهبي

ذهبي — dhahabī — "golden".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذهبي (dhahabī) is built on the native Arabic root dh-h-b, "to go; gold" (Lane). Dhahabī is dhahab, "gold", with the adjective ending -ī; Lane lists gold under the same root as dhahaba, "to go".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhahabī
- Say it: dhahabī, once more
- Say it: say dhahabī
- Recall: say the Arabic for hard-working, then the Arabic for grey, then say dhahabī again

Before you move on

What does ذهبي mean? ("Golden".) Say it once more.

179.3 سميك (samīk) — thick

Before the new one: say the Arabic for grey, then the Arabic for golden.

You'll want to know: سميك

سميك — samīk — "thick".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سميك (samīk) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-k, "to be high, to be thick" (Lane). Samīk is the faᶜīl adjective, "thick".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: samīk
- Say it: samīk, once more
- Say it: say samīk
- Recall: say the Arabic for grey, then the Arabic for golden, then say samīk again

Before you move on

What does سميك mean? ("Thick".) Say it once more.

179.4 رطب (raṭb) — humid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for golden, then the Arabic for thick.

You'll want to know: رطب

رطب — raṭb — "humid".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رطب (raṭb) is built on the native Arabic root r-ṭ-b, "to be moist" (Lane). Lane's raṭb is moist, fresh and juicy.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raṭb
- Say it: raṭb, once more
- Say it: say raṭb
- Recall: say the Arabic for golden, then the Arabic for thick, then say raṭb again

Before you move on

What does رطب mean? ("Humid".) Say it once more.

179.5 ممطر (mumṭir) — rainy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for thick, then the Arabic for humid.

You'll want to know: ممطر

ممطر — mumṭir — "rainy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممطر (mumṭir) is built on the native Arabic root m-ṭ-r, "rain; to rain" (Lane). Mumṭir is the Form IV participle, "raining".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mumṭir
- Say it: mumṭir, once more
- Say it: say mumṭir
- Recall: say the Arabic for thick, then the Arabic for humid, then say mumṭir again

Before you move on

What does ممطر mean? ("Rainy".) Say it once more.

Chapter 180

Injured, Rural, Traditional, Foreign, Flat

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say injured, rural, traditional, foreign and flat.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 180: I can say injured, rural, traditional, foreign and flat.

180.1 مصاب (muṣāb) — injured

Before the new one: say the Arabic for humid, then the Arabic for rainy.

You'll want to know: مصاب

مصاب — muṣāb — "injured".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصاب (muṣāb) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-b, "to hit the mark" (Lane). Muṣāb is the Form IV passive participle, "struck, hit", hence "injured".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muṣāb
- Say it: muṣāb, once more
- Say it: say muṣāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for humid, then the Arabic for rainy, then say muṣāb again

Before you move on

What does مصاب mean? ("Injured".) Say it once more.

180.2 ريفي (rīfī) — rural, country

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rainy, then the Arabic for injured.

You'll want to know: ريفي

ريفي — rīfī — "rural, country".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ريفي (rīfī) is built on the native Arabic root r-y-f, "cultivated land by water" (Lane). Rīfī is rīf, "the countryside", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rīfī
- Say it: rīfī, once more
- Say it: say rīfī
- Recall: say the Arabic for rainy, then the Arabic for injured, then say rīfī again

Before you move on

What does ريفي mean? ("Rural, country".) Say it once more.

180.3 تقليدي (taqlīdī) — traditional

Before the new one: say the Arabic for injured, then the Arabic for rural.

You'll want to know: تقليدي

تقليدي — taqlīdī — "traditional".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقليدي (taqlīdī) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-d, "to hang on the neck; to follow another" (Lane). Taqlīdī is taqlīd, "following another's lead, tradition", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taqlīdī
- Say it: taqlīdī, once more
- Say it: say taqlīdī
- Recall: say the Arabic for injured, then the Arabic for rural, then say taqlīdī again

Before you move on

What does تقليدي mean? ("Traditional".) Say it once more.

180.4 أجنبي (ajnabī) — foreign

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rural, then the Arabic for traditional.

You'll want to know: أجنبي

أجنبي — ajnabī — "foreign".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أجنبي (ajnabī) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-b, "the side; to put aside" (Lane). Ajnabī is "one at the side", hence "a stranger, foreign".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ajnabī
- Say it: ajnabī, once more
- Say it: say ajnabī
- Recall: say the Arabic for rural, then the Arabic for traditional, then say ajnabī again

Before you move on

What does أجنبي mean? ("Foreign".) Say it once more.

180.5 مسطح (musaṭṭaḥ) — flat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for traditional, then the Arabic for foreign.

You'll want to know: مسطح

مسطح — musaṭṭaḥ — "flat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسطح (musaṭṭaḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-ṭ-ḥ, "to spread out flat" (Lane). Musaṭṭaḥ is the Form II passive participle, "made flat".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: musaṭṭaḥ
- Say it: musaṭṭaḥ, once more
- Say it: say musaṭṭaḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for traditional, then the Arabic for foreign, then say musaṭṭaḥ again

Before you move on

What does مسطح mean? ("Flat".) Say it once more.

Chapter 181

Washing machine, Air conditioner, Tin, Sink, Shelf

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a washing machine, an air conditioner, a tin, a sink and a shelf.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 181: I can say a washing machine, an air conditioner, a tin, a sink and a shelf.

181.1 غسالة (ghassāla) — a washing machine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for foreign, then the Arabic for flat.

You'll want to know: غسالة

غسالة — ghassāla — "a washing machine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غسالة (ghassāla) is built on the native Arabic root gh-s-l, "to wash" (Lane). Ghassāla is a modern fa^{cc}āla word, "the washer".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghassāla
- Say it: ghassāla, once more
- Say it: say ghassāla
- Recall: say the Arabic for foreign, then the Arabic for flat, then say ghassāla again

Before you move on

What does غسالة mean? ("A washing machine".) Say it once more.

181.2 مكيف (mukayyif) — an air conditioner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for flat, then the Arabic for a washing machine.

You'll want to know: مكيف

مكيف — mukayyif — "an air conditioner".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكيف (mukayyif) is built on k-y-f, the letters of kayfa, "how" (Lane). Mukayyif is a modern Form II participle, "one that sets the state (of the air)", built from kayfa, "how".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mukayyif
- Say it: mukayyif, once more
- Say it: say mukayyif
- Recall: say the Arabic for flat, then the Arabic for a washing machine, then say mukayyif again

Before you move on

What does مكيف mean? ("An air conditioner".) Say it once more.

181.3 علبة (ᶜulba) — a tin, a can

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a washing machine, then the Arabic for an air conditioner.

You'll want to know: علبة

علبة — ᶜulba — "a tin, a can".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علبة (ᶜulba), "a milking vessel", is an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-l-b (Lane). Lane's ᶜulba is a milking vessel of skin or wood; the tin can is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜulba
- Say it: ᶜulba, once more
- Say it: say ᶜulba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a washing machine, then the Arabic for an air conditioner, then say ᶜulba again

Before you move on

What does علبة mean? ("A tin, a can".) Say it once more.

181.4 مغسلة (maghsala) — a sink, a washbasin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an air conditioner, then the Arabic for a tin.

You'll want to know: مغسلة

مغسلة — maghsala — "a sink, a washbasin".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغسلة (maghsala) is built on the native Arabic root gh-s-l, "to wash" (Lane). Maghsala is the ma- place noun, "a place of washing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maghsala
- Say it: maghsala, once more
- Say it: say maghsala
- Recall: say the Arabic for an air conditioner, then the Arabic for a tin, then say maghsala again

Before you move on

What does مغسلة mean? ("A sink, a washbasin".) Say it once more.

181.5 رف (raff) — a shelf

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tin, then the Arabic for a sink.

You'll want to know: رف

رف — raff — "a shelf".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رف (raff), "a shelf", is an old native noun, filed under the root r-f-f (Lane). Lane's raff is a ledge on which the choice vessels of a house are set.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raff
- Say it: raff, once more
- Say it: say raff
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tin, then the Arabic for a sink, then say raff again

Before you move on

What does رف mean? ("A shelf".) Say it once more.

Chapter 182

Sauce, Sandwich, Ice cream, Meal, Skirt

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a sauce, a sandwich, ice cream, a meal and a skirt.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 182: I can say a sauce, a sandwich, ice cream, a meal and a skirt.

182.1 صلصة (ṣalṣa) — a sauce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sink, then the Arabic for a shelf.

You'll want to know: صلصة

صلصة — ṣalṣa — "a sauce".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صلصة (ṣalṣa) is usually traced to Italian salsa, "sauce" (EtymDB), from Latin salsus, "salted"; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣalṣa
- Say it: ṣalṣa, once more
- Say it: say ṣalṣa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sink, then the Arabic for a shelf, then say ṣalṣa again

Before you move on

What does صلصة mean? ("A sauce".) Say it once more.

182.2 شطيرة (shaṭīra) — a sandwich

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shelf, then the Arabic for a sauce.

You'll want to know: شطيرة

شطيرة — shaṭīra — "a sandwich".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شطيرة (shaṭīra) is built on the native Arabic root sh-ṭ-r, "half; to halve" (Lane). Shaṭīra is a modern word for a sandwich, "the halved one".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shaṭīra
- Say it: shaṭīra, once more
- Say it: say shaṭīra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shelf, then the Arabic for a sauce, then say shaṭīra again

Before you move on

What does شطيرة mean? ("A sandwich".) Say it once more.

182.3 مثلجات (muthallajāt) — ice cream

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sauce, then the Arabic for a sandwich.

You'll want to know: مثلجات

مثلجات — muthallajāt — "ice cream".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مثلجات (muthallajāt) is built on the native Arabic root th-l-j, "snow" (Lane). Muthallajāt is the plural of the Form II passive participle, "things chilled with snow, iced".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muthallajāt
- Say it: muthallajāt, once more
- Say it: say muthallajāt
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sauce, then the Arabic for a sandwich, then say muthallajāt again

Before you move on

What does مثلجات mean? ("Ice cream".) Say it once more.

182.4 وجبة (wajba) — a meal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sandwich, then the Arabic for ice cream.

You'll want to know: وجبة

وجبة — wajba — "a meal".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وجبة (wajba) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-b, "to fall; to fall due" (Lane). Wajba is a meal, a single eating.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wajba
- Say it: wajba, once more
- Say it: say wajba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sandwich, then the Arabic for ice cream, then say wajba again

Before you move on

What does وجبة mean? ("A meal".) Say it once more.

182.5 تنورة (tannūra) — a skirt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ice cream, then the Arabic for a meal.

You'll want to know: تنورة

تنورة — tannūra — "a skirt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنورة (tannūra) is a later word for a skirt. Lane has only tannūr, "an oven", which his sources call arabicized, originally Persian; whether the skirt word comes from it is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tannūra
- Say it: tannūra, once more
- Say it: say tannūra
- Recall: say the Arabic for ice cream, then the Arabic for a meal, then say tannūra again

Before you move on

What does تنورة mean? ("A skirt".) Say it once more.

Chapter 183

Postage stamp, Parcel, Cheque, Form, Document

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a postage stamp, a parcel, a cheque, a form and a document.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 183: I can say a postage stamp, a parcel, a cheque, a form and a document.

183.1 طابع (ṭābi^{c}) — a postage stamp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a meal, then the Arabic for a skirt.

You'll want to know: طابع

طابع — ṭābi^{c} — "a postage stamp".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طابع (ṭābi^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-^{c}, "to seal, to stamp" (Lane). Ṭābi^{c} is the active participle, "a stamp"; the postage stamp is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭābiᶜ
- Say it: ṭābiᶜ, once more
- Say it: say ṭābiᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a meal, then the Arabic for a skirt, then say ṭābiᶜ again

Before you move on

What does طابع mean? ("A postage stamp".) Say it once more.

183.2 طرد (ṭard) — a parcel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a skirt, then the Arabic for a postage stamp.

You'll want to know: طرد

طرد — ṭard — "a parcel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طرد (ṭard) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-d, "to drive away" (Lane). Ṭard is the verbal noun, "a sending off"; the parcel is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭard
- Say it: ṭard, once more
- Say it: say ṭard
- Recall: say the Arabic for a skirt, then the Arabic for a postage stamp, then say ṭard again

Before you move on

What does طرد mean? ("A parcel".) Say it once more.

183.3 شيك (shīk) — a cheque

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a postage stamp, then the Arabic for a parcel.

You'll want to know: شيك

شيك — shīk — "a cheque".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شيك (shīk) is a modern loan from English cheque or French chèque; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shīk
- Say it: shīk, once more
- Say it: say shīk
- Recall: say the Arabic for a postage stamp, then the Arabic for a parcel, then say shīk again

Before you move on

What does شيك mean? ("A cheque".) Say it once more.

183.4 استمارة (istimāra) — a form (to fill in)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a parcel, then the Arabic for a cheque.

You'll want to know: استمارة

استمارة — istimāra — "a form (to fill in)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استمارة (istimāra) is a modern administrative word for a form; it has no entry in Lane, and its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istimāra
- Say it: istimāra, once more
- Say it: say istimāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a parcel, then the Arabic for a cheque, then say istimāra again

Before you move on

What does استمارة mean? ("A form (to fill in)".) Say it once more.

183.5 وثيقة (wathīqa) — a document

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cheque, then the Arabic for a form.

You'll want to know: وثيقة

وثيقة — wathīqa — "a document".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وثيقة (wathīqa) is built on the native Arabic root w-th-q, "to trust; to be firm" (Lane). Wathīqa is a thing made firm: a document.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wathīqa
- Say it: wathīqa, once more
- Say it: say wathīqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cheque, then the Arabic for a form, then say wathīqa again

Before you move on

What does وثيقة mean? ("A document".) Say it once more.

Chapter 184

Festival, Invitation, Occasion, Decorations, Film

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a festival, an invitation, an occasion, decorations and a film.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 184: I can say a festival, an invitation, an occasion, decorations and a film.

184.1 مهرجان (mahrajān) — a festival

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a form, then the Arabic for a document.

You'll want to know: مهرجان

مهرجان — mahrajān — "a festival".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهرجان (mahrajān) is a loan from Persian mihragān, the autumn festival named after Mihr, Mithra; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mahrajān
- Say it: mahrajān, once more
- Say it: say mahrajān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a form, then the Arabic for a document, then say mahrajān again

Before you move on

What does مهرجان mean? ("A festival".) Say it once more.

184.2 دعوة (da^{c}wa) — an invitation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a document, then the Arabic for a festival.

You'll want to know: دعوة

دعوة — da^{c}wa — "an invitation".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دعوة (da^{c}wa) is built on the native Arabic root d-^{c}-w, "to call" (Lane). Da^{c}wa is a call, an invitation.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: da^{c}wa
- Say it: da^{c}wa, once more
- Say it: say da^{c}wa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a document, then the Arabic for a festival, then say da^{c}wa again

Before you move on

What does دعوة mean? ("An invitation".) Say it once more.

184.3 مناسبة (munāsaba) — an occasion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a festival, then the Arabic for an invitation.

You'll want to know: مناسبة

مناسبة — munāsaba — "an occasion".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مناسبة (munāsaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-b, "to be related, to be suitable" (Lane). Munāsaba is the verbal noun of Form III, "fitness"; the occasion is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: munāsaba
- Say it: munāsaba, once more
- Say it: say munāsaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a festival, then the Arabic for an invitation, then say munāsaba again

Before you move on

What does مناسبة mean? ("An occasion".) Say it once more.

184.4 زينة (zīna) — decorations

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an invitation, then the Arabic for an occasion.

You'll want to know: زينة

زينة — zīna — "decorations".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زينة (zīna) is built on the native Arabic root z-y-n, "to adorn" (Lane). Zīna is ornament, decoration.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zīna
- Say it: zīna, once more
- Say it: say zīna
- Recall: say the Arabic for an invitation, then the Arabic for an occasion, then say zīna again

Before you move on

What does زينة mean? ("Decorations".) Say it once more.

184.5 فيلم (fīlm) — a film

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an occasion, then the Arabic for decorations.

You'll want to know: فيلم

فيلم — fīlm — "a film".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فيلم (fīlm) is a modern loan from English film; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fīlm
- Say it: fīlm, once more
- Say it: say fīlm
- Recall: say the Arabic for an occasion, then the Arabic for decorations, then say fīlm again

Before you move on

What does فيلم mean? ("A film".) Say it once more.

Chapter 185

Dolphin, Parrot, Ant, Bull, Insect

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a dolphin, a parrot, an ant, a bull and an insect.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 185: I can say a dolphin, a parrot, an ant, a bull and an insect.

185.1 دلفين (dulfīn) — a dolphin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for decorations, then the Arabic for a film.

You'll want to know: دلفين

دلفين — dulfīn — "a dolphin".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دلفين (dulfīn) is a loan from Greek delphis, "dolphin", or its Latin form delphinus; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dulfīn
- Say it: dulfīn, once more
- Say it: say dulfīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for decorations, then the Arabic for a film, then say dulfīn again

Before you move on

What does دلفين mean? ("A dolphin".) Say it once more.

185.2 ببغاء (babbaghāʾ) — a parrot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a film, then the Arabic for a dolphin.

You'll want to know: ببغاء

ببغاء — babbaghāʾ — "a parrot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ببغاء (babbaghāʾ) has no entry in Lane, and its origin is not settled; English popinjay comes from it through Old French.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: babbaghāʾ
- Say it: babbaghāʾ, once more
- Say it: say babbaghāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a film, then the Arabic for a dolphin, then say babbaghāʾ again

Before you move on

What does ببغاء mean? ("A parrot".) Say it once more.

185.3 نملة (namla) — an ant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dolphin, then the Arabic for a parrot.

You'll want to know: نملة

نملة — namla — "an ant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نملة (namla) is one ant of naml, "ants", an old native noun, filed under the root n-m-l (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: namla
- Say it: namla, once more
- Say it: say namla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dolphin, then the Arabic for a parrot, then say namla again

Before you move on

What does نملة mean? ("An ant".) Say it once more.

185.4 ثور (thawr) — a bull

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a parrot, then the Arabic for an ant.

You'll want to know: ثور

ثور — thawr — "a bull".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثور (thawr) is built on the native Arabic root th-w-r, "a bull; to rise up" (Lane). Hebrew shor, "ox", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thawr
- Say it: thawr, once more
- Say it: say thawr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a parrot, then the Arabic for an ant, then say thawr again

Before you move on

What does ثور mean? ("A bull".) Say it once more.

185.5 حشرة (ḥashara) — an insect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ant, then the Arabic for a bull.

You'll want to know: حشرة

حشرة — ḥashara — "an insect".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حشرة (ḥashara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-sh-r, "to gather, to assemble" (Lane). Ḥashara is one of the ḥasharāt, the small creeping things.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥashara
- Say it: ḥashara, once more
- Say it: say ḥashara
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ant, then the Arabic for a bull, then say ḥashara again

Before you move on

What does حشرة mean? ("An insect".) Say it once more.

185.6 Words from chapters 177-180 — a first pass

Say the words for a bull and an insect.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- expensive, free, raw, cooked, fried
- official, private, in a hurry, clear, hard-working
- grey, golden, thick, humid, rainy
- injured, rural, traditional, foreign, flat

Before you move on

Expensive? (مكلف, mukallif.) Free? (مجاني, majjānī.) Raw? (نيء, nayʔ.) Cooked? (مطبوخ, maṭbūkh.) Fried? (مقلي, maqlī.) Official? (رسمي, rasmī.) Private? (خاص, khāṣṣ.) In a hurry? (مستعجل, mustaᶜjil.) Clear? (واضح, wāḍiḥ.) Hard-working? (مجتهد, mujtahid.) Grey? (رمادي, ramādī.) Golden? (ذهبي, dhahabī.) Thick? (سميك, samīk.) Humid? (رطب, raṭb.) Rainy? (ممطر, mumṭir.) Injured? (مصاب, muṣāb.) Rural? (ريفي, rīfī.) Traditional? (تقليدي, taqlīdī.) Foreign? (أجنبي, ajnabī.) Flat? (مسطح, musaṭṭaḥ.)

185.7 Words from chapters 181-185 — a second pass

Say the words for a washing machine and an air conditioner.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a washing machine, an air conditioner, a tin, a sink, a shelf
- a sauce, a sandwich, ice cream, a meal, a skirt
- a postage stamp, a parcel, a cheque, a form, a document
- a festival, an invitation, an occasion, decorations, a film
- a dolphin, a parrot, an ant, a bull, an insect

Before you move on

A washing machine? (غسالة, ghassāla.) An air conditioner? (مكيف, mukayyif.) A tin? (علبة, ᶜulba.) A sink? (مغسلة, maghsala.) A shelf? (رف, raff.) A sauce? (صلصة, ṣalṣa.) A sandwich? (شطيرة, shaṭīra.) Ice cream? (مثلجات, muthallajāt.) A meal? (وجبة, wajba.) A skirt? (تنورة, tannūra.) A postage stamp? (طابع, ṭābiᶜ.) A parcel? (طرد, ṭard.) A cheque? (شيك, shīk.) A form? (استمارة, istimāra.) A document? (وثيقة, wathīqa.) A festival? (مهرجان, mahrajān.) An invitation? (دعوة, daᶜwa.) An occasion? (مناسبة, munāsaba.) Decorations? (زينة, zīna.) A film? (فيلم, fīlm.) A dolphin? (دلفين, dulfīn.) A parrot? (ببغاء, babbaghāʾ.) An ant? (نملة, namla.) A bull? (ثور, thawr.) An insect? (حشرة, ḥashara.)

Chapter 186

Hobby, Chess, Novel, Painting, Machine

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a hobby, chess, a novel, a painting and a machine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 186: I can say a hobby, chess, a novel, a painting and a machine.

186.1 هواية (hiwāya) — a hobby

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bull, then the Arabic for an insect.

You'll want to know: هواية

هواية — hiwāya — "a hobby".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هواية (hiwāya) is built on the native Arabic root h-w-y, "to love, to desire" (Lane). Hiwāya is a modern word built on hawā, "liking".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hiwāya
- Say it: hiwāya, once more
- Say it: say hiwāya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bull, then the Arabic for an insect, then say hiwāya again

Before you move on

What does هواية mean? ("A hobby".) Say it once more.

186.2 شطرنج (shiṭranj) — chess

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an insect, then the Arabic for a hobby.

You'll want to know: شطرنج

شطرنج — shiṭranj — "chess".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شطرنج (shiṭranj) is a loan: Lane's sources call it a Persian word, arabicized, and quote a story that it means ṣad rang, "a hundred stratagems". That is a folk etymology: Persian chatrang goes back to Sanskrit caturaṅga, "four-limbed", the four arms of an army.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shiṭranj
- Say it: shiṭranj, once more
- Say it: say shiṭranj

- Recall: say the Arabic for an insect, then the Arabic for a hobby, then say shiṭranj again

Before you move on

What does شطرنج mean? ("Chess".) Say it once more.

186.3 رواية (riwāya) — a novel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hobby, then the Arabic for chess.

You'll want to know: رواية

رواية — riwāya — "a novel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رواية (riwāya) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-y, "to transmit, to relate" (Lane). Riwāya is a relating, a narrative; the novel is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: riwāya
- Say it: riwāya, once more
- Say it: say riwāya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hobby, then the Arabic for chess, then say riwāya again

Before you move on

What does رواية mean? ("A novel".) Say it once more.

186.4 لوحة (lawḥa) — a painting; a board

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chess, then the Arabic for a novel.

You'll want to know: لوحة

لوحة — lawḥa — "a painting; a board".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لوحة (lawḥa), "a board, a plank", is an old native noun, filed under the root l-w-ḥ (Lane). Lawḥa is a board; the painting is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lawḥa
- Say it: lawḥa, once more
- Say it: say lawḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for chess, then the Arabic for a novel, then say lawḥa again

Before you move on

What does لوحة mean? ("A painting; a board".) Say it once more.

186.5 آلة (āla) — a machine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a novel, then the Arabic for a painting; a board.

You'll want to know: آلة

آلة — āla — "a machine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

آلة (āla), "an instrument", is an old native noun, filed under the root ʾ-w-l (Lane). Lane's āla is an instrument or tool.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: āla
- Say it: āla, once more
- Say it: say āla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a novel, then the Arabic for a painting; a board, then say āla again

Before you move on

What does آلة mean? ("A machine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 187

Blender, Tap, Pipe, Wire, Rope

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a blender, a tap, a pipe, a wire and a rope.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 187: I can say a blender, a tap, a pipe, a wire and a rope.

187.1 خلاط (khallāṭ) — a blender

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a painting; a board, then the Arabic for a machine.

You'll want to know: خلاط

خلاط — khallāṭ — "a blender".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خلاط (khallāṭ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-ṭ, "to mix" (Lane). Khallāṭ is a modern $fa^{cc}\bar{a}l$ word, "the mixer".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khallāṭ
- Say it: khallāṭ, once more
- Say it: say khallāṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a painting; a board, then the Arabic for a machine, then say khallāṭ again

Before you move on

What does خلاط mean? ("A blender".) Say it once more.

187.2 صنبور (ṣunbūr) — a tap

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a machine, then the Arabic for a blender.

You'll want to know: صنبور

صنبور — ṣunbūr — "a tap".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صنبور (ṣunbūr) is a native noun, filed under ṣ-n-b-r (Lane). Lane's ṣunbūr is a lone palm tree, slender at its base, and also the metal pipe of a leather water vessel, from which the tap comes.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣunbūr
- Say it: ṣunbūr, once more
- Say it: say ṣunbūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a machine, then the Arabic for a blender, then say ṣunbūr again

Before you move on

What does صنبور mean? ("A tap".) Say it once more.

187.3 أنبوب (unbūb) — a pipe, a tube

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a blender, then the Arabic for a tap.

You'll want to know: أنبوب

أنبوب — unbūb — "a pipe, a tube".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنبوب (unbūb), "the joint of a reed", is an old native noun, filed under the root n-b-b (Lane). Lane's unbūb is the length of reed between two knots, and the spout of a jug.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: unbūb
- Say it: unbūb, once more
- Say it: say unbūb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a blender, then the Arabic for a tap, then say unbūb again

Before you move on

What does أنبوب mean? ("A pipe, a tube".) Say it once more.

187.4 سلك (silk) — a wire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tap, then the Arabic for a pipe.

You'll want to know: سلك

سلك — silk — "a wire".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلك (silk) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-k, "to go in; a thread" (Lane). Lane's silk is a thread; the wire is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: silk
- Say it: silk, once more
- Say it: say silk
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tap, then the Arabic for a pipe, then say silk again

Before you move on

What does سلك mean? ("A wire".) Say it once more.

187.5 حبل (ḥabl) — a rope

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pipe, then the Arabic for a wire.

You'll want to know: حبل

حبل — ḥabl — "a rope".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حبل (ḥabl), "a rope", is an old native noun, listed under the root ḥ-b-l (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to bind with a rope".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥabl
- Say it: ḥabl, once more
- Say it: say ḥabl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pipe, then the Arabic for a wire, then say ḥabl again

Before you move on

What does حبل mean? ("A rope".) Say it once more.

Chapter 188

Currency, Bill, Discount, Customer, Cashier

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a currency, a bill, a discount, a customer and a cashier.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 188: I can say a currency, a bill, a discount, a customer and a cashier.

188.1 عملة (ᶜumla) — a currency

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wire, then the Arabic for a rope.

You'll want to know: عملة

عملة — ᶜumla — "a currency".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عملة (ᶜumla) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-l, "to work" (Lane). Lane's ᶜumla is pay for work; the currency is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜumla
- Say it: ᶜumla, once more
- Say it: say ᶜumla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wire, then the Arabic for a rope, then say ᶜumla again

Before you move on

What does عملة mean? ("A currency".) Say it once more.

188.2 فاتورة (fātūra) — a bill, an invoice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rope, then the Arabic for a currency.

You'll want to know: فاتورة

فاتورة — fātūra — "a bill, an invoice".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فاتورة (fātūra) is usually traced to Italian fattura, "invoice"; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fātūra
- Say it: fātūra, once more
- Say it: say fātūra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rope, then the Arabic for a currency, then say fātūra again

Before you move on

What does فاتورة mean? ("A bill, an invoice".) Say it once more.

188.3 خصم (khaṣm) — a discount

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a currency, then the Arabic for a bill.

You'll want to know: خصم

خصم — khaṣm — "a discount".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خصم (khaṣm) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-m, "to dispute" (Lane). Khaṣm is an adversary; the discount, a deduction, is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṣm
- Say it: khaṣm, once more
- Say it: say khaṣm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a currency, then the Arabic for a bill, then say khaṣm again

Before you move on

What does خصم mean? ("A discount".) Say it once more.

188.4 زبون (zabūn) — a customer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bill, then the Arabic for a discount.

You'll want to know: زبون

زبون — zabūn — "a customer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زبون (zabūn) is listed by Lane under z-b-n, "to push", and his sources call its use for a customer post-classical. EtymDB gives an Aramaic source, zābōnā, "buyer"; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zabūn
- Say it: zabūn, once more
- Say it: say zabūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bill, then the Arabic for a discount, then say zabūn again

Before you move on

What does زبون mean? ("A customer".) Say it once more.

188.5 صراف (ṣarrāf) — a cashier; a money changer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a discount, then the Arabic for a customer.

You'll want to know: صراف

صراف — ṣarrāf — "a cashier; a money changer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صراف (ṣarrāf) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-f, "to turn; to exchange money" (Lane). Ṣarrāf is the $fa^{cc}āl$ trade noun, "money-changer".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣarrāf
- Say it: ṣarrāf, once more
- Say it: say ṣarrāf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a discount, then the Arabic for a customer, then say ṣarrāf again

Before you move on

What does صراف mean? ("A cashier; a money changer".) Say it once more.

Chapter 189

Accountant, Journalist, Worker, Translator, Interview

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an accountant, a journalist, a worker, a translator and an interview.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 189: I can say an accountant, a journalist, a worker, a translator and an interview.

189.1 محاسب (muḥāsib) — an accountant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a customer, then the Arabic for a cashier; a money changer.

You'll want to know: محاسب

محاسب — muḥāsib — "an accountant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محاسب (muḥāsib) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-b, "to count, to reckon" (Lane). Muḥāsib is the Form III participle, "one who settles accounts".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥāsib
- Say it: muḥāsib, once more
- Say it: say muḥāsib
- Recall: say the Arabic for a customer, then the Arabic for a cashier; a money changer, then say muḥāsib again

Before you move on

What does محاسب mean? ("An accountant".) Say it once more.

189.2 صحفي (ṣuḥufī) — a journalist

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cashier; a money changer, then the Arabic for an accountant.

You'll want to know: صحفي

صحفي — ṣuḥufī — "a journalist".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحفي (ṣuḥufī) is built on ṣaḥīfa, "a sheet, a page", a native noun, filed under the root ṣ-ḥ-f (Lane). Ṣuḥufī is ṣuḥuf, "sheets, papers", with the adjective ending -ī; it is a modern word.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣuḥufī
- Say it: ṣuḥufī, once more
- Say it: say ṣuḥufī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cashier; a money changer, then the Arabic for an accountant, then say ṣuḥufī again

Before you move on

What does صحفي mean? ("A journalist".) Say it once more.

189.3 عامل (ᶜāmil) — a worker

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an accountant, then the Arabic for a journalist.

You'll want to know: عامل

عامل — ᶜāmil — "a worker".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عامل (ᶜāmil) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-l, "to work" (Lane). ᶜĀmil is the active participle, "one who works".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāmil
- Say it: ᶜāmil, once more
- Say it: say ᶜāmil
- Recall: say the Arabic for an accountant, then the Arabic for a journalist, then say ᶜāmil again

Before you move on

What does عامل mean? ("A worker".) Say it once more.

189.4 مترجم (mutarjim) — a translator

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a journalist, then the Arabic for a worker.

You'll want to know: مترجم

مترجم — mutarjim — "a translator".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مترجم (mutarjim) is the participle of tarjama, "to translate", which Lane gives with tarjumān, "interpreter". Tarjumān is usually traced to Aramaic targmānā; English dragoman comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mutarjim
- Say it: mutarjim, once more
- Say it: say mutarjim
- Recall: say the Arabic for a journalist, then the Arabic for a worker, then say mutarjim again

Before you move on

What does مترجم mean? ("A translator".) Say it once more.

189.5 مقابلة (muqābala) — an interview

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a worker, then the Arabic for a translator.

You'll want to know: مقابلة

مقابلة — muqābala — "an interview".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقابلة (muqābala) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to face" (Lane). Muqābala is the verbal noun of Form III, "meeting face to face".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muqābala
- Say it: muqābala, once more
- Say it: say muqābala
- Recall: say the Arabic for a worker, then the Arabic for a translator, then say muqābala again

Before you move on

What does مقابلة mean? ("An interview".) Say it once more.

Chapter 190

Singer, Player, Coach, Mathematics, Geography

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a singer, a player, a coach, mathematics and geography.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 190: I can say a singer, a player, a coach, mathematics and geography.

190.1 مغني (mughannī) — a singer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a translator, then the Arabic for an interview.

You'll want to know: مغني

مغني — mughannī — "a singer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغني (mughannī) is built on the native Arabic root gh-n-y, "to be free from want" (Lane), whose Form II ghannā means "to sing". Mughannī is the Form II participle, "one who sings".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mughannī
- Say it: mughannī, once more
- Say it: say mughannī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a translator, then the Arabic for an interview, then say mughannī again

Before you move on

What does مغني mean? ("A singer".) Say it once more.

190.2 لاعب (lāᶜib) — a player

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an interview, then the Arabic for a singer.

You'll want to know: لاعب

لاعب — lāᶜib — "a player".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لاعب (lāᶜib) is built on the native Arabic root l-ᶜ-b, "to play" (Lane). Lāᶜib is the active participle, "one who plays".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lāᶜib
- Say it: lāᶜib, once more
- Say it: say lāᶜib
- Recall: say the Arabic for an interview, then the Arabic for a singer, then say lāᶜib again

Before you move on

What does لاعب mean? ("A player".) Say it once more.

190.3 مدرب (mudarrib) — a coach, a trainer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a singer, then the Arabic for a player.

You'll want to know: مدرب

مدرب — mudarrib — "a coach, a trainer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدرب (mudarrib) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-b, "to be trained, to be accustomed" (Lane). Mudarrib is the Form II participle, "one who trains".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mudarrib
- Say it: mudarrib, once more
- Say it: say mudarrib
- Recall: say the Arabic for a singer, then the Arabic for a player, then say mudarrib again

Before you move on

What does مدرب mean? ("A coach, a trainer".) Say it once more.

190.4 رياضيات (riyāḍiyyāt) — mathematics

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a player, then the Arabic for a coach.

You'll want to know: رياضيات

رياضيات — riyāḍiyyāt — "mathematics".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رياضيات (riyāḍiyyāt) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḍ, "to train, to tame" (Lane). Riyāḍiyyāt is built on riyāḍa, "training, exercise", with the plural abstract ending -iyyāt.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: riyāḍiyyāt
- Say it: riyāḍiyyāt, once more
- Say it: say riyāḍiyyāt
- Recall: say the Arabic for a player, then the Arabic for a coach, then say riyāḍiyyāt again

Before you move on

What does رياضيات mean? ("Mathematics".) Say it once more.

190.5 جغرافيا (jughrāfiyā) — geography

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coach, then the Arabic for mathematics.

You'll want to know: جغرافيا

جغرافيا — jughrāfiyā — "geography".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جغرافيا (jughrāfiyā) is a loan from Greek geōgraphia, "description of the earth" (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jughrāfiyā
- Say it: jughrāfiyā, once more
- Say it: say jughrāfiyā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coach, then the Arabic for mathematics, then say jughrāfiyā again

Before you move on

What does جغرافيا mean? ("Geography".) Say it once more.

Chapter 191

Plumber, Grocer, Fisherman, Workshop, Signature

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a plumber, a grocer, a fisherman, a workshop and a signature.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 191: I can say a plumber, a grocer, a fisherman, a workshop and a signature.

191.1 سباك (sabbāk) — a plumber

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mathematics, then the Arabic for geography.

You'll want to know: سباك

سباك — sabbāk — "a plumber".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سباك (sabbāk) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-k, "to melt and cast metal" (Lane). Sabbāk is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "caster of metal"; the plumber is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sabbāk
- Say it: sabbāk, once more
- Say it: say sabbāk
- Recall: say the Arabic for mathematics, then the Arabic for geography, then say sabbāk again

Before you move on

What does سباك mean? ("A plumber".) Say it once more.

191.2 بقال (baqqāl) — a grocer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for geography, then the Arabic for a plumber.

You'll want to know: بقال

بقال — baqqāl — "a grocer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بقال (baqqāl) is built on the native Arabic root b-q-l, "herbs, vegetables" (Lane). Lane's baqqāl is a seller of green herbs, baql, and then any shopkeeper.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baqqāl
- Say it: baqqāl, once more
- Say it: say baqqāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for geography, then the Arabic for a plumber, then say baqqāl again

Before you move on

What does بقال mean? ("A grocer".) Say it once more.

191.3 صياد (ṣayyād) — a fisherman, a hunter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a plumber, then the Arabic for a grocer.

You'll want to know: صياد

صياد — ṣayyād — "a fisherman, a hunter".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صياد (ṣayyād) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-y-d, "to hunt" (Lane). Ṣayyād is the $fa^{cc}\bar{a}l$ trade noun, "hunter".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣayyād
- Say it: ṣayyād, once more
- Say it: say ṣayyād
- Recall: say the Arabic for a plumber, then the Arabic for a grocer, then say ṣayyād again

Before you move on

What does صياد mean? ("A fisherman, a hunter".) Say it once more.

191.4 ورشة (warsha) — a workshop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a grocer, then the Arabic for a fisherman.

You'll want to know: ورشة

ورشة — warsha — "a workshop".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ورشة (warsha) is a modern word for a workshop, usually explained as borrowed from English workshop; it has no entry in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: warsha
- Say it: warsha, once more
- Say it: say warsha
- Recall: say the Arabic for a grocer, then the Arabic for a fisherman, then say warsha again

Before you move on

What does ورشة mean? ("A workshop".) Say it once more.

191.5 توقيع (tawqīᶜ) — a signature

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fisherman, then the Arabic for a workshop.

You'll want to know: توقيع

توقيع — tawqīᶜ — "a signature".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توقيع (tawqīᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-ᶜ, "to fall" (Lane). Tawqīᶜ is the verbal noun of Form II, "setting one's mark on a document".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tawqīᶜ
- Say it: tawqīᶜ, once more
- Say it: say tawqīᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fisherman, then the Arabic for a workshop, then say tawqīᶜ again

Before you move on

What does توقيع mean? ("A signature".) Say it once more.

191.6 Words from chapters 186-188 — a first pass

Say the words for a workshop and a signature.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a hobby, chess, a novel, a painting; a board, a machine
- a blender, a tap, a pipe, a wire, a rope
- a currency, a bill, a discount, a customer, a cashier; a money changer

Before you move on

A hobby? (هواية, hiwāya.) Chess? (شطرنج, shiṭranj.) A novel? (رواية, riwāya.) A painting; a board? (لوحة, lawḥa.) A machine? (آلة, āla.) A blender? (خلاط, khallāṭ.) A tap? (صنبور, ṣunbūr.) A pipe? (أنبوب, unbūb.) A wire? (سلك, silk.) A rope? (حبل, ḥabl.) A currency? (عملة, ᶜumla.) A bill? (فاتورة, fātūra.) A discount? (خصم, khaṣm.) A customer? (زبون, zabūn.) A cashier; a money changer? (صراف, ṣarrāf.)

191.7 Words from chapters 189-191 — a second pass

Say the words for an accountant and a journalist.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an accountant, a journalist, a worker, a translator, an interview
- a singer, a player, a coach, mathematics, geography
- a plumber, a grocer, a fisherman, a workshop, a signature

Before you move on

An accountant? (محاسب, muḥāsib.) A journalist? (صحفي, ṣuḥufī.) A worker? (عامل, ᶜāmil.) A translator? (مترجم, mutarjim.) An interview? (مقابلة, muqābala.) A singer? (مغني, mughannī.) A player? (لاعب, lāᶜib.) A coach? (مدرب, mudarrib.) Mathematics? (رياضيات, riyāḍiyyāt.) Geography? (جغرافيا, jughrāfiyā.) A plumber? (سباك, sabbāk.) A grocer? (بقال, baqqāl.) A fisherman? (صياد, ṣayyād.) A workshop? (ورشة, warsha.) A signature? (توقيع, tawqīᶜ.)

Chapter 192

To ride, To pay, To save, To receive, To cost

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to ride, to pay, to save, to receive and to cost.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 192: I can say to ride, to pay, to save, to receive and to cost.

192.1 ركب (rakiba) — to ride, to get on (a vehicle)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a workshop, then the Arabic for a signature.

You'll want to know: ركب

ركب — rakiba — "to ride, to get on (a vehicle)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركب (rakiba) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-b, "to ride, to mount" (Lane). Rakiba is the plain verb, "he rode".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rakiba
- Say it: rakiba, once more
- Say it: say rakiba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a workshop, then the Arabic for a signature, then say rakiba again

Before you move on

What does ركب mean? ("To ride, to get on (a vehicle)".) Say it once more.

192.2 دفع (dafa^{c}a) — to pay; to push

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a signature, then the Arabic for to ride.

You'll want to know: دفع

دفع — dafa^{c}a — "to pay; to push".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دفع (dafa^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root d-f-^{c}, "to push away" (Lane). Dafa^{c}a is "to push", hence "to pay out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dafa^{c}a
- Say it: dafa^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say dafa^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for a signature, then the Arabic for to ride, then say dafa^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does دفع mean? ("To pay; to push".) Say it once more.

192.3 وفر (waffara) — to save (money)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ride, then the Arabic for to pay; to push.

You'll want to know: وفر

وفر — waffara — "to save (money)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وفر (waffara) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-r, "to be abundant" (Lane). Waffara is Form II, "to make abundant", to save.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waffara
- Say it: waffara, once more
- Say it: say waffara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ride, then the Arabic for to pay; to push, then say waffara again

Before you move on

What does وفر mean? ("To save (money)".) Say it once more.

192.4 استلم (istalama) — to receive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pay; to push, then the Arabic for to save.

You'll want to know: استلم

استلم — istalama — "to receive".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استلم (istalama) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-m, "to be safe" (Lane). Istalama is Form VIII, "to take what is handed over", to receive.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istalama
- Say it: istalama, once more
- Say it: say istalama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pay; to push, then the Arabic for to save, then say istalama again

Before you move on

What does استلم mean? ("To receive".) Say it once more.

192.5 كلف (kallafa) — to cost

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to save, then the Arabic for to receive.

You'll want to know: كلف

كلف — kallafa — "to cost".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كلف (kallafa) is built on the native Arabic root k-l-f, "to impose a burden" (Lane). Kallafa is Form II, "to impose a cost".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kallafa
- Say it: kallafa, once more
- Say it: say kallafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to save, then the Arabic for to receive, then say kallafa again

Before you move on

What does كلف mean? ("To cost".) Say it once more.

Chapter 193

To take off, To try, To measure, To bargain, To go shopping

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to take off, to try, to measure, to bargain and to go shopping.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 193: I can say to take off, to try, to measure, to bargain and to go shopping.

193.1 خلع (khala^{c}a) — to take off (clothes)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to receive, then the Arabic for to cost.

You'll want to know: خلع

خلع — khala^{c}a — "to take off (clothes)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خلع (khala^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-^{c}, "to pull off" (Lane). Khala^{c}a is the plain verb, "he took off".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khala^{c}a
- Say it: khala^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say khala^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to receive, then the Arabic for to cost, then say khala^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does خلع mean? ("To take off (clothes)".) Say it once more.

193.2 جرب (jarraba) — to try (on)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cost, then the Arabic for to take off.

You'll want to know: جرب

جرب — jarraba — "to try (on)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرب (jarraba) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-b (Lane). Jarraba is Form II, "to try, to put to the test".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jarraba
- Say it: jarraba, once more
- Say it: say jarraba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cost, then the Arabic for to take off, then say jarraba again

Before you move on

What does جرب mean? ("To try (on)".) Say it once more.

193.3 قاس (qāsa) — to measure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take off, then the Arabic for to try.

You'll want to know: قاس

قاس — qāsa — "to measure".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قاس (qāsa) is built on the native Arabic root q-y-s, "to measure" (Lane). Qāsa is the plain verb, "he measured".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qāsa
- Say it: qāsa, once more
- Say it: say qāsa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take off, then the Arabic for to try, then say qāsa again

Before you move on

What does قاس mean? ("To measure".) Say it once more.

193.4 ساوم (sāwama) — to bargain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to try, then the Arabic for to measure.

You'll want to know: ساوم

ساوم — sāwama — "to bargain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساوم (sāwama) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-m, "to set a price" (Lane). Sāwama is Form III, "to haggle over a price".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāwama
- Say it: sāwama, once more
- Say it: say sāwama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to try, then the Arabic for to measure, then say sāwama again

Before you move on

What does ساوم mean? ("To bargain".) Say it once more.

193.5 تسوق (tasawwaqa) — to go shopping

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to measure, then the Arabic for to bargain.

You'll want to know: تسوق

تسوق — tasawwaqa — "to go shopping".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسوق (tasawwaqa) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-q, "to drive (cattle)" (Lane). Tasawwaqa is Form V, built from sūq, "a market": "to go to market".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tasawwaqa
- Say it: tasawwaqa, once more
- Say it: say tasawwaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to measure, then the Arabic for to bargain, then say tasawwaqa again

Before you move on

What does تسوق mean? ("To go shopping".) Say it once more.

Chapter 194

To swallow, To chew, To touch, To smell, To hold

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to swallow, to chew, to touch, to smell and to hold.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 194: I can say to swallow, to chew, to touch, to smell and to hold.

194.1 ابتلع (ibtala^{c}a) — to swallow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bargain, then the Arabic for to go shopping.

You'll want to know: ابتلع

ابتلع — ibtala^{c}a — "to swallow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ابتلع (ibtala^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-^{c}, "to swallow" (Lane). Ibtala^{c}a is Form VIII, "to swallow".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ibtala^{c}a
- Say it: ibtala^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say ibtala^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bargain, then the Arabic for to go shopping, then say ibtala^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does ابتلع mean? ("To swallow".) Say it once more.

194.2 مضغ (maḍagha) — to chew

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go shopping, then the Arabic for to swallow.

You'll want to know: مضغ

مضغ — maḍagha — "to chew".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مضغ (maḍagha) is built on the native Arabic root m-ḍ-gh, "to chew"; Lane's short article gives muḍgha, as much flesh as is chewed at once (Lane). Maḍagha is the plain verb, "he chewed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maḍagha
- Say it: maḍagha, once more
- Say it: say maḍagha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go shopping, then the Arabic for to swallow, then say maḍagha again

Before you move on

What does مضغ mean? ("To chew".) Say it once more.

194.3 لمس (lamasa) — to touch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swallow, then the Arabic for to chew.

You'll want to know: لمس

لمس — lamasa — "to touch".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لمس (lamasa) is built on the native Arabic root l-m-s, "to touch" (Lane). Lamasa is the plain verb, "he touched".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lamasa
- Say it: lamasa, once more
- Say it: say lamasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swallow, then the Arabic for to chew, then say lamasa again

Before you move on

What does لمس mean? ("To touch".) Say it once more.

194.4 شم (shamma) — to smell

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to chew, then the Arabic for to touch.

You'll want to know: شم

شم — shamma — "to smell".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شم (shamma) is built on the native Arabic root sh-m-m, "to smell" (Lane). Shamma is the plain verb, "he smelled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shamma
- Say it: shamma, once more
- Say it: say shamma
- Recall: say the Arabic for to chew, then the Arabic for to touch, then say shamma again

Before you move on

What does شم mean? ("To smell".) Say it once more.

194.5 أمسك (amsaka) — to hold, to grab

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to touch, then the Arabic for to smell.

You'll want to know: أمسك

أمسك — amsaka — "to hold, to grab".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمسك (amsaka) is built on the native Arabic root m-s-k, "to hold, to grasp" (Lane). Amsaka is Form IV, "to take hold".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: amsaka
- Say it: amsaka, once more
- Say it: say amsaka
- Recall: say the Arabic for to touch, then the Arabic for to smell, then say amsaka again

Before you move on

What does أمسك mean? ("To hold, to grab".) Say it once more.

Chapter 195

To resign, To manage, To meet, To get lost, To show the way

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to resign, to manage, to meet, to get lost and to show the way.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 195: I can say to resign, to manage, to meet, to get lost and to show the way.

195.1 استقال (istaqāla) — to resign

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to smell, then the Arabic for to hold.

You'll want to know: استقال

استقال — istaqāla — "to resign".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقال (istaqāla) is built on the native Arabic root q-y-l, "to cancel a bargain" (Lane). Istaqāla is Form X, "to ask to be released".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istaqāla
- Say it: istaqāla, once more
- Say it: say istaqāla
- Recall: say the Arabic for to smell, then the Arabic for to hold, then say istaqāla again

Before you move on

What does استقال mean? ("To resign".) Say it once more.

195.2 أدار (adāra) — to manage, to run

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hold, then the Arabic for to resign.

You'll want to know: أدار

أدار — adāra — "to manage, to run".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أدار (adāra) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-r, "to turn round" (Lane). Adāra is Form IV, "to make turn", to run a thing.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: adāra
- Say it: adāra, once more
- Say it: say adāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hold, then the Arabic for to resign, then say adāra again

Before you move on

What does أدار mean? ("To manage, to run".) Say it once more.

195.3 قابل (qābala) — to meet (someone)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to resign, then the Arabic for to manage.

You'll want to know: قابل

قابل — qābala — "to meet (someone)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قابل (qābala) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to face" (Lane). Qābala is Form III, "to meet face to face".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qābala
- Say it: qābala, once more
- Say it: say qābala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to resign, then the Arabic for to manage, then say qābala again

Before you move on

What does قابل mean? ("To meet (someone)".) Say it once more.

195.4 ضل (ḍalla) — to get lost

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to manage, then the Arabic for to meet.

You'll want to know: ضل

ضل — ḍalla — "to get lost".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضل (ḍalla) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-l-l, "to go astray" (Lane). The word ḍalla is the plain verb, "he lost his way".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍalla
- Say it: ḍalla, once more
- Say it: say ḍalla
- Recall: say the Arabic for to manage, then the Arabic for to meet, then say ḍalla again

Before you move on

What does ضل mean? ("To get lost".) Say it once more.

195.5 دل (dalla) — to show the way, to direct

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to meet, then the Arabic for to get lost.

You'll want to know: دل

دل — dalla — "to show the way, to direct".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دل (dalla) is built on the native Arabic root d-l-l, "to guide, to direct" (Lane). Dalla is the plain verb, "he showed the way".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dalla
- Say it: dalla, once more
- Say it: say dalla
- Recall: say the Arabic for to meet, then the Arabic for to get lost, then say dalla again

Before you move on

What does دل mean? ("To show the way, to direct".) Say it once more.

Chapter 196

To plant, To pick, To rain, To congratulate, To trust

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to plant, to pick, to rain, to congratulate and to trust.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 196: I can say to plant, to pick, to rain, to congratulate and to trust.

196.1 زرع (zara^{c}a) — to plant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get lost, then the Arabic for to show the way.

You'll want to know: زرع

زرع — zara^{c}a — "to plant".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زرع (zara^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root z-r-^{c}, "to sow" (Lane). Zara^{c}a is the plain verb, "he sowed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zara^{c}a
- Say it: zara^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say zara^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get lost, then the Arabic for to show the way, then say zara^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does زرع mean? ("To plant".) Say it once more.

196.2 قطف (qaṭafa) — to pick (fruit, flowers)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to show the way, then the Arabic for to plant.

You'll want to know: قطف

قطف — qaṭafa — "to pick (fruit, flowers)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطف (qaṭafa) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-f, "to pluck, to gather" (Lane). Qaṭafa is the plain verb, "he plucked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṭafa
- Say it: qaṭafa, once more
- Say it: say qaṭafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to show the way, then the Arabic for to plant, then say qaṭafa again

Before you move on

What does قطف mean? ("To pick (fruit, flowers)".) Say it once more.

196.3 أمطر (amṭara) — to rain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to plant, then the Arabic for to pick.

You'll want to know: أمطر

أمطر — amṭara — "to rain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمطر (amṭara) is built on the native Arabic root m-ṭ-r, "rain; to rain" (Lane). Amṭara is Form IV, "to rain".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: amṭara
- Say it: amṭara, once more
- Say it: say amṭara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to plant, then the Arabic for to pick, then say amṭara again

Before you move on

What does أمطر mean? ("To rain".) Say it once more.

196.4 هنأ (hannaʾa) — to congratulate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pick, then the Arabic for to rain.

You'll want to know: هنأ

هنأ — hannaʾa — "to congratulate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هنأ (hannaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root h-n-ʾ, "to be wholesome, to be pleasant" (Lane). Hannaʾa is Form II, "to wish one joy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hannaʾa
- Say it: hannaʾa, once more
- Say it: say hannaʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pick, then the Arabic for to rain, then say hannaʾa again

Before you move on

What does هنأ mean? ("To congratulate".) Say it once more.

196.5 وثق (wathiqa) — to trust

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to rain, then the Arabic for to congratulate.

You'll want to know: وثق

وثق — wathiqa — "to trust".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وثق (wathiqa) is built on the native Arabic root w-th-q, "to trust; to be firm" (Lane). Wathiqa is the plain verb, "he trusted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wathiqa
- Say it: wathiqa, once more
- Say it: say wathiqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to rain, then the Arabic for to congratulate, then say wathiqa again

Before you move on

What does وثق mean? ("To trust".) Say it once more.

Chapter 197

To discuss, To compare, To notice, To pay attention, To consider

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to discuss, to compare, to notice, to pay attention and to consider.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 197: I can say to discuss, to compare, to notice, to pay attention and to consider.

197.1 ناقش (nāqasha) — to discuss

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to congratulate, then the Arabic for to trust.

You'll want to know: ناقش

ناقش — nāqasha — "to discuss".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناقش (nāqasha) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-sh, "to engrave; to question closely" (Lane). Nāqasha is Form III, "to debate".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nāqasha
- Say it: nāqasha, once more
- Say it: say nāqasha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to congratulate, then the Arabic for to trust, then say nāqasha again

Before you move on

What does ناقش mean? ("To discuss".) Say it once more.

197.2 قارن (qārana) — to compare

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to trust, then the Arabic for to discuss.

You'll want to know: قارن

قارن — qārana — "to compare".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قارن (qārana) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-n, "to join, to couple" (Lane). Qārana is Form III, "to set side by side".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qārana
- Say it: qārana, once more
- Say it: say qārana
- Recall: say the Arabic for to trust, then the Arabic for to discuss, then say qārana again

Before you move on

What does قارن mean? ("To compare".) Say it once more.

197.3 لاحظ (lāḥaẓa) — to notice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to discuss, then the Arabic for to compare.

You'll want to know: لاحظ

لاحظ — lāḥaẓa — "to notice".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لاحظ (lāḥaẓa) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-ẓ, "to look with the corner of the eye" (Lane). Lāḥaẓa is Form III, "to observe".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lāḥaẓa
- Say it: lāḥaẓa, once more
- Say it: say lāḥaẓa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to discuss, then the Arabic for to compare, then say lāḥaẓa again

Before you move on

What does لاحظ mean? ("To notice".) Say it once more.

197.4 انتبه (intabaha) — to pay attention

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to compare, then the Arabic for to notice.

You'll want to know: انتبه

انتبه — intabaha — "to pay attention".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتبه (intabaha) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-h, "to take notice, to become aware" (Lane). Intabaha is Form VIII, "to become alert".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: intabaha
- Say it: intabaha, once more
- Say it: say intabaha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to compare, then the Arabic for to notice, then say intabaha again

Before you move on

What does انتبه mean? ("To pay attention".) Say it once more.

197.5 اعتبر (i^{c}tabara) — to consider, to regard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to notice, then the Arabic for to pay attention.

You'll want to know: اعتبر

اعتبر — i^{c}tabara — "to consider, to regard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتبر (i^{c}tabara) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-b-r, "to cross" (Lane). I^{c}tabara is Form VIII, "to pass from one thing to another in thought", to consider.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: i^{c}tabara
- Say it: i^{c}tabara, once more
- Say it: say i^{c}tabara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to notice, then the Arabic for to pay attention, then say i^{c}tabara again

Before you move on

What does اعتبر mean? ("To consider, to regard".) Say it once more.

Chapter 198

To allow, To prevent, To happen, To fall, To dig

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to allow, to prevent, to happen, to fall and to dig.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 198: I can say to allow, to prevent, to happen, to fall and to dig.

198.1 سمح (samaḥa) — to allow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pay attention, then the Arabic for to consider.

You'll want to know: سمح

سمح — samaḥa — "to allow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سمح (samaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-ḥ, "to be generous, to grant" (Lane). Samaḥa is the plain verb, "he allowed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: samaḥa
- Say it: samaḥa, once more
- Say it: say samaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pay attention, then the Arabic for to consider, then say samaḥa again

Before you move on

What does سمح mean? ("To allow".) Say it once more.

198.2 منع (mana^{c}a) — to prevent, to forbid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to consider, then the Arabic for to allow.

You'll want to know: منع

منع — mana^{c}a — "to prevent, to forbid".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منع (mana^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root m-n-^{c}, "to prevent" (Lane). Mana^{c}a is the plain verb, "he prevented".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mana^{c}a
- Say it: mana^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say mana^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to consider, then the Arabic for to allow, then say mana^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does منع mean? ("To prevent, to forbid".) Say it once more.

198.3 حدث (ḥadatha) — to happen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to allow, then the Arabic for to prevent.

You'll want to know: حدث

حدث — ḥadatha — "to happen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حدث (ḥadatha) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-th, "to be new; to happen" (Lane). Ḥadatha is the plain verb, "it happened".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥadatha
- Say it: ḥadatha, once more
- Say it: say ḥadatha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to allow, then the Arabic for to prevent, then say ḥadatha again

Before you move on

What does حدث mean? ("To happen".) Say it once more.

198.4 سقط (saqaṭa) — to fall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prevent, then the Arabic for to happen.

You'll want to know: سقط

سقط — saqaṭa — "to fall".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سقط (saqaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root s-q-ṭ, "to fall" (Lane). Saqaṭa is the plain verb, "it fell".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: saqaṭa
- Say it: saqaṭa, once more
- Say it: say saqaṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prevent, then the Arabic for to happen, then say saqaṭa again

Before you move on

What does سقط mean? ("To fall".) Say it once more.

198.5 حفر (ḥafara) — to dig

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to happen, then the Arabic for to fall.

You'll want to know: حفر

حفر — ḥafara — "to dig".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حفر (ḥafara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-r, "to dig" (Lane). Ḥafara is the plain verb, "he dug".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥafara
- Say it: ḥafara, once more
- Say it: say ḥafara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to happen, then the Arabic for to fall, then say ḥafara again

Before you move on

What does حفر mean? ("To dig".) Say it once more.

Chapter 199

To shake, To bite, To blow, To whisper, To harvest

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to shake, to bite, to blow, to whisper and to harvest.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 199: I can say to shake, to bite, to blow, to whisper and to harvest.

199.1 هز (hazza) — to shake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fall, then the Arabic for to dig.

You'll want to know: هز

هز — hazza — "to shake".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هز (hazza) is built on the native Arabic root h-z-z, "to shake" (Lane). Hazza is the plain verb, "he shook".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hazza
- Say it: hazza, once more
- Say it: say hazza
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fall, then the Arabic for to dig, then say hazza again

Before you move on

What does هز mean? ("To shake".) Say it once more.

199.2 عض (ᶜaḍḍa) — to bite

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to dig, then the Arabic for to shake.

You'll want to know: عض

عض — ᶜaḍḍa — "to bite".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عض (ᶜaḍḍa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ḍ-ḍ, "to bite" (Lane). ᶜAḍḍa is the plain verb, "he bit".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaḍḍa
- Say it: ᶜaḍḍa, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaḍḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to dig, then the Arabic for to shake, then say ᶜaḍḍa again

Before you move on

What does عض mean? ("To bite".) Say it once more.

199.3 نفخ (nafakha) — to blow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shake, then the Arabic for to bite.

You'll want to know: نفخ

نفخ — nafakha — "to blow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفخ (nafakha) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-kh, "to blow" (Lane). Nafakha is the plain verb, "he blew".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nafakha
- Say it: nafakha, once more
- Say it: say nafakha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shake, then the Arabic for to bite, then say nafakha again

Before you move on

What does نفخ mean? ("To blow".) Say it once more.

199.4 همس (hamasa) — to whisper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bite, then the Arabic for to blow.

You'll want to know: همس

همس — hamasa — "to whisper".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

همس (hamasa) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-s, "to whisper" (Lane). Hamasa is the plain verb, "he whispered".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hamasa
- Say it: hamasa, once more
- Say it: say hamasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bite, then the Arabic for to blow, then say hamasa again

Before you move on

What does همس mean? ("To whisper".) Say it once more.

199.5 حصد (ḥaṣada) — to harvest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to blow, then the Arabic for to whisper.

You'll want to know: حصد

حصد — ḥaṣada — "to harvest".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حصد (ḥaṣada) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṣ-d, "to reap" (Lane). Ḥaṣada is the plain verb, "he reaped".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaṣada
- Say it: ḥaṣada, once more
- Say it: say ḥaṣada
- Recall: say the Arabic for to blow, then the Arabic for to whisper, then say ḥaṣada again

Before you move on

What does حصد mean? ("To harvest".) Say it once more.

Chapter 200

Cold, Cough, Allergy, Wound, Health

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a cold, a cough, an allergy, a wound and health.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 200: I can say a cold, a cough, an allergy, a wound and health.

200.1 زكام (zukām) — a cold (illness)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to whisper, then the Arabic for to harvest.

You'll want to know: زكام

زكام — zukām — "a cold (illness)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زكام (zukām) is built on the native Arabic root z-k-m, "to have a cold" (Lane). Zukām has the fu^{c}āl shape of illness words, like su^{c}āl, "a cough".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zukām
- Say it: zukām, once more
- Say it: say zukām
- Recall: say the Arabic for to whisper, then the Arabic for to harvest, then say zukām again

Before you move on

What does زكام mean? ("A cold (illness)".) Say it once more.

200.2 سعال (su^{c}āl) — a cough

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to harvest, then the Arabic for a cold.

You'll want to know: سعال

سعال — su^{c}āl — "a cough".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سعال (su^{c}āl) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-l, "to cough" (Lane). Su^{c}āl has the fu^{c}āl shape of illness words, like zukām, "a cold".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: su^{c}āl
- Say it: su^{c}āl, once more
- Say it: say su^{c}āl
- Recall: say the Arabic for to harvest, then the Arabic for a cold, then say su^{c}āl again

Before you move on

What does سعال mean? ("A cough".) Say it once more.

200.3 حساسية (ḥassāsiyya) — an allergy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cold, then the Arabic for a cough.

You'll want to know: حساسية

حساسية — ḥassāsiyya — "an allergy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حساسية (ḥassāsiyya) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-s, "to perceive" (Lane). Ḥassāsiyya is a modern abstract noun from ḥassās, "sensitive".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥassāsiyya
- Say it: ḥassāsiyya, once more
- Say it: say ḥassāsiyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cold, then the Arabic for a cough, then say ḥassāsiyya again

Before you move on

What does حساسية mean? ("An allergy".) Say it once more.

200.4 جرح (jurḥ) — a wound

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cough, then the Arabic for an allergy.

You'll want to know: جرح

جرح — jurḥ — "a wound".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرح (jurḥ) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-ḥ, "to wound" (Lane). Jurḥ is a wound.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jurḥ
- Say it: jurḥ, once more
- Say it: say jurḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cough, then the Arabic for an allergy, then say jurḥ again

Before you move on

What does جرح mean? ("A wound".) Say it once more.

200.5 صحة (ṣiḥḥa) — health

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an allergy, then the Arabic for a wound.

You'll want to know: صحة

صحة — ṣiḥḥa — "health".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحة (ṣiḥḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-ḥ, "to be sound, healthy" (Lane). Ṣiḥḥa is soundness, health.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣiḥḥa
- Say it: ṣiḥḥa, once more
- Say it: say ṣiḥḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for an allergy, then the Arabic for a wound, then say ṣiḥḥa again

Before you move on

What does صحة mean? ("Health".) Say it once more.

200.6 Words from chapters 192-195 — a first pass

Say the words for a wound and health.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to ride, to pay; to push, to save, to receive, to cost
- to take off, to try, to measure, to bargain, to go shopping
- to swallow, to chew, to touch, to smell, to hold
- to resign, to manage, to meet, to get lost, to show the way

Before you move on

To ride? (ركب, rakiba.) To pay; to push? (دفع, dafaᶜa.) To save? (وفر, waffara.) To receive? (استلم, istalama.) To cost? (كلف, kallafa.) To take off? (خلع, khalaᶜa.) To try? (جرب, jarraba.) To measure? (قاس, qāsa.) To bargain? (ساوم, sāwama.) To go shopping? (تسوق, tasawwaqa.) To swallow? (ابتلع, ibtalaᶜa.) To chew? (مضغ, maḍagha.) To touch? (لمس, lamasa.) To smell? (شم, shamma.) To hold? (أمسك, amsaka.) To resign? (استقال, istaqāla.) To manage? (أدار, adāra.) To meet? (قابل, qābala.) To get lost? (ضل, ḍalla.) To show the way? (دل, dalla.)

200.7 Words from chapters 196-200 — a second pass

Say the words for to plant and to pick.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to plant, to pick, to rain, to congratulate, to trust
- to discuss, to compare, to notice, to pay attention, to consider
- to allow, to prevent, to happen, to fall, to dig
- to shake, to bite, to blow, to whisper, to harvest
- a cold, a cough, an allergy, a wound, health

Before you move on

To plant? (زرع, zaraᶜa.) To pick? (قطف, qaṭafa.) To rain? (أمطر, amṭara.) To congratulate? (هنأ, hannaʾa.) To trust? (وثق, wathiqa.) To discuss? (ناقش, nāqasha.) To compare? (قارن, qārana.) To notice? (لاحظ, lāḥaẓa.) To pay attention? (انتبه, intabaha.) To consider? (اعتبر, iᶜtabara.) To allow? (سمح, samaḥa.) To prevent? (منع, manaᶜa.) To happen? (حدث, ḥadatha.) To fall? (سقط, saqaṭa.) To dig? (حفر, ḥafara.) To shake? (هز, hazza.) To bite? (عض, ᶜaḍḍa.) To blow? (نفخ, nafakha.) To whisper? (همس, hamasa.) To harvest? (حصد, ḥaṣada.) A cold? (زكام, zukām.) A cough? (سعال, suᶜāl.) An allergy? (حساسية, ḥassāsiyya.) A wound? (جرح, jurḥ.) Health? (صحة, ṣiḥḥa.)

Chapter 201

Injection, Operation, Bruise, Burn, Stomach cramp

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an injection, an operation, a bruise, a burn and a stomach cramp.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 201: I can say an injection, an operation, a bruise, a burn and a stomach cramp.

201.1 حقنة (ḥuqna) — an injection

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wound, then the Arabic for health.

You'll want to know: حقنة

حقنة — ḥuqna — "an injection".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقنة (ḥuqna) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-n, "to retain; to give a clyster" (Lane). Lane's ḥuqna is a clyster, a medicine given by the gut; the injection is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥuqna
- Say it: ḥuqna, once more
- Say it: say ḥuqna
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wound, then the Arabic for health, then say ḥuqna again

Before you move on

What does حقنة mean? ("An injection".) Say it once more.

201.2 عملية (ᶜamaliyya) — an operation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for health, then the Arabic for an injection.

You'll want to know: عملية

عملية — ᶜamaliyya — "an operation".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عملية (ᶜamaliyya) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-l, "to work, to do" (Lane). ᶜAmaliyya is a modern abstract noun from ᶜamal, "work": an operation.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜamaliyya
- Say it: ᶜamaliyya, once more
- Say it: say ᶜamaliyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for health, then the Arabic for an injection, then say ᶜamaliyya again

Before you move on

What does عملية mean? ("An operation".) Say it once more.

201.3 كدمة (kadma) — a bruise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an injection, then the Arabic for an operation.

You'll want to know: كدمة

كدمة — kadma — "a bruise".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كدمة (kadma) is built on the native Arabic root k-d-m, "to bite with the front of the mouth" (Lane). Kadma, one bite, is a bruise in modern use; Lane does not list it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kadma
- Say it: kadma, once more
- Say it: say kadma
- Recall: say the Arabic for an injection, then the Arabic for an operation, then say kadma again

Before you move on

What does كدمة mean? ("A bruise".) Say it once more.

201.4 حرق (ḥarq) — a burn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an operation, then the Arabic for a bruise.

You'll want to know: حرق

حرق — ḥarq — "a burn".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرق (ḥarq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-q, "to burn" (Lane). Ḥarq is the verbal noun, "burning", hence "a burn".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarq
- Say it: ḥarq, once more
- Say it: say ḥarq
- Recall: say the Arabic for an operation, then the Arabic for a bruise, then say ḥarq again

Before you move on

What does حرق mean? ("A burn".) Say it once more.

201.5 مغص (maghaṣ) — a stomach cramp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bruise, then the Arabic for a burn.

You'll want to know: مغص

مغص — maghaṣ — "a stomach cramp".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغص (maghaṣ) is built on the native Arabic root m-gh-ṣ, "colic" (Lane). Lane's maghṣ is a griping pain in the belly.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maghaṣ
- Say it: maghaṣ, once more
- Say it: say maghaṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bruise, then the Arabic for a burn, then say maghaṣ again

Before you move on

What does مغص mean? ("A stomach cramp".) Say it once more.

Chapter 202

Usually, Immediately, Later, Date, Moment

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say usually, immediately, later, a date and a moment.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 202: I can say usually, immediately, later, a date and a moment.

202.1 غالبا (ghāliban) — usually, mostly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a burn, then the Arabic for a stomach cramp.

You'll want to know: غالبا

غالبا — ghāliban — "usually, mostly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غالبا (ghāliban) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-b, "to overcome" (Lane). Ghāliban is the active participle, "prevailing", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāliban
- Say it: ghāliban, once more
- Say it: say ghāliban
- Recall: say the Arabic for a burn, then the Arabic for a stomach cramp, then say ghāliban again

Before you move on

What does غالبا mean? ("Usually, mostly".) Say it once more.

202.2 فورا (fawran) — immediately

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stomach cramp, then the Arabic for usually.

You'll want to know: فورا

فورا — fawran — "immediately".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فورا (fawran) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-r, "to boil, to gush" (Lane). Fawran is fawr, "the first moment of boiling", with the adverb ending -an: "at once".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fawran
- Say it: fawran, once more
- Say it: say fawran
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stomach cramp, then the Arabic for usually, then say fawran again

Before you move on

What does فورا mean? ("Immediately".) Say it once more.

202.3 لاحقا (lāḥiqan) — later

Before the new one: say the Arabic for usually, then the Arabic for immediately.

You'll want to know: لاحقا

لاحقا — lāḥiqan — "later".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لاحقا (lāḥiqan) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-q, "to overtake, to follow" (Lane). Lāḥiqan is the active participle, "following", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lāḥiqan
- Say it: lāḥiqan, once more
- Say it: say lāḥiqan
- Recall: say the Arabic for usually, then the Arabic for immediately, then say lāḥiqan again

Before you move on

What does لاحقا mean? ("Later".) Say it once more.

202.4 تاريخ (tārīkh) — a date; history

Before the new one: say the Arabic for immediately, then the Arabic for later.

You'll want to know: تاريخ

تاريخ — tārīkh — "a date; history".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تاريخ (tārīkh) is disputed in Lane's sources: some call it arabicized, borrowed from the people of the Bible, and Lane compares Hebrew yeraḥ, "month"; others give it a native root ʾ-r-kh, "to date". The origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tārīkh
- Say it: tārīkh, once more
- Say it: say tārīkh
- Recall: say the Arabic for immediately, then the Arabic for later, then say tārīkh again

Before you move on

What does تاريخ mean? ("A date; history".) Say it once more.

202.5 لحظة (laḥẓa) — a moment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for later, then the Arabic for a date; history.

You'll want to know: لحظة

لحظة — laḥẓa — "a moment".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لحظة (laḥẓa) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-ẓ, "to look with the corner of the eye" (Lane). Laḥẓa is one glance, a moment.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: laḥẓa
- Say it: laḥẓa, once more
- Say it: say laḥẓa
- Recall: say the Arabic for later, then the Arabic for a date; history, then say laḥẓa again

Before you move on

What does لحظة mean? ("A moment".) Say it once more.

Chapter 203

Previously, Finally, During, Century, Weekly

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say previously, finally, during, a century and weekly.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 203: I can say previously, finally, during, a century and weekly.

203.1 سابقا (sābiqan) — previously, formerly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a date; history, then the Arabic for a moment.

You'll want to know: سابقا

سابقا — sābiqan — "previously, formerly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سابقا (sābiqan) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-q, "to go before, to outstrip" (Lane). Sābiqan is the active participle, "preceding", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sābiqan
- Say it: sābiqan, once more
- Say it: say sābiqan
- Recall: say the Arabic for a date; history, then the Arabic for a moment, then say sābiqan again

Before you move on

What does سابقا mean? ("Previously, formerly".) Say it once more.

203.2 أخيرا (akhīran) — finally, at last

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a moment, then the Arabic for previously.

You'll want to know: أخيرا

أخيرا — akhīran — "finally, at last".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخيرا (akhīran) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-kh-r, "to come after, to be late" (Lane). Akhīran is akhīr, "last", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: akhīran
- Say it: akhīran, once more
- Say it: say akhīran
- Recall: say the Arabic for a moment, then the Arabic for previously, then say akhīran again

Before you move on

What does أخيرا mean? ("Finally, at last".) Say it once more.

203.3 أثناء (athnāʾa) — during

Before the new one: say the Arabic for previously, then the Arabic for finally.

You'll want to know: أثناء

أثناء — athnāʾa — "during".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أثناء (athnāʾa) is built on the native Arabic root th-n-y, "to fold, to bend; two" (Lane). Athnāʾ is a plural, "folds, intervals": "during" is "in the folds of".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: athnāʾa
- Say it: athnāʾa, once more
- Say it: say athnāʾa
- Recall: say the Arabic for previously, then the Arabic for finally, then say athnāʾa again

Before you move on

What does أثناء mean? ("During".) Say it once more.

203.4 قرن (qarn) — a century

Before the new one: say the Arabic for finally, then the Arabic for during.

You'll want to know: قرن

قرن — qarn — "a century".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرن (qarn) is a native noun on the root q-r-n, "to join, to couple" (Lane). Lane's qarn is a horn and a generation of men; the century is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarn
- Say it: qarn, once more
- Say it: say qarn
- Recall: say the Arabic for finally, then the Arabic for during, then say qarn again

Before you move on

What does قرن mean? ("A century".) Say it once more.

203.5 أسبوعي (usbūᶜī) — weekly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for during, then the Arabic for a century.

You'll want to know: أسبوعي

أسبوعي — usbūᶜī — "weekly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسبوعي (usbūᶜī) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-ᶜ, "seven" (Lane). Usbūᶜī is usbūᶜ, "week", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: usbū^{c}ī
- Say it: usbū^{c}ī, once more
- Say it: say usbū^{c}ī
- Recall: say the Arabic for during, then the Arabic for a century, then say usbū^{c}ī again

Before you move on

What does أسبوعي mean? ("Weekly".) Say it once more.

Chapter 204

Towards, Area, Centre, Capital city, Where

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say towards, an area, a centre, a capital city and where.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 204: I can say towards, an area, a centre, a capital city and where.

204.1 نحو (naḥwa) — towards

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a century, then the Arabic for weekly.

You'll want to know: نحو

نحو — naḥwa — "towards".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نحو (naḥwa) is built on the native Arabic root n-ḥ-w, "to go towards" (Lane). Naḥwa is "towards"; the same word names Arabic grammar, naḥw.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: naḥwa
- Say it: naḥwa, once more
- Say it: say naḥwa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a century, then the Arabic for weekly, then say naḥwa again

Before you move on

What does نحو mean? ("Towards".) Say it once more.

204.2 منطقة (minṭaqa) — an area, a district

Before the new one: say the Arabic for weekly, then the Arabic for towards.

You'll want to know: منطقة

منطقة — minṭaqa — "an area, a district".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منطقة (minṭaqa) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṭ-q, "to speak" (Lane). Lane's minṭaqa is a girdle; the zone, like Greek zōnē, "belt", probably grew from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: minṭaqa
- Say it: minṭaqa, once more
- Say it: say minṭaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for weekly, then the Arabic for towards, then say minṭaqa again

Before you move on

What does منطقة mean? ("An area, a district".) Say it once more.

204.3 مركز (markaz) — a centre

Before the new one: say the Arabic for towards, then the Arabic for an area.

You'll want to know: مركز

مركز — markaz — "a centre".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مركز (markaz) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-z, "to plant (a spear) upright" (Lane). Lane's markaz is the place where a spear is planted upright; the centre grew from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: markaz
- Say it: markaz, once more
- Say it: say markaz
- Recall: say the Arabic for towards, then the Arabic for an area, then say markaz again

Before you move on

What does مركز mean? ("A centre".) Say it once more.

204.4 عاصمة (ᶜāṣima) — a capital city

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an area, then the Arabic for a centre.

You'll want to know: عاصمة

عاصمة — ᶜāṣima — "a capital city".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاصمة (ᶜāṣima) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-m, "to protect, to hold back" (Lane). ᶜĀṣima is the feminine active participle, "one that protects"; the capital city is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāṣima
- Say it: ᶜāṣima, once more
- Say it: say ᶜāṣima
- Recall: say the Arabic for an area, then the Arabic for a centre, then say ᶜāṣima again

Before you move on

What does عاصمة mean? ("A capital city".) Say it once more.

204.5 أين (ayna) — where

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a centre, then the Arabic for a capital city.

You'll want to know: أين

أين — ayna — "where".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أين (ayna) is listed by Lane under ʾ-y-n as an adverbial noun that asks about place. It is not built on a verbal root; Hebrew ʾayyē, "where", is usually compared.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ayna
- Say it: ayna, once more
- Say it: say ayna
- Recall: say the Arabic for a centre, then the Arabic for a capital city, then say ayna again

Before you move on

What does أين mean? ("Where".) Say it once more.

Chapter 205

Nature, Dust, Mud, Borders, Planet

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say nature, dust, mud, borders and a planet.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 205: I can say nature, dust, mud, borders and a planet.

205.1 طبيعة (ṭabīᶜa) — nature

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a capital city, then the Arabic for where.

You'll want to know: طبيعة

طبيعة — ṭabīᶜa — "nature".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبيعة (ṭabīᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-ᶜ, "to seal, to stamp" (Lane). Ṭabīᶜa is the impress stamped on a thing, its natural disposition: nature.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabīᶜa
- Say it: ṭabīᶜa, once more
- Say it: say ṭabīᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a capital city, then the Arabic for where, then say ṭabīᶜa again

Before you move on

What does طبيعة mean? ("Nature".) Say it once more.

205.2 تراب (turāb) — dust, soil

Before the new one: say the Arabic for where, then the Arabic for nature.

You'll want to know: تراب

تراب — turāb — "dust, soil".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تراب (turāb), "dust, earth", is an old native noun, listed under the root t-r-b (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to become dusty".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: turāb
- Say it: turāb, once more
- Say it: say turāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for where, then the Arabic for nature, then say turāb again

Before you move on

What does تراب mean? ("Dust, soil".) Say it once more.

205.3 طين (ṭīn) — mud, clay

Before the new one: say the Arabic for nature, then the Arabic for dust.

You'll want to know: طين

طين — ṭīn — "mud, clay".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طين (ṭīn), "clay, mud", is an old native noun, listed under the root ṭ-y-n (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to plaster with clay".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭīn
- Say it: ṭīn, once more
- Say it: say ṭīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for nature, then the Arabic for dust, then say ṭīn again

Before you move on

What does طين mean? ("Mud, clay".) Say it once more.

205.4 حدود (ḥudūd) — borders

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dust, then the Arabic for mud.

You'll want to know: حدود

حدود — ḥudūd — "borders".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حدود (ḥudūd) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-d, "to sharpen; a limit" (Lane). Ḥudūd is the plural of ḥadd, "a limit, a boundary".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥudūd
- Say it: ḥudūd, once more
- Say it: say ḥudūd
- Recall: say the Arabic for dust, then the Arabic for mud, then say ḥudūd again

Before you move on

What does حدود mean? ("Borders".) Say it once more.

205.5 كوكب (kawkab) — a planet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mud, then the Arabic for borders.

You'll want to know: كوكب

كوكب — kawkab — "a planet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كوكب (kawkab) is listed by Lane under k-k-b, where he notes the grammarians' dispute over its letters and suggests, in his own note, that it came from Hebrew kōkhāv, "star". The two are better taken as Semitic cousins.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kawkab
- Say it: kawkab, once more
- Say it: say kawkab
- Recall: say the Arabic for mud, then the Arabic for borders, then say kawkab again

Before you move on

What does كوكب mean? ("A planet".) Say it once more.

Chapter 206

Perhaps, Problem, Solution, Joy, Fear

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say perhaps, a problem, a solution, joy and fear.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 206: I can say perhaps, a problem, a solution, joy and fear.

206.1 ربما (rubbamā) — perhaps, maybe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for borders, then the Arabic for a planet.

You'll want to know: ربما

ربما — rubbamā — "perhaps, maybe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ربما (rubbamā) is built from rubba, "many a", and mā. Lane gives rubba as a particle with some seventy dialect forms, rubbamā among them.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rubbamā
- Say it: rubbamā, once more
- Say it: say rubbamā
- Recall: say the Arabic for borders, then the Arabic for a planet, then say rubbamā again

Before you move on

What does ربما mean? ("Perhaps, maybe".) Say it once more.

206.2 مشكلة (mushkila) — a problem

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a planet, then the Arabic for perhaps.

You'll want to know: مشكلة

مشكلة — mushkila — "a problem".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشكلة (mushkila) is built on the native Arabic root sh-k-l, "to resemble; to be confused" (Lane). Mushkila is the Form IV participle, "a matter that confuses".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mushkila
- Say it: mushkila, once more
- Say it: say mushkila
- Recall: say the Arabic for a planet, then the Arabic for perhaps, then say mushkila again

Before you move on

What does مشكلة mean? ("A problem".) Say it once more.

206.3 حل (ḥall) — a solution

Before the new one: say the Arabic for perhaps, then the Arabic for a problem.

You'll want to know: حل

حل — ḥall — "a solution".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حل (ḥall) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-l, "to untie; to alight" (Lane). Ḥall is "untying", hence "a solution".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥall
- Say it: ḥall, once more
- Say it: say ḥall
- Recall: say the Arabic for perhaps, then the Arabic for a problem, then say ḥall again

Before you move on

What does حل mean? ("A solution".) Say it once more.

206.4 بهجة (bahja) — joy, delight

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a problem, then the Arabic for a solution.

You'll want to know: بهجة

بهجة — bahja — "joy, delight".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بهجة (bahja) is built on the native Arabic root b-h-j, "to be beautiful, to gladden" (Lane). Bahja is joy.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bahja
- Say it: bahja, once more
- Say it: say bahja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a problem, then the Arabic for a solution, then say bahja again

Before you move on

What does بهجة mean? ("Joy, delight".) Say it once more.

206.5 خوف (khawf) — fear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a solution, then the Arabic for joy.

You'll want to know: خوف

خوف — khawf — "fear".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خوف (khawf) is built on the native Arabic root kh-w-f, "to fear" (Lane). Khawf is the verbal noun, "fear".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khawf
- Say it: khawf, once more
- Say it: say khawf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a solution, then the Arabic for joy, then say khawf again

Before you move on

What does خوف mean? ("Fear".) Say it once more.

Chapter 207

Only, Very, Even, If, As

Modes: 🎧 voice (5) 🎧 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say only, very, even, if and as.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 207: I can say only, very, even, if and as.

207.1 فقط (faqaṭ) — only

Before the new one: say the Arabic for joy, then the Arabic for fear.

You'll want to know: فقط

فقط — faqaṭ — "only".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فقط (faqaṭ) is built from fa-, "and so", and qaṭ, "enough", which Lane gives as an old word of being satisfied.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: faqaṭ

- Say it: faqaṭ, once more
- Say it: say faqaṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for joy, then the Arabic for fear, then say faqaṭ again

Before you move on

What does فقط mean? ("Only".) Say it once more.

207.2 جدا (jiddan) — very

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fear, then the Arabic for only.

You'll want to know: جدا

جدا — jiddan — "very".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدا (jiddan) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-d, "to be in earnest" (Lane). Jiddan is jidd, "earnestness", with the adverb ending -an: "in earnest", hence "very".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jiddan
- Say it: jiddan, once more
- Say it: say jiddan
- Recall: say the Arabic for fear, then the Arabic for only, then say jiddan again

Before you move on

What does جدا mean? ("Very".) Say it once more.

207.3 حتى (ḥattā) — even; until

Before the new one: say the Arabic for only, then the Arabic for very.

You'll want to know: حتى

حتى — ḥattā — "even; until".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حتى (ḥattā) is an old particle that marks the end of an extent; Lane describes its three uses. It is not built on a three-letter root, and its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥattā
- Say it: ḥattā, once more
- Say it: say ḥattā
- Recall: say the Arabic for only, then the Arabic for very, then say ḥattā again

Before you move on

What does حتى mean? ("Even; until".) Say it once more.

207.4 إذا (idhā) — if

Before the new one: say the Arabic for very, then the Arabic for even; until.

You'll want to know: إذا

إذا — idhā — "if".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إذا (idhā) is an old particle of time and condition, kin to idh, "when". It is not built on a three-letter root, and its deeper origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: idhā
- Say it: idhā, once more
- Say it: say idhā
- Recall: say the Arabic for very, then the Arabic for even; until, then say idhā again

Before you move on

What does إذا mean? ("If".) Say it once more.

207.5 كما (kamā) — as, in the same way as

Before the new one: say the Arabic for even; until, then the Arabic for if.

You'll want to know: كما

كما — kamā — "as, in the same way as".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كما (kamā) is built from ka-, "like", and mā, "what": "like what", hence "as".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kamā
- Say it: kamā, once more
- Say it: say kamā
- Recall: say the Arabic for even; until, then the Arabic for if, then say kamā again

Before you move on

What does كما mean? ("As, in the same way as".) Say it once more.

Chapter 208

Meaning, Example, Freedom, Rule, Way

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a meaning, an example, freedom, a rule and a way.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 208: I can say a meaning, an example, freedom, a rule and a way.

208.1 معنى (ma^{c}nā) — a meaning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for if, then the Arabic for as.

You'll want to know: معنى

معنى — ma^{c}nā — "a meaning".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معنى (ma^{c}nā) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-n-y, "to mean, to intend" (Lane). Ma^{c}nā is "what is meant".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}nā
- Say it: ma^{c}nā, once more
- Say it: say ma^{c}nā
- Recall: say the Arabic for if, then the Arabic for as, then say ma^{c}nā again

Before you move on

What does معنى mean? ("A meaning".) Say it once more.

208.2 مثال (mithāl) — an example

Before the new one: say the Arabic for as, then the Arabic for a meaning.

You'll want to know: مثال

مثال — mithāl — "an example".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مثال (mithāl) is built on the native Arabic root m-th-l, "to be like" (Lane). Mithāl is a likeness, a pattern, hence "an example".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mithāl
- Say it: mithāl, once more
- Say it: say mithāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for as, then the Arabic for a meaning, then say mithāl again

Before you move on

What does مثال mean? ("An example".) Say it once more.

208.3 حرية (ḥurriyya) — freedom

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a meaning, then the Arabic for an example.

You'll want to know: حرية

حرية — ḥurriyya — "freedom".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرية (ḥurriyya) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-r, "to be free; to be hot" (Lane). Ḥurriyya is ḥurr, "free", with the abstract ending -iyya.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥurriyya
- Say it: ḥurriyya, once more
- Say it: say ḥurriyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a meaning, then the Arabic for an example, then say ḥurriyya again

Before you move on

What does حرية mean? ("Freedom".) Say it once more.

208.4 قاعدة (qāᶜida) — a rule

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an example, then the Arabic for freedom.

You'll want to know: قاعدة

قاعدة — qāᶜida — "a rule".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قاعدة (qāᶜida) is built on the native Arabic root q-ᶜ-d, "to sit" (Lane). Lane's qawāᶜid are the foundations a house sits on; qāᶜida is a base, a rule.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qāᶜida
- Say it: qāᶜida, once more
- Say it: say qāᶜida
- Recall: say the Arabic for an example, then the Arabic for freedom, then say qāᶜida again

Before you move on

What does قاعدة mean? ("A rule".) Say it once more.

208.5 طريقة (ṭarīqa) — a way, a method

Before the new one: say the Arabic for freedom, then the Arabic for a rule.

You'll want to know: طريقة

طريقة — ṭarīqa — "a way, a method".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طريقة (ṭarīqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-q, "to strike, to beat" (Lane). Lane's ṭarīqa is a way, a manner of conduct.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭarīqa
- Say it: ṭarīqa, once more
- Say it: say ṭarīqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for freedom, then the Arabic for a rule, then say ṭarīqa again

Before you move on

What does طريقة mean? ("A way, a method".) Say it once more.

Chapter 209

Grilled, Boiled, Burnt, Healthy, Broken

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say grilled, boiled, burnt, healthy and broken.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 209: I can say grilled, boiled, burnt, healthy and broken.

209.1 مشوي (mashwī) — grilled

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rule, then the Arabic for a way.

You'll want to know: مشوي

مشوي — mashwī — "grilled".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشوي (mashwī) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-y, "to roast" (Lane). Mashwī is the passive participle, "roasted, grilled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mashwī
- Say it: mashwī, once more
- Say it: say mashwī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rule, then the Arabic for a way, then say mashwī again

Before you move on

What does مشوي mean? ("Grilled".) Say it once more.

209.2 مسلوق (maslūq) — boiled

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a way, then the Arabic for grilled.

You'll want to know: مسلوق

مسلوق — maslūq — "boiled".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسلوق (maslūq) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-q, "to boil" (Lane). Maslūq is the passive participle, "boiled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maslūq
- Say it: maslūq, once more
- Say it: say maslūq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a way, then the Arabic for grilled, then say maslūq again

Before you move on

What does مسلوق mean? ("Boiled".) Say it once more.

209.3 محروق (maḥrūq) — burnt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for grilled, then the Arabic for boiled.

You'll want to know: محروق

محروق — maḥrūq — "burnt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محروق (maḥrūq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-q, "to burn" (Lane). Maḥrūq is the passive participle, "burnt".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥrūq
- Say it: maḥrūq, once more
- Say it: say maḥrūq
- Recall: say the Arabic for grilled, then the Arabic for boiled, then say maḥrūq again

Before you move on

What does محروق mean? ("Burnt".) Say it once more.

209.4 صحي (ṣiḥḥī) — healthy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for boiled, then the Arabic for burnt.

You'll want to know: صحي

صحي — ṣiḥḥī — "healthy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحي (ṣiḥḥī) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-ḥ, "to be sound, healthy" (Lane). Ṣiḥḥī is ṣiḥḥa, "health", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣiḥḥī
- Say it: ṣiḥḥī, once more
- Say it: say ṣiḥḥī
- Recall: say the Arabic for boiled, then the Arabic for burnt, then say ṣiḥḥī again

Before you move on

What does صحي mean? ("Healthy".) Say it once more.

209.5 مكسور (maksūr) — broken

Before the new one: say the Arabic for burnt, then the Arabic for healthy.

You'll want to know: مكسور

مكسور — maksūr — "broken".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكسور (maksūr) is built on the native Arabic root k-s-r, "to break" (Lane). Maksūr is the passive participle, "broken".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maksūr
- Say it: maksūr, once more
- Say it: say maksūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for burnt, then the Arabic for healthy, then say maksūr again

Before you move on

What does مكسور mean? ("Broken".) Say it once more.

209.6 Words from chapters 201-204 — a first pass

Say the words for healthy and broken.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an injection, an operation, a bruise, a burn, a stomach cramp
- usually, immediately, later, a date; history, a moment
- previously, finally, during, a century, weekly
- towards, an area, a centre, a capital city, where

Before you move on

An injection? (حقنة, ḥuqna.) An operation? (عملية, ᶜamaliyya.) A bruise? (كدمة, kadma.) A burn? (حرق, ḥarq.) A stomach cramp? (مغص, maghaṣ.) Usually? (غالبا, ghāliban.) Immediately? (فورا, fawran.) Later? (لاحقا, lāḥiqan.) A date; history? (تاريخ, tārīkh.) A moment? (لحظة, laḥẓa.) Previously? (سابقا, sābiqan.) Finally? (أخيرا, akhīran.) During? (أثناء, athnāʾa.) A century? (قرن, qarn.) Weekly? (أسبوعي, usbūᶜī.) Towards? (نحو, naḥwa.) An area? (منطقة, minṭaqa.) A centre? (مركز, markaz.) A capital city? (عاصمة, ᶜāṣima.) Where? (أين, ayna.)

209.7 Words from chapters 205-209 — a second pass

Say the words for nature and dust.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- nature, dust, mud, borders, a planet
- perhaps, a problem, a solution, joy, fear
- only, very, even; until, if, as
- a meaning, an example, freedom, a rule, a way
- grilled, boiled, burnt, healthy, broken

Before you move on

Nature? (طبيعة, ṭabīᶜa.) Dust? (تراب, turāb.) Mud? (طين, ṭīn.) Borders? (حدود, ḥudūd.) A planet? (كوكب, kawkab.) Perhaps? (ربما, rubbamā.) A problem? (مشكلة, mushkila.) A solution? (حل, ḥall.) Joy? (بهجة, bahja.) Fear? (خوف, khawf.) Only? (فقط, faqaṭ.) Very? (جدا, jiddan.) Even; until? (حتى, ḥattā.) If? (إذا, idhā.) As? (كما, kamā.) A meaning? (معنى, maᶜnā.) An example? (مثال, mithāl.) Freedom? (حرية, ḥurriyya.) A rule? (قاعدة, qāᶜida.) A way? (طريقة, ṭarīqa.) Grilled? (مشوي, mashwī.) Boiled? (مسلوق, maslūq.) Burnt? (محروق, maḥrūq.) Healthy? (صحي, ṣiḥḥī.) Broken? (مكسور, maksūr.)

Chapter 210

Direct, Generous, Mean, Shy, Sociable

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say direct, generous, mean, shy and sociable.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 210: I can say direct, generous, mean, shy and sociable.

210.1 مباشر (mubāshir) — direct

Before the new one: say the Arabic for healthy, then the Arabic for broken.

You'll want to know: مباشر

مباشر — mubāshir — "direct".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مباشر (mubāshir) is built on the native Arabic root b-sh-r, "skin; to touch skin to skin" (Lane). Mubāshir is the Form III participle, "dealing hand to hand", hence "direct".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mubāshir
- Say it: mubāshir, once more
- Say it: say mubāshir
- Recall: say the Arabic for healthy, then the Arabic for broken, then say mubāshir again

Before you move on

What does مباشر mean? ("Direct".) Say it once more.

210.2 كريم (karīm) — generous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for broken, then the Arabic for direct.

You'll want to know: كريم

كريم — karīm — "generous".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كريم (karīm) is built on the native Arabic root k-r-m, "to be noble, to be generous" (Lane). Karīm is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "generous".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: karīm
- Say it: karīm, once more
- Say it: say karīm
- Recall: say the Arabic for broken, then the Arabic for direct, then say karīm again

Before you move on

What does كريم mean? ("Generous".) Say it once more.

210.3 بخيل (bakhīl) — mean, stingy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for direct, then the Arabic for generous.

You'll want to know: بخيل

بخيل — bakhīl — "mean, stingy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بخيل (bakhīl) is built on the native Arabic root b-kh-l, "to be stingy" (Lane). Bakhīl is the fa^{c}īl adjective, "stingy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bakhīl
- Say it: bakhīl, once more
- Say it: say bakhīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for direct, then the Arabic for generous, then say bakhīl again

Before you move on

What does بخيل mean? ("Mean, stingy".) Say it once more.

210.4 خجول (khajūl) — shy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for generous, then the Arabic for mean.

You'll want to know: خجول

خجول — khajūl — "shy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خجول (khajūl) is built on the native Arabic root kh-j-l, "to be ashamed, shy" (Lane). Khajūl is the fa^{c}ūl adjective, "shy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khajūl
- Say it: khajūl, once more
- Say it: say khajūl
- Recall: say the Arabic for generous, then the Arabic for mean, then say khajūl again

Before you move on

What does خجول mean? ("Shy".) Say it once more.

210.5 اجتماعي (ijtimā^{c}ī) — sociable

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mean, then the Arabic for shy.

You'll want to know: اجتماعي

اجتماعي — ijtimā^{c}ī — "sociable".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اجتماعي (ijtimā^{c}ī) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-^{c}, "to gather" (Lane). Ijtimā^{c}ī is ijtimā^{c}, "gathering", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ijtimāᶜī
- Say it: ijtimāᶜī, once more
- Say it: say ijtimāᶜī
- Recall: say the Arabic for mean, then the Arabic for shy, then say ijtimāᶜī again

Before you move on

What does اجتماعي mean? ("Sociable".) Say it once more.

Chapter 211

Sunny, Different, Similar, Rare, Ordinary

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say sunny, different, similar, rare and ordinary.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 211: I can say sunny, different, similar, rare and ordinary.

211.1 مشمس (mushmis) — sunny

Before the new one: say the Arabic for shy, then the Arabic for sociable.

You'll want to know: مشمس

مشمس — mushmis — "sunny".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشمس (mushmis) is built on the native Arabic root sh-m-s, "the sun" (Lane). Mushmis is the Form IV participle, "full of sun".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mushmis
- Say it: mushmis, once more
- Say it: say mushmis
- Recall: say the Arabic for shy, then the Arabic for sociable, then say mushmis again

Before you move on

What does مشمس mean? ("Sunny".) Say it once more.

211.2 مختلف (mukhtalif) — different

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sociable, then the Arabic for sunny.

You'll want to know: مختلف

مختلف — mukhtalif — "different".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مختلف (mukhtalif) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-f, "to come after, to differ" (Lane). Mukhtalif is the Form VIII participle, "differing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mukhtalif
- Say it: mukhtalif, once more
- Say it: say mukhtalif
- Recall: say the Arabic for sociable, then the Arabic for sunny, then say mukhtalif again

Before you move on

What does مختلف mean? ("Different".) Say it once more.

211.3 مشابه (mushābih) — similar

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sunny, then the Arabic for different.

You'll want to know: مشابه

مشابه — mushābih — "similar".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشابه (mushābih) is built on the native Arabic root sh-b-h, "to resemble" (Lane). Mushābih is the Form III participle, "resembling".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mushābih
- Say it: mushābih, once more
- Say it: say mushābih
- Recall: say the Arabic for sunny, then the Arabic for different, then say mushābih again

Before you move on

What does مشابه mean? ("Similar".) Say it once more.

211.4 نادر (nādir) — rare

Before the new one: say the Arabic for different, then the Arabic for similar.

You'll want to know: نادر

نادر — nādir — "rare".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نادر (nādir) is built on the native Arabic root n-d-r, "to be rare, to drop out" (Lane). Nādir is the active participle, "rare".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nādir
- Say it: nādir, once more
- Say it: say nādir
- Recall: say the Arabic for different, then the Arabic for similar, then say nādir again

Before you move on

What does نادر mean? ("Rare".) Say it once more.

211.5 عادي (ᶜādī) — ordinary, normal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for similar, then the Arabic for rare.

You'll want to know: عادي

عادي — ᶜādī — "ordinary, normal".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عادي (ᶜādī) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-d, "to return" (Lane). ᶜĀdī is ᶜāda, "custom", with the adjective ending -ī: "customary".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: $^{c}\bar{a}d\bar{\imath}$
- Say it: $^{c}\bar{a}d\bar{\imath}$, once more
- Say it: say $^{c}\bar{a}d\bar{\imath}$
- Recall: say the Arabic for similar, then the Arabic for rare, then say $^{c}\bar{a}d\bar{\imath}$ again

Before you move on

What does عادي mean? ("Ordinary, normal".) Say it once more.

Chapter 212

Rough, Sticky, Fragile, Transparent, Shiny

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say rough, sticky, fragile, transparent and shiny.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 212: I can say rough, sticky, fragile, transparent and shiny.

212.1 خشن (khashin) — rough

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rare, then the Arabic for ordinary.

You'll want to know: خشن

خشن — khashin — "rough".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خشن (khashin) is built on the native Arabic root kh-sh-n, "to be rough" (Lane). Khashin is the adjective, "rough".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khashin
- Say it: khashin, once more
- Say it: say khashin
- Recall: say the Arabic for rare, then the Arabic for ordinary, then say khashin again

Before you move on

What does خشن mean? ("Rough".) Say it once more.

212.2 لزج (lazij) — sticky

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ordinary, then the Arabic for rough.

You'll want to know: لزج

لزج — lazij — "sticky".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لزج (lazij) is built on the native Arabic root l-z-j, "to stick" (Lane). Lazij is the adjective, "sticky".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lazij
- Say it: lazij, once more
- Say it: say lazij
- Recall: say the Arabic for ordinary, then the Arabic for rough, then say lazij again

Before you move on

What does لزج mean? ("Sticky".) Say it once more.

212.3 هش (hashsh) — fragile

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rough, then the Arabic for sticky.

You'll want to know: هش

هش — hashsh — "fragile".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هش (hashsh) is built on the native Arabic root h-sh-sh, "to be soft, to crumble" (Lane). Hashsh is "brittle".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hashsh
- Say it: hashsh, once more
- Say it: say hashsh
- Recall: say the Arabic for rough, then the Arabic for sticky, then say hashsh again

Before you move on

What does هش mean? ("Fragile".) Say it once more.

212.4 شفاف (shaffāf) — transparent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sticky, then the Arabic for fragile.

You'll want to know: شفاف

شفاف — shaffāf — "transparent".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شفاف (shaffāf) is built on the native Arabic root sh-f-f, "to be thin, to show through" (Lane). Shaffāf is "very thin, see-through".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shaffāf
- Say it: shaffāf, once more
- Say it: say shaffāf
- Recall: say the Arabic for sticky, then the Arabic for fragile, then say shaffāf again

Before you move on

What does شفاف mean? ("Transparent".) Say it once more.

212.5 لامع (lāmi^{c}) — shiny

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fragile, then the Arabic for transparent.

You'll want to know: لامع

لامع — lāmi^{c} — "shiny".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لامع (lāmi^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root l-m-^{c}, "to shine, to glitter" (Lane). Lāmi^{c} is the active participle, "shining".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lāmi^{c}
- Say it: lāmi^{c}, once more
- Say it: say lāmi^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for fragile, then the Arabic for transparent, then say lāmi^{c} again

Before you move on

What does لامع mean? ("Shiny".) Say it once more.

Chapter 213

Sofa, Brush, Lid, Furniture, Laundry

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a sofa, a brush, a lid, furniture and laundry.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 213: I can say a sofa, a brush, a lid, furniture and laundry.

213.1 أريكة (arīka) — a sofa

Before the new one: say the Arabic for transparent, then the Arabic for shiny.

You'll want to know: أريكة

أريكة — arīka — "a sofa".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أريكة (arīka), "a couch", is an old native noun, filed under the root ʾ-r-k (Lane). Lane's arīka is a couch within a curtained canopy.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: arīka
- Say it: arīka, once more
- Say it: say arīka
- Recall: say the Arabic for transparent, then the Arabic for shiny, then say arīka again

Before you move on

What does أريكة mean? ("A sofa".) Say it once more.

213.2 فرشاة (furshā) — a brush

Before the new one: say the Arabic for shiny, then the Arabic for a sofa.

You'll want to know: فرشاة

فرشاة — furshā — "a brush".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرشاة (furshā) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-sh, "to spread out" (Lane). Furshāh is a modern word, "a thing for spreading": a brush.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: furshā
- Say it: furshā, once more
- Say it: say furshā
- Recall: say the Arabic for shiny, then the Arabic for a sofa, then say furshā again

Before you move on

What does فرشاة mean? ("A brush".) Say it once more.

213.3 غطاء (ghiṭāʾ) — a lid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sofa, then the Arabic for a brush.

You'll want to know: غطاء

غطاء — ghiṭāʾ — "a lid".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غطاء (ghiṭāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root gh-ṭ-w, "to cover" (Lane). Ghiṭāʾ is a covering.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghiṭāʾ
- Say it: ghiṭāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ghiṭāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sofa, then the Arabic for a brush, then say ghiṭāʾ again

Before you move on

What does غطاء mean? ("A lid".) Say it once more.

213.4 أثاث (athāth) — furniture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a brush, then the Arabic for a lid.

You'll want to know: أثاث

أثاث — athāth — "furniture".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أثاث (athāth) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-th-th, "to be abundant" (Lane). Lane's athāth is household goods.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: athāth
- Say it: athāth, once more
- Say it: say athāth
- Recall: say the Arabic for a brush, then the Arabic for a lid, then say athāth again

Before you move on

What does أثاث mean? ("Furniture".) Say it once more.

213.5 غسيل (ghasīl) — laundry, washing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lid, then the Arabic for furniture.

You'll want to know: غسيل

غسيل — ghasīl — "laundry, washing".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غسيل (ghasīl) is built on the native Arabic root gh-s-l, "to wash" (Lane). Ghasīl is "washed things", the laundry.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghasīl
- Say it: ghasīl, once more
- Say it: say ghasīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lid, then the Arabic for furniture, then say ghasīl again

Before you move on

What does غسيل mean? ("Laundry, washing".) Say it once more.

Chapter 214

Suit, Sandals, Fabric, Cotton, Wool

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a suit, sandals, fabric, cotton and wool.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 214: I can say a suit, sandals, fabric, cotton and wool.

214.1 بدلة (badla) — a suit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for furniture, then the Arabic for laundry.

You'll want to know: بدلة

بدلة — badla — "a suit".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بدلة (badla) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-l, "to exchange" (Lane). Badla is a change of clothes, a suit.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: badla
- Say it: badla, once more
- Say it: say badla
- Recall: say the Arabic for furniture, then the Arabic for laundry, then say badla again

Before you move on

What does بدلة mean? ("A suit".) Say it once more.

214.2 صندل (ṣandal) — sandals

Before the new one: say the Arabic for laundry, then the Arabic for a suit.

You'll want to know: صندل

صندل — ṣandal — "sandals".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صندل (ṣandal) is listed by Lane as sandalwood, and his sources also call it a Persian word, arabicized, for a thing like a boot; EtymDB traces the sandalwood word to Middle Persian.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣandal
- Say it: ṣandal, once more
- Say it: say ṣandal
- Recall: say the Arabic for laundry, then the Arabic for a suit, then say ṣandal again

Before you move on

What does صندل mean? ("Sandals".) Say it once more.

214.3 قماش (qumāsh) — fabric, cloth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a suit, then the Arabic for sandals.

You'll want to know: قماش

قماش — qumāsh — "fabric, cloth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قماش (qumāsh) is built on the native Arabic root q-m-sh, "to gather up from here and there" (Lane). Lane gives qammāsh as a seller of household goods; qumāsh is stuff, and fabric is the modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qumāsh
- Say it: qumāsh, once more
- Say it: say qumāsh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a suit, then the Arabic for sandals, then say qumāsh again

Before you move on

What does قماش mean? ("Fabric, cloth".) Say it once more.

214.4 قطن (quṭn) — cotton

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sandals, then the Arabic for fabric.

You'll want to know: قطن

قطن — quṭn — "cotton".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطن (quṭn), "cotton", is an old native noun, filed under the root q-ṭ-n (Lane). English cotton comes from quṭn through French.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: quṭn
- Say it: quṭn, once more
- Say it: say quṭn
- Recall: say the Arabic for sandals, then the Arabic for fabric, then say quṭn again

Before you move on

What does قطن mean? ("Cotton".) Say it once more.

214.5 صوف (ṣūf) — wool

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fabric, then the Arabic for cotton.

You'll want to know: صوف

صوف — ṣūf — "wool".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صوف (ṣūf), "wool", is an old native noun, listed under the root ṣ-w-f (Lane) beside a verb meaning "to have much wool".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣūf
- Say it: ṣūf, once more
- Say it: say ṣūf
- Recall: say the Arabic for fabric, then the Arabic for cotton, then say ṣūf again

Before you move on

What does صوف mean? ("Wool".) Say it once more.

Chapter 215

Identity card, Visa, Luggage, Charger, Taxi

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an identity card, a visa, luggage, a charger and a taxi.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 215: I can say an identity card, a visa, luggage, a charger and a taxi.

215.1 هوية (hawiyya) — an identity card

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cotton, then the Arabic for wool.

You'll want to know: هوية

هوية — hawiyya — "an identity card".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هوية (hawiyya) is built from the pronoun huwa, "he", with the abstract ending -iyya: "he-ness", usually explained as a coinage of the medieval philosophers for identity.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hawiyya
- Say it: hawiyya, once more
- Say it: say hawiyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for cotton, then the Arabic for wool, then say hawiyya again

Before you move on

What does هوية mean? ("An identity card".) Say it once more.

215.2 تأشيرة (taʾshīra) — a visa

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wool, then the Arabic for an identity card.

You'll want to know: تأشيرة

تأشيرة — taʾshīra — "a visa".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأشيرة (taʾshīra) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-sh-r, "to saw, to notch" (Lane). Taʾshīra comes from the modern Form II verb ashshara, "to mark (a document)", a sense not in Lane: a visa is a mark in a passport.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾshīra
- Say it: taʾshīra, once more
- Say it: say taʾshīra

- Recall: say the Arabic for wool, then the Arabic for an identity card, then say taʾshīra again

Before you move on

What does تأشيرة mean? ("A visa".) Say it once more.

215.3 أمتعة (amti^{c}a) — luggage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an identity card, then the Arabic for a visa.

You'll want to know: أمتعة

أمتعة — amti^{c}a — "luggage".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمتعة (amti^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root m-t-^{c}, "to enjoy; goods" (Lane). Amti^{c}a is the plural of matā^c, "goods, belongings".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: amti^{c}a
- Say it: amti^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say amti^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for an identity card, then the Arabic for a visa, then say amti^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does أمتعة mean? ("Luggage".) Say it once more.

215.4 شاحن (shāḥin) — a charger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a visa, then the Arabic for luggage.

You'll want to know: شاحن

شاحن — shāḥin — "a charger".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاحن (shāḥin) is built on the native Arabic root sh-ḥ-n, "to load, to fill" (Lane). Shāḥin is the active participle, "one that loads"; the charger is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shāḥin
- Say it: shāḥin, once more
- Say it: say shāḥin
- Recall: say the Arabic for a visa, then the Arabic for luggage, then say shāḥin again

Before you move on

What does شاحن mean? ("A charger".) Say it once more.

215.5 تاكسي (tāksī) — a taxi

Before the new one: say the Arabic for luggage, then the Arabic for a charger.

You'll want to know: تاكسي

تاكسي — tāksī — "a taxi".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تاكسي (tāksī) is a modern loan from French taxi (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tāksī
- Say it: tāksī, once more
- Say it: say tāksī
- Recall: say the Arabic for luggage, then the Arabic for a charger, then say tāksī again

Before you move on

What does تاكسي mean? ("A taxi".) Say it once more.

Chapter 216

Poem, Conversation, Secret, Promise, Fog

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a poem, a conversation, a secret, a promise and fog.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 216: I can say a poem, a conversation, a secret, a promise and fog.

216.1 قصيدة (qaṣīda) — a poem

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a charger, then the Arabic for a taxi.

You'll want to know: قصيدة

قصيدة — qaṣīda — "a poem".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قصيدة (qaṣīda) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-d, "to aim at" (Lane). Qaṣīda is a poem; the root's verb qaṣada means "to aim at".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṣīda
- Say it: qaṣīda, once more
- Say it: say qaṣīda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a charger, then the Arabic for a taxi, then say qaṣīda again

Before you move on

What does قصيدة mean? ("A poem".) Say it once more.

216.2 حديث (ḥadīth) — a conversation, a talk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a taxi, then the Arabic for a poem.

You'll want to know: حديث

حديث — ḥadīth — "a conversation, a talk".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حديث (ḥadīth) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-th, "to be new; to tell" (Lane). Ḥadīth is a new thing told: talk, a report.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥadīth
- Say it: ḥadīth, once more
- Say it: say ḥadīth
- Recall: say the Arabic for a taxi, then the Arabic for a poem, then say ḥadīth again

Before you move on

What does حديث mean? ("A conversation, a talk".) Say it once more.

216.3 سر (sirr) — a secret

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a poem, then the Arabic for a conversation.

You'll want to know: سر

سر — sirr — "a secret".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سر (sirr) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-r, "to conceal; to gladden" (Lane). Sirr is a secret, a thing kept within.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sirr
- Say it: sirr, once more
- Say it: say sirr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a poem, then the Arabic for a conversation, then say sirr again

Before you move on

What does سر mean? ("A secret".) Say it once more.

216.4 وعد (wa^{c}d) — a promise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a conversation, then the Arabic for a secret.

You'll want to know: وعد

وعد — wa^{c}d — "a promise".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وعد (wa^{c}d) is built on the native Arabic root w-^{c}-d, "to promise" (Lane). Wa^{c}d is the verbal noun, "a promise".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wa^{c}d
- Say it: wa^{c}d, once more
- Say it: say wa^{c}d
- Recall: say the Arabic for a conversation, then the Arabic for a secret, then say wa^{c}d again

Before you move on

What does وعد mean? ("A promise".) Say it once more.

216.5 ضباب (ḍabāb) — fog

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a secret, then the Arabic for a promise.

You'll want to know: ضباب

ضباب — ḍabāb — "fog".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضباب (ḍabāb), "mist, fog", is an old native noun, filed under the root ḍ-b-b (Lane), whose verb ḍabba he gives first as "to cleave to the ground".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍabāb
- Say it: ḍabāb, once more
- Say it: say ḍabāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a secret, then the Arabic for a promise, then say ḍabāb again

Before you move on

What does ضباب mean? ("Fog".) Say it once more.

Chapter 217

Tail, Wing, Camera, Headphones, Battery

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tail, a wing, a camera, headphones and a battery.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 217: I can say a tail, a wing, a camera, headphones and a battery.

217.1 ذيل (dhayl) — a tail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a promise, then the Arabic for fog.

You'll want to know: ذيل

ذيل — dhayl — "a tail".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذيل (dhayl) is built on the native Arabic root dh-y-l, "a tail, a train" (Lane). An old noun with its own root in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhayl
- Say it: dhayl, once more
- Say it: say dhayl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a promise, then the Arabic for fog, then say dhayl again

Before you move on

What does ذيل mean? ("A tail".) Say it once more.

217.2 جناح (janāḥ) — a wing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fog, then the Arabic for a tail.

You'll want to know: جناح

جناح — janāḥ — "a wing".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جناح (janāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-ḥ, "to incline; a wing" (Lane). Janāḥ is a wing.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: janāḥ
- Say it: janāḥ, once more
- Say it: say janāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for fog, then the Arabic for a tail, then say janāḥ again

Before you move on

What does جناح mean? ("A wing".) Say it once more.

217.3 كاميرا (kāmīrā) — a camera

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tail, then the Arabic for a wing.

You'll want to know: كاميرا

كاميرا — kāmīrā — "a camera".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كاميرا (kāmīrā) is a modern loan from English camera (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kāmīrā
- Say it: kāmīrā, once more
- Say it: say kāmīrā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tail, then the Arabic for a wing, then say kāmīrā again

Before you move on

What does كاميرا mean? ("A camera".) Say it once more.

217.4 سماعة (sammāᶜa) — headphones, a speaker

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wing, then the Arabic for a camera.

You'll want to know: سماعة

سماعة — sammāᶜa — "headphones, a speaker".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سماعة (sammāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-ᶜ, "to hear" (Lane). Sammāᶜa is a modern faᶜᶜāla word, "the hearer": headphones.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sammāᶜa
- Say it: sammāᶜa, once more
- Say it: say sammāᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wing, then the Arabic for a camera, then say sammāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does سماعة mean? ("Headphones, a speaker".) Say it once more.

217.5 بطارية (baṭṭāriyya) — a battery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a camera, then the Arabic for headphones.

You'll want to know: بطارية

بطارية — baṭṭāriyya — "a battery".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطارية (baṭṭāriyya) is borrowed from a European word for a battery, usually given as Italian batteria; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭṭāriyya
- Say it: baṭṭāriyya, once more
- Say it: say baṭṭāriyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a camera, then the Arabic for headphones, then say baṭṭāriyya again

Before you move on

What does بطارية mean? ("A battery".) Say it once more.

Chapter 218

Hammer, Topic, Scales, Piece, Weight

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a hammer, a topic, scales, a piece and weight.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 218: I can say a hammer, a topic, scales, a piece and weight.

218.1 مطرقة (miṭraqa) — a hammer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for headphones, then the Arabic for a battery.

You'll want to know: مطرقة

مطرقة — miṭraqa — "a hammer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مطرقة (miṭraqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-q, "to strike, to beat" (Lane). Miṭraqa is an instrument noun, "a thing to strike with".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miṭraqa
- Say it: miṭraqa, once more
- Say it: say miṭraqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for headphones, then the Arabic for a battery, then say miṭraqa again

Before you move on

What does مطرقة mean? ("A hammer".) Say it once more.

218.2 موضوع (mawḍū^c) — a topic, a subject

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a battery, then the Arabic for a hammer.

You'll want to know: موضوع

موضوع — mawḍū^c — "a topic, a subject".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موضوع (mawḍū^c) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-^{c}, "to put down, to lay" (Lane). Mawḍū^c is the passive participle, "laid down, set": a topic.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawḍū^c
- Say it: mawḍū^c, once more
- Say it: say mawḍū^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for a battery, then the Arabic for a hammer, then say mawḍū^c again

Before you move on

What does موضوع mean? ("A topic, a subject".) Say it once more.

218.3 ميزان (mīzān) — scales

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hammer, then the Arabic for a topic.

You'll want to know: ميزان

ميزان — mīzān — "scales".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميزان (mīzān) is built on the native Arabic root w-z-n, "to weigh" (Lane). Mīzān is an instrument noun, "a thing to weigh with".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mīzān
- Say it: mīzān, once more
- Say it: say mīzān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hammer, then the Arabic for a topic, then say mīzān again

Before you move on

What does ميزان mean? ("Scales".) Say it once more.

218.4 قطعة (qiṭᶜa) — a piece

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a topic, then the Arabic for scales.

You'll want to know: قطعة

قطعة — qiṭᶜa — "a piece".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطعة (qiṭᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-ᶜ, "to cut, to sever" (Lane). Qiṭᶜa is a cut piece.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qiṭᶜa
- Say it: qiṭᶜa, once more
- Say it: say qiṭᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a topic, then the Arabic for scales, then say qiṭᶜa again

Before you move on

What does قطعة mean? ("A piece".) Say it once more.

218.5 وزن (wazn) — weight

Before the new one: say the Arabic for scales, then the Arabic for a piece.

You'll want to know: وزن

وزن — wazn — "weight".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وزن (wazn) is built on the native Arabic root w-z-n, "to weigh" (Lane). Wazn is the verbal noun, "weighing, weight".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wazn
- Say it: wazn, once more
- Say it: say wazn
- Recall: say the Arabic for scales, then the Arabic for a piece, then say wazn again

Before you move on

What does وزن mean? ("Weight".) Say it once more.

218.6 Words from chapters 210-213 — a first pass

Say the words for a piece and weight.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- direct, generous, mean, shy, sociable
- sunny, different, similar, rare, ordinary
- rough, sticky, fragile, transparent, shiny
- a sofa, a brush, a lid, furniture, laundry

Before you move on

Direct? (مباشر, mubāshir.) Generous? (كريم, karīm.) Mean? (بخيل, bakhīl.) Shy? (خجول, khajūl.) Sociable? (اجتماعي, ijtimāᶜī.) Sunny? (مشمس, mushmis.) Different? (مختلف, mukhtalif.) Similar? (مشابه, mushābih.) Rare? (نادر, nādir.) Ordinary? (عادي, ᶜādī.) Rough? (خشن, khashin.) Sticky? (لزج, lazij.) Fragile? (هش, hashsh.)

Transparent? (شفاف, shaffāf.) Shiny? (لامع, lāmi^c.) A sofa? (أريكة, arīka.) A brush? (فرشاة, furshā.) A lid? (غطاء, ghiṭāʾ.) Furniture? (أثاث, athāth.) Laundry? (غسيل, ghasīl.)

218.7 Words from chapters 214-218 — a second pass

Say the words for a suit and sandals.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a suit, sandals, fabric, cotton, wool
- an identity card, a visa, luggage, a charger, a taxi
- a poem, a conversation, a secret, a promise, fog
- a tail, a wing, a camera, headphones, a battery
- a hammer, a topic, scales, a piece, weight

Before you move on

A suit? (بدلة, badla.) Sandals? (صندل, ṣandal.) Fabric? (قماش, qumāsh.) Cotton? (قطن, quṭn.) Wool? (صوف, ṣūf.) An identity card? (هوية, hawiyya.) A visa? (تأشيرة, taʾshīra.) Luggage? (أمتعة, amti^{c}a.) A charger? (شاحن, shāḥin.) A taxi? (تاكسي, tāksī.) A poem? (قصيدة, qaṣīda.) A conversation? (حديث, ḥadīth.) A secret? (سر, sirr.) A promise? (وعد, wa^{c}d.) Fog? (ضباب, ḍabāb.) A tail? (ذيل, dhayl.) A wing? (جناح, janāḥ.) A camera? (كاميرا, kāmīrā.) Headphones? (سماعة, sammā^{c}a.) A battery? (بطارية, baṭṭāriyya.) A hammer? (مطرقة, miṭraqa.) A topic? (موضوع, mawḍū^c.) Scales? (ميزان, mīzān.) A piece? (قطعة, qiṭ^{c}a.) Weight? (وزن, wazn.)

Chapter 219

Hose, Wood, Glass, Copper, Silk

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a hose, wood, glass, copper and silk.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 219: I can say a hose, wood, glass, copper and silk.

219.1 خرطوم (kharṭūm) — a hose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a piece, then the Arabic for weight.

You'll want to know: خرطوم

خرطوم — kharṭūm — "a hose".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خرطوم (kharṭūm) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-ṭ-m, "the fore part of the nose; a trunk" (Lane). Lane's kharṭūm is the fore part of the nose, and an elephant's trunk; the hose is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kharṭūm
- Say it: kharṭūm, once more
- Say it: say kharṭūm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a piece, then the Arabic for weight, then say kharṭūm again

Before you move on

What does خرطوم mean? ("A hose".) Say it once more.

219.2 خشب (khashab) — wood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for weight, then the Arabic for a hose.

You'll want to know: خشب

خشب — khashab — "wood".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خشب (khashab), "wood", is an old native noun, filed under the root kh-sh-b (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khashab
- Say it: khashab, once more
- Say it: say khashab
- Recall: say the Arabic for weight, then the Arabic for a hose, then say khashab again

Before you move on

What does خشب mean? ("Wood".) Say it once more.

219.3 زجاج (zujāj) — glass (the material)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hose, then the Arabic for wood.

You'll want to know: زجاج

زجاج — zujāj — "glass (the material)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زجاج (zujāj), "glass", is an old native noun, filed under the root z-j-j (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zujāj
- Say it: zujāj, once more
- Say it: say zujāj
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hose, then the Arabic for wood, then say zujāj again

Before you move on

What does زجاج mean? ("Glass (the material)".) Say it once more.

219.4 نحاس (nuḥās) — copper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wood, then the Arabic for glass.

You'll want to know: نحاس

نحاس — nuḥās — "copper".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نحاس (nuḥās), "copper", is an old noun that Lane lists under the native Arabic root n-ḥ-s, calling it a chaste Arabic word. Hebrew neḥoshet, "copper, bronze", is its cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nuḥās
- Say it: nuḥās, once more
- Say it: say nuḥās
- Recall: say the Arabic for wood, then the Arabic for glass, then say nuḥās again

Before you move on

What does نحاس mean? ("Copper".) Say it once more.

219.5 حرير (ḥarīr) — silk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for glass, then the Arabic for copper.

You'll want to know: حرير

حرير — ḥarīr — "silk".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرير (ḥarīr), "silk", is an old native noun, filed under the root ḥ-r-r (Lane), the root of ḥarr, "heat", and ḥurr, "free"; Lane does not tie silk to either sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarīr
- Say it: ḥarīr, once more
- Say it: say ḥarīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for glass, then the Arabic for copper, then say ḥarīr again

Before you move on

What does حرير mean? ("Silk".) Say it once more.

Chapter 220

Card, Loan, Goods, Account, Butcher

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a card, a loan, goods, an account and a butcher.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 220: I can say a card, a loan, goods, an account and a butcher.

220.1 بطاقة (biṭāqa) — a card

Before the new one: say the Arabic for copper, then the Arabic for silk.

You'll want to know: بطاقة

بطاقة — biṭāqa — "a card".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطاقة (biṭāqa) is listed by Lane under b-ṭ-q. He reports a native explanation that his sources already rejected, and suggests, after Freytag, that it probably comes from Greek pittakion, "label, ticket".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: biṭāqa
- Say it: biṭāqa, once more
- Say it: say biṭāqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for copper, then the Arabic for silk, then say biṭāqa again

Before you move on

What does بطاقة mean? ("A card".) Say it once more.

220.2 قرض (qarḍ) — a loan

Before the new one: say the Arabic for silk, then the Arabic for a card.

You'll want to know: قرض

قرض — qarḍ — "a loan".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرض (qarḍ) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ḍ, "to cut off; to lend" (Lane). Lane's qarḍ is a loan, a portion cut off from one's goods.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarḍ
- Say it: qarḍ, once more
- Say it: say qarḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for silk, then the Arabic for a card, then say qarḍ again

Before you move on

What does قرض mean? ("A loan".) Say it once more.

220.3 بضاعة (biḍāᶜa) — goods, merchandise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a card, then the Arabic for a loan.

You'll want to know: بضاعة

بضاعة — biḍāᶜa — "goods, merchandise".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بضاعة (biḍāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḍ-ᶜ, "to cut off a part" (Lane). Lane's biḍāᶜa is a portion of property set apart for trade.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: biḍāᶜa
- Say it: biḍāᶜa, once more
- Say it: say biḍāᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a card, then the Arabic for a loan, then say biḍāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does بضاعة mean? ("Goods, merchandise".) Say it once more.

220.4 حساب (ḥisāb) — an account

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a loan, then the Arabic for goods.

You'll want to know: حساب

حساب — ḥisāb — "an account".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حساب (ḥisāb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-b, "to count, to reckon" (Lane). Ḥisāb is the verbal noun, "reckoning".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥisāb
- Say it: ḥisāb, once more
- Say it: say ḥisāb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a loan, then the Arabic for goods, then say ḥisāb again

Before you move on

What does حساب mean? ("An account".) Say it once more.

220.5 جزار (jazzār) — a butcher

Before the new one: say the Arabic for goods, then the Arabic for an account.

You'll want to know: جزار

جزار — jazzār — "a butcher".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جزار (jazzār) is built on the native Arabic root j-z-r, "to cut; to slaughter" (Lane). Jazzār is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "slaughterer".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jazzār
- Say it: jazzār, once more
- Say it: say jazzār
- Recall: say the Arabic for goods, then the Arabic for an account, then say jazzār again

Before you move on

What does جزار mean? ("A butcher".) Say it once more.

Chapter 221

Report, Meeting, Contract, Exam, Homework

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a report, a meeting, a contract, an exam and homework.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 221: I can say a report, a meeting, a contract, an exam and homework.

221.1 تقرير (taqrīr) — a report

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an account, then the Arabic for a butcher.

You'll want to know: تقرير

تقرير — taqrīr — "a report".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقرير (taqrīr) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). Taqrīr is the verbal noun of Form II, "establishing", hence "a report".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taqrīr
- Say it: taqrīr, once more
- Say it: say taqrīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for an account, then the Arabic for a butcher, then say taqrīr again

Before you move on

What does تقرير mean? ("A report".) Say it once more.

221.2 اجتماع (ijtimāᶜ) — a meeting

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a butcher, then the Arabic for a report.

You'll want to know: اجتماع

اجتماع — ijtimāᶜ — "a meeting".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اجتماع (ijtimāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-ᶜ, "to gather" (Lane). Ijtimāᶜ is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "coming together".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ijtimāᶜ
- Say it: ijtimāᶜ, once more
- Say it: say ijtimāᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a butcher, then the Arabic for a report, then say ijtimāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does اجتماع mean? ("A meeting".) Say it once more.

221.3 عقد (ᶜaqd) — a contract

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a report, then the Arabic for a meeting.

You'll want to know: عقد

عقد — ᶜaqd — "a contract".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عقد (ᶜaqd) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-d, "to tie a knot" (Lane). ᶜAqd is a tie, a binding: a contract.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaqd
- Say it: ᶜaqd, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaqd
- Recall: say the Arabic for a report, then the Arabic for a meeting, then say ᶜaqd again

Before you move on

What does عقد mean? ("A contract".) Say it once more.

221.4 امتحان (imtiḥān) — an exam

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a meeting, then the Arabic for a contract.

You'll want to know: امتحان

امتحان — imtiḥān — "an exam".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

امتحان (imtiḥān) is built on the native Arabic root m-ḥ-n, "to try, to test" (Lane). Imtiḥān is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "testing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: imtiḥān
- Say it: imtiḥān, once more
- Say it: say imtiḥān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a meeting, then the Arabic for a contract, then say imtiḥān again

Before you move on

What does امتحان mean? ("An exam".) Say it once more.

221.5 واجب (wājib) — homework; a duty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a contract, then the Arabic for an exam.

You'll want to know: واجب

واجب — wājib — "homework; a duty".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واجب (wājib) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-b, "to be due, to fall" (Lane). Wājib is the active participle, "due, required".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wājib
- Say it: wājib, once more
- Say it: say wājib
- Recall: say the Arabic for a contract, then the Arabic for an exam, then say wājib again

Before you move on

What does واجب mean? ("Homework; a duty".) Say it once more.

Chapter 222

Science, Chemistry, Physics, Literature, Merchant

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say science, chemistry, physics, literature and a merchant.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 222: I can say science, chemistry, physics, literature and a merchant.

222.1 علوم (ᶜulūm) — science

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an exam, then the Arabic for homework; a duty.

You'll want to know: علوم

علوم — ᶜulūm — "science".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علوم (ᶜulūm) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-m, "to know" (Lane). ᶜUlūm is the plural of ᶜilm, "knowledge".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜulūm
- Say it: ᶜulūm, once more
- Say it: say ᶜulūm
- Recall: say the Arabic for an exam, then the Arabic for homework; a duty, then say ᶜulūm again

Before you move on

What does علوم mean? ("Science".) Say it once more.

222.2 كيمياء (kīmiyāʾ) — chemistry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for homework; a duty, then the Arabic for science.

You'll want to know: كيمياء

كيمياء — kīmiyāʾ — "chemistry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كيمياء (kīmiyāʾ) is usually traced to Greek chēmeia, "the art of transmuting metals" (EtymDB); English alchemy comes from al-kīmiyāʾ.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kīmiyāʾ
- Say it: kīmiyāʾ, once more
- Say it: say kīmiyāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for homework; a duty, then the Arabic for science, then say kīmiyāʾ again

Before you move on

What does كيمياء mean? ("Chemistry".) Say it once more.

222.3 فيزياء (fīziyāʾ) — physics

Before the new one: say the Arabic for science, then the Arabic for chemistry.

You'll want to know: فيزياء

فيزياء — fīziyāʾ — "physics".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فيزياء (fīziyāʾ) is a modern loan from European physics, which goes back to Greek physikē, "the study of nature"; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fīziyāʾ
- Say it: fīziyāʾ, once more
- Say it: say fīziyāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for science, then the Arabic for chemistry, then say fīziyāʾ again

Before you move on

What does فيزياء mean? ("Physics".) Say it once more.

222.4 أدب (adab) — literature

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chemistry, then the Arabic for physics.

You'll want to know: أدب

أدب — adab — "literature".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أدب (adab) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-d-b (Lane), whose verb adaba is "to invite to a meal"; adab is good manners, discipline. Lane notes that adab for the literary sciences is a later, Islamic-era use.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: adab
- Say it: adab, once more
- Say it: say adab
- Recall: say the Arabic for chemistry, then the Arabic for physics, then say adab again

Before you move on

What does أدب mean? ("Literature".) Say it once more.

222.5 تاجر (tājir) — a merchant, a trader

Before the new one: say the Arabic for physics, then the Arabic for literature.

You'll want to know: تاجر

تاجر — tājir — "a merchant, a trader".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تاجر (tājir) is built on the native Arabic root t-j-r, "to trade" (Lane). Tājir is the active participle, "one who trades".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tājir
- Say it: tājir, once more
- Say it: say tājir
- Recall: say the Arabic for physics, then the Arabic for literature, then say tājir again

Before you move on

What does تاجر mean? ("A merchant, a trader".) Say it once more.

222.6 Words from chapters 219-220 — a first pass

Say the words for literature and a merchant.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a hose, wood, glass, copper, silk
- a card, a loan, goods, an account, a butcher

Before you move on

A hose? (خرطوم, kharṭūm.) Wood? (خشب, khashab.) Glass? (زجاج, zujāj.) Copper? (نحاس, nuḥās.) Silk? (حرير, ḥarīr.) A card? (بطاقة, biṭāqa.) A loan? (قرض, qarḍ.) Goods? (بضاعة, biḍāᶜa.) An account? (حساب, ḥisāb.) A butcher? (جزار, jazzār.)

222.7 Words from chapters 221-222 — a second pass

Say the words for a report and a meeting.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a report, a meeting, a contract, an exam, homework; a duty
- science, chemistry, physics, literature, a merchant

Before you move on

A report? (تقرير, taqrīr.) A meeting? (اجتماع, ijtimāᶜ.) A contract? (عقد, ᶜaqd.) An exam? (امتحان, imtiḥān.) Homework; a duty? (واجب, wājib.) Science? (علوم, ᶜulūm.) Chemistry? (كيمياء, kīmiyāʾ.) Physics? (فيزياء, fīziyāʾ.) Literature? (أدب, adab.) A merchant? (تاجر, tājir.)

Chapter 223

To tidy, To sweep, To iron, To fold, To hang

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to tidy, to sweep, to iron, to fold and to hang.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 223: I can say to tidy, to sweep, to iron, to fold and to hang.

223.1 رتب (rattaba) — to tidy, to arrange

Before the new one: say the Arabic for literature, then the Arabic for a merchant, a trader.

You'll want to know: رتب

رتب — rattaba — "to tidy, to arrange".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رتب (rattaba) is built on the native Arabic root r-t-b, "to be fixed, to be firm" (Lane). Rattaba is Form II, "to set in order".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rattaba
- Say it: rattaba, once more
- Say it: say rattaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for literature, then the Arabic for a merchant, a trader, then say rattaba again

Before you move on

What does رتب mean? ("To tidy, to arrange".) Say it once more.

223.2 كنس (kanasa) — to sweep

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a merchant, a trader, then the Arabic for to tidy.

You'll want to know: كنس

كنس — kanasa — "to sweep".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كنس (kanasa) is built on the native Arabic root k-n-s, "to sweep" (Lane). Kanasa is the plain verb, "he swept".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kanasa
- Say it: kanasa, once more
- Say it: say kanasa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a merchant, a trader, then the Arabic for to tidy, then say kanasa again

Before you move on

What does كنس mean? ("To sweep".) Say it once more.

223.3 كوى (kawā) — to iron

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tidy, then the Arabic for to sweep.

You'll want to know: كوى

كوى — kawā — "to iron".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كوى (kawā) is built on the native Arabic root k-w-y, "to brand, to cauterize" (Lane). Kawā is to burn with a hot iron, hence to iron.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kawā
- Say it: kawā, once more
- Say it: say kawā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tidy, then the Arabic for to sweep, then say kawā again

Before you move on

What does كوى mean? ("To iron".) Say it once more.

223.4 طوى (ṭawā) — to fold

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sweep, then the Arabic for to iron.

You'll want to know: طوى

طوى — ṭawā — "to fold".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طوى (ṭawā) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-y, "to fold" (Lane). Ṭawā is the plain verb, "he folded".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭawā
- Say it: ṭawā, once more
- Say it: say ṭawā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sweep, then the Arabic for to iron, then say ṭawā again

Before you move on

What does طوى mean? ("To fold".) Say it once more.

223.5 علق (ᶜallaqa) — to hang (up)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to iron, then the Arabic for to fold.

You'll want to know: علق

علق — ᶜallaqa — "to hang (up)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علق (ᶜallaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-q, "to cling, to hang" (Lane). ᶜAllaqa is Form II, "to hang up".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜallaqa
- Say it: ᶜallaqa, once more
- Say it: say ᶜallaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to iron, then the Arabic for to fold, then say ᶜallaqa again

Before you move on

What does علق mean? ("To hang (up)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 224

To earn, To borrow, To lend, To change, To hurry

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to earn, to borrow, to lend, to change and to hurry.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 224: I can say to earn, to borrow, to lend, to change and to hurry.

224.1 كسب (kasaba) — to earn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fold, then the Arabic for to hang.

You'll want to know: كسب

كسب — kasaba — "to earn".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كسب (kasaba) is built on the native Arabic root k-s-b, "to gain, to earn" (Lane). Kasaba is the plain verb, "he earned".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kasaba
- Say it: kasaba, once more
- Say it: say kasaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fold, then the Arabic for to hang, then say kasaba again

Before you move on

What does كسب mean? ("To earn".) Say it once more.

224.2 اقترض (iqtaraḍa) — to borrow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hang, then the Arabic for to earn.

You'll want to know: اقترض

اقترض — iqtaraḍa — "to borrow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقترض (iqtaraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ḍ, "to cut off; to lend" (Lane). Iqtaraḍa is Form VIII, "to take a loan".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtaraḍa
- Say it: iqtaraḍa, once more
- Say it: say iqtaraḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hang, then the Arabic for to earn, then say iqtaraḍa again

Before you move on

What does اقترض mean? ("To borrow".) Say it once more.

224.3 أقرض (aqraḍa) — to lend

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to earn, then the Arabic for to borrow.

You'll want to know: أقرض

أقرض — aqraḍa — "to lend".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقرض (aqraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ḍ, "to cut off; to lend" (Lane). Aqraḍa is Form IV, "to give a loan".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aqraḍa
- Say it: aqraḍa, once more
- Say it: say aqraḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to earn, then the Arabic for to borrow, then say aqraḍa again

Before you move on

What does أقرض mean? ("To lend".) Say it once more.

224.4 غير (ghayyara) — to change

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to borrow, then the Arabic for to lend.

You'll want to know: غير

غير — ghayyara — "to change".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غير (ghayyara) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-r, "other; to change" (Lane). Ghayyara is Form II, built on ghayr, "other": to make other.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghayyara
- Say it: ghayyara, once more
- Say it: say ghayyara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to borrow, then the Arabic for to lend, then say ghayyara again

Before you move on

What does غير mean? ("To change".) Say it once more.

224.5 أسرع (asra^{c}a) — to hurry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lend, then the Arabic for to change.

You'll want to know: أسرع

أسرع — asra^{c}a — "to hurry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسرع (asra^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-^{c}, "to be quick" (Lane). Asra^{c}a is Form IV, "to hasten".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: asra^{c}a
- Say it: asra^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say asra^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lend, then the Arabic for to change, then say asra^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does أسرع mean? ("To hurry".) Say it once more.

Chapter 225

To pull, To prepare, To repair, To use, To bring

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to pull, to prepare, to repair, to use and to bring.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 225: I can say to pull, to prepare, to repair, to use and to bring.

225.1 سحب (saḥaba) — to pull; to withdraw (money)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to change, then the Arabic for to hurry.

You'll want to know: سحب

سحب — saḥaba — "to pull; to withdraw (money)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سحب (saḥaba) is built on the native Arabic root s-ḥ-b, "to drag, to draw along" (Lane). Saḥaba is the plain verb, "he pulled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: saḥaba
- Say it: saḥaba, once more
- Say it: say saḥaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to change, then the Arabic for to hurry, then say saḥaba again

Before you move on

What does سحب mean? ("To pull; to withdraw (money)".) Say it once more.

225.2 حضر (ḥaḍḍara) — to prepare

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hurry, then the Arabic for to pull; to withdraw.

You'll want to know: حضر

حضر — ḥaḍḍara — "to prepare".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حضر (ḥaḍḍara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-r, "to be present" (Lane). Ḥaḍḍara is Form II, "to make ready".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaḍḍara
- Say it: ḥaḍḍara, once more
- Say it: say ḥaḍḍara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hurry, then the Arabic for to pull; to withdraw, then say ḥaḍḍara again

Before you move on

What does حضر mean? ("To prepare".) Say it once more.

225.3 أصلح (aṣlaḥa) — to repair

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pull; to withdraw, then the Arabic for to prepare.

You'll want to know: أصلح

أصلح — aṣlaḥa — "to repair".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أصلح (aṣlaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-l-ḥ, "to be good, to be sound" (Lane). Aṣlaḥa is Form IV, "to make sound", to repair.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aṣlaḥa
- Say it: aṣlaḥa, once more
- Say it: say aṣlaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pull; to withdraw, then the Arabic for to prepare, then say aṣlaḥa again

Before you move on

What does أصلح mean? ("To repair".) Say it once more.

225.4 استعمل (ista^{c}mala) — to use

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prepare, then the Arabic for to repair.

You'll want to know: استعمل

استعمل — ista^{c}mala — "to use".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استعمل (ista^{c}mala) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-m-l, "to work, to do" (Lane). Ista^{c}mala is Form X, "to put to work", to use.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ista^{c}mala
- Say it: ista^{c}mala, once more
- Say it: say ista^{c}mala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prepare, then the Arabic for to repair, then say ista^{c}mala again

Before you move on

What does استعمل mean? ("To use".) Say it once more.

225.5 أحضر (aḥḍara) — to bring

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to repair, then the Arabic for to use.

You'll want to know: أحضر

أحضر — aḥḍara — "to bring".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أحضر (aḥḍara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-r, "to be present" (Lane). Aḥḍara is Form IV, "to make present", to bring.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aḥḍara
- Say it: aḥḍara, once more
- Say it: say aḥḍara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to repair, then the Arabic for to use, then say aḥḍara again

Before you move on

What does أحضر mean? ("To bring".) Say it once more.

Chapter 226

To set off, To charge, To apologise, To inform, To agree

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to set off, to charge, to apologise, to inform and to agree.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 226: I can say to set off, to charge, to apologise, to inform and to agree.

226.1 انطلق (inṭalaqa) — to set off

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to use, then the Arabic for to bring.

You'll want to know: انطلق

انطلق — inṭalaqa — "to set off".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انطلق (inṭalaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-q, "to be free, to be let go" (Lane). Inṭalaqa is Form VII, "to be let loose", to set off.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: inṭalaqa
- Say it: inṭalaqa, once more
- Say it: say inṭalaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to use, then the Arabic for to bring, then say inṭalaqa again

Before you move on

What does انطلق mean? ("To set off".) Say it once more.

226.2 شحن (shaḥana) — to charge (a phone); to ship

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bring, then the Arabic for to set off.

You'll want to know: شحن

شحن — shaḥana — "to charge (a phone); to ship".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شحن (shaḥana) is built on the native Arabic root sh-ḥ-n, "to load, to fill" (Lane). Shaḥana is to load a ship; charging a battery is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shaḥana
- Say it: shaḥana, once more
- Say it: say shaḥana

- Recall: say the Arabic for to bring, then the Arabic for to set off, then say shaḥana again

Before you move on

What does شحن mean? ("To charge (a phone); to ship".) Say it once more.

226.3 اعتذر (i^{c}tadhara) — to apologise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to set off, then the Arabic for to charge.

You'll want to know: اعتذر

اعتذر — i^{c}tadhara — "to apologise".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتذر (i^{c}tadhara) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-dh-r, "to excuse" (Lane). I^{c}tadhara is Form VIII, "to offer an excuse".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: i^{c}tadhara
- Say it: i^{c}tadhara, once more
- Say it: say i^{c}tadhara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to set off, then the Arabic for to charge, then say i^{c}tadhara again

Before you move on

What does اعتذر mean? ("To apologise".) Say it once more.

226.4 أخبر (akhbara) — to inform, to tell

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to charge, then the Arabic for to apologise.

You'll want to know: أخبر

أخبر — akhbara — "to inform, to tell".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخبر (akhbara) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-r, "to know, to have experience of" (Lane). Akhbara is Form IV, "to give news".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: akhbara
- Say it: akhbara, once more
- Say it: say akhbara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to charge, then the Arabic for to apologise, then say akhbara again

Before you move on

What does أخبر mean? ("To inform, to tell".) Say it once more.

226.5 اتفق (ittafaqa) — to agree

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to apologise, then the Arabic for to inform.

You'll want to know: اتفق

اتفق — ittafaqa — "to agree".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتفق (ittafaqa) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-q, "to suit, to agree" (Lane). Ittafaqa is Form VIII, "to agree".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ittafaqa
- Say it: ittafaqa, once more
- Say it: say ittafaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to apologise, then the Arabic for to inform, then say ittafaqa again

Before you move on

What does اتفق mean? ("To agree".) Say it once more.

Chapter 227

To be shy, To worry, To get to know, To quarrel, To make up

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to be shy, to worry, to get to know, to quarrel and to make up.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 227: I can say to be shy, to worry, to get to know, to quarrel and to make up.

227.1 خجل (khajila) — to be shy, to be embarrassed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to inform, then the Arabic for to agree.

You'll want to know: خجل

خجل — khajila — "to be shy, to be embarrassed".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خجل (khajila) is built on the native Arabic root kh-j-l, "to be ashamed, shy" (Lane). Khajila is the plain verb, "he was abashed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khajila
- Say it: khajila, once more
- Say it: say khajila
- Recall: say the Arabic for to inform, then the Arabic for to agree, then say khajila again

Before you move on

What does خجل mean? ("To be shy, to be embarrassed".) Say it once more.

227.2 قلق (qaliqa) — to worry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to agree, then the Arabic for to be shy.

You'll want to know: قلق

قلق — qaliqa — "to worry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلق (qaliqa) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-q, "to be restless" (Lane). Qaliqa is the plain verb, "he was uneasy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qaliqa
- Say it: qaliqa, once more
- Say it: say qaliqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to agree, then the Arabic for to be shy, then say qaliqa again

Before you move on

What does قلق mean? ("To worry".) Say it once more.

227.3 تعرف (ta^{c}arrafa) — to get to know (someone)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be shy, then the Arabic for to worry.

You'll want to know: تعرف

تعرف — ta^{c}arrafa — "to get to know (someone)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعرف (ta^{c}arrafa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-r-f, "to know, to recognise" (Lane). Ta^{c}arrafa is Form V, "to get to know".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}arrafa
- Say it: ta^{c}arrafa, once more
- Say it: say ta^{c}arrafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be shy, then the Arabic for to worry, then say ta^{c}arrafa again

Before you move on

What does تعرف mean? ("To get to know (someone)".) Say it once more.

227.4 تشاجر (tashājara) — to quarrel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to worry, then the Arabic for to get to know.

You'll want to know: تشاجر

تشاجر — tashājara — "to quarrel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تشاجر (tashājara) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-r, "to be intertwined; trees" (Lane). Lane gives the root's sense of things intertwined; tashājara, Form VI, is to quarrel, and shajar, "trees", is on the same root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tashājara
- Say it: tashājara, once more
- Say it: say tashājara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to worry, then the Arabic for to get to know, then say tashājara again

Before you move on

What does تشاجر mean? ("To quarrel".) Say it once more.

227.5 تصالح (taṣālaḥa) — to make up, to reconcile

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get to know, then the Arabic for to quarrel.

You'll want to know: تصالح

تصالح — taṣālaḥa — "to make up, to reconcile".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تصالح (taṣālaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-l-ḥ, "to be good, to be sound" (Lane). Taṣālaḥa is Form VI, "to make peace with one another".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taṣālaḥa
- Say it: taṣālaḥa, once more
- Say it: say taṣālaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get to know, then the Arabic for to quarrel, then say taṣālaḥa again

Before you move on

What does تصالح mean? ("To make up, to reconcile".) Say it once more.

Chapter 228

To watch, To listen, To draw, To sing, To photograph

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to watch, to listen, to draw, to sing and to photograph.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 228: I can say to watch, to listen, to draw, to sing and to photograph.

228.1 شاهد (shāhada) — to watch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to quarrel, then the Arabic for to make up.

You'll want to know: شاهد

شاهد — shāhada — "to watch".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاهد (shāhada) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d, "to witness, to be present" (Lane). Shāhada is Form III, "to see with one's own eyes".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shāhada
- Say it: shāhada, once more
- Say it: say shāhada
- Recall: say the Arabic for to quarrel, then the Arabic for to make up, then say shāhada again

Before you move on

What does شاهد mean? ("To watch".) Say it once more.

228.2 استمع (istamaᶜa) — to listen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make up, then the Arabic for to watch.

You'll want to know: استمع

استمع — istamaᶜa — "to listen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استمع (istamaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-ᶜ, "to hear" (Lane). Istamaᶜa is Form VIII, "to listen".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: istamaᶜa
- Say it: istamaᶜa, once more
- Say it: say istamaᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make up, then the Arabic for to watch, then say istamaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does استمع mean? ("To listen".) Say it once more.

228.3 رسم (rasama) — to draw, to paint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to watch, then the Arabic for to listen.

You'll want to know: رسم

رسم — rasama — "to draw, to paint".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسم (rasama) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-m, "a trace, a mark" (Lane). Rasama is to trace, to draw.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rasama
- Say it: rasama, once more
- Say it: say rasama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to watch, then the Arabic for to listen, then say rasama again

Before you move on

What does رسم mean? ("To draw, to paint".) Say it once more.

228.4 غنى (ghannā) — to sing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to listen, then the Arabic for to draw.

You'll want to know: غنى

غنى — ghannā — "to sing".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غنى (ghannā) is built on the native Arabic root gh-n-y, "to be free from want; to sing" (Lane). Ghannā is Form II, "to sing"; the same root gives ghinā, "wealth".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghannā
- Say it: ghannā, once more
- Say it: say ghannā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to listen, then the Arabic for to draw, then say ghannā again

Before you move on

What does غنى mean? ("To sing".) Say it once more.

228.5 صور (ṣawwara) — to photograph, to film

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to draw, then the Arabic for to sing.

You'll want to know: صور

صور — ṣawwara — "to photograph, to film".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صور (ṣawwara) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-r, "to form, to fashion" (Lane). Ṣawwara is Form II, "to make an image".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣawwara
- Say it: ṣawwara, once more
- Say it: say ṣawwara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to draw, then the Arabic for to sing, then say ṣawwara again

Before you move on

What does صور mean? ("To photograph, to film".) Say it once more.

Chapter 229

To tie, To untie, To water, To knead, To wipe

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to tie, to untie, to water, to knead and to wipe.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 229: I can say to tie, to untie, to water, to knead and to wipe.

229.1 ربط (rabaṭa) — to tie

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sing, then the Arabic for to photograph.

You'll want to know: ربط

ربط — rabaṭa — "to tie".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ربط (rabaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-ṭ, "to tie" (Lane). Rabaṭa is the plain verb, "he tied".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rabaṭa
- Say it: rabaṭa, once more
- Say it: say rabaṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sing, then the Arabic for to photograph, then say rabaṭa again

Before you move on

What does ربط mean? ("To tie".) Say it once more.

229.2 فك (fakka) — to untie, to undo

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to photograph, then the Arabic for to tie.

You'll want to know: فك

فك — fakka — "to untie, to undo".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فك (fakka) is built on the native Arabic root f-k-k, "to loose, to separate" (Lane). Fakka is the plain verb, "he undid".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fakka
- Say it: fakka, once more
- Say it: say fakka
- Recall: say the Arabic for to photograph, then the Arabic for to tie, then say fakka again

Before you move on

What does فك mean? ("To untie, to undo".) Say it once more.

229.3 سقى (saqā) — to water (plants)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tie, then the Arabic for to untie.

You'll want to know: سقى

سقى — saqā — "to water (plants)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سقى (saqā) is built on the native Arabic root s-q-y, "to give to drink" (Lane). Saqā is the plain verb, "he watered".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: saqā
- Say it: saqā, once more
- Say it: say saqā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tie, then the Arabic for to untie, then say saqā again

Before you move on

What does سقى mean? ("To water (plants)".) Say it once more.

229.4 عجن (ᶜajana) — to knead

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to untie, then the Arabic for to water.

You'll want to know: عجن

عجن — ᶜajana — "to knead".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عجن (ᶜajana) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-j-n, "to knead" (Lane). ᶜAjana is the plain verb, "he kneaded".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜajana
- Say it: ᶜajana, once more
- Say it: say ᶜajana
- Recall: say the Arabic for to untie, then the Arabic for to water, then say ᶜajana again

Before you move on

What does عجن mean? ("To knead".) Say it once more.

229.5 مسح (masaḥa) — to wipe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to water, then the Arabic for to knead.

You'll want to know: مسح

مسح — masaḥa — "to wipe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسح (masaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root m-s-ḥ, "to wipe" (Lane). Masaḥa is the plain verb, "he wiped".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: masaḥa
- Say it: masaḥa, once more
- Say it: say masaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to water, then the Arabic for to knead, then say masaḥa again

Before you move on

What does مسح mean? ("To wipe".) Say it once more.

Chapter 230

To bark, To feed, To add, To divide, To kick

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to bark, to feed, to add, to divide and to kick.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 230: I can say to bark, to feed, to add, to divide and to kick.

230.1 نبح (nabaḥa) — to bark

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to knead, then the Arabic for to wipe.

You'll want to know: نبح

نبح — nabaḥa — "to bark".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نبح (nabaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-ḥ, "to bark" (Lane). Nabaḥa is the plain verb, "it barked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nabaḥa
- Say it: nabaḥa, once more
- Say it: say nabaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to knead, then the Arabic for to wipe, then say nabaḥa again

Before you move on

What does نبح mean? ("To bark".) Say it once more.

230.2 أطعم (aṭᶜama) — to feed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wipe, then the Arabic for to bark.

You'll want to know: أطعم

أطعم — aṭᶜama — "to feed".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أطعم (aṭᶜama) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-ᶜ-m, "to eat, to taste" (Lane). Aṭᶜama is Form IV, "to make eat", to feed.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aṭᶜama
- Say it: aṭᶜama, once more
- Say it: say aṭᶜama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wipe, then the Arabic for to bark, then say aṭᶜama again

Before you move on

What does أطعم mean? ("To feed".) Say it once more.

230.3 أضاف (aḍāfa) — to add

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bark, then the Arabic for to feed.

You'll want to know: أضاف

أضاف — aḍāfa — "to add".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أضاف (aḍāfa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-f, "to lodge as a guest" (Lane). Aḍāfa is Form IV, "to attach, to add".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aḍāfa
- Say it: aḍāfa, once more
- Say it: say aḍāfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bark, then the Arabic for to feed, then say aḍāfa again

Before you move on

What does أضاف mean? ("To add".) Say it once more.

230.4 قسم (qassama) — to divide, to share out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to feed, then the Arabic for to add.

You'll want to know: قسم

قسم — qassama — "to divide, to share out".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قسم (qassama) is built on the native Arabic root q-s-m, "to divide" (Lane). Qassama is Form II, "to divide up".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qassama
- Say it: qassama, once more
- Say it: say qassama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to feed, then the Arabic for to add, then say qassama again

Before you move on

What does قسم mean? ("To divide, to share out".) Say it once more.

230.5 ركل (rakala) — to kick

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to add, then the Arabic for to divide.

You'll want to know: ركل

ركل — rakala — "to kick".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركل (rakala) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-l, "to kick" (Lane). Rakala is the plain verb, "he kicked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rakala
- Say it: rakala, once more
- Say it: say rakala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to add, then the Arabic for to divide, then say rakala again

Before you move on

What does ركل mean? ("To kick".) Say it once more.

Chapter 231

Treatment, Prescription, Clinic, Pharmacy, Nurse

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say treatment, a prescription, a clinic, a pharmacy and a nurse.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 231: I can say treatment, a prescription, a clinic, a pharmacy and a nurse.

231.1 علاج (ᶜilāj) — treatment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to divide, then the Arabic for to kick.

You'll want to know: علاج

علاج — ᶜilāj — "treatment".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علاج (ᶜilāj) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-j, "to treat, to deal with" (Lane). ᶜIlāj is the verbal noun, "treatment".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜilāj
- Say it: ᶜilāj, once more
- Say it: say ᶜilāj
- Recall: say the Arabic for to divide, then the Arabic for to kick, then say ᶜilāj again

Before you move on

What does علاج mean? ("Treatment".) Say it once more.

231.2 وصفة (waṣfa) — a prescription; a recipe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to kick, then the Arabic for treatment.

You'll want to know: وصفة

وصفة — waṣfa — "a prescription; a recipe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وصفة (waṣfa) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-f, "to describe" (Lane). Waṣfa is a description, a prescription.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waṣfa
- Say it: waṣfa, once more
- Say it: say waṣfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to kick, then the Arabic for treatment, then say waṣfa again

Before you move on

What does وصفة mean? ("A prescription; a recipe".) Say it once more.

231.3 عيادة (ᶜiyāda) — a clinic

Before the new one: say the Arabic for treatment, then the Arabic for a prescription; a recipe.

You'll want to know: عيادة

عيادة — ᶜiyāda — "a clinic".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عيادة (ᶜiyāda) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-d, "to return; to visit the sick" (Lane). ᶜIyāda is visiting the sick; the clinic is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜiyāda
- Say it: ᶜiyāda, once more
- Say it: say ᶜiyāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for treatment, then the Arabic for a prescription; a recipe, then say ᶜiyāda again

Before you move on

What does عيادة mean? ("A clinic".) Say it once more.

231.4 صيدلية (ṣaydaliyya) — a pharmacy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a prescription; a recipe, then the Arabic for a clinic.

You'll want to know: صيدلية

صيدلية — ṣaydaliyya — "a pharmacy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صيدلية (ṣaydaliyya) is built on ṣaydalānī, "druggist". Lane's sources derive that word from a place called Ṣaydalān, or from ṣaydal, or call it a Persian word arabicized. Lane also records the by-form ṣandalānī, which points to ṣandal, "sandalwood"; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaydaliyya
- Say it: ṣaydaliyya, once more
- Say it: say ṣaydaliyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a prescription; a recipe, then the Arabic for a clinic, then say ṣaydaliyya again

Before you move on

What does صيدلية mean? ("A pharmacy".) Say it once more.

231.5 ممرض (mumarriḍ) — a nurse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a clinic, then the Arabic for a pharmacy.

You'll want to know: ممرض

ممرض — mumarriḍ — "a nurse".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممرض (mumarriḍ) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-ḍ, "to be ill" (Lane). Mumarriḍ is the Form II participle, "one who nurses the sick".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mumarriḍ
- Say it: mumarriḍ, once more
- Say it: say mumarriḍ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a clinic, then the Arabic for a pharmacy, then say mumarriḍ again

Before you move on

What does ممرض mean? ("A nurse".) Say it once more.

231.6 Words from chapters 223-226 — a first pass

Say the words for a pharmacy and a nurse.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to tidy, to sweep, to iron, to fold, to hang
- to earn, to borrow, to lend, to change, to hurry
- to pull; to withdraw, to prepare, to repair, to use, to bring
- to set off, to charge, to apologise, to inform, to agree

Before you move on

To tidy? (رتب, rattaba.) To sweep? (كنس, kanasa.) To iron? (كوى, kawā.) To fold? (طوى, ṭawā.) To hang? (علق, ᶜallaqa.) To earn? (كسب, kasaba.) To borrow? (اقترض, iqtaraḍa.) To lend? (أقرض, aqraḍa.) To change? (غير, ghayyara.) To hurry? (أسرع, asraᶜa.) To pull; to withdraw? (سحب, saḥaba.) To prepare? (حضر, ḥaḍḍara.) To repair? (أصلح, aṣlaḥa.) To use? (استعمل, istaᶜmala.) To bring? (أحضر, aḥḍara.) To set off? (انطلق, inṭalaqa.) To charge? (شحن, shaḥana.) To apologise? (اعتذر, iᶜtadhara.) To inform? (أخبر, akhbara.) To agree? (اتفق, ittafaqa.)

231.7 Words from chapters 227-231 — a second pass

Say the words for to be shy and to worry.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to be shy, to worry, to get to know, to quarrel, to make up
- to watch, to listen, to draw, to sing, to photograph
- to tie, to untie, to water, to knead, to wipe
- to bark, to feed, to add, to divide, to kick
- treatment, a prescription; a recipe, a clinic, a pharmacy, a nurse

Before you move on

To be shy? (خجل, khajila.) To worry? (قلق, qaliqa.) To get to know? (تعرف, taᶜarrafa.) To quarrel? (تشاجر, tashājara.) To make up? (تصالح, taṣālaḥa.) To watch? (شاهد, shāhada.) To listen? (استمع, istamaᶜa.) To draw? (رسم, rasama.) To sing? (غنى, ghannā.) To photograph? (صور, ṣawwara.) To tie? (ربط, rabaṭa.) To untie? (فك, fakka.) To water? (سقى, saqā.) To knead? (عجن, ᶜajana.) To wipe? (مسح, masaḥa.) To bark? (نبح, nabaḥa.) To feed? (أطعم, aṭᶜama.) To add? (أضاف, aḍāfa.) To divide? (قسم, qassama.) To kick? (ركل, rakala.) Treatment? (علاج, ᶜilāj.) A prescription; a recipe? (وصفة, waṣfa.) A clinic? (عيادة, ᶜiyāda.) A pharmacy? (صيدلية, ṣaydaliyya.) A nurse? (ممرض, mumarriḍ.)

Chapter 232

Dizziness, Ointment, Surgeon, Crutch, Bleeding

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say dizziness, an ointment, a surgeon, a crutch and bleeding.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 232: I can say dizziness, an ointment, a surgeon, a crutch and bleeding.

232.1 دوار (duwār) — dizziness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pharmacy, then the Arabic for a nurse.

You'll want to know: دوار

دوار — duwār — "dizziness".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دوار (duwār) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-r, "to turn round" (Lane). Duwār has the fuᶜāl shape of illness words: the head turning round.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: duwār
- Say it: duwār, once more
- Say it: say duwār
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pharmacy, then the Arabic for a nurse, then say duwār again

Before you move on

What does دوار mean? ("Dizziness".) Say it once more.

232.2 مرهم (marham) — an ointment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nurse, then the Arabic for dizziness.

You'll want to know: مرهم

مرهم — marham — "an ointment".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرهم (marham) is disputed in Lane's sources: one calls it arabicized from Persian marham, and others derive it from rihma, "soft rain", for its softness.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: marham
- Say it: marham, once more
- Say it: say marham
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nurse, then the Arabic for dizziness, then say marham again

Before you move on

What does مرهم mean? ("An ointment".) Say it once more.

232.3 جراح (jarrāḥ) — a surgeon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dizziness, then the Arabic for an ointment.

You'll want to know: جراح

جراح — jarrāḥ — "a surgeon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جراح (jarrāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-ḥ, "to wound" (Lane). Jarrāḥ is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "one who treats wounds".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jarrāḥ
- Say it: jarrāḥ, once more
- Say it: say jarrāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for dizziness, then the Arabic for an ointment, then say jarrāḥ again

Before you move on

What does جراح mean? ("A surgeon".) Say it once more.

232.4 عكاز (^{c}ukkāz) — a crutch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ointment, then the Arabic for a surgeon.

You'll want to know: عكاز

عكاز — ᶜukkāz — "a crutch".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عكاز (ᶜukkāz) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-k-z, "a staff with a spike" (Lane). Lane's ᶜukkāza is a staff with an iron spike.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜukkāz
- Say it: ᶜukkāz, once more
- Say it: say ᶜukkāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ointment, then the Arabic for a surgeon, then say ᶜukkāz again

Before you move on

What does عكاز mean? ("A crutch".) Say it once more.

232.5 نزيف (nazīf) — bleeding

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a surgeon, then the Arabic for a crutch.

You'll want to know: نزيف

نزيف — nazīf — "bleeding".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزيف (nazīf) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-f, "to drain (a well) dry" (Lane). Nazīf is bleeding, blood drained away.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nazīf
- Say it: nazīf, once more
- Say it: say nazīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a surgeon, then the Arabic for a crutch, then say nazīf again

Before you move on

What does نزيف mean? ("Bleeding".) Say it once more.

Chapter 233

Since, Dawn, Sunrise, Sunset, Birth

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say since, dawn, sunrise, sunset and birth.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 233: I can say since, dawn, sunrise, sunset and birth.

233.1 منذ (mundhu) — since, ago

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crutch, then the Arabic for bleeding.

You'll want to know: منذ

منذ — mundhu — "since, ago".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منذ (mundhu) is an old particle of time. Lane reports that some call it a simple word and others a compound, and its origin is not settled; it is not built on a three-letter root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mundhu
- Say it: mundhu, once more
- Say it: say mundhu
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crutch, then the Arabic for bleeding, then say mundhu again

Before you move on

What does منذ mean? ("Since, ago".) Say it once more.

233.2 فجر (fajr) — dawn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for bleeding, then the Arabic for since.

You'll want to know: فجر

فجر — fajr — "dawn".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فجر (fajr) is built on the native Arabic root f-j-r, "to cleave, to break open" (Lane). Fajr is the dawn that breaks the night.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fajr
- Say it: fajr, once more
- Say it: say fajr
- Recall: say the Arabic for bleeding, then the Arabic for since, then say fajr again

Before you move on

What does فجر mean? ("Dawn".) Say it once more.

233.3 شروق (shurūq) — sunrise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for since, then the Arabic for dawn.

You'll want to know: شروق

شروق — shurūq — "sunrise".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شروق (shurūq) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-q, "to rise (of the sun)" (Lane). Shurūq is the verbal noun, "rising".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shurūq
- Say it: shurūq, once more
- Say it: say shurūq
- Recall: say the Arabic for since, then the Arabic for dawn, then say shurūq again

Before you move on

What does شروق mean? ("Sunrise".) Say it once more.

233.4 غروب (ghurūb) — sunset

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dawn, then the Arabic for sunrise.

You'll want to know: غروب

غروب — ghurūb — "sunset".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غروب (ghurūb) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-b, "to set (of the sun)" (Lane). Ghurūb is the verbal noun, "setting".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghurūb
- Say it: ghurūb, once more
- Say it: say ghurūb
- Recall: say the Arabic for dawn, then the Arabic for sunrise, then say ghurūb again

Before you move on

What does غروب mean? ("Sunset".) Say it once more.

233.5 ميلاد (mīlād) — birth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sunrise, then the Arabic for sunset.

You'll want to know: ميلاد

ميلاد — mīlād — "birth".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميلاد (mīlād) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-d, "to give birth" (Lane). Mīlād is the time of birth.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mīlād
- Say it: mīlād, once more
- Say it: say mīlād
- Recall: say the Arabic for sunrise, then the Arabic for sunset, then say mīlād again

Before you move on

What does ميلاد mean? ("Birth".) Say it once more.

Chapter 234

Yearly, Late morning, Soon, Alarm clock, Calendar

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say yearly, late morning, soon, an alarm clock and a calendar.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 234: I can say yearly, late morning, soon, an alarm clock and a calendar.

234.1 سنوي (sanawī) — yearly, annual

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sunset, then the Arabic for birth.

You'll want to know: سنوي

سنوي — sanawī — "yearly, annual".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سنوي (sanawī) is built on sana, "a year", which Lane treats under the native Arabic root s-n-w. Sanawī is sana with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sanawī
- Say it: sanawī, once more
- Say it: say sanawī
- Recall: say the Arabic for sunset, then the Arabic for birth, then say sanawī again

Before you move on

What does سنوي mean? ("Yearly, annual".) Say it once more.

234.2 ضحى (ḍuḥā) — late morning, forenoon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for birth, then the Arabic for yearly.

You'll want to know: ضحى

ضحى — ḍuḥā — "late morning, forenoon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضحى (ḍuḥā), "the forenoon", is an old native noun, filed under the root ḍ-ḥ-w (Lane), whose verb ḍaḥā is "to appear, to come into view".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍuḥā
- Say it: ḍuḥā, once more
- Say it: say ḍuḥā
- Recall: say the Arabic for birth, then the Arabic for yearly, then say ḍuḥā again

Before you move on

What does ضحى mean? ("Late morning, forenoon".) Say it once more.

234.3 قريبا (qarīban) — soon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for yearly, then the Arabic for late morning.

You'll want to know: قريبا

قريبا — qarīban — "soon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قريبا (qarīban) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-b, "to be near" (Lane). Qarīban is qarīb, "near", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qarīban
- Say it: qarīban, once more
- Say it: say qarīban
- Recall: say the Arabic for yearly, then the Arabic for late morning, then say qarīban again

Before you move on

What does قريبا mean? ("Soon".) Say it once more.

234.4 منبه (munabbih) — an alarm clock

Before the new one: say the Arabic for late morning, then the Arabic for soon.

You'll want to know: منبه

منبه — munabbih — "an alarm clock".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منبه (munabbih) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-h, "to take notice, to be aware" (Lane). Munabbih is the Form II participle, "one that gives notice"; the alarm clock is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: munabbih
- Say it: munabbih, once more
- Say it: say munabbih
- Recall: say the Arabic for late morning, then the Arabic for soon, then say munabbih again

Before you move on

What does منبه mean? ("An alarm clock".) Say it once more.

234.5 تقويم (taqwīm) — a calendar

Before the new one: say the Arabic for soon, then the Arabic for an alarm clock.

You'll want to know: تقويم

تقويم — taqwīm — "a calendar".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقويم (taqwīm) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand; to set right" (Lane). Taqwīm is the verbal noun of Form II, "setting right, reckoning".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taqwīm
- Say it: taqwīm, once more
- Say it: say taqwīm
- Recall: say the Arabic for soon, then the Arabic for an alarm clock, then say taqwīm again

Before you move on

What does تقويم mean? ("A calendar".) Say it once more.

Chapter 235

Museum, Stadium, Pavement, Crossroads, Embassy

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a museum, a stadium, a pavement, a crossroads and an embassy.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 235: I can say a museum, a stadium, a pavement, a crossroads and an embassy.

235.1 متحف (matḥaf) — a museum

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an alarm clock, then the Arabic for a calendar.

You'll want to know: متحف

متحف — matḥaf — "a museum".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متحف (matḥaf) is built on the native Arabic root t-ḥ-f, "a rare gift" (Lane). Matḥaf is a modern place noun built on tuḥfa, "a rarity": "a place of rarities".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: matḥaf
- Say it: matḥaf, once more
- Say it: say matḥaf
- Recall: say the Arabic for an alarm clock, then the Arabic for a calendar, then say matḥaf again

Before you move on

What does متحف mean? ("A museum".) Say it once more.

235.2 ملعب (mal^{c}ab) — a stadium, a sports ground

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a calendar, then the Arabic for a museum.

You'll want to know: ملعب

ملعب — mal^{c}ab — "a stadium, a sports ground".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملعب (mal^{c}ab) is built on the native Arabic root l-^{c}-b, "to play" (Lane). Mal^{c}ab is the ma- place noun, "a place of play".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mal^{c}ab
- Say it: mal^{c}ab, once more
- Say it: say mal^{c}ab
- Recall: say the Arabic for a calendar, then the Arabic for a museum, then say mal^{c}ab again

Before you move on

What does ملعب mean? ("A stadium, a sports ground".) Say it once more.

235.3 رصيف (raṣīf) — a pavement; a platform

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a museum, then the Arabic for a stadium.

You'll want to know: رصيف

رصيف — raṣīf — "a pavement; a platform".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رصيف (raṣīf) is built on the native Arabic root r-ṣ-f, "to set stones close" (Lane). Lane's raṣīf is stones set close together.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raṣīf
- Say it: raṣīf, once more
- Say it: say raṣīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a museum, then the Arabic for a stadium, then say raṣīf again

Before you move on

What does رصيف mean? ("A pavement; a platform".) Say it once more.

235.4 تقاطع (taqāṭu^{c}) — a crossroads, a junction

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stadium, then the Arabic for a pavement; a platform.

You'll want to know: تقاطع

تقاطع — taqāṭu^{c} — "a crossroads, a junction".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقاطع (taqāṭu^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-^{c}, "to cut, to sever" (Lane). Taqāṭu^{c} is the verbal noun of Form VI, "cutting across each other".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taqāṭu^{c}
- Say it: taqāṭu^{c}, once more
- Say it: say taqāṭu^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stadium, then the Arabic for a pavement; a platform, then say taqāṭu^{c} again

Before you move on

What does تقاطع mean? ("A crossroads, a junction".) Say it once more.

235.5 سفارة (sifāra) — an embassy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pavement; a platform, then the Arabic for a crossroads.

You'll want to know: سفارة

سفارة — sifāra — "an embassy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سفارة (sifāra) is built on the native Arabic root s-f-r, "to sweep, to uncover" (Lane), which also gives safara bayna, "to make peace between". Sifāra is the office of safīr, "a go-between"; the embassy is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sifāra
- Say it: sifāra, once more
- Say it: say sifāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pavement; a platform, then the Arabic for a crossroads, then say sifāra again

Before you move on

What does سفارة mean? ("An embassy".) Say it once more.

Chapter 236

Earthquake, Flood, Ice, Citizen, Inhabitants

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an earthquake, a flood, ice, a citizen and inhabitants.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 236: I can say an earthquake, a flood, ice, a citizen and inhabitants.

236.1 زلزال (zilzāl) — an earthquake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crossroads, then the Arabic for an embassy.

You'll want to know: زلزال

زلزال — zilzāl — "an earthquake".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زلزال (zilzāl) is built on the doubled root z-l-z-l, "to shake violently", which Lane lists under z-l-l: a violent shaking, an earthquake.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zilzāl
- Say it: zilzāl, once more
- Say it: say zilzāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crossroads, then the Arabic for an embassy, then say zilzāl again

Before you move on

What does زلزال mean? ("An earthquake".) Say it once more.

236.2 فيضان (fayaḍān) — a flood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an embassy, then the Arabic for an earthquake.

You'll want to know: فيضان

فيضان — fayaḍān — "a flood".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فيضان (fayaḍān) is built on the native Arabic root f-y-ḍ, "to overflow" (Lane). Fayaḍān is the verbal noun, "overflowing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fayaḍān
- Say it: fayaḍān, once more
- Say it: say fayaḍān
- Recall: say the Arabic for an embassy, then the Arabic for an earthquake, then say fayaḍān again

Before you move on

What does فيضان mean? ("A flood".) Say it once more.

236.3 جليد (jalīd) — ice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an earthquake, then the Arabic for a flood.

You'll want to know: جليد

جليد — jalīd — "ice".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جليد (jalīd) is filed under the native Arabic root j-l-d (Lane), the root of jild, "skin". Lane's jalīd is hoar-frost; "ice" is the usual modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jalīd
- Say it: jalīd, once more
- Say it: say jalīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for an earthquake, then the Arabic for a flood, then say jalīd again

Before you move on

What does جليد mean? ("Ice".) Say it once more.

236.4 مواطن (muwāṭin) — a citizen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a flood, then the Arabic for ice.

You'll want to know: مواطن

مواطن — muwāṭin — "a citizen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مواطن (muwāṭin) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṭ-n, "a homeland; to dwell" (Lane). Muwāṭin is the Form III participle, "a fellow-dweller"; the citizen is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muwāṭin
- Say it: muwāṭin, once more
- Say it: say muwāṭin
- Recall: say the Arabic for a flood, then the Arabic for ice, then say muwāṭin again

Before you move on

What does مواطن mean? ("A citizen".) Say it once more.

236.5 سكان (sukkān) — inhabitants, population

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ice, then the Arabic for a citizen.

You'll want to know: سكان

سكان — sukkān — "inhabitants, population".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سكان (sukkān) is built on the native Arabic root s-k-n, "to be still; to dwell" (Lane). Sukkān is the plural of sākin, "one who dwells".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sukkān
- Say it: sukkān, once more
- Say it: say sukkān
- Recall: say the Arabic for ice, then the Arabic for a citizen, then say sukkān again

Before you move on

What does سكان mean? ("Inhabitants, population".) Say it once more.

Chapter 237

Patience, Generosity, Feeling, Morals, Personality

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say patience, generosity, a feeling, morals and personality.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 237: I can say patience, generosity, a feeling, morals and personality.

237.1 صبر (ṣabr) — patience

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a citizen, then the Arabic for inhabitants.

You'll want to know: صبر

صبر — ṣabr — "patience".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صبر (ṣabr) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-r, "to bind; to be patient" (Lane). Ṣabr is patience.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣabr
- Say it: ṣabr, once more
- Say it: say ṣabr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a citizen, then the Arabic for inhabitants, then say ṣabr again

Before you move on

What does صبر mean? ("Patience".) Say it once more.

237.2 كرم (karam) — generosity

Before the new one: say the Arabic for inhabitants, then the Arabic for patience.

You'll want to know: كرم

كرم — karam — "generosity".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كرم (karam) is built on the native Arabic root k-r-m, "to be noble, to be generous" (Lane). Karam is generosity.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: karam
- Say it: karam, once more
- Say it: say karam
- Recall: say the Arabic for inhabitants, then the Arabic for patience, then say karam again

Before you move on

What does كرم mean? ("Generosity".) Say it once more.

237.3 شعور (shu^{c}ūr) — a feeling

Before the new one: say the Arabic for patience, then the Arabic for generosity.

You'll want to know: شعور

شعور — shu^{c}ūr — "a feeling".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شعور (shu^{c}ūr) is built on the native Arabic root sh-^{c}-r, "to perceive" (Lane). Shu^{c}ūr is the verbal noun, "perceiving, feeling".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shu^{c}ūr
- Say it: shu^{c}ūr, once more
- Say it: say shu^{c}ūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for patience, then the Arabic for generosity, then say shu^{c}ūr again

Before you move on

What does شعور mean? ("A feeling".) Say it once more.

237.4 أخلاق (akhlāq) — morals, manners

Before the new one: say the Arabic for generosity, then the Arabic for a feeling.

You'll want to know: أخلاق

أخلاق — akhlāq — "morals, manners".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخلاق (akhlāq) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-q, "to create; natural disposition" (Lane). Akhlāq is the plural of khuluq, "natural disposition".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: akhlāq
- Say it: akhlāq, once more
- Say it: say akhlāq
- Recall: say the Arabic for generosity, then the Arabic for a feeling, then say akhlāq again

Before you move on

What does أخلاق mean? ("Morals, manners".) Say it once more.

237.5 شخصية (shakhṣiyya) — personality, a character

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a feeling, then the Arabic for morals.

You'll want to know: شخصية

شخصية — shakhṣiyya — "personality, a character".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شخصية (shakhṣiyya) is built on the native Arabic root sh-kh-ṣ, "to rise into view" (Lane). Shakhṣiyya is shakhṣ, "a person", with the abstract ending -iyya.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shakhṣiyya
- Say it: shakhṣiyya, once more
- Say it: say shakhṣiyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a feeling, then the Arabic for morals, then say shakhṣiyya again

Before you move on

What does شخصية mean? ("Personality, a character".) Say it once more.

Chapter 238

Like, Completely, Of course, Almost, Especially

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say like, completely, of course, almost and especially.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 238: I can say like, completely, of course, almost and especially.

238.1 مثل (mithl) — like, such as

Before the new one: say the Arabic for morals, then the Arabic for personality.

You'll want to know: مثل

مثل — mithl — "like, such as".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مثل (mithl) is built on the native Arabic root m-th-l, "to be like" (Lane). Mithl is "a like, a match".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mithl
- Say it: mithl, once more
- Say it: say mithl
- Recall: say the Arabic for morals, then the Arabic for personality, then say mithl again

Before you move on

What does مثل mean? ("Like, such as".) Say it once more.

238.2 تماما (tamāman) — completely

Before the new one: say the Arabic for personality, then the Arabic for like.

You'll want to know: تماما

تماما — tamāman — "completely".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تماما (tamāman) is built on the native Arabic root t-m-m, "to be complete" (Lane). Tamāman is tamām, "completeness", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tamāman
- Say it: tamāman, once more
- Say it: say tamāman
- Recall: say the Arabic for personality, then the Arabic for like, then say tamāman again

Before you move on

What does تماما mean? ("Completely".) Say it once more.

238.3 طبعا (ṭabᶜan) — of course

Before the new one: say the Arabic for like, then the Arabic for completely.

You'll want to know: طبعا

طبعا — ṭabᶜan — "of course".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبعا (ṭabᶜan) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-ᶜ, "to seal, to stamp" (Lane). Ṭabᶜan is ṭabᶜ, "nature", with the adverb ending -an: "by nature, of course".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabᶜan
- Say it: ṭabᶜan, once more
- Say it: say ṭabᶜan
- Recall: say the Arabic for like, then the Arabic for completely, then say ṭabᶜan again

Before you move on

What does طبعا mean? ("Of course".) Say it once more.

238.4 تقريبا (taqrīban) — almost, approximately

Before the new one: say the Arabic for completely, then the Arabic for of course.

You'll want to know: تقريبا

تقريبا — taqrīban — "almost, approximately".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقريبا (taqrīban) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-b, "to be near" (Lane). Taqrīban is the verbal noun of Form II, "bringing near", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taqrīban
- Say it: taqrīban, once more
- Say it: say taqrīban
- Recall: say the Arabic for completely, then the Arabic for of course, then say taqrīban again

Before you move on

What does تقريبا mean? ("Almost, approximately".) Say it once more.

238.5 خصوصا (khuṣūṣan) — especially

Before the new one: say the Arabic for of course, then the Arabic for almost.

You'll want to know: خصوصا

خصوصا — khuṣūṣan — "especially".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خصوصا (khuṣūṣan) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-ṣ, "to single out" (Lane). Khuṣūṣan is khuṣūṣ, "singling out", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khuṣūṣan
- Say it: khuṣūṣan, once more
- Say it: say khuṣūṣan
- Recall: say the Arabic for of course, then the Arabic for almost, then say khuṣūṣan again

Before you move on

What does خصوصا mean? ("Especially".) Say it once more.

Chapter 239

Luck, Agreement, Discussion, Memory, Doubt

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say luck, an agreement, a discussion, a memory and doubt.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 239: I can say luck, an agreement, a discussion, a memory and doubt.

239.1 حظ (ḥaẓẓ) — luck

Before the new one: say the Arabic for almost, then the Arabic for especially.

You'll want to know: حظ

حظ — ḥaẓẓ — "luck".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حظ (ḥaẓẓ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ẓ-ẓ, "a portion, luck" (Lane). Ḥaẓẓ is one's portion, one's luck.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaẓẓ
- Say it: ḥaẓẓ, once more
- Say it: say ḥaẓẓ
- Recall: say the Arabic for almost, then the Arabic for especially, then say ḥaẓẓ again

Before you move on

What does حظ mean? ("Luck".) Say it once more.

239.2 اتفاق (ittifāq) — an agreement

Before the new one: say the Arabic for especially, then the Arabic for luck.

You'll want to know: اتفاق

اتفاق — ittifāq — "an agreement".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتفاق (ittifāq) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-q, "to suit, to agree" (Lane). Ittifāq is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "agreement".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ittifāq
- Say it: ittifāq, once more
- Say it: say ittifāq
- Recall: say the Arabic for especially, then the Arabic for luck, then say ittifāq again

Before you move on

What does اتفاق mean? ("An agreement".) Say it once more.

239.3 نقاش (niqāsh) — a discussion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for luck, then the Arabic for an agreement.

You'll want to know: نقاش

نقاش — niqāsh — "a discussion".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقاش (niqāsh) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-sh, "to engrave; to question closely" (Lane). Niqāsh is the verbal noun of Form III, "debate".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: niqāsh
- Say it: niqāsh, once more
- Say it: say niqāsh
- Recall: say the Arabic for luck, then the Arabic for an agreement, then say niqāsh again

Before you move on

What does نقاش mean? ("A discussion".) Say it once more.

239.4 ذكرى (dhikrā) — a memory

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an agreement, then the Arabic for a discussion.

You'll want to know: ذكرى

ذكرى — dhikrā — "a memory".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذكرى (dhikrā) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-r, "to remember" (Lane). Dhikrā is a remembrance.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhikrā
- Say it: dhikrā, once more
- Say it: say dhikrā
- Recall: say the Arabic for an agreement, then the Arabic for a discussion, then say dhikrā again

Before you move on

What does ذكرى mean? ("A memory".) Say it once more.

239.5 شك (shakk) — doubt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a discussion, then the Arabic for a memory.

You'll want to know: شك

شك — shakk — "doubt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شك (shakk) is built on the native Arabic root sh-k-k, "to doubt" (Lane). Shakk is the verbal noun, "doubt".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shakk
- Say it: shakk, once more
- Say it: say shakk
- Recall: say the Arabic for a discussion, then the Arabic for a memory, then say shakk again

Before you move on

What does شك mean? ("Doubt".) Say it once more.

Chapter 240

Out of order, Ready, Genuine, Suitable, Excellent

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say out of order, ready, genuine, suitable and excellent.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 240: I can say out of order, ready, genuine, suitable and excellent.

240.1 معطل (muᶜaṭṭal) — out of order

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a memory, then the Arabic for doubt.

You'll want to know: معطل

معطل — muᶜaṭṭal — "out of order".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معطل (muᶜaṭṭal) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-l, "to be without work" (Lane). Muᶜaṭṭal is the Form II passive participle, "left idle", hence "out of order".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}aṭṭal
- Say it: mu^{c}aṭṭal, once more
- Say it: say mu^{c}aṭṭal
- Recall: say the Arabic for a memory, then the Arabic for doubt, then say mu^{c}aṭṭal again

Before you move on

What does معطل mean? ("Out of order".) Say it once more.

240.2 جاهز (jāhiz) — ready

Before the new one: say the Arabic for doubt, then the Arabic for out of order.

You'll want to know: جاهز

جاهز — jāhiz — "ready".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جاهز (jāhiz) is built on the native Arabic root j-h-z, "to equip, to make ready" (Lane). Jāhiz is the active participle, "ready".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jāhiz
- Say it: jāhiz, once more
- Say it: say jāhiz
- Recall: say the Arabic for doubt, then the Arabic for out of order, then say jāhiz again

Before you move on

What does جاهز mean? ("Ready".) Say it once more.

240.3 أصلي (aṣlī) — genuine, original

Before the new one: say the Arabic for out of order, then the Arabic for ready.

You'll want to know: أصلي

أصلي — aṣlī — "genuine, original".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أصلي (aṣlī) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-ṣ-l, "a root, an origin" (Lane). Aṣlī is aṣl, "root, origin", with the adjective ending -ī: "original".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: aṣlī
- Say it: aṣlī, once more
- Say it: say aṣlī
- Recall: say the Arabic for out of order, then the Arabic for ready, then say aṣlī again

Before you move on

What does أصلي mean? ("Genuine, original".) Say it once more.

240.4 مناسب (munāsib) — suitable

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ready, then the Arabic for genuine.

You'll want to know: مناسب

مناسب — munāsib — "suitable".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مناسب (munāsib) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-b, "to be related, to be suitable" (Lane). Munāsib is the Form III participle, "suiting".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: munāsib
- Say it: munāsib, once more
- Say it: say munāsib
- Recall: say the Arabic for ready, then the Arabic for genuine, then say munāsib again

Before you move on

What does مناسب mean? ("Suitable".) Say it once more.

240.5 ممتاز (mumtāz) — excellent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for genuine, then the Arabic for suitable.

You'll want to know: ممتاز

ممتاز — mumtāz — "excellent".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممتاز (mumtāz) is built on the native Arabic root m-y-z, "to distinguish, to set apart" (Lane). Mumtāz is the Form VIII participle, "set apart", hence "excellent".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mumtāz
- Say it: mumtāz, once more
- Say it: say mumtāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for genuine, then the Arabic for suitable, then say mumtāz again

Before you move on

What does ممتاز mean? ("Excellent".) Say it once more.

240.6 Words from chapters 232-235 — a first pass

Say the words for suitable and excellent.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- dizziness, an ointment, a surgeon, a crutch, bleeding
- since, dawn, sunrise, sunset, birth
- yearly, late morning, soon, an alarm clock, a calendar
- a museum, a stadium, a pavement; a platform, a crossroads, an embassy

Before you move on

Dizziness? (دوار, duwār.) An ointment? (مرهم, marham.) A surgeon? (جراح, jarrāḥ.) A crutch? (عكاز, ᶜukkāz.) Bleeding? (نزيف, nazīf.) Since? (منذ, mundhu.) Dawn? (فجر, fajr.) Sunrise? (شروق, shurūq.) Sunset? (غروب, ghurūb.) Birth? (ميلاد, mīlād.) Yearly? (سنوي, sanawī.) Late morning? (ضحى, ḍuḥā.) Soon? (قريبا, qarīban.) An alarm clock? (منبه, munabbih.) A calendar? (تقويم, taqwīm.) A museum? (متحف, maṯḥaf.) A stadium? (ملعب, malᶜab.) A pavement; a platform? (رصيف, raṣīf.) A crossroads? (تقاطع, taqāṭuᶜ.) An embassy? (سفارة, sifāra.)

240.7 Words from chapters 236-240 — a second pass

Say the words for an earthquake and a flood.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an earthquake, a flood, ice, a citizen, inhabitants
- patience, generosity, a feeling, morals, personality
- like, completely, of course, almost, especially
- luck, an agreement, a discussion, a memory, doubt
- out of order, ready, genuine, suitable, excellent

Before you move on

An earthquake? (زلزال, zilzāl.) A flood? (فيضان, fayaḍān.) Ice? (جليد, jalīd.) A citizen? (مواطن, muwāṭin.) Inhabitants? (سكان, sukkān.) Patience? (صبر, ṣabr.) Generosity? (كرم, karam.) A feeling? (شعور, shuᶜūr.) Morals? (أخلاق, akhlāq.) Personality? (شخصية, shakhṣiyya.) Like? (مثل, mithl.) Completely? (تماما, tamāman.) Of course? (طبعا, ṭabᶜan.) Almost? (تقريبا, taqrīban.) Especially? (خصوصا, khuṣūṣan.) Luck? (حظ, ḥaẓẓ.) An agreement? (اتفاق, ittifāq.) A discussion? (نقاش, niqāsh.) A memory? (ذكرى, dhikrā.) Doubt? (شك, shakk.)

Out of order? (معطل, muᶜaṭṭal.) Ready? (جاهز, jāhiz.) Genuine? (أصلي, aṣlī.) Suitable? (مناسب, munāsib.) Excellent? (ممتاز, mumtāz.)

Chapter 241

Polite, Patient, Modest, Funny, Serious

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say polite, patient, modest, funny and serious.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 241: I can say polite, patient, modest, funny and serious.

241.1 مهذب (muhadhdhab) — polite

Before the new one: say the Arabic for suitable, then the Arabic for excellent.

You'll want to know: مهذب

مهذب — muhadhdhab — "polite".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهذب (muhadhdhab) is built on the native Arabic root h-dh-b, "to prune, to refine" (Lane). Muhadhdhab is the Form II passive participle, "refined", hence "polite".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muhadhdhab
- Say it: muhadhdhab, once more
- Say it: say muhadhdhab
- Recall: say the Arabic for suitable, then the Arabic for excellent, then say muhadhdhab again

Before you move on

What does مهذب mean? ("Polite".) Say it once more.

241.2 صبور (ṣabūr) — patient

Before the new one: say the Arabic for excellent, then the Arabic for polite.

You'll want to know: صبور

صبور — ṣabūr — "patient".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صبور (ṣabūr) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-r, "to bind; to be patient" (Lane). Ṣabūr is the fa^{c}ūl adjective, "patient".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣabūr
- Say it: ṣabūr, once more
- Say it: say ṣabūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for excellent, then the Arabic for polite, then say ṣabūr again

Before you move on

What does صبور mean? ("Patient".) Say it once more.

241.3 متواضع (mutawāḍi^{c}) — modest, humble

Before the new one: say the Arabic for polite, then the Arabic for patient.

You'll want to know: متواضع

متواضع — mutawāḍi^{c} — "modest, humble".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متواضع (mutawāḍi^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-^{c}, "to put down, to lay" (Lane). Mutawāḍi^{c} is the Form VI participle, "lowering oneself", hence "humble".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mutawāḍi^{c}
- Say it: mutawāḍi^{c}, once more
- Say it: say mutawāḍi^{c}
- Recall: say the Arabic for polite, then the Arabic for patient, then say mutawāḍi^{c} again

Before you move on

What does متواضع mean? ("Modest, humble".) Say it once more.

241.4 مضحك (muḍḥik) — funny

Before the new one: say the Arabic for patient, then the Arabic for modest.

You'll want to know: مضحك

مضحك — muḍḥik — "funny".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مضحك (muḍḥik) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ḥ-k, "to laugh" (Lane). Muḍḥik is the Form IV participle, "making laugh".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muḍḥik
- Say it: muḍḥik, once more
- Say it: say muḍḥik
- Recall: say the Arabic for patient, then the Arabic for modest, then say muḍḥik again

Before you move on

What does مضحك mean? ("Funny".) Say it once more.

241.5 جاد (jādd) — serious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for modest, then the Arabic for funny.

You'll want to know: جاد

جاد — jādd — "serious".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جاد (jādd) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-d, "to cut; to be in earnest" (Lane). Jādd is the active participle, "in earnest", hence "serious".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jādd
- Say it: jādd, once more
- Say it: say jādd
- Recall: say the Arabic for modest, then the Arabic for funny, then say jādd again

Before you move on

What does جاد mean? ("Serious".) Say it once more.

Chapter 242

Noisy, Dead, Wild, Tame, Poisonous

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say noisy, dead, wild, tame and poisonous.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 242: I can say noisy, dead, wild, tame and poisonous.

242.1 صاخب (ṣākhib) — noisy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for funny, then the Arabic for serious.

You'll want to know: صاخب

صاخب — ṣākhib — "noisy".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صاخب (ṣākhib) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-kh-b, "to clamour" (Lane). Ṣākhib is the active participle, "clamorous".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣākhib
- Say it: ṣākhib, once more
- Say it: say ṣākhib
- Recall: say the Arabic for funny, then the Arabic for serious, then say ṣākhib again

Before you move on

What does صاخب mean? ("Noisy".) Say it once more.

242.2 ميت (mayyit) — dead

Before the new one: say the Arabic for serious, then the Arabic for noisy.

You'll want to know: ميت

ميت — mayyit — "dead".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميت (mayyit) is built on the native Arabic root m-w-t, "to die" (Lane). Mayyit is the adjective, "dead".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mayyit
- Say it: mayyit, once more
- Say it: say mayyit
- Recall: say the Arabic for serious, then the Arabic for noisy, then say mayyit again

Before you move on

What does ميت mean? ("Dead".) Say it once more.

242.3 بري (barrī) — wild

Before the new one: say the Arabic for noisy, then the Arabic for dead.

You'll want to know: بري

بري — barrī — "wild".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بري (barrī) is barr, "the land, the wild", with the adjective ending -ī. barr is filed under the native Arabic root b-r-r (Lane), which also gives birr, "piety".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: barrī
- Say it: barrī, once more
- Say it: say barrī
- Recall: say the Arabic for noisy, then the Arabic for dead, then say barrī again

Before you move on

What does بري mean? ("Wild".) Say it once more.

242.4 أليف (alīf) — tame (of a pet)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dead, then the Arabic for wild.

You'll want to know: أليف

أليف — alīf — "tame (of a pet)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أليف (alīf) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-l-f, "to be familiar with; a thousand" (Lane). Alīf is "familiar, tame".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: alīf
- Say it: alīf, once more
- Say it: say alīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for dead, then the Arabic for wild, then say alīf again

Before you move on

What does أليف mean? ("Tame (of a pet)".) Say it once more.

242.5 سام (sāmm) — poisonous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wild, then the Arabic for tame.

You'll want to know: سام

سام — sāmm — "poisonous".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سام (sāmm) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-m, "poison" (Lane). Sāmm is "poisonous", from samm, "poison".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāmm
- Say it: sāmm, once more
- Say it: say sāmm
- Recall: say the Arabic for wild, then the Arabic for tame, then say sāmm again

Before you move on

What does سام mean? ("Poisonous".) Say it once more.

Chapter 243

Lukewarm, Annoying, Frightening, Second-hand, Fake

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say lukewarm, annoying, frightening, second-hand and fake.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 243: I can say lukewarm, annoying, frightening, second-hand and fake.

243.1 فاتر (fātir) — lukewarm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tame, then the Arabic for poisonous.

You'll want to know: فاتر

فاتر — fātir — "lukewarm".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فاتر (fātir) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-r, "to become tepid, to slacken" (Lane). Fātir is the active participle, "tepid".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fātir
- Say it: fātir, once more
- Say it: say fātir
- Recall: say the Arabic for tame, then the Arabic for poisonous, then say fātir again

Before you move on

What does فاتر mean? ("Lukewarm".) Say it once more.

243.2 مزعج (muz^{c}ij) — annoying

Before the new one: say the Arabic for poisonous, then the Arabic for lukewarm.

You'll want to know: مزعج

مزعج — muz^{c}ij — "annoying".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزعج (muz^{c}ij) is built on the native Arabic root z-^{c}-j, "to disquiet" (Lane). Muz^{c}ij is the Form IV participle, "disquieting".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muz^{c}ij
- Say it: muz^{c}ij, once more
- Say it: say muz^{c}ij
- Recall: say the Arabic for poisonous, then the Arabic for lukewarm, then say muz^{c}ij again

Before you move on

What does مزعج mean? ("Annoying".) Say it once more.

243.3 مخيف (mukhīf) — frightening, scary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lukewarm, then the Arabic for annoying.

You'll want to know: مخيف

مخيف — mukhīf — "frightening, scary".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخيف (mukhīf) is built on the native Arabic root kh-w-f, "to fear" (Lane). Mukhīf is the Form IV participle, "frightening".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mukhīf
- Say it: mukhīf, once more
- Say it: say mukhīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for lukewarm, then the Arabic for annoying, then say mukhīf again

Before you move on

What does مخيف mean? ("Frightening, scary".) Say it once more.

243.4 مستعمل (mustaᶜmal) — second-hand

Before the new one: say the Arabic for annoying, then the Arabic for frightening.

You'll want to know: مستعمل

مستعمل — musta^{c}mal — "second-hand".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستعمل (musta^{c}mal) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-m-l, "to work, to do" (Lane). Musta^{c}mal is the Form X passive participle, "used".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: musta^{c}mal
- Say it: musta^{c}mal, once more
- Say it: say musta^{c}mal
- Recall: say the Arabic for annoying, then the Arabic for frightening, then say musta^{c}mal again

Before you move on

What does مستعمل mean? ("Second-hand".) Say it once more.

243.5 مزيف (muzayyaf) — fake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for frightening, then the Arabic for second-hand.

You'll want to know: مزيف

مزيف — muzayyaf — "fake".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزيف (muzayyaf) is built on the native Arabic root z-y-f, "to be counterfeit" (Lane). Muzayyaf is the Form II passive participle, "made false".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muzayyaf
- Say it: muzayyaf, once more
- Say it: say muzayyaf
- Recall: say the Arabic for frightening, then the Arabic for second-hand, then say muzayyaf again

Before you move on

What does مزيف mean? ("Fake".) Say it once more.

Chapter 244

Yoghurt, Peaches, Pears, Pineapple, Almonds

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say yoghurt, peaches, pears, pineapple and almonds.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 244: I can say yoghurt, peaches, pears, pineapple and almonds.

244.1 زبادي (zabādī) — yoghurt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for second-hand, then the Arabic for fake.

You'll want to know: زبادي

زبادي — zabādī — "yoghurt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زبادي (zabādī) is a modern word for yoghurt. It may be linked with the root z-b-d, which gives zubd, "fresh butter", and zubād, "thin milk" (Lane), but its formation is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zabādī
- Say it: zabādī, once more
- Say it: say zabādī
- Recall: say the Arabic for second-hand, then the Arabic for fake, then say zabādī again

Before you move on

What does زبادي mean? ("Yoghurt".) Say it once more.

244.2 خوخ (khawkh) — peaches

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fake, then the Arabic for yoghurt.

You'll want to know: خوخ

خوخ — khawkh — "peaches".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خوخ (khawkh) is listed by Lane under kh-w-kh as a well-known fruit, the peach, with no foreign source given; EtymDB derives it from Aramaic ḥūḥā.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khawkh
- Say it: khawkh, once more
- Say it: say khawkh
- Recall: say the Arabic for fake, then the Arabic for yoghurt, then say khawkh again

Before you move on

What does خوخ mean? ("Peaches".) Say it once more.

244.3 كمثرى (kummathrā) — pears

Before the new one: say the Arabic for yoghurt, then the Arabic for peaches.

You'll want to know: كمثرى

كمثرى — kummathrā — "pears".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كمثرى (kummathrā) is usually traced to Syriac kumathrā, "pear" (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kummathrā
- Say it: kummathrā, once more
- Say it: say kummathrā
- Recall: say the Arabic for yoghurt, then the Arabic for peaches, then say kummathrā again

Before you move on

What does كمثرى mean? ("Pears".) Say it once more.

244.4 أناناس (anānās) — pineapple

Before the new one: say the Arabic for peaches, then the Arabic for pears.

You'll want to know: أناناس

أناناس — anānās — "pineapple".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أناناس (anānās) is a modern loan from European ananas, which goes back through Portuguese to Tupi nanas, the pineapple; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: anānās
- Say it: anānās, once more
- Say it: say anānās
- Recall: say the Arabic for peaches, then the Arabic for pears, then say anānās again

Before you move on

What does أناناس mean? ("Pineapple".) Say it once more.

244.5 لوز (lawz) — almonds

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pears, then the Arabic for pineapple.

You'll want to know: لوز

لوز — lawz — "almonds".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لوز (lawz) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-z, "the almond" (Lane). Lane's lawz is the almond; Hebrew luz is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: lawz
- Say it: lawz, once more
- Say it: say lawz
- Recall: say the Arabic for pears, then the Arabic for pineapple, then say lawz again

Before you move on

What does لوز mean? ("Almonds".) Say it once more.

Chapter 245

Necklace, Size, Telephone, Mobile phone, Screen

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a necklace, a size, a telephone, a mobile phone and a screen.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 245: I can say a necklace, a size, a telephone, a mobile phone and a screen.

245.1 قلادة (qilāda) — a necklace

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pineapple, then the Arabic for almonds.

You'll want to know: قلادة

قلادة — qilāda — "a necklace".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلادة (qilāda) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-d, "to hang on the neck" (Lane). Qilāda is a thing hung on the neck.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qilāda
- Say it: qilāda, once more
- Say it: say qilāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for pineapple, then the Arabic for almonds, then say qilāda again

Before you move on

What does قلادة mean? ("A necklace".) Say it once more.

245.2 مقاس (maqās) — a size (of clothes)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for almonds, then the Arabic for a necklace.

You'll want to know: مقاس

مقاس — maqās — "a size (of clothes)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقاس (maqās) is built on the native Arabic root q-y-s, "to measure" (Lane). Maqās is a modern noun of measure, "a size".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maqās
- Say it: maqās, once more
- Say it: say maqās
- Recall: say the Arabic for almonds, then the Arabic for a necklace, then say maqās again

Before you move on

What does مقاس mean? ("A size (of clothes)".) Say it once more.

245.3 هاتف (hātif) — a telephone

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a necklace, then the Arabic for a size.

You'll want to know: هاتف

هاتف — hātif — "a telephone".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هاتف (hātif) is built on the native Arabic root h-t-f, "to call out". Lane's lexicon has no article on this root. Hātif is the active participle, "one who calls out"; the telephone is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hātif
- Say it: hātif, once more
- Say it: say hātif
- Recall: say the Arabic for a necklace, then the Arabic for a size, then say hātif again

Before you move on

What does هاتف mean? ("A telephone".) Say it once more.

245.4 جوال (jawwāl) — a mobile phone

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a size, then the Arabic for a telephone.

You'll want to know: جوال

جوال — jawwāl — "a mobile phone".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جوال (jawwāl) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-l, "to roam, to go about" (Lane). Jawwāl is the fa^{cc}āl adjective, "much roaming"; the mobile phone is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jawwāl
- Say it: jawwāl, once more
- Say it: say jawwāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a size, then the Arabic for a telephone, then say jawwāl again

Before you move on

What does جوال mean? ("A mobile phone".) Say it once more.

245.5 شاشة (shāsha) — a screen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a telephone, then the Arabic for a mobile phone.

You'll want to know: شاشة

شاشة — shāsha — "a screen".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاشة (shāsha) is a modern word for a screen, usually explained from shāsh, "muslin, white linen" (EtymDB), the first screens being white cloth. It has no entry in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shāsha
- Say it: shāsha, once more
- Say it: say shāsha
- Recall: say the Arabic for a telephone, then the Arabic for a mobile phone, then say shāsha again

Before you move on

What does شاشة mean? ("A screen".) Say it once more.

Chapter 246

Family, Grandson, Aunt, Twin, Bridegroom

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a family, a grandson, an aunt, a twin and a bridegroom.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 246: I can say a family, a grandson, an aunt, a twin and a bridegroom.

246.1 أسرة (usra) — a family

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mobile phone, then the Arabic for a screen.

You'll want to know: أسرة

أسرة — usra — "a family".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسرة (usra) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-s-r, "to bind" (Lane). Lane's usra is a man's nearest kin, named because he is strengthened by them.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: usra
- Say it: usra, once more
- Say it: say usra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mobile phone, then the Arabic for a screen, then say usra again

Before you move on

What does أسرة mean? ("A family".) Say it once more.

246.2 حفيد (ḥafīd) — a grandson

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a screen, then the Arabic for a family.

You'll want to know: حفيد

حفيد — ḥafīd — "a grandson".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حفيد (ḥafīd) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-d, "to serve quickly" (Lane). Lane gives ḥāfid, plural ḥafada, as a helper who serves quickly, and also gives ḥafada and ḥafīd for grandchildren.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥafīd
- Say it: ḥafīd, once more
- Say it: say ḥafīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for a screen, then the Arabic for a family, then say ḥafīd again

Before you move on

What does حفيد mean? ("A grandson".) Say it once more.

246.3 عمة (ᶜamma) — an aunt (father's sister)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a family, then the Arabic for a grandson.

You'll want to know: عمة

عمة — ᶜamma — "an aunt (father's sister)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عمة (ᶜamma) is the feminine of ᶜamm, "a paternal uncle", an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-m-m (Lane), "to be general, to include all".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜamma
- Say it: ᶜamma, once more
- Say it: say ᶜamma
- Recall: say the Arabic for a family, then the Arabic for a grandson, then say ᶜamma again

Before you move on

What does عمة mean? ("An aunt (father's sister)".) Say it once more.

246.4 توأم (tawʾam) — a twin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a grandson, then the Arabic for an aunt.

You'll want to know: توأم

توأم — tawʾam — "a twin".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توأم (tawʾam) is built on the native Arabic root w-ʾ-m, which Lane treats under t-ʾ-m, where atʾamat is "she bore twins"; Aramaic tʾōmā, "twin", behind the name Thomas, is a cousin.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tawʾam
- Say it: tawʾam, once more
- Say it: say tawʾam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a grandson, then the Arabic for an aunt, then say tawʾam again

Before you move on

What does توأم mean? ("A twin".) Say it once more.

246.5 عريس (ᶜarīs) — a bridegroom

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an aunt, then the Arabic for a twin.

You'll want to know: عريس

عريس — ᶜarīs — "a bridegroom".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عريس (ᶜarīs) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-s, "to marry, to hold a wedding" (Lane). ᶜArīs is the bridegroom.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜarīs
- Say it: ᶜarīs, once more
- Say it: say ᶜarīs
- Recall: say the Arabic for an aunt, then the Arabic for a twin, then say ᶜarīs again

Before you move on

What does عريس mean? ("A bridegroom".) Say it once more.

Chapter 247

Air, Wave, Roses, Palm tree, Jasmine

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say air, a wave, roses, a palm tree and jasmine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 247: I can say air, a wave, roses, a palm tree and jasmine.

247.1 هواء (hawāʾ) — air

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a twin, then the Arabic for a bridegroom.

You'll want to know: هواء

هواء — hawāʾ — "air".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هواء (hawāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root h-w-y, "to fall; air" (Lane). Hawāʾ is the air.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: hawāʾ
- Say it: hawāʾ, once more
- Say it: say hawāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a twin, then the Arabic for a bridegroom, then say hawāʾ again

Before you move on

What does هواء mean? ("Air".) Say it once more.

247.2 موجة (mawja) — a wave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bridegroom, then the Arabic for air.

You'll want to know: موجة

موجة — mawja — "a wave".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موجة (mawja) is built on the native Arabic root m-w-j, "to surge" (Lane). Mawja is one wave.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawja
- Say it: mawja, once more
- Say it: say mawja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bridegroom, then the Arabic for air, then say mawja again

Before you move on

What does موجة mean? ("A wave".) Say it once more.

247.3 ورد (ward) — roses

Before the new one: say the Arabic for air, then the Arabic for a wave.

You'll want to know: ورد

ورد — ward — "roses".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ورد (ward) is listed by Lane under w-r-d, with a source calling it arabicized. It is usually given an Iranian origin, probably by way of Aramaic wardā, "rose"; EtymDB sets it beside wardā.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ward
- Say it: ward, once more
- Say it: say ward
- Recall: say the Arabic for air, then the Arabic for a wave, then say ward again

Before you move on

What does ورد mean? ("Roses".) Say it once more.

247.4 نخلة (nakhla) — a palm tree

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wave, then the Arabic for roses.

You'll want to know: نخلة

نخلة — nakhla — "a palm tree".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نخلة (nakhla) is one palm tree of nakhl, "palm trees", built on the native Arabic root n-kh-l. Lane's short article on this root gives nakhala, "to sift", and nakhlī, "a cultivator of palm-trees".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nakhla
- Say it: nakhla, once more
- Say it: say nakhla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wave, then the Arabic for roses, then say nakhla again

Before you move on

What does نخلة mean? ("A palm tree".) Say it once more.

247.5 ياسمين (yāsamīn) — jasmine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for roses, then the Arabic for a palm tree.

You'll want to know: ياسمين

ياسمين — yāsamīn — "jasmine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ياسمين (yāsamīn) is a loan from Persian yāsaman, yāsamīn (EtymDB); English jasmine comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: yāsamīn
- Say it: yāsamīn, once more
- Say it: say yāsamīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for roses, then the Arabic for a palm tree, then say yāsamīn again

Before you move on

What does ياسمين mean? ("Jasmine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 248

Internet, Website, App, Device, TV series

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the internet, a website, an app, a device and a TV series.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 248: I can say the internet, a website, an app, a device and a TV series.

248.1 إنترنت (intarnit) — the internet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a palm tree, then the Arabic for jasmine.

You'll want to know: إنترنت

إنترنت — intarnit — "the internet".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إنترنت (intarnit) is a modern loan from English internet (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: intarnit
- Say it: intarnit, once more
- Say it: say intarnit
- Recall: say the Arabic for a palm tree, then the Arabic for jasmine, then say intarnit again

Before you move on

What does إنترنت mean? ("The internet".) Say it once more.

248.2 موقع (mawqi^c) — a website, a site

Before the new one: say the Arabic for jasmine, then the Arabic for the internet.

You'll want to know: موقع

موقع — mawqi^c — "a website, a site".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موقع (mawqi^c) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-^{c}, "to fall" (Lane). Mawqi^c is the ma- place noun, "a place where a thing falls", hence "a site"; the website is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mawqi^c
- Say it: mawqi^c, once more
- Say it: say mawqi^c
- Recall: say the Arabic for jasmine, then the Arabic for the internet, then say mawqi^c again

Before you move on

What does موقع mean? ("A website, a site".) Say it once more.

248.3 تطبيق (taṭbīq) — an app, an application

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the internet, then the Arabic for a website.

You'll want to know: تطبيق

تطبيق — taṭbīq — "an app, an application".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تطبيق (taṭbīq) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-q, "to cover, to fit one on another" (Lane). Taṭbīq is the verbal noun of Form II, "applying"; the app is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taṭbīq
- Say it: taṭbīq, once more
- Say it: say taṭbīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for the internet, then the Arabic for a website, then say taṭbīq again

Before you move on

What does تطبيق mean? ("An app, an application".) Say it once more.

248.4 جهاز (jihāz) — a device

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a website, then the Arabic for an app.

You'll want to know: جهاز

جهاز — jihāz — "a device".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جهاز (jihāz) is built on the native Arabic root j-h-z, "to equip, to make ready" (Lane). Jihāz is equipment, an apparatus.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jihāz
- Say it: jihāz, once more
- Say it: say jihāz
- Recall: say the Arabic for a website, then the Arabic for an app, then say jihāz again

Before you move on

What does جهاز mean? ("A device".) Say it once more.

248.5 مسلسل (musalsal) — a TV series

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an app, then the Arabic for a device.

You'll want to know: مسلسل

مسلسل — musalsal — "a TV series".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسلسل (musalsal) is the passive participle of salsala, "to link in a chain", built on the doubled root s-l-s-l, which Lane lists under s-l-l with silsila, "a chain": linked one to the next, a serial.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: musalsal
- Say it: musalsal, once more
- Say it: say musalsal
- Recall: say the Arabic for an app, then the Arabic for a device, then say musalsal again

Before you move on

What does مسلسل mean? ("A TV series".) Say it once more.

Chapter 249

Quantity, Quality, Celebration, Congratulations, Cooking pot

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a quantity, quality, a celebration, congratulations and a cooking pot.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 249: I can say a quantity, quality, a celebration, congratulations and a cooking pot.

249.1 كمية (kammiyya) — a quantity

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a device, then the Arabic for a TV series.

You'll want to know: كمية

كمية — kammiyya — "a quantity".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كمية (kammiyya) is built from kam, "how much", with the abstract ending -iyya: "how-much-ness", usually described as a coinage of the medieval philosophers.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kammiyya
- Say it: kammiyya, once more
- Say it: say kammiyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a device, then the Arabic for a TV series, then say kammiyya again

Before you move on

What does كمية mean? ("A quantity".) Say it once more.

249.2 جودة (jawda) — quality

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a TV series, then the Arabic for a quantity.

You'll want to know: جودة

جودة — jawda — "quality".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جودة (jawda) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-d, "to be good, to be excellent" (Lane). Jawda is goodness, quality.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jawda
- Say it: jawda, once more
- Say it: say jawda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a TV series, then the Arabic for a quantity, then say jawda again

Before you move on

What does جودة mean? ("Quality".) Say it once more.

249.3 احتفال (iḥtifāl) — a celebration

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a quantity, then the Arabic for quality.

You'll want to know: احتفال

احتفال — iḥtifāl — "a celebration".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتفال (iḥtifāl) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-l, "to gather, to fill" (Lane). Iḥtifāl is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "gathering for an occasion".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtifāl
- Say it: iḥtifāl, once more
- Say it: say iḥtifāl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a quantity, then the Arabic for quality, then say iḥtifāl again

Before you move on

What does احتفال mean? ("A celebration".) Say it once more.

249.4 مبروك (mabrūk) — congratulations

Before the new one: say the Arabic for quality, then the Arabic for a celebration.

You'll want to know: مبروك

مبروك — mabrūk — "congratulations".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبروك (mabrūk) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-k, "a blessing; to kneel" (Lane). Mabrūk is the passive participle, "blessed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mabrūk
- Say it: mabrūk, once more
- Say it: say mabrūk
- Recall: say the Arabic for quality, then the Arabic for a celebration, then say mabrūk again

Before you move on

What does مبروك mean? ("Congratulations".) Say it once more.

249.5 طنجرة (ṭanjara) — a cooking pot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a celebration, then the Arabic for congratulations.

You'll want to know: طنجرة

طنجرة — ṭanjara — "a cooking pot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طنجرة (ṭanjara) is a later form of Lane's ṭinjīr, a cooking pot, which his sources call an arabicized word, giving Persian pātīla for it; Lane notes the spoken form ṭanjara for a saucepan. The source of ṭinjīr is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭanjara
- Say it: ṭanjara, once more
- Say it: say ṭanjara
- Recall: say the Arabic for a celebration, then the Arabic for congratulations, then say ṭanjara again

Before you move on

What does طنجرة mean? ("A cooking pot".) Say it once more.

249.6 Words from chapters 241-244 — a first pass

Say the words for congratulations and a cooking pot.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- polite, patient, modest, funny, serious
- noisy, dead, wild, tame, poisonous
- lukewarm, annoying, frightening, second-hand, fake
- yoghurt, peaches, pears, pineapple, almonds

Before you move on

Polite? (مهذب, muhadhdhab.) Patient? (صبور, ṣabūr.) Modest? (متواضع, mutawāḍi^{c}.) Funny? (مضحك, muḍḥik.) Serious? (جاد, jādd.) Noisy? (صاخب, ṣākhib.) Dead? (ميت, mayyit.) Wild? (بري, barrī.) Tame? (أليف, alīf.) Poisonous? (سام, sāmm.) Lukewarm? (فاتر, fātir.) Annoying? (مزعج, muz^{c}ij.) Frightening? (مخيف, mukhīf.)

Second-hand? (مستعمل, mustaᶜmal.) Fake? (مزيف, muzayyaf.) Yoghurt? (زبادي, zabādī.) Peaches? (خوخ, khawkh.) Pears? (كمثرى, kummathrā.) Pineapple? (أناناس, anānās.) Almonds? (لوز, lawz.)

249.7 Words from chapters 245-249 — a second pass

Say the words for a necklace and a size.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a necklace, a size, a telephone, a mobile phone, a screen
- a family, a grandson, an aunt, a twin, a bridegroom
- air, a wave, roses, a palm tree, jasmine
- the internet, a website, an app, a device, a TV series
- a quantity, quality, a celebration, congratulations, a cooking pot

Before you move on

A necklace? (قلادة, qilāda.) A size? (مقاس, maqās.) A telephone? (هاتف, hātif.) A mobile phone? (جوال, jawwāl.) A screen? (شاشة, shāsha.) A family? (أسرة, usra.) A grandson? (حفيد, ḥafīd.) An aunt? (عمة, ᶜamma.) A twin? (توأم, tawʾam.) A bridegroom? (عريس, ᶜarīs.) Air? (هواء, hawāʾ.) A wave? (موجة, mawja.) Roses? (ورد, ward.) A palm tree? (نخلة, nakhla.) Jasmine? (ياسمين, yāsamīn.) The internet? (إنترنت, intarnit.) A website? (موقع, mawqiᶜ.) An app? (تطبيق, taṭbīq.) A device? (جهاز, jihāz.) A TV series? (مسلسل, musalsal.) A quantity? (كمية, kammiyya.) Quality? (جودة, jawda.) A celebration? (احتفال, iḥtifāl.) Congratulations? (مبروك, mabrūk.) A cooking pot? (طنجرة, ṭanjara.)

Chapter 250

Cardboard, Bricks, Marble, Rubber, Triangle

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say cardboard, bricks, marble, rubber and a triangle.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 250: I can say cardboard, bricks, marble, rubber and a triangle.

250.1 كرتون (kartūn) — cardboard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for congratulations, then the Arabic for a cooking pot.

You'll want to know: كرتون

كرتون — kartūn — "cardboard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كرتون (kartūn) is a modern loan from Italian cartone or French carton, "pasteboard"; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kartūn
- Say it: kartūn, once more
- Say it: say kartūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for congratulations, then the Arabic for a cooking pot, then say kartūn again

Before you move on

What does كرتون mean? ("Cardboard".) Say it once more.

250.2 طوب (ṭūb) — bricks

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cooking pot, then the Arabic for cardboard.

You'll want to know: طوب

طوب — ṭūb — "bricks".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طوب (ṭūb) is a brick. Lane's sources call it a word of Syria or of Egypt, and Lane thinks it probably of Coptic origin; EtymDB gives Coptic tōbe, "brick".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭūb
- Say it: ṭūb, once more
- Say it: say ṭūb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cooking pot, then the Arabic for cardboard, then say ṭūb again

Before you move on

What does طوب mean? ("Bricks".) Say it once more.

250.3 رخام (rukhām) — marble

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cardboard, then the Arabic for bricks.

You'll want to know: رخام

رخام — rukhām — "marble".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رخام (rukhām), "marble", is an old native noun, filed under the root r-kh-m (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rukhām
- Say it: rukhām, once more
- Say it: say rukhām
- Recall: say the Arabic for cardboard, then the Arabic for bricks, then say rukhām again

Before you move on

What does رخام mean? ("Marble".) Say it once more.

250.4 مطاط (maṭṭāṭ) — rubber

Before the new one: say the Arabic for bricks, then the Arabic for marble.

You'll want to know: مطاط

مطاط — maṭṭāṭ — "rubber".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مطاط (maṭṭāṭ) is built on the native Arabic root m-ṭ-ṭ, "to stretch" (Lane). Maṭṭāṭ is a modern fa^{cc}āl word, "the stretchy".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maṭṭāṭ
- Say it: maṭṭāṭ, once more
- Say it: say maṭṭāṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for bricks, then the Arabic for marble, then say maṭṭāṭ again

Before you move on

What does مطاط mean? ("Rubber".) Say it once more.

250.5 مثلث (muthallath) — a triangle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for marble, then the Arabic for rubber.

You'll want to know: مثلث

مثلث — muthallath — "a triangle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مثلث (muthallath) is built on the native Arabic root th-l-th, "three" (Lane). Muthallath is the Form II passive participle, "made three-fold".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muthallath
- Say it: muthallath, once more
- Say it: say muthallath
- Recall: say the Arabic for marble, then the Arabic for rubber, then say muthallath again

Before you move on

What does مثلث mean? ("A triangle".) Say it once more.

Chapter 251

Waiter, Manager, Employee, Colleague, Company

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a waiter, a manager, an employee, a colleague and a company.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 251: I can say a waiter, a manager, an employee, a colleague and a company.

251.1 نادل (nādil) — a waiter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rubber, then the Arabic for a triangle.

You'll want to know: نادل

نادل — nādil — "a waiter".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نادل (nādil) is a modern word for a waiter. It has the shape of an active participle of n-d-l, a root Lane uses for mindīl, "a napkin"; how the waiter sense arose is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nādil
- Say it: nādil, once more
- Say it: say nādil
- Recall: say the Arabic for rubber, then the Arabic for a triangle, then say nādil again

Before you move on

What does نادل mean? ("A waiter".) Say it once more.

251.2 مدير (mudīr) — a manager, a director

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a triangle, then the Arabic for a waiter.

You'll want to know: مدير

مدير — mudīr — "a manager, a director".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدير (mudīr) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-r, "to turn round" (Lane). Mudīr is the Form IV participle, "one who makes things turn", a manager.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mudīr
- Say it: mudīr, once more
- Say it: say mudīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a triangle, then the Arabic for a waiter, then say mudīr again

Before you move on

What does مدير mean? ("A manager, a director".) Say it once more.

251.3 موظف (muwaẓẓaf) — an employee

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a waiter, then the Arabic for a manager.

You'll want to know: موظف

موظف — muwaẓẓaf — "an employee".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موظف (muwaẓẓaf) is built on the native Arabic root w-ẓ-f, "to appoint (work); a daily allowance" (Lane). Muwaẓẓaf is the Form II passive participle, "one given a fixed post".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muwaẓẓaf
- Say it: muwaẓẓaf, once more
- Say it: say muwaẓẓaf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a waiter, then the Arabic for a manager, then say muwaẓẓaf again

Before you move on

What does موظف mean? ("An employee".) Say it once more.

251.4 زميل (zamīl) — a colleague

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a manager, then the Arabic for an employee.

You'll want to know: زميل

زميل — zamīl — "a colleague".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زميل (zamīl) is built on the native Arabic root z-m-l (Lane). Lane's zamīl is one who rides behind another on the same beast; a colleague is a later sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zamīl
- Say it: zamīl, once more
- Say it: say zamīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a manager, then the Arabic for an employee, then say zamīl again

Before you move on

What does زميل mean? ("A colleague".) Say it once more.

251.5 شركة (sharika) — a company

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an employee, then the Arabic for a colleague.

You'll want to know: شركة

شركة — sharika — "a company".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شركة (sharika) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-k, "to share, to be a partner" (Lane). Sharika is a partnership.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sharika
- Say it: sharika, once more
- Say it: say sharika
- Recall: say the Arabic for an employee, then the Arabic for a colleague, then say sharika again

Before you move on

What does شركة mean? ("A company".) Say it once more.

Chapter 252

Mark, Lecture, School subject, Fees, Post

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a mark, a lecture, a school subject, fees and post.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 252: I can say a mark, a lecture, a school subject, fees and post.

252.1 علامة (ᶜalāma) — a mark, a grade

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a colleague, then the Arabic for a company.

You'll want to know: علامة

علامة — ᶜalāma — "a mark, a grade".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علامة (ᶜalāma) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-m, "to know; a mark" (Lane). ᶜAlāma is a mark, a sign.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜalāma
- Say it: ᶜalāma, once more
- Say it: say ᶜalāma
- Recall: say the Arabic for a colleague, then the Arabic for a company, then say ᶜalāma again

Before you move on

What does علامة mean? ("A mark, a grade".) Say it once more.

252.2 محاضرة (muḥāḍara) — a lecture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a company, then the Arabic for a mark.

You'll want to know: محاضرة

محاضرة — muḥāḍara — "a lecture".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محاضرة (muḥāḍara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-r, "to be present" (Lane). Muḥāḍara is the verbal noun of Form III, "a talk given in person".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥāḍara
- Say it: muḥāḍara, once more
- Say it: say muḥāḍara
- Recall: say the Arabic for a company, then the Arabic for a mark, then say muḥāḍara again

Before you move on

What does محاضرة mean? ("A lecture".) Say it once more.

252.3 مادة (mādda) — a school subject

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mark, then the Arabic for a lecture.

You'll want to know: مادة

مادة — mādda — "a school subject".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مادة (mādda) is built on the native Arabic root m-d-d, "to stretch" (Lane). Mādda is matter, the stuff a thing is drawn from; the school subject is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mādda
- Say it: mādda, once more
- Say it: say mādda
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mark, then the Arabic for a lecture, then say mādda again

Before you move on

What does مادة mean? ("A school subject".) Say it once more.

252.4 رسوم (rusūm) — fees

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lecture, then the Arabic for a school subject.

You'll want to know: رسوم

رسوم — rusūm — "fees".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسوم (rusūm) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-m, "a trace, a mark" (Lane). Rusūm is the plural of rasm, "a set charge".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rusūm
- Say it: rusūm, once more
- Say it: say rusūm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lecture, then the Arabic for a school subject, then say rusūm again

Before you move on

What does رسوم mean? ("Fees".) Say it once more.

252.5 بريد (barīd) — post, mail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a school subject, then the Arabic for fees.

You'll want to know: بريد

بريد — barīd — "post, mail".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بريد (barīd) is usually traced to Late Latin veredus, "post-horse", through Greek beredos (EtymDB), probably by way of Aramaic. Lane's sources call it Persian, from a phrase for the docked tails of post-mules, an account that looks like a folk etymology.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: barīd
- Say it: barīd, once more
- Say it: say barīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for a school subject, then the Arabic for fees, then say barīd again

Before you move on

What does بريد mean? ("Post, mail".) Say it once more.

Chapter 253

Trade, Ruler, Pencil sharpener, Chalk, Stapler

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say trade, a ruler, a pencil sharpener, chalk and a stapler.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 253: I can say trade, a ruler, a pencil sharpener, chalk and a stapler.

253.1 تجارة (tijāra) — trade, commerce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fees, then the Arabic for post.

You'll want to know: تجارة

تجارة — tijāra — "trade, commerce".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجارة (tijāra) is built on the native Arabic root t-j-r, "to trade" (Lane). Tijāra is the fiᶜāla noun of a trade, "commerce".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tijāra
- Say it: tijāra, once more
- Say it: say tijāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for fees, then the Arabic for post, then say tijāra again

Before you move on

What does تجارة mean? ("Trade, commerce".) Say it once more.

253.2 مسطرة (misṭara) — a ruler

Before the new one: say the Arabic for post, then the Arabic for trade.

You'll want to know: مسطرة

مسطرة — misṭara — "a ruler".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسطرة (misṭara) is built on the native Arabic root s-ṭ-r, "to write; to rule lines" (Lane). Misṭara is an instrument noun, "a thing for ruling lines".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: misṭara
- Say it: misṭara, once more
- Say it: say misṭara
- Recall: say the Arabic for post, then the Arabic for trade, then say misṭara again

Before you move on

What does مسطرة mean? ("A ruler".) Say it once more.

253.3 مبراة (mibrāh) — a pencil sharpener

Before the new one: say the Arabic for trade, then the Arabic for a ruler.

You'll want to know: مبراة

مبراة — mibrāh — "a pencil sharpener".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبراة (mibrāh) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-y, "to pare (a reed pen)" (Lane). Mibrāh is an instrument noun, "a thing for paring".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mibrāh
- Say it: mibrāh, once more
- Say it: say mibrāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for trade, then the Arabic for a ruler, then say mibrāh again

Before you move on

What does مبراة mean? ("A pencil sharpener".) Say it once more.

253.4 طباشير (ṭabāshīr) — chalk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ruler, then the Arabic for a pencil sharpener.

You'll want to know: طباشير

طباشير — ṭabāshīr — "chalk".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طباشير (ṭabāshīr) is usually traced to Persian tabāshīr, a chalky substance from bamboo; it has no entry in Lane.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabāshīr
- Say it: ṭabāshīr, once more
- Say it: say ṭabāshīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ruler, then the Arabic for a pencil sharpener, then say ṭabāshīr again

Before you move on

What does طباشير mean? ("Chalk".) Say it once more.

253.5 دباسة (dabbāsa) — a stapler

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pencil sharpener, then the Arabic for chalk.

You'll want to know: دباسة

دباسة — dabbāsa — "a stapler".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دباسة (dabbāsa) is a modern word built on dabbūs, "pin". Lane's dabbūs is a mace, which his sources call arabicized from Persian.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dabbāsa
- Say it: dabbāsa, once more
- Say it: say dabbāsa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pencil sharpener, then the Arabic for chalk, then say dabbāsa again

Before you move on

What does دباسة mean? ("A stapler".) Say it once more.

253.6 Words from chapters 250-251 — a first pass

Say the words for chalk and a stapler.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- cardboard, bricks, marble, rubber, a triangle
- a waiter, a manager, an employee, a colleague, a company

Before you move on

Cardboard? (كرتون, kartūn.) Bricks? (طوب, ṭūb.) Marble? (رخام, rukhām.) Rubber? (مطاط, maṭṭāṭ.) A triangle? (مثلث, muthallath.) A waiter? (نادل, nādil.) A manager? (مدير, mudīr.) An employee? (موظف, muwaẓẓaf.) A colleague? (زميل, zamīl.) A company? (شركة, sharika.)

253.7 Words from chapters 252-253 — a second pass

Say the words for a mark and a lecture.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a mark, a lecture, a school subject, fees, post
- trade, a ruler, a pencil sharpener, chalk, a stapler

Before you move on

A mark? (علامة, ᶜalāma.) A lecture? (محاضرة, muḥāḍara.) A school subject? (مادة, mādda.) Fees? (رسوم, rusūm.) Post? (بريد, barīd.) Trade? (تجارة, tijāra.) A ruler? (مسطرة, misṭara.) A pencil sharpener? (مبراة, mibrāh.) Chalk? (طباشير, ṭabāshīr.) A stapler? (دباسة, dabbāsa.)

Chapter 254

To fry, To grill, To boil, To mix, To peel

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to fry, to grill, to boil, to mix and to peel.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 254: I can say to fry, to grill, to boil, to mix and to peel.

254.1 قلى (qalā) — to fry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chalk, then the Arabic for a stapler.

You'll want to know: قلى

قلى — qalā — "to fry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلى (qalā) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-y, "to fry" (Lane). Qalā is the plain verb, "he fried".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qalā
- Say it: qalā, once more
- Say it: say qalā
- Recall: say the Arabic for chalk, then the Arabic for a stapler, then say qalā again

Before you move on

What does قلى mean? ("To fry".) Say it once more.

254.2 شوى (shawā) — to grill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stapler, then the Arabic for to fry.

You'll want to know: شوى

شوى — shawā — "to grill".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شوى (shawā) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-y, "to roast" (Lane). Shawā is the plain verb, "he roasted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shawā
- Say it: shawā, once more
- Say it: say shawā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stapler, then the Arabic for to fry, then say shawā again

Before you move on

What does شوى mean? ("To grill".) Say it once more.

254.3 غلى (ghalā) — to boil (of a liquid, intransitive)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fry, then the Arabic for to grill.

You'll want to know: غلى

غلى — ghalā — "to boil (of a liquid, intransitive)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غلى (ghalā) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-y, "to boil" (Lane). Ghalā is the plain verb, "it boiled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghalā
- Say it: ghalā, once more
- Say it: say ghalā
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fry, then the Arabic for to grill, then say ghalā again

Before you move on

What does غلى mean? ("To boil (of a liquid, intransitive)".) Say it once more.

254.4 خلط (khalaṭa) — to mix

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grill, then the Arabic for to boil.

You'll want to know: خلط

خلط — khalaṭa — "to mix".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خلط (khalaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-ṭ, "to mix" (Lane). Khalaṭa is the plain verb, "he mixed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khalaṭa
- Say it: khalaṭa, once more
- Say it: say khalaṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grill, then the Arabic for to boil, then say khalaṭa again

Before you move on

What does خلط mean? ("To mix".) Say it once more.

254.5 قشر (qashshara) — to peel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to boil, then the Arabic for to mix.

You'll want to know: قشر

قشر — qashshara — "to peel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قشر (qashshara) is built on the native Arabic root q-sh-r, "bark, peel" (Lane). Qashshara is Form II, "to strip the peel".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qashshara
- Say it: qashshara, once more
- Say it: say qashshara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to boil, then the Arabic for to mix, then say qashshara again

Before you move on

What does قشر mean? ("To peel".) Say it once more.

Chapter 255

To be late, To visit, To phone, To get better, To examine

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to be late, to visit, to phone, to get better and to examine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 255: I can say to be late, to visit, to phone, to get better and to examine.

255.1 تأخر (taʾakhkhara) — to be late

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to mix, then the Arabic for to peel.

You'll want to know: تأخر

تأخر — taʾakhkhara — "to be late".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأخر (taʾakhkhara) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-kh-r, "to come after, to be late" (Lane). Taʾakhkhara is Form V, "to lag behind".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾakhkhara
- Say it: taʾakhkhara, once more
- Say it: say taʾakhkhara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to mix, then the Arabic for to peel, then say taʾakhkhara again

Before you move on

What does تأخر mean? ("To be late".) Say it once more.

255.2 زار (zāra) — to visit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to peel, then the Arabic for to be late.

You'll want to know: زار

زار — zāra — "to visit".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زار (zāra) is built on the native Arabic root z-w-r, "to visit" (Lane). Zāra is the plain verb, "he visited".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zāra
- Say it: zāra, once more
- Say it: say zāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for to peel, then the Arabic for to be late, then say zāra again

Before you move on

What does زار mean? ("To visit".) Say it once more.

255.3 اتصل (ittaṣala) — to phone, to call

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be late, then the Arabic for to visit.

You'll want to know: اتصل

اتصل — ittaṣala — "to phone, to call".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتصل (ittaṣala) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to arrive, to join" (Lane). Ittaṣala is Form VIII, "to join oneself to", to contact.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ittaṣala
- Say it: ittaṣala, once more
- Say it: say ittaṣala
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be late, then the Arabic for to visit, then say ittaṣala again

Before you move on

What does اتصل mean? ("To phone, to call".) Say it once more.

255.4 تحسن (taḥassana) — to get better, to improve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to visit, then the Arabic for to phone.

You'll want to know: تحسن

تحسن — taḥassana — "to get better, to improve".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحسن (taḥassana) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-n, "to be good, beautiful" (Lane). Taḥassana is Form V, "to become better".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥassana
- Say it: taḥassana, once more
- Say it: say taḥassana
- Recall: say the Arabic for to visit, then the Arabic for to phone, then say taḥassana again

Before you move on

What does تحسن mean? ("To get better, to improve".) Say it once more.

255.5 فحص (faḥaṣa) — to examine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to phone, then the Arabic for to get better.

You'll want to know: فحص

فحص — faḥaṣa — "to examine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فحص (faḥaṣa) is built on the native Arabic root f-ḥ-ṣ, "to search, to examine" (Lane). Faḥaṣa is the plain verb, "he examined".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: faḥaṣa
- Say it: faḥaṣa, once more
- Say it: say faḥaṣa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to phone, then the Arabic for to get better, then say faḥaṣa again

Before you move on

What does فحص mean? ("To examine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 256

To fail, To pass, To explain, To translate, To give back

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to fail, to pass, to explain, to translate and to give back.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 256: I can say to fail, to pass, to explain, to translate and to give back.

256.1 رسب (rasaba) — to fail (an exam)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get better, then the Arabic for to examine.

You'll want to know: رسب

رسب — rasaba — "to fail (an exam)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسب (rasaba) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-b, "to sink" (Lane). Rasaba is "to sink to the bottom", hence "to fail".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rasaba
- Say it: rasaba, once more
- Say it: say rasaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get better, then the Arabic for to examine, then say rasaba again

Before you move on

What does رسب mean? ("To fail (an exam)".) Say it once more.

256.2 اجتاز (ijtāza) — to pass (an exam)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to examine, then the Arabic for to fail.

You'll want to know: اجتاز

اجتاز — ijtāza — "to pass (an exam)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اجتاز (ijtāza) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-z, "to pass, to be allowed" (Lane). Ijtāza is Form VIII, "to pass through".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ijtāza
- Say it: ijtāza, once more
- Say it: say ijtāza
- Recall: say the Arabic for to examine, then the Arabic for to fail, then say ijtāza again

Before you move on

What does اجتاز mean? ("To pass (an exam)".) Say it once more.

256.3 شرح (sharaḥa) — to explain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fail, then the Arabic for to pass.

You'll want to know: شرح

شرح — sharaḥa — "to explain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرح (sharaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ḥ, "to open, to lay open" (Lane). Sharaḥa is "to lay open", to explain.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sharaḥa
- Say it: sharaḥa, once more
- Say it: say sharaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fail, then the Arabic for to pass, then say sharaḥa again

Before you move on

What does شرح mean? ("To explain".) Say it once more.

256.4 ترجم (tarjama) — to translate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pass, then the Arabic for to explain.

You'll want to know: ترجم

ترجم — tarjama — "to translate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترجم (tarjama) is the four-letter verb that Lane gives with tarjumān, "interpreter". Tarjumān is usually traced to Aramaic targmānā; English dragoman comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tarjama
- Say it: tarjama, once more
- Say it: say tarjama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pass, then the Arabic for to explain, then say tarjama again

Before you move on

What does ترجم mean? ("To translate".) Say it once more.

256.5 أعاد (a^{c}āda) — to give back, to return (something)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to explain, then the Arabic for to translate.

You'll want to know: أعاد

أعاد — a^{c}āda — "to give back, to return (something)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أعاد (a^{c}āda) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-w-d, "to return" (Lane). A^{c}āda is Form IV, "to make return".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: $a^{c}\bar{a}da$
- Say it: $a^{c}\bar{a}da$, once more
- Say it: say $a^{c}\bar{a}da$
- Recall: say the Arabic for to explain, then the Arabic for to translate, then say $a^{c}\bar{a}da$ again

Before you move on

What does أعاد mean? ("To give back, to return (something)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 257

To refuse, To graduate, To be glad, To be afraid, To smile

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to refuse, to graduate, to be glad, to be afraid and to smile.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 257: I can say to refuse, to graduate, to be glad, to be afraid and to smile.

257.1 رفض (rafaḍa) — to refuse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to translate, then the Arabic for to give back.

You'll want to know: رفض

رفض — rafaḍa — "to refuse".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رفض (rafaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-ḍ, "to reject" (Lane). Rafaḍa is the plain verb, "he refused".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rafaḍa
- Say it: rafaḍa, once more
- Say it: say rafaḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to translate, then the Arabic for to give back, then say rafaḍa again

Before you move on

What does رفض mean? ("To refuse".) Say it once more.

257.2 تخرج (takharraja) — to graduate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to give back, then the Arabic for to refuse.

You'll want to know: تخرج

تخرج — takharraja — "to graduate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تخرج (takharraja) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-j, "to go out" (Lane). Takharraja is Form V, "to come out trained", to graduate.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: takharraja
- Say it: takharraja, once more
- Say it: say takharraja
- Recall: say the Arabic for to give back, then the Arabic for to refuse, then say takharraja again

Before you move on

What does تخرج mean? ("To graduate".) Say it once more.

257.3 فرح (fariḥa) — to be glad, to rejoice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to refuse, then the Arabic for to graduate.

You'll want to know: فرح

فرح — fariḥa — "to be glad, to rejoice".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرح (fariḥa) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-ḥ, "to be glad" (Lane). Fariḥa is the plain verb, "he rejoiced".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fariḥa
- Say it: fariḥa, once more
- Say it: say fariḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to refuse, then the Arabic for to graduate, then say fariḥa again

Before you move on

What does فرح mean? ("To be glad, to rejoice".) Say it once more.

257.4 خاف (khāfa) — to be afraid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to graduate, then the Arabic for to be glad.

You'll want to know: خاف

خاف — khāfa — "to be afraid".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خاف (khāfa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-w-f, "to fear" (Lane). Khāfa is the plain verb, "he feared".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khāfa
- Say it: khāfa, once more
- Say it: say khāfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to graduate, then the Arabic for to be glad, then say khāfa again

Before you move on

What does خاف mean? ("To be afraid".) Say it once more.

257.5 ابتسم (ibtasama) — to smile

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be glad, then the Arabic for to be afraid.

You'll want to know: ابتسم

ابتسم — ibtasama — "to smile".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ابتسم (ibtasama) is built on the native Arabic root b-s-m, "to smile" (Lane). Ibtasama is Form VIII, "to smile".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ibtasama
- Say it: ibtasama, once more
- Say it: say ibtasama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be glad, then the Arabic for to be afraid, then say ibtasama again

Before you move on

What does ابتسم mean? ("To smile".) Say it once more.

Chapter 258

To respect, To forgive, To lie, To take part, To disagree

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to respect, to forgive, to lie, to take part and to disagree.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 258: I can say to respect, to forgive, to lie, to take part and to disagree.

258.1 احترم (iḥtarama) — to respect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be afraid, then the Arabic for to smile.

You'll want to know: احترم

احترم — iḥtarama — "to respect".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احترم (iḥtarama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-m, "to be forbidden, to be sacred" (Lane). Iḥtarama is Form VIII, "to hold sacred", to respect.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtarama
- Say it: iḥtarama, once more
- Say it: say iḥtarama
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be afraid, then the Arabic for to smile, then say iḥtarama again

Before you move on

What does احترم mean? ("To respect".) Say it once more.

258.2 سامح (sāmaḥa) — to forgive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to smile, then the Arabic for to respect.

You'll want to know: سامح

سامح — sāmaḥa — "to forgive".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سامح (sāmaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-ḥ, "to be generous, to grant" (Lane). Sāmaḥa is Form III, "to be generous to", to forgive.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sāmaḥa
- Say it: sāmaḥa, once more
- Say it: say sāmaḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to smile, then the Arabic for to respect, then say sāmaḥa again

Before you move on

What does سامح mean? ("To forgive".) Say it once more.

258.3 كذب (kadhaba) — to lie, to tell a lie

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to respect, then the Arabic for to forgive.

You'll want to know: كذب

كذب — kadhaba — "to lie, to tell a lie".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كذب (kadhaba) is built on the native Arabic root k-dh-b, "to lie" (Lane). Kadhaba is the plain verb, "he lied".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kadhaba
- Say it: kadhaba, once more
- Say it: say kadhaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to respect, then the Arabic for to forgive, then say kadhaba again

Before you move on

What does كذب mean? ("To lie, to tell a lie".) Say it once more.

258.4 شارك (shāraka) — to take part, to share

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to forgive, then the Arabic for to lie.

You'll want to know: شارك

شارك — shāraka — "to take part, to share".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شارك (shāraka) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-k, "to share, to be a partner" (Lane). Shāraka is Form III, "to share with".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shāraka
- Say it: shāraka, once more
- Say it: say shāraka
- Recall: say the Arabic for to forgive, then the Arabic for to lie, then say shāraka again

Before you move on

What does شارك mean? ("To take part, to share".) Say it once more.

258.5 اختلف (ikhtalafa) — to disagree, to differ

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lie, then the Arabic for to take part.

You'll want to know: اختلف

اختلف — ikhtalafa — "to disagree, to differ".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختلف (ikhtalafa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-f, "to come after, to differ" (Lane). Ikhtalafa is Form VIII, "to differ".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtalafa
- Say it: ikhtalafa, once more
- Say it: say ikhtalafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lie, then the Arabic for to take part, then say ikhtalafa again

Before you move on

What does اختلف mean? ("To disagree, to differ".) Say it once more.

Chapter 259

To publish, To broadcast, To follow, To jump, To press

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to publish, to broadcast, to follow, to jump and to press.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 259: I can say to publish, to broadcast, to follow, to jump and to press.

259.1 نشر (nashara) — to publish, to post

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take part, then the Arabic for to disagree.

You'll want to know: نشر

نشر — nashara — "to publish, to post".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نشر (nashara) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-r, "to spread out" (Lane). Nashara is "to spread out", to publish.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nashara
- Say it: nashara, once more
- Say it: say nashara
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take part, then the Arabic for to disagree, then say nashara again

Before you move on

What does نشر mean? ("To publish, to post".) Say it once more.

259.2 بث (baththa) — to broadcast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to disagree, then the Arabic for to publish.

You'll want to know: بث

بث — baththa — "to broadcast".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بث (baththa) is built on the native Arabic root b-th-th, "to scatter, to spread" (Lane). Baththa is "to spread abroad", to broadcast.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: baththa
- Say it: baththa, once more
- Say it: say baththa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to disagree, then the Arabic for to publish, then say baththa again

Before you move on

What does بث mean? ("To broadcast".) Say it once more.

259.3 تابع (tābaᶜa) — to follow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to publish, then the Arabic for to broadcast.

You'll want to know: تابع

تابع — tābaᶜa — "to follow".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تابع (tābaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root t-b-ᶜ, "to follow" (Lane). Tābaᶜa is Form III, "to keep following".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tābaᶜa
- Say it: tābaᶜa, once more
- Say it: say tābaᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to publish, then the Arabic for to broadcast, then say tābaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does تابع mean? ("To follow".) Say it once more.

259.4 قفز (qafaza) — to jump

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to broadcast, then the Arabic for to follow.

You'll want to know: قفز

قفز — qafaza — "to jump".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قفز (qafaza) is built on the native Arabic root q-f-z, "to leap" (Lane). Qafaza is the plain verb, "he jumped".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qafaza
- Say it: qafaza, once more
- Say it: say qafaza
- Recall: say the Arabic for to broadcast, then the Arabic for to follow, then say qafaza again

Before you move on

What does قفز mean? ("To jump".) Say it once more.

259.5 ضغط (ḍaghaṭa) — to press

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to follow, then the Arabic for to jump.

You'll want to know: ضغط

ضغط — ḍaghaṭa — "to press".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضغط (ḍaghaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-gh-ṭ, "to press" (Lane). The word ḍaghaṭa is the plain verb, "he pressed".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍaghaṭa
- Say it: ḍaghaṭa, once more
- Say it: say ḍaghaṭa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to follow, then the Arabic for to jump, then say ḍaghaṭa again

Before you move on

What does ضغط mean? ("To press".) Say it once more.

Chapter 260

To sprinkle, To knock, To stick, To stir, To wrap

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to sprinkle, to knock, to stick, to stir and to wrap.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 260: I can say to sprinkle, to knock, to stick, to stir and to wrap.

260.1 رش (rashsha) — to sprinkle, to spray

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to jump, then the Arabic for to press.

You'll want to know: رش

رش — rashsha — "to sprinkle, to spray".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رش (rashsha) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-sh, "to sprinkle" (Lane). Rashsha is the plain verb, "he sprinkled".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rashsha
- Say it: rashsha, once more
- Say it: say rashsha
- Recall: say the Arabic for to jump, then the Arabic for to press, then say rashsha again

Before you move on

What does رش mean? ("To sprinkle, to spray".) Say it once more.

260.2 طرق (ṭaraqa) — to knock (on a door)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to press, then the Arabic for to sprinkle.

You'll want to know: طرق

طرق — ṭaraqa — "to knock (on a door)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طرق (ṭaraqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-q, "to strike, to knock" (Lane). Ṭaraqa is the plain verb, "he knocked".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭaraqa
- Say it: ṭaraqa, once more
- Say it: say ṭaraqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to press, then the Arabic for to sprinkle, then say ṭaraqa again

Before you move on

What does طرق mean? ("To knock (on a door)".) Say it once more.

260.3 ألصق (alṣaqa) — to stick, to glue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sprinkle, then the Arabic for to knock.

You'll want to know: ألصق

ألصق — alṣaqa — "to stick, to glue".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ألصق (alṣaqa) is built on the native Arabic root l-ṣ-q, "to cleave, to stick" (Lane). Alṣaqa is Form IV, "to make stick".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: alṣaqa
- Say it: alṣaqa, once more
- Say it: say alṣaqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sprinkle, then the Arabic for to knock, then say alṣaqa again

Before you move on

What does ألصق mean? ("To stick, to glue".) Say it once more.

260.4 حرك (ḥarraka) — to stir, to move (something)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to knock, then the Arabic for to stick.

You'll want to know: حرك

حرك — ḥarraka — "to stir, to move (something)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرك (ḥarraka) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-k, "to move" (Lane). Ḥarraka is Form II, "to set moving".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarraka
- Say it: ḥarraka, once more
- Say it: say ḥarraka
- Recall: say the Arabic for to knock, then the Arabic for to stick, then say ḥarraka again

Before you move on

What does حرك mean? ("To stir, to move (something)".) Say it once more.

260.5 لف (laffa) — to wrap, to roll up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stick, then the Arabic for to stir.

You'll want to know: لف

لف — laffa — "to wrap, to roll up".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لف (laffa) is built on the native Arabic root l-f-f, "to wrap, to roll up" (Lane). Laffa is the plain verb, "he wrapped".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: laffa
- Say it: laffa, once more
- Say it: say laffa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stick, then the Arabic for to stir, then say laffa again

Before you move on

What does لف mean? ("To wrap, to roll up".) Say it once more.

Chapter 261

To melt, To freeze, To park, To queue, To hand out

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to melt, to freeze, to park, to queue and to hand out.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 261: I can say to melt, to freeze, to park, to queue and to hand out.

261.1 ذاب (dhāba) — to melt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stir, then the Arabic for to wrap.

You'll want to know: ذاب

ذاب — dhāba — "to melt".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذاب (dhāba) is built on the native Arabic root dh-w-b, "to melt" (Lane). Dhāba is the plain verb, "it melted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dhāba
- Say it: dhāba, once more
- Say it: say dhāba
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stir, then the Arabic for to wrap, then say dhāba again

Before you move on

What does ذاب mean? ("To melt".) Say it once more.

261.2 تجمد (tajammada) — to freeze

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wrap, then the Arabic for to melt.

You'll want to know: تجمد

تجمد — tajammada — "to freeze".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجمد (tajammada) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-d, "to freeze, to congeal" (Lane). Tajammada is Form V, "to become frozen".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tajammada
- Say it: tajammada, once more
- Say it: say tajammada
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wrap, then the Arabic for to melt, then say tajammada again

Before you move on

What does تجمد mean? ("To freeze".) Say it once more.

261.3 ركن (rakana) — to park

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to melt, then the Arabic for to freeze.

You'll want to know: ركن

ركن — rakana — "to park".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركن (rakana) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-n, "to lean, to rest upon" (Lane). Rakana is "to rest, to settle"; parking a car is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rakana
- Say it: rakana, once more
- Say it: say rakana
- Recall: say the Arabic for to melt, then the Arabic for to freeze, then say rakana again

Before you move on

What does ركن mean? ("To park".) Say it once more.

261.4 اصطف (iṣṭaffa) — to queue, to line up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to freeze, then the Arabic for to park.

You'll want to know: اصطف

اصطف — iṣṭaffa — "to queue, to line up".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اصطف (iṣṭaffa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-f, "a row, a rank" (Lane). Iṣṭaffa is Form VIII, "to stand in a row".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣṭaffa
- Say it: iṣṭaffa, once more
- Say it: say iṣṭaffa
- Recall: say the Arabic for to freeze, then the Arabic for to park, then say iṣṭaffa again

Before you move on

What does اصطف mean? ("To queue, to line up".) Say it once more.

261.5 وزع (wazzaᶜa) — to hand out, to distribute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to park, then the Arabic for to queue.

You'll want to know: وزع

وزع — wazzaᶜa — "to hand out, to distribute".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وزع (wazzaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root w-z-ᶜ, "to restrain; to distribute"; Lane's short article on this root does not treat the verb. Wazzaᶜa is Form II, "to share out".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wazza^{c}a
- Say it: wazza^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say wazza^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for to park, then the Arabic for to queue, then say wazza^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does وزع mean? ("To hand out, to distribute".) Say it once more.

Chapter 262

Ambulance, Temperature, Bandage, Accident, Stress

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an ambulance, temperature, a bandage, an accident and stress.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 262: I can say an ambulance, temperature, a bandage, an accident and stress.

262.1 إسعاف (is^{c}āf) — an ambulance; first aid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to queue, then the Arabic for to hand out.

You'll want to know: إسعاف

إسعاف — is^{c}āf — "an ambulance; first aid".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إسعاف (is^{c}āf) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-f, "to help" (Lane). Is^{c}āf is the verbal noun of Form IV, "giving help"; the ambulance is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: is^{c}āf
- Say it: is^{c}āf, once more
- Say it: say is^{c}āf
- Recall: say the Arabic for to queue, then the Arabic for to hand out, then say is^{c}āf again

Before you move on

What does إسعاف mean? ("An ambulance; first aid".) Say it once more.

262.2 حرارة (ḥarāra) — temperature

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hand out, then the Arabic for an ambulance; first aid.

You'll want to know: حرارة

حرارة — ḥarāra — "temperature".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرارة (ḥarāra) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-r, "to be hot" (Lane). Ḥarāra is heat.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarāra
- Say it: ḥarāra, once more
- Say it: say ḥarāra
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hand out, then the Arabic for an ambulance; first aid, then say ḥarāra again

Before you move on

What does حرارة mean? ("Temperature".) Say it once more.

262.3 ضمادة (ḍimāda) — a bandage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ambulance; first aid, then the Arabic for temperature.

You'll want to know: ضمادة

ضمادة — ḍimāda — "a bandage".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضمادة (ḍimāda) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-m-d, "to bind (a wound)" (Lane). The word ḍimāda is a bandage.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍimāda
- Say it: ḍimāda, once more
- Say it: say ḍimāda
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ambulance; first aid, then the Arabic for temperature, then say ḍimāda again

Before you move on

What does ضمادة mean? ("A bandage".) Say it once more.

262.4 حادث (ḥādith) — an accident

Before the new one: say the Arabic for temperature, then the Arabic for a bandage.

You'll want to know: حادث

حادث — ḥādith — "an accident".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حادث (ḥādith) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-th, "to be new; to happen" (Lane). Ḥādith is the active participle, "a thing that happens".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥādith
- Say it: ḥādith, once more
- Say it: say ḥādith
- Recall: say the Arabic for temperature, then the Arabic for a bandage, then say ḥādith again

Before you move on

What does حادث mean? ("An accident".) Say it once more.

262.5 توتر (tawattur) — stress, tension

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bandage, then the Arabic for an accident.

You'll want to know: توتر

توتر — tawattur — "stress, tension".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توتر (tawattur) is built on the native Arabic root w-t-r, "a bowstring; to be tense" (Lane). Tawattur is the verbal noun of Form V, "being strung tight".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tawattur
- Say it: tawattur, once more
- Say it: say tawattur
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bandage, then the Arabic for an accident, then say tawattur again

Before you move on

What does توتر mean? ("Stress, tension".) Say it once more.

262.6 Words from chapters 254-257 — a first pass

Say the words for an accident and stress.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to fry, to grill, to boil, to mix, to peel
- to be late, to visit, to phone, to get better, to examine
- to fail, to pass, to explain, to translate, to give back
- to refuse, to graduate, to be glad, to be afraid, to smile

Before you move on

To fry? (قلى, qalā.) To grill? (شوى, shawā.) To boil? (غلى, ghalā.) To mix? (خلط, khalaṭa.) To peel? (قشر, qashshara.) To be late? (تأخر, taʾakhkhara.) To visit? (زار, zāra.) To phone? (اتصل, ittaṣala.) To get better? (تحسن, taḥassana.) To examine? (فحص, faḥaṣa.) To fail? (رسب, rasaba.) To pass? (اجتاز, ijtāza.) To explain? (شرح, sharaḥa.) To translate? (ترجم, tarjama.) To give back? (أعاد, aᶜāda.) To refuse? (رفض, rafaḍa.) To graduate? (تخرج, takharraja.) To be glad? (فرح, fariḥa.) To be afraid? (خاف, khāfa.) To smile? (ابتسم, ibtasama.)

262.7 Words from chapters 258-262 — a second pass

Say the words for to respect and to forgive.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to respect, to forgive, to lie, to take part, to disagree
- to publish, to broadcast, to follow, to jump, to press
- to sprinkle, to knock, to stick, to stir, to wrap
- to melt, to freeze, to park, to queue, to hand out
- an ambulance; first aid, temperature, a bandage, an accident, stress

Before you move on

To respect? (احترم, iḥtarama.) To forgive? (سامح, sāmaḥa.) To lie? (كذب, kadhaba.) To take part? (شارك, shāraka.) To disagree? (اختلف, ikhtalafa.) To publish? (نشر, nashara.) To broadcast? (بث, baththa.) To follow? (تابع, tābaᶜa.) To jump? (قفز, qafaza.) To press? (ضغط, ḍaghaṭa.) To sprinkle? (رش, rashsha.) To knock? (طرق, ṭaraqa.) To stick? (ألصق, alṣaqa.) To stir? (حرك, ḥarraka.) To wrap? (لف, laffa.) To melt? (ذاب, dhāba.) To freeze? (تجمد, tajammada.) To park? (ركن, rakana.) To queue? (اصطف, iṣṭaffa.) To hand out? (وزع, wazzaᶜa.) An ambulance; first aid? (إسعاف, isᶜāf.) Temperature? (حرارة, ḥarāra.) A bandage? (ضمادة, ḍimāda.) An accident? (حادث, ḥādith.) Stress? (توتر, tawattur.)

Chapter 263

Vaccine, Sweat, Wrist, Thumb, Muscle

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a vaccine, sweat, a wrist, a thumb and a muscle.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 263: I can say a vaccine, sweat, a wrist, a thumb and a muscle.

263.1 لقاح (laqāḥ) — a vaccine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an accident, then the Arabic for stress, tension.

You'll want to know: لقاح

لقاح — laqāḥ — "a vaccine".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لقاح (laqāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root l-q-ḥ, "to fertilize (a palm)" (Lane). Lane's laqāḥ is the pollen that fertilizes a palm; the vaccine is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: laqāḥ
- Say it: laqāḥ, once more
- Say it: say laqāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for an accident, then the Arabic for stress, tension, then say laqāḥ again

Before you move on

What does لقاح mean? ("A vaccine".) Say it once more.

263.2 عرق (ᶜaraq) — sweat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for stress, tension, then the Arabic for a vaccine.

You'll want to know: عرق

عرق — ᶜaraq — "sweat".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عرق (ᶜaraq) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-q, "to sweat" (Lane). ᶜAraq is sweat; the spirit called arrack takes the same name.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaraq
- Say it: ᶜaraq, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaraq
- Recall: say the Arabic for stress, tension, then the Arabic for a vaccine, then say ᶜaraq again

Before you move on

What does عرق mean? ("Sweat".) Say it once more.

263.3 معصم (mi^{c}ṣam) — a wrist

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a vaccine, then the Arabic for sweat.

You'll want to know: معصم

معصم — mi^{c}ṣam — "a wrist".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معصم (mi^{c}ṣam) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-ṣ-m, "to hold back, to protect" (Lane). Lane's mi^{c}ṣam is the wrist, the place of the bracelet.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mi^{c}ṣam
- Say it: mi^{c}ṣam, once more
- Say it: say mi^{c}ṣam
- Recall: say the Arabic for a vaccine, then the Arabic for sweat, then say mi^{c}ṣam again

Before you move on

What does معصم mean? ("A wrist".) Say it once more.

263.4 إبهام (ibhām) — a thumb

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sweat, then the Arabic for a wrist.

You'll want to know: إبهام

إبهام — ibhām — "a thumb".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إبهام (ibhām) is built on the native Arabic root b-h-m, "to be obscure, to be closed" (Lane). Ibhām is the thumb.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ibhām
- Say it: ibhām, once more
- Say it: say ibhām
- Recall: say the Arabic for sweat, then the Arabic for a wrist, then say ibhām again

Before you move on

What does إبهام mean? ("A thumb".) Say it once more.

263.5 عضلة (ᶜaḍala) — a muscle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wrist, then the Arabic for a thumb.

You'll want to know: عضلة

عضلة — ᶜaḍala — "a muscle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عضلة (ᶜaḍala), "a muscle", is an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-ḍ-l (Lane), beside the verb ᶜaḍala, "to hinder".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaḍala
- Say it: ᶜaḍala, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaḍala
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wrist, then the Arabic for a thumb, then say ᶜaḍala again

Before you move on

What does عضلة mean? ("A muscle".) Say it once more.

Chapter 264

Season, Childhood, Evening out, Ramadan, Afternoon

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a season, childhood, an evening out, Ramadan and the afternoon.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 264: I can say a season, childhood, an evening out, Ramadan and the afternoon.

264.1 فصل (faṣl) — a season

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a thumb, then the Arabic for a muscle.

You'll want to know: فصل

فصل — faṣl — "a season".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فصل (faṣl) is built on the native Arabic root f-ṣ-l, "to separate" (Lane). Faṣl is a division: a season, a chapter.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: faṣl
- Say it: faṣl, once more
- Say it: say faṣl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a thumb, then the Arabic for a muscle, then say faṣl again

Before you move on

What does فصل mean? ("A season".) Say it once more.

264.2 طفولة (ṭufūla) — childhood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a muscle, then the Arabic for a season.

You'll want to know: طفولة

طفولة — ṭufūla — "childhood".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طفولة (ṭufūla) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-f-l, "a child, an infant" (Lane). Ṭufūla is the state of a child.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭufūla
- Say it: ṭufūla, once more
- Say it: say ṭufūla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a muscle, then the Arabic for a season, then say ṭufūla again

Before you move on

What does طفولة mean? ("Childhood".) Say it once more.

264.3 سهرة (sahra) — an evening out, a soirée

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a season, then the Arabic for childhood.

You'll want to know: سهرة

سهرة — sahra — "an evening out, a soirée".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سهرة (sahra) is built on the native Arabic root s-h-r, "to stay awake at night" (Lane). Sahra is an evening spent awake.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sahra
- Say it: sahra, once more
- Say it: say sahra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a season, then the Arabic for childhood, then say sahra again

Before you move on

What does سهرة mean? ("An evening out, a soirée".) Say it once more.

264.4 رمضان (ramaḍān) — Ramadan

Before the new one: say the Arabic for childhood, then the Arabic for an evening out.

You'll want to know: رمضان

رمضان — ramaḍān — "Ramadan".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمضان (ramaḍān) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-ḍ, "intense heat" (Lane). Ramaḍān, the month of fasting, is named on the root of intense heat.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ramaḍān
- Say it: ramaḍān, once more
- Say it: say ramaḍān
- Recall: say the Arabic for childhood, then the Arabic for an evening out, then say ramaḍān again

Before you move on

What does رمضان mean? ("Ramadan".) Say it once more.

264.5 عصر (ᶜaṣr) — the afternoon; an era

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an evening out, then the Arabic for Ramadan.

You'll want to know: عصر

عصر — ᶜaṣr — "the afternoon; an era".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصر (ᶜaṣr) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-r, "to press, to squeeze" (Lane), under which Lane also gives ᶜaṣr, "time, an age". ᶜAṣr is the late afternoon, and an age.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṣr
- Say it: ᶜaṣr, once more
- Say it: say ᶜaṣr
- Recall: say the Arabic for an evening out, then the Arabic for Ramadan, then say ᶜaṣr again

Before you move on

What does عصر mean? ("The afternoon; an era".) Say it once more.

Chapter 265

Theatre, Cinema, Club, Farm, Countryside

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a theatre, a cinema, a club, a farm and the countryside.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 265: I can say a theatre, a cinema, a club, a farm and the countryside.

265.1 مسرح (masraḥ) — a theatre

Before the new one: say the Arabic for Ramadan, then the Arabic for the afternoon; an era.

You'll want to know: مسرح

مسرح — masraḥ — "a theatre".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسرح (masraḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-ḥ, "to send cattle out to pasture" (Lane). Masraḥ is a pasture ground; the theatre is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: masraḥ
- Say it: masraḥ, once more
- Say it: say masraḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for Ramadan, then the Arabic for the afternoon; an era, then say masraḥ again

Before you move on

What does مسرح mean? ("A theatre".) Say it once more.

265.2 سينما (sīnimā) — a cinema

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the afternoon; an era, then the Arabic for a theatre.

You'll want to know: سينما

سينما — sīnimā — "a cinema".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سينما (sīnimā) is a modern loan from French cinéma (EtymDB), from Greek kinēma, "movement"; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sīnimā
- Say it: sīnimā, once more
- Say it: say sīnimā
- Recall: say the Arabic for the afternoon; an era, then the Arabic for a theatre, then say sīnimā again

Before you move on

What does سينما mean? ("A cinema".) Say it once more.

265.3 نادي (nādī) — a club

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a theatre, then the Arabic for a cinema.

You'll want to know: نادي

نادي — nādī — "a club".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نادي (nādī) is built on the native Arabic root n-d-w (Lane), which gives nidāʾ, "calling out", and nadiyy, "an assembly". Nādī is a meeting place; the club is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nādī
- Say it: nādī, once more
- Say it: say nādī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a theatre, then the Arabic for a cinema, then say nādī again

Before you move on

What does نادي mean? ("A club".) Say it once more.

265.4 مزرعة (mazraᶜa) — a farm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cinema, then the Arabic for a club.

You'll want to know: مزرعة

مزرعة — mazra^{c}a — "a farm".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزرعة (mazra^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root z-r-^{c}, "to sow" (Lane). Mazra^{c}a is the ma- place noun, "a place of sowing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mazra^{c}a
- Say it: mazra^{c}a, once more
- Say it: say mazra^{c}a
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cinema, then the Arabic for a club, then say mazra^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does مزرعة mean? ("A farm".) Say it once more.

265.5 ريف (rīf) — the countryside

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a club, then the Arabic for a farm.

You'll want to know: ريف

ريف — rīf — "the countryside".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ريف (rīf) is built on the native Arabic root r-y-f, "cultivated land by water" (Lane). Rīf is farmland by the water, the countryside.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: rīf
- Say it: rīf, once more
- Say it: say rīf
- Recall: say the Arabic for a club, then the Arabic for a farm, then say rīf again

Before you move on

What does ريف mean? ("The countryside".) Say it once more.

Chapter 266

Basement, Chimney, Doorstep, Fence, Courtyard

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a basement, a chimney, a doorstep, a fence and a courtyard.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 266: I can say a basement, a chimney, a doorstep, a fence and a courtyard.

266.1 قبو (qabw) — a basement, a cellar

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a farm, then the Arabic for the countryside.

You'll want to know: قبو

قبو — qabw — "a basement, a cellar".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبو (qabw) is a vaulted cellar. Lane has no entry for qabw, and its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qabw
- Say it: qabw, once more
- Say it: say qabw
- Recall: say the Arabic for a farm, then the Arabic for the countryside, then say qabw again

Before you move on

What does قبو mean? ("A basement, a cellar".) Say it once more.

266.2 مدخنة (midkhana) — a chimney

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the countryside, then the Arabic for a basement.

You'll want to know: مدخنة

مدخنة — midkhana — "a chimney".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدخنة (midkhana) is built on the native Arabic root d-kh-n, "smoke" (Lane). Midkhana is a thing for smoke: a chimney.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: midkhana
- Say it: midkhana, once more
- Say it: say midkhana
- Recall: say the Arabic for the countryside, then the Arabic for a basement, then say midkhana again

Before you move on

What does مدخنة mean? ("A chimney".) Say it once more.

266.3 عتبة (ᶜataba) — a doorstep, a threshold

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a basement, then the Arabic for a chimney.

You'll want to know: عتبة

عتبة — ᶜataba — "a doorstep, a threshold".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عتبة (ᶜataba), "a threshold, a step", is an old native noun, filed under the root ᶜ-t-b (Lane), beside the verb ᶜataba, "to blame".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜataba
- Say it: ᶜataba, once more
- Say it: say ᶜataba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a basement, then the Arabic for a chimney, then say ᶜataba again

Before you move on

What does عتبة mean? ("A doorstep, a threshold".) Say it once more.

266.4 سياج (siyāj) — a fence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chimney, then the Arabic for a doorstep.

You'll want to know: سياج

سياج — siyāj — "a fence".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سياج (siyāj) is an old native noun, filed under the root s-w-j (Lane) as an enclosure of thorns set round a vineyard; a fence is the same idea.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: siyāj
- Say it: siyāj, once more
- Say it: say siyāj
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chimney, then the Arabic for a doorstep, then say siyāj again

Before you move on

What does سياج mean? ("A fence".) Say it once more.

266.5 فناء (fināʾ) — a courtyard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a doorstep, then the Arabic for a fence.

You'll want to know: فناء

فناء — fināʾ — "a courtyard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فناء (fināʾ) is an old native noun, filed under the root f-n-y (Lane), beside the verb faniya, "to pass away". Lane's fināʾ is the open court before a house.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fināʾ
- Say it: fināʾ, once more
- Say it: say fināʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a doorstep, then the Arabic for a fence, then say fināʾ again

Before you move on

What does فناء mean? ("A courtyard".) Say it once more.

Chapter 267

Tradition, Culture, Religion, Prayer, Relationship

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tradition, culture, religion, prayer and a relationship.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 267: I can say a tradition, culture, religion, prayer and a relationship.

267.1 تقليد (taqlīd) — a tradition

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fence, then the Arabic for a courtyard.

You'll want to know: تقليد

تقليد — taqlīd — "a tradition".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقليد (taqlīd) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-d, "to hang on the neck; to follow another" (Lane). Taqlīd is the verbal noun of Form II, "following another's lead".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: taqlīd
- Say it: taqlīd, once more
- Say it: say taqlīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fence, then the Arabic for a courtyard, then say taqlīd again

Before you move on

What does تقليد mean? ("A tradition".) Say it once more.

267.2 ثقافة (thaqāfa) — culture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a courtyard, then the Arabic for a tradition.

You'll want to know: ثقافة

ثقافة — thaqāfa — "culture".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثقافة (thaqāfa) is built on the native Arabic root th-q-f, "to be skilful, to be sharp" (Lane). Thaqāfa is skill, cultivation, and in modern use culture; the same root gives thiqāf, a tool for straightening spears.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: thaqāfa
- Say it: thaqāfa, once more
- Say it: say thaqāfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a courtyard, then the Arabic for a tradition, then say thaqāfa again

Before you move on

What does ثقافة mean? ("Culture".) Say it once more.

267.3 دين (dīn) — religion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tradition, then the Arabic for culture.

You'll want to know: دين

دين — dīn — "religion".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دين (dīn) is listed by Lane under d-y-n with the senses recompense, obedience and religion. The sense of judgement is shared with Aramaic and Hebrew dīn, and some trace the sense "religion" to Middle Persian dēn; which account holds for "religion" is debated.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: dīn
- Say it: dīn, once more
- Say it: say dīn
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tradition, then the Arabic for culture, then say dīn again

Before you move on

What does دين mean? ("Religion".) Say it once more.

267.4 صلاة (ṣalāh) — prayer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for culture, then the Arabic for religion.

You'll want to know: صلاة

صلاة — ṣalāh — "prayer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صلاة (ṣalāh) is listed by Lane under ṣ-l-w. It is usually traced to Aramaic ṣlōthā, "prayer"; Lane's sources say the related ṣalawāt, "synagogues", is from Hebrew.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣalāh
- Say it: ṣalāh, once more
- Say it: say ṣalāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for culture, then the Arabic for religion, then say ṣalāh again

Before you move on

What does صلاة mean? ("Prayer".) Say it once more.

267.5 علاقة (ᶜalāqa) — a relationship

Before the new one: say the Arabic for religion, then the Arabic for prayer.

You'll want to know: علاقة

علاقة — ᶜalāqa — "a relationship".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علاقة (ᶜalāqa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-q, "to cling, to hang" (Lane). ᶜAlāqa is a tie, a connection.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜalāqa
- Say it: ᶜalāqa, once more
- Say it: say ᶜalāqa
- Recall: say the Arabic for religion, then the Arabic for prayer, then say ᶜalāqa again

Before you move on

What does علاقة mean? ("A relationship".) Say it once more.

Chapter 268

Together, According to, Without, For example, First

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say together, according to, without, for example and first.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 268: I can say together, according to, without, for example and first.

268.1 معا (ma^{c}an) — together

Before the new one: say the Arabic for prayer, then the Arabic for a relationship.

You'll want to know: معا

معا — ma^{c}an — "together".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معا (ma^{c}an) is ma^{c}a, "with", with the adverb ending -an: "together". Lane lists ma^{c}a as an old particle; Hebrew ^{c}im, "with", is usually compared.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}an
- Say it: ma^{c}an, once more
- Say it: say ma^{c}an
- Recall: say the Arabic for prayer, then the Arabic for a relationship, then say ma^{c}an again

Before you move on

What does معا mean? ("Together".) Say it once more.

268.2 حسب (ḥasaba) — according to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a relationship, then the Arabic for together.

You'll want to know: حسب

حسب — ḥasaba — "according to".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حسب (ḥasaba) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-b, "to count, to reckon" (Lane). Ḥasaba is ḥasab, "measure", as a preposition: "according to".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥasaba
- Say it: ḥasaba, once more
- Say it: say ḥasaba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a relationship, then the Arabic for together, then say ḥasaba again

Before you move on

What does حسب mean? ("According to".) Say it once more.

268.3 بدون (bidūn) — without

Before the new one: say the Arabic for together, then the Arabic for according to.

You'll want to know: بدون

بدون — bidūn — "without".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بدون (bidūn) is built from bi-, "with, by", and dūn, "below, short of", from the root d-w-n (Lane): "short of", hence "without".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: bidūn
- Say it: bidūn, once more
- Say it: say bidūn
- Recall: say the Arabic for together, then the Arabic for according to, then say bidūn again

Before you move on

What does بدون mean? ("Without".) Say it once more.

268.4 مثلا (mathalan) — for example

Before the new one: say the Arabic for according to, then the Arabic for without.

You'll want to know: مثلا

مثلا — mathalan — "for example".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مثلا (mathalan) is built on the native Arabic root m-th-l, "to be like" (Lane). Mathalan is mathal, "a likeness", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mathalan
- Say it: mathalan, once more
- Say it: say mathalan
- Recall: say the Arabic for according to, then the Arabic for without, then say mathalan again

Before you move on

What does مثلا mean? ("For example".) Say it once more.

268.5 أولا (awwalan) — first, firstly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for without, then the Arabic for for example.

You'll want to know: أولا

أولا — awwalan — "first, firstly".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أولا (awwalan) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-w-l, "first; to return" (Lane). Awwalan is awwal, "first", with the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: awwalan
- Say it: awwalan, once more
- Say it: say awwalan
- Recall: say the Arabic for without, then the Arabic for for example, then say awwalan again

Before you move on

What does أولا mean? ("First, firstly".) Say it once more.

Chapter 269

Failure, Step, Harm, Fault, Advantage

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say failure, a step, harm, a fault and an advantage.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 269: I can say failure, a step, harm, a fault and an advantage.

269.1 فشل (fashal) — failure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for for example, then the Arabic for first.

You'll want to know: فشل

فشل — fashal — "failure".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فشل (fashal) is built on the native Arabic root f-sh-l, "to be weak, to lose heart" (Lane). Fashal is losing heart, failure.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: fashal
- Say it: fashal, once more
- Say it: say fashal
- Recall: say the Arabic for for example, then the Arabic for first, then say fashal again

Before you move on

What does فشل mean? ("Failure".) Say it once more.

269.2 خطوة (khuṭwa) — a step

Before the new one: say the Arabic for first, then the Arabic for failure.

You'll want to know: خطوة

خطوة — khuṭwa — "a step".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطوة (khuṭwa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-w, "to step" (Lane). Khuṭwa is a step.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: khuṭwa
- Say it: khuṭwa, once more
- Say it: say khuṭwa
- Recall: say the Arabic for first, then the Arabic for failure, then say khuṭwa again

Before you move on

What does خطوة mean? ("A step".) Say it once more.

269.3 ضرر (ḍarar) — harm, damage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for failure, then the Arabic for a step.

You'll want to know: ضرر

ضرر — ḍarar — "harm, damage".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضرر (ḍarar) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-r, "to harm" (Lane). The word ḍarar is harm.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍarar
- Say it: ḍarar, once more
- Say it: say ḍarar
- Recall: say the Arabic for failure, then the Arabic for a step, then say ḍarar again

Before you move on

What does ضرر mean? ("Harm, damage".) Say it once more.

269.4 عيب (ᶜayb) — a fault, a defect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a step, then the Arabic for harm.

You'll want to know: عيب

عيب — ᶜayb — "a fault, a defect".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عيب (ᶜayb) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-y-b, "a fault, a defect" (Lane). ᶜAyb is a fault.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜayb
- Say it: ᶜayb, once more
- Say it: say ᶜayb
- Recall: say the Arabic for a step, then the Arabic for harm, then say ᶜayb again

Before you move on

What does عيب mean? ("A fault, a defect".) Say it once more.

269.5 ميزة (mīza) — an advantage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for harm, then the Arabic for a fault.

You'll want to know: ميزة

ميزة — mīza — "an advantage".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميزة (mīza) is built on the native Arabic root m-y-z, "to distinguish" (Lane). Mīza is a distinguishing mark.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mīza
- Say it: mīza, once more
- Say it: say mīza
- Recall: say the Arabic for harm, then the Arabic for a fault, then say mīza again

Before you move on

What does ميزة mean? ("An advantage".) Say it once more.

Chapter 270

Boring, Booked, Available, International, Local

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say boring, booked, available, international and local.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 270: I can say boring, booked, available, international and local.

270.1 ممل (mumill) — boring

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fault, then the Arabic for an advantage.

You'll want to know: ممل

ممل — mumill — "boring".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممل (mumill) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-l, "to be weary of" (Lane). Mumill is the Form IV participle, "wearying".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mumill
- Say it: mumill, once more
- Say it: say mumill
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fault, then the Arabic for an advantage, then say mumill again

Before you move on

What does ممل mean? ("Boring".) Say it once more.

270.2 محجوز (maḥjūz) — booked, reserved

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an advantage, then the Arabic for boring.

You'll want to know: محجوز

محجوز — maḥjūz — "booked, reserved".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محجوز (maḥjūz) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-z, "to separate, to hold back" (Lane). Maḥjūz is the passive participle, "held back", hence "reserved".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥjūz
- Say it: maḥjūz, once more
- Say it: say maḥjūz
- Recall: say the Arabic for an advantage, then the Arabic for boring, then say maḥjūz again

Before you move on

What does محجوز mean? ("Booked, reserved".) Say it once more.

270.3 متاح (mutāḥ) — available

Before the new one: say the Arabic for boring, then the Arabic for booked.

You'll want to know: متاح

متاح — mutāḥ — "available".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متاح (mutāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root t-y-ḥ, "to be destined" (Lane). Mutāḥ is the Form IV passive participle, "made available".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mutāḥ
- Say it: mutāḥ, once more
- Say it: say mutāḥ
- Recall: say the Arabic for boring, then the Arabic for booked, then say mutāḥ again

Before you move on

What does متاح mean? ("Available".) Say it once more.

270.4 دولي (duwalī) — international

Before the new one: say the Arabic for booked, then the Arabic for available.

You'll want to know: دولي

دولي — duwalī — "international".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دولي (duwalī) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-l, "to go round in turn" (Lane). Duwalī is duwal, plural of dawla, "a turn of fortune" in Lane and now "a state", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: duwalī
- Say it: duwalī, once more
- Say it: say duwalī
- Recall: say the Arabic for booked, then the Arabic for available, then say duwalī again

Before you move on

What does دولي mean? ("International".) Say it once more.

270.5 محلي (maḥallī) — local

Before the new one: say the Arabic for available, then the Arabic for international.

You'll want to know: محلي

محلي — maḥallī — "local".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محلي (maḥallī) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-l, "to untie; to alight" (Lane). Maḥallī is maḥall, "a place of alighting", with the adjective ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥallī
- Say it: maḥallī, once more
- Say it: say maḥallī
- Recall: say the Arabic for available, then the Arabic for international, then say maḥallī again

Before you move on

What does محلي mean? ("Local".) Say it once more.

Chapter 271

Stubborn, Lonely, Orange, Pink, Purple

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say stubborn, lonely, orange, pink and purple.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 271: I can say stubborn, lonely, orange, pink and purple.

271.1 عنيد (ᶜanīd) — stubborn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for international, then the Arabic for local.

You'll want to know: عنيد

عنيد — ᶜanīd — "stubborn".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عنيد (ᶜanīd) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-d, "to deviate, to oppose" (Lane). ᶜAnīd is "obstinate".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜanīd
- Say it: ᶜanīd, once more
- Say it: say ᶜanīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for international, then the Arabic for local, then say ᶜanīd again

Before you move on

What does عنيد mean? ("Stubborn".) Say it once more.

271.2 وحيد (waḥīd) — lonely; only

Before the new one: say the Arabic for local, then the Arabic for stubborn.

You'll want to know: وحيد

وحيد — waḥīd — "lonely; only".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وحيد (waḥīd) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḥ-d, "to be one, to be alone" (Lane). Waḥīd is "one alone".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: waḥīd
- Say it: waḥīd, once more
- Say it: say waḥīd
- Recall: say the Arabic for local, then the Arabic for stubborn, then say waḥīd again

Before you move on

What does وحيد mean? ("Lonely; only".) Say it once more.

271.3 برتقالي (burtuqālī) — orange (colour)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for stubborn, then the Arabic for lonely; only.

You'll want to know: برتقالي

برتقالي — burtuqālī — "orange (colour)".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برتقالي (burtuqālī) is built from burtuqāl, "orange", with the adjective ending -ī; burtuqāl is named after Portugal, whose traders are usually said to have brought the sweet orange.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: burtuqālī
- Say it: burtuqālī, once more
- Say it: say burtuqālī
- Recall: say the Arabic for stubborn, then the Arabic for lonely; only, then say burtuqālī again

Before you move on

What does برتقالي mean? ("Orange (colour)".) Say it once more.

271.4 وردي (wardī) — pink

Before the new one: say the Arabic for lonely; only, then the Arabic for orange.

You'll want to know: وردي

وردي — wardī — "pink".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وردي (wardī) is ward, "roses", with the adjective ending -ī. Lane notes that ward is said to be arabicized; it is usually given an Iranian origin, probably by way of Aramaic wardā.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: wardī
- Say it: wardī, once more
- Say it: say wardī
- Recall: say the Arabic for lonely; only, then the Arabic for orange, then say wardī again

Before you move on

What does وردي mean? ("Pink".) Say it once more.

271.5 بنفسجي (banafsajī) — purple

Before the new one: say the Arabic for orange, then the Arabic for pink.

You'll want to know: بنفسجي

بنفسجي — banafsajī — "purple".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بنفسجي (banafsajī) is banafsaj, "violet", with the adjective ending -ī. Lane notes that banafsaj is arabicized from Persian banafsha.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: banafsajī
- Say it: banafsajī, once more
- Say it: say banafsajī
- Recall: say the Arabic for orange, then the Arabic for pink, then say banafsajī again

Before you move on

What does بنفسجي mean? ("Purple".) Say it once more.

271.6 Words from chapters 263-266 — a first pass

Say the words for pink and purple.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a vaccine, sweat, a wrist, a thumb, a muscle
- a season, childhood, an evening out, Ramadan, the afternoon; an era
- a theatre, a cinema, a club, a farm, the countryside
- a basement, a chimney, a doorstep, a fence, a courtyard

Before you move on

A vaccine? (لقاح, laqāḥ.) Sweat? (عرق, ᶜaraq.) A wrist? (معصم, miᶜṣam.) A thumb? (إبهام, ibhām.) A muscle? (عضلة, ᶜaḍala.) A season? (فصل, faṣl.) Childhood? (طفولة, ṭufūla.) An evening out? (سهرة, sahra.) Ramadan? (رمضان, ramaḍān.) The afternoon; an era? (عصر, ᶜaṣr.) A theatre? (مسرح, masraḥ.) A cinema? (سينما, sīnimā.)

A club? (نادي, nādī.) A farm? (مزرعة, mazraᶜa.) The countryside? (ريف, rīf.) A basement? (قبو, qabw.) A chimney? (مدخنة, midkhana.) A doorstep? (عتبة, ᶜataba.) A fence? (سياج, siyāj.) A courtyard? (فناء, fināʾ.)

271.7 Words from chapters 267-271 — a second pass

Say the words for a tradition and culture.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a tradition, culture, religion, prayer, a relationship
- together, according to, without, for example, first
- failure, a step, harm, a fault, an advantage
- boring, booked, available, international, local
- stubborn, lonely; only, orange, pink, purple

Before you move on

A tradition? (تقليد, taqlīd.) Culture? (ثقافة, thaqāfa.) Religion? (دين, dīn.) Prayer? (صلاة, ṣalāh.) A relationship? (علاقة, ᶜalāqa.) Together? (معا, maᶜan.) According to? (حسب, ḥasaba.) Without? (بدون, bidūn.) For example? (مثلا, mathalan.) First? (أولا, awwalan.) Failure? (فشل, fashal.) A step? (خطوة, khuṭwa.) Harm? (ضرر, ḍarar.) A fault? (عيب, ᶜayb.) An advantage? (ميزة, mīza.) Boring? (ممل, mumill.) Booked? (محجوز, maḥjūz.) Available? (متاح, mutāḥ.) International? (دولي, duwalī.) Local? (محلي, maḥallī.) Stubborn? (عنيد, ᶜanīd.) Lonely; only? (وحيد, waḥīd.) Orange? (برتقالي, burtuqālī.) Pink? (وردي, wardī.) Purple? (بنفسجي, banafsajī.)

Chapter 272

Amazing, Sure, Exciting, Complicated, Reasonable

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say amazing, sure, exciting, complicated and reasonable.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 272: I can say amazing, sure, exciting, complicated and reasonable.

272.1 مدهش (mudhish) — amazing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pink, then the Arabic for purple.

You'll want to know: مدهش

مدهش — mudhish — "amazing".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدهش (mudhish) is built on the native Arabic root d-h-sh, "to be astonished" (Lane). Mudhish is the Form IV participle, "astonishing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mudhish
- Say it: mudhish, once more
- Say it: say mudhish
- Recall: say the Arabic for pink, then the Arabic for purple, then say mudhish again

Before you move on

What does مدهش mean? ("Amazing".) Say it once more.

272.2 متأكد (mutaʾakkid) — sure, certain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for purple, then the Arabic for amazing.

You'll want to know: متأكد

متأكد — mutaʾakkid — "sure, certain".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متأكد (mutaʾakkid) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-k-d, "to make firm", which Lane gives as a variant of w-k-d. Mutaʾakkid is the Form V participle, "made firm", hence "sure".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mutaʾakkid
- Say it: mutaʾakkid, once more
- Say it: say mutaʾakkid
- Recall: say the Arabic for purple, then the Arabic for amazing, then say mutaʾakkid again

Before you move on

What does متأكد mean? ("Sure, certain".) Say it once more.

272.3 مثير (muthīr) — exciting

Before the new one: say the Arabic for amazing, then the Arabic for sure.

You'll want to know: مثير

مثير — muthīr — "exciting".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مثير (muthīr) is built on the native Arabic root th-w-r, "to rise up; a bull" (Lane). Muthīr is the Form IV participle, "stirring up".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muthīr
- Say it: muthīr, once more
- Say it: say muthīr
- Recall: say the Arabic for amazing, then the Arabic for sure, then say muthīr again

Before you move on

What does مثير mean? ("Exciting".) Say it once more.

272.4 معقد (muᶜaqqad) — complicated

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sure, then the Arabic for exciting.

You'll want to know: معقد

معقد — mu^{c}aqqad — "complicated".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معقد (mu^{c}aqqad) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-q-d, "to tie a knot" (Lane). Mu^{c}aqqad is the Form II passive participle, "knotted".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}aqqad
- Say it: mu^{c}aqqad, once more
- Say it: say mu^{c}aqqad
- Recall: say the Arabic for sure, then the Arabic for exciting, then say mu^{c}aqqad again

Before you move on

What does معقد mean? ("Complicated".) Say it once more.

272.5 معقول (ma^{c}qūl) — reasonable

Before the new one: say the Arabic for exciting, then the Arabic for complicated.

You'll want to know: معقول

معقول — ma^{c}qūl — "reasonable".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معقول (ma^{c}qūl) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-q-l, "to tie; to understand" (Lane). Ma^{c}qūl is the passive participle, "understood", hence "reasonable".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}qūl
- Say it: ma^{c}qūl, once more
- Say it: say ma^{c}qūl
- Recall: say the Arabic for exciting, then the Arabic for complicated, then say ma^{c}qūl again

Before you move on

What does معقول mean? ("Reasonable".) Say it once more.

Chapter 273

Chocolate, Sweets, Pasta, Flour, Spices

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say chocolate, sweets, pasta, flour and spices.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 273: I can say chocolate, sweets, pasta, flour and spices.

273.1 شوكولاتة (shūkūlāta) — chocolate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for complicated, then the Arabic for reasonable.

You'll want to know: شوكولاتة

شوكولاتة — shūkūlāta — "chocolate".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شوكولاتة (shūkūlāta) is a modern loan from European chocolate, which goes back through Spanish to Nahuatl; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shūkūlāta
- Say it: shūkūlāta, once more
- Say it: say shūkūlāta
- Recall: say the Arabic for complicated, then the Arabic for reasonable, then say shūkūlāta again

Before you move on

What does شوكولاتة mean? ("Chocolate".) Say it once more.

273.2 حلوى (ḥalwā) — sweets

Before the new one: say the Arabic for reasonable, then the Arabic for chocolate.

You'll want to know: حلوى

حلوى — ḥalwā — "sweets".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حلوى (ḥalwā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-w, "to be sweet" (Lane). Ḥalwā is a sweetmeat.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥalwā
- Say it: ḥalwā, once more
- Say it: say ḥalwā
- Recall: say the Arabic for reasonable, then the Arabic for chocolate, then say ḥalwā again

Before you move on

What does حلوى mean? ("Sweets".) Say it once more.

273.3 معكرونة (ma^{c}karūna) — pasta

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chocolate, then the Arabic for sweets.

You'll want to know: معكرونة

معكرونة — ma^{c}karūna — "pasta".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معكرونة (ma^{c}karūna) is a modern loan from Italian maccheroni; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}karūna
- Say it: ma^{c}karūna, once more
- Say it: say ma^{c}karūna
- Recall: say the Arabic for chocolate, then the Arabic for sweets, then say ma^{c}karūna again

Before you move on

What does معكرونة mean? ("Pasta".) Say it once more.

273.4 دقيق (daqīq) — flour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sweets, then the Arabic for pasta.

You'll want to know: دقيق

دقيق — daqīq — "flour".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دقيق (daqīq) is built on the native Arabic root d-q-q, "to be fine, thin, small" (Lane). Daqīq is "fine": flour, ground fine.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: daqīq
- Say it: daqīq, once more
- Say it: say daqīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for sweets, then the Arabic for pasta, then say daqīq again

Before you move on

What does دقيق mean? ("Flour".) Say it once more.

273.5 توابل (tawābil) — spices

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pasta, then the Arabic for flour.

You'll want to know: توابل

توابل — tawābil — "spices".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توابل (tawābil) is the plural of tābal, seeds for seasoning food such as cumin and coriander, which Lane lists under t-b-l and notes is said to be arabicized. EtymDB derives it from Aramaic tablā, "spice".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: tawābil
- Say it: tawābil, once more
- Say it: say tawābil
- Recall: say the Arabic for pasta, then the Arabic for flour, then say tawābil again

Before you move on

What does توابل mean? ("Spices".) Say it once more.

Chapter 274

Printer, Ink, Blackboard, Dictionary, File

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a printer, ink, a blackboard, a dictionary and a file.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 274: I can say a printer, ink, a blackboard, a dictionary and a file.

274.1 طابعة (ṭābiᶜa) — a printer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for flour, then the Arabic for spices.

You'll want to know: طابعة

طابعة — ṭābiᶜa — "a printer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طابعة (ṭābiᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-ᶜ, "to seal, to stamp" (Lane). Ṭābiᶜa is the feminine active participle, "a thing that prints"; the printing sense is modern.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭābiᶜa
- Say it: ṭābiᶜa, once more
- Say it: say ṭābiᶜa
- Recall: say the Arabic for flour, then the Arabic for spices, then say ṭābiᶜa again

Before you move on

What does طابعة mean? ("A printer".) Say it once more.

274.2 حبر (ḥibr) — ink

Before the new one: say the Arabic for spices, then the Arabic for a printer.

You'll want to know: حبر

حبر — ḥibr — "ink".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حبر (ḥibr) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-b-r, "ink; to adorn" (Lane). Ḥibr is ink.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥibr
- Say it: ḥibr, once more
- Say it: say ḥibr
- Recall: say the Arabic for spices, then the Arabic for a printer, then say ḥibr again

Before you move on

What does حبر mean? ("Ink".) Say it once more.

274.3 سبورة (sabbūra) — a blackboard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a printer, then the Arabic for ink.

You'll want to know: سبورة

سبورة — sabbūra — "a blackboard".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سبورة (sabbūra) is a modern word for a blackboard; it has no entry in Lane, and its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sabbūra
- Say it: sabbūra, once more
- Say it: say sabbūra
- Recall: say the Arabic for a printer, then the Arabic for ink, then say sabbūra again

Before you move on

What does سبورة mean? ("A blackboard".) Say it once more.

274.4 قاموس (qāmūs) — a dictionary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ink, then the Arabic for a blackboard.

You'll want to know: قاموس

قاموس — qāmūs — "a dictionary".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قاموس (qāmūs) is usually traced to Greek ōkeanos, "ocean" (EtymDB). The dictionary sense comes from al-Fīrūzābādī's al-Qāmūs al-Muḥīṭ, "the surrounding ocean".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: qāmūs
- Say it: qāmūs, once more
- Say it: say qāmūs
- Recall: say the Arabic for ink, then the Arabic for a blackboard, then say qāmūs again

Before you move on

What does قاموس mean? ("A dictionary".) Say it once more.

274.5 ملف (malaff) — a file, a folder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a blackboard, then the Arabic for a dictionary.

You'll want to know: ملف

ملف — malaff — "a file, a folder".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملف (malaff) is built on the native Arabic root l-f-f, "to wrap, to roll up" (Lane). Malaff is a thing to wrap papers in: a file.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: malaff
- Say it: malaff, once more
- Say it: say malaff
- Recall: say the Arabic for a blackboard, then the Arabic for a dictionary, then say malaff again

Before you move on

What does ملف mean? ("A file, a folder".) Say it once more.

Chapter 275

Bride, Person, People, Party, Wedding

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a bride, a person, people, a party and a wedding.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 275: I can say a bride, a person, people, a party and a wedding.

275.1 عروس (ᶜarūs) — a bride

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dictionary, then the Arabic for a file.

You'll want to know: عروس

عروس — ᶜarūs — "a bride".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عروس (ᶜarūs) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-s, "to marry, to hold a wedding" (Lane). ᶜArūs is a bride.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜarūs
- Say it: ᶜarūs, once more
- Say it: say ᶜarūs
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dictionary, then the Arabic for a file, then say ᶜarūs again

Before you move on

What does عروس mean? ("A bride".) Say it once more.

275.2 شخص (shakhṣ) — a person

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a file, then the Arabic for a bride.

You'll want to know: شخص

شخص — shakhṣ — "a person".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شخص (shakhṣ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-kh-ṣ, "to rise into view" (Lane). Lane's shakhṣ is a figure seen from afar, hence a person.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: shakhṣ
- Say it: shakhṣ, once more
- Say it: say shakhṣ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a file, then the Arabic for a bride, then say shakhṣ again

Before you move on

What does شخص mean? ("A person".) Say it once more.

275.3 ناس (nās) — people

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bride, then the Arabic for a person.

You'll want to know: ناس

ناس — nās — "people".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناس (nās), "people", is filed under the native Arabic root n-w-s, "to move to and fro" (Lane), but Lane reports that many derive it from unās, a plural on the root of insān, "a human being".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: nās
- Say it: nās, once more
- Say it: say nās
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bride, then the Arabic for a person, then say nās again

Before you move on

What does ناس mean? ("People".) Say it once more.

275.4 حفلة (ḥafla) — a party

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a person, then the Arabic for people.

You'll want to know: حفلة

حفلة — ḥafla — "a party".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حفلة (ḥafla) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-l, "to gather, to fill" (Lane). Ḥafla is a gathering.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥafla
- Say it: ḥafla, once more
- Say it: say ḥafla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a person, then the Arabic for people, then say ḥafla again

Before you move on

What does حفلة mean? ("A party".) Say it once more.

275.5 زفاف (zifāf) — a wedding

Before the new one: say the Arabic for people, then the Arabic for a party.

You'll want to know: زفاف

زفاف — zifāf — "a wedding".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زفاف (zifāf) is built on the native Arabic root z-f-f, "to lead the bride to her husband" (Lane). Zifāf is the leading of the bride.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zifāf
- Say it: zifāf, once more
- Say it: say zifāf
- Recall: say the Arabic for people, then the Arabic for a party, then say zifāf again

Before you move on

What does زفاف mean? ("A wedding".) Say it once more.

Chapter 276

Animal, Birds, Sparrow, Giraffe, Whale

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an animal, birds, a sparrow, a giraffe and a whale.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 276: I can say an animal, birds, a sparrow, a giraffe and a whale.

276.1 حيوان (ḥayawān) — an animal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a party, then the Arabic for a wedding.

You'll want to know: حيوان

حيوان — ḥayawān — "an animal".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حيوان (ḥayawān) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-y-y, "to live" (Lane). Ḥayawān is a living thing.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥayawān
- Say it: ḥayawān, once more
- Say it: say ḥayawān
- Recall: say the Arabic for a party, then the Arabic for a wedding, then say ḥayawān again

Before you move on

What does حيوان mean? ("An animal".) Say it once more.

276.2 طير (ṭayr) — birds

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wedding, then the Arabic for an animal.

You'll want to know: طير

طير — ṭayr — "birds".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طير (ṭayr) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-y-r, "to fly" (Lane). Ṭayr is birds, the flying things.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭayr
- Say it: ṭayr, once more
- Say it: say ṭayr
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wedding, then the Arabic for an animal, then say ṭayr again

Before you move on

What does طير mean? ("Birds".) Say it once more.

276.3 عصفور (ᶜuṣfūr) — a sparrow, a small bird

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an animal, then the Arabic for birds.

You'll want to know: عصفور

عصفور — ᶜuṣfūr — "a sparrow, a small bird".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصفور (ᶜuṣfūr) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-f-r, "a sparrow" (Lane). ᶜUṣfūr is a sparrow.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜuṣfūr
- Say it: ᶜuṣfūr, once more
- Say it: say ᶜuṣfūr
- Recall: say the Arabic for an animal, then the Arabic for birds, then say ᶜuṣfūr again

Before you move on

What does عصفور mean? ("A sparrow, a small bird".) Say it once more.

276.4 زرافة (zarāfa) — a giraffe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for birds, then the Arabic for a sparrow.

You'll want to know: زرافة

زرافة — zarāfa — "a giraffe".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زرافة (zarāfa) is listed by Lane under z-r-f, with an explanation linking it to a word for "a company", because it seems an assemblage of animals; that looks like a folk explanation. EtymDB derives it from Syriac zarīpā; the origin is not certain. English giraffe comes from zarāfa through Italian.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: zarāfa
- Say it: zarāfa, once more
- Say it: say zarāfa
- Recall: say the Arabic for birds, then the Arabic for a sparrow, then say zarāfa again

Before you move on

What does زرافة mean? ("A giraffe".) Say it once more.

276.5 حوت (ḥūt) — a whale

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sparrow, then the Arabic for a giraffe.

You'll want to know: حوت

حوت — ḥūt — "a whale".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حوت (ḥūt), "a fish, a large fish", is an old native noun, filed under the root ḥ-w-t (Lane); it is now a whale.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥūt
- Say it: ḥūt, once more
- Say it: say ḥūt
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sparrow, then the Arabic for a giraffe, then say ḥūt again

Before you move on

What does حوت mean? ("A whale".) Say it once more.

Chapter 277

Ball, Match, Team, Race, Sport

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a ball, a match, a team, a race and sport.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 277: I can say a ball, a match, a team, a race and sport.

277.1 كرة (kura) — a ball

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a giraffe, then the Arabic for a whale.

You'll want to know: كرة

كرة — kura — "a ball".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كرة (kura) is built on the native Arabic root k-r-w; Lane's short article on this root gives kurī, "spherical". Kura is a ball.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: kura
- Say it: kura, once more
- Say it: say kura
- Recall: say the Arabic for a giraffe, then the Arabic for a whale, then say kura again

Before you move on

What does كرة mean? ("A ball".) Say it once more.

277.2 مباراة (mubārā) — a match

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a whale, then the Arabic for a ball.

You'll want to know: مباراة

مباراة — mubārā — "a match".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مباراة (mubārā) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-y, "to pare" (Lane), whose Form III bārā is "to vie with". Mubārā is the verbal noun of Form III, "a contest".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mubārā
- Say it: mubārā, once more
- Say it: say mubārā
- Recall: say the Arabic for a whale, then the Arabic for a ball, then say mubārā again

Before you move on

What does مباراة mean? ("A match".) Say it once more.

277.3 فريق (farīq) — a team

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ball, then the Arabic for a match.

You'll want to know: فريق

فريق — farīq — "a team".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فريق (farīq) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-q, "to separate" (Lane). Farīq is a party set apart, a team.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: farīq
- Say it: farīq, once more
- Say it: say farīq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ball, then the Arabic for a match, then say farīq again

Before you move on

What does فريق mean? ("A team".) Say it once more.

277.4 سباق (sibāq) — a race

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a match, then the Arabic for a team.

You'll want to know: سباق

سباق — sibāq — "a race".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سباق (sibāq) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-q, "to go before, to outstrip" (Lane). Sibāq is the verbal noun of Form III, "racing".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sibāq
- Say it: sibāq, once more
- Say it: say sibāq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a match, then the Arabic for a team, then say sibāq again

Before you move on

What does سباق mean? ("A race".) Say it once more.

277.5 رياضة (riyāḍa) — sport

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a team, then the Arabic for a race.

You'll want to know: رياضة

رياضة — riyāḍa — "sport".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رياضة (riyāḍa) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḍ, "to train, to tame" (Lane). Riyāḍa is training, exercise.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: riyāḍa
- Say it: riyāḍa, once more
- Say it: say riyāḍa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a team, then the Arabic for a race, then say riyāḍa again

Before you move on

What does رياضة mean? ("Sport".) Say it once more.

277.6 Words from chapters 272-274 — a first pass

Say the words for a race and sport.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- amazing, sure, exciting, complicated, reasonable
- chocolate, sweets, pasta, flour, spices
- a printer, ink, a blackboard, a dictionary, a file

Before you move on

Amazing? (مدهش, mudhish.) Sure? (متأكد, mutaʾakkid.) Exciting? (مثير, muthīr.) Complicated? (معقد, muᶜaqqad.) Reasonable? (معقول, maᶜqūl.) Chocolate? (شوكولاتة, shūkūlāta.) Sweets? (حلوى, ḥalwā.) Pasta? (معكرونة, maᶜkarūna.) Flour? (دقيق, daqīq.) Spices? (توابل, tawābil.) A printer? (طابعة, ṭābiᶜa.) Ink? (حبر, ḥibr.) A blackboard? (سبورة, sabbūra.) A dictionary? (قاموس, qāmūs.) A file? (ملف, malaff.)

277.7 Words from chapters 275-277 — a second pass

Say the words for a bride and a person.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a bride, a person, people, a party, a wedding
- an animal, birds, a sparrow, a giraffe, a whale
- a ball, a match, a team, a race, sport

Before you move on

A bride? (عروس, ᶜarūs.) A person? (شخص, shakhṣ.) People? (ناس, nās.) A party? (حفلة, ḥafla.) A wedding? (زفاف, zifāf.) An animal? (حيوان, ḥayawān.) Birds? (طير, ṭayr.) A sparrow? (عصفور, ᶜuṣfūr.) A giraffe? (زرافة, zarāfa.) A whale? (حوت, ḥūt.) A ball? (كرة, kura.) A match? (مباراة, mubārā.) A team? (فريق, farīq.) A race? (سباق, sibāq.) Sport? (رياضة, riyāḍa.)

Chapter 278

Kettle, Tray, Strainer, Ladle, Barrel

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a kettle, a tray, a strainer, a ladle and a barrel.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 278: I can say a kettle, a tray, a strainer, a ladle and a barrel.

278.1 غلاية (ghallāya) — a kettle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a race, then the Arabic for sport.

You'll want to know: غلاية

غلاية — ghallāya — "a kettle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غلاية (ghallāya) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-y, "to boil" (Lane). Ghallāya is a modern fa^{cc}āla word, "the boiler".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghallāya
- Say it: ghallāya, once more
- Say it: say ghallāya
- Recall: say the Arabic for a race, then the Arabic for sport, then say ghallāya again

Before you move on

What does غلاية mean? ("A kettle".) Say it once more.

278.2 صينية (ṣīniyya) — a tray

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sport, then the Arabic for a kettle.

You'll want to know: صينية

صينية — ṣīniyya — "a tray".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صينية (ṣīniyya) is built from Ṣīn, "China", with the ending -iyya: "the Chinese (dish)", once a porcelain tray.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣīniyya
- Say it: ṣīniyya, once more
- Say it: say ṣīniyya
- Recall: say the Arabic for sport, then the Arabic for a kettle, then say ṣīniyya again

Before you move on

What does صينية mean? ("A tray".) Say it once more.

278.3 مصفاة (miṣfāh) — a strainer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a kettle, then the Arabic for a tray.

You'll want to know: مصفاة

مصفاة — miṣfāh — "a strainer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصفاة (miṣfāh) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-w, "to be clear" (Lane). Miṣfāh is an instrument noun, "a thing for making clear".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miṣfāh
- Say it: miṣfāh, once more
- Say it: say miṣfāh
- Recall: say the Arabic for a kettle, then the Arabic for a tray, then say miṣfāh again

Before you move on

What does مصفاة mean? ("A strainer".) Say it once more.

278.4 مغرفة (mighrafa) — a ladle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tray, then the Arabic for a strainer.

You'll want to know: مغرفة

مغرفة — mighrafa — "a ladle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغرفة (mighrafa) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-f, "to ladle out water with the hand" (Lane). Mighrafa is an instrument noun, "a thing for ladling".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mighrafa
- Say it: mighrafa, once more
- Say it: say mighrafa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tray, then the Arabic for a strainer, then say mighrafa again

Before you move on

What does مغرفة mean? ("A ladle".) Say it once more.

278.5 برميل (barmīl) — a barrel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a strainer, then the Arabic for a ladle.

You'll want to know: برميل

برميل — barmīl — "a barrel".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برميل (barmīl) is usually traced to Spanish barril, "barrel" (EtymDB); it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: barmīl
- Say it: barmīl, once more
- Say it: say barmīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a strainer, then the Arabic for a ladle, then say barmīl again

Before you move on

What does برميل mean? ("A barrel".) Say it once more.

Chapter 279

Rectangle, Coat hanger, Sponge, Tape, Glue

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a rectangle, a coat hanger, a sponge, a tape and glue.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 279: I can say a rectangle, a coat hanger, a sponge, a tape and glue.

279.1 مستطيل (mustaṭīl) — a rectangle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ladle, then the Arabic for a barrel.

You'll want to know: مستطيل

مستطيل — mustaṭīl — "a rectangle".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستطيل (mustaṭīl) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-l, "to be long" (Lane). Mustaṭīl is the Form X participle, "lengthened".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mustaṭīl
- Say it: mustaṭīl, once more
- Say it: say mustaṭīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ladle, then the Arabic for a barrel, then say mustaṭīl again

Before you move on

What does مستطيل mean? ("A rectangle".) Say it once more.

279.2 مشجب (mishjab) — a coat hanger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a barrel, then the Arabic for a rectangle.

You'll want to know: مشجب

مشجب — mishjab — "a coat hanger".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشجب (mishjab) is an old native noun, filed under the root sh-j-b (Lane): pieces of wood bound together on which clothes are put. Mishjab is a thing to hang clothes on.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mishjab
- Say it: mishjab, once more
- Say it: say mishjab
- Recall: say the Arabic for a barrel, then the Arabic for a rectangle, then say mishjab again

Before you move on

What does مشجب mean? ("A coat hanger".) Say it once more.

279.3 إسفنجة (isfanja) — a sponge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rectangle, then the Arabic for a coat hanger.

You'll want to know: إسفنجة

إسفنجة — isfanja — "a sponge".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إسفنجة (isfanja) is a loan from Greek spongia, "sponge", perhaps through Latin; it has no Arabic root.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: isfanja
- Say it: isfanja, once more
- Say it: say isfanja
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rectangle, then the Arabic for a coat hanger, then say isfanja again

Before you move on

What does إسفنجة mean? ("A sponge".) Say it once more.

279.4 شريط (sharīṭ) — a tape, a ribbon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coat hanger, then the Arabic for a sponge.

You'll want to know: شريط

شريط — sharīṭ — "a tape, a ribbon".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شريط (sharīṭ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ṭ, "to stipulate; to slit" (Lane). Lane's sharīṭ is a cord of twisted palm-leaves.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: sharīṭ
- Say it: sharīṭ, once more
- Say it: say sharīṭ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coat hanger, then the Arabic for a sponge, then say sharīṭ again

Before you move on

What does شريط mean? ("A tape, a ribbon".) Say it once more.

279.5 غراء (ghirāʾ) — glue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sponge, then the Arabic for a tape.

You'll want to know: غراء

غراء — ghirāʾ — "glue".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غراء (ghirāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-w, "glue" (Lane). Ghirāʾ is glue.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ghirāʾ
- Say it: ghirāʾ, once more
- Say it: say ghirāʾ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sponge, then the Arabic for a tape, then say ghirāʾ again

Before you move on

What does غراء mean? ("Glue".) Say it once more.

Chapter 280

Client, Engineer, Lawyer, Pilot, Pharmacist

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a client, an engineer, a lawyer, a pilot and a pharmacist.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 280: I can say a client, an engineer, a lawyer, a pilot and a pharmacist.

280.1 عميل (ᶜamīl) — a client

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tape, then the Arabic for glue.

You'll want to know: عميل

عميل — ᶜamīl — "a client".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عميل (ᶜamīl) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-l, "to work, to do" (Lane). ᶜAmīl is "one who acts for another", an agent, a client.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜamīl
- Say it: ᶜamīl, once more
- Say it: say ᶜamīl
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tape, then the Arabic for glue, then say ᶜamīl again

Before you move on

What does عميل mean? ("A client".) Say it once more.

280.2 مهندس (muhandis) — an engineer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for glue, then the Arabic for a client.

You'll want to know: مهندس

مهندس — muhandis — "an engineer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهندس (muhandis) is built on handasa, "geometry". Lane's sources derive it from hindāz, arabicized from Persian andāz, "measuring".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muhandis
- Say it: muhandis, once more
- Say it: say muhandis
- Recall: say the Arabic for glue, then the Arabic for a client, then say muhandis again

Before you move on

What does مهندس mean? ("An engineer".) Say it once more.

280.3 محامي (muḥāmī) — a lawyer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a client, then the Arabic for an engineer.

You'll want to know: محامي

محامي — muḥāmī — "a lawyer".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محامي (muḥāmī) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-y, "to protect, to defend" (Lane). Muḥāmī is the Form III participle, "one who defends"; the lawyer is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥāmī
- Say it: muḥāmī, once more
- Say it: say muḥāmī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a client, then the Arabic for an engineer, then say muḥāmī again

Before you move on

What does محامي mean? ("A lawyer".) Say it once more.

280.4 طيار (ṭayyār) — a pilot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an engineer, then the Arabic for a lawyer.

You'll want to know: طيار

طيار — ṭayyār — "a pilot".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طيار (ṭayyār) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-y-r, "to fly" (Lane). Ṭayyār is the fa^{cc}āl noun, "one who flies".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭayyār
- Say it: ṭayyār, once more
- Say it: say ṭayyār
- Recall: say the Arabic for an engineer, then the Arabic for a lawyer, then say ṭayyār again

Before you move on

What does طيار mean? ("A pilot".) Say it once more.

280.5 صيدلي (ṣaydalī) — a pharmacist

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lawyer, then the Arabic for a pilot.

You'll want to know: صيدلي

صيدلي — ṣaydalī — "a pharmacist".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صيدلي (ṣaydalī) is the druggist, from ṣaydalānī. Lane's sources derive that word from a place called Ṣaydalān, or from ṣaydal, or call it a Persian word arabicized. Lane also records the by-form ṣandalānī, which points to ṣandal, "sandalwood"; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaydalī
- Say it: ṣaydalī, once more
- Say it: say ṣaydalī
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lawyer, then the Arabic for a pilot, then say ṣaydalī again

Before you move on

What does صيدلي mean? ("A pharmacist".) Say it once more.

Chapter 281

Number, Phone call, Information, Presenter, Actor

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a number, a phone call, information, a presenter and an actor.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 281: I can say a number, a phone call, information, a presenter and an actor.

281.1 رقم (raqm) — a number

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pilot, then the Arabic for a pharmacist.

You'll want to know: رقم

رقم — raqm — "a number".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رقم (raqm) is built on the native Arabic root r-q-m, "to write, to mark" (Lane). Lane's raqm is a mark of writing, and he notes the "Indian" numerals the Arabs adopted.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: raqm
- Say it: raqm, once more
- Say it: say raqm
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pilot, then the Arabic for a pharmacist, then say raqm again

Before you move on

What does رقم mean? ("A number".) Say it once more.

281.2 مكالمة (mukālama) — a phone call

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pharmacist, then the Arabic for a number.

You'll want to know: مكالمة

مكالمة — mukālama — "a phone call".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكالمة (mukālama) is built on the native Arabic root k-l-m, "speech; to speak to" (Lane). Mukālama is the verbal noun of Form III, "speaking with one another"; the phone call is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mukālama
- Say it: mukālama, once more
- Say it: say mukālama
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pharmacist, then the Arabic for a number, then say mukālama again

Before you move on

What does مكالمة mean? ("A phone call".) Say it once more.

281.3 معلومات (ma^{c}lūmāt) — information

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a number, then the Arabic for a phone call.

You'll want to know: معلومات

معلومات — ma^{c}lūmāt — "information".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معلومات (ma^{c}lūmāt) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-l-m, "to know" (Lane). Ma^{c}lūmāt is the plural of the passive participle, "things known".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}lūmāt
- Say it: ma^{c}lūmāt, once more
- Say it: say ma^{c}lūmāt
- Recall: say the Arabic for a number, then the Arabic for a phone call, then say ma^{c}lūmāt again

Before you move on

What does معلومات mean? ("Information".) Say it once more.

281.4 مذيع (mudhī^{c}) — a presenter, a broadcaster

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a phone call, then the Arabic for information.

You'll want to know: مذيع

مذيع — mudhīᶜ — "a presenter, a broadcaster".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مذيع (mudhīᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root dh-y-ᶜ, "to spread abroad (news)" (Lane). Mudhīᶜ is the Form IV participle, "one who spreads (news) abroad"; broadcasting is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mudhīᶜ
- Say it: mudhīᶜ, once more
- Say it: say mudhīᶜ
- Recall: say the Arabic for a phone call, then the Arabic for information, then say mudhīᶜ again

Before you move on

What does مذيع mean? ("A presenter, a broadcaster".) Say it once more.

281.5 ممثل (mumaththil) — an actor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for information, then the Arabic for a presenter.

You'll want to know: ممثل

ممثل — mumaththil — "an actor".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممثل (mumaththil) is built on the native Arabic root m-th-l, "to be like" (Lane). Mumaththil is the Form II participle, "one who represents"; the actor is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: mumaththil
- Say it: mumaththil, once more
- Say it: say mumaththil
- Recall: say the Arabic for information, then the Arabic for a presenter, then say mumaththil again

Before you move on

What does ممثل mean? ("An actor".) Say it once more.

Chapter 282

Calculator, Pencil case, Page, Sentence, Barber

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a calculator, a pencil case, a page, a sentence and a barber.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 282: I can say a calculator, a pencil case, a page, a sentence and a barber.

282.1 حاسبة (ḥāsiba) — a calculator

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a presenter, then the Arabic for an actor.

You'll want to know: حاسبة

حاسبة — ḥāsiba — "a calculator".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاسبة (ḥāsiba) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-b, "to count, to reckon" (Lane). Ḥāsiba is the feminine active participle, "a thing that counts".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāsiba
- Say it: ḥāsiba, once more
- Say it: say ḥāsiba
- Recall: say the Arabic for a presenter, then the Arabic for an actor, then say ḥāsiba again

Before you move on

What does حاسبة mean? ("A calculator".) Say it once more.

282.2 مقلمة (miqlama) — a pencil case

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an actor, then the Arabic for a calculator.

You'll want to know: مقلمة

مقلمة — miqlama — "a pencil case".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقلمة (miqlama) is a case for pens (qalam). Lane lists qalam under q-l-m, and it is usually traced to Greek kalamos, "reed pen".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: miqlama
- Say it: miqlama, once more
- Say it: say miqlama
- Recall: say the Arabic for an actor, then the Arabic for a calculator, then say miqlama again

Before you move on

What does مقلمة mean? ("A pencil case".) Say it once more.

282.3 صفحة (ṣafḥa) — a page

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a calculator, then the Arabic for a pencil case.

You'll want to know: صفحة

صفحة — ṣafḥa — "a page".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صفحة (ṣafḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-ḥ, "a broad surface; the face" (Lane). Ṣafḥa is a broad face: a page.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣafḥa
- Say it: ṣafḥa, once more
- Say it: say ṣafḥa
- Recall: say the Arabic for a calculator, then the Arabic for a pencil case, then say ṣafḥa again

Before you move on

What does صفحة mean? ("A page".) Say it once more.

282.4 جملة (jumla) — a sentence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pencil case, then the Arabic for a page.

You'll want to know: جملة

جملة — jumla — "a sentence".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جملة (jumla) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-l, "to collect" (Lane). Jumla is a sum, a whole: a sentence.

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: jumla
- Say it: jumla, once more
- Say it: say jumla
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pencil case, then the Arabic for a page, then say jumla again

Before you move on

What does جملة mean? ("A sentence".) Say it once more.

282.5 حلاق (ḥallāq) — a barber

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a page, then the Arabic for a sentence.

You'll want to know: حلاق

حلاق — ḥallāq — "a barber".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حلاق (ḥallāq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-q, "to shave" (Lane). Ḥallāq is the fa^{cc}āl trade noun, "barber".

What you've built

One more word for this chapter.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥallāq
- Say it: ḥallāq, once more
- Say it: say ḥallāq
- Recall: say the Arabic for a page, then the Arabic for a sentence, then say ḥallāq again

Before you move on

What does حلاق mean? ("A barber".) Say it once more.

282.6 Words from chapters 278-279 — a first pass

Say the words for a sentence and a barber.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a kettle, a tray, a strainer, a ladle, a barrel
- a rectangle, a coat hanger, a sponge, a tape, glue

Before you move on

A kettle? (غلاية, ghallāya.) A tray? (صينية, ṣīniyya.) A strainer? (مصفاة, miṣfāh.) A ladle? (مغرفة, mighrafa.) A barrel? (برميل, barmīl.) A rectangle? (مستطيل, mustaṭīl.) A coat hanger? (مشجب, mishjab.) A sponge? (إسفنجة, isfanja.) A tape? (شريط, sharīṭ.) Glue? (غراء, ghirāʾ.)

282.7 Words from chapters 280-282 — a second pass

Say the words for a client and an engineer.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a client, an engineer, a lawyer, a pilot, a pharmacist
- a number, a phone call, information, a presenter, an actor
- a calculator, a pencil case, a page, a sentence, a barber

Before you move on

A client? (عميل, ᶜamīl.) An engineer? (مهندس, muhandis.) A lawyer? (محامي, muḥāmī.) A pilot? (طيار, ṭayyār.) A pharmacist? (صيدلي, ṣaydalī.) A number? (رقم, raqm.) A phone call? (مكالمة, mukālama.) Information? (معلومات, maᶜlūmāt.) A presenter? (مذيع, mudhīᶜ.) An actor? (ممثل, mumaththil.) A calculator? (حاسبة, ḥāsiba.) A pencil case? (مقلمة, miqlama.) A page? (صفحة, ṣafḥa.) A sentence? (جملة, jumla.) A barber? (حلاق, ḥallāq.)

Chapter 283

The Past, Person By Person

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say what I do now and what I did, for every person, and paint the scene of a story with kāna and the present.
>
> Complete AR-R283-the-past-person-by-person: a scene with kāna and the present, and the event that cut into it, joined with ḥīnamā.

283.1 يكتب (yaktubu) — the present, for everyone

Say "I write". (Aktub.) Then say the Arabic for a sentence and a barber. (Jumla, ḥallāq.)

Chapter thirty-seven gave you the present for one person only: أ at the front means I. A story needs he, she and we as well, and they come from the same front door.

Grammar Lens: one stem, four prefixes

Keep the stem -ktub- and change the letter in front of it:

> أكتب aktubu, I write · تكتب taktubu, you write · يكتب yaktubu, he writes · تكتب taktubu, she writes · نكتب naktubu, we write

Ta- does two jobs: "you" said to a man, and "she". The sentence around it tells them apart. Said to a woman, "you write" adds -īna at the back, taktubīna; "they write" adds -ūna, yaktubūna, and so does "you write" said to several people, taktubūna.

The -u at the end is the present's own vowel. At the end of a sentence it is usually dropped, which is why chapter thirty-seven wrote aktub; inside a sentence you will hear it.

Grammar Lens: the same door on other verbs

هي تكتب رسالة. — hiya taktubu risāla — She is writing a letter.

نحن نذهب إلى المدرسة. — naḥnu nadhhabu ilā al-madrasa — We go to school.

Dhahaba gives nadhhabu; qaraʾa gives yaqraʾu, he reads. One present covers "I write" and "I am writing"; English splits what Arabic keeps as one. Anā is "I", huwa "he", hiya "she", naḥnu "we", and they are often left out, because the prefix already says who.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- aktubu, taktubu, yaktubu, naktubu
- "She is writing a letter" — hiya taktubu risāla
- "He reads a book" — yaqraʾu kitāban
- "We go to school" — nadhhabu ilā al-madrasa
- "The actor reads", with the word from chapter two hundred and eighty-one — al-mumaththil yaqraʾu

Before you move on

Which letter at the front means we? (ن, na-.) And he? (ي, ya-.) Why can تكتب mean two people? (Ta- is "you" and "she": the sentence decides.) Where is the -u dropped? (At the end of a sentence.)

283.2 كتبت (katabtu) — the past, person by person

Say "we write", then "he writes". (Naktubu, yaktubu.)

You have said qaḍaytu al-ᶜuṭla fī al-qarya, "I spent the holiday in the village". That -tu at the back is "I" in the past. Here is the rest of the set.

Grammar Lens: the endings at the back

Kataba, he wrote, is the bare past. Every other person is an ending on the same stem, katab-:

> كتبتُ katabtu, I wrote · كتبتَ katabta, you wrote (to a man) · كتبتِ katabti, you wrote (to a woman) · كتبَ kataba, he wrote · كتبتْ katabat, she wrote · كتبنا katabnā, we wrote · كتبوا katabū, they wrote · كتبتم katabtum, you wrote (to several)

The present put the person at the front; the past puts it at the back. Without its vowel marks, كتبت spells four of these at once: katabtu, katabta, katabti and katabat. That is why they carry marks here, and why, on an unmarked page, the rest of the sentence tells you who wrote.

Grammar Lens: other verbs, and "did not"

> جدتي إلى رسالة كتبت أمس. — ams katabtu risālatan ilā jaddatī — Yesterday I wrote a letter to my grandmother.
>
> السوق إلى ذهبنا. — dhahabnā ilā as-sūq — We went to the market.

Qaraʾa gives qaraʾtu, I read; dhahaba gives dhahabat, she went. The ا at the end of كتبوا is written and not said.
ما in front makes it "did not": mā katabtu, I didn't write; mā dhahabnā, we didn't go.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- katabtu, katabta, katabti, kataba, katabat, katabnā, katabū
- "Yesterday I wrote a letter" — ams katabtu risālatan
- "We went to the market", then "we didn't go" — dhahabnā ilā as-sūq, mā dhahabnā
- "They came back to the house" — raja^{c}ū ilā al-manzil
- "The engineer read the letter" — al-muhandis qara^{ʾ}a ar-risāla

Before you move on

Where does the past mark the person? (At the back.) "She wrote"? (Katabat.) "We wrote"? (Katabnā.) How many persons can an unmarked كتبت be? (Four: katabtu, katabta, katabti, katabat.) "I didn't go"? (Mā dhahabtu.)

283.3 كان (kāna) — was

Say "I wrote" and "she wrote". (Katabtu, katabat.)

Now say "I am at the office". (Anā fī al-maktab.) There is no "am" in it: in the present, Arabic sets the two halves side by side. In the past it cannot, and it needs a verb.

You'll want to know: كان

كان — kāna — "he was, it was": the past of "to be".

أمس المكتب في كنت. — kuntu fī al-maktab ams — I was at the office yesterday.

القرية في جدتي كانت. — kānat jaddatī fī al-qarya — My grandmother was in the village.

It takes the endings of the lesson before, with one change. Where the ending starts with a consonant, the long ā shrinks to u: kuntu, I was; kunta, kunti, you were; kunnā, we were. Where it does not, the ā stays: kāna, kānat, kānū, they were.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كان (kāna) is built on the native Arabic root k-w-n, "to be, to come into being" (Lane). Lane lists makāna, "a place of being", among the words of the same root. The w of the root is the reason for the two shapes: it surfaces as long ā in kāna and as short u in kuntu.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- kāna, kānat — then kuntu, kunnā
- "I was at the office yesterday" — kuntu fī al-maktab ams
- "We were in the restaurant" — kunnā fī al-maṭᶜam
- "My grandmother was in the village" — kānat jaddatī fī al-qarya

Before you move on

What does كان mean? ("He was; it was".) "I was"? (Kuntu, with a short u.) "She was"? (Kānat, with a long ā.) Why does the present not need it? (Arabic sets the two halves side by side.)

283.4 يكتب كان (kāna yaktubu) — the past that is still running

Say "I was at the office", then "I wrote". (Kuntu fī al-maktab, katabtu.)

Katabtu has an edge: the writing happened, and it is over. A story also needs a past with no edge on it.

Grammar Lens: kāna in front of the present

Put kāna in its past form, then the present of the verb you mean, both for the same person:

> kuntu + aktubu → أكتب كنت — kuntu aktubu — I was writing; I used to write

So kānat taqraʾu, she was reading; kunnā nadhhabu, we used to go. It answers two English shapes. “Was -ing”: the action was under way. “Used to”: it happened again and again.

> يوم كل المدرسة إلى أمشي كنت. — kuntu amshī ilā al-madrasa kulla yawm — I used to walk to school every day.

Mā goes in front of kāna: mā kuntu aᶜrifu, I didn’t know.

Grammar Lens: the scene, and the event

A told story splits its verbs in two. Kāna with the present paints the scene: what was going on. The plain past drops the events into it: what happened.

> صديقي اتصل حينما كتابا أقرأ كنت. — kuntu aqraʾu kitāban ḥīnamā ittaṣala ṣadīqī — I was reading a book when my friend phoned.

The reading is scene, still running when the call cuts into it. The call is an event, over in a moment, and ḥīnamā is the joint between them.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- kuntu aktubu, kānat taktubu, kunnā naktubu
- “I used to walk to school every day” — kuntu amshī ilā al-madrasa kulla yawm
- kuntu aqraʾu kitāban ḥīnamā ittaṣala ṣadīqī
- “I didn’t know” — mā kuntu aᶜrifu
- “She was reading a page” — kānat taqraʾu ṣafḥa

Before you move on

How do you build “I was writing”? (Kuntu + aktubu: kuntu aktubu.) In the phone sentence, which verb is the scene? (Kuntu aqraʾu, still running.) Which is the event? (Ittaṣala, over in a moment.) Do both verbs agree with the person? (Yes: kunnā naktubu.)

283.5 Review — the scene, and what cut into it

Say "he writes" for today, then "he wrote" for yesterday. (Yaktubu, kataba.) Then the Arabic for a calculator and a pencil case. (Ḥāsiba, miqlama.)

What you've built

Four lessons, one stem, and three shapes of it. The present marks the person at the front: aktubu, taktubu, yaktubu, naktubu. The past marks it at the back: katabtu, katabat, katabnā, katabū. And kāna in front of the present gives the past that is still running: kuntu aktubu.
Al-māḍī sets the time:

> الماضي الأسبوع المكتب في أعمل كنت. — kuntu aᶜmalu fī al-maktab al-usbūᶜa al-māḍī — Last week I was working at the office.

And ḥīnamā joins the scene to the event that cut into it:

> أخوها جاء حينما قصة تكتب كانت. — kānat taktubu qiṣṣa ḥīnamā jāʾa akhūhā — She was writing a story when her brother came.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a scene in two — kuntu fī al-maktab. kuntu aktubu.
- "Last week I was working at the office" — kuntu aᶜmalu fī al-maktab al-usbūᶜa al-māḍī
- kānat taktubu qiṣṣa ḥīnamā jāʾa akhūhā
- "The pilot was waiting", then "the presenter came" — kāna aṭ-ṭayyār yantaẓiru, jāʾa al-mudhīᶜ

- one of your own: kuntu with a present, then ḥīnamā and one thing that happened

Before you move on

After ḥīnamā in a story, which past? (The plain one, the event: jāʾa.) Which past paints the scene? (Kāna with the present.) "We were"? (Kunnā.) "Last week"? (Al-usbūᶜ al-māḍī.)

Chapter 284

A Story, In Order

Modes: voice (4) eyes (1) Hands-free start: the first 3 of 5 lessons.

By the end of this chapter: I can tell a short story about something that happened, in order, and read one of about eighty words.

Complete AR-R284-a-story-in-order: a short story told aloud in order, with awwalan, thumma, ᶜindamā and fī an-nihāya.

284.1 أولا، ثم، بعد ذلك (awwalan, thumma, baᶜda dhālika) — first, then, after that

Say "we went", "we ate", "we came back". (Dhahabnā, akalnā, rajaᶜnā.)

Three events in a row are a list. A few small words turn them into a story, and you already own most of them.

Grammar Lens: first, then, after that

Awwalan opens the first step. Thumma moves to the next, with a little time between. Baᶜda dhālika, "after that", is baᶜda with dhālika, "that", the same dhālika that sits inside li-dhālika.

أولا ذهبنا إلى السوق، ثم أكلنا في مطعم، وبعد ذلك رجعنا إلى الفندق.
— awwalan dhahabnā ilā as-sūq, thumma akalnā fī maṭᶜam, wa-baᶜda dhālika rajaᶜnā ilā al-funduq — First we went to the market, then we ate in a restaurant, and after that we went back to the hotel.

Each joiner stands at the head of its own step, and each step has its own past verb.

Grammar Lens: closing the story

في النهاية — fī an-nihāya — "in the end". Nihāya is "an end", from the root of intahā, "to end".

> في النهاية وجدت المفتاح. — fī an-nihāya wajadtu al-miftāḥ — In the end I found the key.

Akhīran, "at last", closes a story too, and it usually carries relief: the thing you were waiting for came.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- awwalan … thumma … baᶜda dhālika … fī an-nihāya
- "First we went to the market" — awwalan dhahabnā ilā as-sūq
- "then we ate in a restaurant" — thumma akalnā fī maṭᶜam
- "and after that we went back to the hotel" — wa-baᶜda dhālika rajaᶜnā ilā al-funduq
- "In the end I found the key" — fī an-nihāya wajadtu al-miftāḥ

Before you move on

"After that"? (Baᶜda dhālika.) "In the end"? (Fī an-nihāya.) Which root does nihāya share with "to end"? (N-h-y, as in intahā.) Which closer often carries relief? (Akhīran, at last.)

284.2 حكى (ḥakā) — to tell a story

Say "first", "then", "after that". (Awwalan, thumma, baᶜda dhālika.) And the Arabic for a story. (Qiṣṣa.)

You can put a story in order now. This is the verb for handing it on.

You'll want to know: حكى

حكى — ḥakā — "he told (a story)", "to tell, to relate".

> جميلة قصة جدتي حكت. — ḥakat jaddatī qiṣṣatan jamīla — My grandmother told a lovely story.

It ends like qaḍā, and it bends the same way: ḥakaytu, I told, as qaḍaytu, I spent. The present is yaḥkī, he tells, and with kāna in front, kānat taḥkī, she used to tell.

Qāla reports what somebody said; ḥakā passes on a whole story, a piece of news or something that happened.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حكى (ḥakā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-y, "to relate, to narrate; to imitate" (Lane). Lane gives both senses side by side: to tell a story is to say again what was said or done, and to imitate is to do again what someone did.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ḥakā, then ḥakaytu and ḥakat
- "My grandmother told a lovely story" — ḥakat jaddatī qiṣṣatan jamīla
- "She used to tell a story every day" — kānat taḥkī qiṣṣatan kulla yawm
- "He said", then "he told a story" — qāla, ḥakā qiṣṣa

Before you move on

What does حكى mean? ("To tell a story".) "I told"? (Ḥakaytu, like qaḍaytu.) "He tells"? (Yaḥkī.) What else can the root mean, in Lane? (To imitate.)

284.3 عندما (ᶜindamā) — when, in a story

Say "she told a story". (Ḥakat qiṣṣa.) Then say ḥīnamā jāʾa, kataba, "when he came, he wrote".

Ḥīnamā has a twin that you will hear far more often in a story.

Grammar Lens: ᶜindamā and the past

عندما — ᶜindamā — "when". It is ᶜinda, "at", with mā after it, as ḥīnamā is ḥīna, "time", with mā. Put a past verb after it, and the clause names the moment the next event hangs on:

> بزوجتي اتصلت المطار، إلى وصلنا عندما. — ᶜindamā waṣalnā ilā al-maṭār, ittaṣaltu bi-zawjatī — When we arrived at the airport, I phoned my wife.

The ᶜindamā clause can follow as well: ittaṣaltu bi-zawjatī ᶜindamā waṣalnā. Either way, the arrival comes first and the call second.

Grammar Lens: one event after another

Baᶜda means "after" before a noun: baᶜda al-ᶜashāʾ, after dinner. Before a whole clause it takes an, "that", and the past:

> خرجنا أكلنا، أن بعد. — baᶜda an akalnā, kharajnā — After we had eaten, we went out.

So a story can be ordered two ways: by joiners, awwalan … thumma, or by clauses, ᶜindamā and baᶜda an. Good stories mix them.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ᶜindamā waṣalnā ilā al-maṭār, ittaṣaltu bi-zawjatī
- the same two events the other way round — ittaṣaltu bi-zawjatī ᶜindamā waṣalnā
- "After dinner", then "after we had eaten" — baᶜda al-ᶜashāʾ, baᶜda an akalnā
- baᶜda an akalnā, kharajnā, wa-fī an-nihāya rajaᶜnā

Before you move on

Which two pieces make ᶜindamā? (ᶜInda and mā.) Its twin? (Ḥīnamā.) What does baᶜda take before a clause? (An, then the past.) In ᶜindamā waṣalnā, ittaṣaltu, which came first? (The arrival.)

284.4 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts

Chapter forty-two gave you a whole encounter to read: a greeting, a choice and a goodbye. This passage is a story, eighty-two words long, and it happened last summer.

Every word in it was taught before this lesson.

Read this

البحر من قريبة صغيرة قرية إلى صديقي مع سافرت الماضي الصيف في.
السمك أكلنا ثم .الفندق إلى أولا ذهبنا وصلنا، عندما .جميلا الطقس كان
البحر في سبحنا ذلك وبعد .لذيذا الطعام وكان صغير، مطعم في.

كنت .طويلة قصة يحكي صديقي وكان الشاي، نشرب كنا المساء في
أن بعد .أمطرت عندما القرية في نمشي كنا مرة ذات .وأضحك أستمع
القهوة وشربنا قرأنا الفندق، إلى رجعنا.

حكيت المنزل، إلى وصلت وعندما .المدينة إلى بالقطار رجعنا النهاية في
جدا وجميلة قصيرة الرحلة كانت .لجدتي القصة.

Read it once without stopping. Do not translate as you go; let the sentences arrive.
Then read it a second time and sort every verb into one of two piles: the scene, or what happened.

Why it's said this way

The events: sāfartu, waṣalnā, dhahabnā, akalnā, sabaḥnā, amṭarat, rajaᶜnā, qaraʾnā, ḥakaytu. Each one happened and was over, and awwalan, thumma, baᶜda dhālika and fī an-nihāya keep them in order. The scene: the weather, the good food, the tea in the evening. Kāna paints it, and so does kāna with the present: kunnā nashrabu, kāna ṣadīqī yaḥkī, kuntu astamiᶜu. After kāna an adjective takes -an: jamīlan, ladhīdhan. Chapter two hundred and eighty-nine comes back to that.

In the rain, both pasts meet: kunnā namshī, the walk still running, and ᶜindamā amṭarat, the rain that cut into it.

Your turn

- Say it: the passage aloud, once, without stopping

Before you move on

How many words in that passage were new? (None.)
Why is kunnā namshī built with kāna? (The walk was still going on when the rain came: it is scene.)
Who heard the story at the end? (The grandmother: ḥakaytu al-qiṣṣa li-jaddatī.)

284.5 Review — a story, in order

Say "I was reading", then "I was at the office". (Kuntu aqraʾu, kuntu fī al-maktab.) And the Arabic for a page. (Ṣafḥa.)

What you've built

Four lessons, and a story has its order. Joiners at the head of each step: awwalan, thumma, baᶜda dhālika, fī an-nihāya. Clauses that name the moment: ᶜindamā with the past, and baᶜda an with the past. And ḥakā, to hand the whole thing on.
One small story, in four steps:

> القصة حكيت رجعت، عندما .رسالة كتبت ثم المكتب، إلى ذهبت أولا لصديقي. — awwalan dhahabtu ilā al-maktab, thumma katabtu risāla. ᶜindamā rajaᶜtu, ḥakaytu al-qiṣṣa li-ṣadīqī — First I went to the office, then I wrote a letter. When I came back, I told my friend the story.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- awwalan dhahabtu ilā al-maktab, thumma katabtu risāla
- ᶜindamā rajaᶜtu, ḥakaytu al-qiṣṣa li-ṣadīqī
- "After the client came, the pharmacist phoned" — baᶜda an jāʾa al-ᶜamīl, ittaṣala aṣ-ṣaydalī
- the trip to the sea in three steps: where you went first, what you did then, how it ended
- one scene line for it — kāna aṭ-ṭaqs jamīlan

Before you move on

"After that"? (Baᶜda dhālika.) "When we arrived", in a story? (ᶜIndamā waṣalnā.) "After we had eaten"? (Baᶜda an akalnā.) "I told the story"? (Ḥakaytu al-qiṣṣa.)

Chapter 285

What I Think, And So

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) ✓ pen (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first 3 of 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask a question, give my opinion, and say what followed from a reason.
>
> Complete AR-R285-opinion-and-so: an opinion with fī raʾyī or aᶜtaqidu anna, its reason with li-anna, and its result with li-dhālika or fa-.

285.1 رأي (raʾy) — an opinion

Tell a two-step story: "first I read, then I wrote". (Awwalan qaraʾtu, thumma katabtu.) Then "I told the story when he came". (Ḥakaytu al-qiṣṣa ᶜindamā jāʾa.)

A story says what happened. The next node asks what you think about it, and why.

You'll want to know: رأي

رأي — raʾy — "an opinion, a view".

> ما رأيك في الفيلم؟ — mā raʾyuka fī al-film? — What do you think of the film?
>
> في رأيي، الفيلم مفيد. — fī raʾyī, al-film mufīd — In my opinion, the film is useful.

Raʾyī is "my opinion", with the -ī of "my". Raʾyuka is "your opinion" to a man; to a woman it is raʾyuki. Fī, "in", says what the opinion is about.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رأي (raʾy) is built on the native Arabic root r-a-y, "to see" (Lane): the root of raʾā, "he saw", from chapter twenty-nine. Lane gives raʾā fī al-amr raʾyan for forming a view of a matter. An opinion, in Arabic, is what you see in something.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- raʾy, with the catch in the middle — raʾ-y
- "What do you think of the film?" — mā raʾyuka fī al-fīlm?
- "In my opinion, the book is useful" — fī raʾyī, al-kitāb mufīd
- the same question to a woman, about a sentence — mā raʾyuki fī al-jumla?

Before you move on

What does رأي mean? ("An opinion".) "In my opinion"? (Fī raʾyī.) Which verb shares its root? (Raʾā, he saw.)

285.2 أن أعتقد (a^{c}taqidu anna) — I think that

Say "in my opinion". (Fī raʾyī.) Then say aktub anna Sāmī jārī, "I write that Sami is my neighbour".

Anna hangs a whole sentence on a verb. Hang it on a verb of thinking, and you can give an opinion.

Grammar Lens: a^{c}taqidu anna, aẓunnu anna

I^{c}taqada, to believe, from chapter one hundred and sixty-four, has the present a^{c}taqidu, I believe, I think. Put anna after it:

> أعتقد أن الامتحان صعب. — a^{c}taqidu anna al-imtiḥāna ṣa^{c}b — I think the exam is hard.

The noun after anna takes -a: al-imtiḥāna. With "it" the pronoun joins anna itself: a^{c}taqidu annahu ṣa^{c}b, I think it's hard.

أن أظن — aẓunnu anna — is "I suppose", a little less sure: aẓunnu anna al-qiṭāra sarīᶜ, I suppose the train is fast.

Grammar Lens: agreeing and not

For "I don't think so", put lā in front and dhālika, "that", after: لا أعتقد ذلك — lā aᶜtaqidu dhālika.

> — mā raʾyuka fī al-film? — aᶜtaqidu annahu mumtāz. — lā aᶜtaqidu dhālika!

Three ways to start an opinion, then: fī raʾyī, aᶜtaqidu anna, aẓunnu anna. English drops its "that"; Arabic keeps anna.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I think the exam is hard" — aᶜtaqidu anna al-imtiḥāna ṣaᶜb
- "I think it's excellent" — aᶜtaqidu annahu mumtāz
- "I suppose the train is fast" — aẓunnu anna al-qiṭāra sarīᶜ
- "I don't think so" — lā aᶜtaqidu dhālika
- "I think the lawyer is here" — aᶜtaqidu anna al-muḥāmiya hunā

Before you move on

"I think that"? (Aᶜtaqidu anna.) The less sure one? (Aẓunnu anna.) What happens to the noun after anna? (It takes *-a: al-imtiḥāna.) "I don't think so"? (Lā aᶜtaqidu dhālika.)

285.3 سؤال (suʾāl) — a question

Say "I think that", then "he asked". (Aᶜtaqidu anna, saʾala.)

Before an opinion there is often a question. Here is the noun for it.

You'll want to know: سؤال

سؤال — suʾāl — "a question".

سؤال عندي. — ᶜindī suʾāl — I have a question.

ᶜIndī, "at me", is how Arabic says "I have". The answer to a question is jawāb, from chapter seventy-four, and the two make a pair: suʾāl wa-jawāb, question and answer.

Say it su-ʾāl, with the catch before the long ā: the same catch as in the middle of saʾala.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سؤال (suʾāl) is built on the native Arabic root s-a-l, "to ask" (Lane), the root of saʾala, "he asked". Lane gives suʾāl as "a question", the counterpart of jawāb. The catch in the middle is the root's own middle letter, a hamza. In saʾala it sits on ا. Here the vowel before it is u, and it is written on a different seat, which the next lesson puts in your hand.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- suʾāl, slowly, with the catch — su-ʾāl
- "I have a question" — ᶜindī suʾāl
- "question and answer" — suʾāl wa-jawāb
- "I think the question is easy" — aᶜtaqidu anna as-suʾāla sahl

Before you move on

What does سؤال mean? ("A question".) Which verb shares its root? (Saʾala, he asked.) What is its partner? (Jawāb, an answer.)

285.4 ؤ (hamza on waw) — the catch inside سؤال

Before the new one: write ء and و once each, and name them.

Now say سؤال (suʾāl), "a question". You met it a moment ago. This lesson takes its catch out and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ؤ

ؤ — hamza on a wāw seat, the glottal catch written ʾ in this book's romanization.

It is the second letter of سؤال, between س and ا. It is two pieces: a و below, the seat, and the small hamza mark riding on top of it. Like a plain و, it takes the hand of س on its right and does not join to the letter after it, so a gap opens before ال.

The seat does not change the sound. أ, ء and ؤ all say the same catch; the seat follows the vowels around it, and here the u before it calls for و.

Writing: ؤ

Put your pen on ؤ and follow its line. Write the و first, then add the hamza above it. Copy the shape you can see — slowly, and larger than it is printed.

> This book does not yet tell you where to start this character or which way to travel. It is not written down here until it can be written down with a source. Copying what is in front of you needs no such source, and it is how the shape gets into your hand in the meantime.

Your turn

- Find: the seat and the mark of ؤ inside سؤال
- Trace it: ؤ three times, saying the catch as you finish each one
- Write it: سؤ, joined, then the gap, then ال
- Write it: سؤال whole, then سأل beside it: one catch, two seats
- Read it: سؤال aloud once more

Before you move on

What is this — ؤ? (Hamza on a wāw seat, a catch.) Which word did it come from? (سؤال, suʾāl, "a question".) Does the seat change the sound? (No: only the spelling.)

285.5 فـ لذلك، (li-dhālika, fa-) — so

Say "I have a question". (ᶜIndī suʾāl.) Then "because". (Li-anna.)

Li-anna puts the reason after the claim. A story often wants the opposite order: first the reason, then what came of it.

Grammar Lens: li-dhālika, after the reason

متعبا كنت لأنني مبكرا نمت. — nimtu mubakkiran li-annanī kuntu mutᶜaban — I went to bed early because I was tired.

مبكرا نمت لذلك متعبا، كنت. — kuntu mutᶜaban, li-dhālika nimtu mubakkiran — I was tired, so I went to bed early.

The same two facts. With li-anna the claim comes first; with li-dhālika, "therefore, so", the reason comes first and the result follows. The -an on mutᶜaban after kuntu is kāna's doing; chapter two hundred and eighty-nine comes back to it.

Grammar Lens: fa-, the short "so"

فـ — fa- — does the same job in one letter. Like wa-, it is written onto the next word, with no space:

الحافلة فأخذنا القطار، تأخر. — taʾakhkhara al-qiṭār, fa-akhadhnā al-ḥāfila — The train was late, so we took the bus.

Wa- adds the next thing; fa- says the next thing came of the first. Li-dhālika is the heavier of the two, and it suits a reason that needs weight: kāna al-imtiḥān ṣaᶜban, li-dhālika qaraʾtu kathīran, the exam was hard, so I read a lot.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- nimtu mubakkiran li-annanī kuntu mutᶜaban
- the same facts the other way — kuntu mutᶜaban, li-dhālika nimtu mubakkiran

- "The train was late, so we took the bus" — taʾakhkhara al-qiṭār, fa-akhadhnā al-ḥāfila
- an opinion and its result — aᶜtaqidu anna al-imtiḥāna ṣaᶜb, li-dhālika aqraʾu kathīran

Before you move on

After li-anna, what comes? (The reason.) After li-dhālika? (The result.) The one-letter "so"? (فـ, fa-, written onto the next word.) What do li-anna and li-dhālika share? (Li-, for.)

285.6 Review — an opinion, its reason and what came of it

Retell the trip to the sea in three steps, with awwalan, thumma and fī an-nihāya. Then say how it ended, with ᶜindamā: ᶜindamā waṣaltu, ḥakaytu al-qiṣṣa. And one step with baᶜda an: baᶜda an akalnā, sabaḥnā.

What you've built

Four lessons, and an opinion has its parts. A question to open it: عندي سؤال, ᶜindī suʾāl. Three ways to start it: fī raʾyī, aᶜtaqidu anna, aẓunnu anna. A reason after the claim, with li-anna; a result after the reason, with li-dhālika or fa-.
All of it in one breath:

> كثيرا أحكيها لذلك جميلة، القصة رأيي في. — fī raʾyī al-qiṣṣa jamīla, li-dhālika aḥkīhā kathīran — In my opinion the story is lovely, so I tell it often.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "What do you think of the story?" — mā raʾyuka fī al-qiṣṣa?
- "I think the number is right" — aᶜtaqidu anna ar-raqma ṣaḥīḥ

- "The information was useful, so I wrote it" — kānat al-maᶜlūmāt mufīdatan, fa-katabtuhā
- an opinion of your own, its reason with li-anna, and a result with li-dhālika

Before you move on

"In my opinion"? (Fī raʾyī.) "I have a question"? (ᶜIndī suʾāl.) Which seat carries the hamza in سؤال? (.و) The one-letter "so"? (Fa-.)

Chapter 286

Must, Should, Will, Because

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say what I want, must or ought to do, give reasons for my opinions and plans, and say what I will and will not do.
>
> Complete AR-R286-advice-and-reasons: a plan and a piece of advice with the subjunctive, and the reasons for both.

286.1 أن أذهب (an adhhaba) — to go: the verb after an

Say "I think that the exam is hard". (Aᶜtaqidu anna al-imtiḥāna ṣaᶜb.) Then "in my opinion". (Fī raʾyī.)

You have said anwī an azūra jaddatī, "I intend to visit my grandmother". Listen to the end of azūra. It is not the azūru of "I visit", and this lesson says why.

Grammar Lens: -u becomes -a

After أن — an, "to", "that" before a verb — the present changes its last vowel. Adhhabu, I go, becomes an adhhaba, to go:

> أريد أن أذهب إلى السوق. — urīdu an adhhaba ilā as-sūq — I want to go to the market.

This shape of the present is the subjunctive: the verb for a thing wanted, planned or needed, not yet a fact. Urīdu, I want, is the present of arāda.

Where the present ends in -ūna or -īna, the -na falls away: yadhhabūna, they go, becomes an yadhhabū; tadhhabīna, you go (to a woman), becomes an tadhhabī.

Grammar Lens: an and anna

> بالقطار نسافر أن قررنا. — qarrarnā an nusāfira bi-l-qiṭār —
> We decided to travel by train.

An takes a verb: what someone wants or decides to do. Anna, with the doubled n, takes a sentence: what someone thinks is so. A^{c}taqidu anna al-qiṭāra sarī^{c}; urīdu an arkaba al-qiṭār.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- adhhabu … an adhhaba
- "I want to go to the market" — urīdu an adhhaba ilā as-sūq
- "We decided to travel by train" — qarrarnā an nusāfira bi-l-qiṭār
- "They want to go" — yurīdūna an yadhhabū
- anwī an azūra jaddatī, and hear the -a

Before you move on

After an, what happens to -u? (It becomes *-a: an adhhaba.) And to -ūna? (The -na falls away: an yadhhabū.) Which particle takes a verb, and which a sentence? (An a verb, anna a sentence.)

286.2 أن يجب (yajibu an) — must, should

Say "I want to go". (Urīdu an adhhaba.) Then the Arabic for homework, a duty. (Wājib.)

Wanting is one reason to act. Having to is another, and a piece of advice is a third.

Grammar Lens: yajibu an, it is necessary

يجب — yajibu — "it is necessary". It does not change for the person. The person is in the verb after an, in the subjunctive:

> الآن أذهب أن يجب. — yajibu an adhhaba al-ān — I must go now.

So yajibu an tadhhaba, you must go; yajibu an nadhhaba, we must go. Put kāna in front for "had to": kāna yajibu an adhhaba, I had to go. Yajibu comes from the root of wājib, "a duty". The root's w drops in the present, as it does in yaṣilu, he arrives, from waṣala.

Grammar Lens: yanbaghī an, you ought to ينبغي — yanbaghī — "it is right, it is fitting". It is softer than yajibu: advice, not an order.

> الطبيب تزور أن ينبغي. — yanbaghī an tazūra aṭ-ṭabīb — You ought to visit the doctor.

Yanbaghī an tastarīḥa, you should rest. The verb after it behaves exactly as after yajibu.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I must go now" — yajibu an adhhaba al-ān
- "We must go" — yajibu an nadhhaba
- "I had to go" — kāna yajibu an adhhaba
- "You ought to visit the doctor" — yanbaghī an tazūra aṭ-ṭabīb
- advice with a reason — fī raʾyī yanbaghī an tastarīḥa, li-annaka marīḍ

Before you move on

Does yajibu change for the person? (No: the verb after an does.) The softer one, for advice? (Yanbaghī.) "I had to go"? (Kāna yajibu an adhhaba.) Which noun shares the root of yajibu? (Wājib, a duty.)

286.3 بسبب (bi-sabab) — because of

Say "I must go now". (Yajibu an adhhaba al-ān.) Then ask "why?". (Limādhā?)

The answer can be a whole sentence, or a single thing. Arabic uses a different word for each.

Grammar Lens: a thing, or a sentence

بسبب — bi-sabab — "because of". It is bi-, "by", with sabab, "a reason", and a noun follows it:

> المطر بسبب تأخرت. — taʾakhkhartu bi-sabab al-maṭar — I was late because of the rain.

Where the reason is a whole sentence, with its own verb, it takes li-anna:

> مزدحما كان الطريق لأن تأخرت. — taʾakhkhartu li-anna aṭ-ṭarīqa kāna muzdaḥiman — I was late because the road was busy.

So bi-sabab al-maṭar, a thing; li-anna aṭ-ṭarīqa kāna muzdaḥiman, a sentence.

Grammar Lens: the reason is that

To give the reason as an answer of its own, say أن هو السبب — as-sababu huwa anna — "the reason is that". Huwa, "he, it", stands where English has "is":

> تأخر القطار أن هو السبب. — as-sababu huwa anna al-qiṭāra taʾakhkhara — The reason is that the train was late.

Natīja, "a result", is its partner: as-sabab looks back, an-natīja looks forward.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I was late because of the rain" — taʾakhkhartu bi-sabab al-maṭar
- "because the road was busy" — li-anna aṭ-ṭarīqa kāna muzdaḥiman
- "The reason is that the train was late" — as-sababu huwa anna al-qiṭāra taʾakhkhara
- a question and its answer — limādhā taʾakhkharta? … bi-sabab al-qiṭār

Before you move on

What follows bi-sabab? (A noun: bi-sabab al-maṭar.) What follows li-anna? (A sentence.) "The reason is that"? (As-sababu huwa anna.) Which word sits inside bi-sabab? (Sabab, a reason.)

286.4 سوف (sawfa) — will, for a plan

Say "because of the rain". (Bi-sabab al-maṭar.) Then "the reason is that". (As-sababu huwa anna.)

You have heard sa-usāfiru al-usbūᶜa al-qādim, "I will travel next week". Reasons are often reasons for a plan, and a plan needs a future.

Grammar Lens: sa- and sawfa

Arabic builds the future on the present. Put سـ — sa- — onto its front, with no space, or put سوف — sawfa — before it as a word of its own:

سأسافر غدا. — sa-usāfiru ghadan — I will travel tomorrow.

سوف نسافر في العطلة القادمة. — sawfa nusāfiru fī al-ᶜuṭla al-qādima — We will travel in the next holiday.

The two say the same "will". Sawfa is the fuller one, and it is often heard for something further off or said with weight.

Grammar Lens: lan, will not

For "will not", the sa- goes and لن — lan — takes its place. After lan the verb is in the subjunctive, as after an:

> لن أسافر في العطلة. — lan usāfira fī al-ᶜuṭla — I won't travel in the holiday.

Lan adhhaba, I won't go; lan nadhhaba, we won't go.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I will travel tomorrow" — sa-usāfiru ghadan
- "We will travel in the next holiday" — sawfa nusāfiru fī al-ᶜuṭla al-qādima
- "I won't go" — lan adhhaba
- a plan with its reason — sa-usāfiru li-anna ᶜindī waqtan
- the opposite — lan usāfira li-anna ᶜindī imtiḥānan

Before you move on

The short "will"? (سـ, sa-, joined to the verb.) The long one? (Sawfa.) "Will not"? (Lan, with the subjunctive: lan adhhaba.)

286.5 Review — a plan, some advice, and why

> Say "I have a question", then "I think that it is easy". (ᶜIndī suʾāl, aᶜtaqidu annahu sahl.) Then "so", the one-letter way. (Fa-.)

What you've built

Four lessons, and one vowel at the end of a verb. After an, after yajibu an and yanbaghī an, and after lan, the present ends in -a: the shape for a thing wanted, needed or refused, and not yet a fact. Sa- and sawfa keep the plain present. Bi-sabab gives a reason that is a thing, li-anna one that is a sentence.

A need and its reason in one breath:

> يجب أن أزور الطبيب غدا، لأن عندي سؤالا. — yajibu an azūra aṭ-ṭabība ghadan, li-anna ᶜindī suʾālan — I must visit the doctor tomorrow, because I have a question.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I want to travel", then "I won't travel" — urīdu an usāfira, lan usāfira
- "You ought to rest" — yanbaghī an tastarīḥa
- "The lawyer must come now" — yajibu an yajīʾa al-muḥāmī al-ān
- "The reason is that the calculator is not here" — as-sababu huwa anna al-ḥāsibata laysat hunā
- a plan of your own with sa-, and its reason with li-anna or bi-sabab

Before you move on

Which four words hand their verb the -a? (An, yajibu an, yanbaghī an, lan.) "I will go"? (Sa-adhhabu.) "Because of the rain"? (Bi-sabab al-maṭar.)

Chapter 287

Asking The Way

Modes: 🚗 voice (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can ask how to get somewhere and follow directions given as orders.
>
> Complete AR-R287-asking-the-way: ask the way with kayfa aṣilu ilā and give the answer as orders.

287.1 كيف أصل إلى (kayfa aṣilu ilā) — how do I get to ...?

Say "I will travel tomorrow". (Sa-usāfiru ghadan.) Then "I want to go to the market". (Urīdu an adhhaba ilā as-sūq.)

You are in a city you do not know. This is what you say to the first person who stops.

You'll want to know: كيف أصل إلى

كيف أصل إلى — kayfa aṣilu ilā — "how do I get to", word for word "how do I arrive at".

> من فضلك، كيف أصل إلى المحطة؟ — min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maḥaṭṭa? — Excuse me, how do I get to the station?

Aṣilu, I arrive, is the present of waṣala, and the root's w has dropped, as it did in yajibu. To a woman, say min faḍliki.

Grammar Lens: the questions around it

Two shorter questions often come with it. أين — ayna, "where": ayna al-maṯḥaf?, where is the museum? And هل with baᶜīd or qarīb: hal al-maṯḥaf baᶜīd?, is the museum far? The answer may be qarīb min hunā, near here, or baᶜīd jiddan, very far.
The answer to kayfa aṣilu is a set of orders, which the next lesson builds.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أصل (aṣilu) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to reach, to join" (Lane), the root of waṣala, "he arrived", and of ittaṣala, "he phoned", a call that joins two people. كيف (kayfa) and إلى (ilā) are small particles, not verbs or nouns built on a three-letter root.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maḥaṭṭa?
- the same, to a woman, for the museum — min faḍliki, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maṯḥaf?
- "Is the museum far?" — hal al-maṯḥaf baᶜīd?

Before you move on

"How do I get to the station?" (Kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maḥaṭṭa?) Which verb is inside aṣilu? (Waṣala, to arrive.) Which letter of its root has dropped? (The w.)

287.2 مستقيما اذهب (idhhab mustaqīman) — go straight on

Ask the way to the station. (Min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maḥaṭṭa?) Then ask someone to say it again. (Karrir min faḍlik.)

Karrir was an order. The answer to your question will be a string of them.

Grammar Lens: an order from the present

Start from "you do it": tadhhabu, you go. Take off the ta- and the final vowel, and -dhhab is left, which cannot open with two consonants. Arabic puts a short vowel in front: u- when the stem's vowel is u, and i- otherwise.

> tadhhabu → اذهب idhhab, go · ta^{c}buru → اعبر u^{c}bur, cross · takhruju → اخرج ukhruj, go out

To a woman, add -ī: idhhabī, u^{c}burī. One common order is short and irregular: خذ khudh, take, from akhadha; to a woman, khudhī.

Grammar Lens: the way, in orders

> اذهب مستقيما، ثم خذ الشارع الأول على اليمين. — idhhab mustaqīman, thumma khudh ash-shāri^{c}a al-awwala ^{c}alā al-yamīn — Go straight on, then take the first street on the right.
>
> اعبر الجسر، والمحطة على اليسار. — u^{c}bur al-jisr, wa-l-maḥaṭṭa ^{c}alā al-yasār — Cross the bridge, and the station is on the left.

Mustaqīman, with -an, says how you go. ^{c}Alā al-yamīn and ^{c}alā al-yasār say where a thing is. Thumma strings the steps together, as it did in a story.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- tadhhabu … idhhab; ta^{c}buru … u^{c}bur
- "Go straight on" — idhhab mustaqīman
- "Take the first street on the right" — khudh ash-shāri^{c}a al-awwala ^{c}alā al-yamīn
- "Cross the bridge", to a woman — u^{c}burī al-jisr
- the whole answer — idhhab mustaqīman, thumma u^{c}bur al-jisr, wa-l-maḥaṭṭa ^{c}alā al-yasār

Before you move on

Where does an order come from? (The present, with ta- taken off.) "Go"? (Idhhab.) "Take"? (Khudh, the short one.) "On the left"? (ᶜAlā al-yasār.) What do you add for a woman? (-ī: idhhabī.)

287.3 Review — asking the way, and following it

Say "I must go now" and "you ought to rest". (Yajibu an adhhaba al-ān, yanbaghī an tastarīḥa.) Then "I won't go, because of the rain". (Lan adhhaba, bi-sabab al-maṭar.)

What you've built

Two lessons, and both halves of a conversation in the street. Your half: min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā …?, with ayna and hal … baᶜīd? beside it. Their half: orders, the present with its ta- taken off, strung together with thumma.
One exchange, whole:

> — min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-funduq? — idhhab mustaqīman, thumma khudh ash-shāriᶜa al-awwala ᶜalā al-yasār. — hal huwa baᶜīd? — lā, qarīb min hunā.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "Excuse me, how do I get to the hotel?" — min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-funduq?
- "Where is the museum?" — ayna al-maṭḥaf?
- "Go straight on, then take the first street on the left"
- "The station is at the corner" — al-maḥaṭṭa ᶜinda az-zāwiya
- the way from your door to the centre of your own city, in three orders

Before you move on

"How do I get to …?" (Kayfa aṣilu ilā …?) "Cross"? (Uᶜbur.) "Take", to a woman? (Khudhī.) "On the right"? (ᶜAlā al-yamīn.)

Chapter 288

At The Station

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) ✓ pen (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first 2 of 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can buy a return ticket, report a missed train or a lost bag, and ask for the person in charge.
>
> Complete AR-R288-at-the-station: buy a return ticket, report a missed train, and ask for the person in charge.

288.1 وإياب ذهاب تذكرة (tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb) — a return ticket

> Give the way to the station in two orders. (Idhhab mustaqīman, thumma khudh ash-shāri^{c}a al-awwala ^{c}alā al-yamīn.)
>
> You are at the station now, at the counter, and the person behind the glass is waiting for you to speak.

You'll want to know: وإياب ذهاب تذكرة

وإياب ذهاب تذكرة — tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb — "a return ticket", word for word "a ticket of going and coming back".

> فضلك من وإياب، ذهاب تذكرة أريد. — urīdu tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb, min faḍlik — I'd like a return ticket, please.

Tadhkira ends in ة, and before the noun that follows it you hear its t: tadhkirat dhahāb. For one way only, say tadhkirat dhahāb faqaṭ, "a ticket of going only".

Grammar Lens: three questions at the counter

بكم التذكرة؟ — bi-kam at-tadhkira? — How much is the ticket?

من أي رصيف؟ — min ayyi raṣīf? — From which platform?

متى ينطلق القطار؟ — matā yanṭaliqu al-qiṭār? — When does the train leave?

Bi-kam is "for how much", ayy is "which", and matā is "when" in a question. Yanṭaliqu is the present of inṭalaqa, to set off.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذهاب (dhahāb) is the verbal noun of dhahaba, "to go", on the root dh-h-b. إياب (iyāb) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-w-b, "to return from a journey" (Lane), who gives iyāb among its verbal nouns and notes that a y has taken the place of the root's w. The pair rhymes, which is part of why it sticks.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I'd like a return ticket, please" — urīdu tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb, min faḍlik
- "one way only" — tadhkirat dhahāb faqaṭ
- "How much is the ticket?" — bi-kam at-tadhkira?
- "From which platform?", then "when does the train leave?"
- "I want to buy two tickets" — urīdu an ashtariya tadhkiratayn

Before you move on

"A return ticket"? (Tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb.) "One way"? (Tadhkirat dhahāb faqaṭ.) "How much?" (Bi-kam?) What does iyāb mean? (Coming back.)

288.2 طائرة (ṭāʾira) — a plane

Ask for a return ticket, then ask the price. (Urīdu tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb, bi-kam at-tadhkira?)

Say the Arabic for an airport and a pilot. (Maṭār, ṭayyār.) They share a root, and so does the thing between them.

You'll want to know: طائرة

طائرة — ṭāʾira — "a plane, an aeroplane".

وصلت متأخرة الطائرة. — waṣalat aṭ-ṭāʾira mutaʾakhkhira — The plane arrived late.

سافرنا بالطائرة. — sāfarnā bi-ṭ-ṭāʾira — We travelled by plane.

The verb takes the -at of "she": waṣalat. A word ending in ة is usually feminine, and so is the verb that goes with it.

Say it ṭā-ʾi-ra: the long ā, then the catch, then ira.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طائرة (ṭāʾira) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-y-r, "to fly" (Lane), the root of ṭāra, "it flew", maṭār, "an airport", and ṭayyār, "a pilot". Lane gives ṭāʾir as a flying thing, a bird, and notes that the feminine ṭāʾira is seldom used of a female bird; the sense "a plane" belongs to the age of planes. The catch in the middle is a hamza, on a seat the next lesson puts in your hand.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- ṭāʾira, slowly — ṭā-ʾi-ra
- "The plane arrived late" — waṣalat aṭ-ṭāʾira mutaʾakhkhira
- "We travelled by plane" — sāfarnā bi-ṭ-ṭāʾira
- the four words of the root — ṭāra, maṭār, ṭayyār, ṭāʾira

Before you move on

What does طائرة mean? ("A plane".) Which verb shares its root? (Ṭāra, it flew.) "By plane"? (Bi-ṭ-ṭāʾira.)

288.3 ئ (hamza on yāʾ) — the catch inside طائرة

Before the new one: write ي and ؤ once each, and name them.

Now say طائرة (ṭāʾira), "a plane". You met it a moment ago. This lesson takes its catch out and puts it in your hand.

Script you'll notice: ئ

ئ — hamza on a yāʾ seat, the same catch as ؤ, written ʾ in this book's romanization.

It is the third letter of طائرة, after ا. Because ا does not join to the letter after it, ئ starts a new piece. It is two pieces itself: below, a small tooth like the tooth of ي inside a word, with no dots — that is the seat; on top, the hamza mark. The tooth joins on to the ر after it.

The sound is the catch you already say in suʾāl and saʾala. Here the i right after it calls for the ي seat.

Writing: ئ

Put your pen on ئ and follow its line. Write the dotless tooth first, then add the hamza above it. Copy the shape you can see — slowly, and larger than it is printed.

> This book does not yet tell you where to start this character or which way to travel. It is not written down here until it can be written down with a source. Copying what is in front of you needs no such source, and it is how the shape gets into your hand in the meantime.

Your turn

- Find: the seat and the mark of ئ inside طائرة
- Trace it: ئ three times, saying the catch as you finish each one
- Write it: طا, then a new piece: ئرة

- Write it: طائرة, then سؤال: one catch, two seats
- Read it: طائرة aloud once more

Before you move on

What is this — ئ? (Hamza on a yāʾ seat, a catch.) Which word did it come from? (طائرة, ṭāʾira, "a plane".) Does the seat have dots? (No: only the hamza on top.)

288.4 مسؤول (masʾūl) — the person in charge

Say "a question", then "a plane". (Suʾāl, ṭāʾira.) Which seat carries the catch in each? (و, then the dotless tooth.)

When a plane is late and the employee at the desk cannot help, you ask for somebody else.

You'll want to know: مسؤول

مسؤول — masʾūl — "the person in charge, an official"; as a description, "responsible".

أريد أن أتكلم مع المسؤول. — urīdu an atakallama maᶜa al-masʾūl — I want to speak to the person in charge.

من المسؤول هنا؟ — man al-masʾūl hunā? — Who is in charge here?

As a description it takes ᶜan, "for": al-muwaẓẓaf masʾūl ᶜan at-tadhākir, the employee is responsible for the tickets. It is written with the ؤ of سؤال; some writers spell it مسئول, with the other seat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسؤول (masʾūl) is built on the native Arabic root s-a-l, "to ask" (Lane), the root of saʾala and suʾāl. Its shape mafᶜūl is the one that means "done to", so masʾūl is "asked", and Lane lists it among the root's words for a thing asked for. "The one asked to answer", and so "the one in charge", is the usual way the modern sense is explained.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- masʾūl, slowly — mas-ʾūl
- "I want to speak to the person in charge" — urīdu an atakallama maᶜa al-masʾūl
- "Who is in charge here?" — man al-masʾūl hunā?
- "Where is the person in charge of the station?" — ayna masʾūl al-maḥaṭṭa?

Before you move on

What does مسؤول mean? ("The person in charge; responsible".)
Which word for a question shares its root? (سؤال, suʾāl.)
"Responsible for"? (Masʾūl ᶜan.)

288.5 القطار فاتني (fātanī al-qiṭār) — I missed the train

Say "I want to speak to the person in charge". (Urīdu an atakallama maᶜa al-masʾūl.) Then ask for a return ticket. (Tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb.)

Now something has gone wrong. Arabic reports it in a shape English does not use.

Grammar Lens: the thing did it

القطار فاتني. — fātanī al-qiṭār — I missed the train.

Word for word it is "the train passed me by". Fāta is "it passed, it slipped by", -nī is "me", and the train is the subject, after its verb. Your own mistake is told as the train's doing.

حقيبتي ضاعت. — ḍāᶜat ḥaqībatī — My bag is lost.

Ḍāᶜa is "to get lost", and the bag, feminine, gives the verb its -at. So ḍāᶜat amtiᶜatī, my luggage is lost; taʾakhkharat aṭ-ṭāʾira, the plane is late. Each opens with the past verb and then names the thing.

Grammar Lens: asking for help

> ماذا يجب أن أعمل؟ — mādhā yajibu an aᶜmala? — What should I do?

Mādhā is "what", before a verb. Open with ᶜafwan, "excuse me", and close, if you need to, with urīdu an atakallama maᶜa al-masʾūl.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I missed the train" — fātanī al-qiṭār
- "My bag is lost" — ḍāᶜat ḥaqībatī
- "The plane is late" — taʾakhkharat aṭ-ṭāʾira
- "Excuse me, what should I do?" — ᶜafwan, mādhā yajibu an aᶜmala?
- the whole report — ᶜafwan, fātanī al-qiṭār, wa-ḍāᶜat ḥaqībatī. mādhā yajibu an aᶜmala?

Before you move on

"I missed the train"? (Fātanī al-qiṭār.) Who is the subject in it? (The train: it passed me by.) Why ḍāᶜat and not ḍāᶜa? (The bag is feminine.) "What should I do?" (Mādhā yajibu an aᶜmala?)

288.6 Review — at the station, when things go wrong

Ask the way to the airport. (Min faḍlik, kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maṭār?) Then give the answer yourself: "go straight on, then cross the bridge". (Idhhab mustaqīman, thumma uᶜbur al-jisr.)

What you've built

Five lessons, and a whole trip through a station. At the counter: tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb, bi-kam?, min ayyi raṣīf? When it goes wrong: fātanī al-qiṭār, ḍāᶜat ḥaqībatī, taʾakhkharat aṭ-ṭāʾira, and mādhā yajibu an aᶜmala? And if nobody can help, al-masʾūl.

The hamza now has three of its seats in your hand: أ in سأل, ؤ in سؤال and مسؤول, ئ in طائرة. One sound, three ways to write it.

Your turn

- Say it: "A return ticket, please. From which platform?"
- Say it: "Excuse me, I missed the plane. What should I do?" — ᶜafwan, fātatnī aṭ-ṭāʾira. mādhā yajibu an aᶜmala?
- Say it: "My luggage is lost. Who is in charge here?"
- Say it: "I won't travel today; the reason is that the train is late" — lan usāfira al-yawm; as-sababu huwa anna al-qiṭāra mutaʾakhkhir
- Say it: "I'll take the bus" — sa-ākhudhu al-ḥāfila
- Say it: "The pilot was on a phone call" — kāna aṭ-ṭayyār fī mukālama
- Write it: سؤال, مسؤول and طائرة, and circle each seat

Before you move on

"One way only"? (Tadhkirat dhahāb faqaṭ.) "My bag is lost"? (Ḍāᶜat ḥaqībatī.) "The person in charge"? (Al-masʾūl.) Which seat does the hamza take in طائرة? (ئ, the dotless tooth.)

Chapter 289

How It Felt, What I Hope

Modes: 🚗 voice (4) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 4 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say how an experience felt and what I hope, dream or want to become.
>
> Complete AR-R289-feelings-and-hopes: how an experience felt, with kuntu and -an, and what you hope for, with atamannā an.

289.1 سعيدا كنت (kuntu saᶜīdan) — I was happy

Say "I missed the train", then "who is in charge here?". (Fātanī al-qiṭār, man al-masʾūl hunā?)

A story of a trip is not finished until you say how it felt.

Grammar Lens: kāna and the -an

Today needs no verb: anā saᶜīd, I'm happy. In the past kāna comes in, and the word that describes takes -an, the accusative:

سعيدا كنت. — kuntu saᶜīdan — I was happy.

حزينة كانت. — kānat ḥazīna — She was sad.

On most words the -an is written with a final ا: سعيدا, متعبا, غاضبا. On a word ending in ة it is not written, and at the end of a sentence it is not said: kānat ḥazīna. You met it already in kuntu mutᶜaban and kāna aṭ-ṭaqs jamīlan.

Grammar Lens: I felt

To name the feeling as a noun, say sha^{c}artu bi-, "I felt", with the feeling after bi-:

> الطائرة طارت عندما بالخوف شعرت. — sha^{c}artu bi-l-khawf ^{c}indamā ṭārat aṭ-ṭāʾira — I felt afraid when the plane took off.

Word for word, "I felt fear". Aḥsastu bi-, from aḥassa, to feel, says the same: aḥsastu bi-l-khawf.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I'm happy", then "I was happy" — anā sa^{c}īd, kuntu sa^{c}īdan
- "She was sad" — kānat ḥazīna
- "We were tired" — kunnā mut^{c}abīn
- "I felt afraid when the plane took off" — sha^{c}artu bi-l-khawf ^{c}indamā ṭārat aṭ-ṭāʾira
- a feeling and what came of it — kuntu ghāḍiban, fa-kharajtu

Before you move on

"I was happy"? (Kuntu sa^{c}īdan, with -an.) Why the -an? (Kāna gives it to the word that describes.) "I felt afraid"? (Sha^{c}artu bi-l-khawf.)

289.2 تجربة (tajriba) — an experience

Say "I was happy", then "I felt afraid". (Kuntu sa^{c}īdan, sha^{c}artu bi-l-khawf.)

You have a verb for trying on a coat, jarraba. Its noun covers much more than coats.

You'll want to know: تجربة

تجربة — tajriba — "an experience"; also "a try, an experiment".

> كانت الرحلة تجربة جديدة. — kānat ar-riḥla tajribatan jadīda — The trip was a new experience.

It is kāna's -an again: tajribatan, though the ة hides it on the page. Tajriba mumtiᶜa is an enjoyable experience; tajriba mumilla, a boring one.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجربة (tajriba) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-b, "to try, to test" (Lane). Lane gives jarraba as making trial of a thing, time after time, and tajriba as its noun: a trial. An experience, in Arabic, is something you have tried.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- tajriba, then jarraba
- "The trip was a new experience" — kānat ar-riḥla tajribatan jadīda
- "an enjoyable experience", then "a boring one" — tajriba mumtiᶜa, tajriba mumilla
- "In my opinion it was a good experience" — fī raʾyī kānat tajribatan jayyida

Before you move on

What does تجربة mean? ("An experience; a try".) Which verb shares its root? (Jarraba, to try.) "A new experience"? (Tajriba jadīda.)

289.3 أن أتمنى (atamannā an) — I hope to > Say "the trip was a new experience". (Kānat ar-riḥla tajribatan jadīda.) Then "I felt afraid". (Shaᶜartu bi-l-khawf.)

>
> That was the past. Now turn ahead: what you hope for, what you dream of, what you want to become.

Grammar Lens: atamannā an, aḥlumu bi-

Tamannā, to wish, from chapter one hundred and fourteen, has the present atamannā, I hope, I wish. An and the subjunctive follow it, as after urīdu:

> أتمنى أن أجد وظيفة جديدة. — atamannā an ajida waẓīfa jadīda — I hope to find a new job.

Ajida is the subjunctive of ajidu, I find, from wajada; the w has dropped again.
For a dream, use the verb of ḥulm: aḥlumu bi-, I dream of, with a noun after bi-: aḥlumu bi-riḥla ṭawīla, I dream of a long journey.

Grammar Lens: what you want to become

Aṣbaḥa, to become, behaves like kāna: what it becomes takes -an.

> أريد أن أصبح مهندسا. — urīdu an uṣbiḥa muhandisan — I want to become an engineer.

Uṣbiḥa is its subjunctive, after an. In the past: aṣbaḥtu muhandisan, I became an engineer.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I hope to find a new job" — atamannā an ajida waẓīfa jadīda
- "I dream of a long journey" — aḥlumu bi-riḥla ṭawīla
- "I want to become an engineer" — urīdu an uṣbiḥa muhandisan
- "She wants to become a doctor" — turīdu an tuṣbiḥa ṭabība
- your own: atamannā an and one thing, then urīdu an uṣbiḥa and one job

Before you move on

"I hope to"? (Atamannā an.) "I dream of"? (Aḥlumu bi-.) "To become", after an? (Uṣbiḥa.) What does aṣbaḥa give the word

after it? (The *-an, as kāna does.)

289.4 Review — how it felt, and what comes next

Buy a return ticket and ask the price. (Tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb, min faḍlik. Bi-kam at-tadhkira?) Then report a problem and ask for the person in charge. (Fātanī al-qiṭār. Urīdu an atakallama maᶜa al-masᵓūl.)

What you've built

Three lessons, and an experience can be told from both ends. Looking back: kuntu saᶜīdan, kānat ḥazīna, shaᶜartu bi-l-khawf, kānat tajribatan jadīda. Looking ahead: atamannā an, aḥlumu bi-, urīdu an uṣbiḥa. Both ends in one breath:

> قريبا أسافر أن أتمنى لكن صعبة، تجربة كانت. — kānat tajribatan ṣaᶜba, lākin atamannā an usāfira qarīban — It was a hard experience, but I hope to travel again soon.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "We were happy" — kunnā saᶜīdīn
- "He wants to become an actor" — yurīdu an yuṣbiḥa mumaththilan
- "The barber was angry" — kāna al-ḥallāq ghāḍiban
- "I told my grandmother how the trip was" — ḥakaytu li-jaddatī kayfa kānat ar-riḥla
- how your last trip felt, and one thing you hope for next time

Before you move on

"I was tired"? (Kuntu mutᶜaban.) "I felt afraid"? (Shaᶜartu bi-l-khawf.) "I hope to travel"? (Atamannā an usāfira.) "An experience"? (Tajriba.)

Chapter 290

Bigger, Better, For How Long

Modes: 🚗 voice (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can compare two things, name the best, and say how long something has gone on or how long ago it happened.
>
> Complete AR-R290-comparing-and-time: compare with akbar min and afḍal, and measure with mundhu and qabla.

290.1 من أكبر (akbar min) — bigger than

Say "it was a new experience", then "I hope to travel". (Kānat tajribatan jadīda, atamannā an usāfira.)

To describe an experience well, you set it beside another: the city or the village, the train or the bus.

Grammar Lens: the shape aCCaC, and min

Take the three root letters of a describing word and pour them into the shape a-C-C-a-C: kabīr, big, becomes أكبر akbar, bigger; ṣaghīr becomes aṣghar; sarī^{c}, fast, becomes asra^{c}. من — min, "from" — is the "than":

> القرية من أكبر المدينة. — al-madīna akbar min al-qarya —
> The city is bigger than the village.

The shape does not change for a feminine noun: al-madīna akbar, al-qiṭār asra^{c} min ad-darrāja. You have owned two of these since chapter one hundred and seventy-six: akthar, more, is the shape of kathīr, many, and aqall, less, of qalīl, few.

Grammar Lens: the biggest, and better

Put al- on it for "the biggest": al-akbar. Or set it before a noun with no article: مدينة أكبر akbar madīna, the biggest city.
"Better" has a shape of its own: أفضل afḍal, from the root of faḍḍala, to prefer, and of min faḍlik.

> الحافلة من أفضل القطار. — al-qiṭār afḍal min al-ḥāfila — The train is better than the bus.

Al-afḍal is "the best".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- kabīr … akbar; ṣaghīr … aṣghar; sarī^{c} … asra^{c}
- "The city is bigger than the village" — al-madīna akbar min al-qarya
- "The train is faster than the bicycle" — al-qiṭār asra^{c} min ad-darrāja
- "the biggest city" — akbar madīna
- "I think the train is faster" — a^{c}taqidu anna al-qiṭāra asra^{c}
- "The train is better than the bus" — al-qiṭār afḍal min al-ḥāfila

Before you move on

"Bigger than"? (Akbar min.) "Smaller"? (Aṣghar.) "The best"? (Al-afḍal.) Which two words were in this shape all along? (Akthar and aqall.)

290.2 سنوات ثلاث منذ (mundhu thalāth sanawāt) — for three years

Say "the city is bigger than the village", then "the biggest city". (Al-madīna akbar min al-qarya, akbar madīna.)

An experience also has a length. Mundhu, from chapter two hundred and thirty-three, measures it.

Grammar Lens: mundhu and the present

For something that began in the past and is still going on, Arabic keeps the present and adds mundhu with the span:

> أعمل هنا منذ ثلاث سنوات. — a^{c}malu hunā mundhu thalāth sanawāt — I have been working here for three years.

English says "have been working"; Arabic says "I work, since three years". With a point in time instead of a span, mundhu is "since": anā hunā mundhu aṣ-ṣabāḥ, I've been here since the morning.
Counting takes care. Sana, a year, ends in ة, and three to ten take the opposite ending to their noun: thalāth sanawāt, three years, but thalāthat ashhur, three months. For two, the noun takes -ayn: sanatayn, two years; usbū^{c}ayn, two weeks.

Grammar Lens: ago

For a finished event, use the past and قبل — qabla, "before" — with the span:

> وصلت قبل أسبوع. — waṣaltu qabla usbū^c — I arrived a week ago.

Mundhu with a past verb can say "ago" too: waṣaltu mundhu usbū^c. With the present it can only mean "for".

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "I have been working here for three years" — a^{c}malu hunā mundhu thalāth sanawāt
- "for three months", then "for two weeks" — mundhu thalāthat ashhur, mundhu usbū^{c}ayn
- "I arrived a week ago" — waṣaltu qabla usbū^c
- "I have known my friend for two years" — a^{c}rifu ṣadīqī mundhu sanatayn
- how long you have lived where you live — askunu hunā mundhu …

Before you move on

"For three years", with a present? (Mundhu thalāth sanawāt.) "A week ago"? (Qabla usbū^c.) "Two years"? (Sanatayn.) Which tense goes with mundhu for "for"? (The present.)

290.3 Review — bigger, better, and for how long

Say "I was happy" and "I felt afraid". (Kuntu sa^{c}īdan, sha^{c}artu bi-l-khawf.) Then "I want to become an engineer". (Urīdu an uṣbiḥa muhandisan.)

What you've built

Two lessons, and an experience can be weighed and measured.
Weighed with the shape aCCaC and min: akbar min, asra^c min, afḍal min; with al- or before a noun for the most: al-afḍal, akbar madīna.
Measured with mundhu and the present, for what is still going on, and qabla with the past, for "ago".
Both in one breath:

> سافرت بالطائرة قبل سنة، وكانت أفضل تجربة. — sāfartu bi-ṭ-ṭāʾira qabla sana, wa-kānat afḍala tajriba — I travelled by plane a year ago, and it was the best experience.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "The plane is faster than the train" — aṭ-ṭāʾira asra^c min al-qiṭār
- "The pencil case is smaller" — al-miqlama aṣghar
- "I have been waiting for the information since the morning" — antaẓiru al-ma^{c}lūmāt mundhu aṣ-ṣabāḥ
- something you did a year ago, and how long you have done something else

Before you move on

"Better than"? (Afḍal min.) "The best experience"? (Afḍal tajriba.) "For two years", with a present? (Mundhu sanatayn.) "A year ago"? (Qabla sana.)

Chapter 291

If It Rains

Modes: 🚗 voice (3) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 3 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can make a plan that depends on a real condition, and give its result.
>
> Complete AR-R291-if-it-rains: a real condition with idhā and the past, and its result with fa-.

291.1 إذا (idhā) — if

Say "I have been working here for three years", then "I arrived a week ago". (A^{c}malu hunā mundhu thalāth sanawāt, waṣaltu qabla usbū^{c}.)

You have known idhā, "if", since chapter two hundred and seven. What it takes after it will surprise you.

Grammar Lens: idhā and the past

After إذا — idhā — Arabic puts a past verb, and means the future:

> إذا وصلت مبكرا، أشرب قهوة. — idhā waṣaltu mubakkiran, ashrabu qahwa — If I arrive early, I'll have a coffee.

Waṣaltu looks like "I arrived", but after idhā it is "if I arrive". The condition is something that may well happen: you are not sure, but you expect it. The second half, the result, can be a plain present. With kāna: idhā kāna ^{c}indī waqt, adhhabu ma^{c}aka, if I have time, I'll go with you.

Grammar Lens: in, the other "if"

إن — in — is "if" as well, usually described as a little less sure than idhā. It takes the past in the same way: in waṣalta mubakkiran, if you arrive early. You hear it inside a phrase you may know already: in shāʾa allāh, "if God wills".
In, if, with no doubled letter, is a different word from anna, that, and an, to.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "If I arrive early, I'll have a coffee" — idhā waṣaltu mubakkiran, ashrabu qahwa
- "If I have time, I'll go with you" — idhā kāna ᶜindī waqt, adhhabu maᶜaka
- "if you arrive early", with in — in waṣalta mubakkiran
- a plan of your own with idhā and a past verb, then a present

Before you move on

After idhā, which tense? (The past, meaning the future.) "If I arrive"? (Idhā waṣaltu.) The other "if"? (In, as in in shāʾa allāh.)

291.2 أمطرت إذا (idhā amṭarat) — if it rains

Say "if I arrive early, I'll have a coffee". (Idhā waṣaltu mubakkiran, ashrabu qahwa.) Then "if you arrive early", with the other "if". (In waṣalta mubakkiran.)

The result in that sentence was a plain present. Many results are not, and then Arabic marks the seam.

Grammar Lens: fa- before the result

المنزل في فيلما فسنشاهد أمطرت، إذا. — idhā amṭarat, fa-sa-nushāhidu fīlman fī al-manzil — If it rains, we'll watch a film at home.

Amṭarat is "it rained", and after idhā, "it rains". The result opens with sa-, and so it takes فـ in front: fa-sa-nushāhidu. It is the fa- of "so": the condition comes true, so this follows.

Grammar Lens: four results that take fa-

A result needs fa- when it opens with sa- or sawfa, with lan, with an order, or with a noun. Four sentences, one of each:

> idhā amṭarat, fa-sa-nushāhidu fīlman · idhā amṭarat, fa-lan nakhruja, we won't go out · idhā waṣalta, fa-ttaṣil bī, call me · idhā taʾakhkhara al-qiṭār, fa-l-ḥāfila afḍal, the bus is better

A plain present, like ashrabu qahwa, needs none. When you are unsure, the fa- before sa- is the one you will use most.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "If it rains, we'll watch a film at home" — idhā amṭarat, fa-sa-nushāhidu fīlman fī al-manzil
- "If it rains, we won't go out" — idhā amṭarat, fa-lan nakhruja
- "If you arrive, call me" — idhā waṣalta, fa-ttaṣil bī
- "If the train is late, the bus is better" — idhā taʾakhkhara al-qiṭār, fa-l-ḥāfila afḍal
- your own plan for tomorrow: idhā … fa-sa- …

Before you move on

"If it rains"? (Idhā amṭarat.) What goes in front of a result with sa-? (Fa-.) Name the four openings that call for it. (Sa-* or sawfa, lan, an order, a noun.) Does a plain present need it? (No.)

291.3 Review — if it rains

Say "the train is better than the bus" and "the biggest city". (Al-qiṭār afḍal min al-ḥāfila, akbar madīna.) Then "for two years" and "a week ago". (Mundhu sanatayn, qabla usbū^{c}.)

What you've built

Two lessons, and a condition with both its halves. The condition: idhā or in with a past verb, meaning something that may well happen. The result: a plain present as it is, or fa- in front when it opens with sa-, lan, an order or a noun.
A plan with its condition in one breath:

> البحر إلى فسنذهب جميلا، الطقس كان إذا. — idhā kāna aṭ-ṭaqs jamīlan, fa-sa-nadhhabu ilā al-baḥr — If the weather is nice, we'll go to the sea.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- idhā kāna aṭ-ṭaqs jamīlan, fa-sa-nadhhabu ilā al-baḥr
- "If you get lost, phone me" — idhā ḍalalta, fa-ttaṣil bī
- "If the pharmacist phones, I'll give him the number" — idhā ittaṣala aṣ-ṣaydalī, fa-sa-u^{c}ṭīhi ar-raqm
- "If I learn a lot, I'll become an engineer" — idhā ta^{c}allamtu kathīran, fa-sa-uṣbiḥu muhandisan
- "If it rains, I won't travel" — idhā amṭarat, fa-lan usāfira
- two plans of your own for the weekend: one with idhā and a plain present, one with fa-sa-

Before you move on

"If it rains, we won't go out"? (Idhā amṭarat, fa-lan nakhruja.) Which tense follows idhā? (The past.) Which "if" sits in in shāʾa allāh? (In.)

Chapter 292

Would, And Six Lines About A Trip

Modes: 🚗 voice (4) ✓ pen (1) 🚗 Hands-free start: the first 4 of 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say what I would do if things were different, say that a plan depends on something, and write six connected lines about a trip.
>
> Complete AR-R292-would-and-depends: an unreal condition with law, a wish with layta, and a plan that depends on something, with ᶜalā ḥasab and the condition word.

292.1 اعتمد (iᶜtamada) — to depend on

> Say "if it rains, we'll watch a film". (Idhā amṭarat, fa-sa-nushāhidu filman.)
>
> Sometimes you cannot give the result yet, because it hangs on something else. This is the verb for hanging on something.

You'll want to know: اعتمد

اعتمد — iᶜtamada — "he depended, he relied", with على, ᶜalā, "on".

> اعتمدت على صديقي. — iᶜtamadtu ᶜalā ṣadīqī — I relied on my friend.

The present is yaᶜtamidu, he depends; aᶜtamidu ᶜalayka, I'm counting on you. It has the same shape as iᶜtaqada, to believe, and its present aᶜtaqidu: one letter apart.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتمد (iᶜtamada) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-d, "to prop up, to support" (Lane). Lane gives iᶜtamadtu ᶜalā ash-shayʾ as leaning or resting on a thing, and then relying on a person. To depend on something, in Arabic, is to lean your weight on it.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- iᶜtamada, then yaᶜtamidu
- "I relied on my friend" — iᶜtamadtu ᶜalā ṣadīqī
- "I'm counting on you" — aᶜtamidu ᶜalayka
- "We don't depend on money" — lā naᶜtamidu ᶜalā al-māl

Before you move on

What does اعتمد mean? ("To depend on, to rely on".) Which little word goes with it? (ᶜAlā, on.) Which verb has the same shape? (Iᶜtaqada, to believe.)

292.2 يعتمد على (yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā) — it depends on

Say "I relied on my friend". (Iᶜtamadtu ᶜalā ṣadīqī.) Then "if it rains, we won't go out". (Idhā amṭarat, fa-lan nakhruja.)

Someone asks about your plan, and you do not know yet. That is an answer too.

Grammar Lens: it depends on

— هل ستسافر غدا؟ — hal sa-tusāfiru ghadan? — Are you travelling tomorrow? — يعتمد على الطقس. — yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā aṭ-ṭaqs — It depends on the weather.

"It" is not said: the ya- of yaᶜtamidu carries it. Put the thing the plan hangs on after ᶜalā: yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā al-waqt, it depends on the time; yaᶜtamidu ᶜalayka, it's up to you.
It answers the same need as a condition with idhā, but leaves the condition open: idhā kāna aṭ-ṭaqs jamīlan, fa-sa-usāfiru says which way it goes; yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā aṭ-ṭaqs only says what decides.

Grammar Lens: ḥasaba, according to Ḥasaba, from chapter two hundred and sixty-eight, puts the deciding thing in front of a plain statement:

> حسب، الجدول ينطلق القطار بعد عشر دقائق. — ḥasaba al-jadwal, yanṭaliqu al-qiṭār baᶜda ᶜashr daqāʾiq — According to the timetable, the train leaves in ten minutes.

Ḥasaba aṭ-ṭaqs is "depending on the weather": sa-nusāfiru bi-l-qiṭār aw bi-l-ḥāfila, ḥasaba aṭ-ṭaqs.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "Are you travelling tomorrow?" … "It depends on the weather" — hal sa-tusāfiru ghadan? … yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā aṭ-ṭaqs
- "It's up to you" — yaᶜtamidu ᶜalayka
- "According to the timetable, the train leaves in ten minutes"
- "We'll travel by train or by bus, depending on the weather" — sa-nusāfiru bi-l-qiṭār aw bi-l-ḥāfila, ḥasaba aṭ-ṭaqs

Before you move on

"It depends on the weather"? (Yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā aṭ-ṭaqs.) "According to the timetable"? (Ḥasaba al-jadwal.) What does yaᶜtamidu leave open that idhā closes? (Which way it goes.)

292.3 لو (law) — if it were so

Say "it depends on the weather", then "according to the timetable". (Yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā aṭ-ṭaqs, ḥasaba al-jadwal.)

Idhā is for what may well happen. For what is not so, and you only imagine, Arabic has a third "if".

Grammar Lens: law, and la- on the result

> لو كان عندي وقت لسافرت. — law kāna ᶜindī waqt la-sāfartu — If I had time, I would travel.

لو — law — takes the past, and so does the result. The result usually carries لـ — la- — written onto it: la-sāfartu, I would have travelled, I would travel. The meaning is "but I don't have time". That is the difference from idhā: idhā kāna ᶜindī waqt, fa-sa-usāfiru leaves it open; law says it is not so.
You have said law since chapter six: law samaḥt, "if you would permit", the polite "please" that does not take the yes for granted.

Grammar Lens: if I were you, and if only > لو كنت مكانك لذهبت إلى الطبيب. — law kuntu makānaka la-dhahabtu ilā aṭ-ṭabīb — If I were you, I'd go to the doctor.

Word for word, "if I were in your place". ليت — layta, "if only" — wishes without a result: laytanī kuntu ghaniyyan, if only I were rich; laytanī kuntu hunāka, if only I had been there.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "If I had time, I would travel" — law kāna ᶜindī waqt la-sāfartu
- the open one, with idhā — idhā kāna ᶜindī waqt, fa-sa-usāfiru
- "If I were you, I'd go to the doctor" — law kuntu makānaka la-dhahabtu ilā aṭ-ṭabīb
- "If only I were rich" — laytanī kuntu ghaniyyan
- a wish of your own with law and la-, then one with atamannā an

Before you move on

"If I had time, I would travel"? (Law kāna ᶜindī waqt la-sāfartu.) What goes on the result? (La-.) Which "if" says "but it is not so"? (Law.) "If only"? (Layta.)

292.4 Review — would, if only, and it depends

Say "if it rains, we'll watch a film at home". (Idhā amṭarat, fa-sa-nushāhidu filman fī al-manzil.) Then "if you arrive early", with the other "if". (In waṣalta mubakkiran.)

What you've built

Three lessons, and three distances from the facts. Idhā: it may well happen, idhā kāna ᶜindī waqt, fa-sa-usāfiru. Yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā: it is still open, yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā al-waqt. Law: it is not so, law kāna ᶜindī waqt la-sāfartu; and layta, the wish with no result.
All three, on one question:

> — hal sa-tusāfiru? — yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā aṭ-ṭaqs. law kāna ᶜindī waqt la-sāfartu al-usbūᶜa al-qādim.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- "It depends on the person in charge" — yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā al-masʾūl
- "If I were you, I would ask the way" — law kuntu makānaka la-saʾaltu: kayfa aṣilu ilā al-maḥaṭṭa?
- "You ought to ask the client" — yanbaghī an tasʾala al-ᶜamīl
- "Take the first street on the right" — khudh ash-shāriᶜa al-awwala ᶜalā al-yamīn
- "If only the sentence were shorter" — layta al-jumlata kānat aqṣar
- "If it were a new experience, I would try it" — law kānat tajribatan jadīdatan la-jarrabtuhā
- one thing you would do law kāna ᶜindī waqt, and one you will do idhā something happens

Before you move on

Which "if" says it is not so? (Law.) What goes on its result? (La-.) "It depends on the time"? (Yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā al-waqt.) "If only”? (Layta.)

292.5 Six lines about a trip

Chapter forty-five asked for four lines that held together. This one asks for six, and they tell a story.

Pick one reader: a friend, by name.

What to know first

A told story is not a list of events. It has a scene, in kāna and kāna with the present. It has events in the plain past, put in order with awwalan, thumma, ᶜindamā and fī an-nihāya. It has at least one reason, with li-anna, bi-sabab or fa-, and a feeling, with kuntu and -an, or shaᶜartu bi-.

A good one ends by looking forward or wishing: atamannā an …, idhā … fa-sa- …, or law … la- ….

At B1 a connected text runs longer than six lines. Six lines is the first step towards it, not the whole of it.

Writing — connected composition

On paper, right to left, write six lines to your reader about a trip, real or invented, one line for each of these:

1. the scene: when it was, with qabla or al-māḍī, and the weather, with kāna;
2. where you went and who was with you, with maᶜa, and the ticket: tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb or dhahāb faqaṭ, and from which platform;
3. the first thing that happened, with awwalan or ᶜindamā;
4. the next thing, with thumma or baᶜda an, and a reason, with li-anna, bi-sabab, as-sababu huwa anna or fa-, or what you had to do, with kāna yajibu an;
5. how it ended and how you felt, with fī an-nihāya and kuntu … -an or shaᶜartu bi-;
6. one line forward: atamannā an, a real idhā, or law … la-.

Use only words you already write. The whole exercise is choosing the right past for each line, and joining them.

Before you move on

Now read your lines as you read the trip to the sea in chapter two hundred and eighty-four. Mark every verb S for scene or E for event. Line one should be mostly S; lines three and four mostly E. A line about the weather marked E is the commonest slip: change amṭarat back to kāna aṭ-ṭaqs mumṭiran if you meant the scene.
Then three spelling checks. Every wa- and fa- is joined to the next word, with no space: وكان, فذهبنا. Every -an after kāna on a word without ة has its ا: سعيدا. And each hamza sits on its seat: سؤال with ؤ, طائرة with ئ.
Last, read line six alone. If it has idhā, is the verb after it in the past? If it has law, does the result carry la-?

Chapter 293

Reporters and statements

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a correspondent, a statement, a newspaper, to announce and to declare.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 293: I can say a correspondent, a statement, a newspaper, to announce and to declare.

293.1 مراسل (murāsil) — a correspondent, a reporter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber.

You'll want to know: مراسل

مراسل — murāsil — "a correspondent, a reporter".

القرية في المطر عن المراسل كتب.

kataba al-murāsil ᶜan al-maṭar fī al-qarya.

The correspondent wrote about the rain in the village.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مراسل (murāsil) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-l (Lane), the root of arsala, "to send". Murāsil is the Form III participle, "one who writes back and forth”: a correspondent.

What you’ve built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: murāsil
- Say it: murāsil, once more
- Say it: kataba al-murāsil ᶜan al-maṭar fī al-qarya. — The correspondent wrote about the rain in the village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber, then say murāsil again

Before you move on

What does مراسل mean? (“A correspondent, a reporter”.) Say it once more.

293.2 بيان (bayān) — a statement; a clear account

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for a correspondent.

You’ll want to know: بيان

بيان — bayān — “a statement; a clear account”.

قصيرا بيانا المدير قرأ.

qaraʾa al-mudīr bayānan qaṣīran.

The manager read out a short statement.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بيان (bayān) is built on the native Arabic root b-y-n (Lane), “to be apart; to become clear”, the root of bayna, “between”. A bayān makes a thing clear.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: bayān
- Say it: bayān, once more
- Say it: qaraʾa al-mudīr bayānan qaṣīran. — The manager read out a short statement.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for a correspondent, then say bayān again

Before you move on

What does بيان mean? ("A statement; a clear account".) Say it once more.

293.3 صحيفة (ṣaḥīfa) — a gazette, a newspaper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a correspondent, then the Arabic for a statement.

You'll want to know: صحيفة

صحيفة — ṣaḥīfa — "a gazette, a newspaper".

صباح كل صحيفة أمي تقرأ.

taqraʾu ummī ṣaḥīfa kulla ṣabāḥ.

My mother reads a newspaper every morning.

Plural: صحف, ṣuḥuf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحيفة (ṣaḥīfa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-f (Lane), where it names a written leaf or page. Modern Arabic gave the old word the newspaper.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaḥīfa
- Say it: ṣaḥīfa, once more
- Say it: taqraʾu ummī ṣaḥīfa kulla ṣabāḥ. — My mother reads a newspaper every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a correspondent, then the Arabic for a statement, then say ṣaḥīfa again

Before you move on

What does صحيفة mean? ("A gazette, a newspaper".) Say it once more.

293.4 أعلن (a^{c}lana) — to announce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a statement, then the Arabic for a gazette.

You'll want to know: أعلن

أعلن — a^{c}lana — "to announce".

الامتحان موعد المدرسة أعلنت.

a^{c}lanat al-madrasa maw^{c}id al-imtiḥān.

The school announced the date of the exam.

Present: يعلن, yu^{c}lin.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أعلن (aᶜlana) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-n (Lane), "to be open, public". It is Form IV, "to make public".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: aᶜlana
- Say it: aᶜlana, once more
- Say it: aᶜlanat al-madrasa mawᶜid al-imtiḥān. — The school announced the date of the exam.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a statement, then the Arabic for a gazette, then say aᶜlana again

Before you move on

What does أعلن mean? ("To announce".) Say it once more.

293.5 صرح (ṣarraḥa) — to declare, to state

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a gazette, then the Arabic for to announce.

You'll want to know: صرح

صرح — ṣarraḥa — "to declare, to state".

مغلق المكتب بأن المدير صرح.

ṣarraḥa al-mudīr bi-anna al-maktab mughlaq.

The manager stated that the office was closed.

Present: يصرح, yuṣarriḥ.
It takes بـ before what is stated: صرح بأن ...

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صرح (ṣarraḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-ḥ (Lane), "pure, unmixed, clear". It is Form II, "to make clear": to say a thing plainly.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣarraḥa
- Say it: ṣarraḥa, once more
- Say it: ṣarraḥa al-mudīr bi-anna al-maktab mughlaq. — The manager stated that the office was closed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a gazette, then the Arabic for to announce, then say ṣarraḥa again

Before you move on

What does صرح mean? ("To declare, to state".) Say it once more.

Chapter 294

Suddenly, it happened

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say suddenly, at first, thereupon, to happen and to explode.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 294: I can say suddenly, at first, thereupon, to happen and to explode.

294.1 فجأة (fajʾatan) — suddenly, all of a sudden

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to announce, then the Arabic for to declare.

You'll want to know: فجأة

فجأة — fajʾatan — "suddenly, all of a sudden".

فجأة الكهرباء انقطعت.

inqaṭaᶜat al-kahrabāʾ fajʾatan.

Suddenly the electricity went off.

An adverb with -an, like غالبا. It often opens a sentence: صوتا سمعنا فجأة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فجأة (fajʾatan) is built on the native Arabic root f-j-ʾ (Lane), "to come upon someone unawares". The noun fajʾa, "a sudden coming", takes the adverb ending -an.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fajʾatan
- Say it: fajʾatan, once more
- Say it: inqaṭaᶜat al-kahrabāʾ fajʾatan. — Suddenly the electricity went off.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to announce, then the Arabic for to declare, then say fajʾatan again

Before you move on

What does فجأة mean? ("Suddenly, all of a sudden".) Say it once more.

294.2 وقع (waqaᶜa) — to take place; to fall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to declare, then the Arabic for suddenly.

You'll want to know: وقع

وقع — waqaᶜa — "to take place; to fall".

وقع الحادث قرب المدرسة.

waqaᶜa al-ḥādith qurba al-madrasa.

The accident happened near the school.

Present: يقع, yaqaᶜ.

Of events: حادث وقع, an accident happened. Of places, يقع means it lies or is located.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وقع (waqaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-ᶜ (Lane), "to fall, to drop down". A thing that falls upon people is a thing that happens, and wāqiᶜ is "what has fallen out": reality.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: waqaᶜa
- Say it: waqaᶜa, once more
- Say it: waqaᶜa al-ḥādith qurba al-madrasa. — The accident happened near the school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to declare, then the Arabic for suddenly, then say waqaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does وقع mean? ("To take place; to fall".) Say it once more.

294.3 انفجر (infajara) — to explode, to burst

Before the new one: say the Arabic for suddenly, then the Arabic for to take place.

You'll want to know: انفجر

انفجر — infajara — "to explode, to burst".

الطفل رأس فوق البالون انفجر.

infajara al-bālūn fawqa raʾs aṭ-ṭifl.

The balloon burst above the child's head.

Present: ينفجر, yanfajir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انفجر (infajara) is built on the native Arabic root f-j-r (Lane), "to cleave, to make water gush out", the root of fajr, "dawn". It is Form VII, "to burst open".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: infajara
- Say it: infajara, once more
- Say it: infajara al-bālūn fawqa raʾs aṭ-ṭifl. — The balloon burst above the child's head.
- Recall: say the Arabic for suddenly, then the Arabic for to take place, then say infajara again

Before you move on

What does انفجر mean? ("To explode, to burst".) Say it once more.

294.4 البداية في (fī al-bidāya) — at first, in the beginning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take place, then the Arabic for to explode.

You'll want to know: البداية في

البداية في — fī al-bidāya — "at first, in the beginning".

سهلا الطريق كان البداية في.

fī al-bidāya kāna aṭ-ṭarīq sahlan.

At first the road was easy.

It opens a story; ثم and بعد ذلك carry it on.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

في البداية (fī al-bidāya) is the preposition fī, "in", with bidāya, "a beginning", which is built on the native Arabic root b-d-ʾ, "to begin" (Lane), the root of badaʾa.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fī al-bidāya
- Say it: fī al-bidāya, once more
- Say it: fī al-bidāya kāna aṭ-ṭarīq sahlan. — At first the road was easy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take place, then the Arabic for to explode, then say fī al-bidāya again

Before you move on

What does في البداية mean? ("At first, in the beginning".) Say it once more.

294.5 في اللحظة تلك (fī tilka al-laḥẓa) — at that moment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to explode, then the Arabic for at first.

You'll want to know: اللحظة تلك في

اللحظة تلك في — fī tilka al-laḥẓa — "at that moment".

> الصف الأستاذ دخل اللحظة تلك في.
>
> fī tilka al-laḥẓa dakhala al-ustādh aṣ-ṣaff.
>
> At that moment the teacher came into the classroom.

A story moves on with it: something happens, and in that moment something else begins.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اللحظة تلك في (fī tilka al-laḥẓa) is "in that moment": tilka is "that" for a feminine noun, and laḥẓa is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-ẓ, "to glance" (Lane). A moment is as long as a glance.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fī tilka al-laḥẓa
- Say it: fī tilka al-laḥẓa, once more
- Say it: fī tilka al-laḥẓa dakhala al-ustādh aṣ-ṣaff. — At that moment the teacher came into the classroom.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to explode, then the Arabic for at first, then say fī tilka al-laḥẓa again

Before you move on

What does اللحظة تلك في mean? ("At that moment".) Say it once more.

Chapter 295

Telling a story

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tale, to narrate, to tell a story, to recount and one day.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 295: I can say a tale, to narrate, to tell a story, to recount and one day.

295.1 حكاية (ḥikāya) — a tale, a story told aloud

Before the new one: say the Arabic for at first, then the Arabic for at that moment.

You'll want to know: حكاية

حكاية — ḥikāya — "a tale, a story told aloud".

> النوم قبل حكاية الأطفال سمع.
>
> sami^{c}a al-aṭfāl ḥikāya qabla an-nawm.
>
> The children heard a story before bed.

Plural حكايات. A حكاية is told; a قصة can be told or read.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حكاية (ḥikāya) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-y (Lane), where ḥakā means both "to relate" and "to imitate": a tale repeats what someone said or did.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥikāya
- Say it: ḥikāya, once more
- Say it: samiᶜa al-aṭfāl ḥikāya qabla an-nawm. — The children heard a story before bed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for at first, then the Arabic for at that moment, then say ḥikāya again

Before you move on

What does حكاية mean? ("A tale, a story told aloud".) Say it once more.

295.2 روى (rawā) — to narrate, to relate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for at that moment, then the Arabic for a tale.

You'll want to know: روى

روى — rawā — "to narrate, to relate".

القرية عن قصة جدي روى.

rawā jaddī qiṣṣa ᶜan al-qarya.

My grandfather told a story about the village.

Present: يروي, yarwī.
The narrator is الراوي; the taught رواية, a novel, is the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

روى (rawā) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-y (Lane), which gives both "to give water to drink" and "to transmit a report or a poem". Riwāya, a novel, and rāwī, a narrator, share it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: rawā
- Say it: rawā, once more
- Say it: rawā jaddī qiṣṣa ᶜan al-qarya. — My grandfather told a story about the village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for at that moment, then the Arabic for a tale, then say rawā again

Before you move on

What does روى mean? ("To narrate, to relate".) Say it once more.

295.3 قص (qaṣṣa) — to tell a story; to cut

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tale, then the Arabic for to narrate.

You'll want to know: قص

قص — qaṣṣa — "to tell a story; to cut".

قصيرة قصة التلاميذ على المعلمة قصت.

qaṣṣat al-muᶜallima ᶜalā at-talāmīdh qiṣṣa qaṣīra.

The teacher told the pupils a short story.

Present: يقص, yaquṣṣ.

It takes على for the listener: الأطفال على قص. With scissors it means to cut.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قص (qaṣṣa) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-ṣ (Lane), "to follow a track step by step" and "to clip". To tell a story is to follow events in order; qiṣṣa, a story, is its noun.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṣṣa
- Say it: qaṣṣa, once more
- Say it: qaṣṣat al-muᶜallima ᶜalā at-talāmīdh qiṣṣa qaṣīra. — The teacher told the pupils a short story.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tale, then the Arabic for to narrate, then say qaṣṣa again

Before you move on

What does قص mean? ("To tell a story; to cut".) Say it once more.

295.4 سرد (sarada) — to recount, to narrate in order

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to narrate, then the Arabic for to tell a story.

You'll want to know: سرد

سرد — sarada — "to recount, to narrate in order".

رحلته تفاصيل المسافر سرد.

sarada al-musāfir tafāṣīl riḥlatihi.

The traveller recounted the details of his journey.

Present: يسرد, yasrud.
The noun سرد is narration, as in a novel.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سرد (sarada) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-d (Lane), first "to stitch" and "to link rings of mail one into the next", then "to carry on a story without a break".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sarada
- Say it: sarada, once more
- Say it: sarada al-musāfir tafāṣīl riḥlatihi. — The traveller recounted the details of his journey.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to narrate, then the Arabic for to tell a story, then say sarada again

Before you move on

What does سرد mean? ("To recount, to narrate in order".) Say it once more.

295.5 يوم ذات (dhāta yawm) — one day, once upon a time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tell a story, then the Arabic for to recount.

You'll want to know: يوم ذات

يوم ذات — dhāta yawm — "one day, once upon a time".

البحر إلى الصياد خرج يوم ذات.

dhāta yawm kharaja aṣ-ṣayyād ilā al-baḥr.

One day the fisherman went out to sea.

It opens a story, like the taught مرة ذات, once.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يوم ذات (dhāta yawm) puts yawm, "a day", which is usually traced to an inherited Semitic word, after dhāta, the feminine of dhū, "possessor of", as in the taught مرة ذات.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dhāta yawm
- Say it: dhāta yawm, once more
- Say it: dhāta yawm kharaja aṣ-ṣayyād ilā al-baḥr. — One day the fisherman went out to sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tell a story, then the Arabic for to recount, then say dhāta yawm again

Before you move on

What does يوم ذات mean? ("One day, once upon a time".) Say it once more.

Chapter 296

The press

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the press, an editor, an article, to edit and a bulletin.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 296: I can say the press, an editor, an article, to edit and a bulletin.

296.1 صحافة (ṣaḥāfa) — journalism; the press

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to recount, then the Arabic for one day.

You'll want to know: صحافة

صحافة — ṣaḥāfa — "journalism; the press".

> الجامعة في الصحافة أخي درس.
>
> darasa akhī aṣ-ṣaḥāfa fī al-jāmiᶜa.
>
> My brother studied journalism at university.

A journalist is صحفي; the newspaper is صحيفة: one root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحافة (ṣaḥāfa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-f (Lane), a written leaf or page, the root of ṣaḥīfa. The modern sense, the press, comes from ṣaḥīfa, a newspaper.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaḥāfa
- Say it: ṣaḥāfa, once more
- Say it: darasa akhī aṣ-ṣaḥāfa fī al-jāmiᶜa. — My brother studied journalism at university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to recount, then the Arabic for one day, then say ṣaḥāfa again

Before you move on

What does صحافة mean? ("Journalism; the press".) Say it once more.

296.2 محرر (muḥarrir) — an editor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for one day, then the Arabic for journalism.

You'll want to know: محرر

محرر — muḥarrir — "an editor".

مجلة في محررا خالي يعمل.

yaᶜmalu khālī muḥarriran fī majalla.

My uncle works as an editor at a magazine.

The verbal noun تحرير is editing: the editorial office is قسم التحرير.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محرر (muḥarrir) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-r (Lane), "to be free", the root of ḥurr, free. Form II ḥarrara means "to set free" and "to write a text out clean"; muḥarrir is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥarrir
- Say it: muḥarrir, once more
- Say it: yaᶜmalu khālī muḥarriran fī majalla. — My uncle works as an editor at a magazine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for one day, then the Arabic for journalism, then say muḥarrir again

Before you move on

What does محرر mean? ("An editor".) Say it once more.

296.3 مقال (maqāl) — an article, an essay

Before the new one: say the Arabic for journalism, then the Arabic for an editor.

You'll want to know: مقال

مقال — maqāl — "an article, an essay".

البحر عن مقالا الصحيفة نشرت.

nasharat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa maqālan ᶜan al-baḥr.

The newspaper published an article about the sea.

Plural مقالات. مقالة is the same word.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقال (maqāl) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-l (Lane), "to say", the root of qāla. Maqāl is first "a saying"; in the modern press it is a written piece.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: maqāl
- Say it: maqāl, once more
- Say it: nasharat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa maqālan ᶜan al-baḥr. — The newspaper published an article about the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for journalism, then the Arabic for an editor, then say maqāl again

Before you move on

What does مقال mean? ("An article, an essay".) Say it once more.

296.4 حرر (ḥarrara) — to edit; to set free

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an editor, then the Arabic for an article.

You'll want to know: حرر

حرر — ḥarrara — "to edit; to set free".

الطبخ عن كتابا أختي حررت.

ḥarrarat ukhtī kitāban ᶜan aṭ-ṭabkh.

My sister edited a book about cooking.

Present: يحرر, yuḥarrir.
Of people and lands it means to free: حرر الجيش المدينة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرر (ḥarrara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-r (Lane), "to be free". It is Form II, "to make free", and of a text "to write it out clean and correct".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarrara
- Say it: ḥarrara, once more
- Say it: ḥarrarat ukhtī kitāban ᶜan aṭ-ṭabkh. — My sister edited a book about cooking.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an editor, then the Arabic for an article, then say ḥarrara again

Before you move on

What does حرر mean? ("To edit; to set free".) Say it once more.

296.5 نشرة (nashra) — a bulletin, a news broadcast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an article, then the Arabic for to edit.

You'll want to know: نشرة

نشرة — nashra — "a bulletin, a news broadcast".

المساء في الأخبار نشرة أبي شاهد.

shāhada abī nashrat al-akhbār fī al-masāʾ.

My father watched the news bulletin in the evening.

الأخبار نشرة is the news on radio or television.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نشرة (nashra) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-r (Lane), "to spread out, to unfold", the root of the taught nashara, to publish. A nashra is what is spread among people.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nashra
- Say it: nashra, once more
- Say it: shāhada abī nashrat al-akhbār fī al-masāʾ. — My father watched the news bulletin in the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an article, then the Arabic for to edit, then say nashra again

Before you move on

What does نشرة mean? ("A bulletin, a news broadcast".) Say it once more.

Chapter 297

On the radio

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a radio station, a channel, a radio set, to broadcast and on air.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 297: I can say a radio station, a channel, a radio set, to broadcast and on air.

297.1 إذاعة (idhāᶜa) — a radio station; broadcasting

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to edit, then the Arabic for a bulletin.

You'll want to know: إذاعة

إذاعة — idhāᶜa — "a radio station; broadcasting".

> صغيرة إذاعة في خالتي تعمل.
>
> taᶜmalu khālatī fī idhāᶜa ṣaghīra.
>
> My aunt works at a small radio station.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إذاعة (idhāᶜa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root dh-ẏ-ᶜ, said of news that spreads. Idhāᶜa is the verbal noun of Form IV adhāᶜa, "to make known", and now names radio.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: idhāᶜa
- Say it: idhāᶜa, once more
- Say it: taᶜmalu khālatī fī idhāᶜa ṣaghīra. — My aunt works at a small radio station.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to edit, then the Arabic for a bulletin, then say idhāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does إذاعة mean? ("A radio station; broadcasting".) Say it once more.

297.2 قناة (qanāh) — a channel; a canal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bulletin, then the Arabic for a radio station.

You'll want to know: قناة

قناة — qanāh — "a channel; a canal".

ومساء صباحا الأخبار القناة هذه تبث.

tabuththu hādhihi al-qanāh al-akhbār ṣabāḥan wa-masāʾan.

This channel broadcasts the news morning and evening.

Plural قنوات. A television channel and a water canal are one word.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قناة (qanāh) is built on the native Arabic root q-n-w (Lane), where qanāh is a straight reed or spear shaft, and then a channel dug for water. The television sense is modern.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qanāh
- Say it: qanāh, once more
- Say it: tabuththu hādhihi al-qanāh al-akhbār ṣabāḥan wa-masāʾan. — This channel broadcasts the news morning and evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bulletin, then the Arabic for a radio station, then say qanāh again

Before you move on

What does قناة mean? ("A channel; a canal".) Say it once more.

297.3 مذياع (midhyāᶜ) — a radio set

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a radio station, then the Arabic for a channel.

You'll want to know: مذياع

مذياع — midhyāᶜ — "a radio set".

صباح كل المذياع يسمع جدي كان.

kāna jaddī yasmaᶜu al-midhyāᶜ kulla ṣabāḥ.

My grandfather used to listen to the radio every morning.

Many speakers say راديو; مذياع is the standard word.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مذياع (midhyāᶜ) is usually traced to the native Arabic root dh-y-ᶜ, "to spread, to become known". The mifᶜāl pattern names a tool, so midhyāᶜ is "the spreader": a modern coinage for the radio set.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: midhyāᶜ
- Say it: midhyāᶜ, once more
- Say it: kāna jaddī yasmaᶜu al-midhyāᶜ kulla ṣabāḥ. — My grandfather used to listen to the radio every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a radio station, then the Arabic for a channel, then say midhyāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does مذياع mean? ("A radio set".) Say it once more.

297.4 أذاع (adhāᶜa) — to put on air; to make known

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a channel, then the Arabic for a radio set.

You'll want to know: أذاع

أذاع — adhāᶜa — "to put on air; to make known".

قديمة أغنية الإذاعة أذاعت.

adhāᶜat al-idhāᶜa ughniya qadīma.

The station broadcast an old song.

Present: يذيع, yudhīᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أذاع (adhāᶜa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root dh-y-ᶜ, said of news that spreads. It is Form IV, "to make known", and the verb of إذاعة.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: adhāᶜa
- Say it: adhāᶜa, once more
- Say it: adhāᶜat al-idhāᶜa ughniya qadīma. — The station broadcast an old song.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a channel, then the Arabic for a radio set, then say adhāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does أذاع mean? ("To put on air; to make known".) Say it once more.

297.5 على الهواء (ᶜalā al-hawāʾ) — on air, live

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a radio set, then the Arabic for to put on air.

You'll want to know: على الهواء

على الهواء — ᶜalā al-hawāʾ — "on air, live".

أمس مساء الهواء على الوزير تكلم.

takallama al-wazīr ᶜalā al-hawāʾ masāʾa ams.

The minister spoke on air yesterday evening.

مباشرة الهواء على: live on air.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

على الهواء (ᶜalā al-hawāʾ) is ᶜalā, "on", with hawāʾ, "air", which is built on the native Arabic root h-w-y (Lane). The phrase is usually traced to the English broadcasting phrase on the air.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜalā al-hawāʾ
- Say it: ᶜalā al-hawāʾ, once more
- Say it: takallama al-wazīr ᶜalā al-hawāʾ masāʾa ams. — The minister spoke on air yesterday evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a radio set, then the Arabic for to put on air, then say ᶜalā al-hawāʾ again

Before you move on

What does على الهواء mean? ("On air, live".) Say it once more.

Chapter 298

A fire

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a blaze, smoke, to catch fire, to burn down and a firefighter.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 298: I can say a blaze, smoke, to catch fire, to burn down and a firefighter.

298.1 حريق (ḥarīq) — a blaze, a fire that spreads

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to put on air, then the Arabic for on air.

You'll want to know: حريق

حريق — ḥarīq — "a blaze, a fire that spreads".

> رأى الجيران حريقا في المصنع.
>
> raʾā al-jīrān ḥarīqan fī al-maṣnaᶜ.
>
> The neighbours saw a fire at the factory.

نار is fire itself; حريق is a fire that destroys.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حريق (ḥarīq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-q (Lane), "to burn". Ḥarīq is the fire that burns a thing up.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarīq
- Say it: ḥarīq, once more
- Say it: raʾā al-jīrān ḥarīqan fī al-maṣnaᶜ. — The neighbours saw a fire at the factory.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to put on air, then the Arabic for on air, then say ḥarīq again

Before you move on

What does حريق mean? ("A blaze, a fire that spreads".) Say it once more.

298.2 دخان (dukhān) — smoke

Before the new one: say the Arabic for on air, then the Arabic for a blaze.

You'll want to know: دخان

دخان — dukhān — "smoke".

النافذة من أسود دخان خرج.

kharaja dukhān aswad min an-nāfidha.

Black smoke came out of the window.

In many dialects دخان also means tobacco.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دخان (dukhān) is built on the native Arabic root d-kh-n (Lane), where dakhana is said of a fire that sends up smoke.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dukhān
- Say it: dukhān, once more
- Say it: kharaja dukhān aswad min an-nāfidha. — Black smoke came out of the window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for on air, then the Arabic for a blaze, then say dukhān again

Before you move on

What does دخان mean? ("Smoke".) Say it once more.

298.3 اشتعل (ishta^{c}ala) — to catch fire, to blaze

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a blaze, then the Arabic for smoke.

You'll want to know: اشتعل

اشتعل — ishta^{c}ala — "to catch fire, to blaze".

بسرعة الخشب في النار اشتعلت.

ishta^{c}alat an-nār fī al-khashab bi-sur^{c}a.

The fire caught in the wood quickly.

Present: يشتعل, yashta^{c}il.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتعل (ishta^{c}ala) is built on the native Arabic root sh-^{c}-l (Lane), "to kindle a fire". It is Form VIII, "to take fire"; shu^{c}la is a flame.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ishta^{c}ala
- Say it: ishta^{c}ala, once more
- Say it: ishta^{c}alat an-nār fī al-khashab bi-sur^{c}a. — The fire caught in the wood quickly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a blaze, then the Arabic for smoke, then say ishta^{c}ala again

Before you move on

What does اشتعل mean? ("To catch fire, to blaze".) Say it once more.

298.4 احترق (iḥtaraqa) — to burn down, to get burnt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for smoke, then the Arabic for to catch fire.

You'll want to know: احترق

احترق — iḥtaraqa — "to burn down, to get burnt".

الفرن في الخبز احترق.

iḥtaraqa al-khubz fī al-furn.

The bread got burnt in the oven.

Present: يحترق, yaḥtariq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احترق (iḥtaraqa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-q (Lane), "to burn". It is Form VIII, "to be burnt, to burn up".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtaraqa
- Say it: iḥtaraqa, once more
- Say it: iḥtaraqa al-khubz fī al-furn. — The bread got burnt in the oven.
- Recall: say the Arabic for smoke, then the Arabic for to catch fire, then say iḥtaraqa again

Before you move on

What does احترق mean? ("To burn down, to get burnt".) Say it once more.

298.5 إطفاء رجل (rajul iṭfāʾ) — a firefighter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to catch fire, then the Arabic for to burn down.

You'll want to know: إطفاء رجل

إطفاء رجل — rajul iṭfāʾ — "a firefighter".

السطح إلى الإطفاء رجل صعد.

ṣaᶜida rajul al-iṭfāʾ ilā as-saṭḥ.

The firefighter climbed up to the roof.

Plural الإطفاء رجال. The fire brigade is الإطفاء.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إطفاء رجل (rajul iṭfāʾ) is "a man of extinguishing": iṭfāʾ is the verbal noun of the taught aṭfaʾa, built on the native Arabic root ṭ-f-ʾ, "(of fire) to go out" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: rajul iṭfāʾ
- Say it: rajul iṭfāʾ, once more
- Say it: ṣaᶜida rajul al-iṭfāʾ ilā as-saṭḥ. — The firefighter climbed up to the roof.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to catch fire, then the Arabic for to burn down, then say rajul iṭfāʾ again

Before you move on

What does إطفاء رجل mean? ("A firefighter".) Say it once more.

Chapter 299

Meanwhile

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say meanwhile, later on, the next day, to mention and to pass on.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 299: I can say meanwhile, later on, the next day, to mention and to pass on.

299.1 الأثناء هذه في (fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ) — meanwhile, in the meantime

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to burn down, then the Arabic for a firefighter.

You'll want to know: الأثناء هذه في

الأثناء هذه في — fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ — "meanwhile, in the meantime".

السيارة في ينتظر أخي كان الأثناء هذه في.

fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ kāna akhī yantaẓiru fī as-sayyāra.

Meanwhile my brother was waiting in the car.

With كان and the present it sets a second scene beside the first.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

في هذه الأثناء (fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ) is "in these folds": athnāʾ is a plural built on the native Arabic root th-n-y, "to fold, to double" (Lane), the root of ithnān, two.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ
- Say it: fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ, once more
- Say it: fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ kāna akhī yantaẓiru fī as-sayyāra. — Meanwhile my brother was waiting in the car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to burn down, then the Arabic for a firefighter, then say fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ again

Before you move on

What does في هذه الأثناء mean? ("Meanwhile, in the meantime".) Say it once more.

299.2 بعد فيما (fīmā baᶜd) — later on, afterwards

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a firefighter, then the Arabic for meanwhile.

You'll want to know: بعد فيما

بعد فيما — fīmā baᶜd — "later on, afterwards".

بعد فيما السبب عرفت.

ᶜaraftu as-sabab fīmā baᶜd.

I found out the reason later on.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بعد فيما (fīmā ba^{c}d) is fī, "in", mā, "what", and ba^{c}d, "after", which is built on the native Arabic root b-^{c}-d, "to be far" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fīmā ba^{c}d
- Say it: fīmā ba^{c}d, once more
- Say it: ^{c}araftu as-sabab fīmā ba^{c}d. — I found out the reason later on.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a firefighter, then the Arabic for meanwhile, then say fīmā ba^{c}d again

Before you move on

What does بعد فيما mean? ("Later on, afterwards".) Say it once more.

299.3 التالي اليوم في (fī al-yawm at-tālī) — the next day

Before the new one: say the Arabic for meanwhile, then the Arabic for later on.

You'll want to know: التالي اليوم في

التالي اليوم في — fī al-yawm at-tālī — "the next day".

بيته إلى المسافر عاد التالي اليوم في.

fī al-yawm at-tālī ^{c}āda al-musāfir ilā baytihi.

The next day the traveller went back home.

At night: التالية الليلة في, the following night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

في اليوم التالي (fī al-yawm at-tālī) is "on the following day": tālī is the participle of talā, "to follow", built on the native Arabic root t-l-w (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fī al-yawm at-tālī
- Say it: fī al-yawm at-tālī, once more
- Say it: fī al-yawm at-tālī ᶜāda al-musāfir ilā baytihi. — The next day the traveller went back home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for meanwhile, then the Arabic for later on, then say fī al-yawm at-tālī again

Before you move on

What does في اليوم التالي mean? ("The next day".) Say it once more.

299.4 ذكر (dhakara) — to mention; to remember

Before the new one: say the Arabic for later on, then the Arabic for the next day.

You'll want to know: ذكر

ذكر — dhakara — "to mention; to remember".

القرية اسم المراسل ذكر.

dhakara al-murāsil ism al-qarya.

The correspondent mentioned the name of the village.

Present: يذكر, yadhkur.
The taught ذكرى, a memory, is the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذكر (dhakara) is usually traced to the native Arabic root dh-k-r, which joins keeping a thing in mind and saying it aloud: dhikrā, a memory, and tadhakkara, to recall, share it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dhakara
- Say it: dhakara, once more
- Say it: dhakara al-murāsil ism al-qarya. — The correspondent mentioned the name of the village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for later on, then the Arabic for the next day, then say dhakara again

Before you move on

What does ذكر mean? ("To mention; to remember".) Say it once more.

299.5 نقل (naqala) — to pass on, to report; to carry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the next day, then the Arabic for to mention.

You'll want to know: نقل

نقل — naqala — "to pass on, to report; to carry".

نقلت الصحيفة كلام المدير.

naqalat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa kalām al-mudīr.

The newspaper reported what the manager said.

Present: ينقل, yanqul.
It also moves people and goods: نقل الأثاث, to move the furniture.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقل (naqala) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-l (Lane), "to move a thing from one place to another". Words moved from one mouth to another are reported.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: naqala
- Say it: naqala, once more
- Say it: naqalat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa kalām al-mudīr. — The newspaper reported what the manager said.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the next day, then the Arabic for to mention, then say naqala again

Before you move on

What does نقل mean? ("To pass on, to report; to carry".) Say it once more.

Chapter 300

A crime

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a crime, a criminal, a thief, to steal and to arrest.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 300: I can say a crime, a criminal, a thief, to steal and to arrest.

300.1 جريمة (jarīma) — a crime

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to mention, then the Arabic for to pass on.

You'll want to know: جريمة

جريمة — jarīma — "a crime".

أمس الحي في جريمة وقعت.

waqa^{c}at jarīma fī al-ḥayy ams.

A crime took place in the neighbourhood yesterday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جريمة (jarīma) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-m (Lane), first "to cut off (dates from the palm)", then "to commit a crime"; jurm is a wrong done.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: jarīma
- Say it: jarīma, once more
- Say it: waqaᶜat jarīma fī al-ḥayy ams. — A crime took place in the neighbourhood yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to mention, then the Arabic for to pass on, then say jarīma again

Before you move on

What does جريمة mean? ("A crime".) Say it once more.

300.2 مجرم (mujrim) — a criminal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pass on, then the Arabic for a crime.

You'll want to know: مجرم

مجرم — mujrim — "a criminal".

الشرطة من المجرم هرب.

haraba al-mujrim min ash-shurṭa.

The criminal ran away from the police.

Plural مجرمون.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجرم (mujrim) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-m (Lane), "to commit a crime". Mujrim is the Form IV participle, "one who commits a crime".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mujrim
- Say it: mujrim, once more
- Say it: haraba al-mujrim min ash-shurṭa. — The criminal ran away from the police.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pass on, then the Arabic for a crime, then say mujrim again

Before you move on

What does مجرم mean? ("A criminal".) Say it once more.

300.3 لص (liṣṣ) — a thief

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crime, then the Arabic for a criminal.

You'll want to know: لص

لص — liṣṣ — "a thief".

الليل في البيت لص دخل.

dakhala liṣṣ al-bayt fī al-layl.

A thief got into the house at night.

Plural: لصوص, luṣūṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لص (liṣṣ) is filed by Lane under the root l-ṣ-ṣ, with the plural luṣūṣ. It was borrowed from Greek lēistēs, a robber (EtymDB); the path it took into Arabic is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: liṣṣ
- Say it: liṣṣ, once more
- Say it: dakhala liṣṣ al-bayt fī al-layl. — A thief got into the house at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crime, then the Arabic for a criminal, then say liṣṣ again

Before you move on

What does لص mean? ("A thief".) Say it once more.

300.4 سرق (saraqa) — to steal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a criminal, then the Arabic for a thief.

You'll want to know: سرق

سرق — saraqa — "to steal".

السيدة حقيبة اللص سرق.

saraqa al-liṣṣ ḥaqībat as-sayyida.

The thief stole the lady's bag.

Present: يسرق, yasriq.
The passive سرق, suriqa, is common: سيارتي سرقت, my car was stolen.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سرق (saraqa) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-q (Lane), "to take a thing secretly"; sariqa is theft and sāriq a thief.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: saraqa
- Say it: saraqa, once more
- Say it: saraqa al-liṣṣ ḥaqībat as-sayyida. — The thief stole the lady's bag.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a criminal, then the Arabic for a thief, then say saraqa again

Before you move on

What does سرق mean? ("To steal".) Say it once more.

300.5 اعتقل (i^{c}taqala) — to arrest, to detain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a thief, then the Arabic for to steal.

You'll want to know: اعتقل

اعتقل — i^{c}taqala — "to arrest, to detain".

المطار في الرجل الشرطة اعتقلت.

i^{c}taqalat ash-shurṭa ar-rajul fī al-maṭār.

The police arrested the man at the airport.

Present: يعتقل, ya^{c}taqil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتقل (i^{c}taqala) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-q-l (Lane), "to tie up a camel's foreleg", the root of ^{c}aql, the mind that holds one back. Form VIII i^{c}taqala is "to hold a person in".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: i^{c}taqala
- Say it: i^{c}taqala, once more
- Say it: i^{c}taqalat ash-shurṭa ar-rajul fī al-maṭār. — The police arrested the man at the airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a thief, then the Arabic for to steal, then say i^{c}taqala again

Before you move on

What does اعتقل mean? ("To arrest, to detain".) Say it once more.

300.6 News and stories — a review

Say the Arabic for a correspondent and a statement.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a correspondent, a statement, a gazette, to announce, to declare
- suddenly, to take place, to explode, at first, at that moment
- a tale, to narrate, to tell a story, to recount, one day
- journalism, an editor, an article, to edit, a bulletin
- a radio station, a channel, a radio set, to put on air, on air
- a blaze, smoke, to catch fire, to burn down, a firefighter
- meanwhile, later on, the next day, to mention, to pass on
- a crime, a criminal, a thief, to steal, to arrest

Before you move on

A correspondent? (مراسل, murāsil.) A statement? (بيان, bayān.) A gazette? (صحيفة, ṣaḥīfa.) To announce? (أعلن, aᶜlana.) To declare? (صرح, ṣarraḥa.) Suddenly? (فجأة, fajʾatan.) To take place? (وقع, waqaᶜa.) To explode? (انفجر, infajara.) At first? (البداية في, fī al-bidāya.) At that moment? (اللحظة تلك في, fī tilka al-laḥẓa.) A tale? (حكاية, ḥikāya.) To narrate? (روى, rawā.) To tell a story? (قص, qaṣṣa.) To recount? (سرد, sarada.) One day? (يوم ذات, dhāta yawm.) Journalism? (صحافة, ṣaḥāfa.) An editor? (محرر, muḥarrir.) An article? (مقال, maqāl.) To edit? (حرر, ḥarrara.) A bulletin? (نشرة, nashra.) A radio station? (إذاعة, idhāᶜa.) A channel? (قناة, qanāh.) A radio set? (مذياع, midhyāᶜ.) To put on air? (أذاع, adhāᶜa.) On air? (الهواء على, ᶜalā al-hawāʾ.) A blaze? (حريق, ḥarīq.) Smoke? (دخان, dukhān.) To catch fire? (اشتعل, ishtaᶜala.) To burn down? (احترق, iḥtaraqa.) A firefighter? (إطفاء رجل, rajul iṭfāʾ.) Meanwhile? (الأثناء هذه في, fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ.) Later on? (بعد فيما, fīmā baᶜd.) The next day? (التالي اليوم في, fī al-yawm at-tālī.) To mention? (ذكر, dhakara.) To pass on? (نقل, naqala.) A crime? (جريمة, jarīma.) A criminal? (مجرم, mujrim.) A thief? (لص, liṣṣ.) To steal? (سرق, saraqa.) To arrest? (اعتقل, iᶜtaqala.)

Chapter 301

An accident on the road

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to collide, to overturn, a victim, a wounded person and to give first aid.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 301: I can say to collide, to overturn, a victim, a wounded person and to give first aid.

301.1 اصطدم (iṣṭadama) — to collide, to crash into

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to steal, then the Arabic for to arrest.

You'll want to know: اصطدم

اصطدم — iṣṭadama — "to collide, to crash into".

> كبيرة بشجرة السيارة اصطدمت.
>
> iṣṭadamat as-sayyāra bi-shajara kabīra.
>
> The car crashed into a big tree.

Present: يصطدم, yaṣṭadim.
It takes بـ for what is hit: بالجدار اصطدم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اصطدم (iṣṭadama) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-m (Lane), "to strike, to knock against". It is Form VIII, where the t turns to ṭ after ṣ: "to strike against each other".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣṭadama
- Say it: iṣṭadama, once more
- Say it: iṣṭadamat as-sayyāra bi-shajara kabīra. — The car crashed into a big tree.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to steal, then the Arabic for to arrest, then say iṣṭadama again

Before you move on

What does اصطدم mean? ("To collide, to crash into".) Say it once more.

301.2 انقلب (inqalaba) — to overturn, to turn over

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to arrest, then the Arabic for to collide.

You'll want to know: انقلب

انقلب — inqalaba — "to overturn, to turn over".

الطريق جانب على الشاحنة انقلبت.

inqalabat ash-shāḥina ᶜalā jānib aṭ-ṭarīq.

The lorry overturned at the side of the road.

Present: ينقلب, yanqalib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انقلب (inqalaba) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-b (Lane), "to turn a thing over", the root of qalb, the heart, which turns. It is Form VII, "to be turned over".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: inqalaba
- Say it: inqalaba, once more
- Say it: inqalabat ash-shāḥina ʿalā jānib aṭ-ṭarīq. — The lorry overturned at the side of the road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to arrest, then the Arabic for to collide, then say inqalaba again

Before you move on

What does انقلب mean? ("To overturn, to turn over".) Say it once more.

301.3 ضحية (ḍaḥiyya) — a victim

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to collide, then the Arabic for to overturn.

You'll want to know: ضحية

ضحية — ḍaḥiyya — "a victim".

الحادث ضحية الولد كان.

kāna al-walad ḍaḥiyyat al-ḥādith.

The boy was the victim of the accident.

Plural: ضحايا, ḍaḥāyā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضحية (ḍaḥiyya) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ḥ-w (Lane), the root of the taught ḍuḥā, the bright late morning. Lane gives ḍaḥiyya first as an animal offered at that hour; today it is anyone who suffers harm.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍaḥiyya
- Say it: ḍaḥiyya, once more
- Say it: kāna al-walad ḍaḥiyyat al-ḥādith. — The boy was the victim of the accident.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to collide, then the Arabic for to overturn, then say ḍaḥiyya again

Before you move on

What does ضحية mean? ("A victim".) Say it once more.

301.4 جريح (jarīḥ) — a wounded person; wounded

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to overturn, then the Arabic for a victim.

You'll want to know: جريح

جريح — jarīḥ — "a wounded person; wounded".

المستشفى إلى الجريح الإسعاف سيارة نقلت.

naqalat sayyārat al-is^{c}āf al-jarīḥ ilā al-mustashfā.

The ambulance took the wounded man to hospital.

Plural: جرحى, jarḥā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جريح (jarīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-ḥ (Lane), "to wound", the root of the taught jurḥ, a wound. The fa^{c}īl pattern gives the one who bears it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: jarīḥ
- Say it: jarīḥ, once more
- Say it: naqalat sayyārat al-is^{c}āf al-jarīḥ ilā al-mustashfā. — The ambulance took the wounded man to hospital.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to overturn, then the Arabic for a victim, then say jarīḥ again

Before you move on

What does جريح mean? ("A wounded person; wounded".) Say it once more.

301.5 أسعف (as^{c}afa) — to give first aid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a victim, then the Arabic for a wounded person.

You'll want to know: أسعف

أسعف — as^{c}afa — "to give first aid".

الشارع في الولد الطبيب أسعف.

as^{c}afa aṭ-ṭabīb al-walad fī ash-shāri^{c}.

The doctor gave the boy first aid in the street.

Present: يسعف, yus^{c}if.
The taught إسعاف, first aid, is its verbal noun.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسعف (as^{c}afa) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-f (Lane), "to help, to give someone what he needs". It is Form IV; is^{c}āf is its verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: as^{c}afa
- Say it: as^{c}afa, once more
- Say it: as^{c}afa aṭ-ṭabīb al-walad fī ash-shāri^{c}. — The doctor gave the boy first aid in the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a victim, then the Arabic for a wounded person, then say as^{c}afa again

Before you move on

What does أسعف mean? ("To give first aid".) Say it once more.

Chapter 302

An interview

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a dialogue, to interview, to conduct, to host and a spokesperson.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 302: I can say a dialogue, to interview, to conduct, to host and a spokesperson.

302.1 حوار (ḥiwār) — a dialogue, a conversation

> Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wounded person, then the Arabic for to give first aid.

You'll want to know: حوار

حوار — ḥiwār — "a dialogue, a conversation".

> الكاتب مع حوارا المجلة نشرت.
>
> nasharat al-majalla ḥiwāran maᶜa al-kātib.
>
> The magazine published a conversation with the writer.

In the press a حوار is an interview printed as questions and answers.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حوار (ḥiwār) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-r (Lane), "to go back, to return". Speech that goes back and forth is a ḥiwār, the verbal noun of Form III.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥiwār
- Say it: ḥiwār, once more
- Say it: nasharat al-majalla ḥiwāran ma^{c}a al-kātib. — The magazine published a conversation with the writer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wounded person, then the Arabic for to give first aid, then say ḥiwār again

Before you move on

What does حوار mean? ("A dialogue, a conversation".) Say it once more.

302.2 حاور (ḥāwara) — to hold a dialogue; to interview

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to give first aid, then the Arabic for a dialogue.

You'll want to know: حاور

حاور — ḥāwara — "to hold a dialogue; to interview".

حاور المذيع لاعبا مشهورا.

ḥāwara al-mudhī^{c} lā^{c}iban mashhūran.

The presenter interviewed a famous player.

Present: يحاور, yuḥāwir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاور (ḥāwara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-r (Lane), "to go back". It is Form III, "to answer one another".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāwara
- Say it: ḥāwara, once more
- Say it: ḥāwara al-mudhī^{c} lā^{c}iban mashhūran. — The presenter interviewed a famous player.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to give first aid, then the Arabic for a dialogue, then say ḥāwara again

Before you move on

What does حاور mean? ("To hold a dialogue; to interview".) Say it once more.

302.3 أجرى (ajrā) — to conduct, to carry out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dialogue, then the Arabic for to hold a dialogue.

You'll want to know: أجرى

أجرى — ajrā — "to conduct, to carry out".

أجرت الصحفية مقابلة مع الطبيب.

ajrat aṣ-ṣaḥafiyya muqābala ma^{c}a aṭ-ṭabīb.

The journalist did an interview with the doctor.

Present: يجري, yujrī.
مقابلة أجرى, to conduct an interview; عملية أجرى, to perform an operation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أجرى (ajrā) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-y (Lane), "to run, to flow", the root of jarā, to run. It is Form IV, "to make a thing run": to carry it through.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ajrā
- Say it: ajrā, once more
- Say it: ajrat aṣ-ṣaḥafiyya muqābala maᶜa aṭ-ṭabīb. — The journalist did an interview with the doctor.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dialogue, then the Arabic for to hold a dialogue, then say ajrā again

Before you move on

What does أجرى mean? ("To conduct, to carry out".) Say it once more.

302.4 استضاف (istaḍāfa) — to host, to have as a guest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hold a dialogue, then the Arabic for to conduct.

You'll want to know: استضاف

استضاف — istaḍāfa — "to host, to have as a guest".

استضافت المدرسة كاتبا معروفا.

istaḍāfat al-madrasa kātiban maᶜrūfan.

The school hosted a well-known writer.

Present: يستضيف, yastaḍīf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استضاف (istaḍāfa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-f (Lane), the root of the taught ḍayf, a guest. It is Form X, first "to ask someone for protection or refuge"; today a programme or a city that hosts.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istaḍāfa
- Say it: istaḍāfa, once more
- Say it: istaḍāfat al-madrasa kātiban maᶜrūfan. — The school hosted a well-known writer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hold a dialogue, then the Arabic for to conduct, then say istaḍāfa again

Before you move on

What does استضاف mean? ("To host, to have as a guest".) Say it once more.

302.5 متحدث (mutaḥaddith) — a spokesperson; a speaker

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to conduct, then the Arabic for to host.

You'll want to know: متحدث

متحدث — mutaḥaddith — "a spokesperson; a speaker".

قال متحدث إن المصنع مغلق اليوم.

qāla mutaḥaddith inna al-maṣnaᶜ mughlaq al-yawm.

A spokesman said that the factory is closed today.

الشركة باسم متحدث: a spokesman for the company.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متحدث (mutaḥaddith) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-th (Lane), the root of the taught ḥadīth, talk. Mutaḥaddith is the Form V participle, "one who speaks".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mutaḥaddith
- Say it: mutaḥaddith, once more
- Say it: qāla mutaḥaddith inna al-maṣna^{c} mughlaq al-yawm. — A spokesman said that the factory is closed today.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to conduct, then the Arabic for to host, then say mutaḥaddith again

Before you move on

What does متحدث mean? ("A spokesperson; a speaker".) Say it once more.

Chapter 303

Legends and heroes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a legend, a myth, a hero, a villain and to imagine.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 303: I can say a legend, a myth, a hero, a villain and to imagine.

303.1 أسطورة (usṭūra) — a legend

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to host, then the Arabic for a spokesperson.

You'll want to know: أسطورة

أسطورة — usṭūra — "a legend".

> قديم جبل عن أسطورة سمعنا.
>
> sami^{c}nā usṭūra ^{c}an jabal qadīm.
>
> We heard a legend about an old mountain.

Plural: أساطير, asāṭīr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسطورة (usṭūra) is filed by Lane under the root s-ṭ-r, "a line of writing", and its plural asāṭīr is old. It was borrowed from Greek historia, "an inquiry, a story" (EtymDB); others see a native word, so the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: usṭūra
- Say it: usṭūra, once more
- Say it: samiᶜnā usṭūra ᶜan jabal qadīm. — We heard a legend about an old mountain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to host, then the Arabic for a spokesperson, then say usṭūra again

Before you move on

What does أسطورة mean? ("A legend".) Say it once more.

303.2 خرافة (khurāfa) — a myth, a superstition

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a spokesperson, then the Arabic for a legend.

You'll want to know: خرافة

خرافة — khurāfa — "a myth, a superstition".

قال جدي إن القصة خرافة.

qāla jaddī inna al-qiṣṣa khurāfa.

My grandfather said the story was a myth.

Plural خرافات. Of a belief it means a superstition.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خرافة (khurāfa) comes from a name, as Lane records under the root kh-r-f (Lane): Khurāfa, a man of the tribe of ᶜUdhra, told what he had seen among the jinn and was called a liar, and khurāfāt became tales deemed pretty but untrue.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khurāfa
- Say it: khurāfa, once more
- Say it: qāla jaddī inna al-qiṣṣa khurāfa. — My grandfather said the story was a myth.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a spokesperson, then the Arabic for a legend, then say khurāfa again

Before you move on

What does خرافة mean? ("A myth, a superstition".) Say it once more.

303.3 بطل (baṭal) — a hero; a champion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a legend, then the Arabic for a myth.

You'll want to know: بطل

بطل — baṭal — "a hero; a champion".

كان جدي بطلا في قريته.

kāna jaddī baṭalan fī qaryatihi.

My grandfather was a hero in his village.

Plural: أبطال, abṭāl.
In sport بطل is a champion, and the hero of a film or novel is its بطل too.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطل (baṭal) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-l (Lane), "to come to nothing". Lane explains baṭal, a brave man, as one whose wound goes for nothing, so that it does not hold him back.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭal
- Say it: baṭal, once more
- Say it: kāna jaddī baṭalan fī qaryatihi. — My grandfather was a hero in his village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a legend, then the Arabic for a myth, then say baṭal again

Before you move on

What does بطل mean? ("A hero; a champion".) Say it once more.

303.4 شرير (shirrīr) — a villain; wicked

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a myth, then the Arabic for a hero.

You'll want to know: شرير

شرير — shirrīr — "a villain; wicked".

كان الملك في الحكاية شريرا.

kāna al-malik fī al-ḥikāya shirrīran.

The king in the tale was wicked.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرير (shirrīr) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-r (Lane), the root of sharr, evil. The fi^{cc}īl pattern marks a quality held strongly: "very evil".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: shirrīr
- Say it: shirrīr, once more
- Say it: kāna al-malik fī al-ḥikāya shirrīran. — The king in the tale was wicked.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a myth, then the Arabic for a hero, then say shirrīr again

Before you move on

What does شرير mean? ("A villain; wicked".) Say it once more.

303.5 تخيل (takhayyala) — to imagine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hero, then the Arabic for a villain.

You'll want to know: تخيل

تخيل — takhayyala — "to imagine".

المدينة فوق تطير أنها البنت تخيلت.

takhayyalat al-bint annahā taṭīru fawqa al-madīna.

The girl imagined that she was flying over the city.

Present: يتخيل, yatakhayyal.
It often takes أن: أنها تخيلت ..., she imagined that she ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تخيل (takhayyala) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-l (Lane), "to think, to fancy", the root of khayāl, imagination. It is Form V, "to picture to oneself".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: takhayyala
- Say it: takhayyala, once more
- Say it: takhayyalat al-bint annahā taṭīru fawqa al-madīna. — The girl imagined that she was flying over the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hero, then the Arabic for a villain, then say takhayyala again

Before you move on

What does تخيل mean? ("To imagine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 304

Long ago

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an age, long ago, an era, at that time and a reign.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 304: I can say an age, long ago, an era, at that time and a reign.

304.1 زمن (zaman) — an age, a span of time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a villain, then the Arabic for to imagine.

You'll want to know: زمن

زمن — zaman — "an age, a span of time".

> جدي زمن في ذلك كان.
>
> kāna dhālika fī zaman jaddī.
>
> That was in my grandfather's time.

Plural: أزمنة, azmina.
وقت is a time for something; زمن is time as a stretch, an age.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زمن (zaman) is built on the native Arabic root z-m-n (Lane), where zaman and zamān name time, a short span or a long one.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: zaman
- Say it: zaman, once more
- Say it: kāna dhālika fī zaman jaddī. — That was in my grandfather's time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a villain, then the Arabic for to imagine, then say zaman again

Before you move on

What does زمن mean? ("An age, a span of time".) Say it once more.

304.2 طويل زمن منذ (mundhu zaman ṭawīl) — long ago; for a long time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to imagine, then the Arabic for an age.

You'll want to know: طويل زمن منذ

طويل زمن منذ — mundhu zaman ṭawīl — "long ago; for a long time".

كبيرة غابة هنا كانت طويل زمن منذ.

mundhu zaman ṭawīl kānat hunā ghāba kabīra.

Long ago there was a big forest here.

It opens a story set in the past, or says how long a thing has lasted.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طويل زمن منذ (mundhu zaman ṭawīl) is "since a long time": the taught mundhu, "since", with zaman, built on the native Arabic root z-m-n (Lane), and ṭawīl, long.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mundhu zaman ṭawīl
- Say it: mundhu zaman ṭawīl, once more
- Say it: mundhu zaman ṭawīl kānat hunā ghāba kabīra. — Long ago there was a big forest here.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to imagine, then the Arabic for an age, then say mundhu zaman ṭawīl again

Before you move on

What does طويل زمن منذ mean? ("Long ago; for a long time".) Say it once more.

304.3 حقبة (ḥiqba) — an era, a long period

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an age, then the Arabic for long ago.

You'll want to know: حقبة

حقبة — ḥiqba — "an era, a long period".

البلد تاريخ في صعبة حقبة تلك كانت.

kānat tilka ḥiqba ṣaᶜba fī tārīkh al-balad.

That was a hard era in the country's history.

Plural: حقب, ḥiqab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقبة (ḥiqba) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-b (Lane), where ḥiqba and ḥuqb name a long span of years, and ḥaqība, a bag tied behind the saddle, is the same root.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥiqba
- Say it: ḥiqba, once more
- Say it: kānat tilka ḥiqba ṣaᶜba fī tārīkh al-balad. — That was a hard era in the country's history.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an age, then the Arabic for long ago, then say ḥiqba again

Before you move on

What does حقبة mean? ("An era, a long period".) Say it once more.

304.4 آنذاك (ānadhāk) — at that time, back then

Before the new one: say the Arabic for long ago, then the Arabic for an era.

You'll want to know: آنذاك

آنذاك — ānadhāk — "at that time, back then".

كان أبي آنذاك طالبا في الجامعة.

kāna abī ānadhāk ṭāliban fī al-jāmiᶜa.

My father was a university student at that time.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

آنذاك (ānadhāk) is usually traced to ān, "a time", the same word as in the taught الآن, now, joined to dhāka, "that": "at that time".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ānadhāk
- Say it: ānadhāk, once more
- Say it: kāna abī ānadhāk ṭāliban fī al-jāmiᶜa. — My father was a university student at that time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for long ago, then the Arabic for an era, then say ānadhāk again

Before you move on

What does آنذاك mean? ("At that time, back then".) Say it once more.

304.5 عهد (ᶜahd) — a reign, an era; a pledge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an era, then the Arabic for at that time.

You'll want to know: عهد

عهد — ᶜahd — "a reign, an era; a pledge".

الأول الملك عهد في الجسر بني.

buniya al-jisr fī ᶜahd al-malik al-awwal.

The bridge was built in the reign of the first king.

Plural: عهود, ᶜuhūd.
عهد في: in the days of, under. Also a promise: بالعهد وفى, he kept the pledge.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عهد (ᶜahd) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-h-d (Lane), "to enjoin, to bind by a compact". A ruler's pledge marks his time, so ᶜahd is also a reign.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜahd
- Say it: ᶜahd, once more
- Say it: buniya al-jisr fī ᶜahd al-malik al-awwal. — The bridge was built in the reign of the first king.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an era, then the Arabic for at that time, then say ᶜahd again

Before you move on

What does عهد mean? ("A reign, an era; a pledge".) Say it once more.

Chapter 305

In court

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a court, an eyewitness, to accuse, a defendant and to pass judgment.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 305: I can say a court, an eyewitness, to accuse, a defendant and to pass judgment.

305.1 محكمة (maḥkama) — a court of law

Before the new one: say the Arabic for at that time, then the Arabic for a reign.

You'll want to know: محكمة

محكمة — maḥkama — "a court of law".

> كبيرة محكمة المدينة في.
>
> fī al-madīna maḥkama kabīra.
>
> There is a big court in the city.

Plural: محاكم, maḥākim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محكمة (maḥkama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-m (Lane), "to restrain from wrong, to judge". The maf^{c}ala pattern names a place:

"the place of judging".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥkama
- Say it: maḥkama, once more
- Say it: fī al-madīna maḥkama kabīra. — There is a big court in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for at that time, then the Arabic for a reign, then say maḥkama again

Before you move on

What does محكمة mean? ("A court of law".) Say it once more.

305.2 عيان شاهد (shāhid ᶜiyān) — an eyewitness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a reign, then the Arabic for a court of law.

You'll want to know: عيان شاهد

عيان شاهد — shāhid ᶜiyān — "an eyewitness".

القاضي أمام عيان شاهد تكلم.

takallama shāhid ᶜiyān amāma al-qāḍī.

An eyewitness spoke before the judge.

Plural عيان شهود. The taught verb شاهد, to watch, is the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عيان شاهد (shāhid ᶜiyān) is "a witness by sight": shāhid is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d, "to be present, to witness", and ᶜiyān on ᶜ-y-n, the root of ᶜayn, an eye (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: shāhid ᶜiyān
- Say it: shāhid ᶜiyān, once more
- Say it: takallama shāhid ᶜiyān amāma al-qāḍī. — An eyewitness spoke before the judge.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a reign, then the Arabic for a court of law, then say shāhid ᶜiyān again

Before you move on

What does عيان شاهد mean? ("An eyewitness".) Say it once more.

305.3 اتهم (ittahama) — to accuse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a court of law, then the Arabic for an eyewitness.

You'll want to know: اتهم

اتهم — ittahama — "to accuse".

بالسرقة الرجل الشرطة اتهمت.

ittahamat ash-shurṭa ar-rajul bi-s-sariqa.

The police accused the man of theft.

Present: يتهم, yattahim.
The person accused, then بـ before the deed: بالكذب اتهمه.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتهم (ittahama) is built on the native Arabic root w-h-m (Lane), "to fancy, to suspect". It is Form VIII, where w merges into the t: "to cast suspicion on"; tuhma is a charge.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ittahama
- Say it: ittahama, once more
- Say it: ittahamat ash-shurṭa ar-rajul bi-s-sariqa. — The police accused the man of theft.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a court of law, then the Arabic for an eyewitness, then say ittahama again

Before you move on

What does اتهم mean? ("To accuse".) Say it once more.

305.4 متهم (muttaham) — a defendant, an accused

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eyewitness, then the Arabic for to accuse.

You'll want to know: متهم

متهم — muttaham — "a defendant, an accused".

قال متهم إنه كان في بيته.

qāla muttaham innahu kāna fī baytihi.

One defendant said he had been at home.

Plural متهمون.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متهم (muttaham) is built on the native Arabic root w-h-m (Lane), "to suspect". Muttaham is the passive participle of ittahama: "the one accused".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: muttaham
- Say it: muttaham, once more
- Say it: qāla muttaham innahu kāna fī baytihi. — One defendant said he had been at home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eyewitness, then the Arabic for to accuse, then say muttaham again

Before you move on

What does متهم mean? ("A defendant, an accused".) Say it once more.

305.5 حكم (ḥakama) — to pass judgment; to rule

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to accuse, then the Arabic for a defendant.

You'll want to know: حكم

حكم — ḥakama — "to pass judgment; to rule".

بالسجن اللص على القاضي حكم.

ḥakama al-qāḍī ᶜalā al-liṣṣ bi-s-sijn.

The judge sentenced the thief to prison.

Present: يحكم, yaḥkum.

حكم على someone بـ: to sentence; حكم البلد: to rule the country. The noun حكم is a verdict.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حكم (ḥakama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-m (Lane), first "to restrain from wrong", then "to judge" and "to rule"; ḥikma, wisdom, shares it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥakama
- Say it: ḥakama, once more
- Say it: ḥakama al-qāḍī ᶜalā al-liṣṣ bi-s-sijn. — The judge sentenced the thief to prison.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to accuse, then the Arabic for a defendant, then say ḥakama again

Before you move on

What does حكم mean? ("To pass judgment; to rule".) Say it once more.

Chapter 306

A wedding

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a wedding feast, to propose marriage, an engagement, to escort a bride and to ululate.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 306: I can say a wedding feast, to propose marriage, an engagement, to escort a bride and to ululate.

306.1 عرس (ᶜurs) — a wedding feast, a wedding

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a defendant, then the Arabic for to pass judgment.

You'll want to know: عرس

عرس — ᶜurs — "a wedding feast, a wedding".

القرية في عمي ابن عرس حضرنا.

ḥaḍarnā ᶜurs ibn ᶜammī fī al-qarya.

We went to my cousin's wedding in the village.

Plural: أعراس, aᶜrās.
The taught عروس, bride, and عريس, groom, are the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عرس (ᶜurs) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-s (Lane), the root of the taught ᶜarūs, a bride, and ᶜarīs, a groom. ᶜUrs is the feast held for them.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜurs
- Say it: ᶜurs, once more
- Say it: ḥaḍarnā ᶜurs ibn ᶜammī fī al-qarya. — We went to my cousin's wedding in the village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a defendant, then the Arabic for to pass judgment, then say ᶜurs again

Before you move on

What does عرس mean? ("A wedding feast, a wedding".) Say it once more.

306.2 خطب (khaṭaba) — to propose marriage; to make a speech

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pass judgment, then the Arabic for a wedding feast.

You'll want to know: خطب

خطب — khaṭaba — "to propose marriage; to make a speech".

الماضي الشهر جارتنا أخي خطب.

khaṭaba akhī jāratanā ash-shahr al-māḍī.

My brother asked our neighbour to marry him last month.

Present: يخطب, yakhṭub.
خطب فتاة: to ask for her hand. خطب في الناس: to speak to a crowd.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطب (khaṭaba) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-b (Lane), "to address, to speak to". Lane gives both senses: khiṭba, asking for a woman in marriage, and khuṭba, a speech.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭaba
- Say it: khaṭaba, once more
- Say it: khaṭaba akhī jāratanā ash-shahr al-māḍī. — My brother asked our neighbour to marry him last month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pass judgment, then the Arabic for a wedding feast, then say khaṭaba again

Before you move on

What does خطب mean? ("To propose marriage; to make a speech".) Say it once more.

306.3 خطوبة (khuṭūba) — an engagement to marry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wedding feast, then the Arabic for to propose marriage.

You'll want to know: خطوبة

خطوبة — khuṭūba — "an engagement to marry".

أمس خطوبتها أختي أعلنت.

a^{c}lanat ukhtī khuṭūbatahā ams.

My sister announced her engagement yesterday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطوبة (khuṭūba) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-b (Lane), "to address; to ask in marriage". Khuṭūba is the time between the asking and the wedding.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khuṭūba
- Say it: khuṭūba, once more
- Say it: a^{c}lanat ukhtī khuṭūbatahā ams. — My sister announced her engagement yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wedding feast, then the Arabic for to propose marriage, then say khuṭūba again

Before you move on

What does خطوبة mean? ("An engagement to marry".) Say it once more.

306.4 زف (zaffa) — to escort a bride; to bring good news

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to propose marriage, then the Arabic for an engagement to marry.

You'll want to know: زف

زف — zaffa — "to escort a bride; to bring good news".

زف الأهل العروس إلى بيتها الجديد.

zaffa al-ahl al-ᶜarūs ilā baytihā al-jadīd.

The family led the bride to her new home.

Present: يزف, yazuff.

The taught زفاف, a wedding, is its verbal noun. زف إليه الخبر: he brought him the good news.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زف (zaffa) is built on the native Arabic root z-f-f (Lane), where zaffa al-ᶜarūs is to conduct the bride to her husband with music and pageantry; zifāf is its verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: zaffa
- Say it: zaffa, once more
- Say it: zaffa al-ahl al-ᶜarūs ilā baytihā al-jadīd. — The family led the bride to her new home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to propose marriage, then the Arabic for an engagement to marry, then say zaffa again

Before you move on

What does زف mean? ("To escort a bride; to bring good news".) Say it once more.

306.5 زغرد (zaghrada) — to ululate for joy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an engagement to marry, then the Arabic for to escort a bride.

You'll want to know: زغرد

زغرد — zaghrada — "to ululate for joy".

> العروس دخلت عندما النساء زغردت.
>
> zaghradat an-nisāʾ ᶜindamā dakhalat al-ᶜarūs.
>
> The women ululated when the bride came in.

Present: يزغرد, yuzaghrid.
The cry itself is زغرودة; plural زغاريد.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زغرد (zaghrada) is built on the native Arabic four-letter root z-gh-r-d (Lane), first said of the bray a camel rolls in its throat, then of the trilling cry women raise at a wedding.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: zaghrada
- Say it: zaghrada, once more
- Say it: zaghradat an-nisāʾ ᶜindamā dakhalat al-ᶜarūs. — The women ululated when the bride came in.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an engagement to marry, then the Arabic for to escort a bride, then say zaghrada again

Before you move on

What does زغرد mean? ("To ululate for joy".) Say it once more.

Chapter 307

Armies and wars

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an army, a soldier, a war, a battle and to wage war.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 307: I can say an army, a soldier, a war, a battle and to wage war.

307.1 جيش (jaysh) — an army

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to escort a bride, then the Arabic for to ululate for joy.

You'll want to know: جيش

جيش — jaysh — "an army".

الليل في النهر الجيش عبر.

ᶜabara al-jaysh an-nahr fī al-layl.

The army crossed the river at night.

Plural: جيوش, juyūsh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جيش (jaysh) is built on the native Arabic root j-y-sh (Lane), where jāsha means "to rise, to heave, to surge". Lane gives jaysh as an army, or men going out to war.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: jaysh
- Say it: jaysh, once more
- Say it: ᶜabara al-jaysh an-nahr fī al-layl. — The army crossed the river at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to escort a bride, then the Arabic for to ululate for joy, then say jaysh again

Before you move on

What does جيش mean? ("An army".) Say it once more.

307.2 جندي (jundī) — a soldier

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ululate for joy, then the Arabic for an army.

You'll want to know: جندي

جندي — jundī — "a soldier".

شبابه في جنديا جدي كان.

kāna jaddī jundiyyan fī shabābihi.

My grandfather was a soldier in his youth.

Plural: جنود, junūd.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جندي (jundī) is built on jund, "troops, a host", filed under the root j-n-d (Lane), with the nisba ending -ī: "one of the troops".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: jundī
- Say it: jundī, once more
- Say it: kāna jaddī jundiyyan fī shabābihi. — My grandfather was a soldier in his youth.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ululate for joy, then the Arabic for an army, then say jundī again

Before you move on

What does جندي mean? ("A soldier".) Say it once more.

307.3 حرب (ḥarb) — a war

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an army, then the Arabic for a soldier.

You'll want to know: حرب

حرب — ḥarb — "a war".

الحرب زمن في صغيرا جدي كان.

kāna jaddī ṣaghīran fī zaman al-ḥarb.

My grandfather was a small boy in wartime.

Plural: حروب, ḥurūb.
حرب is feminine: حرب طويلة, a long war.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرب (ḥarb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-b (Lane), where ḥaraba is "to strip a man of his goods". War, which strips people of their goods, is usually explained from it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarb
- Say it: ḥarb, once more
- Say it: kāna jaddī ṣaghīran fī zaman al-ḥarb. — My grandfather was a small boy in wartime.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an army, then the Arabic for a soldier, then say ḥarb again

Before you move on

What does حرب mean? ("A war".) Say it once more.

307.4 معركة (ma^{c}raka) — a battle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a soldier, then the Arabic for a war.

You'll want to know: معركة

معركة — ma^{c}raka — "a battle".

النهر قرب كبيرة معركة وقعت.

waqa^{c}at ma^{c}raka kabīra qurba an-nahr.

A big battle took place near the river.

Plural: معارك, ma^{c}ārik.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معركة (ma^{c}raka) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-r-k (Lane), "to rub hard, to grind". Ma^{c}raka is the place where fighters grind against each other: the field of battle.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}raka
- Say it: ma^{c}raka, once more
- Say it: waqa^{c}at ma^{c}raka kabīra qurba an-nahr. — A big battle took place near the river.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a soldier, then the Arabic for a war, then say ma^{c}raka again

Before you move on

What does معركة mean? ("A battle".) Say it once more.

307.5 حارب (ḥāraba) — to wage war; to fight against

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a war, then the Arabic for a battle.

You'll want to know: حارب

حارب — ḥāraba — "to wage war; to fight against".

حارب الأمير جيشا كبيرا.

ḥāraba al-amīr jayshan kabīran.

The prince fought a large army.

Present: يحارب, yuḥārib.
It also fights a problem: التلوث المدينة حاربت.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حارب (ḥāraba) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-b (Lane), the root of ḥarb, war. It is Form III, "to make war with someone".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāraba
- Say it: ḥāraba, once more
- Say it: ḥāraba al-amīr jayshan kabīran. — The prince fought a large army.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a war, then the Arabic for a battle, then say ḥāraba again

Before you move on

What does حارب mean? ("To wage war; to fight against".) Say it once more.

Chapter 308

An investigation

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an investigation, to investigate, an investigator, evidence and a fingerprint.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 308: I can say an investigation, to investigate, an investigator, evidence and a fingerprint.

308.1 تحقيق (taḥqīq) — an investigation, an inquiry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a battle, then the Arabic for to wage war.

You'll want to know: تحقيق

تحقيق — taḥqīq — "an investigation, an inquiry".

> الحادث في تحقيقا الشرطة بدأت.
>
> badaʾat ash-shurṭa taḥqīqan fī al-ḥādith.
>
> The police opened an investigation into the accident.

Plural تحقيقات. In the press, a تحقيق is an investigative report.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحقيق (taḥqīq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q (Lane), the root of ḥaqq, truth and right. Taḥqīq is the verbal noun of Form II: "making sure of the truth".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥqīq
- Say it: taḥqīq, once more
- Say it: badaʾat ash-shurṭa taḥqīqan fī al-ḥādith. — The police opened an investigation into the accident.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a battle, then the Arabic for to wage war, then say taḥqīq again

Before you move on

What does تحقيق mean? ("An investigation, an inquiry".) Say it once more.

308.2 حقق (ḥaqqaqa) — to investigate; to achieve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wage war, then the Arabic for an investigation.

You'll want to know: حقق

حقق — ḥaqqaqa — "to investigate; to achieve".

الحارس مع الشرطة حققت.

ḥaqqaqat ash-shurṭa maᶜa al-ḥāris.

The police questioned the guard.

Present: يحقق, yuḥaqqiq.
حقق مع someone: to question them. حقق هدفه: he reached his goal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقق (ḥaqqaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q (Lane), the root of ḥaqq, truth. It is Form II, "to make sure of; to make come true".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaqqaqa
- Say it: ḥaqqaqa, once more
- Say it: ḥaqqaqat ash-shurṭa maᶜa al-ḥāris. — The police questioned the guard.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wage war, then the Arabic for an investigation, then say ḥaqqaqa again

Before you move on

What does حقق mean? ("To investigate; to achieve".) Say it once more.

308.3 محقق (muḥaqqiq) — an investigator, a detective

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an investigation, then the Arabic for to investigate.

You'll want to know: محقق

محقق — muḥaqqiq — "an investigator, a detective".

الحريق عن الجيران المحقق سأل.

saʾala al-muḥaqqiq al-jīrān ᶜan al-ḥarīq.

The investigator asked the neighbours about the fire.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محقق (muḥaqqiq) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q (Lane), the root of ḥaqq, truth. Muḥaqqiq is the Form II participle, "one who makes sure of the truth".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥaqqiq
- Say it: muḥaqqiq, once more
- Say it: saʾala al-muḥaqqiq al-jīrān ʿan al-ḥarīq. — The investigator asked the neighbours about the fire.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an investigation, then the Arabic for to investigate, then say muḥaqqiq again

Before you move on

What does محقق mean? ("An investigator, a detective".) Say it once more.

308.4 دليل (dalīl) — evidence, proof; a guide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to investigate, then the Arabic for an investigator.

You'll want to know: دليل

دليل — dalīl — "evidence, proof; a guide".

الغرفة في دليلا المحقق وجد.

wajada al-muḥaqqiq dalīlan fī al-ghurfa.

The investigator found a piece of evidence in the room.

Plural: أدلة, adilla.
Also a guidebook or a guide: دليل سياحي.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دليل (dalīl) is built on the native Arabic root d-l-l (Lane), "to direct, to show the way". A dalīl is what points the way to a place, or to the truth.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dalīl
- Say it: dalīl, once more
- Say it: wajada al-muḥaqqiq dalīlan fī al-ghurfa. — The investigator found a piece of evidence in the room.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to investigate, then the Arabic for an investigator, then say dalīl again

Before you move on

What does دليل mean? ("Evidence, proof; a guide".) Say it once more.

308.5 بصمة (baṣma) — a fingerprint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an investigator, then the Arabic for evidence.

You'll want to know: بصمة

بصمة — baṣma — "a fingerprint".

الباب على بصمة الشرطة وجدت.

wajadat ash-shurṭa baṣma ᶜalā al-bāb.

The police found a fingerprint on the door.

Plural بصمات. الإصبع بصمة in full.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بصمة (baṣma) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṣ-m (Lane), where buṣm is the span between the little finger and the third finger spread apart. Baṣma, a fingerprint, is a modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: baṣma
- Say it: baṣma, once more
- Say it: wajadat ash-shurṭa baṣma ᶜalā al-bāb. — The police found a fingerprint on the door.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an investigator, then the Arabic for evidence, then say baṣma again

Before you move on

What does بصمة mean? ("A fingerprint".) Say it once more.

308.6 Words from chapters 301–308 — a review

Say the Arabic for to collide and to overturn.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to collide, to overturn, a victim, a wounded person, to give first aid
- a dialogue, to hold a dialogue, to conduct, to host, a spokesperson
- a legend, a myth, a hero, a villain, to imagine
- an age, long ago, an era, at that time, a reign
- a court of law, an eyewitness, to accuse, a defendant, to pass judgment

- a wedding feast, to propose marriage, an engagement to marry, to escort a bride, to ululate for joy
- an army, a soldier, a war, a battle, to wage war
- an investigation, to investigate, an investigator, evidence, a fingerprint

Before you move on

To collide? (اصطدم, iṣṭadama.) To overturn? (انقلب, inqalaba.) A victim? (ضحية, ḍaḥiyya.) A wounded person? (جريح, jarīḥ.) To give first aid? (أسعف, as^{c}afa.) A dialogue? (حوار, ḥiwār.) To hold a dialogue? (حاور, ḥāwara.) To conduct? (أجرى, ajrā.) To host? (استضاف, istaḍāfa.) A spokesperson? (متحدث, mutaḥaddith.) A legend? (أسطورة, usṭūra.) A myth? (خرافة, khurāfa.) A hero? (بطل, baṭal.) A villain? (شرير, shirrīr.) To imagine? (تخيل, takhayyala.) An age? (زمن, zaman.) Long ago? (طويل زمن منذ, mundhu zaman ṭawīl.) An era? (حقبة, ḥiqba.) At that time? (آنذاك, ānadhāk.) A reign? (عهد, ^{c}ahd.) A court of law? (محكمة, maḥkama.) An eyewitness? (عيان شاهد, shāhid ^{c}iyān.) To accuse? (اتهم, ittahama.) A defendant? (متهم, muttaham.) To pass judgment? (حكم, ḥakama.) A wedding feast? (عرس, ^{c}urs.) To propose marriage? (خطب, khaṭaba.) An engagement to marry? (خطوبة, khuṭūba.) To escort a bride? (زف, zaffa.) To ululate for joy? (زغرد, zaghrada.) An army? (جيش, jaysh.) A soldier? (جندي, jundī.) A war? (حرب, ḥarb.) A battle? (معركة, ma^{c}raka.) To wage war? (حارب, ḥāraba.) An investigation? (تحقيق, taḥqīq.) To investigate? (حقق, ḥaqqaqa.) An investigator? (محقق, muḥaqqiq.) Evidence? (دليل, dalīl.) A fingerprint? (بصمة, baṣma.)

Chapter 309

Princes and palaces

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a prince, a palace, a crown, a throne and to crown.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 309: I can say a prince, a palace, a crown, a throne and to crown.

309.1 أمير (amīr) — a prince; an emir

Before the new one: say the Arabic for evidence, then the Arabic for a fingerprint.

You'll want to know: أمير

أمير — amīr — "a prince; an emir".

> شاب أمير المدينة في كان.
>
> kāna fī al-madīna amīr shābb.
>
> There was a young prince in the city.

Plural: أمراء, umarāʾ.
The feminine is أميرة, a princess.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمير (amīr) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-r (Lane), "to command", the root of amr, an order. An amīr is one who commands; English emir and admiral are usually traced to it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: amīr
- Say it: amīr, once more
- Say it: kāna fī al-madīna amīr shābb. — There was a young prince in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for evidence, then the Arabic for a fingerprint, then say amīr again

Before you move on

What does أمير mean? ("A prince; an emir".) Say it once more.

309.2 قصر (qaṣr) — a palace

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fingerprint, then the Arabic for a prince.

You'll want to know: قصر

قصر — qaṣr — "a palace".

البحر قرب قديما قصرا زرنا.

zurnā qaṣran qadīman qurba al-baḥr.

We visited an old palace near the sea.

Plural: قصور, quṣūr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قصر (qaṣr) is filed by Lane under the root q-ṣ-r, "to confine, to keep within". It was borrowed from Aramaic qaṣrā (EtymDB), which is usually traced to Latin castra, a camp; the Latin step is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṣr
- Say it: qaṣr, once more
- Say it: zurnā qaṣran qadīman qurba al-baḥr. — We visited an old palace near the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fingerprint, then the Arabic for a prince, then say qaṣr again

Before you move on

What does قصر mean? ("A palace".) Say it once more.

309.3 تاج (tāj) — a crown

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a prince, then the Arabic for a palace.

You'll want to know: تاج

تاج — tāj — "a crown".

الذهب من تاجا الملكة لبست.

labisat al-malika tājan min adh-dhahab.

The queen wore a crown of gold.

Plural: تيجان, tījān.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تاج (tāj) was borrowed from Middle Iranian (Parthian) tāg, "a crown" (EtymDB), an old borrowing; Aramaic tāgā is its cousin. Arabic made a verb from it: tawwaja, to crown.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tāj
- Say it: tāj, once more
- Say it: labisat al-malika tājan min adh-dhahab. — The queen wore a crown of gold.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a prince, then the Arabic for a palace, then say tāj again

Before you move on

What does تاج mean? ("A crown".) Say it once more.

309.4 عرش (ᶜarsh) — a throne

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a palace, then the Arabic for a crown.

You'll want to know: عرش

عرش — ᶜarsh — "a throne".

جلس على الملك العرش.

jalasa al-malik ᶜalā al-ᶜarsh.

The king sat on the throne.

Plural: عروش, ᶜurūsh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عرش (ᶜarsh) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-sh (Lane), where ᶜarasha is "to build a roof or a trellis". A raised seat under a canopy became the throne.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜarsh
- Say it: ᶜarsh, once more
- Say it: jalasa al-malik ᶜalā al-ᶜarsh. — The king sat on the throne.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a palace, then the Arabic for a crown, then say ᶜarsh again

Before you move on

What does عرش mean? ("A throne".) Say it once more.

309.5 توج (tawwaja) — to crown

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crown, then the Arabic for a throne.

You'll want to know: توج

توج — tawwaja — "to crown".

أبيه بعد ملكا الأمير توج.

tuwwija al-amīr malikan baᶜda abīhi.

The prince was crowned king after his father.

Present: يتوج, yutawwij.
In sport: بالكأس الفريق توج, the team won the cup.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توج (tawwaja) comes from tāj, "a crown", an Iranian loan (EtymDB). Arabic gave it the Form II pattern: "to put a crown on".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tawwaja
- Say it: tawwaja, once more
- Say it: tuwwija al-amīr malikan ba^{c}da abīhi. — The prince was crowned king after his father.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crown, then the Arabic for a throne, then say tawwaja again

Before you move on

What does توج mean? ("To crown".) Say it once more.

Chapter 310

Calling for help

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to call for help, to survive, to shout, to call out and a rescuer.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 310: I can say to call for help, to survive, to shout, to call out and a rescuer.

310.1 استغاث (istaghātha) — to call for help

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a throne, then the Arabic for to crown.

You'll want to know: استغاث

استغاث — istaghātha — "to call for help".

البيت نافذة من المرأة استغاثت.

istaghāthat al-marʾa min nāfidhat al-bayt.

The woman called for help from the window of the house.

Present: يستغيث, yastaghīth.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استغاث (istaghātha) is built on the native Arabic root gh-w-th (Lane), where ghawth is help given to one in distress. It is Form X, "to ask for help”.

What you’ve built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istaghātha
- Say it: istaghātha, once more
- Say it: istaghāthat al-marʾa min nāfidhat al-bayt. — The woman called for help from the window of the house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a throne, then the Arabic for to crown, then say istaghātha again

Before you move on

What does استغاث mean? (“To call for help”.) Say it once more.

310.2 نجا (najā) — to survive, to escape

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to crown, then the Arabic for to call for help.

You’ll want to know: نجا

نجا — najā — “to survive, to escape”.

الحادث من الركاب كل نجا.

najā kull ar-rukkāb min al-ḥādith.

All the passengers survived the accident.

Present: ينجو, yanjū.
It takes من: الموت من نجا.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نجا (najā) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-w (Lane), "to escape, to be safe"; najāt, rescue, is its verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: najā
- Say it: najā, once more
- Say it: najā kull ar-rukkāb min al-ḥādith. — All the passengers survived the accident.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to crown, then the Arabic for to call for help, then say najā again

Before you move on

What does نجا mean? ("To survive, to escape".) Say it once more.

310.3 صاح (ṣāḥa) — to cry out, to shout

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to call for help, then the Arabic for to survive.

You'll want to know: صاح

صاح — ṣāḥa — "to cry out, to shout".

الكلب رأى عندما الولد صاح.

ṣāḥa al-walad ᶜindamā raʾā al-kalb.

The boy shouted when he saw the dog.

Present: يصيح, yaṣīḥ.
A cockerel صاح too: it crowed.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صاح (ṣāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-y-ḥ (Lane), "to cry out, to raise the voice"; ṣayḥa is a shout.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣāḥa
- Say it: ṣāḥa, once more
- Say it: ṣāḥa al-walad ᶜindamā raʾā al-kalb. — The boy shouted when he saw the dog.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to call for help, then the Arabic for to survive, then say ṣāḥa again

Before you move on

What does صاح mean? ("To cry out, to shout".) Say it once more.

310.4 نادى (nādā) — to call out to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to survive, then the Arabic for to cry out.

You'll want to know: نادى

نادى — nādā — "to call out to".

الشرفة من ابنها الأم نادت.

nādat al-umm ibnahā min ash-shurfa.

The mother called to her son from the balcony.

Present: ينادي, yunādī.
Not the taught نادي, a club: the final letter tells them apart.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نادى (nādā) is built on the native Arabic root n-d-w (Lane), "to call; to meet together", the root of the taught nādī, a club. It is Form III, "to call to someone".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nādā
- Say it: nādā, once more
- Say it: nādat al-umm ibnahā min ash-shurfa. — The mother called to her son from the balcony.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to survive, then the Arabic for to cry out, then say nādā again

Before you move on

What does نادى mean? ("To call out to".) Say it once more.

310.5 منقذ (munqidh) — a rescuer; a lifeguard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cry out, then the Arabic for to call out to.

You'll want to know: منقذ

منقذ — munqidh — "a rescuer; a lifeguard".

بسرعة الطفل نحو المنقذ سبح.

sabaḥa al-munqidh naḥwa aṭ-ṭifl bi-sur^{c}a.

The lifeguard swam quickly towards the child.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منقذ (munqidh) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-dh (Lane), the root of the taught anqadha, to rescue. Munqidh is its Form IV participle, "one who rescues".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: munqidh
- Say it: munqidh, once more
- Say it: sabaḥa al-munqidh naḥwa aṭ-ṭifl bi-sur^{c}a. — The lifeguard swam quickly towards the child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cry out, then the Arabic for to call out to, then say munqidh again

Before you move on

What does منقذ mean? ("A rescuer; a lifeguard".) Say it once more.

Chapter 311

A birth

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say childbirth, a newborn, to have a child, a midwife and a naming.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 311: I can say childbirth, a newborn, to have a child, a midwife and a naming.

311.1 ولادة (wilāda) — childbirth; a birth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to call out to, then the Arabic for a rescuer.

You'll want to know: ولادة

ولادة — wilāda — "childbirth; a birth".

> الليل في الولادة كانت.
>
> kānat al-wilāda fī al-layl.
>
> The birth was at night.

Birth certificate: ولادة شهادة; many countries say ميلاد شهادة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ولادة (wilāda) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-d (Lane), "to give birth", the root of the taught walad, a child, and mīlād, a birthday.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: wilāda
- Say it: wilāda, once more
- Say it: kānat al-wilāda fī al-layl. — The birth was at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to call out to, then the Arabic for a rescuer, then say wilāda again

Before you move on

What does ولادة mean? ("Childbirth; a birth".) Say it once more.

311.2 مولود (mawlūd) — a newborn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rescuer, then the Arabic for childbirth.

You'll want to know: مولود

مولود — mawlūd — "a newborn".

الحليب شرب أن بعد المولود نام.

nāma al-mawlūd ba^{c}da an shariba al-ḥalīb.

The newborn fell asleep after drinking his milk.

Plural: مواليد, mawālīd.
The plural مواليد also names everyone born in a given year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مولود (mawlūd) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-d (Lane), "to give birth". Mawlūd is its passive participle, "one who is born".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mawlūd
- Say it: mawlūd, once more
- Say it: nāma al-mawlūd ba^{c}da an shariba al-ḥalīb. — The newborn fell asleep after drinking his milk.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rescuer, then the Arabic for childbirth, then say mawlūd again

Before you move on

What does مولود mean? ("A newborn".) Say it once more.

311.3 قابلة (qābila) — a midwife

Before the new one: say the Arabic for childbirth, then the Arabic for a newborn.

You'll want to know: قابلة

قابلة — qābila — "a midwife".

الولادة في الأم القابلة ساعدت.

sā^{c}adat al-qābila al-umm fī al-wilāda.

The midwife helped the mother with the birth.

Not the taught verb قابل, to meet: قابلة is a noun here.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قابلة (qābila) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l (Lane), "to face; to receive". Qābila is the active participle, "she who receives": the midwife is usually explained as the woman who receives the child at its birth.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qābila
- Say it: qābila, once more
- Say it: sāᶜadat al-qābila al-umm fī al-wilāda. — The midwife helped the mother with the birth.
- Recall: say the Arabic for childbirth, then the Arabic for a newborn, then say qābila again

Before you move on

What does قابلة mean? ("A midwife".) Say it once more.

311.4 أنجب (anjaba) — to have a child, to bear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a newborn, then the Arabic for a midwife.

You'll want to know: أنجب

أنجب — anjaba — "to have a child, to bear".

جميلة بنتا جارتنا أنجبت.

anjabat jāratunā bintan jamīla.

Our neighbour had a beautiful baby girl.

Present: ينجب, yunjib.
Of either parent: أولاد ثلاثة الرجل أنجب.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنجب (anjaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-b (Lane), the root of najīb, noble, excellent. Form IV anjaba was first "to beget a noble child", then to have a child.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: anjaba
- Say it: anjaba, once more
- Say it: anjabat jāratunā bintan jamīla. — Our neighbour had a beautiful baby girl.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a newborn, then the Arabic for a midwife, then say anjaba again

Before you move on

What does أنجب mean? ("To have a child, to bear".) Say it once more.

311.5 تسمية (tasmiya) — a naming; a name given

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a midwife, then the Arabic for to have a child.

You'll want to know: تسمية

تسمية — tasmiya — "a naming; a name given".

اختار الجد تسمية المولود.

ikhtāra al-jadd tasmiyat al-mawlūd.

The grandfather chose the baby's name.

The verb is سمى, to name.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسمية (tasmiya) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-w (Lane), "to be high", the root of the taught ism, a name. Tasmiya is the verbal noun of Form II sammā, "to give a name".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tasmiya
- Say it: tasmiya, once more
- Say it: ikhtāra al-jadd tasmiyat al-mawlūd. — The grandfather chose the baby's name.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a midwife, then the Arabic for to have a child, then say tasmiya again

Before you move on

What does تسمية mean? ("A naming; a name given".) Say it once more.

Chapter 312

Discoveries

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to uncover, to discover, to come across, an explorer and a treasure.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 312: I can say to uncover, to discover, to come across, an explorer and a treasure.

312.1 كشف (kashafa) — to uncover, to reveal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to have a child, then the Arabic for a naming.

You'll want to know: كشف

كشف — kashafa — "to uncover, to reveal".

> الحريق سبب التحقيق كشف.
>
> kashafa at-taḥqīq sabab al-ḥarīq.
>
> The investigation revealed the cause of the fire.

Present: يكشف, yakshif.
عن كشف: to disclose. A medical check-up is طبي كشف.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كشف (kashafa) is built on the native Arabic root k-sh-f (Lane), "to take away a covering from a thing".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: kashafa
- Say it: kashafa, once more
- Say it: kashafa at-taḥqīq sabab al-ḥarīq. — The investigation revealed the cause of the fire.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to have a child, then the Arabic for a naming, then say kashafa again

Before you move on

What does كشف mean? ("To uncover, to reveal".) Say it once more.

312.2 اكتشف (iktashafa) — to discover

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a naming, then the Arabic for to uncover.

You'll want to know: اكتشف

اكتشف — iktashafa — "to discover".

اكتشف العلماء نجما جديدا.

iktashafa al-ᶜulamāʾ najman jadīdan.

The scientists discovered a new star.

Present: يكتشف, yaktashif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اكتشف (iktashafa) is built on the native Arabic root k-sh-f (Lane), "to uncover". It is Form VIII, "to uncover for oneself": to find out.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iktashafa
- Say it: iktashafa, once more
- Say it: iktashafa al-ᶜulamāʾ najman jadīdan. — The scientists discovered a new star.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a naming, then the Arabic for to uncover, then say iktashafa again

Before you move on

What does اكتشف mean? ("To discover".) Say it once more.

312.3 عثر (ᶜathara) — to come across, to find

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to uncover, then the Arabic for to discover.

You'll want to know: عثر

عثر — ᶜathara — "to come across, to find".

الحديقة في مفتاح على الولد عثر.

ᶜathara al-walad ᶜalā miftāḥ fī al-ḥadīqa.

The boy came across a key in the garden.

Present: يعثر, yaᶜthur.
It takes على: على عثر.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عثر (ᶜathara) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-th-r (Lane), "to stumble", the root of the taught taᶜaththara. To stumble upon a thing is to find it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜathara
- Say it: ᶜathara, once more
- Say it: ᶜathara al-walad ᶜalā miftāḥ fī al-ḥadīqa. — The boy came across a key in the garden.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to uncover, then the Arabic for to discover, then say ᶜathara again

Before you move on

What does عثر mean? ("To come across, to find".) Say it once more.

312.4 مستكشف (mustakshif) — an explorer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to discover, then the Arabic for to come across.

You'll want to know: مستكشف

مستكشف — mustakshif — "an explorer".

جمل على الصحراء المستكشف عبر.

ᶜabara al-mustakshif aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ ᶜalā jamal.

The explorer crossed the desert on a camel.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستكشف (mustakshif) is built on the native Arabic root k-sh-f (Lane), "to uncover". Mustakshif is the Form X participle, "one who seeks to uncover".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mustakshif
- Say it: mustakshif, once more
- Say it: ᶜabara al-mustakshif aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ ᶜalā jamal. — The explorer crossed the desert on a camel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to discover, then the Arabic for to come across, then say mustakshif again

Before you move on

What does مستكشف mean? ("An explorer".) Say it once more.

312.5 كنز (kanz) — a treasure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to come across, then the Arabic for an explorer.

You'll want to know: كنز

كنز — kanz — "a treasure".

الرمل تحت كنزا الصياد وجد.

wajada aṣ-ṣayyād kanzan taḥta ar-raml.

The fisherman found a treasure under the sand.

Plural: كنوز, kunūz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كنز (kanz) is built on the root k-n-z, "to store up, to bury wealth" (Lane). A link with Persian ganj, treasure, is often proposed, but the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: kanz
- Say it: kanz, once more
- Say it: wajada aṣ-ṣayyād kanzan taḥta ar-raml. — The fisherman found a treasure under the sand.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to come across, then the Arabic for an explorer, then say kanz again

Before you move on

What does كنز mean? ("A treasure".) Say it once more.

Chapter 313

Right away

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say on the spot, before long, gradually, anew and to regain.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 313: I can say on the spot, before long, gradually, anew and to regain.

313.1 على الفور (ᶜalā al-fawr) — on the spot, at once

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an explorer, then the Arabic for a treasure.

You'll want to know: على الفور

على الفور — ᶜalā al-fawr — "on the spot, at once".

على الفور بالطبيب اتصلت.

ittaṣaltu bi-ṭ-ṭabīb ᶜalā al-fawr.

I called the doctor at once.

The taught فورا is the same word as an adverb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

على الفور (ᶜalā al-fawr) is "on the boiling": fawr is built on the native Arabic root f-w-r, "to boil, to gush" (Lane), the root of the taught fawran. What is done at the boil is done at once.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜalā al-fawr
- Say it: ᶜalā al-fawr, once more
- Say it: ittaṣaltu bi-ṭ-ṭabīb ᶜalā al-fawr. — I called the doctor at once.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an explorer, then the Arabic for a treasure, then say ᶜalā al-fawr again

Before you move on

What does على الفور mean? ("On the spot, at once".) Say it once more.

313.2 ما سرعان (surᶜāna mā) — before long, soon after

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a treasure, then the Arabic for on the spot.

You'll want to know: ما سرعان

ما سرعان — surᶜāna mā — "before long, soon after".

توقف ما وسرعان المطر بدأ.

badaʾa al-maṭar wa-surᶜāna mā tawaqqafa.

The rain began and soon stopped.

A past verb follows it: عاد ما سرعان.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ما سرعان (sur^{c}āna mā) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-^{c}, "to be quick" (Lane), the root of sur^{c}a, speed: sur^{c}āna means "how quick!".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sur^{c}āna mā
- Say it: sur^{c}āna mā, once more
- Say it: bada^{ʔ}a al-maṭar wa-sur^{c}āna mā tawaqqafa. — The rain began and soon stopped.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a treasure, then the Arabic for on the spot, then say sur^{c}āna mā again

Before you move on

What does ما سرعان mean? ("Before long, soon after".) Say it once more.

313.3 تدريجيا (tadrījiyyan) — gradually, step by step

Before the new one: say the Arabic for on the spot, then the Arabic for before long.

You'll want to know: تدريجيا

تدريجيا — tadrījiyyan — "gradually, step by step".

تدريجيا الطقس تحسن.

taḥassana aṭ-ṭaqs tadrījiyyan.

The weather gradually got better.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تدريجيا (tadrījiyyan) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-j (Lane), "to walk step by step", the root of daraja, a step. Tadrīj is the verbal noun of Form II; -iyyan makes it an adverb.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tadrījiyyan
- Say it: tadrījiyyan, once more
- Say it: taḥassana aṭ-ṭaqs tadrījiyyan. — The weather gradually got better.
- Recall: say the Arabic for on the spot, then the Arabic for before long, then say tadrījiyyan again

Before you move on

What does تدريجيا mean? ("Gradually, step by step".) Say it once more.

313.4 جديد من (min jadīd) — anew, all over again

Before the new one: say the Arabic for before long, then the Arabic for gradually.

You'll want to know: جديد من

جديد من — min jadīd — "anew, all over again".

جديد من الدرس الطلاب بدأ.

badaʾa aṭ-ṭullāb ad-dars min jadīd.

The students started the lesson all over again.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

من جديد (min jadīd) is "from new": min with the taught jadīd, new, which is built on the native Arabic root j-d-d (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: min jadīd
- Say it: min jadīd, once more
- Say it: badaʾa aṭ-ṭullāb ad-dars min jadīd. — The students started the lesson all over again.
- Recall: say the Arabic for before long, then the Arabic for gradually, then say min jadīd again

Before you move on

What does من جديد mean? ("Anew, all over again".) Say it once more.

313.5 استعاد (ista^{c}āda) — to regain, to get back

Before the new one: say the Arabic for gradually, then the Arabic for anew.

You'll want to know: استعاد

استعاد — ista^{c}āda — "to regain, to get back".

الشرطة من حقيبته الرجل استعاد.

ista^{c}āda ar-rajul ḥaqībatahu min ash-shurṭa.

The man got his bag back from the police.

Present: يستعيد, yasta^{c}īd.
ذكرياته استعاد: he went back over his memories.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استعاد (ista^{c}āda) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-w-d (Lane), "to return", the root of ^{c}āda, he came back. It is Form X, "to seek the return of".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ista^{c}āda
- Say it: ista^{c}āda, once more
- Say it: ista^{c}āda ar-rajul ḥaqībatahu min ash-shurṭa. — The man got his bag back from the police.
- Recall: say the Arabic for gradually, then the Arabic for anew, then say ista^{c}āda again

Before you move on

What does استعاد mean? ("To regain, to get back".) Say it once more.

Chapter 314

A funeral

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a funeral, to pass away, to bury, to escort a coffin and a grave.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 314: I can say a funeral, to pass away, to bury, to escort a coffin and a grave.

314.1 جنازة (janāza) — a funeral

Before the new one: say the Arabic for anew, then the Arabic for to regain.

You'll want to know: جنازة

جنازة — janāza — "a funeral".

العجوز الرجل جنازة الجيران حضر.

ḥaḍara al-jīrān janāzat ar-rajul al-ᶜajūz.

The neighbours attended the old man's funeral.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جنازة (janāza) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-z (Lane), where janāza is the bier with the dead person upon it, and then the procession that carries it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: janāza
- Say it: janāza, once more
- Say it: ḥaḍara al-jīrān janāzat ar-rajul al-ᶜajūz. — The neighbours attended the old man's funeral.
- Recall: say the Arabic for anew, then the Arabic for to regain, then say janāza again

Before you move on

What does جنازة mean? ("A funeral".) Say it once more.

314.2 توفي (tuwuffiya) — to pass away

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to regain, then the Arabic for a funeral.

You'll want to know: توفي

توفي — tuwuffiya — "to pass away".

سنتين قبل جدي توفي.

tuwuffiya jaddī qabla sanatayn.

My grandfather passed away two years ago.

Present: يتوفى, yutawaffā.
A polite word for to die, passive in form.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توفي (tuwuffiya) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-y (Lane), "to be complete, to fulfil". Tawaffā is "to take a thing in full"; its passive, tuwuffiya, is said of one whose life is complete.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tuwuffiya
- Say it: tuwuffiya, once more
- Say it: tuwuffiya jaddī qabla sanatayn. — My grandfather passed away two years ago.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to regain, then the Arabic for a funeral, then say tuwuffiya again

Before you move on

What does توفي mean? ("To pass away".) Say it once more.

314.3 دفن (dafana) — to bury

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a funeral, then the Arabic for to pass away.

You'll want to know: دفن

دفن — dafana — "to bury".

شجرة تحت الكنز الصياد دفن.

dafana aṣ-ṣayyād al-kanz taḥta shajara.

The fisherman buried the treasure under a tree.

Present: يدفن, yadfin.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دفن (dafana) is built on the native Arabic root d-f-n (Lane), "to bury, to hide a thing in the ground".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dafana
- Say it: dafana, once more
- Say it: dafana aṣ-ṣayyād al-kanz taḥta shajara. — The fisherman buried the treasure under a tree.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a funeral, then the Arabic for to pass away, then say dafana again

Before you move on

What does دفن mean? ("To bury".) Say it once more.

314.4 شيع (shayya^{c}a) — to escort a coffin; to see off

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pass away, then the Arabic for to bury.

You'll want to know: شيع

شيع — shayya^{c}a — "to escort a coffin; to see off".

شيع أهل القرية الرجل إلى المقبرة.

shayya^{c}a ahl al-qarya ar-rajul ilā al-maqbara.

The villagers walked with the man's coffin to the cemetery.

Present: يشيع, yushayyi^{c}.
The noun is تشييع; ضيفه شيع: he saw his guest off.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شيع (shayya^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root sh-y-^{c} (Lane), "to follow". It is Form II, "to go along with one who is leaving", and so with the dead.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: shayya^{c}a
- Say it: shayya^{c}a, once more
- Say it: shayya^{c}a ahl al-qarya ar-rajul ilā al-maqbara. — The villagers walked with the man's coffin to the cemetery.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pass away, then the Arabic for to bury, then say shayya^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does شيع mean? ("To escort a coffin; to see off".) Say it once more.

314.5 قبر (qabr) — a grave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bury, then the Arabic for to escort a coffin.

You'll want to know: قبر

قبر — qabr — "a grave".

زارت الأسرة قبر الجدة.

zārat al-usra qabr al-jadda.

The family visited the grandmother's grave.

Plural: قبور, qubūr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبر (qabr) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-r (Lane), "to bury"; qabr is the place of burial.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qabr
- Say it: qabr, once more
- Say it: zārat al-usra qabr al-jadda. — The family visited the grandmother's grave.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bury, then the Arabic for to escort a coffin, then say qabr again

Before you move on

What does قبر mean? ("A grave".) Say it once more.

Chapter 315

Victory and defeat

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a victory in battle, a defeat, to triumph, to defeat and to surrender.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 315: I can say a victory in battle, a defeat, to triumph, to defeat and to surrender.

315.1 نصر (naṣr) — a victory in battle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to escort a coffin, then the Arabic for a grave.

You'll want to know: نصر

نصر — naṣr — "a victory in battle".

> الشوارع في بالنصر الناس احتفل.
>
> iḥtafala an-nās bi-n-naṣr fī ash-shawāri^{c}.
>
> People celebrated the victory in the streets.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نصر (naṣr) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṣ-r (Lane), "to aid someone against an enemy". Help that wins the day is victory.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: naṣr
- Say it: naṣr, once more
- Say it: iḥtafala an-nās bi-n-naṣr fī ash-shawāri^{c}. — People celebrated the victory in the streets.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to escort a coffin, then the Arabic for a grave, then say naṣr again

Before you move on

What does نصر mean? ("A victory in battle".) Say it once more.

315.2 هزيمة (hazīma) — a defeat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a grave, then the Arabic for a victory in battle.

You'll want to know: هزيمة

هزيمة — hazīma — "a defeat".

الفريق على صعبة الهزيمة كانت.

kānat al-hazīma ṣa^{c}ba ^{c}alā al-farīq.

The defeat was hard on the team.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هزيمة (hazīma) is built on the native Arabic root h-z-m (Lane), "to rout, to put to flight". Hazīma is the rout of the side that loses.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: hazīma
- Say it: hazīma, once more
- Say it: kānat al-hazīma ṣa^{c}ba ^{c}alā al-farīq. — The defeat was hard on the team.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a grave, then the Arabic for a victory in battle, then say hazīma again

Before you move on

What does هزيمة mean? ("A defeat".) Say it once more.

315.3 انتصر (intaṣara) — to win a victory; to triumph

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a victory in battle, then the Arabic for a defeat.

You'll want to know: انتصر

انتصر — intaṣara — "to win a victory; to triumph".

الأخيرة المباراة في فريقنا انتصر.

intaṣara farīqunā fī al-mubārāh al-akhīra.

Our team won the last match.

Present: ينتصر, yantaṣir.
على انتصر: to triumph over.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتصر (intaṣara) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṣ-r (Lane), "to help against an enemy". It is Form VIII, "to get the victory".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: intaṣara
- Say it: intaṣara, once more
- Say it: intaṣara farīqunā fī al-mubārāh al-akhīra. — Our team won the last match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a victory in battle, then the Arabic for a defeat, then say intaṣara again

Before you move on

What does انتصر mean? ("To win a victory; to triumph".) Say it once more.

315.4 هزم (hazama) — to defeat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a defeat, then the Arabic for to win a victory.

You'll want to know: هزم

هزم — hazama — "to defeat".

هزم الفريق الصغير الفريق الكبير.

hazama al-farīq aṣ-ṣaghīr al-farīq al-kabīr.

The small team beat the big team.

Present: يهزم, yahzim.
The passive هزم, huzima, is to be defeated.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هزم (hazama) is built on the native Arabic root h-z-m (Lane), "to rout; to put an army to flight": Lane gives inhazama, of an army that was routed.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: hazama
- Say it: hazama, once more
- Say it: hazama al-farīq aṣ-ṣaghīr al-farīq al-kabīr. — The small team beat the big team.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a defeat, then the Arabic for to win a victory, then say hazama again

Before you move on

What does هزم mean? ("To defeat".) Say it once more.

315.5 استسلم (istaslama) — to surrender, to give in

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to win a victory, then the Arabic for to defeat.

You'll want to know: استسلم

استسلم — istaslama — "to surrender, to give in".

يومين بعد الجنود استسلم.

istaslama al-junūd baᶜda yawmayn.

The soldiers surrendered after two days.

Present: يستسلم, yastaslim.
لا تستسلم! Do not give up!

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استسلم (istaslama) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-m (Lane), "to be safe, sound", the root of salām, peace. It is Form X, "to yield oneself up".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istaslama
- Say it: istaslama, once more
- Say it: istaslama al-junūd ba^{c}da yawmayn. — The soldiers surrendered after two days.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to win a victory, then the Arabic for to defeat, then say istaslama again

Before you move on

What does استسلم mean? ("To surrender, to give in".) Say it once more.

Chapter 316

When buildings fall

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to collapse, to overflow, to break out, rubble and ruins.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 316: I can say to collapse, to overflow, to break out, rubble and ruins.

316.1 انهار (inhāra) — to collapse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to defeat, then the Arabic for to surrender.

You'll want to know: انهار

انهار — inhāra — "to collapse".

> المطر بعد القديم البيت انهار.
>
> inhāra al-bayt al-qadīm ba^{c}da al-maṭar.
>
> The old house collapsed after the rain.

Present: ينهار, yanhār.
Of a person: الخبر بعد انهار, he broke down at the news.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انهار (inhāra) is built on the native Arabic root h-w-r (Lane), said of a building or a bank of earth that falls down. It is Form VII, "to tumble down".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: inhāra
- Say it: inhāra, once more
- Say it: inhāra al-bayt al-qadīm ba^{c}da al-maṭar. — The old house collapsed after the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to defeat, then the Arabic for to surrender, then say inhāra again

Before you move on

What does انهار mean? ("To collapse".) Say it once more.

316.2 فاض (fāḍa) — to overflow, to flood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to surrender, then the Arabic for to collapse.

You'll want to know: فاض

فاض — fāḍa — "to overflow, to flood".

الأمطار بعد النهر فاض.

fāḍa an-nahr ba^{c}da al-amṭār.

The river overflowed after the rains.

Present: يفيض, yafīḍ.
The taught فيضان, a flood, is its verbal noun.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فاض (fāḍa) is built on the native Arabic root f-y-ḍ (Lane), "to overflow, to run over", the root of the taught fayaḍān, a flood.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fāḍa
- Say it: fāḍa, once more
- Say it: fāḍa an-nahr baᶜda al-amṭār. — The river overflowed after the rains.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to surrender, then the Arabic for to collapse, then say fāḍa again

Before you move on

What does فاض mean? ("To overflow, to flood".) Say it once more.

316.3 اندلع (indalaᶜa) — to break out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to collapse, then the Arabic for to overflow.

You'll want to know: اندلع

اندلع — indalaᶜa — "to break out".

السوق في حريق اندلع.

indalaᶜa ḥarīq fī as-sūq.

A fire broke out in the market.

Present: يندلع, yandaliᶜ.
Of fires, wars and quarrels.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اندلع (indala^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root d-l-^{c} (Lane), said of a tongue that lolls out and of a sword that slips from its sheath. It is Form VII; a fire or a war that breaks out comes from that sense.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: indala^{c}a
- Say it: indala^{c}a, once more
- Say it: indala^{c}a ḥarīq fī as-sūq. — A fire broke out in the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to collapse, then the Arabic for to overflow, then say indala^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does اندلع mean? ("To break out".) Say it once more.

316.4 ركام (rukām) — rubble, a heap

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to overflow, then the Arabic for to break out.

You'll want to know: ركام

ركام — rukām — "rubble, a heap".

الأطفال عن الركام تحت الناس بحث.

baḥatha an-nās taḥta ar-rukām ^{c}an al-aṭfāl.

People searched under the rubble for the children.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركام (rukām) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-m (Lane), "to pile one thing on another". Rukām is a heap, of clouds or of stones.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: rukām
- Say it: rukām, once more
- Say it: baḥatha an-nās taḥta ar-rukām ᶜan al-aṭfāl. — People searched under the rubble for the children.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to overflow, then the Arabic for to break out, then say rukām again

Before you move on

What does ركام mean? ("Rubble, a heap".) Say it once more.

316.5 أنقاض (anqāḍ) — ruins, debris

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to break out, then the Arabic for rubble.

You'll want to know: أنقاض

أنقاض — anqāḍ — "ruins, debris".

القديم البيت أنقاض فوق جديد بيت بني.

buniya bayt jadīd fawqa anqāḍ al-bayt al-qadīm.

A new house was built on the ruins of the old one.

A plural word, as English ruins.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنقاض (anqāḍ) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-ḍ (Lane), "to undo, to pull down a building". Anqāḍ is the plural of niqḍ, "what has been pulled down".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: anqāḍ
- Say it: anqāḍ, once more
- Say it: buniya bayt jadīd fawqa anqāḍ al-bayt al-qadīm. — A new house was built on the ruins of the old one.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to break out, then the Arabic for rubble, then say anqāḍ again

Before you move on

What does أنقاض mean? ("Ruins, debris".) Say it once more.

316.6 Words from chapters 309–316 — a review

Say the Arabic for a prince and a palace.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a prince, a palace, a crown, a throne, to crown
- to call for help, to survive, to cry out, to call out to, a rescuer
- childbirth, a newborn, a midwife, to have a child, a naming
- to uncover, to discover, to come across, an explorer, a treasure
- on the spot, before long, gradually, anew, to regain

- a funeral, to pass away, to bury, to escort a coffin, a grave
- a victory in battle, a defeat, to win a victory, to defeat, to surrender
- to collapse, to overflow, to break out, rubble, ruins

Before you move on

A prince? (أمير, amīr.) A palace? (قصر, qaṣr.) A crown? (تاج, tāj.) A throne? (عرش, ᶜarsh.) To crown? (توج, tawwaja.) To call for help? (استغاث, istaghātha.) To survive? (نجا, najā.) To cry out? (صاح, ṣāḥa.) To call out to? (نادى, nādā.) A rescuer? (منقذ, munqidh.) Childbirth? (ولادة, wilāda.) A newborn? (مولود, mawlūd.) A midwife? (قابلة, qābila.) To have a child? (أنجب, anjaba.) A naming? (تسمية, tasmiya.) To uncover? (كشف, kashafa.) To discover? (اكتشف, iktashafa.) To come across? (عثر, ᶜathara.) An explorer? (مستكشف, mustakshif.) A treasure? (كنز, kanz.) On the spot? (الفور على, ᶜalā al-fawr.) Before long? (ما سرعان, surᶜāna mā.) Gradually? (تدريجيا, tadrījiyyan.) Anew? (جديد من, min jadīd.) To regain? (استعاد, istaᶜāda.) A funeral? (جنازة, janāza.) To pass away? (توفي, tuwuffiya.) To bury? (دفن, dafana.) To escort a coffin? (شيع, shayyaᶜa.) A grave? (قبر, qabr.) A victory in battle? (نصر, naṣr.) A defeat? (هزيمة, hazīma.) To win a victory? (انتصر, intaṣara.) To defeat? (هزم, hazama.) To surrender? (استسلم, istaslama.) To collapse? (انهار, inhāra.) To overflow? (فاض, fāḍa.) To break out? (اندلع, indalaᶜa.) Rubble? (ركام, rukām.) Ruins? (أنقاض, anqāḍ.)

Chapter 317

Stopped by the police

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to seize, to detain, to stop, a patrol and a checkpoint.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 317: I can say to seize, to detain, to stop, a patrol and a checkpoint.

317.1 قبض (qabaḍa) — to seize, to grasp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for rubble, then the Arabic for ruins.

You'll want to know: قبض

قبض — qabaḍa — "to seize, to grasp".

> السوق في اللص على الشرطة قبضت.
>
> qabaḍat ash-shurṭa ᶜalā al-liṣṣ fī as-sūq.
>
> The police caught the thief in the market.

Present: يقبض, yaqbiḍ.
على قبض: to arrest. راتبه قبض: he drew his pay.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبض (qabaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-ḍ (Lane), "to take a thing in the closed hand"; qabḍa is a fist.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qabaḍa
- Say it: qabaḍa, once more
- Say it: qabaḍat ash-shurṭa ᶜalā al-liṣṣ fī as-sūq. — The police caught the thief in the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for rubble, then the Arabic for ruins, then say qabaḍa again

Before you move on

What does قبض mean? ("To seize, to grasp".) Say it once more.

317.2 احتجز (iḥtajaza) — to detain, to hold

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ruins, then the Arabic for to seize.

You'll want to know: احتجز

احتجز — iḥtajaza — "to detain, to hold".

احتجز الموظف جواز سفري ساعة.

iḥtajaza al-muwaẓẓaf jawāz safarī sāᶜa.

The official held my passport for an hour.

Present: يحتجز, yaḥtajiz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتجز (iḥtajaza) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-z (Lane), "to keep apart, to hold back". It is Form VIII, "to hold back for oneself"; a hotel booking, ḥajz, is the same root.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtajaza
- Say it: iḥtajaza, once more
- Say it: iḥtajaza al-muwaẓẓaf jawāz safarī sāᶜa. — The official held my passport for an hour.
- Recall: say the Arabic for ruins, then the Arabic for to seize, then say iḥtajaza again

Before you move on

What does احتجز mean? ("To detain, to hold".) Say it once more.

317.3 أوقف (awqafa) — to stop someone; to arrest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to seize, then the Arabic for to detain.

You'll want to know: أوقف

أوقف — awqafa — "to stop someone; to arrest".

الجسر عند السيارة الشرطي أوقف.

awqafa ash-shurṭī as-sayyāra ᶜinda al-jisr.

The policeman stopped the car at the bridge.

Present: يوقف, yūqif.
توقف is to stop oneself; أوقف is to stop someone or something.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أوقف (awqafa) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-f (Lane), "to stand still", the root of tawaqqafa, to stop. It is Form IV, "to make stand still".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: awqafa
- Say it: awqafa, once more
- Say it: awqafa ash-shurṭī as-sayyāra ᶜinda al-jisr. — The policeman stopped the car at the bridge.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to seize, then the Arabic for to detain, then say awqafa again

Before you move on

What does أوقف mean? ("To stop someone; to arrest".) Say it once more.

317.4 دورية (dawriyya) — a patrol

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to detain, then the Arabic for to stop someone.

You'll want to know: دورية

دورية — dawriyya — "a patrol".

الشارع في شرطة دورية مرت.

marrat dawriyyat shurṭa fī ash-shāriᶜ.

A police patrol went by in the street.

Also a periodical: دورية مجلة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دورية (dawriyya) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-r (Lane), "to turn, to go round", the root of dawr, a turn. A dawriyya makes its round again and again.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dawriyya
- Say it: dawriyya, once more
- Say it: marrat dawriyyat shurṭa fī ash-shāriᶜ. — A police patrol went by in the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to detain, then the Arabic for to stop someone, then say dawriyya again

Before you move on

What does دورية mean? ("A patrol".) Say it once more.

317.5 حاجز (ḥājiz) — a checkpoint; a barrier

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stop someone, then the Arabic for a patrol.

You'll want to know: حاجز

حاجز — ḥājiz — "a checkpoint; a barrier".

الحاجز عند السيارات وقفت.

waqafat as-sayyārāt ᶜinda al-ḥājiz.

The cars stopped at the checkpoint.

Plural: حواجز, ḥawājiz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاجز (ḥājiz) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-z (Lane), "to keep two things apart". Ḥājiz is the participle: "what stands between".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥājiz
- Say it: ḥājiz, once more
- Say it: waqafat as-sayyārāt ᶜinda al-ḥājiz. — The cars stopped at the checkpoint.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stop someone, then the Arabic for a patrol, then say ḥājiz again

Before you move on

What does حاجز mean? ("A checkpoint; a barrier".) Say it once more.

Chapter 318

Ancient civilizations

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a civilization, a trace, remains, a temple and a pyramid.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 318: I can say a civilization, a trace, remains, a temple and a pyramid.

318.1 حضارة (ḥaḍāra) — a civilization

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a patrol, then the Arabic for a checkpoint.

You'll want to know: حضارة

حضارة — ḥaḍāra — "a civilization".

> المدرسة في قديمة حضارة درسنا.
>
> darasnā ḥaḍāra qadīma fī al-madrasa.
>
> We studied an ancient civilization at school.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حضارة (ḥaḍāra) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-r (Lane), "to be present", the root of ḥaḍara, to attend, and of the taught ḥaḍḍara, to prepare. Lane gives ḥaḍāra as dwelling in towns and villages, the opposite of desert life.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaḍāra
- Say it: ḥaḍāra, once more
- Say it: darasnā ḥaḍāra qadīma fī al-madrasa. — We studied an ancient civilization at school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a patrol, then the Arabic for a checkpoint, then say ḥaḍāra again

Before you move on

What does حضارة mean? ("A civilization".) Say it once more.

318.2 أثر (athar) — a trace, a mark; an effect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a checkpoint, then the Arabic for a civilization.

You'll want to know: أثر

أثر — athar — "a trace, a mark; an effect".

الرمل في قدم أثر رأينا.

raʾaynā athar qadam fī ar-raml.

We saw a footprint in the sand.

Plural: آثار, āthār.
The plural الآثار is antiquities: آثار عالم, an archaeologist.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أثر (athar) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-th-r (Lane), where athar is a mark or track left behind; athara is also "to hand down a report".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: athar
- Say it: athar, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā athar qadam fī ar-raml. — We saw a footprint in the sand.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a checkpoint, then the Arabic for a civilization, then say athar again

Before you move on

What does أثر mean? ("A trace, a mark; an effect".) Say it once more.

318.3 أطلال (aṭlāl) — remains of a dwelling, ruins

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a civilization, then the Arabic for a trace.

You'll want to know: أطلال

أطلال — aṭlāl — "remains of a dwelling, ruins".

البيت أطلال على الشاعر وقف.

waqafa ash-shāᶜir ᶜalā aṭlāl al-bayt.

The poet stood at the remains of the house.

The old Arabic ode opens with the poet weeping at the أطلال of a camp.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أطلال (aṭlāl) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-l (Lane), where ṭalal is the part of a dwelling that remains standing after people leave; aṭlāl is its plural.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: aṭlāl
- Say it: aṭlāl, once more
- Say it: waqafa ash-shāᶜir ᶜalā aṭlāl al-bayt. — The poet stood at the remains of the house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a civilization, then the Arabic for a trace, then say aṭlāl again

Before you move on

What does أطلال mean? ("Remains of a dwelling, ruins".) Say it once more.

318.4 معبد (maᶜbad) — a temple

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a trace, then the Arabic for remains of a dwelling.

You'll want to know: معبد

معبد — maᶜbad — "a temple".

النهر على قديما معبدا زرنا.

zurnā maᶜbadan qadīman ᶜalā an-nahr.

We visited an ancient temple on the river.

Plural: معابد, maᶜābid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معبد (ma^{c}bad) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-b-d (Lane), "to serve, to worship". The maf^{c}al pattern names a place: "a place of worship".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}bad
- Say it: ma^{c}bad, once more
- Say it: zurnā ma^{c}badan qadīman ^{c}alā an-nahr. — We visited an ancient temple on the river.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a trace, then the Arabic for remains of a dwelling, then say ma^{c}bad again

Before you move on

What does معبد mean? ("A temple".) Say it once more.

318.5 هرم (haram) — a pyramid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for remains of a dwelling, then the Arabic for a temple.

You'll want to know: هرم

هرم — haram — "a pyramid".

جدا قديم الكبير الهرم.

al-haram al-kabīr qadīm jiddan.

The Great Pyramid is very old.

Plural: أهرام, ahrām.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هرم (haram) shares its letters with the root h-r-m, "to grow very old" (Lane). Whether the pyramid's name comes from it or from another language is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: haram
- Say it: haram, once more
- Say it: al-haram al-kabīr qadīm jiddan. — The Great Pyramid is very old.
- Recall: say the Arabic for remains of a dwelling, then the Arabic for a temple, then say haram again

Before you move on

What does هرم mean? ("A pyramid".) Say it once more.

Chapter 319

Mourning

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say condolence, to console, to lament, to announce a death and mourning.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 319: I can say condolence, to console, to lament, to announce a death and mourning.

319.1 عزاء (ᶜazāʾ) — condolence; a gathering of mourners

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a temple, then the Arabic for a pyramid.

You'll want to know: عزاء

عزاء — ᶜazāʾ — "condolence; a gathering of mourners".

أمس مساء العزاء بيت إلى ذهبنا.

dhahabnā ilā bayt al-ᶜazāʾ masāʾa ams.

We went to the house of mourning yesterday evening.

العزاء بيت is the home where the family receives visitors after a death.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عزاء (ᶜazāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-z-y (Lane), where ᶜazāʾ is patience in the face of loss. To offer it to a family is to wish them that patience.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜazāʾ
- Say it: ᶜazāʾ, once more
- Say it: dhahabnā ilā bayt al-ᶜazāʾ masāʾa ams. — We went to the house of mourning yesterday evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a temple, then the Arabic for a pyramid, then say ᶜazāʾ again

Before you move on

What does عزاء mean? ("Condolence; a gathering of mourners".) Say it once more.

319.2 عزى (ᶜazzā) — to console, to offer condolences

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pyramid, then the Arabic for condolence.

You'll want to know: عزى

عزى — ᶜazzā — "to console, to offer condolences".

الجنازة بعد الأسرة الجيران عزى.

ᶜazzā al-jīrān al-usra baᶜda al-janāza.

The neighbours offered the family their condolences after the funeral.

Present: يعزي, yu^{c}azzī.

عزى someone في the person who died: أبيه في عزاه.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عزى (^{c}azzā) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-z-y (Lane), patience under loss. It is Form II, "to bid someone be patient": to console.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ^{c}azzā
- Say it: ^{c}azzā, once more
- Say it: ^{c}azzā al-jīrān al-usra ba^{c}da al-janāza. — The neighbours offered the family their condolences after the funeral.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pyramid, then the Arabic for condolence, then say ^{c}azzā again

Before you move on

What does عزى mean? ("To console, to offer condolences".) Say it once more.

319.3 رثى (rathā) — to lament, to mourn in verse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for condolence, then the Arabic for to console.

You'll want to know: رثى

رثى — rathā — "to lament, to mourn in verse".

طويلة قصيدة في صديقه الشاعر رثى.

rathā ash-shāᶜir ṣadīqahu fī qaṣīda ṭawīla.

The poet mourned his friend in a long poem.

Present: يرثي, yarthī.
A poem of mourning is رثاء, an elegy.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رثى (rathā) is built on the native Arabic root r-th-y (Lane), "to weep for the dead and recount his good deeds"; rithāʾ, the elegy, is one of the oldest kinds of Arabic poem.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: rathā
- Say it: rathā, once more
- Say it: rathā ash-shāᶜir ṣadīqahu fī qaṣīda ṭawīla. — The poet mourned his friend in a long poem.
- Recall: say the Arabic for condolence, then the Arabic for to console, then say rathā again

Before you move on

What does رثى mean? ("To lament, to mourn in verse".) Say it once more.

319.4 نعى (naᶜā) — to announce a death

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to console, then the Arabic for to lament.

You'll want to know: نعى

نعى — naᶜā — "to announce a death".

الكبير الكاتب الصحيفة نعت.

naᶜat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa al-kātib al-kabīr.

The newspaper announced the death of the great writer.

Present: ينعى, yanᶜā.
A death notice in the paper is نعي.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نعى (naᶜā) is built on the native Arabic root n-ᶜ-y (Lane), "to bring the news of someone's death"; naᶜy is that news.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: naᶜā
- Say it: naᶜā, once more
- Say it: naᶜat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa al-kātib al-kabīr. — The newspaper announced the death of the great writer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to console, then the Arabic for to lament, then say naᶜā again

Before you move on

What does نعى mean? ("To announce a death".) Say it once more.

319.5 حداد (ḥidād) — mourning, a period of mourning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lament, then the Arabic for to announce a death.

You'll want to know: حداد

حداد — ḥidād — "mourning, a period of mourning".

> الحداد أيام في الأسود الأسرة لبست.
>
> labisat al-usra al-aswad fī ayyām al-ḥidād.
>
> The family wore black in the days of mourning.

أيام ثلاثة الحداد الحكومة أعلنت: three days of national mourning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حداد (ḥidād) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-d (Lane), the root of ḥadd, a limit, and of ḥadīd, iron. Lane gives ḥidād as a widow's holding back from finery and perfume: mourning.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥidād
- Say it: ḥidād, once more
- Say it: labisat al-usra al-aswad fī ayyām al-ḥidād. — The family wore black in the days of mourning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lament, then the Arabic for to announce a death, then say ḥidād again

Before you move on

What does حداد mean? ("Mourning, a period of mourning".) Say it once more.

Chapter 320

The media

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say the media, an agency, a source, to report and to clarify.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 320: I can say the media, an agency, a source, to report and to clarify.

320.1 إعلام (iᶜlām) — the media; informing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to announce a death, then the Arabic for mourning.

You'll want to know: إعلام

إعلام — iᶜlām — "the media; informing".

الحادث عن كثيرا الإعلام تكلم.

takallama al-iᶜlām kathīran ᶜan al-ḥādith.

The media talked a lot about the accident.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إعلام (iᶜlām) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-m (Lane), "to know", the root of ᶜilm, knowledge. Iᶜlām is the verbal noun of Form IV aᶜlama, "to let someone know".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜlām
- Say it: iᶜlām, once more
- Say it: takallama al-iᶜlām kathīran ᶜan al-ḥādith. — The media talked a lot about the accident.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to announce a death, then the Arabic for mourning, then say iᶜlām again

Before you move on

What does إعلام mean? ("The media; informing".) Say it once more.

320.2 وكالة (wakāla) — an agency

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mourning, then the Arabic for the media.

You'll want to know: وكالة

وكالة — wakāla — "an agency".

صباحا الخبر الأنباء وكالة نشرت.

nasharat wakālat al-anbāʾ al-khabar ṣabāḥan.

The news agency put out the story in the morning.

سفر وكالة: a travel agency.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وكالة (wakāla) is built on the native Arabic root w-k-l (Lane), "to entrust an affair to someone". A wakīl acts for others; a wakāla is the office that does.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: wakāla
- Say it: wakāla, once more
- Say it: nasharat wakālat al-anbāʾ al-khabar ṣabāḥan. — The news agency put out the story in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for mourning, then the Arabic for the media, then say wakāla again

Before you move on

What does وكالة mean? ("An agency".) Say it once more.

320.3 مصدر (maṣdar) — a source

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the media, then the Arabic for an agency.

You'll want to know: مصدر

مصدر — maṣdar — "a source".

قال مصدر في الشرطة إن اللص هرب.

qāla maṣdar fī ash-shurṭa inna al-liṣṣ haraba.

A police source said the thief had escaped.

Plural: مصادر, maṣādir.
In grammar the مصدر is the verbal noun.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصدر (maṣdar) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-r (Lane), "to go back from the watering place". Maṣdar is the place a thing comes out of: a source.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: maṣdar
- Say it: maṣdar, once more
- Say it: qāla maṣdar fī ash-shurṭa inna al-liṣṣ haraba. — A police source said the thief had escaped.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the media, then the Arabic for an agency, then say maṣdar again

Before you move on

What does مصدر mean? ("A source".) Say it once more.

320.4 أفاد (afāda) — to give news; to be of use

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an agency, then the Arabic for a source.

You'll want to know: أفاد

أفاد — afāda — "to give news; to be of use".

أفادت الشرطة بأن الطريق مغلق.

afādat ash-shurṭa bi-anna aṭ-ṭarīq mughlaq.

The police reported that the road was closed.

Present: يفيد, yufīd.
In the news: أفاد مراسلنا بأن ..., our correspondent reports that .... Elsewhere: يفيد هذا, this helps.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أفاد (afāda) is built on the native Arabic root f-y-d (Lane), where fāʾida is a gain or benefit. Form IV afāda is "to give someone a benefit", and so to give him information.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: afāda
- Say it: afāda, once more
- Say it: afādat ash-shurṭa bi-anna aṭ-ṭarīq mughlaq. — The police reported that the road was closed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an agency, then the Arabic for a source, then say afāda again

Before you move on

What does أفاد mean? ("To give news; to be of use".) Say it once more.

320.5 أوضح (awḍaḥa) — to clarify, to make clear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a source, then the Arabic for to give news.

You'll want to know: أوضح

أوضح — awḍaḥa — "to clarify, to make clear".

بمثال الدرس المعلم أوضح.

awḍaḥa al-muᶜallim ad-dars bi-mithāl.

The teacher made the lesson clear with an example.

Present: يوضح, yūḍiḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أوضح (awḍaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-ḥ (Lane), "to be plain, clear", the root of wāḍiḥ, clear. It is Form IV, "to make clear".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: awḍaḥa
- Say it: awḍaḥa, once more
- Say it: awḍaḥa al-muᶜallim ad-dars bi-mithāl. — The teacher made the lesson clear with an example.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a source, then the Arabic for to give news, then say awḍaḥa again

Before you move on

What does أوضح mean? ("To clarify, to make clear".) Say it once more.

Chapter 321

Robbers and gangs

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a robber, a pickpocket, a gang, to rob and to loot.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 321: I can say a robber, a pickpocket, a gang, to rob and to loot.

321.1 سارق (sāriq) — a robber

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to give news, then the Arabic for to clarify.

You'll want to know: سارق

سارق — sāriq — "a robber".

> السيارات بين السارق ركض.
>
> rakaḍa as-sāriq bayna as-sayyārāt.
>
> The robber ran between the cars.

Plural سارقون. لص is the everyday word; سارق is the one who stole.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سارق (sāriq) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-q (Lane), "to take a thing secretly". Sāriq is its active participle, "one who steals".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sāriq
- Say it: sāriq, once more
- Say it: rakaḍa as-sāriq bayna as-sayyārāt. — The robber ran between the cars.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to give news, then the Arabic for to clarify, then say sāriq again

Before you move on

What does سارق mean? ("A robber".) Say it once more.

321.2 نشال (nashshāl) — a pickpocket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to clarify, then the Arabic for a robber.

You'll want to know: نشال

نشال — nashshāl — "a pickpocket".

الحافلة في محفظتي نشال سرق.

saraqa nashshāl miḥfaẓatī fī al-ḥāfila.

A pickpocket stole my wallet on the bus.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نشال (nashshāl) is usually traced to the native Arabic root n-sh-l, "to snatch out quickly". The fa^{cc}āl pattern names someone who does a thing as his trade.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nashshāl
- Say it: nashshāl, once more
- Say it: saraqa nashshāl miḥfaẓatī fī al-ḥāfila. — A pickpocket stole my wallet on the bus.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to clarify, then the Arabic for a robber, then say nashshāl again

Before you move on

What does نشال mean? ("A pickpocket".) Say it once more.

321.3 عصابة (ᶜiṣāba) — a gang, a band

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a robber, then the Arabic for a pickpocket.

You'll want to know: عصابة

عصابة — ᶜiṣāba — "a gang, a band".

رجال خمسة من عصابة الشرطة اعتقلت.

iᶜtaqalat ash-shurṭa ᶜiṣāba min khamsat rijāl.

The police arrested a gang of five men.

Also a bandage or headband: one root, "what binds".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصابة (ᶜiṣāba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-b (Lane), "to bind round". Lane gives ᶜiṣāba as a band tied round the head, and as a band of men bound together.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜiṣāba
- Say it: ᶜiṣāba, once more
- Say it: iᶜtaqalat ash-shurṭa ᶜiṣāba min khamsat rijāl. — The police arrested a gang of five men.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a robber, then the Arabic for a pickpocket, then say ᶜiṣāba again

Before you move on

What does عصابة mean? ("A gang, a band".) Say it once more.

321.4 سلب (salaba) — to rob, to snatch away

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pickpocket, then the Arabic for a gang.

You'll want to know: سلب

سلب — salaba — "to rob, to snatch away".

الطريق في المسافر رجلان سلب.

salaba rajulān al-musāfir fī aṭ-ṭarīq.

Two men robbed the traveller on the road.

Present: يسلب, yaslub.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلب (salaba) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-b (Lane), "to strip a man of his clothes or goods"; salb is taking away, and so salbī, negative.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: salaba
- Say it: salaba, once more
- Say it: salaba rajulān al-musāfir fī aṭ-ṭarīq. — Two men robbed the traveller on the road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pickpocket, then the Arabic for a gang, then say salaba again

Before you move on

What does سلب mean? ("To rob, to snatch away".) Say it once more.

321.5 نهب (nahaba) — to loot, to plunder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a gang, then the Arabic for to rob.

You'll want to know: نهب

نهب — nahaba — "to loot, to plunder".

الليل في المحلات اللصوص نهب.

nahaba al-luṣūṣ al-maḥallāt fī al-layl.

Thieves looted the shops in the night.

Present: ينهب, yanhab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نهب (nahaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-b (Lane), "to take as plunder"; nahb is spoil.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nahaba
- Say it: nahaba, once more
- Say it: nahaba al-luṣūṣ al-maḥallāt fī al-layl. — Thieves looted the shops in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a gang, then the Arabic for to rob, then say nahaba again

Before you move on

What does نهب mean? ("To loot, to plunder".) Say it once more.

Chapter 322

Castles and walls

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a castle, a fort, a city wall, to besiege and to defend.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 322: I can say a castle, a fort, a city wall, to besiege and to defend.

322.1 قلعة (qal^{c}a) — a castle, a citadel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to rob, then the Arabic for to loot.

You'll want to know: قلعة

قلعة — qal^{c}a — "a castle, a citadel".

الجبل على قلعة إلى صعدنا.

ṣa^{c}idnā ilā qal^{c}a ^{c}alā al-jabal.

We climbed up to a castle on the mountain.

Plural: قلاع, qilā^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلعة (qal^{c}a) is usually filed under the native Arabic root q-l-^{c}, "to pull out by the roots" (Lane). Lane's article does not give the castle sense, and how a fortress took the name is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qal^{c}a
- Say it: qal^{c}a, once more
- Say it: ṣa^{c}idnā ilā qal^{c}a ^{c}alā al-jabal. — We climbed up to a castle on the mountain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to rob, then the Arabic for to loot, then say qal^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does قلعة mean? ("A castle, a citadel".) Say it once more.

322.2 حصن (ḥiṣn) — a fort, a stronghold

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to loot, then the Arabic for a castle.

You'll want to know: حصن

حصن — ḥiṣn — "a fort, a stronghold".

بنى الجنود حصنا قرب البحر.

banā al-junūd ḥiṣnan qurba al-baḥr.

The soldiers built a fort near the sea.

Plural: حصون, ḥuṣūn.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حصن (ḥiṣn) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṣ-n (Lane), "to be inaccessible, well guarded"; the taught ḥiṣān, a horse, is the same root.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥiṣn
- Say it: ḥiṣn, once more
- Say it: banā al-junūd ḥiṣnan qurba al-baḥr. — The soldiers built a fort near the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to loot, then the Arabic for a castle, then say ḥiṣn again

Before you move on

What does حصن mean? ("A fort, a stronghold".) Say it once more.

322.3 سور (sūr) — a city wall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a castle, then the Arabic for a fort.

You'll want to know: سور

سور — sūr — "a city wall".

طويل سور القديمة المدينة حول.

ḥawla al-madīna al-qadīma sūr ṭawīl.

There is a long wall round the old city.

Plural: أسوار, aswār.
A wall round a garden or a school is also سور; the wall of a room is جدار.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سور (sūr) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-r (Lane), where Lane gives sūr as the wall of a town, and sāra, to climb over it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sūr
- Say it: sūr, once more
- Say it: ḥawla al-madīna al-qadīma sūr ṭawīl. — There is a long wall round the old city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a castle, then the Arabic for a fort, then say sūr again

Before you move on

What does سور mean? ("A city wall".) Say it once more.

322.4 حاصر (ḥāṣara) — to besiege, to surround

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fort, then the Arabic for a city wall.

You'll want to know: حاصر

حاصر — ḥāṣara — "to besiege, to surround".

شهرا القلعة الجيش حاصر.

ḥāṣara al-jaysh al-qalᶜa shahran.

The army besieged the castle for a month.

Present: يحاصر, yuḥāṣir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاصر (ḥāṣara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṣ-r (Lane), "to confine, to hem in". It is Form III, "to hem in an enemy".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāṣara
- Say it: ḥāṣara, once more
- Say it: ḥāṣara al-jaysh al-qalᶜa shahran. — The army besieged the castle for a month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fort, then the Arabic for a city wall, then say ḥāṣara again

Before you move on

What does حاصر mean? ("To besiege, to surround".) Say it once more.

322.5 دافع (dāfaᶜa) — to defend

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a city wall, then the Arabic for to besiege.

You'll want to know: دافع

دافع — dāfaᶜa — "to defend".

المدينة عن الجنود دافع.

dāfaᶜa al-junūd ᶜan al-madīna.

The soldiers defended the city.

Present: يدافع, yudāfiᶜ.
It takes عن: صديقه عن دافع.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دافع (dāfaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root d-f-ᶜ (Lane), "to push", the root of the taught dafaᶜa. It is Form III, "to push back against someone": to defend.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dāfaᶜa
- Say it: dāfaᶜa, once more
- Say it: dāfaᶜa al-junūd ᶜan al-madīna. — The soldiers defended the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a city wall, then the Arabic for to besiege, then say dāfaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does دافع mean? ("To defend".) Say it once more.

Chapter 323

Growing up and growing older

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to be reared, to be brought up, a birthplace, boyhood and middle age.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 323: I can say to be reared, to be brought up, a birthplace, boyhood and middle age.

323.1 نشأ (nashaʾa) — to be reared, to grow up; to arise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to besiege, then the Arabic for to defend.

You'll want to know: نشأ

نشأ — nashaʾa — "to be reared, to grow up; to arise".

صغيرة قرية في أمي نشأت.

nashaʾat ummī fī qarya ṣaghīra.

My mother grew up in a small village.

Present: ينشأ, yanshaʾ.
Of a problem or an idea: to arise.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نشأ (nashaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-ʾ (Lane), "to come into being; to grow up"; nashʾa is upbringing.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nashaʾa
- Say it: nashaʾa, once more
- Say it: nashaʾat ummī fī qarya ṣaghīra. — My mother grew up in a small village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to besiege, then the Arabic for to defend, then say nashaʾa again

Before you move on

What does نشأ mean? ("To be reared, to grow up; to arise".) Say it once more.

323.2 ترعرع (tara^{c}ra^{c}a) — to be brought up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to defend, then the Arabic for to be reared.

You'll want to know: ترعرع

ترعرع — tara^{c}ra^{c}a — "to be brought up".

البحر قرب أبي ترعرع.

tara^{c}ra^{c}a abī qurba al-baḥr.

My father was brought up near the sea.

Present: يترعرع, yatara^{c}ra^{c}.
A literary word beside نشأ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترعرع (tara^{c}ra^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root r-^{c}-^{c} (Lane), whose doubled verb ra^{c}ra^{c}a is "to make a child grow". Tara^{c}ra^{c}a, its reflexive, is to grow up.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tara^{c}ra^{c}a
- Say it: tara^{c}ra^{c}a, once more
- Say it: tara^{c}ra^{c}a abī qurba al-baḥr. — My father was brought up near the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to defend, then the Arabic for to be reared, then say tara^{c}ra^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does ترعرع mean? ("To be brought up".) Say it once more.

323.3 رأس مسقط (masqaṭ raʾs) — a birthplace, a home town

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be reared, then the Arabic for to be brought up.

You'll want to know: رأس مسقط

رأس مسقط — masqaṭ raʾs — "a birthplace, a home town".

الصيف في أبي رأس مسقط زرت.

zurtu masqaṭ raʾs abī fī aṣ-ṣayf.

I visited my father's home town in the summer.

Literally the place where the head fell: where one was born.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رأس مسقط (masqaṭ raʾs) is "the place where the head fell": masqaṭ is built on the native Arabic root s-q-ṭ, "to fall" (Lane), and raʾs, a head, is an inherited Semitic word, beside Hebrew rōsh and Aramaic rēshā (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: masqaṭ raʾs
- Say it: masqaṭ raʾs, once more
- Say it: zurtu masqaṭ raʾs abī fī aṣ-ṣayf. — I visited my father's home town in the summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be reared, then the Arabic for to be brought up, then say masqaṭ raʾs again

Before you move on

What does رأس مسقط mean? ("A birthplace, a home town".) Say it once more.

323.4 صبا (ṣibā) — boyhood, early youth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be brought up, then the Arabic for a birthplace.

You'll want to know: صبا

صبا — ṣibā — "boyhood, early youth".

الريف في صباه جدي قضى.

qaḍā jaddī ṣibāhu fī ar-rīf.

My grandfather spent his boyhood in the countryside.

A literary word; the east wind is also صبا, ṣabā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صبا (ṣibā) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-w (Lane), "to incline, to be youthful", the root of ṣabiyy, a boy. Ṣibā is the time of being one.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣibā
- Say it: ṣibā, once more
- Say it: qaḍā jaddī ṣibāhu fī ar-rīf. — My grandfather spent his boyhood in the countryside.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be brought up, then the Arabic for a birthplace, then say ṣibā again

Before you move on

What does صبا mean? ("Boyhood, early youth".) Say it once more.

323.5 كهولة (kuhūla) — middle age

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a birthplace, then the Arabic for boyhood.

You'll want to know: كهولة

كهولة — kuhūla — "middle age".

كهولته في الرسم أبي بدأ.

badaʾa abī ar-rasm fī kuhūlatihi.

My father took up painting in middle age.

A man in middle age is كهل.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كهولة (kuhūla) is built on the native Arabic root k-h-l (Lane), where kahl is a man past youth whose hair is turning grey. Kuhūla is that time of life.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: kuhūla
- Say it: kuhūla, once more
- Say it: badaʾa abī ar-rasm fī kuhūlatihi. — My father took up painting in middle age.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a birthplace, then the Arabic for boyhood, then say kuhūla again

Before you move on

What does كهولة mean? ("Middle age".) Say it once more.

Chapter 324

Danger and warnings

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to warn, to threaten, an alarm, a whistle and chaos.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 324: I can say to warn, to threaten, an alarm, a whistle and chaos.

324.1 حذر (ḥadhdhara) — to warn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for boyhood, then the Arabic for middle age.

You'll want to know: حذر

حذر — ḥadhdhara — "to warn".

> النار من ابنها الأم حذرت.
>
> ḥadhdharat al-umm ibnahā min an-nār.
>
> The mother warned her son about the fire.

Present: يحذر, yuḥadhdhir.
It takes من for the danger: البرد من حذره.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حذر (ḥadhdhara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-dh-r (Lane), "to be wary, on one's guard"; ḥadhar is caution. It is Form II, "to put someone on guard".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥadhdhara
- Say it: ḥadhdhara, once more
- Say it: ḥadhdharat al-umm ibnahā min an-nār. — The mother warned her son about the fire.
- Recall: say the Arabic for boyhood, then the Arabic for middle age, then say ḥadhdhara again

Before you move on

What does حذر mean? ("To warn".) Say it once more.

324.2 هدد (haddada) — to threaten

Before the new one: say the Arabic for middle age, then the Arabic for to warn.

You'll want to know: هدد

هدد — haddada — "to threaten".

هدد الرجل جاره بالشرطة.

haddada ar-rajul jārahu bi-sh-shurṭa.

The man threatened his neighbour with the police.

Present: يهدد, yuhaddid.
The danger itself is تهديد.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدد (haddada) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-d (Lane), "to pull down a building". Form II haddada, to threaten, is usually explained as threatening with that ruin.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: haddada
- Say it: haddada, once more
- Say it: haddada ar-rajul jārahu bi-sh-shurṭa. — The man threatened his neighbour with the police.
- Recall: say the Arabic for middle age, then the Arabic for to warn, then say haddada again

Before you move on

What does هدد mean? ("To threaten".) Say it once more.

324.3 إنذار (indhār) — an alarm; a warning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to warn, then the Arabic for to threaten.

You'll want to know: إنذار

إنذار — indhār — "an alarm; a warning".

المدرسة في الحريق إنذار انطلق.

inṭalaqa indhār al-ḥarīq fī al-madrasa.

The fire alarm went off in the school.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إنذار (indhār) is built on the native Arabic root n-dh-r (Lane), "to vow; to warn". Indhār is the verbal noun of Form IV andhara, "to warn of danger".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: indhār
- Say it: indhār, once more
- Say it: inṭalaqa indhār al-ḥarīq fī al-madrasa. — The fire alarm went off in the school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to warn, then the Arabic for to threaten, then say indhār again

Before you move on

What does إنذار mean? ("An alarm; a warning".) Say it once more.

324.4 صفارة (ṣaffāra) — a whistle; a siren

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to threaten, then the Arabic for an alarm.

You'll want to know: صفارة

صفارة — ṣaffāra — "a whistle; a siren".

الإسعاف سيارة صفارة سمعنا.

sami^{c}nā ṣaffārat sayyārat al-is^{c}āf.

We heard the ambulance siren.

الإنذار صفارة: an alarm siren.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صفارة (ṣaffāra) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-r (Lane), where ṣafara is "to whistle". The fa^{cc}āla pattern names a tool that does a thing again and again.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaffāra
- Say it: ṣaffāra, once more
- Say it: sami^{c}nā ṣaffārat sayyārat al-is^{c}āf. — We heard the ambulance siren.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to threaten, then the Arabic for an alarm, then say ṣaffāra again

Before you move on

What does صفارة mean? ("A whistle; a siren".) Say it once more.

324.5 فوضى (fawḍā) — chaos, disorder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an alarm, then the Arabic for a whistle.

You'll want to know: فوضى

فوضى — fawḍā — "chaos, disorder".

كانت الغرفة في فوضى كبيرة.

kānat al-ghurfa fī fawḍā kabīra.

The room was in a terrible mess.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فوضى (fawḍā) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-ḍ (Lane), where qawm fawḍā is a people who are all equal, with no chief over them: everyone at once.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fawḍā
- Say it: fawḍā, once more
- Say it: kānat al-ghurfa fī fawḍā kabīra. — The room was in a terrible mess.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an alarm, then the Arabic for a whistle, then say fawḍā again

Before you move on

What does فوضى mean? ("Chaos, disorder".) Say it once more.

324.6 Words from chapters 317–324 — a review

Say the Arabic for to seize and to detain.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to seize, to detain, to stop someone, a patrol, a checkpoint
- a civilization, a trace, remains of a dwelling, a temple, a pyramid
- condolence, to console, to lament, to announce a death, mourning
- the media, an agency, a source, to give news, to clarify
- a robber, a pickpocket, a gang, to rob, to loot

- a castle, a fort, a city wall, to besiege, to defend
- to be reared, to be brought up, a birthplace, boyhood, middle age
- to warn, to threaten, an alarm, a whistle, chaos

Before you move on

To seize? (قبض, qabaḍa.) To detain? (احتجز, iḥtajaza.) To stop someone? (أوقف, awqafa.) A patrol? (دورية, dawriyya.) A checkpoint? (حاجز, ḥājiz.) A civilization? (حضارة, ḥaḍāra.) A trace? (أثر, athar.) Remains of a dwelling? (أطلال, aṭlāl.) A temple? (معبد, maᶜbad.) A pyramid? (هرم, haram.) Condolence? (عزاء, ᶜazāʾ.) To console? (عزى, ᶜazzā.) To lament? (رثى, rathā.) To announce a death? (نعى, naᶜā.) Mourning? (حداد, ḥidād.) The media? (إعلام, iᶜlām.) An agency? (وكالة, wakāla.) A source? (مصدر, maṣdar.) To give news? (أفاد, afāda.) To clarify? (أوضح, awḍaḥa.) A robber? (سارق, sāriq.) A pickpocket? (نشال, nashshāl.) A gang? (عصابة, ᶜiṣāba.) To rob? (سلب, salaba.) To loot? (نهب, nahaba.) A castle? (قلعة, qalᶜa.) A fort? (حصن, ḥiṣn.) A city wall? (سور, sūr.) To besiege? (حاصر, ḥāṣara.) To defend? (دافع, dāfaᶜa.) To be reared? (نشأ, nashaʾa.) To be brought up? (ترعرع, taraᶜraᶜa.) A birthplace? (رأس مسقط, masqaṭ raʾs.) Boyhood? (صبا, ṣibā.) Middle age? (كهولة, kuhūla.) To warn? (حذر, ḥadhdhara.) To threaten? (هدد, haddada.) An alarm? (إنذار, indhār.) A whistle? (صفارة, ṣaffāra.) Chaos? (فوضى, fawḍā.)

Chapter 325

Witnesses and oaths

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to witness, to swear, to take an oath, to confess and to deny.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 325: I can say to witness, to swear, to take an oath, to confess and to deny.

325.1 شهد (shahida) — to witness; to testify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a whistle, then the Arabic for chaos.

You'll want to know: شهد

شهد — shahida — "to witness; to testify".

> أمس شديدا مطرا المدينة شهدت.
>
> shahidat al-madīna maṭaran shadīdan ams.
>
> The city saw heavy rain yesterday.

Present: يشهد, yashhad.
على شهد or بـ شهد: to testify. A witness is شاهد.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شهد (shahida) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d (Lane), "to be present at a thing and see it"; shahāda is testimony, and a certificate.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: shahida
- Say it: shahida, once more
- Say it: shahidat al-madīna maṭaran shadīdan ams. — The city saw heavy rain yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a whistle, then the Arabic for chaos, then say shahida again

Before you move on

What does شهد mean? ("To witness; to testify".) Say it once more.

325.2 أقسم (aqsama) — to swear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chaos, then the Arabic for to witness.

You'll want to know: أقسم

أقسم — aqsama — "to swear".

صحيح كلامه أن الشاهد أقسم.

aqsama ash-shāhid anna kalāmahu ṣaḥīḥ.

The witness swore that what he said was true.

Present: يقسم, yuqsim.
The oath itself is قسم, qasam.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقسم (aqsama) is built on the native Arabic root q-s-m (Lane), "to divide", the root of qism, a part. Lane gives qasam as an oath, and Form IV aqsama, to swear.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: aqsama
- Say it: aqsama, once more
- Say it: aqsama ash-shāhid anna kalāmahu ṣaḥīḥ. — The witness swore that what he said was true.
- Recall: say the Arabic for chaos, then the Arabic for to witness, then say aqsama again

Before you move on

What does أقسم mean? ("To swear".) Say it once more.

325.3 حلف (ḥalafa) — to take an oath

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to witness, then the Arabic for to swear.

You'll want to know: حلف

حلف — ḥalafa — "to take an oath".

حلف المحكمة أمام الموظف.

ḥalafa al-muwaẓẓaf amāma al-maḥkama.

The employee took an oath before the court.

Present: يحلف, yaḥlif.
An ally, one bound by oath, is حليف.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حلف (ḥalafa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-f (Lane), "to swear"; ḥilf is a pact sworn between tribes, and ḥalīf an ally.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥalafa
- Say it: ḥalafa, once more
- Say it: ḥalafa al-muwaẓẓaf amāma al-maḥkama. — The employee took an oath before the court.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to witness, then the Arabic for to swear, then say ḥalafa again

Before you move on

What does حلف mean? ("To take an oath".) Say it once more.

325.4 اعترف (i^{c}tarafa) — to confess, to admit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swear, then the Arabic for to take an oath.

You'll want to know: اعترف

اعترف — i^{c}tarafa — "to confess, to admit".

بالسرقة اللص اعترف.

i^{c}tarafa al-liṣṣ bi-s-sariqa.

The thief confessed to the theft.

Present: يعترف, ya^{c}tarif.
It takes بـ: بالخطأ اعترف, he admitted the mistake.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعترف (iᶜtarafa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-f (Lane), "to know", the root of the taught ᶜarafa. It is Form VIII, "to own that one knows": to admit.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜtarafa
- Say it: iᶜtarafa, once more
- Say it: iᶜtarafa al-liṣṣ bi-s-sariqa. — The thief confessed to the theft.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swear, then the Arabic for to take an oath, then say iᶜtarafa again

Before you move on

What does اعترف mean? ("To confess, to admit".) Say it once more.

325.5 أنكر (ankara) — to deny

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take an oath, then the Arabic for to confess.

You'll want to know: أنكر

أنكر — ankara — "to deny".

شيء كل المتهم أنكر.

ankara al-muttaham kull shayʾ.

The defendant denied everything.

Present: ينكر, yunkir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنكر (ankara) is built on the native Arabic root n-k-r (Lane), "not to know a thing"; nakira is "to find strange". It is Form IV, "to disown".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ankara
- Say it: ankara, once more
- Say it: ankara al-muttaham kull shayʾ. — The defendant denied everything.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take an oath, then the Arabic for to confess, then say ankara again

Before you move on

What does أنكر mean? ("To deny".) Say it once more.

Chapter 326

Old weapons

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a weapon, a sword, a spear, an arrow and armour.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 326: I can say a weapon, a sword, a spear, an arrow and armour.

326.1 سلاح (silāḥ) — a weapon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to confess, then the Arabic for to deny.

You'll want to know: سلاح

سلاح — silāḥ — "a weapon".

كان مع الحارس سلاح صغير.

kāna ma^{c}a al-ḥāris silāḥ ṣaghīr.

The guard had a small weapon.

Plural: أسلحة, asliḥa.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلاح (silāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-ḥ (Lane), where silāḥ names the arms of war and musallaḥ, armed, is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: silāḥ
- Say it: silāḥ, once more
- Say it: kāna maᶜa al-ḥāris silāḥ ṣaghīr. — The guard had a small weapon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to confess, then the Arabic for to deny, then say silāḥ again

Before you move on

What does سلاح mean? ("A weapon".) Say it once more.

326.2 سيف (sayf) — a sword

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deny, then the Arabic for a weapon.

You'll want to know: سيف

سيف — sayf — "a sword".

الجدار على سيفه الفارس علق.

ᶜallaqa al-fāris sayfahu ᶜalā al-jidār.

The knight hung his sword on the wall.

Plural: سيوف, suyūf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سيف (sayf) is filed by Lane under the root s-y-f. A link with Greek xiphos, a sword, is often proposed, but the direction of the borrowing, if any, is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sayf
- Say it: sayf, once more
- Say it: ᶜallaqa al-fāris sayfahu ᶜalā al-jidār. — The knight hung his sword on the wall.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deny, then the Arabic for a weapon, then say sayf again

Before you move on

What does سيف mean? ("A sword".) Say it once more.

326.3 رمح (rumḥ) — a spear, a lance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a weapon, then the Arabic for a sword.

You'll want to know: رمح

رمح — rumḥ — "a spear, a lance".

طويلا رمحا الصياد حمل.

ḥamala aṣ-ṣayyād rumḥan ṭawīlan.

The hunter carried a long spear.

Plural: رماح, rimāḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمح (rumḥ) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-ḥ (Lane), where ramaḥa is "to pierce with a spear" and is said of a horse that kicks.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: rumḥ
- Say it: rumḥ, once more
- Say it: ḥamala aṣ-ṣayyād rumḥan ṭawīlan. — The hunter carried a long spear.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a weapon, then the Arabic for a sword, then say rumḥ again

Before you move on

What does رمح mean? ("A spear, a lance".) Say it once more.

326.4 سهم (sahm) — an arrow; a share

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sword, then the Arabic for a spear.

You'll want to know: سهم

سهم — sahm — "an arrow; a share".

الشجرة نحو سهما الصياد رمى.

ramā aṣ-ṣayyād sahman naḥwa ash-shajara.

The hunter shot an arrow at the tree.

Plural: سهام, sihām.
In business a share is سهم, plural أسهم. A road sign arrow is سهم too.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سهم (sahm) is built on the native Arabic root s-h-m (Lane), where sahm is an arrow, and an arrow drawn as a lot: so also a share, sāhama, to take part.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sahm
- Say it: sahm, once more
- Say it: ramā aṣ-ṣayyād sahman naḥwa ash-shajara. — The hunter shot an arrow at the tree.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sword, then the Arabic for a spear, then say sahm again

Before you move on

What does سهم mean? ("An arrow; a share".) Say it once more.

326.5 درع (dir^{c}) — armour; a shield

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a spear, then the Arabic for an arrow.

You'll want to know: درع

درع — dir^{c} — "armour; a shield".

الحديد من درعا الجندي لبس.

labisa al-jundī dir^{c}an min al-ḥadīd.

The soldier wore armour of iron.

Plural: دروع, durū^{c}.
Today a درع is also a shield-shaped trophy.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

درع (dir^c) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-^{c} (Lane), where dir^c is a coat of mail, rings linked over the body.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: dir^c
- Say it: dir^c, once more
- Say it: labisa al-jundī dir^{c}an min al-ḥadīd. — The soldier wore armour of iron.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a spear, then the Arabic for an arrow, then say dir^c again

Before you move on

What does درع mean? ("Armour; a shield".) Say it once more.

Chapter 327

That night

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that night, at the same time, as soon as, until and throughout.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 327: I can say that night, at the same time, as soon as, until and throughout.

327.1 في تلك الليلة (fī tilka al-layla) — that night

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an arrow, then the Arabic for armour.

You'll want to know: في تلك الليلة

في تلك الليلة — fī tilka al-layla — "that night".

> في تلك الليلة لم ينم أحد في البيت.
>
> fī tilka al-layla lam yanam aḥad fī al-bayt.
>
> That night nobody in the house slept.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

في تلك الليلة (fī tilka al-layla) is "in that night": layla, one night, is built on the inherited Semitic root l-y-l (Lane), the root of the taught layl; EtymDB sets it beside Hebrew laylā and Aramaic lēlyā.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fī tilka al-layla
- Say it: fī tilka al-layla, once more
- Say it: fī tilka al-layla lam yanam aḥad fī al-bayt. — That night nobody in the house slept.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an arrow, then the Arabic for armour, then say fī tilka al-layla again

Before you move on

What does في تلك الليلة mean? ("That night".) Say it once more.

327.2 في نفسه الوقت (fī al-waqt nafsih) — at the same time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for armour, then the Arabic for that night.

You'll want to know: في نفسه الوقت

في نفسه الوقت — fī al-waqt nafsih — "at the same time".

نفسه الوقت في الهاتف في وتتكلم أمي تطبخ.

taṭbukhu ummī wa-tatakallamu fī al-hātif fī al-waqt nafsih.

My mother cooks and talks on the phone at the same time.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

في نفسه الوقت (fī al-waqt nafsih) is "in the time itself": waqt is built on the native Arabic root w-q-t (Lane), and nafs, "self, soul", on n-f-s.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fī al-waqt nafsih
- Say it: fī al-waqt nafsih, once more
- Say it: taṭbukhu ummī wa-tatakallamu fī al-hātif fī al-waqt nafsih. — My mother cooks and talks on the phone at the same time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for armour, then the Arabic for that night, then say fī al-waqt nafsih again

Before you move on

What does في نفسه الوقت mean? ("At the same time".) Say it once more.

327.3 حالما (ḥālamā) — as soon as

Before the new one: say the Arabic for that night, then the Arabic for at the same time.

You'll want to know: حالما

حالما — ḥālamā — "as soon as".

بأمي اتصلت وصلت حالما.

ḥālamā waṣaltu ittaṣaltu bi-ummī.

As soon as I arrived I called my mother.

A past verb follows it in a story.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حالما (ḥālamā) is built on ḥāl, "a state, the present moment", from the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l (Lane), with mā: "in the moment that".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥālamā
- Say it: ḥālamā, once more
- Say it: ḥālamā waṣaltu ittaṣaltu bi-ummī. — As soon as I arrived I called my mother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for that night, then the Arabic for at the same time, then say ḥālamā again

Before you move on

What does حالما mean? ("As soon as".) Say it once more.

327.4 أن إلى (ilā an) — until

Before the new one: say the Arabic for at the same time, then the Arabic for as soon as.

You'll want to know: أن إلى

أن إلى — ilā an — "until".

المطر توقف أن إلى انتظرنا.

intaẓarnā ilā an tawaqqafa al-maṭar.

We waited until the rain stopped.

A verb follows: وصل أن إلى. Before a noun, say حتى.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أن إلى (ilā an) joins the preposition ilā, "to, as far as", and an, "that": "up to the time that". Lane treats both as old particles; their origin beyond Arabic is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ilā an
- Say it: ilā an, once more
- Say it: intaẓarnā ilā an tawaqqafa al-maṭar. — We waited until the rain stopped.
- Recall: say the Arabic for at the same time, then the Arabic for as soon as, then say ilā an again

Before you move on

What does إلى أن mean? ("Until".) Say it once more.

327.5 طوال (ṭuwāla) — throughout, all through

Before the new one: say the Arabic for as soon as, then the Arabic for until.

You'll want to know: طوال

طوال — ṭuwāla — "throughout, all through".

الأسبوع طوال السرير في المريض بقي.

baqiya al-marīḍ fī as-sarīr ṭuwāla al-usbū^{c}.

The patient stayed in bed all week.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طوال (ṭuwāla) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-l (Lane), "to be long", the root of the taught ṭawīl. Ṭuwāla is "for the length of".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭuwāla
- Say it: ṭuwāla, once more
- Say it: baqiya al-marīḍ fī as-sarīr ṭuwāla al-usbū^{c}. — The patient stayed in bed all week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for as soon as, then the Arabic for until, then say ṭuwāla again

Before you move on

What does طوال mean? ("Throughout, all through".) Say it once more.

Chapter 328

Holding a celebration

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to hold, to perform at, a procession, a banquet and a guest.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 328: I can say to hold, to perform at, a procession, a banquet and a guest.

328.1 أقام (aqāma) — to hold an event; to reside

Before the new one: say the Arabic for until, then the Arabic for throughout.

You'll want to know: أقام

أقام — aqāma — "to hold an event; to reside".

> السنة نهاية في حفلا المدرسة أقامت.
>
> aqāmat al-madrasa ḥaflan fī nihāyat as-sana.
>
> The school held a party at the end of the year.

Present: يقيم, yuqīm.
حفلا أقام: to throw a party. في أقام: to live in a place.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقام (aqāma) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m (Lane), "to stand up", the root of qāma. It is Form IV, "to set a thing up", and "to stay".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: aqāma
- Say it: aqāma, once more
- Say it: aqāmat al-madrasa ḥaflan fī nihāyat as-sana. — The school held a party at the end of the year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for until, then the Arabic for throughout, then say aqāma again

Before you move on

What does أقام mean? ("To hold an event; to reside".) Say it once more.

328.2 أحيا (aḥyā) — to perform at; to revive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for throughout, then the Arabic for to hold an event.

You'll want to know: أحيا

أحيا — aḥyā — "to perform at; to revive".

العرس حفل المطرب أحيا.

aḥyā al-muṭrib ḥafl al-ᶜurs.

The singer performed at the wedding party.

Present: يحيي, yuḥyī.
حفلا أحيا: a singer performs at a party. ذكرى أحيا: to mark an anniversary.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أحيا (aḥyā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-y-y (Lane), "to live", the root of ḥayāh, life, and of the taught ḥayawān, an animal. It is Form IV, "to give life to": to bring a night or a memory to life.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: aḥyā
- Say it: aḥyā, once more
- Say it: aḥyā al-muṭrib ḥafl al-ᶜurs. — The singer performed at the wedding party.
- Recall: say the Arabic for throughout, then the Arabic for to hold an event, then say aḥyā again

Before you move on

What does أحيا mean? ("To perform at; to revive".) Say it once more.

328.3 موكب (mawkib) — a procession

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hold an event, then the Arabic for to perform at.

You'll want to know: موكب

موكب — mawkib — "a procession".

الشارع في العرس موكب مر.

marra mawkib al-ᶜurs fī ash-shāriᶜ.

The wedding procession went down the street.

Plural: مواكب, mawākib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موكب (mawkib) is built on the native Arabic root w-k-b (Lane), "to walk along in a grave, leisurely way". A mawkib is a company moving at that pace.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mawkib
- Say it: mawkib, once more
- Say it: marra mawkib al-ᶜurs fī ash-shāriᶜ. — The wedding procession went down the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hold an event, then the Arabic for to perform at, then say mawkib again

Before you move on

What does موكب mean? ("A procession".) Say it once more.

328.4 وليمة (walīma) — a banquet, a feast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to perform at, then the Arabic for a procession.

You'll want to know: وليمة

وليمة — walīma — "a banquet, a feast".

طبخت النساء الطعام للوليمة.

ṭabakhat an-nisāʾ aṭ-ṭaᶜām li-l-walīma.

The women cooked the food for the banquet.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وليمة (walīma) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-m (Lane), where walīma is first the feast made for a wedding, and then for any occasion.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: walīma
- Say it: walīma, once more
- Say it: ṭabakhat an-nisāʾ aṭ-ṭaᶜām li-l-walīma. — The women cooked the food for the banquet.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to perform at, then the Arabic for a procession, then say walīma again

Before you move on

What does وليمة mean? ("A banquet, a feast".) Say it once more.

328.5 مدعو (madᶜuww) — an invited guest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a procession, then the Arabic for a banquet.

You'll want to know: مدعو

مدعو — madᶜuww — "an invited guest".

هدية يحمل مدعو كل كان.

kāna kull madᶜuww yaḥmilu hadiyya.

Every guest was carrying a present.

Plural مدعوون.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدعو (mad^{c}uww) is built on the native Arabic root d-^{c}-w (Lane), "to call, to invite", the root of the taught da^{c}ā. Mad^{c}uww is the one called: an invited guest.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mad^{c}uww
- Say it: mad^{c}uww, once more
- Say it: kāna kull mad^{c}uww yaḥmilu hadiyya. — Every guest was carrying a present.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a procession, then the Arabic for a banquet, then say mad^{c}uww again

Before you move on

What does مدعو mean? ("An invited guest".) Say it once more.

Chapter 329

Revolts and independence

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a revolution, to revolt, to become independent, independence and a people.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 329: I can say a revolution, to revolt, to become independent, independence and a people.

329.1 ثورة (thawra) — a revolution, a revolt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a banquet, then the Arabic for an invited guest.

You'll want to know: ثورة

ثورة — thawra — "a revolution, a revolt".

> الناس حياة الثورة غيرت.
>
> ghayyarat ath-thawra ḥayāt an-nās.
>
> The revolution changed people's lives.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثورة (thawra) is built on the native Arabic root th-w-r (Lane), "to rise up, to be stirred", said of dust; the taught thawr, a bull, is the same root.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: thawra
- Say it: thawra, once more
- Say it: ghayyarat ath-thawra ḥayāt an-nās. — The revolution changed people's lives.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a banquet, then the Arabic for an invited guest, then say thawra again

Before you move on

What does ثورة mean? ("A revolution, a revolt".) Say it once more.

329.2 ثار (thāra) — to revolt; to flare up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an invited guest, then the Arabic for a revolution.

You'll want to know: ثار

ثار — thāra — "to revolt; to flare up".

الظالم الحاكم على الفلاحون ثار.

thāra al-fallāḥūn ᶜalā al-ḥākim aẓ-ẓālim.

The farmers rose up against the unjust ruler.

Present: يثور, yathūr.
غضبه ثار: his anger flared up.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثار (thāra) is built on the native Arabic root th-w-r (Lane), "to rise up", said of dust and of anger, and then of a people.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: thāra
- Say it: thāra, once more
- Say it: thāra al-fallāḥūn ᶜalā al-ḥākim aẓ-ẓālim. — The farmers rose up against the unjust ruler.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an invited guest, then the Arabic for a revolution, then say thāra again

Before you move on

What does ثار mean? ("To revolt; to flare up".) Say it once more.

329.3 استقل (istaqalla) — to become independent; to board

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a revolution, then the Arabic for to revolt.

You'll want to know: استقل

استقل — istaqalla — "to become independent; to board".

استقل البلد بعد حرب طويلة.

istaqalla al-balad baᶜda ḥarb ṭawīla.

The country became independent after a long war.

Present: يستقل, yastaqill.
It also takes a vehicle: استقل القطار, he took the train.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقل (istaqalla) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-l (Lane), "to be little; to lift", the root of qalīl, little, and of the taught aqall, less. Form X istaqalla is "to bear oneself up", alone.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istaqalla
- Say it: istaqalla, once more
- Say it: istaqalla al-balad baᶜda ḥarb ṭawīla. — The country became independent after a long war.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a revolution, then the Arabic for to revolt, then say istaqalla again

Before you move on

What does استقل mean? ("To become independent; to board".) Say it once more.

329.4 استقلال (istiqlāl) — independence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to revolt, then the Arabic for to become independent.

You'll want to know: استقلال

استقلال — istiqlāl — "independence".

سنة كل الاستقلال بعيد البلد يحتفل.

yaḥtafilu al-balad bi-ᶜīd al-istiqlāl kull sana.

The country celebrates Independence Day every year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقلال (istiqlāl) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-l (Lane), "to lift". Istiqlāl is the verbal noun of Form X istaqalla, "to stand on one's own".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istiqlāl
- Say it: istiqlāl, once more
- Say it: yaḥtafilu al-balad bi-ᶜīd al-istiqlāl kull sana. — The country celebrates Independence Day every year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to revolt, then the Arabic for to become independent, then say istiqlāl again

Before you move on

What does استقلال mean? ("Independence".) Say it once more.

329.5 شعب (shaᶜb) — a country's people; a nation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to become independent, then the Arabic for independence.

You'll want to know: شعب

شعب — shaᶜb — "a country's people; a nation".

جدا كريم البلد هذا شعب.

shaᶜb hādhā al-balad karīm jiddan.

The people of this country are very generous.

Plural: شعوب, shuᶜūb.
The adjective شعبي is popular, folk: شعبية أكلة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شعب (sha^{c}b) is built on the native Arabic root sh-^{c}-b (Lane), which means both "to branch apart" and "to gather"; Lane gives sha^{c}b as a great tribe from which smaller ones branch.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sha^{c}b
- Say it: sha^{c}b, once more
- Say it: sha^{c}b hādhā al-balad karīm jiddan. — The people of this country are very generous.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to become independent, then the Arabic for independence, then say sha^{c}b again

Before you move on

What does شعب mean? ("A country's people; a nation".) Say it once more.

Chapter 330

Prison

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to imprison, a prisoner, a cell, a shackle and to release.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 330: I can say to imprison, a prisoner, a cell, a shackle and to release.

330.1 سجن (sajana) — to imprison, to jail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for independence, then the Arabic for a country's people.

You'll want to know: سجن

سجن — sajana — "to imprison, to jail".

> سنتين اللص سجن.
>
> sujina al-liṣṣ sanatayn.
>
> The thief was jailed for two years.

Present: يسجن, yasjun.
The noun سجن, sijn, a prison, is spelled the same.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سجن (sajana) is built on the native Arabic root s-j-n (Lane), "to shut up, to confine"; sijn is the place of it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sajana
- Say it: sajana, once more
- Say it: sujina al-liṣṣ sanatayn. — The thief was jailed for two years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for independence, then the Arabic for a country's people, then say sajana again

Before you move on

What does سجن mean? ("To imprison, to jail".) Say it once more.

330.2 سجين (sajīn) — a prisoner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a country's people, then the Arabic for to imprison.

You'll want to know: سجين

سجين — sajīn — "a prisoner".

ليلا السجن من سجين هرب.

haraba sajīn min as-sijn laylan.

A prisoner escaped from the prison at night.

Plural: سجناء, sujanāʾ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سجين (sajīn) is built on the native Arabic root s-j-n (Lane), "to confine". The fa^{c}īl pattern gives the one confined.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sajīn
- Say it: sajīn, once more
- Say it: haraba sajīn min as-sijn laylan. — A prisoner escaped from the prison at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a country's people, then the Arabic for to imprison, then say sajīn again

Before you move on

What does سجين mean? ("A prisoner".) Say it once more.

330.3 زنزانة (zinzāna) — a prison cell

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to imprison, then the Arabic for a prisoner.

You'll want to know: زنزانة

زنزانة — zinzāna — "a prison cell".

ومظلمة صغيرة الزنزانة كانت.

kānat az-zinzāna ṣaghīra wa-muẓlima.

The cell was small and dark.

Plural: زنازين, zanāzīn.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زنزانة (zinzāna) is not in the old dictionaries Lane drew on; it belongs to later Arabic, and the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: zinzāna
- Say it: zinzāna, once more
- Say it: kānat az-zinzāna ṣaghīra wa-muẓlima. — The cell was small and dark.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to imprison, then the Arabic for a prisoner, then say zinzāna again

Before you move on

What does زنزانة mean? ("A prison cell".) Say it once more.

330.4 قيد (qayd) — a shackle; a restriction

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a prisoner, then the Arabic for a prison cell.

You'll want to know: قيد

قيد — qayd — "a shackle; a restriction".

اللص يدي في القيد الشرطة وضعت.

waḍaᶜat ash-shurṭa al-qayd fī yaday al-liṣṣ.

The police put the handcuffs on the thief's hands.

Plural: قيود, quyūd.
الحياة قيد على: alive, "in the bond of life".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قيد (qayd) is built on the native Arabic root q-y-d (Lane), where qayd is the hobble put on a horse or camel, and qayyada, "to tie; to note down".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qayd
- Say it: qayd, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜat ash-shurṭa al-qayd fī yaday al-liṣṣ. — The police put the handcuffs on the thief's hands.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a prisoner, then the Arabic for a prison cell, then say qayd again

Before you move on

What does قيد mean? ("A shackle; a restriction".) Say it once more.

330.5 أفرج (afraja) — to release, to set free

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a prison cell, then the Arabic for a shackle.

You'll want to know: أفرج

أفرج — afraja — "to release, to set free".

أفرجت الشرطة عن الرجل في المساء.

afrajat ash-shurṭa ᶜan ar-rajul fī al-masāʾ.

The police released the man in the evening.

Present: يفرج, yufrij.
It takes عن: أفرج عن السجين.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أفرج (afraja) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-j (Lane), "to open a gap; to relieve"; faraj is relief from trouble. It is Form IV, "to open the way out".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: afraja
- Say it: afraja, once more
- Say it: afrajat ash-shurṭa ᶜan ar-rajul fī al-masāʾ. — The police released the man in the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a prison cell, then the Arabic for a shackle, then say afraja again

Before you move on

What does أفرج mean? ("To release, to set free".) Say it once more.

Chapter 331

Rising empires

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to erect, to control, to extend, to flourish and an emperor.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 331: I can say to erect, to control, to extend, to flourish and an emperor.

331.1 شيد (shayyada) — to erect, to build up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shackle, then the Arabic for to release.

You'll want to know: شيد

شيد — shayyada — "to erect, to build up".

> شيد الملك قصرا كبيرا.
>
> shayyada al-malik qaṣran kabīran.
>
> The king built a great palace.

Present: يشيد, yushayyid.
Of grand buildings; بنى is the everyday verb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شيد (shayyada) is built on the native Arabic root sh-y-d (Lane), where shīd is plaster and Form II shayyada is "to plaster a building, to raise it high".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: shayyada
- Say it: shayyada, once more
- Say it: shayyada al-malik qaṣran kabīran. — The king built a great palace.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shackle, then the Arabic for to release, then say shayyada again

Before you move on

What does شيد mean? ("To erect, to build up".) Say it once more.

331.2 سيطر (sayṭara) — to control, to take control

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to release, then the Arabic for to erect.

You'll want to know: سيطر

سيطر — sayṭara — "to control, to take control".

الحريق على الإطفاء رجال سيطر.

sayṭara rijāl al-iṭfāʾ ʿalā al-ḥarīq.

The firefighters brought the fire under control.

Present: يسيطر, yusayṭir.
It takes على: على سيطر.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سيطر (sayṭara) is filed under the root s-ṭ-r (Lane), the root of saṭr, a line, with muṣayṭir, an overseer. Its earlier history, perhaps through Aramaic, is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sayṭara
- Say it: sayṭara, once more
- Say it: sayṭara rijāl al-iṭfāʾ ʿalā al-ḥarīq. — The firefighters brought the fire under control.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to release, then the Arabic for to erect, then say sayṭara again

Before you move on

What does سيطر mean? ("To control, to take control".) Say it once more.

331.3 امتد (imtadda) — to extend, to stretch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to erect, then the Arabic for to control.

You'll want to know: امتد

امتد — imtadda — "to extend, to stretch".

النهر حتى الحديقة امتدت.

imtaddat al-ḥadīqa ḥattā an-nahr.

The garden stretched as far as the river.

Present: يمتد, yamtadd.
Of time too: ساعتين الاجتماع امتد.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

امتد (imtadda) is built on the native Arabic root m-d-d (Lane), "to stretch out". It is Form VIII, "to be stretched, to reach".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: imtadda
- Say it: imtadda, once more
- Say it: imtaddat al-ḥadīqa ḥattā an-nahr. — The garden stretched as far as the river.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to erect, then the Arabic for to control, then say imtadda again

Before you move on

What does امتد mean? ("To extend, to stretch".) Say it once more.

331.4 ازدهر (izdahara) — to flourish, to thrive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to control, then the Arabic for to extend.

You'll want to know: ازدهر

ازدهر — izdahara — "to flourish, to thrive".

المدينة في التجارة ازدهرت.

izdaharat at-tijāra fī al-madīna.

Trade flourished in the city.

Present: يزدهر, yazdahir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ازدهر (izdahara) is built on the native Arabic root z-h-r (Lane), "to shine; to blossom", the root of zahra, a flower. It is Form VIII, where the t turns to d after z.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: izdahara
- Say it: izdahara, once more
- Say it: izdaharat at-tijāra fī al-madīna. — Trade flourished in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to control, then the Arabic for to extend, then say izdahara again

Before you move on

What does ازدهر mean? ("To flourish, to thrive".) Say it once more.

331.5 إمبراطور (imbarāṭūr) — an emperor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to extend, then the Arabic for to flourish.

You'll want to know: إمبراطور

إمبراطور — imbarāṭūr — "an emperor".

واسعة بلادا الإمبراطور حكم.

ḥakama al-imbarāṭūr bilādan wāsiᶜa.

The emperor ruled wide lands.

An empire is إمبراطورية.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إمبراطور (imbarāṭūr) is usually traced to Latin imperator, "a commander", which reached Arabic through a European language.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: imbarāṭūr
- Say it: imbarāṭūr, once more
- Say it: ḥakama al-imbarāṭūr bilādan wāsiᶜa. — The emperor ruled wide lands.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to extend, then the Arabic for to flourish, then say imbarāṭūr again

Before you move on

What does إمبراطور mean? ("An emperor".) Say it once more.

Chapter 332

Leaving home

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to emigrate, to settle, to move away, to be displaced and to bid farewell.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 332: I can say to emigrate, to settle, to move away, to be displaced and to bid farewell.

332.1 هاجر (hājara) — to emigrate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to flourish, then the Arabic for an emperor.

You'll want to know: هاجر

هاجر — hājara — "to emigrate".

> سنة عشرين قبل بعيد بلد إلى عمي هاجر.
>
> hājara ᶜammī ilā balad baᶜīd qabla ᶜishrīn sana.
>
> My uncle emigrated to a distant country twenty years ago.

Present: يهاجر, yuhājir.
An emigrant is مهاجر.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هاجر (hājara) is built on the native Arabic root h-j-r (Lane), "to leave, to cut oneself off from". It is Form III, "to leave one's land for another".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: hājara
- Say it: hājara, once more
- Say it: hājara ᶜammī ilā balad baᶜīd qabla ᶜishrīn sana. — My uncle emigrated to a distant country twenty years ago.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to flourish, then the Arabic for an emperor, then say hājara again

Before you move on

What does هاجر mean? ("To emigrate".) Say it once more.

332.2 استقر (istaqarra) — to settle down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an emperor, then the Arabic for to emigrate.

You'll want to know: استقر

استقر — istaqarra — "to settle down".

البحر على مدينة في الأسرة استقرت.

istaqarrat al-usra fī madīna ᶜalā al-baḥr.

The family settled in a city by the sea.

Present: يستقر, yastaqirr.
Of a situation: الوضع استقر, things calmed down.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقر (istaqarra) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r (Lane), "to stay in a place, to be at rest". It is Form X, "to come to rest".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istaqarra
- Say it: istaqarra, once more
- Say it: istaqarrat al-usra fī madīna ᶜalā al-baḥr. — The family settled in a city by the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an emperor, then the Arabic for to emigrate, then say istaqarra again

Before you move on

What does استقر mean? ("To settle down".) Say it once more.

332.3 رحل (raḥala) — to move out; to depart

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to emigrate, then the Arabic for to settle down.

You'll want to know: رحل

رحل — raḥala — "to move out; to depart".

رحل الجيران عن الحي الشهر الماضي.

raḥala al-jīrān ᶜan al-ḥayy ash-shahr al-māḍī.

The neighbours moved out of the area last month.

Present: يرحل, yarḥal.
Of a person who died: رحل عنا, he has left us.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رحل (raḥala) is built on the native Arabic root r-ḥ-l (Lane), where raḥl is a camel saddle and raḥala, "to set off"; the taught riḥla, a journey, shares it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: raḥala
- Say it: raḥala, once more
- Say it: raḥala al-jīrān ᶜan al-ḥayy ash-shahr al-māḍī. — The neighbours moved out of the area last month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to emigrate, then the Arabic for to settle down, then say raḥala again

Before you move on

What does رحل mean? ("To move out; to depart".) Say it once more.

332.4 نزح (nazaḥa) — to be displaced, to flee one's home

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to settle down, then the Arabic for to move out.

You'll want to know: نزح

نزح — nazaḥa — "to be displaced, to flee one's home".

الفيضان بعد الناس من كثير نزح.

nazaḥa kathīr min an-nās baᶜda al-fayaḍān.

Many people left their homes after the flood.

Present: ينزح, yanzaḥ.
A displaced person is نازح.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزح (nazaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-ḥ (Lane), "to become far away", and "to draw all the water from a well". People who must go far from home are nāziḥūn.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nazaḥa
- Say it: nazaḥa, once more
- Say it: nazaḥa kathīr min an-nās baᶜda al-fayaḍān. — Many people left their homes after the flood.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to settle down, then the Arabic for to move out, then say nazaḥa again

Before you move on

What does نزح mean? ("To be displaced, to flee one's home".) Say it once more.

332.5 ودع (waddaᶜa) — to bid farewell

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to move out, then the Arabic for to be displaced.

You'll want to know: ودع

ودع — waddaᶜa — "to bid farewell".

المطار في ابنها الأم ودعت.

waddaᶜat al-umm ibnahā fī al-maṭār.

The mother said goodbye to her son at the airport.

Present: يودع, yuwaddi^c.
A farewell is وداع; مع السلامة is what is said.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ودع (wadda^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root w-d-^{c} (Lane), "to leave, to let be". It is Form II, "to take leave of"; wadā^c is a farewell.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: wadda^{c}a
- Say it: wadda^{c}a, once more
- Say it: wadda^{c}at al-umm ibnahā fī al-maṭār. — The mother said goodbye to her son at the airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to move out, then the Arabic for to be displaced, then say wadda^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does ودع mean? ("To bid farewell".) Say it once more.

332.6 Words from chapters 325–332 — a review

Say the Arabic for to witness and to swear.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to witness, to swear, to take an oath, to confess, to deny
- a weapon, a sword, a spear, an arrow, armour
- that night, at the same time, as soon as, until, throughout

- to hold an event, to perform at, a procession, a banquet, an invited guest
- a revolution, to revolt, to become independent, independence, a country's people
- to imprison, a prisoner, a prison cell, a shackle, to release
- to erect, to control, to extend, to flourish, an emperor
- to emigrate, to settle down, to move out, to be displaced, to bid farewell

Before you move on

To witness? (شهد, shahida.) To swear? (أقسم, aqsama.) To take an oath? (حلف, ḥalafa.) To confess? (اعترف, i^{c}tarafa.) To deny? (أنكر, ankara.) A weapon? (سلاح, silāḥ.) A sword? (سيف, sayf.) A spear? (رمح, rumḥ.) An arrow? (سهم, sahm.) Armour? (درع, dir^{c}.) That night? (الليلة تلك في, fī tilka al-layla.) At the same time? (الوقت في نفسه, fī al-waqt nafsih.) As soon as? (حالما, ḥālamā.) Until? (أن إلى, ilā an.) Throughout? (طوال, ṭuwāla.) To hold an event? (أقام, aqāma.) To perform at? (أحيا, aḥyā.) A procession? (موكب, mawkib.) A banquet? (وليمة, walīma.) An invited guest? (مدعو, mad^{c}uww.) A revolution? (ثورة, thawra.) To revolt? (ثار, thāra.) To become independent? (استقل, istaqalla.) Independence? (استقلال, istiqlāl.) A country's people? (شعب, sha^{c}b.) To imprison? (سجن, sajana.) A prisoner? (سجين, sajīn.) A prison cell? (زنزانة, zinzāna.) A shackle? (قيد, qayd.) To release? (أفرج, afraja.) To erect? (شيد, shayyada.) To control? (سيطر, sayṭara.) To extend? (امتد, imtadda.) To flourish? (ازدهر, izdahara.) An emperor? (إمبراطور, imbarāṭūr.) To emigrate? (هاجر, hājara.) To settle down? (استقر, istaqarra.) To move out? (رحل, raḥala.) To be displaced? (نزح, nazaḥa.) To bid farewell? (ودع, wadda^{c}a.)

Chapter 333

Sailors and pirates

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to sink, a sailor, a fleet, a pirate and to capture.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 333: I can say to sink, a sailor, a fleet, a pirate and to capture.

333.1 غرق (ghariqa) — to go under; to drown

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be displaced, then the Arabic for to bid farewell.

You'll want to know: غرق

غرق — ghariqa — "to go under; to drown".

الجزيرة قرب السفينة غرقت.

ghariqat as-safīna qurba al-jazīra.

The ship sank near the island.

Present: يغرق, yaghraq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غرق (ghariqa) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-q (Lane), "to sink in water, to drown"; gharīq is one who has drowned.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ghariqa
- Say it: ghariqa, once more
- Say it: ghariqat as-safīna qurba al-jazīra. — The ship sank near the island.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be displaced, then the Arabic for to bid farewell, then say ghariqa again

Before you move on

What does غرق mean? ("To go under; to drown".) Say it once more.

333.2 بحار (baḥḥār) — a sailor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bid farewell, then the Arabic for to go under.

You'll want to know: بحار

بحار — baḥḥār — "a sailor".

سنة ثلاثين بحارا جدي عمل.

ᶜamila jaddī baḥḥāran thalāthīn sana.

My grandfather worked as a sailor for thirty years.

Plural: بحارة, baḥḥāra.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بحار (baḥḥār) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḥ-r (Lane), the root of the taught baḥr, the sea. The faᶜᶜāl pattern names a trade: "the man of the sea".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: baḥḥār
- Say it: baḥḥār, once more
- Say it: ᶜamila jaddī baḥḥāran thalāthīn sana. — My grandfather worked as a sailor for thirty years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bid farewell, then the Arabic for to go under, then say baḥḥār again

Before you move on

What does بحار mean? ("A sailor".) Say it once more.

333.3 أسطول (usṭūl) — a fleet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go under, then the Arabic for a sailor.

You'll want to know: أسطول

أسطول — usṭūl — "a fleet".

أرسل الملك أسطولا إلى الجزيرة.

arsala al-malik usṭūlan ilā al-jazīra.

The king sent a fleet to the island.

Plural: أساطيل, asāṭīl.
Also a fleet of buses or lorries.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسطول (usṭūl) is usually traced to Greek stolos, "an expedition, a fleet".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: usṭūl
- Say it: usṭūl, once more
- Say it: arsala al-malik usṭūlan ilā al-jazīra. — The king sent a fleet to the island.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go under, then the Arabic for a sailor, then say usṭūl again

Before you move on

What does أسطول mean? ("A fleet".) Say it once more.

333.4 قرصان (qurṣān) — a pirate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sailor, then the Arabic for a fleet.

You'll want to know: قرصان

قرصان — qurṣān — "a pirate".

الكنز عن يبحث القرصان كان.

kāna al-qurṣān yabḥathu ᶜan al-kanz.

The pirate was looking for the treasure.

Plural: قراصنة, qarāṣina.
Today also a computer hacker: إنترنت قرصان.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرصان (qurṣān) is usually traced to Italian corsaro, "a corsair", the raider of the Mediterranean, from Latin cursus, a running.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qurṣān
- Say it: qurṣān, once more
- Say it: kāna al-qurṣān yabḥathu ᶜan al-kanz. — The pirate was looking for the treasure.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sailor, then the Arabic for a fleet, then say qurṣān again

Before you move on

What does قرصان mean? ("A pirate".) Say it once more.

333.5 أسر (asara) — to capture, to take prisoner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fleet, then the Arabic for a pirate.

You'll want to know: أسر

أسر — asara — "to capture, to take prisoner".

البحارة القراصنة أسر.

asara al-qarāṣina al-baḥḥāra.

The pirates took the sailors prisoner.

Present: يأسر, yaʾsir.
A prisoner of war is أسير. Of beauty: قلبه أسر, it captivated him.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسر (asara) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-s-r (Lane), "to bind with a thong". Lane links the taught usra, a family, to it: the kin who bind a man and stand with him.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: asara
- Say it: asara, once more
- Say it: asara al-qarāṣina al-baḥḥāra. — The pirates took the sailors prisoner.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fleet, then the Arabic for a pirate, then say asara again

Before you move on

What does أسر mean? ("To capture, to take prisoner".) Say it once more.

Chapter 334

A trial

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a trial, a hearing, the defence, to convict and innocence.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 334: I can say a trial, a hearing, the defence, to convict and innocence.

334.1 محاكمة (muḥākama) — a trial

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pirate, then the Arabic for to capture.

You'll want to know: محاكمة

محاكمة — muḥākama — "a trial".

أمس الرجل محاكمة بدأت.

badaʾat muḥākamat ar-rajul ams.

The man's trial began yesterday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محاكمة (muḥākama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-m (Lane), "to judge". Muḥākama is the verbal noun of Form III, "to bring someone to judgment".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥākama
- Say it: muḥākama, once more
- Say it: badaʾat muḥākamat ar-rajul ams. — The man's trial began yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pirate, then the Arabic for to capture, then say muḥākama again

Before you move on

What does محاكمة mean? ("A trial".) Say it once more.

334.2 جلسة (jalsa) — a hearing, a session

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to capture, then the Arabic for a trial.

You'll want to know: جلسة

جلسة — jalsa — "a hearing, a session".

أسبوعا المحكمة جلسة تأجلت.

taʾajjalat jalsat al-maḥkama usbūʿan.

The court hearing was put off for a week.

Any sitting: عمل جلسة, a working session.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جلسة (jalsa) is built on the native Arabic root j-l-s (Lane), the root of the taught jalasa, to sit. The faʿla pattern gives one sitting.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: jalsa
- Say it: jalsa, once more
- Say it: taʾajjalat jalsat al-maḥkama usbūᶜan. — The court hearing was put off for a week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to capture, then the Arabic for a trial, then say jalsa again

Before you move on

What does جلسة mean? ("A hearing, a session".) Say it once more.

334.3 دفاع (difāᶜ) — the defence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a trial, then the Arabic for a hearing.

You'll want to know: دفاع

دفاع — difāᶜ — "the defence".

طويلا الدفاع محامي تكلم.

takallama muḥāmī ad-difāᶜ ṭawīlan.

The defence lawyer spoke for a long time.

In sport and in war too: الدفاع خط, the line of defence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دفاع (difāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root d-f-ᶜ (Lane), "to push". Difāᶜ is the verbal noun of Form III dāfaᶜa, "to push back".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: difāᶜ
- Say it: difāᶜ, once more
- Say it: takallama muḥāmī ad-difāᶜ ṭawīlan. — The defence lawyer spoke for a long time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a trial, then the Arabic for a hearing, then say difāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does دفاع mean? ("The defence".) Say it once more.

334.4 أدان (adāna) — to convict; to condemn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hearing, then the Arabic for the defence.

You'll want to know: أدان

أدان — adāna — "to convict; to condemn".

بالسرقة الرجل المحكمة أدانت.

adānat al-maḥkama ar-rajul bi-s-sariqa.

The court convicted the man of theft.

Present: يدين, yudīn.
Of words: الهجوم أدان, he condemned the attack.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أدان (adāna) is built on the native Arabic root d-y-n (Lane), the root of dayn, a debt, and of a judgment that is owed. Modern Arabic gives Form IV adāna the sense "to find guilty".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: adāna
- Say it: adāna, once more
- Say it: adānat al-maḥkama ar-rajul bi-s-sariqa. — The court convicted the man of theft.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hearing, then the Arabic for the defence, then say adāna again

Before you move on

What does أدان mean? ("To convict; to condemn".) Say it once more.

334.5 براءة (barāʾa) — innocence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the defence, then the Arabic for to convict.

You'll want to know: براءة

براءة — barāʾa — "innocence".

الشاب براءة القاضي أعلن.

aᶜlana al-qāḍī barāʾat ash-shābb.

The judge declared the young man innocent.

A patent is اختراع براءة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

براءة (barāʾa) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-ʾ (Lane), "to be free, clear of a thing". Barāʾa is being clear of blame.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: barāʾa
- Say it: barāʾa, once more
- Say it: aᶜlana al-qāḍī barāʾat ash-shābb. — The judge declared the young man innocent.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the defence, then the Arabic for to convict, then say barāʾa again

Before you move on

What does براءة mean? ("Innocence".) Say it once more.

Chapter 335

Fairy-tale creatures

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a magician, an ogre, a dragon, a giant and a dwarf.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 335: I can say a magician, an ogre, a dragon, a giant and a dwarf.

335.1 ساحر (sāḥir) — a magician, a sorcerer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to convict, then the Arabic for innocence.

You'll want to know: ساحر

ساحر — sāḥir — "a magician, a sorcerer".

> ضفدع إلى الأمير الساحر حول.
>
> ḥawwala as-sāḥir al-amīr ilā ḍifda^{c}.
>
> The magician turned the prince into a frog.

Plural: سحرة, saḥara.
Of a place or a smile, ساحر is enchanting.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساحر (sāḥir) is built on the native Arabic root s-ḥ-r (Lane), "to bewitch, to enchant"; siḥr is magic and sāḥir the one who works it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sāḥir
- Say it: sāḥir, once more
- Say it: ḥawwala as-sāḥir al-amīr ilā ḍifdaᶜ. — The magician turned the prince into a frog.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to convict, then the Arabic for innocence, then say sāḥir again

Before you move on

What does ساحر mean? ("A magician, a sorcerer".) Say it once more.

335.2 غول (ghūl) — an ogre, a ghoul

Before the new one: say the Arabic for innocence, then the Arabic for a magician.

You'll want to know: غول

غول — ghūl — "an ogre, a ghoul".

الحكاية في الغول من الأطفال خاف.

khāfa al-aṭfāl min al-ghūl fī al-ḥikāya.

The children were scared of the ogre in the tale.

Plural: غيلان, ghūlān.
English ghoul is usually traced to this word.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غول (ghūl) is built on the native Arabic root gh-w-l (Lane), "to take and destroy without warning". Lane gives ghūl as a being of the desert believed to lead travellers astray.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ghūl
- Say it: ghūl, once more
- Say it: khāfa al-aṭfāl min al-ghūl fī al-ḥikāya. — The children were scared of the ogre in the tale.
- Recall: say the Arabic for innocence, then the Arabic for a magician, then say ghūl again

Before you move on

What does غول mean? ("An ogre, a ghoul".) Say it once more.

335.3 تنين (tinnīn) — a dragon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a magician, then the Arabic for an ogre.

You'll want to know: تنين

تنين — tinnīn — "a dragon".

الجبل فوق التنين طار.

ṭāra at-tinnīn fawqa al-jabal.

The dragon flew over the mountain.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنين (tinnīn) is given by Lane, under t-n-n, as a huge serpent. It was borrowed from Aramaic tannīnā (EtymDB); Hebrew has tannīn, a sea monster.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tinnīn
- Say it: tinnīn, once more
- Say it: ṭāra at-tinnīn fawqa al-jabal. — The dragon flew over the mountain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a magician, then the Arabic for an ogre, then say tinnīn again

Before you move on

What does تنين mean? ("A dragon".) Say it once more.

335.4 عملاق (ᶜimlāq) — a giant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ogre, then the Arabic for a dragon.

You'll want to know: عملاق

عملاق — ᶜimlāq — "a giant".

الغابة في يعيش عملاق القصة في.

fī al-qiṣṣa ᶜimlāq yaᶜīshu fī al-ghāba.

In the story a giant lives in the forest.

Plural: عمالقة, ᶜamāliqa.
Of a company or a team: عملاق, a giant.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عملاق (ᶜimlāq) is built on the four-letter root ᶜ-m-l-q (Lane), where it is "very tall", and the ᶜamāliqa are a people of old remembered as giants. Its origin before that is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜimlāq
- Say it: ᶜimlāq, once more
- Say it: fī al-qiṣṣa ᶜimlāq yaᶜīshu fī al-ghāba. — In the story a giant lives in the forest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ogre, then the Arabic for a dragon, then say ᶜimlāq again

Before you move on

What does عملاق mean? ("A giant".) Say it once more.

335.5 قزم (qazam) — a dwarf

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dragon, then the Arabic for a giant.

You'll want to know: قزم

قزم — qazam — "a dwarf".

الغابة في البنت الأقزام ساعد.

sāᶜada al-aqzām al-bint fī al-ghāba.

The dwarfs helped the girl in the forest.

Plural: أقزام, aqzām.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قزم (qazam) is usually traced to a native Arabic root q-z-m, where qazam is something small and mean; Lane's article on it is empty. It now names a dwarf.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qazam
- Say it: qazam, once more
- Say it: sāᶜada al-aqzām al-bint fī al-ghāba. — The dwarfs helped the girl in the forest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dragon, then the Arabic for a giant, then say qazam again

Before you move on

What does قزم mean? ("A dwarf".) Say it once more.

Chapter 336

Gifts and blessings

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to gift, to welcome, to congratulate, a dowry and the eve.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 336: I can say to gift, to welcome, to congratulate, a dowry and the eve.

336.1 أهدى (ahdā) — to gift; to dedicate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a giant, then the Arabic for a dwarf.

You'll want to know: أهدى

أهدى — ahdā — "to gift; to dedicate".

أمها إلى وردة البنت أهدت.

ahdat al-bint wardatan ilā ummihā.

The girl gave her mother a rose.

Present: يهدي, yuhdī.

The taught هدية, a gift, is its noun. Of a book: أمه إلى الكتاب أهدى, he dedicated it to his mother.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أهدى (ahdā) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-y (Lane), "to guide", the root of the taught hadiyya, a gift. It is Form IV, "to send a gift".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ahdā
- Say it: ahdā, once more
- Say it: ahdat al-bint wardatan ilā ummihā. — The girl gave her mother a rose.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a giant, then the Arabic for a dwarf, then say ahdā again

Before you move on

What does أهدى mean? ("To gift; to dedicate".) Say it once more.

336.2 استقبل (istaqbala) — to receive guests; to welcome

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dwarf, then the Arabic for to gift.

You'll want to know: استقبل

استقبل — istaqbala — "to receive guests; to welcome".

الباب عند الضيوف الأهل استقبل.

istaqbala al-ahl aḍ-ḍuyūf ᶜinda al-bāb.

The family welcomed the guests at the door.

Present: يستقبل, yastaqbil.
A hotel reception desk is الاستقبال.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقبل (istaqbala) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l (Lane), "to be in front of, to face". It is Form X, "to go to meet"; mustaqbal, the future, is what comes to meet us.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: istaqbala
- Say it: istaqbala, once more
- Say it: istaqbala al-ahl aḍ-ḍuyūf ᶜinda al-bāb. — The family welcomed the guests at the door.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dwarf, then the Arabic for to gift, then say istaqbala again

Before you move on

What does استقبل mean? ("To receive guests; to welcome".) Say it once more.

336.3 بارك (bāraka) — to bless; to congratulate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to gift, then the Arabic for to receive guests.

You'll want to know: بارك

بارك — bāraka — "to bless; to congratulate".

للعروسين الأصدقاء بارك.

bāraka al-aṣdiqāʾ li-l-ᶜarūsayn.

The friends congratulated the bride and groom.

Present: يبارك, yubārik.
بارك لـ someone: to congratulate them. The wish مبروك is the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بارك (bāraka) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-k (Lane), said of a camel that kneels and stays. Baraka, a blessing, is good that stays; Form III bāraka is "to wish blessing on".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: bāraka
- Say it: bāraka, once more
- Say it: bāraka al-aṣdiqāʾ li-l-ᶜarūsayn. — The friends congratulated the bride and groom.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to gift, then the Arabic for to receive guests, then say bāraka again

Before you move on

What does بارك mean? ("To bless; to congratulate".) Say it once more.

336.4 مهر (mahr) — a dowry, a bride gift

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to receive guests, then the Arabic for to bless.

You'll want to know: مهر

مهر — mahr — "a dowry, a bride gift".

للعروس مهرا العريس دفع.

dafaᶜa al-ᶜarīs mahran li-l-ᶜarūs.

The groom paid a bride gift to the bride.

The groom gives it to the bride; it is hers.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهر (mahr) is built on the native Arabic root m-h-r (Lane), where mahr is the gift a man gives his bride; muhr, a foal, is written the same.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mahr
- Say it: mahr, once more
- Say it: dafaᶜa al-ᶜarīs mahran li-l-ᶜarūs. — The groom paid a bride gift to the bride.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to receive guests, then the Arabic for to bless, then say mahr again

Before you move on

What does مهر mean? ("A dowry, a bride gift".) Say it once more.

336.5 عشية (ᶜashiyya) — the eve; the evening before

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bless, then the Arabic for a dowry.

You'll want to know: عشية

عشية — ᶜashiyya — "the eve; the evening before".

العيد عشية سافرنا.

sāfarnā ᶜashiyyat al-ᶜīd.

We travelled on the eve of the holiday.

الانتخابات عشية: on the eve of the election.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عشية (ᶜashiyya) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-sh-w (Lane), where ᶜashiyy is the evening; the taught ᶜashāʾ, dinner, is the evening meal.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜashiyya
- Say it: ᶜashiyya, once more
- Say it: sāfarnā ᶜashiyyat al-ᶜīd. — We travelled on the eve of the holiday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bless, then the Arabic for a dowry, then say ᶜashiyya again

Before you move on

What does عشية mean? ("The eve; the evening before".) Say it once more.

Chapter 337

Wills and inheritance

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a will, an inheritance, to inherit, an heir and a widow.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 337: I can say a will, an inheritance, to inherit, an heir and a widow.

337.1 وصية (waṣiyya) — a will, a testament; advice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dowry, then the Arabic for the eve.

You'll want to know: وصية

وصية — waṣiyya — "a will, a testament; advice".

> موته قبل وصيته الرجل كتب.
>
> kataba ar-rajul waṣiyyatahu qabla mawtihi.
>
> The man wrote his will before he died.

Plural: وصايا, waṣāyā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وصية (waṣiyya) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-y (Lane), "to enjoin, to give a charge". A waṣiyya is the charge a person leaves behind.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: waṣiyya
- Say it: waṣiyya, once more
- Say it: kataba ar-rajul waṣiyyatahu qabla mawtihi. — The man wrote his will before he died.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dowry, then the Arabic for the eve, then say waṣiyya again

Before you move on

What does وصية mean? ("A will, a testament; advice".) Say it once more.

337.2 ميراث (mīrāth) — an inheritance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the eve, then the Arabic for a will.

You'll want to know: ميراث

ميراث — mīrāth — "an inheritance".

ترك الأب لأولاده ميراثا صغيرا.

taraka al-ab li-awlādihi mīrāthan ṣaghīran.

The father left his children a small inheritance.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميراث (mīrāth) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-th (Lane), "to inherit". The w of the root shows as ī after the mi- of the pattern.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mīrāth
- Say it: mīrāth, once more
- Say it: taraka al-ab li-awlādihi mīrāthan ṣaghīran. — The father left his children a small inheritance.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the eve, then the Arabic for a will, then say mīrāth again

Before you move on

What does ميراث mean? ("An inheritance".) Say it once more.

337.3 ورث (waritha) — to inherit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a will, then the Arabic for an inheritance.

You'll want to know: ورث

ورث — waritha — "to inherit".

جدتها من بيتا البنت ورثت.

warithat al-bint baytan min jaddatihā.

The girl inherited a house from her grandmother.

Present: يرث, yarith.
The present drops the و: يرث.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ورث (waritha) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-th (Lane), "to inherit"; mīrāth and turāth are both what is inherited.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: waritha
- Say it: waritha, once more
- Say it: warithat al-bint baytan min jaddatihā. — The girl inherited a house from her grandmother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a will, then the Arabic for an inheritance, then say waritha again

Before you move on

What does ورث mean? ("To inherit".) Say it once more.

337.4 وارث (wārith) — an heir

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an inheritance, then the Arabic for to inherit.

You'll want to know: وارث

وارث — wārith — "an heir".

الوحيد الوارث الابن كان.

kāna al-ibn al-wārith al-waḥīd.

The son was the only heir.

Plural: ورثة, waratha.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وارث (wārith) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-th (Lane), "to inherit". Wārith is the active participle, "one who inherits".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: wārith
- Say it: wārith, once more
- Say it: kāna al-ibn al-wārith al-waḥīd. — The son was the only heir.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an inheritance, then the Arabic for to inherit, then say wārith again

Before you move on

What does وارث mean? ("An heir".) Say it once more.

337.5 أرملة (armala) — a widow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to inherit, then the Arabic for an heir.

You'll want to know: أرملة

أرملة — armala — "a widow".

ابنتها مع الأرملة عاشت.

ᶜāshat al-armala maᶜa ibnatihā.

The widow lived with her daughter.

Plural: أرامل, arāmil.
A widower is أرمل.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرملة (armala) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-l (Lane), where Lane gives armala as a woman without a husband, and armal, a man in need.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: armala
- Say it: armala, once more
- Say it: ᶜāshat al-armala maᶜa ibnatihā. — The widow lived with her daughter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to inherit, then the Arabic for an heir, then say armala again

Before you move on

What does أرملة mean? ("A widow".) Say it once more.

Chapter 338

Remembering the dead

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a eulogy, a tomb, a death, a cemetery and a coffin.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 338: I can say a eulogy, a tomb, a death, a cemetery and a coffin.

338.1 تأبين (taʾbīn) — a eulogy, a memorial tribute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an heir, then the Arabic for a widow.

You'll want to know: تأبين

تأبين — taʾbīn — "a eulogy, a memorial tribute".

> الشاعر تأبين حفل الكتاب حضر.
>
> ḥaḍara al-kuttāb ḥafl taʾbīn ash-shāᶜir.
>
> The writers attended the poet's memorial.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأبين (taʾbīn) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-b-n (Lane), where Form II abbana is "to praise a person after his death"; taʾbīn is its verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾbīn
- Say it: taʾbīn, once more
- Say it: ḥaḍara al-kuttāb ḥafl taʾbīn ash-shāʿir. — The writers attended the poet's memorial.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an heir, then the Arabic for a widow, then say taʾbīn again

Before you move on

What does تأبين mean? ("A eulogy, a memorial tribute".) Say it once more.

338.2 ضريح (ḍarīḥ) — a tomb, a mausoleum

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a widow, then the Arabic for a eulogy.

You'll want to know: ضريح

ضريح — ḍarīḥ — "a tomb, a mausoleum".

زار السياح ضريح الملك القديم.

zāra as-suyyāḥ ḍarīḥ al-malik al-qadīm.

The tourists visited the old king's tomb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضريح (ḍarīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-ḥ (Lane), "to dig a trench for the dead"; a ḍarīḥ is first that grave, then a built tomb.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍarīḥ
- Say it: ḍarīḥ, once more
- Say it: zāra as-suyyāḥ ḍarīḥ al-malik al-qadīm. — The tourists visited the old king's tomb.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a widow, then the Arabic for a eulogy, then say ḍarīḥ again

Before you move on

What does ضريح mean? ("A tomb, a mausoleum".) Say it once more.

338.3 وفاة (wafāh) — a death, a passing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a eulogy, then the Arabic for a tomb.

You'll want to know: وفاة

وفاة — wafāh — "a death, a passing".

الجدة وفاة بعد الجميع بكى.

bakā al-jamīᶜ baᶜda wafāt al-jadda.

Everyone wept after the grandmother's death.

The polite noun beside موت.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وفاة (wafāh) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-y (Lane), "to be complete, to fulfil". Wafāh is a life brought to its full term.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: wafāh
- Say it: wafāh, once more
- Say it: bakā al-jamī^{c} ba^{c}da wafāt al-jadda. — Everyone wept after the grandmother's death.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a eulogy, then the Arabic for a tomb, then say wafāh again

Before you move on

What does وفاة mean? ("A death, a passing".) Say it once more.

338.4 مقبرة (maqbara) — a cemetery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tomb, then the Arabic for a death.

You'll want to know: مقبرة

مقبرة — maqbara — "a cemetery".

العيد صباح المقبرة زرنا.

zurnā al-maqbara ṣabāḥ al-^{c}īd.

We visited the cemetery on the morning of the holiday.

Plural: مقابر, maqābir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقبرة (maqbara) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-r (Lane), "to bury". The maf^{c}ala pattern names a place: "the place of graves".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: maqbara
- Say it: maqbara, once more
- Say it: zurnā al-maqbara ṣabāḥ al-ᶜīd. — We visited the cemetery on the morning of the holiday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tomb, then the Arabic for a death, then say maqbara again

Before you move on

What does مقبرة mean? ("A cemetery".) Say it once more.

338.5 نعش (naᶜsh) — a coffin, a bier

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a death, then the Arabic for a cemetery.

You'll want to know: نعش

نعش — naᶜsh — "a coffin, a bier".

النعش رجال أربعة حمل.

ḥamala arbaᶜat rijāl an-naᶜsh.

Four men carried the coffin.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نعش (naᶜsh) is built on the native Arabic root n-ᶜ-sh (Lane), "to raise up". The stars of the Great Bear are banāt naᶜsh, "the daughters of the bier".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: na^{c}sh
- Say it: na^{c}sh, once more
- Say it: ḥamala arba^{c}at rijāl an-na^{c}sh. — Four men carried the coffin.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a death, then the Arabic for a cemetery, then say na^{c}sh again

Before you move on

What does نعش mean? ("A coffin, a bier".) Say it once more.

Chapter 339

Invasions

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to invade, to attack, to occupy, to lead and to withdraw.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 339: I can say to invade, to attack, to occupy, to lead and to withdraw.

339.1 غزا (ghazā) — to invade, to raid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cemetery, then the Arabic for a coffin.

You'll want to know: غزا

غزا — ghazā — "to invade, to raid".

> المجاورة البلاد الجيش غزا.
>
> ghazā al-jaysh al-bilād al-mujāwira.
>
> The army invaded the neighbouring lands.

Present: يغزو, yaghzū.
Of space: غزو الفضاء, the conquest of space.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غزا (ghazā) is built on the native Arabic root gh-z-w (Lane), "to aim at, to seek", and "to go out to fight"; ghazw is a raid.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ghazā
- Say it: ghazā, once more
- Say it: ghazā al-jaysh al-bilād al-mujāwira. — The army invaded the neighbouring lands.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cemetery, then the Arabic for a coffin, then say ghazā again

Before you move on

What does غزا mean? ("To invade, to raid".) Say it once more.

339.2 هاجم (hājama) — to attack

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coffin, then the Arabic for to invade.

You'll want to know: هاجم

هاجم — hājama — "to attack".

الحديقة في الرجل الكلب هاجم.

hājama al-kalb ar-rajul fī al-ḥadīqa.

The dog attacked the man in the garden.

Present: يهاجم, yuhājim.
In sport an attacker is مهاجم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هاجم (hājama) is built on the native Arabic root h-j-m (Lane), "to come upon someone suddenly". It is Form III, "to rush upon an enemy".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: hājama
- Say it: hājama, once more
- Say it: hājama al-kalb ar-rajul fī al-ḥadīqa. — The dog attacked the man in the garden.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coffin, then the Arabic for to invade, then say hājama again

Before you move on

What does هاجم mean? ("To attack".) Say it once more.

339.3 احتل (iḥtalla) — to occupy, to take up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to invade, then the Arabic for to attack.

You'll want to know: احتل

احتل — iḥtalla — "to occupy, to take up".

الأول المركز فريقنا احتل.

iḥtalla farīqunā al-markaz al-awwal.

Our team took first place.

Present: يحتل, yaḥtall.
Of armies: to occupy a land.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتل (iḥtalla) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-l (Lane), "to untie; to alight in a place". It is Form VIII, "to take up a place".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtalla
- Say it: iḥtalla, once more
- Say it: iḥtalla farīqunā al-markaz al-awwal. — Our team took first place.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to invade, then the Arabic for to attack, then say iḥtalla again

Before you move on

What does احتل mean? ("To occupy, to take up".) Say it once more.

339.4 قاد (qāda) — to lead; to drive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to attack, then the Arabic for to occupy.

You'll want to know: قاد

قاد — qāda — "to lead; to drive".

الليل طوال السيارة أبي قاد.

qāda abī as-sayyāra ṭuwāla al-layl.

My father drove the car all night.

Present: يقود, yaqūd.
Of an army: قاد الجيش, he led the army.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قاد (qāda) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-d (Lane), "to lead a horse or camel by its rope"; a car is led the same way, so qāda is also to drive.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qāda
- Say it: qāda, once more
- Say it: qāda abī as-sayyāra ṭuwāla al-layl. — My father drove the car all night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to attack, then the Arabic for to occupy, then say qāda again

Before you move on

What does قاد mean? ("To lead; to drive".) Say it once more.

339.5 انسحب (insaḥaba) — to withdraw, to pull out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to occupy, then the Arabic for to lead.

You'll want to know: انسحب

انسحب — insaḥaba — "to withdraw, to pull out".

انسحب اللاعب من المباراة.

insaḥaba al-lāᶜib min al-mubārāh.

The player pulled out of the match.

Present: ينسحب, yansaḥib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انسحب (insaḥaba) is built on the native Arabic root s-ḥ-b (Lane), "to drag along", the root of the taught saḥaba. It is Form VII, "to be drawn back".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: insaḥaba
- Say it: insaḥaba, once more
- Say it: insaḥaba al-lāᶜib min al-mubārāh. — The player pulled out of the match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to occupy, then the Arabic for to lead, then say insaḥaba again

Before you move on

What does انسحب mean? ("To withdraw, to pull out".) Say it once more.

Chapter 340

Rulers and tribes

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a ruler, a sultan, a tribe, a royal court and to take office.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 340: I can say a ruler, a sultan, a tribe, a royal court and to take office.

340.1 حاكم (ḥākim) — a governor; a ruler

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lead, then the Arabic for to withdraw.

You'll want to know: حاكم

حاكم — ḥākim — "a governor; a ruler".

> الناس مع عادلا الحاكم كان.
>
> kāna al-ḥākim ᶜādilan maᶜa an-nās.
>
> The ruler was fair to the people.

Plural: حكام, ḥukkām.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاكم (ḥākim) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-m (Lane), "to judge, to rule". Ḥākim is the active participle, "one who rules".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥākim
- Say it: ḥākim, once more
- Say it: kāna al-ḥākim ᶜādilan maᶜa an-nās. — The ruler was fair to the people.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lead, then the Arabic for to withdraw, then say ḥākim again

Before you move on

What does حاكم mean? ("A governor; a ruler".) Say it once more.

340.2 سلطان (sulṭān) — a sultan; power

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to withdraw, then the Arabic for a governor.

You'll want to know: سلطان

سلطان — sulṭān — "a sultan; power".

النهر على قصر في السلطان سكن.

sakana as-sulṭān fī qaṣr ᶜalā an-nahr.

The sultan lived in a palace on the river.

Plural: سلاطين, salāṭīn.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلطان (sulṭān) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-ṭ (Lane), "to have power over". Lane gives sulṭān first as power and proof, then the one who holds power; Aramaic shulṭānā, power, is usually cited beside it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sulṭān
- Say it: sulṭān, once more
- Say it: sakana as-sulṭān fī qaṣr ᶜalā an-nahr. — The sultan lived in a palace on the river.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to withdraw, then the Arabic for a governor, then say sulṭān again

Before you move on

What does سلطان mean? ("A sultan; power".) Say it once more.

340.3 قبيلة (qabīla) — a tribe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a governor, then the Arabic for a sultan.

You'll want to know: قبيلة

قبيلة — qabīla — "a tribe".

الصحراء في القبيلة عاشت.

ᶜāshat al-qabīla fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.

The tribe lived in the desert.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبيلة (qabīla) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l (Lane), "to face, to be in front". Lane gives qabīla as a company of people from one father.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: qabīla
- Say it: qabīla, once more
- Say it: ᶜāshat al-qabīla fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — The tribe lived in the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a governor, then the Arabic for a sultan, then say qabīla again

Before you move on

What does قبيلة mean? ("A tribe".) Say it once more.

340.4 بلاط (balāṭ) — a royal court; paving stones

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sultan, then the Arabic for a tribe.

You'll want to know: بلاط

بلاط — balāṭ — "a royal court; paving stones".

الملك بلاط في يعمل الشاعر كان.

kāna ash-shāᶜir yaᶜmalu fī balāṭ al-malik.

The poet worked at the king's court.

At home, بلاط is floor tiles.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بلاط (balāṭ) is given by Lane under b-l-ṭ as stones laid for paving. It was borrowed from Aramaic pallāṭīn (EtymDB); the sense of a royal court is usually traced further to Latin palatium, a palace.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: balāṭ
- Say it: balāṭ, once more
- Say it: kāna ash-shāᶜir yaᶜmalu fī balāṭ al-malik. — The poet worked at the king's court.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sultan, then the Arabic for a tribe, then say balāṭ again

Before you move on

What does بلاط mean? ("A royal court; paving stones".) Say it once more.

340.5 تولى (tawallā) — to take office; to take charge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tribe, then the Arabic for a royal court.

You'll want to know: تولى

تولى — tawallā — "to take office; to take charge".

أبيه بعد الحكم الأمير تولى.

tawallā al-amīr al-ḥukm baᶜda abīhi.

The prince took power after his father.

Present: يتولى, yatawallā.
تولى الأمر: he took charge of the matter.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تولى (tawallā) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-y (Lane), "to be near; to have charge of", the root of walī, a guardian. It is Form V, "to take charge".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tawallā
- Say it: tawallā, once more
- Say it: tawallā al-amīr al-ḥukm ba^{c}da abīhi. — The prince took power after his father.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tribe, then the Arabic for a royal court, then say tawallā again

Before you move on

What does تولى mean? ("To take office; to take charge".) Say it once more.

340.6 Words from chapters 333–340 — a review

Say the Arabic for to go under and a sailor.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to go under, a sailor, a fleet, a pirate, to capture
- a trial, a hearing, the defence, to convict, innocence
- a magician, an ogre, a dragon, a giant, a dwarf
- to gift, to receive guests, to bless, a dowry, the eve
- a will, an inheritance, to inherit, an heir, a widow
- a eulogy, a tomb, a death, a cemetery, a coffin
- to invade, to attack, to occupy, to lead, to withdraw
- a governor, a sultan, a tribe, a royal court, to take office

Before you move on

To go under? (غرق, ghariqa.) A sailor? (بحار, baḥḥār.) A fleet? (أسطول, usṭūl.) A pirate? (قرصان, qurṣān.) To capture? (أسر, asara.) A trial? (محاكمة, muḥākama.) A hearing? (جلسة, jalsa.) The defence? (دفاع, difāᶜ.) To convict? (أدان, adāna.) Innocence? (براءة, barāʾa.) A magician? (ساحر, sāḥir.) An ogre? (غول, ghūl.) A dragon? (تنين, tinnīn.) A giant? (عملاق, ᶜimlāq.) A dwarf? (قزم, qazam.) To gift? (أهدى, ahdā.) To receive guests? (استقبل, istaqbala.) To bless? (بارك, bāraka.) A dowry? (مهر, mahr.) The eve? (عشية, ᶜashiyya.) A will? (وصية, waṣiyya.) An inheritance? (ميراث, mīrāth.) To inherit? (ورث, waritha.) An heir? (وارث, wārith.) A widow? (أرملة, armala.) A eulogy? (تأبين, taʾbīn.) A tomb? (ضريح, ḍarīḥ.) A death? (وفاة, wafāh.) A cemetery? (مقبرة, maqbara.) A coffin? (نعش, naᶜsh.) To invade? (غزا, ghazā.) To attack? (هاجم, hājama.) To occupy? (احتل, iḥtalla.) To lead? (قاد, qāda.) To withdraw? (انسحب, insaḥaba.) A governor? (حاكم, ḥākim.) A sultan? (سلطان, sulṭān.) A tribe? (قبيلة, qabīla.) A royal court? (بلاط, balāṭ.) To take office? (تولى, tawallā.)

Chapter 341

Knights and treaties

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a knight, a helmet, a truce, a treaty and to betray.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 341: I can say a knight, a helmet, a truce, a treaty and to betray.

341.1 فارس (fāris) — a knight, a horseman

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a royal court, then the Arabic for to take office.

You'll want to know: فارس

فارس — fāris — "a knight, a horseman".

> الأبيض حصانه الفارس ركب.
>
> rakiba al-fāris ḥiṣānahu al-abyaḍ.
>
> The knight rode his white horse.

Plural: فرسان, fursān.
الأحلام فارس: Prince Charming.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فارس (fāris) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-s (Lane), the root of faras, a horse. Fāris is the man on the horse; furūsiyya is horsemanship and knighthood.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fāris
- Say it: fāris, once more
- Say it: rakiba al-fāris ḥiṣānahu al-abyaḍ. — The knight rode his white horse.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a royal court, then the Arabic for to take office, then say fāris again

Before you move on

What does فارس mean? ("A knight, a horseman".) Say it once more.

341.2 خوذة (khūdha) — a helmet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take office, then the Arabic for a knight.

You'll want to know: خوذة

خوذة — khūdha — "a helmet".

لبس العامل خوذة صفراء.

labisa al-ᶜāmil khūdha ṣafrāʾ.

The worker put on a yellow helmet.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خوذة (khūdha) is usually traced to Persian khōd, "a helmet", an old borrowing into Arabic.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khūdha
- Say it: khūdha, once more
- Say it: labisa al-ᶜāmil khūdha ṣafrāʾ. — The worker put on a yellow helmet.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take office, then the Arabic for a knight, then say khūdha again

Before you move on

What does خوذة mean? ("A helmet".) Say it once more.

341.3 هدنة (hudna) — a truce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a knight, then the Arabic for a helmet.

You'll want to know: هدنة

هدنة — hudna — "a truce".

وقع الطرفان هدنة لمدة شهر.

waqqaᶜa aṭ-ṭarafān hudna li-muddat shahr.

The two sides signed a truce for a month.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدنة (hudna) is a native Arabic word built on the root h-d-n, recorded in hudna ᶜalā dakhan, an illusory truce (Lane). The root is usually explained as "to be still, to be quiet": a time when the fighting is still.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: hudna
- Say it: hudna, once more
- Say it: waqqaᶜa aṭ-ṭarafān hudna li-muddat shahr. — The two sides signed a truce for a month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a knight, then the Arabic for a helmet, then say hudna again

Before you move on

What does هدنة mean? ("A truce".) Say it once more.

341.4 معاهدة (muᶜāhada) — a treaty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a helmet, then the Arabic for a truce.

You'll want to know: معاهدة

معاهدة — muᶜāhada — "a treaty".

وقع البلدان معاهدة سلام.

waqqaᶜa al-baladān muᶜāhadat salām.

The two countries signed a peace treaty.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معاهدة (mu^{c}āhada) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-h-d (Lane), where ^{c}ahd is a pledge. Mu^{c}āhada is the verbal noun of Form III, "pledging to one another".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}āhada
- Say it: mu^{c}āhada, once more
- Say it: waqqa^{c}a al-baladān mu^{c}āhadat salām. — The two countries signed a peace treaty.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a helmet, then the Arabic for a truce, then say mu^{c}āhada again

Before you move on

What does معاهدة mean? ("A treaty".) Say it once more.

341.5 خان (khāna) — to betray

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a truce, then the Arabic for a treaty.

You'll want to know: خان

خان — khāna — "to betray".

القصة في الملك الوزير خان.

khāna al-wazīr al-malik fī al-qiṣṣa.

In the story the minister betrayed the king.

Present: يخون, yakhūn.
Not the noun خان, an inn, which has another source.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خان (khāna) is built on the native Arabic root kh-w-n (Lane), "to be unfaithful to a trust"; khiyāna is treachery.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khāna
- Say it: khāna, once more
- Say it: khāna al-wazīr al-malik fī al-qiṣṣa. — In the story the minister betrayed the king.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a truce, then the Arabic for a treaty, then say khāna again

Before you move on

What does خان mean? ("To betray".) Say it once more.

Chapter 342

Heritage and inventions

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say heritage, a manuscript, an inscription, a title and to invent.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 342: I can say heritage, a manuscript, an inscription, a title and to invent.

342.1 تراث (turāth) — heritage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a treaty, then the Arabic for to betray.

You'll want to know: تراث

تراث — turāth — "heritage".

القديم تراثها على القرية تحافظ.

tuḥāfiẓu al-qarya ᶜalā turāthihā al-qadīm.

The village takes care of its old heritage.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تراث (turāth) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-th (Lane), "to inherit". Lane explains turāth as wurāth with t in place of the w: what a people inherits.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: turāth
- Say it: turāth, once more
- Say it: tuḥāfiẓu al-qarya ᶜalā turāthihā al-qadīm. — The village takes care of its old heritage.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a treaty, then the Arabic for to betray, then say turāth again

Before you move on

What does تراث mean? ("Heritage".) Say it once more.

342.2 مخطوطة (makhṭūṭa) — a manuscript

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to betray, then the Arabic for heritage.

You'll want to know: مخطوطة

مخطوطة — makhṭūṭa — "a manuscript".

وجد الباحث مخطوطة قديمة في المكتبة.

wajada al-bāḥith makhṭūṭa qadīma fī al-maktaba.

The researcher found an old manuscript in the library.

Plural مخطوطات.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخطوطة (makhṭūṭa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-ṭ (Lane), "to draw a line; to write", the root of khaṭṭ, handwriting. Makhṭūṭa is "a thing written by hand".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: makhṭūṭa
- Say it: makhṭūṭa, once more
- Say it: wajada al-bāḥith makhṭūṭa qadīma fī al-maktaba. — The researcher found an old manuscript in the library.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to betray, then the Arabic for heritage, then say makhṭūṭa again

Before you move on

What does مخطوطة mean? ("A manuscript".) Say it once more.

342.3 نقش (naqsh) — an inscription; a carving

Before the new one: say the Arabic for heritage, then the Arabic for a manuscript.

You'll want to know: نقش

نقش — naqsh — "an inscription; a carving".

قرأ العالم نقشا على الحجر.

qaraʾa al-ᶜālim naqshan ᶜalā al-ḥajar.

The scholar read an inscription on the stone.

Plural: نقوش, nuqūsh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقش (naqsh) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-sh (Lane), "to paint or engrave a design"; the taught nāqasha, to discuss, is picking at a matter point by point.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: naqsh
- Say it: naqsh, once more
- Say it: qaraʾa al-ᶜālim naqshan ᶜalā al-ḥajar. — The scholar read an inscription on the stone.
- Recall: say the Arabic for heritage, then the Arabic for a manuscript, then say naqsh again

Before you move on

What does نقش mean? ("An inscription; a carving".) Say it once more.

342.4 لقب (laqab) — a title; a nickname

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a manuscript, then the Arabic for an inscription.

You'll want to know: لقب

لقب — laqab — "a title; a nickname".

الحكيم القرية في جدي لقب كان.

kāna laqab jaddī fī al-qarya al-ḥakīm.

My grandfather's nickname in the village was the Wise One.

Plural: ألقاب, alqāb.
In sport: البطولة لقب, the title.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لقب (laqab) is built on the native Arabic root l-q-b (Lane), where laqab is a name given to a person besides his own, for praise or in jest.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: laqab
- Say it: laqab, once more
- Say it: kāna laqab jaddī fī al-qarya al-ḥakīm. — My grandfather's nickname in the village was the Wise One.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a manuscript, then the Arabic for an inscription, then say laqab again

Before you move on

What does لقب mean? ("A title; a nickname".) Say it once more.

342.5 اخترع (ikhtara^{c}a) — to invent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an inscription, then the Arabic for a title.

You'll want to know: اخترع

اخترع — ikhtara^{c}a — "to invent".

اخترع العالم آلة جديدة.

ikhtara^{c}a al-^{c}ālim āla jadīda.

The scientist invented a new machine.

Present: يخترع, yakhtari^c.
An invention is اختراع.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اخترع (ikhtara^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-^{c} (Lane), "to split, to cleave". It is Form VIII, "to bring a thing out new, without a model".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtara^{c}a
- Say it: ikhtara^{c}a, once more
- Say it: ikhtara^{c}a al-^{c}ālim āla jadīda. — The scientist invented a new machine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an inscription, then the Arabic for a title, then say ikhtara^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does اخترع mean? ("To invent".) Say it once more.

Chapter 343

Adventures

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an adventure, unknown, a surprise, a coincidence and to take a risk.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 343: I can say an adventure, unknown, a surprise, a coincidence and to take a risk.

343.1 مغامرة (mughāmara) — an adventure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a title, then the Arabic for to invent.

You'll want to know: مغامرة

مغامرة — mughāmara — "an adventure".

كانت الرحلة مغامرة كبيرة.

kānat ar-riḥla mughāmara kabīra.

The trip was a great adventure.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغامرة (mughāmara) is built on the native Arabic root gh-m-r (Lane), where ghamr is deep water that covers a man. Mughāmara is the verbal noun of Form III, "to plunge into".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mughāmara
- Say it: mughāmara, once more
- Say it: kānat ar-riḥla mughāmara kabīra. — The trip was a great adventure.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a title, then the Arabic for to invent, then say mughāmara again

Before you move on

What does مغامرة mean? ("An adventure".) Say it once more.

343.2 مجهول (majhūl) — unknown; a stranger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to invent, then the Arabic for an adventure.

You'll want to know: مجهول

مجهول — majhūl — "unknown; a stranger".

مجهول شخص من رسالة وصلت.

waṣalat risāla min shakhṣ majhūl.

A letter arrived from an unknown person.

In grammar, the passive is للمجهول المبني, built for the unknown doer.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجهول (majhūl) is usually traced to the native Arabic root j-h-l, "to be ignorant, not to know". Majhūl is the passive participle: "what is not known".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: majhūl
- Say it: majhūl, once more
- Say it: waṣalat risāla min shakhṣ majhūl. — A letter arrived from an unknown person.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to invent, then the Arabic for an adventure, then say majhūl again

Before you move on

What does مجهول mean? ("Unknown; a stranger".) Say it once more.

343.3 مفاجأة (mufājaʾa) — a surprise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an adventure, then the Arabic for unknown.

You'll want to know: مفاجأة

مفاجأة — mufājaʾa — "a surprise".

جميلة مفاجأة الهدية كانت.

kānat al-hadiyya mufājaʾa jamīla.

The present was a lovely surprise.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مفاجأة (mufājaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root f-j-ʾ (Lane), "to come upon unawares", the root of fajʾatan, suddenly. It is the verbal noun of Form III.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mufājaʾa
- Say it: mufājaʾa, once more
- Say it: kānat al-hadiyya mufājaʾa jamīla. — The present was a lovely surprise.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an adventure, then the Arabic for unknown, then say mufājaʾa again

Before you move on

What does مفاجأة mean? ("A surprise".) Say it once more.

343.4 صدفة (ṣudfa) — a coincidence, chance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for unknown, then the Arabic for a surprise.

You'll want to know: صدفة

صدفة — ṣudfa — "a coincidence, chance".

السوق في صدفة القديم بصديقي التقيت.

iltaqaytu bi-ṣadīqī al-qadīm ṣudfatan fī as-sūq.

I met my old friend by chance in the market.

صدفة or بالصدفة: by chance.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صدفة (ṣudfa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-f (Lane), where Form III ṣādafa is "to light upon someone without meaning to".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣudfa
- Say it: ṣudfa, once more
- Say it: iltaqaytu bi-ṣadīqī al-qadīm ṣudfatan fī as-sūq. — I met my old friend by chance in the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for unknown, then the Arabic for a surprise, then say ṣudfa again

Before you move on

What does صدفة mean? ("A coincidence, chance".) Say it once more.

343.5 خاطر (khāṭara) — to take a risk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a surprise, then the Arabic for a coincidence.

You'll want to know: خاطر

خاطر — khāṭara — "to take a risk".

الطفل لينقذ بحياته الرجل خاطر.

khāṭara ar-rajul bi-ḥayātihi li-yunqidha aṭ-ṭifl.

The man risked his life to save the child.

Present: يخاطر, yukhāṭir.
It takes بـ for what is risked.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خاطر (khāṭara) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-r (Lane), the root of khaṭar, danger, and khaṭīr, serious. It is Form III, "to put a thing in danger”.

What you’ve built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khāṭara
- Say it: khāṭara, once more
- Say it: khāṭara ar-rajul bi-ḥayātihi li-yunqidha aṭ-ṭifl. — The man risked his life to save the child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a surprise, then the Arabic for a coincidence, then say khāṭara again

Before you move on

What does خاطر mean? (“To take a risk”.) Say it once more.

Chapter 344

In the fairy tale

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a woodcutter, to enchant, to turn into, to come true and to take revenge.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 344: I can say a woodcutter, to enchant, to turn into, to come true and to take revenge.

344.1 حطاب (ḥaṭṭāb) — a woodcutter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coincidence, then the Arabic for to take a risk.

You'll want to know: حطاب

حطاب — ḥaṭṭāb — "a woodcutter".

كان في الغابة حطاب فقير.

kāna fī al-ghāba ḥaṭṭāb faqīr.

There was a poor woodcutter in the forest.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حطاب (ḥaṭṭāb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṭ-b (Lane), where ḥaṭab is firewood. The fa^{cc}āl pattern names the trade: "the firewood man".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaṭṭāb
- Say it: ḥaṭṭāb, once more
- Say it: kāna fī al-ghāba ḥaṭṭāb faqīr. — There was a poor woodcutter in the forest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coincidence, then the Arabic for to take a risk, then say ḥaṭṭāb again

Before you move on

What does حطاب mean? ("A woodcutter".) Say it once more.

344.2 سحر (saḥara) — to enchant, to bewitch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take a risk, then the Arabic for a woodcutter.

You'll want to know: سحر

سحر — saḥara — "to enchant, to bewitch".

الجمهور الموسيقى سحرت.

saḥarat al-mūsīqā al-jumhūr.

The music enchanted the audience.

Present: يسحر, yasḥar.
The noun سحر, siḥr, magic, is spelled the same.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سحر (saḥara) is built on the native Arabic root s-ḥ-r (Lane), "to enchant"; siḥr is magic, and saḥar, the time before dawn, is spelled the same.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: saḥara
- Say it: saḥara, once more
- Say it: saḥarat al-mūsīqā al-jumhūr. — The music enchanted the audience.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take a risk, then the Arabic for a woodcutter, then say saḥara again

Before you move on

What does سحر mean? ("To enchant, to bewitch".) Say it once more.

344.3 تحول (taḥawwala) — to turn into, to change

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a woodcutter, then the Arabic for to enchant.

You'll want to know: تحول

تحول — taḥawwala — "to turn into, to change".

أمير إلى الضفدع تحول.

taḥawwala aḍ-ḍifdaᶜ ilā amīr.

The frog turned into a prince.

Present: يتحول, yataḥawwal.
It takes إلى: تحول إلى.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحول (taḥawwala) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l (Lane), "to change, to shift", the root of ḥāl, a state. It is Form V, "to change oneself".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥawwala
- Say it: taḥawwala, once more
- Say it: taḥawwala aḍ-ḍifdaᶜ ilā amīr. — The frog turned into a prince.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a woodcutter, then the Arabic for to enchant, then say taḥawwala again

Before you move on

What does تحول mean? ("To turn into, to change".) Say it once more.

344.4 تحقق (taḥaqqaqa) — to come true; to make sure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to enchant, then the Arabic for to turn into.

You'll want to know: تحقق

تحقق — taḥaqqaqa — "to come true; to make sure".

الصغيرة البنت أمنية تحققت.

taḥaqqaqat umniyyat al-bint aṣ-ṣaghīra.

The little girl's wish came true.

Present: يتحقق, yataḥaqqaq.
من تحقق: to check: الموعد من تحقق.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحقق (taḥaqqaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q (Lane), the root of ḥaqq, truth. It is Form V, "to become true".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥaqqaqa
- Say it: taḥaqqaqa, once more
- Say it: taḥaqqaqat umniyyat al-bint aṣ-ṣaghīra. — The little girl's wish came true.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to enchant, then the Arabic for to turn into, then say taḥaqqaqa again

Before you move on

What does تحقق mean? ("To come true; to make sure".) Say it once more.

344.5 انتقم (intaqama) — to take revenge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to turn into, then the Arabic for to come true.

You'll want to know: انتقم

انتقم — intaqama — "to take revenge".

الشرير الساحر من البطل انتقم.

intaqama al-baṭal min as-sāḥir ash-shirrīr.

The hero took revenge on the wicked magician.

Present: ينتقم, yantaqim.
It takes من: من انتقم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتقم (intaqama) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-m (Lane), "to take vengeance, to punish". It is Form VIII, "to punish for oneself".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: intaqama
- Say it: intaqama, once more
- Say it: intaqama al-baṭal min as-sāḥir ash-shirrīr. — The hero took revenge on the wicked magician.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to turn into, then the Arabic for to come true, then say intaqama again

Before you move on

What does انتقم mean? ("To take revenge".) Say it once more.

Chapter 345

Facing danger

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to challenge, to face, to overcome, to approach and to move away.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 345: I can say to challenge, to face, to overcome, to approach and to move away.

345.1 تحدى (taḥaddā) — to challenge, to defy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to come true, then the Arabic for to take revenge.

You'll want to know: تحدى

تحدى — taḥaddā — "to challenge, to defy".

> السباق في صديقه الولد تحدى.
>
> taḥaddā al-walad ṣadīqahu fī as-sibāq.
>
> The boy challenged his friend to a race.

Present: يتحدى, yataḥaddā.
A challenge is تحد; plural تحديات.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحدى (taḥaddā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-w (Lane), where ḥadā is to drive camels on with song, and Form V taḥaddā is "to vie with someone, to dare him".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥaddā
- Say it: taḥaddā, once more
- Say it: taḥaddā al-walad ṣadīqahu fī as-sibāq. — The boy challenged his friend to a race.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to come true, then the Arabic for to take revenge, then say taḥaddā again

Before you move on

What does تحدى mean? ("To challenge, to defy".) Say it once more.

345.2 واجه (wājaha) — to confront, to face

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take revenge, then the Arabic for to challenge.

You'll want to know: واجه

واجه — wājaha — "to confront, to face".

كبيرة مشكلة الفريق واجه.

wājaha al-farīq mushkila kabīra.

The team faced a big problem.

Present: يواجه, yuwājih.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واجه (wājaha) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-h (Lane), the root of the taught wajh, a face. It is Form III, "to meet face to face".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: wājaha
- Say it: wājaha, once more
- Say it: wājaha al-farīq mushkila kabīra. — The team faced a big problem.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take revenge, then the Arabic for to challenge, then say wājaha again

Before you move on

What does واجه mean? ("To confront, to face".) Say it once more.

345.3 تغلب (taghallaba) — to overcome

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to challenge, then the Arabic for to confront.

You'll want to know: تغلب

تغلب — taghallaba — "to overcome".

الماء من خوفها على البنت تغلبت.

taghallabat al-bint ᶜalā khawfihā min al-māʾ.

The girl overcame her fear of water.

Present: يتغلب, yataghallab.
It takes على: على تغلب.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تغلب (taghallaba) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-b (Lane), "to overpower", the root of the taught ghāliban, mostly. It is Form V, "to get the upper hand".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taghallaba
- Say it: taghallaba, once more
- Say it: taghallabat al-bint ᶜalā khawfihā min al-māʾ. — The girl overcame her fear of water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to challenge, then the Arabic for to confront, then say taghallaba again

Before you move on

What does تغلب mean? ("To overcome".) Say it once more.

345.4 اقترب (iqtaraba) — to approach, to come near

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to confront, then the Arabic for to overcome.

You'll want to know: اقترب

اقترب — iqtaraba — "to approach, to come near".

ببطء الطفل من الكلب اقترب.

iqtaraba al-kalb min aṭ-ṭifl bi-buṭʾ.

The dog came slowly closer to the child.

Present: يقترب, yaqtarib.
It takes من: اقترب من.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقترب (iqtaraba) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-b (Lane), "to be near", the root of the taught qarīb. It is Form VIII, "to draw near".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtaraba
- Say it: iqtaraba, once more
- Say it: iqtaraba al-kalb min aṭ-ṭifl bi-buṭˀ. — The dog came slowly closer to the child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to confront, then the Arabic for to overcome, then say iqtaraba again

Before you move on

What does اقترب mean? ("To approach, to come near".) Say it once more.

345.5 ابتعد (ibtaᶜada) — to move away, to keep away

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to overcome, then the Arabic for to approach.

You'll want to know: ابتعد

ابتعد — ibtaᶜada — "to move away, to keep away".

المحترق البيت عن الناس ابتعد.

ibtaᶜada an-nās ᶜan al-bayt al-muḥtariq.

People moved away from the burning house.

Present: يبتعد, yabtaᶜid.
It takes عن: ابتعد عن.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ابتعد (ibtaᶜada) is built on the native Arabic root b-ᶜ-d (Lane), "to be far", the root of the taught baᶜīd. It is Form VIII, "to go far off".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ibtaᶜada
- Say it: ibtaᶜada, once more
- Say it: ibtaᶜada an-nās ᶜan al-bayt al-muḥtariq. — People moved away from the burning house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to overcome, then the Arabic for to approach, then say ibtaᶜada again

Before you move on

What does ابتعد mean? ("To move away, to keep away".) Say it once more.

Chapter 346

Spies and suspects

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to spy, to disguise oneself, to suspect, to sneak in and to chase.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 346: I can say to spy, to disguise oneself, to suspect, to sneak in and to chase.

346.1 تجسس (tajassasa) — to spy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to approach, then the Arabic for to move away.

You'll want to know: تجسس

تجسس — tajassasa — "to spy".

جيرانه على الرجل تجسس.

tajassasa ar-rajul ᶜalā jīrānihi.

The man spied on his neighbours.

Present: يتجسس, yatajassas.
A spy is جاسوس.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجسس (tajassasa) is built on the native Arabic root j-s-s (Lane), "to feel with the hand, to search out news". It is Form V; a spy is jāsūs.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tajassasa
- Say it: tajassasa, once more
- Say it: tajassasa ar-rajul ᶜalā jīrānihi. — The man spied on his neighbours.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to approach, then the Arabic for to move away, then say tajassasa again

Before you move on

What does تجسس mean? ("To spy".) Say it once more.

346.2 تنكر (tanakkara) — to disguise oneself

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to move away, then the Arabic for to spy.

You'll want to know: تنكر

تنكر — tanakkara — "to disguise oneself".

قديمة ثياب في الأمير تنكر.

tanakkara al-amīr fī thiyāb qadīma.

The prince disguised himself in old clothes.

Present: يتنكر, yatanakkar.
A fancy-dress party is حفلة تنكرية.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنكر (tanakkara) is built on the native Arabic root n-k-r (Lane), "not to know a thing". It is Form V, "to make oneself unknown".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tanakkara
- Say it: tanakkara, once more
- Say it: tanakkara al-amīr fī thiyāb qadīma. — The prince disguised himself in old clothes.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to move away, then the Arabic for to spy, then say tanakkara again

Before you move on

What does تنكر mean? ("To disguise oneself".) Say it once more.

346.3 اشتبه (ishtabaha) — to suspect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to spy, then the Arabic for to disguise oneself.

You'll want to know: اشتبه

اشتبه — ishtabaha — "to suspect".

طويل رجل في الشرطة اشتبهت.

ishtabahat ash-shurṭa fī rajul ṭawīl.

The police suspected a tall man.

Present: يشتبه, yashtabih.
It takes في or بـ. A suspect is مشتبه به.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتبه (ishtabaha) is built on the native Arabic root sh-b-h (Lane), "to resemble", the root of the taught mushābih, similar. Form VIII is "to be doubtful", when things look alike: to suspect.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtabaha
- Say it: ishtabaha, once more
- Say it: ishtabahat ash-shurṭa fī rajul ṭawīl. — The police suspected a tall man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to spy, then the Arabic for to disguise oneself, then say ishtabaha again

Before you move on

What does اشتبه mean? ("To suspect".) Say it once more.

346.4 تسلل (tasallala) — to sneak in, to slip in

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to disguise oneself, then the Arabic for to suspect.

You'll want to know: تسلل

تسلل — tasallala — "to sneak in, to slip in".

النافذة من البيت إلى اللص تسلل.

tasallala al-liṣṣ ilā al-bayt min an-nāfidha.

The thief sneaked into the house through the window.

Present: يتسلل, yatasallal.
In football, تسلل is offside.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسلل (tasallala) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-l (Lane), "to draw a thing out gently", as a sword from its sheath. It is Form V, "to slip away or in unseen".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tasallala
- Say it: tasallala, once more
- Say it: tasallala al-liṣṣ ilā al-bayt min an-nāfidha. — The thief sneaked into the house through the window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to disguise oneself, then the Arabic for to suspect, then say tasallala again

Before you move on

What does تسلل mean? ("To sneak in, to slip in".) Say it once more.

346.5 طارد (ṭārada) — to chase, to pursue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to suspect, then the Arabic for to sneak in.

You'll want to know: طارد

طارد — ṭārada — "to chase, to pursue".

الشوارع في السيارة الشرطة طاردت.

ṭāradat ash-shurṭa as-sayyāra fī ash-shawāri^{c}.

The police chased the car through the streets.

Present: يطارد, yuṭārid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طارد (ṭārada) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-d (Lane), "to drive away". It is Form III, "to drive at someone, to hunt him".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭārada
- Say it: ṭārada, once more
- Say it: ṭāradat ash-shurṭa as-sayyāra fī ash-shawāriᶜ. — The police chased the car through the streets.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to suspect, then the Arabic for to sneak in, then say ṭārada again

Before you move on

What does طارد mean? ("To chase, to pursue".) Say it once more.

Chapter 347

A kidnapping

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to kidnap, to catch up with, a hostage, a ransom and a kidnapper.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 347: I can say to kidnap, to catch up with, a hostage, a ransom and a kidnapper.

347.1 اختطف (ikhtaṭafa) — to kidnap; to snatch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sneak in, then the Arabic for to chase.

You'll want to know: اختطف

اختطف — ikhtaṭafa — "to kidnap; to snatch".

> اختطف ابن رجلان التاجر.
>
> ikhtaṭafa rajulān ibn at-tājir.
>
> Two men kidnapped the merchant's son.

Present: يختطف, yakhtaṭif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختطف (ikhtaṭafa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-f (Lane), "to snatch away quickly", as a bird snatches its prey. It is Form VIII.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtaṭafa
- Say it: ikhtaṭafa, once more
- Say it: ikhtaṭafa rajulān ibn at-tājir. — Two men kidnapped the merchant's son.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sneak in, then the Arabic for to chase, then say ikhtaṭafa again

Before you move on

What does اختطف mean? ("To kidnap; to snatch".) Say it once more.

347.2 لحق (laḥiqa) — to catch up with

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to chase, then the Arabic for to kidnap.

You'll want to know: لحق

لحق — laḥiqa — "to catch up with".

الشارع في باللص الشرطي لحق.

laḥiqa ash-shurṭī bi-l-liṣṣ fī ash-shāriᶜ.

The policeman caught up with the thief in the street.

Present: يلحق, yalḥaq.
بالقطار لحق: he caught the train.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لحق (laḥiqa) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-q (Lane), "to overtake, to come up with", the root of the taught lāḥiqan, later.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: laḥiqa
- Say it: laḥiqa, once more
- Say it: laḥiqa ash-shurṭī bi-l-liṣṣ fī ash-shāriᶜ. — The policeman caught up with the thief in the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to chase, then the Arabic for to kidnap, then say laḥiqa again

Before you move on

What does لحق mean? ("To catch up with".) Say it once more.

347.3 رهينة (rahīna) — a hostage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to kidnap, then the Arabic for to catch up with.

You'll want to know: رهينة

رهينة — rahīna — "a hostage".

البيت في أيام ثلاثة الرهينة بقيت.

baqiyat ar-rahīna thalāthat ayyām fī al-bayt.

The hostage stayed in the house for three days.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رهينة (rahīna) is built on the native Arabic root r-h-n (Lane), "to give a thing as a pledge"; rahn is a pawn. A rahīna is a person held as one.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: rahīna
- Say it: rahīna, once more
- Say it: baqiyat ar-rahīna thalāthat ayyām fī al-bayt. — The hostage stayed in the house for three days.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to kidnap, then the Arabic for to catch up with, then say rahīna again

Before you move on

What does رهينة mean? ("A hostage".) Say it once more.

347.4 فدية (fidya) — a ransom

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to catch up with, then the Arabic for a hostage.

You'll want to know: فدية

فدية — fidya — "a ransom".

كبيرة فدية العصابة طلبت.

ṭalabat al-ᶜiṣāba fidya kabīra.

The gang demanded a large ransom.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فدية (fidya) is built on the native Arabic root f-d-y (Lane), "to ransom, to give a thing for another"; fidāʾ is the same.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: fidya
- Say it: fidya, once more
- Say it: ṭalabat al-ᶜiṣāba fidya kabīra. — The gang demanded a large ransom.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to catch up with, then the Arabic for a hostage, then say fidya again

Before you move on

What does فدية mean? ("A ransom".) Say it once more.

347.5 خاطف (khāṭif) — a kidnapper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hostage, then the Arabic for a ransom.

You'll want to know: خاطف

خاطف — khāṭif — "a kidnapper".

بالسيارة الخاطف هرب.

haraba al-khāṭif bi-s-sayyāra.

The kidnapper got away in the car.

Plural خاطفون. As an adjective it is swift: خاطفة زيارة, a flying visit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خاطف (khāṭif) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-f (Lane), "to snatch". Khāṭif is the active participle, "one who snatches".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khāṭif
- Say it: khāṭif, once more
- Say it: haraba al-khāṭif bi-s-sayyāra. — The kidnapper got away in the car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hostage, then the Arabic for a ransom, then say khāṭif again

Before you move on

What does خاطف mean? ("A kidnapper".) Say it once more.

Chapter 348

Charges and penalties

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a charge, a felony, a penalty, to punish and to inform the police.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 348: I can say a charge, a felony, a penalty, to punish and to inform the police.

348.1 تهمة (tuhma) — an accusation, a charge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ransom, then the Arabic for a kidnapper.

You'll want to know: تهمة

تهمة — tuhma — "an accusation, a charge".

> سيارة سرقة التهمة كانت.
>
> kānat at-tuhma sariqat sayyāra.
>
> The charge was stealing a car.

Plural: تهم, tuham.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تهمة (tuhma) is built on the native Arabic root w-h-m (Lane), "to fancy, to suspect". In tuhma the w of the root shows as t, as in ittahama.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tuhma
- Say it: tuhma, once more
- Say it: kānat at-tuhma sariqat sayyāra. — The charge was stealing a car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ransom, then the Arabic for a kidnapper, then say tuhma again

Before you move on

What does تهمة mean? ("An accusation, a charge".) Say it once more.

348.2 جناية (jināya) — a felony, a serious crime

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a kidnapper, then the Arabic for an accusation.

You'll want to know: جناية

جناية — jināya — "a felony, a serious crime".

كانت السرقة بالسلاح جناية.

kānat as-sariqa bi-s-silāḥ jināya.

The armed robbery was a felony.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جناية (jināya) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-y (Lane), where janā is "to gather fruit", and janā ᶜalā "to commit an offence against someone": to reap harm for him.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: jināya
- Say it: jināya, once more
- Say it: kānat as-sariqa bi-s-silāḥ jināya. — The armed robbery was a felony.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a kidnapper, then the Arabic for an accusation, then say jināya again

Before you move on

What does جناية mean? ("A felony, a serious crime".) Say it once more.

348.3 عقوبة (ᶜuqūba) — a penalty, a punishment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an accusation, then the Arabic for a felony.

You'll want to know: عقوبة

عقوبة — ᶜuqūba — "a penalty, a punishment".

السجن في سنة العقوبة كانت.

kānat al-ᶜuqūba sana fī as-sijn.

The penalty was a year in prison.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عقوبة (ᶜuqūba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-b (Lane), "to come after, to follow at the heel". A punishment is what comes after the deed.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜuqūba
- Say it: ᶜuqūba, once more
- Say it: kānat al-ᶜuqūba sana fī as-sijn. — The penalty was a year in prison.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an accusation, then the Arabic for a felony, then say ᶜuqūba again

Before you move on

What does عقوبة mean? ("A penalty, a punishment".) Say it once more.

348.4 عاقب (ᶜāqaba) — to punish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a felony, then the Arabic for a penalty.

You'll want to know: عاقب

عاقب — ᶜāqaba — "to punish".

كذبه على الطالب المعلم عاقب.

ᶜāqaba al-muᶜallim aṭ-ṭālib ᶜalā kadhibihi.

The teacher punished the pupil for lying.

Present: يعاقب, yuᶜāqib.
It takes على for the deed.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاقب (ᶜāqaba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-b (Lane), "to follow after". It is Form III, "to requite someone for what he did".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāqaba
- Say it: ᶜāqaba, once more
- Say it: ᶜāqaba al-muᶜallim aṭ-ṭālib ᶜalā kadhibihi. — The teacher punished the pupil for lying.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a felony, then the Arabic for a penalty, then say ᶜāqaba again

Before you move on

What does عاقب mean? ("To punish".) Say it once more.

348.5 بلغ (ballagha) — to inform the police; to report

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a penalty, then the Arabic for to punish.

You'll want to know: بلغ

بلغ — ballagha — "to inform the police; to report".

الصوت عن الشرطة الجار بلغ.

ballagha al-jār ash-shurṭa ᶜan aṣ-ṣawt.

The neighbour told the police about the noise.

Present: يبلغ, yuballigh.
عن بلغ: to report something. The plain verb, balagha, is to reach.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بلغ (ballagha) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-gh (Lane), "to reach". It is Form II, "to make news reach someone".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ballagha
- Say it: ballagha, once more
- Say it: ballagha al-jār ash-shurṭa ᶜan aṣ-ṣawt. — The neighbour told the police about the noise.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a penalty, then the Arabic for to punish, then say ballagha again

Before you move on

What does بلغ mean? ("To inform the police; to report".) Say it once more.

348.6 Words from chapters 341–348 — a review

Say the Arabic for a knight and a helmet.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a knight, a helmet, a truce, a treaty, to betray
- heritage, a manuscript, an inscription, a title, to invent
- an adventure, unknown, a surprise, a coincidence, to take a risk
- a woodcutter, to enchant, to turn into, to come true, to take revenge
- to challenge, to confront, to overcome, to approach, to move away

- to spy, to disguise oneself, to suspect, to sneak in, to chase
- to kidnap, to catch up with, a hostage, a ransom, a kidnapper
- an accusation, a felony, a penalty, to punish, to inform the police

Before you move on

A knight? (فارس, fāris.) A helmet? (خوذة, khūdha.) A truce? (هدنة, hudna.) A treaty? (معاهدة, muᶜāhada.) To betray? (خان, khāna.) Heritage? (تراث, turāth.) A manuscript? (مخطوطة, makhṭūṭa.) An inscription? (نقش, naqsh.) A title? (لقب, laqab.) To invent? (اخترع, ikhtaraᶜa.) An adventure? (مغامرة, mughāmara.) Unknown? (مجهول, majhūl.) A surprise? (مفاجأة, mufājaʾa.) A coincidence? (صدفة, ṣudfa.) To take a risk? (خاطر, khāṭara.) A woodcutter? (حطاب, ḥaṭṭāb.) To enchant? (سحر, saḥara.) To turn into? (تحول, taḥawwala.) To come true? (تحقق, taḥaqqaqa.) To take revenge? (انتقم, intaqama.) To challenge? (تحدى, taḥaddā.) To confront? (واجه, wājaha.) To overcome? (تغلب, taghallaba.) To approach? (اقترب, iqtaraba.) To move away? (ابتعد, ibtaᶜada.) To spy? (تجسس, tajassasa.) To disguise oneself? (تنكر, tanakkara.) To suspect? (اشتبه, ishtabaha.) To sneak in? (تسلل, tasallala.) To chase? (طارد, ṭārada.) To kidnap? (اختطف, ikhtaṭafa.) To catch up with? (لحق, laḥiqa.) A hostage? (رهينة, rahīna.) A ransom? (فدية, fidya.) A kidnapper? (خاطف, khāṭif.) An accusation? (تهمة, tuhma.) A felony? (جناية, jināya.) A penalty? (عقوبة, ᶜuqūba.) To punish? (عاقب, ᶜāqaba.) To inform the police? (بلغ, ballagha.)

Chapter 349

For the first time

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say for the first time, by mistake, the day before yesterday, someday and right after.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 349: I can say for the first time, by mistake, the day before yesterday, someday and right after.

349.1 الأولى للمرة (li-l-marra al-ūlā) — for the first time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to punish, then the Arabic for to inform the police.

You'll want to know: الأولى للمرة

الأولى للمرة — li-l-marra al-ūlā — "for the first time".

حياتي في الأولى للمرة البحر رأيت.

raʔaytu al-baḥr li-l-marra al-ūlā fī ḥayātī.

I saw the sea for the first time in my life.

Also مرة لأول.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

للمرة الأولى (li-l-marra al-ūlā) is "for the first passing": marra is built on the native Arabic root m-r-r, "to pass" (Lane), and ūlā is the feminine of awwal, first.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: li-l-marra al-ūlā
- Say it: li-l-marra al-ūlā, once more
- Say it: raʾaytu al-baḥr li-l-marra al-ūlā fī ḥayātī. — I saw the sea for the first time in my life.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to punish, then the Arabic for to inform the police, then say li-l-marra al-ūlā again

Before you move on

What does للمرة الأولى mean? ("For the first time".) Say it once more.

349.2 الخطأ طريق عن (ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ) — by mistake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to inform the police, then the Arabic for for the first time.

You'll want to know: الخطأ طريق عن

الخطأ طريق عن — ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ — "by mistake".

الخطأ طريق عن أخي حقيبة أخذت.

akhadhtu ḥaqībat akhī ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ.

I took my brother's bag by mistake.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عن طريق الخطأ (ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ) is "by way of the mistake": khaṭaʾ is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-ʾ, "to miss the mark" (Lane), the root of the taught khaṭaʾ.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ
- Say it: ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ, once more
- Say it: akhadhtu ḥaqībat akhī ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ. — I took my brother's bag by mistake.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to inform the police, then the Arabic for for the first time, then say ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ again

Before you move on

What does عن طريق الخطأ mean? ("By mistake".) Say it once more.

349.3 أمس أول (awwal ams) — the day before yesterday

Before the new one: say the Arabic for for the first time, then the Arabic for by mistake.

You'll want to know: أمس أول

أمس أول — awwal ams — "the day before yesterday".

أمس أول خالي وصل.

waṣala khālī awwal ams.

My uncle arrived the day before yesterday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أول أمس (awwal ams) is "the first of yesterday": awwal, first, is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-w-l (Lane), before the taught ams, yesterday.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: awwal ams
- Say it: awwal ams, once more
- Say it: waṣala khālī awwal ams. — My uncle arrived the day before yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for for the first time, then the Arabic for by mistake, then say awwal ams again

Before you move on

What does أول أمس mean? ("The day before yesterday".) Say it once more.

349.4 ما يوما (yawman mā) — someday, one day

Before the new one: say the Arabic for by mistake, then the Arabic for the day before yesterday.

You'll want to know: ما يوما

ما يوما — yawman mā — "someday, one day".

ما يوما المدينة تلك سأزور.

sa-azūru tilka al-madīna yawman mā.

I will visit that city someday.

Of the future; يوم ذات opens a story in the past.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ما يوما (yawman mā) is "on some day": yawm is usually traced to an inherited Semitic word for day, and mā after it means "some, any".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: yawman mā
- Say it: yawman mā, once more
- Say it: sa-azūru tilka al-madīna yawman mā. — I will visit that city someday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for by mistake, then the Arabic for the day before yesterday, then say yawman mā again

Before you move on

What does ما يوما mean? ("Someday, one day".) Say it once more.

349.5 عقب (ᶜaqiba) — right after, following

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the day before yesterday, then the Arabic for someday.

You'll want to know: عقب

عقب — ᶜaqiba — "right after, following".

مباشرة العشاء عقب الطفل نام.

nāma aṭ-ṭifl ᶜaqiba al-ᶜashāʾ mubāsharatan.

The child fell asleep straight after dinner.

A written word; بعد is the everyday one.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عقب (ᶜaqiba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-b (Lane), the root of ᶜaqib, the heel. What comes ᶜaqiba a thing comes at its heels.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaqiba
- Say it: ᶜaqiba, once more
- Say it: nāma aṭ-ṭifl ᶜaqiba al-ᶜashāʾ mubāsharatan. — The child fell asleep straight after dinner.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the day before yesterday, then the Arabic for someday, then say ᶜaqiba again

Before you move on

What does عقب mean? ("Right after, following".) Say it once more.

Chapter 350

Publishing

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a publisher, an edition, a copy, a leaflet and a supplement.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 350: I can say a publisher, an edition, a copy, a leaflet and a supplement.

350.1 ناشر (nāshir) — a publisher

Before the new one: say the Arabic for someday, then the Arabic for right after.

You'll want to know: ناشر

ناشر — nāshir — "a publisher".

أختي كتاب الناشر قبل.

qabila an-nāshir kitāb ukhtī.

The publisher accepted my sister's book.

A publishing house is نشر دار.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناشر (nāshir) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-r (Lane), "to spread out", the root of the taught nashara. Nāshir is the active participle, “one who publishes”.

What you’ve built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nāshir
- Say it: nāshir, once more
- Say it: qabila an-nāshir kitāb ukhtī. — The publisher accepted my sister’s book.
- Recall: say the Arabic for someday, then the Arabic for right after, then say nāshir again

Before you move on

What does ناشر mean? (“A publisher”.) Say it once more.

350.2 طبعة (ṭabᶜa) — an edition, a printing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for right after, then the Arabic for a publisher.

You’ll want to know: طبعة

طبعة — ṭabᶜa — “an edition, a printing”.

الكتاب من جديدة طبعة صدرت.

ṣadarat ṭabᶜa jadīda min al-kitāb.

A new edition of the book came out.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبعة (ṭabᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-ᶜ (Lane), “to seal, to stamp”, the root of the taught ṭabaᶜa, to print. Ṭabᶜa is one printing.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabᶜa
- Say it: ṭabᶜa, once more
- Say it: ṣadarat ṭabᶜa jadīda min al-kitāb. — A new edition of the book came out.
- Recall: say the Arabic for right after, then the Arabic for a publisher, then say ṭabᶜa again

Before you move on

What does طبعة mean? ("An edition, a printing".) Say it once more.

350.3 نسخة (nuskha) — a printed copy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a publisher, then the Arabic for an edition.

You'll want to know: نسخة

نسخة — nuskha — "a printed copy".

الصحيفة من نسخة اشتريت.

ishtaraytu nuskha min aṣ-ṣaḥīfa.

I bought a copy of the newspaper.

Plural: نسخ, nusakh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسخة (nuskha) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-kh (Lane), "to copy out a writing", the root of the taught nasakha. Nuskha is one copy.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nuskha
- Say it: nuskha, once more
- Say it: ishtaraytu nuskha min aṣ-ṣaḥīfa. — I bought a copy of the newspaper.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a publisher, then the Arabic for an edition, then say nuskha again

Before you move on

What does نسخة mean? ("A printed copy".) Say it once more.

350.4 منشور (manshūr) — a leaflet; a post online

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an edition, then the Arabic for a printed copy.

You'll want to know: منشور

منشور — manshūr — "a leaflet; a post online".

الحفلة عن منشورا الطلاب وزع.

wazzaᶜa aṭ-ṭullāb manshūran ᶜan al-ḥafla.

The students handed out a leaflet about the party.

On social media a منشور is a post.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منشور (manshūr) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-r (Lane), "to spread out". Manshūr is the passive participle, "a thing spread about".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: manshūr
- Say it: manshūr, once more
- Say it: wazzaᶜa aṭ-ṭullāb manshūran ᶜan al-ḥafla. — The students handed out a leaflet about the party.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an edition, then the Arabic for a printed copy, then say manshūr again

Before you move on

What does منشور mean? ("A leaflet; a post online".) Say it once more.

350.5 ملحق (mulḥaq) — a supplement; an annex

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a printed copy, then the Arabic for a leaflet.

You'll want to know: ملحق

ملحق — mulḥaq — "a supplement; an annex".

الرياضة عن ملحقا الصحيفة نشرت.

nasharat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa mulḥaqan ᶜan ar-riyāḍa.

The newspaper published a sports supplement.

At an embassy, a ملحق is an attaché.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملحق (mulḥaq) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-q (Lane), "to overtake, to join". Mulḥaq is the Form IV passive participle, "a thing joined on".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mulḥaq
- Say it: mulḥaq, once more
- Say it: nasharat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa mulḥaqan ᶜan ar-riyāḍa. — The newspaper published a sports supplement.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a printed copy, then the Arabic for a leaflet, then say mulḥaq again

Before you move on

What does ملحق mean? ("A supplement; an annex".) Say it once more.

Chapter 351

Tricks and lies

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to deceive, to cheat, to swindle, to forge and to conceal.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 351: I can say to deceive, to cheat, to swindle, to forge and to conceal.

351.1 خدع (khada^{c}a) — to deceive, to trick

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a leaflet, then the Arabic for a supplement.

You'll want to know: خدع

خدع — khada^{c}a — "to deceive, to trick".

> الحكاية في الغراب الثعلب خدع.
>
> khada^{c}a ath-tha^{c}lab al-ghurāb fī al-ḥikāya.
>
> The fox tricked the crow in the tale.

Present: يخدع, yakhda^c.
A trick is خدعة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خدع (khada^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root kh-d-^{c} (Lane), "to hide a thing; to deceive"; khid^{c}a is a ruse.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khada^{c}a
- Say it: khada^{c}a, once more
- Say it: khada^{c}a ath-tha^{c}lab al-ghurāb fī al-ḥikāya. — The fox tricked the crow in the tale.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a leaflet, then the Arabic for a supplement, then say khada^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does خدع mean? ("To deceive, to trick".) Say it once more.

351.2 غش (ghashsha) — to cheat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a supplement, then the Arabic for to deceive.

You'll want to know: غش

غش — ghashsha — "to cheat".

الامتحان في الطالب غش.

ghashsha aṭ-ṭālib fī al-imtiḥān.

The student cheated in the exam.

Present: يغش, yaghushsh.
Cheating is غش.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غش (ghashsha) is built on the native Arabic root gh-sh-sh (Lane), "to be insincere towards someone", to show what one does not mean.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ghashsha
- Say it: ghashsha, once more
- Say it: ghashsha aṭ-ṭālib fī al-imtiḥān. — The student cheated in the exam.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a supplement, then the Arabic for to deceive, then say ghashsha again

Before you move on

What does غش mean? ("To cheat".) Say it once more.

351.3 احتال (iḥtāla) — to swindle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deceive, then the Arabic for to cheat.

You'll want to know: احتال

احتال — iḥtāla — "to swindle".

السوق في السياح على رجل احتال.

iḥtāla rajul ᶜalā as-suyyāḥ fī as-sūq.

A man swindled the tourists in the market.

Present: يحتال, yaḥtāl.
It takes على. A swindler is محتال.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتال (iḥtāla) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l (Lane), "to change, to shift", where ḥīla is a shift or wile. It is Form VIII, "to use a wile".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtāla
- Say it: iḥtāla, once more
- Say it: iḥtāla rajul ᶜalā as-suyyāḥ fī as-sūq. — A man swindled the tourists in the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deceive, then the Arabic for to cheat, then say iḥtāla again

Before you move on

What does احتال mean? ("To swindle".) Say it once more.

351.4 زور (zawwara) — to forge, to falsify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cheat, then the Arabic for to swindle.

You'll want to know: زور

زور — zawwara — "to forge, to falsify".

سفر جواز الرجل زور.

zawwara ar-rajul jawāz safar.

The man forged a passport.

Present: يزور, yuzawwir.

Lane files the taught زار, to visit, under the same letters z-w-r; the two verbs differ in form and sense.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زور (zawwara) is built on the native Arabic root z-w-r (Lane), where zūr is falsehood. It is Form II, "to make a false thing look true".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: zawwara
- Say it: zawwara, once more
- Say it: zawwara ar-rajul jawāz safar. — The man forged a passport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cheat, then the Arabic for to swindle, then say zawwara again

Before you move on

What does زور mean? ("To forge, to falsify".) Say it once more.

351.5 أخفى (akhfā) — to conceal, to hide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swindle, then the Arabic for to forge.

You'll want to know: أخفى

أخفى — akhfā — "to conceal, to hide".

أخفت البنت الهدية تحت السرير.

akhfat al-bint al-hadiyya taḥta as-sarīr.

The girl hid the present under the bed.

Present: يخفي, yukhfī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخفى (akhfā) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-y (Lane), "to be hidden", the root of the taught ikhtafā, to disappear. It is Form IV, "to hide a thing".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: akhfā
- Say it: akhfā, once more
- Say it: akhfat al-bint al-hadiyya taḥta as-sarīr. — The girl hid the present under the bed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swindle, then the Arabic for to forge, then say akhfā again

Before you move on

What does أخفى mean? ("To conceal, to hide".) Say it once more.

Chapter 352

Fines and quarrels

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an offence, a fine, a brawl, a commotion and a crowd.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 352: I can say an offence, a fine, a brawl, a commotion and a crowd.

352.1 مخالفة (mukhālafa) — an offence; a traffic ticket

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to forge, then the Arabic for to conceal.

You'll want to know: مخالفة

مخالفة — mukhālafa — "an offence; a traffic ticket".

> أمس مخالفة على أبي حصل.
>
> ḥaṣala abī ᶜalā mukhālafa ams.
>
> My father got a traffic ticket yesterday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخالفة (mukhālafa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-f (Lane), the root of the taught khalfa, behind. Mukhālafa is the verbal noun of

Form III, “going against” a rule.

What you’ve built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mukhālafa
- Say it: mukhālafa, once more
- Say it: ḥaṣala abī ᶜalā mukhālafa ams. — My father got a traffic ticket yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to forge, then the Arabic for to conceal, then say mukhālafa again

Before you move on

What does مخالفة mean? (“An offence; a traffic ticket”.) Say it once more.

352.2 غرامة (gharāma) — a fine, a penalty fee

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to conceal, then the Arabic for an offence.

You’ll want to know: غرامة

غرامة — gharāma — “a fine, a penalty fee”.

دينارا خمسين الغرامة كانت.

kānat al-gharāma khamsīn dīnāran.

The fine was fifty dinars.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غرامة (gharāma) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-m (Lane), “to pay a debt or a fine”; gharām, passion, is the same root, a love that will not let go.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: gharāma
- Say it: gharāma, once more
- Say it: kānat al-gharāma khamsīn dīnāran. — The fine was fifty dinars.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to conceal, then the Arabic for an offence, then say gharāma again

Before you move on

What does غرامة mean? ("A fine, a penalty fee".) Say it once more.

352.3 شجار (shijār) — a brawl, a quarrel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an offence, then the Arabic for a fine.

You'll want to know: شجار

شجار — shijār — "a brawl, a quarrel".

المقهى في رجلين بين شجار وقع.

waqa^{c}a shijār bayna rajulayn fī al-maqhā.

A fight broke out between two men in the café.

The taught تشاجر, to quarrel, is the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شجار (shijār) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-r (Lane), the root of shajara, a tree, where branches tangle; tashājara is "to get tangled with one another".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: shijār
- Say it: shijār, once more
- Say it: waqaᶜa shijār bayna rajulayn fī al-maqhā. — A fight broke out between two men in the café.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an offence, then the Arabic for a fine, then say shijār again

Before you move on

What does شجار mean? ("A brawl, a quarrel".) Say it once more.

352.4 ضجة (ḍajja) — a commotion, an uproar

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fine, then the Arabic for a brawl.

You'll want to know: ضجة

ضجة — ḍajja — "a commotion, an uproar".

أحدث الخبر ضجة كبيرة.

aḥdatha al-khabar ḍajja kabīra.

The news caused a big stir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضجة (ḍajja) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-j-j (Lane), "to cry out, to clamour"; ḍajīj is noise.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍajja
- Say it: ḍajja, once more
- Say it: aḥdatha al-khabar ḍajja kabīra. — The news caused a big stir.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fine, then the Arabic for a brawl, then say ḍajja again

Before you move on

What does ضجة mean? ("A commotion, an uproar".) Say it once more.

352.5 حشد (ḥashd) — a crowd, a gathering

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a brawl, then the Arabic for a commotion.

You'll want to know: حشد

حشد — ḥashd — "a crowd, a gathering".

انتظر حشد كبير أمام الملعب.

intaẓara ḥashd kabīr amāma al-malᶜab.

A big crowd waited in front of the stadium.

Plural: حشود, ḥushūd.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حشد (ḥashd) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-sh-d (Lane), "to gather people together"; ḥashd is the gathering.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥashd
- Say it: ḥashd, once more
- Say it: intaẓara ḥashd kabīr amāma al-malᶜab. — A big crowd waited in front of the stadium.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a brawl, then the Arabic for a commotion, then say ḥashd again

Before you move on

What does حشد mean? ("A crowd, a gathering".) Say it once more.

Chapter 353

Crowds in the street

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a demonstration, to gather, to cheer, to storm and to spread.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 353: I can say a demonstration, to gather, to cheer, to storm and to spread.

353.1 مظاهرة (muẓāhara) — a demonstration, a march

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a commotion, then the Arabic for a crowd.

You'll want to know: مظاهرة

مظاهرة — muẓāhara — "a demonstration, a march".

سلمية مظاهرة في الطلاب سار.

sāra aṭ-ṭullāb fī muẓāhara silmiyya.

The students walked in a peaceful march.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مظاهرة (muẓāhara) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-h-r (Lane), the root of ẓahr, the back, and ẓahara, to appear. Form III ẓāhara is "to back someone up"; a public show of support is the modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: muẓāhara
- Say it: muẓāhara, once more
- Say it: sāra aṭ-ṭullāb fī muẓāhara silmiyya. — The students walked in a peaceful march.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a commotion, then the Arabic for a crowd, then say muẓāhara again

Before you move on

What does مظاهرة mean? ("A demonstration, a march".) Say it once more.

353.2 تجمع (tajamma^{c}a) — to gather, to assemble

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crowd, then the Arabic for a demonstration.

You'll want to know: تجمع

تجمع — tajamma^{c}a — "to gather, to assemble".

السيارة حول الناس تجمع.

tajamma^{c}a an-nās ḥawla as-sayyāra.

People gathered round the car.

Present: يتجمع, yatajamma^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجمع (tajammaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-ᶜ, "to gather" (Lane), the root of the taught ijtimāᶜ, a meeting. It is Form V, "to come together".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tajammaᶜa
- Say it: tajammaᶜa, once more
- Say it: tajammaᶜa an-nās ḥawla as-sayyāra. — People gathered round the car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crowd, then the Arabic for a demonstration, then say tajammaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does تجمع mean? ("To gather, to assemble".) Say it once more.

353.3 هتف (hatafa) — to cheer, to chant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a demonstration, then the Arabic for to gather.

You'll want to know: هتف

هتف — hatafa — "to cheer, to chant".

فرحا الأطفال هتف.

hatafa al-aṭfāl faraḥan.

The children cheered for joy.

Present: يهتف, yahtif.
The taught هاتف, a telephone, is the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هتف (hatafa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root h-t-f, "to call out", where hātif was a voice heard when the speaker is not seen; modern Arabic gave that word the telephone.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: hatafa
- Say it: hatafa, once more
- Say it: hatafa al-aṭfāl faraḥan. — The children cheered for joy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a demonstration, then the Arabic for to gather, then say hatafa again

Before you move on

What does هتف mean? ("To cheer, to chant".) Say it once more.

353.4 اقتحم (iqtaḥama) — to break into, to storm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to gather, then the Arabic for to cheer.

You'll want to know: اقتحم

اقتحم — iqtaḥama — "to break into, to storm".

الصباح في البيت الشرطة اقتحمت.

iqtaḥamat ash-shurṭa al-bayt fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

The police stormed the house in the morning.

Present: يقتحم, yaqtaḥim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتحم (iqtaḥama) is built on the native Arabic root q-ḥ-m (Lane), "to rush into a thing without thought". It is Form VIII, "to force one's way in".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtaḥama
- Say it: iqtaḥama, once more
- Say it: iqtaḥamat ash-shurṭa al-bayt fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — The police stormed the house in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to gather, then the Arabic for to cheer, then say iqtaḥama again

Before you move on

What does اقتحم mean? ("To break into, to storm".) Say it once more.

353.5 انتشر (intashara) — to spread

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cheer, then the Arabic for to break into.

You'll want to know: انتشر

انتشر — intashara — "to spread".

بسرعة القرية في الخبر انتشر.

intashara al-khabar fī al-qarya bi-sur^{c}a.

The news spread through the village quickly.

Present: ينتشر, yantashir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتشر (intashara) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-r (Lane), "to spread out", the root of the taught nashara. It is Form VIII, "to spread itself".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: intashara
- Say it: intashara, once more
- Say it: intashara al-khabar fī al-qarya bi-sur^{c}a. — The news spread through the village quickly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cheer, then the Arabic for to break into, then say intashara again

Before you move on

What does انتشر mean? ("To spread".) Say it once more.

Chapter 354

After the blast

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say wreckage, ash, a spark, a flame and to leak.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 354: I can say wreckage, ash, a spark, a flame and to leak.

354.1 حطام (ḥuṭām) — wreckage, debris

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to break into, then the Arabic for to spread.

You'll want to know: حطام

حطام — ḥuṭām — "wreckage, debris".

السيارة حطام في الرجال بحث.

baḥatha ar-rijāl fī ḥuṭām as-sayyāra.

The men searched the wreckage of the car.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حطام (ḥuṭām) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṭ-m (Lane), "to break a dry thing in pieces"; ḥuṭām is what is left in pieces.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥuṭām
- Say it: ḥuṭām, once more
- Say it: baḥatha ar-rijāl fī ḥuṭām as-sayyāra. — The men searched the wreckage of the car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to break into, then the Arabic for to spread, then say ḥuṭām again

Before you move on

What does حطام mean? ("Wreckage, debris".) Say it once more.

354.2 رماد (ramād) — ash, ashes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to spread, then the Arabic for wreckage.

You'll want to know: رماد

رماد — ramād — "ash, ashes".

الصباح حتى المدفأة في الرماد بقي.

baqiya ar-ramād fī al-midfaʾa ḥattā aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

The ash stayed in the stove until morning.

The taught رمادي, grey, is the colour of ash.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رماد (ramād) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-d (Lane), where ramād is ashes; the taught ramādī, grey, is "ash-coloured".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ramād
- Say it: ramād, once more
- Say it: baqiya ar-ramād fī al-midfaʾa ḥattā aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — The ash stayed in the stove until morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to spread, then the Arabic for wreckage, then say ramād again

Before you move on

What does رماد mean? ("Ash, ashes".) Say it once more.

354.3 شرارة (sharāra) — a spark

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wreckage, then the Arabic for ash.

You'll want to know: شرارة

شرارة — sharāra — "a spark".

صغيرة شرارة من الحريق بدأ.

badaʾa al-ḥarīq min sharāra ṣaghīra.

The fire started from a small spark.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرارة (sharāra) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-r (Lane), where Lane gives sharar as sparks flying from a fire, beside sharr, evil.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: sharāra
- Say it: sharāra, once more
- Say it: badaʾa al-ḥarīq min sharāra ṣaghīra. — The fire started from a small spark.
- Recall: say the Arabic for wreckage, then the Arabic for ash, then say sharāra again

Before you move on

What does شرارة mean? ("A spark".) Say it once more.

354.4 لهب (lahab) — a flame, flames

Before the new one: say the Arabic for ash, then the Arabic for a spark.

You'll want to know: لهب

لهب — lahab — "a flame, flames".

بعيد من النار لهب رأينا.

raʾaynā lahab an-nār min baʿīd.

We saw the flames of the fire from far away.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لهب (lahab) is built on the native Arabic root l-h-b (Lane), "to blaze up"; lahab is the tongue of the fire.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: lahab
- Say it: lahab, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā lahab an-nār min baʿīd. — We saw the flames of the fire from far away.
- Recall: say the Arabic for ash, then the Arabic for a spark, then say lahab again

Before you move on

What does لهب mean? ("A flame, flames".) Say it once more.

354.5 تسرب (tasarraba) — to leak, to seep

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a spark, then the Arabic for a flame.

You'll want to know: تسرب

تسرب — tasarraba — "to leak, to seep".

السقف من الماء تسرب.

tasarraba al-māʾ min as-saqf.

Water leaked through the ceiling.

Present: يتسرب, yatasarrab.
Of news: الخبر تسرب, the news leaked out.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسرب (tasarraba) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-b (Lane), where sarab is a burrow or tunnel under the ground. It is Form V, "to pass in, little by little".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: tasarraba
- Say it: tasarraba, once more
- Say it: tasarraba al-māʾ min as-saqf. — Water leaked through the ceiling.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a spark, then the Arabic for a flame, then say tasarraba again

Before you move on

What does تسرب mean? ("To leak, to seep".) Say it once more.

Chapter 355

Breaking news

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say urgent, a blog, a comment, an editorial and to deny officially.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 355: I can say urgent, a blog, a comment, an editorial and to deny officially.

355.1 عاجل (ᶜājil) — urgent; breaking news

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a flame, then the Arabic for to leak.

You'll want to know: عاجل

عاجل — ᶜājil — "urgent; breaking news".

> عاجل لخبر البرنامج التلفاز قطع.
>
> qaṭaᶜa at-tilfāz al-barnāmaj li-khabar ᶜājil.
>
> The television interrupted the programme for breaking news.

عاجل خبر: breaking news.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاجل (ᶜājil) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-j-l (Lane), "to hasten", the root of the taught mustaᶜjil, in a hurry. ᶜĀjil is "what comes quickly".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜājil
- Say it: ᶜājil, once more
- Say it: qaṭaᶜa at-tilfāz al-barnāmaj li-khabar ᶜājil. — The television interrupted the programme for breaking news.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a flame, then the Arabic for to leak, then say ᶜājil again

Before you move on

What does عاجل mean? ("Urgent; breaking news".) Say it once more.

355.2 مدونة (mudawwana) — a blog

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to leak, then the Arabic for urgent.

You'll want to know: مدونة

مدونة — mudawwana — "a blog".

الطبخ عن مدونة أختي تكتب.

taktubu ukhtī mudawwana ᶜan aṭ-ṭabkh.

My sister writes a blog about cooking.

Also a code of law: الأسرة مدونة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدونة (mudawwana) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-n (Lane), where dawwana is "to write into a register", a dīwān. Mudawwana is "a thing written down"; the blog is its modern sense.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mudawwana
- Say it: mudawwana, once more
- Say it: taktubu ukhtī mudawwana ᶜan aṭ-ṭabkh. — My sister writes a blog about cooking.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to leak, then the Arabic for urgent, then say mudawwana again

Before you move on

What does مدونة mean? ("A blog".) Say it once more.

355.3 تعليق (taᶜlīq) — a comment; a commentary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for urgent, then the Arabic for a blog.

You'll want to know: تعليق

تعليق — taᶜlīq — "a comment; a commentary".

المقال على كثيرة تعليقات القراء كتب.

kataba al-qurrāʾ taᶜlīqāt kathīra ᶜalā al-maqāl.

Readers wrote a lot of comments on the article.

A sports commentator is معلق.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعليق (taᶜlīq) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-q (Lane), "to hang", the root of the taught ᶜallaqa. A comment hangs on what was said.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: taᶜlīq
- Say it: taᶜlīq, once more
- Say it: kataba al-qurrāʾ taᶜlīqāt kathīra ᶜalā al-maqāl. — Readers wrote a lot of comments on the article.
- Recall: say the Arabic for urgent, then the Arabic for a blog, then say taᶜlīq again

Before you move on

What does تعليق mean? ("A comment; a commentary".) Say it once more.

355.4 افتتاحية (iftitāḥiyya) — an editorial

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a blog, then the Arabic for a comment.

You'll want to know: افتتاحية

افتتاحية — iftitāḥiyya — "an editorial".

الصحيفة افتتاحية أبي قرأ.

qaraʾa abī iftitāḥiyyat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa.

My father read the newspaper's editorial.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

افتتاحية (iftitāḥiyya) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-ḥ (Lane), "to open", the root of the taught fataḥa. The editorial is the piece that opens the paper.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iftitāḥiyya
- Say it: iftitāḥiyya, once more
- Say it: qaraʾa abī iftitāḥiyyat aṣ-ṣaḥīfa. — My father read the newspaper's editorial.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a blog, then the Arabic for a comment, then say iftitāḥiyya again

Before you move on

What does افتتاحية mean? ("An editorial".) Say it once more.

355.5 نفى (nafā) — to deny officially; to exile

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a comment, then the Arabic for an editorial.

You'll want to know: نفى

نفى — nafā — "to deny officially; to exile".

الخبر الوزارة نفت.

nafat al-wizāra al-khabar.

The ministry denied the report.

Present: ينفي, yanfī.
Also to exile: نفي, exile. In grammar النفي is negation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفى (nafā) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-y (Lane), "to drive away, to banish". To deny a report is to drive it away.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: nafā
- Say it: nafā, once more
- Say it: nafat al-wizāra al-khabar. — The ministry denied the report.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a comment, then the Arabic for an editorial, then say nafā again

Before you move on

What does نفى mean? ("To deny officially; to exile".) Say it once more.

Chapter 356

Viewers and listeners

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a follower, a viewer, a listener, a photographer and to cover.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 356: I can say a follower, a viewer, a listener, a photographer and to cover.

356.1 متابع (mutābi^c) — a follower; an observer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an editorial, then the Arabic for to deny officially.

You'll want to know: متابع

متابع — mutābi^c — "a follower; an observer".

> متابع مليون للمغنية.
>
> li-l-mughanniya milyūn mutābi^c.
>
> The singer has a million followers.

Also someone who follows the news closely.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متابع (mutābi^c) is built on the native Arabic root t-b-^{c} (Lane), "to follow". Mutābi^c is the participle of the taught tāba^{c}a, "one who keeps following".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mutābiᶜ
- Say it: mutābiᶜ, once more
- Say it: li-l-mughanniya milyūn mutābiᶜ. — The singer has a million followers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an editorial, then the Arabic for to deny officially, then say mutābiᶜ again

Before you move on

What does متابع mean? ("A follower; an observer".) Say it once more.

356.2 مشاهد (mushāhid) — a viewer, a spectator

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deny officially, then the Arabic for a follower.

You'll want to know: مشاهد

مشاهد — mushāhid — "a viewer, a spectator".

القناة إلى رسالة مشاهد كتب.

kataba mushāhid risāla ilā al-qanāh.

A viewer wrote a letter to the channel.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشاهد (mushāhid) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d (Lane), "to be present, to witness". Mushāhid is the participle of the taught shāhada, to watch.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mushāhid
- Say it: mushāhid, once more
- Say it: kataba mushāhid risāla ilā al-qanāh. — A viewer wrote a letter to the channel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deny officially, then the Arabic for a follower, then say mushāhid again

Before you move on

What does مشاهد mean? ("A viewer, a spectator".) Say it once more.

356.3 مستمع (mustami^c) — a listener

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a follower, then the Arabic for a viewer.

You'll want to know: مستمع

مستمع — mustami^c — "a listener".

صباحا بالبرنامج مستمع اتصل.

ittaṣala mustami^c bi-l-barnāmaj ṣabāḥan.

A listener phoned the programme in the morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستمع (mustami^c) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-^{c} (Lane), "to hear". Mustami^c is the participle of the taught istama^{c}a, to listen.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: mustami^{c}
- Say it: mustami^{c}, once more
- Say it: ittaṣala mustami^{c} bi-l-barnāmaj ṣabāḥan. — A listener phoned the programme in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a follower, then the Arabic for a viewer, then say mustami^{c} again

Before you move on

What does مستمع mean? ("A listener".) Say it once more.

356.4 مصور (muṣawwir) — a photographer; a camera operator

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a viewer, then the Arabic for a listener.

You'll want to know: مصور

مصور — muṣawwir — "a photographer; a camera operator".

التقط المصور صورا للعروسين.

iltaqaṭa al-muṣawwir ṣuwaran li-l-^{c}arūsayn.

The photographer took pictures of the couple.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصور (muṣawwir) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-r (Lane), the root of the taught ṣūra, a picture. Muṣawwir is the participle of ṣawwara, "one who makes pictures".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: muṣawwir
- Say it: muṣawwir, once more
- Say it: iltaqaṭa al-muṣawwir ṣuwaran li-l-ᶜarūsayn. — The photographer took pictures of the couple.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a viewer, then the Arabic for a listener, then say muṣawwir again

Before you move on

What does مصور mean? ("A photographer; a camera operator".) Say it once more.

356.5 غطى (ghaṭṭā) — to cover; to report on

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a listener, then the Arabic for a photographer.

You'll want to know: غطى

غطى — ghaṭṭā — "to cover; to report on".

الملعب من المباراة المراسل غطى.

ghaṭṭā al-murāsil al-mubārāh min al-malᶜab.

The correspondent covered the match from the stadium.

Present: يغطي, yughaṭṭī.
Of a blanket too: الطفل الأم غطت.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غطى (ghaṭṭā) is built on the native Arabic root gh-ṭ-w (Lane), the root of the taught ghiṭāʾ, a cover. It is Form II, "to put a cover over"; the press sense matches English cover and is usually taken as modelled on it.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ghaṭṭā
- Say it: ghaṭṭā, once more
- Say it: ghaṭṭā al-murāsil al-mubārāh min al-malᶜab. — The correspondent covered the match from the stadium.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a listener, then the Arabic for a photographer, then say ghaṭṭā again

Before you move on

What does غطى mean? ("To cover; to report on".) Say it once more.

356.6 Words from chapters 349–356 — a review

Say the Arabic for for the first time and by mistake.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- for the first time, by mistake, the day before yesterday, someday, right after
- a publisher, an edition, a printed copy, a leaflet, a supplement
- to deceive, to cheat, to swindle, to forge, to conceal
- an offence, a fine, a brawl, a commotion, a crowd

- a demonstration, to gather, to cheer, to break into, to spread
- wreckage, ash, a spark, a flame, to leak
- urgent, a blog, a comment, an editorial, to deny officially
- a follower, a viewer, a listener, a photographer, to cover

Before you move on

For the first time? (للمرة الأولى, li-l-marra al-ūlā.) By mistake? (عن طريق الخطأ, ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ.) The day before yesterday? (أول أمس, awwal ams.) Someday? (ما يوما, yawman mā.) Right after? (عقب, ᶜaqiba.) A publisher? (ناشر, nāshir.) An edition? (طبعة, ṭabᶜa.) A printed copy? (نسخة, nuskha.) A leaflet? (منشور, manshūr.) A supplement? (ملحق, mulḥaq.) To deceive? (خدع, khadaᶜa.) To cheat? (غش, ghashsha.) To swindle? (احتال, iḥtāla.) To forge? (زور, zawwara.) To conceal? (أخفى, akhfā.) An offence? (مخالفة, mukhālafa.) A fine? (غرامة, gharāma.) A brawl? (شجار, shijār.) A commotion? (ضجة, ḍajja.) A crowd? (حشد, ḥashd.) A demonstration? (مظاهرة, muẓāhara.) To gather? (تجمع, tajammaᶜa.) To cheer? (هتف, hatafa.) To break into? (اقتحم, iqtaḥama.) To spread? (انتشر, intashara.) Wreckage? (حطام, ḥuṭām.) Ash? (رماد, ramād.) A spark? (شرارة, sharāra.) A flame? (لهب, lahab.) To leak? (تسرب, tasarraba.) Urgent? (عاجل, ᶜājil.) A blog? (مدونة, mudawwana.) A comment? (تعليق, taᶜlīq.) An editorial? (افتتاحية, iftitāḥiyya.) To deny officially? (نفى, nafā.) A follower? (متابع, mutābiᶜ.) A viewer? (مشاهد, mushāhid.) A listener? (مستمع, mustamiᶜ.) A photographer? (مصور, muṣawwir.) To cover? (غطى, ghaṭṭā.)

Chapter 357

Speeches and openings

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a speech, to deliver, to convene, to inaugurate and to conclude.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 357: I can say a speech, to deliver, to convene, to inaugurate and to conclude.

357.1 خطاب (khiṭāb) — a speech, an address

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a photographer, then the Arabic for to cover.

You'll want to know: خطاب

خطاب — khiṭāb — "a speech, an address".

> قصيرا المدير خطاب كان.
>
> kāna khiṭāb al-mudīr qaṣīran.
>
> The manager's speech was short.

In some countries خطاب is also a letter.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطاب (khiṭāb) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-b (Lane), "to address, to speak to", the root of khaṭaba and khuṭūba. Khiṭāb is the address itself.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: khiṭāb
- Say it: khiṭāb, once more
- Say it: kāna khiṭāb al-mudīr qaṣīran. — The manager's speech was short.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a photographer, then the Arabic for to cover, then say khiṭāb again

Before you move on

What does خطاب mean? ("A speech, an address".) Say it once more.

357.2 ألقى (alqā) — to deliver a speech; to throw

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cover, then the Arabic for a speech.

You'll want to know: ألقى

ألقى — alqā — "to deliver a speech; to throw".

الحفل في كلمة الطالبة ألقت.

alqat aṭ-ṭāliba kalima fī al-ḥafl.

The student gave a speech at the ceremony.

Present: يلقي, yulqī.
ألقى خطابا, محاضرة: to give a speech, a lecture. ألقى على القبض: to arrest.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ألقى (alqā) is built on the native Arabic root l-q-y (Lane), "to meet", the root of liqāʾ, a meeting, as in the taught ilā l-liqāʾ. Form IV alqā is "to cast a thing so that it meets the ground", and words cast to listeners.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: alqā
- Say it: alqā, once more
- Say it: alqat aṭ-ṭāliba kalima fī al-ḥafl. — The student gave a speech at the ceremony.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cover, then the Arabic for a speech, then say alqā again

Before you move on

What does ألقى mean? ("To deliver a speech; to throw".) Say it once more.

357.3 انعقد (in^{c}aqada) — to convene, to be held

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a speech, then the Arabic for to deliver a speech.

You'll want to know: انعقد

انعقد — in^{c}aqada — "to convene, to be held".

الفندق في الاجتماع انعقد.

in^{c}aqada al-ijtimā^{c} fī al-funduq.

The meeting was held at the hotel.

Present: ينعقد, yan^{c}aqid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انعقد (inᶜaqada) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-d (Lane), "to tie a knot", the root of the taught ᶜaqd, a contract. It is Form VII, "to be tied": a meeting is tied together.

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: inᶜaqada
- Say it: inᶜaqada, once more
- Say it: inᶜaqada al-ijtimāᶜ fī al-funduq. — The meeting was held at the hotel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a speech, then the Arabic for to deliver a speech, then say inᶜaqada again

Before you move on

What does انعقد mean? ("To convene, to be held".) Say it once more.

357.4 افتتح (iftataḥa) — to inaugurate, to open officially

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deliver a speech, then the Arabic for to convene.

You'll want to know: افتتح

افتتح — iftataḥa — "to inaugurate, to open officially".

افتتح الوزير مستشفى جديدا.

iftataḥa al-wazīr mustashfā jadīdan.

The minister opened a new hospital.

Present: يفتتح, yaftatiḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

افتتح (iftataḥa) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-ḥ (Lane), "to open", the root of the taught fataḥa. It is Form VIII, "to make a beginning".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: iftataḥa
- Say it: iftataḥa, once more
- Say it: iftataḥa al-wazīr mustashfā jadīdan. — The minister opened a new hospital.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deliver a speech, then the Arabic for to convene, then say iftataḥa again

Before you move on

What does افتتح mean? ("To inaugurate, to open officially".) Say it once more.

357.5 اختتم (ikhtatama) — to conclude, to bring to a close

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to convene, then the Arabic for to inaugurate.

You'll want to know: اختتم

اختتم — ikhtatama — "to conclude, to bring to a close".

اختتمت المدرسة السنة بحفل كبير.

ikhtatamat al-madrasa as-sana bi-ḥafl kabīr.

The school ended the year with a big party.

Present: يختتم, yakhtatim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختتم (ikhtatama) is built on the native Arabic root kh-t-m (Lane), "to seal; to finish", the root of the taught khātam, a ring that seals. It is Form VIII, "to bring to an end".

What you've built

One more word for telling what happened.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtatama
- Say it: ikhtatama, once more
- Say it: ikhtatamat al-madrasa as-sana bi-ḥafl kabīr. — The school ended the year with a big party.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to convene, then the Arabic for to inaugurate, then say ikhtatama again

Before you move on

What does اختتم mean? ("To conclude, to bring to a close".) Say it once more.

357.6 Telling what happened — once more

Say the Arabic for a speech and to deliver a speech.

Your turn

- Say it: a speech, to deliver a speech, to convene, to inaugurate, to conclude

Before you move on

A speech? (خطاب, khiṭāb.) To deliver a speech? (ألقى, alqā.) To convene? (انعقد, inᶜaqada.) To inaugurate? (افتتح, iftataḥa.) To conclude? (اختتم, ikhtatama.)

357.7 Speeches and openings — once more

Say the Arabic for a speech and to deliver a speech.

Your turn

- Say it: a speech, to deliver a speech, to convene, to inaugurate, to conclude

Before you move on

A speech? (خطاب, khiṭāb.) To deliver a speech? (ألقى, alqā.) To convene? (انعقد, inᶜaqada.) To inaugurate? (افتتح, iftataḥa.) To conclude? (اختتم, ikhtatama.)

Chapter 358

Arguments and proof

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an argument, a principle and a proof, and say that someone proved or convinced.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 358: I can talk about an argument, a principle and a proof, and say that someone proved or convinced.

358.1 حجة (ḥujja) — an argument

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber.

You'll want to know: حجة

حجة — ḥujja — "an argument".

> النقاش في قوية حجة الطالب قدم.
>
> qaddama aṭ-ṭālib ḥujja qawiyya fī an-niqāsh.
>
> The student put forward a strong argument in the discussion.

Plural: حجج, ḥujaj.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حجة (ḥujja) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-j, "to make for; to overcome in argument" (Lane). A ḥujja is what wins a dispute: an argument, or a proof.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥujja
- Say it: ḥujja, once more
- Say it: qaddama aṭ-ṭālib ḥujja qawiyya fī an-niqāsh. — The student put forward a strong argument in the discussion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber, then say ḥujja again

Before you move on

What does حجة mean? ("An argument".) Say it once more.

358.2 مبدأ (mabdaʾ) — a principle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for an argument.

You'll want to know: مبدأ

مبدأ — mabdaʾ — "a principle".

أبي عند مهم مبدأ الصدق.

aṣ-ṣidq mabdaʾ muhimm ᶜinda abī.

Honesty is an important principle for my father.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبدأ (mabdaʾ) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-ʾ, "to begin" (Lane). Mabdaʾ is a noun of place, a starting point: the idea everything else starts from.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mabdaʾ
- Say it: mabdaʾ, once more
- Say it: aṣ-ṣidq mabdaʾ muhimm ᶜinda abī. — Honesty is an important principle for my father.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for an argument, then say mabdaʾ again

Before you move on

What does مبدأ mean? ("A principle".) Say it once more.

358.3 برهان (burhān) — a proof

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an argument, then the Arabic for a principle.

You'll want to know: برهان

برهان — burhān — "a proof".

كلامه على برهان الصورة هذه.

hādhihi aṣ-ṣūra burhān ᶜalā kalāmih.

This photo is proof of what he said.

Plural: براهين, barāhīn.
It takes على: على برهان ..., proof of ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برهان (burhān) is a native Arabic word that Lane files under b-r-h-n, "to bring clear proof" (Lane). Some early grammarians built it on a three-letter root instead, so the shape of its root is disputed.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: burhān
- Say it: burhān, once more
- Say it: hādhihi aṣ-ṣūra burhān ᶜalā kalāmih. — This photo is proof of what he said.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an argument, then the Arabic for a principle, then say burhān again

Before you move on

What does برهان mean? ("A proof".) Say it once more.

358.4 أثبت (athbata) — to prove

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a principle, then the Arabic for a proof.

You'll want to know: أثبت

أثبت — athbata — "to prove".

المنزل في كان الرجل أن المحامي أثبت.

athbata al-muḥāmī anna ar-rajul kāna fī al-manzil.

The lawyer proved that the man had been at home.

Present: يثبت, yuthbit.
Followed by أن: أثبت أن ..., proved that ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أثبت (athbata) is built on the native Arabic root th-b-t, "to be firm, to stand fast" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make firm: to establish a thing, to prove it.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: athbata
- Say it: athbata, once more
- Say it: athbata al-muḥāmī anna ar-rajul kāna fī al-manzil. — The lawyer proved that the man had been at home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a principle, then the Arabic for a proof, then say athbata again

Before you move on

What does أثبت mean? ("To prove".) Say it once more.

358.5 أقنع (aqnaᶜa) — to convince

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a proof, then the Arabic for to prove.

You'll want to know: أقنع

أقنع — aqnaᶜa — "to convince".

جديدة سيارة بشراء أبي أختي أقنعت.

aqnaᶜat ukhtī abī bi-shirāʾ sayyāra jadīda.

My sister convinced my father to buy a new car.

Present: يقنع, yuqniᶜ.
What you convince someone of comes after بـ: أقنعه بـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقنع (aqnaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root q-n-ᶜ, "to be content, satisfied" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make content: to bring someone round to an idea.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: aqnaᶜa
- Say it: aqnaᶜa, once more
- Say it: aqnaᶜat ukhtī abī bi-shirāʾ sayyāra jadīda. — My sister convinced my father to buy a new car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a proof, then the Arabic for to prove, then say aqnaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does أقنع mean? ("To convince".) Say it once more.

Chapter 359

Points of view

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an impression and a perspective, and say what someone assumed, suggested or found convincing.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 359: I can talk about an impression and a perspective, and say what someone assumed, suggested or found convincing.

359.1 انطباع (inṭibāᶜ) — an impression

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prove, then the Arabic for to convince.

You'll want to know: انطباع

انطباع — inṭibāᶜ — "an impression".

> عندي جيدا انطباعا الفندق ترك.
>
> taraka al-funduq inṭibāᶜan jayyidan ᶜindī.
>
> The hotel left a good impression on me.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انطباع (inṭibāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-ᶜ, "to stamp, to imprint" (Lane). Inṭibāᶜ is the Form VII verbal noun, being stamped: the mark a thing leaves on the mind, an impression.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: inṭibāᶜ
- Say it: inṭibāᶜ, once more
- Say it: taraka al-funduq inṭibāᶜan jayyidan ᶜindī. — The hotel left a good impression on me.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prove, then the Arabic for to convince, then say inṭibāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does انطباع mean? ("An impression".) Say it once more.

359.2 منظور (manẓūr) — a perspective

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to convince, then the Arabic for an impression.

You'll want to know: منظور

منظور — manẓūr — "a perspective".

جدا مهم النوم الطبيب، منظور من.

min manẓūr aṭ-ṭabīb, an-nawm muhimm jiddan.

From the doctor's perspective, sleep is very important.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منظور (manẓūr) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-r, "to look, to regard" (Lane). Manẓūr is the passive participle, what is looked at; in modern use it is the angle you look from.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: manẓūr
- Say it: manẓūr, once more
- Say it: min manẓūr aṭ-ṭabīb, an-nawm muhimm jiddan. — From the doctor's perspective, sleep is very important.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to convince, then the Arabic for an impression, then say manẓūr again

Before you move on

What does منظور mean? ("A perspective".) Say it once more.

359.3 افترض (iftaraḍa) — to assume

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an impression, then the Arabic for a perspective.

You'll want to know: افترض

افترض — iftaraḍa — "to assume".

مبكرا سيصل القطار أن افترضنا.

iftaraḍnā anna al-qiṭār sa-yaṣilu mubakkiran.

We assumed that the train would arrive early.

Present: يفترض, yaftariḍ.
Followed by أن: أن افترض ..., assumed that ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

افترض (iftaraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-ḍ, "to make a notch; to make binding" (Lane). It is Form VIII: to take a thing as laid down, to assume it.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iftaraḍa
- Say it: iftaraḍa, once more
- Say it: iftaraḍnā anna al-qiṭār sa-yaṣilu mubakkiran. — We assumed that the train would arrive early.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an impression, then the Arabic for a perspective, then say iftaraḍa again

Before you move on

What does افترض mean? ("To assume".) Say it once more.

359.4 اقترح (iqtaraḥa) — to suggest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a perspective, then the Arabic for to assume.

You'll want to know: اقترح

اقترح — iqtaraḥa — "to suggest".

المتحف إلى رحلة المعلم اقترح.

iqtaraḥa al-muᶜallim riḥla ilā al-maṭḥaf.

The teacher suggested a trip to the museum.

Present: يقترح, yaqtariḥ.
The noun اقتراح, iqtirāḥ, a suggestion, comes from it.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقترح (iqtaraḥa) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ḥ, "to wound" (Lane). It is Form VIII. Its modern sense, to put an idea forward, is usually traced to an older one, to bring out something new.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtaraḥa
- Say it: iqtaraḥa, once more
- Say it: iqtaraḥa al-muᶜallim riḥla ilā al-maṭḥaf. — The teacher suggested a trip to the museum.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a perspective, then the Arabic for to assume, then say iqtaraḥa again

Before you move on

What does اقترح mean? ("To suggest".) Say it once more.

359.5 مقنع (muqniᶜ) — convincing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to assume, then the Arabic for to suggest.

You'll want to know: مقنع

مقنع — muqniᶜ — "convincing".

كان مقنعا المدير كلام.

kāna kalām al-mudīr muqniᶜan.

The manager's words were convincing.

After كان the adjective takes -an: كان مقنعا.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقنع (muqni^c) is built on the native Arabic root q-n-^{c}, "to be content, satisfied" (Lane). Muqni^c is the Form IV active participle: that which convinces.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: muqni^c
- Say it: muqni^c, once more
- Say it: kāna kalām al-mudīr muqni^{c}an. — The manager's words were convincing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to assume, then the Arabic for to suggest, then say muqni^c again

Before you move on

What does مقنع mean? ("Convincing".) Say it once more.

Chapter 360

Agreeing and objecting

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone approved, objected or argued, and talk about consensus and controversy.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 360: I can say that someone approved, objected or argued, and talk about consensus and controversy.

360.1 وافق (wāfaqa) — to approve; to agree to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to suggest, then the Arabic for convincing.

You'll want to know: وافق

وافق — wāfaqa — "to approve; to agree to".

> الجديدة الخطة على المدير وافق.
>
> wāfaqa al-mudīr ᶜalā al-khiṭṭa al-jadīda.
>
> The manager approved the new plan.

Present: يوافق, yuwāfiq.
It takes على: وافق على .... اتفق is two sides agreeing with each other.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وافق (wāfaqa) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-q, "to fit, to suit" (Lane). It is Form III, to be in accord with: to agree to a thing.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: wāfaqa
- Say it: wāfaqa, once more
- Say it: wāfaqa al-mudīr ᶜalā al-khiṭṭa al-jadīda. — The manager approved the new plan.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to suggest, then the Arabic for convincing, then say wāfaqa again

Before you move on

What does وافق mean? ("To approve; to agree to".) Say it once more.

360.2 اعترض (iᶜtaraḍa) — to object

Before the new one: say the Arabic for convincing, then the Arabic for to approve.

You'll want to know: اعترض

اعترض — iᶜtaraḍa — "to object".

العالية الموسيقى على جارنا اعترض.

iᶜtaraḍa jārunā ᶜalā al-mūsīqā al-ᶜāliya.

Our neighbour objected to the loud music.

Present: يعترض, yaᶜtariḍ.
It takes على: اعترض على ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعترض (iᶜtaraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-ḍ, "to be broad; to lie across" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to put oneself across the way: to object.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜtaraḍa
- Say it: iᶜtaraḍa, once more
- Say it: iᶜtaraḍa jārunā ᶜalā al-mūsīqā al-ᶜāliya. — Our neighbour objected to the loud music.
- Recall: say the Arabic for convincing, then the Arabic for to approve, then say iᶜtaraḍa again

Before you move on

What does اعترض mean? ("To object".) Say it once more.

360.3 إجماع (ijmāᶜ) — consensus

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to approve, then the Arabic for to object.

You'll want to know: إجماع

إجماع — ijmāᶜ — "consensus".

طويل نقاش بعد إجماع إلى الفريق وصل.

waṣala al-farīq ilā ijmāᶜ baᶜda niqāsh ṭawīl.

The team reached a consensus after a long discussion.

بالإجماع, bi-l-ijmāᶜ, unanimously.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إجماع (ijmāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-ᶜ, "to gather, to bring together" (Lane). Ijmāᶜ is the Form IV verbal noun, a bringing together: everyone gathered on one view.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ijmāᶜ
- Say it: ijmāᶜ, once more
- Say it: waṣala al-farīq ilā ijmāᶜ baᶜda niqāsh ṭawīl. — The team reached a consensus after a long discussion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to approve, then the Arabic for to object, then say ijmāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does إجماع mean? ("Consensus".) Say it once more.

360.4 جادل (jādala) — to argue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to object, then the Arabic for consensus.

You'll want to know: جادل

جادل — jādala — "to argue".

النوم وقت حول أمه الولد جادل.

jādala al-walad ummahu ḥawla waqt an-nawm.

The boy argued with his mother about bedtime.

Present: يجادل, yujādil.

You argue with someone directly, with no preposition: جادله, argued with him.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جادل (jādala) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-l, "to twist firmly" (Lane). It is Form III, to twist against someone: to argue with him.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: jādala
- Say it: jādala, once more
- Say it: jādala al-walad ummahu ḥawla waqt an-nawm. — The boy argued with his mother about bedtime.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to object, then the Arabic for consensus, then say jādala again

Before you move on

What does جادل mean? ("To argue".) Say it once more.

360.5 جدل (jadal) — a controversy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for consensus, then the Arabic for to argue.

You'll want to know: جدل

جدل — jadal — "a controversy".

الفيلم حول كبير جدل هناك كان.

kāna hunāka jadal kabīr ḥawla al-film.

There was a big controversy about the film.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدل (jadal) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-l, "to twist firmly" (Lane). Jadal is a verbal noun of the same root: arguing, and so a controversy.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: jadal
- Say it: jadal, once more
- Say it: kāna hunāka jadal kabīr ḥawla al-film. — There was a big controversy about the film.
- Recall: say the Arabic for consensus, then the Arabic for to argue, then say jadal again

Before you move on

What does جدل mean? ("A controversy".) Say it once more.

Chapter 361

Issues and questions

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an issue, a matter and a context, and say that something raised questions.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 361: I can talk about an issue, a matter and a context, and say that something raised questions.

361.1 قضية (qaḍiyya) — a public issue; a cause; a court case

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to argue, then the Arabic for a controversy.

You'll want to know: قضية

قضية — qaḍiyya — "a public issue; a cause; a court case".

القرية في الماء قضية عن تكلمنا.

takallamnā ᶜan qaḍiyyat al-māʾ fī al-qarya.

We talked about the issue of water in the village.

Plural قضايا, qaḍāyā. In a court it is a case.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قضية (qaḍiyya) is built on the native Arabic root q-ḍ-y, "to decide, to settle" (Lane). A qaḍiyya is a matter to be decided: a case, a cause, an issue.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: qaḍiyya
- Say it: qaḍiyya, once more
- Say it: takallamnā ᶜan qaḍiyyat al-māʾ fī al-qarya. — We talked about the issue of water in the village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to argue, then the Arabic for a controversy, then say qaḍiyya again

Before you move on

What does قضية mean? ("A public issue; a cause; a court case".) Say it once more.

361.2 مسألة (masʾala) — a matter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a controversy, then the Arabic for a public issue.

You'll want to know: مسألة

مسألة — masʾala — "a matter".

صعبة مسألة هذه.

hādhihi masʾala ṣaᶜba.

This is a difficult matter.

Also a problem in arithmetic: حساب مسألة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسألة (masʾala) is built on the native Arabic root s-ʾ-l, "to ask" (Lane). A masʾala is a thing asked about: a question to settle, a matter.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: masʾala
- Say it: masʾala, once more
- Say it: hādhihi masʾala ṣaᶜba. — This is a difficult matter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a controversy, then the Arabic for a public issue, then say masʾala again

Before you move on

What does مسألة mean? ("A matter".) Say it once more.

361.3 سياق (siyāq) — a context

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a public issue, then the Arabic for a matter.

You'll want to know: سياق

سياق — siyāq — "a context".

فهمت معنى الكلمة من السياق.

fahimtu maᶜnā al-kalima min as-siyāq.

I understood the meaning of the word from the context.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سياق (siyāq) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-q, "to drive along" (Lane). A siyāq is a driving along in order; in modern use, the run of words around a word: its context.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: siyāq
- Say it: siyāq, once more
- Say it: fahimtu ma^{c}nā al-kalima min as-siyāq. — I understood the meaning of the word from the context.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a public issue, then the Arabic for a matter, then say siyāq again

Before you move on

What does سياق mean? ("A context".) Say it once more.

361.4 أثار (athāra) — to stir up; to raise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a matter, then the Arabic for a context.

You'll want to know: أثار

أثار — athāra — "to stir up; to raise".

الناس اهتمام الخبر أثار.

athāra al-khabar ihtimām an-nās.

The news stirred up people's interest.

Present: يثير, yuthīr.
مشكلة أثار, raised a problem.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أثار (athāra) is built on the native Arabic root th-w-r, "to rise up, to be stirred" (Lane). It is Form IV, to stir up: to raise dust, and so to raise feelings or a question.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: athāra
- Say it: athāra, once more
- Say it: athāra al-khabar ihtimām an-nās. — The news stirred up people's interest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a matter, then the Arabic for a context, then say athāra again

Before you move on

What does أثار mean? ("To stir up; to raise".) Say it once more.

361.5 تساءل (tasāʾala) — to wonder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a context, then the Arabic for to stir up.

You'll want to know: تساءل

تساءل — tasāʾala — "to wonder".

التأخير سبب عن أمي تساءلت.

tasāʾalat ummī ᶜan sabab at-taʾkhīr.

My mother wondered about the reason for the delay.

Present: يتساءل, yatasāʾal.
Form VI of the root of سأل, to ask: to ask oneself.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تساءل (tasāʾala) is built on the native Arabic root s-ʾ-l, "to ask" (Lane). It is Form VI of saʾala, "to ask": to ask oneself, to wonder.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tasāʾala
- Say it: tasāʾala, once more
- Say it: tasāʾalat ummī ʿan sabab at-taʾkhīr. — My mother wondered about the reason for the delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a context, then the Arabic for to stir up, then say tasāʾala again

Before you move on

What does تساءل mean? ("To wonder".) Say it once more.

Chapter 362

Logic and the mind

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about logic, a fallacy, the mind and a contradiction, and say what someone concluded.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 362: I can talk about logic, a fallacy, the mind and a contradiction, and say what someone concluded.

362.1 منطق (manṭiq) — logic

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stir up, then the Arabic for to wonder.

You'll want to know: منطق

منطق — manṭiq — "logic".

> القرار هذا منطق أفهم لا.
>
> lā afhamu manṭiq hādhā al-qarār.
>
> I do not understand the logic of this decision.

The adjective is منطقي, manṭiqī, logical.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منطق (manṭiq) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṭ-q, "to speak" (Lane). Lane gives manṭiq as speech, the putting of ideas into words; later it became the word for logic.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: manṭiq
- Say it: manṭiq, once more
- Say it: lā afhamu manṭiq hādhā al-qarār. — I do not understand the logic of this decision.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stir up, then the Arabic for to wonder, then say manṭiq again

Before you move on

What does منطق mean? ("Logic".) Say it once more.

362.2 مغالطة (mughālaṭa) — a fallacy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wonder, then the Arabic for logic.

You'll want to know: مغالطة

مغالطة — mughālaṭa — "a fallacy".

واضحة مغالطة الكلام هذا في.

fī hādhā al-kalām mughālaṭa wāḍiḥa.

There is a clear fallacy in what was said.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغالطة (mughālaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-ṭ, "to make a mistake" (Lane). It is the Form III verbal noun, leading someone into error: a fallacy, an argument that misleads.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mughālaṭa
- Say it: mughālaṭa, once more
- Say it: fī hādhā al-kalām mughālaṭa wāḍiḥa. — There is a clear fallacy in what was said.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wonder, then the Arabic for logic, then say mughālaṭa again

Before you move on

What does مغالطة mean? ("A fallacy".) Say it once more.

362.3 عقل (ᶜaql) — the mind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for logic, then the Arabic for a fallacy.

You'll want to know: عقل

عقل — ᶜaql — "the mind".

بقلبه لا بعقله الرجل فكر.

fakkara ar-rajul bi-ᶜaqlihi lā bi-qalbih.

The man thought with his head, not with his heart.

Plural: عقول, ᶜuqūl.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عقل (ᶜaql) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-l, "to tie, to restrain" (Lane). Lane gives the root as tying a camel's leg; ᶜaql is the mind, which holds a person back from folly.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaql
- Say it: ᶜaql, once more
- Say it: fakkara ar-rajul bi-ᶜaqlihi lā bi-qalbih. — The man thought with his head, not with his heart.
- Recall: say the Arabic for logic, then the Arabic for a fallacy, then say ᶜaql again

Before you move on

What does عقل mean? ("The mind".) Say it once more.

362.4 استنتج (istantaja) — to deduce; to conclude

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fallacy, then the Arabic for the mind.

You'll want to know: استنتج

استنتج — istantaja — "to deduce; to conclude".

متعب أنه كلامه من استنتجت.

istantajtu min kalāmihi annahu mutᶜab.

I concluded from what he said that he was tired.

Present: يستنتج, yastantij.
Followed by أن: استنتج أن …. A related noun is نتيجة, a result.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استنتج (istantaja) is built on the native Arabic root n-t-j, "to bring forth young" (Lane). It is Form X, to seek the outcome: to draw a conclusion.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istantaja
- Say it: istantaja, once more
- Say it: istantajtu min kalāmihi annahu mutᶜab. — I concluded from what he said that he was tired.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fallacy, then the Arabic for the mind, then say istantaja again

Before you move on

What does استنتج mean? ("To deduce; to conclude".) Say it once more.

362.5 تناقض (tanāquḍ) — a contradiction

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the mind, then the Arabic for to deduce.

You'll want to know: تناقض

تناقض — tanāquḍ — "a contradiction".

وعمله كلامه بين تناقض هناك.

hunāka tanāquḍ bayna kalāmihi wa-ᶜamalih.

There is a contradiction between his words and his deeds.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تناقض (tanāquḍ) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-ḍ, "to undo, to unravel" (Lane). It is the Form VI verbal noun: two things that undo each other, a contradiction.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tanāquḍ
- Say it: tanāquḍ, once more
- Say it: hunāka tanāquḍ bayna kalāmihi wa-ᶜamalih. — There is a contradiction between his words and his deeds.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the mind, then the Arabic for to deduce, then say tanāquḍ again

Before you move on

What does تناقض mean? ("A contradiction".) Say it once more.

Chapter 363

Theories and concepts

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a theory, a hypothesis, a concept and a phenomenon, and say what something means.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 363: I can talk about a theory, a hypothesis, a concept and a phenomenon, and say what something means.

363.1 نظرية (naẓariyya) — a theory

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deduce, then the Arabic for a contradiction.

You'll want to know: نظرية

نظرية — naẓariyya — "a theory".

الصف في جديدة نظرية درسنا.

darasnā naẓariyya jadīda fī aṣ-ṣaff.

We studied a new theory in class.

نظريا, naẓariyyan, in theory.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نظرية (naẓariyya) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-r, "to look, to regard" (Lane). Naẓariyya is a modern abstract noun from naẓar, looking, consideration: a way of seeing a thing, a theory.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: naẓariyya
- Say it: naẓariyya, once more
- Say it: darasnā naẓariyya jadīda fī aṣ-ṣaff. — We studied a new theory in class.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deduce, then the Arabic for a contradiction, then say naẓariyya again

Before you move on

What does نظرية mean? ("A theory".) Say it once more.

363.2 فرضية (farḍiyya) — a hypothesis

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a contradiction, then the Arabic for a theory.

You'll want to know: فرضية

فرضية — farḍiyya — "a hypothesis".

فرضيته يختبر أن الطالب أراد.

arāda aṭ-ṭālib an yakhtabira farḍiyyatah.

The student wanted to test his hypothesis.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرضية (farḍiyya) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-ḍ, "to make a notch; to make binding" (Lane). Farḍiyya is a modern abstract noun from farḍ, a supposition: an idea put forward to be tested.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: farḍiyya
- Say it: farḍiyya, once more
- Say it: arāda aṭ-ṭālib an yakhtabira farḍiyyatah. — The student wanted to test his hypothesis.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a contradiction, then the Arabic for a theory, then say farḍiyya again

Before you move on

What does فرضية mean? ("A hypothesis".) Say it once more.

363.3 مفهوم (mafhūm) — a concept

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a theory, then the Arabic for a hypothesis.

You'll want to know: مفهوم

مفهوم — mafhūm — "a concept".

شخص كل عند مختلف الصداقة مفهوم.

mafhūm aṣ-ṣadāqa mukhtalif ᶜinda kulli shakhṣ.

The concept of friendship differs from person to person.

Also an adjective, understood, clear: مفهوم هذا.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مفهوم (mafhūm) is built on the native Arabic root f-h-m, "to understand" (Lane). Mafhūm is the passive participle of fahima, "to understand": what is understood, a concept.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mafhūm
- Say it: mafhūm, once more
- Say it: mafhūm aṣ-ṣadāqa mukhtalif ᶜinda kulli shakhṣ. — The concept of friendship differs from person to person.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a theory, then the Arabic for a hypothesis, then say mafhūm again

Before you move on

What does مفهوم mean? ("A concept".) Say it once more.

363.4 ظاهرة (ẓāhira) — a phenomenon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hypothesis, then the Arabic for a concept.

You'll want to know: ظاهرة

ظاهرة — ẓāhira — "a phenomenon".

هنا نادرة ظاهرة الصيف في المطر.

al-maṭar fī aṣ-ṣayf ẓāhira nādira hunā.

Rain in summer is a rare phenomenon here.

Plural: ظواهر, ẓawāhir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظاهرة (ẓāhira) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-h-r, "to appear, to come out" (Lane). Ẓāhira is the feminine active participle, what appears: a phenomenon.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓāhira
- Say it: ẓāhira, once more
- Say it: al-maṭar fī aṣ-ṣayf ẓāhira nādira hunā. — Rain in summer is a rare phenomenon here.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hypothesis, then the Arabic for a concept, then say ẓāhira again

Before you move on

What does ظاهرة mean? ("A phenomenon".) Say it once more.

363.5 فسر (fassara) — to interpret

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a concept, then the Arabic for a phenomenon.

You'll want to know: فسر

فسر — fassara — "to interpret".

فسر المعلم القصيدة للطلاب.

fassara al-muᶜallim al-qaṣīda li-ṭ-ṭullāb.

The teacher interpreted the poem for the students.

Present: يفسر, yufassir.
The noun تفسير, tafsīr, an interpretation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فسر (fassara) is built on the native Arabic root f-s-r, "to uncover, to make plain" (Lane). It is Form II, to make plain: to explain what a thing means.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: fassara
- Say it: fassara, once more
- Say it: fassara al-muᶜallim al-qaṣīda li-ṭ-ṭullāb. — The teacher interpreted the poem for the students.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a concept, then the Arabic for a phenomenon, then say fassara again

Before you move on

What does فسر mean? ("To interpret".) Say it once more.

Chapter 364

Analysing things

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone analysed, specified or told things apart, and talk about elements and criteria.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 364: I can say that someone analysed, specified or told things apart, and talk about elements and criteria.

364.1 حلل (ḥallala) — to analyse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a phenomenon, then the Arabic for to interpret.

You'll want to know: حلل

حلل — ḥallala — "to analyse".

> بعناية القصيدة الطالب حلل.
>
> ḥallala aṭ-ṭālib al-qaṣīda bi-ᶜināya.
>
> The student analysed the poem carefully.

Present: يحلل, yuḥallil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حلل (ḥallala) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-l, "to untie, to loosen" (Lane). It is Form II; in modern use it means to undo a thing into its parts: to analyse.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥallala
- Say it: ḥallala, once more
- Say it: ḥallala aṭ-ṭālib al-qaṣīda bi-ᶜināya. — The student analysed the poem carefully.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a phenomenon, then the Arabic for to interpret, then say ḥallala again

Before you move on

What does حلل mean? ("To analyse".) Say it once more.

364.2 عنصر (ᶜunṣur) — an element

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to interpret, then the Arabic for to analyse.

You'll want to know: عنصر

عنصر — ᶜunṣur — "an element".

الطبخ في مهم عنصر الماء.

al-māʾ ᶜunṣur muhimm fī aṭ-ṭabkh.

Water is an important element in cooking.

Plural عناصر, ᶜanāṣir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عنصر (ᶜunṣur) is an old word for the stock or basic matter of a thing, which Lane uses when he explains other words. Its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜunṣur
- Say it: ᶜunṣur, once more
- Say it: al-māʾ ᶜunṣur muhimm fī aṭ-ṭabkh. — Water is an important element in cooking.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to interpret, then the Arabic for to analyse, then say ᶜunṣur again

Before you move on

What does عنصر mean? ("An element".) Say it once more.

364.3 معيار (miᶜyār) — a criterion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to analyse, then the Arabic for an element.

You'll want to know: معيار

معيار — miᶜyār — "a criterion".

عندنا الأول المعيار هي الجودة.

al-jawda hiya al-miᶜyār al-awwal ᶜindanā.

Quality is our first criterion.

Plural: معايير, maᶜāyīr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معيار (mi^{c}yār) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-y-r (Lane). It is a noun of instrument, usually traced to the checking of weights and measures: a standard that others are measured against.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mi^{c}yār
- Say it: mi^{c}yār, once more
- Say it: al-jawda hiya al-mi^{c}yār al-awwal ^{c}indanā. — Quality is our first criterion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to analyse, then the Arabic for an element, then say mi^{c}yār again

Before you move on

What does معيار mean? ("A criterion".) Say it once more.

364.4 حدد (ḥaddada) — to specify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an element, then the Arabic for a criterion.

You'll want to know: حدد

حدد — ḥaddada — "to specify".

الاجتماع وقت المدير حدد.

ḥaddada al-mudīr waqt al-ijtimā^c.

The manager set the time of the meeting.

Present: يحدد, yuḥaddid.
حدود, borders, comes from the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حدد (ḥaddada) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-d, "to sharpen; to set a limit" (Lane). It is Form II, to mark the limits of: to define, to fix, to specify.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaddada
- Say it: ḥaddada, once more
- Say it: ḥaddada al-mudīr waqt al-ijtimāᶜ. — The manager set the time of the meeting.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an element, then the Arabic for a criterion, then say ḥaddada again

Before you move on

What does حدد mean? ("To specify".) Say it once more.

364.5 ميز (mayyaza) — to distinguish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a criterion, then the Arabic for to specify.

You'll want to know: ميز

ميز — mayyaza — "to distinguish".

بعد الألوان بين الطفل يميز لا.

lā yumayyizu aṭ-ṭifl bayna al-alwān baᶜd.

The child cannot tell the colours apart yet.

Present: يميز, yumayyiz.
Often with بين: ميز بين ... و ..., told ... from ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميز (mayyaza) is built on the native Arabic root m-y-z, "to separate, to set apart" (Lane). It is Form II, to set apart: to tell one thing from another.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mayyaza
- Say it: mayyaza, once more
- Say it: lā yumayyizu aṭ-ṭifl bayna al-alwān ba^{c}d. — The child cannot tell the colours apart yet.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a criterion, then the Arabic for to specify, then say mayyaza again

Before you move on

What does ميز mean? ("To distinguish".) Say it once more.

Chapter 365

Fact and fancy

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about fact, reality and imagination, and say that someone refuted a claim or was convinced.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 365: I can talk about fact, reality and imagination, and say that someone refuted a claim or was convinced.

365.1 حقيقة (ḥaqīqa) — a fact

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to specify, then the Arabic for to distinguish.

You'll want to know: حقيقة

حقيقة — ḥaqīqa — "a fact".

> الناس من كثير يعرفها لا حقيقة هذه.
>
> hādhihi ḥaqīqa lā ya^{c}rifuhā kathīr min an-nās.
>
> This is a fact that many people do not know.

الحقيقة في, fī al-ḥaqīqa, in fact.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقيقة (ḥaqīqa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q, "to be true, to be due" (Lane). A ḥaqīqa is what is truly so: a fact, the truth.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaqīqa
- Say it: ḥaqīqa, once more
- Say it: hādhihi ḥaqīqa lā yaᶜrifuhā kathīr min an-nās. — This is a fact that many people do not know.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to specify, then the Arabic for to distinguish, then say ḥaqīqa again

Before you move on

What does حقيقة mean? ("A fact".) Say it once more.

365.2 واقع (wāqiᶜ) — reality

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to distinguish, then the Arabic for a fact.

You'll want to know: واقع

واقع — wāqiᶜ — "reality".

الأفلام عن مختلف الواقع.

al-wāqiᶜ mukhtalif ᶜan al-aflām.

Reality is different from the films.

في الواقع, fī al-wāqiᶜ, in reality, actually.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واقع (wāqi^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-^{c}, "to fall, to happen" (Lane). Wāqi^{c} is the active participle, what has fallen, what happens: reality.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: wāqi^{c}
- Say it: wāqi^{c}, once more
- Say it: al-wāqi^{c} mukhtalif ^{c}an al-aflām. — Reality is different from the films.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to distinguish, then the Arabic for a fact, then say wāqi^{c} again

Before you move on

What does واقع mean? ("Reality".) Say it once more.

365.3 خيال (khayāl) — imagination

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fact, then the Arabic for reality.

You'll want to know: خيال

خيال — khayāl — "imagination".

واسع خيال ابنتي عند.

^{c}inda ibnatī khayāl wāsi^{c}.

My daughter has a vivid imagination.

خيال علمي, khayāl ^{c}ilmī, science fiction.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خيال (khayāl) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-l, "to think, to fancy" (Lane). Khayāl is an image or phantom in the mind: imagination.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: khayāl
- Say it: khayāl, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda ibnatī khayāl wāsiᶜ. — My daughter has a vivid imagination.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fact, then the Arabic for reality, then say khayāl again

Before you move on

What does خيال mean? ("Imagination".) Say it once more.

365.4 فند (fannada) — to refute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for reality, then the Arabic for imagination.

You'll want to know: فند

فند — fannada — "to refute".

الشاهد كلام المحامي فند.

fannada al-muḥāmī kalām ash-shāhid.

The lawyer refuted the witness's statement.

Present: يفند, yufannid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فند (fannada) is built on the native Arabic root f-n-d, "to lie, to say what is untrue" (Lane). It is Form II, to show to be untrue: to refute.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: fannada
- Say it: fannada, once more
- Say it: fannada al-muḥāmī kalām ash-shāhid. — The lawyer refuted the witness's statement.
- Recall: say the Arabic for reality, then the Arabic for imagination, then say fannada again

Before you move on

What does فند mean? ("To refute".) Say it once more.

365.5 اقتنع (iqtanaᶜa) — to be convinced

Before the new one: say the Arabic for imagination, then the Arabic for to refute.

You'll want to know: اقتنع

اقتنع — iqtanaᶜa — "to be convinced".

ساعة بعد بالفكرة أبي اقتنع.

iqtanaᶜa abī bi-l-fikra baᶜda sāᶜa.

My father was convinced by the idea after an hour.

Present: يقتنع, yaqtaniᶜ.
It takes بـ: اقتنع بـ .... Compare أقنع, to convince.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتنع (iqtanaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root q-n-ᶜ, "to be content, satisfied" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to become content with: to be convinced.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtanaᶜa
- Say it: iqtanaᶜa, once more
- Say it: iqtanaᶜa abī bi-l-fikra baᶜda sāᶜa. — My father was convinced by the idea after an hour.
- Recall: say the Arabic for imagination, then the Arabic for to refute, then say iqtanaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does اقتنع mean? ("To be convinced".) Say it once more.

365.6 Reasons and arguments — a review

Say the Arabic for an argument and a principle.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an argument, a principle, a proof, to prove, to convince
- an impression, a perspective, to assume, to suggest, convincing
- to approve, to object, consensus, to argue, a controversy
- a public issue, a matter, a context, to stir up, to wonder
- logic, a fallacy, the mind, to deduce, a contradiction

- a theory, a hypothesis, a concept, a phenomenon, to interpret
- to analyse, an element, a criterion, to specify, to distinguish
- a fact, reality, imagination, to refute, to be convinced

Before you move on

An argument? (حجة, ḥujja.) A principle? (مبدأ, mabdaʾ.) A proof? (برهان, burhān.) To prove? (أثبت, athbata.) To convince? (أقنع, aqnaᶜa.) An impression? (انطباع, inṭibāᶜ.) A perspective? (منظور, manẓūr.) To assume? (افترض, iftaraḍa.) To suggest? (اقترح, iqtaraḥa.) Convincing? (مقنع, muqniᶜ.) To approve? (وافق, wāfaqa.) To object? (اعترض, iᶜtaraḍa.) Consensus? (إجماع, ijmāᶜ.) To argue? (جادل, jādala.) A controversy? (جدل, jadal.) A public issue? (قضية, qaḍiyya.) A matter? (مسألة, masʾala.) A context? (سياق, siyāq.) To stir up? (أثار, athāra.) To wonder? (تساءل, tasāʾala.) Logic? (منطق, manṭiq.) A fallacy? (مغالطة, mughālaṭa.) The mind? (عقل, ᶜaql.) To deduce? (استنتج, istantaja.) A contradiction? (تناقض, tanāquḍ.) A theory? (نظرية, naẓariyya.) A hypothesis? (فرضية, farḍiyya.) A concept? (مفهوم, mafhūm.) A phenomenon? (ظاهرة, ẓāhira.) To interpret? (فسر, fassara.) To analyse? (حلل, ḥallala.) An element? (عنصر, ᶜunṣur.) A criterion? (معيار, miᶜyār.) To specify? (حدد, ḥaddada.) To distinguish? (ميز, mayyaza.) A fact? (حقيقة, ḥaqīqa.) Reality? (واقع, wāqiᶜ.) Imagination? (خيال, khayāl.) To refute? (فند, fannada.) To be convinced? (اقتنع, iqtanaᶜa.)

Chapter 366

Claims and doubts

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone claimed, alleged, cast doubt, believed or inferred something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 366: I can say that someone claimed, alleged, cast doubt, believed or inferred something.

366.1 ادعى (idda^{c}ā) — to claim

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to refute, then the Arabic for to be convinced.

You'll want to know: ادعى

ادعى — idda^{c}ā — "to claim".

> طبيب أنه الرجل ادعى.
>
> idda^{c}ā ar-rajul annahu ṭabīb.
>
> The man claimed that he was a doctor.

Present: يدعي, yadda^{c}ī.
Followed by أن. The noun is ادعاء, iddi^{c}ā^{ʾ}, a claim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ادعى (idda^{c}ā) is built on the native Arabic root d-^{c}-w, "to call, to summon" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to call a thing one's own: to claim.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: idda^{c}ā
- Say it: idda^{c}ā, once more
- Say it: idda^{c}ā ar-rajul annahu ṭabīb. — The man claimed that he was a doctor.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to refute, then the Arabic for to be convinced, then say idda^{c}ā again

Before you move on

What does ادعى mean? ("To claim".) Say it once more.

366.2 زعم (za^{c}ama) — to allege

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be convinced, then the Arabic for to claim.

You'll want to know: زعم

زعم — za^{c}ama — "to allege".

ذهب من الساعة أن التاجر زعم.

za^{c}ama at-tājir anna as-sā^{c}a min dhahab.

The merchant alleged that the watch was made of gold.

Present: يزعم, yaz^{c}um.
زعم suggests the speaker doubts the claim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زعم (za^{c}ama) is built on the native Arabic root z-^{c}-m, "to assert" (Lane). Za^{c}ama is a Form I verb; Lane notes that it often marks a claim that may be untrue.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: za^{c}ama
- Say it: za^{c}ama, once more
- Say it: za^{c}ama at-tājir anna as-sā^{c}a min dhahab. — The merchant alleged that the watch was made of gold.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be convinced, then the Arabic for to claim, then say za^{c}ama again

Before you move on

What does زعم mean? ("To allege".) Say it once more.

366.3 شكك (shakkaka) — to cast doubt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to claim, then the Arabic for to allege.

You'll want to know: شكك

شكك — shakkaka — "to cast doubt".

الرسمية الأرقام في الصحفي شكك.

shakkaka aṣ-ṣaḥafī fī al-arqām ar-rasmiyya.

The journalist cast doubt on the official figures.

Present: يشكك, yushakkik.
It takes في: شكك في ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شكك (shakkaka) is built on the native Arabic root sh-k-k, "to doubt" (Lane). It is Form II of shakka, "to doubt": to make others doubt.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: shakkaka
- Say it: shakkaka, once more
- Say it: shakkaka aṣ-ṣaḥafī fī al-arqām ar-rasmiyya. — The journalist cast doubt on the official figures.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to claim, then the Arabic for to allege, then say shakkaka again

Before you move on

What does شكك mean? ("To cast doubt".) Say it once more.

366.4 صدق (ṣaddaqa) — to believe someone

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to allege, then the Arabic for to cast doubt.

You'll want to know: صدق

صدق — ṣaddaqa — "to believe someone".

قصته أحد يصدق لم.

lam yuṣaddiq aḥad qiṣṣatah.

Nobody believed his story.

Present: يصدق, yuṣaddiq.
Form I صدق, ṣadaqa, with the same letters, means to tell the truth.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صدق (ṣaddaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-q, "to be truthful" (Lane). It is Form II, to hold to be truthful: to believe someone.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaddaqa
- Say it: ṣaddaqa, once more
- Say it: lam yuṣaddiq aḥad qiṣṣatah. — Nobody believed his story.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to allege, then the Arabic for to cast doubt, then say ṣaddaqa again

Before you move on

What does صدق mean? ("To believe someone".) Say it once more.

366.5 استدل (istadalla) — to infer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cast doubt, then the Arabic for to believe someone.

You'll want to know: استدل

استدل — istadalla — "to infer".

السعال من الزكام على الطبيب استدل.

istadalla aṭ-ṭabīb ᶜalā az-zukām min as-suᶜāl.

The doctor inferred a cold from the cough.

Present: يستدل, yastadill.
It takes على: استدل على ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استدل (istadalla) is built on the native Arabic root d-l-l, "to guide, to show the way" (Lane). It is Form X, to seek guidance: to infer one thing from another.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istadalla
- Say it: istadalla, once more
- Say it: istadalla aṭ-ṭabīb ᶜalā az-zukām min as-suᶜāl. — The doctor inferred a cold from the cough.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cast doubt, then the Arabic for to believe someone, then say istadalla again

Before you move on

What does استدل mean? ("To infer".) Say it once more.

Chapter 367

Grasping ideas

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone realized, imagined or took in an idea, and talk about awareness and knowledge.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 367: I can say that someone realized, imagined or took in an idea, and talk about awareness and knowledge.

367.1 أدرك (adraka) — to realize

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to believe someone, then the Arabic for to infer.

You'll want to know: أدرك

أدرك — adraka — "to realize".

مفتاحي نسيت أنني أدركت.

adraktu annanī nasītu miftāḥī.

I realized that I had forgotten my key.

Present: يدرك, yudrik.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أدرك (adraka) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-k, "to overtake, to reach" (Lane). It is Form IV, to catch up with: a thought catches up with you, and you realize.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: adraka
- Say it: adraka, once more
- Say it: adraktu annanī nasītu miftāḥī. — I realized that I had forgotten my key.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to believe someone, then the Arabic for to infer, then say adraka again

Before you move on

What does أدرك mean? ("To realize".) Say it once more.

367.2 تصور (taṣawwara) — to conceive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to infer, then the Arabic for to realize.

You'll want to know: تصور

تصور — taṣawwara — "to conceive".

الحد هذا إلى طويلة الرحلة أن أتصور لم.

lam ataṣawwar anna ar-riḥla ṭawīla ilā hādhā al-ḥadd.

I did not imagine the journey was this long.

Present: يتصور, yataṣawwar.
The noun تصور, taṣawwur, an idea, a conception.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تصور (taṣawwara) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-r, "to form, to shape" (Lane). It is Form V of the root of ṣūra, "a picture": to form a picture in the mind.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taṣawwara
- Say it: taṣawwara, once more
- Say it: lam ataṣawwar anna ar-riḥla ṭawīla ilā hādhā al-ḥadd. — I did not imagine the journey was this long.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to infer, then the Arabic for to realize, then say taṣawwara again

Before you move on

What does تصور mean? ("To conceive".) Say it once more.

367.3 استوعب (istawᶜaba) — to grasp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to realize, then the Arabic for to conceive.

You'll want to know: استوعب

استوعب — istawᶜaba — "to grasp".

لم يستوعب الطلاب الدرس الأول.

lam yastawᶜib aṭ-ṭullāb ad-dars al-awwal.

The students did not take in the first lesson.

Present: يستوعب, yastawᶜib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استوعب (istaw^{c}aba) is built on the native Arabic root w-^{c}-b, "to take the whole of" (Lane). It is Form X, to take a thing in whole: to grasp it fully.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istaw^{c}aba
- Say it: istaw^{c}aba, once more
- Say it: lam yastaw^{c}ib aṭ-ṭullāb ad-dars al-awwal. — The students did not take in the first lesson.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to realize, then the Arabic for to conceive, then say istaw^{c}aba again

Before you move on

What does استوعب mean? ("To grasp".) Say it once more.

367.4 وعي (wa^{c}y) — awareness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to conceive, then the Arabic for to grasp.

You'll want to know: وعي

وعي — wa^{c}y — "awareness".

بالصحة كبير وعي الشباب عند.

^{c}inda ash-shabāb wa^{c}y kabīr bi-ṣ-ṣiḥḥa.

Young people have great awareness of health.

وعيه فقد, faqada wa^{c}yahu, he lost consciousness.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وعي (wa^{c}y) is built on the native Arabic root w-^{c}-y, "to retain, to keep in mind" (Lane). Wa^{c}y is the verbal noun of wa^{c}ā, "to hold in mind": awareness.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: wa^{c}y
- Say it: wa^{c}y, once more
- Say it: ^{c}inda ash-shabāb wa^{c}y kabīr bi-ṣ-ṣiḥḥa. — Young people have great awareness of health.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to conceive, then the Arabic for to grasp, then say wa^{c}y again

Before you move on

What does وعي mean? ("Awareness".) Say it once more.

367.5 معرفة (ma^{c}rifa) — knowledge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grasp, then the Arabic for awareness.

You'll want to know: معرفة

معرفة — ma^{c}rifa — "knowledge".

المعرفة إلى طريق الكتب.

al-kutub ṭarīq ilā al-ma^{c}rifa.

Books are a road to knowledge.

Plural معارف, ma^{c}ārif, also acquaintances.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معرفة (ma^{c}rifa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-r-f, "to know" (Lane). Ma^{c}rifa is a verbal noun of ^{c}arafa, "to know": knowledge, knowing.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}rifa
- Say it: ma^{c}rifa, once more
- Say it: al-kutub ṭarīq ilā al-ma^{c}rifa. — Books are a road to knowledge.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grasp, then the Arabic for awareness, then say ma^{c}rifa again

Before you move on

What does معرفة mean? ("Knowledge".) Say it once more.

Chapter 368

What matters

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about importance and value, and say what someone focused on, neglected or cared about.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 368: I can talk about importance and value, and say what someone focused on, neglected or cared about.

368.1 أهمية (ahammiyya) — importance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for awareness, then the Arabic for knowledge.

You'll want to know: أهمية

أهمية — ahammiyya — "importance".

النوم أهمية الجميع يعرف.

ya^{c}rifu al-jamī^{c} ahammiyyat an-nawm.

Everyone knows the importance of sleep.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أهمية (ahammiyya) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-m, "to concern, to trouble" (Lane). Ahammiyya is a modern abstract noun from ahamm, more important: importance.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ahammiyya
- Say it: ahammiyya, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}rifu al-jamī^c ahammiyyat an-nawm. — Everyone knows the importance of sleep.
- Recall: say the Arabic for awareness, then the Arabic for knowledge, then say ahammiyya again

Before you move on

What does أهمية mean? ("Importance".) Say it once more.

368.2 قيمة (qīma) — a value

Before the new one: say the Arabic for knowledge, then the Arabic for importance.

You'll want to know: قيمة

قيمة — qīma — "a value".

عندي كبيرة قيمة لها الساعة هذه.

hādhihi as-sā^{c}a lahā qīma kabīra ^{c}indī.

This watch has great value for me.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قيمة (qīma) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand, to rise" (Lane). A qīma is what a thing stands at: its worth, its value.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: qīma
- Say it: qīma, once more
- Say it: hādhihi as-sāᶜa lahā qīma kabīra ᶜindī. — This watch has great value for me.
- Recall: say the Arabic for knowledge, then the Arabic for importance, then say qīma again

Before you move on

What does قيمة mean? ("A value".) Say it once more.

368.3 ركز (rakkaza) — to focus

Before the new one: say the Arabic for importance, then the Arabic for a value.

You'll want to know: ركز

ركز — rakkaza — "to focus".

ركز الطالب على دروسه.

rakkaza aṭ-ṭālib ᶜalā durūsih.

The student focused on his lessons.

Present: يركز, yurakkiz.
It takes على: ركز على ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ركز (rakkaza) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-z, "to fix firmly in the ground" (Lane). It is Form II, to plant firmly: to fix the mind on one thing.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: rakkaza
- Say it: rakkaza, once more
- Say it: rakkaza aṭ-ṭālib ᶜalā durūsih. — The student focused on his lessons.
- Recall: say the Arabic for importance, then the Arabic for a value, then say rakkaza again

Before you move on

What does ركز mean? ("To focus".) Say it once more.

368.4 أهمل (ahmala) — to neglect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a value, then the Arabic for to focus.

You'll want to know: أهمل

أهمل — ahmala — "to neglect".

أهمل الرجل حديقته فماتت الزهور.

ahmala ar-rajul ḥadīqatahu fa-mātat az-zuhūr.

The man neglected his garden, so the flowers died.

Present: يهمل, yuhmil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أهمل (ahmala) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-l, whose Form I Lane gives for water overflowing (Lane). Form IV is to leave cattle to graze with no herdsman, and so to leave a thing to itself: to neglect.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ahmala
- Say it: ahmala, once more
- Say it: ahmala ar-rajul ḥadīqatahu fa-mātat az-zuhūr. — The man neglected his garden, so the flowers died.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a value, then the Arabic for to focus, then say ahmala again

Before you move on

What does أهمل mean? ("To neglect".) Say it once more.

368.5 اهتم (ihtamma) — to care about

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to focus, then the Arabic for to neglect.

You'll want to know: اهتم

اهتم — ihtamma — "to care about".

بالموسيقى أختي تهتم.

tahtammu ukhtī bi-l-mūsīqā.

My sister cares about music.

Present: يهتم, yahtamm.
It takes بـ: اهتم بـ .... The noun اهتمام is interest.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اهتم (ihtamma) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-m, "to concern, to trouble" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to be concerned for: to care about.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ihtamma
- Say it: ihtamma, once more
- Say it: tahtammu ukhtī bi-l-mūsīqā. — My sister cares about music.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to focus, then the Arabic for to neglect, then say ihtamma again

Before you move on

What does اهتم mean? ("To care about".) Say it once more.

Chapter 369

Advice and hesitation

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone advised, hinted, encouraged or hesitated, and talk about an alternative.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 369: I can say that someone advised, hinted, encouraged or hesitated, and talk about an alternative.

369.1 نصح (naṣaḥa) — to advise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to neglect, then the Arabic for to care about.

You'll want to know: نصح

نصح — naṣaḥa — "to advise".

> بالراحة الطبيب نصحني.
>
> naṣaḥanī aṭ-ṭabīb bi-r-rāḥa.
>
> The doctor advised me to rest.

Present: ينصح, yanṣaḥ.
The advice comes after بـ or أن: نصحه بـ ..., نصحه أن ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نصح (naṣaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṣ-ḥ, "to be sincere" (Lane). Naṣaḥa is a Form I verb: to give sincere counsel, to advise.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: naṣaḥa
- Say it: naṣaḥa, once more
- Say it: naṣaḥanī aṭ-ṭabīb bi-r-rāḥa. — The doctor advised me to rest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to neglect, then the Arabic for to care about, then say naṣaḥa again

Before you move on

What does نصح mean? ("To advise".) Say it once more.

369.2 لمح (lammaḥa) — to hint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to care about, then the Arabic for to advise.

You'll want to know: لمح

لمح — lammaḥa — "to hint".

قريب تغيير إلى المدير لمح.

lammaḥa al-mudīr ilā taghyīr qarīb.

The manager hinted at a change coming soon.

Present: يلمح, yulammiḥ.
It takes إلى: لمح إلى ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لمح (lammaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root l-m-ḥ, "to glance" (Lane). It is Form II, to make someone catch a glance: to hint at a thing.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: lammaḥa
- Say it: lammaḥa, once more
- Say it: lammaḥa al-mudīr ilā taghyīr qarīb. — The manager hinted at a change coming soon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to care about, then the Arabic for to advise, then say lammaḥa again

Before you move on

What does لمح mean? ("To hint".) Say it once more.

369.3 شجع (shajja^{c}a) — to encourage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to advise, then the Arabic for to hint.

You'll want to know: شجع

شجع — shajja^{c}a — "to encourage".

الرسم تعلم على أبي شجعني.

shajja^{c}anī abī ^{c}alā ta^{c}allum ar-rasm.

My father encouraged me to learn drawing.

Present: يشجع, yushajji^{c}.
It takes على: شجعه على ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شجع (shajja^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-^{c}, "to be brave" (Lane). It is Form II, to make brave: to encourage.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: shajja^{c}a
- Say it: shajja^{c}a, once more
- Say it: shajja^{c}anī abī ^{c}alā ta^{c}allum ar-rasm. — My father encouraged me to learn drawing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to advise, then the Arabic for to hint, then say shajja^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does شجع mean? ("To encourage".) Say it once more.

369.4 تردد (taraddada) — to hesitate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hint, then the Arabic for to encourage.

You'll want to know: تردد

تردد — taraddada — "to hesitate".

الماء في يقفز أن قبل الولد تردد.

taraddada al-walad qabla an yaqfiza fī al-mā^{ʾ}.

The boy hesitated before jumping into the water.

Present: يتردد, yataraddad.
Also to go often: السوق على تردد, went to the market often.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تردد (taraddada) is built on the native Arabic root r-d-d, "to send back" (Lane). It is Form V, to turn back and forth: to waver, to hesitate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taraddada
- Say it: taraddada, once more
- Say it: taraddada al-walad qabla an yaqfiza fī al-māʾ. — The boy hesitated before jumping into the water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hint, then the Arabic for to encourage, then say taraddada again

Before you move on

What does تردد mean? ("To hesitate".) Say it once more.

369.5 بديل (badīl) — an alternative

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to encourage, then the Arabic for to hesitate.

You'll want to know: بديل

بديل — badīl — "an alternative".

السيارة عن جيد بديل الدراجة.

ad-darrāja badīl jayyid ᶜan as-sayyāra.

A bicycle is a good alternative to a car.

عن بديل or لـ بديل: an alternative to.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بديل (badīl) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-l, "to change, to put in place of" (Lane). A badīl is what is put in place of another: a substitute, an alternative.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: badīl
- Say it: badīl, once more
- Say it: ad-darrāja badīl jayyid ᶜan as-sayyāra. — A bicycle is a good alternative to a car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to encourage, then the Arabic for to hesitate, then say badīl again

Before you move on

What does بديل mean? ("An alternative".) Say it once more.

Chapter 370

Criticism and excuses

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone criticized, opposed, justified, exaggerated or generalized.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 370: I can say that someone criticized, opposed, justified, exaggerated or generalized.

370.1 انتقد (intaqada) — to criticize

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hesitate, then the Arabic for an alternative.

You'll want to know: انتقد

انتقد — intaqada — "to criticize".

> اللاعبين أداء المدرب انتقد.
>
> intaqada al-mudarrib adāʾ al-lāᶜibīn.
>
> The coach criticized the players' performance.

Present: ينتقد, yantaqid.
The noun انتقاد, intiqād, criticism.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتقد (intaqada) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-d, "to sort good coins from bad" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to pick out the good from the bad: to judge, to criticize.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: intaqada
- Say it: intaqada, once more
- Say it: intaqada al-mudarrib adāʾ al-lāᶜibīn. — The coach criticized the players' performance.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hesitate, then the Arabic for an alternative, then say intaqada again

Before you move on

What does انتقد mean? ("To criticize".) Say it once more.

370.2 عارض (ᶜāraḍa) — to oppose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an alternative, then the Arabic for to criticize.

You'll want to know: عارض

عارض — ᶜāraḍa — "to oppose".

الجديد المشروع السكان بعض عارض.

ᶜāraḍa baᶜḍ as-sukkān al-mashrūᶜ al-jadīd.

Some residents opposed the new project.

Present: يعارض, yuᶜāriḍ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عارض (ᶜāraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-ḍ, "to be broad; to lie across" (Lane). It is Form III, to set oneself across from: to oppose.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāraḍa
- Say it: ᶜāraḍa, once more
- Say it: ᶜāraḍa baᶜḍ as-sukkān al-mashrūᶜ al-jadīd. — Some residents opposed the new project.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an alternative, then the Arabic for to criticize, then say ᶜāraḍa again

Before you move on

What does عارض mean? ("To oppose".) Say it once more.

370.3 برر (barrara) — to justify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to criticize, then the Arabic for to oppose.

You'll want to know: برر

برر — barrara — "to justify".

بالمطر تأخره الموظف برر.

barrara al-muwaẓẓaf taʾakhkhurahu bi-l-maṭar.

The employee gave the rain as the reason for his lateness.

Present: يبرر, yubarrir.
The noun تبرير, tabrīr, a justification.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برر (barrara) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-r, "to be true, to be good" (Lane). It is Form II, to show to be right: to justify.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: barrara
- Say it: barrara, once more
- Say it: barrara al-muwaẓẓaf taʾakhkhurahu bi-l-maṭar. — The employee gave the rain as the reason for his lateness.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to criticize, then the Arabic for to oppose, then say barrara again

Before you move on

What does برر mean? ("To justify".) Say it once more.

370.4 بالغ (bālagha) — to exaggerate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to oppose, then the Arabic for to justify.

You'll want to know: بالغ

بالغ — bālagha — "to exaggerate".

الفندق وصف في صديقي بالغ.

bālagha ṣadīqī fī waṣf al-funduq.

My friend exaggerated in describing the hotel.

Present: يبالغ, yubāligh.
It takes في: بالغ في ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بالغ (bālagha) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-gh, "to reach" (Lane). It is Form III, to strive to reach the utmost: to overdo, to exaggerate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: bālagha
- Say it: bālagha, once more
- Say it: bālagha ṣadīqī fī waṣf al-funduq. — My friend exaggerated in describing the hotel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to oppose, then the Arabic for to justify, then say bālagha again

Before you move on

What does بالغ mean? ("To exaggerate".) Say it once more.

370.5 عمم (ᶜammama) — to generalize

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to justify, then the Arabic for to exaggerate.

You'll want to know: عمم

عمم — ᶜammama — "to generalize".

لا يجوز أن نعمم من مثال واحد.

lā yajūzu an nuᶜammima min mithāl wāḥid.

We should not generalize from one example.

Present: يعمم, yuᶜammim.
The noun تعميم, taᶜmīm, a generalization.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عمم (ᶜammama) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-m, "to be general, to include all" (Lane). It is Form II, to make general: to generalize.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜammama
- Say it: ᶜammama, once more
- Say it: lā yajūzu an nuᶜammima min mithāl wāḥid. — We should not generalize from one example.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to justify, then the Arabic for to exaggerate, then say ᶜammama again

Before you move on

What does عمم mean? ("To generalize".) Say it once more.

Chapter 371

Aims and means

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a means and an incentive, and say that someone strove, accomplished or contributed.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 371: I can talk about a means and an incentive, and say that someone strove, accomplished or contributed.

371.1 وسيلة (wasīla) — a means

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to exaggerate, then the Arabic for to generalize.

You'll want to know: وسيلة

وسيلة — wasīla — "a means".

> للسفر رخيصة وسيلة الحافلة.
>
> al-ḥāfila wasīla rakhīṣa li-s-safar.
>
> The bus is a cheap means of travel.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وسيلة (wasīla) is built on the native Arabic root w-s-l, "to seek to draw near" (Lane). A wasīla is what brings you near to a goal: a means.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: wasīla
- Say it: wasīla, once more
- Say it: al-ḥāfila wasīla rakhīṣa li-s-safar. — The bus is a cheap means of travel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to exaggerate, then the Arabic for to generalize, then say wasīla again

Before you move on

What does وسيلة mean? ("A means".) Say it once more.

371.2 سعى (sa^{c}ā) — to strive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to generalize, then the Arabic for a means.

You'll want to know: سعى

سعى — sa^{c}ā — "to strive".

أفضل عمل إلى الشاب سعى.

sa^{c}ā ash-shābb ilā ^{c}amal afḍal.

The young man strove for a better job.

Present: يسعى, yas^{c}ā.
It takes إلى: سعى إلى ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سعى (sa^{c}ā) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-y, usually traced to the sense "to run, to strive". Sa^{c}ā is a Form I verb with a weak last letter, so its present is yas^{c}ā.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: sa^{c}ā
- Say it: sa^{c}ā, once more
- Say it: sa^{c}ā ash-shābb ilā ^{c}amal afḍal. — The young man strove for a better job.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to generalize, then the Arabic for a means, then say sa^{c}ā again

Before you move on

What does سعى mean? ("To strive".) Say it once more.

371.3 أنجز (anjaza) — to accomplish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a means, then the Arabic for to strive.

You'll want to know: أنجز

أنجز — anjaza — "to accomplish".

أنجز العمال البناء في سنة.

anjaza al-^{c}ummāl al-binā^{ʾ} fī sana.

The workers completed the building in a year.

Present: ينجز, yunjiz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنجز (anjaza) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-z, "to be accomplished, finished" (Lane). It is Form IV, to bring to completion: to accomplish.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: anjaza
- Say it: anjaza, once more
- Say it: anjaza al-ᶜummāl al-bināʾ fī sana. — The workers completed the building in a year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a means, then the Arabic for to strive, then say anjaza again

Before you move on

What does أنجز mean? ("To accomplish".) Say it once more.

371.4 ساهم (sāhama) — to contribute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to strive, then the Arabic for to accomplish.

You'll want to know: ساهم

ساهم — sāhama — "to contribute".

الشارع تنظيف في الجيران ساهم.

sāhama al-jīrān fī tanẓīf ash-shāriᶜ.

The neighbours contributed to cleaning the street.

Present: يساهم, yusāhim.
It takes في: ساهم في ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساهم (sāhama) is built on the native Arabic root s-h-m, "an arrow; a share" (Lane). It is Form III, to take a share with others: to contribute.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: sāhama
- Say it: sāhama, once more
- Say it: sāhama al-jīrān fī tanẓīf ash-shāriᶜ. — The neighbours contributed to cleaning the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to strive, then the Arabic for to accomplish, then say sāhama again

Before you move on

What does ساهم mean? ("To contribute".) Say it once more.

371.5 حافز (ḥāfiz) — an incentive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to accomplish, then the Arabic for to contribute.

You'll want to know: حافز

حافز — ḥāfiz — "an incentive".

للعمل حافزا الجيد الراتب كان.

kāna ar-rātib al-jayyid ḥāfizan li-l-ᶜamal.

The good salary was an incentive to work.

Plural: حوافز, ḥawāfiz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حافز (ḥāfiz) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-z, "to urge on from behind" (Lane). Ḥāfiz is the active participle: what urges you on, an incentive.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāfiz
- Say it: ḥāfiz, once more
- Say it: kāna ar-rātib al-jayyid ḥāfizan li-l-ᶜamal. — The good salary was an incentive to work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to accomplish, then the Arabic for to contribute, then say ḥāfiz again

Before you move on

What does حافز mean? ("An incentive".) Say it once more.

Chapter 372

Obstacles

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an obstacle, a difficulty and a dilemma, and say that someone fell short or managed.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 372: I can talk about an obstacle, a difficulty and a dilemma, and say that someone fell short or managed.

372.1 عقبة (ᶜaqaba) — an obstacle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to contribute, then the Arabic for an incentive.

You'll want to know: عقبة

عقبة — ᶜaqaba — "an obstacle".

أمامه عقبة أكبر اللغة كانت.

kānat al-lugha akbar ᶜaqaba amāmah.

Language was the biggest obstacle in his way.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عقبة (ᶜaqaba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-b, "to come after, to follow" (Lane). ᶜAqaba first named a steep mountain road; in modern use it is any obstacle.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaqaba
- Say it: ᶜaqaba, once more
- Say it: kānat al-lugha akbar ᶜaqaba amāmah. — Language was the biggest obstacle in his way.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to contribute, then the Arabic for an incentive, then say ᶜaqaba again

Before you move on

What does عقبة mean? ("An obstacle".) Say it once more.

372.2 صعوبة (ṣuᶜūba) — a difficulty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an incentive, then the Arabic for an obstacle.

You'll want to know: صعوبة

صعوبة — ṣuᶜūba — "a difficulty".

الدرس فهم في صعوبة وجدت.

wajadtu ṣuᶜūba fī fahm ad-dars.

I had difficulty understanding the lesson.

بصعوبة, bi-ṣuᶜūba, with difficulty.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صعوبة (ṣuᶜūba) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ᶜ-b, "to be hard, difficult" (Lane). Ṣuᶜūba is the verbal noun of the root of ṣaᶜb, difficult: difficulty.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣu^{c}ūba
- Say it: ṣu^{c}ūba, once more
- Say it: wajadtu ṣu^{c}ūba fī fahm ad-dars. — I had difficulty understanding the lesson.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an incentive, then the Arabic for an obstacle, then say ṣu^{c}ūba again

Before you move on

What does صعوبة mean? ("A difficulty".) Say it once more.

372.3 معضلة (mu^{c}ḍila) — a dilemma

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an obstacle, then the Arabic for a difficulty.

You'll want to know: معضلة

معضلة — mu^{c}ḍila — "a dilemma".

صعبة معضلة الأسرة واجهت.

wājahat al-usra mu^{c}ḍila ṣa^{c}ba.

The family faced a hard dilemma.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معضلة (mu^{c}ḍila) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-ḍ-l, "to hinder, to make hard" (Lane). Mu^{c}ḍila is a Form IV active participle, feminine: a matter that baffles, a dilemma. عضلة, a muscle, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}ḍila
- Say it: mu^{c}ḍila, once more
- Say it: wājahat al-usra mu^{c}ḍila ṣa^{c}ba. — The family faced a hard dilemma.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an obstacle, then the Arabic for a difficulty, then say mu^{c}ḍila again

Before you move on

What does معضلة mean? ("A dilemma".) Say it once more.

372.4 أخفق (akhfaqa) — to fall short

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a difficulty, then the Arabic for a dilemma.

You'll want to know: أخفق

أخفق — akhfaqa — "to fall short".

الأخيرة المباراة في الفريق أخفق.

akhfaqa al-farīq fī al-mubārā al-akhīra.

The team fell short in the last match.

Present: يخفق, yukhfiq.
It takes في: أخفق في .... Compare فشل, failure.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخفق (akhfaqa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-q, "to flap, to beat" (Lane). Lane gives Form IV for one who sought a thing and did not get it: to fall short.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: akhfaqa
- Say it: akhfaqa, once more
- Say it: akhfaqa al-farīq fī al-mubārā al-akhīra. — The team fell short in the last match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a difficulty, then the Arabic for a dilemma, then say akhfaqa again

Before you move on

What does أخفق mean? ("To fall short".) Say it once more.

372.5 تمكن (tamakkana) — to manage to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dilemma, then the Arabic for to fall short.

You'll want to know: تمكن

تمكن — tamakkana — "to manage to".

المسألة حل من الطالب تمكن.

tamakkana aṭ-ṭālib min ḥall al-masʾala.

The student managed to solve the problem.

Present: يتمكن, yatamakkan.
It takes من: من تمكن ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمكن (tamakkana) is built on the native Arabic root m-k-n, "to be firm, to have power" (Lane). It is Form V, to become firmly able: to manage to do a thing.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tamakkana
- Say it: tamakkana, once more
- Say it: tamakkana aṭ-ṭālib min ḥall al-masʾala. — The student managed to solve the problem.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dilemma, then the Arabic for to fall short, then say tamakkana again

Before you move on

What does تمكن mean? ("To manage to".) Say it once more.

Chapter 373

Taking a stand

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone took sides, held on, gave way, backed down or settled a question.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 373: I can say that someone took sides, held on, gave way, backed down or settled a question.

373.1 انحاز (inḥāza) — to take sides

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fall short, then the Arabic for to manage to.

You'll want to know: انحاز

انحاز — inḥāza — "to take sides".

> انحاز الفريق إلى الحكم الآخر.
>
> inḥāza al-ḥakam ilā al-farīq al-ākhar.
>
> The referee took the side of the other team.

Present: ينحاز, yanḥāz.
It takes إلى: انحاز إلى ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انحاز (inḥāza) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-z, "to draw together, to gather" (Lane). It is Form VII, to draw oneself aside to one party: to take sides.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: inḥāza
- Say it: inḥāza, once more
- Say it: inḥāza al-ḥakam ilā al-farīq al-ākhar. — The referee took the side of the other team.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fall short, then the Arabic for to manage to, then say inḥāza again

Before you move on

What does انحاز mean? ("To take sides".) Say it once more.

373.2 تمسك (tamassaka) — to hold on to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to manage to, then the Arabic for to take sides.

You'll want to know: تمسك

تمسك — tamassaka — "to hold on to".

برأيه الرجل تمسك.

tamassaka ar-rajul bi-raʾyih.

The man held on to his opinion.

Present: يتمسك, yatamassak.
It takes بـ: تمسك بـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمسك (tamassaka) is built on the native Arabic root m-s-k, "to hold, to grasp" (Lane). It is Form V, to keep a firm hold: to cling to a thing. أمسك, to hold, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tamassaka
- Say it: tamassaka, once more
- Say it: tamassaka ar-rajul bi-raʾyih. — The man held on to his opinion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to manage to, then the Arabic for to take sides, then say tamassaka again

Before you move on

What does تمسك mean? ("To hold on to".) Say it once more.

373.3 تنازل (tanāzala) — to concede; to give up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take sides, then the Arabic for to hold on to.

You'll want to know: تنازل

تنازل — tanāzala — "to concede; to give up".

البيت في حقه عن الأخ تنازل.

tanāzala al-akh ʿan ḥaqqihi fī al-bayt.

The brother gave up his right to the house.

Present: يتنازل, yatanāzal.
It takes عن: تنازل عن ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنازل (tanāzala) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-l, "to come down, to descend" (Lane). It is Form VI, to come down from a claim: to concede, to give a thing up.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tanāzala
- Say it: tanāzala, once more
- Say it: tanāzala al-akh ᶜan ḥaqqihi fī al-bayt. — The brother gave up his right to the house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take sides, then the Arabic for to hold on to, then say tanāzala again

Before you move on

What does تنازل mean? ("To concede; to give up".) Say it once more.

373.4 تراجع (tarājaᶜa) — to back down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hold on to, then the Arabic for to concede.

You'll want to know: تراجع

تراجع — tarājaᶜa — "to back down".

نقاش بعد قراره عن أبي تراجع.

tarājaᶜa abī ᶜan qarārihi baᶜda niqāsh.

My father backed down from his decision after a discussion.

Present: يتراجع, yatarājaᶜ.
It takes عن: تراجع عن ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تراجع (tarājaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-ᶜ, "to return, to go back" (Lane). It is Form VI, to go back step by step: to back down, to decline.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tarājaᶜa
- Say it: tarājaᶜa, once more
- Say it: tarājaᶜa abī ᶜan qarārihi baᶜda niqāsh. — My father backed down from his decision after a discussion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hold on to, then the Arabic for to concede, then say tarājaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does تراجع mean? ("To back down".) Say it once more.

373.5 حسم (ḥasama) — to resolve; to settle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to concede, then the Arabic for to back down.

You'll want to know: حسم

حسم — ḥasama — "to resolve; to settle".

واحد يوم في المسألة المدير حسم.

ḥasama al-mudīr al-masʾala fī yawm wāḥid.

The manager settled the matter in a single day.

Present: يحسم, yaḥsim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حسم (ḥasama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-m, "to cut off" (Lane). Ḥasama is a Form I verb: to cut a question off, to settle it for good.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥasama
- Say it: ḥasama, once more
- Say it: ḥasama al-mudīr al-masʾala fī yawm wāḥid. — The manager settled the matter in a single day.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to concede, then the Arabic for to back down, then say ḥasama again

Before you move on

What does حسم mean? ("To resolve; to settle".) Say it once more.

373.6 Words from chapters 366–373 — a review

Say the Arabic for to claim and to allege.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to claim, to allege, to cast doubt, to believe someone, to infer
- to realize, to conceive, to grasp, awareness, knowledge
- importance, a value, to focus, to neglect, to care about
- to advise, to hint, to encourage, to hesitate, an alternative
- to criticize, to oppose, to justify, to exaggerate, to generalize

- a means, to strive, to accomplish, to contribute, an incentive
- an obstacle, a difficulty, a dilemma, to fall short, to manage to
- to take sides, to hold on to, to concede, to back down, to resolve

Before you move on

To claim? (ادعى, idda^{c}ā.) To allege? (زعم, za^{c}ama.) To cast doubt? (شكك, shakkaka.) To believe someone? (صدق, ṣaddaqa.) To infer? (استدل, istadalla.) To realize? (أدرك, adraka.) To conceive? (تصور, taṣawwara.) To grasp? (استوعب, istaw^{c}aba.) Awareness? (وعي, wa^{c}y.) Knowledge? (معرفة, ma^{c}rifa.) Importance? (أهمية, ahammiyya.) A value? (قيمة, qīma.) To focus? (ركز, rakkaza.) To neglect? (أهمل, ahmala.) To care about? (اهتم, ihtamma.) To advise? (نصح, naṣaḥa.) To hint? (لمح, lammaḥa.) To encourage? (شجع, shajja^{c}a.) To hesitate? (تردد, taraddada.) An alternative? (بديل, badīl.) To criticize? (انتقد, intaqada.) To oppose? (عارض, ^{c}āraḍa.) To justify? (برر, barrara.) To exaggerate? (بالغ, bālagha.) To generalize? (عمم, ^{c}ammama.) A means? (وسيلة, wasīla.) To strive? (سعى, sa^{c}ā.) To accomplish? (أنجز, anjaza.) To contribute? (ساهم, sāhama.) An incentive? (حافز, ḥāfiz.) An obstacle? (عقبة, ^{c}aqaba.) A difficulty? (صعوبة, ṣu^{c}ūba.) A dilemma? (معضلة, mu^{c}ḍila.) To fall short? (أخفق, akhfaqa.) To manage to? (تمكن, tamakkana.) To take sides? (انحاز, inḥāza.) To hold on to? (تمسك, tamassaka.) To concede? (تنازل, tanāzala.) To back down? (تراجع, tarāja^{c}a.) To resolve? (حسم, ḥasama.)

Chapter 374

Linking reasons

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can link a reason to a result with consequently, for this reason, seeing that, given that and in order to.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 374: I can link a reason to a result with consequently, for this reason, seeing that, given that and in order to.

374.1 بالتالي (bi-t-tālī) — consequently

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to back down, then the Arabic for to resolve.

You'll want to know: بالتالي

بالتالي — bi-t-tālī — "consequently".

> الجميع تأخر بالتالي مغلقا، الطريق كان.
>
> kāna aṭ-ṭarīq mughlaqan, bi-t-tālī taʾakhkhara al-jamīᶜ.
>
> The road was closed; consequently everyone was late.

Usually with و: وبالتالي, and as a result.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بالتالي (bi-t-tālī) joins bi-, "by", with at-tālī, "the one that follows", built on the native Arabic root t-l-w, "to follow" (Lane). Literally, by what follows.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-t-tālī
- Say it: bi-t-tālī, once more
- Say it: kāna aṭ-ṭarīq mughlaqan, bi-t-tālī taʾakhkhara al-jamīᶜ. — The road was closed; consequently everyone was late.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to back down, then the Arabic for to resolve, then say bi-t-tālī again

Before you move on

What does بالتالي mean? ("Consequently".) Say it once more.

374.2 السبب لهذا (li-hādhā as-sabab) — for this reason

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to resolve, then the Arabic for consequently.

You'll want to know: السبب لهذا

السبب لهذا — li-hādhā as-sabab — "for this reason".

كان الجو ممطرا، لهذا السبب بقينا في المنزل.

kāna al-jaww mumṭiran, li-hādhā as-sabab baqīnā fī al-manzil.

The weather was rainy; for this reason we stayed at home.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

السبب لهذا (li-hādhā as-sabab) is a phrase: li-, "for", hādhā, "this", and as-sabab, "the reason", built on the native Arabic root s-b-b, "a rope; a means to an end" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: li-hādhā as-sabab
- Say it: li-hādhā as-sabab, once more
- Say it: kāna al-jaww mumṭiran, li-hādhā as-sabab baqīnā fī al-manzil. — The weather was rainy; for this reason we stayed at home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to resolve, then the Arabic for consequently, then say li-hādhā as-sabab again

Before you move on

What does السبب لهذا mean? ("For this reason".) Say it once more.

374.3 أن بما (bi-mā anna) — seeing that; since

Before the new one: say the Arabic for consequently, then the Arabic for for this reason.

You'll want to know: أن بما

أن بما — bi-mā anna — "seeing that; since".

متأخرين سننام عطلة، اليوم أن بما.

bi-mā anna al-yawm ᶜuṭla, sa-nanāmu mutaʾakhkhirīn.

Seeing that today is a holiday, we will sleep late.

It gives a reason both speakers already accept.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أن بما (bi-mā anna) is built from three native Arabic function words: bi-, "by", mā, "what", and anna, "that". The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-mā anna
- Say it: bi-mā anna, once more
- Say it: bi-mā anna al-yawm ᶜuṭla, sa-nanāmu mutaʾakhkhirīn. — Seeing that today is a holiday, we will sleep late.
- Recall: say the Arabic for consequently, then the Arabic for for this reason, then say bi-mā anna again

Before you move on

What does أن بما mean? ("Seeing that; since".) Say it once more.

374.4 إن حيث (ḥaythu inna) — given that

Before the new one: say the Arabic for for this reason, then the Arabic for seeing that.

You'll want to know: إن حيث

إن حيث — ḥaythu inna — "given that".

مبكرا سنخرج طويل، الطريق إن حيث.

ḥaythu inna aṭ-ṭarīq ṭawīl, sa-nakhruju mubakkiran.

Given that the road is long, we will leave early.

Formal; in speech أن بما or لأن.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إن حيث (ḥaythu inna) joins two native Arabic particles: ḥaythu, "where", and inna, "indeed, truly". The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaythu inna
- Say it: ḥaythu inna, once more
- Say it: ḥaythu inna aṭ-ṭarīq ṭawīl, sa-nakhruju mubakkiran. — Given that the road is long, we will leave early.
- Recall: say the Arabic for for this reason, then the Arabic for seeing that, then say ḥaythu inna again

Before you move on

What does إن حيث mean? ("Given that".) Say it once more.

374.5 لكي (li-kay) — in order to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for seeing that, then the Arabic for given that.

You'll want to know: لكي

لكي — li-kay — "in order to".

ينجح لكي ليلة كل أخي يدرس.

yadrusu akhī kulla layla li-kay yanjaḥa.

My brother studies every night in order to pass.

The verb after it takes the subjunctive: ينجح لكي, li-kay yanjaḥa.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لكي (li-kay) joins the native Arabic particles li-, "for", and kay, "so that", which learners met on its own earlier. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: li-kay
- Say it: li-kay, once more
- Say it: yadrusu akhī kulla layla li-kay yanjaḥa. — My brother studies every night in order to pass.
- Recall: say the Arabic for seeing that, then the Arabic for given that, then say li-kay again

Before you move on

What does لكي mean? ("In order to".) Say it once more.

Chapter 375

Contrast and addition

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say even so, yet, as for, likewise and moreover.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 375: I can say even so, yet, as for, likewise and moreover.

375.1 مع ذلك (ma^{c}a dhālika) — even so; however

Before the new one: say the Arabic for given that, then the Arabic for in order to.

You'll want to know: مع ذلك

مع ذلك — ma^{c}a dhālika — "even so; however".

> كان متعبا، مع ذلك أكمل عمله.
>
> kāna mut^{c}aban, ma^{c}a dhālika akmala ^{c}amalah.
>
> He was tired; even so, he finished his work.

Often with و: ومع ذلك, and yet.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مع ذلك (ma^{c}a dhālika) joins two native Arabic words, ma^{c}a, "with", and dhālika, "that": with all that, even so. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}a dhālika
- Say it: ma^{c}a dhālika, once more
- Say it: kāna mut^{c}aban, ma^{c}a dhālika akmala ^{c}amalah. — He was tired; even so, he finished his work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for given that, then the Arabic for in order to, then say ma^{c}a dhālika again

Before you move on

What does مع ذلك mean? ("Even so; however".) Say it once more.

375.2 إلا أن (illā anna) — yet; but

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in order to, then the Arabic for even so.

You'll want to know: إلا أن

إلا أن — illā anna — "yet; but".

صغيرة الغرف أن إلا جميل، الفندق.

al-funduq jamīl, illā anna al-ghuraf ṣaghīra.

The hotel is beautiful, but the rooms are small.

More formal than لكن.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إلا أن (illā anna) joins the native Arabic particles illā, "except", and anna, "that": except that, and so yet, but. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: illā anna
- Say it: illā anna, once more
- Say it: al-funduq jamīl, illā anna al-ghuraf ṣaghīra. — The hotel is beautiful, but the rooms are small.
- Recall: say the Arabic for in order to, then the Arabic for even so, then say illā anna again

Before you move on

What does إلا أن mean? ("Yet; but".) Say it once more.

375.3 أما (ammā) — as for

Before the new one: say the Arabic for even so, then the Arabic for yet.

You'll want to know: أما

أما — ammā — "as for".

الرياضة فيحب أخي أما.

ammā akhī fa-yuḥibbu ar-riyāḍa.

As for my brother, he loves sport.

The next part starts with فـ: أما … فـ ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أما (ammā) is an old native Arabic particle that sets one topic apart from the others. Its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ammā
- Say it: ammā, once more
- Say it: ammā akhī fa-yuḥibbu ar-riyāḍa. — As for my brother, he loves sport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for even so, then the Arabic for yet, then say ammā again

Before you move on

What does أما mean? ("As for".) Say it once more.

375.4 كذلك (kadhālika) — likewise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for yet, then the Arabic for as for.

You'll want to know: كذلك

كذلك — kadhālika — "likewise".

كذلك وأمي الموسيقى، تحب أختي.

ukhtī tuḥibbu al-mūsīqā, wa-ummī kadhālika.

My sister loves music, and so does my mother.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كذلك (kadhālika) is built from the native Arabic ka-, "like", and dhālika, "that": like that, likewise. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: kadhālika
- Say it: kadhālika, once more
- Say it: ukhtī tuḥibbu al-mūsīqā, wa-ummī kadhālika. — My sister loves music, and so does my mother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for yet, then the Arabic for as for, then say kadhālika again

Before you move on

What does كذلك mean? ("Likewise".) Say it once more.

375.5 على علاوة (ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā) — moreover; on top of

Before the new one: say the Arabic for as for, then the Arabic for likewise.

You'll want to know: على علاوة

على علاوة — ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā — "moreover; on top of".

سيارة على الموظف يحصل الراتب، على علاوة.

ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā ar-rātib, yaḥṣulu al-muwaẓẓaf ᶜalā sayyāra.

On top of the salary, the employee gets a car.

Also علاوة alone: a bonus on a salary.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

على علاوة (ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-w, "to be high, to rise above" (Lane). ᶜIlāwa is what is laid on top of a load: something extra, and so moreover.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā
- Say it: ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā, once more
- Say it: ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā ar-rātib, yaḥṣulu al-muwaẓẓaf ᶜalā sayyāra. — On top of the salary, the employee gets a car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for as for, then the Arabic for likewise, then say ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā again

Before you move on

What does على علاوة mean? ("Moreover; on top of".) Say it once more.

Chapter 376

Fields of study

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name philosophy and linguistics, and talk about a branch of learning, an expert and academic life.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 376: I can name philosophy and linguistics, and talk about a branch of learning, an expert and academic life.

376.1 فلسفة (falsafa) — philosophy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for likewise, then the Arabic for moreover.

You'll want to know: فلسفة

فلسفة — falsafa — "philosophy".

الجامعة في الفلسفة عمي ابن يدرس.

yadrusu ibn ᶜammī al-falsafa fī al-jāmiᶜa.

My cousin studies philosophy at university.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فلسفة (falsafa) was borrowed from Greek philosophia, "love of wisdom" (EtymDB). Arabic fitted the loan to its own four-consonant pattern.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: falsafa
- Say it: falsafa, once more
- Say it: yadrusu ibn ᶜammī al-falsafa fī al-jāmiᶜa. — My cousin studies philosophy at university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for likewise, then the Arabic for moreover, then say falsafa again

Before you move on

What does فلسفة mean? ("Philosophy".) Say it once more.

376.2 لغويات (lughawiyyāt) — linguistics

Before the new one: say the Arabic for moreover, then the Arabic for philosophy.

You'll want to know: لغويات

لغويات — lughawiyyāt — "linguistics".

اللغويات في أختي تخصصت.

takhaṣṣaṣat ukhtī fī al-lughawiyyāt.

My sister specialized in linguistics.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لغويات (lughawiyyāt) is a modern plural built on lugha, "a language", which Lane files under the native Arabic root l-gh-w (Lane). It names the study of language.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: lughawiyyāt
- Say it: lughawiyyāt, once more
- Say it: takhaṣṣaṣat ukhtī fī al-lughawiyyāt. — My sister specialized in linguistics.
- Recall: say the Arabic for moreover, then the Arabic for philosophy, then say lughawiyyāt again

Before you move on

What does لغويات mean? ("Linguistics".) Say it once more.

376.3 فيلسوف (faylasūf) — a philosopher

Before the new one: say the Arabic for philosophy, then the Arabic for linguistics.

You'll want to know: فيلسوف

فيلسوف — faylasūf — "a philosopher".

قديم لفيلسوف كتابا قرأت.

qaraʾtu kitāban li-faylasūf qadīm.

I read a book by an ancient philosopher.

Plural فلاسفة, falāsifa.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فيلسوف (faylasūf) was borrowed from Greek philosophos, "a lover of wisdom" (EtymDB). Its sister word is falsafa, philosophy.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: faylasūf
- Say it: faylasūf, once more
- Say it: qaraʾtu kitāban li-faylasūf qadīm. — I read a book by an ancient philosopher.
- Recall: say the Arabic for philosophy, then the Arabic for linguistics, then say faylasūf again

Before you move on

What does فيلسوف mean? ("A philosopher".) Say it once more.

376.4 خبير (khabīr) — an expert

Before the new one: say the Arabic for linguistics, then the Arabic for a philosopher.

You'll want to know: خبير

خبير — khabīr — "an expert".

سأل الصحفي خبيرا في التاريخ.

saʾala aṣ-ṣaḥafī khabīran fī at-tārīkh.

The journalist asked an expert on history.

Plural: خبراء, khubarāʾ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خبير (khabīr) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-r, "to know thoroughly, to test" (Lane). A khabīr knows a thing from the inside: an expert.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: khabīr
- Say it: khabīr, once more
- Say it: saʾala aṣ-ṣaḥafī khabīran fī at-tārīkh. — The journalist asked an expert on history.
- Recall: say the Arabic for linguistics, then the Arabic for a philosopher, then say khabīr again

Before you move on

What does خبير mean? ("An expert".) Say it once more.

376.5 أكاديمي (akādīmī) — academic

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a philosopher, then the Arabic for an expert.

You'll want to know: أكاديمي

أكاديمي — akādīmī — "academic".

أكاديمي مجال في عمي يعمل.

yaᶜmalu ᶜammī fī majāl akādīmī.

My uncle works in an academic field.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أكاديمي (akādīmī) is a modern loan with the Arabic ending -ī. It is usually traced to Greek akadēmia, the name of a school of learning, through European languages.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: akādīmī
- Say it: akādīmī, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}malu ^{c}ammī fī majāl akādīmī. — My uncle works in an academic field.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a philosopher, then the Arabic for an expert, then say akādīmī again

Before you move on

What does أكاديمي mean? ("Academic".) Say it once more.

Chapter 377

Government

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a government, a minister, a ministry, a parliament and a constitution.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 377: I can talk about a government, a minister, a ministry, a parliament and a constitution.

377.1 حكومة (ḥukūma) — a government

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an expert, then the Arabic for academic.

You'll want to know: حكومة

حكومة — ḥukūma — "a government".

> قررت الحكومة فتح مستشفى جديد.
>
> qarrarat al-ḥukūma fatḥ mustashfā jadīd.
>
> The government decided to open a new hospital.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حكومة (ḥukūma) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-m, "to judge, to rule" (Lane). Ḥukūma is a verbal noun, ruling, which came to mean the body that rules: a government.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥukūma
- Say it: ḥukūma, once more
- Say it: qarrarat al-ḥukūma fatḥ mustashfā jadīd. — The government decided to open a new hospital.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an expert, then the Arabic for academic, then say ḥukūma again

Before you move on

What does حكومة mean? ("A government".) Say it once more.

377.2 وزير (wazīr) — a minister

Before the new one: say the Arabic for academic, then the Arabic for a government.

You'll want to know: وزير

وزير — wazīr — "a minister".

أمس المدرسة الوزير زار.

zāra al-wazīr al-madrasa ams.

The minister visited the school yesterday.

Plural: وزراء, wuzarāʾ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وزير (wazīr) is built on the native Arabic root w-z-r, "to bear a heavy load" (Lane): the one who carries the ruler's burden. EtymDB lists a Middle Persian cognate, and some trace the word to Persian, so its origin is disputed.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: wazīr
- Say it: wazīr, once more
- Say it: zāra al-wazīr al-madrasa ams. — The minister visited the school yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for academic, then the Arabic for a government, then say wazīr again

Before you move on

What does وزير mean? ("A minister".) Say it once more.

377.3 وزارة (wizāra) — a ministry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a government, then the Arabic for a minister.

You'll want to know: وزارة

وزارة — wizāra — "a ministry".

الصحة وزارة في أمي تعمل.

ta^{c}malu ummī fī wizārat aṣ-ṣiḥḥa.

My mother works at the ministry of health.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وزارة (wizāra) is built on the native Arabic root w-z-r, "to bear a heavy load" (Lane). Wizāra is the office of a wazīr: a ministry.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: wizāra
- Say it: wizāra, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}malu ummī fī wizārat aṣ-ṣiḥḥa. — My mother works at the ministry of health.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a government, then the Arabic for a minister, then say wizāra again

Before you move on

What does وزارة mean? ("A ministry".) Say it once more.

377.4 برلمان (barlamān) — a parliament

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a minister, then the Arabic for a ministry.

You'll want to know: برلمان

برلمان — barlamān — "a parliament".

الحكومة خطة البرلمان ناقش.

nāqasha al-barlamān khiṭṭat al-ḥukūma.

Parliament discussed the government's plan.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برلمان (barlamān) was borrowed from French parlement (EtymDB), a place of speaking. Arabic has no p, so the word begins with b.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: barlamān
- Say it: barlamān, once more
- Say it: nāqasha al-barlamān khiṭṭat al-ḥukūma. — Parliament discussed the government's plan.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a minister, then the Arabic for a ministry, then say barlamān again

Before you move on

What does برلمان mean? ("A parliament".) Say it once more.

377.5 دستور (dustūr) — a constitution

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ministry, then the Arabic for a parliament.

You'll want to know: دستور

دستور — dustūr — "a constitution".

جديدا دستورا الشعب كتب.

kataba ash-shaᶜb dustūran jadīdan.

The people wrote a new constitution.

Plural: دساتير, dasātīr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دستور (dustūr) was borrowed from Persian dastūr (EtymDB); Lane gives it as an arabicized word for the register of a realm's rules (Lane). Modern Arabic made it the constitution.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: dustūr
- Say it: dustūr, once more
- Say it: kataba ash-shaᶜb dustūran jadīdan. — The people wrote a new constitution.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ministry, then the Arabic for a parliament, then say dustūr again

Before you move on

What does دستور mean? ("A constitution".) Say it once more.

Chapter 378

Elections

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an election, a voter and a candidate, and say that people voted and elected.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 378: I can talk about an election, a voter and a candidate, and say that people voted and elected.

378.1 انتخاب (intikhāb) — an election

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a parliament, then the Arabic for a constitution.

You'll want to know: انتخاب

انتخاب — intikhāb — "an election".

> كبيرة بأعداد الانتخاب في الناس شارك.
>
> shāraka an-nās fī al-intikhāb bi-aᶜdād kabīra.
>
> People took part in the election in large numbers.

More often plural: الانتخابات, al-intikhābāt, the elections.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتخاب (intikhāb) is built on the native Arabic root n-kh-b, "to choose, to select" (Lane). Intikhāb is the Form VIII verbal noun, a choosing out: an election.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: intikhāb
- Say it: intikhāb, once more
- Say it: shāraka an-nās fī al-intikhāb bi-aᶜdād kabīra. — People took part in the election in large numbers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a parliament, then the Arabic for a constitution, then say intikhāb again

Before you move on

What does انتخاب mean? ("An election".) Say it once more.

378.2 انتخب (intakhaba) — to elect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a constitution, then the Arabic for an election.

You'll want to know: انتخب

انتخب — intakhaba — "to elect".

شابة امرأة السكان انتخب.

intakhaba as-sukkān imraʾa shābba.

The residents elected a young woman.

Present: ينتخب, yantakhib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتخب (intakhaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-kh-b, "to choose, to select" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to choose out for oneself: to elect.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: intakhaba
- Say it: intakhaba, once more
- Say it: intakhaba as-sukkān imraʾa shābba. — The residents elected a young woman.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a constitution, then the Arabic for an election, then say intakhaba again

Before you move on

What does انتخب mean? ("To elect".) Say it once more.

378.3 صوت (ṣawwata) — to vote

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an election, then the Arabic for to elect.

You'll want to know: صوت

صوت — ṣawwata — "to vote".

الباكر الصباح في أمي صوتت.

ṣawwatat ummī fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ al-bākir.

My mother voted early in the morning.

Present: يصوت, yuṣawwit.
صوت لـ, voted for. The noun صوت, ṣawt, voice, also means a vote.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صوت (ṣawwata) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-t, "to make a sound" (Lane). It is Form II, to raise one's voice: to cast a vote.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣawwata
- Say it: ṣawwata, once more
- Say it: ṣawwatat ummī fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ al-bākir. — My mother voted early in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an election, then the Arabic for to elect, then say ṣawwata again

Before you move on

What does صوت mean? ("To vote".) Say it once more.

378.4 ناخب (nākhib) — a voter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to elect, then the Arabic for to vote.

You'll want to know: ناخب

ناخب — nākhib — "a voter".

القرية مدرسة إلى ناخب كل ذهب.

dhahaba kullu nākhib ilā madrasat al-qarya.

Every voter went to the village school.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناخب (nākhib) is built on the native Arabic root n-kh-b, "to choose, to select" (Lane). Nākhib is the active participle, one who chooses: a voter.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: nākhib
- Say it: nākhib, once more
- Say it: dhahaba kullu nākhib ilā madrasat al-qarya. — Every voter went to the village school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to elect, then the Arabic for to vote, then say nākhib again

Before you move on

What does ناخب mean? ("A voter".) Say it once more.

378.5 مرشح (murashshaḥ) — a candidate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to vote, then the Arabic for a voter.

You'll want to know: مرشح

مرشح — murashshaḥ — "a candidate".

خطته عن المرشح تكلم.

takallama al-murashshaḥ ᶜan khiṭṭatih.

The candidate talked about his plan.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرشح (murashshaḥ) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-ḥ, "to sweat, to ooze" (Lane). Lane gives Form II for a mother training her young; murashshaḥ is one made ready for a post: a candidate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: murashshaḥ
- Say it: murashshaḥ, once more
- Say it: takallama al-murashshaḥ ᶜan khiṭṭatih. — The candidate talked about his plan.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to vote, then the Arabic for a voter, then say murashshaḥ again

Before you move on

What does مرشح mean? ("A candidate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 379

Parties and campaigns

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a party, a campaign, an activist and democracy, and say that someone ran for office.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 379: I can talk about a party, a campaign, an activist and democracy, and say that someone ran for office.

379.1 حزب (ḥizb) — a political party

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a voter, then the Arabic for a candidate.

You'll want to know: حزب

حزب — ḥizb — "a political party".

> مختلف برنامج حزب لكل.
>
> li-kulli ḥizb barnāmaj mukhtalif.
>
> Each party has a different programme.

Plural: أحزاب, aḥzāb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حزب (ḥizb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-z-b (Lane), where it names a band of people who hold together. Modern Arabic gave it the political party.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥizb
- Say it: ḥizb, once more
- Say it: li-kulli ḥizb barnāmaj mukhtalif. — Each party has a different programme.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a voter, then the Arabic for a candidate, then say ḥizb again

Before you move on

What does حزب mean? ("A political party".) Say it once more.

379.2 حملة (ḥamla) — a campaign

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a candidate, then the Arabic for a political party.

You'll want to know: حملة

حملة — ḥamla — "a campaign".

شهرين قبل الحملة بدأت.

badaʾat al-ḥamla qabla shahrayn.

The campaign began two months ago.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حملة (ḥamla) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry, to bear" (Lane). A ḥamla is one charge, one carrying forward: an attack, and so a campaign.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥamla
- Say it: ḥamla, once more
- Say it: badaʾat al-ḥamla qabla shahrayn. — The campaign began two months ago.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a candidate, then the Arabic for a political party, then say ḥamla again

Before you move on

What does حملة mean? ("A campaign".) Say it once more.

379.3 ترشح (tarashshaḥa) — to run for office

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a political party, then the Arabic for a campaign.

You'll want to know: ترشح

ترشح — tarashshaḥa — "to run for office".

الانتخابات في جارتنا ترشحت.

tarashshaḥat jāratunā fī al-intikhābāt.

Our neighbour ran in the elections.

Present: يترشح, yatarashshaḥ.
It takes لـ for the post one runs for.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترشح (tarashshaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-ḥ, "to sweat, to ooze" (Lane). It is Form V, to make oneself ready for a post: to stand as a candidate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tarashshaḥa
- Say it: tarashshaḥa, once more
- Say it: tarashshaḥat jāratunā fī al-intikhābāt. — Our neighbour ran in the elections.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a political party, then the Arabic for a campaign, then say tarashshaḥa again

Before you move on

What does ترشح mean? ("To run for office".) Say it once more.

379.4 ناشط (nāshiṭ) — an activist

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a campaign, then the Arabic for to run for office.

You'll want to know: ناشط

ناشط — nāshiṭ — "an activist".

الفقراء الأطفال مع الناشطة تعمل.

ta^{c}malu an-nāshiṭa ma^{c}a al-aṭfāl al-fuqarā^{ʾ}.

The activist works with poor children.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناشط (nāshiṭ) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-ṭ, "to be brisk, lively" (Lane). Nāshiṭ is the active participle: one who is active, an activist. نشيط, active, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: nāshiṭ
- Say it: nāshiṭ, once more
- Say it: taᶜmalu an-nāshiṭa maᶜa al-aṭfāl al-fuqarāʾ. — The activist works with poor children.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a campaign, then the Arabic for to run for office, then say nāshiṭ again

Before you move on

What does ناشط mean? ("An activist".) Say it once more.

379.5 ديمقراطية (dīmuqrāṭiyya) — democracy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to run for office, then the Arabic for an activist.

You'll want to know: ديمقراطية

ديمقراطية — dīmuqrāṭiyya — "democracy".

الديمقراطية تاريخ عن الكتاب يتكلم.

yatakallamu al-kitāb ᶜan tārīkh ad-dīmuqrāṭiyya.

The book talks about the history of democracy.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ديمقراطية (dīmuqrāṭiyya) is a modern loan, usually traced to Greek dēmokratia, "rule of the people", through European languages. Arabic added its own abstract ending -iyya.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: dīmuqrāṭiyya
- Say it: dīmuqrāṭiyya, once more
- Say it: yatakallamu al-kitāb ᶜan tārīkh ad-dīmuqrāṭiyya. — The book talks about the history of democracy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to run for office, then the Arabic for an activist, then say dīmuqrāṭiyya again

Before you move on

What does ديمقراطية mean? ("Democracy".) Say it once more.

Chapter 380

Justice and fairness

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about justice and equality, say what is fair or unjust, and say what someone deserves.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 380: I can talk about justice and equality, say what is fair or unjust, and say what someone deserves.

380.1 عدالة (ᶜadāla) — justice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an activist, then the Arabic for democracy.

You'll want to know: عدالة

عدالة — ᶜadāla — "justice".

بالعدالة الناس يطالب.

yuṭālibu an-nās bi-l-ᶜadāla.

People are demanding justice.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عدالة (ᶜadāla) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-l, "to be equal, straight" (Lane). ᶜAdāla is a verbal noun, being fair and upright: justice.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜadāla
- Say it: ᶜadāla, once more
- Say it: yuṭālibu an-nās bi-l-ᶜadāla. — People are demanding justice.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an activist, then the Arabic for democracy, then say ᶜadāla again

Before you move on

What does عدالة mean? ("Justice".) Say it once more.

380.2 مساواة (musāwāh) — equality

Before the new one: say the Arabic for democracy, then the Arabic for justice.

You'll want to know: مساواة

مساواة — musāwāh — "equality".

نريد المساواة بين الرجل والمرأة.

nurīdu al-musāwāh bayna ar-rajul wa-l-marʾa.

We want equality between men and women.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مساواة (musāwāh) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-y, "to be equal, level" (Lane). Musāwāh is the Form III verbal noun, making equal: equality.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: musāwāh
- Say it: musāwāh, once more
- Say it: nurīdu al-musāwāh bayna ar-rajul wa-l-marʾa. — We want equality between men and women.
- Recall: say the Arabic for democracy, then the Arabic for justice, then say musāwāh again

Before you move on

What does مساواة mean? ("Equality".) Say it once more.

380.3 ظالم (ẓālim) — unjust

Before the new one: say the Arabic for justice, then the Arabic for equality.

You'll want to know: ظالم

ظالم — ẓālim — "unjust".

كان القرار ظالما للعمال.

kāna al-qarār ẓāliman li-l-ᶜummāl.

The decision was unjust to the workers.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظالم (ẓālim) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-m, "to put a thing in the wrong place" (Lane). Ẓālim is the active participle: one who does wrong, unjust.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓālim
- Say it: ẓālim, once more
- Say it: kāna al-qarār ẓāliman li-l-ᶜummāl. — The decision was unjust to the workers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for justice, then the Arabic for equality, then say ẓālim again

Before you move on

What does ظالم mean? ("Unjust".) Say it once more.

380.4 عادل (ᶜādil) — fair

Before the new one: say the Arabic for equality, then the Arabic for unjust.

You'll want to know: عادل

عادل — ᶜādil — "fair".

الطلاب كل مع عادلا المعلم كان.

kāna al-muᶜallim ᶜādilan maᶜa kulli aṭ-ṭullāb.

The teacher was fair to all the students.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عادل (ᶜādil) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-l, "to be equal, straight" (Lane). ᶜĀdil is the active participle: one who acts fairly, fair-minded.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜādil
- Say it: ᶜādil, once more
- Say it: kāna al-muᶜallim ᶜādilan maᶜa kulli aṭ-ṭullāb. — The teacher was fair to all the students.
- Recall: say the Arabic for equality, then the Arabic for unjust, then say ᶜādil again

Before you move on

What does عادل mean? ("Fair".) Say it once more.

380.5 استحق (istaḥaqqa) — to deserve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for unjust, then the Arabic for fair.

You'll want to know: استحق

استحق — istaḥaqqa — "to deserve".

أعلى راتبا العامل هذا يستحق.

yastaḥiqqu hādhā al-ᶜāmil rātiban aᶜlā.

This worker deserves a higher salary.

Present: يستحق, yastaḥiqq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استحق (istaḥaqqa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-q-q, "to be true, to be due" (Lane). It is Form X, to seek what is due: to deserve.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istaḥaqqa
- Say it: istaḥaqqa, once more
- Say it: yastaḥiqqu hādhā al-ᶜāmil rātiban aᶜlā. — This worker deserves a higher salary.
- Recall: say the Arabic for unjust, then the Arabic for fair, then say istaḥaqqa again

Before you move on

What does استحق mean? ("To deserve".) Say it once more.

Chapter 381

Social problems

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about poverty, unemployment, discrimination and violence, and say that people suffer.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 381: I can talk about poverty, unemployment, discrimination and violence, and say that people suffer.

381.1 فقر (faqr) — poverty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fair, then the Arabic for to deserve.

You'll want to know: فقر

فقر — faqr — "poverty".

فقر في الناس من كثير يعيش.

ya^{c}īshu kathīr min an-nās fī faqr.

Many people live in poverty.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فقر (faqr) is built on the native Arabic root f-q-r, "to be needy, poor" (Lane). Faqr is the verbal noun: poverty. فقير, poor, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: faqr
- Say it: faqr, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}īshu kathīr min an-nās fī faqr. — Many people live in poverty.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fair, then the Arabic for to deserve, then say faqr again

Before you move on

What does فقر mean? ("Poverty".) Say it once more.

381.2 بطالة (baṭāla) — unemployment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deserve, then the Arabic for poverty.

You'll want to know: بطالة

بطالة — baṭāla — "unemployment".

المدن في كبيرة مشكلة البطالة.

al-baṭāla mushkila kabīra fī al-mudun.

Unemployment is a big problem in the cities.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطالة (baṭāla) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-l, "to be vain, to come to nothing" (Lane). Baṭāla is being idle, out of work: unemployment.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: baṭāla
- Say it: baṭāla, once more
- Say it: al-baṭāla mushkila kabīra fī al-mudun. — Unemployment is a big problem in the cities.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deserve, then the Arabic for poverty, then say baṭāla again

Before you move on

What does بطالة mean? ("Unemployment".) Say it once more.

381.3 تمييز (tamyīz) — discrimination

Before the new one: say the Arabic for poverty, then the Arabic for unemployment.

You'll want to know: تمييز

تمييز — tamyīz — "discrimination".

العمل في التمييز عن الجريدة تحدثت.

taḥaddathat al-jarīda ᶜan at-tamyīz fī al-ᶜamal.

The newspaper wrote about discrimination at work.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمييز (tamyīz) is built on the native Arabic root m-y-z, "to separate, to set apart" (Lane). Tamyīz is the Form II verbal noun, setting apart: telling apart, and treating people apart, discrimination.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tamyīz
- Say it: tamyīz, once more
- Say it: taḥaddathat al-jarīda ᶜan at-tamyīz fī al-ᶜamal. — The newspaper wrote about discrimination at work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for poverty, then the Arabic for unemployment, then say tamyīz again

Before you move on

What does تمييز mean? ("Discrimination".) Say it once more.

381.4 عنف (ᶜunf) — violence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for unemployment, then the Arabic for discrimination.

You'll want to know: عنف

عنف — ᶜunf — "violence".

العنف الناس يرفض.

yarfuḍu an-nās al-ᶜunf.

People reject violence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عنف (ᶜunf) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-f, "to be harsh, rough" (Lane). ᶜUnf is harshness, the opposite of gentleness: violence.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜunf
- Say it: ᶜunf, once more
- Say it: yarfuḍu an-nās al-ᶜunf. — People reject violence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for unemployment, then the Arabic for discrimination, then say ᶜunf again

Before you move on

What does عنف mean? ("Violence".) Say it once more.

381.5 عانى (ᶜānā) — to suffer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for discrimination, then the Arabic for violence.

You'll want to know: عانى

عانى — ᶜānā — "to suffer".

الظهر في ألم من جدي يعاني.

yuᶜānī jaddī min alam fī aẓ-ẓahr.

My grandfather suffers from back pain.

Present: يعاني, yuᶜānī.
It takes من: عانى من ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عانى (ᶜānā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-y, "to concern; to toil" (Lane). It is Form III, to wrestle with a hardship: to suffer.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜānā
- Say it: ᶜānā, once more
- Say it: yuᶜānī jaddī min alam fī aẓ-ẓahr. — My grandfather suffers from back pain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for discrimination, then the Arabic for violence, then say ᶜānā again

Before you move on

What does عانى mean? ("To suffer".) Say it once more.

381.6 Words from chapters 374–381 — a review

Say the Arabic for consequently and for this reason.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- consequently, for this reason, seeing that, given that, in order to
- even so, yet, as for, likewise, moreover
- philosophy, linguistics, a philosopher, an expert, academic
- a government, a minister, a ministry, a parliament, a constitution
- an election, to elect, to vote, a voter, a candidate

- a political party, a campaign, to run for office, an activist, democracy
- justice, equality, unjust, fair, to deserve
- poverty, unemployment, discrimination, violence, to suffer

Before you move on

Consequently? (بالتالي, bi-t-tālī.) For this reason? (السبب لهذا, li-hādhā as-sabab.) Seeing that? (أن بما, bi-mā anna.) Given that? (إن حيث, ḥaythu inna.) In order to? (لكي, li-kay.) Even so? (ذلك مع, maᶜa dhālika.) Yet? (أن إلا, illā anna.) As for? (أما, ammā.) Likewise? (كذلك, kadhālika.) Moreover? (على علاوة, ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā.) Philosophy? (فلسفة, falsafa.) Linguistics? (لغويات, lughawiyyāt.) A philosopher? (فيلسوف, faylasūf.) An expert? (خبير, khabīr.) Academic? (أكاديمي, akādīmī.) A government? (حكومة, ḥukūma.) A minister? (وزير, wazīr.) A ministry? (وزارة, wizāra.) A parliament? (برلمان, barlamān.) A constitution? (دستور, dustūr.) An election? (انتخاب, intikhāb.) To elect? (انتخب, intakhaba.) To vote? (صوت, ṣawwata.) A voter? (ناخب, nākhib.) A candidate? (مرشح, murashshaḥ.) A political party? (حزب, ḥizb.) A campaign? (حملة, ḥamla.) To run for office? (ترشح, tarashshaḥa.) An activist? (ناشط, nāshiṭ.) Democracy? (ديمقراطية, dīmuqrāṭiyya.) Justice? (عدالة, ᶜadāla.) Equality? (مساواة, musāwāh.) Unjust? (ظالم, ẓālim.) Fair? (عادل, ᶜādil.) To deserve? (استحق, istaḥaqqa.) Poverty? (فقر, faqr.) Unemployment? (بطالة, baṭāla.) Discrimination? (تمييز, tamyīz.) Violence? (عنف, ᶜunf.) To suffer? (عانى, ᶜānā.)

Chapter 382

Protest

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a protest, dignity and a strike, and say that people demonstrated or protested.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 382: I can talk about a protest, dignity and a strike, and say that people demonstrated or protested.

382.1 احتجاج (iḥtijāj) — a protest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for violence, then the Arabic for to suffer.

You'll want to know: احتجاج

احتجاج — iḥtijāj — "a protest".

> الرواتب على احتجاج في العمال خرج.
>
> kharaja al-ᶜummāl fī iḥtijāj ᶜalā ar-rawātib.
>
> The workers came out in protest over wages.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتجاج (iḥtijāj) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-j, "to make for; to overcome in argument" (Lane). Iḥtijāj is the Form VIII verbal noun, bringing an argument against: a protest.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtijāj
- Say it: iḥtijāj, once more
- Say it: kharaja al-ᶜummāl fī iḥtijāj ᶜalā ar-rawātib. — The workers came out in protest over wages.
- Recall: say the Arabic for violence, then the Arabic for to suffer, then say iḥtijāj again

Before you move on

What does احتجاج mean? ("A protest".) Say it once more.

382.2 كرامة (karāma) — dignity

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to suffer, then the Arabic for a protest.

You'll want to know: كرامة

كرامة — karāma — "dignity".

كرامة إنسان لكل.

li-kulli insān karāma.

Every human being has dignity.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كرامة (karāma) is built on the native Arabic root k-r-m, "to be noble, generous" (Lane). Karāma is nobility: dignity. كرم, generosity, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: karāma
- Say it: karāma, once more
- Say it: li-kulli insān karāma. — Every human being has dignity.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to suffer, then the Arabic for a protest, then say karāma again

Before you move on

What does كرامة mean? ("Dignity".) Say it once more.

382.3 تظاهر (taẓāhara) — to demonstrate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a protest, then the Arabic for dignity.

You'll want to know: تظاهر

تظاهر — taẓāhara — "to demonstrate".

الجامعة أمام الطلاب تظاهر.

taẓāhara aṭ-ṭullāb amāma al-jāmiᶜa.

The students demonstrated in front of the university.

Present: يتظاهر, yataẓāhar.
Also to pretend: بالنوم تظاهر, pretended to sleep.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تظاهر (taẓāhara) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-h-r, "to appear, to come out" (Lane). Lane gives Form VI for appearing and for people backing one another; modern Arabic uses it for a public show, to demonstrate, and with بـ for a false show, to pretend.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taẓāhara
- Say it: taẓāhara, once more
- Say it: taẓāhara aṭ-ṭullāb amāma al-jāmiᶜa. — The students demonstrated in front of the university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a protest, then the Arabic for dignity, then say taẓāhara again

Before you move on

What does تظاهر mean? ("To demonstrate".) Say it once more.

382.4 احتج (iḥtajja) — to protest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dignity, then the Arabic for to demonstrate.

You'll want to know: احتج

احتج — iḥtajja — "to protest".

الحديقة إغلاق على السكان احتج.

iḥtajja as-sukkān ᶜalā ighlāq al-ḥadīqa.

The residents protested against closing the park.

Present: يحتج, yaḥtajj.
It takes على: احتج على ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتج (iḥtajja) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-j, "to make for; to overcome in argument" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to bring an argument against: to protest.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtajja
- Say it: iḥtajja, once more
- Say it: iḥtajja as-sukkān ᶜalā ighlāq al-ḥadīqa. — The residents protested against closing the park.
- Recall: say the Arabic for dignity, then the Arabic for to demonstrate, then say iḥtajja again

Before you move on

What does احتج mean? ("To protest".) Say it once more.

382.5 إضراب (iḍrāb) — a strike

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to demonstrate, then the Arabic for to protest.

You'll want to know: إضراب

إضراب — iḍrāb — "a strike".

أعلن العمال إضرابا.

aᶜlana al-ᶜummāl iḍrāban.

The workers announced a strike.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إضراب (iḍrāb) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-b, "to strike, to beat" (Lane). Iḍrāb is the Form IV verbal noun; aḍraba ᶜan is to turn away from a thing, and so to refuse to work: a strike.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iḍrāb
- Say it: iḍrāb, once more
- Say it: aᶜlana al-ᶜummāl iḍrāban. — The workers announced a strike.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to demonstrate, then the Arabic for to protest, then say iḍrāb again

Before you move on

What does إضراب mean? ("A strike".) Say it once more.

Chapter 383

The economy

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about the economy, a tax, a deficit and inflation, and say that someone invested.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 383: I can talk about the economy, a tax, a deficit and inflation, and say that someone invested.

383.1 اقتصاد (iqtiṣād) — the economy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to protest, then the Arabic for a strike.

You'll want to know: اقتصاد

اقتصاد — iqtiṣād — "the economy".

يتحسن الاقتصاد ببطء.

yataḥassanu al-iqtiṣād bi-buṭʾ.

The economy is improving slowly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتصاد (iqtiṣād) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-d, "to aim at; to keep to the middle way" (Lane). Iqtiṣād is the Form VIII verbal noun, keeping to the middle way: thrift, and so the economy.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtiṣād
- Say it: iqtiṣād, once more
- Say it: yataḥassanu al-iqtiṣād bi-buṭʾ. — The economy is improving slowly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to protest, then the Arabic for a strike, then say iqtiṣād again

Before you move on

What does اقتصاد mean? ("The economy".) Say it once more.

383.2 ضريبة (ḍarība) — a tax

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a strike, then the Arabic for the economy.

You'll want to know: ضريبة

ضريبة — ḍarība — "a tax".

أمس الضريبة أبي دفع.

dafaᶜa abī aḍ-ḍarība ams.

My father paid the tax yesterday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضريبة (ḍarība) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-b, "to strike, to beat" (Lane). A ḍarība is what is imposed, struck on someone: a tax.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍarība
- Say it: ḍarība, once more
- Say it: dafaᶜa abī aḍ-ḍarība ams. — My father paid the tax yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a strike, then the Arabic for the economy, then say ḍarība again

Before you move on

What does ضريبة mean? ("A tax".) Say it once more.

383.3 عجز (ᶜajz) — a deficit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the economy, then the Arabic for a tax.

You'll want to know: عجز

عجز — ᶜajz — "a deficit".

السنة هذه كبير عجز الدولة عند.

ᶜinda ad-dawla ᶜajz kabīr hādhihi as-sana.

The state has a big deficit this year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عجز (ᶜajz) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-j-z, "to be unable, weak" (Lane). ᶜAjz is inability, falling short: a deficit.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜajz
- Say it: ᶜajz, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda ad-dawla ᶜajz kabīr hādhihi as-sana. — The state has a big deficit this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the economy, then the Arabic for a tax, then say ᶜajz again

Before you move on

What does عجز mean? ("A deficit".) Say it once more.

383.4 تضخم (taḍakhkhum) — inflation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tax, then the Arabic for a deficit.

You'll want to know: تضخم

تضخم — taḍakhkhum — "inflation".

التضخم من الناس يخاف.

yakhāfu an-nās min at-taḍakhkhum.

People are afraid of inflation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تضخم (taḍakhkhum) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-kh-m, "to be large, bulky" (Lane). Taḍakhkhum is the Form V verbal noun, swelling: inflation.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taḍakhkhum
- Say it: taḍakhkhum, once more
- Say it: yakhāfu an-nās min at-taḍakhkhum. — People are afraid of inflation.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tax, then the Arabic for a deficit, then say taḍakhkhum again

Before you move on

What does تضخم mean? ("Inflation".) Say it once more.

383.5 استثمر (istathmara) — to invest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a deficit, then the Arabic for inflation.

You'll want to know: استثمر

استثمر — istathmara — "to invest".

استثمر عمي ماله في شركة صغيرة.

istathmara ᶜammī mālahu fī sharika ṣaghīra.

My uncle invested his money in a small company.

Present: يستثمر, yastathmir.
The noun استثمار, istithmār, an investment.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استثمر (istathmara) is built on the native Arabic root th-m-r, "to bear fruit" (Lane). It is Form X, to seek fruit from a thing: to invest.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istathmara
- Say it: istathmara, once more
- Say it: istathmara ᶜammī mālahu fī sharika ṣaghīra. — My uncle invested his money in a small company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a deficit, then the Arabic for inflation, then say istathmara again

Before you move on

What does استثمر mean? ("To invest".) Say it once more.

Chapter 384

Funding and development

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone funded or allocated money, and talk about industry, agriculture and development.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 384: I can say that someone funded or allocated money, and talk about industry, agriculture and development.

384.1 مول (mawwala) — to fund

Before the new one: say the Arabic for inflation, then the Arabic for to invest.

You'll want to know: مول

مول — mawwala — "to fund".

> المشروع الدولة مولت.
>
> mawwalat ad-dawla al-mashrū^{c}.
>
> The state funded the project.

Present: يمول, yumawwil.
The noun تمويل, tamwīl, funding.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مول (mawwala) is built on the native Arabic root m-w-l, "wealth, property" (Lane). It is Form II of the root of māl, money: to provide with money, to fund.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mawwala
- Say it: mawwala, once more
- Say it: mawwalat ad-dawla al-mashrū^{c}. — The state funded the project.
- Recall: say the Arabic for inflation, then the Arabic for to invest, then say mawwala again

Before you move on

What does مول mean? ("To fund".) Say it once more.

384.2 خصص (khaṣṣaṣa) — to allocate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to invest, then the Arabic for to fund.

You'll want to know: خصص

خصص — khaṣṣaṣa — "to allocate".

خصصت غرفة المدرسة للموسيقى.

khaṣṣaṣat al-madrasa ghurfa li-l-mūsīqā.

The school set aside a room for music.

Present: يخصص, yukhaṣṣiṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خصص (khaṣṣaṣa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-ṣ, "to single out" (Lane). It is Form II, to single out for one purpose: to allocate, to set aside.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṣṣaṣa
- Say it: khaṣṣaṣa, once more
- Say it: khaṣṣaṣat al-madrasa ghurfa li-l-mūsīqā. — The school set aside a room for music.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to invest, then the Arabic for to fund, then say khaṣṣaṣa again

Before you move on

What does خصص mean? ("To allocate".) Say it once more.

384.3 صناعة (ṣināᶜa) — industry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fund, then the Arabic for to allocate.

You'll want to know: صناعة

صناعة — ṣināᶜa — "industry".

البلد هذا في كبيرة السيارات صناعة.

ṣināᶜat as-sayyārāt kabīra fī hādhā al-balad.

The car industry is big in this country.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صناعة (ṣināᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-n-ᶜ, "to make, to manufacture" (Lane). Ṣināᶜa is a craft, the work of making: industry.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣināᶜa
- Say it: ṣināᶜa, once more
- Say it: ṣināᶜat as-sayyārāt kabīra fī hādhā al-balad. — The car industry is big in this country.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fund, then the Arabic for to allocate, then say ṣināᶜa again

Before you move on

What does صناعة mean? ("Industry".) Say it once more.

384.4 زراعة (zirāᶜa) — agriculture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to allocate, then the Arabic for industry.

You'll want to know: زراعة

زراعة — zirāᶜa — "agriculture".

الزراعة من القرية أهل يعيش.

yaᶜīshu ahl al-qarya min az-zirāᶜa.

The village people live from farming.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زراعة (zirāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root z-r-ᶜ, "to sow, to plant" (Lane). Zirāᶜa is the work of sowing: agriculture.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: zirāᶜa
- Say it: zirāᶜa, once more
- Say it: yaᶜīshu ahl al-qarya min az-zirāᶜa. — The village people live from farming.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to allocate, then the Arabic for industry, then say zirāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does زراعة mean? ("Agriculture".) Say it once more.

384.5 تنمية (tanmiya) — development

Before the new one: say the Arabic for industry, then the Arabic for agriculture.

You'll want to know: تنمية

تنمية — tanmiya — "development".

تنمية إلى القرية تحتاج.

taḥtāju al-qarya ilā tanmiya.

The village needs development.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنمية (tanmiya) is built on the native Arabic root n-m-w, usually traced to the sense "to grow, to increase". Tanmiya is the Form II verbal noun, making a thing grow: development.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tanmiya
- Say it: tanmiya, once more
- Say it: taḥtāju al-qarya ilā tanmiya. — The village needs development.
- Recall: say the Arabic for industry, then the Arabic for agriculture, then say tanmiya again

Before you move on

What does تنمية mean? ("Development".) Say it once more.

Chapter 385

Organizations

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an organization, an association, a trade union, a council and a member.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 385: I can talk about an organization, an association, a trade union, a council and a member.

385.1 منظمة (munaẓẓama) — an organization

Before the new one: say the Arabic for agriculture, then the Arabic for development.

You'll want to know: منظمة

منظمة — munaẓẓama — "an organization".

الأطفال المنظمة تساعد.

tusāᶜidu al-munaẓẓama al-aṭfāl.

The organization helps children.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منظمة (munaẓẓama) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-m, "to string pearls, to put in order" (Lane). Munaẓẓama is a Form II passive participle, feminine, something put in order: an organization.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: munaẓẓama
- Say it: munaẓẓama, once more
- Say it: tusāᶜidu al-munaẓẓama al-aṭfāl. — The organization helps children.
- Recall: say the Arabic for agriculture, then the Arabic for development, then say munaẓẓama again

Before you move on

What does منظمة mean? ("An organization".) Say it once more.

385.2 جمعية (jamᶜiyya) — an association

Before the new one: say the Arabic for development, then the Arabic for an organization.

You'll want to know: جمعية

جمعية — jamᶜiyya — "an association".

للنساء جمعية في أمي تعمل.

taᶜmalu ummī fī jamᶜiyya li-n-nisāʾ.

My mother works in a women's association.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جمعية (jamᶜiyya) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-ᶜ, "to gather, to bring together" (Lane). Jamᶜiyya is a gathering: an association, a society.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: jamᶜiyya
- Say it: jamᶜiyya, once more
- Say it: taᶜmalu ummī fī jamᶜiyya li-n-nisāʾ. — My mother works in a women's association.
- Recall: say the Arabic for development, then the Arabic for an organization, then say jamᶜiyya again

Before you move on

What does جمعية mean? ("An association".) Say it once more.

385.3 نقابة (niqāba) — a trade union

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an organization, then the Arabic for an association.

You'll want to know: نقابة

نقابة — niqāba — "a trade union".

العمال عن النقابة دافعت.

dāfaᶜat an-niqāba ᶜan al-ᶜummāl.

The union defended the workers.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقابة (niqāba) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-b, "to bore through; a chief" (Lane). A naqīb is the chief of a group; niqāba is his office, and now a trade union.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: niqāba
- Say it: niqāba, once more
- Say it: dāfa^{c}at an-niqāba ^{c}an al-^{c}ummāl. — The union defended the workers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an organization, then the Arabic for an association, then say niqāba again

Before you move on

What does نقابة mean? ("A trade union".) Say it once more.

385.4 مجلس (majlis) — a council

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an association, then the Arabic for a trade union.

You'll want to know: مجلس

مجلس — majlis — "a council".

أمس المدينة مجلس اجتمع.

ijtama^{c}a majlis al-madīna ams.

The city council met yesterday.

Plural: مجالس, majālis.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجلس (majlis) is built on the native Arabic root j-l-s, "to sit" (Lane). Majlis is a noun of place, a place of sitting: a council.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: majlis
- Say it: majlis, once more
- Say it: ijtama^{c}a majlis al-madīna ams. — The city council met yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an association, then the Arabic for a trade union, then say majlis again

Before you move on

What does مجلس mean? ("A council".) Say it once more.

385.5 عضو (^{c}uḍw) — a member

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a trade union, then the Arabic for a council.

You'll want to know: عضو

عضو — ^{c}uḍw — "a member".

الشطرنج نادي في عضو أخي.

akhī ^{c}uḍw fī nādī ash-shaṭranj.

My brother is a member of the chess club.

Plural: أعضاء, a^{c}ḍāʾ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عضو (^{c}uḍw) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-ḍ-w, "a limb" (Lane). A ^{c}uḍw is a limb of the body, and so a member of any body of people.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜuḍw
- Say it: ᶜuḍw, once more
- Say it: akhī ᶜuḍw fī nādī ash-shaṭranj. — My brother is a member of the chess club.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a trade union, then the Arabic for a council, then say ᶜuḍw again

Before you move on

What does عضو mean? ("A member".) Say it once more.

Chapter 386

Working together

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that people cooperated, negotiated or ratified, and talk about a conflict and a crisis.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 386: I can say that people cooperated, negotiated or ratified, and talk about a conflict and a crisis.

386.1 تعاون (ta^{c}āwana) — to cooperate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a council, then the Arabic for a member.

You'll want to know: تعاون

تعاون — ta^{c}āwana — "to cooperate".

> الحديقة لتنظيف الجيران تعاون.
>
> ta^{c}āwana al-jīrān li-tanẓīf al-ḥadīqa.
>
> The neighbours cooperated to clean the park.

Present: يتعاون, yata^{c}āwan.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعاون (taᶜāwana) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-n, "to help, to aid" (Lane). It is Form VI, to help one another: to cooperate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taᶜāwana
- Say it: taᶜāwana, once more
- Say it: taᶜāwana al-jīrān li-tanẓīf al-ḥadīqa. — The neighbours cooperated to clean the park.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a council, then the Arabic for a member, then say taᶜāwana again

Before you move on

What does تعاون mean? ("To cooperate".) Say it once more.

386.2 تفاوض (tafāwaḍa) — to negotiate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a member, then the Arabic for to cooperate.

You'll want to know: تفاوض

تفاوض — tafāwaḍa — "to negotiate".

المدير مع العمال تفاوض.

tafāwaḍa al-ᶜummāl maᶜa al-mudīr.

The workers negotiated with the manager.

Present: يتفاوض, yatafāwaḍ.
The noun مفاوضات, mufāwaḍāt, negotiations.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفاوض (tafāwaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-ḍ, "to entrust; to share" (Lane). It is Form VI, to consult with one another: to negotiate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tafāwaḍa
- Say it: tafāwaḍa, once more
- Say it: tafāwaḍa al-ᶜummāl maᶜa al-mudīr. — The workers negotiated with the manager.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a member, then the Arabic for to cooperate, then say tafāwaḍa again

Before you move on

What does تفاوض mean? ("To negotiate".) Say it once more.

386.3 صادق (ṣādaqa) — to ratify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cooperate, then the Arabic for to negotiate.

You'll want to know: صادق

صادق — ṣādaqa — "to ratify".

الاتفاق على البرلمان صادق.

ṣādaqa al-barlamān ᶜalā al-ittifāq.

Parliament ratified the agreement.

Present: يصادق, yuṣādiq.
It takes على: على صادق ….. A friend, صديق, is from the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صادق (ṣādaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-q, "to be truthful" (Lane). It is Form III; ṣādaqa ᶜalā is to confirm a thing as true: to ratify.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣādaqa
- Say it: ṣādaqa, once more
- Say it: ṣādaqa al-barlamān ᶜalā al-ittifāq. — Parliament ratified the agreement.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cooperate, then the Arabic for to negotiate, then say ṣādaqa again

Before you move on

What does صادق mean? ("To ratify".) Say it once more.

386.4 صراع (ṣirāᶜ) — a conflict

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to negotiate, then the Arabic for to ratify.

You'll want to know: صراع

صراع — ṣirāᶜ — "a conflict".

انتهى الصراع بعد سنوات.

intahā aṣ-ṣirāᶜ baᶜda sanawāt.

The conflict ended after years.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صراع (ṣirāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-ᶜ, "to throw down, to wrestle" (Lane). Ṣirāᶜ is the Form III verbal noun, wrestling with one another: a struggle, a conflict.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣirāᶜ
- Say it: ṣirāᶜ, once more
- Say it: intahā aṣ-ṣirāᶜ baᶜda sanawāt. — The conflict ended after years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to negotiate, then the Arabic for to ratify, then say ṣirāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does صراع mean? ("A conflict".) Say it once more.

386.5 أزمة (azma) — a crisis

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ratify, then the Arabic for a conflict.

You'll want to know: أزمة

أزمة — azma — "a crisis".

صعبة بأزمة البلاد مرت.

marrat al-bilād bi-azma ṣaᶜba.

The country went through a hard crisis.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أزمة (azma) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-z-m, "to bite hard; to be severe" (Lane). An azma is a time of hardship: a crisis.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: azma
- Say it: azma, once more
- Say it: marrat al-bilād bi-azma ṣaᶜba. — The country went through a hard crisis.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ratify, then the Arabic for a conflict, then say azma again

Before you move on

What does أزمة mean? ("A crisis".) Say it once more.

Chapter 387

People and nations

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about migration, a nation, nationality, a majority and a minority.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 387: I can talk about migration, a nation, nationality, a majority and a minority.

387.1 هجرة (hijra) — migration

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a conflict, then the Arabic for a crisis.

You'll want to know: هجرة

هجرة — hijra — "migration".

المدن إلى الهجرة زادت.

zādat al-hijra ilā al-mudun.

Migration to the cities increased.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هجرة (hijra) is built on the native Arabic root h-j-r, "to leave, to cut off" (Lane). Hijra is leaving one's land for another: migration.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: hijra
- Say it: hijra, once more
- Say it: zādat al-hijra ilā al-mudun. — Migration to the cities increased.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a conflict, then the Arabic for a crisis, then say hijra again

Before you move on

What does هجرة mean? ("Migration".) Say it once more.

387.2 أمة (umma) — a nation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crisis, then the Arabic for migration.

You'll want to know: أمة

أمة — umma — "a nation".

الوطني بعيدها الأمة تحتفل.

taḥtafilu al-umma bi-ᶜīdihā al-waṭanī.

The nation is celebrating its national day.

Plural: أمم, umam.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمة (umma) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-m, "to aim at, to head for" (Lane). An umma is a people that head the same way: a nation. أم, mother, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: umma
- Say it: umma, once more
- Say it: taḥtafilu al-umma bi-ᶜīdihā al-waṭanī. — The nation is celebrating its national day.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crisis, then the Arabic for migration, then say umma again

Before you move on

What does أمة mean? ("A nation".) Say it once more.

387.3 جنسية (jinsiyya) — nationality

Before the new one: say the Arabic for migration, then the Arabic for a nation.

You'll want to know: جنسية

جنسية — jinsiyya — "nationality".

جنسيتين صديقي يحمل.

yaḥmilu ṣadīqī jinsiyyatayn.

My friend holds two nationalities.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جنسية (jinsiyya) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-s, "a kind, a sort" (Lane). Jinsiyya is a modern abstract noun from jins, kind: the kind of citizen one is, nationality.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: jinsiyya
- Say it: jinsiyya, once more
- Say it: yaḥmilu ṣadīqī jinsiyyatayn. — My friend holds two nationalities.
- Recall: say the Arabic for migration, then the Arabic for a nation, then say jinsiyya again

Before you move on

What does جنسية mean? ("Nationality".) Say it once more.

387.4 أغلبية (aghlabiyya) — a majority

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nation, then the Arabic for nationality.

You'll want to know: أغلبية

أغلبية — aghlabiyya — "a majority".

المشروع ضد الأغلبية صوتت.

ṣawwatat al-aghlabiyya ḍidda al-mashrū^{c}.

The majority voted against the project.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أغلبية (aghlabiyya) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-b, "to overcome, to prevail" (Lane). Aghlabiyya is a modern abstract noun from aghlab, most: the greater part, a majority.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: aghlabiyya
- Say it: aghlabiyya, once more
- Say it: ṣawwatat al-aghlabiyya ḍidda al-mashrū^{c}. — The majority voted against the project.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nation, then the Arabic for nationality, then say aghlabiyya again

Before you move on

What does أغلبية mean? ("A majority".) Say it once more.

387.5 أقلية (aqalliyya) — a minority

Before the new one: say the Arabic for nationality, then the Arabic for a majority.

You'll want to know: أقلية

أقلية — aqalliyya — "a minority".

صغيرة أقلية البلد في تعيش.

ta^{c}īshu fī al-balad aqalliyya ṣaghīra.

A small minority lives in the country.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقلية (aqalliyya) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-l, "to be few, little" (Lane). Aqalliyya is a modern abstract noun from aqall, fewer: a minority.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: aqalliyya
- Say it: aqalliyya, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}īshu fī al-balad aqalliyya ṣaghīra. — A small minority lives in the country.
- Recall: say the Arabic for nationality, then the Arabic for a majority, then say aqalliyya again

Before you move on

What does أقلية mean? ("A minority".) Say it once more.

Chapter 388

Corruption and reform

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about corruption, a bribe and reform, and say that someone violated or exploited something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 388: I can talk about corruption, a bribe and reform, and say that someone violated or exploited something.

388.1 فساد (fasād) — corruption

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a majority, then the Arabic for a minority.

You'll want to know: فساد

فساد — fasād — "corruption".

الفساد عن كثيرا الناس تحدث.

taḥaddatha an-nās kathīran ᶜan al-fasād.

People talked a lot about corruption.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فساد (fasād) is built on the native Arabic root f-s-d, "to go bad, to be corrupt" (Lane). Fasād is going bad: decay, and so corruption.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: fasād
- Say it: fasād, once more
- Say it: taḥaddatha an-nās kathīran ᶜan al-fasād. — People talked a lot about corruption.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a majority, then the Arabic for a minority, then say fasād again

Before you move on

What does فساد mean? ("Corruption".) Say it once more.

388.2 رشوة (rashwa) — a bribe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a minority, then the Arabic for corruption.

You'll want to know: رشوة

رشوة — rashwa — "a bribe".

رفض الموظف الرشوة.

rafaḍa al-muwaẓẓaf ar-rashwa.

The employee refused the bribe.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رشوة (rashwa) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-w, "a well rope" (Lane). It is usually linked with rishāʾ, a well rope: a bribe is the rope let down to draw up what one wants.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: rashwa
- Say it: rashwa, once more
- Say it: rafaḍa al-muwaẓẓaf ar-rashwa. — The employee refused the bribe.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a minority, then the Arabic for corruption, then say rashwa again

Before you move on

What does رشوة mean? ("A bribe".) Say it once more.

388.3 إصلاح (iṣlāḥ) — reform

Before the new one: say the Arabic for corruption, then the Arabic for a bribe.

You'll want to know: إصلاح

إصلاح — iṣlāḥ — "reform".

كبير إصلاح إلى الشركة تحتاج.

taḥtāju ash-sharika ilā iṣlāḥ kabīr.

The company needs major reform.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إصلاح (iṣlāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-l-ḥ, "to be good, right" (Lane). Iṣlāḥ is the Form IV verbal noun of aṣlaḥa, to put right: repair, reform.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣlāḥ
- Say it: iṣlāḥ, once more
- Say it: taḥtāju ash-sharika ilā iṣlāḥ kabīr. — The company needs major reform.
- Recall: say the Arabic for corruption, then the Arabic for a bribe, then say iṣlāḥ again

Before you move on

What does إصلاح mean? ("Reform".) Say it once more.

388.4 انتهك (intahaka) — to violate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bribe, then the Arabic for reform.

You'll want to know: انتهك

انتهك — intahaka — "to violate".

النوم في حقنا الجيران انتهك.

intahaka al-jīrān ḥaqqanā fī an-nawm.

The neighbours violated our right to sleep.

Present: ينتهك, yantahik.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انتهك (intahaka) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-k, "to wear out, to exhaust" (Lane). It is Form VIII; Lane gives it for violating what is held sacred: to violate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: intahaka
- Say it: intahaka, once more
- Say it: intahaka al-jīrān ḥaqqanā fī an-nawm. — The neighbours violated our right to sleep.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bribe, then the Arabic for reform, then say intahaka again

Before you move on

What does انتهك mean? ("To violate".) Say it once more.

388.5 استغل (istaghalla) — to exploit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for reform, then the Arabic for to violate.

You'll want to know: استغل

استغل — istaghalla — "to exploit".

العمال المصنع صاحب استغل.

istaghalla ṣāḥib al-maṣna^{c} al-^{c}ummāl.

The factory owner exploited the workers.

Present: يستغل, yastaghill.
Also, neutrally, to make use of: استغل الوقت, made good use of the time.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استغل (istaghalla) is built on the native Arabic root gh-l-l, "to yield produce" (Lane). It is Form X, to seek the yield of a thing: to make use of it, or to exploit it.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istaghalla
- Say it: istaghalla, once more
- Say it: istaghalla ṣāḥib al-maṣna^{c} al-^{c}ummāl. — The factory owner exploited the workers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for reform, then the Arabic for to violate, then say istaghalla again

Before you move on

What does استغل mean? ("To exploit".) Say it once more.

Chapter 389

Power and influence

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about influence and stability, and say that something prevailed, or that someone joined or forced.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 389: I can talk about influence and stability, and say that something prevailed, or that someone joined or forced.

389.1 نفوذ (nufūdh) — influence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to violate, then the Arabic for to exploit.

You'll want to know: نفوذ

نفوذ — nufūdh — "influence".

> المدينة في كبير نفوذ الرجل لهذا.
>
> li-hādhā ar-rajul nufūdh kabīr fī al-madīna.
>
> This man has great influence in the city.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفوذ (nufūdh) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-dh, "to pass through, to pierce" (Lane). Nufūdh is passing through: the power to make things happen, influence.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: nufūdh
- Say it: nufūdh, once more
- Say it: li-hādhā ar-rajul nufūdh kabīr fī al-madīna. — This man has great influence in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to violate, then the Arabic for to exploit, then say nufūdh again

Before you move on

What does نفوذ mean? ("Influence".) Say it once more.

389.2 ساد (sāda) — to prevail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to exploit, then the Arabic for influence.

You'll want to know: ساد

ساد — sāda — "to prevail".

ساد الخوف في المدينة.

sāda al-khawf fī al-madīna.

Fear prevailed in the city.

Present: يسود, yasūd.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساد (sāda) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-d, "to be lord, to be chief" (Lane). Sāda is a Form I verb, to be master: to rule, to prevail. سيد, a lord, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: sāda
- Say it: sāda, once more
- Say it: sāda al-khawf fī al-madīna. — Fear prevailed in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to exploit, then the Arabic for influence, then say sāda again

Before you move on

What does ساد mean? ("To prevail".) Say it once more.

389.3 انضم (inḍamma) — to join

Before the new one: say the Arabic for influence, then the Arabic for to prevail.

You'll want to know: انضم

انضم — inḍamma — "to join".

المدرسة فريق إلى أخي انضم.

inḍamma akhī ilā farīq al-madrasa.

My brother joined the school team.

Present: ينضم, yanḍamm.
It takes إلى: إلى انضم ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انضم (inḍamma) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-m-m, "to draw together" (Lane). It is Form VII, to be drawn in with others: to join.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: inḍamma
- Say it: inḍamma, once more
- Say it: inḍamma akhī ilā farīq al-madrasa. — My brother joined the school team.
- Recall: say the Arabic for influence, then the Arabic for to prevail, then say inḍamma again

Before you move on

What does انضم mean? ("To join".) Say it once more.

389.4 أجبر (ajbara) — to force

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prevail, then the Arabic for to join.

You'll want to know: أجبر

أجبر — ajbara — "to force".

البيت في البقاء على الناس المطر أجبر.

ajbara al-maṭar an-nās ᶜalā al-baqāʾ fī al-bayt.

The rain forced people to stay at home.

Present: يجبر, yujbir.
It takes على: على أجبره ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أجبر (ajbara) is built on the native Arabic root j-b-r, "to set a broken bone" (Lane). It is Form IV; Lane gives it for compelling someone: to force.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ajbara
- Say it: ajbara, once more
- Say it: ajbara al-maṭar an-nās ᶜalā al-baqāʾ fī al-bayt. — The rain forced people to stay at home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prevail, then the Arabic for to join, then say ajbara again

Before you move on

What does أجبر mean? ("To force".) Say it once more.

389.5 استقرار (istiqrār) — stability

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to join, then the Arabic for to force.

You'll want to know: استقرار

استقرار — istiqrār — "stability".

الاستقرار إلى الأطفال يحتاج.

yaḥtāju al-aṭfāl ilā al-istiqrār.

Children need stability.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقرار (istiqrār) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). Istiqrār is the Form X verbal noun, settling in place: stability.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istiqrār
- Say it: istiqrār, once more
- Say it: yaḥtāju al-aṭfāl ilā al-istiqrār. — Children need stability.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to join, then the Arabic for to force, then say istiqrār again

Before you move on

What does استقرار mean? ("Stability".) Say it once more.

389.6 Words from chapters 382–389 — a review

Say the Arabic for a protest and dignity.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a protest, dignity, to demonstrate, to protest, a strike
- the economy, a tax, a deficit, inflation, to invest
- to fund, to allocate, industry, agriculture, development
- an organization, an association, a trade union, a council, a member
- to cooperate, to negotiate, to ratify, a conflict, a crisis
- migration, a nation, nationality, a majority, a minority

- corruption, a bribe, reform, to violate, to exploit
- influence, to prevail, to join, to force, stability

Before you move on

A protest? (احتجاج, iḥtijāj.) Dignity? (كرامة, karāma.) To demonstrate? (تظاهر, taẓāhara.) To protest? (احتج, iḥtajja.) A strike? (إضراب, iḍrāb.) The economy? (اقتصاد, iqtiṣād.) A tax? (ضريبة, ḍarība.) A deficit? (عجز, ᶜajz.) Inflation? (تضخم, taḍakhkhum.) To invest? (استثمر, istathmara.) To fund? (مول, mawwala.) To allocate? (خصص, khaṣṣaṣa.) Industry? (صناعة, ṣināᶜa.) Agriculture? (زراعة, zirāᶜa.) Development? (تنمية, tanmiya.) An organization? (منظمة, munaẓẓama.) An association? (جمعية, jamᶜiyya.) A trade union? (نقابة, niqāba.) A council? (مجلس, majlis.) A member? (عضو, ᶜuḍw.) To cooperate? (تعاون, taᶜāwana.) To negotiate? (تفاوض, tafāwaḍa.) To ratify? (صادق, ṣādaqa.) A conflict? (صراع, ṣirāᶜ.) A crisis? (أزمة, azma.) Migration? (هجرة, hijra.) A nation? (أمة, umma.) Nationality? (جنسية, jinsiyya.) A majority? (أغلبية, aghlabiyya.) A minority? (أقلية, aqalliyya.) Corruption? (فساد, fasād.) A bribe? (رشوة, rashwa.) Reform? (إصلاح, iṣlāḥ.) To violate? (انتهك, intahaka.) To exploit? (استغل, istaghalla.) Influence? (نفوذ, nufūdh.) To prevail? (ساد, sāda.) To join? (انضم, inḍamma.) To force? (أجبر, ajbara.) Stability? (استقرار, istiqrār.)

Chapter 390

University life

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a faculty, a specialization, a dean and a scholarship, and say that someone enrolled.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 390: I can talk about a faculty, a specialization, a dean and a scholarship, and say that someone enrolled.

390.1 كلية (kulliyya) — a faculty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to force, then the Arabic for stability.

You'll want to know: كلية

كلية — kulliyya — "a faculty".

الطب كلية في أبي درس.

darasa abī fī kulliyyat aṭ-ṭibb.

My father studied at the faculty of medicine.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كلية (kulliyya) is built on the native Arabic root k-l-l, "to be all, the whole" (Lane). Kulliyya is a modern abstract noun from kull, all; its use for a college of a university is usually explained as a whole branch of learning.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: kulliyya
- Say it: kulliyya, once more
- Say it: darasa abī fī kulliyyat aṭ-ṭibb. — My father studied at the faculty of medicine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to force, then the Arabic for stability, then say kulliyya again

Before you move on

What does كلية mean? ("A faculty".) Say it once more.

390.2 تخصص (takhaṣṣuṣ) — a specialization

Before the new one: say the Arabic for stability, then the Arabic for a faculty.

You'll want to know: تخصص

تخصص — takhaṣṣuṣ — "a specialization".

الكيمياء هو أختي تخصص.

takhaṣṣuṣ ukhtī huwa al-kīmiyāʾ.

My sister's specialization is chemistry.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تخصص (takhaṣṣuṣ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-ṣ, "to single out" (Lane). Takhaṣṣuṣ is the Form V verbal noun, singling oneself out for one thing: a specialization.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: takhaṣṣuṣ
- Say it: takhaṣṣuṣ, once more
- Say it: takhaṣṣuṣ ukhtī huwa al-kīmiyāʾ. — My sister's specialization is chemistry.
- Recall: say the Arabic for stability, then the Arabic for a faculty, then say takhaṣṣuṣ again

Before you move on

What does تخصص mean? ("A specialization".) Say it once more.

390.3 عميد (ᶜamīd) — a dean

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a faculty, then the Arabic for a specialization.

You'll want to know: عميد

عميد — ᶜamīd — "a dean".

الجدد الطلاب مع العميد تكلم.

takallama al-ᶜamīd maᶜa aṭ-ṭullāb al-judud.

The dean spoke with the new students.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عميد (ᶜamīd) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-d, "to prop up, to support" (Lane). An ᶜamīd is a support, the one others lean on: a chief, and now a dean.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜamīd
- Say it: ᶜamīd, once more
- Say it: takallama al-ᶜamīd maᶜa aṭ-ṭullāb al-judud. — The dean spoke with the new students.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a faculty, then the Arabic for a specialization, then say ᶜamīd again

Before you move on

What does عميد mean? ("A dean".) Say it once more.

390.4 منحة (minḥa) — a scholarship

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a specialization, then the Arabic for a dean.

You'll want to know: منحة

منحة — minḥa — "a scholarship".

الجامعة من منحة على أختي حصلت.

ḥaṣalat ukhtī ᶜalā minḥa min al-jāmiᶜa.

My sister got a scholarship from the university.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منحة (minḥa) is built on the native Arabic root m-n-ḥ, "to give, to bestow" (Lane). A minḥa is a gift: a grant, a scholarship.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: minḥa
- Say it: minḥa, once more
- Say it: ḥaṣalat ukhtī ᶜalā minḥa min al-jāmiᶜa. — My sister got a scholarship from the university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a specialization, then the Arabic for a dean, then say minḥa again

Before you move on

What does منحة mean? ("A scholarship".) Say it once more.

390.5 التحق (iltaḥaqa) — to enrol

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dean, then the Arabic for a scholarship.

You'll want to know: التحق

التحق — iltaḥaqa — "to enrol".

السنة هذه بالجامعة ابني التحق.

iltaḥaqa ibnī bi-l-jāmiᶜa hādhihi as-sana.

My son enrolled at the university this year.

Present: يلتحق, yaltaḥiq.
It takes بـ: التحق بـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

التحق (iltaḥaqa) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-q, "to overtake, to catch up" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to attach oneself to: to join, to enrol.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iltaḥaqa
- Say it: iltaḥaqa, once more
- Say it: iltaḥaqa ibnī bi-l-jāmiᶜa hādhihi as-sana. — My son enrolled at the university this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dean, then the Arabic for a scholarship, then say iltaḥaqa again

Before you move on

What does التحق mean? ("To enrol".) Say it once more.

Chapter 391

Research

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a researcher, a study, a laboratory, an institute and a questionnaire.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 391: I can talk about a researcher, a study, a laboratory, an institute and a questionnaire.

391.1 باحث (bāḥith) — a researcher

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a scholarship, then the Arabic for to enrol.

You'll want to know: باحث

باحث — bāḥith — "a researcher".

سنوات منذ الجامعة في الباحث يعمل.

ya^{c}malu al-bāḥith fī al-jāmi^{c}a mundhu sanawāt.

The researcher has worked at the university for years.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

باحث (bāḥith) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḥ-th, "to dig, to search" (Lane). Bāḥith is the active participle of baḥatha, to search: a researcher.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: bāḥith
- Say it: bāḥith, once more
- Say it: yaᶜmalu al-bāḥith fī al-jāmiᶜa mundhu sanawāt. — The researcher has worked at the university for years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a scholarship, then the Arabic for to enrol, then say bāḥith again

Before you move on

What does باحث mean? ("A researcher".) Say it once more.

391.2 دراسة (dirāsa) — a study

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to enrol, then the Arabic for a researcher.

You'll want to know: دراسة

دراسة — dirāsa — "a study".

قرأت دراسة عن النوم.

qaraʾtu dirāsa ᶜan an-nawm.

I read a study about sleep.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دراسة (dirāsa) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-s, "to wear away; to study" (Lane). Dirāsa is a verbal noun of darasa, to study: studying, a study.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: dirāsa
- Say it: dirāsa, once more
- Say it: qaraʾtu dirāsa ᶜan an-nawm. — I read a study about sleep.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to enrol, then the Arabic for a researcher, then say dirāsa again

Before you move on

What does دراسة mean? ("A study".) Say it once more.

391.3 مختبر (mukhtabar) — a laboratory

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a researcher, then the Arabic for a study.

You'll want to know: مختبر

مختبر — mukhtabar — "a laboratory".

كبير مختبر في أخي يعمل.

yaᶜmalu akhī fī mukhtabar kabīr.

My brother works in a big laboratory.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مختبر (mukhtabar) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-r, "to know thoroughly, to test" (Lane). Mukhtabar is a noun of place from Form VIII ikhtabara, to test: a place for testing, a laboratory.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mukhtabar
- Say it: mukhtabar, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}malu akhī fī mukhtabar kabīr. — My brother works in a big laboratory.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a researcher, then the Arabic for a study, then say mukhtabar again

Before you move on

What does مختبر mean? ("A laboratory".) Say it once more.

391.4 معهد (ma^{c}had) — an institute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a study, then the Arabic for a laboratory.

You'll want to know: معهد

معهد — ma^{c}had — "an institute".

صغير معهد في الموسيقى درست.

darastu al-mūsīqā fī ma^{c}had ṣaghīr.

I studied music at a small institute.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معهد (ma^{c}had) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-h-d, "to enjoin; to know a place" (Lane). A ma^{c}had is a place one knows and comes back to; in modern use, an institute.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}had
- Say it: ma^{c}had, once more
- Say it: darastu al-mūsīqā fī ma^{c}had ṣaghīr. — I studied music at a small institute.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a study, then the Arabic for a laboratory, then say ma^{c}had again

Before you move on

What does معهد mean? ("An institute".) Say it once more.

391.5 استبيان (istibyān) — a questionnaire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a laboratory, then the Arabic for an institute.

You'll want to know: استبيان

استبيان — istibyān — "a questionnaire".

قصيرا استبيانا الطلاب ملأ.

mala^{ʾ}a aṭ-ṭullāb istibyānan qaṣīran.

The students filled in a short questionnaire.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استبيان (istibyān) is built on the native Arabic root b-y-n, "to be apart; to become clear" (Lane). Istibyān is a Form X verbal noun, seeking to make a thing clear: a questionnaire.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istibyān
- Say it: istibyān, once more
- Say it: malaʾa aṭ-ṭullāb istibyānan qaṣīran. — The students filled in a short questionnaire.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a laboratory, then the Arabic for an institute, then say istibyān again

Before you move on

What does استبيان mean? ("A questionnaire".) Say it once more.

Chapter 392

Lecturers and supervisors

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a lecturer, a professor and a supervisor, and say that someone supervised or studied.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 392: I can talk about a lecturer, a professor and a supervisor, and say that someone supervised or studied.

392.1 محاضر (muḥāḍir) — a lecturer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an institute, then the Arabic for a questionnaire.

You'll want to know: محاضر

محاضر — muḥāḍir — "a lecturer".

بوضوح الدرس المحاضر يشرح.

yashraḥu al-muḥāḍir ad-dars bi-wuḍūḥ.

The lecturer explains the lesson clearly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محاضر (muḥāḍir) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-r, "to be present" (Lane). Muḥāḍir is the Form III active participle, one who speaks to those present: a lecturer.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥāḍir
- Say it: muḥāḍir, once more
- Say it: yashraḥu al-muḥāḍir ad-dars bi-wuḍūḥ. — The lecturer explains the lesson clearly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an institute, then the Arabic for a questionnaire, then say muḥāḍir again

Before you move on

What does محاضر mean? ("A lecturer".) Say it once more.

392.2 أستاذ (ustādh) — a professor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a questionnaire, then the Arabic for a lecturer.

You'll want to know: أستاذ

أستاذ — ustādh — "a professor".

لطيف رجل الأدب أستاذ.

ustādh al-adab rajul laṭīf.

The literature professor is a kind man.

Plural: أساتذة, asātidha.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أستاذ (ustādh) was borrowed from Persian ustād, "a master, a teacher" (EtymDB). In Arabic it is both a polite title and a university professor.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ustādh
- Say it: ustādh, once more
- Say it: ustādh al-adab rajul laṭīf. — The literature professor is a kind man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a questionnaire, then the Arabic for a lecturer, then say ustādh again

Before you move on

What does أستاذ mean? ("A professor".) Say it once more.

392.3 أشرف (ashrafa) — to supervise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lecturer, then the Arabic for a professor.

You'll want to know: أشرف

أشرف — ashrafa — "to supervise".

الرحلة على المعلم أشرف.

ashrafa al-muᶜallim ᶜalā ar-riḥla.

The teacher supervised the trip.

Present: يشرف, yushrif.
It takes على: أشرف على ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أشرف (ashrafa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-f, "to be high, noble" (Lane). It is Form IV, to look down from a height: to oversee, to supervise.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ashrafa
- Say it: ashrafa, once more
- Say it: ashrafa al-muᶜallim ᶜalā ar-riḥla. — The teacher supervised the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lecturer, then the Arabic for a professor, then say ashrafa again

Before you move on

What does أشرف mean? ("To supervise".) Say it once more.

392.4 مشرف (mushrif) — a supervisor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a professor, then the Arabic for to supervise.

You'll want to know: مشرف

مشرف — mushrif — "a supervisor".

بحثي في المشرف ساعدني.

sāᶜadanī al-mushrif fī baḥthī.

The supervisor helped me with my research.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشرف (mushrif) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-f, "to be high, noble" (Lane). Mushrif is the Form IV active participle: one who oversees, a supervisor.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mushrif
- Say it: mushrif, once more
- Say it: sāᶜadanī al-mushrif fī baḥthī. — The supervisor helped me with my research.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a professor, then the Arabic for to supervise, then say mushrif again

Before you move on

What does مشرف mean? ("A supervisor".) Say it once more.

392.5 ذاكر (dhākara) — to study for

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to supervise, then the Arabic for a supervisor.

You'll want to know: ذاكر

ذاكر — dhākara — "to study for".

الليل منتصف حتى دروسه الطالب ذاكر.

dhākara aṭ-ṭālib durūsahu ḥattā muntaṣaf al-layl.

The student studied his lessons until midnight.

Present: يذاكر, yudhākir.
Common in spoken Arabic; formal writing often says درس.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذاكر (dhākara) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-r, usually traced to the sense "to remember, to mention". It is Form III, to go over a thing with oneself again: to study for a test.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: dhākara
- Say it: dhākara, once more
- Say it: dhākara aṭ-ṭālib durūsahu ḥattā muntaṣaf al-layl. — The student studied his lessons until midnight.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to supervise, then the Arabic for a supervisor, then say dhākara again

Before you move on

What does ذاكر mean? ("To study for".) Say it once more.

Chapter 393

Tests and admission

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a test, admission and an average, and say that someone excelled or evaluated.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 393: I can talk about a test, admission and an average, and say that someone excelled or evaluated.

393.1 اختبار (ikhtibār) — a test

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a supervisor, then the Arabic for to study for.

You'll want to know: اختبار

اختبار — ikhtibār — "a test".

القيادة اختبار في نجحت.

najaḥtu fī ikhtibār al-qiyāda.

I passed the driving test.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختبار (ikhtibār) is built on the native Arabic root kh-b-r, "to know thoroughly, to test" (Lane). Ikhtibār is the Form VIII verbal noun of ikhtabara, to test: a test.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtibār
- Say it: ikhtibār, once more
- Say it: najaḥtu fī ikhtibār al-qiyāda. — I passed the driving test.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a supervisor, then the Arabic for to study for, then say ikhtibār again

Before you move on

What does اختبار mean? ("A test".) Say it once more.

393.2 قبول (qabūl) — admission

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to study for, then the Arabic for a test.

You'll want to know: قبول

قبول — qabūl — "admission".

الجامعة من قبول على أخي حصل.

ḥaṣala akhī ᶜalā qabūl min al-jāmiᶜa.

My brother got admission from the university.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبول (qabūl) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to be in front; to receive" (Lane). Qabūl is a verbal noun of qabila, to accept: acceptance, admission.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: qabūl
- Say it: qabūl, once more
- Say it: ḥaṣala akhī ᶜalā qabūl min al-jāmiᶜa. — My brother got admission from the university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to study for, then the Arabic for a test, then say qabūl again

Before you move on

What does قبول mean? ("Admission".) Say it once more.

393.3 معدل (muᶜaddal) — an average

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a test, then the Arabic for admission.

You'll want to know: معدل

معدل — muᶜaddal — "an average".

السنة هذه ممتاز أختي معدل.

muᶜaddal ukhtī mumtāz hādhihi as-sana.

My sister's average is excellent this year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معدل (muᶜaddal) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-l, "to be equal, straight" (Lane). Muᶜaddal is the Form II passive participle, made even: an average, a rate.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}addal
- Say it: mu^{c}addal, once more
- Say it: mu^{c}addal ukhtī mumtāz hādhihi as-sana. — My sister's average is excellent this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a test, then the Arabic for admission, then say mu^{c}addal again

Before you move on

What does معدل mean? ("An average".) Say it once more.

393.4 تفوق (tafawwaqa) — to excel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for admission, then the Arabic for an average.

You'll want to know: تفوق

تفوق — tafawwaqa — "to excel".

الرياضيات في جارنا ابن تفوق.

tafawwaqa ibn jārinā fī ar-riyāḍiyyāt.

Our neighbour's son excelled in mathematics.

Present: يتفوق, yatafawwaq.
It takes في for the field, and على for the people one beats.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفوق (tafawwaqa) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-q, "to be above" (Lane). It is Form V, to rise above others: to excel. فوق, above, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tafawwaqa
- Say it: tafawwaqa, once more
- Say it: tafawwaqa ibn jārinā fī ar-riyāḍiyyāt. — Our neighbour's son excelled in mathematics.
- Recall: say the Arabic for admission, then the Arabic for an average, then say tafawwaqa again

Before you move on

What does تفوق mean? ("To excel".) Say it once more.

393.5 قيم (qayyama) — to evaluate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an average, then the Arabic for to excel.

You'll want to know: قيم

قيم — qayyama — "to evaluate".

طالب كل عمل المعلم قيم.

qayyama al-muᶜallim ᶜamal kulli ṭālib.

The teacher evaluated each student's work.

Present: يقيم, yuqayyim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قيم (qayyama) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand, to rise" (Lane). It is Form II, to set a value on a thing: to evaluate. قيمة, a value, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: qayyama
- Say it: qayyama, once more
- Say it: qayyama al-muᶜallim ᶜamal kulli ṭālib. — The teacher evaluated each student's work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an average, then the Arabic for to excel, then say qayyama again

Before you move on

What does قيم mean? ("To evaluate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 394

Learning well

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone mastered, acquired, went deeper or summarized, and talk about a summary.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 394: I can say that someone mastered, acquired, went deeper or summarized, and talk about a summary.

394.1 أتقن (atqana) — to master

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to excel, then the Arabic for to evaluate.

You'll want to know: أتقن

أتقن — atqana — "to master".

> لغتين جدي أتقن.
>
> atqana jaddī lughatayn.
>
> My grandfather mastered two languages.

Present: يتقن, yutqin.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أتقن (atqana) is built on the native Arabic root t-q-n, "to do a thing skilfully" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make a thing firm and exact: to master it. إتقان, mastery, is its verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: atqana
- Say it: atqana, once more
- Say it: atqana jaddī lughatayn. — My grandfather mastered two languages.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to excel, then the Arabic for to evaluate, then say atqana again

Before you move on

What does أتقن mean? ("To master".) Say it once more.

394.2 اكتسب (iktasaba) — to acquire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to evaluate, then the Arabic for to master.

You'll want to know: اكتسب

اكتسب — iktasaba — "to acquire".

اكتسب الموظف خبرة كبيرة.

iktasaba al-muwaẓẓaf khibra kabīra.

The employee gained a lot of experience.

Present: يكتسب, yaktasib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اكتسب (iktasaba) is built on the native Arabic root k-s-b, "to gain, to earn" (Lane). It is Form VIII of kasaba, to earn: to acquire for oneself.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iktasaba
- Say it: iktasaba, once more
- Say it: iktasaba al-muwaẓẓaf khibra kabīra. — The employee gained a lot of experience.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to evaluate, then the Arabic for to master, then say iktasaba again

Before you move on

What does اكتسب mean? ("To acquire".) Say it once more.

394.3 تعمق (ta^{c}ammaqa) — to go deeper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to master, then the Arabic for to acquire.

You'll want to know: تعمق

تعمق — ta^{c}ammaqa — "to go deeper".

التاريخ دراسة في الطالب تعمق.

ta^{c}ammaqa aṭ-ṭālib fī dirāsat at-tārīkh.

The student went deeper into the study of history.

Present: يتعمق, yata^{c}ammaq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعمق (taᶜammaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-q, "to be deep" (Lane). It is Form V, to go deep into a thing. عميق, deep, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taᶜammaqa
- Say it: taᶜammaqa, once more
- Say it: taᶜammaqa aṭ-ṭālib fī dirāsat at-tārīkh. — The student went deeper into the study of history.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to master, then the Arabic for to acquire, then say taᶜammaqa again

Before you move on

What does تعمق mean? ("To go deeper".) Say it once more.

394.4 لخص (lakhkhaṣa) — to summarize

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to acquire, then the Arabic for to go deeper.

You'll want to know: لخص

لخص — lakhkhaṣa — "to summarize".

جملتين في القصة المعلم لخص.

lakhkhaṣa al-muᶜallim al-qiṣṣa fī jumlatayn.

The teacher summed up the story in two sentences.

Present: يلخص, yulakhkhiṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لخص (lakhkhaṣa) is built on the native Arabic root l-kh-ṣ, "to make clear, to explain" (Lane). It is Form II; from making a thing clear it came to mean drawing out its gist: to summarize.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: lakhkhaṣa
- Say it: lakhkhaṣa, once more
- Say it: lakhkhaṣa al-muᶜallim al-qiṣṣa fī jumlatayn. — The teacher summed up the story in two sentences.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to acquire, then the Arabic for to go deeper, then say lakhkhaṣa again

Before you move on

What does لخص mean? ("To summarize".) Say it once more.

394.5 ملخص (mulakhkhaṣ) — a summary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go deeper, then the Arabic for to summarize.

You'll want to know: ملخص

ملخص — mulakhkhaṣ — "a summary".

الكتاب ملخص قرأت.

qaraʔtu mulakhkhaṣ al-kitāb.

I read the summary of the book.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملخص (mulakhkhaṣ) is built on the native Arabic root l-kh-ṣ, "to make clear, to explain" (Lane). Mulakhkhaṣ is the Form II passive participle: what has been summed up, a summary.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mulakhkhaṣ
- Say it: mulakhkhaṣ, once more
- Say it: qaraʾtu mulakhkhaṣ al-kitāb. — I read the summary of the book.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go deeper, then the Arabic for to summarize, then say mulakhkhaṣ again

Before you move on

What does ملخص mean? ("A summary".) Say it once more.

Chapter 395

Reading and quoting

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a reference, and say that someone cited, quoted, read up on or reflected.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 395: I can talk about a reference, and say that someone cited, quoted, read up on or reflected.

395.1 مرجع (marji^c) — a reference

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to summarize, then the Arabic for a summary.

You'll want to know: مرجع

مرجع — marji^c — "a reference".

مهم مرجع القاموس هذا.

hādhā al-qāmūs marji^c muhimm.

This dictionary is an important reference.

Plural: مراجع, marāji^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرجع (marji^c) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-^{c}, "to return, to go back" (Lane). Marji^c is a noun of place, a place one goes back to: a reference.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: marji^c
- Say it: marji^c, once more
- Say it: hādhā al-qāmūs marji^c muhimm. — This dictionary is an important reference.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to summarize, then the Arabic for a summary, then say marji^c again

Before you move on

What does مرجع mean? ("A reference".) Say it once more.

395.2 استشهد (istashhada) — to cite

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a summary, then the Arabic for a reference.

You'll want to know: استشهد

استشهد — istashhada — "to cite".

جده بكلام الكاتب استشهد.

istashhada al-kātib bi-kalām jaddih.

The writer cited his grandfather's words.

Present: يستشهد, yastashhid.
It takes بـ: استشهد بـ ….. In another sense it means to die as a martyr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استشهد (istashhada) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d, "to witness, to be present" (Lane). It is Form X, to call for a witness: to cite as evidence.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: istashhada
- Say it: istashhada, once more
- Say it: istashhada al-kātib bi-kalām jaddih. — The writer cited his grandfather's words.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a summary, then the Arabic for a reference, then say istashhada again

Before you move on

What does استشهد mean? ("To cite".) Say it once more.

395.3 اقتبس (iqtabasa) — to quote

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a reference, then the Arabic for to cite.

You'll want to know: اقتبس

اقتبس — iqtabasa — "to quote".

اقتبس الصحفي من جملة الخطاب.

iqtabasa aṣ-ṣaḥafī jumla min al-khiṭāb.

The journalist quoted a sentence from the speech.

Present: يقتبس, yaqtabis.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتبس (iqtabasa) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-s, "to take fire from" (Lane). Lane gives the root for taking a flame from a fire, and also for taking knowledge: Form VIII came to mean to quote.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtabasa
- Say it: iqtabasa, once more
- Say it: iqtabasa aṣ-ṣaḥafī jumla min al-khiṭāb. — The journalist quoted a sentence from the speech.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a reference, then the Arabic for to cite, then say iqtabasa again

Before you move on

What does اقتبس mean? ("To quote".) Say it once more.

395.4 طالع (ṭālaᶜa) — to read up on

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cite, then the Arabic for to quote.

You'll want to know: طالع

طالع — ṭālaᶜa — "to read up on".

صباح كل الجريدة أبي يطالع.

yuṭāliᶜu abī al-jarīda kulla ṣabāḥ.

My father reads through the newspaper every morning.

Present: يطالع, yuṭāliᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طالع (ṭālaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-ᶜ, "to rise (of the sun)" (Lane). It is Form III, to look into a thing closely: to read up on, to peruse.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭālaᶜa
- Say it: ṭālaᶜa, once more
- Say it: yuṭāliᶜu abī al-jarīda kulla ṣabāḥ. — My father reads through the newspaper every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cite, then the Arabic for to quote, then say ṭālaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does طالع mean? ("To read up on".) Say it once more.

395.5 تأمل (taʾammala) — to reflect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to quote, then the Arabic for to read up on.

You'll want to know: تأمل

تأمل — taʾammala — "to reflect".

طويلا البحر الرجل تأمل.

taʾammala ar-rajul al-baḥr ṭawīlan.

The man contemplated the sea for a long time.

Present: يتأمل, yataʾammal.
It takes a direct object or في: تأمل في ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأمل (taʾammala) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-l, "to hope for" (Lane). It is Form V: to gaze on a thing long and carefully, to reflect on it.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾammala
- Say it: taʾammala, once more
- Say it: taʾammala ar-rajul al-baḥr ṭawīlan. — The man contemplated the sea for a long time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to quote, then the Arabic for to read up on, then say taʾammala again

Before you move on

What does تأمل mean? ("To reflect".) Say it once more.

Chapter 396

Terms and theses

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a term, a definition, an index, a thesis and a curriculum.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 396: I can talk about a term, a definition, an index, a thesis and a curriculum.

396.1 مصطلح (muṣṭalaḥ) — a term

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to read up on, then the Arabic for to reflect.

You'll want to know: مصطلح

مصطلح — muṣṭalaḥ — "a term".

> جديد علمي مصطلح هذا.
>
> hādhā muṣṭalaḥ ᶜilmī jadīd.
>
> This is a new scientific term.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصطلح (muṣṭalaḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-l-ḥ, "to be good, right" (Lane). Muṣṭalaḥ is the Form VIII passive participle, what people have agreed on: a term.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: muṣṭalaḥ
- Say it: muṣṭalaḥ, once more
- Say it: hādhā muṣṭalaḥ ᶜilmī jadīd. — This is a new scientific term.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to read up on, then the Arabic for to reflect, then say muṣṭalaḥ again

Before you move on

What does مصطلح mean? ("A term".) Say it once more.

396.2 تعريف (taᶜrīf) — a definition

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to reflect, then the Arabic for a term.

You'll want to know: تعريف

تعريف — taᶜrīf — "a definition".

الكلمة تعريف المعلم كتب.

kataba al-muᶜallim taᶜrīf al-kalima.

The teacher wrote down the definition of the word.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعريف (taᶜrīf) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-f, "to know" (Lane). Taᶜrīf is the Form II verbal noun, making known: a definition.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}rīf
- Say it: ta^{c}rīf, once more
- Say it: kataba al-mu^{c}allim ta^{c}rīf al-kalima. — The teacher wrote down the definition of the word.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to reflect, then the Arabic for a term, then say ta^{c}rīf again

Before you move on

What does تعريف mean? ("A definition".) Say it once more.

396.3 فهرس (fihris) — an index

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a term, then the Arabic for a definition.

You'll want to know: فهرس

فهرس — fihris — "an index".

وجدت الكلمة في فهرس الكتاب.

wajadtu al-kalima fī fihris al-kitāb.

I found the word in the book's index.

Plural: فهارس, fahāris.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فهرس (fihris) was borrowed from Persian fihrist, "a list" (EtymDB); Lane calls it an arabicized word for a catalogue of books (Lane). Today it is an index or table of contents.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: fihris
- Say it: fihris, once more
- Say it: wajadtu al-kalima fī fihris al-kitāb. — I found the word in the book's index.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a term, then the Arabic for a definition, then say fihris again

Before you move on

What does فهرس mean? ("An index".) Say it once more.

396.4 أطروحة (uṭrūḥa) — a thesis

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a definition, then the Arabic for an index.

You'll want to know: أطروحة

أطروحة — uṭrūḥa — "a thesis".

الهجرة عن أطروحة الباحث كتب.

kataba al-bāḥith uṭrūḥa ᶜan al-hijra.

The researcher wrote a thesis on migration.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أطروحة (uṭrūḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-ḥ, "to throw, to cast" (Lane). An uṭrūḥa is a thing put forward, thrown out for discussion: a thesis.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: uṭrūḥa
- Say it: uṭrūḥa, once more
- Say it: kataba al-bāḥith uṭrūḥa ᶜan al-hijra. — The researcher wrote a thesis on migration.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a definition, then the Arabic for an index, then say uṭrūḥa again

Before you move on

What does أطروحة mean? ("A thesis".) Say it once more.

396.5 منهج (manhaj) — a curriculum

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an index, then the Arabic for a thesis.

You'll want to know: منهج

منهج — manhaj — "a curriculum".

غيرت المدرسة منهج العلوم.

ghayyarat al-madrasa manhaj al-ᶜulūm.

The school changed the science curriculum.

Plural: مناهج, manāhij.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منهج (manhaj) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-j, "to be plain, open (of a road)" (Lane). A manhaj is a plain road: a method, and in schools a curriculum.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: manhaj
- Say it: manhaj, once more
- Say it: ghayyarat al-madrasa manhaj al-ᶜulūm. — The school changed the science curriculum.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an index, then the Arabic for a thesis, then say manhaj again

Before you move on

What does منهج mean? ("A curriculum".) Say it once more.

Chapter 397

Degrees and training

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a bachelor's degree, a master's degree and a doctorate, and talk about a syllabus and training.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 397: I can name a bachelor's degree, a master's degree and a doctorate, and talk about a syllabus and training.

397.1 بكالوريوس (bakālūriyūs) — a bachelor's degree

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a thesis, then the Arabic for a curriculum.

You'll want to know: بكالوريوس

بكالوريوس — bakālūriyūs — "a bachelor's degree".

> التجارة في البكالوريوس على أخي حصل.
>
> ḥaṣala akhī ᶜalā al-bakālūriyūs fī at-tijāra.
>
> My brother got a bachelor's degree in commerce.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بكالوريوس (bakālūriyūs) is a modern loan, usually traced to medieval Latin baccalaureus, the holder of a first degree. Arabic keeps the Latin ending.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: bakālūriyūs
- Say it: bakālūriyūs, once more
- Say it: ḥaṣala akhī ᶜalā al-bakālūriyūs fī at-tijāra. — My brother got a bachelor's degree in commerce.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a thesis, then the Arabic for a curriculum, then say bakālūriyūs again

Before you move on

What does بكالوريوس mean? ("A bachelor's degree".) Say it once more.

397.2 ماجستير (mājistīr) — a master's degree

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a curriculum, then the Arabic for a bachelor's degree.

You'll want to know: ماجستير

ماجستير — mājistīr — "a master's degree".

الأدب في الماجستير أختي تدرس.

tadrusu ukhtī al-mājistīr fī al-adab.

My sister is studying for a master's degree in literature.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ماجستير (mājistīr) is a modern loan, usually traced to Latin magister, "a master, a teacher", through European names for the degree.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: mājistīr
- Say it: mājistīr, once more
- Say it: tadrusu ukhtī al-mājistīr fī al-adab. — My sister is studying for a master's degree in literature.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a curriculum, then the Arabic for a bachelor's degree, then say mājistīr again

Before you move on

What does ماجستير mean? ("A master's degree".) Say it once more.

397.3 دكتوراه (duktūrāh) — a doctorate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bachelor's degree, then the Arabic for a master's degree.

You'll want to know: دكتوراه

دكتوراه — duktūrāh — "a doctorate".

عامين في الدكتوراه أطروحة أبي كتب.

kataba abī uṭrūḥat ad-duktūrāh fī ᶜāmayn.

My father wrote his doctoral thesis in two years.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دكتوراه (duktūrāh) is a modern loan, usually traced to Latin doctor, "a teacher", through European languages. Its final h is written with ه.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: duktūrāh
- Say it: duktūrāh, once more
- Say it: kataba abī uṭrūḥat ad-duktūrāh fī ᶜāmayn. — My father wrote his doctoral thesis in two years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bachelor's degree, then the Arabic for a master's degree, then say duktūrāh again

Before you move on

What does دكتوراه mean? ("A doctorate".) Say it once more.

397.4 مقرر (muqarrar) — a syllabus

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a master's degree, then the Arabic for a doctorate.

You'll want to know: مقرر

مقرر — muqarrar — "a syllabus".

المقرر من جزء الكتاب هذا.

hādhā al-kitāb juzʾ min al-muqarrar.

This book is part of the syllabus.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقرر (muqarrar) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). Muqarrar is the Form II passive participle, what has been fixed: a set syllabus. قرار, a decision, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: muqarrar
- Say it: muqarrar, once more
- Say it: hādhā al-kitāb juzʾ min al-muqarrar. — This book is part of the syllabus.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a master's degree, then the Arabic for a doctorate, then say muqarrar again

Before you move on

What does مقرر mean? ("A syllabus".) Say it once more.

397.5 تدريب (tadrīb) — training

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a doctorate, then the Arabic for a syllabus.

You'll want to know: تدريب

تدريب — tadrīb — "training".

تدريب إلى الجدد الموظفون يحتاج.

yaḥtāju al-muwaẓẓafūn al-judud ilā tadrīb.

New employees need training.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تدريب (tadrīb) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-b, "to be used to, practised" (Lane). Tadrīb is the Form II verbal noun, making someone practised: training. مدرب, a coach, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tadrīb
- Say it: tadrīb, once more
- Say it: yaḥtāju al-muwaẓẓafūn al-judud ilā tadrīb. — New employees need training.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a doctorate, then the Arabic for a syllabus, then say tadrīb again

Before you move on

What does تدريب mean? ("Training".) Say it once more.

397.6 Words from chapters 390–397 — a review

Say the Arabic for a faculty and a specialization.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a faculty, a specialization, a dean, a scholarship, to enrol
- a researcher, a study, a laboratory, an institute, a questionnaire
- a lecturer, a professor, to supervise, a supervisor, to study for
- a test, admission, an average, to excel, to evaluate
- to master, to acquire, to go deeper, to summarize, a summary

- a reference, to cite, to quote, to read up on, to reflect
- a term, a definition, an index, a thesis, a curriculum
- a bachelor's degree, a master's degree, a doctorate, a syllabus, training

Before you move on

A faculty? (كلية, kulliyya.) A specialization? (تخصص, takhaṣṣuṣ.) A dean? (عميد, ᶜamīd.) A scholarship? (منحة, minḥa.) To enrol? (التحق, iltaḥaqa.) A researcher? (باحث, bāḥith.) A study? (دراسة, dirāsa.) A laboratory? (مختبر, mukhtabar.) An institute? (معهد, maᶜhad.) A questionnaire? (استبيان, istibyān.) A lecturer? (محاضر, muḥāḍir.) A professor? (أستاذ, ustādh.) To supervise? (أشرف, ashrafa.) A supervisor? (مشرف, mushrif.) To study for? (ذاكر, dhākara.) A test? (اختبار, ikhtibār.) Admission? (قبول, qabūl.) An average? (معدل, muᶜaddal.) To excel? (تفوق, tafawwaqa.) To evaluate? (قيم, qayyama.) To master? (أتقن, atqana.) To acquire? (اكتسب, iktasaba.) To go deeper? (تعمق, taᶜammaqa.) To summarize? (لخص, lakhkhaṣa.) A summary? (ملخص, mulakhkhaṣ.) A reference? (مرجع, marjiᶜ.) To cite? (استشهد, istashhada.) To quote? (اقتبس, iqtabasa.) To read up on? (طالع, ṭālaᶜa.) To reflect? (تأمل, taʾammala.) A term? (مصطلح, muṣṭalaḥ.) A definition? (تعريف, taᶜrīf.) An index? (فهرس, fihris.) A thesis? (أطروحة, uṭrūḥa.) A curriculum? (منهج, manhaj.) A bachelor's degree? (بكالوريوس, bakālūriyūs.) A master's degree? (ماجستير, mājistīr.) A doctorate? (دكتوراه, duktūrāh.) A syllabus? (مقرر, muqarrar.) Training? (تدريب, tadrīb.)

Chapter 398

Schooling

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about education, upbringing, a kindergarten, literacy and attendance.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 398: I can talk about education, upbringing, a kindergarten, literacy and attendance.

398.1 تعليم (ta^{c}līm) — education

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a syllabus, then the Arabic for training.

You'll want to know: تعليم

تعليم — ta^{c}līm — "education".

البلد هذا في مجاني التعليم.

at-ta^{c}līm majjānī fī hādhā al-balad.

Education is free in this country.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعليم (ta^{c}līm) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-l-m, "to know" (Lane). Ta^{c}līm is the Form II verbal noun, making someone know: teaching, education.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}līm
- Say it: ta^{c}līm, once more
- Say it: at-ta^{c}līm majjānī fī hādhā al-balad. — Education is free in this country.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a syllabus, then the Arabic for training, then say ta^{c}līm again

Before you move on

What does تعليم mean? ("Education".) Say it once more.

398.2 تربية (tarbiya) — upbringing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for training, then the Arabic for education.

You'll want to know: تربية

تربية — tarbiya — "upbringing".

أطفالها بتربية أمي تهتم.

tahtammu ummī bi-tarbiyat aṭfālihā.

My mother takes care over bringing up her children.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تربية (tarbiya) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-w, "to grow, to increase" (Lane). Tarbiya is the Form II verbal noun, making a child grow: upbringing.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: tarbiya
- Say it: tarbiya, once more
- Say it: tahtammu ummī bi-tarbiyat aṭfālihā. — My mother takes care over bringing up her children.
- Recall: say the Arabic for training, then the Arabic for education, then say tarbiya again

Before you move on

What does تربية mean? ("Upbringing".) Say it once more.

398.3 روضة (rawḍa) — a kindergarten

Before the new one: say the Arabic for education, then the Arabic for upbringing.

You'll want to know: روضة

روضة — rawḍa — "a kindergarten".

صباح كل الروضة إلى ابني يذهب.

yadhhabu ibnī ilā ar-rawḍa kulla ṣabāḥ.

My son goes to kindergarten every morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

روضة (rawḍa) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḍ (Lane), where it names a green meadow or garden. Modern Arabic made it the kindergarten, a garden of children.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: rawḍa
- Say it: rawḍa, once more
- Say it: yadhhabu ibnī ilā ar-rawḍa kulla ṣabāḥ. — My son goes to kindergarten every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for education, then the Arabic for upbringing, then say rawḍa again

Before you move on

What does روضة mean? ("A kindergarten".) Say it once more.

398.4 محو الأمية (maḥw al-ummiyya) — literacy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for upbringing, then the Arabic for a kindergarten.

You'll want to know: محو الأمية

محو الأمية — maḥw al-ummiyya — "literacy".

القرى في الأمية محو على الجمعية تعمل.

taᶜmalu al-jamᶜiyya ᶜalā maḥw al-ummiyya fī al-qurā.

The association works for literacy in the villages.

Literally the wiping out of illiteracy; أمي, ummī, is one who cannot read.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محو الأمية (maḥw al-ummiyya) joins maḥw, "wiping out", built on the native Arabic root m-ḥ-w, and ummiyya, "illiteracy", from ummī, built on ʾ*-m-m* (Lane): one still as his mother bore him, unable to read.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥw al-ummiyya
- Say it: maḥw al-ummiyya, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}malu al-jam^{c}iyya ^{c}alā maḥw al-ummiyya fī al-qurā. — The association works for literacy in the villages.
- Recall: say the Arabic for upbringing, then the Arabic for a kindergarten, then say maḥw al-ummiyya again

Before you move on

What does محو الأمية mean? ("Literacy".) Say it once more.

398.5 حضور (ḥuḍūr) — attendance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a kindergarten, then the Arabic for literacy.

You'll want to know: حضور

حضور — ḥuḍūr — "attendance".

الصف هذا في إلزامي الحضور.

al-ḥuḍūr ilzāmī fī hādhā aṣ-ṣaff.

Attendance is compulsory in this class.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حضور (ḥuḍūr) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-r, "to be present" (Lane). Ḥuḍūr is a verbal noun of ḥaḍara, to be present: attendance.

What you've built

One more word for giving reasons and opinions.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥuḍūr
- Say it: ḥuḍūr, once more
- Say it: al-ḥuḍūr ilzāmī fī hādhā aṣ-ṣaff. — Attendance is compulsory in this class.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a kindergarten, then the Arabic for literacy, then say ḥuḍūr again

Before you move on

What does حضور mean? ("Attendance".) Say it once more.

Chapter 399

If and unless

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say unless, in case, provided that, as long as and otherwise.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 399: I can say unless, in case, provided that, as long as and otherwise.

399.1 إذا إلا (illā idhā) — unless

Before the new one: say the Arabic for literacy, then the Arabic for attendance.

You'll want to know: إذا إلا

إذا إلا — illā idhā — "unless".

> المطر توقف إذا إلا نخرج لن.
>
> lan nakhruja illā idhā tawaqqafa al-maṭar.
>
> We will not go out unless the rain stops.

After إذا the verb is usually in the past, even for the future.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إذا إلا (illā idhā) joins the native Arabic particles illā, "except", and idhā, "if": except if, unless. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: illā idhā
- Say it: illā idhā, once more
- Say it: lan nakhruja illā idhā tawaqqafa al-maṭar. — We will not go out unless the rain stops.
- Recall: say the Arabic for literacy, then the Arabic for attendance, then say illā idhā again

Before you move on

What does إلا إذا mean? ("Unless".) Say it once more.

399.2 حال في (fī ḥāl) — in case

Before the new one: say the Arabic for attendance, then the Arabic for unless.

You'll want to know: حال في

حال في — fī ḥāl — "in case".

بك سأتصل القطار، تأخر حال في.

fī ḥāl taʾakhkhara al-qiṭār, sa-attaṣilu bik.

In case the train is late, I will call you.

Also حالة في, fī ḥālat: in the event of.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حال في (fī ḥāl) joins fī, "in", with ḥāl, "a state, a condition", built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l, "to change, to turn" (Lane). Literally, in the state that.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: fī ḥāl
- Say it: fī ḥāl, once more
- Say it: fī ḥāl taʾakhkhara al-qiṭār, sa-attaṣilu bik. — In case the train is late, I will call you.
- Recall: say the Arabic for attendance, then the Arabic for unless, then say fī ḥāl again

Before you move on

What does حال في mean? ("In case".) Say it once more.

399.3 أن بشرط (bi-sharṭi an) — provided that

Before the new one: say the Arabic for unless, then the Arabic for in case.

You'll want to know: أن بشرط

أن بشرط — bi-sharṭi an — "provided that".

تساعدني أن بشرط سأساعدك.

sa-usāᶜiduka bi-sharṭi an tusāᶜidanī.

I will help you provided that you help me.

The verb after أن takes the subjunctive: تساعدني أن.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بشرط أن (bi-sharṭi an) joins bi-, "with", sharṭ, "a condition", built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ṭ, "to set a mark, to stipulate" (Lane), and an, "that": on condition that.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-sharṭi an
- Say it: bi-sharṭi an, once more
- Say it: sa-usāᶜiduka bi-sharṭi an tusāᶜidanī. — I will help you provided that you help me.
- Recall: say the Arabic for unless, then the Arabic for in case, then say bi-sharṭi an again

Before you move on

What does بشرط أن mean? ("Provided that".) Say it once more.

399.4 طالما (ṭālamā) — as long as

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in case, then the Arabic for provided that.

You'll want to know: طالما

طالما — ṭālamā — "as long as".

هنا أنت طالما هنا سأبقى.

sa-abqā hunā ṭālamā anta hunā.

I will stay here as long as you are here.

With the past it also means often: بذلك حلمت طالما, I often dreamed of that.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طالما (ṭālamā) joins ṭāla, "it was long", built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-l, "to be long" (Lane), with mā: for as long as.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭālamā
- Say it: ṭālamā, once more
- Say it: sa-abqā hunā ṭālamā anta hunā. — I will stay here as long as you are here.
- Recall: say the Arabic for in case, then the Arabic for provided that, then say ṭālamā again

Before you move on

What does طالما mean? ("As long as".) Say it once more.

399.5 وإلا (wa-illā) — otherwise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for provided that, then the Arabic for as long as.

You'll want to know: وإلا

وإلا — wa-illā — "otherwise".

سيرسب وإلا يدرس، أن يجب.

yajibu an yadrusa, wa-illā sa-yarsub.

He has to study, otherwise he will fail.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وإلا (wa-illā) joins the native Arabic wa-, "and", with illā, which here is in, "if", fused with lā, "not": and if not, otherwise. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: wa-illā
- Say it: wa-illā, once more
- Say it: yajibu an yadrusa, wa-illā sa-yarsub. — He has to study, otherwise he will fail.
- Recall: say the Arabic for provided that, then the Arabic for as long as, then say wa-illā again

Before you move on

What does وإلا mean? ("Otherwise".) Say it once more.

Chapter 400

Whatever and wherever

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say if not for, whatever, whenever, whether and wherever.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 400: I can say if not for, whatever, whenever, whether and wherever.

400.1 لولا (lawlā) — if not for

Before the new one: say the Arabic for as long as, then the Arabic for otherwise.

You'll want to know: لولا

لولا — lawlā — "if not for".

البحر إلى لذهبنا المطر لولا.

lawlā al-maṭar la-dhahabnā ilā al-baḥr.

If not for the rain, we would have gone to the sea.

The result takes لـ, as after لو: لولا … لـ ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لولا (lawlā) is built from the native Arabic law, "if", and lā, "not": if it were not for. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: lawlā
- Say it: lawlā, once more
- Say it: lawlā al-maṭar la-dhahabnā ilā al-baḥr. — If not for the rain, we would have gone to the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for as long as, then the Arabic for otherwise, then say lawlā again

Before you move on

What does لولا mean? ("If not for".) Say it once more.

400.2 مهما (mahmā) — whatever

Before the new one: say the Arabic for otherwise, then the Arabic for if not for.

You'll want to know: مهما

مهما — mahmā — "whatever".

صديقك سأبقى حدث، مهما.

mahmā ḥadatha, sa-abqā ṣadīqak.

Whatever happens, I will stay your friend.

Like other condition words, it is often followed by the past: حدث مهما.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهما (mahmā) is a native Arabic particle of condition, whatever. Grammarians usually trace it to mā, "what", said twice; its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mahmā
- Say it: mahmā, once more
- Say it: mahmā ḥadatha, sa-abqā ṣadīqak. — Whatever happens, I will stay your friend.
- Recall: say the Arabic for otherwise, then the Arabic for if not for, then say mahmā again

Before you move on

What does مهما mean? ("Whatever".) Say it once more.

400.3 كلما (kullamā) — whenever

Before the new one: say the Arabic for if not for, then the Arabic for whatever.

You'll want to know: كلما

كلما — kullamā — "whenever".

لي طبخت جدتي، زرت كلما.

kullamā zurtu jaddatī, ṭabakhat lī.

Whenever I visit my grandmother, she cooks for me.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كلما (kullamā) joins kull, "all, every", built on the native Arabic root k-l-l (Lane), with mā: every time that, whenever.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: kullamā
- Say it: kullamā, once more
- Say it: kullamā zurtu jaddatī, ṭabakhat lī. — Whenever I visit my grandmother, she cooks for me.
- Recall: say the Arabic for if not for, then the Arabic for whatever, then say kullamā again

Before you move on

What does كلما mean? ("Whenever".) Say it once more.

400.4 سواء (sawāʾ) — whether

Before the new one: say the Arabic for whatever, then the Arabic for whenever.

You'll want to know: سواء

سواء — sawāʾ — "whether".

لا أم أمطرت سواء سنخرج.

sa-nakhruju sawāʾ amṭarat am lā.

We will go out whether it rains or not.

It pairs with أم: سواء … أم ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سواء (sawāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-y, "to be equal, level" (Lane). Sawāʾ is equality: it is all the same, whether one thing or the other.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: sawāʾ
- Say it: sawāʾ, once more
- Say it: sa-nakhruju sawāʾ amṭarat am lā. — We will go out whether it rains or not.
- Recall: say the Arabic for whatever, then the Arabic for whenever, then say sawāʾ again

Before you move on

What does سواء mean? ("Whether".) Say it once more.

400.5 أينما (aynamā) — wherever

Before the new one: say the Arabic for whenever, then the Arabic for whether.

You'll want to know: أينما

أينما — aynamā — "wherever".

طيبين ناسا وجدت ذهبت، أينما.

aynamā dhahabtu, wajadtu nāsan ṭayyibīn.

Wherever I went, I found kind people.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أينما (aynamā) joins the native Arabic ayna, "where", with mā: wherever. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: aynamā
- Say it: aynamā, once more
- Say it: aynamā dhahabtu, wajadtu nāsan ṭayyibīn. — Wherever I went, I found kind people.
- Recall: say the Arabic for whenever, then the Arabic for whether, then say aynamā again

Before you move on

What does أينما mean? ("Wherever".) Say it once more.

Chapter 401

Likely or not

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a probability, say what is probable, and say that something is likely or ruled out.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 401: I can talk about a probability, say what is probable, and say that something is likely or ruled out.

401.1 احتمال (iḥtimāl) — a probability

Before the new one: say the Arabic for whether, then the Arabic for wherever.

You'll want to know: احتمال

احتمال — iḥtimāl — "a probability".

غدا للمطر كبير احتمال هناك.

hunāka iḥtimāl kabīr li-l-maṭar ghadan.

There is a high probability of rain tomorrow.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتمال (iḥtimāl) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry, to bear" (Lane). Iḥtimāl is the Form VIII verbal noun, bearing a thing, allowing for it: a probability.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtimāl
- Say it: iḥtimāl, once more
- Say it: hunāka iḥtimāl kabīr li-l-maṭar ghadan. — There is a high probability of rain tomorrow.
- Recall: say the Arabic for whether, then the Arabic for wherever, then say iḥtimāl again

Before you move on

What does احتمال mean? ("A probability".) Say it once more.

401.2 محتمل (muḥtamal) — probable

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wherever, then the Arabic for a probability.

You'll want to know: محتمل

محتمل — muḥtamal — "probable".

أخي يتأخر أن المحتمل من.

min al-muḥtamal an yataʾakhkhara akhī.

It is probable that my brother will be late.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محتمل (muḥtamal) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry, to bear" (Lane). Muḥtamal is the Form VIII passive participle: what can be allowed for, probable.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥtamal
- Say it: muḥtamal, once more
- Say it: min al-muḥtamal an yataʾakhkhara akhī. — It is probable that my brother will be late.
- Recall: say the Arabic for wherever, then the Arabic for a probability, then say muḥtamal again

Before you move on

What does محتمل mean? ("Probable".) Say it once more.

401.3 احتمل (iḥtamala) — to tolerate; to allow for

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a probability, then the Arabic for probable.

You'll want to know: احتمل

احتمل — iḥtamala — "to tolerate; to allow for".

الحر جدي يحتمل لا.

lā yaḥtamilu jaddī al-ḥarr.

My grandfather cannot tolerate the heat.

Present: يحتمل, yaḥtamil.
أن يحتمل ..., it is possible that ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتمل (iḥtamala) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry, to bear" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to carry a load oneself: to bear, to tolerate, and so to allow for a thing.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtamala
- Say it: iḥtamala, once more
- Say it: lā yaḥtamilu jaddī al-ḥarr. — My grandfather cannot tolerate the heat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a probability, then the Arabic for probable, then say iḥtamala again

Before you move on

What does احتمل mean? ("To tolerate; to allow for".) Say it once more.

401.4 رجح (rajjaḥa) — to consider likely

Before the new one: say the Arabic for probable, then the Arabic for to tolerate.

You'll want to know: رجح

رجح — rajjaḥa — "to consider likely".

التوتر هو السبب أن الأطباء يرجح.

yurajjiḥu al-aṭibbāʾ anna as-sabab huwa at-tawattur.

Doctors consider it likely that the cause is stress.

Present: يرجح, yurajjiḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رجح (rajjaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-ḥ, "to outweigh (of a scale)" (Lane). It is Form II, to make one pan of the scale outweigh the other: to judge a thing more likely.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: rajjaḥa
- Say it: rajjaḥa, once more
- Say it: yurajjiḥu al-aṭibbāʾ anna as-sabab huwa at-tawattur. — Doctors consider it likely that the cause is stress.
- Recall: say the Arabic for probable, then the Arabic for to tolerate, then say rajjaḥa again

Before you move on

What does رجح mean? ("To consider likely".) Say it once more.

401.5 استبعد (istabᶜada) — to rule out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tolerate, then the Arabic for to consider likely.

You'll want to know: استبعد

استبعد — istabᶜada — "to rule out".

الاحتمال هذا المدير استبعد.

istabᶜada al-mudīr hādhā al-iḥtimāl.

The manager ruled out this possibility.

Present: يستبعد, yastabᶜid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استبعد (istabᶜada) is built on the native Arabic root b-ᶜ-d, "to be far" (Lane). It is Form X, to hold a thing to be far off: to rule it out. بعيد, far, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istabᶜada
- Say it: istabᶜada, once more
- Say it: istabᶜada al-mudīr hādhā al-iḥtimāl. — The manager ruled out this possibility.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tolerate, then the Arabic for to consider likely, then say istabᶜada again

Before you move on

What does استبعد mean? ("To rule out".) Say it once more.

Chapter 402

How sure

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say inevitably, necessarily, relatively and not at all, and talk about certainty.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 402: I can say inevitably, necessarily, relatively and not at all, and talk about certainty.

402.1 حتما (ḥatman) — inevitably

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to consider likely, then the Arabic for to rule out.

You'll want to know: حتما

حتما — ḥatman — "inevitably".

حتما سينجح.

sa-yanjaḥu ḥatman.

He is bound to succeed.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حتما (ḥatman) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-t-m, "to make firm, to decree" (Lane). Ḥatman is the verbal noun ḥatm, decreeing, with the adverb ending -an: as decreed, inevitably.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥatman
- Say it: ḥatman, once more
- Say it: sa-yanjaḥu ḥatman. — He is bound to succeed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to consider likely, then the Arabic for to rule out, then say ḥatman again

Before you move on

What does حتما mean? ("Inevitably".) Say it once more.

402.2 بالضرورة (bi-ḍ-ḍarūra) — necessarily

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to rule out, then the Arabic for inevitably.

You'll want to know: بالضرورة

بالضرورة — bi-ḍ-ḍarūra — "necessarily".

أفضل بالضرورة ليس الغالي.

al-ghālī laysa bi-ḍ-ḍarūra afḍal.

Expensive is not necessarily better.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بالضرورة (bi-ḍ-ḍarūra) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-r, "to harm; to compel" (Lane). Ḍarūra is necessity, what one is compelled to; bi-ḍ-ḍarūra is by necessity. ضروري, necessary, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-ḍ-ḍarūra
- Say it: bi-ḍ-ḍarūra, once more
- Say it: al-ghālī laysa bi-ḍ-ḍarūra afḍal. — Expensive is not necessarily better.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to rule out, then the Arabic for inevitably, then say bi-ḍ-ḍarūra again

Before you move on

What does بالضرورة mean? ("Necessarily".) Say it once more.

402.3 نسبيا (nisbiyyan) — relatively

Before the new one: say the Arabic for inevitably, then the Arabic for necessarily.

You'll want to know: نسبيا

نسبيا — nisbiyyan — "relatively".

نسبيا رخيصة الشقة.

ash-shaqqa rakhīṣa nisbiyyan.

The flat is relatively cheap.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسبيا (nisbiyyan) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-b, "to trace lineage, to relate" (Lane). Nisbiyyan is the adverb of nisbī, relative, from a noun meaning a relation.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: nisbiyyan
- Say it: nisbiyyan, once more
- Say it: ash-shaqqa rakhīṣa nisbiyyan. — The flat is relatively cheap.
- Recall: say the Arabic for inevitably, then the Arabic for necessarily, then say nisbiyyan again

Before you move on

What does نسبيا mean? ("Relatively".) Say it once more.

402.4 إطلاقا (iṭlāqan) — not at all

Before the new one: say the Arabic for necessarily, then the Arabic for relatively.

You'll want to know: إطلاقا

إطلاقا — iṭlāqan — "not at all".

إطلاقا القهوة أحب لا.

lā uḥibbu al-qahwa iṭlāqan.

I do not like coffee at all.

With a negative: لا … إطلاقا, not … at all.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إطلاقا (iṭlāqan) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-q, "to be free, let loose" (Lane). Iṭlāqan is the Form IV verbal noun, setting loose, with the adverb ending -an: without limit, and with a negative, not at all.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: iṭlāqan
- Say it: iṭlāqan, once more
- Say it: lā uḥibbu al-qahwa iṭlāqan. — I do not like coffee at all.
- Recall: say the Arabic for necessarily, then the Arabic for relatively, then say iṭlāqan again

Before you move on

What does إطلاقا mean? ("Not at all".) Say it once more.

402.5 يقين (yaqīn) — certainty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for relatively, then the Arabic for not at all.

You'll want to know: يقين

يقين — yaqīn — "certainty".

صادق بأنه يقين عندي.

ᶜindī yaqīn bi-annahu ṣādiq.

I am certain that he is honest.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يقين (yaqīn) is built on the native Arabic root y-q-n, usually traced to the sense "to be sure". Yaqīn is certainty, knowledge without doubt.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: yaqīn
- Say it: yaqīn, once more
- Say it: ᶜindī yaqīn bi-annahu ṣādiq. — I am certain that he is honest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for relatively, then the Arabic for not at all, then say yaqīn again

Before you move on

What does يقين mean? ("Certainty".) Say it once more.

Chapter 403

Sure and unsure

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone made certain or grew suspicious, and say impossible, most probably and in general.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 403: I can say that someone made certain or grew suspicious, and say impossible, most probably and in general.

403.1 تيقن (tayaqqana) — to make certain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for not at all, then the Arabic for certainty.

You'll want to know: تيقن

تيقن — tayaqqana — "to make certain".

> الطفل سلامة من الطبيب تيقن.
>
> tayaqqana aṭ-ṭabīb min salāmat aṭ-ṭifl.
>
> The doctor made certain that the child was safe.

Present: يتيقن, yatayaqqan.
It takes من: من تيقن ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تيقن (tayaqqana) is built on the native Arabic root y-q-n, usually traced to the sense "to be sure". It is Form V, to make oneself sure: to make certain.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tayaqqana
- Say it: tayaqqana, once more
- Say it: tayaqqana aṭ-ṭabīb min salāmat aṭ-ṭifl. — The doctor made certain that the child was safe.
- Recall: say the Arabic for not at all, then the Arabic for certainty, then say tayaqqana again

Before you move on

What does تيقن mean? ("To make certain".) Say it once more.

403.2 ارتاب (irtāba) — to be suspicious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for certainty, then the Arabic for to make certain.

You'll want to know: ارتاب

ارتاب — irtāba — "to be suspicious".

الرجل في الحارس ارتاب.

irtāba al-ḥāris fī ar-rajul.

The guard grew suspicious of the man.

Present: يرتاب, yartāb.
It takes في: ارتاب في ….

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتاب (irtāba) is built on the native Arabic root r-y-b, "to disquiet, to raise doubt" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to be filled with disquiet: to doubt, to be suspicious.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: irtāba
- Say it: irtāba, once more
- Say it: irtāba al-ḥāris fī ar-rajul. — The guard grew suspicious of the man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for certainty, then the Arabic for to make certain, then say irtāba again

Before you move on

What does ارتاب mean? ("To be suspicious".) Say it once more.

403.3 مستحيل (mustaḥīl) — impossible

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make certain, then the Arabic for to be suspicious.

You'll want to know: مستحيل

مستحيل — mustaḥīl — "impossible".

اليوم العمل ننهي أن المستحيل من.

min al-mustaḥīl an nunhiya al-ᶜamal al-yawm.

It is impossible for us to finish the work today.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستحيل (mustaḥīl) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l, "to change, to turn" (Lane). Mustaḥīl is the Form X active participle, what has turned away from being: impossible.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mustaḥīl
- Say it: mustaḥīl, once more
- Say it: min al-mustaḥīl an nunhiya al-ᶜamal al-yawm. — It is impossible for us to finish the work today.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make certain, then the Arabic for to be suspicious, then say mustaḥīl again

Before you move on

What does مستحيل mean? ("Impossible".) Say it once more.

403.4 على الأرجح (ᶜalā al-arjaḥ) — most probably

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be suspicious, then the Arabic for impossible.

You'll want to know: على الأرجح

على الأرجح — ᶜalā al-arjaḥ — "most probably".

الظهر بعد الأرجح على سيصل.

sa-yaṣilu ᶜalā al-arjaḥ baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr.

He will most probably arrive in the afternoon.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

على الأرجح (ᶜalā al-arjaḥ) joins ᶜalā, "on", with al-arjaḥ, "the weightier", built on the native Arabic root r-j-ḥ, "to outweigh" (Lane): on the heavier side of the scale, most probably.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜalā al-arjaḥ
- Say it: ᶜalā al-arjaḥ, once more
- Say it: sa-yaṣilu ᶜalā al-arjaḥ baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr. — He will most probably arrive in the afternoon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be suspicious, then the Arabic for impossible, then say ᶜalā al-arjaḥ again

Before you move on

What does على الأرجح mean? ("Most probably".) Say it once more.

403.5 عموما (ᶜumūman) — in general

Before the new one: say the Arabic for impossible, then the Arabic for most probably.

You'll want to know: عموما

عموما — ᶜumūman — "in general".

هنا جميل عموما الطقس.

aṭ-ṭaqs ᶜumūman jamīl hunā.

The weather here is generally pleasant.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عموما (ᶜumūman) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-m, "to be general, to include all" (Lane). ᶜUmūman is the verbal noun ᶜumūm, generality, with the adverb ending -an: in general.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜumūman
- Say it: ᶜumūman, once more
- Say it: aṭ-ṭaqs ᶜumūman jamīl hunā. — The weather here is generally pleasant.
- Recall: say the Arabic for impossible, then the Arabic for most probably, then say ᶜumūman again

Before you move on

What does عموما mean? ("In general".) Say it once more.

Chapter 404

Conditions

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a condition, say that someone stipulated or ensured something, and say even if and as if.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 404: I can talk about a condition, say that someone stipulated or ensured something, and say even if and as if.

404.1 شرط (sharṭ) — a condition

Before the new one: say the Arabic for most probably, then the Arabic for in general.

You'll want to know: شرط

شرط — sharṭ — "a condition".

> واحد شرط لي.
>
> lī sharṭ wāḥid.
>
> I have one condition.

Plural: شروط, shurūṭ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرط (sharṭ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ṭ, "to set a mark; to stipulate" (Lane). A sharṭ is a mark set down in a bargain: a condition. شرطة, the police, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: sharṭ
- Say it: sharṭ, once more
- Say it: lī sharṭ wāḥid. — I have one condition.
- Recall: say the Arabic for most probably, then the Arabic for in general, then say sharṭ again

Before you move on

What does شرط mean? ("A condition".) Say it once more.

404.2 اشترط (ishtaraṭa) — to stipulate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in general, then the Arabic for a condition.

You'll want to know: اشترط

اشترط — ishtaraṭa — "to stipulate".

سنتين خبرة الشركة اشترطت.

ishtaraṭat ash-sharika khibrat sanatayn.

The company stipulated two years of experience.

Present: يشترط, yashtariṭ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشترط (ishtaraṭa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ṭ, "to set a mark; to stipulate" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to set a condition for oneself: to stipulate.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtaraṭa
- Say it: ishtaraṭa, once more
- Say it: ishtaraṭat ash-sharika khibrat sanatayn. — The company stipulated two years of experience.
- Recall: say the Arabic for in general, then the Arabic for a condition, then say ishtaraṭa again

Before you move on

What does اشترط mean? ("To stipulate".) Say it once more.

404.3 لو حتى (ḥattā law) — even if

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a condition, then the Arabic for to stipulate.

You'll want to know: لو حتى

لو حتى — ḥattā law — "even if".

أمطرت لو حتى سأذهب.

sa-adhhabu ḥattā law amṭarat.

I will go even if it rains.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لو حتى (ḥattā law) joins the native Arabic particles ḥattā, "even, until", and law, "if": even if. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥattā law
- Say it: ḥattā law, once more
- Say it: sa-adhhabu ḥattā law amṭarat. — I will go even if it rains.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a condition, then the Arabic for to stipulate, then say ḥattā law again

Before you move on

What does لو حتى mean? ("Even if".) Say it once more.

404.4 لو كما (kamā law) — as if

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stipulate, then the Arabic for even if.

You'll want to know: لو كما

لو كما — kamā law — "as if".

المدير كان لو كما تكلم.

takallama kamā law kāna al-mudīr.

He spoke as if he were the manager.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لو كما (kamā law) joins the native Arabic kamā, "as", and law, "if": as if. The deeper origin of such particles is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: kamā law
- Say it: kamā law, once more
- Say it: takallama kamā law kāna al-mudīr. — He spoke as if he were the manager.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stipulate, then the Arabic for even if, then say kamā law again

Before you move on

What does لو كما mean? ("As if".) Say it once more.

404.5 ضمن (ḍamina) — to ensure; to guarantee

Before the new one: say the Arabic for even if, then the Arabic for as if.

You'll want to know: ضمن

ضمن — ḍamina — "to ensure; to guarantee".

ابنه مستقبل الأب ضمن.

ḍamina al-ab mustaqbal ibnih.

The father secured his son's future.

Present: يضمن, yaḍman.
Followed by أن: ضمن أن ..., made sure that ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضمن (ḍamina) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-m-n, "to be surety for" (Lane). Ḍamina is a Form I verb, to stand surety: to guarantee, to ensure.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍamina
- Say it: ḍamina, once more
- Say it: ḍamina al-ab mustaqbal ibnih. — The father secured his son's future.
- Recall: say the Arabic for even if, then the Arabic for as if, then say ḍamina again

Before you move on

What does ضمن mean? ("To ensure; to guarantee".) Say it once more.

Chapter 405

Exceptions

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an exception, and say that something excludes, includes, contains or concerns something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 405: I can talk about an exception, and say that something excludes, includes, contains or concerns something.

405.1 استثناء (istithnāʾ) — an exception

Before the new one: say the Arabic for as if, then the Arabic for to ensure.

You'll want to know: استثناء

استثناء — istithnāʾ — "an exception".

استثناء قاعدة لكل.

li-kulli qāᶜida istithnāʾ.

Every rule has an exception.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استثناء (istithnāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root th-n-y, "to fold, to bend back" (Lane). Istithnāʾ is the Form X verbal noun, bending a thing back out of the rest: an exception.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istithnāʾ
- Say it: istithnāʾ, once more
- Say it: li-kulli qāᶜida istithnāʾ. — Every rule has an exception.
- Recall: say the Arabic for as if, then the Arabic for to ensure, then say istithnāʾ again

Before you move on

What does استثناء mean? ("An exception".) Say it once more.

405.2 استثنى (istathnā) — to exclude

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ensure, then the Arabic for an exception.

You'll want to know: استثنى

استثنى — istathnā — "to exclude".

الاجتماع من الجدد الموظفين المدير استثنى.

istathnā al-mudīr al-muwaẓẓafīn al-judud min al-ijtimāᶜ.

The manager excluded the new employees from the meeting.

Present: يستثني, yastathnī.
It takes من: استثنى ... من ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استثنى (istathnā) is built on the native Arabic root th-n-y, "to fold, to bend back" (Lane). It is Form X, to bend a thing back out of a group: to exclude, to except.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istathnā
- Say it: istathnā, once more
- Say it: istathnā al-mudīr al-muwaẓẓafīn al-judud min al-ijtimāᶜ. — The manager excluded the new employees from the meeting.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ensure, then the Arabic for an exception, then say istathnā again

Before you move on

What does استثنى mean? ("To exclude".) Say it once more.

405.3 شمل (shamila) — to include

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an exception, then the Arabic for to exclude.

You'll want to know: شمل

شمل — shamila — "to include".

المتحف زيارة الرحلة تشمل.

tashmalu ar-riḥla ziyārat al-matḥaf.

The trip includes a visit to the museum.

Present: يشمل, yashmal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شمل (shamila) is built on the native Arabic root sh-m-l, "to comprise, to cover" (Lane). Shamila is a Form I verb, to cover all of a thing: to include.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: shamila
- Say it: shamila, once more
- Say it: tashmalu ar-riḥla ziyārat al-maṭḥaf. — The trip includes a visit to the museum.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an exception, then the Arabic for to exclude, then say shamila again

Before you move on

What does شمل mean? ("To include".) Say it once more.

405.4 تضمن (taḍammana) — to contain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to exclude, then the Arabic for to include.

You'll want to know: تضمن

تضمن — taḍammana — "to contain".

جميلة صورا الكتاب يتضمن.

yataḍammanu al-kitāb ṣuwaran jamīla.

The book contains beautiful pictures.

Present: يتضمن, yataḍamman.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تضمن (taḍammana) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-m-n, "to be surety for" (Lane). It is Form V, to take a thing within oneself: to contain.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taḍammana
- Say it: taḍammana, once more
- Say it: yataḍammanu al-kitāb ṣuwaran jamīla. — The book contains beautiful pictures.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to exclude, then the Arabic for to include, then say taḍammana again

Before you move on

What does تضمن mean? ("To contain".) Say it once more.

405.5 تعلق (ta^{c}allaqa) — to concern

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to include, then the Arabic for to contain.

You'll want to know: تعلق

تعلق — ta^{c}allaqa — "to concern".

أبي بصحة الأمر يتعلق.

yata^{c}allaqu al-amr bi-ṣiḥḥat abī.

The matter concerns my father's health.

Present: يتعلق, yata^{c}allaq.
It takes بـ: يتعلق بـ ..., it is about ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعلق (ta^{c}allaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-l-q, "to hang, to cling" (Lane). It is Form V, to hang on a thing: to be attached to it, to concern it. علق, to hang, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}allaqa
- Say it: ta^{c}allaqa, once more
- Say it: yata^{c}allaqu al-amr bi-ṣiḥḥat abī. — The matter concerns my father's health.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to include, then the Arabic for to contain, then say ta^{c}allaqa again

Before you move on

What does تعلق mean? ("To concern".) Say it once more.

405.6 Words from chapters 398–405 — a review

Say the Arabic for education and upbringing.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- education, upbringing, a kindergarten, literacy, attendance
- unless, in case, provided that, as long as, otherwise
- if not for, whatever, whenever, whether, wherever
- a probability, probable, to tolerate, to consider likely, to rule out
- inevitably, necessarily, relatively, not at all, certainty
- to make certain, to be suspicious, impossible, most probably, in general

- a condition, to stipulate, even if, as if, to ensure
- an exception, to exclude, to include, to contain, to concern

Before you move on

Education? (تعليم, taᶜlīm.) Upbringing? (تربية, tarbiya.) A kindergarten? (روضة, rawḍa.) Literacy? (محو الأمية, maḥw al-ummiyya.) Attendance? (حضور, ḥuḍūr.) Unless? (إذا إلا, illā idhā.) In case? (حال في, fī ḥāl.) Provided that? (أن بشرط, bi-sharṭi an.) As long as? (طالما, ṭālamā.) Otherwise? (وإلا, wa-illā.) If not for? (لولا, lawlā.) Whatever? (مهما, mahmā.) Whenever? (كلما, kullamā.) Whether? (سواء, sawāʾ.) Wherever? (أينما, aynamā.) A probability? (احتمال, iḥtimāl.) Probable? (محتمل, muḥtamal.) To tolerate? (احتمل, iḥtamala.) To consider likely? (رجح, rajjaḥa.) To rule out? (استبعد, istabᶜada.) Inevitably? (حتما, ḥatman.) Necessarily? (بالضرورة, bi-ḍ-ḍarūra.) Relatively? (نسبيا, nisbiyyan.) Not at all? (إطلاقا, iṭlāqan.) Certainty? (يقين, yaqīn.) To make certain? (تيقن, tayaqqana.) To be suspicious? (ارتاب, irtāba.) Impossible? (مستحيل, mustaḥīl.) Most probably? (الأرجح على, ᶜalā al-arjaḥ.) In general? (عموما, ᶜumūman.) A condition? (شرط, sharṭ.) To stipulate? (اشترط, ishtaraṭa.) Even if? (لو حتى, ḥattā law.) As if? (لو كما, kamā law.) To ensure? (ضمن, ḍamina.) An exception? (استثناء, istithnāʾ.) To exclude? (استثنى, istathnā.) To include? (شمل, shamila.) To contain? (تضمن, taḍammana.) To concern? (تعلق, taᶜallaqa.)

Chapter 406

What it takes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something requires, is available, suffices or is lacking, and talk about a procedure.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 406: I can say that something requires, is available, suffices or is lacking, and talk about a procedure.

406.1 تطلب (taṭallaba) — to require

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to contain, then the Arabic for to concern.

You'll want to know: تطلب

تطلب — taṭallaba — "to require".

> كبيرا صبرا العمل هذا يتطلب.
>
> yataṭallabu hādhā al-ᶜamal ṣabran kabīran.
>
> This work requires great patience.

Present: يتطلب, yataṭallab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تطلب (taṭallaba) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-b, "to seek, to ask for" (Lane). It is Form V, to seek a thing again and again: to call for,

to require.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taṭallaba
- Say it: taṭallaba, once more
- Say it: yataṭallabu hādhā al-ᶜamal ṣabran kabīran. — This work requires great patience.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to contain, then the Arabic for to concern, then say taṭallaba again

Before you move on

What does تطلب mean? ("To require".) Say it once more.

406.2 توفر (tawaffara) — to be available

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to concern, then the Arabic for to require.

You'll want to know: توفر

توفر — tawaffara — "to be available".

الأسبوع هذا الفندق في الغرف تتوفر.

tatawaffaru al-ghuraf fī al-funduq hādhā al-usbūᶜ.

Rooms are available at the hotel this week.

Present: يتوفر, yatawaffar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توفر (tawaffara) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-r, "to be abundant, ample" (Lane). It is Form V, to become ample: to be available. وفر, to save, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tawaffara
- Say it: tawaffara, once more
- Say it: tatawaffaru al-ghuraf fī al-funduq hādhā al-usbū^{c}. — Rooms are available at the hotel this week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to concern, then the Arabic for to require, then say tawaffara again

Before you move on

What does توفر mean? ("To be available".) Say it once more.

406.3 كفى (kafā) — to suffice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to require, then the Arabic for to be available.

You'll want to know: كفى

كفى — kafā — "to suffice".

أشخاص لثلاثة الطعام هذا يكفي.

yakfī hādhā aṭ-ṭa^{c}ām li-thalāthat ashkhāṣ.

This food is enough for three people.

Present: يكفي, yakfī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كفى (kafā) is built on the native Arabic root k-f-y, usually traced to the sense "to be enough". Kafā is a Form I verb with a weak last letter: to be enough. Its present is yakfī.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: kafā
- Say it: kafā, once more
- Say it: yakfī hādhā aṭ-ṭaᶜām li-thalāthat ashkhāṣ. — This food is enough for three people.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to require, then the Arabic for to be available, then say kafā again

Before you move on

What does كفى mean? ("To suffice".) Say it once more.

406.4 افتقر (iftaqara) — to lack

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be available, then the Arabic for to suffice.

You'll want to know: افتقر

افتقر — iftaqara — "to lack".

طبيب إلى القرية تفتقر.

taftaqiru al-qarya ilā ṭabīb.

The village lacks a doctor.

Present: يفتقر, yaftaqir.
It takes إلى: افتقر إلى ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

افتقر (iftaqara) is built on the native Arabic root f-q-r, "to be needy, poor" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to become needy of a thing: to lack it.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: iftaqara
- Say it: iftaqara, once more
- Say it: taftaqiru al-qarya ilā ṭabīb. — The village lacks a doctor.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be available, then the Arabic for to suffice, then say iftaqara again

Before you move on

What does افتقر mean? ("To lack".) Say it once more.

406.5 إجراء (ijrāʾ) — a procedure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to suffice, then the Arabic for to lack.

You'll want to know: إجراء

إجراء — ijrāʾ — "a procedure".

الإجراء بسيط ويأخذ دقيقة.

al-ijrāʾ basīṭ wa-yaʾkhudhu daqīqa.

The procedure is simple and takes a minute.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إجراء (ijrāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-y, "to run, to flow" (Lane). Ijrāʾ is the Form IV verbal noun, making a thing run: carrying out, a procedure.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ijrāʾ
- Say it: ijrāʾ, once more
- Say it: al-ijrāʾ basīṭ wa-yaʾkhudhu daqīqa. — The procedure is simple and takes a minute.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to suffice, then the Arabic for to lack, then say ijrāʾ again

Before you move on

What does إجراء mean? ("A procedure".) Say it once more.

Chapter 407

Avoiding trouble

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something proved impossible, entailed or arose, and that someone avoided or averted it.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 407: I can say that something proved impossible, entailed or arose, and that someone avoided or averted it.

407.1 تعذر (ta^{c}adhdhara) — to prove impossible

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lack, then the Arabic for a procedure.

You'll want to know: تعذر

تعذر — ta^{c}adhdhara — "to prove impossible".

> الطقس بسبب السفر علينا تعذر.
>
> ta^{c}adhdhara ^{c}alaynā as-safar bi-sabab aṭ-ṭaqs.
>
> Travelling proved impossible for us because of the weather.

Present: يتعذر, yata^{c}adhdhar.
It takes على for the person: عليه تعذر ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعذر (ta^{c}adhdhara) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-dh-r, "to excuse" (Lane). It is Form V; Lane gives it for an affair that became hard to bring about, and so impracticable: to prove impossible.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}adhdhara
- Say it: ta^{c}adhdhara, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}adhdhara ^{c}alaynā as-safar bi-sabab aṭ-ṭaqs. — Travelling proved impossible for us because of the weather.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lack, then the Arabic for a procedure, then say ta^{c}adhdhara again

Before you move on

What does تعذر mean? ("To prove impossible".) Say it once more.

407.2 استلزم (istalzama) — to entail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a procedure, then the Arabic for to prove impossible.

You'll want to know: استلزم

استلزم — istalzama — "to entail".

طويلا وقتا المشروع يستلزم.

yastalzimu al-mashrū^c waqtan ṭawīlan.

The project entails a long time.

Present: يستلزم, yastalzim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استلزم (istalzama) is built on the native Arabic root l-z-m, "to cling, to stick to" (Lane). It is Form X, to call for what must cling to a thing: to entail.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istalzama
- Say it: istalzama, once more
- Say it: yastalzimu al-mashrū^{c} waqtan ṭawīlan. — The project entails a long time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a procedure, then the Arabic for to prove impossible, then say istalzama again

Before you move on

What does استلزم mean? ("To entail".) Say it once more.

407.3 تجنب (tajannaba) — to avoid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prove impossible, then the Arabic for to entail.

You'll want to know: تجنب

تجنب — tajannaba — "to avoid".

المزدحم الطريق الرجل تجنب.

tajannaba ar-rajul aṭ-ṭarīq al-muzdaḥim.

The man avoided the crowded road.

Present: يتجنب, yatajannab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجنب (tajannaba) is built on the native Arabic root j-n-b, "to put aside, to turn away" (Lane). It is Form V, to put oneself to one side of a thing: to avoid it. بجانب, beside, shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tajannaba
- Say it: tajannaba, once more
- Say it: tajannaba ar-rajul aṭ-ṭarīq al-muzdaḥim. — The man avoided the crowded road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prove impossible, then the Arabic for to entail, then say tajannaba again

Before you move on

What does تجنب mean? ("To avoid".) Say it once more.

407.4 تفادى (tafādā) — to avert

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to entail, then the Arabic for to avoid.

You'll want to know: تفادى

تفادى — tafādā — "to avert".

الكرة الطفل تفادى.

tafādā aṭ-ṭifl al-kura.

The child got out of the way of the ball.

Present: يتفادى, yatafādā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفادى (tafādā) is built on the native Arabic root f-d-y, "to ransom" (Lane). It is Form VI. How its sense, keeping clear of a thing, grew from ransoming is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tafādā
- Say it: tafādā, once more
- Say it: tafādā aṭ-ṭifl al-kura. — The child got out of the way of the ball.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to entail, then the Arabic for to avoid, then say tafādā again

Before you move on

What does تفادى mean? ("To avert".) Say it once more.

407.5 طرأ (ṭaraʾa) — to arise unexpectedly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to avoid, then the Arabic for to avert.

You'll want to know: طرأ

طرأ — ṭaraʾa — "to arise unexpectedly".

الخطة على تغيير طرأ.

ṭaraʾa taghyīr ᶜalā al-khiṭṭa.

A change came up in the plan.

Present: يطرأ, yaṭraʾ.
It takes على: على طرأ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طرأ (ṭaraʾa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-ʾ, "to come upon unexpectedly" (Lane). Ṭaraʾa is a Form I verb: to come from far off without warning, to arise.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭaraʾa
- Say it: ṭaraʾa, once more
- Say it: ṭaraʾa taghyīr ᶜalā al-khiṭṭa. — A change came up in the plan.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to avoid, then the Arabic for to avert, then say ṭaraʾa again

Before you move on

What does طرأ mean? ("To arise unexpectedly".) Say it once more.

Chapter 408

Gains and losses

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone benefited, enjoyed a right or was deprived, and talk about well-being and care.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 408: I can say that someone benefited, enjoyed a right or was deprived, and talk about well-being and care.

408.1 استفاد (istafāda) — to benefit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to avert, then the Arabic for to arise unexpectedly.

You'll want to know: استفاد

استفاد — istafāda — "to benefit".

> الرحلة من الطلاب استفاد.
>
> istafāda aṭ-ṭullāb min ar-riḥla.
>
> The students benefited from the trip.

Present: يستفيد, yastafīd.
It takes من: استفاد من ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استفاد (istafāda) is built on the native Arabic root f-y-d, "to accrue, to come as gain" (Lane). It is Form X, to seek gain from a thing: to benefit.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istafāda
- Say it: istafāda, once more
- Say it: istafāda aṭ-ṭullāb min ar-riḥla. — The students benefited from the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to avert, then the Arabic for to arise unexpectedly, then say istafāda again

Before you move on

What does استفاد mean? ("To benefit".) Say it once more.

408.2 تمتع (tamatta^{c}a) — to enjoy a right

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to arise unexpectedly, then the Arabic for to benefit.

You'll want to know: تمتع

تمتع — tamatta^{c}a — "to enjoy a right".

كثيرة بحقوق المواطنون يتمتع.

yatamatta^{c}u al-muwāṭinūn bi-ḥuqūq kathīra.

Citizens enjoy many rights.

Present: يتمتع, yatamatta^c.
It takes بـ: تمتع بـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمتع (tamatta^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root m-t-^{c}, "to have the use of" (Lane). It is Form V, to take the use of a thing for oneself: to enjoy it. ممتع, enjoyable, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tamatta^{c}a
- Say it: tamatta^{c}a, once more
- Say it: yatamatta^{c}u al-muwāṭinūn bi-ḥuqūq kathīra. — Citizens enjoy many rights.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to arise unexpectedly, then the Arabic for to benefit, then say tamatta^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does تمتع mean? ("To enjoy a right".) Say it once more.

408.3 حرم (ḥarama) — to deprive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to benefit, then the Arabic for to enjoy a right.

You'll want to know: حرم

حرم — ḥarama — "to deprive".

المدرسة من الطفل الحمى حرمت.

ḥaramat al-ḥummā aṭ-ṭifl min al-madrasa.

The fever deprived the child of school.

Present: يحرم, yaḥrim.
It takes من for what is lost: من حرمه ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حرم (ḥarama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-m, "to be forbidden" (Lane). Ḥarama is a Form I verb, to make a thing forbidden to someone: to deprive.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥarama
- Say it: ḥarama, once more
- Say it: ḥaramat al-ḥummā aṭ-ṭifl min al-madrasa. — The fever deprived the child of school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to benefit, then the Arabic for to enjoy a right, then say ḥarama again

Before you move on

What does حرم mean? ("To deprive".) Say it once more.

408.4 رفاهية (rafāhiyya) — well-being

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to enjoy a right, then the Arabic for to deprive.

You'll want to know: رفاهية

رفاهية — rafāhiyya — "well-being".

المواطنين برفاهية الدولة تهتم.

tahtammu ad-dawla bi-rafāhiyyat al-muwāṭinīn.

The state cares about the well-being of citizens.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رفاهية (rafāhiyya) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-h, "to live in ease" (Lane). Rafāhiyya is an abstract noun from rafāh, ease of life: well-being.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: rafāhiyya
- Say it: rafāhiyya, once more
- Say it: tahtammu ad-dawla bi-rafāhiyyat al-muwāṭinīn. — The state cares about the well-being of citizens.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to enjoy a right, then the Arabic for to deprive, then say rafāhiyya again

Before you move on

What does رفاهية mean? ("Well-being".) Say it once more.

408.5 رعاية (ri^{c}āya) — care; welfare

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deprive, then the Arabic for well-being.

You'll want to know: رعاية

رعاية — ri^{c}āya — "care; welfare".

خاصة رعاية إلى الجد يحتاج.

yaḥtāju al-jadd ilā ri^{c}āya khāṣṣa.

Grandfather needs special care.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رعاية (ri^{c}āya) is built on the native Arabic root r-^{c}-y, "to pasture, to tend" (Lane). Ri^{c}āya is tending a flock: care, and in public life, welfare.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ri^{c}āya
- Say it: ri^{c}āya, once more
- Say it: yaḥtāju al-jadd ilā ri^{c}āya khāṣṣa. — Grandfather needs special care.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deprive, then the Arabic for well-being, then say ri^{c}āya again

Before you move on

What does رعاية mean? ("Care; welfare".) Say it once more.

Chapter 409

Laws

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a law, legislation and a clause, and say what a law stipulates or who legislates.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 409: I can talk about a law, legislation and a clause, and say what a law stipulates or who legislates.

409.1 قانون (qānūn) — a law

Before the new one: say the Arabic for well-being, then the Arabic for care.

You'll want to know: قانون

قانون — qānūn — "a law".

> المطاعم في التدخين القانون يمنع.
>
> yamnaᶜu al-qānūn at-tadkhīn fī al-maṭāᶜim.
>
> The law bans smoking in restaurants.

Plural: قوانين, qawānīn.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قانون (qānūn) was borrowed from Greek kanōn, "a measuring rod, a rule" (EtymDB). Arabic gave it the sense of a law.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: qānūn
- Say it: qānūn, once more
- Say it: yamnaᶜu al-qānūn at-tadkhīn fī al-maṭāᶜim. — The law bans smoking in restaurants.
- Recall: say the Arabic for well-being, then the Arabic for care, then say qānūn again

Before you move on

What does قانون mean? ("A law".) Say it once more.

409.2 تشريع (tashrīᶜ) — legislation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for care, then the Arabic for a law.

You'll want to know: تشريع

تشريع — tashrīᶜ — "legislation".

للعمل جديد تشريع إلى البلاد تحتاج.

taḥtāju al-bilād ilā tashrīᶜ jadīd li-l-ᶜamal.

The country needs new labour legislation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تشريع (tashrīᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-ᶜ, "to lay down a way" (Lane). Tashrīᶜ is the Form II verbal noun, laying down a way for others to follow: legislation.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tashrīᶜ
- Say it: tashrīᶜ, once more
- Say it: taḥtāju al-bilād ilā tashrīᶜ jadīd li-l-ᶜamal. — The country needs new labour legislation.
- Recall: say the Arabic for care, then the Arabic for a law, then say tashrīᶜ again

Before you move on

What does تشريع mean? ("Legislation".) Say it once more.

409.3 بند (band) — a clause

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a law, then the Arabic for legislation.

You'll want to know: بند

بند — band — "a clause".

قرأ المحامي كل بند في العقد.

qaraʾa al-muḥāmī kulla band fī al-ᶜaqd.

The lawyer read every clause in the contract.

Plural: بنود, bunūd.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بند (band) was borrowed from Persian band, "a tie, a bond" (EtymDB). In Arabic it is an article or clause of a text.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: band
- Say it: band, once more
- Say it: qaraʾa al-muḥāmī kulla band fī al-ᶜaqd. — The lawyer read every clause in the contract.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a law, then the Arabic for legislation, then say band again

Before you move on

What does بند mean? ("A clause".) Say it once more.

409.4 نص (naṣṣa) — to stipulate in writing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for legislation, then the Arabic for a clause.

You'll want to know: نص

نص — naṣṣa — "to stipulate in writing".

التعليم حق على القانون ينص.

yanuṣṣu al-qānūn ᶜalā ḥaqq at-taᶜlīm.

The law stipulates the right to education.

Present: ينص, yanuṣṣ.
It takes على: على ينص …. The noun نص, naṣṣ, means a text.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نص (naṣṣa) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṣ-ṣ, "to raise, to set up" (Lane). Naṣṣa is a Form I verb; from setting a thing up plainly comes stating it in writing: to stipulate.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: naṣṣa
- Say it: naṣṣa, once more
- Say it: yanuṣṣu al-qānūn ᶜalā ḥaqq at-taᶜlīm. — The law stipulates the right to education.
- Recall: say the Arabic for legislation, then the Arabic for a clause, then say naṣṣa again

Before you move on

What does نص mean? ("To stipulate in writing".) Say it once more.

409.5 شرع (sharraᶜa) — to legislate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a clause, then the Arabic for to stipulate in writing.

You'll want to know: شرع

شرع — sharraᶜa — "to legislate".

القوانين البرلمان يشرع.

yusharriᶜu al-barlamān al-qawānīn.

Parliament makes the laws.

Present: يشرع, yusharriᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرع (sharra^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-^{c}, "to lay down a way" (Lane). It is Form II, to lay down a way for others: to legislate.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: sharra^{c}a
- Say it: sharra^{c}a, once more
- Say it: yusharri^{c}u al-barlamān al-qawānīn. — Parliament makes the laws.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a clause, then the Arabic for to stipulate in writing, then say sharra^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does شرع mean? ("To legislate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 410

Allowed or required

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something is permitted, obligatory or exempt, and that someone broke or kept a rule.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 410: I can say that something is permitted, obligatory or exempt, and that someone broke or kept a rule.

410.1 أباح (abāḥa) — to permit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stipulate in writing, then the Arabic for to legislate.

You'll want to know: أباح

أباح — abāḥa — "to permit".

> السبت يوم العمل القانون أباح.
>
> abāḥa al-qānūn al-ᶜamal yawm as-sabt.
>
> The law permitted work on Saturdays.

Present: يبيح, yubīḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أباح (abāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root b-w-ḥ, "to become known, to disclose" (Lane). It is Form IV, to lay a thing open to people: to permit it.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: abāḥa
- Say it: abāḥa, once more
- Say it: abāḥa al-qānūn al-ᶜamal yawm as-sabt. — The law permitted work on Saturdays.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stipulate in writing, then the Arabic for to legislate, then say abāḥa again

Before you move on

What does أباح mean? ("To permit".) Say it once more.

410.2 أوجب (awjaba) — to make obligatory

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to legislate, then the Arabic for to permit.

You'll want to know: أوجب

أوجب — awjaba — "to make obligatory".

أوجب القانون التعليم للأطفال.

awjaba al-qānūn at-taᶜlīm li-l-aṭfāl.

The law made schooling obligatory for children.

Present: يوجب, yūjib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أوجب (awjaba) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-b, "to be due, binding" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make binding: to make obligatory. واجب, a duty, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: awjaba
- Say it: awjaba, once more
- Say it: awjaba al-qānūn at-taᶜlīm li-l-aṭfāl. — The law made schooling obligatory for children.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to legislate, then the Arabic for to permit, then say awjaba again

Before you move on

What does أوجب mean? ("To make obligatory".) Say it once more.

410.3 خالف (khālafa) — to break a rule

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to permit, then the Arabic for to make obligatory.

You'll want to know: خالف

خالف — khālafa — "to break a rule".

المكان قواعد الرجل خالف.

khālafa ar-rajul qawāᶜid al-makān.

The man broke the rules of the place.

Present: يخالف, yukhālif.
Also to differ: الرأي خالفه, disagreed with him.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خالف (khālafa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-f, "to come after, behind" (Lane). It is Form III, to go against the one behind or before you: to break a rule, to differ.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: khālafa
- Say it: khālafa, once more
- Say it: khālafa ar-rajul qawāᶜid al-makān. — The man broke the rules of the place.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to permit, then the Arabic for to make obligatory, then say khālafa again

Before you move on

What does خالف mean? ("To break a rule".) Say it once more.

410.4 التزم (iltazama) — to comply

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make obligatory, then the Arabic for to break a rule.

You'll want to know: التزم

التزم — iltazama — "to comply".

بالقواعد الجميع التزم.

iltazama al-jamīᶜ bi-l-qawāᶜid.

Everyone complied with the rules.

Present: يلتزم, yaltazim.
It takes بـ: التزم بـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

التزم (iltazama) is built on the native Arabic root l-z-m, "to cling, to stick to" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to bind oneself to a thing: to comply, to commit.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: iltazama
- Say it: iltazama, once more
- Say it: iltazama al-jamī^{c} bi-l-qawā^{c}id. — Everyone complied with the rules.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make obligatory, then the Arabic for to break a rule, then say iltazama again

Before you move on

What does التزم mean? ("To comply".) Say it once more.

410.5 أعفى (a^{c}fā) — to exempt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to break a rule, then the Arabic for to comply.

You'll want to know: أعفى

أعفى — a^{c}fā — "to exempt".

العيد يوم العمل من الموظف المدير أعفى.

a^{c}fā al-mudīr al-muwaẓẓaf min al-^{c}amal yawm al-^{c}īd.

The manager exempted the employee from work on the feast day.

Present: يعفي, yu^{c}fī.
It takes من: أعفاه من ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أعفى (a^{c}fā) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-f-w, "to efface; to pardon" (Lane). It is Form IV, to release someone from a thing: to exempt.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: a^{c}fā
- Say it: a^{c}fā, once more
- Say it: a^{c}fā al-mudīr al-muwaẓẓaf min al-^{c}amal yawm al-^{c}īd. — The manager exempted the employee from work on the feast day.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to break a rule, then the Arabic for to comply, then say a^{c}fā again

Before you move on

What does أعفى mean? ("To exempt".) Say it once more.

Chapter 411

Rules and wrongs

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone authorized, was subject to, wronged, struggled against or formally approved something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 411: I can say that someone authorized, was subject to, wronged, struggled against or formally approved something.

411.1 أجاز (ajāza) — to authorize

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to comply, then the Arabic for to exempt.

You'll want to know: أجاز

أجاز — ajāza — "to authorize".

> القاموس استعمال الأستاذ أجاز.
>
> ajāza al-ustādh isti^{c}māl al-qāmūs.
>
> The professor authorized the use of the dictionary.

Present: يجيز, yujīz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أجاز (ajāza) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-z, "to pass, to go beyond" (Lane). It is Form IV, to let a thing pass: to allow, to authorize.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ajāza
- Say it: ajāza, once more
- Say it: ajāza al-ustādh isti^{c}māl al-qāmūs. — The professor authorized the use of the dictionary.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to comply, then the Arabic for to exempt, then say ajāza again

Before you move on

What does أجاز mean? ("To authorize".) Say it once more.

411.2 خضع (khaḍa^{c}a) — to be subject to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to exempt, then the Arabic for to authorize.

You'll want to know: خضع

خضع — khaḍa^{c}a — "to be subject to".

للقانون الجميع يخضع.

yakhḍa^{c}u al-jamī^{c} li-l-qānūn.

Everyone is subject to the law.

Present: يخضع, yakhḍa^{c}.
It takes لـ: خضع لـ .... لعملية خضع, underwent an operation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خضع (khaḍa^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ḍ-^{c}, "to be lowly, submissive" (Lane). Khaḍa^{c}a is a Form I verb: to submit, to be subject to.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: khaḍa^{c}a
- Say it: khaḍa^{c}a, once more
- Say it: yakhḍa^{c}u al-jamī^{c} li-l-qānūn. — Everyone is subject to the law.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to exempt, then the Arabic for to authorize, then say khaḍa^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does خضع mean? ("To be subject to".) Say it once more.

411.3 ظلم (ẓalama) — to wrong

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to authorize, then the Arabic for to be subject to.

You'll want to know: ظلم

ظلم — ẓalama — "to wrong".

الجديد العامل المدير ظلم.

ẓalama al-mudīr al-^{c}āmil al-jadīd.

The manager wronged the new worker.

Present: يظلم, yaẓlim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ظلم (ẓalama) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-m, "to put a thing in the wrong place" (Lane). Ẓalama is a Form I verb: to do someone wrong. ظالم, unjust, is its active participle.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ẓalama
- Say it: ẓalama, once more
- Say it: ẓalama al-mudīr al-ᶜāmil al-jadīd. — The manager wronged the new worker.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to authorize, then the Arabic for to be subject to, then say ẓalama again

Before you move on

What does ظلم mean? ("To wrong".) Say it once more.

411.4 كافح (kāfaḥa) — to struggle against

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be subject to, then the Arabic for to wrong.

You'll want to know: كافح

كافح — kāfaḥa — "to struggle against".

الفقر الدولة تكافح.

tukāfiḥu ad-dawla al-faqr.

The state is fighting poverty.

Present: يكافح, yukāfiḥ.
What is fought is the direct object: الفساد كافح, fought corruption.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كافح (kāfaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root k-f-ḥ, "to meet face to face" (Lane). It is Form III, to face an enemy head on: to struggle against.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: kāfaḥa
- Say it: kāfaḥa, once more
- Say it: tukāfiḥu ad-dawla al-faqr. — The state is fighting poverty.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be subject to, then the Arabic for to wrong, then say kāfaḥa again

Before you move on

What does كافح mean? ("To struggle against".) Say it once more.

411.5 أقر (aqarra) — to approve formally

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wrong, then the Arabic for to struggle against.

You'll want to know: أقر

أقر — aqarra — "to approve formally".

أقر المجلس الخطة الجديدة.

aqarra al-majlis al-khiṭṭa al-jadīda.

The council formally approved the new plan.

Present: يقر, yuqirr.
Also to admit: أقر بالخطأ, admitted the mistake.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقر (aqarra) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to be still" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make a thing settled: to approve it formally, or to admit it.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: aqarra
- Say it: aqarra, once more
- Say it: aqarra al-majlis al-khiṭṭa al-jadīda. — The council formally approved the new plan.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wrong, then the Arabic for to struggle against, then say aqarra again

Before you move on

What does أقر mean? ("To approve formally".) Say it once more.

Chapter 412

Going up and down

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something became greater, shrank, doubled or was reduced, and talk about a proportion.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 412: I can say that something became greater, shrank, doubled or was reduced, and talk about a proportion.

412.1 ازداد (izdāda) — to become greater; to increase

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to struggle against, then the Arabic for to approve formally.

You'll want to know: ازداد

ازداد — izdāda — "to become greater; to increase".

> السكان عدد ازداد.
>
> izdāda ᶜadad as-sukkān.
>
> The number of inhabitants grew.

Present: يزداد, yazdād.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ازداد (izdāda) is built on the native Arabic root z-y-d, "to increase, to grow more" (Lane). It is Form VIII of zāda, to increase: to become greater.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: izdāda
- Say it: izdāda, once more
- Say it: izdāda ᶜadad as-sukkān. — The number of inhabitants grew.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to struggle against, then the Arabic for to approve formally, then say izdāda again

Before you move on

What does ازداد mean? ("To become greater; to increase".) Say it once more.

412.2 تقلص (taqallaṣa) — to shrink

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to approve formally, then the Arabic for to become greater.

You'll want to know: تقلص

تقلص — taqallaṣa — "to shrink".

الطلاب عدد تقلص.

taqallaṣa ᶜadad aṭ-ṭullāb.

The number of students shrank.

Present: يتقلص, yataqallaṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقلص (taqallaṣa) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-ṣ, "to contract, to shrink" (Lane). It is Form V, to draw itself in: to shrink.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taqallaṣa
- Say it: taqallaṣa, once more
- Say it: taqallaṣa ᶜadad aṭ-ṭullāb. — The number of students shrank.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to approve formally, then the Arabic for to become greater, then say taqallaṣa again

Before you move on

What does تقلص mean? ("To shrink".) Say it once more.

412.3 تضاعف (taḍāᶜafa) — to double

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to become greater, then the Arabic for to shrink.

You'll want to know: تضاعف

تضاعف — taḍāᶜafa — "to double".

الصيف في الزوار عدد تضاعف.

taḍāᶜafa ᶜadad az-zuwwār fī aṣ-ṣayf.

The number of visitors doubled in summer.

Present: يتضاعف, yataḍāᶜaf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تضاعف (taḍāᶜafa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ᶜ-f, "the like of a thing; to double" (Lane). It is Form VI, to be multiplied by itself: to double.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taḍāᶜafa
- Say it: taḍāᶜafa, once more
- Say it: taḍāᶜafa ᶜadad az-zuwwār fī aṣ-ṣayf. — The number of visitors doubled in summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to become greater, then the Arabic for to shrink, then say taḍāᶜafa again

Before you move on

What does تضاعف mean? ("To double".) Say it once more.

412.4 قلل (qallala) — to reduce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shrink, then the Arabic for to double.

You'll want to know: قلل

قلل — qallala — "to reduce".

السكر كمية الطبيب قلل.

qallala aṭ-ṭabīb kammiyyat as-sukkar.

The doctor reduced the amount of sugar.

Present: يقلل, yuqallil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قلل (qallala) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-l, "to be few, little" (Lane). It is Form II, to make little: to reduce. قليل and أقل are from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: qallala
- Say it: qallala, once more
- Say it: qallala aṭ-ṭabīb kammiyyat as-sukkar. — The doctor reduced the amount of sugar.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shrink, then the Arabic for to double, then say qallala again

Before you move on

What does قلل mean? ("To reduce".) Say it once more.

412.5 نسبة (nisba) — a proportion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to double, then the Arabic for to reduce.

You'll want to know: نسبة

نسبة — nisba — "a proportion".

السنة هذه عالية النجاح نسبة.

nisbat an-najāḥ ᶜāliya hādhihi as-sana.

The proportion of passes is high this year.

بالنسبة إلى, bi-n-nisba ilā, regarding, as for.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسبة (nisba) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-b, "to trace lineage, to relate" (Lane). A nisba is a relation, and so a ratio: a proportion, a percentage.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: nisba
- Say it: nisba, once more
- Say it: nisbat an-najāḥ ᶜāliya hādhihi as-sana. — The proportion of passes is high this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to double, then the Arabic for to reduce, then say nisba again

Before you move on

What does نسبة mean? ("A proportion".) Say it once more.

Chapter 413

Change over time

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something evolved, grew, worsened, recurred or endured.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 413: I can say that something evolved, grew, worsened, recurred or endured.

413.1 تطور (taṭawwara) — to evolve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to reduce, then the Arabic for a proportion.

You'll want to know: تطور

تطور — taṭawwara — "to evolve".

> كثيرا المدينة تطورت.
>
> taṭawwarat al-madīna kathīran.
>
> The city has evolved a lot.

Present: يتطور, yataṭawwar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تطور (taṭawwara) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-r, "a time, a stage" (Lane). It is Form V, to pass from stage to stage: to evolve.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taṭawwara
- Say it: taṭawwara, once more
- Say it: taṭawwarat al-madīna kathīran. — The city has evolved a lot.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to reduce, then the Arabic for a proportion, then say taṭawwara again

Before you move on

What does تطور mean? ("To evolve".) Say it once more.

413.2 نما (namā) — to grow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a proportion, then the Arabic for to evolve.

You'll want to know: نما

نما — namā — "to grow".

السنة هذه الاقتصاد نما.

namā al-iqtiṣād hādhihi as-sana.

The economy grew this year.

Present: ينمو, yanmū.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نما (namā) is built on the native Arabic root n-m-w, usually traced to the sense "to grow, to increase". Namā is a Form I verb with a weak last letter: to grow. Its present is yanmū.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: namā
- Say it: namā, once more
- Say it: namā al-iqtiṣād hādhihi as-sana. — The economy grew this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a proportion, then the Arabic for to evolve, then say namā again

Before you move on

What does نما mean? ("To grow".) Say it once more.

413.3 تفاقم (tafāqama) — to worsen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to evolve, then the Arabic for to grow.

You'll want to know: تفاقم

تفاقم — tafāqama — "to worsen".

المطر بعد المشكلة تفاقمت.

tafāqamat al-mushkila ba^{c}da al-maṭar.

The problem worsened after the rain.

Present: يتفاقم, yatafāqam.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفاقم (tafāqama) is built on the native Arabic root f-q-m, "to be full" (Lane). It is Form VI, to swell up more and more: to worsen, to grow serious.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tafāqama
- Say it: tafāqama, once more
- Say it: tafāqamat al-mushkila baᶜda al-maṭar. — The problem worsened after the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to evolve, then the Arabic for to grow, then say tafāqama again

Before you move on

What does تفاقم mean? ("To worsen".) Say it once more.

413.4 تكرر (takarrara) — to recur

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grow, then the Arabic for to worsen.

You'll want to know: تكرر

تكرر — takarrara — "to recur".

مرتين نفسه الخطأ تكرر.

takarrara al-khaṭaʾ nafsuhu marratayn.

The same mistake happened twice.

Present: يتكرر, yatakarrar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تكرر (takarrara) is built on the native Arabic root k-r-r, "to return, to come back" (Lane). It is Form V, to come back again and again: to recur.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: takarrara
- Say it: takarrara, once more
- Say it: takarrara al-khaṭaʾ nafsuhu marratayn. — The same mistake happened twice.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grow, then the Arabic for to worsen, then say takarrara again

Before you move on

What does تكرر mean? ("To recur".) Say it once more.

413.5 دام (dāma) — to endure; to last

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to worsen, then the Arabic for to recur.

You'll want to know: دام

دام — dāma — "to endure; to last".

الليل منتصف حتى الحفلة دامت.

dāmat al-ḥafla ḥattā muntaṣaf al-layl.

The party lasted until midnight.

Present: يدوم, yadūm.
دام ما, mā dāma, as long as.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دام (dāma) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-m, "to last, to continue" (Lane). Dāma is a Form I verb: to endure, to last. Its present is yadūm.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: dāma
- Say it: dāma, once more
- Say it: dāmat al-ḥafla ḥattā muntaṣaf al-layl. — The party lasted until midnight.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to worsen, then the Arabic for to recur, then say dāma again

Before you move on

What does دام mean? ("To endure; to last".) Say it once more.

413.6 Words from chapters 406–413 — a review

Say the Arabic for to require and to be available.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to require, to be available, to suffice, to lack, a procedure
- to prove impossible, to entail, to avoid, to avert, to arise unexpectedly
- to benefit, to enjoy a right, to deprive, well-being, care
- a law, legislation, a clause, to stipulate in writing, to legislate
- to permit, to make obligatory, to break a rule, to comply, to exempt
- to authorize, to be subject to, to wrong, to struggle against, to approve formally

- to become greater, to shrink, to double, to reduce, a proportion
- to evolve, to grow, to worsen, to recur, to endure

Before you move on

To require? (تطلب, taṭallaba.) To be available? (توفر, tawaffara.) To suffice? (كفى, kafā.) To lack? (افتقر, iftaqara.) A procedure? (إجراء, ijrāʾ.) To prove impossible? (تعذر, taᶜadhdhara.) To entail? (استلزم, istalzama.) To avoid? (تجنب, tajannaba.) To avert? (تفادى, tafādā.) To arise unexpectedly? (طرأ, ṭaraʾa.) To benefit? (استفاد, istafāda.) To enjoy a right? (تمتع, tamattaᶜa.) To deprive? (حرم, ḥarama.) Well-being? (رفاهية, rafāhiyya.) Care? (رعاية, riᶜāya.) A law? (قانون, qānūn.) Legislation? (تشريع, tashrīᶜ.) A clause? (بند, band.) To stipulate in writing? (نص, naṣṣa.) To legislate? (شرع, sharraᶜa.) To permit? (أباح, abāḥa.) To make obligatory? (أوجب, awjaba.) To break a rule? (خالف, khālafa.) To comply? (التزم, iltazama.) To exempt? (أعفى, aᶜfā.) To authorize? (أجاز, ajāza.) To be subject to? (خضع, khaḍaᶜa.) To wrong? (ظلم, ẓalama.) To struggle against? (كافح, kāfaḥa.) To approve formally? (أقر, aqarra.) To become greater? (ازداد, izdāda.) To shrink? (تقلص, taqallaṣa.) To double? (تضاعف, taḍāᶜafa.) To reduce? (قلل, qallala.) A proportion? (نسبة, nisba.) To evolve? (تطور, taṭawwara.) To grow? (نما, namā.) To worsen? (تفاقم, tafāqama.) To recur? (تكرر, takarrara.) To endure? (دام, dāma.)

Chapter 414

Outcomes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something stemmed from, followed from or was reflected in something, and talk about consequences and effects.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 414: I can say that something stemmed from, followed from or was reflected in something, and talk about consequences and effects.

414.1 نتج (nataja) — to stem from; to result

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to recur, then the Arabic for to endure.

You'll want to know: نتج

نتج — nataja — "to stem from; to result".

صغير خطأ عن الحريق نتج.

nataja al-ḥarīq ᶜan khaṭaʾ ṣaghīr.

The fire resulted from a small mistake.

Present: ينتج, yantij.
It takes عن: عن نتج ... The noun نتيجة is a result.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نتج (nataja) is built on the native Arabic root n-t-j, "to bring forth young" (Lane). Nataja is a Form I verb: to come forth from a thing, to result.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: nataja
- Say it: nataja, once more
- Say it: nataja al-ḥarīq ᶜan khaṭaʾ ṣaghīr. — The fire resulted from a small mistake.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to recur, then the Arabic for to endure, then say nataja again

Before you move on

What does نتج mean? ("To stem from; to result".) Say it once more.

414.2 ترتب (tarattaba) — to follow from

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to endure, then the Arabic for to stem from.

You'll want to know: ترتب

ترتب — tarattaba — "to follow from".

كثيرة تغييرات القرار على ترتب.

tarattaba ᶜalā al-qarār taghyīrāt kathīra.

Many changes followed from the decision.

Present: يترتب, yatarattab.
It takes على: ترتب على ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترتب (tarattaba) is built on the native Arabic root r-t-b, "to be firm, fixed in place" (Lane). It is Form V, to fall into rank after a thing: to follow from it. رتب, to tidy, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tarattaba
- Say it: tarattaba, once more
- Say it: tarattaba ᶜalā al-qarār taghyīrāt kathīra. — Many changes followed from the decision.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to endure, then the Arabic for to stem from, then say tarattaba again

Before you move on

What does ترتب mean? ("To follow from".) Say it once more.

414.3 انعكس (inᶜakasa) — to be reflected

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stem from, then the Arabic for to follow from.

You'll want to know: انعكس

انعكس — inᶜakasa — "to be reflected".

صحته على التوتر انعكس.

inᶜakasa at-tawattur ᶜalā ṣiḥḥatih.

The stress was reflected in his health.

Present: ينعكس, yanᶜakis.
It takes على: انعكس على ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انعكس (in^{c}akasa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-k-s, "to reverse, to turn back" (Lane). It is Form VII, to be turned back: to be reflected, like light from a mirror.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: in^{c}akasa
- Say it: in^{c}akasa, once more
- Say it: in^{c}akasa at-tawattur ^{c}alā ṣiḥḥatih. — The stress was reflected in his health.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stem from, then the Arabic for to follow from, then say in^{c}akasa again

Before you move on

What does انعكس mean? ("To be reflected".) Say it once more.

414.4 عاقبة (^{c}āqiba) — a consequence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to follow from, then the Arabic for to be reflected.

You'll want to know: عاقبة

عاقبة — ^{c}āqiba — "a consequence".

العاقبة في الرجل يفكر لم.

lam yufakkir ar-rajul fī al-^{c}āqiba.

The man did not think about the consequence.

Plural: عواقب, ^{c}awāqib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاقبة (ᶜāqiba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-q-b, "to come after, to follow" (Lane). An ᶜāqiba is what comes after a thing: its end, its consequence.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāqiba
- Say it: ᶜāqiba, once more
- Say it: lam yufakkir ar-rajul fī al-ᶜāqiba. — The man did not think about the consequence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to follow from, then the Arabic for to be reflected, then say ᶜāqiba again

Before you move on

What does عاقبة mean? ("A consequence".) Say it once more.

414.5 تأثير (taʾthīr) — an effect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be reflected, then the Arabic for a consequence.

You'll want to know: تأثير

تأثير — taʾthīr — "an effect".

الصحة على كبير تأثير للنوم.

li-n-nawm taʾthīr kabīr ᶜalā aṣ-ṣiḥḥa.

Sleep has a big effect on health.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأثير (taʾthīr) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-th-r, "a trace, a track" (Lane). Taʾthīr is the Form II verbal noun, leaving a trace on something: an effect, an influence.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾthīr
- Say it: taʾthīr, once more
- Say it: li-n-nawm taʾthīr kabīr ᶜalā aṣ-ṣiḥḥa. — Sleep has a big effect on health.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be reflected, then the Arabic for a consequence, then say taʾthīr again

Before you move on

What does تأثير mean? ("An effect".) Say it once more.

Chapter 415

Leaving a mark

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an achievement and a level, and say that something was affected, became clear or was arrived at.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 415: I can talk about an achievement and a level, and say that something was affected, became clear or was arrived at.

415.1 إنجاز (injāz) — an achievement

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a consequence, then the Arabic for an effect.

You'll want to know: إنجاز

إنجاز — injāz — "an achievement".

كان الجسر الجديد إنجازا كبيرا.

kāna al-jisr al-jadīd injāzan kabīran.

The new bridge was a great achievement.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إنجاز (injāz) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-z, "to be accomplished, finished" (Lane). Injāz is the Form IV verbal noun of anjaza, to accomplish: an achievement.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: injāz
- Say it: injāz, once more
- Say it: kāna al-jisr al-jadīd injāzan kabīran. — The new bridge was a great achievement.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a consequence, then the Arabic for an effect, then say injāz again

Before you move on

What does إنجاز mean? ("An achievement".) Say it once more.

415.2 تأثر (taʾaththara) — to be affected

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an effect, then the Arabic for an achievement.

You'll want to know: تأثر

تأثر — taʾaththara — "to be affected".

بالفيلم الأطفال تأثر.

taʾaththara al-aṭfāl bi-l-film.

The children were moved by the film.

Present: يتأثر, yataʾaththar.
It takes بـ: تأثر بـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأثر (taʾaththara) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-th-r, "a trace, a track" (Lane). It is Form V, to take a trace from a thing: to be affected, to be moved.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾaththara
- Say it: taʾaththara, once more
- Say it: taʾaththara al-aṭfāl bi-l-film. — The children were moved by the film.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an effect, then the Arabic for an achievement, then say taʾaththara again

Before you move on

What does تأثر mean? ("To be affected".) Say it once more.

415.3 تبين (tabayyana) — to become clear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an achievement, then the Arabic for to be affected.

You'll want to know: تبين

تبين — tabayyana — "to become clear".

صحيح غير الخبر أن تبين.

tabayyana anna al-khabar ghayr ṣaḥīḥ.

It became clear that the news was not true.

Present: يتبين, yatabayyan.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تبين (tabayyana) is built on the native Arabic root b-y-n, "to be apart; to become clear" (Lane). It is Form V, to become plain: to become clear, to turn out.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tabayyana
- Say it: tabayyana, once more
- Say it: tabayyana anna al-khabar ghayr ṣaḥīḥ. — It became clear that the news was not true.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an achievement, then the Arabic for to be affected, then say tabayyana again

Before you move on

What does تبين mean? ("To become clear".) Say it once more.

415.4 توصل (tawaṣṣala) — to arrive at

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be affected, then the Arabic for to become clear.

You'll want to know: توصل

توصل — tawaṣṣala — "to arrive at".

جديدة نتيجة إلى الباحثون توصل.

tawaṣṣala al-bāḥithūn ilā natīja jadīda.

The researchers arrived at a new result.

Present: يتوصل, yatawaṣṣal.
It takes إلى: توصل إلى ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

توصل (tawaṣṣala) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to arrive, to join" (Lane). It is Form V, to work one's way to a thing: to arrive at, to reach.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tawaṣṣala
- Say it: tawaṣṣala, once more
- Say it: tawaṣṣala al-bāḥithūn ilā natīja jadīda. — The researchers arrived at a new result.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be affected, then the Arabic for to become clear, then say tawaṣṣala again

Before you move on

What does توصل mean? ("To arrive at".) Say it once more.

415.5 مستوى (mustawā) — a level

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to become clear, then the Arabic for to arrive at.

You'll want to know: مستوى

مستوى — mustawā — "a level".

السنة هذه جيد الطلاب مستوى.

mustawā aṭ-ṭullāb jayyid hādhihi as-sana.

The students' level is good this year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستوى (mustawā) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-y, "to be equal, level" (Lane). Mustawā is a noun of place from Form VIII, a level place: a level, a standard.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mustawā
- Say it: mustawā, once more
- Say it: mustawā aṭ-ṭullāb jayyid hādhihi as-sana. — The students' level is good this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to become clear, then the Arabic for to arrive at, then say mustawā again

Before you move on

What does مستوى mean? ("A level".) Say it once more.

Chapter 416

Instead and besides

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say instead of, in addition to and apart from, talk about insurance, and say that someone adopted something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 416: I can say instead of, in addition to and apart from, talk about insurance, and say that someone adopted something.

416.1 تبنى (tabannā) — to adopt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to arrive at, then the Arabic for a level.

You'll want to know: تبنى

تبنى — tabannā — "to adopt".

صغيرا طفلا الأسرة تبنت.

tabannat al-usra ṭiflan ṣaghīran.

The family adopted a small child.

Present: يتبنى, yatabannā.
Also to adopt an idea: الفكرة تبنى.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تبنى (tabannā) is built on the native Arabic root b-n-y, "to build" (Lane). It is Form V, to take someone as one's son, ibn, a word Lane files under this root: to adopt.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tabannā
- Say it: tabannā, once more
- Say it: tabannat al-usra ṭiflan ṣaghīran. — The family adopted a small child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to arrive at, then the Arabic for a level, then say tabannā again

Before you move on

What does تبنى mean? ("To adopt".) Say it once more.

416.2 من بدلا (badalan min) — instead of

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a level, then the Arabic for to adopt.

You'll want to know: من بدلا

من بدلا — badalan min — "instead of".

شربت الشاي من بدلا القهوة.

sharibtu ash-shāy badalan min al-qahwa.

I drank tea instead of coffee.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

من بدلا (badalan min) joins badalan, "as a substitute", built on the native Arabic root b-d-l, "to change, to put in place of" (Lane), with min, "from": instead of.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: badalan min
- Say it: badalan min, once more
- Say it: sharibtu ash-shāy badalan min al-qahwa. — I drank tea instead of coffee.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a level, then the Arabic for to adopt, then say badalan min again

Before you move on

What does من بدلا mean? ("Instead of".) Say it once more.

416.3 إلى بالإضافة (bi-l-iḍāfa ilā) — in addition to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to adopt, then the Arabic for instead of.

You'll want to know: إلى بالإضافة

إلى بالإضافة — bi-l-iḍāfa ilā — "in addition to".

اشتريت خبزا بالإضافة إلى الحليب.

ishtaraytu khubzan bi-l-iḍāfa ilā al-ḥalīb.

I bought bread in addition to milk.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إلى بالإضافة (bi-l-iḍāfa ilā) joins bi-, "with", al-iḍāfa, "the adding", built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-f, "to be a guest; to join to" (Lane), and ilā, "to": in addition to. أضاف, to add, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: bi-l-iḍāfa ilā
- Say it: bi-l-iḍāfa ilā, once more
- Say it: ishtaraytu khubzan bi-l-iḍāfa ilā al-ḥalīb. — I bought bread in addition to milk.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to adopt, then the Arabic for instead of, then say bi-l-iḍāfa ilā again

Before you move on

What does إلى بالإضافة mean? ("In addition to".) Say it once more.

416.4 تأمين (taʾmīn) — insurance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for instead of, then the Arabic for in addition to.

You'll want to know: تأمين

تأمين — taʾmīn — "insurance".

صحي تأمين عندي.

ᶜindī taʾmīn ṣiḥḥī.

I have health insurance.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأمين (taʾmīn) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-n, "to be safe, secure" (Lane). Taʾmīn is the Form II verbal noun, making safe: insurance. آمن, safe, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾmīn
- Say it: taʾmīn, once more
- Say it: ʿindī taʾmīn ṣiḥḥī. — I have health insurance.
- Recall: say the Arabic for instead of, then the Arabic for in addition to, then say taʾmīn again

Before you move on

What does تأمين mean? ("Insurance".) Say it once more.

416.5 سوى (siwā) — apart from; except

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in addition to, then the Arabic for insurance.

You'll want to know: سوى

سوى — siwā — "apart from; except".

طلاب ثلاثة سوى يحضر لم.

lam yaḥḍur siwā thalāthat ṭullāb.

No one came apart from three students.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سوى (siwā) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-y, "to be equal, level" (Lane). Siwā is an old noun of the root, the like of, other than: apart from, except.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: siwā
- Say it: siwā, once more
- Say it: lam yaḥḍur siwā thalāthat ṭullāb. — No one came apart from three students.
- Recall: say the Arabic for in addition to, then the Arabic for insurance, then say siwā again

Before you move on

What does سوى mean? ("Apart from; except".) Say it once more.

Chapter 417

Clear or vague

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say vague, frank and specific, and say that something became evident or that someone referred to it.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 417: I can say vague, frank and specific, and say that something became evident or that someone referred to it.

417.1 غامض (ghāmiḍ) — vague

Before the new one: say the Arabic for insurance, then the Arabic for apart from.

You'll want to know: غامض

غامض — ghāmiḍ — "vague".

غامضا جوابه كان.

kāna jawābuhu ghāmiḍan.

His answer was vague.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غامض (ghāmiḍ) is built on the native Arabic root gh-m-ḍ, "to be hidden, unapparent" (Lane). Ghāmiḍ is the active participle: what is hidden, obscure, vague.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāmiḍ
- Say it: ghāmiḍ, once more
- Say it: kāna jawābuhu ghāmiḍan. — His answer was vague.
- Recall: say the Arabic for insurance, then the Arabic for apart from, then say ghāmiḍ again

Before you move on

What does غامض mean? ("Vague".) Say it once more.

417.2 صريح (ṣarīḥ) — frank

Before the new one: say the Arabic for apart from, then the Arabic for vague.

You'll want to know: صريح

صريح — ṣarīḥ — "frank".

كان صديقي صريحا معي.

kāna ṣadīqī ṣarīḥan maᶜī.

My friend was frank with me.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صريح (ṣarīḥ) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-ḥ, "pure, unmixed, clear" (Lane). Ṣarīḥ is what is pure and unmixed: plain, frank.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣarīḥ
- Say it: ṣarīḥ, once more
- Say it: kāna ṣadīqī ṣarīḥan maᶜī. — My friend was frank with me.
- Recall: say the Arabic for apart from, then the Arabic for vague, then say ṣarīḥ again

Before you move on

What does صريح mean? ("Frank".) Say it once more.

417.3 محدد (muḥaddad) — specific

Before the new one: say the Arabic for vague, then the Arabic for frank.

You'll want to know: محدد

محدد — muḥaddad — "specific".

المحدد الوقت في الضيوف وصل.

waṣala aḍ-ḍuyūf fī al-waqt al-muḥaddad.

The guests arrived at the set time.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محدد (muḥaddad) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-d, "to sharpen; to set a limit" (Lane). Muḥaddad is the Form II passive participle of ḥaddada, to specify: fixed, specific.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥaddad
- Say it: muḥaddad, once more
- Say it: waṣala aḍ-ḍuyūf fī al-waqt al-muḥaddad. — The guests arrived at the set time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for vague, then the Arabic for frank, then say muḥaddad again

Before you move on

What does محدد mean? ("Specific".) Say it once more.

417.4 اتضح (ittaḍaḥa) — to become evident

Before the new one: say the Arabic for frank, then the Arabic for specific.

You'll want to know: اتضح

اتضح — ittaḍaḥa — "to become evident".

مغلق الطريق أن اتضح.

ittaḍaḥa anna aṭ-ṭarīq mughlaq.

It became evident that the road was closed.

Present: يتضح, yattaḍiḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتضح (ittaḍaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-ḥ, "to be clear, plain" (Lane). It is Form VIII, to make itself plain: to become evident. واضح, clear, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ittaḍaḥa
- Say it: ittaḍaḥa, once more
- Say it: ittaḍaḥa anna aṭ-ṭarīq mughlaq. — It became evident that the road was closed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for frank, then the Arabic for specific, then say ittaḍaḥa again

Before you move on

What does اتضح mean? ("To become evident".) Say it once more.

417.5 أشار (ashāra) — to refer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for specific, then the Arabic for to become evident.

You'll want to know: أشار

أشار — ashāra — "to refer".

الجملة في خطأ إلى المعلم أشار.

ashāra al-muᶜallim ilā khaṭaʾ fī al-jumla.

The teacher drew attention to a mistake in the sentence.

Present: يشير, yushīr.
It takes إلى: أشار إلى ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أشار (ashāra) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-r, "to take honey; to give a sign" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make a sign to someone: to refer, to indicate.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ashāra
- Say it: ashāra, once more
- Say it: ashāra al-muᶜallim ilā khaṭaʾ fī al-jumla. — The teacher drew attention to a mistake in the sentence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for specific, then the Arabic for to become evident, then say ashāra again

Before you move on

What does أشار mean? ("To refer".) Say it once more.

Chapter 418

Stronger or weaker

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something was strengthened, weakened or developed, and talk about effectiveness and independence.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 418: I can say that something was strengthened, weakened or developed, and talk about effectiveness and independence.

418.1 عزز (ᶜazzaza) — to strengthen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to become evident, then the Arabic for to refer.

You'll want to know: عزز

عزز — ᶜazzaza — "to strengthen".

> بنفسه ثقته الرياضة عززت.
>
> ᶜazzazat ar-riyāḍa thiqatahu bi-nafsih.
>
> Sport strengthened his self-confidence.

Present: يعزز, yuᶜazziz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عزز (ᶜazzaza) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-z-z, "to be strong, mighty" (Lane). It is Form II, to make strong: to strengthen, to reinforce.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜazzaza
- Say it: ᶜazzaza, once more
- Say it: ᶜazzazat ar-riyāḍa thiqatahu bi-nafsih. — Sport strengthened his self-confidence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to become evident, then the Arabic for to refer, then say ᶜazzaza again

Before you move on

What does عزز mean? ("To strengthen".) Say it once more.

418.2 أضعف (aḍᶜafa) — to weaken

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to refer, then the Arabic for to strengthen.

You'll want to know: أضعف

أضعف — aḍᶜafa — "to weaken".

جسمه الحمى أضعفت.

aḍᶜafat al-ḥummā jismah.

The fever weakened his body.

Present: يضعف, yuḍᶜif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أضعف (aḍᶜafa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ᶜ-f, "to be weak; to double" (Lane). It is Form IV, to make weak: to weaken. ضعيف, weak, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: aḍᶜafa
- Say it: aḍᶜafa, once more
- Say it: aḍᶜafat al-ḥummā jismah. — The fever weakened his body.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to refer, then the Arabic for to strengthen, then say aḍᶜafa again

Before you move on

What does أضعف mean? ("To weaken".) Say it once more.

418.3 طور (ṭawwara) — to develop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to strengthen, then the Arabic for to weaken.

You'll want to know: طور

طور — ṭawwara — "to develop".

جديدا برنامجا المهندس طور.

ṭawwara al-muhandis barnāmajan jadīdan.

The engineer developed a new program.

Present: يطور, yuṭawwir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طور (ṭawwara) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-r, "a time, a stage" (Lane). It is Form II, to move a thing on from stage to stage: to develop.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭawwara
- Say it: ṭawwara, once more
- Say it: ṭawwara al-muhandis barnāmajan jadīdan. — The engineer developed a new program.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to strengthen, then the Arabic for to weaken, then say ṭawwara again

Before you move on

What does طور mean? ("To develop".) Say it once more.

418.4 فعالية (fa^{cc}āliyya) — effectiveness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to weaken, then the Arabic for to develop.

You'll want to know: فعالية

فعالية — fa^{cc}āliyya — "effectiveness".

أثبتت الدراسة فعالية الدواء.

athbatat ad-dirāsa fa^{cc}āliyyat ad-dawāʾ.

The study proved the effectiveness of the medicine.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فعالية (fa^{cc}āliyya) is built on the native Arabic root f-^{c}-l, "to do, to act" (Lane). Fa^{cc}āliyya is a modern abstract noun from fa^{cc}āl, very active: effectiveness.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: fa^{cc}āliyya
- Say it: fa^{cc}āliyya, once more
- Say it: athbatat ad-dirāsa fa^{cc}āliyyat ad-dawāʾ. — The study proved the effectiveness of the medicine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to weaken, then the Arabic for to develop, then say fa^{cc}āliyya again

Before you move on

What does فعالية mean? ("Effectiveness".) Say it once more.

418.5 مستقل (mustaqill) — independent

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to develop, then the Arabic for effectiveness.

You'll want to know: مستقل

مستقل — mustaqill — "independent".

أسرته عن مستقلا أخي أصبح.

aṣbaḥa akhī mustaqillan ^{c}an usratih.

My brother became independent of his family.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستقل (mustaqill) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-l, "to be few; to lift" (Lane). Lane gives Form X for one who manages his affairs by himself alone; mustaqill, its active participle, is independent.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mustaqill
- Say it: mustaqill, once more
- Say it: aṣbaḥa akhī mustaqillan ᶜan usratih. — My brother became independent of his family.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to develop, then the Arabic for effectiveness, then say mustaqill again

Before you move on

What does مستقل mean? ("Independent".) Say it once more.

Chapter 419

Positive and negative

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say positive, negative, basic, secondary and comprehensive.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 419: I can say positive, negative, basic, secondary and comprehensive.

419.1 إيجابي (ījābī) — positive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for effectiveness, then the Arabic for independent.

You'll want to know: إيجابي

إيجابي — ījābī — "positive".

إيجابي أثر للقرار كان.

kāna li-l-qarār athar ījābī.

The decision had a positive effect.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إيجابي (ījābī) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-b, "to be due, binding" (Lane). Ījābī is a modern adjective from ījāb, the Form IV verbal noun, affirming: positive.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ījābī
- Say it: ījābī, once more
- Say it: kāna li-l-qarār athar ījābī. — The decision had a positive effect.
- Recall: say the Arabic for effectiveness, then the Arabic for independent, then say ījābī again

Before you move on

What does إيجابي mean? ("Positive".) Say it once more.

419.2 سلبي (salbī) — negative

Before the new one: say the Arabic for independent, then the Arabic for positive.

You'll want to know: سلبي

سلبي — salbī — "negative".

السلبي الشخص أحد يحب لا.

lā yuḥibbu aḥad ash-shakhṣ as-salbī.

Nobody likes a negative person.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلبي (salbī) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-b, "to strip, to take away" (Lane). Salbī is a modern adjective from salb, taking away: negative.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: salbī
- Say it: salbī, once more
- Say it: lā yuḥibbu aḥad ash-shakhṣ as-salbī. — Nobody likes a negative person.
- Recall: say the Arabic for independent, then the Arabic for positive, then say salbī again

Before you move on

What does سلبي mean? ("Negative".) Say it once more.

419.3 أساسي (asāsī) — basic

Before the new one: say the Arabic for positive, then the Arabic for negative.

You'll want to know: أساسي

أساسي — asāsī — "basic".

هنا أساسي طعام الخبز.

al-khubz ṭaᶜām asāsī hunā.

Bread is a basic food here.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أساسي (asāsī) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-s-s, "to lay a foundation" (Lane). Asāsī is the adjective of asās, a foundation: basic, fundamental.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: asāsī
- Say it: asāsī, once more
- Say it: al-khubz ṭaᶜām asāsī hunā. — Bread is a basic food here.
- Recall: say the Arabic for positive, then the Arabic for negative, then say asāsī again

Before you move on

What does أساسي mean? ("Basic".) Say it once more.

419.4 ثانوي (thānawī) — secondary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for negative, then the Arabic for basic.

You'll want to know: ثانوي

ثانوي — thānawī — "secondary".

ثانوية مسألة هذه.

hādhihi masʾala thānawiyya.

This is a secondary matter.

ثانوية مدرسة, a secondary school.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثانوي (thānawī) is built on the native Arabic root th-n-y, "to fold; to make two" (Lane). Thānawī is a modern adjective from thānī, second: secondary.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: thānawī
- Say it: thānawī, once more
- Say it: hādhihi masʾala thānawiyya. — This is a secondary matter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for negative, then the Arabic for basic, then say thānawī again

Before you move on

What does ثانوي mean? ("Secondary".) Say it once more.

419.5 شامل (shāmil) — comprehensive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for basic, then the Arabic for secondary.

You'll want to know: شامل

شامل — shāmil — "comprehensive".

قرأت تقريرا شاملا عن المدينة.

qaraʾtu taqrīran shāmilan ᶜan al-madīna.

I read a comprehensive report about the city.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شامل (shāmil) is built on the native Arabic root sh-m-l, "to comprise, to cover" (Lane). Shāmil is the active participle of shamila, to include: covering everything, comprehensive.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: shāmil
- Say it: shāmil, once more
- Say it: qaraʾtu taqrīran shāmilan ᶜan al-madīna. — I read a comprehensive report about the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for basic, then the Arabic for secondary, then say shāmil again

Before you move on

What does شامل mean? ("Comprehensive".) Say it once more.

Chapter 420

Responding

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone responded, ignored, nominated or was equal, and say what is shared.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 420: I can say that someone responded, ignored, nominated or was equal, and say what is shared.

420.1 استجاب (istajāba) — to respond

Before the new one: say the Arabic for secondary, then the Arabic for comprehensive.

You'll want to know: استجاب

استجاب — istajāba — "to respond".

> العمال لطلب المدير استجاب.
>
> istajāba al-mudīr li-ṭalab al-ᶜummāl.
>
> The manager responded to the workers' request.

Present: يستجيب, yastajīb.
It takes لـ: استجاب لـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استجاب (istajāba) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-b, "to cut through; to answer" (Lane). It is Form X, to give the answer sought: to respond. جواب, an answer, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istajāba
- Say it: istajāba, once more
- Say it: istajāba al-mudīr li-ṭalab al-ᶜummāl. — The manager responded to the workers' request.
- Recall: say the Arabic for secondary, then the Arabic for comprehensive, then say istajāba again

Before you move on

What does استجاب mean? ("To respond".) Say it once more.

420.2 تجاهل (tajāhala) — to ignore

Before the new one: say the Arabic for comprehensive, then the Arabic for to respond.

You'll want to know: تجاهل

تجاهل — tajāhala — "to ignore".

أمه كلام الولد تجاهل.

tajāhala al-walad kalām ummih.

The boy ignored his mother's words.

Present: يتجاهل, yatajāhal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجاهل (tajāhala) is built on the native Arabic root j-h-l, usually traced to the sense "not to know, to be ignorant". It is Form VI, to act as if one did not know: to ignore.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tajāhala
- Say it: tajāhala, once more
- Say it: tajāhala al-walad kalām ummih. — The boy ignored his mother's words.
- Recall: say the Arabic for comprehensive, then the Arabic for to respond, then say tajāhala again

Before you move on

What does تجاهل mean? ("To ignore".) Say it once more.

420.3 رشح (rashshaḥa) — to nominate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to respond, then the Arabic for to ignore.

You'll want to know: رشح

رشح — rashshaḥa — "to nominate".

جديدة لوظيفة أختي المدير رشح.

rashshaḥa al-mudīr ukhtī li-waẓīfa jadīda.

The manager nominated my sister for a new job.

Present: يرشح, yurashshiḥ.
It takes لـ: رشحه لـ ....

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رشح (rashshaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-ḥ, "to sweat, to ooze" (Lane). It is Form II; Lane gives it for training young ones until they are strong: to put someone forward, to nominate.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: rashshaḥa
- Say it: rashshaḥa, once more
- Say it: rashshaḥa al-mudīr ukhtī li-waẓīfa jadīda. — The manager nominated my sister for a new job.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to respond, then the Arabic for to ignore, then say rashshaḥa again

Before you move on

What does رشح mean? ("To nominate".) Say it once more.

420.4 تساوى (tasāwā) — to be equal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ignore, then the Arabic for to nominate.

You'll want to know: تساوى

تساوى — tasāwā — "to be equal".

النقاط في الفريقان تساوى.

tasāwā al-farīqān fī an-niqāṭ.

The two teams were level on points.

Present: يتساوى, yatasāwā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تساوى (tasāwā) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-y, "to be equal, level" (Lane). It is Form VI, to be level with one another: to be equal.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tasāwā
- Say it: tasāwā, once more
- Say it: tasāwā al-farīqān fī an-niqāṭ. — The two teams were level on points.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ignore, then the Arabic for to nominate, then say tasāwā again

Before you move on

What does تساوى mean? ("To be equal".) Say it once more.

420.5 مشترك (mushtarak) — shared

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to nominate, then the Arabic for to be equal.

You'll want to know: مشترك

مشترك — mushtarak — "shared".

مشتركون أصدقاء عندنا.

ᶜindanā aṣdiqāʾ mushtarakūn.

We have friends in common.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشترك (mushtarak) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-k, "to share, to be a partner" (Lane). Mushtarak is the Form VIII passive participle, what is shared: common, joint.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mushtarak
- Say it: mushtarak, once more
- Say it: ᶜindanā aṣdiqāʾ mushtarakūn. — We have friends in common.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to nominate, then the Arabic for to be equal, then say mushtarak again

Before you move on

What does مشترك mean? ("Shared".) Say it once more.

Chapter 421

Chances and discoveries

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a chance, a discovery, intelligence and diligence, and say it may be that.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 421: I can talk about a chance, a discovery, intelligence and diligence, and say it may be that.

421.1 فرصة (furṣa) — a chance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be equal, then the Arabic for shared.

You'll want to know: فرصة

فرصة — furṣa — "a chance".

> للتعلم جيدة فرصة الرحلة كانت.
>
> kānat ar-riḥla furṣa jayyida li-t-taᶜallum.
>
> The trip was a good chance to learn.

Plural: فرص, furaṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرصة (furṣa) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-ṣ, "a turn, an opportunity" (Lane). A furṣa is one's turn, the right moment: a chance.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: furṣa
- Say it: furṣa, once more
- Say it: kānat ar-riḥla furṣa jayyida li-t-taᶜallum. — The trip was a good chance to learn.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be equal, then the Arabic for shared, then say furṣa again

Before you move on

What does فرصة mean? ("A chance".) Say it once more.

421.2 لعل (laᶜalla) — it may be that; perhaps

Before the new one: say the Arabic for shared, then the Arabic for a chance.

You'll want to know: لعل

لعل — laᶜalla — "it may be that; perhaps".

غدا يتحسن الطقس لعل.

laᶜalla aṭ-ṭaqs yataḥassanu ghadan.

Perhaps the weather will improve tomorrow.

Like إن, it is followed by a noun or a pronoun: لعله, perhaps he.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لعل (la^{c}alla) is an old native Arabic particle of hope or expectation, perhaps. Grammarians often trace it to ^{c}alla with la-; its origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: la^{c}alla
- Say it: la^{c}alla, once more
- Say it: la^{c}alla aṭ-ṭaqs yataḥassanu ghadan. — Perhaps the weather will improve tomorrow.
- Recall: say the Arabic for shared, then the Arabic for a chance, then say la^{c}alla again

Before you move on

What does لعل mean? ("It may be that; perhaps".) Say it once more.

421.3 اكتشاف (iktishāf) — a discovery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chance, then the Arabic for it may be that.

You'll want to know: اكتشاف

اكتشاف — iktishāf — "a discovery".

للعالم مهما الدواء اكتشاف كان.

kāna iktishāf ad-dawāʾ muhimman li-l-^{c}ālam.

The discovery of the medicine was important for the world.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اكتشاف (iktishāf) is built on the native Arabic root k-sh-f, "to uncover" (Lane). Iktishāf is the Form VIII verbal noun of iktashafa, to discover: a discovery.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: iktishāf
- Say it: iktishāf, once more
- Say it: kāna iktishāf ad-dawāʾ muhimman li-l-ʿālam. — The discovery of the medicine was important for the world.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chance, then the Arabic for it may be that, then say iktishāf again

Before you move on

What does اكتشاف mean? ("A discovery".) Say it once more.

421.4 ذكاء (dhakāʾ) — intelligence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for it may be that, then the Arabic for a discovery.

You'll want to know: ذكاء

ذكاء — dhakāʾ — "intelligence".

يكفي لا وحده الذكاء.

adh-dhakāʾ waḥdahu lā yakfī.

Intelligence alone is not enough.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذكاء (dhakāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-w, usually traced to the sense "to be bright, sharp of mind". Dhakāʾ is sharpness of mind: intelligence. ذكي, clever, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: dhakāʾ
- Say it: dhakāʾ, once more
- Say it: adh-dhakāʾ waḥdahu lā yakfī. — Intelligence alone is not enough.
- Recall: say the Arabic for it may be that, then the Arabic for a discovery, then say dhakāʾ again

Before you move on

What does ذكاء mean? ("Intelligence".) Say it once more.

421.5 اجتهاد (ijtihād) — diligence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a discovery, then the Arabic for intelligence.

You'll want to know: اجتهاد

اجتهاد — ijtihād — "diligence".

باجتهاده الطالب نجح.

najaḥa aṭ-ṭālib bi-jtihādih.

The student succeeded through hard work.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اجتهاد (ijtihād) is built on the native Arabic root j-h-d, "to strive, to exert oneself" (Lane). Ijtihād is the Form VIII verbal noun, exerting oneself: diligence. مجتهد, hard-working, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ijtihād
- Say it: ijtihād, once more
- Say it: najaḥa aṭ-ṭālib bi-jtihādih. — The student succeeded through hard work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a discovery, then the Arabic for intelligence, then say ijtihād again

Before you move on

What does اجتهاد mean? ("Diligence".) Say it once more.

421.6 Words from chapters 414–421 — a review

Say the Arabic for to stem from and to follow from.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to stem from, to follow from, to be reflected, a consequence, an effect
- an achievement, to be affected, to become clear, to arrive at, a level
- to adopt, instead of, in addition to, insurance, apart from
- vague, frank, specific, to become evident, to refer
- to strengthen, to weaken, to develop, effectiveness, independent

- positive, negative, basic, secondary, comprehensive
- to respond, to ignore, to nominate, to be equal, shared
- a chance, it may be that, a discovery, intelligence, diligence

Before you move on

To stem from? (نتج, nataja.) To follow from? (ترتب, tarattaba.) To be reflected? (انعكس, inᶜakasa.) A consequence? (عاقبة, ᶜāqiba.) An effect? (تأثير, taʾthīr.) An achievement? (إنجاز, injāz.) To be affected? (تأثر, taʾaththara.) To become clear? (تبين, tabayyana.) To arrive at? (توصل, tawaṣṣala.) A level? (مستوى, mustawā.) To adopt? (تبنى, tabannā.) Instead of? (بدلا من, badalan min.) In addition to? (إلى بالإضافة, bi-l-iḍāfa ilā.) Insurance? (تأمين, taʾmīn.) Apart from? (سوى, siwā.) Vague? (غامض, ghāmiḍ.) Frank? (صريح, ṣarīḥ.) Specific? (محدد, muḥaddad.) To become evident? (اتضح, ittaḍaḥa.) To refer? (أشار, ashāra.) To strengthen? (عزز, ᶜazzaza.) To weaken? (أضعف, aḍᶜafa.) To develop? (طور, ṭawwara.) Effectiveness? (فعالية, faᶜᶜāliyya.) Independent? (مستقل, mustaqill.) Positive? (إيجابي, ījābī.) Negative? (سلبي, salbī.) Basic? (أساسي, asāsī.) Secondary? (ثانوي, thānawī.) Comprehensive? (شامل, shāmil.) To respond? (استجاب, istajāba.) To ignore? (تجاهل, tajāhala.) To nominate? (رشح, rashshaḥa.) To be equal? (تساوى, tasāwā.) Shared? (مشترك, mushtarak.) A chance? (فرصة, furṣa.) It may be that? (لعل, laᶜalla.) A discovery? (اكتشاف, iktishāf.) Intelligence? (ذكاء, dhakāʾ.) Diligence? (اجتهاد, ijtihād.)

Chapter 422

Being fair

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say objective, and talk about tolerance, a pretext and absence, and say that someone condemned something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 422: I can say objective, and talk about tolerance, a pretext and absence, and say that someone condemned something.

422.1 موضوعي (mawḍūᶜī) — objective

Before the new one: say the Arabic for intelligence, then the Arabic for diligence.

You'll want to know: موضوعي

موضوعي — mawḍūᶜī — "objective".

موضوعيا الحكم كان.

kāna al-ḥakam mawḍūᶜiyyan.

The referee was objective.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

موضوعي (mawḍūᶜī) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḍ-ᶜ, "to put, to lay down" (Lane). Mawḍūᶜī is a modern adjective from mawḍūᶜ, a subject: keeping to the thing itself, objective.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mawḍūᶜī
- Say it: mawḍūᶜī, once more
- Say it: kāna al-ḥakam mawḍūᶜiyyan. — The referee was objective.
- Recall: say the Arabic for intelligence, then the Arabic for diligence, then say mawḍūᶜī again

Before you move on

What does موضوعي mean? ("Objective".) Say it once more.

422.2 تسامح (tasāmuḥ) — tolerance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for diligence, then the Arabic for objective.

You'll want to know: تسامح

تسامح — tasāmuḥ — "tolerance".

الجيران بين مهم التسامح.

at-tasāmuḥ muhimm bayna al-jīrān.

Tolerance is important between neighbours.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسامح (tasāmuḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-ḥ, "to be generous, to grant" (Lane). Tasāmuḥ is the Form VI verbal noun, being generous with one another: tolerance. سامح, to forgive, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: tasāmuḥ
- Say it: tasāmuḥ, once more
- Say it: at-tasāmuḥ muhimm bayna al-jīrān. — Tolerance is important between neighbours.
- Recall: say the Arabic for diligence, then the Arabic for objective, then say tasāmuḥ again

Before you move on

What does تسامح mean? ("Tolerance".) Say it once more.

422.3 مبرر (mubarrir) — a justification; a pretext

Before the new one: say the Arabic for objective, then the Arabic for tolerance.

You'll want to know: مبرر

مبرر — mubarrir — "a justification; a pretext".

لا يوجد مبرر لهذا التأخير.

lā yūjadu mubarrir li-hādhā at-taʾkhīr.

There is no justification for this delay.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبرر (mubarrir) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-r, "to be true, to be good" (Lane). Mubarrir is the Form II active participle, what shows a thing to be right: a justification, a pretext.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: mubarrir
- Say it: mubarrir, once more
- Say it: lā yūjadu mubarrir li-hādhā at-taʾkhīr. — There is no justification for this delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for objective, then the Arabic for tolerance, then say mubarrir again

Before you move on

What does مبرر mean? ("A justification; a pretext".) Say it once more.

422.4 غياب (ghiyāb) — absence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tolerance, then the Arabic for a justification.

You'll want to know: غياب

غياب — ghiyāb — "absence".

الطالب غياب المعلم لاحظ.

lāḥaẓa al-muᶜallim ghiyāb aṭ-ṭālib.

The teacher noticed the student's absence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غياب (ghiyāb) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-b, "to be absent, hidden" (Lane). Ghiyāb is a verbal noun: being away, absence.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: ghiyāb
- Say it: ghiyāb, once more
- Say it: lāḥaẓa al-muᶜallim ghiyāb aṭ-ṭālib. — The teacher noticed the student's absence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for tolerance, then the Arabic for a justification, then say ghiyāb again

Before you move on

What does غياب mean? ("Absence".) Say it once more.

422.5 استنكر (istankara) — to condemn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a justification, then the Arabic for absence.

You'll want to know: استنكر

استنكر — istankara — "to condemn".

الشارع في العنف الناس استنكر.

istankara an-nās al-ᶜunf fī ash-shāriᶜ.

People condemned the violence in the street.

Present: يستنكر, yastankir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استنكر (istankara) is built on the native Arabic root n-k-r, "not to know, to deny" (Lane). It is Form X, to hold a thing to be wrong: to condemn.

What you've built

One more word for saying what happens if.

Your turn

- Say it: istankara
- Say it: istankara, once more
- Say it: istankara an-nās al-ᶜunf fī ash-shāriᶜ. — People condemned the violence in the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a justification, then the Arabic for absence, then say istankara again

Before you move on

What does استنكر mean? ("To condemn".) Say it once more.

422.6 Being fair — a review

Say the Arabic for objective and tolerance.

Your turn

- Say it: objective, tolerance, a justification, absence, to condemn

Before you move on

Objective? (موضوعي, mawḍūᶜī.) Tolerance? (تسامح, tasāmuḥ.) A justification? (مبرر, mubarrir.) Absence? (غياب, ghiyāb.) To condemn? (استنكر, istankara.)

422.7 Being fair — once more

Say the Arabic for objective and tolerance.

Your turn

- Say it: objective, tolerance, a justification, absence, to condemn

Before you move on

Objective? (موضوعي, mawḍūᶜī.) Tolerance? (تسامح, tasāmuḥ.) A justification? (مبرر, mubarrir.) Absence? (غياب, ghiyāb.) To condemn? (استنكر, istankara.)

Chapter 423

At the gate

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a gate, a seat, to reserve, boarding and a runway.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 423: I can say a gate, a seat, to reserve, boarding and a runway.

423.1 بوابة (bawwāba) — a gate; a gateway

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber.

You'll want to know: بوابة

بوابة — bawwāba — "a gate; a gateway".

> البوابة عند المسافرون انتظر.
>
> intaẓara al-musāfirūn ᶜinda al-bawwāba.
>
> The travellers waited at the gate.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بوابة (bawwāba) is built on the native Arabic root b-w-b, "a door" (Lane). It shares its root with bāb, "a door"; Lane gives bawwāb, "a door-keeper", on the same root, and modern Arabic uses bawwāba for a gate or a gateway.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: bawwāba
- Say it: bawwāba, once more
- Say it: intaẓara al-musāfirūn ᶜinda al-bawwāba. — The travellers waited at the gate.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber, then say bawwāba again

Before you move on

What does بوابة mean? ("A gate; a gateway".) Say it once more.

423.2 مقعد (maqᶜad) — a seat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for a gate.

You'll want to know: مقعد

مقعد — maqᶜad — "a seat".

جلست في مقعد بجانب النافذة.

jalastu fī maqᶜad bi-jānib an-nāfidha.

I sat in a seat beside the window.

Plural: مقاعد, maqāᶜid.
The pattern mafᶜal names a place: maqᶜad is the place where one sits.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقعد (maqᶜad) is built on the native Arabic root q-ᶜ-d, "to sit down" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maqᶜad
- Say it: maqᶜad, once more
- Say it: jalastu fī maqᶜad bi-jānib an-nāfidha. — I sat in a seat beside the window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for a gate, then say maqᶜad again

Before you move on

What does مقعد mean? ("A seat".) Say it once more.

423.3 حجز (ḥajaza) — to reserve; to book

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a gate, then the Arabic for a seat.

You'll want to know: حجز

حجز — ḥajaza — "to reserve; to book".

حجزت مقعدا في القطار.

ḥajaztu maqᶜadan fī al-qiṭār.

I booked a seat on the train.

Present: يحجز, yaḥjiz.

Lane gives the present both as yaḥjizu and yaḥjuzu. The noun ḥajz is a booking.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حجز (ḥajaza) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-z, "to hold back, to withhold" (Lane). A booking holds a place back for someone. It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥajaza
- Say it: ḥajaza, once more
- Say it: ḥajaztu maqᶜadan fī al-qiṭār. — I booked a seat on the train.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a gate, then the Arabic for a seat, then say ḥajaza again

Before you move on

What does حجز mean? ("To reserve; to book".) Say it once more.

423.4 صعود (ṣuᶜūd) — boarding; going up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a seat, then the Arabic for to reserve.

You'll want to know: صعود

صعود — ṣuᶜūd — "boarding; going up".

التأخير بعد الصعود بدأ.

badaʾa aṣ-ṣuᶜūd baᶜda at-taʾkhīr.

Boarding began after the delay.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صعود (ṣu^{c}ūd) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-^{c}-d, "to go up, to ascend" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of ṣa^{c}ida, "to go up".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣu^{c}ūd
- Say it: ṣu^{c}ūd, once more
- Say it: bada^{ʾ}a aṣ-ṣu^{c}ūd ba^{c}da at-ta^{ʾ}khīr. — Boarding began after the delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a seat, then the Arabic for to reserve, then say ṣu^{c}ūd again

Before you move on

What does صعود mean? ("Boarding; going up".) Say it once more.

423.5 مدرج (madraj) — a runway

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to reserve, then the Arabic for boarding.

You'll want to know: مدرج

مدرج — madraj — "a runway".

المدرج على تنتظر الرحلة كانت.

kānat ar-riḥla tantaẓiru ^{c}alā al-madraj.

The flight was waiting on the runway.

Plural: مدارج, madārij.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مدرج (madraj) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-j, "to go step by step" (Lane). Lane gives madraj as a way or route one goes along; modern Arabic gave the word the runway.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: madraj
- Say it: madraj, once more
- Say it: kānat ar-riḥla tantaẓiru ᶜalā al-madraj. — The flight was waiting on the runway.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to reserve, then the Arabic for boarding, then say madraj again

Before you move on

What does مدرج mean? ("A runway".) Say it once more.

Chapter 424

Takeoff and landing

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to lift off, to land, takeoff, a seat belt and a crew.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 424: I can say to lift off, to land, takeoff, a seat belt and a crew.

424.1 أقلع (aqla^{c}a) — to lift off; to take off (of a plane)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for boarding, then the Arabic for a runway.

You'll want to know: أقلع

أقلع — aqla^{c}a — "to lift off; to take off (of a plane)".

> أقلعت الرحلة متأخرة بسبب الضباب.
>
> aqla^{c}at ar-riḥla muta^{ɔ}akhkhira bi-sabab aḍ-ḍabāb.
>
> The flight took off late because of the fog.

Present: يقلع, yuqli^c.
With ^{c}an it means to give up a habit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أقلع (aqla^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-^{c}, "to pull up, to uproot" (Lane). Aqla^{c}a is Form IV; the same root gives qil^c, usually glossed as the sail of a ship.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: aqla^{c}a
- Say it: aqla^{c}a, once more
- Say it: aqla^{c}at ar-riḥla muta^{ʾ}akhkhira bi-sabab aḍ-ḍabāb. — The flight took off late because of the fog.
- Recall: say the Arabic for boarding, then the Arabic for a runway, then say aqla^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does أقلع mean? ("To lift off; to take off (of a plane)".) Say it once more.

424.2 هبط (habaṭa) — to land; to go down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a runway, then the Arabic for to lift off.

You'll want to know: هبط

هبط — habaṭa — "to land; to go down".

صغير مطار في الرحلة هبطت.

habaṭat ar-riḥla fī maṭār ṣaghīr.

The flight landed at a small airport.

Present: يهبط, yahbiṭ.
Lane gives the present both as yahbiṭu and yahbuṭu; hubūṭ is a landing.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هبط (habaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root h-b-ṭ, "to descend, to go down" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: habaṭa
- Say it: habaṭa, once more
- Say it: habaṭat ar-riḥla fī maṭār ṣaghīr. — The flight landed at a small airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a runway, then the Arabic for to lift off, then say habaṭa again

Before you move on

What does هبط mean? ("To land; to go down".) Say it once more.

424.3 إقلاع (iqlāᶜ) — takeoff

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lift off, then the Arabic for to land.

You'll want to know: إقلاع

إقلاع — iqlāᶜ — "takeoff".

الإقلاع قبل مقاعدهم في المسافرون جلس.

jalasa al-musāfirūn fī maqāᶜidihim qabla al-iqlāᶜ.

The passengers sat in their seats before takeoff.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إقلاع (iqlāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-ᶜ, "to pull up, to uproot" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form IV aqlaᶜa, "to take off".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iqlāᶜ
- Say it: iqlāᶜ, once more
- Say it: jalasa al-musāfirūn fī maqāᶜidihim qabla al-iqlāᶜ. — The passengers sat in their seats before takeoff.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lift off, then the Arabic for to land, then say iqlāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does إقلاع mean? ("Takeoff".) Say it once more.

424.4 حزام أمان (ḥizām amān) — a seat belt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to land, then the Arabic for takeoff.

You'll want to know: أمان حزام

أمان حزام — ḥizām amān — "a seat belt".

الأمان حزام الطفل ربط.

rabaṭa aṭ-ṭifl ḥizām al-amān.

The child fastened the seat belt.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حزام أمان (ḥizām amān) is built from two native Arabic words: ḥizām, "a belt", on the root ḥ-z-m, "to bind, to tie up" (Lane), and amān, "safety", on the root ʾ-m-n, "to be safe" (Lane): a belt of safety.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥizām amān
- Say it: ḥizām amān, once more
- Say it: rabaṭa aṭ-ṭifl ḥizām al-amān. — The child fastened the seat belt.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to land, then the Arabic for takeoff, then say ḥizām amān again

Before you move on

What does حزام أمان mean? ("A seat belt".) Say it once more.

424.5 طاقم (ṭāqam) — a crew; a set

Before the new one: say the Arabic for takeoff, then the Arabic for a seat belt.

You'll want to know: طاقم

طاقم — ṭāqam — "a crew; a set".

جدا لطيفا الرحلة طاقم كان.

kāna ṭāqam ar-riḥla laṭīfan jiddan.

The flight crew was very kind.

It also names a matching set: ṭāqam shāy, a tea set.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طاقم (ṭāqam) was borrowed from Ottoman Turkish (EtymDB), where takım means a set or a team.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭāqam
- Say it: ṭāqam, once more
- Say it: kāna ṭāqam ar-riḥla laṭīfan jiddan. — The flight crew was very kind.
- Recall: say the Arabic for takeoff, then the Arabic for a seat belt, then say ṭāqam again

Before you move on

What does طاقم mean? ("A crew; a set".) Say it once more.

Chapter 425

On board

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a flight attendant, a passenger, a destination, to tighten and arrival.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 425: I can say a flight attendant, a passenger, a destination, to tighten and arrival.

425.1 مضيف (muḍīf) — a flight attendant; a host

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a seat belt, then the Arabic for a crew.

You'll want to know: مضيف

مضيف — muḍīf — "a flight attendant; a host".

> لأمي ماء كوب المضيف أحضر.
>
> aḥḍara al-muḍīf kūb māʾ li-ummī.
>
> The flight attendant brought my mother a cup of water.

A woman is muḍīfa.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مضيف (muḍīf) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-f, "to be a guest" (Lane). It is the Form IV participle, "one who takes in guests": a host, and on a plane a flight attendant.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muḍīf
- Say it: muḍīf, once more
- Say it: aḥḍara al-muḍīf kūb māʾ li-ummī. — The flight attendant brought my mother a cup of water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a seat belt, then the Arabic for a crew, then say muḍīf again

Before you move on

What does مضيف mean? ("A flight attendant; a host".) Say it once more.

425.2 راكب (rākib) — a passenger; a rider

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crew, then the Arabic for a flight attendant.

You'll want to know: راكب

راكب — rākib — "a passenger; a rider".

الرحلة أثناء بجانبي راكب نام.

nāma rākib bi-jānibī athnāʾa ar-riḥla.

A passenger beside me slept during the flight.

Plural: ركاب, rukkāb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

راكب (rākib) is built on the native Arabic root r-k-b, "to ride" (Lane). It is the active participle of rakiba, "to ride": one who rides.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rākib
- Say it: rākib, once more
- Say it: nāma rākib bi-jānibī athnāʾa ar-riḥla. — A passenger beside me slept during the flight.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crew, then the Arabic for a flight attendant, then say rākib again

Before you move on

What does راكب mean? ("A passenger; a rider".) Say it once more.

425.3 وجهة (wijha) — a destination; a direction

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a flight attendant, then the Arabic for a passenger.

You'll want to know: وجهة

وجهة — wijha — "a destination; a direction".

البحر على مدينة وجهتنا.

wijhatunā madīna ʿalā al-baḥr.

Our destination is a city by the sea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وجهة (wijha) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-h, "the face; to face" (Lane). A wijha is the place one turns one's face towards.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: wijha
- Say it: wijha, once more
- Say it: wijhatunā madīna ᶜalā al-baḥr. — Our destination is a city by the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a flight attendant, then the Arabic for a passenger, then say wijha again

Before you move on

What does وجهة mean? ("A destination; a direction".) Say it once more.

425.4 شد (shadda) — to tighten; to fasten

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a passenger, then the Arabic for a destination.

You'll want to know: شد

شد — shadda — "to tighten; to fasten".

شد حزامه الراكب قبل الهبوط.

shadda ar-rākib ḥizāmahu qabla al-hubūṭ.

The passenger fastened his belt before landing.

Present: يشد, yashudd.
A doubled verb: shadadtu, "I tightened", unfolds the two d's.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شد (shadda) is built on the native Arabic root sh-d-d, "to be firm; to bind tightly" (Lane). It is the plain verb of a doubled root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: shadda
- Say it: shadda, once more
- Say it: shadda ar-rākib ḥizāmahu qabla al-hubūṭ. — The passenger fastened his belt before landing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a passenger, then the Arabic for a destination, then say shadda again

Before you move on

What does شد mean? ("To tighten; to fasten".) Say it once more.

425.5 وصول (wuṣūl) — arrival

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a destination, then the Arabic for to tighten.

You'll want to know: وصول

وصول — wuṣūl — "arrival".

الوصول بعد بأمي اتصلت.

ittaṣaltu bi-ummī ba^{c}da al-wuṣūl.

I phoned my mother after arrival.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وصول (wuṣūl) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to arrive, to reach" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of waṣala, "to arrive".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: wuṣūl
- Say it: wuṣūl, once more
- Say it: ittaṣaltu bi-ummī baᶜda al-wuṣūl. — I phoned my mother after arrival.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a destination, then the Arabic for to tighten, then say wuṣūl again

Before you move on

What does وصول mean? ("Arrival".) Say it once more.

Chapter 426

Through customs

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say customs, to search, to stamp, to empty out and to confiscate.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 426: I can say customs, to search, to stamp, to empty out and to confiscate.

426.1 جمارك (jamārik) — customs (at a border)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tighten, then the Arabic for arrival.

You'll want to know: جمارك

جمارك — jamārik — "customs (at a border)".

> طويلة مدة الجمارك في وقفنا.
>
> waqafnā fī al-jamārik mudda ṭawīla.
>
> We stood in customs for a long time.

The singular جمرك (jumruk) names one customs post; the plural names the service.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جمارك (jamārik) is usually traced to Turkish gümrük, which goes back to Greek kommerkion, a duty on trade.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jamārik
- Say it: jamārik, once more
- Say it: waqafnā fī al-jamārik mudda ṭawīla. — We stood in customs for a long time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tighten, then the Arabic for arrival, then say jamārik again

Before you move on

What does جمارك mean? ("Customs (at a border)".) Say it once more.

426.2 فتش (fattasha) — to search; to inspect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for arrival, then the Arabic for customs.

You'll want to know: فتش

فتش — fattasha — "to search; to inspect".

الجمارك في حقيبتي الموظف فتش.

fattasha al-muwaẓẓaf ḥaqībatī fī al-jamārik.

The officer searched my bag at customs.

Present: يفتش, yufattish.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فتش (fattasha) is built on the native Arabic root f-t-sh, "to search" (Lane). It is Form II, "to search thoroughly".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: fattasha
- Say it: fattasha, once more
- Say it: fattasha al-muwaẓẓaf ḥaqībatī fī al-jamārik. — The officer searched my bag at customs.
- Recall: say the Arabic for arrival, then the Arabic for customs, then say fattasha again

Before you move on

What does فتش mean? ("To search; to inspect".) Say it once more.

426.3 ختم (khatama) — to stamp; to seal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for customs, then the Arabic for to search.

You'll want to know: ختم

ختم — khatama — "to stamp; to seal".

الوصول عند جوازي الموظف ختم.

khatama al-muwaẓẓaf jawāzī ᶜinda al-wuṣūl.

The officer stamped my passport on arrival.

Present: يختم, yakhtim.
The noun khatm is a stamp; khatama also means to finish.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ختم (khatama) is built on the native Arabic root kh-t-m, "to seal" (Lane). It is the root of khātam, "a ring", once a seal ring.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khatama
- Say it: khatama, once more
- Say it: khatama al-muwaẓẓaf jawāzī ᶜinda al-wuṣūl. — The officer stamped my passport on arrival.
- Recall: say the Arabic for customs, then the Arabic for to search, then say khatama again

Before you move on

What does ختم mean? ("To stamp; to seal".) Say it once more.

426.4 أفرغ (afragha) — to empty out; to unpack

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to search, then the Arabic for to stamp.

You'll want to know: أفرغ

أفرغ — afragha — "to empty out; to unpack".

الموظف أمام حقيبته المسافر أفرغ.

afragha al-musāfir ḥaqībatahu amāma al-muwaẓẓaf.

The traveller emptied out his bag in front of the officer.

Present: يفرغ, yufrigh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أفرغ (afragha) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-gh, "to be empty, to be free" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make empty", beside fārigh, "empty".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: afragha
- Say it: afragha, once more
- Say it: afragha al-musāfir ḥaqībatahu amāma al-muwaẓẓaf. — The traveller emptied out his bag in front of the officer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to search, then the Arabic for to stamp, then say afragha again

Before you move on

What does أفرغ mean? ("To empty out; to unpack".) Say it once more.

426.5 صادر (ṣādara) — to confiscate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stamp, then the Arabic for to empty out.

You'll want to know: صادر

صادر — ṣādara — "to confiscate".

حقيبتي من العسل الجمارك موظف صادر.

ṣādara muwaẓẓaf al-jamārik al-ᶜasal min ḥaqībatī.

The customs officer confiscated the honey from my bag.

Present: يصادر, yuṣādir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صادر (ṣādara) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-r, "to come forth" (Lane). It is Form III.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣādara
- Say it: ṣādara, once more
- Say it: ṣādara muwaẓẓaf al-jamārik al-ᶜasal min ḥaqībatī. — The customs officer confiscated the honey from my bag.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stamp, then the Arabic for to empty out, then say ṣādara again

Before you move on

What does صادر mean? ("To confiscate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 427

Planning a trip

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a distance, to make sure, to adjust, to hire and a backpack.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 427: I can say a distance, to make sure, to adjust, to hire and a backpack.

427.1 مسافة (masāfa) — a distance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to empty out, then the Arabic for to confiscate.

You'll want to know: مسافة

مسافة — masāfa — "a distance".

قصيرة المدينة إلى القرية من المسافة.

al-masāfa min al-qarya ilā al-madīna qaṣīra.

The distance from the village to the city is short.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسافة (masāfa) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-f, "to smell" (Lane). Lane records the old account: a desert guide smelled the ground to know the way, so the stretch he sniffed out was a masāfa.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: masāfa
- Say it: masāfa, once more
- Say it: al-masāfa min al-qarya ilā al-madīna qaṣīra. — The distance from the village to the city is short.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to empty out, then the Arabic for to confiscate, then say masāfa again

Before you move on

What does مسافة mean? ("A distance".) Say it once more.

427.2 تأكد (taʾakkada) — to make sure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to confiscate, then the Arabic for a distance.

You'll want to know: تأكد

تأكد — taʾakkada — "to make sure".

الحجز من أبي تأكد.

taʾakkada abī min al-ḥajz.

My father made sure of the booking.

Present: يتأكد, yataʾakkad.
It takes min: taʾakkada min, "to make sure of".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأكد (taʾakkada) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-k-d, "to make firm" (Lane). It is Form V, "to become firm in one's mind"; mutaʾakkid, "sure", is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾakkada
- Say it: taʾakkada, once more
- Say it: taʾakkada abī min al-ḥajz. — My father made sure of the booking.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to confiscate, then the Arabic for a distance, then say taʾakkada again

Before you move on

What does تأكد mean? ("To make sure".) Say it once more.

427.3 عدل (ᶜaddala) — to adjust; to modify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a distance, then the Arabic for to make sure.

You'll want to know: عدل

عدل — ᶜaddala — "to adjust; to modify".

المطر بسبب الرحلة خطة عدلنا.

ᶜaddalnā khuṭṭat ar-riḥla bi-sabab al-maṭar.

We adjusted the trip plan because of the rain.

Present: يعدل, yuᶜaddil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عدل (ᶜaddala) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-l, "to be even, balanced" (Lane). It is Form II, "to make even, to set straight".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaddala
- Say it: ᶜaddala, once more
- Say it: ᶜaddalnā khuṭṭat ar-riḥla bi-sabab al-maṭar. — We adjusted the trip plan because of the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a distance, then the Arabic for to make sure, then say ᶜaddala again

Before you move on

What does عدل mean? ("To adjust; to modify".) Say it once more.

427.4 استأجر (istaʾjara) — to hire; to rent (from someone)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make sure, then the Arabic for to adjust.

You'll want to know: استأجر

استأجر — istaʾjara — "to hire; to rent (from someone)".

المطار في صغيرة سيارة استأجرنا.

istaʾjarnā sayyāra ṣaghīra fī al-maṭār.

We hired a small car at the airport.

Present: يستأجر, yastaʾjir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استأجر (*ista*ʾ*jara*) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-j-r, "a wage, a reward" (Lane). It is Form X, "to take something for a payment"; ījār, "rent", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- *Say it: ista*ʾ*jara*
- *Say it: ista*ʾ*jara*, once more
- *Say it: ista*ʾ*jarnā sayyāra ṣaghīra fī al-maṭār.* — We hired a small car at the airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make sure, then the Arabic for to adjust, then say *ista*ʾ*jara* again

Before you move on

What does استأجر mean? ("To hire; to rent (from someone)".) Say it once more.

427.5 ظهر حقيبة (ḥaqībat ẓahr) — a backpack

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to adjust, then the Arabic for to hire.

You'll want to know: ظهر حقيبة

ظهر حقيبة — ḥaqībat ẓahr — "a backpack".

حمل أخي حقيبة ظهر كبيرة.

ḥamala akhī ḥaqībat ẓahr kabīra.

My brother carried a big backpack.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حقيبة ظهر (ḥaqībat ẓahr) is built from two native Arabic words: ḥaqība, "a bag", on the root ḥ-q-b (Lane), and ẓahr, "the back", on the root ẓ-h-r (Lane): a bag for the back.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaqībat ẓahr
- Say it: ḥaqībat ẓahr, once more
- Say it: ḥamala akhī ḥaqībat ẓahr kabīra. — My brother carried a big backpack.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to adjust, then the Arabic for to hire, then say ḥaqībat ẓahr again

Before you move on

What does حقيبة ظهر mean? ("A backpack".) Say it once more.

Chapter 428

On the railway

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a railway, a carriage, a compartment, the metro and to unload.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 428: I can say a railway, a carriage, a compartment, the metro and to unload.

428.1 حديد سكة (sikkat ḥadīd) — a railway

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hire, then the Arabic for a backpack.

You'll want to know: حديد سكة

حديد سكة — sikkat ḥadīd — "a railway".

قرن قبل قريتنا إلى الحديد سكة وصلت.

waṣalat sikkat al-ḥadīd ilā qaryatinā qabla qarn.

The railway reached our village a century ago.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حديد سكة (sikkat ḥadīd) is built from two native Arabic words: sikka, a straight road or row, on the root s-k-k (Lane), and ḥadīd, "iron", on the root ḥ-d-d (Lane): a road of iron.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: sikkat ḥadīd
- Say it: sikkat ḥadīd, once more
- Say it: waṣalat sikkat al-ḥadīd ilā qaryatinā qabla qarn. — The railway reached our village a century ago.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hire, then the Arabic for a backpack, then say sikkat ḥadīd again

Before you move on

What does سكة حديد mean? ("A railway".) Say it once more.

428.2 عربة (ᶜaraba) — a carriage; a cart

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a backpack, then the Arabic for a railway.

You'll want to know: عربة

عربة — ᶜaraba — "a carriage; a cart".

القطار من الأخيرة العربة في جلسنا.

jalasnā fī al-ᶜaraba al-akhīra min al-qiṭār.

We sat in the last carriage of the train.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عربة (ᶜaraba) names a cart and a railway carriage; the origin is not settled, and some trace it to Turkish araba.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaraba
- Say it: ᶜaraba, once more
- Say it: jalasnā fī al-ᶜaraba al-akhīra min al-qiṭār. — We sat in the last carriage of the train.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a backpack, then the Arabic for a railway, then say ᶜaraba again

Before you move on

What does عربة mean? ("A carriage; a cart".) Say it once more.

428.3 مقصورة (maqṣūra) — a compartment; a cabin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a railway, then the Arabic for a carriage.

You'll want to know: مقصورة

مقصورة — maqṣūra — "a compartment; a cabin".

بالمسافرين مزدحمة المقصورة كانت.

kānat al-maqṣūra muzdaḥima bi-l-musāfirīn.

The compartment was crowded with travellers.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقصورة (maqṣūra) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-r, "to confine, to keep within bounds" (Lane). It is a passive participle: a space closed off, a compartment.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maqṣūra
- Say it: maqṣūra, once more
- Say it: kānat al-maqṣūra muzdaḥima bi-l-musāfirīn. — The compartment was crowded with travellers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a railway, then the Arabic for a carriage, then say maqṣūra again

Before you move on

What does مقصورة mean? ("A compartment; a cabin".) Say it once more.

428.4 مترو (mitrū) — the metro; the underground

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a carriage, then the Arabic for a compartment.

You'll want to know: مترو

مترو — mitrū — "the metro; the underground".

بالمترو العمل إلى أبي يذهب.

yadhhabu abī ilā al-ᶜamal bi-l-mitrū.

My father goes to work by metro.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مترو (mitrū) is usually traced to French métro, short for métropolitain.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mitrū
- Say it: mitrū, once more
- Say it: yadhhabu abī ilā al-ᶜamal bi-l-mitrū. — My father goes to work by metro.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a carriage, then the Arabic for a compartment, then say mitrū again

Before you move on

What does مترو mean? ("The metro; the underground".) Say it once more.

428.5 أنزل (anzala) — to unload; to bring down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a compartment, then the Arabic for the metro.

You'll want to know: أنزل

أنزل — anzala — "to unload; to bring down".

القطار من الأمتعة أبي أنزل.

anzala abī al-amtiᶜa min al-qiṭār.

My father unloaded the luggage from the train.

Present: ينزل, yunzil.

Unvocalized, its present ينزل looks like that of nazala, "to go down" (yanzil).

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنزل (anzala) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-l, "to come down, to alight" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to bring down".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: anzala
- Say it: anzala, once more
- Say it: anzala abī al-amtiᶜa min al-qiṭār. — My father unloaded the luggage from the train.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a compartment, then the Arabic for the metro, then say anzala again

Before you move on

What does أنزل mean? ("To unload; to bring down".) Say it once more.

Chapter 429

By boat

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a captain, a boat, a ferry, to sail and to dock.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 429: I can say a captain, a boat, a ferry, to sail and to dock.

429.1 قبطان (qubṭān) — a captain (of a ship)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the metro, then the Arabic for to unload.

You'll want to know: قبطان

قبطان — qubṭān — "a captain (of a ship)".

الركاب مع القبطان تكلم.

takallama al-qubṭān maᶜa ar-rukkāb.

The captain spoke with the passengers.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قبطان (qubṭān) was borrowed from Latin capitaneus, "a chief" (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qubṭān
- Say it: qubṭān, once more
- Say it: takallama al-qubṭān maᶜa ar-rukkāb. — The captain spoke with the passengers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the metro, then the Arabic for to unload, then say qubṭān again

Before you move on

What does قبطان mean? ("A captain (of a ship)".) Say it once more.

429.2 قارب (qārib) — a boat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to unload, then the Arabic for a captain.

You'll want to know: قارب

قارب — qārib — "a boat".

الجزيرة إلى صغيرا قاربا ركبنا.

rakibnā qāriban ṣaghīran ilā al-jazīra.

We took a small boat to the island.

Plural: قوارب, qawārib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قارب (qārib) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-b, "to be near" (Lane). Lane lists qārib as a separate sense of the root: a ship's small boat, a skiff the seamen use for their errands.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qārib
- Say it: qārib, once more
- Say it: rakibnā qāriban ṣaghīran ilā al-jazīra. — We took a small boat to the island.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to unload, then the Arabic for a captain, then say qārib again

Before you move on

What does قارب mean? ("A boat".) Say it once more.

429.3 عبارة (ᶜabbāra) — a ferry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a captain, then the Arabic for a boat.

You'll want to know: عبارة

عبارة — ᶜabbāra — "a ferry".

بالعبارة النهر عبرنا.

ᶜabarnā an-nahr bi-l-ᶜabbāra.

We crossed the river by ferry.

Unvocalized, the same letters spell ᶜibāra, "a phrase".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عبارة (ᶜabbāra) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-b-r, "to cross" (Lane). The pattern faᶜᶜāla names a thing that does an action again and again: the crosser.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜabbāra
- Say it: ᶜabbāra, once more
- Say it: ᶜabarnā an-nahr bi-l-ᶜabbāra. — We crossed the river by ferry.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a captain, then the Arabic for a boat, then say ᶜabbāra again

Before you move on

What does عبارة mean? ("A ferry".) Say it once more.

429.4 أبحر (abḥara) — to sail; to set sail

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a boat, then the Arabic for a ferry.

You'll want to know: أبحر

أبحر — abḥara — "to sail; to set sail".

الفجر مع السفينة أبحرت.

abḥarat as-safīna maᶜa al-fajr.

The ship set sail at dawn.

Present: يبحر, yubḥir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أبحر (abḥara) is built on the native Arabic root b-ḥ-r, "the sea" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to go out to sea".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: abḥara
- Say it: abḥara, once more
- Say it: abḥarat as-safīna maᶜa al-fajr. — The ship set sail at dawn.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a boat, then the Arabic for a ferry, then say abḥara again

Before you move on

What does أبحر mean? ("To sail; to set sail".) Say it once more.

429.5 رسا (rasā) — to dock; to anchor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ferry, then the Arabic for to sail.

You'll want to know: رسا

رسا — rasā — "to dock; to anchor".

رست السفينة في الميناء بعد الظهر.

rasat as-safīna fī al-mīnāʾ baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr.

The ship docked in the port in the afternoon.

Present: يرسو, yarsū.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسا (rasā) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-w, "to be firm, fixed" (Lane). Lane gives it of a mountain standing firm and of a ship coming to anchor.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rasā
- Say it: rasā, once more
- Say it: rasat as-safīna fī al-mīnāʾ baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr. — The ship docked in the port in the afternoon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ferry, then the Arabic for to sail, then say rasā again

Before you move on

What does رسا mean? ("To dock; to anchor".) Say it once more.

Chapter 430

In the harbour

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a harbour, an anchorage, a lighthouse, a dinghy and to row.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 430: I can say a harbour, an anchorage, a lighthouse, a dinghy and to row.

430.1 مرفأ (marfaʾ) — a harbour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sail, then the Arabic for to dock.

You'll want to know: مرفأ

مرفأ — marfaʾ — "a harbour".

> المرفأ في الصيادين قوارب كانت.
>
> kānat qawārib aṣ-ṣayyādīn fī al-marfaʾ.
>
> The fishermen's boats were in the harbour.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرفأ (marfaʾ) is usually traced to the native Arabic root r-f-ʾ, "to bring a ship close to the shore". The pattern mafᶜal makes it a place.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: marfaʾ
- Say it: marfaʾ, once more
- Say it: kānat qawārib aṣ-ṣayyādīn fī al-marfaʾ. — The fishermen's boats were in the harbour.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sail, then the Arabic for to dock, then say marfaʾ again

Before you move on

What does مرفأ mean? ("A harbour".) Say it once more.

430.2 مرسى (marsā) — an anchorage; a mooring

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to dock, then the Arabic for a harbour.

You'll want to know: مرسى

مرسى — marsā — "an anchorage; a mooring".

وجد القبطان مرسى آمنا للقارب.

wajada al-qubṭān marsā āminan li-l-qārib.

The captain found a safe anchorage for the boat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرسى (marsā) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-w, "to be firm, fixed" (Lane). It is the place-noun of rasā, "to anchor".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: marsā
- Say it: marsā, once more
- Say it: wajada al-qubṭān marsā āminan li-l-qārib. — The captain found a safe anchorage for the boat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to dock, then the Arabic for a harbour, then say marsā again

Before you move on

What does مرسى mean? ("An anchorage; a mooring".) Say it once more.

430.3 منارة (manāra) — a lighthouse; a minaret

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a harbour, then the Arabic for an anchorage.

You'll want to know: منارة

منارة — manāra — "a lighthouse; a minaret".

بعيد من المنارة ضوء رأينا.

raʾaynā ḍawʾ al-manāra min baᶜīd.

We saw the lighthouse's light from far away.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منارة (manāra) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-r, "light" (Lane). It names a place of light; EtymDB lists Aramaic and Hebrew relatives for a lamp-stand.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: manāra
- Say it: manāra, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā ḍawʾ al-manāra min baᶜīd. — We saw the lighthouse's light from far away.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a harbour, then the Arabic for an anchorage, then say manāra again

Before you move on

What does منارة mean? ("A lighthouse; a minaret".) Say it once more.

430.4 زورق (zawraq) — a dinghy; a small boat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an anchorage, then the Arabic for a lighthouse.

You'll want to know: زورق

زورق — zawraq — "a dinghy; a small boat".

قديم زورق في صياد خرج.

kharaja ṣayyād fī zawraq qadīm.

A fisherman went out in an old dinghy.

Plural: زوارق, zawāriq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زورق (zawraq) was borrowed from Persian (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: zawraq
- Say it: zawraq, once more
- Say it: kharaja ṣayyād fī zawraq qadīm. — A fisherman went out in an old dinghy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an anchorage, then the Arabic for a lighthouse, then say zawraq again

Before you move on

What does زورق mean? ("A dinghy; a small boat".) Say it once more.

430.5 جدف (jaddafa) — to row

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lighthouse, then the Arabic for a dinghy.

You'll want to know: جدف

جدف — jaddafa — "to row".

الجزيرة نحو أخي جدف.

jaddafa akhī naḥwa al-jazīra.

My brother rowed towards the island.

Present: يجدف, yujaddif.
An oar is mijdāf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدف (jaddafa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root j-d-f, "to row". It is Form II.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jaddafa
- Say it: jaddafa, once more
- Say it: jaddafa akhī naḥwa al-jazīra. — My brother rowed towards the island.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lighthouse, then the Arabic for a dinghy, then say jaddafa again

Before you move on

What does جدف mean? ("To row".) Say it once more.

430.6 Getting around — a review

Say the Arabic for a gate and a seat.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a gate, a seat, to reserve, boarding, a runway
- to lift off, to land, takeoff, a seat belt, a crew
- a flight attendant, a passenger, a destination, to tighten, arrival
- customs, to search, to stamp, to empty out, to confiscate
- a distance, to make sure, to adjust, to hire, a backpack
- a railway, a carriage, a compartment, the metro, to unload
- a captain, a boat, a ferry, to sail, to dock
- a harbour, an anchorage, a lighthouse, a dinghy, to row

Before you move on

A gate? (بوابة, bawwāba.) A seat? (مقعد, maqᶜad.) To reserve? (حجز, ḥajaza.) Boarding? (صعود, ṣuᶜūd.) A runway? (مدرج, madraj.) To lift off? (أقلع, aqlaᶜa.) To land? (هبط, habaṭa.) Takeoff? (إقلاع, iqlāᶜ.) A seat belt? (حزام أمان, ḥizām amān.) A crew? (طاقم, ṭāqam.) A flight attendant? (مضيف, muḍīf.) A passenger? (راكب, rākib.) A destination? (وجهة, wijha.) To tighten? (شد, shadda.) Arrival? (وصول, wuṣūl.) Customs? (جمارك, jamārik.) To search? (فتش, fattasha.) To stamp? (ختم, khatama.) To empty out? (أفرغ, afragha.) To confiscate? (صادر, ṣādara.) A distance? (مسافة, masāfa.) To make sure? (تأكد, taʾakkada.) To adjust? (عدل, ᶜaddala.) To hire? (استأجر, istaʾjara.) A backpack? (ظهر حقيبة, ḥaqībat ẓahr.) A railway? (سكة حديد, sikkat ḥadīd.) A carriage? (عربة, ᶜaraba.) A compartment? (مقصورة, maqṣūra.) The metro? (مترو, mitrū.) To unload? (أنزل, anzala.) A captain? (قبطان, qubṭān.) A boat? (قارب, qārib.) A ferry? (عبارة, ᶜabbāra.) To sail? (أبحر, abḥara.) To dock? (رسا, rasā.) A harbour? (مرفأ, marfaʾ.) An anchorage? (مرسى, marsā.) A lighthouse? (منارة, manāra.) A dinghy? (زورق, zawraq.) To row? (جدف, jaddafa.)

Chapter 431

Traffic

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tunnel, a signal, traffic, congestion and to turn off.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 431: I can say a tunnel, a signal, traffic, congestion and to turn off.

431.1 نفق (nafaq) — a tunnel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dinghy, then the Arabic for to row.

You'll want to know: نفق

نفق — nafaq — "a tunnel".

> دخل القطار نفقا طويلا تحت الجبل.
>
> dakhala al-qiṭār nafaqan ṭawīlan taḥta al-jabal.
>
> The train went into a long tunnel under the mountain.

Plural: أنفاق, anfāq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفق (nafaq) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-q, "to pass away, to run out" (Lane). Lane gives nafaq as a passage under the ground.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nafaq
- Say it: nafaq, once more
- Say it: dakhala al-qiṭār nafaqan ṭawīlan taḥta al-jabal. — The train went into a long tunnel under the mountain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dinghy, then the Arabic for to row, then say nafaq again

Before you move on

What does نفق mean? ("A tunnel".) Say it once more.

431.2 إشارة (ishāra) — a signal; traffic lights

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to row, then the Arabic for a tunnel.

You'll want to know: إشارة

إشارة — ishāra — "a signal; traffic lights".

الحمراء الإشارة عند السيارة وقفت.

waqafat as-sayyāra ᶜinda al-ishāra al-ḥamrāʾ.

The car stopped at the red light.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إشارة (ishāra) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-r, "to point, to make a sign" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form IV ashāra.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ishāra
- Say it: ishāra, once more
- Say it: waqafat as-sayyāra ᶜinda al-ishāra al-ḥamrāʾ. — The car stopped at the red light.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to row, then the Arabic for a tunnel, then say ishāra again

Before you move on

What does إشارة mean? ("A signal; traffic lights".) Say it once more.

431.3 مرور (murūr) — traffic; passing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tunnel, then the Arabic for a signal.

You'll want to know: مرور

مرور — murūr — "traffic; passing".

الجمعة يوم خفيفا المرور كان.

kāna al-murūr khafīfan yawm al-jumᶜa.

Traffic was light on Friday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرور (murūr) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-r, "to pass" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of marra, "to pass by".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: murūr
- Say it: murūr, once more
- Say it: kāna al-murūr khafīfan yawm al-jumᶜa. — Traffic was light on Friday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tunnel, then the Arabic for a signal, then say murūr again

Before you move on

What does مرور mean? ("Traffic; passing".) Say it once more.

431.4 ازدحام (izdiḥām) — congestion; a traffic jam

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a signal, then the Arabic for traffic.

You'll want to know: ازدحام

ازدحام — izdiḥām — "congestion; a traffic jam".

الشارع في الازدحام بسبب تأخرنا.

taʾakhkharnā bi-sabab al-izdiḥām fī ash-shāriᶜ.

We were late because of the congestion in the street.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ازدحام (izdiḥām) is built on the native Arabic root z-ḥ-m, "to crowd, to press" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form VIII, beside muzdaḥim, "crowded".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: izdiḥām
- Say it: izdiḥām, once more
- Say it: taʾakhkharnā bi-sabab al-izdiḥām fī ash-shāriᶜ. — We were late because of the congestion in the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a signal, then the Arabic for traffic, then say izdiḥām again

Before you move on

What does ازدحام mean? ("Congestion; a traffic jam".) Say it once more.

431.5 انعطف (inᶜaṭafa) — to turn off; to turn (left or right)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for traffic, then the Arabic for congestion.

You'll want to know: انعطف

انعطف — inᶜaṭafa — "to turn off; to turn (left or right)".

الجسر بعد يسارا انعطفنا.

inᶜaṭafnā yasāran baᶜda al-jisr.

We turned left after the bridge.

Present: ينعطف, yanᶜaṭif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انعطف (in^{c}aṭafa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-ṭ-f, "to bend, to turn" (Lane). It is Form VII.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: in^{c}aṭafa
- Say it: in^{c}aṭafa, once more
- Say it: in^{c}aṭafnā yasāran ba^{c}da al-jisr. — We turned left after the bridge.
- Recall: say the Arabic for traffic, then the Arabic for congestion, then say in^{c}aṭafa again

Before you move on

What does انعطف mean? ("To turn off; to turn (left or right)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 432

Fuel and engines

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say fuel, petrol, an engine, brakes and to supply.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 432: I can say fuel, petrol, an engine, brakes and to supply.

432.1 وقود (waqūd) — fuel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for congestion, then the Arabic for to turn off.

You'll want to know: وقود

وقود — waqūd — "fuel".

> صغيرة محطة من الوقود اشترينا.
>
> ishtaraynā al-waqūd min maḥaṭṭa ṣaghīra.
>
> We bought fuel at a small station.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وقود (waqūd) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-d, "to burn, to blaze" (Lane). A waqūd is what is burned.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: waqūd
- Say it: waqūd, once more
- Say it: ishtaraynā al-waqūd min maḥaṭṭa ṣaghīra. — We bought fuel at a small station.
- Recall: say the Arabic for congestion, then the Arabic for to turn off, then say waqūd again

Before you move on

What does وقود mean? ("Fuel".) Say it once more.

432.2 بنزين (banzīn) — petrol

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to turn off, then the Arabic for fuel.

You'll want to know: بنزين

بنزين — banzīn — "petrol".

البنزين إلى بحاجة السيارة كانت.

kānat as-sayyāra bi-ḥāja ilā al-banzīn.

The car needed petrol.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بنزين (banzīn) was borrowed from German Benzin (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: banzīn
- Say it: banzīn, once more
- Say it: kānat as-sayyāra bi-ḥāja ilā al-banzīn. — The car needed petrol.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to turn off, then the Arabic for fuel, then say banzīn again

Before you move on

What does بنزين mean? ("Petrol".) Say it once more.

432.3 محرك (muḥarrik) — an engine; a motor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fuel, then the Arabic for petrol.

You'll want to know: محرك

محرك — muḥarrik — "an engine; a motor".

صاخبا السيارة محرك كان.

kāna muḥarrik as-sayyāra ṣākhiban.

The car's engine was noisy.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محرك (muḥarrik) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-k, "to move" (Lane). It is the Form II participle, "the thing that sets something moving".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥarrik
- Say it: muḥarrik, once more
- Say it: kāna muḥarrik as-sayyāra ṣākhiban. — The car's engine was noisy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fuel, then the Arabic for petrol, then say muḥarrik again

Before you move on

What does محرك mean? ("An engine; a motor".) Say it once more.

432.4 فرامل (farāmil) — brakes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for petrol, then the Arabic for an engine.

You'll want to know: فرامل

فرامل — farāmil — "brakes".

بسرعة الفرامل على أبي ضغط.

ḍaghaṭa abī ᶜalā al-farāmil bi-surᶜa.

My father pressed the brakes quickly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرامل (farāmil) is a loanword whose origin is not settled; it is often traced to Italian freno, "a brake".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: farāmil
- Say it: farāmil, once more
- Say it: ḍaghaṭa abī ᶜalā al-farāmil bi-surᶜa. — My father pressed the brakes quickly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for petrol, then the Arabic for an engine, then say farāmil again

Before you move on

What does فرامل mean? ("Brakes".) Say it once more.

432.5 زود (zawwada) — to supply; to fill up (with)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an engine, then the Arabic for brakes.

You'll want to know: زود

زود — zawwada — "to supply; to fill up (with)".

بالبنزين السيارة العامل زود.

zawwada al-ᶜāmil as-sayyāra bi-l-banzīn.

The worker filled the car up with petrol.

Present: يزود, yuzawwid.
It takes bi- before the thing supplied.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زود (zawwada) is built on the native Arabic root z-w-d, "provisions for a journey" (Lane). It is Form II, "to give someone provisions": the root of zād, food for the road.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: zawwada
- Say it: zawwada, once more
- Say it: zawwada al-ᶜāmil as-sayyāra bi-l-banzīn. — The worker filled the car up with petrol.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an engine, then the Arabic for brakes, then say zawwada again

Before you move on

What does زود mean? ("To supply; to fill up (with)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 433

A flat tyre

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tyre, a wheel, a hole, a pump and to tow.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 433: I can say a tyre, a wheel, a hole, a pump and to tow.

433.1 إطار (iṭār) — a tyre; a frame

Before the new one: say the Arabic for brakes, then the Arabic for to supply.

You'll want to know: إطار

إطار — iṭār — "a tyre; a frame".

> قديما الدراجة إطار كان.
>
> kāna iṭār ad-darrāja qadīman.
>
> The bicycle's tyre was old.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إطار (iṭār) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ʾ-ṭ-r, "to bend round". An iṭār is a ring or rim that goes round a thing.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iṭār
- Say it: iṭār, once more
- Say it: kāna iṭār ad-darrāja qadīman. — The bicycle's tyre was old.
- Recall: say the Arabic for brakes, then the Arabic for to supply, then say iṭār again

Before you move on

What does إطار mean? ("A tyre; a frame".) Say it once more.

433.2 عجلة (ᶜajala) — a wheel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to supply, then the Arabic for a tyre.

You'll want to know: عجلة

عجلة — ᶜajala — "a wheel".

الطريق على السيارة عجلة أبي غير.

ghayyara abī ᶜajalat as-sayyāra ᶜalā aṭ-ṭarīq.

My father changed the car's wheel on the road.

The same word means haste: fī ᶜajala, "in a hurry".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عجلة (ᶜajala) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-j-l, "to hasten" (Lane). It is the root of mustaᶜjil, "in a hurry"; Lane lists ᶜajala as a cart drawn by an ox, said to be named for its quick going, and modern Arabic uses it for a wheel.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜajala
- Say it: ᶜajala, once more
- Say it: ghayyara abī ᶜajalat as-sayyāra ᶜalā aṭ-ṭarīq. — My father changed the car's wheel on the road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to supply, then the Arabic for a tyre, then say ᶜajala again

Before you move on

What does عجلة mean? ("A wheel".) Say it once more.

433.3 ثقب (thuqb) — a hole; a puncture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tyre, then the Arabic for a wheel.

You'll want to know: ثقب

ثقب — thuqb — "a hole; a puncture".

الإطار في صغيرا ثقبا العامل وجد.

wajada al-ᶜāmil thuqban ṣaghīran fī al-iṭār.

The worker found a small hole in the tyre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثقب (thuqb) is built on the native Arabic root th-q-b, "to pierce" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: thuqb
- Say it: thuqb, once more
- Say it: wajada al-ᶜāmil thuqban ṣaghīran fī al-iṭār. — The worker found a small hole in the tyre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tyre, then the Arabic for a wheel, then say thuqb again

Before you move on

What does ثقب mean? ("A hole; a puncture".) Say it once more.

433.4 مضخة (miḍakhkha) — a pump

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wheel, then the Arabic for a hole.

You'll want to know: مضخة

مضخة — miḍakhkha — "a pump".

صغيرة بمضخة الإطار أخي نفخ.

nafakha akhī al-iṭār bi-miḍakhkha ṣaghīra.

My brother pumped up the tyre with a small pump.

The pattern mifᶜala names a tool.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مضخة (miḍakhkha) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ḍ-kh-kh, "to spurt (of water)".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: miḍakhkha
- Say it: miḍakhkha, once more
- Say it: nafakha akhī al-iṭār bi-miḍakhkha ṣaghīra. — My brother pumped up the tyre with a small pump.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wheel, then the Arabic for a hole, then say miḍakhkha again

Before you move on

What does مضخة mean? ("A pump".) Say it once more.

433.5 جر (jarra) — to tow; to drag

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hole, then the Arabic for a pump.

You'll want to know: جر

جر — jarra — "to tow; to drag".

القرية إلى سيارتنا رجل جر.

jarra rajul sayyāratanā ilā al-qarya.

A man towed our car to the village.

Present: يجر, yajurr.
Grammarians call the genitive case al-jarr, "the dragging".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جر (jarra) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-r, "to drag, to pull" (Lane). It is the plain verb of a doubled root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jarra
- Say it: jarra, once more
- Say it: jarra rajul sayyāratanā ilā al-qarya. — A man towed our car to the village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hole, then the Arabic for a pump, then say jarra again

Before you move on

What does جر mean? ("To tow; to drag".) Say it once more.

Chapter 434

Licences and rules

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a licence, a bend, to renew, to issue and to overtake.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 434: I can say a licence, a bend, to renew, to issue and to overtake.

434.1 رخصة (rukhṣa) — a licence; a permit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pump, then the Arabic for to tow.

You'll want to know: رخصة

رخصة — rukhṣa — "a licence; a permit".

> جديدة قيادة رخصة أختي عند.
>
> ᶜinda ukhtī rukhṣat qiyāda jadīda.
>
> My sister has a new driving licence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رخصة (rukhṣa) is built on the native Arabic root r-kh-ṣ, "to be soft, easy, cheap" (Lane). A rukhṣa is an easing: a permission. It shares its root with rakhīṣ, "cheap".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rukhṣa
- Say it: rukhṣa, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda ukhtī rukhṣat qiyāda jadīda. — My sister has a new driving licence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pump, then the Arabic for to tow, then say rukhṣa again

Before you move on

What does رخصة mean? ("A licence; a permit".) Say it once more.

434.2 منعطف (munᶜaṭaf) — a bend; a turning

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tow, then the Arabic for a licence.

You'll want to know: منعطف

منعطف — munᶜaṭaf — "a bend; a turning".

كان المنعطف على طريق الجبل خطيرا.

kāna al-munᶜaṭaf ᶜalā ṭarīq al-jabal khaṭīran.

The bend on the mountain road was dangerous.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منعطف (munᶜaṭaf) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-f, "to bend, to turn" (Lane). It is the place-noun of inᶜaṭafa, "to turn".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mun^{c}aṭaf
- Say it: mun^{c}aṭaf, once more
- Say it: kāna al-mun^{c}aṭaf ^{c}alā ṭarīq al-jabal khaṭīran. — The bend on the mountain road was dangerous.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tow, then the Arabic for a licence, then say mun^{c}aṭaf again

Before you move on

What does منعطف mean? ("A bend; a turning".) Say it once more.

434.3 جدد (jaddada) — to renew

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a licence, then the Arabic for a bend.

You'll want to know: جدد

جدد — jaddada — "to renew".

الشهر هذا رخصته أبي جدد.

jaddada abī rukhṣatahu hādhā ash-shahr.

My father renewed his licence this month.

Present: يجدد, yujaddid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جدد (jaddada) is built on the native Arabic root j-d-d, "to be new" (Lane). It is Form II, "to make new", beside jadīd, "new".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jaddada
- Say it: jaddada, once more
- Say it: jaddada abī rukhṣatahu hādhā ash-shahr. — My father renewed his licence this month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a licence, then the Arabic for a bend, then say jaddada again

Before you move on

What does جدد mean? ("To renew".) Say it once more.

434.4 أصدر (aṣdara) — to issue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bend, then the Arabic for to renew.

You'll want to know: أصدر

أصدر — aṣdara — "to issue".

أصدرت السفارة التأشيرة بعد أسبوع.

aṣdarat as-sifāra at-taʾshīra baᶜda usbūᶜ.

The embassy issued the visa after a week.

Present: يصدر, yuṣdir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أصدر (aṣdara) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-d-r, "to come forth" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to send forth".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: aṣdara
- Say it: aṣdara, once more
- Say it: aṣdarat as-sifāra at-taʾshīra baᶜda usbūᶜ. — The embassy issued the visa after a week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bend, then the Arabic for to renew, then say aṣdara again

Before you move on

What does أصدر mean? ("To issue".) Say it once more.

434.5 تجاوز (tajāwaza) — to overtake; to exceed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to renew, then the Arabic for to issue.

You'll want to know: تجاوز

تجاوز — tajāwaza — "to overtake; to exceed".

الجسر على الحافلة سيارة تجاوزت.

tajāwazat sayyāra al-ḥāfila ᶜalā al-jisr.

A car overtook the bus on the bridge.

Present: يتجاوز, yatajāwaz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجاوز (tajāwaza) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-z, "to pass beyond" (Lane). It is Form VI; jawāz, "a passport", is a permit to pass.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tajāwaza
- Say it: tajāwaza, once more
- Say it: tajāwazat sayyāra al-ḥāfila ᶜalā al-jisr. — A car overtook the bus on the bridge.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to renew, then the Arabic for to issue, then say tajāwaza again

Before you move on

What does تجاوز mean? ("To overtake; to exceed".) Say it once more.

Chapter 435

Routes and fares

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a route, a fare, a subscription, a pedestrian crossing and to turn around.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 435: I can say a route, a fare, a subscription, a pedestrian crossing and to turn around.

435.1 مسار (masār) — a route; a lane

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to issue, then the Arabic for to overtake.

You'll want to know: مسار

مسار — masār — "a route; a lane".

> الثلج بسبب مسارها الحافلة غيرت.
>
> ghayyarat al-ḥāfila masārahā bi-sabab ath-thalj.
>
> The bus changed its route because of the snow.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسار (masār) is built on the native Arabic root s-y-r, "to go, to travel" (Lane). The pattern maf^{c}al makes it the place of going.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: masār
- Say it: masār, once more
- Say it: ghayyarat al-ḥāfila masārahā bi-sabab ath-thalj. — The bus changed its route because of the snow.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to issue, then the Arabic for to overtake, then say masār again

Before you move on

What does مسار mean? ("A route; a lane".) Say it once more.

435.2 أجرة (ujra) — a fare; a wage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to overtake, then the Arabic for a route.

You'll want to know: أجرة

أجرة — ujra — "a fare; a wage".

رخيصة التاكسي أجرة كانت.

kānat ujrat at-tāksī rakhīṣa.

The taxi fare was cheap.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أجرة (ujra) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-j-r, "a wage, a reward" (Lane). A fare is the wage paid for the ride.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ujra
- Say it: ujra, once more
- Say it: kānat ujrat at-tāksī rakhīṣa. — The taxi fare was cheap.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to overtake, then the Arabic for a route, then say ujra again

Before you move on

What does أجرة mean? ("A fare; a wage".) Say it once more.

435.3 اشتراك (ishtirāk) — a subscription; a travel pass

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a route, then the Arabic for a fare.

You'll want to know: اشتراك

اشتراك — ishtirāk — "a subscription; a travel pass".

للمترو شهريا اشتراكا أخي اشترى.

ishtarā akhī ishtirākan shahriyyan li-l-mitrū.

My brother bought a monthly pass for the metro.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتراك (ishtirāk) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-k, "to share" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form VIII, "taking a share in something".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtirāk
- Say it: ishtirāk, once more
- Say it: ishtarā akhī ishtirākan shahriyyan li-l-mitrū. — My brother bought a monthly pass for the metro.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a route, then the Arabic for a fare, then say ishtirāk again

Before you move on

What does اشتراك mean? ("A subscription; a travel pass".) Say it once more.

435.4 مشاة ممر (mamarr mushāh) — a pedestrian crossing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fare, then the Arabic for a subscription.

You'll want to know: مشاة ممر

مشاة ممر — mamarr mushāh — "a pedestrian crossing".

المشاة ممر من الشارع الأطفال عبر.

ᶜabara al-aṭfāl ash-shāriᶜ min mamarr al-mushāh.

The children crossed the street at the pedestrian crossing.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشاة ممر (mamarr mushāh) is built from two native Arabic words: mamarr, "a passage", on the root m-r-r, "to pass" (Lane), and mushāh, "walkers", on the root m-sh-y, "to walk" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mamarr mushāh
- Say it: mamarr mushāh, once more
- Say it: ᶜabara al-aṭfāl ash-shāriᶜ min mamarr al-mushāh. — The children crossed the street at the pedestrian crossing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fare, then the Arabic for a subscription, then say mamarr mushāh again

Before you move on

What does مشاة ممر mean? ("A pedestrian crossing".) Say it once more.

435.5 استدار (istadāra) — to turn around

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a subscription, then the Arabic for a pedestrian crossing.

You'll want to know: استدار

استدار — istadāra — "to turn around".

اسمه سمع عندما الولد استدار.

istadāra al-walad ᶜindamā samiᶜa ismahu.

The boy turned around when he heard his name.

Present: يستدير, yastadīr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استدار (istadāra) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-r, "to turn, to go round" (Lane). It is Form X.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istadāra
- Say it: istadāra, once more
- Say it: istadāra al-walad ᶜindamā samiᶜa ismahu. — The boy turned around when he heard his name.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a subscription, then the Arabic for a pedestrian crossing, then say istadāra again

Before you move on

What does استدار mean? ("To turn around".) Say it once more.

Chapter 436

Around the station

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a garage, a kiosk, a ticket window, a porter and to travel about.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 436: I can say a garage, a kiosk, a ticket window, a porter and to travel about.

436.1 مرآب (mirʾāb) — a garage; a car park

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pedestrian crossing, then the Arabic for to turn around.

You'll want to know: مرآب

مرآب — mirʾāb — "a garage; a car park".

المرآب في السيارة أبي ترك.

taraka abī as-sayyāra fī al-mirʾāb.

My father left the car in the garage.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرآب (mirʾāb) is a modern coinage, usually traced to the native root r-ʾ-b, "to repair, to mend" (Lane), in the tool-and-place pattern mifᶜāl: a place where cars are kept and seen to.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mirʾāb
- Say it: mirʾāb, once more
- Say it: taraka abī as-sayyāra fī al-mirʾāb. — My father left the car in the garage.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pedestrian crossing, then the Arabic for to turn around, then say mirʾāb again

Before you move on

What does مرآب mean? ("A garage; a car park".) Say it once more.

436.2 كشك (kushk) — a kiosk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to turn around, then the Arabic for a garage.

You'll want to know: كشك

كشك — kushk — "a kiosk".

الكشك من جريدة اشتريت.

ishtaraytu jarīda min al-kushk.

I bought a newspaper at the kiosk.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كشك (kushk) is usually traced to Persian kushk, "a pavilion"; English kiosk comes from the same word.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: kushk
- Say it: kushk, once more
- Say it: ishtaraytu jarīda min al-kushk. — I bought a newspaper at the kiosk.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to turn around, then the Arabic for a garage, then say kushk again

Before you move on

What does كشك mean? ("A kiosk".) Say it once more.

436.3 شباك (shubbāk) — a ticket window; a window

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a garage, then the Arabic for a kiosk.

You'll want to know: شباك

شباك — shubbāk — "a ticket window; a window".

الشباك من التذاكر أبي اشترى.

ishtarā abī at-tadhākir min ash-shubbāk.

My father bought the tickets at the ticket window.

Plural: شبابيك, shabābīk.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شباك (shubbāk) is built on the native Arabic root sh-b-k, "to interlace, to entwine" (Lane). A shubbāk was first a latticed window.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: shubbāk
- Say it: shubbāk, once more
- Say it: ishtarā abī at-tadhākir min ash-shubbāk. — My father bought the tickets at the ticket window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a garage, then the Arabic for a kiosk, then say shubbāk again

Before you move on

What does شباك mean? ("A ticket window; a window".) Say it once more.

436.4 حمال (ḥammāl) — a porter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a kiosk, then the Arabic for a ticket window.

You'll want to know: حمال

حمال — ḥammāl — "a porter".

الثقيلة حقيبتي الحمال حمل.

ḥamala al-ḥammāl ḥaqībatī ath-thaqīla.

The porter carried my heavy bag.

The pattern fa^{cc}āl names a trade, as in najjār, "a carpenter".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حمال (ḥammāl) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥammāl
- Say it: ḥammāl, once more
- Say it: ḥamala al-ḥammāl ḥaqībatī ath-thaqīla. — The porter carried my heavy bag.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a kiosk, then the Arabic for a ticket window, then say ḥammāl again

Before you move on

What does حمال mean? ("A porter".) Say it once more.

436.5 تنقل (tanaqqala) — to travel about; to move from place to place

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a ticket window, then the Arabic for a porter.

You'll want to know: تنقل

تنقل — tanaqqala — "to travel about; to move from place to place".

بالقطار المدن بين تنقلنا.

tanaqqalnā bayna al-mudun bi-l-qiṭār.

We travelled between the cities by train.

Present: يتنقل, yatanaqqal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنقل (tanaqqala) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-l, "to move from place to place" (Lane). It is Form V, "to keep moving on".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tanaqqala
- Say it: tanaqqala, once more
- Say it: tanaqqalnā bayna al-mudun bi-l-qiṭār. — We travelled between the cities by train.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a ticket window, then the Arabic for a porter, then say tanaqqala again

Before you move on

What does تنقل mean? ("To travel about; to move from place to place".) Say it once more.

Chapter 437

Finding the way

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a compass, speed, a tour guide, to guide and an itinerary.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 437: I can say a compass, speed, a tour guide, to guide and an itinerary.

437.1 بوصلة (būṣala) — a compass

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a porter, then the Arabic for to travel about.

You'll want to know: بوصلة

بوصلة — būṣala — "a compass".

> حمل أخي بوصلة في رحلته إلى الصحراء.
>
> ḥamala akhī būṣala fī riḥlatihi ilā aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.
>
> My brother took a compass on his trip to the desert.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بوصلة (būṣala) was borrowed from Italian bussola (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: būṣala
- Say it: būṣala, once more
- Say it: ḥamala akhī būṣala fī riḥlatihi ilā aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — My brother took a compass on his trip to the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a porter, then the Arabic for to travel about, then say būṣala again

Before you move on

What does بوصلة mean? ("A compass".) Say it once more.

437.2 سرعة (sur^{c}a) — speed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to travel about, then the Arabic for a compass.

You'll want to know: سرعة

سرعة — sur^{c}a — "speed".

كبيرة القطار سرعة كانت.

kānat sur^{c}at al-qiṭār kabīra.

The train's speed was high.

bi-sur^{c}a means quickly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سرعة (sur^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-^{c}, "to be quick" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: sur^{c}a
- Say it: sur^{c}a, once more
- Say it: kānat sur^{c}at al-qiṭār kabīra. — The train's speed was high.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to travel about, then the Arabic for a compass, then say sur^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does سرعة mean? ("Speed".) Say it once more.

437.3 مرشد (murshid) — a tour guide; a guide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a compass, then the Arabic for speed.

You'll want to know: مرشد

مرشد — murshid — "a tour guide; a guide".

شرح المرشد تاريخ المدينة.

sharaḥa al-murshid tārīkh al-madīna.

The guide explained the city's history.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرشد (murshid) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-d, "to follow the right way" (Lane). It is the Form IV participle, "one who leads others the right way".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: murshid
- Say it: murshid, once more
- Say it: sharaḥa al-murshid tārīkh al-madīna. — The guide explained the city's history.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a compass, then the Arabic for speed, then say murshid again

Before you move on

What does مرشد mean? ("A tour guide; a guide".) Say it once more.

437.4 أرشد (arshada) — to guide

Before the new one: say the Arabic for speed, then the Arabic for a tour guide.

You'll want to know: أرشد

أرشد — arshada — "to guide".

الفندق إلى رجل أرشدنا.

arshadanā rajul ilā al-funduq.

A man guided us to the hotel.

Present: يرشد, yurshid.
It takes ilā before the place.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرشد (arshada) is built on the native Arabic root r-sh-d, "to follow the right way" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to lead someone the right way".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: arshada
- Say it: arshada, once more
- Say it: arshadanā rajul ilā al-funduq. — A man guided us to the hotel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for speed, then the Arabic for a tour guide, then say arshada again

Before you move on

What does أرشد mean? ("To guide".) Say it once more.

437.5 خط سير (khaṭṭ sayr) — an itinerary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tour guide, then the Arabic for to guide.

You'll want to know: خط سير

خط سير — khaṭṭ sayr — "an itinerary".

الرحلة سير خط المرشد كتب.

kataba al-murshid khaṭṭ sayr ar-riḥla.

The guide wrote out the itinerary of the trip.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خط سير (khaṭṭ sayr) is built from two native Arabic words: khaṭṭ, "a line", on the root kh-ṭ-ṭ (Lane), and sayr, "going", on the root s-y-r (Lane): the line a journey follows.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭṭ sayr
- Say it: khaṭṭ sayr, once more
- Say it: kataba al-murshid khaṭṭ sayr ar-riḥla. — The guide wrote out the itinerary of the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tour guide, then the Arabic for to guide, then say khaṭṭ sayr again

Before you move on

What does خط سير mean? ("An itinerary".) Say it once more.

Chapter 438

Sightseeing

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say tourism, a tour, an outing, to wander around and a great traveller.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 438: I can say tourism, a tour, an outing, to wander around and a great traveller.

438.1 سياحة (siyāḥa) — tourism

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to guide, then the Arabic for an itinerary.

You'll want to know: سياحة

سياحة — siyāḥa — "tourism".

السياحة في أختي تعمل.

ta^{c}malu ukhtī fī as-siyāḥa.

My sister works in tourism.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سياحة (siyāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root s-y-ḥ, "to flow; to roam the land" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of sāḥa, "to travel about".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: siyāḥa
- Say it: siyāḥa, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}malu ukhtī fī as-siyāḥa. — My sister works in tourism.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to guide, then the Arabic for an itinerary, then say siyāḥa again

Before you move on

What does سياحة mean? ("Tourism".) Say it once more.

438.2 جولة (jawla) — a tour; a round

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an itinerary, then the Arabic for tourism.

You'll want to know: جولة

جولة — jawla — "a tour; a round".

القديمة المدينة في بجولة قمنا.

qumnā bi-jawla fī al-madīna al-qadīma.

We went on a tour of the old city.

qāma bi-jawla: to go on a tour.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جولة (jawla) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-l, "to go round, to roam" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jawla
- Say it: jawla, once more
- Say it: qumnā bi-jawla fī al-madīna al-qadīma. — We went on a tour of the old city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an itinerary, then the Arabic for tourism, then say jawla again

Before you move on

What does جولة mean? ("A tour; a round".) Say it once more.

438.3 نزهة (nuzha) — an outing; a pleasure trip

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tourism, then the Arabic for a tour.

You'll want to know: نزهة

نزهة — nuzha — "an outing; a pleasure trip".

البحيرة إلى نزهة في خرجنا.

kharajnā fī nuzha ilā al-buḥayra.

We went out on an outing to the lake.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزهة (nuzha) is usually traced to the native Arabic root n-z-h, "to keep far from what is unclean".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nuzha
- Say it: nuzha, once more
- Say it: kharajnā fī nuzha ilā al-buḥayra. — We went out on an outing to the lake.
- Recall: say the Arabic for tourism, then the Arabic for a tour, then say nuzha again

Before you move on

What does نزهة mean? ("An outing; a pleasure trip".) Say it once more.

438.4 تجول (tajawwala) — to wander around; to tour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tour, then the Arabic for an outing.

You'll want to know: تجول

تجول — tajawwala — "to wander around; to tour".

المساء حتى السوق في تجولنا.

tajawwalnā fī as-sūq ḥattā al-masāʾ.

We wandered around the market until the evening.

Present: يتجول, yatajawwal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجول (tajawwala) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-l, "to go round, to roam" (Lane). It is Form V.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tajawwala
- Say it: tajawwala, once more
- Say it: tajawwalnā fī as-sūq ḥattā al-masāʾ. — We wandered around the market until the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tour, then the Arabic for an outing, then say tajawwala again

Before you move on

What does تجول mean? ("To wander around; to tour".) Say it once more.

438.5 رحالة (raḥḥāla) — a great traveller; an explorer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an outing, then the Arabic for to wander around.

You'll want to know: رحالة

رحالة — raḥḥāla — "a great traveller; an explorer".

كتب الرحالة عن رحلته في الصحراء.

kataba ar-raḥḥāla ᶜan riḥlatihi fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.

The explorer wrote about his journey in the desert.

The ending -a here marks a man who does a thing a great deal, not a woman.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رحالة (raḥḥāla) is built on the native Arabic root r-ḥ-l, "to set out on a journey" (Lane). It shares its root with riḥla, "a journey".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: raḥḥāla
- Say it: raḥḥāla, once more
- Say it: kataba ar-raḥḥāla ᶜan riḥlatihi fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — The explorer wrote about his journey in the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an outing, then the Arabic for to wander around, then say raḥḥāla again

Before you move on

What does رحالة mean? ("A great traveller; an explorer".) Say it once more.

438.6 Words from chapters 431–438 — a review

Say the Arabic for a tunnel and a signal.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a tunnel, a signal, traffic, congestion, to turn off
- fuel, petrol, an engine, brakes, to supply
- a tyre, a wheel, a hole, a pump, to tow
- a licence, a bend, to renew, to issue, to overtake
- a route, a fare, a subscription, a pedestrian crossing, to turn around
- a garage, a kiosk, a ticket window, a porter, to travel about
- a compass, speed, a tour guide, to guide, an itinerary
- tourism, a tour, an outing, to wander around, a great traveller

Before you move on

A tunnel? (نفق, nafaq.) A signal? (إشارة, ishāra.) Traffic? (مرور, murūr.) Congestion? (ازدحام, izdiḥām.) To turn off? (انعطف, in^{c}aṭafa.) Fuel? (وقود, waqūd.) Petrol? (بنزين, banzīn.) An engine? (محرك, muḥarrik.) Brakes? (فرامل, farāmil.) To supply? (زود, zawwada.) A tyre? (إطار, iṭār.) A wheel? (عجلة, ^{c}ajala.) A hole? (ثقب, thuqb.) A pump? (مضخة, miḍakhkha.) To tow? (جر, jarra.) A licence? (رخصة, rukhṣa.) A bend? (منعطف, mun^{c}aṭaf.) To renew? (جدد, jaddada.) To issue? (أصدر, aṣdara.) To overtake? (تجاوز, tajāwaza.) A route? (مسار, masār.) A fare? (أجرة, ujra.) A subscription? (اشتراك, ishtirāk.) A pedestrian crossing? (ممر مشاة, mamarr mushāh.) To turn around? (استدار, istadāra.) A garage? (مرآب, mir^{ʾ}āb.) A kiosk? (كشك, kushk.) A ticket window? (شباك, shubbāk.) A porter? (حمال, ḥammāl.) To travel about? (تنقل, tanaqqala.) A compass? (بوصلة, būṣala.) Speed? (سرعة, sur^{c}a.) A tour guide? (مرشد, murshid.) To guide? (أرشد, arshada.) An itinerary? (سير خط, khaṭṭ sayr.) Tourism? (سياحة, siyāḥa.) A tour? (جولة, jawla.) An outing? (نزهة, nuzha.) To wander around? (تجول, tajawwala.) A great traveller? (رحالة, raḥḥāla.)

Chapter 439

Landmarks

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a view, a tower, a monument, to explore and to take along.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 439: I can say a view, a tower, a monument, to explore and to take along.

439.1 منظر (manẓar) — a view; scenery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wander around, then the Arabic for a great traveller.

You'll want to know: منظر

منظر — manẓar — "a view; scenery".

> جميلا الجبل من المنظر كان.
>
> kāna al-manẓar min al-jabal jamīlan.
>
> The view from the mountain was beautiful.

Plural: مناظر, manāẓir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منظر (manẓar) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-r, "to look" (Lane). The pattern maf^{c}al makes it the thing looked at.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: manẓar
- Say it: manẓar, once more
- Say it: kāna al-manẓar min al-jabal jamīlan. — The view from the mountain was beautiful.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wander around, then the Arabic for a great traveller, then say manẓar again

Before you move on

What does منظر mean? ("A view; scenery".) Say it once more.

439.2 برج (burj) — a tower

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a great traveller, then the Arabic for a view.

You'll want to know: برج

برج — burj — "a tower".

كلها المدينة ورأينا البرج صعدنا.

ṣaᶜidnā al-burj wa-raʾaynā al-madīna kullahā.

We climbed the tower and saw the whole city.

Plural: أبراج, abrāj.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برج (burj) was borrowed from Syriac (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: burj
- Say it: burj, once more
- Say it: ṣaᶜidnā al-burj wa-raʾaynā al-madīna kullahā. — We climbed the tower and saw the whole city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a great traveller, then the Arabic for a view, then say burj again

Before you move on

What does برج mean? ("A tower".) Say it once more.

439.3 نصب (nuṣb) — a monument

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a view, then the Arabic for a tower.

You'll want to know: نصب

نصب — nuṣb — "a monument".

المدينة ساحة في النصب زرنا.

zurnā an-nuṣb fī sāḥat al-madīna.

We visited the monument in the city square.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نصب (nuṣb) is built on the native Arabic root n-ṣ-b, "to set up, to erect" (Lane). A nuṣb is a thing set upright.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nuṣb
- Say it: nuṣb, once more
- Say it: zurnā an-nuṣb fī sāḥat al-madīna. — We visited the monument in the city square.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a view, then the Arabic for a tower, then say nuṣb again

Before you move on

What does نصب mean? ("A monument".) Say it once more.

439.4 استكشف (istakshafa) — to explore

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tower, then the Arabic for a monument.

You'll want to know: استكشف

استكشف — istakshafa — "to explore".

مرشد مع الكهف استكشفنا.

istakshafnā al-kahf maᶜa murshid.

We explored the cave with a guide.

Present: يستكشف, yastakshif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استكشف (istakshafa) is built on the native Arabic root k-sh-f, "to uncover" (Lane). It is Form X, "to seek to uncover".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istakshafa
- Say it: istakshafa, once more
- Say it: istakshafnā al-kahf ma^{c}a murshid. — We explored the cave with a guide.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tower, then the Arabic for a monument, then say istakshafa again

Before you move on

What does استكشف mean? ("To explore".) Say it once more.

439.5 اصطحب (iṣṭaḥaba) — to take along; to bring along

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a monument, then the Arabic for to explore.

You'll want to know: اصطحب

اصطحب — iṣṭaḥaba — "to take along; to bring along".

المتحف إلى الأطفال اصطحبنا.

iṣṭaḥabnā al-aṭfāl ilā al-maṭḥaf.

We took the children along to the museum.

Present: يصطحب, yaṣṭaḥib.
Form VIII turns its t into ṭ after ṣ: iṣṭaḥaba, not iṣtaḥaba.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اصطحب (iṣṭaḥaba) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-b, "to be a companion" (Lane). It is Form VIII; a ṣāḥib is a companion.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣṭaḥaba
- Say it: iṣṭaḥaba, once more
- Say it: iṣṭaḥabnā al-aṭfāl ilā al-maṭḥaf. — We took the children along to the museum.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a monument, then the Arabic for to explore, then say iṣṭaḥaba again

Before you move on

What does اصطحب mean? ("To take along; to bring along".) Say it once more.

Chapter 440

Breaks and souvenirs

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a fountain, a souvenir, a rest stop, to accompany and to give a lift.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 440: I can say a fountain, a souvenir, a rest stop, to accompany and to give a lift.

440.1 نافورة (nāfūra) — a fountain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to explore, then the Arabic for to take along.

You'll want to know: نافورة

نافورة — nāfūra — "a fountain".

النافورة حول الأطفال لعب.

la^{c}iba al-aṭfāl ḥawla an-nāfūra.

The children played around the fountain.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نافورة (nāfūra) names a fountain; the origin of the word is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nāfūra
- Say it: nāfūra, once more
- Say it: la^{c}iba al-aṭfāl ḥawla an-nāfūra. — The children played around the fountain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to explore, then the Arabic for to take along, then say nāfūra again

Before you move on

What does نافورة mean? ("A fountain".) Say it once more.

440.2 تذكار (tidhkār) — a souvenir; a keepsake

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take along, then the Arabic for a fountain.

You'll want to know: تذكار

تذكار — tidhkār — "a souvenir; a keepsake".

لأختي صغيرا تذكارا اشتريت.

ishtaraytu tidhkāran ṣaghīran li-ukhtī.

I bought a small souvenir for my sister.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تذكار (tidhkār) is built on the native Arabic root dh-k-r, "to remember" (Lane). A tidhkār is a thing that makes one remember.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tidhkār
- Say it: tidhkār, once more
- Say it: ishtaraytu tidhkāran ṣaghīran li-ukhtī. — I bought a small souvenir for my sister.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take along, then the Arabic for a fountain, then say tidhkār again

Before you move on

What does تذكار mean? ("A souvenir; a keepsake".) Say it once more.

440.3 استراحة (istirāḥa) — a rest stop; a break

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fountain, then the Arabic for a souvenir.

You'll want to know: استراحة

استراحة — istirāḥa — "a rest stop; a break".

الطريق على استراحة عند الحافلة وقفت.

waqafat al-ḥāfila ᶜinda istirāḥa ᶜalā aṭ-ṭarīq.

The bus stopped at a rest stop on the road.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استراحة (istirāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "to be at ease; breath, wind" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form X istarāḥa, "to rest".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istirāḥa
- Say it: istirāḥa, once more
- Say it: waqafat al-ḥāfila ᶜinda istirāḥa ᶜalā aṭ-ṭarīq. — The bus stopped at a rest stop on the road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fountain, then the Arabic for a souvenir, then say istirāḥa again

Before you move on

What does استراحة mean? ("A rest stop; a break".) Say it once more.

440.4 رافق (rāfaqa) — to accompany

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a souvenir, then the Arabic for a rest stop.

You'll want to know: رافق

رافق — rāfaqa — "to accompany".

الرحلة في جدتي رافقتنا.

rāfaqatnā jaddatī fī ar-riḥla.

My grandmother came with us on the trip.

Present: يرافق, yurāfiq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رافق (rāfaqa) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-q, "to be gentle; a companion" (Lane). It is Form III, "to be a companion to"; a rafīq is a companion.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rāfaqa
- Say it: rāfaqa, once more
- Say it: rāfaqatnā jaddatī fī ar-riḥla. — My grandmother came with us on the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a souvenir, then the Arabic for a rest stop, then say rāfaqa again

Before you move on

What does رافق mean? ("To accompany".) Say it once more.

440.5 أوصل (awṣala) — to give a lift; to deliver

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rest stop, then the Arabic for to accompany.

You'll want to know: أوصل

أوصل — awṣala — "to give a lift; to deliver".

المحطة إلى صديقي أوصلني.

awṣalanī ṣadīqī ilā al-maḥaṭṭa.

My friend gave me a lift to the station.

Present: يوصل, yūṣil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أوصل (awṣala) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-l, "to arrive, to reach" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make arrive".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: awṣala
- Say it: awṣala, once more
- Say it: awṣalanī ṣadīqī ilā al-maḥaṭṭa. — My friend gave me a lift to the station.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rest stop, then the Arabic for to accompany, then say awṣala again

Before you move on

What does أوصل mean? ("To give a lift; to deliver".) Say it once more.

Chapter 441

At reception

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say reception, a hotel guest, a residence, to depart from and to vacate.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 441: I can say reception, a hotel guest, a residence, to depart from and to vacate.

441.1 استقبال (istiqbāl) — reception; a welcome

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to accompany, then the Arabic for to give a lift.

You'll want to know: استقبال

استقبال — istiqbāl — "reception; a welcome".

المفتاح الاستقبال موظف أعطاني.

aᶜṭānī muwaẓẓaf al-istiqbāl al-miftāḥ.

The receptionist gave me the key.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقبال (istiqbāl) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-l, "to be in front of; to accept" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form X, "going out to meet".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istiqbāl
- Say it: istiqbāl, once more
- Say it: aᶜṭānī muwaẓẓaf al-istiqbāl al-miftāḥ. — The receptionist gave me the key.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to accompany, then the Arabic for to give a lift, then say istiqbāl again

Before you move on

What does استقبال mean? ("Reception; a welcome".) Say it once more.

441.2 نزيل (nazīl) — a hotel guest; a lodger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to give a lift, then the Arabic for reception.

You'll want to know: نزيل

نزيل — nazīl — "a hotel guest; a lodger".

الشارع عن بعيدة غرفة النزيل طلب.

ṭalaba an-nazīl ghurfa baᶜīda ᶜan ash-shāriᶜ.

The guest asked for a room far from the street.

Plural: نزلاء, nuzalāʾ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزيل (nazīl) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-l, "to alight, to stop at a place" (Lane). A nazīl is one who has stopped somewhere for the night.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nazīl
- Say it: nazīl, once more
- Say it: ṭalaba an-nazīl ghurfa ba^{c}īda ^{c}an ash-shāri^{c}. — The guest asked for a room far from the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to give a lift, then the Arabic for reception, then say nazīl again

Before you move on

What does نزيل mean? ("A hotel guest; a lodger".) Say it once more.

441.3 إقامة (iqāma) — a residence; a stay

Before the new one: say the Arabic for reception, then the Arabic for a hotel guest.

You'll want to know: إقامة

إقامة — iqāma — "a residence; a stay".

مريحة الفندق في إقامتنا كانت.

kānat iqāmatunā fī al-funduq murīḥa.

Our stay in the hotel was comfortable.

biṭāqat iqāma is a residence permit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إقامة (iqāma) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form IV, "staying on in a place".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iqāma
- Say it: iqāma, once more
- Say it: kānat iqāmatunā fī al-funduq murīḥa. — Our stay in the hotel was comfortable.
- Recall: say the Arabic for reception, then the Arabic for a hotel guest, then say iqāma again

Before you move on

What does إقامة mean? ("A residence; a stay".) Say it once more.

441.4 غادر (ghādara) — to depart from; to leave (a place)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hotel guest, then the Arabic for a residence.

You'll want to know: غادر

غادر — ghādara — "to depart from; to leave (a place)".

الصباح في الفندق غادرنا.

ghādarnā al-funduq fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

We left the hotel in the morning.

Present: يغادر, yughādir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غادر (ghādara) is built on the native Arabic root gh-d-r, "to leave behind" (Lane). It is Form III; the plain verb ghadara means to betray.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ghādara
- Say it: ghādara, once more
- Say it: ghādarnā al-funduq fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — We left the hotel in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hotel guest, then the Arabic for a residence, then say ghādara again

Before you move on

What does غادر mean? ("To depart from; to leave (a place)".) Say it once more.

441.5 أخلى (akhlā) — to vacate; to evacuate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a residence, then the Arabic for to depart from.

You'll want to know: أخلى

أخلى — akhlā — "to vacate; to evacuate".

الظهر قبل الغرفة أخلينا.

akhlaynā al-ghurfa qabla aẓ-ẓuhr.

We vacated the room before noon.

Present: يخلي, yukhlī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخلى (akhlā) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-w, "to be empty, to be alone" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make empty".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: akhlā
- Say it: akhlā, once more
- Say it: akhlaynā al-ghurfa qabla aẓ-ẓuhr. — We vacated the room before noon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a residence, then the Arabic for to depart from, then say akhlā again

Before you move on

What does أخلى mean? ("To vacate; to evacuate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 442

Camps and resorts

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a campsite, a resort, a chalet, to set alight and pine trees.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 442: I can say a campsite, a resort, a chalet, to set alight and pine trees.

442.1 مخيم (mukhayyam) — a campsite; a camp

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to depart from, then the Arabic for to vacate.

You'll want to know: مخيم

مخيم — mukhayyam — "a campsite; a camp".

> البحيرة بجانب المخيم كان.
>
> kāna al-mukhayyam bi-jānib al-buḥayra.
>
> The campsite was beside the lake.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخيم (mukhayyam) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-m, "a tent" (Lane). It is the Form II passive participle: a place set with tents.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mukhayyam
- Say it: mukhayyam, once more
- Say it: kāna al-mukhayyam bi-jānib al-buḥayra. — The campsite was beside the lake.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to depart from, then the Arabic for to vacate, then say mukhayyam again

Before you move on

What does مخيم mean? ("A campsite; a camp".) Say it once more.

442.2 منتجع (muntaja^{c}) — a resort

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to vacate, then the Arabic for a campsite.

You'll want to know: منتجع

منتجع — muntaja^{c} — "a resort".

البحر على منتجع في العطلة قضينا.

qaḍaynā al-^{c}uṭla fī muntaja^{c} ^{c}alā al-baḥr.

We spent the holiday at a resort by the sea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منتجع (muntaja^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root n-j-^{c}, "to go in search of pasture" (Lane). It is the place-noun of Form VIII: once a place people went to for fresh pasture.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muntaja^{c}
- Say it: muntaja^{c}, once more
- Say it: qaḍaynā al-^{c}uṭla fī muntaja^{c} ^{c}alā al-baḥr. — We spent the holiday at a resort by the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to vacate, then the Arabic for a campsite, then say muntaja^{c} again

Before you move on

What does منتجع mean? ("A resort".) Say it once more.

442.3 شاليه (shālīh) — a chalet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a campsite, then the Arabic for a resort.

You'll want to know: شاليه

شاليه — shālīh — "a chalet".

البحر على صغيرا شاليه استأجرنا.

ista^{ɔ}jarnā shālīh ṣaghīran ^{c}alā al-baḥr.

We rented a small chalet by the sea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاليه (shālīh) is usually traced to French chalet.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: shālīh
- Say it: shālīh, once more
- Say it: istaʾjarnā shālīh ṣaghīran ᶜalā al-baḥr. — We rented a small chalet by the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a campsite, then the Arabic for a resort, then say shālīh again

Before you move on

What does شاليه mean? ("A chalet".) Say it once more.

442.4 أشعل (ashᶜala) — to set alight; to light

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a resort, then the Arabic for a chalet.

You'll want to know: أشعل

أشعل — ashᶜala — "to set alight; to light".

الخيمة أمام النار أبي أشعل.

ashᶜala abī an-nār amāma al-khayma.

My father lit the fire in front of the tent.

Present: يشعل, yushᶜil.
It also means to switch on a lamp.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أشعل (ashᶜala) is built on the native Arabic root sh-ᶜ-l, "to blaze, to flame" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make blaze".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ash^{c}ala
- Say it: ash^{c}ala, once more
- Say it: ash^{c}ala abī an-nār amāma al-khayma. — My father lit the fire in front of the tent.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a resort, then the Arabic for a chalet, then say ash^{c}ala again

Before you move on

What does أشعل mean? ("To set alight; to light".) Say it once more.

442.5 صنوبر (ṣanawbar) — pine trees; a pine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chalet, then the Arabic for to set alight.

You'll want to know: صنوبر

صنوبر — ṣanawbar — "pine trees; a pine".

الصنوبر أشجار تحت الخيمة نصبنا.

naṣabnā al-khayma taḥta ashjār aṣ-ṣanawbar.

We pitched the tent under the pine trees.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صنوبر (ṣanawbar) names the pine; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣanawbar
- Say it: ṣanawbar, once more
- Say it: naṣabnā al-khayma taḥta ashjār aṣ-ṣanawbar. — We pitched the tent under the pine trees.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chalet, then the Arabic for to set alight, then say ṣanawbar again

Before you move on

What does صنوبر mean? ("Pine trees; a pine".) Say it once more.

Chapter 443

Bed and view

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a doorman, a bed sheet, cleanliness, to overlook and a strongbox.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 443: I can say a doorman, a bed sheet, cleanliness, to overlook and a strongbox.

443.1 بواب (bawwāb) — a doorman; a caretaker

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to set alight, then the Arabic for pine trees.

You'll want to know: بواب

بواب — bawwāb — "a doorman; a caretaker".

> حمل البواب أمتعتنا إلى المصعد.
>
> ḥamala al-bawwāb amti^{c}atanā ilā al-miṣ^{c}ad.
>
> The doorman carried our luggage to the lift.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بواب (bawwāb) is built on the native Arabic root b-w-b, "a door" (Lane). The trade pattern fa^{cc}āl makes him the man of the door.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: bawwāb
- Say it: bawwāb, once more
- Say it: ḥamala al-bawwāb amtiᶜatanā ilā al-miṣᶜad. — The doorman carried our luggage to the lift.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to set alight, then the Arabic for pine trees, then say bawwāb again

Before you move on

What does بواب mean? ("A doorman; a caretaker".) Say it once more.

443.2 ملاءة (mulāʾa) — a bed sheet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pine trees, then the Arabic for a doorman.

You'll want to know: ملاءة

ملاءة — mulāʾa — "a bed sheet".

وناعمة نظيفة الملاءة كانت.

kānat al-mulāʾa naẓīfa wa-nāᶜima.

The sheet was clean and soft.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملاءة (mulāʾa) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-ʾ, "to fill" (Lane). Lane gives mulāʾa as a cloth wrapped about the body, often two pieces sewn together; modern Arabic uses it for a bed sheet.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mulāʾa
- Say it: mulāʾa, once more
- Say it: kānat al-mulāʾa naẓīfa wa-nāᶜima. — The sheet was clean and soft.
- Recall: say the Arabic for pine trees, then the Arabic for a doorman, then say mulāʾa again

Before you move on

What does ملاءة mean? ("A bed sheet".) Say it once more.

443.3 نظافة (naẓāfa) — cleanliness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a doorman, then the Arabic for a bed sheet.

You'll want to know: نظافة

نظافة — naẓāfa — "cleanliness".

كانت نظافة الغرفة ممتازة.

kānat naẓāfat al-ghurfa mumtāza.

The cleanliness of the room was excellent.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نظافة (naẓāfa) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-f, "to be clean" (Lane). It is the noun beside naẓīf, "clean".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: naẓāfa
- Say it: naẓāfa, once more
- Say it: kānat naẓāfat al-ghurfa mumtāza. — The cleanliness of the room was excellent.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a doorman, then the Arabic for a bed sheet, then say naẓāfa again

Before you move on

What does نظافة mean? ("Cleanliness".) Say it once more.

443.4 أطل (aṭalla) — to overlook

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bed sheet, then the Arabic for cleanliness.

You'll want to know: أطل

أطل — aṭalla — "to overlook".

البحر على غرفتنا تطل.

tuṭillu ghurfatunā ᶜalā al-baḥr.

Our room overlooks the sea.

Present: يطل, yuṭill.
It takes ᶜalā: aṭalla ᶜalā, "to look out over".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أطل (aṭalla) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ṭ-l-l, "to look down from above". It is Form IV of a doubled root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: aṭalla
- Say it: aṭalla, once more
- Say it: tuṭillu ghurfatunā ᶜalā al-baḥr. — Our room overlooks the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bed sheet, then the Arabic for cleanliness, then say aṭalla again

Before you move on

What does أطل mean? ("To overlook".) Say it once more.

443.5 خزنة (khazna) — a strongbox; a safe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cleanliness, then the Arabic for to overlook.

You'll want to know: خزنة

خزنة — khazna — "a strongbox; a safe".

الغرفة خزنة في جوازي وضعت.

waḍaᶜtu jawāzī fī khaznat al-ghurfa.

I put my passport in the room safe.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خزنة (khazna) is built on the native Arabic root kh-z-n, "to store up" (Lane). It shares its root with khizāna, "a cupboard".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khazna
- Say it: khazna, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜtu jawāzī fī khaznat al-ghurfa. — I put my passport in the room safe.
- Recall: say the Arabic for cleanliness, then the Arabic for to overlook, then say khazna again

Before you move on

What does خزنة mean? ("A strongbox; a safe".) Say it once more.

Chapter 444

Power and light

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say electricity, to heat up, to be cut off, an adapter and to light up.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 444: I can say electricity, to heat up, to be cut off, an adapter and to light up.

444.1 كهرباء (kahrabāʾ) — electricity

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to overlook, then the Arabic for a strongbox.

You'll want to know: كهرباء

كهرباء — kahrabāʾ — "electricity".

بالكهرباء الثلاجة تعمل.

taᶜmalu ath-thallāja bi-l-kahrabāʾ.

The fridge runs on electricity.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كهرباء (kahrabāʾ) goes back to Persian kahrubā, "amber" (EtymDB), a name usually read as "straw-robber", since rubbed amber draws straw to it; the old name passed to electricity.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: kahrabāʾ
- Say it: kahrabāʾ, once more
- Say it: taᶜmalu ath-thallāja bi-l-kahrabāʾ. — The fridge runs on electricity.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to overlook, then the Arabic for a strongbox, then say kahrabāʾ again

Before you move on

What does كهرباء mean? ("Electricity".) Say it once more.

444.2 سخن (sakhkhana) — to heat up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a strongbox, then the Arabic for electricity.

You'll want to know: سخن

سخن — sakhkhana — "to heat up".

الحساء أمي سخنت.

sakhkhanat ummī al-ḥasāʾ.

My mother heated up the soup.

Present: يسخن, yusakhkhin.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سخن (sakhkhana) is built on the native Arabic root s-kh-n, "to be hot" (Lane). It is Form II, "to make hot", beside sākhin, "hot".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: sakhkhana
- Say it: sakhkhana, once more
- Say it: sakhkhanat ummī al-ḥasāʾ. — My mother heated up the soup.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a strongbox, then the Arabic for electricity, then say sakhkhana again

Before you move on

What does سخن mean? ("To heat up".) Say it once more.

444.3 انقطع (inqaṭaᶜa) — to be cut off

Before the new one: say the Arabic for electricity, then the Arabic for to heat up.

You'll want to know: انقطع

انقطع — inqaṭaᶜa — "to be cut off".

أمس ليلة الفندق في الكهرباء انقطعت.

inqaṭaᶜat al-kahrabāʾ fī al-funduq laylat ams.

The electricity was cut off in the hotel last night.

Present: ينقطع, yanqaṭiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انقطع (inqaṭaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-ᶜ, "to cut" (Lane). It is Form VII, "to be cut".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: inqaṭaᶜa
- Say it: inqaṭaᶜa, once more
- Say it: inqaṭaᶜat al-kahrabāʾ fī al-funduq laylat ams. — The electricity was cut off in the hotel last night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for electricity, then the Arabic for to heat up, then say inqaṭaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does انقطع mean? ("To be cut off".) Say it once more.

444.4 محول (muḥawwil) — an adapter; a transformer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to heat up, then the Arabic for to be cut off.

You'll want to know: محول

محول — muḥawwil — "an adapter; a transformer".

احتجت إلى محول لشاحن الهاتف.

iḥtajtu ilā muḥawwil li-shāḥin al-hātif.

I needed an adapter for the phone charger.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محول (muḥawwil) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l, "to change, to shift" (Lane). It is the Form II participle, "a thing that converts".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥawwil
- Say it: muḥawwil, once more
- Say it: iḥtajtu ilā muḥawwil li-shāḥin al-hātif. — I needed an adapter for the phone charger.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to heat up, then the Arabic for to be cut off, then say muḥawwil again

Before you move on

What does محول mean? ("An adapter; a transformer".) Say it once more.

444.5 أنار (anāra) — to light up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be cut off, then the Arabic for an adapter.

You'll want to know: أنار

أنار — anāra — "to light up".

أنار المصباح الممر الطويل.

anāra al-miṣbāḥ al-mamarr aṭ-ṭawīl.

The lamp lit up the long corridor.

Present: ينير, yunīr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنار (anāra) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-r, "light" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to give light".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: anāra
- Say it: anāra, once more
- Say it: anāra al-miṣbāḥ al-mamarr aṭ-ṭawīl. — The lamp lit up the long corridor.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be cut off, then the Arabic for an adapter, then say anāra again

Before you move on

What does أنار mean? ("To light up".) Say it once more.

Chapter 445

Trams and lorries

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tram, a lorry, a steering wheel, to slow down and to hamper.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 445: I can say a tram, a lorry, a steering wheel, to slow down and to hamper.

445.1 ترام (trām) — a tram

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an adapter, then the Arabic for to light up.

You'll want to know: ترام

ترام — trām — "a tram".

المدينة وسط إلى الترام ركبنا.

rakibnā at-trām ilā wasaṭ al-madīna.

We took the tram to the city centre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترام (trām) is usually traced to English tram.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: trām
- Say it: trām, once more
- Say it: rakibnā at-trām ilā wasaṭ al-madīna. — We took the tram to the city centre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an adapter, then the Arabic for to light up, then say trām again

Before you move on

What does ترام mean? ("A tram".) Say it once more.

445.2 شاحنة (shāḥina) — a lorry; a truck

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to light up, then the Arabic for a tram.

You'll want to know: شاحنة

شاحنة — shāḥina — "a lorry; a truck".

الطريق وسط في كبيرة شاحنة وقفت.

waqafat shāḥina kabīra fī wasaṭ aṭ-ṭarīq.

A big lorry stopped in the middle of the road.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاحنة (shāḥina) is built on the native Arabic root sh-ḥ-n, "to load (a ship)" (Lane). It is an active participle: the vehicle that carries loads; shāḥin, "a charger", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: shāḥina
- Say it: shāḥina, once more
- Say it: waqafat shāḥina kabīra fī wasaṭ aṭ-ṭarīq. — A big lorry stopped in the middle of the road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to light up, then the Arabic for a tram, then say shāḥina again

Before you move on

What does شاحنة mean? ("A lorry; a truck".) Say it once more.

445.3 مقود (miqwad) — a steering wheel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tram, then the Arabic for a lorry.

You'll want to know: مقود

مقود — miqwad — "a steering wheel".

بقوة المقود أبي أمسك.

amsaka abī al-miqwad bi-quwwa.

My father held the steering wheel tightly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقود (miqwad) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-d, "to lead" (Lane). The tool pattern mifᶜal makes it the thing one steers with.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: miqwad
- Say it: miqwad, once more
- Say it: amsaka abī al-miqwad bi-quwwa. — My father held the steering wheel tightly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tram, then the Arabic for a lorry, then say miqwad again

Before you move on

What does مقود mean? ("A steering wheel".) Say it once more.

445.4 تمهل (tamahhala) — to slow down; to take one's time

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lorry, then the Arabic for a steering wheel.

You'll want to know: تمهل

تمهل — tamahhala — "to slow down; to take one's time".

المنعطف عند أبي تمهل.

tamahhala abī ᶜinda al-munᶜaṭaf.

My father slowed down at the bend.

Present: يتمهل, yatamahhal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمهل (tamahhala) is built on the native Arabic root m-h-l, "to act gently, without haste" (Lane). It is Form V.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tamahhala
- Say it: tamahhala, once more
- Say it: tamahhala abī ᶜinda al-munᶜaṭaf. — My father slowed down at the bend.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lorry, then the Arabic for a steering wheel, then say tamahhala again

Before you move on

What does تمهل mean? ("To slow down; to take one's time".) Say it once more.

445.5 عرقل (ᶜarqala) — to hamper; to hold up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a steering wheel, then the Arabic for to slow down.

You'll want to know: عرقل

عرقل — ᶜarqala — "to hamper; to hold up".

عرقل حركة الثلج المرور.

ᶜarqala ath-thalj ḥarakat al-murūr.

The snow held up the traffic.

Present: يعرقل, yuᶜarqil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عرقل (ᶜarqala) is a verb with four root letters; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜarqala
- Say it: ᶜarqala, once more
- Say it: ᶜarqala ath-thalj ḥarakat al-murūr. — The snow held up the traffic.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a steering wheel, then the Arabic for to slow down, then say ᶜarqala again

Before you move on

What does عرقل mean? ("To hamper; to hold up".) Say it once more.

Chapter 446

Good service

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a tip, a service, to serve, to greet warmly and to recommend.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 446: I can say a tip, a service, to serve, to greet warmly and to recommend.

446.1 بقشيش (baqshīsh) — a tip (for service)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to slow down, then the Arabic for to hamper.

You'll want to know: بقشيش

بقشيش — baqshīsh — "a tip (for service)".

> للنادل بقشيشا أبي ترك.
>
> taraka abī baqshīshan li-n-nādil.
>
> My father left a tip for the waiter.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بقشيش (baqshīsh) was borrowed from Persian bakhshish, "a gift" (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: baqshīsh
- Say it: baqshīsh, once more
- Say it: taraka abī baqshīshan li-n-nādil. — My father left a tip for the waiter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to slow down, then the Arabic for to hamper, then say baqshīsh again

Before you move on

What does بقشيش mean? ("A tip (for service)".) Say it once more.

446.2 خدمة (khidma) — a service

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hamper, then the Arabic for a tip.

You'll want to know: خدمة

خدمة — khidma — "a service".

ممتازة المطعم في الخدمة كانت.

kānat al-khidma fī al-maṭᶜam mumtāza.

The service in the restaurant was excellent.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خدمة (khidma) is built on the native Arabic root kh-d-m, "to serve" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khidma
- Say it: khidma, once more
- Say it: kānat al-khidma fī al-maṭᶜam mumtāza. — The service in the restaurant was excellent.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hamper, then the Arabic for a tip, then say khidma again

Before you move on

What does خدمة mean? ("A service".) Say it once more.

446.3 خدم (khadama) — to serve; to wait on

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a tip, then the Arabic for a service.

You'll want to know: خدم

خدم — khadama — "to serve; to wait on".

لطيف نادل خدمنا.

khadamanā nādil laṭīf.

A kind waiter served us.

Present: يخدم, yakhdum.
Lane gives the present both as yakhdumu and yakhdimu.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خدم (khadama) is built on the native Arabic root kh-d-m, "to serve" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khadama
- Say it: khadama, once more
- Say it: khadamanā nādil laṭīf. — A kind waiter served us.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a tip, then the Arabic for a service, then say khadama again

Before you move on

What does خدم mean? ("To serve; to wait on".) Say it once more.

446.4 رحب (raḥḥaba) — to greet warmly; to welcome

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a service, then the Arabic for to serve.

You'll want to know: رحب

رحب — raḥḥaba — "to greet warmly; to welcome".

الاستقبال موظف بنا رحب.

raḥḥaba binā muwaẓẓaf al-istiqbāl.

The receptionist greeted us warmly.

Present: يرحب, yuraḥḥib.
It takes bi-: raḥḥaba bi-, "to welcome someone".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رحب (raḥḥaba) is built on the native Arabic root r-ḥ-b, "to be wide, spacious" (Lane). It is Form II, "to make room for a guest"; marḥaban, "welcome", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: raḥḥaba
- Say it: raḥḥaba, once more
- Say it: raḥḥaba binā muwaẓẓaf al-istiqbāl. — The receptionist greeted us warmly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a service, then the Arabic for to serve, then say raḥḥaba again

Before you move on

What does رحب mean? ("To greet warmly; to welcome".) Say it once more.

446.5 أوصى (awṣā) — to recommend

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to serve, then the Arabic for to greet warmly.

You'll want to know: أوصى

أوصى — awṣā — "to recommend".

صغير بمطعم المرشد أوصانا.

awṣānā al-murshid bi-maṭᶜam ṣaghīr.

The guide recommended a small restaurant to us.

Present: يوصي, yūṣī.
It takes bi- before the thing recommended.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أوصى (awṣā) is built on the native Arabic root w-ṣ-y, "to join; to enjoin" (Lane). It is Form IV.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: awṣā
- Say it: awṣā, once more
- Say it: awṣānā al-murshid bi-maṭᶜam ṣaghīr. — The guide recommended a small restaurant to us.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to serve, then the Arabic for to greet warmly, then say awṣā again

Before you move on

What does أوصى mean? ("To recommend".) Say it once more.

446.6 Words from chapters 439–446 — a review

Say the Arabic for a view and a tower.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a view, a tower, a monument, to explore, to take along
- a fountain, a souvenir, a rest stop, to accompany, to give a lift
- reception, a hotel guest, a residence, to depart from, to vacate
- a campsite, a resort, a chalet, to set alight, pine trees
- a doorman, a bed sheet, cleanliness, to overlook, a strongbox
- electricity, to heat up, to be cut off, an adapter, to light up
- a tram, a lorry, a steering wheel, to slow down, to hamper
- a tip, a service, to serve, to greet warmly, to recommend

Before you move on

A view? (منظر, manẓar.) A tower? (برج, burj.) A monument? (نصب, nuṣb.) To explore? (استكشف, istakshafa.) To take along? (اصطحب, iṣṭaḥaba.) A fountain? (نافورة, nāfūra.) A souvenir? (تذكار, tidhkār.) A rest stop? (استراحة, istirāḥa.) To accompany? (رافق, rāfaqa.) To give a lift? (أوصل, awṣala.) Reception? (استقبال, istiqbāl.) A hotel guest? (نزيل, nazīl.) A residence? (إقامة, iqāma.) To depart from? (غادر, ghādara.) To vacate? (أخلى, akhlā.) A campsite? (مخيم, mukhayyam.) A resort? (منتجع, muntaja^{c}.) A chalet? (شاليه, shālīh.) To set alight? (أشعل, ash^{c}ala.) Pine trees? (صنوبر, ṣanawbar.) A doorman? (بواب, bawwāb.) A bed sheet? (ملاءة, mulā^{ʔ}a.) Cleanliness? (نظافة, naẓāfa.) To overlook? (أطل, aṭalla.) A strongbox? (خزنة, khazna.) Electricity? (كهرباء, kahrabā^{ʔ}.) To heat up? (سخن, sakhkhana.) To be cut off? (انقطع, inqaṭa^{c}a.) An adapter? (محول, muḥawwil.) To light up? (أنار, anāra.) A tram? (ترام, trām.) A lorry? (شاحنة, shāḥina.) A steering wheel? (مقود, miqwad.) To slow down? (تمهل, tamahhala.) To hamper? (عرقل, ^{c}arqala.) A tip? (بقشيش, baqshīsh.) A service? (خدمة, khidma.) To serve? (خدم, khadama.) To greet warmly? (رحب, raḥḥaba.) To recommend? (أوصى, awṣā.)

Chapter 447

Fixing the room

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a shower, a clothes iron, a dryer, to break down and to check on.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 447: I can say a shower, a clothes iron, a dryer, to break down and to check on.

447.1 دش (dush) — a shower

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to greet warmly, then the Arabic for to recommend.

You'll want to know: دش

دش — dush — "a shower".

> الرحلة بعد دشا أخذت.
>
> akhadhtu dushan ba^{c}da ar-riḥla.
>
> I took a shower after the trip.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دش (dush) is usually traced to French douche.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: dush
- Say it: dush, once more
- Say it: akhadhtu dushan ba^{c}da ar-riḥla. — I took a shower after the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to greet warmly, then the Arabic for to recommend, then say dush again

Before you move on

What does دش mean? ("A shower".) Say it once more.

447.2 مكواة (mikwāh) — a clothes iron

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to recommend, then the Arabic for a shower.

You'll want to know: مكواة

مكواة — mikwāh — "a clothes iron".

الاستقبال من مكواة طلبت.

ṭalabtu mikwāh min al-istiqbāl.

I asked reception for an iron.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكواة (mikwāh) is built on the native Arabic root k-w-y, "to burn with a hot iron" (Lane). The tool pattern mif^{c}ala names the thing one irons with, beside kawā, "to iron".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mikwāh
- Say it: mikwāh, once more
- Say it: ṭalabtu mikwāh min al-istiqbāl. — I asked reception for an iron.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to recommend, then the Arabic for a shower, then say mikwāh again

Before you move on

What does مكواة mean? ("A clothes iron".) Say it once more.

447.3 مجفف (mujaffif) — a dryer; a hairdryer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shower, then the Arabic for a clothes iron.

You'll want to know: مجفف

مجفف — mujaffif — "a dryer; a hairdryer".

الحمام في الشعر مجفف يعمل لم.

lam yaᶜmal mujaffif ash-shaᶜr fī al-ḥammām.

The hairdryer in the bathroom did not work.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مجفف (mujaffif) is built on the native Arabic root j-f-f, "to be dry" (Lane). It is the Form II participle, "a thing that dries".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mujaffif
- Say it: mujaffif, once more
- Say it: lam yaᶜmal mujaffif ash-shaᶜr fī al-ḥammām. — The hairdryer in the bathroom did not work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shower, then the Arabic for a clothes iron, then say mujaffif again

Before you move on

What does مجفف mean? ("A dryer; a hairdryer".) Say it once more.

447.4 تعطل (taᶜaṭṭala) — to break down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a clothes iron, then the Arabic for a dryer.

You'll want to know: تعطل

تعطل — taᶜaṭṭala — "to break down".

الفندق في المصعد تعطل.

taᶜaṭṭala al-miṣᶜad fī al-funduq.

The lift in the hotel broke down.

Present: يتعطل, yataᶜaṭṭal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعطل (taᶜaṭṭala) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-l, "to be idle, without work" (Lane). It is Form V; muᶜaṭṭal, "out of order", and ᶜuṭla, "a holiday", share the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}aṭṭala
- Say it: ta^{c}aṭṭala, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}aṭṭala al-miṣ^{c}ad fī al-funduq. — The lift in the hotel broke down.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a clothes iron, then the Arabic for a dryer, then say ta^{c}aṭṭala again

Before you move on

What does تعطل mean? ("To break down".) Say it once more.

447.5 تفقد (tafaqqada) — to check on; to inspect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dryer, then the Arabic for to break down.

You'll want to know: تفقد

تفقد — tafaqqada — "to check on; to inspect".

العطل بعد الحمام العامل تفقد.

tafaqqada al-^{c}āmil al-ḥammām ba^{c}da al-^{c}uṭl.

The worker checked on the bathroom after the breakdown.

Present: يتفقد, yatafaqqad.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفقد (tafaqqada) is built on the native Arabic root f-q-d, "to lose, to miss" (Lane). It is Form V, "to look for what is missing", and so to check on.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tafaqqada
- Say it: tafaqqada, once more
- Say it: tafaqqada al-ᶜāmil al-ḥammām baᶜda al-ᶜuṭl. — The worker checked on the bathroom after the breakdown.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dryer, then the Arabic for to break down, then say tafaqqada again

Before you move on

What does تفقد mean? ("To check on; to inspect".) Say it once more.

Chapter 448

A noisy night

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say noise, to disturb, to wake someone up, to calm down and to complain.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 448: I can say noise, to disturb, to wake someone up, to calm down and to complain.

448.1 ضجيج (ḍajīj) — noise; a din

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to break down, then the Arabic for to check on.

You'll want to know: ضجيج

ضجيج — ḍajīj — "noise; a din".

> الليل في الشارع من ضجيجا سمعنا.
>
> sami^{c}nā ḍajījan min ash-shāri^{c} fī al-layl.
>
> We heard noise from the street at night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضجيج (ḍajīj) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-j-j, "to cry out, to clamour" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍajīj
- Say it: ḍajīj, once more
- Say it: samiᶜnā ḍajījan min ash-shāriᶜ fī al-layl. — We heard noise from the street at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to break down, then the Arabic for to check on, then say ḍajīj again

Before you move on

What does ضجيج mean? ("Noise; a din".) Say it once more.

448.2 أزعج (azᶜaja) — to disturb; to bother

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to check on, then the Arabic for noise.

You'll want to know: أزعج

أزعج — azᶜaja — "to disturb; to bother".

الشارع ضجيج أزعجنا.

azᶜajanā ḍajīj ash-shāriᶜ.

The noise of the street disturbed us.

Present: يزعج, yuzᶜij.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أزعج (azᶜaja) is built on the native Arabic root z-ᶜ-j, "to unsettle, to disquiet" (Lane). It is Form IV; muzᶜij, "annoying", is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: az^{c}aja
- Say it: az^{c}aja, once more
- Say it: az^{c}ajanā ḍajīj ash-shāri^{c}. — The noise of the street disturbed us.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to check on, then the Arabic for noise, then say az^{c}aja again

Before you move on

What does أزعج mean? ("To disturb; to bother".) Say it once more.

448.3 أيقظ (ayqaẓa) — to wake (someone) up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for noise, then the Arabic for to disturb.

You'll want to know: أيقظ

أيقظ — ayqaẓa — "to wake (someone) up".

مبكرا أمي أيقظتني.

ayqaẓatnī ummī mubakkiran.

My mother woke me up early.

Present: يوقظ, yūqiẓ.
istayqaẓa is to wake up oneself; ayqaẓa wakes someone else.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أيقظ (ayqaẓa) is built on the native Arabic root y-q-ẓ, "to be awake" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make awake".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ayqaẓa
- Say it: ayqaẓa, once more
- Say it: ayqaẓatnī ummī mubakkiran. — My mother woke me up early.
- Recall: say the Arabic for noise, then the Arabic for to disturb, then say ayqaẓa again

Before you move on

What does أيقظ mean? ("To wake (someone) up".) Say it once more.

448.4 هدأ (hadaʾa) — to calm down; to grow quiet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to disturb, then the Arabic for to wake.

You'll want to know: هدأ

هدأ — hadaʾa — "to calm down; to grow quiet".

الليل منتصف بعد الشارع هدأ.

hadaʾa ash-shāriᶜ baᶜda muntaṣaf al-layl.

The street grew quiet after midnight.

Present: يهدأ, yahdaʾ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدأ (hadaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-ʾ, "to be still, quiet" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: hadaʾa
- Say it: hadaʾa, once more
- Say it: hadaʾa ash-shāriᶜ baᶜda muntaṣaf al-layl. — The street grew quiet after midnight.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to disturb, then the Arabic for to wake, then say hadaʾa again

Before you move on

What does هدأ mean? ("To calm down; to grow quiet".) Say it once more.

448.5 اشتكى (ishtakā) — to complain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wake, then the Arabic for to calm down.

You'll want to know: اشتكى

اشتكى — ishtakā — "to complain".

الضجيج من النزيل اشتكى.

ishtakā an-nazīl min aḍ-ḍajīj.

The guest complained about the noise.

Present: يشتكي, yashtakī.
It takes min before the cause: ishtakā min.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتكى (ishtakā) is built on the native Arabic root sh-k-w, "to complain" (Lane). It is Form VIII.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtakā
- Say it: ishtakā, once more
- Say it: ishtakā an-nazīl min aḍ-ḍajīj. — The guest complained about the noise.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wake, then the Arabic for to calm down, then say ishtakā again

Before you move on

What does اشتكى mean? ("To complain".) Say it once more.

Chapter 449

Making a complaint

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a complaint, compensation, to compensate, to grumble and to swap.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 449: I can say a complaint, compensation, to compensate, to grumble and to swap.

449.1 شكوى (shakwā) — a complaint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to calm down, then the Arabic for to complain.

You'll want to know: شكوى

شكوى — shakwā — "a complaint".

> كتب أبي شكوى إلى المدير.
>
> kataba abī shakwā ilā al-mudīr.
>
> My father wrote a complaint to the manager.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شكوى (shakwā) is built on the native Arabic root sh-k-w, "to complain" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: shakwā
- Say it: shakwā, once more
- Say it: kataba abī shakwā ilā al-mudīr. — My father wrote a complaint to the manager.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to calm down, then the Arabic for to complain, then say shakwā again

Before you move on

What does شكوى mean? ("A complaint".) Say it once more.

449.2 تعويض (ta^{c}wīḍ) — compensation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to complain, then the Arabic for a complaint.

You'll want to know: تعويض

تعويض — ta^{c}wīḍ — "compensation".

طلب المسافرون تعويضا بعد التأخير.

ṭalaba al-musāfirūn ta^{c}wīḍan ba^{c}da at-taʾkhīr.

The travellers asked for compensation after the delay.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعويض (ta^{c}wīḍ) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-w-ḍ, "to give in exchange" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form II; an ^{c}iwaḍ is a thing given in place of another.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}wīḍ
- Say it: ta^{c}wīḍ, once more
- Say it: ṭalaba al-musāfirūn ta^{c}wīḍan ba^{c}da at-ta^{ʔ}khīr. — The travellers asked for compensation after the delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to complain, then the Arabic for a complaint, then say ta^{c}wīḍ again

Before you move on

What does تعويض mean? ("Compensation".) Say it once more.

449.3 عوض (^{c}awwaḍa) — to compensate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a complaint, then the Arabic for compensation.

You'll want to know: عوض

عوض — ^{c}awwaḍa — "to compensate".

التأخير عن الركاب الشركة عوضت.

^{c}awwaḍat ash-sharika ar-rukkāb ^{c}an at-ta^{ʔ}khīr.

The company compensated the passengers for the delay.

Present: يعوض, yu^{c}awwiḍ.
Someone is compensated ^{c}an a loss.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عوض (^{c}awwaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-w-ḍ, "to give in exchange" (Lane). It is Form II.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜawwaḍa
- Say it: ᶜawwaḍa, once more
- Say it: ᶜawwaḍat ash-sharika ar-rukkāb ᶜan at-taʔkhīr. — The company compensated the passengers for the delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a complaint, then the Arabic for compensation, then say ᶜawwaḍa again

Before you move on

What does عوض mean? ("To compensate".) Say it once more.

449.4 تذمر (tadhammara) — to grumble

Before the new one: say the Arabic for compensation, then the Arabic for to compensate.

You'll want to know: تذمر

تذمر — tadhammara — "to grumble".

الفندق في الطعام من أخي تذمر.

tadhammara akhī min aṭ-ṭaᶜām fī al-funduq.

My brother grumbled about the food in the hotel.

Present: يتذمر, yatadhammar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تذمر (tadhammara) is usually traced to the native Arabic root dh-m-r, "to be angry, to growl". It is Form V.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tadhammara
- Say it: tadhammara, once more
- Say it: tadhammara akhī min aṭ-ṭaᶜām fī al-funduq. — My brother grumbled about the food in the hotel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for compensation, then the Arabic for to compensate, then say tadhammara again

Before you move on

What does تذمر mean? ("To grumble".) Say it once more.

449.5 استبدل (istabdala) — to swap; to exchange (for another)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to compensate, then the Arabic for to grumble.

You'll want to know: استبدل

استبدل — istabdala — "to swap; to exchange (for another)".

أكبر بقميص القميص استبدلت.

istabdaltu al-qamīṣ bi-qamīṣ akbar.

I swapped the shirt for a bigger one.

Present: يستبدل, yastabdil.

In modern use the new thing takes bi-; classical usage put bi- on the thing given up.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استبدل (istabdala) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-l, "to change, to replace" (Lane). It is Form X.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istabdala
- Say it: istabdala, once more
- Say it: istabdaltu al-qamīṣ bi-qamīṣ akbar. — I swapped the shirt for a bigger one.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to compensate, then the Arabic for to grumble, then say istabdala again

Before you move on

What does استبدل mean? ("To swap; to exchange (for another)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 450

Town hall and consulate

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a town hall, a consulate, working hours, a line of people and to apply.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 450: I can say a town hall, a consulate, working hours, a line of people and to apply.

450.1 بلدية (baladiyya) — a town hall; a municipality

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grumble, then the Arabic for to swap.

You'll want to know: بلدية

بلدية — baladiyya — "a town hall; a municipality".

> الرسوم لدفع البلدية إلى ذهبت.
>
> dhahabtu ilā al-baladiyya li-daf^{c} ar-rusūm.
>
> I went to the town hall to pay the fees.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بلدية (baladiyya) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-d, "a town, a country" (Lane). It is a noun in -iyya made from balad: the body that runs a town.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: baladiyya
- Say it: baladiyya, once more
- Say it: dhahabtu ilā al-baladiyya li-daf^{c} ar-rusūm. — I went to the town hall to pay the fees.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grumble, then the Arabic for to swap, then say baladiyya again

Before you move on

What does بلدية mean? ("A town hall; a municipality".) Say it once more.

450.2 قنصلية (qunṣuliyya) — a consulate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swap, then the Arabic for a town hall.

You'll want to know: قنصلية

قنصلية — qunṣuliyya — "a consulate".

الجمعة يوم مغلقة القنصلية.

al-qunṣuliyya mughlaqa yawm al-jum^{c}a.

The consulate is closed on Friday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قنصلية (qunṣuliyya) is usually traced to the European word consul, from Latin, with the Arabic ending -iyya.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qunṣuliyya
- Say it: qunṣuliyya, once more
- Say it: al-qunṣuliyya mughlaqa yawm al-jumᶜa. — The consulate is closed on Friday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swap, then the Arabic for a town hall, then say qunṣuliyya again

Before you move on

What does قنصلية mean? ("A consulate".) Say it once more.

450.3 دوام (dawām) — working hours; office hours

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a town hall, then the Arabic for a consulate.

You'll want to know: دوام

دوام — dawām — "working hours; office hours".

الظهر بعد الدوام ينتهي.

yantahī ad-dawām baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr.

Office hours end in the afternoon.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دوام (dawām) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-m, "to last, to continue" (Lane). Working hours are the time one keeps at a job.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: dawām
- Say it: dawām, once more
- Say it: yantahī ad-dawām baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr. — Office hours end in the afternoon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a town hall, then the Arabic for a consulate, then say dawām again

Before you move on

What does دوام mean? ("Working hours; office hours".) Say it once more.

450.4 طابور (ṭābūr) — a line of people; a queue

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a consulate, then the Arabic for working hours.

You'll want to know: طابور

طابور — ṭābūr — "a line of people; a queue".

وقفنا في طابور طويل أمام القنصلية.

waqafnā fī ṭābūr ṭawīl amāma al-qunṣuliyya.

We stood in a long queue in front of the consulate.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طابور (ṭābūr) was borrowed from Ottoman Turkish (EtymDB), where tabur names a battalion, a line of soldiers.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭābūr
- Say it: ṭābūr, once more
- Say it: waqafnā fī ṭābūr ṭawīl amāma al-qunṣuliyya. — We stood in a long queue in front of the consulate.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a consulate, then the Arabic for working hours, then say ṭābūr again

Before you move on

What does طابور mean? ("A line of people; a queue".) Say it once more.

450.5 تقدم (taqaddama) — to apply (for); to step forward

Before the new one: say the Arabic for working hours, then the Arabic for a line of people.

You'll want to know: تقدم

تقدم — taqaddama — "to apply (for); to step forward".

تقدمت أختي بطلب تأشيرة.

taqaddamat ukhtī bi-ṭalab taʾshīra.

My sister applied for a visa.

Present: يتقدم, yataqaddam.
taqaddama bi-ṭalab: to put in an application.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقدم (taqaddama) is built on the native Arabic root q-d-m, "to come forward, to precede" (Lane). It is Form V.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: taqaddama
- Say it: taqaddama, once more
- Say it: taqaddamat ukhtī bi-ṭalab taʾshīra. — My sister applied for a visa.
- Recall: say the Arabic for working hours, then the Arabic for a line of people, then say taqaddama again

Before you move on

What does تقدم mean? ("To apply (for); to step forward".) Say it once more.

Chapter 451

Offices and enquiries

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a police station, a library, to enquire, to check over and to ban.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 451: I can say a police station, a library, to enquire, to check over and to ban.

451.1 مخفر (makhfar) — a police station

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a line of people, then the Arabic for to apply.

You'll want to know: مخفر

مخفر — makhfar — "a police station".

الحادث بعد المخفر إلى الرجل ذهب.

dhahaba ar-rajul ilā al-makhfar baᶜda al-ḥādith.

The man went to the police station after the accident.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخفر (makhfar) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-r, "to guard, to protect" (Lane). The pattern mafᶜal makes it a guard post.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: makhfar
- Say it: makhfar, once more
- Say it: dhahaba ar-rajul ilā al-makhfar baᶜda al-ḥādith. — The man went to the police station after the accident.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a line of people, then the Arabic for to apply, then say makhfar again

Before you move on

What does مخفر mean? ("A police station".) Say it once more.

451.2 مكتبة (maktaba) — a library; a bookshop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to apply, then the Arabic for a police station.

You'll want to know: مكتبة

مكتبة — maktaba — "a library; a bookshop".

قرأت في المكتبة حتى المساء.

qaraʾtu fī al-maktaba ḥattā al-masāʾ.

I read in the library until the evening.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكتبة (maktaba) is built on the native Arabic root k-t-b, "to write" (Lane). The pattern mafᶜala makes it the place of books.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maktaba
- Say it: maktaba, once more
- Say it: qaraʾtu fī al-maktaba ḥattā al-masāʾ. — I read in the library until the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to apply, then the Arabic for a police station, then say maktaba again

Before you move on

What does مكتبة mean? ("A library; a bookshop".) Say it once more.

451.3 استفسر (istafsara) — to enquire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a police station, then the Arabic for a library.

You'll want to know: استفسر

استفسر — istafsara — "to enquire".

استفسر أبي عن الحافلة الأخيرة.

istafsara abī ᶜan al-ḥāfila al-akhīra.

My father enquired about the last bus.

Present: يستفسر, yastafsir.
It takes ᶜan: istafsara ᶜan, "to ask about".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استفسر (istafsara) is built on the native Arabic root f-s-r, "to explain" (Lane). It is Form X, "to ask for an explanation".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istafsara
- Say it: istafsara, once more
- Say it: istafsara abī ᶜan al-ḥāfila al-akhīra. — My father enquired about the last bus.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a police station, then the Arabic for a library, then say istafsara again

Before you move on

What does استفسر mean? ("To enquire".) Say it once more.

451.4 راجع (rājaᶜa) — to check over; to go back to (an office)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a library, then the Arabic for to enquire.

You'll want to know: راجع

راجع — rājaᶜa — "to check over; to go back to (an office)".

راجعت الموظفة الأوراق.

rājaᶜat al-muwaẓẓafa al-awrāq.

The clerk checked over the papers.

Present: يراجع, yurājiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

راجع (rājaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-ᶜ, "to return" (Lane). It is Form III, "to go back over".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rājaᶜa
- Say it: rājaᶜa, once more
- Say it: rājaᶜat al-muwaẓẓafa al-awrāq. — The clerk checked over the papers.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a library, then the Arabic for to enquire, then say rājaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does راجع mean? ("To check over; to go back to (an office)".) Say it once more.

451.5 حظر (ḥaẓara) — to ban

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to enquire, then the Arabic for to check over.

You'll want to know: حظر

حظر — ḥaẓara — "to ban".

المدينة وسط في السيارات البلدية حظرت.

ḥaẓarat al-baladiyya as-sayyārāt fī wasaṭ al-madīna.

The town hall banned cars in the city centre.

Present: يحظر, yaḥẓur.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حظر (ḥaẓara) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ẓ-r, "to forbid; to fence in" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaẓara
- Say it: ḥaẓara, once more
- Say it: ḥaẓarat al-baladiyya as-sayyārāt fī wasaṭ al-madīna. — The town hall banned cars in the city centre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to enquire, then the Arabic for to check over, then say ḥaẓara again

Before you move on

What does حظر mean? ("To ban".) Say it once more.

Chapter 452

At the bank

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a branch office, a balance, a money transfer, to change money and to deposit.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 452: I can say a branch office, a balance, a money transfer, to change money and to deposit.

452.1 فرع (far^{c}) — a branch office; a branch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to check over, then the Arabic for to ban.

You'll want to know: فرع

فرع — far^{c} — "a branch office; a branch".

> حينا في جديدا فرعا البنك فتح.
>
> fataḥa al-bank far^{c}an jadīdan fī ḥayyinā.
>
> The bank opened a new branch in our neighbourhood.

Plural: فروع, furū^{c}.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرع (far^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-^{c}, "a branch of a tree" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: far^c
- Say it: far^c, once more
- Say it: fataḥa al-bank far^{c}an jadīdan fī ḥayyinā. — The bank opened a new branch in our neighbourhood.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to check over, then the Arabic for to ban, then say far^c again

Before you move on

What does فرع mean? ("A branch office; a branch".) Say it once more.

452.2 رصيد (raṣīd) — a balance (of an account); credit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ban, then the Arabic for a branch office.

You'll want to know: رصيد

رصيد — raṣīd — "a balance (of an account); credit".

كان رصيد حسابي صغيرا.

kāna raṣīd ḥisābī ṣaghīran.

The balance of my account was small.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رصيد (raṣīd) is built on the native Arabic root r-ṣ-d, "to watch for; to make ready" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: raṣīd
- Say it: raṣīd, once more
- Say it: kāna raṣīd ḥisābī ṣaghīran. — The balance of my account was small.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ban, then the Arabic for a branch office, then say raṣīd again

Before you move on

What does رصيد mean? ("A balance (of an account); credit".) Say it once more.

452.3 حوالة (ḥawāla) — a money transfer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a branch office, then the Arabic for a balance.

You'll want to know: حوالة

حوالة — ḥawāla — "a money transfer".

أرسلت حوالة إلى أختي في الخارج.

arsaltu ḥawāla ilā ukhtī fī al-khārij.

I sent a money transfer to my sister abroad.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حوالة (ḥawāla) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-l, "to change, to shift" (Lane). A ḥawāla shifts a sum from one hand to another.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥawāla
- Say it: ḥawāla, once more
- Say it: arsaltu ḥawāla ilā ukhtī fī al-khārij. — I sent a money transfer to my sister abroad.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a branch office, then the Arabic for a balance, then say ḥawāla again

Before you move on

What does حوالة mean? ("A money transfer".) Say it once more.

452.4 صرف (ṣarafa) — to change money; to spend

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a balance, then the Arabic for a money transfer.

You'll want to know: صرف

صرف — ṣarafa — "to change money; to spend".

صرفت مالا في المطار.

ṣaraftu mālan fī al-maṭār.

I changed money at the airport.

Present: يصرف, yaṣrif.
si^{c}r aṣ-ṣarf is the exchange rate.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صرف (ṣarafa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-f, "to turn away, to change" (Lane). It is the root of ṣarrāf, "a money changer".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣarafa
- Say it: ṣarafa, once more
- Say it: ṣaraftu mālan fī al-maṭār. — I changed money at the airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a balance, then the Arabic for a money transfer, then say ṣarafa again

Before you move on

What does صرف mean? ("To change money; to spend".) Say it once more.

452.5 أودع (awdaᶜa) — to deposit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a money transfer, then the Arabic for to change money.

You'll want to know: أودع

أودع — awdaᶜa — "to deposit".

البنك في المال أبي أودع.

awdaᶜa abī al-māl fī al-bank.

My father deposited the money in the bank.

Present: يودع, yūdiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أودع (awdaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root w-d-ᶜ, "to leave, to let rest" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to leave a thing in someone's keeping".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: awda^{c}a
- Say it: awda^{c}a, once more
- Say it: awda^{c}a abī al-māl fī al-bank. — My father deposited the money in the bank.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a money transfer, then the Arabic for to change money, then say awda^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does أودع mean? ("To deposit".) Say it once more.

Chapter 453

Paying up

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an instalment, in cash, a cash machine, to get back and a meter.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 453: I can say an instalment, in cash, a cash machine, to get back and a meter.

453.1 قسط (qisṭ) — an instalment; a share

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to change money, then the Arabic for to deposit.

You'll want to know: قسط

قسط — qisṭ — "an instalment; a share".

> الشهر هذا السيارة قسط أبي دفع.
>
> dafaᶜa abī qisṭ as-sayyāra hādhā ash-shahr.
>
> My father paid the car instalment this month.

Plural: أقساط, aqsāṭ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قسط (qisṭ) is built on the native Arabic root q-s-ṭ, "a fair share, a portion" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qisṭ
- Say it: qisṭ, once more
- Say it: dafaᶜa abī qisṭ as-sayyāra hādhā ash-shahr. — My father paid the car instalment this month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to change money, then the Arabic for to deposit, then say qisṭ again

Before you move on

What does قسط mean? ("An instalment; a share".) Say it once more.

453.2 نقدا (naqdan) — in cash

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to deposit, then the Arabic for an instalment.

You'll want to know: نقدا

نقدا — naqdan — "in cash".

نقدا التذكرة ثمن دفعت.

dafaᶜtu thaman at-tadhkira naqdan.

I paid for the ticket in cash.

The noun naqd is cash; the ending -an makes the adverb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقدا (naqdan) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-d, "to pick out good coins" (Lane). Naqd is ready money.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: naqdan
- Say it: naqdan, once more
- Say it: dafaᶜtu thaman at-tadhkira naqdan. — I paid for the ticket in cash.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to deposit, then the Arabic for an instalment, then say naqdan again

Before you move on

What does نقدا mean? ("In cash".) Say it once more.

453.3 آلي صراف (ṣarrāf ālī) — a cash machine

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an instalment, then the Arabic for in cash.

You'll want to know: آلي صراف

آلي صراف — ṣarrāf ālī — "a cash machine".

الآلي الصراف من مالا سحبت.

saḥabtu mālan min aṣ-ṣarrāf al-ālī.

I took money out of the cash machine.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

آلي صراف (ṣarrāf ālī) is a modern coinage built from two native Arabic words (Lane gives both roots): ṣarrāf, "a money changer", on ṣ-r-f, and ālī, "mechanical", from āla, "a machine", on ʾ-w-l.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣarrāf ālī
- Say it: ṣarrāf ālī, once more
- Say it: saḥabtu mālan min aṣ-ṣarrāf al-ālī. — I took money out of the cash machine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an instalment, then the Arabic for in cash, then say ṣarrāf ālī again

Before you move on

What does آلي صراف mean? ("A cash machine".) Say it once more.

453.4 استرد (istaradda) — to get back (money); to recover

Before the new one: say the Arabic for in cash, then the Arabic for a cash machine.

You'll want to know: استرد

استرد — istaradda — "to get back (money); to recover".

التذكرة ثمن استرددت.

istaradadtu thaman at-tadhkira.

I got the price of the ticket back.

Present: يسترد, yastaridd.
A doubled verb: istaradda, "he got back", but istaradadtu, "I got back".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استرد (istaradda) is built on the native Arabic root r-d-d, "to send back, to return" (Lane). It is Form X, "to ask for back".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istaradda
- Say it: istaradda, once more
- Say it: istaradadtu thaman at-tadhkira. — I got the price of the ticket back.
- Recall: say the Arabic for in cash, then the Arabic for a cash machine, then say istaradda again

Before you move on

What does استرد mean? ("To get back (money); to recover".) Say it once more.

453.5 عداد (ᶜaddād) — a meter (that counts)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cash machine, then the Arabic for to get back.

You'll want to know: عداد

عداد — ᶜaddād — "a meter (that counts)".

كان العداد في التاكسي معطلا.

kāna al-ᶜaddād fī at-tāksī muᶜaṭṭalan.

The meter in the taxi was out of order.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عداد (ᶜaddād) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-d, "to count" (Lane). The pattern faᶜᶜāl names a thing that does a job: the counter.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaddād
- Say it: ᶜaddād, once more
- Say it: kāna al-ᶜaddād fī at-tāksī muᶜaṭṭalan. — The meter in the taxi was out of order.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cash machine, then the Arabic for to get back, then say ᶜaddād again

Before you move on

What does عداد mean? ("A meter (that counts)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 454

City buildings

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a block of flats, a skyscraper, a suburb, a swimming pool and a shopping centre.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 454: I can say a block of flats, a skyscraper, a suburb, a swimming pool and a shopping centre.

454.1 عمارة (ᶜimāra) — a block of flats; architecture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get back, then the Arabic for a meter.

You'll want to know: عمارة

عمارة — ᶜimāra — "a block of flats; architecture".

المدينة وسط في قديمة عمارة في نسكن.

naskunu fī ᶜimāra qadīma fī wasaṭ al-madīna.

We live in an old block of flats in the city centre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عمارة (ᶜimāra) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-r, "to inhabit, to build up" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜimāra
- Say it: ᶜimāra, once more
- Say it: naskunu fī ᶜimāra qadīma fī wasaṭ al-madīna. — We live in an old block of flats in the city centre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get back, then the Arabic for a meter, then say ᶜimāra again

Before you move on

What does عمارة mean? ("A block of flats; architecture".) Say it once more.

454.2 سحاب ناطحة (nāṭiḥat saḥāb) — a skyscraper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a meter, then the Arabic for a block of flats.

You'll want to know: سحاب ناطحة

سحاب ناطحة — nāṭiḥat saḥāb — "a skyscraper".

الفندق نافذة من سحاب ناطحة رأينا.

raʾaynā nāṭiḥat saḥāb min nāfidhat al-funduq.

We saw a skyscraper from the hotel window.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سحاب ناطحة (nāṭiḥat saḥāb) is a modern coinage built from two native Arabic words (Lane gives both roots): nāṭiḥa, "one that butts", on n-ṭ-ḥ, "to butt with the horns", and saḥāb, "clouds". It is a calque of English skyscraper.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nāṭiḥat saḥāb
- Say it: nāṭiḥat saḥāb, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā nāṭiḥat saḥāb min nāfidhat al-funduq. — We saw a skyscraper from the hotel window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a meter, then the Arabic for a block of flats, then say nāṭiḥat saḥāb again

Before you move on

What does سحاب ناطحة mean? ("A skyscraper".) Say it once more.

454.3 ضاحية (ḍāḥiya) — a suburb

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a block of flats, then the Arabic for a skyscraper.

You'll want to know: ضاحية

ضاحية — ḍāḥiya — "a suburb".

المركز عن بعيدة ضاحية في عمي يسكن.

yaskunu ᶜammī fī ḍāḥiya baᶜīda ᶜan al-markaz.

My uncle lives in a suburb far from the centre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضاحية (ḍāḥiya) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ḥ-w, "to be in the sun; to come into view" (Lane). Lane gives ḍāḥiya as the outer, exposed side or tract of a place; ḍuḥā, "late morning", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍāḥiya
- Say it: ḍāḥiya, once more
- Say it: yaskunu ᶜammī fī ḍāḥiya baᶜīda ᶜan al-markaz. — My uncle lives in a suburb far from the centre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a block of flats, then the Arabic for a skyscraper, then say ḍāḥiya again

Before you move on

What does ضاحية mean? ("A suburb".) Say it once more.

454.4 مسبح (masbaḥ) — a swimming pool

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a skyscraper, then the Arabic for a suburb.

You'll want to know: مسبح

مسبح — masbaḥ — "a swimming pool".

الفندق مسبح في الأطفال سبح.

sabaḥa al-aṭfāl fī masbaḥ al-funduq.

The children swam in the hotel pool.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسبح (masbaḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-ḥ, "to swim" (Lane). The pattern mafᶜal makes it the place of swimming.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: masbaḥ
- Say it: masbaḥ, once more
- Say it: sabaḥa al-aṭfāl fī masbaḥ al-funduq. — The children swam in the hotel pool.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a skyscraper, then the Arabic for a suburb, then say masbaḥ again

Before you move on

What does مسبح mean? ("A swimming pool".) Say it once more.

454.5 تجاري مجمع (mujamma^c tijārī) — a shopping centre

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a suburb, then the Arabic for a swimming pool.

You'll want to know: تجاري مجمع

تجاري مجمع — mujamma^c tijārī — "a shopping centre".

اشترينا الملابس من مجمع تجاري كبير.

ishtaraynā al-malābis min mujamma^c tijārī kabīr.

We bought the clothes at a big shopping centre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تجاري مجمع (mujamma^c tijārī) is built from two native Arabic words: mujamma^c, "a place where things are gathered", on the root j-m-^{c}, "to gather" (Lane), and tijārī, "of trade", on t-j-r (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mujamma^c tijārī
- Say it: mujamma^c tijārī, once more
- Say it: ishtaraynā al-malābis min mujamma^c tijārī kabīr. — We bought the clothes at a big shopping centre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a suburb, then the Arabic for a swimming pool, then say mujamma^c tijārī again

Before you move on

What does مجمع تجاري mean? ("A shopping centre".) Say it once more.

454.6 Words from chapters 447–454 — a review

Say the Arabic for a shower and a clothes iron.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a shower, a clothes iron, a dryer, to break down, to check on
- noise, to disturb, to wake, to calm down, to complain
- a complaint, compensation, to compensate, to grumble, to swap
- a town hall, a consulate, working hours, a line of people, to apply
- a police station, a library, to enquire, to check over, to ban
- a branch office, a balance, a money transfer, to change money, to deposit
- an instalment, in cash, a cash machine, to get back, a meter

- a block of flats, a skyscraper, a suburb, a swimming pool, a shopping centre

Before you move on

A shower? (دش, dush.) A clothes iron? (مكواة, mikwāh.) A dryer? (مجفف, mujaffif.) To break down? (تعطل, ta^{c}aṭṭala.) To check on? (تفقد, tafaqqada.) Noise? (ضجيج, ḍajīj.) To disturb? (أزعج, az^{c}aja.) To wake? (أيقظ, ayqaẓa.) To calm down? (هدأ, hada^{ɔ}a.) To complain? (اشتكى, ishtakā.) A complaint? (شكوى, shakwā.) Compensation? (تعويض, ta^{c}wīḍ.) To compensate? (عوض, ^{c}awwaḍa.) To grumble? (تذمر, tadhammara.) To swap? (استبدل, istabdala.) A town hall? (بلدية, baladiyya.) A consulate? (قنصلية, qunṣuliyya.) Working hours? (دوام, dawām.) A line of people? (طابور, ṭābūr.) To apply? (تقدم, taqaddama.) A police station? (مخفر, makhfar.) A library? (مكتبة, maktaba.) To enquire? (استفسر, istafsara.) To check over? (راجع, rāja^{c}a.) To ban? (حظر, ḥaẓara.) A branch office? (فرع, far^{c}.) A balance? (رصيد, raṣīd.) A money transfer? (حوالة, ḥawāla.) To change money? (صرف, ṣarafa.) To deposit? (أودع, awda^{c}a.) An instalment? (قسط, qisṭ.) In cash? (نقدا, naqdan.) A cash machine? (آلي صراف, ṣarrāf ālī.) To get back? (استرد, istaradda.) A meter? (عداد, ^{c}addād.) A block of flats? (عمارة, ^{c}imāra.) A skyscraper? (سحاب ناطحة, nāṭiḥat saḥāb.) A suburb? (ضاحية, ḍāḥiya.) A swimming pool? (مسبح, masbaḥ.) A shopping centre? (تجاري مجمع, mujamma^{c} tijārī.)

Chapter 455

Shop windows

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a product, a brand, a shop window, to display and a market stall.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 455: I can say a product, a brand, a shop window, to display and a market stall.

455.1 منتج (muntaj) — a product

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a swimming pool, then the Arabic for a shopping centre.

You'll want to know: منتج

منتج — muntaj — "a product".

جيد محلي منتج هذا.

hādhā muntaj maḥallī jayyid.

This is a good local product.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منتج (muntaj) is built on the native Arabic root n-t-j, "to bring forth young" (Lane). It is the Form IV passive participle, "what is brought forth"; natīja, "a result", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muntaj
- Say it: muntaj, once more
- Say it: hādhā muntaj maḥallī jayyid. — This is a good local product.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a swimming pool, then the Arabic for a shopping centre, then say muntaj again

Before you move on

What does منتج mean? ("A product".) Say it once more.

455.2 ماركة (mārka) — a brand

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shopping centre, then the Arabic for a product.

You'll want to know: ماركة

ماركة — mārka — "a brand".

مشهورة ماركة من حذاء أخي اشترى.

ishtarā akhī ḥidhāʾ min mārka mashhūra.

My brother bought shoes from a famous brand.

Formal writing also says ᶜalāma tijāriyya.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ماركة (mārka) is usually traced to Italian marca, "a mark".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mārka
- Say it: mārka, once more
- Say it: ishtarā akhī ḥidhāʾ min mārka mashhūra. — My brother bought shoes from a famous brand.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shopping centre, then the Arabic for a product, then say mārka again

Before you move on

What does ماركة mean? ("A brand".) Say it once more.

455.3 واجهة (wājiha) — a shop window; a front

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a product, then the Arabic for a brand.

You'll want to know: واجهة

واجهة — wājiha — "a shop window; a front".

رأيت فستانا جميلا في واجهة المتجر.

raʾaytu fustānan jamīlan fī wājihat al-matjar.

I saw a beautiful dress in the shop window.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واجهة (wājiha) is built on the native Arabic root w-j-h, "the face; to face" (Lane). It is the part of a building that faces the street.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: wājiha
- Say it: wājiha, once more
- Say it: raʾaytu fustānan jamīlan fī wājihat al-matjar. — I saw a beautiful dress in the shop window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a product, then the Arabic for a brand, then say wājiha again

Before you move on

What does واجهة mean? ("A shop window; a front".) Say it once more.

455.4 عرض (ᶜaraḍa) — to display; to offer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a brand, then the Arabic for a shop window.

You'll want to know: عرض

عرض — ᶜaraḍa — "to display; to offer".

الواجهة في الشتاء ملابس المتجر عرض.

ᶜaraḍa al-matjar malābis ash-shitāʾ fī al-wājiha.

The shop displayed winter clothes in the window.

Present: يعرض, yaᶜriḍ.
The noun ᶜarḍ is an offer or a show.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عرض (ᶜaraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-r-ḍ, "to show, to present" (Lane). It is the plain verb; ᶜarīḍ, "wide", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaraḍa
- Say it: ᶜaraḍa, once more
- Say it: ᶜaraḍa al-matjar malābis ash-shitāʾ fī al-wājiha. — The shop displayed winter clothes in the window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a brand, then the Arabic for a shop window, then say ᶜaraḍa again

Before you move on

What does عرض mean? ("To display; to offer".) Say it once more.

455.5 بسطة (basṭa) — a market stall

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shop window, then the Arabic for to display.

You'll want to know: بسطة

بسطة — basṭa — "a market stall".

السوق في بسطة على الفاكهة جاري يبيع.

yabīᶜu jārī al-fākiha ᶜalā basṭa fī as-sūq.

My neighbour sells fruit on a stall in the market.

The word is common in the Levant.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بسطة (basṭa) is built on the native Arabic root b-s-ṭ, "to spread out" (Lane). A basṭa is goods spread out for sale.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: basṭa
- Say it: basṭa, once more
- Say it: yabīᶜu jārī al-fākiha ᶜalā basṭa fī as-sūq. — My neighbour sells fruit on a stall in the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shop window, then the Arabic for to display, then say basṭa again

Before you move on

What does بسطة mean? ("A market stall".) Say it once more.

Chapter 456

Finding the right size

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say volume, a variety, a sample, to fit and to be too tight.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 456: I can say volume, a variety, a sample, to fit and to be too tight.

456.1 حجم (ḥajm) — volume; size; bulk

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to display, then the Arabic for a market stall.

You'll want to know: حجم

حجم — ḥajm — "volume; size; bulk".

> جدا صغير الحقيبة حجم.
>
> ḥajm al-ḥaqība ṣaghīr jiddan.
>
> The size of the bag is very small.

maqās is a clothing size; ḥajm is how big a thing is.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حجم (ḥajm) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-j-m, "the bulk of a thing" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥajm
- Say it: ḥajm, once more
- Say it: ḥajm al-ḥaqība ṣaghīr jiddan. — The size of the bag is very small.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to display, then the Arabic for a market stall, then say ḥajm again

Before you move on

What does حجم mean? ("Volume; size; bulk".) Say it once more.

456.2 صنف (ṣinf) — a variety; a kind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a market stall, then the Arabic for volume.

You'll want to know: صنف

صنف — ṣinf — "a variety; a kind".

الشاي من جديدا صنفا اشتريت.

ishtaraytu ṣinfan jadīdan min ash-shāy.

I bought a new variety of tea.

Plural: أصناف, aṣnāf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صنف (ṣinf) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-n-f, "a sort, a kind" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣinf
- Say it: ṣinf, once more
- Say it: ishtaraytu ṣinfan jadīdan min ash-shāy. — I bought a new variety of tea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a market stall, then the Arabic for volume, then say ṣinf again

Before you move on

What does صنف mean? ("A variety; a kind".) Say it once more.

456.3 عينة (ᶜayyina) — a sample

Before the new one: say the Arabic for volume, then the Arabic for a variety.

You'll want to know: عينة

عينة — ᶜayyina — "a sample".

العسل من صغيرة عينة التاجر أعطاني.

aᶜṭānī at-tājir ᶜayyina ṣaghīra min al-ᶜasal.

The merchant gave me a small sample of the honey.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عينة (ᶜayyina) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-y-n, "the eye; a thing itself" (Lane). Modern Arabic uses it for a sample or a specimen.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜayyina
- Say it: ᶜayyina, once more
- Say it: aᶜṭānī at-tājir ᶜayyina ṣaghīra min al-ᶜasal. — The merchant gave me a small sample of the honey.
- Recall: say the Arabic for volume, then the Arabic for a variety, then say ᶜayyina again

Before you move on

What does عينة mean? ("A sample".) Say it once more.

456.4 ناسب (nāsaba) — to fit; to suit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a variety, then the Arabic for a sample.

You'll want to know: ناسب

ناسب — nāsaba — "to fit; to suit".

القميص يناسبني لم.

lam yunāsibnī al-qamīṣ.

The shirt did not suit me.

Present: يناسب, yunāsib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناسب (nāsaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-b, "kinship, relation" (Lane). It is Form III, "to be in keeping with"; munāsib, "suitable", is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nāsaba
- Say it: nāsaba, once more
- Say it: lam yunāsibnī al-qamīṣ. — The shirt did not suit me.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a variety, then the Arabic for a sample, then say nāsaba again

Before you move on

What does ناسب mean? ("To fit; to suit".) Say it once more.

456.5 ضاق (ḍāqa) — to be too tight; to become narrow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sample, then the Arabic for to fit.

You'll want to know: ضاق

ضاق — ḍāqa — "to be too tight; to become narrow".

قدمي على الحذاء ضاق.

ḍāqa al-ḥidhāʾ ᶜalā qadamī.

The shoe was too tight on my foot.

Present: يضيق, yaḍīq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضاق (ḍāqa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-q, "to be narrow" (Lane). It is the plain verb beside ḍayyiq, "narrow".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍāqa
- Say it: ḍāqa, once more
- Say it: ḍāqa al-ḥidhāʾ ᶜalā qadamī. — The shoe was too tight on my foot.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sample, then the Arabic for to fit, then say ḍāqa again

Before you move on

What does ضاق mean? ("To be too tight; to become narrow".) Say it once more.

Chapter 457

The sales

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a price cut, a voucher, to lower, to get cheaper and to spend money.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 457: I can say a price cut, a voucher, to lower, to get cheaper and to spend money.

457.1 تخفيض (takhfīḍ) — a price cut; a reduction

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fit, then the Arabic for to be too tight.

You'll want to know: تخفيض

تخفيض — takhfīḍ — "a price cut; a reduction".

> اشتريت المعطف بتخفيض كبير.
>
> ishtaraytu al-miᶜṭaf bi-takhfīḍ kabīr.
>
> I bought the coat with a big price cut.

The plural takhfīḍāt is the sales.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تخفيض (takhfīḍ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-ḍ, "to be low; to lower" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form II.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: takhfīḍ
- Say it: takhfīḍ, once more
- Say it: ishtaraytu al-miᶜṭaf bi-takhfīḍ kabīr. — I bought the coat with a big price cut.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fit, then the Arabic for to be too tight, then say takhfīḍ again

Before you move on

What does تخفيض mean? ("A price cut; a reduction".) Say it once more.

457.2 قسيمة (qasīma) — a voucher; a coupon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be too tight, then the Arabic for a price cut.

You'll want to know: قسيمة

قسيمة — qasīma — "a voucher; a coupon".

المتجر في قسيمة أمي استعملت.

istaᶜmalat ummī qasīma fī al-matjar.

My mother used a voucher in the shop.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قسيمة (qasīma) is built on the native Arabic root q-s-m, "to divide" (Lane). It shares its root with qism, "a portion, a share" (Lane); the sense of a voucher or a coupon is modern.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qasīma
- Say it: qasīma, once more
- Say it: ista^{c}malat ummī qasīma fī al-matjar. — My mother used a voucher in the shop.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be too tight, then the Arabic for a price cut, then say qasīma again

Before you move on

What does قسيمة mean? ("A voucher; a coupon".) Say it once more.

457.3 خفض (khaffaḍa) — to lower; to reduce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a price cut, then the Arabic for a voucher.

You'll want to know: خفض

خفض — khaffaḍa — "to lower; to reduce".

الأحذية ثمن المتجر خفض.

khaffaḍa al-matjar thaman al-aḥdhiya.

The shop lowered the price of shoes.

Present: يخفض, yukhaffiḍ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خفض (khaffaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-ḍ, "to be low; to lower" (Lane). It is Form II; munkhafiḍ, "low", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khaḑḑaḍa
- Say it: khaḑḑaḍa, once more
- Say it: khaḑḑaḍa al-matjar thaman al-aḥdhiya. — The shop lowered the price of shoes.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a price cut, then the Arabic for a voucher, then say khaḑḑaḍa again

Before you move on

What does خفض mean? ("To lower; to reduce".) Say it once more.

457.4 رخص (rakhuṣa) — to get cheaper

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a voucher, then the Arabic for to lower.

You'll want to know: رخص

رخص — rakhuṣa — "to get cheaper".

الصيف في الفاكهة رخصت.

rakhuṣat al-fākiha fī aṣ-ṣayf.

Fruit got cheaper in the summer.

Present: يرخص, yarkhuṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رخص (rakhuṣa) is built on the native Arabic root r-kh-ṣ, "to be soft, easy, cheap" (Lane). It is the plain verb beside rakhīṣ, "cheap".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rakhuṣa
- Say it: rakhuṣa, once more
- Say it: rakhuṣat al-fākiha fī aṣ-ṣayf. — Fruit got cheaper in the summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a voucher, then the Arabic for to lower, then say rakhuṣa again

Before you move on

What does رخص mean? ("To get cheaper".) Say it once more.

457.5 أنفق (anfaqa) — to spend money

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lower, then the Arabic for to get cheaper.

You'll want to know: أنفق

أنفق — anfaqa — "to spend money".

السوق في مالنا كل أنفقنا.

anfaqnā kulla mālinā fī as-sūq.

We spent all our money at the market.

Present: ينفق, yunfiq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنفق (anfaqa) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-q, "to pass away, to run out" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make money run out"; Lane gives nafaq, "a tunnel", on the same root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: anfaqa
- Say it: anfaqa, once more
- Say it: anfaqnā kulla mālinā fī as-sūq. — We spent all our money at the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lower, then the Arabic for to get cheaper, then say anfaqa again

Before you move on

What does أنفق mean? ("To spend money".) Say it once more.

Chapter 458

Guarantees and swaps

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a guarantee, a rate, a commodity, to take back and to barter.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 458: I can say a guarantee, a rate, a commodity, to take back and to barter.

458.1 ضمان (ḍamān) — a guarantee; a warranty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get cheaper, then the Arabic for to spend money.

You'll want to know: ضمان

ضمان — ḍamān — "a guarantee; a warranty".

> سنة لمدة ضمان للجهاز.
>
> li-l-jihāz ḍamān li-muddat sana.
>
> The device has a one-year guarantee.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضمان (ḍamān) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-m-n, "to be answerable for" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍamān
- Say it: ḍamān, once more
- Say it: li-l-jihāz ḍamān li-muddat sana. — The device has a one-year guarantee.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get cheaper, then the Arabic for to spend money, then say ḍamān again

Before you move on

What does ضمان mean? ("A guarantee; a warranty".) Say it once more.

458.2 سعر (si^{c}r) — a rate; a price

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to spend money, then the Arabic for a guarantee.

You'll want to know: سعر

سعر — si^{c}r — "a rate; a price".

مرتفع المطار في الصرف سعر.

si^{c}r aṣ-ṣarf fī al-maṭār murtafi^c.

The exchange rate at the airport is high.

Plural: أسعار, as^{c}ār.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سعر (si^{c}r) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-r, "to kindle a fire" (Lane). Lane gives si^{c}r, "a price", on the same root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: si^{c}r
- Say it: si^{c}r, once more
- Say it: si^{c}r aṣ-ṣarf fī al-maṭār murtafi^c. — The exchange rate at the airport is high.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to spend money, then the Arabic for a guarantee, then say si^{c}r again

Before you move on

What does سعر mean? ("A rate; a price".) Say it once more.

458.3 سلعة (sil^{c}a) — a commodity; an item for sale

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a guarantee, then the Arabic for a rate.

You'll want to know: سلعة

سلعة — sil^{c}a — "a commodity; an item for sale".

السوق في رخيصة السلعة هذه.

hādhihi as-sil^{c}a rakhīṣa fī as-sūq.

This item is cheap at the market.

Plural: سلع, sila^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلعة (sil^{c}a) is usually traced to the native Arabic root s-l-^{c}, "goods, merchandise".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: sil^{c}a
- Say it: sil^{c}a, once more
- Say it: hādhihi as-sil^{c}a rakhīṣa fī as-sūq. — This item is cheap at the market.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a guarantee, then the Arabic for a rate, then say sil^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does سلعة mean? ("A commodity; an item for sale".) Say it once more.

458.4 أرجع (arja^{c}a) — to take back; to return (something)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rate, then the Arabic for a commodity.

You'll want to know: أرجع

أرجع — arja^{c}a — "to take back; to return (something)".

المتجر إلى الحذاء أرجعت.

arja^{c}tu al-ḥidhāʾ ilā al-matjar.

I took the shoes back to the shop.

Present: يرجع, yurji^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرجع (arjaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-ᶜ, "to return" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make go back".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: arjaᶜa
- Say it: arjaᶜa, once more
- Say it: arjaᶜtu al-ḥidhāʾ ilā al-matjar. — I took the shoes back to the shop.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rate, then the Arabic for a commodity, then say arjaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does أرجع mean? ("To take back; to return (something)".) Say it once more.

458.5 قايض (qāyaḍa) — to barter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a commodity, then the Arabic for to take back.

You'll want to know: قايض

قايض — qāyaḍa — "to barter".

بالملح القمح المزارع قايض.

qāyaḍa al-muzāriᶜ al-qamḥ bi-l-milḥ.

The farmer bartered the wheat for salt.

Present: يقايض, yuqāyiḍ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قايض (qāyaḍa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root q-y-ḍ, "to give in exchange". It is Form III.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qāyaḍa
- Say it: qāyaḍa, once more
- Say it: qāyaḍa al-muzāriᶜ al-qamḥ bi-l-milḥ. — The farmer bartered the wheat for salt.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a commodity, then the Arabic for to take back, then say qāyaḍa again

Before you move on

What does قايض mean? ("To barter".) Say it once more.

Chapter 459

Spending wisely

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a consumer, a budget, expenses, purchases and to economise.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 459: I can say a consumer, a budget, expenses, purchases and to economise.

459.1 مستهلك (mustahlik) — a consumer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take back, then the Arabic for to barter.

You'll want to know: مستهلك

مستهلك — mustahlik — "a consumer".

> يحب المستهلك الأسعار الرخيصة.
>
> yuḥibbu al-mustahlik al-as^{c}ār ar-rakhīṣa.
>
> The consumer likes cheap prices.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستهلك (mustahlik) is built on the native Arabic root h-l-k, "to perish" (Lane). It is the Form X participle, "one who uses things up".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mustahlik
- Say it: mustahlik, once more
- Say it: yuḥibbu al-mustahlik al-as^{c}ār ar-rakhīṣa. — The consumer likes cheap prices.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take back, then the Arabic for to barter, then say mustahlik again

Before you move on

What does مستهلك mean? ("A consumer".) Say it once more.

459.2 ميزانية (mīzāniyya) — a budget

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to barter, then the Arabic for a consumer.

You'll want to know: ميزانية

ميزانية — mīzāniyya — "a budget".

صغيرة الرحلة ميزانية كانت.

kānat mīzāniyyat ar-riḥla ṣaghīra.

The budget for the trip was small.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميزانية (mīzāniyya) is built on the native Arabic root w-z-n, "to weigh" (Lane). It is made from mīzān, "scales", with -iyya: money weighed out.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mīzāniyya
- Say it: mīzāniyya, once more
- Say it: kānat mīzāniyyat ar-riḥla ṣaghīra. — The budget for the trip was small.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to barter, then the Arabic for a consumer, then say mīzāniyya again

Before you move on

What does ميزانية mean? ("A budget".) Say it once more.

459.3 مصاريف (maṣārīf) — expenses

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a consumer, then the Arabic for a budget.

You'll want to know: مصاريف

مصاريف — maṣārīf — "expenses".

كانت مصاريف الفندق كبيرة.

kānat maṣārīf al-funduq kabīra.

The hotel expenses were large.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصاريف (maṣārīf) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-f, "to turn away, to change" (Lane). Expenses are money turned out of the purse.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maṣārīf
- Say it: maṣārīf, once more
- Say it: kānat maṣārīf al-funduq kabīra. — The hotel expenses were large.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a consumer, then the Arabic for a budget, then say maṣārīf again

Before you move on

What does مصاريف mean? ("Expenses".) Say it once more.

459.4 مشتريات (mushtarayāt) — purchases; the shopping

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a budget, then the Arabic for expenses.

You'll want to know: مشتريات

مشتريات — mushtarayāt — "purchases; the shopping".

السيارة في المشتريات وضعت.

waḍaᶜtu al-mushtarayāt fī as-sayyāra.

I put the shopping in the car.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشتريات (mushtarayāt) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-y, "to buy, to sell" (Lane). It is a plural of the Form VIII passive participle: things bought.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mushtarayāt
- Say it: mushtarayāt, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜtu al-mushtarayāt fī as-sayyāra. — I put the shopping in the car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a budget, then the Arabic for expenses, then say mushtarayāt again

Before you move on

What does مشتريات mean? ("Purchases; the shopping".) Say it once more.

459.5 اقتصد (iqtaṣada) — to economise; to save

Before the new one: say the Arabic for expenses, then the Arabic for purchases.

You'll want to know: اقتصد

اقتصد — iqtaṣada — "to economise; to save".

الشهر هذا المصاريف في اقتصدنا.

iqtaṣadnā fī al-maṣārīf hādhā ash-shahr.

We economised on expenses this month.

Present: يقتصد, yaqtaṣid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتصد (iqtaṣada) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṣ-d, "to aim at; to keep to the middle" (Lane). It is Form VIII, "to be moderate".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtaṣada
- Say it: iqtaṣada, once more
- Say it: iqtaṣadnā fī al-maṣārīf hādhā ash-shahr. — We economised on expenses this month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for expenses, then the Arabic for purchases, then say iqtaṣada again

Before you move on

What does اقتصد mean? ("To economise; to save".) Say it once more.

Chapter 460

When things break

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a breakdown, a malfunction, to get broken, to go bad and to suffer damage.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 460: I can say a breakdown, a malfunction, to get broken, to go bad and to suffer damage.

460.1 عطل (ᶜuṭl) — a breakdown; a fault

Before the new one: say the Arabic for purchases, then the Arabic for to economise.

You'll want to know: عطل

عطل — ᶜuṭl — "a breakdown; a fault".

كان في السيارة عطل صغير.

kāna fī as-sayyāra ᶜuṭl ṣaghīr.

The car had a small fault.

Plural: أعطال, aᶜṭāl.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عطل (ᶜuṭl) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-l, "to be idle, without work" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜuṭl
- Say it: ᶜuṭl, once more
- Say it: kāna fī as-sayyāra ᶜuṭl ṣaghīr. — The car had a small fault.
- Recall: say the Arabic for purchases, then the Arabic for to economise, then say ᶜuṭl again

Before you move on

What does عطل mean? ("A breakdown; a fault".) Say it once more.

460.2 خلل (khalal) — a malfunction; a defect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to economise, then the Arabic for a breakdown.

You'll want to know: خلل

خلل — khalal — "a malfunction; a defect".

الجهاز في خللا المهندس وجد.

wajada al-muhandis khalalan fī al-jihāz.

The engineer found a defect in the device.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خلل (khalal) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-l, "a gap, an opening" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khalal
- Say it: khalal, once more
- Say it: wajada al-muhandis khalalan fī al-jihāz. — The engineer found a defect in the device.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to economise, then the Arabic for a breakdown, then say khalal again

Before you move on

What does خلل mean? ("A malfunction; a defect".) Say it once more.

460.3 انكسر (inkasara) — to get broken

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a breakdown, then the Arabic for a malfunction.

You'll want to know: انكسر

انكسر — inkasara — "to get broken".

الطريق في نظارتي انكسرت.

inkasarat naẓẓāratī fī aṭ-ṭarīq.

My glasses got broken on the way.

Present: ينكسر, yankasir.
kasara breaks a thing; inkasara is what the thing does.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انكسر (inkasara) is built on the native Arabic root k-s-r, "to break" (Lane). It is Form VII, "to be broken".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: inkasara
- Say it: inkasara, once more
- Say it: inkasarat naẓẓāratī fī aṭ-ṭarīq. — My glasses got broken on the way.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a breakdown, then the Arabic for a malfunction, then say inkasara again

Before you move on

What does انكسر mean? ("To get broken".) Say it once more.

460.4 تلف (talifa) — to go bad; to be damaged

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a malfunction, then the Arabic for to get broken.

You'll want to know: تلف

تلف — talifa — "to go bad; to be damaged".

الحرارة بسبب الفاكهة تلفت.

talifat al-fākiha bi-sabab al-ḥarāra.

The fruit spoiled because of the heat.

Present: يتلف, yatlaf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تلف (talifa) is built on the native Arabic root t-l-f, "to perish, to be destroyed" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: talifa
- Say it: talifa, once more
- Say it: talifat al-fākiha bi-sabab al-ḥarāra. — The fruit spoiled because of the heat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a malfunction, then the Arabic for to get broken, then say talifa again

Before you move on

What does تلف mean? ("To go bad; to be damaged".) Say it once more.

460.5 تضرر (taḍarrara) — to suffer damage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get broken, then the Arabic for to go bad.

You'll want to know: تضرر

تضرر — taḍarrara — "to suffer damage".

العاصفة بسبب المنزل سقف تضرر.

taḍarrara saqf al-manzil bi-sabab al-ᶜāṣifa.

The roof of the house was damaged by the storm.

Present: يتضرر, yataḍarrar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تضرر (taḍarrara) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-r, "to harm" (Lane). It is Form V; ḍarar, "harm", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: taḍarrara
- Say it: taḍarrara, once more
- Say it: taḍarrara saqf al-manzil bi-sabab al-ᶜāṣifa. — The roof of the house was damaged by the storm.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get broken, then the Arabic for to go bad, then say taḍarrara again

Before you move on

What does تضرر mean? ("To suffer damage".) Say it once more.

Chapter 461

Cancelled and postponed

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a cancellation, a postponement, to cancel, to miss a chance and to waste time.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 461: I can say a cancellation, a postponement, to cancel, to miss a chance and to waste time.

461.1 إلغاء (ilghāʾ) — a cancellation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go bad, then the Arabic for to suffer damage.

You'll want to know: إلغاء

إلغاء — ilghāʾ — "a cancellation".

المطار في الرحلة إلغاء عن سمعنا.

samiᶜnā ᶜan ilghāʾ ar-riḥla fī al-maṭār.

We heard about the cancellation of the flight at the airport.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إلغاء (ilghāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root l-gh-w, "to be of no account" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form IV, "to make null".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ilghāʾ
- Say it: ilghāʾ, once more
- Say it: samiᶜnā ᶜan ilghāʾ ar-riḥla fī al-maṭār. — We heard about the cancellation of the flight at the airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go bad, then the Arabic for to suffer damage, then say ilghāʾ again

Before you move on

What does إلغاء mean? ("A cancellation".) Say it once more.

461.2 تأجيل (taʾjīl) — a postponement

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to suffer damage, then the Arabic for a cancellation.

You'll want to know: تأجيل

تأجيل — taʾjīl — "a postponement".

الاجتماع بتأجيل المدير أخبرنا.

akhbaranā al-mudīr bi-taʾjīl al-ijtimāᶜ.

The manager told us the meeting was postponed.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأجيل (taʾjīl) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-j-l, "an appointed term" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form II, "to set a later term".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾjīl
- Say it: taʾjīl, once more
- Say it: akhbaranā al-mudīr bi-taʾjīl al-ijtimāᶜ. — The manager told us the meeting was postponed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to suffer damage, then the Arabic for a cancellation, then say taʾjīl again

Before you move on

What does تأجيل mean? ("A postponement".) Say it once more.

461.3 ألغى (alghā) — to cancel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cancellation, then the Arabic for a postponement.

You'll want to know: ألغى

ألغى — alghā — "to cancel".

ألغت الشركة الرحلة بسبب العاصفة.

alghat ash-sharika ar-riḥla bi-sabab al-ᶜāṣifa.

The company cancelled the flight because of the storm.

Present: يلغي, yulghī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ألغى (alghā) is built on the native Arabic root l-gh-w, "to be of no account" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to make null".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: alghā
- Say it: alghā, once more
- Say it: alghat ash-sharika ar-riḥla bi-sabab al-ᶜāṣifa. — The company cancelled the flight because of the storm.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cancellation, then the Arabic for a postponement, then say alghā again

Before you move on

What does ألغى mean? ("To cancel".) Say it once more.

461.4 فوت (fawwata) — to miss (a chance); to let slip

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a postponement, then the Arabic for to cancel.

You'll want to know: فوت

فوت — fawwata — "to miss (a chance); to let slip".

العمل بسبب الحفلة أخي فوت.

fawwata akhī al-ḥafla bi-sabab al-ᶜamal.

My brother missed the party because of work.

Present: يفوت, yufawwit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فوت (fawwata) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-t, "to pass by, to escape" (Lane). It is Form II, "to let pass".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: fawwata
- Say it: fawwata, once more
- Say it: fawwata akhī al-ḥafla bi-sabab al-ᶜamal. — My brother missed the party because of work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a postponement, then the Arabic for to cancel, then say fawwata again

Before you move on

What does فوت mean? ("To miss (a chance); to let slip".) Say it once more.

461.5 ضيع (ḍayyaᶜa) — to waste time; to lose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cancel, then the Arabic for to miss.

You'll want to know: ضيع

ضيع — ḍayyaᶜa — "to waste time; to lose".

الازدحام في ساعة ضيعنا.

ḍayyaᶜnā sāᶜa fī al-izdiḥām.

We wasted an hour in the traffic jam.

Present: يضيع, yuḍayyiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضيع (ḍayyaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-ᶜ, "to be lost, to perish" (Lane). It is Form II, "to let be lost".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍayya^{c}a
- Say it: ḍayya^{c}a, once more
- Say it: ḍayya^{c}nā sā^{c}a fī al-izdiḥām. — We wasted an hour in the traffic jam.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cancel, then the Arabic for to miss, then say ḍayya^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does ضيع mean? ("To waste time; to lose".) Say it once more.

Chapter 462

Getting ready to go

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to get ready, to shorten, to run out, to have room for and to raise.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 462: I can say to get ready, to shorten, to run out, to have room for and to raise.

462.1 استعد (ista^{c}adda) — to get ready

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to miss, then the Arabic for to waste time.

You'll want to know: استعد

استعد — ista^{c}adda — "to get ready".

> للرحلة المسافرون استعد.
>
> ista^{c}adda al-musāfirūn li-r-riḥla.
>
> The travellers got ready for the trip.

Present: يستعد, yasta^{c}idd.
It takes li-: ista^{c}adda li-, "to get ready for".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استعد (ista^{c}adda) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-d-d, "to count" (Lane). It is Form X, "to make oneself ready".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ista^{c}adda
- Say it: ista^{c}adda, once more
- Say it: ista^{c}adda al-musāfirūn li-r-riḥla. — The travellers got ready for the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to miss, then the Arabic for to waste time, then say ista^{c}adda again

Before you move on

What does استعد mean? ("To get ready".) Say it once more.

462.2 اختصر (ikhtaṣara) — to shorten; to cut short

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to waste time, then the Arabic for to get ready.

You'll want to know: اختصر

اختصر — ikhtaṣara — "to shorten; to cut short".

المطر بسبب الرحلة اختصرنا.

ikhtaṣarnā ar-riḥla bi-sabab al-maṭar.

We cut the trip short because of the rain.

Present: يختصر, yakhtaṣir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختصر (ikhtaṣara) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-r, "the waist" (Lane). It is Form VIII, "to take in, to make short", beside khaṣr, "a waist".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtaṣara
- Say it: ikhtaṣara, once more
- Say it: ikhtaṣarnā ar-riḥla bi-sabab al-maṭar. — We cut the trip short because of the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to waste time, then the Arabic for to get ready, then say ikhtaṣara again

Before you move on

What does اختصر mean? ("To shorten; to cut short".) Say it once more.

462.3 نفد (nafida) — to run out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get ready, then the Arabic for to shorten.

You'll want to know: نفد

نفد — nafida — "to run out".

الطريق منتصف في الماء نفد.

nafida al-māʾ fī muntaṣaf aṭ-ṭarīq.

The water ran out halfway along the road.

Present: ينفد, yanfad.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفد (nafida) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-d, "to come to an end" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nafida
- Say it: nafida, once more
- Say it: nafida al-māʾ fī muntaṣaf aṭ-ṭarīq. — The water ran out halfway along the road.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get ready, then the Arabic for to shorten, then say nafida again

Before you move on

What does نفد mean? ("To run out".) Say it once more.

462.4 اتسع (ittasaᶜa) — to have room for; to widen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shorten, then the Arabic for to run out.

You'll want to know: اتسع

اتسع — ittasaᶜa — "to have room for; to widen".

لم تتسع السيارة لكل الأمتعة.

lam tattasiᶜ as-sayyāra li-kull al-amtiᶜa.

The car did not have room for all the luggage.

Present: يتسع, yattasiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اتسع (ittasa^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root w-s-^{c}, "to be wide" (Lane). It is Form VIII; wāsi^c, "spacious", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ittasa^{c}a
- Say it: ittasa^{c}a, once more
- Say it: lam tattasi^c as-sayyāra li-kull al-amti^{c}a. — The car did not have room for all the luggage.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shorten, then the Arabic for to run out, then say ittasa^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does اتسع mean? ("To have room for; to widen".) Say it once more.

462.5 رفع (rafa^{c}a) — to raise; to lift up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to run out, then the Arabic for to have room for.

You'll want to know: رفع

رفع — rafa^{c}a — "to raise; to lift up".

رفع الحمال الحقيبة الثقيلة.

rafa^{c}a al-ḥammāl al-ḥaqība ath-thaqīla.

The porter lifted the heavy bag.

Present: يرفع, yarfa^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رفع (rafaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-ᶜ, "to raise" (Lane). It is the plain verb; murtafiᶜ, "high", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rafaᶜa
- Say it: rafaᶜa, once more
- Say it: rafaᶜa al-ḥammāl al-ḥaqība ath-thaqīla. — The porter lifted the heavy bag.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to run out, then the Arabic for to have room for, then say rafaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does رفع mean? ("To raise; to lift up".) Say it once more.

462.6 Words from chapters 455–462 — a review

Say the Arabic for a product and a brand.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a product, a brand, a shop window, to display, a market stall
- volume, a variety, a sample, to fit, to be too tight
- a price cut, a voucher, to lower, to get cheaper, to spend money
- a guarantee, a rate, a commodity, to take back, to barter
- a consumer, a budget, expenses, purchases, to economise

- a breakdown, a malfunction, to get broken, to go bad, to suffer damage
- a cancellation, a postponement, to cancel, to miss, to waste time
- to get ready, to shorten, to run out, to have room for, to raise

Before you move on

A product? (منتج, muntaj.) A brand? (ماركة, mārka.) A shop window? (واجهة, wājiha.) To display? (عرض, ᶜaraḍa.) A market stall? (بسطة, basṭa.) Volume? (حجم, ḥajm.) A variety? (صنف, ṣinf.) A sample? (عينة, ᶜayyina.) To fit? (ناسب, nāsaba.) To be too tight? (ضاق, ḍāqa.) A price cut? (تخفيض, takhfīḍ.) A voucher? (قسيمة, qasīma.) To lower? (خفض, khaffaḍa.) To get cheaper? (رخص, rakhuṣa.) To spend money? (أنفق, anfaqa.) A guarantee? (ضمان, ḍamān.) A rate? (سعر, siᶜr.) A commodity? (سلعة, silᶜa.) To take back? (أرجع, arjaᶜa.) To barter? (قايض, qāyaḍa.) A consumer? (مستهلك, mustahlik.) A budget? (ميزانية, mīzāniyya.) Expenses? (مصاريف, maṣārīf.) Purchases? (مشتريات, mushtarayāt.) To economise? (اقتصد, iqtaṣada.) A breakdown? (عطل, ᶜuṭl.) A malfunction? (خلل, khalal.) To get broken? (انكسر, inkasara.) To go bad? (تلف, talifa.) To suffer damage? (تضرر, taḍarrara.) A cancellation? (إلغاء, ilghāʾ.) A postponement? (تأجيل, taʾjīl.) To cancel? (ألغى, alghā.) To miss? (فوت, fawwata.) To waste time? (ضيع, ḍayyaᶜa.) To get ready? (استعد, istaᶜadda.) To shorten? (اختصر, ikhtaṣara.) To run out? (نفد, nafida.) To have room for? (اتسع, ittasaᶜa.) To raise? (رفع, rafaᶜa.)

Chapter 463

The climate

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say climate, global warming, the atmosphere, an emission and carbon.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 463: I can say climate, global warming, the atmosphere, an emission and carbon.

463.1 مناخ (munākh) — climate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to have room for, then the Arabic for to raise.

You'll want to know: مناخ

مناخ — munākh — "climate".

جدا جاف الصحراء مناخ.

munākh aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ jāff jiddan.

The climate of the desert is very dry.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مناخ (munākh) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-kh, "to make a camel kneel" (Lane). A munākh was a halting place where camels knelt; modern Arabic gave the old word the sense of climate.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: munākh
- Say it: munākh, once more
- Say it: munākh aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ jāff jiddan. — The climate of the desert is very dry.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to have room for, then the Arabic for to raise, then say munākh again

Before you move on

What does مناخ mean? ("Climate".) Say it once more.

463.2 احتباس حراري (iḥtibās ḥarārī) — global warming

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to raise, then the Arabic for climate.

You'll want to know: احتباس حراري

احتباس حراري — iḥtibās ḥarārī — "global warming".

قرأت عن الاحتباس الحراري في الجريدة.

qaraʾtu ʿan al-iḥtibās al-ḥarārī fī al-jarīda.

I read about global warming in the newspaper.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتباس حراري (iḥtibās ḥarārī) is a modern coinage built from two native Arabic words (Lane gives both roots): iḥtibās, "being held in", on ḥ-b-s, "to confine", and ḥarārī, "of heat", on ḥ-r-r: heat held in.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtibās ḥarārī
- Say it: iḥtibās ḥarārī, once more
- Say it: qaraʾtu ᶜan al-iḥtibās al-ḥarārī fī al-jarīda. — I read about global warming in the newspaper.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to raise, then the Arabic for climate, then say iḥtibās ḥarārī again

Before you move on

What does احتباس حراري mean? ("Global warming".) Say it once more.

463.3 غلاف جوي (ghilāf jawwī) — the atmosphere

Before the new one: say the Arabic for climate, then the Arabic for global warming.

You'll want to know: غلاف جوي

غلاف جوي — ghilāf jawwī — "the atmosphere".

الأرض الجوي الغلاف يحمي.

yaḥmī al-ghilāf al-jawwī al-arḍ.

The atmosphere protects the earth.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غلاف جوي (ghilāf jawwī) is a modern coinage built from two native Arabic words (Lane gives both roots): ghilāf, "a cover, a sheath", on gh-l-f, and jawwī, "of the air", on j-w-w.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ghilāf jawwī
- Say it: ghilāf jawwī, once more
- Say it: yaḥmī al-ghilāf al-jawwī al-arḍ. — The atmosphere protects the earth.
- Recall: say the Arabic for climate, then the Arabic for global warming, then say ghilāf jawwī again

Before you move on

What does غلاف جوي mean? ("The atmosphere".) Say it once more.

463.4 انبعاث (inbiᶜāth) — an emission; a release

Before the new one: say the Arabic for global warming, then the Arabic for the atmosphere.

You'll want to know: انبعاث

انبعاث — inbiᶜāth — "an emission; a release".

كان الانبعاث من المصنع كبيرا.

kāna al-inbiᶜāth min al-maṣnaᶜ kabīran.

The emission from the factory was large.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انبعاث (inbiᶜāth) is built on the native Arabic root b-ᶜ-th, "to send forth, to rouse" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form VII, "being sent out".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: inbi^{c}āth
- Say it: inbi^{c}āth, once more
- Say it: kāna al-inbi^{c}āth min al-maṣna^c kabīran. — The emission from the factory was large.
- Recall: say the Arabic for global warming, then the Arabic for the atmosphere, then say inbi^{c}āth again

Before you move on

What does انبعاث mean? ("An emission; a release".) Say it once more.

463.5 كربون (karbūn) — carbon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the atmosphere, then the Arabic for an emission.

You'll want to know: كربون

كربون — karbūn — "carbon".

المدينة فوق كثير كربون الهواء في.

fī al-hawāʾ karbūn kathīr fawqa al-madīna.

There is a lot of carbon in the air above the city.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كربون (karbūn) is usually traced to French carbone, from Latin carbo, "coal".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: karbūn
- Say it: karbūn, once more
- Say it: fī al-hawāʾ karbūn kathīr fawqa al-madīna. — There is a lot of carbon in the air above the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the atmosphere, then the Arabic for an emission, then say karbūn again

Before you move on

What does كربون mean? ("Carbon".) Say it once more.

Chapter 464

Pollution

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say pollution, polluted, waste, to pollute and to sort.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 464: I can say pollution, polluted, waste, to pollute and to sort.

464.1 تلوث (talawwuth) — pollution

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an emission, then the Arabic for carbon.

You'll want to know: تلوث

تلوث — talawwuth — "pollution".

كبيرة مشكلة المدينة في التلوث.

at-talawwuth fī al-madīna mushkila kabīra.

Pollution in the city is a big problem.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تلوث (talawwuth) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-th, "to soil, to stain" (Lane). It is the verbal noun of Form V, "becoming soiled".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: talawwuth
- Say it: talawwuth, once more
- Say it: at-talawwuth fī al-madīna mushkila kabīra. — Pollution in the city is a big problem.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an emission, then the Arabic for carbon, then say talawwuth again

Before you move on

What does تلوث mean? ("Pollution".) Say it once more.

464.2 ملوث (mulawwath) — polluted

Before the new one: say the Arabic for carbon, then the Arabic for pollution.

You'll want to know: ملوث

ملوث — mulawwath — "polluted".

ملوثا النهر ماء كان.

kāna māʾ an-nahr mulawwathan.

The river water was polluted.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملوث (mulawwath) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-th, "to soil, to stain" (Lane). It is the Form II passive participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mulawwath
- Say it: mulawwath, once more
- Say it: kāna māʾ an-nahr mulawwathan. — The river water was polluted.
- Recall: say the Arabic for carbon, then the Arabic for pollution, then say mulawwath again

Before you move on

What does ملوث mean? ("Polluted".) Say it once more.

464.3 نفايات (nufāyāt) — waste; refuse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pollution, then the Arabic for polluted.

You'll want to know: نفايات

نفايات — nufāyāt — "waste; refuse".

الشارع من النفايات العمال جمع.

jamaᶜa al-ᶜummāl an-nufāyāt min ash-shāriᶜ.

The workers collected the waste from the street.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفايات (nufāyāt) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-y, "to drive away, to cast out" (Lane). Waste is what is cast out.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nufāyāt
- Say it: nufāyāt, once more
- Say it: jamaᶜa al-ᶜummāl an-nufāyāt min ash-shāriᶜ. — The workers collected the waste from the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for pollution, then the Arabic for polluted, then say nufāyāt again

Before you move on

What does نفايات mean? ("Waste; refuse".) Say it once more.

464.4 لوث (lawwatha) — to pollute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for polluted, then the Arabic for waste.

You'll want to know: لوث

لوث — lawwatha — "to pollute".

البحيرة ماء المصنع لوث.

lawwatha al-maṣnaᶜ māʾ al-buḥayra.

The factory polluted the water of the lake.

Present: يلوث, yulawwith.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لوث (lawwatha) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-th, "to soil, to stain" (Lane). It is Form II.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: lawwatha
- Say it: lawwatha, once more
- Say it: lawwatha al-maṣna^{ʿ} mā^{ʾ} al-buḥayra. — The factory polluted the water of the lake.
- Recall: say the Arabic for polluted, then the Arabic for waste, then say lawwatha again

Before you move on

What does لوث mean? ("To pollute".) Say it once more.

464.5 فرز (faraza) — to sort

Before the new one: say the Arabic for waste, then the Arabic for to pollute.

You'll want to know: فرز

فرز — faraza — "to sort".

المطبخ في القمامة أمي فرزت.

farazat ummī al-qumāma fī al-maṭbakh.

My mother sorted the rubbish in the kitchen.

Present: يفرز, yafriz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرز (faraza) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-z, "to separate, to set apart" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: faraza
- Say it: faraza, once more
- Say it: farazat ummī al-qumāma fī al-maṭbakh. — My mother sorted the rubbish in the kitchen.
- Recall: say the Arabic for waste, then the Arabic for to pollute, then say faraza again

Before you move on

What does فرز mean? ("To sort".) Say it once more.

Chapter 465

Energy

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say energy, gas, crude oil, coal and to consume.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 465: I can say energy, gas, crude oil, coal and to consume.

465.1 طاقة (ṭāqa) — energy; power

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pollute, then the Arabic for to sort.

You'll want to know: طاقة

طاقة — ṭāqa — "energy; power".

منزلنا في الشمس طاقة نستعمل.

nasta^{c}milu ṭāqat ash-shams fī manzilinā.

We use the sun's energy in our house.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طاقة (ṭāqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-q, "to be able" (Lane). A ṭāqa was first strength, what one is able to do.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭāqa
- Say it: ṭāqa, once more
- Say it: nasta^{c}milu ṭāqat ash-shams fī manzilinā. — We use the sun's energy in our house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pollute, then the Arabic for to sort, then say ṭāqa again

Before you move on

What does طاقة mean? ("Energy; power".) Say it once more.

465.2 غاز (ghāz) — gas

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sort, then the Arabic for energy.

You'll want to know: غاز

غاز — ghāz — "gas".

الغاز على نطبخ.

naṭbukhu ^{c}alā al-ghāz.

We cook on gas.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غاز (ghāz) was borrowed from English gas (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāz
- Say it: ghāz, once more
- Say it: naṭbukhu ᶜalā al-ghāz. — We cook on gas.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sort, then the Arabic for energy, then say ghāz again

Before you move on

What does غاز mean? ("Gas".) Say it once more.

465.3 نفط (nafṭ) — crude oil; petroleum

Before the new one: say the Arabic for energy, then the Arabic for gas.

You'll want to know: نفط

نفط — nafṭ — "crude oil; petroleum".

نفط آبار المنطقة هذه في.

fī hādhihi al-minṭaqa ābār nafṭ.

There are oil wells in this area.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفط (nafṭ) is a very old word for oil; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nafṭ
- Say it: nafṭ, once more
- Say it: fī hādhihi al-minṭaqa ābār nafṭ. — There are oil wells in this area.
- Recall: say the Arabic for energy, then the Arabic for gas, then say nafṭ again

Before you move on

What does نفط mean? ("Crude oil; petroleum".) Say it once more.

465.4 فحم (faḥm) — coal; charcoal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for gas, then the Arabic for crude oil.

You'll want to know: فحم

فحم — faḥm — "coal; charcoal".

الفحم على اللحم أبي شوى.

shawā abī al-laḥm ᶜalā al-faḥm.

My father grilled the meat over charcoal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فحم (faḥm) is built on the native Arabic root f-ḥ-m, "charcoal" (Lane). EtymDB lists a related Hebrew word for coal.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: faḥm
- Say it: faḥm, once more
- Say it: shawā abī al-laḥm ᶜalā al-faḥm. — My father grilled the meat over charcoal.
- Recall: say the Arabic for gas, then the Arabic for crude oil, then say faḥm again

Before you move on

What does فحم mean? ("Coal; charcoal".) Say it once more.

465.5 استهلك (istahlaka) — to consume; to use up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for crude oil, then the Arabic for coal.

You'll want to know: استهلك

استهلك — istahlaka — "to consume; to use up".

كثيرا بنزينا الكبيرة السيارة تستهلك.

tastahliku as-sayyāra al-kabīra banzīnan kathīran.

The big car uses a lot of petrol.

Present: يستهلك, yastahlik.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استهلك (istahlaka) is built on the native Arabic root h-l-k, "to perish" (Lane). It is Form X, "to make perish, to use up".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: istahlaka
- Say it: istahlaka, once more
- Say it: tastahliku as-sayyāra al-kabīra banzīnan kathīran. — The big car uses a lot of petrol.
- Recall: say the Arabic for crude oil, then the Arabic for coal, then say istahlaka again

Before you move on

What does استهلك mean? ("To consume; to use up".) Say it once more.

Chapter 466

Dust and dunes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say fine dust, dusty, desertification, a sand dune and to choke.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 466: I can say fine dust, dusty, desertification, a sand dune and to choke.

466.1 غبار (ghubār) — fine dust; dust in the air

Before the new one: say the Arabic for coal, then the Arabic for to consume.

You'll want to know: غبار

غبار — ghubār — "fine dust; dust in the air".

> الكراسي كل على الغبار كان.
>
> kāna al-ghubār ᶜalā kull al-karāsī.
>
> There was dust on all the chairs.

turāb is earth and soil; ghubār is the dust that rises and settles.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غبار (ghubār) is built on the native Arabic root gh-b-r, "dust" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ghubār
- Say it: ghubār, once more
- Say it: kāna al-ghubār ᶜalā kull al-karāsī. — There was dust on all the chairs.
- Recall: say the Arabic for coal, then the Arabic for to consume, then say ghubār again

Before you move on

What does غبار mean? ("Fine dust; dust in the air".) Say it once more.

466.2 مغبر (mughbarr) — dusty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to consume, then the Arabic for fine dust.

You'll want to know: مغبر

مغبر — mughbarr — "dusty".

كان الطريق إلى القرية مغبرا.

kāna aṭ-ṭarīq ilā al-qarya mughbarran.

The road to the village was dusty.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغبر (mughbarr) is built on the native Arabic root gh-b-r, "dust" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mughbarr
- Say it: mughbarr, once more
- Say it: kāna aṭ-ṭarīq ilā al-qarya mughbarran. — The road to the village was dusty.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to consume, then the Arabic for fine dust, then say mughbarr again

Before you move on

What does مغبر mean? ("Dusty".) Say it once more.

466.3 تصحر (taṣaḥḥur) — desertification

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fine dust, then the Arabic for dusty.

You'll want to know: تصحر

تصحر — taṣaḥḥur — "desertification".

البلد جنوب في مشكلة التصحر.

at-taṣaḥḥur mushkila fī janūb al-balad.

Desertification is a problem in the south of the country.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تصحر (taṣaḥḥur) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-r, "a desert" (Lane). It is a modern Form V verbal noun, "becoming a desert".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: taṣaḥḥur
- Say it: taṣaḥḥur, once more
- Say it: at-taṣaḥḥur mushkila fī janūb al-balad. — Desertification is a problem in the south of the country.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fine dust, then the Arabic for dusty, then say taṣaḥḥur again

Before you move on

What does تصحر mean? ("Desertification".) Say it once more.

466.4 كثيب (kathīb) — a sand dune

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dusty, then the Arabic for desertification.

You'll want to know: كثيب

كثيب — kathīb — "a sand dune".

الصحراء في كبيرا كثيبا صعدنا.

ṣaᶜidnā kathīban kabīran fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.

We climbed a big sand dune in the desert.

Plural: كثبان, kuthbān.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كثيب (kathīb) is built on the native Arabic root k-th-b, "to collect together" (Lane). A dune is sand gathered into a heap.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: kathīb
- Say it: kathīb, once more
- Say it: ṣaᶜidnā kathīban kabīran fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — We climbed a big sand dune in the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for dusty, then the Arabic for desertification, then say kathīb again

Before you move on

What does كثيب mean? ("A sand dune".) Say it once more.

466.5 اختنق (ikhtanaqa) — to choke; to suffocate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for desertification, then the Arabic for a sand dune.

You'll want to know: اختنق

اختنق — ikhtanaqa — "to choke; to suffocate".

العاصفة في الغبار من جدي اختنق.

ikhtanaqa jaddī min al-ghubār fī al-ᶜāṣifa.

My grandfather choked on the dust in the storm.

Present: يختنق, yakhtaniq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اختنق (ikhtanaqa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-n-q, "to strangle" (Lane). It is Form VIII, "to be choked".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ikhtanaqa
- Say it: ikhtanaqa, once more
- Say it: ikhtanaqa jaddī min al-ghubār fī al-ᶜāṣifa. — My grandfather choked on the dust in the storm.
- Recall: say the Arabic for desertification, then the Arabic for a sand dune, then say ikhtanaqa again

Before you move on

What does اختنق mean? ("To choke; to suffocate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 467

Protecting nature

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a nature reserve, endangered, to protect, to die out and to squander.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 467: I can say a nature reserve, endangered, to protect, to die out and to squander.

467.1 محمية (maḥmiyya) — a nature reserve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sand dune, then the Arabic for to choke.

You'll want to know: محمية

محمية — maḥmiyya — "a nature reserve".

الساحل على للطيور محمية زرنا.

zurnā maḥmiyya li-ṭ-ṭuyūr ᶜalā as-sāḥil.

We visited a bird reserve on the coast.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محمية (maḥmiyya) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-y, "to protect, to defend" (Lane). It is a passive participle: a protected place.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥmiyya
- Say it: maḥmiyya, once more
- Say it: zurnā maḥmiyya li-ṭ-ṭuyūr ᶜalā as-sāḥil. — We visited a bird reserve on the coast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sand dune, then the Arabic for to choke, then say maḥmiyya again

Before you move on

What does محمية mean? ("A nature reserve".) Say it once more.

467.2 مهدد (muhaddad) — endangered; threatened

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to choke, then the Arabic for a nature reserve.

You'll want to know: مهدد

مهدد — muhaddad — "endangered; threatened".

المنطقة هذه في مهدد حيوان النمر.

an-namir ḥayawān muhaddad fī hādhihi al-minṭaqa.

The tiger is an endangered animal in this area.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهدد (muhaddad) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-d, "to threaten; to pull down" (Lane). It is the Form II passive participle, "threatened".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muhaddad
- Say it: muhaddad, once more
- Say it: an-namir ḥayawān muhaddad fī hādhihi al-minṭaqa. — The tiger is an endangered animal in this area.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to choke, then the Arabic for a nature reserve, then say muhaddad again

Before you move on

What does مهدد mean? ("Endangered; threatened".) Say it once more.

467.3 حافظ (ḥāfaẓa) — to protect; to preserve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nature reserve, then the Arabic for endangered.

You'll want to know: حافظ

حافظ — ḥāfaẓa — "to protect; to preserve".

الغابة على هنا الناس يحافظ.

yuḥāfiẓu an-nās hunā ᶜalā al-ghāba.

People here look after the forest.

Present: يحافظ, yuḥāfiẓ.
It takes ᶜalā: ḥāfaẓa ᶜalā, "to take care of".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حافظ (ḥāfaẓa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-ẓ, "to guard, to keep" (Lane). It is Form III.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāfaẓa
- Say it: ḥāfaẓa, once more
- Say it: yuḥāfiẓu an-nās hunā ᶜalā al-ghāba. — People here look after the forest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nature reserve, then the Arabic for endangered, then say ḥāfaẓa again

Before you move on

What does حافظ mean? ("To protect; to preserve".) Say it once more.

467.4 انقرض (inqaraḍa) — to die out; to become extinct

Before the new one: say the Arabic for endangered, then the Arabic for to protect.

You'll want to know: انقرض

انقرض — inqaraḍa — "to die out; to become extinct".

قرون قبل الحيوان هذا انقرض.

inqaraḍa hādhā al-ḥayawān qabla qurūn.

This animal died out centuries ago.

Present: ينقرض, yanqariḍ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انقرض (inqaraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-ḍ, "to cut, to gnaw" (Lane). It is Form VII, "to be cut off".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: inqaraḍa
- Say it: inqaraḍa, once more
- Say it: inqaraḍa hādhā al-ḥayawān qabla qurūn. — This animal died out centuries ago.
- Recall: say the Arabic for endangered, then the Arabic for to protect, then say inqaraḍa again

Before you move on

What does انقرض mean? ("To die out; to become extinct".) Say it once more.

467.5 أهدر (ahdara) — to squander; to waste

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to protect, then the Arabic for to die out.

You'll want to know: أهدر

أهدر — ahdara — "to squander; to waste".

أهدر كثيرا ماء المصنع.

ahdara al-maṣnaᶜ māʾan kathīran.

The factory wasted a lot of water.

Present: يهدر, yuhdir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أهدر (ahdara) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-r, "to be of no account" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to treat as worthless".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ahdara
- Say it: ahdara, once more
- Say it: ahdara al-maṣna^{c} māʾan kathīran. — The factory wasted a lot of water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to protect, then the Arabic for to die out, then say ahdara again

Before you move on

What does أهدر mean? ("To squander; to waste".) Say it once more.

Chapter 468

Plants

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say plant life, a shrub, to wilt, to bloom and to bear fruit.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 468: I can say plant life, a shrub, to wilt, to bloom and to bear fruit.

468.1 نبات (nabāt) — plant life; a plant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to die out, then the Arabic for to squander.

You'll want to know: نبات

نبات — nabāt — "plant life; a plant".

> الشلال بجانب غريبا نباتا رأينا.
>
> raʾaynā nabātan gharīban bi-jānib ash-shallāl.
>
> We saw a strange plant beside the waterfall.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نبات (nabāt) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-t, "to grow, to sprout" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nabāt
- Say it: nabāt, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā nabātan gharīban bi-jānib ash-shallāl. — We saw a strange plant beside the waterfall.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to die out, then the Arabic for to squander, then say nabāt again

Before you move on

What does نبات mean? ("Plant life; a plant".) Say it once more.

468.2 شجيرة (shujayra) — a shrub; a bush

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to squander, then the Arabic for plant life.

You'll want to know: شجيرة

شجيرة — shujayra — "a shrub; a bush".

الحديقة في ورد شجيرة جدي زرع.

zaraᶜa jaddī shujayrat ward fī al-ḥadīqa.

My grandfather planted a rose bush in the garden.

The pattern fuᶜayla makes a small one: shujayra is a little shajara, "a tree".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شجيرة (shujayra) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-r, "trees" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: shujayra
- Say it: shujayra, once more
- Say it: zara^{c}a jaddī shujayrat ward fī al-ḥadīqa. — My grandfather planted a rose bush in the garden.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to squander, then the Arabic for plant life, then say shujayra again

Before you move on

What does شجيرة mean? ("A shrub; a bush".) Say it once more.

468.3 ذبل (dhabala) — to wilt; to wither

Before the new one: say the Arabic for plant life, then the Arabic for a shrub.

You'll want to know: ذبل

ذبل — dhabala — "to wilt; to wither".

الشمس في الزهرة ذبلت.

dhabalat az-zahra fī ash-shams.

The flower wilted in the sun.

Present: يذبل, yadhbul.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذبل (dhabala) is usually traced to the native Arabic root dh-b-l, "to wither". It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: dhabala
- Say it: dhabala, once more
- Say it: dhabalat az-zahra fī ash-shams. — The flower wilted in the sun.
- Recall: say the Arabic for plant life, then the Arabic for a shrub, then say dhabala again

Before you move on

What does ذبل mean? ("To wilt; to wither".) Say it once more.

468.4 أزهر (azhara) — to bloom; to flower

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shrub, then the Arabic for to wilt.

You'll want to know: أزهر

أزهر — azhara — "to bloom; to flower".

الربيع في الأشجار أزهرت.

azharat al-ashjār fī ar-rabīᶜ.

The trees blossomed in spring.

Present: يزهر, yuzhir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أزهر (azhara) is built on the native Arabic root z-h-r, "flowers; to shine" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to put out flowers"; zahra, "a flower", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: azhara
- Say it: azhara, once more
- Say it: azharat al-ashjār fī ar-rabīᶜ. — The trees blossomed in spring.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shrub, then the Arabic for to wilt, then say azhara again

Before you move on

What does أزهر mean? ("To bloom; to flower".) Say it once more.

468.5 أثمر (athmara) — to bear fruit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wilt, then the Arabic for to bloom.

You'll want to know: أثمر

أثمر — athmara — "to bear fruit".

أثمرت شجرة التين في الصيف.

athmarat shajarat at-tīn fī aṣ-ṣayf.

The fig tree bore fruit in summer.

Present: يثمر, yuthmir.
Work can bear fruit too: the sense carries over as in English.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أثمر (athmara) is built on the native Arabic root th-m-r, "fruit" (Lane). It is Form IV, "to put out fruit".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: athmara
- Say it: athmara, once more
- Say it: athmarat shajarat at-tīn fī aṣ-ṣayf. — The fig tree bore fruit in summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wilt, then the Arabic for to bloom, then say athmara again

Before you move on

What does أثمر mean? ("To bear fruit".) Say it once more.

Chapter 469

Soil and crops

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say soil, fertiliser, a crop, fertile and to uproot.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 469: I can say soil, fertiliser, a crop, fertile and to uproot.

469.1 تربة (turba) — soil; earth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bloom, then the Arabic for to bear fruit.

You'll want to know: تربة

تربة — turba — "soil; earth".

> التربة هنا جيدة للقمح.
>
> at-turba hunā jayyida li-l-qamḥ.
>
> The soil here is good for wheat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تربة (turba) is built on the native Arabic root t-r-b, "earth, dust" (Lane). It shares its root with turāb, "dust, soil".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: turba
- Say it: turba, once more
- Say it: at-turba hunā jayyida li-l-qamḥ. — The soil here is good for wheat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bloom, then the Arabic for to bear fruit, then say turba again

Before you move on

What does تربة mean? ("Soil; earth".) Say it once more.

469.2 سماد (samād) — fertiliser; manure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bear fruit, then the Arabic for soil.

You'll want to know: سماد

سماد — samād — "fertiliser; manure".

الحقل في السماد المزارع وضع.

waḍaᶜa al-muzāriᶜ as-samād fī al-ḥaql.

The farmer put fertiliser on the field.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سماد (samād) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-d, "to manure the land" (Lane). Lane gives samād as manure of dung and earth.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: samād
- Say it: samād, once more
- Say it: waḍa^{c}a al-muzāri^c as-samād fī al-ḥaql. — The farmer put fertiliser on the field.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bear fruit, then the Arabic for soil, then say samād again

Before you move on

What does سماد mean? ("Fertiliser; manure".) Say it once more.

469.3 محصول (maḥṣūl) — a crop; a harvest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for soil, then the Arabic for fertiliser.

You'll want to know: محصول

محصول — maḥṣūl — "a crop; a harvest".

كبيرا القمح محصول كان.

kāna maḥṣūl al-qamḥ kabīran.

The wheat crop was large.

Plural: محاصيل, maḥāṣīl.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محصول (maḥṣūl) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ṣ-l, "to remain, to be obtained" (Lane). It is a passive participle: what is obtained.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥṣūl
- Say it: maḥṣūl, once more
- Say it: kāna maḥṣūl al-qamḥ kabīran. — The wheat crop was large.
- Recall: say the Arabic for soil, then the Arabic for fertiliser, then say maḥṣūl again

Before you move on

What does محصول mean? ("A crop; a harvest".) Say it once more.

469.4 خصب (khaṣib) — fertile

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fertiliser, then the Arabic for a crop.

You'll want to know: خصب

خصب — khaṣib — "fertile".

خصبة النهر حول الأرض.

al-arḍ ḥawla an-nahr khaṣiba.

The land around the river is fertile.

The noun khiṣb, "fertility", has the same letters.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خصب (khaṣib) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-b, "to be fruitful, rich in herbage" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṣib
- Say it: khaṣib, once more
- Say it: al-arḍ ḥawla an-nahr khaṣiba. — The land around the river is fertile.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fertiliser, then the Arabic for a crop, then say khaṣib again

Before you move on

What does خصب mean? ("Fertile".) Say it once more.

469.5 اقتلع (iqtala^{c}a) — to uproot

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crop, then the Arabic for fertile.

You'll want to know: اقتلع

اقتلع — iqtala^{c}a — "to uproot".

كبيرة شجرة الريح اقتلعت.

iqtala^{c}at ar-rīḥ shajara kabīra.

The wind uprooted a big tree.

Present: يقتلع, yaqtali^{c}.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اقتلع (iqtala^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-^{c}, "to pull up, to uproot" (Lane). It is Form VIII.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iqtala^{c}a
- Say it: iqtala^{c}a, once more
- Say it: iqtala^{c}at ar-rīḥ shajara kabīra. — The wind uprooted a big tree.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crop, then the Arabic for fertile, then say iqtala^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does اقتلع mean? ("To uproot".) Say it once more.

Chapter 470

Springs and rivers

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a spring, a river source, a river mouth, a riverbank and sweet water.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 470: I can say a spring, a river source, a river mouth, a riverbank and sweet water.

470.1 ينبوع (yanbū^{c}) — a spring (of water)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fertile, then the Arabic for to uproot.

You'll want to know: ينبوع

ينبوع — yanbū^{c} — "a spring (of water)".

> الجبل في ينبوع من شربنا.
>
> sharibnā min yanbū^{c} fī al-jabal.
>
> We drank from a spring in the mountain.

Plural: ينابيع, yanābī^{c}.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ينبوع (yanbū^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-^{c}, "to well up, to gush" (Lane). EtymDB traces the word back to Proto-Semitic.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: yanbū^c
- Say it: yanbū^c, once more
- Say it: sharibnā min yanbū^c fī al-jabal. — We drank from a spring in the mountain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fertile, then the Arabic for to uproot, then say yanbū^c again

Before you move on

What does ينبوع mean? ("A spring (of water)".) Say it once more.

470.2 منبع (manba^c) — a river source; a source

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to uproot, then the Arabic for a spring.

You'll want to know: منبع

منبع — manba^c — "a river source; a source".

الجبال في النهر منبع يقع.

yaqa^{c}u manba^c an-nahr fī al-jibāl.

The source of the river lies in the mountains.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منبع (manba^c) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-^{c}, "to well up, to gush" (Lane). The pattern maf^{c}al makes it the place where water wells up.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: manba^c
- Say it: manba^c, once more
- Say it: yaqa^{c}u manba^c an-nahr fī al-jibāl. — The source of the river lies in the mountains.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to uproot, then the Arabic for a spring, then say manba^c again

Before you move on

What does منبع mean? ("A river source; a source".) Say it once more.

470.3 مصب (maṣabb) — a river mouth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a spring, then the Arabic for a river source.

You'll want to know: مصب

مصب — maṣabb — "a river mouth".

بالبحر النهر يلتقي المصب عند.

^{c}inda al-maṣabb yaltaqī an-nahr bi-l-baḥr.

At the mouth the river meets the sea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصب (maṣabb) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-b-b, "to pour" (Lane). It is the place where a river pours out; ṣabba, "to pour", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maṣabb
- Say it: maṣabb, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda al-maṣabb yaltaqī an-nahr bi-l-baḥr. — At the mouth the river meets the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a spring, then the Arabic for a river source, then say maṣabb again

Before you move on

What does مصب mean? ("A river mouth".) Say it once more.

470.4 ضفة (ḍiffa) — a riverbank

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a river source, then the Arabic for a river mouth.

You'll want to know: ضفة

ضفة — ḍiffa — "a riverbank".

النهر ضفة على جلسنا.

jalasnā ᶜalā ḍiffat an-nahr.

We sat on the riverbank.

Plural: ضفاف, ḍifāf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضفة (ḍiffa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ḍ-f-f, "the side of a river".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍiffa
- Say it: ḍiffa, once more
- Say it: jalasnā ᶜalā ḍiffat an-nahr. — We sat on the riverbank.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a river source, then the Arabic for a river mouth, then say ḍiffa again

Before you move on

What does ضفة mean? ("A riverbank".) Say it once more.

470.5 عذب (ᶜadhb) — sweet (of water); fresh

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a river mouth, then the Arabic for a riverbank.

You'll want to know: عذب

عذب — ᶜadhb — "sweet (of water); fresh".

عذب الينبوع ماء.

māʾ al-yanbūᶜ ᶜadhb.

The water of the spring is sweet.

Of water, sweet means fresh, not salty.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عذب (ᶜadhb) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-dh-b, "to be sweet (of water)" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜadhb
- Say it: ᶜadhb, once more
- Say it: māʾ al-yanbūᶜ ᶜadhb. — The water of the spring is sweet.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a river mouth, then the Arabic for a riverbank, then say ᶜadhb again

Before you move on

What does عذب mean? ("Sweet (of water); fresh".) Say it once more.

470.6 Words from chapters 463–470 — a review

Say the Arabic for climate and global warming.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- climate, global warming, the atmosphere, an emission, carbon
- pollution, polluted, waste, to pollute, to sort
- energy, gas, crude oil, coal, to consume
- fine dust, dusty, desertification, a sand dune, to choke
- a nature reserve, endangered, to protect, to die out, to squander
- plant life, a shrub, to wilt, to bloom, to bear fruit
- soil, fertiliser, a crop, fertile, to uproot
- a spring, a river source, a river mouth, a riverbank, sweet

Before you move on

Climate? (مناخ, munākh.) Global warming? (احتباس حراري, iḥtibās ḥarārī.) The atmosphere? (غلاف جوي, ghilāf jawwī.) An emission? (انبعاث, inbiᶜāth.) Carbon? (كربون, karbūn.) Pollution? (تلوث, talawwuth.) Polluted? (ملوث, mulawwath.) Waste? (نفايات, nufāyāt.) To pollute? (لوث, lawwatha.) To sort? (فرز, faraza.) Energy? (طاقة, ṭāqa.) Gas? (غاز, ghāz.) Crude oil? (نفط, nafṭ.) Coal? (فحم, faḥm.) To consume? (استهلك, istahlaka.) Fine dust? (غبار, ghubār.) Dusty? (مغبر, mughbarr.) Desertification? (تصحر, taṣaḥḥur.) A sand dune? (كثيب, kathīb.) To choke? (اختنق, ikhtanaqa.) A nature reserve? (محمية, maḥmiyya.) Endangered? (مهدد, muhaddad.) To protect? (حافظ, ḥāfaẓa.) To die out? (انقرض, inqaraḍa.) To squander? (أهدر, ahdara.) Plant life? (نبات, nabāt.) A shrub? (شجيرة, shujayra.) To wilt? (ذبل, dhabala.) To bloom? (أزهر, azhara.) To bear fruit? (أثمر, athmara.) Soil? (تربة, turba.) Fertiliser? (سماد, samād.) A crop? (محصول, maḥṣūl.) Fertile? (خصب, khaṣib.) To uproot? (اقتلع, iqtalaᶜa.) A spring? (ينبوع, yanbūᶜ.) A river source? (منبع, manbaᶜ.) A river mouth? (مصب, maṣabb.) A riverbank? (ضفة, ḍiffa.) Sweet? (عذب, ᶜadhb.)

Chapter 471

Bays and oceans

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a gulf, an ocean, coral, a current and depth.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 471: I can say a gulf, an ocean, coral, a current and depth.

471.1 خليج (khalīj) — a gulf; a bay

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a riverbank, then the Arabic for sweet.

You'll want to know: خليج

خليج — khalīj — "a gulf; a bay".

صغير خليج في سبحنا.

sabaḥnā fī khalīj ṣaghīr.

We swam in a small bay.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خليج (khalīj) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-j, "to draw away" (Lane). A khalīj was a channel drawn off a river, and then an arm of the sea.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khalīj
- Say it: khalīj, once more
- Say it: sabaḥnā fī khalīj ṣaghīr. — We swam in a small bay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a riverbank, then the Arabic for sweet, then say khalīj again

Before you move on

What does خليج mean? ("A gulf; a bay".) Say it once more.

471.2 محيط (muḥīṭ) — an ocean

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sweet, then the Arabic for a gulf.

You'll want to know: محيط

محيط — muḥīṭ — "an ocean".

شهر في المحيط السفينة عبرت.

ᶜabarat as-safīna al-muḥīṭ fī shahr.

The ship crossed the ocean in a month.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محيط (muḥīṭ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-ṭ, "to surround" (Lane). It is the Form IV participle: the sea that surrounds the land.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥīṭ
- Say it: muḥīṭ, once more
- Say it: ᶜabarat as-safīna al-muḥīṭ fī shahr. — The ship crossed the ocean in a month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for sweet, then the Arabic for a gulf, then say muḥīṭ again

Before you move on

What does محيط mean? ("An ocean".) Say it once more.

471.3 مرجان (marjān) — coral

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a gulf, then the Arabic for an ocean.

You'll want to know: مرجان

مرجان — marjān — "coral".

الماء تحت المرجان رأينا.

raʾaynā al-marjān taḥta al-māʾ.

We saw the coral under the water.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرجان (marjān) was borrowed from Syriac (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: marjān
- Say it: marjān, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā al-marjān taḥta al-māʾ. — We saw the coral under the water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a gulf, then the Arabic for an ocean, then say marjān again

Before you move on

What does مرجان mean? ("Coral".) Say it once more.

471.4 تيار (tayyār) — a current (of water or air)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ocean, then the Arabic for coral.

You'll want to know: تيار

تيار — tayyār — "a current (of water or air)".

كان التيار في النهر قويا.

kāna at-tayyār fī an-nahr qawiyyan.

The current in the river was strong.

An electric current is tayyār kahrabāʾī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تيار (tayyār) is listed by Lane under t-y-r as the waves of a sea or a great river; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tayyār
- Say it: tayyār, once more
- Say it: kāna at-tayyār fī an-nahr qawiyyan. — The current in the river was strong.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ocean, then the Arabic for coral, then say tayyār again

Before you move on

What does تيار mean? ("A current (of water or air)".) Say it once more.

471.5 عمق (ᶜumq) — depth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for coral, then the Arabic for a current.

You'll want to know: عمق

عمق — ᶜumq — "depth".

كبير البحيرة عمق.

ᶜumq al-buḥayra kabīr.

The depth of the lake is great.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عمق (ᶜumq) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-m-q, "to be deep" (Lane). It is the noun beside ᶜamīq, "deep".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜumq
- Say it: ᶜumq, once more
- Say it: ᶜumq al-buḥayra kabīr. — The depth of the lake is great.
- Recall: say the Arabic for coral, then the Arabic for a current, then say ᶜumq again

Before you move on

What does عمق mean? ("Depth".) Say it once more.

Chapter 472

Rocks and peaks

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a rock, a plateau, a summit, a slope and an edge.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 472: I can say a rock, a plateau, a summit, a slope and an edge.

472.1 صخرة (ṣakhra) — a rock

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a current, then the Arabic for depth.

You'll want to know: صخرة

صخرة — ṣakhra — "a rock".

> كبيرة صخرة على جلسنا.
>
> jalasnā ᶜalā ṣakhra kabīra.
>
> We sat on a big rock.

Plural: صخور, ṣukhūr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صخرة (ṣakhra) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-kh-r, "great hard rocks" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣakhra
- Say it: ṣakhra, once more
- Say it: jalasnā ᶜalā ṣakhra kabīra. — We sat on a big rock.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a current, then the Arabic for depth, then say ṣakhra again

Before you move on

What does صخرة mean? ("A rock".) Say it once more.

472.2 هضبة (haḍba) — a plateau; a hill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for depth, then the Arabic for a rock.

You'll want to know: هضبة

هضبة — haḍba — "a plateau; a hill".

واسعة هضبة على القرية تقع.

taqaᶜu al-qarya ᶜalā haḍba wāsiᶜa.

The village lies on a wide plateau.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هضبة (haḍba) is built on the native Arabic root h-ḍ-b: Lane gives haḍba as a hill, or a mountain spreading over the surface of the ground, beside the root's sense of steady rain (Lane). Modern Arabic uses it for a plateau.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: haḍba
- Say it: haḍba, once more
- Say it: taqa^{c}u al-qarya ^{c}alā haḍba wāsi^{c}a. — The village lies on a wide plateau.
- Recall: say the Arabic for depth, then the Arabic for a rock, then say haḍba again

Before you move on

What does هضبة mean? ("A plateau; a hill".) Say it once more.

472.3 قمة (qimma) — a summit; a peak

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rock, then the Arabic for a plateau.

You'll want to know: قمة

قمة — qimma — "a summit; a peak".

الظهر بعد الجبل قمة إلى وصلنا.

waṣalnā ilā qimmat al-jabal ba^{c}da aẓ-ẓuhr.

We reached the summit of the mountain in the afternoon.

Plural: قمم, qimam.
A meeting of heads of state is also a qimma.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قمة (qimma) is built on the native Arabic root q-m-m, "the top of a thing" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qimma
- Say it: qimma, once more
- Say it: waṣalnā ilā qimmat al-jabal baᶜda aẓ-ẓuhr. — We reached the summit of the mountain in the afternoon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rock, then the Arabic for a plateau, then say qimma again

Before you move on

What does قمة mean? ("A summit; a peak".) Say it once more.

472.4 منحدر (munḥadar) — a slope

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a plateau, then the Arabic for a summit.

You'll want to know: منحدر

منحدر — munḥadar — "a slope".

بطء المنحدر نزلنا.

nazalnā al-munḥadar bi-buṭʾ.

We went down the slope slowly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منحدر (munḥadar) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-d-r, "to descend" (Lane). It is the place-noun of Form VII, "the way down".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: munḥadar
- Say it: munḥadar, once more
- Say it: nazalnā al-munḥadar bi-buṭˀ. — We went down the slope slowly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a plateau, then the Arabic for a summit, then say munḥadar again

Before you move on

What does منحدر mean? ("A slope".) Say it once more.

472.5 حافة (ḥāffa) — an edge; a rim

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a summit, then the Arabic for a slope.

You'll want to know: حافة

حافة — ḥāffa — "an edge; a rim".

الوادي حافة على وقفنا.

waqafnā ᶜalā ḥāffat al-wādī.

We stood on the edge of the valley.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حافة (ḥāffa) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ḥ-f-f, "to surround, to border".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāffa
- Say it: ḥāffa, once more
- Say it: waqafnā ᶜalā ḥāffat al-wādī. — We stood on the edge of the valley.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a summit, then the Arabic for a slope, then say ḥāffa again

Before you move on

What does حافة mean? ("An edge; a rim".) Say it once more.

Chapter 473

Desert and jungle

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say an oasis, a mirage, a jungle, a swamp and barren.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 473: I can say an oasis, a mirage, a jungle, a swamp and barren.

473.1 واحة (wāḥa) — an oasis

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a slope, then the Arabic for an edge.

You'll want to know: واحة

واحة — wāḥa — "an oasis".

> الصحراء في صغيرة واحة في نزلنا.
>
> nazalnā fī wāḥa ṣaghīra fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.
>
> We stopped at a small oasis in the desert.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

واحة (wāḥa) was borrowed from Coptic, which goes back to ancient Egyptian (EtymDB); English oasis comes from the same word.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: wāḥa
- Say it: wāḥa, once more
- Say it: nazalnā fī wāḥa ṣaghīra fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — We stopped at a small oasis in the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a slope, then the Arabic for an edge, then say wāḥa again

Before you move on

What does واحة mean? ("An oasis".) Say it once more.

473.2 سراب (sarāb) — a mirage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an edge, then the Arabic for an oasis.

You'll want to know: سراب

سراب — sarāb — "a mirage".

رأى المسافر سرابا في الصحراء.

raʾā al-musāfir sarāban fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.

The traveller saw a mirage in the desert.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سراب (sarāb) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-b, "to flow; to go away" (Lane). A mirage shimmers like flowing water and then is gone.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: sarāb
- Say it: sarāb, once more
- Say it: raʾā al-musāfir sarāban fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — The traveller saw a mirage in the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an edge, then the Arabic for an oasis, then say sarāb again

Before you move on

What does سراب mean? ("A mirage".) Say it once more.

473.3 أدغال (adghāl) — a jungle; thick undergrowth

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an oasis, then the Arabic for a mirage.

You'll want to know: أدغال

أدغال — adghāl — "a jungle; thick undergrowth".

الأدغال في النمور تعيش.

taᶜīshu an-numūr fī al-adghāl.

Tigers live in the jungle.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أدغال (adghāl) is usually traced to the native Arabic root d-gh-l, "a thicket". It is a plural in form.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: adghāl
- Say it: adghāl, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}īshu an-numūr fī al-adghāl. — Tigers live in the jungle.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an oasis, then the Arabic for a mirage, then say adghāl again

Before you move on

What does أدغال mean? ("A jungle; thick undergrowth".) Say it once more.

473.4 مستنقع (mustanqa^{c}) — a swamp; a marsh

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mirage, then the Arabic for a jungle.

You'll want to know: مستنقع

مستنقع — mustanqa^{c} — "a swamp; a marsh".

المستنقع في الضفدع يعيش.

ya^{c}īshu aḍ-ḍifda^{c} fī al-mustanqa^{c}.

The frog lives in the swamp.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستنقع (mustanqa^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-^{c}, "standing water" (Lane). It is the place-noun of Form X: where water stands.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mustanqa^{c}
- Say it: mustanqa^{c}, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}īshu aḍ-ḍifda^{c} fī al-mustanqa^{c}. — The frog lives in the swamp.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mirage, then the Arabic for a jungle, then say mustanqa^{c} again

Before you move on

What does مستنقع mean? ("A swamp; a marsh".) Say it once more.

473.5 قاحل (qāḥil) — barren

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a jungle, then the Arabic for a swamp.

You'll want to know: قاحل

قاحل — qāḥil — "barren".

ماء بلا قاحلة الأرض كانت.

kānat al-arḍ qāḥila bi-lā mā^{ʾ}.

The land was barren, without water.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قاحل (qāḥil) is usually traced to the native Arabic root q-ḥ-l, "to dry up".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qāḥil
- Say it: qāḥil, once more
- Say it: kānat al-arḍ qāḥila bi-lā māʾ. — The land was barren, without water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a jungle, then the Arabic for a swamp, then say qāḥil again

Before you move on

What does قاحل mean? ("Barren".) Say it once more.

Chapter 474

Birds

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a falcon, an ostrich, a seagull, a feather and to float.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 474: I can say a falcon, an ostrich, a seagull, a feather and to float.

474.1 صقر (ṣaqr) — a falcon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a swamp, then the Arabic for barren.

You'll want to know: صقر

صقر — ṣaqr — "a falcon".

> الوادي فوق صقر طار.
>
> ṭāra ṣaqr fawqa al-wādī.
>
> A falcon flew over the valley.

Plural: صقور, ṣuqūr.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صقر (ṣaqr) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ṣ-q-r, "a bird of prey". It is an old native name.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaqr
- Say it: ṣaqr, once more
- Say it: ṭāra ṣaqr fawqa al-wādī. — A falcon flew over the valley.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a swamp, then the Arabic for barren, then say ṣaqr again

Before you move on

What does صقر mean? ("A falcon".) Say it once more.

474.2 نعامة (naᶜāma) — an ostrich

Before the new one: say the Arabic for barren, then the Arabic for a falcon.

You'll want to know: نعامة

نعامة — naᶜāma — "an ostrich".

كبيرة بسرعة النعامة تركض.

tarkuḍu an-naᶜāma bi-surᶜa kabīra.

The ostrich runs very fast.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نعامة (naᶜāma) is an old Arabic name for the ostrich; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: na^{c}āma
- Say it: na^{c}āma, once more
- Say it: tarkuḍu an-na^{c}āma bi-sur^{c}a kabīra. — The ostrich runs very fast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for barren, then the Arabic for a falcon, then say na^{c}āma again

Before you move on

What does نعامة mean? ("An ostrich".) Say it once more.

474.3 نورس (nawras) — a seagull

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a falcon, then the Arabic for an ostrich.

You'll want to know: نورس

نورس — nawras — "a seagull".

القارب على نورس وقف.

waqafa nawras ^{c}alā al-qārib.

A seagull stood on the boat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نورس (nawras) names the gull; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nawras
- Say it: nawras, once more
- Say it: waqafa nawras ᶜalā al-qārib. — A seagull stood on the boat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a falcon, then the Arabic for an ostrich, then say nawras again

Before you move on

What does نورس mean? ("A seagull".) Say it once more.

474.4 ريشة (rīsha) — a feather; a quill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an ostrich, then the Arabic for a seagull.

You'll want to know: ريشة

ريشة — rīsha — "a feather; a quill".

وجد الطفل ريشة بيضاء.

wajada aṭ-ṭifl rīsha bayḍāʾ.

The child found a white feather.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ريشة (rīsha) is built on the native Arabic root r-y-sh, "feathers" (Lane). It is one of rīsh, "feathers".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: rīsha
- Say it: rīsha, once more
- Say it: wajada aṭ-ṭifl rīsha bayḍāʾ. — The child found a white feather.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an ostrich, then the Arabic for a seagull, then say rīsha again

Before you move on

What does ريشة mean? ("A feather; a quill".) Say it once more.

474.5 طفا (ṭafā) — to float

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a seagull, then the Arabic for a feather.

You'll want to know: طفا

طفا — ṭafā — "to float".

الماء على ريشة طفت.

ṭafat rīsha ᶜalā al-māʾ.

A feather floated on the water.

Present: يطفو, yaṭfū.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طفا (ṭafā) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ṭ-f-w, "to rise to the surface of water". It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭafā
- Say it: ṭafā, once more
- Say it: ṭafat rīsha ᶜalā al-māʾ. — A feather floated on the water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a seagull, then the Arabic for a feather, then say ṭafā again

Before you move on

What does طفا mean? (“To float”.) Say it once more.

Chapter 475

Wild animals

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a hyena, a cheetah, a hedgehog, a squirrel and a bat.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 475: I can say a hyena, a cheetah, a hedgehog, a squirrel and a bat.

475.1 ضبع (ḍab^{c}) — a hyena

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a feather, then the Arabic for to float.

You'll want to know: ضبع

ضبع — ḍab^{c} — "a hyena".

الليل في ضبع صوت سمعنا.

sami^{c}nā ṣawt ḍab^{c} fī al-layl.

We heard a hyena at night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضبع (ḍab^{c}) was inherited from Proto-Semitic (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍab^{c}
- Say it: ḍab^{c}, once more
- Say it: sami^{c}nā ṣawt ḍab^{c} fī al-layl. — We heard a hyena at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a feather, then the Arabic for to float, then say ḍab^{c} again

Before you move on

What does ضبع mean? ("A hyena".) Say it once more.

475.2 فهد (fahd) — a cheetah; a leopard

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to float, then the Arabic for a hyena.

You'll want to know: فهد

فهد — fahd — "a cheetah; a leopard".

رأينا فهدا في المحمية.

raʾaynā fahdan fī al-maḥmiyya.

We saw a cheetah in the reserve.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فهد (fahd) is an old Arabic name; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: fahd
- Say it: fahd, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā fahdan fī al-maḥmiyya. — We saw a cheetah in the reserve.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to float, then the Arabic for a hyena, then say fahd again

Before you move on

What does فهد mean? ("A cheetah; a leopard".) Say it once more.

475.3 قنفذ (qunfudh) — a hedgehog

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hyena, then the Arabic for a cheetah.

You'll want to know: قنفذ

قنفذ — qunfudh — "a hedgehog".

الحديقة في صغيرا قنفذا وجدنا.

wajadnā qunfudhan ṣaghīran fī al-ḥadīqa.

We found a little hedgehog in the garden.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قنفذ (qunfudh) was inherited from Proto-Semitic (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qunfudh
- Say it: qunfudh, once more
- Say it: wajadnā qunfudhan ṣaghīran fī al-ḥadīqa. — We found a little hedgehog in the garden.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hyena, then the Arabic for a cheetah, then say qunfudh again

Before you move on

What does قنفذ mean? ("A hedgehog".) Say it once more.

475.4 سنجاب (sinjāb) — a squirrel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cheetah, then the Arabic for a hedgehog.

You'll want to know: سنجاب

سنجاب — sinjāb — "a squirrel".

بسرعة الشجرة سنجاب صعد.

ṣa^{c}ida sinjāb ash-shajara bi-sur^{c}a.

A squirrel ran up the tree quickly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سنجاب (sinjāb) was borrowed from Persian (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: sinjāb
- Say it: sinjāb, once more
- Say it: ṣa^{c}ida sinjāb ash-shajara bi-sur^{c}a. — A squirrel ran up the tree quickly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cheetah, then the Arabic for a hedgehog, then say sinjāb again

Before you move on

What does سنجاب mean? ("A squirrel".) Say it once more.

475.5 خفاش (khuffāsh) — a bat (the animal)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hedgehog, then the Arabic for a squirrel.

You'll want to know: خفاش

خفاش — khuffāsh — "a bat (the animal)".

الليل في الخفاش يطير.

yaṭīru al-khuffāsh fī al-layl.

The bat flies at night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خفاش (khuffāsh) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-sh, "to have weak eyes" (Lane). EtymDB also derives it from this root: the bat was the animal that sees poorly by day.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khuffāsh
- Say it: khuffāsh, once more
- Say it: yaṭīru al-khuffāsh fī al-layl. — The bat flies at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hedgehog, then the Arabic for a squirrel, then say khuffāsh again

Before you move on

What does خفاش mean? ("A bat (the animal)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 476

Small creatures

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a scorpion, a locust, moss, a claw and to prey on.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 476: I can say a scorpion, a locust, moss, a claw and to prey on.

476.1 عقرب (ᶜaqrab) — a scorpion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a squirrel, then the Arabic for a bat.

You'll want to know: عقرب

عقرب — ᶜaqrab — "a scorpion".

حجر تحت عقربا وجدنا.

wajadnā ᶜaqraban taḥta ḥajar.

We found a scorpion under a stone.

Plural: عقارب, ᶜaqārib.
The hands of a clock are also ᶜaqārib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عقرب (ᶜaqrab) goes back to an old Semitic word, with relatives in Hebrew, Syriac and Ugaritic (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaqrab
- Say it: ᶜaqrab, once more
- Say it: wajadnā ᶜaqraban taḥta ḥajar. — We found a scorpion under a stone.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a squirrel, then the Arabic for a bat, then say ᶜaqrab again

Before you move on

What does عقرب mean? ("A scorpion".) Say it once more.

476.2 جرادة (jarāda) — a locust

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bat, then the Arabic for a scorpion.

You'll want to know: جرادة

جرادة — jarāda — "a locust".

الشجرة على خضراء جرادة رأيت.

raʾaytu jarāda khaḍrāʾ ᶜalā ash-shajara.

I saw a green locust on the tree.

jarād is locusts as a swarm; jarāda is one.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرادة (jarāda) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-d, "to strip bare" (Lane). Locusts strip the land bare.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jarāda
- Say it: jarāda, once more
- Say it: raʾaytu jarāda khaḍrāʾ ᶜalā ash-shajara. — I saw a green locust on the tree.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bat, then the Arabic for a scorpion, then say jarāda again

Before you move on

What does جرادة mean? ("A locust".) Say it once more.

476.3 طحلب (ṭuḥlub) — moss; algae

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a scorpion, then the Arabic for a locust.

You'll want to know: طحلب

طحلب — ṭuḥlub — "moss; algae".

الصخور على الطحلب كان.

kāna aṭ-ṭuḥlub ᶜalā aṣ-ṣukhūr.

There was moss on the rocks.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طحلب (ṭuḥlub) names moss and the green film on water; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭuḥlub
- Say it: ṭuḥlub, once more
- Say it: kāna aṭ-ṭuḥlub ᶜalā aṣ-ṣukhūr. — There was moss on the rocks.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a scorpion, then the Arabic for a locust, then say ṭuḥlub again

Before you move on

What does طحلب mean? ("Moss; algae".) Say it once more.

476.4 مخلب (mikhlab) — a claw; a talon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a locust, then the Arabic for moss.

You'll want to know: مخلب

مخلب — mikhlab — "a claw; a talon".

بمخالبه السمكة الصقر أمسك.

amsaka aṣ-ṣaqr as-samaka bi-makhālibihi.

The falcon held the fish in its talons.

Plural: مخالب, makhālib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخلب (mikhlab) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-b, "to wound with the claws" (Lane). The tool pattern mif^{c}al makes it the thing one claws with.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mikhlab
- Say it: mikhlab, once more
- Say it: amsaka aṣ-ṣaqr as-samaka bi-makhālibihi. — The falcon held the fish in its talons.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a locust, then the Arabic for moss, then say mikhlab again

Before you move on

What does مخلب mean? ("A claw; a talon".) Say it once more.

476.5 افترس (iftarasa) — to prey on

Before the new one: say the Arabic for moss, then the Arabic for a claw.

You'll want to know: افترس

افترس — iftarasa — "to prey on".

الأرانب النسر يفترس.

yaftarisu an-nasr al-arānib.

The eagle preys on rabbits.

Present: يفترس, yaftaris.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

افترس (iftarasa) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-s, "to break the neck of prey" (Lane). It is Form VIII; faras, "a horse", is on the same root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iftarasa
- Say it: iftarasa, once more
- Say it: yaftarisu an-nasr al-arānib. — The eagle preys on rabbits.
- Recall: say the Arabic for moss, then the Arabic for a claw, then say iftarasa again

Before you move on

What does افترس mean? ("To prey on".) Say it once more.

Chapter 477

Under the sea

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a shark, a crab, oysters, pure and a strait.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 477: I can say a shark, a crab, oysters, pure and a strait.

477.1 قرش (qirsh) — a shark

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a claw, then the Arabic for to prey on.

You'll want to know: قرش

قرش — qirsh — "a shark".

> رأى الصيادون قرشا بجانب القارب.
>
> raʾā aṣ-ṣayyādūn qirshan bi-jānib al-qārib.
>
> The fishermen saw a shark beside the boat.

qirsh is also an old coin, a piastre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرش (qirsh) is usually traced to the native Arabic root q-r-sh, "to gather, to scrape together".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qirsh
- Say it: qirsh, once more
- Say it: raʾā aṣ-ṣayyādūn qirshan bi-jānib al-qārib. — The fishermen saw a shark beside the boat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a claw, then the Arabic for to prey on, then say qirsh again

Before you move on

What does قرش mean? ("A shark".) Say it once more.

477.2 سلطعون (salṭaᶜūn) — a crab

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to prey on, then the Arabic for a shark.

You'll want to know: سلطعون

سلطعون — salṭaᶜūn — "a crab".

الصخرة على سلطعونا أخي أمسك.

amsaka akhī salṭaᶜūnan ᶜalā aṣ-ṣakhra.

My brother caught a crab on the rock.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سلطعون (salṭaᶜūn) names the crab; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: salṭa^{c}ūn
- Say it: salṭa^{c}ūn, once more
- Say it: amsaka akhī salṭa^{c}ūnan ^{c}alā aṣ-ṣakhra. — My brother caught a crab on the rock.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to prey on, then the Arabic for a shark, then say salṭa^{c}ūn again

Before you move on

What does سلطعون mean? ("A crab".) Say it once more.

477.3 محار (maḥār) — oysters; shellfish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shark, then the Arabic for a crab.

You'll want to know: محار

محار — maḥār — "oysters; shellfish".

البحر على مطعم في المحار أكلنا.

akalnā al-maḥār fī maṭ^{c}am ^{c}alā al-baḥr.

We ate oysters at a restaurant by the sea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محار (maḥār) names oysters and other shellfish; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maḥār
- Say it: maḥār, once more
- Say it: akalnā al-maḥār fī maṭᶜam ᶜalā al-baḥr. — We ate oysters at a restaurant by the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shark, then the Arabic for a crab, then say maḥār again

Before you move on

What does محار mean? ("Oysters; shellfish".) Say it once more.

477.4 نقي (naqī) — pure; clean

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crab, then the Arabic for oysters.

You'll want to know: نقي

نقي — naqī — "pure; clean".

جدا نقي هنا الماء.

al-māʾ hunā naqī jiddan.

The water here is very pure.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقي (naqī) is built on the native Arabic root n-q-y, "to be clean" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: naqī
- Say it: naqī, once more
- Say it: al-māʾ hunā naqī jiddan. — The water here is very pure.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crab, then the Arabic for oysters, then say naqī again

Before you move on

What does نقي mean? ("Pure; clean".) Say it once more.

477.5 مضيق (maḍīq) — a strait

Before the new one: say the Arabic for oysters, then the Arabic for pure.

You'll want to know: مضيق

مضيق — maḍīq — "a strait".

الليل في المضيق السفينة عبرت.

ᶜabarat as-safīna al-maḍīq fī al-layl.

The ship crossed the strait at night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مضيق (maḍīq) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-y-q, "to be narrow" (Lane). It is a narrow place, beside ḍayyiq, "narrow".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: maḍīq
- Say it: maḍīq, once more
- Say it: ᶜabarat as-safīna al-maḍīq fī al-layl. — The ship crossed the strait at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for oysters, then the Arabic for pure, then say maḍīq again

Before you move on

What does مضيق mean? (“A strait”.) Say it once more.

Chapter 478

Herds and pastures

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a herd, a pasture, a cage, fur and to graze.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 478: I can say a herd, a pasture, a cage, fur and to graze.

478.1 قطيع (qaṭīᶜ) — a herd; a flock

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pure, then the Arabic for a strait.

You'll want to know: قطيع

قطيع — qaṭīᶜ — "a herd; a flock".

الغزلان من قطيعا رأينا.

raʾaynā qaṭīᶜan min al-ghizlān.

We saw a herd of gazelles.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطيع (qaṭīᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-ᶜ, "to cut" (Lane). A herd is a portion cut off from the rest.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṭīᶜ
- Say it: qaṭīᶜ, once more
- Say it: raʾaynā qaṭīᶜan min al-ghizlān. — We saw a herd of gazelles.
- Recall: say the Arabic for pure, then the Arabic for a strait, then say qaṭīᶜ again

Before you move on

What does قطيع mean? ("A herd; a flock".) Say it once more.

478.2 مرعى (marᶜā) — a pasture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a strait, then the Arabic for a herd.

You'll want to know: مرعى

مرعى — marᶜā — "a pasture".

المرعى إلى القطيع ذهب.

dhahaba al-qaṭīᶜ ilā al-marᶜā.

The herd went to the pasture.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرعى (marᶜā) is built on the native Arabic root r-ᶜ-y, "to pasture, to tend" (Lane). The pattern mafᶜal makes it the place of grazing.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mar^{c}ā
- Say it: mar^{c}ā, once more
- Say it: dhahaba al-qaṭī^{c} ilā al-mar^{c}ā. — The herd went to the pasture.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a strait, then the Arabic for a herd, then say mar^{c}ā again

Before you move on

What does مرعى mean? ("A pasture".) Say it once more.

478.3 قفص (qafaṣ) — a cage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a herd, then the Arabic for a pasture.

You'll want to know: قفص

قفص — qafaṣ — "a cage".

كان الببغاء في قفص صغير.

kāna al-babbaghāʾ fī qafaṣ ṣaghīr.

The parrot was in a small cage.

Plural: أقفاص, aqfāṣ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قفص (qafaṣ) is linked by EtymDB to Aramaic qupsā, a word usually glossed "a box, a basket"; the details of the borrowing are not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qafaṣ
- Say it: qafaṣ, once more
- Say it: kāna al-babbaghāʾ fī qafaṣ ṣaghīr. — The parrot was in a small cage.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a herd, then the Arabic for a pasture, then say qafaṣ again

Before you move on

What does قفص mean? ("A cage".) Say it once more.

478.4 فرو (farw) — fur

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a pasture, then the Arabic for a cage.

You'll want to know: فرو

فرو — farw — "fur".

جميل فرو للثعلب.

li-th-thaʿlab farw jamīl.

The fox has beautiful fur.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرو (farw) is usually traced to the native Arabic root f-r-w, "fur, a fur coat".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: farw
- Say it: farw, once more
- Say it: li-th-tha^{c}lab farw jamīl. — The fox has beautiful fur.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a pasture, then the Arabic for a cage, then say farw again

Before you move on

What does فرو mean? ("Fur".) Say it once more.

478.5 رعى (ra^{c}ā) — to graze; to tend (animals)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cage, then the Arabic for fur.

You'll want to know: رعى

رعى — ra^{c}ā — "to graze; to tend (animals)".

الحقل في الأبقار ترعى.

tar^{c}ā al-abqār fī al-ḥaql.

The cows graze in the field.

Present: يرعى, yar^{c}ā.
A shepherd is rā^{c}ī, the one who tends.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رعى (ra^{c}ā) is built on the native Arabic root r-^{c}-y, "to pasture, to tend" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ra^{c}ā
- Say it: ra^{c}ā, once more
- Say it: tar^{c}ā al-abqār fī al-ḥaql. — The cows graze in the field.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cage, then the Arabic for fur, then say ra^{c}ā again

Before you move on

What does رعى mean? ("To graze; to tend (animals)".) Say it once more.

478.6 Words from chapters 471–478 — a review

Say the Arabic for a gulf and an ocean.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a gulf, an ocean, coral, a current, depth
- a rock, a plateau, a summit, a slope, an edge
- an oasis, a mirage, a jungle, a swamp, barren
- a falcon, an ostrich, a seagull, a feather, to float
- a hyena, a cheetah, a hedgehog, a squirrel, a bat
- a scorpion, a locust, moss, a claw, to prey on
- a shark, a crab, oysters, pure, a strait
- a herd, a pasture, a cage, fur, to graze

Before you move on

A gulf? (خليج, khalīj.) An ocean? (محيط, muḥīṭ.) Coral? (مرجان, marjān.) A current? (تيار, tayyār.) Depth? (عمق, ^{c}umq.) A rock?

(صخرة, ṣakhra.) A plateau? (هضبة, haḍba.) A summit? (قمة, qimma.) A slope? (منحدر, munḥadar.) An edge? (حافة, ḥāffa.) An oasis? (واحة, wāḥa.) A mirage? (سراب, sarāb.) A jungle? (أدغال, adghāl.) A swamp? (مستنقع, mustanqa^{c}.) Barren? (قاحل, qāḥil.) A falcon? (صقر, ṣaqr.) An ostrich? (نعامة, na^{c}āma.) A seagull? (نورس, nawras.) A feather? (ريشة, rīsha.) To float? (طفا, ṭafā.) A hyena? (ضبع, ḍab^{c}.) A cheetah? (فهد, fahd.) A hedgehog? (قنفذ, qunfudh.) A squirrel? (سنجاب, sinjāb.) A bat? (خفاش, khuffāsh.) A scorpion? (عقرب, ^{c}aqrab.) A locust? (جرادة, jarāda.) Moss? (طحلب, ṭuḥlub.) A claw? (مخلب, mikhlab.) To prey on? (افترس, iftarasa.) A shark? (قرش, qirsh.) A crab? (سلطعون, salṭa^{c}ūn.) Oysters? (محار, maḥār.) Pure? (نقي, naqī.) A strait? (مضيق, maḍīq.) A herd? (قطيع, qaṭī^{c}.) A pasture? (مرعى, mar^{c}ā.) A cage? (قفص, qafaṣ.) Fur? (فرو, farw.) To graze? (رعى, ra^{c}ā.)

Chapter 479

A day in the hills

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to ski, a wild beast, a plastic bag, to exchange and to pack.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 479: I can say to ski, a wild beast, a plastic bag, to exchange and to pack.

479.1 تزلج (tazallaja) — to ski; to skate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fur, then the Arabic for to graze.

You'll want to know: تزلج

تزلج — tazallaja — "to ski; to skate".

الشتاء في الثلج على تزلجنا.

tazallajnā ᶜalā ath-thalj fī ash-shitāʾ.

We skied on the snow in winter.

Present: يتزلج, yatazallaj.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تزلج (tazallaja) is usually traced to the native Arabic root z-l-j, "to slip, to slide". It is Form V.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tazallaja
- Say it: tazallaja, once more
- Say it: tazallajnā ᶜalā ath-thalj fī ash-shitāʾ. — We skied on the snow in winter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fur, then the Arabic for to graze, then say tazallaja again

Before you move on

What does تزلج mean? ("To ski; to skate".) Say it once more.

479.2 وحش (waḥsh) — a wild beast; a monster

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to graze, then the Arabic for to ski.

You'll want to know: وحش

وحش — waḥsh — "a wild beast; a monster".

القصة في الوحش من الطفل خاف.

khāfa aṭ-ṭifl min al-waḥsh fī al-qiṣṣa.

The child was afraid of the beast in the story.

Plural: وحوش, wuḥūsh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وحش (waḥsh) is built on the native Arabic root w-ḥ-sh, "wild, desolate" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: waḥsh
- Say it: waḥsh, once more
- Say it: khāfa aṭ-ṭifl min al-waḥsh fī al-qiṣṣa. — The child was afraid of the beast in the story.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to graze, then the Arabic for to ski, then say waḥsh again

Before you move on

What does وحش mean? ("A wild beast; a monster".) Say it once more.

479.3 كيس (kīs) — a plastic bag; a sack

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ski, then the Arabic for a wild beast.

You'll want to know: كيس

كيس — kīs — "a plastic bag; a sack".

كبير كيس في الطعام وضعنا.

waḍaᶜnā aṭ-ṭaᶜām fī kīs kabīr.

We put the food in a big bag.

Plural: أكياس, akyās.
ḥaqība is a bag one carries; kīs is a sack or a plastic bag.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كيس (kīs) is given by Lane as a purse for money; the origin of the word is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: kīs
- Say it: kīs, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜnā aṭ-ṭaᶜām fī kīs kabīr. — We put the food in a big bag.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ski, then the Arabic for a wild beast, then say kīs again

Before you move on

What does كيس mean? ("A plastic bag; a sack".) Say it once more.

479.4 تبادل (tabādala) — to exchange (with each other)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wild beast, then the Arabic for a plastic bag.

You'll want to know: تبادل

تبادل — tabādala — "to exchange (with each other)".

الرحلة نهاية في العناوين تبادلنا.

tabādalnā al-ᶜanāwīn fī nihāyat ar-riḥla.

We exchanged addresses at the end of the trip.

Present: يتبادل, yatabādal.
Form VI makes the action mutual: each gives to the other.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تبادل (tabādala) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-l, "to change, to replace" (Lane). It is Form VI.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tabādala
- Say it: tabādala, once more
- Say it: tabādalnā al-ᶜanāwīn fī nihāyat ar-riḥla. — We exchanged addresses at the end of the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wild beast, then the Arabic for a plastic bag, then say tabādala again

Before you move on

What does تبادل mean? ("To exchange (with each other)".) Say it once more.

479.5 حزم (ḥazama) — to pack (luggage)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a plastic bag, then the Arabic for to exchange.

You'll want to know: حزم

حزم — ḥazama — "to pack (luggage)".

بيوم الرحلة قبل أمتعتي حزمت.

ḥazamtu amtiᶜatī qabla ar-riḥla bi-yawm.

I packed my luggage a day before the trip.

Present: يحزم, yaḥzim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حزم (ḥazama) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-z-m, "to bind, to tie up a bundle" (Lane). It shares its root with ḥizām, "a belt".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥazama
- Say it: ḥazama, once more
- Say it: ḥazamtu amtiᶜatī qabla ar-riḥla bi-yawm. — I packed my luggage a day before the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a plastic bag, then the Arabic for to exchange, then say ḥazama again

Before you move on

What does حزم mean? ("To pack (luggage)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 480

The forecast

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a weather forecast, a degree, to increase, to drop and mild.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 480: I can say a weather forecast, a degree, to increase, to drop and mild.

480.1 جوية نشرة (nashra jawwiyya) — a weather forecast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to exchange, then the Arabic for to pack.

You'll want to know: جوية نشرة

جوية نشرة — nashra jawwiyya — "a weather forecast".

> التلفاز في الجوية النشرة شاهدنا.
>
> shāhadnā an-nashra al-jawwiyya fī at-tilfāz.
>
> We watched the weather forecast on television.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جوية نشرة (nashra jawwiyya) is built from two native Arabic words: nashra, "a bulletin", on the root n-sh-r, "to spread out" (Lane), and jawwiyya, "of the air", on j-w-w (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nashra jawwiyya
- Say it: nashra jawwiyya, once more
- Say it: shāhadnā an-nashra al-jawwiyya fī at-tilfāz. — We watched the weather forecast on television.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to exchange, then the Arabic for to pack, then say nashra jawwiyya again

Before you move on

What does نشرة جوية mean? ("A weather forecast".) Say it once more.

480.2 درجة (daraja) — a degree; a class (of travel)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pack, then the Arabic for a weather forecast.

You'll want to know: درجة

درجة — daraja — "a degree; a class (of travel)".

اليوم مرتفعة الحرارة درجة كانت.

kānat darajat al-ḥarāra murtafiᶜa al-yawm.

The temperature was high today.

Plural: درجات, darajāt.
darajat al-ḥarāra is the temperature; ad-daraja al-ūlā is first class.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

درجة (daraja) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-j, "to go step by step" (Lane). A daraja is a step.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: daraja
- Say it: daraja, once more
- Say it: kānat darajat al-ḥarāra murtafiᶜa al-yawm. — The temperature was high today.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pack, then the Arabic for a weather forecast, then say daraja again

Before you move on

What does درجة mean? ("A degree; a class (of travel)".) Say it once more.

480.3 ارتفع (irtafaᶜa) — to increase; to rise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a weather forecast, then the Arabic for a degree.

You'll want to know: ارتفع

ارتفع — irtafaᶜa — "to increase; to rise".

ارتفعت درجة الحرارة عند الظهر.

irtafaᶜat darajat al-ḥarāra ᶜinda aẓ-ẓuhr.

The temperature rose at noon.

Present: يرتفع, yartafiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتفع (irtafaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-ᶜ, "to raise" (Lane). It is Form VIII, "to rise".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: irtafaᶜa
- Say it: irtafaᶜa, once more
- Say it: irtafaᶜat darajat al-ḥarāra ᶜinda aẓ-ẓuhr. — The temperature rose at noon.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a weather forecast, then the Arabic for a degree, then say irtafaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does ارتفع mean? ("To increase; to rise".) Say it once more.

480.4 انخفض (inkhafaḍa) — to drop; to fall (of a level)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a degree, then the Arabic for to increase.

You'll want to know: انخفض

انخفض — inkhafaḍa — "to drop; to fall (of a level)".

الليل في الحرارة انخفضت.

inkhafaḍat al-ḥarāra fī al-layl.

The temperature dropped at night.

Present: ينخفض, yankhafiḍ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انخفض (inkhafaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-f-ḍ, "to be low; to lower" (Lane). It is Form VII.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: inkhafaḍa
- Say it: inkhafaḍa, once more
- Say it: inkhafaḍat al-ḥarāra fī al-layl. — The temperature dropped at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a degree, then the Arabic for to increase, then say inkhafaḍa again

Before you move on

What does انخفض mean? ("To drop; to fall (of a level)".) Say it once more.

480.5 معتدل (mu^{c}tadil) — mild; moderate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to increase, then the Arabic for to drop.

You'll want to know: معتدل

معتدل — mu^{c}tadil — "mild; moderate".

معتدل الربيع في الطقس.

aṭ-ṭaqs fī ar-rabī^{c} mu^{c}tadil.

The weather in spring is mild.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معتدل (mu^{c}tadil) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-d-l, "to be even, balanced" (Lane). It is the Form VIII participle, "evenly balanced".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mu^{c}tadil
- Say it: mu^{c}tadil, once more
- Say it: aṭ-ṭaqs fī ar-rabī^{c} mu^{c}tadil. — The weather in spring is mild.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to increase, then the Arabic for to drop, then say mu^{c}tadil again

Before you move on

What does معتدل mean? ("Mild; moderate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 481

Rain

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a shower of rain, drizzle, a downpour, to pour down and to clear up.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 481: I can say a shower of rain, drizzle, a downpour, to pour down and to clear up.

481.1 زخة (zakhkha) — a shower of rain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to drop, then the Arabic for mild.

You'll want to know: زخة

زخة — zakhkha — "a shower of rain".

قصيرة مطر زخة نزلت.

nazalat zakhkhat maṭar qaṣīra.

A short shower of rain fell.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زخة (zakhkha) names a short, sudden shower; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: zakhkha
- Say it: zakhkha, once more
- Say it: nazalat zakhkhat maṭar qaṣīra. — A short shower of rain fell.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to drop, then the Arabic for mild, then say zakhkha again

Before you move on

What does زخة mean? ("A shower of rain".) Say it once more.

481.2 رذاذ (radhādh) — drizzle; spray

Before the new one: say the Arabic for mild, then the Arabic for a shower of rain.

You'll want to know: رذاذ

رذاذ — radhādh — "drizzle; spray".

الصباح في خفيفا الرذاذ كان.

kāna ar-radhādh khafīfan fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

The drizzle was light in the morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رذاذ (radhādh) is usually traced to the native Arabic root r-dh-dh, "fine rain".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: radhādh
- Say it: radhādh, once more
- Say it: kāna ar-radhādh khafīfan fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — The drizzle was light in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for mild, then the Arabic for a shower of rain, then say radhādh again

Before you move on

What does رذاذ mean? ("Drizzle; spray".) Say it once more.

481.3 وابل (wābil) — a downpour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shower of rain, then the Arabic for drizzle.

You'll want to know: وابل

وابل — wābil — "a downpour".

المساء في المطر من وابل نزل.

nazala wābil min al-maṭar fī al-masāʾ.

A downpour came in the evening.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وابل (wābil) is built on the native Arabic root w-b-l, "heavy rain of large drops" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: wābil
- Say it: wābil, once more
- Say it: nazala wābil min al-maṭar fī al-masāʾ. — A downpour came in the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shower of rain, then the Arabic for drizzle, then say wābil again

Before you move on

What does وابل mean? ("A downpour".) Say it once more.

481.4 هطل (haṭala) — to pour down (of rain)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for drizzle, then the Arabic for a downpour.

You'll want to know: هطل

هطل — haṭala — "to pour down (of rain)".

الليل في المطر هطل.

haṭala al-maṭar fī al-layl.

The rain poured down in the night.

Present: يهطل, yahṭil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هطل (haṭala) is built on the native Arabic root h-ṭ-l, "to pour (of water)" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: haṭala
- Say it: haṭala, once more
- Say it: haṭala al-maṭar fī al-layl. — The rain poured down in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for drizzle, then the Arabic for a downpour, then say haṭala again

Before you move on

What does هطل mean? ("To pour down (of rain)".) Say it once more.

481.5 صفا (ṣafā) — to clear up; to become clear

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a downpour, then the Arabic for to pour down.

You'll want to know: صفا

صفا — ṣafā — "to clear up; to become clear".

المطر بعد السماء صفت.

ṣafat as-samāʾ baᶜda al-maṭar.

The sky cleared after the rain.

Present: يصفو, yaṣfū.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صفا (ṣafā) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-w, "to be clear, pure" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣafā
- Say it: ṣafā, once more
- Say it: ṣafat as-samāʾ baᶜda al-maṭar. — The sky cleared after the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a downpour, then the Arabic for to pour down, then say ṣafā again

Before you move on

What does صفا mean? ("To clear up; to become clear".) Say it once more.

Chapter 482

Wind and storms

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a breeze, a hurricane, to blow hard, to grow stronger and danger.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 482: I can say a breeze, a hurricane, to blow hard, to grow stronger and danger.

482.1 نسيم (nasīm) — a breeze

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pour down, then the Arabic for to clear up.

You'll want to know: نسيم

نسيم — nasīm — "a breeze".

الشرفة على لطيف بنسيم شعرنا.

sha^{c}arnā bi-nasīm laṭīf ^{c}alā ash-shurfa.

We felt a pleasant breeze on the balcony.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسيم (nasīm) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-m, "to blow gently; breath" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nasīm
- Say it: nasīm, once more
- Say it: shaᶜarnā bi-nasīm laṭīf ᶜalā ash-shurfa. — We felt a pleasant breeze on the balcony.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pour down, then the Arabic for to clear up, then say nasīm again

Before you move on

What does نسيم mean? ("A breeze".) Say it once more.

482.2 إعصار (iᶜṣār) — a hurricane; a whirlwind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to clear up, then the Arabic for a breeze.

You'll want to know: إعصار

إعصار — iᶜṣār — "a hurricane; a whirlwind".

وصل إعصار قوي إلى الساحل.

waṣala iᶜṣār qawī ilā as-sāḥil.

A strong hurricane reached the coast.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إعصار (iᶜṣār) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-r, "to press, to wring" (Lane). Lane gives iᶜṣār as a whirlwind that raises the dust.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜṣār
- Say it: iᶜṣār, once more
- Say it: waṣala iᶜṣār qawī ilā as-sāḥil. — A strong hurricane reached the coast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to clear up, then the Arabic for a breeze, then say iᶜṣār again

Before you move on

What does إعصار mean? ("A hurricane; a whirlwind".) Say it once more.

482.3 عصف (ᶜaṣafa) — to blow hard (of wind)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a breeze, then the Arabic for a hurricane.

You'll want to know: عصف

عصف — ᶜaṣafa — "to blow hard (of wind)".

الليل في الريح عصفت.

ᶜaṣafat ar-rīḥ fī al-layl.

The wind blew hard in the night.

Present: يعصف, yaᶜṣif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصف (ᶜaṣafa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-f, "to blow violently (of wind)" (Lane). It is the plain verb; ᶜāṣifa, "a storm", is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṣafa
- Say it: ᶜaṣafa, once more
- Say it: ᶜaṣafat ar-rīḥ fī al-layl. — The wind blew hard in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a breeze, then the Arabic for a hurricane, then say ᶜaṣafa again

Before you move on

What does عصف mean? ("To blow hard (of wind)".) Say it once more.

482.4 اشتد (ishtadda) — to grow stronger; to intensify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hurricane, then the Arabic for to blow hard.

You'll want to know: اشتد

اشتد — ishtadda — "to grow stronger; to intensify".

المساء في العاصفة اشتدت.

ishtaddat al-ᶜāṣifa fī al-masāʾ.

The storm grew stronger in the evening.

Present: يشتد, yashtadd.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتد (ishtadda) is built on the native Arabic root sh-d-d, "to be firm; to bind tightly" (Lane). It is Form VIII.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtadda
- Say it: ishtadda, once more
- Say it: ishtaddat al-ᶜāṣifa fī al-masāʾ. — The storm grew stronger in the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hurricane, then the Arabic for to blow hard, then say ishtadda again

Before you move on

What does اشتد mean? ("To grow stronger; to intensify".) Say it once more.

482.5 خطر (khaṭar) — danger

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to blow hard, then the Arabic for to grow stronger.

You'll want to know: خطر

خطر — khaṭar — "danger".

الساحل على كبيرا الخطر كان.

kāna al-khaṭar kabīran ᶜalā as-sāḥil.

The danger was great on the coast.

Plural: أخطار, akhṭār.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطر (khaṭar) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-r, "peril; to be of great weight" (Lane). It shares its root with khaṭīr, "dangerous".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭar
- Say it: khaṭar, once more
- Say it: kāna al-khaṭar kabīran ᶜalā as-sāḥil. — The danger was great on the coast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to blow hard, then the Arabic for to grow stronger, then say khaṭar again

Before you move on

What does خطر mean? ("Danger".) Say it once more.

Chapter 483

Cold

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say coldness, chilly, biting, frost and to get cold.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 483: I can say coldness, chilly, biting, frost and to get cold.

483.1 برودة (burūda) — coldness; a chill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grow stronger, then the Arabic for danger.

You'll want to know: برودة

برودة — burūda — "coldness; a chill".

الغرفة في ببرودة شعرت.

shaᶜartu bi-burūda fī al-ghurfa.

I felt a chill in the room.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برودة (burūda) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-d, "to be cold" (Lane). It is a verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: burūda
- Say it: burūda, once more
- Say it: shaᶜartu bi-burūda fī al-ghurfa. — I felt a chill in the room.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grow stronger, then the Arabic for danger, then say burūda again

Before you move on

What does برودة mean? ("Coldness; a chill".) Say it once more.

483.2 بارد (bārid) — chilly; cold

Before the new one: say the Arabic for danger, then the Arabic for coldness.

You'll want to know: بارد

بارد — bārid — "chilly; cold".

جدا باردا الماء كان.

kāna al-māʾ bāridan jiddan.

The water was very cold.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بارد (bārid) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-d, "to be cold" (Lane). It is the active participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: bārid
- Say it: bārid, once more
- Say it: kāna al-māʾ bāridan jiddan. — The water was very cold.
- Recall: say the Arabic for danger, then the Arabic for coldness, then say bārid again

Before you move on

What does بارد mean? ("Chilly; cold".) Say it once more.

483.3 قارس (qāris) — biting (of cold); bitter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for coldness, then the Arabic for chilly.

You'll want to know: قارس

قارس — qāris — "biting (of cold); bitter".

الجبل في قارسا الشتاء كان.

kāna ash-shitāʾ qārisan fī al-jabal.

The winter was bitterly cold in the mountains.

It goes with cold: bard qāris, a biting cold.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قارس (qāris) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-s, "to be intense (of cold); to freeze" (Lane). It is the active participle.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qāris
- Say it: qāris, once more
- Say it: kāna ash-shitāʾ qārisan fī al-jabal. — The winter was bitterly cold in the mountains.
- Recall: say the Arabic for coldness, then the Arabic for chilly, then say qāris again

Before you move on

What does قارس mean? ("Biting (of cold); bitter".) Say it once more.

483.4 صقيع (ṣaqīᶜ) — frost

Before the new one: say the Arabic for chilly, then the Arabic for biting.

You'll want to know: صقيع

صقيع — ṣaqīᶜ — "frost".

الصباح في السيارة على الصقيع كان.

kāna aṣ-ṣaqīᶜ ᶜalā as-sayyāra fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

There was frost on the car in the morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صقيع (ṣaqīᶜ) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ṣ-q-ᶜ, "hoarfrost".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaqīᶜ
- Say it: ṣaqīᶜ, once more
- Say it: kāna aṣ-ṣaqīᶜ ᶜalā as-sayyāra fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — There was frost on the car in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for chilly, then the Arabic for biting, then say ṣaqīᶜ again

Before you move on

What does صقيع mean? ("Frost".) Say it once more.

483.5 برد (barada) — to get cold; to cool

Before the new one: say the Arabic for biting, then the Arabic for frost.

You'll want to know: برد

برد — barada — "to get cold; to cool".

أشربه أن قبل الشاي برد.

barada ash-shāy qabla an ashrabahu.

The tea got cold before I drank it.

Present: يبرد, yabrud.
The noun bard is cold, and barad is hail.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برد (barada) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-d, "to be cold" (Lane). Lane gives barada and baruda, with the present yabrudu.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: barada
- Say it: barada, once more
- Say it: barada ash-shāy qabla an ashrabahu. — The tea got cold before I drank it.
- Recall: say the Arabic for biting, then the Arabic for frost, then say barada again

Before you move on

What does برد mean? ("To get cold; to cool".) Say it once more.

Chapter 484

Heat

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say a heatwave, stifling, humidity, drought and to evaporate.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 484: I can say a heatwave, stifling, humidity, drought and to evaporate.

484.1 حر موجة (mawjat ḥarr) — a heatwave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for frost, then the Arabic for to get cold.

You'll want to know: حر موجة

حر موجة — mawjat ḥarr — "a heatwave".

> المدينة إلى حر موجة وصلت.
>
> waṣalat mawjat ḥarr ilā al-madīna.
>
> A heatwave reached the city.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حر موجة (mawjat ḥarr) is built from two native Arabic words: mawja, "a wave", on the root m-w-j (Lane), and ḥarr, "heat", on ḥ-r-r (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mawjat ḥarr
- Say it: mawjat ḥarr, once more
- Say it: waṣalat mawjat ḥarr ilā al-madīna. — A heatwave reached the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for frost, then the Arabic for to get cold, then say mawjat ḥarr again

Before you move on

What does حر موجة mean? ("A heatwave".) Say it once more.

484.2 خانق (khāniq) — stifling; suffocating

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get cold, then the Arabic for a heatwave.

You'll want to know: خانق

خانق — khāniq — "stifling; suffocating".

الحافلة في خانقا الحر كان.

kāna al-ḥarr khāniqan fī al-ḥāfila.

The heat was stifling on the bus.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خانق (khāniq) is built on the native Arabic root kh-n-q, "to strangle" (Lane). It is the active participle, "choking".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: khāniq
- Say it: khāniq, once more
- Say it: kāna al-ḥarr khāniqan fī al-ḥāfila. — The heat was stifling on the bus.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get cold, then the Arabic for a heatwave, then say khāniq again

Before you move on

What does خانق mean? ("Stifling; suffocating".) Say it once more.

484.3 رطوبة (ruṭūba) — humidity; moisture

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a heatwave, then the Arabic for stifling.

You'll want to know: رطوبة

رطوبة — ruṭūba — "humidity; moisture".

مرتفعة الساحل على الرطوبة.

ar-ruṭūba ᶜalā as-sāḥil murtafiᶜa.

The humidity on the coast is high.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رطوبة (ruṭūba) is built on the native Arabic root r-ṭ-b, "to be moist" (Lane). It is the noun beside raṭb, "humid".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ruṭūba
- Say it: ruṭūba, once more
- Say it: ar-ruṭūba ᶜalā as-sāḥil murtafiᶜa. — The humidity on the coast is high.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a heatwave, then the Arabic for stifling, then say ruṭūba again

Before you move on

What does رطوبة mean? ("Humidity; moisture".) Say it once more.

484.4 جفاف (jafāf) — drought; dryness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for stifling, then the Arabic for humidity.

You'll want to know: جفاف

جفاف — jafāf — "drought; dryness".

الجفاف بسبب الزرع ذبل.

dhabala az-zarᶜ bi-sabab al-jafāf.

The crops wilted because of the drought.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جفاف (jafāf) is built on the native Arabic root j-f-f, "to be dry" (Lane). It is the noun beside jāff, "dry".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jafāf
- Say it: jafāf, once more
- Say it: dhabala az-zar^{c} bi-sabab al-jafāf. — The crops wilted because of the drought.
- Recall: say the Arabic for stifling, then the Arabic for humidity, then say jafāf again

Before you move on

What does جفاف mean? ("Drought; dryness".) Say it once more.

484.5 تبخر (tabakhkhara) — to evaporate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for humidity, then the Arabic for drought.

You'll want to know: تبخر

تبخر — tabakhkhara — "to evaporate".

الشمس في الماء تبخر.

tabakhkhara al-mā^{ʾ} fī ash-shams.

The water evaporated in the sun.

Present: يتبخر, yatabakhkhar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تبخر (tabakhkhara) is built on the native Arabic root b-kh-r, "vapour, steam" (Lane). It is Form V, "to turn to vapour".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tabakhkhara
- Say it: tabakhkhara, once more
- Say it: tabakhkhara al-māʾ fī ash-shams. — The water evaporated in the sun.
- Recall: say the Arabic for humidity, then the Arabic for drought, then say tabakhkhara again

Before you move on

What does تبخر mean? ("To evaporate".) Say it once more.

Chapter 485

Sky and light

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say clear weather, a rainbow, dew, to shine and to grow dark.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 485: I can say clear weather, a rainbow, dew, to shine and to grow dark.

485.1 صحو (ṣaḥw) — clear weather; cloudless

Before the new one: say the Arabic for drought, then the Arabic for to evaporate.

You'll want to know: صحو

صحو — ṣaḥw — "clear weather; cloudless".

> اليوم صحو الطقس.
>
> aṭ-ṭaqs ṣaḥw al-yawm.
>
> The weather is clear today.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صحو (ṣaḥw) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-ḥ-w, "to be cloudless" (Lane). Lane gives it of a day when the clouds have gone.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaḥw
- Say it: ṣaḥw, once more
- Say it: aṭ-ṭaqs ṣaḥw al-yawm. — The weather is clear today.
- Recall: say the Arabic for drought, then the Arabic for to evaporate, then say ṣaḥw again

Before you move on

What does صحو mean? ("Clear weather; cloudless".) Say it once more.

485.2 قزح قوس (qaws quzaḥ) — a rainbow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to evaporate, then the Arabic for clear weather.

You'll want to know: قزح قوس

قزح قوس — qaws quzaḥ — "a rainbow".

المطر بعد قزح قوس ظهر.

ẓahara qaws quzaḥ baᶜda al-maṭar.

A rainbow appeared after the rain.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قزح قوس (qaws quzaḥ) is "the bow of quzaḥ": qaws, "a bow", is built on the native root q-w-s (Lane), but the origin of quzaḥ is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: qaws quzaḥ
- Say it: qaws quzaḥ, once more
- Say it: ẓahara qaws quzaḥ ba^{c}da al-maṭar. — A rainbow appeared after the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to evaporate, then the Arabic for clear weather, then say qaws quzaḥ again

Before you move on

What does قزح قوس mean? ("A rainbow".) Say it once more.

485.3 ندى (nadā) — dew

Before the new one: say the Arabic for clear weather, then the Arabic for a rainbow.

You'll want to know: ندى

ندى — nadā — "dew".

الصباح في العشب على الندى كان.

kāna an-nadā ^{c}alā al-^{c}ushb fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

There was dew on the grass in the morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ندى (nadā) is usually traced to the native Arabic root n-d-y, "to be moist".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: nadā
- Say it: nadā, once more
- Say it: kāna an-nadā ᶜalā al-ᶜushb fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — There was dew on the grass in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for clear weather, then the Arabic for a rainbow, then say nadā again

Before you move on

What does ندى mean? ("Dew".) Say it once more.

485.4 أشرق (ashraqa) — to shine; to rise (of the sun)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rainbow, then the Arabic for dew.

You'll want to know: أشرق

أشرق — ashraqa — "to shine; to rise (of the sun)".

الضباب بعد الشمس أشرقت.

ashraqat ash-shams baᶜda aḍ-ḍabāb.

The sun came out after the fog.

Present: يشرق, yushriq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أشرق (ashraqa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-q, "to rise (of the sun)" (Lane). It is Form IV; sharq, "east", and shurūq, "sunrise", share the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ashraqa
- Say it: ashraqa, once more
- Say it: ashraqat ash-shams ba^{c}da aḍ-ḍabāb. — The sun came out after the fog.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rainbow, then the Arabic for dew, then say ashraqa again

Before you move on

What does أشرق mean? ("To shine; to rise (of the sun)".) Say it once more.

485.5 أظلم (aẓlama) — to grow dark

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dew, then the Arabic for to shine.

You'll want to know: أظلم

أظلم — aẓlama — "to grow dark".

العاصفة قبل السماء أظلمت.

aẓlamat as-samāʾ qabla al-^{c}āṣifa.

The sky grew dark before the storm.

Present: يظلم, yuẓlim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أظلم (aẓlama) is built on the native Arabic root ẓ-l-m, "darkness" (Lane). It is Form IV; ẓalām, "darkness", shares the root.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: aẓlama
- Say it: aẓlama, once more
- Say it: aẓlamat as-samāʾ qabla al-ᶜāṣifa. — The sky grew dark before the storm.
- Recall: say the Arabic for dew, then the Arabic for to shine, then say aẓlama again

Before you move on

What does أظلم mean? ("To grow dark".) Say it once more.

Chapter 486

Changing weather

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to keep changing, to get worse, to fall steadily, refreshing and to be exposed.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 486: I can say to keep changing, to get worse, to fall steadily, refreshing and to be exposed.

486.1 تقلب (taqallaba) — to keep changing; to fluctuate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shine, then the Arabic for to grow dark.

You'll want to know: تقلب

تقلب — taqallaba — "to keep changing; to fluctuate".

> الربيع في كثيرا الطقس يتقلب.
>
> yataqallabu aṭ-ṭaqs kathīran fī ar-rabīᶜ.
>
> The weather changes a lot in spring.

Present: يتقلب, yataqallab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقلب (taqallaba) is built on the native Arabic root q-l-b, "to turn over" (Lane). It is Form V, "to turn this way and that".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: taqallaba
- Say it: taqallaba, once more
- Say it: yataqallabu aṭ-ṭaqs kathīran fī ar-rabīᶜ. — The weather changes a lot in spring.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shine, then the Arabic for to grow dark, then say taqallaba again

Before you move on

What does تقلب mean? ("To keep changing; to fluctuate".) Say it once more.

486.2 تدهور (tadahwara) — to get worse; to deteriorate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grow dark, then the Arabic for to keep changing.

You'll want to know: تدهور

تدهور — tadahwara — "to get worse; to deteriorate".

الفندق إلى فعدنا الطقس تدهور.

tadahwara aṭ-ṭaqs fa-ᶜudnā ilā al-funduq.

The weather got worse, so we went back to the hotel.

Present: يتدهور, yatadahwar.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تدهور (tadahwara) is a verb with four root letters; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tadahwara
- Say it: tadahwara, once more
- Say it: tadahwara aṭ-ṭaqs fa-ᶜudnā ilā al-funduq. — The weather got worse, so we went back to the hotel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grow dark, then the Arabic for to keep changing, then say tadahwara again

Before you move on

What does تدهور mean? ("To get worse; to deteriorate".) Say it once more.

486.3 تساقط (tasāqaṭa) — to fall steadily (of snow or leaves)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to keep changing, then the Arabic for to get worse.

You'll want to know: تساقط

تساقط — tasāqaṭa — "to fall steadily (of snow or leaves)".

الليل في الثلج تساقط.

tasāqaṭa ath-thalj fī al-layl.

Snow fell steadily in the night.

Present: يتساقط, yatasāqaṭ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تساقط (tasāqaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root s-q-ṭ, "to fall" (Lane). It is Form VI, "to fall one after another".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: tasāqaṭa
- Say it: tasāqaṭa, once more
- Say it: tasāqaṭa ath-thalj fī al-layl. — Snow fell steadily in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to keep changing, then the Arabic for to get worse, then say tasāqaṭa again

Before you move on

What does تساقط mean? ("To fall steadily (of snow or leaves)".) Say it once more.

486.4 منعش (mun^{c}ish) — refreshing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get worse, then the Arabic for to fall steadily.

You'll want to know: منعش

منعش — mun^{c}ish — "refreshing".

منعشا الصباح في الهواء كان.

kāna al-hawāʾ fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ mun^{c}ishan.

The morning air was refreshing.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منعش (mun^{c}ish) is built on the native Arabic root n-^{c}-sh, "to raise up, to revive" (Lane). It is the Form IV participle, "that revives".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: mun^{c}ish
- Say it: mun^{c}ish, once more
- Say it: kāna al-hawāʾ fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ mun^{c}ishan. — The morning air was refreshing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get worse, then the Arabic for to fall steadily, then say mun^{c}ish again

Before you move on

What does منعش mean? ("Refreshing".) Say it once more.

486.5 تعرض (ta^{c}arraḍa) — to be exposed (to); to suffer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fall steadily, then the Arabic for refreshing.

You'll want to know: تعرض

تعرض — ta^{c}arraḍa — "to be exposed (to); to suffer".

للمطر المسافرون تعرض.

ta^{c}arraḍa al-musāfirūn li-l-maṭar.

The travellers were caught in the rain.

Present: يتعرض, yata^{c}arraḍ.
It takes li-: ta^{c}arraḍa li-, "to be exposed to".

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعرض (ta^{c}arraḍa) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-r-ḍ, "to show, to present" (Lane). It is Form V, "to put oneself in the way of".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}arraḍa
- Say it: ta^{c}arraḍa, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}arraḍa al-musāfirūn li-l-maṭar. — The travellers were caught in the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fall steadily, then the Arabic for refreshing, then say ta^{c}arraḍa again

Before you move on

What does تعرض mean? ("To be exposed (to); to suffer".) Say it once more.

486.6 Words from chapters 479–486 — a review

Say the Arabic for to ski and a wild beast.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to ski, a wild beast, a plastic bag, to exchange, to pack
- a weather forecast, a degree, to increase, to drop, mild
- a shower of rain, drizzle, a downpour, to pour down, to clear up
- a breeze, a hurricane, to blow hard, to grow stronger, danger
- coldness, chilly, biting, frost, to get cold

- a heatwave, stifling, humidity, drought, to evaporate
- clear weather, a rainbow, dew, to shine, to grow dark
- to keep changing, to get worse, to fall steadily, refreshing, to be exposed

Before you move on

To ski? (تزلج, tazallaja.) A wild beast? (وحش, waḥsh.) A plastic bag? (كيس, kīs.) To exchange? (تبادل, tabādala.) To pack? (حزم, ḥazama.) A weather forecast? (نشرة جوية, nashra jawwiyya.) A degree? (درجة, daraja.) To increase? (ارتفع, irtafaᶜa.) To drop? (انخفض, inkhafaḍa.) Mild? (معتدل, muᶜtadil.) A shower of rain? (زخة, zakhkha.) Drizzle? (رذاذ, radhādh.) A downpour? (وابل, wābil.) To pour down? (هطل, haṭala.) To clear up? (صفا, ṣafā.) A breeze? (نسيم, nasīm.) A hurricane? (إعصار, iᶜṣār.) To blow hard? (عصف, ᶜaṣafa.) To grow stronger? (اشتد, ishtadda.) Danger? (خطر, khaṭar.) Coldness? (برودة, burūda.) Chilly? (بارد, bārid.) Biting? (قارس, qāris.) Frost? (صقيع, ṣaqīᶜ.) To get cold? (برد, barada.) A heatwave? (موجة حر, mawjat ḥarr.) Stifling? (خانق, khāniq.) Humidity? (رطوبة, ruṭūba.) Drought? (جفاف, jafāf.) To evaporate? (تبخر, tabakhkhara.) Clear weather? (صحو, ṣaḥw.) A rainbow? (قوس قزح, qaws quzaḥ.) Dew? (ندى, nadā.) To shine? (أشرق, ashraqa.) To grow dark? (أظلم, aẓlama.) To keep changing? (تقلب, taqallaba.) To get worse? (تدهور, tadahwara.) To fall steadily? (تساقط, tasāqaṭa.) Refreshing? (منعش, munᶜish.) To be exposed? (تعرض, taᶜarraḍa.)

Chapter 487

Floods and shelter

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say to submerge, to sweep away, to take shelter, to seek refuge and a shelter.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 487: I can say to submerge, to sweep away, to take shelter, to seek refuge and a shelter.

487.1 غمر (ghamara) — to submerge; to flood

Before the new one: say the Arabic for refreshing, then the Arabic for to be exposed.

You'll want to know: غمر

غمر — ghamara — "to submerge; to flood".

المطر بعد الشارع الماء غمر.

ghamara al-māʾ ash-shāriᶜ baᶜda al-maṭar.

Water flooded the street after the rain.

Present: يغمر, yaghmur.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غمر (ghamara) is built on the native Arabic root gh-m-r, "abundant water; to cover" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: ghamara
- Say it: ghamara, once more
- Say it: ghamara al-māʾ ash-shāriᶜ baᶜda al-maṭar. — Water flooded the street after the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for refreshing, then the Arabic for to be exposed, then say ghamara again

Before you move on

What does غمر mean? ("To submerge; to flood".) Say it once more.

487.2 جرف (jarafa) — to sweep away

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be exposed, then the Arabic for to submerge.

You'll want to know: جرف

جرف — jarafa — "to sweep away".

الوادي في السيارات الماء جرف.

jarafa al-māʾ as-sayyārāt fī al-wādī.

The water swept the cars away in the valley.

Present: يجرف, yajruf.
The noun jurf is a bank undercut by water, a cliff.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرف (jarafa) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-f, "to sweep away" (Lane). EtymDB lists Syriac relatives.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: jarafa
- Say it: jarafa, once more
- Say it: jarafa al-māʾ as-sayyārāt fī al-wādī. — The water swept the cars away in the valley.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be exposed, then the Arabic for to submerge, then say jarafa again

Before you move on

What does جرف mean? ("To sweep away".) Say it once more.

487.3 احتمى (iḥtamā) — to take shelter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to submerge, then the Arabic for to sweep away.

You'll want to know: احتمى

احتمى — iḥtamā — "to take shelter".

الجسر تحت المطر من احتمينا.

iḥtamaynā min al-maṭar taḥta al-jisr.

We took shelter from the rain under the bridge.

Present: يحتمي, yaḥtamī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احتمى (iḥtamā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-y, "to protect, to defend" (Lane). It is Form VIII, "to protect oneself".

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtamā
- Say it: iḥtamā, once more
- Say it: iḥtamaynā min al-maṭar taḥta al-jisr. — We took shelter from the rain under the bridge.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to submerge, then the Arabic for to sweep away, then say iḥtamā again

Before you move on

What does احتمى mean? ("To take shelter".) Say it once more.

487.4 لجأ (lajaʾa) — to seek refuge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sweep away, then the Arabic for to take shelter.

You'll want to know: لجأ

لجأ — lajaʾa — "to seek refuge".

الفيضان أثناء المدرسة إلى الناس لجأ.

lajaʾa an-nās ilā al-madrasa athnāʾa al-fayaḍān.

People took refuge in the school during the flood.

Present: يلجأ, yaljaʾ.
It takes ilā before the place of refuge.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لجأ (lajaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root l-j-ʾ, "to take refuge" (Lane). It is the plain verb.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- Say it: lajaʾa
- Say it: lajaʾa, once more
- Say it: lajaʾa an-nās ilā al-madrasa athnāʾa al-fayaḍān. — People took refuge in the school during the flood.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sweep away, then the Arabic for to take shelter, then say lajaʾa again

Before you move on

What does لجأ mean? ("To seek refuge".) Say it once more.

487.5 ملجأ (maljaʾ) — a shelter; a refuge

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take shelter, then the Arabic for to seek refuge.

You'll want to know: ملجأ

ملجأ — maljaʾ — "a shelter; a refuge".

نام الأطفال في الملجأ حتى الصباح.

nāma al-aṭfāl fī al-maljaʾ ḥattā aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

The children slept in the shelter until morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملجأ (maljaʾ) is built on the native Arabic root l-j-ʾ, "to take refuge" (Lane). The pattern mafᶜal makes it the place of refuge.

What you've built

One more word for getting around.

Your turn

- *Say it: malja*ʾ
- *Say it: malja*ʾ, once more
- *Say it: nāma al-aṭfāl fī al-malja*ʾ ḥattā aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — The children slept in the shelter until morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take shelter, then the Arabic for to seek refuge, then say *malja*ʾ again

Before you move on

What does ملجأ mean? ("A shelter; a refuge".) Say it once more.

487.6 Weather words — a review

Say the Arabic for to submerge and to sweep away.

Your turn

- Say it: to submerge, to sweep away, to take shelter, to seek refuge, a shelter

Before you move on

To submerge? (غمر, ghamara.) To sweep away? (جرف, jarafa.) To take shelter? (احتمى, iḥtamā.) To seek refuge? (لجأ, lajaʾa.) A shelter? (ملجأ, *malja*ʾ.)

487.7 Floods and shelter — once more

Say the Arabic for to submerge and to sweep away.

Your turn

- Say it: to submerge, to sweep away, to take shelter, to seek refuge, a shelter

Before you move on

To submerge? (غمر, ghamara.) To sweep away? (جرف, jarafa.) To take shelter? (احتمى, iḥtamā.) To seek refuge? (لجأ, lajaʔa.) A shelter? (ملجأ, maljaʔ.)

Chapter 488

Happy, bored, angry and sad

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about happiness and boredom, and say that someone got angry, grieved or sighed.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 488: I can talk about happiness and boredom, and say that someone got angry, grieved or sighed.

488.1 سعادة (sa^{c}āda) — happiness

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber.

You'll want to know: سعادة

سعادة — sa^{c}āda — "happiness".

العيد في كبيرة بسعادة شعرت.

sha^{c}artu bi-sa^{c}āda kabīra fī al-^{c}īd.

I felt great happiness at the feast.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سعادة (sa^{c}āda) is built on the native Arabic root s-a-d, "to be lucky, to be happy" (Lane). Sa^{c}āda is the state of being sa^{c}īd, happy, a word you already know from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sa^{c}āda
- Say it: sa^{c}āda, once more
- Say it: sha^{c}artu bi-sa^{c}āda kabīra fī al-^{c}īd. — I felt great happiness at the feast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sentence, then the Arabic for a barber, then say sa^{c}āda again

Before you move on

What does سعادة mean? ("Happiness".) Say it once more.

488.2 ملل (malal) — boredom

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for happiness.

You'll want to know: ملل

ملل — malal — "boredom".

الطويلة المحاضرة في بالملل الطالب شعر.

sha^{c}ara aṭ-ṭālib bi-l-malal fī al-muḥāḍara aṭ-ṭawīla.

The student felt bored in the long lecture.

Arabic says شعر بالملل, to feel boredom, where English says to be bored.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملل (malal) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-l, "to be weary of a thing" (Lane). Malal is the noun of that weariness.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: malal
- Say it: malal, once more
- Say it: shaᶜara aṭ-ṭālib bi-l-malal fī al-muḥāḍara aṭ-ṭawīla. — The student felt bored in the long lecture.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a barber, then the Arabic for happiness, then say malal again

Before you move on

What does ملل mean? ("Boredom".) Say it once more.

488.3 غضب (ghaḍiba) — to get angry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for happiness, then the Arabic for boredom.

You'll want to know: غضب

غضب — ghaḍiba — "to get angry".

النافذة كسر أخي لأن أبي غضب.

ghaḍiba abī li-anna akhī kasara an-nāfidha.

My father got angry because my brother broke the window.

Present: يغضب, yaghḍab.
It takes من for the person: أخيه من غضب.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غضب (ghaḍiba) is built on the native Arabic root gh-ḍ-b, "anger, wrath" (Lane). The adjective ghāḍib, angry, and the noun ghaḍab, anger, come from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghaḍiba
- Say it: ghaḍiba, once more
- Say it: ghaḍiba abī li-anna akhī kasara an-nāfidha. — My father got angry because my brother broke the window.
- Recall: say the Arabic for happiness, then the Arabic for boredom, then say ghaḍiba again

Before you move on

What does غضب mean? ("To get angry".) Say it once more.

488.4 حزن (ḥazina) — to grieve, to be sad

Before the new one: say the Arabic for boredom, then the Arabic for to get angry.

You'll want to know: حزن

حزن — ḥazina — "to grieve, to be sad".

صديقتها سافرت عندما البنت حزنت.

ḥazinat al-bint ᶜindamā sāfarat ṣadīqatuhā.

The girl was sad when her friend went away.

Present: يحزن, yaḥzan.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حزن (ḥazina) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-z-n, "grief, sadness" (Lane). The adjective ḥazīn, sad, which you already know, comes from it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥazina
- Say it: ḥazina, once more
- Say it: ḥazinat al-bint ᶜindamā sāfarat ṣadīqatuhā. — The girl was sad when her friend went away.
- Recall: say the Arabic for boredom, then the Arabic for to get angry, then say ḥazina again

Before you move on

What does حزن mean? ("To grieve, to be sad".) Say it once more.

488.5 تنهد (tanahhada) — to sigh

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get angry, then the Arabic for to grieve.

You'll want to know: تنهد

تنهد — tanahhada — "to sigh".

الكرسي على وجلست أمي تنهدت.

tanahhadat ummī wa-jalasat ᶜalā al-kursī.

My mother sighed and sat down on the chair.

Present: يتنهد, yatanahhad.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنهد (tanahhada) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-d, "to swell, to rise" (Lane). Lane gives Form V tanahhada as to sigh: to let the chest rise with a long breath.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tanahhada
- Say it: tanahhada, once more
- Say it: tanahhadat ummī wa-jalasat ᶜalā al-kursī. — My mother sighed and sat down on the chair.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get angry, then the Arabic for to grieve, then say tanahhada again

Before you move on

What does تنهد mean? ("To sigh".) Say it once more.

Chapter 489

Panic, terror and calm

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about panic, terror and calm, and say that someone shivered or frightened someone.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 489: I can talk about panic, terror and calm, and say that someone shivered or frightened someone.

489.1 ذعر (dhu^{c}r) — panic, alarm

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grieve, then the Arabic for to sigh.

You'll want to know: ذعر

ذعر — dhu^{c}r — "panic, alarm".

الزلزال بعد ذعر الناس أصاب.

aṣāba an-nās dhu^{c}r ba^{c}da az-zilzāl.

Panic seized the people after the earthquake.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذعر (dhu^{c}r) is built on the native Arabic root dh-^{c}-r, "to frighten, to alarm" (Lane). Dhu^{c}r is a sudden fright that runs through a crowd.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dhu^{c}r
- Say it: dhu^{c}r, once more
- Say it: aṣāba an-nās dhu^{c}r ba^{c}da az-zilzāl. — Panic seized the people after the earthquake.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grieve, then the Arabic for to sigh, then say dhu^{c}r again

Before you move on

What does ذعر mean? ("Panic, alarm".) Say it once more.

489.2 رعب (ru^{c}b) — terror

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sigh, then the Arabic for panic.

You'll want to know: رعب

رعب — ru^{c}b — "terror".

أمس رعب فيلم أخي شاهد.

shāhada akhī fīlm ru^{c}b ams.

My brother watched a horror film yesterday.

رعب فيلم is a horror film.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رعب (ru^{c}b) is built on the native Arabic root r-^{c}-b, "to fill with fear" (Lane). Ru^{c}b is fear at its strongest.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ru^{c}b
- Say it: ru^{c}b, once more
- Say it: shāhada akhī fīlm ru^{c}b ams. — My brother watched a horror film yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sigh, then the Arabic for panic, then say ru^{c}b again

Before you move on

What does رعب mean? ("Terror".) Say it once more.

489.3 هدوء (hudūʾ) — calm, quiet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for panic, then the Arabic for terror.

You'll want to know: هدوء

هدوء — hudūʾ — "calm, quiet".

أحب هدوء القرية في المساء.

uḥibbu hudūʾ al-qarya fī al-masāʾ.

I love the quiet of the village in the evening.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هدوء (hudūʾ) is built on the native Arabic root h-d-ʾ, "to become still, to be at rest" (Lane). Hudūʾ is the stillness itself: of a place, the sea or a person.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: hudūʾ
- Say it: hudūʾ, once more
- Say it: uḥibbu hudūʾ al-qarya fī al-masāʾ. — I love the quiet of the village in the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for panic, then the Arabic for terror, then say hudūʾ again

Before you move on

What does هدوء mean? ("Calm, quiet".) Say it once more.

489.4 ارتعش (irta^{c}asha) — to shiver

Before the new one: say the Arabic for terror, then the Arabic for calm.

You'll want to know: ارتعش

ارتعش — irta^{c}asha — "to shiver".

الخوف من الولد ارتعش.

irta^{c}asha al-walad min al-khawf.

The boy shivered with fear.

Present: يرتعش, yarta^{c}ish.
It is said of cold as well as fear: البرد من ارتعش.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتعش (irta^{c}asha) is built on the native Arabic root r-^{c}-sh, "to tremble, to quiver" (Lane). Form VIII irta^{c}asha is to shake all over.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: irta^{c}asha
- Say it: irta^{c}asha, once more
- Say it: irta^{c}asha al-walad min al-khawf. — The boy shivered with fear.
- Recall: say the Arabic for terror, then the Arabic for calm, then say irta^{c}asha again

Before you move on

What does ارتعش mean? ("To shiver".) Say it once more.

489.5 أخاف (akhāfa) — to frighten

Before the new one: say the Arabic for calm, then the Arabic for to shiver.

You'll want to know: أخاف

أخاف — akhāfa — "to frighten".

الليل في الرعد صوت أخافني.

akhāfanī ṣawt ar-ra^{c}d fī al-layl.

The sound of the thunder frightened me in the night.

Present: يخيف, yukhīf.
Do not confuse it with أخاف read akhāfu, I am afraid, the present of خاف.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخاف (akhāfa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-w-f, "fear" (Lane). It is Form IV of khāfa, to be afraid: to make someone afraid. Mukhīf, frightening, is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: akhāfa
- Say it: akhāfa, once more
- Say it: akhāfanī ṣawt ar-ra^{c}d fī al-layl. — The sound of the thunder frightened me in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for calm, then the Arabic for to shiver, then say akhāfa again

Before you move on

What does أخاف mean? ("To frighten".) Say it once more.

Chapter 490

Surprise and admiration

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about astonishment and admiration, and say that someone was amazed or surprised.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 490: I can talk about astonishment and admiration, and say that someone was amazed or surprised.

490.1 دهشة (dahsha) — astonishment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shiver, then the Arabic for to frighten.

You'll want to know: دهشة

دهشة — dahsha — "astonishment".

بدهشة الهدية الولد فتح.

fataḥa al-walad al-hadiyya bi-dahsha.

The boy opened the present in astonishment.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دهشة (dahsha) is built on the native Arabic root d-h-sh, "to be amazed, to be bewildered" (Lane). Dahsha is that amazed state.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dahsha
- Say it: dahsha, once more
- Say it: fataḥa al-walad al-hadiyya bi-dahsha. — The boy opened the present in astonishment.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shiver, then the Arabic for to frighten, then say dahsha again

Before you move on

What does دهشة mean? ("Astonishment".) Say it once more.

490.2 مندهش (mundahish) — astonished

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to frighten, then the Arabic for astonishment.

You'll want to know: مندهش

مندهش — mundahish — "astonished".

الخبر من مندهشا أبي كان.

kāna abī mundahishan min al-khabar.

My father was astonished by the news.

After كان it takes the accusative: مندهشا كان.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مندهش (mundahish) is built on the native Arabic root d-h-sh, "to be amazed, to be bewildered" (Lane). Mundahish is the participle of Form VII: one who has been struck with amazement.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mundahish
- Say it: mundahish, once more
- Say it: kāna abī mundahishan min al-khabar. — My father was astonished by the news.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to frighten, then the Arabic for astonishment, then say mundahish again

Before you move on

What does مندهش mean? ("Astonished".) Say it once more.

490.3 اندهش (indahasha) — to be amazed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for astonishment, then the Arabic for astonished.

You'll want to know: اندهش

اندهش — indahasha — "to be amazed".

الطالب جواب من المعلمة اندهشت.

indahashat al-muᶜallima min jawāb aṭ-ṭālib.

The teacher was amazed by the student's answer.

Present: يندهش, yandahish.
It takes من for the cause.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اندهش (indahasha) is built on the native Arabic root d-h-sh, "to be amazed, to be bewildered" (Lane). It is Form VII, a pattern that often says a thing happened to you.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: indahasha
- Say it: indahasha, once more
- Say it: indahashat al-muᶜallima min jawāb aṭ-ṭālib. — The teacher was amazed by the student's answer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for astonishment, then the Arabic for astonished, then say indahasha again

Before you move on

What does اندهش mean? ("To be amazed".) Say it once more.

490.4 تفاجأ (tafājaʾa) — to be surprised

Before the new one: say the Arabic for astonished, then the Arabic for to be amazed.

You'll want to know: تفاجأ

تفاجأ — tafājaʾa — "to be surprised".

المطار في صديقي رأيت عندما تفاجأت.

tafājaʾtu ᶜindamā raʾaytu ṣadīqī fī al-maṭār.

I was surprised when I saw my friend at the airport.

Present: يتفاجأ, yatafājaʾ.
It takes بـ for the cause: بالخبر تفاجأ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفاجأ (tafājaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root f-j-ʾ, "to come upon suddenly" (Lane). Tafājaʾa is to be come upon suddenly: to be taken by surprise.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tafājaʾa
- Say it: tafājaʾa, once more
- Say it: tafājaʾtu ᶜindamā raʾaytu ṣadīqī fī al-maṭār. — I was surprised when I saw my friend at the airport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for astonished, then the Arabic for to be amazed, then say tafājaʾa again

Before you move on

What does تفاجأ mean? ("To be surprised".) Say it once more.

490.5 إعجاب (iᶜjāb) — admiration

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be amazed, then the Arabic for to be surprised.

You'll want to know: إعجاب

إعجاب — iᶜjāb — "admiration".

بإعجاب الفريق عمل عن المدير تكلم.

takallama al-mudīr ᶜan ᶜamal al-farīq bi-iᶜjāb.

The manager spoke about the team's work with admiration.

It takes بـ for what is admired: إعجاب بالفريق.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إعجاب (iᶜjāb) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-j-b, "to wonder, to marvel" (Lane). Iᶜjāb is the verbal noun of Form IV, to make someone marvel.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜjāb
- Say it: iᶜjāb, once more
- Say it: takallama al-mudīr ᶜan ᶜamal al-farīq bi-iᶜjāb. — The manager spoke about the team's work with admiration.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be amazed, then the Arabic for to be surprised, then say iᶜjāb again

Before you move on

What does إعجاب mean? ("Admiration".) Say it once more.

Chapter 491

Pride and thanks

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone is proud or grateful, talk about gratitude, and say that something impressed me.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 491: I can say that someone is proud or grateful, talk about gratitude, and say that something impressed me.

491.1 فخور (fakhūr) — proud

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be surprised, then the Arabic for admiration.

You'll want to know: فخور

فخور — fakhūr — "proud".

الطبيب بابنها فخورة الأم.

al-umm fakhūra bi-ibnihā aṭ-ṭabīb.

The mother is proud of her son the doctor.

It takes بـ: فخور بـ, proud of.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فخور (fakhūr) is built on the native Arabic root f-kh-r, "to boast, to glory in" (Lane). Fakhūr is a pattern for a lasting trait: one who takes pride.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fakhūr
- Say it: fakhūr, once more
- Say it: al-umm fakhūra bi-ibnihā aṭ-ṭabīb. — The mother is proud of her son the doctor.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be surprised, then the Arabic for admiration, then say fakhūr again

Before you move on

What does فخور mean? ("Proud".) Say it once more.

491.2 افتخر (iftakhara) — to take pride (in)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for admiration, then the Arabic for proud.

You'll want to know: افتخر

افتخر — iftakhara — "to take pride (in)".

الجميلة بحديقته جدي يفتخر.

yaftakhiru jaddī bi-ḥadīqatihi al-jamīla.

My grandfather takes pride in his beautiful garden.

Present: يفتخر, yaftakhir.
It takes بـ, like فخور.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

افتخر (iftakhara) is built on the native Arabic root f-kh-r, "to boast, to glory in" (Lane). It is Form VIII of the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iftakhara
- Say it: iftakhara, once more
- Say it: yaftakhiru jaddī bi-ḥadīqatihi al-jamīla. — My grandfather takes pride in his beautiful garden.
- Recall: say the Arabic for admiration, then the Arabic for proud, then say iftakhara again

Before you move on

What does افتخر mean? ("To take pride (in)".) Say it once more.

491.3 امتنان (imtinān) — gratitude

Before the new one: say the Arabic for proud, then the Arabic for to take pride.

You'll want to know: امتنان

امتنان — imtinān — "gratitude".

كتبت رسالة امتنان إلى الممرضة.

katabtu risālat imtinān ilā al-mumarriḍa.

I wrote a letter of thanks to the nurse.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

امتنان (imtinān) is built on the native Arabic root m-n-n, "to grant a favour" (Lane). Imtinān is the feeling of one who has been granted a favour.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: imtinān
- Say it: imtinān, once more
- Say it: katabtu risālat imtinān ilā al-mumarriḍa. — I wrote a letter of thanks to the nurse.
- Recall: say the Arabic for proud, then the Arabic for to take pride, then say imtinān again

Before you move on

What does امتنان mean? ("Gratitude".) Say it once more.

491.4 ممتن (mumtann) — grateful

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to take pride, then the Arabic for gratitude.

You'll want to know: ممتن

ممتن — mumtann — "grateful".

أنا ممتن لك على مساعدتك.

anā mumtann laka ᶜalā musāᶜadatik.

I am grateful to you for your help.

ممتن لـ someone على something.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممتن (mumtann) is built on the native Arabic root m-n-n, "to grant a favour" (Lane). Mumtann is the participle that goes with imtinān, gratitude.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mumtann
- Say it: mumtann, once more
- Say it: anā mumtann laka ᶜalā musāᶜadatik. — I am grateful to you for your help.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to take pride, then the Arabic for gratitude, then say mumtann again

Before you move on

What does ممتن mean? ("Grateful".) Say it once more.

491.5 أعجب (aᶜjaba) — to impress, to please

Before the new one: say the Arabic for gratitude, then the Arabic for grateful.

You'll want to know: أعجب

أعجب — aᶜjaba — "to impress, to please".

كثيرا الفيلم أعجبني.

aᶜjabanī al-fīlm kathīran.

I liked the film a lot.

Present: يعجب, yuᶜjib.
The one pleased is the object: الفيلم أعجبني, the film pleased me.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أعجب (a^{c}jaba) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-j-b, "to wonder, to marvel" (Lane). It is Form IV: to make someone marvel. I^{c}jāb, admiration, is its verbal noun.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: a^{c}jaba
- Say it: a^{c}jaba, once more
- Say it: a^{c}jabanī al-fīlm kathīran. — I liked the film a lot.
- Recall: say the Arabic for gratitude, then the Arabic for grateful, then say a^{c}jaba again

Before you move on

What does أعجب mean? ("To impress, to please".) Say it once more.

Chapter 492

Envy and jealousy

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about jealousy and envy, and describe a jealous or envious person.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 492: I can talk about jealousy and envy, and describe a jealous or envious person.

492.1 غيرة (ghīra) — jealousy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for grateful, then the Arabic for to impress.

You'll want to know: غيرة

غيرة — ghīra — "jealousy".

الصغير أخيه من بالغيرة الطفل شعر.

shaᶜara aṭ-ṭifl bi-l-ghīra min akhīhi aṣ-ṣaghīr.

The child felt jealous of his little brother.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غيرة (ghīra) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-r, "jealousy, a jealous care for one's own" (Lane). Ghīra is jealousy, often a protective one.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghīra
- Say it: ghīra, once more
- Say it: shaᶜara aṭ-ṭifl bi-l-ghīra min akhīhi aṣ-ṣaghīr. — The child felt jealous of his little brother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for grateful, then the Arabic for to impress, then say ghīra again

Before you move on

What does غيرة mean? ("Jealousy".) Say it once more.

492.2 غيور (ghayūr) — jealous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to impress, then the Arabic for jealousy.

You'll want to know: غيور

غيور — ghayūr — "jealous".

غيور رجل زوجها.

zawjuhā rajul ghayūr.

Her husband is a jealous man.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غيور (ghayūr) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-r, "jealousy, a jealous care for one's own" (Lane). Ghayūr is the pattern of a lasting trait.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghayūr
- Say it: ghayūr, once more
- Say it: zawjuhā rajul ghayūr. — Her husband is a jealous man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to impress, then the Arabic for jealousy, then say ghayūr again

Before you move on

What does غيور mean? ("Jealous".) Say it once more.

492.3 حسود (ḥasūd) — envious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for jealousy, then the Arabic for jealous.

You'll want to know: حسود

حسود — ḥasūd — "envious".

الحسود الجار أحب لا.

lā uḥibbu al-jār al-ḥasūd.

I do not like the envious neighbour.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حسود (ḥasūd) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-d, "to envy" (Lane). Ḥasūd is the pattern of a lasting trait: an envious person.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥasūd
- Say it: ḥasūd, once more
- Say it: lā uḥibbu al-jār al-ḥasūd. — I do not like the envious neighbour.
- Recall: say the Arabic for jealousy, then the Arabic for jealous, then say ḥasūd again

Before you move on

What does حسود mean? ("Envious".) Say it once more.

492.4 حسد (ḥasada) — to envy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for jealous, then the Arabic for envious.

You'll want to know: حسد

حسد — ḥasada — "to envy".

حسد راتبه على زميله الموظف.

ḥasada al-muwaẓẓaf zamīlahu ᶜalā rātibihi.

The employee envied his colleague his salary.

Present: يحسد, yaḥsud.
It takes على for the thing envied.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حسد (ḥasada) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-s-d, "to envy" (Lane). Lane gives yaḥsudu as the usual present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥasada
- Say it: ḥasada, once more
- Say it: ḥasada al-muwaẓẓaf zamīlahu ᶜalā rātibihi. — The employee envied his colleague his salary.
- Recall: say the Arabic for jealous, then the Arabic for envious, then say ḥasada again

Before you move on

What does حسد mean? ("To envy".) Say it once more.

492.5 غار (ghāra) — to be jealous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for envious, then the Arabic for to envy.

You'll want to know: غار

غار — ghāra — "to be jealous".

أخي مع أبي يلعب عندما أختي تغار.

taghāru ukhtī ᶜindamā yalᶜabu abī maᶜa akhī.

My sister gets jealous when my father plays with my brother.

Present: يغار, yaghār.

It takes من or على: غار منه. The same letters also spell غار, ghār, a cave, from another root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غار (ghāra) is built on the native Arabic root gh-y-r, "jealousy, a jealous care for one's own" (Lane). It is the verb that goes with ghīra and ghayūr.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghāra
- Say it: ghāra, once more
- Say it: taghāru ukhtī ᶜindamā yalᶜabu abī maᶜa akhī. — My sister gets jealous when my father plays with my brother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for envious, then the Arabic for to envy, then say ghāra again

Before you move on

What does غار mean? ("To be jealous".) Say it once more.

Chapter 493

Regret and pity

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone regretted something or gently reproached someone, and talk about pity and despair.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 493: I can say that someone regretted something or gently reproached someone, and talk about pity and despair.

493.1 ندم (nadima) — to regret

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to envy, then the Arabic for to be jealous.

You'll want to know: ندم

ندم — nadima — "to regret".

> أمه على كذب لأنه الولد ندم.
>
> nadima al-walad li-annahu kadhaba ᶜalā ummihi.
>
> The boy was sorry because he had lied to his mother.

Present: يندم, yandam.
It takes على: قال ما على ندم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ندم (nadima) is built on the native Arabic root n-d-m, "to repent, to regret" (Lane). The noun nadam is regret.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nadima
- Say it: nadima, once more
- Say it: nadima al-walad li-annahu kadhaba ᶜalā ummihi. — The boy was sorry because he had lied to his mother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to envy, then the Arabic for to be jealous, then say nadima again

Before you move on

What does ندم mean? ("To regret".) Say it once more.

493.2 نادم (nādim) — regretful

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be jealous, then the Arabic for to regret.

You'll want to know: نادم

نادم — nādim — "regretful".

المباراة بعد نادما اللاعب كان.

kāna al-lāᶜib nādiman baᶜda al-mubārā.

The player was full of regret after the match.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نادم (nādim) is built on the native Arabic root n-d-m, "to repent, to regret" (Lane). Nādim is the active participle: one who regrets.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nādim
- Say it: nādim, once more
- Say it: kāna al-lāᶜib nādiman baᶜda al-mubārā. — The player was full of regret after the match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be jealous, then the Arabic for to regret, then say nādim again

Before you move on

What does نادم mean? ("Regretful".) Say it once more.

493.3 شفقة (shafaqa) — pity

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to regret, then the Arabic for regretful.

You'll want to know: شفقة

شفقة — shafaqa — "pity".

المتعب الحصان على بالشفقة شعرت.

shaᶜartu bi-sh-shafaqa ᶜalā al-ḥiṣān al-mutᶜab.

I felt pity for the tired horse.

It takes على for the one pitied.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شفقة (shafaqa) is built on the native Arabic root sh-f-q, "to be anxious for, to pity" (Lane). Shafaqa is a tender worry for someone.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shafaqa
- Say it: shafaqa, once more
- Say it: shaᶜartu bi-sh-shafaqa ᶜalā al-ḥiṣān al-mutᶜab. — I felt pity for the tired horse.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to regret, then the Arabic for regretful, then say shafaqa again

Before you move on

What does شفقة mean? ("Pity".) Say it once more.

493.4 عاتب (ᶜātaba) — to reproach (gently)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for regretful, then the Arabic for pity.

You'll want to know: عاتب

عاتب — ᶜātaba — "to reproach (gently)".

عاتبت الأم ابنها لأنه لم يتصل بها.

ᶜātabat al-umm ibnahā li-annahu lam yattaṣil bihā.

The mother reproached her son because he had not phoned her.

Present: يعاتب, yuᶜātib.
It is a gentle, loving complaint, not anger.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاتب (ᶜātaba) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-t-b, "to blame, to be angry with" (Lane). Lane gives yaᶜtibu for Form I; Form III ᶜātaba is to reproach someone face to face.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜātaba
- Say it: ᶜātaba, once more
- Say it: ᶜātabat al-umm ibnahā li-annahu lam yattaṣil bihā. — The mother reproached her son because he had not phoned her.
- Recall: say the Arabic for regretful, then the Arabic for pity, then say ᶜātaba again

Before you move on

What does عاتب mean? ("To reproach (gently)".) Say it once more.

493.5 يأس (yaʾs) — despair

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pity, then the Arabic for to reproach.

You'll want to know: يأس

يأس — yaʾs — "despair".

أبدا باليأس المريض يشعر لم.

lam yashᶜur al-marīḍ bi-l-yaʾs abadan.

The patient never felt despair.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

يأس (yaʾs) is built on the native Arabic root y-ʾ-s, "to despair, to give up hope" (Lane). Yaʾs is the noun of giving up hope.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: yaʾs
- Say it: yaʾs, once more
- Say it: lam yashᶜur al-marīḍ bi-l-yaʾs abadan. — The patient never felt despair.
- Recall: say the Arabic for pity, then the Arabic for to reproach, then say yaʾs again

Before you move on

What does يأس mean? ("Despair".) Say it once more.

Chapter 494

Feeling low

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about gloom, nostalgia and frustration, and say that someone feels frustrated or bored of something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 494: I can talk about gloom, nostalgia and frustration, and say that someone feels frustrated or bored of something.

494.1 كآبة (kaʾāba) — gloom, low spirits

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to reproach, then the Arabic for despair.

You'll want to know: كآبة

كآبة — kaʾāba — "gloom, low spirits".

> الناس لبعض الكآبة الطويل الشتاء يسبب.
>
> yusabbibu ash-shitāʾ aṭ-ṭawīl al-kaʾāba li-baᶜḍ an-nās.
>
> The long winter causes gloom for some people.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كآبة (kaʾāba) is built on the native Arabic root k-ʾ-b, "to be sad, broken in spirit" (Lane). Kaʾāba is that low, heavy state.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kaʾāba
- Say it: kaʾāba, once more
- Say it: yusabbibu ash-shitāʾ aṭ-ṭawīl al-kaʾāba li-baᶜḍ an-nās. — The long winter causes gloom for some people.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to reproach, then the Arabic for despair, then say kaʾāba again

Before you move on

What does كآبة mean? ("Gloom, low spirits".) Say it once more.

494.2 حنين (ḥanīn) — nostalgia, longing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for despair, then the Arabic for gloom.

You'll want to know: حنين

حنين — ḥanīn — "nostalgia, longing".

قريته إلى بالحنين جدي شعر.

shaᶜara jaddī bi-l-ḥanīn ilā qaryatihi.

My grandfather felt homesick for his village.

It takes إلى for what you long for.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حنين (ḥanīn) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-n-n, "to yearn, to feel tenderness" (Lane). Ḥanīn is a yearning, often for home or for the past.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥanīn
- Say it: ḥanīn, once more
- Say it: shaᶜara jaddī bi-l-ḥanīn ilā qaryatihi. — My grandfather felt homesick for his village.
- Recall: say the Arabic for despair, then the Arabic for gloom, then say ḥanīn again

Before you move on

What does حنين mean? ("Nostalgia, longing".) Say it once more.

494.3 إحباط (iḥbāṭ) — frustration

Before the new one: say the Arabic for gloom, then the Arabic for nostalgia.

You'll want to know: إحباط

إحباط — iḥbāṭ — "frustration".

الخسارة بعد بالإحباط الفريق شعر.

shaᶜara al-farīq bi-l-iḥbāṭ baᶜda al-khasāra.

The team felt frustrated after the loss.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إحباط (iḥbāṭ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-b-ṭ, "to come to nothing, to be made void" (Lane). Iḥbāṭ is the feeling when an effort comes to nothing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥbāṭ
- Say it: iḥbāṭ, once more
- Say it: shaᶜara al-farīq bi-l-iḥbāṭ baᶜda al-khasāra. — The team felt frustrated after the loss.
- Recall: say the Arabic for gloom, then the Arabic for nostalgia, then say iḥbāṭ again

Before you move on

What does إحباط mean? ("Frustration".) Say it once more.

494.4 محبط (muḥbaṭ) — frustrated

Before the new one: say the Arabic for nostalgia, then the Arabic for frustration.

You'll want to know: محبط

محبط — muḥbaṭ — "frustrated".

الامتحان في رسب لأنه محبط الطالب.

aṭ-ṭālib muḥbaṭ li-annahu rasaba fī al-imtiḥān.

The student is frustrated because he failed the exam.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

محبط (muḥbaṭ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-b-ṭ, "to come to nothing, to be made void" (Lane). Muḥbaṭ is the passive participle of Form IV.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: muḥbaṭ
- Say it: muḥbaṭ, once more
- Say it: aṭ-ṭālib muḥbaṭ li-annahu rasaba fī al-imtiḥān. — The student is frustrated because he failed the exam.
- Recall: say the Arabic for nostalgia, then the Arabic for frustration, then say muḥbaṭ again

Before you move on

What does محبط mean? ("Frustrated".) Say it once more.

494.5 مل (malla) — to get bored (of)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for frustration, then the Arabic for frustrated.

You'll want to know: مل

مل — malla — "to get bored (of)".

السيارة في الانتظار من الأطفال مل.

malla al-aṭfāl min al-intiẓār fī as-sayyāra.

The children got bored of waiting in the car.

Present: يمل, yamall.
It takes من. The noun ملل, boredom, shares the root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مل (malla) is built on the native Arabic root m-l-l, "to be weary of a thing" (Lane). Its last two root letters are the same, so they write as one doubled letter.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: malla
- Say it: malla, once more
- Say it: malla al-aṭfāl min al-intiẓār fī as-sayyāra. — The children got bored of waiting in the car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for frustration, then the Arabic for frustrated, then say malla again

Before you move on

What does ملّ mean? ("To get bored (of)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 495

Annoyed and fed up

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about annoyance, say that someone is annoyed or displeased, and say that someone put up with something or was fed up.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 495: I can talk about annoyance, say that someone is annoyed or displeased, and say that someone put up with something or was fed up.

495.1 انزعاج (inzi^{c}āj) — annoyance

Before the new one: say the Arabic for frustrated, then the Arabic for to get bored.

You'll want to know: انزعاج

انزعاج — inzi^{c}āj — "annoyance".

بانزعاج العالية الموسيقى عن الجار تكلم.

takallama al-jār ^{c}an al-mūsīqā al-^{c}āliya bi-inzi^{c}āj.

The neighbour spoke about the loud music with annoyance.

The adjective مزعج, annoying, is from the same root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انزعاج (inzi^{c}āj) is built on the native Arabic root z-^{c}-j, "to disquiet, to unsettle" (Lane). Inzi^{c}āj is the verbal noun of Form VII: being unsettled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: inzi^{c}āj
- Say it: inzi^{c}āj, once more
- Say it: takallama al-jār ^{c}an al-mūsīqā al-^{c}āliya bi-inzi^{c}āj. — The neighbour spoke about the loud music with annoyance.
- Recall: say the Arabic for frustrated, then the Arabic for to get bored, then say inzi^{c}āj again

Before you move on

What does انزعاج mean? ("Annoyance".) Say it once more.

495.2 منزعج (munza^{c}ij) — annoyed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get bored, then the Arabic for annoyance.

You'll want to know: منزعج

منزعج — munza^{c}ij — "annoyed".

التلفاز صوت من منزعج الأب.

al-ab munza^{c}ij min ṣawt at-tilfāz.

The father is annoyed by the noise of the television.

It takes من for the cause.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منزعج (munzaᶜij) is built on the native Arabic root z-ᶜ-j, "to disquiet, to unsettle" (Lane). Munzaᶜij is the participle of Form VII.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: munzaᶜij
- Say it: munzaᶜij, once more
- Say it: al-ab munzaᶜij min ṣawt at-tilfāz. — The father is annoyed by the noise of the television.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get bored, then the Arabic for annoyance, then say munzaᶜij again

Before you move on

What does منزعج mean? ("Annoyed".) Say it once more.

495.3 مستاء (mustāʾ) — displeased, upset

Before the new one: say the Arabic for annoyance, then the Arabic for annoyed.

You'll want to know: مستاء

مستاء — mustāʾ — "displeased, upset".

الخدمة من مستاء الزبون.

az-zabūn mustāʾ min al-khidma.

The customer is unhappy with the service.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستاء (mustāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root s-w-ʾ, "to be evil, to be bad" (Lane). Mustāʾ is the participle of Form VIII, istāʾa: one who takes a thing badly.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mustāʾ
- Say it: mustāʾ, once more
- Say it: az-zabūn mustāʾ min al-khidma. — The customer is unhappy with the service.
- Recall: say the Arabic for annoyance, then the Arabic for annoyed, then say mustāʾ again

Before you move on

What does مستاء mean? ("Displeased, upset".) Say it once more.

495.4 تحمل (taḥammala) — to put up with

Before the new one: say the Arabic for annoyed, then the Arabic for displeased.

You'll want to know: تحمل

تحمل — taḥammala — "to put up with".

الحر أبي يتحمل لا.

lā yataḥammalu abī al-ḥarr.

My father cannot stand the heat.

Present: يتحمل, yataḥammal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحمل (taḥammala) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry" (Lane). Ḥamala, to carry, which you know, is from the same root; Form V is to carry a weight oneself.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥammala
- Say it: taḥammala, once more
- Say it: lā yataḥammalu abī al-ḥarr. — My father cannot stand the heat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for annoyed, then the Arabic for displeased, then say taḥammala again

Before you move on

What does تحمل mean? ("To put up with".) Say it once more.

495.5 ضجر (ḍajira) — to be fed up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for displeased, then the Arabic for to put up with.

You'll want to know: ضجر

ضجر — ḍajira — "to be fed up".

الطويل التأخير من المسافرون ضجر.

ḍajira al-musāfirūn min at-taʾkhīr aṭ-ṭawīl.

The travellers were fed up with the long delay.

Present: يضجر, yaḍjar.
It takes من, as مل does.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضجر (ḍajira) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-j-r, "to be vexed, disquieted" (Lane). Lane gives yaḍjaru as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍajira
- Say it: ḍajira, once more
- Say it: ḍajira al-musāfirūn min at-taʾkhīr aṭ-ṭawīl. — The travellers were fed up with the long delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for displeased, then the Arabic for to put up with, then say ḍajira again

Before you move on

What does ضجر mean? ("To be fed up".) Say it once more.

495.6 Feelings and moods — a review

Say the Arabic for happiness and boredom.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- happiness, boredom, to get angry, to grieve, to sigh
- panic, terror, calm, to shiver, to frighten
- astonishment, astonished, to be amazed, to be surprised, admiration
- proud, to take pride, gratitude, grateful, to impress
- jealousy, jealous, envious, to envy, to be jealous

- to regret, regretful, pity, to reproach, despair
- gloom, nostalgia, frustration, frustrated, to get bored
- annoyance, annoyed, displeased, to put up with, to be fed up

Before you move on

Happiness? (سعادة, saᶜāda.) Boredom? (ملل, malal.) To get angry? (غضب, ghaḍiba.) To grieve? (حزن, ḥazina.) To sigh? (تنهد, tanahhada.) Panic? (ذعر, dhuᶜr.) Terror? (رعب, ruᶜb.) Calm? (هدوء, hudūʾ.) To shiver? (ارتعش, irtaᶜasha.) To frighten? (أخاف, akhāfa.) Astonishment? (دهشة, dahsha.) Astonished? (مندهش, mundahish.) To be amazed? (اندهش, indahasha.) To be surprised? (تفاجأ, tafājaʾa.) Admiration? (إعجاب, iᶜjāb.) Proud? (فخور, fakhūr.) To take pride? (افتخر, iftakhara.) Gratitude? (امتنان, imtinān.) Grateful? (ممتن, mumtann.) To impress? (أعجب, aᶜjaba.) Jealousy? (غيرة, ghīra.) Jealous? (غيور, ghayūr.) Envious? (حسود, ḥasūd.) To envy? (حسد, ḥasada.) To be jealous? (غار, ghāra.) To regret? (ندم, nadima.) Regretful? (نادم, nādim.) Pity? (شفقة, shafaqa.) To reproach? (عاتب, ᶜātaba.) Despair? (يأس, yaʾs.) Gloom? (كآبة, kaʾāba.) Nostalgia? (حنين, ḥanīn.) Frustration? (إحباط, iḥbāṭ.) Frustrated? (محبط, muḥbaṭ.) To get bored? (مل, malla.) Annoyance? (انزعاج, inziᶜāj.) Annoyed? (منزعج, munzaᶜij.) Displeased? (مستاء, mustāʾ.) To put up with? (تحمل, taḥammala.) To be fed up? (ضجر, ḍajira.)

Chapter 496

Excited and relieved

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone is excited or at ease, talk about relief, and say that someone got excited or felt relieved.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 496: I can say that someone is excited or at ease, talk about relief, and say that someone got excited or felt relieved.

496.1 متحمس (mutaḥammis) — excited, keen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to put up with, then the Arabic for to be fed up.

You'll want to know: متحمس

متحمس — mutaḥammis — "excited, keen".

البحر إلى للرحلة متحمس ابني.

ibnī mutaḥammis li-r-riḥla ilā al-baḥr.

My son is excited about the trip to the sea.

It takes لـ for what you look forward to.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متحمس (mutaḥammis) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-s, "to be hard, firm, vehement" (Lane). Ḥamās, enthusiasm, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutaḥammis
- Say it: mutaḥammis, once more
- Say it: ibnī mutaḥammis li-r-riḥla ilā al-baḥr. — My son is excited about the trip to the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to put up with, then the Arabic for to be fed up, then say mutaḥammis again

Before you move on

What does متحمس mean? ("Excited, keen".) Say it once more.

496.2 تحمس (taḥammasa) — to get excited

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be fed up, then the Arabic for excited.

You'll want to know: تحمس

تحمس — taḥammasa — "to get excited".

المباراة بدأت عندما الأولاد تحمس.

taḥammasa al-awlād ᶜindamā badaʾat al-mubārā.

The boys got excited when the match began.

Present: يتحمس, yataḥammas.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحمس (taḥammasa) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-s, "to be hard, firm, vehement" (Lane). Form V taḥammasa is to grow keen.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥammasa
- Say it: taḥammasa, once more
- Say it: taḥammasa al-awlād ᶜindamā badaʾat al-mubārā. — The boys got excited when the match began.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be fed up, then the Arabic for excited, then say taḥammasa again

Before you move on

What does تحمس mean? ("To get excited".) Say it once more.

496.3 ارتياح (irtiyāḥ) — relief

Before the new one: say the Arabic for excited, then the Arabic for to get excited.

You'll want to know: ارتياح

ارتياح — irtiyāḥ — "relief".

وجهها على واضحا الارتياح كان.

kāna al-irtiyāḥ wāḍiḥan ᶜalā wajhihā.

Relief was clear on her face.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتياح (irtiyāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "wind, breath, rest" (Lane). Irtiyāḥ is the verbal noun of Form VIII: breathing easy again.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: irtiyāḥ
- Say it: irtiyāḥ, once more
- Say it: kāna al-irtiyāḥ wāḍiḥan ᶜalā wajhihā. — Relief was clear on her face.
- Recall: say the Arabic for excited, then the Arabic for to get excited, then say irtiyāḥ again

Before you move on

What does ارتياح mean? ("Relief".) Say it once more.

496.4 مرتاح (murtāḥ) — at ease, relaxed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get excited, then the Arabic for relief.

You'll want to know: مرتاح

مرتاح — murtāḥ — "at ease, relaxed".

أنا مرتاح في عملي الجديد.

anā murtāḥ fī ᶜamalī al-jadīd.

I am at ease in my new job.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرتاح (murtāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "wind, breath, rest" (Lane). Murtāḥ is the participle of Form VIII.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: murtāḥ
- Say it: murtāḥ, once more
- Say it: anā murtāḥ fī ᶜamalī al-jadīd. — I am at ease in my new job.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get excited, then the Arabic for relief, then say murtāḥ again

Before you move on

What does مرتاح mean? ("At ease, relaxed".) Say it once more.

496.5 ارتاح (irtāḥa) — to feel relieved

Before the new one: say the Arabic for relief, then the Arabic for at ease.

You'll want to know: ارتاح

ارتاح — irtāḥa — "to feel relieved".

البيت إلى وصلنا عندما أبي ارتاح.

irtāḥa abī ᶜindamā waṣalnā ilā al-bayt.

My father felt relieved when we reached home.

Present: يرتاح, yartāḥ.
The same root gives استراح, to rest, which you know.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتاح (irtāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-w-ḥ, "wind, breath, rest" (Lane). It is Form VIII of the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: irtāḥa
- Say it: irtāḥa, once more
- Say it: irtāḥa abī ᶜindamā waṣalnā ilā al-bayt. — My father felt relieved when we reached home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for relief, then the Arabic for at ease, then say irtāḥa again

Before you move on

What does ارتاح mean? ("To feel relieved".) Say it once more.

Chapter 497

Nerves before a big day

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone is tense, unsettled or hesitant, and that someone got flustered or held back a feeling.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 497: I can say that someone is tense, unsettled or hesitant, and that someone got flustered or held back a feeling.

497.1 متوتر (mutawattir) — tense, nervous

Before the new one: say the Arabic for at ease, then the Arabic for to feel relieved.

You'll want to know: متوتر

متوتر — mutawattir — "tense, nervous".

المقابلة قبل متوترة أختي كانت.

kānat ukhtī mutawattira qabla al-muqābala.

My sister was nervous before the interview.

The noun توتر, stress, shares the root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متوتر (mutawattir) is built on the native Arabic root w-t-r, "a bowstring" (Lane). Mutawattir is the participle of Form V: drawn tight, like a bowstring.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutawattir
- Say it: mutawattir, once more
- Say it: kānat ukhtī mutawattira qabla al-muqābala. — My sister was nervous before the interview.
- Recall: say the Arabic for at ease, then the Arabic for to feel relieved, then say mutawattir again

Before you move on

What does متوتر mean? ("Tense, nervous".) Say it once more.

497.2 ارتبك (irtabaka) — to get flustered

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to feel relieved, then the Arabic for tense.

You'll want to know: ارتبك

ارتبك — irtabaka — "to get flustered".

الجواب ونسي الطالب ارتبك.

irtabaka aṭ-ṭālib wa-nasiya al-jawāb.

The student got flustered and forgot the answer.

Present: يرتبك, yartabik.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتبك (irtabaka) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-k, "to be mixed up, entangled" (Lane). Form VIII irtabaka is to become tangled: to lose one's thread.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: irtabaka
- Say it: irtabaka, once more
- Say it: irtabaka aṭ-ṭālib wa-nasiya al-jawāb. — The student got flustered and forgot the answer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to feel relieved, then the Arabic for tense, then say irtabaka again

Before you move on

What does ارتبك mean? ("To get flustered".) Say it once more.

497.3 مضطرب (muḍṭarib) — agitated, unsettled

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tense, then the Arabic for to get flustered.

You'll want to know: مضطرب

مضطرب — muḍṭarib — "agitated, unsettled".

كان البحر مضطربا في الليل.

kāna al-baḥr muḍṭariban fī al-layl.

The sea was rough in the night.

It is said of a person, the sea or the weather.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مضطرب (muḍṭarib) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-r-b, "to strike, to beat" (Lane). Muḍṭarib is the participle of Form VIII, where the t turns into ṭ: one beaten about, restless.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: muḍṭarib
- Say it: muḍṭarib, once more
- Say it: kāna al-baḥr muḍṭariban fī al-layl. — The sea was rough in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for tense, then the Arabic for to get flustered, then say muḍṭarib again

Before you move on

What does مضطرب mean? ("Agitated, unsettled".) Say it once more.

497.4 متردد (mutaraddid) — hesitant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get flustered, then the Arabic for agitated.

You'll want to know: متردد

متردد — mutaraddid — "hesitant".

كان الزبون مترددا بين القميصين.

kāna az-zabūn mutaraddidan bayna al-qamīṣayn.

The customer was hesitating between the two shirts.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متردد (mutaraddid) is built on the native Arabic root r-d-d, "to send back, to return" (Lane). Mutaraddid is the participle of Form V: one who goes back and forth.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutaraddid
- Say it: mutaraddid, once more
- Say it: kāna az-zabūn mutaraddidan bayna al-qamīṣayn. — The customer was hesitating between the two shirts.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get flustered, then the Arabic for agitated, then say mutaraddid again

Before you move on

What does متردد mean? ("Hesitant".) Say it once more.

497.5 كتم (katama) — to hold back (a feeling)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for agitated, then the Arabic for hesitant.

You'll want to know: كتم

كتم — katama — "to hold back (a feeling)".

الصف في ضحكتها البنت كتمت.

katamat al-bint ḍaḥkatahā fī aṣ-ṣaff.

The girl held back her laugh in class.

Present: يكتم, yaktum.
It also means to keep a secret: السر كتم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كتم (katama) is built on the native Arabic root k-t-m, "to conceal, to keep secret" (Lane). Lane gives yaktumu as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: katama
- Say it: katama, once more
- Say it: katamat al-bint ḍaḥkatahā fī aṣ-ṣaff. — The girl held back her laugh in class.
- Recall: say the Arabic for agitated, then the Arabic for hesitant, then say katama again

Before you move on

What does كتم mean? ("To hold back (a feeling)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 498

Making others feel, and blame

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that something made someone happy, sad, laugh or angry, and that someone blamed someone.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 498: I can say that something made someone happy, sad, laugh or angry, and that someone blamed someone.

498.1 أسعد (as^{c}ada) — to make happy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hesitant, then the Arabic for to hold back.

You'll want to know: أسعد

أسعد — as^{c}ada — "to make happy".

كثيرا جدتي الهدية أسعدت.

as^{c}adat al-hadiyya jaddatī kathīran.

The present made my grandmother very happy.

Present: يسعد, yus^{c}id.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أسعد (as^{c}ada) is built on the native Arabic root s-a-d, "to be lucky, to be happy" (Lane). It is Form IV: to make someone sa^{c}īd.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: as^{c}ada
- Say it: as^{c}ada, once more
- Say it: as^{c}adat al-hadiyya jaddatī kathīran. — The present made my grandmother very happy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for hesitant, then the Arabic for to hold back, then say as^{c}ada again

Before you move on

What does أسعد mean? ("To make happy".) Say it once more.

498.2 أحزن (aḥzana) — to sadden

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hold back, then the Arabic for to make happy.

You'll want to know: أحزن

أحزن — aḥzana — "to sadden".

الناس كل الفيلم أحزن.

aḥzana al-fīlm kull an-nās.

The film saddened everyone.

Present: يحزن, yuḥzin.
Read the present يحزن as yuḥzin here, yaḥzan for to be sad.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أحزن (aḥzana) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-z-n, "grief, sadness" (Lane). It is Form IV: to cause grief.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: aḥzana
- Say it: aḥzana, once more
- Say it: aḥzana al-fīlm kull an-nās. — The film saddened everyone.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hold back, then the Arabic for to make happy, then say aḥzana again

Before you move on

What does أحزن mean? ("To sadden".) Say it once more.

498.3 أضحك (aḍḥaka) — to make laugh

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make happy, then the Arabic for to sadden.

You'll want to know: أضحك

أضحك — aḍḥaka — "to make laugh".

جدي قصة أضحكتنا.

aḍḥakatnā qiṣṣat jaddī.

My grandfather's story made us laugh.

Present: يضحك, yuḍḥik.
Muḍḥik, funny, is its participle.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أضحك (aḍḥaka) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ḥ-k, "to laugh" (Lane). It is Form IV of ḍaḥika, to laugh: to make someone laugh.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: aḍḥaka
- Say it: aḍḥaka, once more
- Say it: aḍḥakatnā qiṣṣat jaddī. — My grandfather's story made us laugh.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make happy, then the Arabic for to sadden, then say aḍḥaka again

Before you move on

What does أضحك mean? ("To make laugh".) Say it once more.

498.4 أغضب (aghḍaba) — to make angry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sadden, then the Arabic for to make laugh.

You'll want to know: أغضب

أغضب — aghḍaba — "to make angry".

المدير التأخير أغضب.

aghḍaba at-taʾkhīr al-mudīr.

The delay made the manager angry.

Present: يغضب, yughḍib.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أغضب (aghḍaba) is built on the native Arabic root gh-ḍ-b, "anger, wrath" (Lane). It is Form IV: to cause anger.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: aghḍaba
- Say it: aghḍaba, once more
- Say it: aghḍaba at-taʾkhīr al-mudīr. — The delay made the manager angry.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sadden, then the Arabic for to make laugh, then say aghḍaba again

Before you move on

What does أغضب mean? ("To make angry".) Say it once more.

498.5 لام (lāma) — to blame

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make laugh, then the Arabic for to make angry.

You'll want to know: لام

لام — lāma — "to blame".

التأخير على المدير لامني.

lāmanī al-mudīr ʿalā at-taʾkhīr.

The manager blamed me for the delay.

Present: يلوم, yalūm.
It takes على for the fault.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لام (lāma) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-m, "to blame, to censure" (Lane). Its middle root letter w shows as alif in the past and as ū in the present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: lāma
- Say it: lāma, once more
- Say it: lāmanī al-mudīr ᶜalā at-taʾkhīr. — The manager blamed me for the delay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make laugh, then the Arabic for to make angry, then say lāma again

Before you move on

What does لام mean? ("To blame".) Say it once more.

Chapter 499

Honest and loyal

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can describe a person as honest, upright, untruthful, loyal or faithful.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 499: I can describe a person as honest, upright, untruthful, loyal or faithful.

499.1 أمين (amīn) — honest, trustworthy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make angry, then the Arabic for to blame.

You'll want to know: أمين

أمين — amīn — "honest, trustworthy".

> أمين رجل المحاسب.
>
> al-muḥāsib rajul amīn.
>
> The accountant is an honest man.

It also names a keeper of something: المكتبة أمين, the librarian.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمين (amīn) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-m-n, "to be safe, to trust" (Lane). Āmin, safe, which you know, comes from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: amīn
- Say it: amīn, once more
- Say it: al-muḥāsib rajul amīn. — The accountant is an honest man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make angry, then the Arabic for to blame, then say amīn again

Before you move on

What does أمين mean? ("Honest, trustworthy".) Say it once more.

499.2 نزيه (nazīh) — upright, honest

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to blame, then the Arabic for honest.

You'll want to know: نزيه

نزيه — nazīh — "upright, honest".

كان جدي رجلا نزيها.

kāna jaddī rajulan nazīhan.

My grandfather was an upright man.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزيه (nazīh) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-h, "to keep far from what is base" (Lane). Lane gives nazīh as one who keeps away from what is unseemly.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nazīh
- Say it: nazīh, once more
- Say it: kāna jaddī rajulan nazīhan. — My grandfather was an upright man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to blame, then the Arabic for honest, then say nazīh again

Before you move on

What does نزيه mean? ("Upright, honest".) Say it once more.

499.3 كاذب (kādhib) — untruthful, false

Before the new one: say the Arabic for honest, then the Arabic for upright.

You'll want to know: كاذب

كاذب — kādhib — "untruthful, false".

كان الخبر كاذبا.

kāna al-khabar kādhiban.

The news was false.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كاذب (kādhib) is built on the native Arabic root k-dh-b, "to lie" (Lane). Kādhib is the active participle of kadhaba, to lie, which you know.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kādhib
- Say it: kādhib, once more
- Say it: kāna al-khabar kādhiban. — The news was false.
- Recall: say the Arabic for honest, then the Arabic for upright, then say kādhib again

Before you move on

What does كاذب mean? ("Untruthful, false".) Say it once more.

499.4 مخلص (mukhliṣ) — loyal, devoted

Before the new one: say the Arabic for upright, then the Arabic for untruthful.

You'll want to know: مخلص

مخلص — mukhliṣ — "loyal, devoted".

مخلص صديق الكلب.

al-kalb ṣadīq mukhliṣ.

The dog is a loyal friend.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخلص (mukhliṣ) is built on the native Arabic root kh-l-ṣ, "to be pure, to be free of anything mixed" (Lane). Mukhliṣ is the participle of Form IV: one whose feeling is pure.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mukhliṣ
- Say it: mukhliṣ, once more
- Say it: al-kalb ṣadīq mukhliṣ. — The dog is a loyal friend.
- Recall: say the Arabic for upright, then the Arabic for untruthful, then say mukhliṣ again

Before you move on

What does مخلص mean? ("Loyal, devoted".) Say it once more.

499.5 وفي (wafī) — faithful

Before the new one: say the Arabic for untruthful, then the Arabic for loyal.

You'll want to know: وفي

وفي — wafī — "faithful".

جدا وفي القديم صديقها.

ṣadīquhā al-qadīm wafī jiddan.

Her old friend is very faithful.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وفي (wafī) is built on the native Arabic root w-f-y, "to fulfil, to keep a promise" (Lane). A wafī person keeps their word.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: wafī
- Say it: wafī, once more
- Say it: ṣadīquhā al-qadīm wafī jiddan. — Her old friend is very faithful.
- Recall: say the Arabic for untruthful, then the Arabic for loyal, then say wafī again

Before you move on

What does وفي mean? ("Faithful".) Say it once more.

Chapter 500

Vain, selfish, cowardly and bold

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can describe a person as conceited, arrogant, selfish, cowardly or bold.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 500: I can describe a person as conceited, arrogant, selfish, cowardly or bold.

500.1 مغرور (maghrūr) — conceited, vain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for loyal, then the Arabic for faithful.

You'll want to know: مغرور

مغرور — maghrūr — "conceited, vain".

المغرور اللاعب الفريق يحب لا.

lā yuḥibbu al-farīq al-lāᶜib al-maghrūr.

The team does not like the conceited player.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مغرور (maghrūr) is built on the native Arabic root gh-r-r, "to deceive, to beguile" (Lane). Maghrūr is the passive participle: one beguiled, here by his own worth.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: maghrūr
- Say it: maghrūr, once more
- Say it: lā yuḥibbu al-farīq al-lāᶜib al-maghrūr. — The team does not like the conceited player.
- Recall: say the Arabic for loyal, then the Arabic for faithful, then say maghrūr again

Before you move on

What does مغرور mean? ("Conceited, vain".) Say it once more.

500.2 متكبر (mutakabbir) — arrogant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for faithful, then the Arabic for conceited.

You'll want to know: متكبر

متكبر — mutakabbir — "arrogant".

كان المدير متكبرا مع الموظفين.

kāna al-mudīr mutakabbiran maᶜa al-muwaẓẓafīn.

The manager was arrogant with the staff.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متكبر (mutakabbir) is built on the native Arabic root k-b-r, "to be big, great" (Lane). Kabīr, big, is from the same root; Form V mutakabbir is one who makes himself big.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutakabbir
- Say it: mutakabbir, once more
- Say it: kāna al-mudīr mutakabbiran maᶜa al-muwaẓẓafīn. — The manager was arrogant with the staff.
- Recall: say the Arabic for faithful, then the Arabic for conceited, then say mutakabbir again

Before you move on

What does متكبر mean? ("Arrogant".) Say it once more.

500.3 أناني (anānī) — selfish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for conceited, then the Arabic for arrogant.

You'll want to know: أناني

أناني — anānī — "selfish".

ألعابه في أخاه يشارك لا الأناني الطفل.

aṭ-ṭifl al-anānī lā yushāriku akhāhu fī alᶜābihi.

The selfish child does not share his toys with his brother.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أناني (anānī) is a modern Arabic word, usually traced to the pronoun anā, "I", with the adjective ending -ī: a person always saying I. The noun anāniyya is selfishness.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: anānī
- Say it: anānī, once more
- Say it: aṭ-ṭifl al-anānī lā yushāriku akhāhu fī al^{c}ābihi. — The selfish child does not share his toys with his brother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for conceited, then the Arabic for arrogant, then say anānī again

Before you move on

What does أناني mean? ("Selfish".) Say it once more.

500.4 جبان (jabān) — cowardly; a coward

Before the new one: say the Arabic for arrogant, then the Arabic for selfish.

You'll want to know: جبان

جبان — jabān — "cowardly; a coward".

الكلب من الجبان الرجل هرب.

haraba ar-rajul al-jabān min al-kalb.

The cowardly man ran away from the dog.

The noun جبن, cowardice, is written like jubn, cheese.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جبان (jabān) is built on the native Arabic root j-b-n, "to be cowardly" (Lane). Jabān is the adjective of a lasting trait.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jabān
- Say it: jabān, once more
- Say it: haraba ar-rajul al-jabān min al-kalb. — The cowardly man ran away from the dog.
- Recall: say the Arabic for arrogant, then the Arabic for selfish, then say jabān again

Before you move on

What does جبان mean? ("Cowardly; a coward".) Say it once more.

500.5 جريء (jarīʾ) — bold, daring

Before the new one: say the Arabic for selfish, then the Arabic for cowardly.

You'll want to know: جريء

جريء — jarīʾ — "bold, daring".

النهر في الجريء الولد قفز.

qafaza al-walad al-jarīʾ fī an-nahr.

The bold boy jumped into the river.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جريء (jarīʾ) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-ʾ, "to be bold, to dare" (Lane). Jarīʾ is the adjective pattern of a lasting trait.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jarīʾ
- Say it: jarīʾ, once more
- Say it: qafaza al-walad al-jarīʾ fī an-nahr. — The bold boy jumped into the river.
- Recall: say the Arabic for selfish, then the Arabic for cowardly, then say jarīʾ again

Before you move on

What does جريء mean? ("Bold, daring".) Say it once more.

Chapter 501

Wise, skilled and sure

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can describe a person as wise, skilful, creative or sensible, and talk about confidence.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 501: I can describe a person as wise, skilful, creative or sensible, and talk about confidence.

501.1 حكيم (ḥakīm) — wise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cowardly, then the Arabic for bold.

You'll want to know: حكيم

حكيم — ḥakīm — "wise".

حكيمة امرأة جدتي.

jaddatī imraʾa ḥakīma.

My grandmother is a wise woman.

In some spoken dialects حكيم is also a doctor (colloquial).

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حكيم (ḥakīm) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-m, "to judge, to restrain" (Lane). The noun ḥikma is wisdom.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥakīm
- Say it: ḥakīm, once more
- Say it: jaddatī imraʾa ḥakīma. — My grandmother is a wise woman.
- Recall: say the Arabic for cowardly, then the Arabic for bold, then say ḥakīm again

Before you move on

What does حكيم mean? ("Wise".) Say it once more.

501.2 ماهر (māhir) — skilful, skilled

Before the new one: say the Arabic for bold, then the Arabic for wise.

You'll want to know: ماهر

ماهر — māhir — "skilful, skilled".

جميلة طاولة الماهر النجار صنع.

ṣanaᶜa an-najjār al-māhir ṭāwila jamīla.

The skilful carpenter made a beautiful table.

The noun مهارة, a skill, shares the root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ماهر (māhir) is built on the native Arabic root m-h-r, "to be skilled" (Lane). Māhir is the active participle.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: māhir
- Say it: māhir, once more
- Say it: ṣanaᶜa an-najjār al-māhir ṭāwila jamīla. — The skilful carpenter made a beautiful table.
- Recall: say the Arabic for bold, then the Arabic for wise, then say māhir again

Before you move on

What does ماهر mean? ("Skilful, skilled".) Say it once more.

501.3 مبدع (mubdiᶜ) — creative

Before the new one: say the Arabic for wise, then the Arabic for skilful.

You'll want to know: مبدع

مبدع — mubdiᶜ — "creative".

الرسم في مبدعة طالبة ابنتي.

ibnatī ṭāliba mubdiᶜa fī ar-rasm.

My daughter is a creative student in drawing.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبدع (mubdiᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-ᶜ, "to originate, to make a thing new" (Lane). Mubdiᶜ is the participle of Form IV: one who makes a new thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mubdi^c
- Say it: mubdi^c, once more
- Say it: ibnatī ṭāliba mubdi^{c}a fī ar-rasm. — My daughter is a creative student in drawing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for wise, then the Arabic for skilful, then say mubdi^c again

Before you move on

What does مبدع mean? ("Creative".) Say it once more.

501.4 عاقل (^{c}āqil) — sensible

Before the new one: say the Arabic for skilful, then the Arabic for creative.

You'll want to know: عاقل

عاقل — ^{c}āqil — "sensible".

عاقل رجل مثل تكلم.

takallama mithla rajul ^{c}āqil.

He spoke like a sensible man.

The noun عقل is the mind.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاقل (^{c}āqil) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-q-l, "to bind; to understand" (Lane). Ma^{c}qūl, reasonable, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāqil
- Say it: ᶜāqil, once more
- Say it: takallama mithla rajul ᶜāqil. — He spoke like a sensible man.
- Recall: say the Arabic for skilful, then the Arabic for creative, then say ᶜāqil again

Before you move on

What does عاقل mean? ("Sensible".) Say it once more.

501.5 ثقة (thiqa) — confidence; trust

Before the new one: say the Arabic for creative, then the Arabic for sensible.

You'll want to know: ثقة

ثقة — thiqa — "confidence; trust".

بثقة الإنجليزية أختي تتكلم.

tatakallamu ukhtī al-injilīziyya bi-thiqa.

My sister speaks English with confidence.

بالنفس ثقة is self-confidence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثقة (thiqa) is built on the native Arabic root w-th-q, "to trust, to rely on" (Lane). The verb wathiqa, to trust, which you know, is from the same root; thiqa drops the first letter w.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: thiqa
- Say it: thiqa, once more
- Say it: tatakallamu ukhtī al-injilīziyya bi-thiqa. — My sister speaks English with confidence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for creative, then the Arabic for sensible, then say thiqa again

Before you move on

What does ثقة mean? ("Confidence; trust".) Say it once more.

Chapter 502

Talkers and the curious

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can describe a person as talkative, reserved, nosy, affectionate or friendly.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 502: I can describe a person as talkative, reserved, nosy, affectionate or friendly.

502.1 ثرثار (tharthār) — talkative; a chatterbox

Before the new one: say the Arabic for sensible, then the Arabic for confidence.

You'll want to know: ثرثار

ثرثار — tharthār — "talkative; a chatterbox".

> جارنا ثرثار ويتكلم ساعات.
>
> jārunā tharthār wa-yatakallamu sāᶜāt.
>
> Our neighbour is talkative and talks for hours.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثرثار (tharthār) goes with the verb tharthara, "to chatter"; its doubled shape, thar-thar, is usually said to echo endless talk, but the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tharthār
- Say it: tharthār, once more
- Say it: jārunā tharthār wa-yatakallamu sāᶜāt. — Our neighbour is talkative and talks for hours.
- Recall: say the Arabic for sensible, then the Arabic for confidence, then say tharthār again

Before you move on

What does ثرثار mean? ("Talkative; a chatterbox".) Say it once more.

502.2 متحفظ (mutaḥaffiẓ) — reserved

Before the new one: say the Arabic for confidence, then the Arabic for talkative.

You'll want to know: متحفظ

متحفظ — mutaḥaffiẓ — "reserved".

كثيرا يتكلم ولا متحفظ رجل خالتي زوج.

zawj khālatī rajul mutaḥaffiẓ wa-lā yatakallamu kathīran.

My aunt's husband is a reserved man and does not talk much.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متحفظ (mutaḥaffiẓ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-f-ẓ, "to keep, to guard" (Lane). Ḥafiẓa, to keep, which you know, is from the same root; mutaḥaffiẓ is one who keeps himself to himself.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutaḥaffiẓ
- Say it: mutaḥaffiẓ, once more
- Say it: zawj khālatī rajul mutaḥaffiẓ wa-lā yatakallamu kathīran. — My aunt's husband is a reserved man and does not talk much.
- Recall: say the Arabic for confidence, then the Arabic for talkative, then say mutaḥaffiẓ again

Before you move on

What does متحفظ mean? ("Reserved".) Say it once more.

502.3 فضولي (fuḍūlī) — nosy, curious

Before the new one: say the Arabic for talkative, then the Arabic for reserved.

You'll want to know: فضولي

فضولي — fuḍūlī — "nosy, curious".

راتبي عن الفضولي الجار سأل.

saʾala al-jār al-fuḍūlī ʿan rātibī.

The nosy neighbour asked about my salary.

It can be mild (curious) or rude (nosy); the noun فضول is curiosity.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فضولي (fuḍūlī) is built on the native Arabic root f-ḍ-l, "to be over, to be in excess" (Lane). Fuḍūl first meant what is more than enough; fuḍūlī is one who busies himself with what is not his.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fuḍūlī
- Say it: fuḍūlī, once more
- Say it: saʾala al-jār al-fuḍūlī ᶜan rātibī. — The nosy neighbour asked about my salary.
- Recall: say the Arabic for talkative, then the Arabic for reserved, then say fuḍūlī again

Before you move on

What does فضولي mean? ("Nosy, curious".) Say it once more.

502.4 حنون (ḥanūn) — affectionate, tender

Before the new one: say the Arabic for reserved, then the Arabic for nosy.

You'll want to know: حنون

حنون — ḥanūn — "affectionate, tender".

طفلها تعانق الحنون الأم.

al-umm al-ḥanūn tuᶜāniqu ṭiflahā.

The tender mother hugs her child.

It often keeps one form for a man and a woman: الحنون الأم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حنون (ḥanūn) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-n-n, "to yearn, to feel tenderness" (Lane). The noun ḥanān is tenderness.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥanūn
- Say it: ḥanūn, once more
- Say it: al-umm al-ḥanūn tuᶜāniqu ṭiflahā. — The tender mother hugs her child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for reserved, then the Arabic for nosy, then say ḥanūn again

Before you move on

What does حنون mean? ("Affectionate, tender".) Say it once more.

502.5 ودود (wadūd) — friendly

Before the new one: say the Arabic for nosy, then the Arabic for affectionate.

You'll want to know: ودود

ودود — wadūd — "friendly".

ودودون القرية في الناس.

an-nās fī al-qarya wadūdūn.

The people in the village are friendly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ودود (wadūd) is built on the native Arabic root w-d-d, "to love, to wish" (Lane). Wadūd is one full of affection.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: wadūd
- Say it: wadūd, once more
- Say it: an-nās fī al-qarya wadūdūn. — The people in the village are friendly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for nosy, then the Arabic for affectionate, then say wadūd again

Before you move on

What does ودود mean? ("Friendly".) Say it once more.

Chapter 503

Tempers and habits

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can describe a person as tolerant, irritable, cheerful, organized or careless.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 503: I can describe a person as tolerant, irritable, cheerful, organized or careless.

503.1 متسامح (mutasāmiḥ) — tolerant, forgiving

Before the new one: say the Arabic for affectionate, then the Arabic for friendly.

You'll want to know: متسامح

متسامح — mutasāmiḥ — "tolerant, forgiving".

> أبي رجل متسامح ولا يغضب كثيرا.
>
> abī rajul mutasāmiḥ wa-lā yaghḍabu kathīran.
>
> My father is a tolerant man and does not get angry often.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متسامح (mutasāmiḥ) is built on the native Arabic root s-m-ḥ, "to be generous, to allow" (Lane). Samaḥa, to allow, and sāmaḥa, to forgive, which you know, share the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutasāmiḥ
- Say it: mutasāmiḥ, once more
- Say it: abī rajul mutasāmiḥ wa-lā yaghḍabu kathīran. — My father is a tolerant man and does not get angry often.
- Recall: say the Arabic for affectionate, then the Arabic for friendly, then say mutasāmiḥ again

Before you move on

What does متسامح mean? ("Tolerant, forgiving".) Say it once more.

503.2 عصبي (ᶜaṣabī) — irritable, edgy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for friendly, then the Arabic for tolerant.

You'll want to know: عصبي

عصبي — ᶜaṣabī — "irritable, edgy".

الاجتماع قبل عصبيا المدير يصبح.

yuṣbiḥu al-mudīr ᶜaṣabiyyan qabla al-ijtimāᶜ.

The manager gets edgy before the meeting.

It is built on ᶜaṣab, a nerve: a nervy person.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصبي (ᶜaṣabī) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-b, "to bind, to tie tight" (Lane). ᶜAṣabī is the adjective of ᶜaṣab, a nerve.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṣabī
- Say it: ᶜaṣabī, once more
- Say it: yuṣbiḥu al-mudīr ᶜaṣabiyyan qabla al-ijtimāᶜ. — The manager gets edgy before the meeting.
- Recall: say the Arabic for friendly, then the Arabic for tolerant, then say ᶜaṣabī again

Before you move on

What does عصبي mean? ("Irritable, edgy".) Say it once more.

503.3 مرح (mariḥ) — cheerful, fun-loving

Before the new one: say the Arabic for tolerant, then the Arabic for irritable.

You'll want to know: مرح

مرح — mariḥ — "cheerful, fun-loving".

خالي رجل مرح ويضحك كثيرا.

khālī rajul mariḥ wa-yaḍḥaku kathīran.

My uncle is a cheerful man and laughs a lot.

The noun مرح, read maraḥ, is merriment.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرح (mariḥ) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-ḥ, "to be lively, merry" (Lane). Mariḥ is the adjective; maraḥ, with the same letters, is the noun.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mariḥ
- Say it: mariḥ, once more
- Say it: khālī rajul mariḥ wa-yaḍḥaku kathīran. — My uncle is a cheerful man and laughs a lot.
- Recall: say the Arabic for tolerant, then the Arabic for irritable, then say mariḥ again

Before you move on

What does مرح mean? ("Cheerful, fun-loving".) Say it once more.

503.4 منظم (munaẓẓam) — organized, tidy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for irritable, then the Arabic for cheerful.

You'll want to know: منظم

منظم — munaẓẓam — "organized, tidy".

ونظيف منظم أختي مكتب.

maktab ukhtī munaẓẓam wa-naẓīf.

My sister's desk is tidy and clean.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

منظم (munaẓẓam) is built on the native Arabic root n-ẓ-m, "to string pearls in order" (Lane). Munaẓẓam is the passive participle of Form II: set in order.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: munaẓẓam
- Say it: munaẓẓam, once more
- Say it: maktab ukhtī munaẓẓam wa-naẓīf. — My sister's desk is tidy and clean.
- Recall: say the Arabic for irritable, then the Arabic for cheerful, then say munaẓẓam again

Before you move on

What does منظم mean? ("Organized, tidy".) Say it once more.

503.5 مهمل (muhmil) — careless

Before the new one: say the Arabic for cheerful, then the Arabic for organized.

You'll want to know: مهمل

مهمل — muhmil — "careless".

الزجاج المهمل العامل كسر.

kasara al-ᶜāmil al-muhmil az-zujāj.

The careless worker broke the glass.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهمل (muhmil) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-l, "to leave neglected" (Lane). Muhmil is the participle of Form IV: one who leaves things neglected.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: muhmil
- Say it: muhmil, once more
- Say it: kasara al-ᶜāmil al-muhmil az-zujāj. — The careless worker broke the glass.
- Recall: say the Arabic for cheerful, then the Arabic for organized, then say muhmil again

Before you move on

What does مهمل mean? ("Careless".) Say it once more.

503.6 Words from chapters 496–503 — a review

Say the Arabic for excited and to get excited.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- excited, to get excited, relief, at ease, to feel relieved
- tense, to get flustered, agitated, hesitant, to hold back
- to make happy, to sadden, to make laugh, to make angry, to blame
- honest, upright, untruthful, loyal, faithful
- conceited, arrogant, selfish, cowardly, bold
- wise, skilful, creative, sensible, confidence
- talkative, reserved, nosy, affectionate, friendly
- tolerant, irritable, cheerful, organized, careless

Before you move on

Excited? (متحمس, mutaḥammis.) To get excited? (تحمس, taḥammasa.) Relief? (ارتياح, irtiyāḥ.) At ease? (مرتاح, murtāḥ.) To feel relieved? (ارتاح, irtāḥa.) Tense? (متوتر, mutawattir.) To get flustered? (ارتبك, irtabaka.) Agitated? (مضطرب, muḍṭarib.) Hesitant? (متردد, mutaraddid.) To hold back? (كتم, katama.) To make happy? (أسعد, as^{c}ada.) To sadden? (أحزن, aḥzana.) To make laugh? (أضحك, aḍḥaka.) To make angry? (أغضب, aghḍaba.) To blame? (لام, lāma.) Honest? (أمين, amīn.) Upright? (نزيه, nazīh.) Untruthful? (كاذب, kādhib.) Loyal? (مخلص, mukhliṣ.) Faithful? (وفي, wafī.) Conceited? (مغرور, maghrūr.) Arrogant? (متكبر, mutakabbir.) Selfish? (أناني, anānī.) Cowardly? (جبان, jabān.) Bold? (جريء, jarīʾ.) Wise? (حكيم, ḥakīm.) Skilful? (ماهر, māhir.) Creative? (مبدع, mubdi^{c}.) Sensible? (عاقل, ^{c}āqil.) Confidence? (ثقة, thiqa.) Talkative? (ثرثار, tharthār.) Reserved? (متحفظ, mutaḥaffiẓ.) Nosy? (فضولي, fuḍūlī.) Affectionate? (حنون, ḥanūn.) Friendly? (ودود, wadūd.) Tolerant? (متسامح, mutasāmiḥ.) Irritable? (عصبي, ^{c}aṣabī.) Cheerful? (مرح, mariḥ.) Organized? (منظم, munaẓẓam.) Careless? (مهمل, muhmil.)

Chapter 504

Inside the body

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name the liver, the spleen, the stomach, the intestines and the pulse.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 504: I can name the liver, the spleen, the stomach, the intestines and the pulse.

504.1 كبد (kabid) — the liver

Before the new one: say the Arabic for organized, then the Arabic for careless.

You'll want to know: كبد

كبد — kabid — "the liver".

> الخروف كبد جدي أكل.
>
> akala jaddī kabid al-kharūf.
>
> My grandfather ate the sheep's liver.

Plural: أكباد, akbād.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كبد (kabid) is built on the native Arabic root k-b-d, "the liver" (Lane). The word is old; its plural is akbād.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kabid
- Say it: kabid, once more
- Say it: akala jaddī kabid al-kharūf. — My grandfather ate the sheep's liver.
- Recall: say the Arabic for organized, then the Arabic for careless, then say kabid again

Before you move on

What does كبد mean? ("The liver".) Say it once more.

504.2 طحال (ṭiḥāl) — the spleen

Before the new one: say the Arabic for careless, then the Arabic for the liver.

You'll want to know: طحال

طحال — ṭiḥāl — "the spleen".

البطن في صغير عضو الطحال.

aṭ-ṭiḥāl ᶜuḍw ṣaghīr fī al-baṭn.

The spleen is a small organ in the belly.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طحال (ṭiḥāl) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-ḥ-l, "to hurt the spleen" (Lane). Lane gives ṭaḥala as to strike or hurt the ṭiḥāl.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭiḥāl
- Say it: ṭiḥāl, once more
- Say it: aṭ-ṭiḥāl ᶜuḍw ṣaghīr fī al-baṭn. — The spleen is a small organ in the belly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for careless, then the Arabic for the liver, then say ṭiḥāl again

Before you move on

What does طحال mean? ("The spleen".) Say it once more.

504.3 معدة (miᶜda) — the stomach

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the liver, then the Arabic for the spleen.

You'll want to know: معدة

معدة — miᶜda — "the stomach".

المعدة في ألم عندي.

ᶜindī alam fī al-miᶜda.

I have a pain in my stomach.

Baṭn, belly, is the outside; miᶜda is the organ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معدة (miᶜda) is an old native Arabic word for the stomach, usually traced to the root m-ᶜ-d; the origin of the sense is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mi^{c}da
- Say it: mi^{c}da, once more
- Say it: ^{c}indī alam fī al-mi^{c}da. — I have a pain in my stomach.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the liver, then the Arabic for the spleen, then say mi^{c}da again

Before you move on

What does معدة mean? ("The stomach".) Say it once more.

504.4 أمعاء (am^{c}āʾ) — the intestines, the bowels

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the spleen, then the Arabic for the stomach.

You'll want to know: أمعاء

أمعاء — am^{c}āʾ — "the intestines, the bowels".

جدا طويلة الأمعاء.

al-am^{c}āʾ ṭawīla jiddan.

The intestines are very long.

It is a plural; the singular معى is rare in daily speech.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أمعاء (am^{c}āʾ) is the plural of mi^{c}an, a gut, and is built on the native Arabic root m-^{c}-y (Lane). The plural pattern af^{c}āl (as in akhbār) is common for short nouns.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: $am^{c}\bar{a}^{\text{ɔ}}$
- Say it: $am^{c}\bar{a}^{\text{ɔ}}$, once more
- Say it: al-am$^{c}\bar{a}^{\text{ɔ}}$ ṭawīla jiddan. — The intestines are very long.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the spleen, then the Arabic for the stomach, then say $am^{c}\bar{a}^{\text{ɔ}}$ again

Before you move on

What does أمعاء mean? ("The intestines, the bowels".) Say it once more.

504.5 نبض (nabḍ) — the pulse

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the stomach, then the Arabic for the intestines.

You'll want to know: نبض

نبض — nabḍ — "the pulse".

فحص الطبيب نبض المريض.

faḥaṣa aṭ-ṭabīb nabḍ al-marīḍ.

The doctor checked the patient's pulse.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نبض (nabḍ) is built on the native Arabic root n-b-ḍ, "to beat, to throb" (Lane). Nabḍ is each beat of the blood.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nabḍ
- Say it: nabḍ, once more
- Say it: faḥaṣa aṭ-ṭabīb nabḍ al-marīḍ. — The doctor checked the patient's pulse.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the stomach, then the Arabic for the intestines, then say nabḍ again

Before you move on

What does نبض mean? ("The pulse".) Say it once more.

Chapter 505

Bones and joints

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name the skull, a rib, a thigh, a hip and a joint.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 505: I can name the skull, a rib, a thigh, a hip and a joint.

505.1 جمجمة (jumjuma) — a skull

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the intestines, then the Arabic for the pulse.

You'll want to know: جمجمة

جمجمة — jumjuma — "a skull".

الدماغ تحمي الجمجمة.

al-jumjuma taḥmī ad-dimāgh.

The skull protects the brain.

Plural: جماجم, jamājim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جمجمة (jumjuma) is a native Arabic word on a doubled four-letter shape, j-m-j-m. EtymDB sets it beside Hebrew gulgolet and Aramaic gulgaltā, "a skull", but how they are related is not settled. Its plural jamājim follows the usual four-letter pattern.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jumjuma
- Say it: jumjuma, once more
- Say it: al-jumjuma taḥmī ad-dimāgh. — The skull protects the brain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the intestines, then the Arabic for the pulse, then say jumjuma again

Before you move on

What does جمجمة mean? ("A skull".) Say it once more.

505.2 ضلع (ḍil^c) — a rib

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the pulse, then the Arabic for a skull.

You'll want to know: ضلع

ضلع — ḍil^c — "a rib".

المباراة في ضلعا اللاعب كسر.

kasara al-lā^{c}ib ḍil^{c}an fī al-mubārā.

The player broke a rib in the match.

Plural: أضلاع, aḍlā^c.
In geometry ضلع is also the side of a triangle.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضلع (ḍilᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-l-ᶜ, "a rib; to be crooked" (Lane). Lane links the rib to the sense of being bent.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍilᶜ
- Say it: ḍilᶜ, once more
- Say it: kasara al-lāᶜib ḍilᶜan fī al-mubārā. — The player broke a rib in the match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the pulse, then the Arabic for a skull, then say ḍilᶜ again

Before you move on

What does ضلع mean? ("A rib".) Say it once more.

505.3 فخذ (fakhidh) — a thigh

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a skull, then the Arabic for a rib.

You'll want to know: فخذ

فخذ — fakhidh — "a thigh".

المشوي الدجاج فخذ أكلنا.

akalnā fakhidh ad-dajāj al-mashwī.

We ate the grilled chicken thigh.

Plural: أفخاذ, afkhādh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فخذ (fakhidh) is built on the native Arabic root f-kh-dh, "the thigh" (Lane). Lane also gives fakhidh as a branch of a tribe, below the clan.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fakhidh
- Say it: fakhidh, once more
- Say it: akalnā fakhidh ad-dajāj al-mashwī. — We ate the grilled chicken thigh.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a skull, then the Arabic for a rib, then say fakhidh again

Before you move on

What does فخذ mean? ("A thigh".) Say it once more.

505.4 ورك (wirk) — a hip

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rib, then the Arabic for a thigh.

You'll want to know: ورك

ورك — wirk — "a hip".

الورك في بألم جدتي تشعر.

tash^{c}uru jaddatī bi-alam fī al-wirk.

My grandmother feels a pain in her hip.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ورك (wirk) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-k, "the hip, the haunch" (Lane). The word is old and common to the language.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: wirk
- Say it: wirk, once more
- Say it: tashᶜuru jaddatī bi-alam fī al-wirk. — My grandmother feels a pain in her hip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rib, then the Arabic for a thigh, then say wirk again

Before you move on

What does ورك mean? ("A hip".) Say it once more.

505.5 مفصل (mafṣil) — a joint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a thigh, then the Arabic for a hip.

You'll want to know: مفصل

مفصل — mafṣil — "a joint".

المفاصل في ألم جدي عند.

ᶜinda jaddī alam fī al-mafāṣil.

My grandfather has pain in his joints.

Plural: مفاصل, mafāṣil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مفصل (mafṣil) is built on the native Arabic root f-ṣ-l, "to separate, to divide" (Lane). Faṣl, a season, which you know, shares the root: both name a division. A mafṣil is where the body divides.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mafṣil
- Say it: mafṣil, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda jaddī alam fī al-mafāṣil. — My grandfather has pain in his joints.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a thigh, then the Arabic for a hip, then say mafṣil again

Before you move on

What does مفصل mean? ("A joint".) Say it once more.

Chapter 506

The face up close

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name an eyelid, an eyelash, the gums, the chin and a nerve.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 506: I can name an eyelid, an eyelash, the gums, the chin and a nerve.

506.1 جفن (jafn) — an eyelid

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a hip, then the Arabic for a joint.

You'll want to know: جفن

جفن — jafn — "an eyelid".

> ببطء جفنيه المريض فتح.
>
> fataḥa al-marīḍ jafnayhi bi-buṭʾ.
>
> The patient slowly opened his eyelids.

Plural: جفون, jufūn.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جفن (jafn) is built on the native Arabic root j-f-n, "a sheath, a covering" (Lane). The eyelid is the eye's cover.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jafn
- Say it: jafn, once more
- Say it: fataḥa al-marīḍ jafnayhi bi-buṭʾ. — The patient slowly opened his eyelids.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a hip, then the Arabic for a joint, then say jafn again

Before you move on

What does جفن mean? ("An eyelid".) Say it once more.

506.2 رمش (rimsh) — an eyelash

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a joint, then the Arabic for an eyelid.

You'll want to know: رمش

رمش — rimsh — "an eyelash".

طويلة رموش للطفلة.

li-ṭ-ṭifla rumūsh ṭawīla.

The little girl has long eyelashes.

Plural: رموش, rumūsh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمش (rimsh) is a native Arabic word for an eyelash, usually traced to the root r-m-sh; the origin of the sense is not settled. Its plural rumūsh is the common form.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rimsh
- Say it: rimsh, once more
- Say it: li-ṭ-ṭifla rumūsh ṭawīla. — The little girl has long eyelashes.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a joint, then the Arabic for an eyelid, then say rimsh again

Before you move on

What does رمش mean? ("An eyelash".) Say it once more.

506.3 لثة (litha) — the gums

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eyelid, then the Arabic for an eyelash.

You'll want to know: لثة

لثة — litha — "the gums".

قال طبيب إن الأسنان لثتي سليمة.

qāla ṭabīb al-asnān inna lithatī salīma.

The dentist said that my gums are healthy.

It is one word for all the gums.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لثة (litha) is a native Arabic word for the gums. Lane notes that some file it under l-w-th, from the flesh wound round the roots of the teeth; its root is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: litha
- Say it: litha, once more
- Say it: qāla ṭabīb al-asnān inna lithatī salīma. — The dentist said that my gums are healthy.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eyelid, then the Arabic for an eyelash, then say litha again

Before you move on

What does لثة mean? ("The gums".) Say it once more.

506.4 ذقن (dhaqan) — a chin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an eyelash, then the Arabic for the gums.

You'll want to know: ذقن

ذقن — dhaqan — "a chin".

ذقنه تحت يده الرجل وضع.

waḍaᶜa ar-rajul yadahu taḥta dhaqanihi.

The man put his hand under his chin.

Plural: ذقون, dhuqūn.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذقن (dhaqan) is built on the native Arabic root dh-q-n, "the chin" (Lane). Lane gives two plurals, adhqān and dhuqūn.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dhaqan
- Say it: dhaqan, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜa ar-rajul yadahu taḥta dhaqanihi. — The man put his hand under his chin.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an eyelash, then the Arabic for the gums, then say dhaqan again

Before you move on

What does ذقن mean? ("A chin".) Say it once more.

506.5 عصب (ᶜaṣab) — a nerve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for the gums, then the Arabic for a chin.

You'll want to know: عصب

عصب — ᶜaṣab — "a nerve".

يده في عصبا الحادث أصاب.

aṣāba al-ḥādith ᶜaṣaban fī yadihi.

The accident damaged a nerve in his hand.

Plural: أعصاب, aᶜṣāb.
أعصاب also means nerves as in calm: قوية أعصابه.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصب (ᶜaṣab) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-b, "to bind, to tie tight" (Lane). In the old language ᶜaṣab was a sinew, the cord that binds the body.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṣab
- Say it: ᶜaṣab, once more
- Say it: aṣāba al-ḥādith ᶜaṣaban fī yadihi. — The accident damaged a nerve in his hand.
- Recall: say the Arabic for the gums, then the Arabic for a chin, then say ᶜaṣab again

Before you move on

What does عصب mean? ("A nerve".) Say it once more.

Chapter 507

Falling ill

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone fell ill or vomited, and talk about a chill, nausea and diarrhoea.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 507: I can say that someone fell ill or vomited, and talk about a chill, nausea and diarrhoea.

507.1 مرض (mariḍa) — to fall ill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chin, then the Arabic for a nerve.

You'll want to know: مرض

مرض — mariḍa — "to fall ill".

> الماضي الشتاء في أخي مرض.
>
> mariḍa akhī fī ash-shitāʾ al-māḍī.
>
> My brother fell ill last winter.

Present: يمرض, yamraḍ.
The noun مرض, read maraḍ, is an illness.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرض (mariḍa) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-ḍ, "to be sick" (Lane). Marīḍ, sick, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mariḍa
- Say it: mariḍa, once more
- Say it: mariḍa akhī fī ash-shitāʾ al-māḍī. — My brother fell ill last winter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chin, then the Arabic for a nerve, then say mariḍa again

Before you move on

What does مرض mean? ("To fall ill".) Say it once more.

507.2 برد نزلة (nazlat bard) — a chill

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nerve, then the Arabic for to fall ill.

You'll want to know: برد نزلة

برد نزلة — nazlat bard — "a chill".

خفيفة برد نزلة أخي عند.

ᶜinda akhī nazlat bard khafīfa.

My brother has a slight chill.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برد نزلة (nazlat bard) is built on two native Arabic roots: nazla, "a coming down", from n-z-l, the root of nazala, to go down (Lane), and bard, "cold": a cold that comes down on you.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nazlat bard
- Say it: nazlat bard, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda akhī nazlat bard khafīfa. — My brother has a slight chill.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nerve, then the Arabic for to fall ill, then say nazlat bard again

Before you move on

What does برد نزلة mean? ("A chill".) Say it once more.

507.3 غثيان (ghathayān) — nausea

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fall ill, then the Arabic for a chill.

You'll want to know: غثيان

غثيان — ghathayān — "nausea".

شعرت بالغثيان في السفينة.

shaᶜartu bi-l-ghathayān fī as-safīna.

I felt sick on the ship.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غثيان (ghathayān) is built on the native Arabic root gh-th-y, "to be troubled, to heave (of the stomach)" (Lane). The pattern fa^{c}alān often names a restless movement.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghathayān
- Say it: ghathayān, once more
- Say it: sha^{c}artu bi-l-ghathayān fī as-safīna. — I felt sick on the ship.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fall ill, then the Arabic for a chill, then say ghathayān again

Before you move on

What does غثيان mean? ("Nausea".) Say it once more.

507.4 تقيأ (taqayya^{ʾ}a) — to vomit, to be sick

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chill, then the Arabic for nausea.

You'll want to know: تقيأ

تقيأ — taqayya^{ʾ}a — "to vomit, to be sick".

الطويلة الرحلة بعد الطفل تقيأ.

taqayya^{ʾ}a aṭ-ṭifl ba^{c}da ar-riḥla aṭ-ṭawīla.

The child was sick after the long journey.

Present: يتقيأ, yataqayya^{ʾ}.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقيأ (taqayyaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root q-y-ʾ, "to vomit" (Lane). Form V taqayyaʾa is the usual verb today.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taqayyaʾa
- Say it: taqayyaʾa, once more
- Say it: taqayyaʾa aṭ-ṭifl baᶜda ar-riḥla aṭ-ṭawīla. — The child was sick after the long journey.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chill, then the Arabic for nausea, then say taqayyaʾa again

Before you move on

What does تقيأ mean? ("To vomit, to be sick".) Say it once more.

507.5 إسهال (ishāl) — diarrhoea

Before the new one: say the Arabic for nausea, then the Arabic for to vomit.

You'll want to know: إسهال

إسهال — ishāl — "diarrhoea".

أعطى الطبيب الطفل دواء للإسهال.

aᶜṭā aṭ-ṭabīb aṭ-ṭifl dawāʾ li-l-ishāl.

The doctor gave the child medicine for diarrhoea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إسهال (ishāl) is built on the native Arabic root s-h-l, "to be smooth, easy" (Lane). Lane gives Form IV ashala, of a medicine, as to loosen the bowels; sahl, easy, is the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ishāl
- Say it: ishāl, once more
- Say it: aᶜṭā aṭ-ṭabīb aṭ-ṭifl dawāʾ li-l-ishāl. — The doctor gave the child medicine for diarrhoea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for nausea, then the Arabic for to vomit, then say ishāl again

Before you move on

What does إسهال mean? ("Diarrhoea".) Say it once more.

Chapter 508

Skin trouble

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a rash, an itch and an inflammation, and say that someone scratched or that a foot swelled up.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 508: I can talk about a rash, an itch and an inflammation, and say that someone scratched or that a foot swelled up.

508.1 جلدي طفح (ṭafḥ jildī) — a rash

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to vomit, then the Arabic for diarrhoea.

You'll want to know: جلدي طفح

جلدي طفح — ṭafḥ jildī — "a rash".

> الطفل يد على جلدي طفح ظهر.
>
> ẓahara ṭafḥ jildī ᶜalā yad aṭ-ṭifl.
>
> A rash appeared on the child's hand.

Often shortened to طفح.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طفح جلدي (ṭafḥ jildī) is built on two native Arabic roots: ṭafḥ from ṭ-f-ḥ, "to fill to the brim, to overflow" (Lane), and jildī, "of the skin", from jild, skin, which you know. A rash is the skin brimming over.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭafḥ jildī
- Say it: ṭafḥ jildī, once more
- Say it: ẓahara ṭafḥ jildī ᶜalā yad aṭ-ṭifl. — A rash appeared on the child's hand.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to vomit, then the Arabic for diarrhoea, then say ṭafḥ jildī again

Before you move on

What does طفح جلدي mean? ("A rash".) Say it once more.

508.2 حكة (ḥikka) — an itch, itching

Before the new one: say the Arabic for diarrhoea, then the Arabic for a rash.

You'll want to know: حكة

حكة — ḥikka — "an itch, itching".

الليل في تزعجني الحكة.

al-ḥikka tuzᶜijunī fī al-layl.

The itching bothers me at night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حكة (ḥikka) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-k, "to rub, to scratch" (Lane). Ḥikka is the itch that makes you scratch.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥikka
- Say it: ḥikka, once more
- Say it: al-ḥikka tuzᶜijunī fī al-layl. — The itching bothers me at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for diarrhoea, then the Arabic for a rash, then say ḥikka again

Before you move on

What does حكة mean? ("An itch, itching".) Say it once more.

508.3 حك (ḥakka) — to scratch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rash, then the Arabic for an itch.

You'll want to know: حك

حك — ḥakka — "to scratch".

وفكر رأسه الولد حك.

ḥakka al-walad raʾsahu wa-fakkara.

The boy scratched his head and thought.

Present: يحك, yaḥukk.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حك (ḥakka) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-k-k, "to rub, to scratch" (Lane). Its last two root letters are the same, so they write as one doubled letter.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥakka
- Say it: ḥakka, once more
- Say it: ḥakka al-walad raʾsahu wa-fakkara. — The boy scratched his head and thought.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rash, then the Arabic for an itch, then say ḥakka again

Before you move on

What does حك mean? ("To scratch".) Say it once more.

508.4 التهاب (iltihāb) — an inflammation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an itch, then the Arabic for to scratch.

You'll want to know: التهاب

التهاب — iltihāb — "an inflammation".

الحلق في التهاب أختي عند.

ᶜinda ukhtī iltihāb fī al-ḥalq.

My sister has a sore throat.

الحلق التهاب is a sore throat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

التهاب (iltihāb) is built on the native Arabic root l-h-b, "a flame, to blaze" (Lane). Iltihāb is the verbal noun of Form VIII, a flaring up: the body burning in one spot.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iltihāb
- Say it: iltihāb, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda ukhtī iltihāb fī al-ḥalq. — My sister has a sore throat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an itch, then the Arabic for to scratch, then say iltihāb again

Before you move on

What does التهاب mean? ("An inflammation".) Say it once more.

508.5 تورم (tawarrama) — to swell (up)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to scratch, then the Arabic for an inflammation.

You'll want to know: تورم

تورم — tawarrama — "to swell (up)".

السقوط بعد كاحلي تورم.

tawarrama kāḥilī baᶜda as-suqūṭ.

My ankle swelled up after the fall.

Present: يتورم, yatawarram.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تورم (tawarrama) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-m, "to swell" (Lane). Form V tawarrama is to become swollen.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tawarrama
- Say it: tawarrama, once more
- Say it: tawarrama kāḥilī ba^{c}da as-suqūṭ. — My ankle swelled up after the fall.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to scratch, then the Arabic for an inflammation, then say tawarrama again

Before you move on

What does تورم mean? ("To swell (up)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 509

Germs and jabs

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an infection, a virus, a germ, a vaccination and a swelling.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 509: I can talk about an infection, a virus, a germ, a vaccination and a swelling.

509.1 عدوى (ᶜadwā) — an infection, contagion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an inflammation, then the Arabic for to swell.

You'll want to know: عدوى

عدوى — ᶜadwā — "an infection, contagion".

طفل إلى طفل من العدوى انتقلت.

intaqalat al-ᶜadwā min ṭifl ilā ṭifl.

The infection passed from child to child.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عدوى (ᶜadwā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-w, "to run, to pass beyond" (Lane). ᶜAdwā is a thing that runs from one person to another.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜadwā
- Say it: ᶜadwā, once more
- Say it: intaqalat al-ᶜadwā min ṭifl ilā ṭifl. — The infection passed from child to child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an inflammation, then the Arabic for to swell, then say ᶜadwā again

Before you move on

What does عدوى mean? ("An infection, contagion".) Say it once more.

509.2 فيروس (fayrūs) — a virus

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swell, then the Arabic for an infection.

You'll want to know: فيروس

فيروس — fayrūs — "a virus".

فيروس سببه الزكام.

az-zukām sababuhu fayrūs.

A cold is caused by a virus.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فيروس (fayrūs) is a modern loan, usually traced to Latin virus, "poison, slime", which reached Arabic through European languages.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fayrūs
- Say it: fayrūs, once more
- Say it: az-zukām sababuhu fayrūs. — A cold is caused by a virus.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swell, then the Arabic for an infection, then say fayrūs again

Before you move on

What does فيروس mean? ("A virus".) Say it once more.

509.3 جرثومة (jurthūma) — a germ

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an infection, then the Arabic for a virus.

You'll want to know: جرثومة

جرثومة — jurthūma — "a germ".

الجراثيم الصابون يقتل.

yaqtulu aṣ-ṣābūn al-jarāthīm.

Soap kills germs.

Plural: جراثيم, jarāthīm.
It is mostly met in the plural جراثيم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرثومة (jurthūma) is built on a native four-letter root, j-r-th-m, where it named the root or origin of a thing; modern Arabic gave it the sense of a germ. The origin of the root itself is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jurthūma
- Say it: jurthūma, once more
- Say it: yaqtulu aṣ-ṣābūn al-jarāthīm. — Soap kills germs.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an infection, then the Arabic for a virus, then say jurthūma again

Before you move on

What does جرثومة mean? ("A germ".) Say it once more.

509.4 تطعيم (taṭᶜīm) — a vaccination

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a virus, then the Arabic for a germ.

You'll want to know: تطعيم

تطعيم — taṭᶜīm — "a vaccination".

المدرسة في التطعيم الأطفال أخذ.

akhadha al-aṭfāl at-taṭᶜīm fī al-madrasa.

The children had their vaccination at school.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تطعيم (taṭᶜīm) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-ᶜ-m, "to eat, to taste" (Lane), the root of ṭaᶜām, food. Lane gives Form II ṭaᶜᶜama as "to graft" a branch; modern Arabic uses the same word for putting a vaccine into the body.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taṭᶜīm
- Say it: taṭᶜīm, once more
- Say it: akhadha al-aṭfāl at-taṭᶜīm fī al-madrasa. — The children had their vaccination at school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a virus, then the Arabic for a germ, then say taṭᶜīm again

Before you move on

What does تطعيم mean? ("A vaccination".) Say it once more.

509.5 ورم (waram) — a swelling; a tumour

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a germ, then the Arabic for a vaccination.

You'll want to know: ورم

ورم — waram — "a swelling; a tumour".

ظهر ورم صغير على ركبتي.

ẓahara waram ṣaghīr ᶜalā rukbatī.

A small swelling appeared on my knee.

Plural: أورام, awrām.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ورم (waram) is built on the native Arabic root w-r-m, "to swell" (Lane). Tawarrama, to swell up, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: waram
- Say it: waram, once more
- Say it: ẓahara waram ṣaghīr ᶜalā rukbatī. — A small swelling appeared on my knee.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a germ, then the Arabic for a vaccination, then say waram again

Before you move on

What does ورم mean? ("A swelling; a tumour".) Say it once more.

Chapter 510

Tests and treatment

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a diagnosis, a lab test and X-rays, and say that a doctor treated or cured someone.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 510: I can talk about a diagnosis, a lab test and X-rays, and say that a doctor treated or cured someone.

510.1 تشخيص (tashkhīṣ) — a diagnosis

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a vaccination, then the Arabic for a swelling.

You'll want to know: تشخيص

تشخيص — tashkhīṣ — "a diagnosis".

> صحيحا الطبيب تشخيص كان.
>
> kāna tashkhīṣ aṭ-ṭabīb ṣaḥīḥan.
>
> The doctor's diagnosis was correct.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تشخيص (tashkhīṣ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-kh-ṣ, "a person, a figure seen from afar" (Lane). Shakhṣ, a person, which you know, is from the same root; Form II is to make a thing stand out clearly.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tashkhīṣ
- Say it: tashkhīṣ, once more
- Say it: kāna tashkhīṣ aṭ-ṭabīb ṣaḥīḥan. — The doctor's diagnosis was correct.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a vaccination, then the Arabic for a swelling, then say tashkhīṣ again

Before you move on

What does تشخيص mean? ("A diagnosis".) Say it once more.

510.2 تحليل (taḥlīl) — a lab test; an analysis

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a swelling, then the Arabic for a diagnosis.

You'll want to know: تحليل

تحليل — taḥlīl — "a lab test; an analysis".

دم تحليل الطبيب طلب.

ṭalaba aṭ-ṭabīb taḥlīl dam.

The doctor asked for a blood test.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تحليل (taḥlīl) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-l-l, "to untie, to loosen" (Lane). Ḥall, a solution, which you know, is from the same root: taḥlīl takes a thing apart.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taḥlīl
- Say it: taḥlīl, once more
- Say it: ṭalaba aṭ-ṭabīb taḥlīl dam. — The doctor asked for a blood test.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a swelling, then the Arabic for a diagnosis, then say taḥlīl again

Before you move on

What does تحليل mean? ("A lab test; an analysis".) Say it once more.

510.3 أشعة (ashi^{cc}a) — X-rays; rays

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a diagnosis, then the Arabic for a lab test.

You'll want to know: أشعة

أشعة — ashi^{cc}a — "X-rays; rays".

بالأشعة ساقه الطبيب صور.

ṣawwara aṭ-ṭabīb sāqahu bi-l-ashi^{cc}a.

The doctor X-rayed his leg.

It is the plural of شعاع, a ray.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أشعة (ashi^{cc}a) is built on the native Arabic root sh-^{c}-^{c}, "to spread, to scatter (of light)" (Lane). A shu^{c}ā^{c} is a ray spreading out from the sun.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ashi^{cc}a
- Say it: ashi^{cc}a, once more
- Say it: ṣawwara aṭ-ṭabīb sāqahu bi-l-ashi^{cc}a. — The doctor X-rayed his leg.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a diagnosis, then the Arabic for a lab test, then say ashi^{cc}a again

Before you move on

What does أشعة mean? ("X-rays; rays".) Say it once more.

510.4 عالج (^{c}ālaja) — to treat (a patient)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a lab test, then the Arabic for X-rays.

You'll want to know: عالج

عالج — ^{c}ālaja — "to treat (a patient)".

بسرعة الجرح الطبيبة عالجت.

^{c}ālajat aṭ-ṭabība al-jurḥ bi-sur^{c}a.

The doctor treated the wound quickly.

Present: يعالج, yu^{c}ālij.
The noun علاج, treatment, goes with it.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عالج (^{c}ālaja) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-l-j, "to work at, to struggle with" (Lane). Form III ^{c}ālaja is to work at a thing until it gives way.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜālaja
- Say it: ᶜālaja, once more
- Say it: ᶜālajat aṭ-ṭabība al-jurḥ bi-surᶜa. — The doctor treated the wound quickly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a lab test, then the Arabic for X-rays, then say ᶜālaja again

Before you move on

What does عالج mean? ("To treat (a patient)".) Say it once more.

510.5 داوى (dāwā) — to cure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for X-rays, then the Arabic for to treat.

You'll want to know: داوى

داوى — dāwā — "to cure".

كانت جدتي تداوي الناس بالأعشاب.

kānat jaddatī tudāwī an-nās bi-l-aᶜshāb.

My grandmother used to cure people with herbs.

Present: يداوي, yudāwī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

داوى (dāwā) is built on the native Arabic root d-w-y, "sickness; a cure" (Lane). Dawāʾ, medicine, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dāwā
- Say it: dāwā, once more
- Say it: kānat jaddatī tudāwī an-nās bi-l-aᶜshāb. — My grandmother used to cure people with herbs.
- Recall: say the Arabic for X-rays, then the Arabic for to treat, then say dāwā again

Before you move on

What does داوى mean? ("To cure".) Say it once more.

Chapter 511

Doses and drops

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a dose, a capsule, a drop and a splint, and say that a nurse bound up a wound.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 511: I can talk about a dose, a capsule, a drop and a splint, and say that a nurse bound up a wound.

511.1 جرعة (jur^{c}a) — a dose

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to treat, then the Arabic for to cure.

You'll want to know: جرعة

جرعة — jur^{c}a — "a dose".

الدواء من جرعة المريض شرب.

shariba al-marīḍ jur^{c}a min ad-dawāʾ.

The patient drank a dose of the medicine.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرعة (jur^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-^{c}, "to gulp, to swallow" (Lane). Lane gives jur^{c}a as a single gulp: a dose is one swallow of medicine.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jurᶜa
- Say it: jurᶜa, once more
- Say it: shariba al-marīḍ jurᶜa min ad-dawāʾ. — The patient drank a dose of the medicine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to treat, then the Arabic for to cure, then say jurᶜa again

Before you move on

What does جرعة mean? ("A dose".) Say it once more.

511.2 كبسولة (kabsūla) — a capsule

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cure, then the Arabic for a dose.

You'll want to know: كبسولة

كبسولة — kabsūla — "a capsule".

صباح كل كبسولة جدي يأخذ.

yaʾkhudhu jaddī kabsūla kull ṣabāḥ.

My grandfather takes a capsule every morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كبسولة (kabsūla) is a modern loan, usually traced to French capsule, from Latin capsula, "a small box".

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kabsūla
- Say it: kabsūla, once more
- Say it: yaʔkhudhu jaddī kabsūla kull ṣabāḥ. — My grandfather takes a capsule every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cure, then the Arabic for a dose, then say kabsūla again

Before you move on

What does كبسولة mean? ("A capsule".) Say it once more.

511.3 قطرة (qaṭra) — a droplet; a drop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a dose, then the Arabic for a capsule.

You'll want to know: قطرة

قطرة — qaṭra — "a droplet; a drop".

عيني في قطرة الممرضة وضعت.

waḍaᶜat al-mumarriḍa qaṭra fī ᶜaynī.

The nurse put a drop in my eye.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قطرة (qaṭra) is built on the native Arabic root q-ṭ-r, "to drip, to fall in drops" (Lane). Qiṭār, a train, which you know, is from the same root: a line of camels following one another, like drops.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: qaṭra
- Say it: qaṭra, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜat al-mumarriḍa qaṭra fī ᶜaynī. — The nurse put a drop in my eye.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a dose, then the Arabic for a capsule, then say qaṭra again

Before you move on

What does قطرة mean? ("A droplet; a drop".) Say it once more.

511.4 جبيرة (jabīra) — a splint, a plaster cast

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a capsule, then the Arabic for a droplet.

You'll want to know: جبيرة

جبيرة — jabīra — "a splint, a plaster cast".

جبيرة في ذراعي الطبيب وضع.

waḍaᶜa aṭ-ṭabīb dhirāᶜī fī jabīra.

The doctor put my arm in a cast.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جبيرة (jabīra) is built on the native Arabic root j-b-r, "to set a broken bone" (Lane). A jabīra holds the set bone in place.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jabīra
- Say it: jabīra, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜa aṭ-ṭabīb dhirāᶜī fī jabīra. — The doctor put my arm in a cast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a capsule, then the Arabic for a droplet, then say jabīra again

Before you move on

What does جبيرة mean? ("A splint, a plaster cast".) Say it once more.

511.5 ضمد (ḍammada) — to bind up (a wound)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a droplet, then the Arabic for a splint.

You'll want to know: ضمد

ضمد — ḍammada — "to bind up (a wound)".

ضمدت الممرضة جرح اللاعب.

ḍammadat al-mumarriḍa jurḥ al-lāᶜib.

The nurse bound up the player's wound.

Present: يضمد, yuḍammid.
The noun ضمادة, a bandage, shares the root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضمد (ḍammada) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-m-d, "to bind, to bandage" (Lane). Form II ḍammada is to bandage.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍammada
- Say it: ḍammada, once more
- Say it: ḍammadat al-mumarriḍa jurḥ al-lāᶜib. — The nurse bound up the player's wound.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a droplet, then the Arabic for a splint, then say ḍammada again

Before you move on

What does ضمد mean? ("To bind up (a wound)".) Say it once more.

511.6 Words from chapters 504–511 — a review

Say the Arabic for the liver and the spleen.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- the liver, the spleen, the stomach, the intestines, the pulse
- a skull, a rib, a thigh, a hip, a joint
- an eyelid, an eyelash, the gums, a chin, a nerve
- to fall ill, a chill, nausea, to vomit, diarrhoea
- a rash, an itch, to scratch, an inflammation, to swell

- an infection, a virus, a germ, a vaccination, a swelling
- a diagnosis, a lab test, X-rays, to treat, to cure
- a dose, a capsule, a droplet, a splint, to bind up

Before you move on

The liver? (كبد, kabid.) The spleen? (طحال, ṭiḥāl.) The stomach? (معدة, miᶜda.) The intestines? (أمعاء, amᶜāʾ.) The pulse? (نبض, nabḍ.) A skull? (جمجمة, jumjuma.) A rib? (ضلع, ḍilᶜ.) A thigh? (فخذ, fakhidh.) A hip? (ورك, wirk.) A joint? (مفصل, mafṣil.) An eyelid? (جفن, jafn.) An eyelash? (رمش, rimsh.) The gums? (لثة, litha.) A chin? (ذقن, dhaqan.) A nerve? (عصب, ᶜaṣab.) To fall ill? (مرض, mariḍa.) A chill? (برد نزلة, nazlat bard.) Nausea? (غثيان, ghathayān.) To vomit? (تقيأ, taqayyaʾa.) Diarrhoea? (إسهال, ishāl.) A rash? (جلدي طفح, ṭafḥ jildī.) An itch? (حكة, ḥikka.) To scratch? (حك, ḥakka.) An inflammation? (التهاب, iltihāb.) To swell? (تورم, tawarrama.) An infection? (عدوى, ᶜadwā.) A virus? (فيروس, fayrūs.) A germ? (جرثومة, jurthūma.) A vaccination? (تطعيم, taṭᶜīm.) A swelling? (ورم, waram.) A diagnosis? (تشخيص, tashkhīṣ.) A lab test? (تحليل, taḥlīl.) X-rays? (أشعة, ashiᶜᶜa.) To treat? (عالج, ᶜālaja.) To cure? (داوى, dāwā.) A dose? (جرعة, jurᶜa.) A capsule? (كبسولة, kabsūla.) A droplet? (قطرة, qaṭra.) A splint? (جبيرة, jabīra.) To bind up? (ضمد, ḍammada.)

Chapter 512

Getting well again

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about recovery, convalescence and good health, and say that someone recovered or was in pain.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 512: I can talk about recovery, convalescence and good health, and say that someone recovered or was in pain.

512.1 شفاء (shifāʾ) — recovery, a cure

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a splint, then the Arabic for to bind up.

You'll want to know: شفاء

شفاء — shifāʾ — "recovery, a cure".

العاجل الشفاء لك نتمنى.

natamannā laka ash-shifāʾ al-ᶜājil.

We wish you a quick recovery.

الشفاء لك نتمنى is what you say to someone who is ill.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شفاء (shifāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-f-y, "to heal, to cure" (Lane). Shifāʾ is the healing itself.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shifāʾ
- Say it: shifāʾ, once more
- Say it: natamannā laka ash-shifāʾ al-ᶜājil. — We wish you a quick recovery.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a splint, then the Arabic for to bind up, then say shifāʾ again

Before you move on

What does شفاء mean? ("Recovery, a cure".) Say it once more.

512.2 نقاهة (naqāha) — convalescence

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bind up, then the Arabic for recovery.

You'll want to know: نقاهة

نقاهة — naqāha — "convalescence".

النقاهة فترة البيت في أبي بقي.

baqiya abī fī al-bayt fatrat an-naqāha.

My father stayed at home during his convalescence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نقاهة (naqāha) is usually traced to the native Arabic root n-q-h, "to recover from an illness": the weak days between sickness and full health.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: naqāha
- Say it: naqāha, once more
- Say it: baqiya abī fī al-bayt fatrat an-naqāha. — My father stayed at home during his convalescence.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bind up, then the Arabic for recovery, then say naqāha again

Before you move on

What does نقاهة mean? ("Convalescence".) Say it once more.

512.3 تعافى (ta^{c}āfā) — to recover

Before the new one: say the Arabic for recovery, then the Arabic for convalescence.

You'll want to know: تعافى

تعافى — ta^{c}āfā — "to recover".

الفريق إلى وعاد اللاعب تعافى.

ta^{c}āfā al-lā^{c}ib wa-^{c}āda ilā al-farīq.

The player recovered and went back to the team.

Present: يتعافى, yata^{c}āfā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعافى (taᶜāfā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-f-w, "to efface; to pardon; to give health" (Lane). ᶜAfwan, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taᶜāfā
- Say it: taᶜāfā, once more
- Say it: taᶜāfā al-lāᶜib wa-ᶜāda ilā al-farīq. — The player recovered and went back to the team.
- Recall: say the Arabic for recovery, then the Arabic for convalescence, then say taᶜāfā again

Before you move on

What does تعافى mean? ("To recover".) Say it once more.

512.4 عافية (ᶜāfiya) — good health, wellbeing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for convalescence, then the Arabic for to recover.

You'll want to know: عافية

عافية — ᶜāfiya — "good health, wellbeing".

عافية في جدي لله، الحمد.

al-ḥamdu lillāh, jaddī fī ᶜāfiya.

Thank God, my grandfather is in good health.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عافية (ᶜāfiya) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-f-w, "to efface; to pardon; to give health" (Lane). ᶜĀfiya is health given back, freedom from illness.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāfiya
- Say it: ᶜāfiya, once more
- Say it: al-ḥamdu lillāh, jaddī fī ᶜāfiya. — Thank God, my grandfather is in good health.
- Recall: say the Arabic for convalescence, then the Arabic for to recover, then say ᶜāfiya again

Before you move on

What does عافية mean? ("Good health, wellbeing".) Say it once more.

512.5 تألم (taʾallama) — to be in pain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to recover, then the Arabic for good health.

You'll want to know: تألم

تألم — taʾallama — "to be in pain".

ظهره من كثيرا الرجل تألم.

taʾallama ar-rajul kathīran min ẓahrihi.

The man suffered a lot from his back.

Present: يتألم, yataʾallam.
It takes من for the place: ظهره من تألم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تألم (taʾallama) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-l-m, "pain" (Lane). Alam, pain, which you know, is from the same root; Form V is to feel it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾallama
- Say it: taʾallama, once more
- Say it: taʾallama ar-rajul kathīran min ẓahrihi. — The man suffered a lot from his back.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to recover, then the Arabic for good health, then say taʾallama again

Before you move on

What does تألم mean? ("To be in pain".) Say it once more.

Chapter 513

Long illnesses

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about diabetes, asthma and a disability, and say that someone grew weak or bled.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 513: I can talk about diabetes, asthma and a disability, and say that someone grew weak or bled.

513.1 سكري (sukkarī) — diabetes

Before the new one: say the Arabic for good health, then the Arabic for to be in pain.

You'll want to know: سكري

سكري — sukkarī — "diabetes".

> السكري مرض جدي عند.
>
> ᶜinda jaddī maraḍ as-sukkarī.
>
> My grandfather has diabetes.

The full name is السكري مرض, the sugar illness.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سكري (sukkarī) is built on sukkar, "sugar", with the ending -ī, "of": the sugar illness. Sukkar itself is usually traced through Persian to Sanskrit śarkarā.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sukkarī
- Say it: sukkarī, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda jaddī maraḍ as-sukkarī. — My grandfather has diabetes.
- Recall: say the Arabic for good health, then the Arabic for to be in pain, then say sukkarī again

Before you move on

What does سكري mean? ("Diabetes".) Say it once more.

513.2 ربو (rabw) — asthma

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be in pain, then the Arabic for diabetes.

You'll want to know: ربو

ربو — rabw — "asthma".

حقيبته في الربو دواء أخي يحمل.

yaḥmilu akhī dawāʾ ar-rabw fī ḥaqībatihi.

My brother carries his asthma medicine in his bag.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ربو (rabw) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-w, "to grow; to be out of breath" (Lane). Lane gives rabw as being out of breath, panting after running.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rabw
- Say it: rabw, once more
- Say it: yaḥmilu akhī dawāʾ ar-rabw fī ḥaqībatihi. — My brother carries his asthma medicine in his bag.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be in pain, then the Arabic for diabetes, then say rabw again

Before you move on

What does ربو mean? ("Asthma".) Say it once more.

513.3 إعاقة (iᶜāqa) — a disability

Before the new one: say the Arabic for diabetes, then the Arabic for asthma.

You'll want to know: إعاقة

إعاقة — iᶜāqa — "a disability".

إعاقة عنده موظف الشركة في يعمل.

yaᶜmalu fī ash-sharika muwaẓẓaf ᶜindahu iᶜāqa.

An employee with a disability works at the company.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إعاقة (iᶜāqa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-q, "to hinder, to hold back" (Lane). Iᶜāqa is the verbal noun of Form IV: a hindrance.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜāqa
- Say it: iᶜāqa, once more
- Say it: yaᶜmalu fī ash-sharika muwaẓẓaf ᶜindahu iᶜāqa. — An employee with a disability works at the company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for diabetes, then the Arabic for asthma, then say iᶜāqa again

Before you move on

What does إعاقة mean? ("A disability".) Say it once more.

513.4 ضعف (ḍaᶜufa) — to grow weak

Before the new one: say the Arabic for asthma, then the Arabic for a disability.

You'll want to know: ضعف

ضعف — ḍaᶜufa — "to grow weak".

المرض بعد جدي ضعف.

ḍaᶜufa jaddī baᶜda al-maraḍ.

My grandfather grew weak after his illness.

Present: يضعف, yaḍᶜuf.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ضعف (ḍaᶜufa) is built on the native Arabic root ḍ-ᶜ-f, "to be weak" (Lane). Ḍaᶜīf, weak, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḍaᶜufa
- Say it: ḍaᶜufa, once more
- Say it: ḍaᶜufa jaddī baᶜda al-maraḍ. — My grandfather grew weak after his illness.
- Recall: say the Arabic for asthma, then the Arabic for a disability, then say ḍaᶜufa again

Before you move on

What does ضعف mean? ("To grow weak".) Say it once more.

513.5 نزف (nazafa) — to bleed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a disability, then the Arabic for to grow weak.

You'll want to know: نزف

نزف — nazafa — "to bleed".

الضربة بعد اللاعب أنف نزف.

nazafa anf al-lāᶜib baᶜda aḍ-ḍarba.

The player's nose bled after the blow.

Present: ينزف, yanzif.
The noun نزيف, bleeding, shares the root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نزف (nazafa) is built on the native Arabic root n-z-f, "to drain, to exhaust" (Lane). Lane gives nazafa as to drain a well dry; bleeding drains the blood.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nazafa
- Say it: nazafa, once more
- Say it: nazafa anf al-lāᶜib baᶜda aḍ-ḍarba. — The player's nose bled after the blow.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a disability, then the Arabic for to grow weak, then say nazafa again

Before you move on

What does نزف mean? ("To bleed".) Say it once more.

Chapter 514

Worn out

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about insomnia and exhaustion, and say that work wore me out, that someone yawned or dozed off.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 514: I can talk about insomnia and exhaustion, and say that work wore me out, that someone yawned or dozed off.

514.1 أرق (araq) — insomnia

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to grow weak, then the Arabic for to bleed.

You'll want to know: أرق

أرق — araq — "insomnia".

السفر قبل الأرق من أبي عانى.

ᶜānā abī min al-araq qabla as-safar.

My father suffered from insomnia before the trip.

Do not mix it up with عرق, ᶜaraq, sweat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرق (araq) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-r-q, "to be sleepless" (Lane). Araq is sleeplessness at night.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: araq
- Say it: araq, once more
- Say it: ᶜānā abī min al-araq qabla as-safar. — My father suffered from insomnia before the trip.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to grow weak, then the Arabic for to bleed, then say araq again

Before you move on

What does أرق mean? ("Insomnia".) Say it once more.

514.2 إرهاق (irhāq) — exhaustion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bleed, then the Arabic for insomnia.

You'll want to know: إرهاق

إرهاق — irhāq — "exhaustion".

الإرهاق من العامل نام.

nāma al-ᶜāmil min al-irhāq.

The worker fell asleep from exhaustion.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إرهاق (irhāq) is built on the native Arabic root r-h-q, "to come upon, to overburden" (Lane). Irhāq is the verbal noun of Form IV, to overburden.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: irhāq
- Say it: irhāq, once more
- Say it: nāma al-ᶜāmil min al-irhāq. — The worker fell asleep from exhaustion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bleed, then the Arabic for insomnia, then say irhāq again

Before you move on

What does إرهاق mean? ("Exhaustion".) Say it once more.

514.3 أرهق (arhaqa) — to wear out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for insomnia, then the Arabic for exhaustion.

You'll want to know: أرهق

أرهق — arhaqa — "to wear out".

أرهقني العمل الطويل.

arhaqanī al-ᶜamal aṭ-ṭawīl.

The long work wore me out.

Present: يرهق, yurhiq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرهق (arhaqa) is built on the native Arabic root r-h-q, "to come upon, to overburden" (Lane). It is Form IV: to put too heavy a load on someone.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: arhaqa
- Say it: arhaqa, once more
- Say it: arhaqanī al-ᶜamal aṭ-ṭawīl. — The long work wore me out.
- Recall: say the Arabic for insomnia, then the Arabic for exhaustion, then say arhaqa again

Before you move on

What does أرهق mean? ("To wear out".) Say it once more.

514.4 تثاءب (tathāʾaba) — to yawn

Before the new one: say the Arabic for exhaustion, then the Arabic for to wear out.

You'll want to know: تثاءب

تثاءب — tathāʾaba — "to yawn".

المحاضرة في الطالب تثاءب.

tathāʾaba aṭ-ṭālib fī al-muḥāḍara.

The student yawned in the lecture.

Present: يتثاءب, yatathāʾab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تثاءب (tathāʾaba) is built on the native Arabic root th-ʾ-b, "to yawn" (Lane). Form VI tathāʾaba is the usual verb.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tathāʾaba
- Say it: tathāʾaba, once more
- Say it: tathāʾaba aṭ-ṭālib fī al-muḥāḍara. — The student yawned in the lecture.
- Recall: say the Arabic for exhaustion, then the Arabic for to wear out, then say tathāʾaba again

Before you move on

What does تثاءب mean? ("To yawn".) Say it once more.

514.5 غفا (ghafā) — to doze off

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wear out, then the Arabic for to yawn.

You'll want to know: غفا

غفا — ghafā — "to doze off".

التلفاز أمام جدي غفا.

ghafā jaddī amāma at-tilfāz.

My grandfather dozed off in front of the television.

Present: يغفو, yaghfū.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غفا (ghafā) is built on the native Arabic root gh-f-w, "to doze, to sleep lightly" (Lane). Its last root letter w shows as alif in the past and as ū in the present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghafā
- Say it: ghafā, once more
- Say it: ghafā jaddī amāma at-tilfāz. — My grandfather dozed off in front of the television.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wear out, then the Arabic for to yawn, then say ghafā again

Before you move on

What does غفا mean? ("To doze off".) Say it once more.

Chapter 515

Lying down and getting up

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone snored, relaxed, lay down or got up, and talk about fainting.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 515: I can say that someone snored, relaxed, lay down or got up, and talk about fainting.

515.1 شخر (shakhara) — to snore

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to yawn, then the Arabic for to doze off.

You'll want to know: شخر

شخر — shakhara — "to snore".

الليل في أخي يشخر.

yashkhiru akhī fī al-layl.

My brother snores at night.

Present: يشخر, yashkhir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شخر (shakhara) is built on the native Arabic root sh-kh-r, "to snort" (Lane). Lane gives shakhara, aor. yashkhiru, as a snorting sound from the nose or throat.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shakhara
- Say it: shakhara, once more
- Say it: yashkhiru akhī fī al-layl. — My brother snores at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to yawn, then the Arabic for to doze off, then say shakhara again

Before you move on

What does شخر mean? ("To snore".) Say it once more.

515.2 استرخى (istarkhā) — to relax

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to doze off, then the Arabic for to snore.

You'll want to know: استرخى

استرخى — istarkhā — "to relax".

الأريكة على أمي استرخت.

istarkhat ummī ᶜalā al-arīka.

My mother relaxed on the sofa.

Present: يسترخي, yastarkhī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استرخى (istarkhā) is built on the native Arabic root r-kh-w, "to be slack, loose" (Lane). Form X istarkhā is to let the body go loose.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: istarkhā
- Say it: istarkhā, once more
- Say it: istarkhat ummī ᶜalā al-arīka. — My mother relaxed on the sofa.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to doze off, then the Arabic for to snore, then say istarkhā again

Before you move on

What does استرخى mean? ("To relax".) Say it once more.

515.3 استلقى (istalqā) — to lie down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to snore, then the Arabic for to relax.

You'll want to know: استلقى

استلقى — istalqā — "to lie down".

العشب على الولد استلقى.

istalqā al-walad ᶜalā al-ᶜushb.

The boy lay down on the grass.

Present: يستلقي, yastalqī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استلقى (istalqā) is built on the native Arabic root l-q-y, "to meet; to throw" (Lane). Form X istalqā is to throw oneself down on one's back.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: istalqā
- Say it: istalqā, once more
- Say it: istalqā al-walad ᶜalā al-ᶜushb. — The boy lay down on the grass.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to snore, then the Arabic for to relax, then say istalqā again

Before you move on

What does استلقى mean? ("To lie down".) Say it once more.

515.4 نهض (nahaḍa) — to get up, to rise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to relax, then the Arabic for to lie down.

You'll want to know: نهض

نهض — nahaḍa — "to get up, to rise".

نهض جدي من الكرسي ببطء.

nahaḍa jaddī min al-kursī bi-buṭʾ.

My grandfather got up slowly from the chair.

Present: ينهض, yanhaḍ.
The noun نهضة is a rising, a revival.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نهض (nahaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root n-h-ḍ, "to rise, to stand up" (Lane). Nahaḍa is to rise up from sitting.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nahaḍa
- Say it: nahaḍa, once more
- Say it: nahaḍa jaddī min al-kursī bi-buṭˀ. — My grandfather got up slowly from the chair.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to relax, then the Arabic for to lie down, then say nahaḍa again

Before you move on

What does نهض mean? ("To get up, to rise".) Say it once more.

515.5 إغماء (ighmāˀ) — fainting, a faint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lie down, then the Arabic for to get up.

You'll want to know: إغماء

إغماء — ighmāˀ — "fainting, a faint".

الإغماء بعد المستشفى إلى اللاعب نقلوا.

naqalū al-lāᶜib ilā al-mustashfā baᶜda al-ighmāˀ.

They took the player to hospital after he fainted.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إغماء (ighmāˀ) is built on the native Arabic root gh-m-y, "to cover, to veil" (Lane). Ighmāˀ is the verbal noun of Form IV: being covered over, losing one's senses.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ighmāʾ
- Say it: ighmāʾ, once more
- Say it: naqalū al-lāᶜib ilā al-mustashfā baᶜda al-ighmāʾ. — They took the player to hospital after he fainted.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lie down, then the Arabic for to get up, then say ighmāʾ again

Before you move on

What does إغماء mean? ("Fainting, a faint".) Say it once more.

Chapter 516

Stretching and shaking

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone stretched out, bent down, trembled or had a cough, and talk about a sprain.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 516: I can say that someone stretched out, bent down, trembled or had a cough, and talk about a sprain.

516.1 تمدد (tamaddada) — to stretch out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get up, then the Arabic for fainting.

You'll want to know: تمدد

تمدد — tamaddada — "to stretch out".

> الشمس في القط تمدد.
>
> tamaddada al-qiṭṭ fī ash-shams.
>
> The cat stretched out in the sun.

Present: يتمدد, yatamaddad.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمدد (tamaddada) is built on the native Arabic root m-d-d, "to stretch, to extend" (Lane). Mudda, a period, which you know, is from the same root: a stretch of time.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tamaddada
- Say it: tamaddada, once more
- Say it: tamaddada al-qiṭṭ fī ash-shams. — The cat stretched out in the sun.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get up, then the Arabic for fainting, then say tamaddada again

Before you move on

What does تمدد mean? ("To stretch out".) Say it once more.

516.2 انحنى (inḥanā) — to bend down

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fainting, then the Arabic for to stretch out.

You'll want to know: انحنى

انحنى — inḥanā — "to bend down".

الأرض من المفتاح وأخذ الرجل انحنى.

inḥanā ar-rajul wa-akhadha al-miftāḥ min al-arḍ.

The man bent down and took the key from the floor.

Present: ينحني, yanḥanī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

انحنى (inḥanā) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-n-w, "to bend, to curve" (Lane). Form VII inḥanā is to bend oneself.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: inḥanā
- Say it: inḥanā, once more
- Say it: inḥanā ar-rajul wa-akhadha al-miftāḥ min al-arḍ. — The man bent down and took the key from the floor.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fainting, then the Arabic for to stretch out, then say inḥanā again

Before you move on

What does انحنى mean? ("To bend down".) Say it once more.

516.3 ارتجف (irtajafa) — to tremble

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stretch out, then the Arabic for to bend down.

You'll want to know: ارتجف

ارتجف — irtajafa — "to tremble".

التوتر من الطالب يد ارتجفت.

irtajafat yad aṭ-ṭālib min at-tawattur.

The student's hand trembled from nerves.

Present: يرتجف, yartajif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ارتجف (irtajafa) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-f, "to quake, to shake" (Lane). Form VIII irtajafa is to shake all over.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: irtajafa
- Say it: irtajafa, once more
- Say it: irtajafat yad aṭ-ṭālib min at-tawattur. — The student's hand trembled from nerves.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stretch out, then the Arabic for to bend down, then say irtajafa again

Before you move on

What does ارتجف mean? ("To tremble".) Say it once more.

516.4 سعل (sa^{c}ala) — to have a cough

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bend down, then the Arabic for to tremble.

You'll want to know: سعل

سعل — sa^{c}ala — "to have a cough".

الليل في كثيرا المريض سعل.

sa^{c}ala al-marīḍ kathīran fī al-layl.

The patient coughed a lot in the night.

Present: يسعل, yas^{c}ul.
The noun سعال, a cough, shares the root.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سعل (sa^{c}ala) is built on the native Arabic root s-^{c}-l, "to cough" (Lane). Su^{c}āl, a cough, which you know, is its noun.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sa^{c}ala
- Say it: sa^{c}ala, once more
- Say it: sa^{c}ala al-marīḍ kathīran fī al-layl. — The patient coughed a lot in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bend down, then the Arabic for to tremble, then say sa^{c}ala again

Before you move on

What does سعل mean? ("To have a cough".) Say it once more.

516.5 التواء (iltiwāʾ) — a sprain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to tremble, then the Arabic for to have a cough.

You'll want to know: التواء

التواء — iltiwāʾ — "a sprain".

الكاحل في التواء عنده.

^{c}indahu iltiwāʾ fī al-kāḥil.

He has a sprained ankle.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

التواء (iltiwāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root l-w-y, "to twist, to bend" (Lane). Iltiwāʾ is the verbal noun of Form VIII: a twisting.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iltiwāʾ
- Say it: iltiwāʾ, once more
- Say it: ᶜindahu iltiwāʾ fī al-kāḥil. — He has a sprained ankle.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to tremble, then the Arabic for to have a cough, then say iltiwāʾ again

Before you move on

What does التواء mean? ("A sprain".) Say it once more.

Chapter 517

Habits good and bad

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone smokes, became addicted, got hungry, was full or craved something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 517: I can say that someone smokes, became addicted, got hungry, was full or craved something.

517.1 دخن (dakhkhana) — to smoke tobacco

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to have a cough, then the Arabic for a sprain.

You'll want to know: دخن

دخن — dakhkhana — "to smoke tobacco".

البيت في أبي يدخن لا.

lā yudakhkhinu abī fī al-bayt.

My father does not smoke at home.

Present: يدخن, yudakhkhin.
The noun تدخين is smoking.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دخن (dakhkhana) is built on the native Arabic root d-kh-n, "smoke" (Lane). Midkhana, a chimney, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dakhkhana
- Say it: dakhkhana, once more
- Say it: lā yudakhkhinu abī fī al-bayt. — My father does not smoke at home.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to have a cough, then the Arabic for a sprain, then say dakhkhana again

Before you move on

What does دخن mean? ("To smoke tobacco".) Say it once more.

517.2 اشتهى (ishtahā) — to crave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sprain, then the Arabic for to smoke tobacco.

You'll want to know: اشتهى

اشتهى — ishtahā — "to crave".

الليل في الشوكولاتة أختي اشتهت.

ishtahat ukhtī ash-shūkūlāta fī al-layl.

My sister craved chocolate in the night.

Present: يشتهي, yashtahī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشتهى (ishtahā) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-w, "to desire, to long for" (Lane). Form VIII ishtahā is to long for a thing, often food.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtahā
- Say it: ishtahā, once more
- Say it: ishtahat ukhtī ash-shūkūlāta fī al-layl. — My sister craved chocolate in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sprain, then the Arabic for to smoke tobacco, then say ishtahā again

Before you move on

What does اشتهى mean? ("To crave".) Say it once more.

517.3 أدمن (admana) — to become addicted

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to smoke tobacco, then the Arabic for to crave.

You'll want to know: أدمن

أدمن — admana — "to become addicted".

الفيديو ألعاب الشاب أدمن.

admana ash-shābb al^{c}āb al-fīdiyū.

The young man became addicted to video games.

Present: يدمن, yudmin.
It takes a direct object, or على.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أدمن (admana) is built on the native Arabic root d-m-n, "to keep to a thing" (Lane). Form IV admana is to keep at a thing without stopping.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: admana
- Say it: admana, once more
- Say it: admana ash-shābb al^{c}āb al-fīdiyū. — The young man became addicted to video games.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to smoke tobacco, then the Arabic for to crave, then say admana again

Before you move on

What does أدمن mean? ("To become addicted".) Say it once more.

517.4 جاع (jā^{c}a) — to get hungry

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to crave, then the Arabic for to become addicted.

You'll want to know: جاع

جاع — jā^{c}a — "to get hungry".

الطريق في الأطفال جاع.

jā^{c}a al-aṭfāl fī aṭ-ṭarīq.

The children got hungry on the way.

Present: يجوع, yajū^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جاع (jāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-ᶜ, "hunger" (Lane). Jūᶜ, hunger, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jāᶜa
- Say it: jāᶜa, once more
- Say it: jāᶜa al-aṭfāl fī aṭ-ṭarīq. — The children got hungry on the way.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to crave, then the Arabic for to become addicted, then say jāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does جاع mean? ("To get hungry".) Say it once more.

517.5 شبع (shabiᶜa) — to be full (from eating)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to become addicted, then the Arabic for to get hungry.

You'll want to know: شبع

شبع — shabiᶜa — "to be full (from eating)".

وشبعت كثيرا أكلت.

akaltu kathīran wa-shabiᶜtu.

I ate a lot and was full.

Present: يشبع, yashbaᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شبع (shabi^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root sh-b-^{c}, "to be satisfied with food" (Lane). Shabi^{c}a is the opposite of jā^{c}a, to get hungry.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shabi^{c}a
- Say it: shabi^{c}a, once more
- Say it: akaltu kathīran wa-shabi^{c}tu. — I ate a lot and was full.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to become addicted, then the Arabic for to get hungry, then say shabi^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does شبع mean? ("To be full (from eating)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 518

Careers and ambitions

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a profession, a secretary, a vet and an adviser, and say that someone aspires to a career.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 518: I can talk about a profession, a secretary, a vet and an adviser, and say that someone aspires to a career.

518.1 مهنة (mihna) — a profession, a trade

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get hungry, then the Arabic for to be full.

You'll want to know: مهنة

مهنة — mihna — "a profession, a trade".

> التدريس أبي مهنة.
>
> mihnat abī at-tadrīs.
>
> My father's profession is teaching.

Plural: مهن, mihan.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهنة (mihna) is built on the native Arabic root m-h-n, "to serve, to work" (Lane). Mihna is the work one serves at.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mihna
- Say it: mihna, once more
- Say it: mihnat abī at-tadrīs. — My father's profession is teaching.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get hungry, then the Arabic for to be full, then say mihna again

Before you move on

What does مهنة mean? ("A profession, a trade".) Say it once more.

518.2 سكرتير (sikritīr) — a secretary

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be full, then the Arabic for a profession.

You'll want to know: سكرتير

سكرتير — sikritīr — "a secretary".

كبيرة شركة في سكرتيرة أختي تعمل.

ta^{c}malu ukhtī sikritīra fī sharika kabīra.

My sister works as a secretary in a big company.

The feminine is سكرتيرة.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سكرتير (sikritīr) is a modern loan, usually traced to Italian segretario or French secrétaire, words that go back to Latin secretum, "a secret".

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sikritīr
- Say it: sikritīr, once more
- Say it: taᶜmalu ukhtī sikritīra fī sharika kabīra. — My sister works as a secretary in a big company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be full, then the Arabic for a profession, then say sikritīr again

Before you move on

What does سكرتير mean? ("A secretary".) Say it once more.

518.3 بيطري (bayṭarī) — a vet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a profession, then the Arabic for a secretary.

You'll want to know: بيطري

بيطري — bayṭarī — "a vet".

المريض الحصان البيطري عالج.

ᶜālaja al-bayṭarī al-ḥiṣān al-marīḍ.

The vet treated the sick horse.

The full phrase is بيطري طبيب.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بيطري (bayṭarī) is built on bayṭār, an old word for a horse doctor, which was borrowed from Greek hippiatros, "horse doctor" (EtymDB). The ending -ī makes it "of the bayṭār".

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: bayṭarī
- Say it: bayṭarī, once more
- Say it: ᶜālaja al-bayṭarī al-ḥiṣān al-marīḍ. — The vet treated the sick horse.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a profession, then the Arabic for a secretary, then say bayṭarī again

Before you move on

What does بيطري mean? ("A vet".) Say it once more.

518.4 مستشار (mustashār) — an adviser, a consultant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a secretary, then the Arabic for a vet.

You'll want to know: مستشار

مستشار — mustashār — "an adviser, a consultant".

كبيرة شركة في مستشارا خالي يعمل.

yaᶜmalu khālī mustashāran fī sharika kabīra.

My uncle works as an adviser in a big company.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مستشار (mustashār) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-r, "to point out; to take counsel" (Lane). Mustashār is the one whose counsel is sought (Form X).

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mustashār
- Say it: mustashār, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}malu khālī mustashāran fī sharika kabīra. — My uncle works as an adviser in a big company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a secretary, then the Arabic for a vet, then say mustashār again

Before you move on

What does مستشار mean? ("An adviser, a consultant".) Say it once more.

518.5 طمح (ṭamaḥa) — to aspire

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a vet, then the Arabic for an adviser.

You'll want to know: طمح

طمح — ṭamaḥa — "to aspire".

طيارا يصبح أن إلى ابني يطمح.

yaṭmaḥu ibnī ilā an yuṣbiḥa ṭayyāran.

My son aspires to become a pilot.

Present: يطمح, yaṭmaḥ.
It takes إلى. Ṭumūḥ, ambition, which you know, is its noun.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طمح (ṭamaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-m-ḥ, "to raise the eyes towards" (Lane). Lane gives ṭamaḥa of the sight, raised towards a thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭamaḥa
- Say it: ṭamaḥa, once more
- Say it: yaṭmaḥu ibnī ilā an yuṣbiḥa ṭayyāran. — My son aspires to become a pilot.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a vet, then the Arabic for an adviser, then say ṭamaḥa again

Before you move on

What does طمح mean? ("To aspire".) Say it once more.

Chapter 519

Trainees and volunteers

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a CV, a trainee and practice, and say that someone volunteered or donated.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 519: I can talk about a CV, a trainee and practice, and say that someone volunteered or donated.

519.1 ذاتية سيرة (sīra dhātiyya) — a CV; a life story

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an adviser, then the Arabic for to aspire.

You'll want to know: ذاتية سيرة

ذاتية سيرة — sīra dhātiyya — "a CV; a life story".

> الشركة إلى الذاتية سيرتي أرسلت.
>
> arsaltu sīratī adh-dhātiyya ilā ash-sharika.
>
> I sent my CV to the company.

سيرة alone is a life story, a biography.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ذاتية سيرة (sīra dhātiyya) is built on the native Arabic root s-y-r, "to go, to travel" (Lane): a sīra is a way of going, the path of a life. Dhātiyya is "of the self", from dhāt, self.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sīra dhātiyya
- Say it: sīra dhātiyya, once more
- Say it: arsaltu sīratī adh-dhātiyya ilā ash-sharika. — I sent my CV to the company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an adviser, then the Arabic for to aspire, then say sīra dhātiyya again

Before you move on

What does ذاتية سيرة mean? ("A CV; a life story".) Say it once more.

519.2 تطوع (taṭawwa^{c}a) — to volunteer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to aspire, then the Arabic for a CV.

You'll want to know: تطوع

تطوع — taṭawwa^{c}a — "to volunteer".

الصيف في المستشفى في أختي تطوعت.

taṭawwa^{c}at ukhtī fī al-mustashfā fī aṣ-ṣayf.

My sister volunteered at the hospital in the summer.

Present: يتطوع, yataṭawwa^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تطوع (taṭawwa^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-^{c}, "to comply, to be willing" (Lane). Lane gives Form V taṭawwa^{c}a as to do a good thing that is not required.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taṭawwa^{c}a
- Say it: taṭawwa^{c}a, once more
- Say it: taṭawwa^{c}at ukhtī fī al-mustashfā fī aṣ-ṣayf. — My sister volunteered at the hospital in the summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to aspire, then the Arabic for a CV, then say taṭawwa^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does تطوع mean? ("To volunteer".) Say it once more.

519.3 تبرع (tabarra^{c}a) — to donate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a CV, then the Arabic for to volunteer.

You'll want to know: تبرع

تبرع — tabarra^{c}a — "to donate".

للمدرسة بالمال أبي تبرع.

tabarra^{c}a abī bi-l-māl li-l-madrasa.

My father donated money to the school.

Present: يتبرع, yatabarra^c.
It takes بـ for the gift: بالدم تبرع, to give blood.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تبرع (tabarra^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root b-r-^{c}, "to excel, to surpass" (Lane). Form V tabarra^{c}a is to give more than is asked: to give freely.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tabarra^{c}a
- Say it: tabarra^{c}a, once more
- Say it: tabarra^{c}a abī bi-l-māl li-l-madrasa. — My father donated money to the school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a CV, then the Arabic for to volunteer, then say tabarra^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does تبرع mean? ("To donate".) Say it once more.

519.4 متدرب (mutadarrib) — a trainee, an intern

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to volunteer, then the Arabic for to donate.

You'll want to know: متدرب

متدرب — mutadarrib — "a trainee, an intern".

متدربين ثلاثة المكتب في يعمل.

ya^{c}malu fī al-maktab thalāthat mutadarribīn.

Three trainees work in the office.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متدرب (mutadarrib) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-b, "to be used to, to be practised in" (Lane). Mutadarrib is the participle of Form V: one being trained.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutadarrib
- Say it: mutadarrib, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}malu fī al-maktab thalāthat mutadarribīn. — Three trainees work in the office.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to volunteer, then the Arabic for to donate, then say mutadarrib again

Before you move on

What does متدرب mean? ("A trainee, an intern".) Say it once more.

519.5 تدرب (tadarraba) — to practise

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to donate, then the Arabic for a trainee.

You'll want to know: تدرب

تدرب — tadarraba — "to practise".

مساء كل الملعب في الفريق تدرب.

tadarraba al-farīq fī al-mal^{c}ab kull masāʾ.

The team practised at the stadium every evening.

Present: يتدرب, yatadarrab.
It takes على for the skill: السباحة على تدرب.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تدرب (tadarraba) is built on the native Arabic root d-r-b, "to be used to, to be practised in" (Lane). Form V tadarraba is to get oneself trained.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tadarraba
- Say it: tadarraba, once more
- Say it: tadarraba al-farīq fī al-malᶜab kull masāʾ. — The team practised at the stadium every evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to donate, then the Arabic for a trainee, then say tadarraba again

Before you move on

What does تدرب mean? ("To practise".) Say it once more.

519.6 Words from chapters 512–519 — a review

Say the Arabic for recovery and convalescence.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- recovery, convalescence, to recover, good health, to be in pain
- diabetes, asthma, a disability, to grow weak, to bleed
- insomnia, exhaustion, to wear out, to yawn, to doze off
- to snore, to relax, to lie down, to get up, fainting
- to stretch out, to bend down, to tremble, to have a cough, a sprain

- to smoke tobacco, to crave, to become addicted, to get hungry, to be full
- a profession, a secretary, a vet, an adviser, to aspire
- a CV, to volunteer, to donate, a trainee, to practise

Before you move on

Recovery? (شفاء, shifāʾ.) Convalescence? (نقاهة, naqāha.) To recover? (تعافى, taᶜāfā.) Good health? (عافية, ᶜāfiya.) To be in pain? (تألم, taʾallama.) Diabetes? (سكري, sukkarī.) Asthma? (ربو, rabw.) A disability? (إعاقة, iᶜāqa.) To grow weak? (ضعف, ḍaᶜufa.) To bleed? (نزف, nazafa.) Insomnia? (أرق, araq.) Exhaustion? (إرهاق, irhāq.) To wear out? (أرهق, arhaqa.) To yawn? (تثاءب, tathāʾaba.) To doze off? (غفا, ghafā.) To snore? (شخر, shakhara.) To relax? (استرخى, istarkhā.) To lie down? (استلقى, istalqā.) To get up? (نهض, nahaḍa.) Fainting? (إغماء, ighmāʾ.) To stretch out? (تمدد, tamaddada.) To bend down? (انحنى, inḥanā.) To tremble? (ارتجف, irtajafa.) To have a cough? (سعل, saᶜala.) A sprain? (التواء, iltiwāʾ.) To smoke tobacco? (دخن, dakhkhana.) To crave? (اشتهى, ishtahā.) To become addicted? (أدمن, admana.) To get hungry? (جاع, jāᶜa.) To be full? (شبع, shabiᶜa.) A profession? (مهنة, mihna.) A secretary? (سكرتير, sikritīr.) A vet? (بيطري, bayṭarī.) An adviser? (مستشار, mustashār.) To aspire? (طمح, ṭamaḥa.) A CV? (سيرة ذاتية, sīra dhātiyya.) To volunteer? (تطوع, taṭawwaᶜa.) To donate? (تبرع, tabarraᶜa.) A trainee? (متدرب, mutadarrib.) To practise? (تدرب, tadarraba.)

Chapter 520

Hours and tasks

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a shift, time off and a task, and say that someone carried out a plan or got used to the work.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 520: I can talk about a shift, time off and a task, and say that someone carried out a plan or got used to the work.

520.1 اعتاد (i^{c}tāda) — to get used to

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a trainee, then the Arabic for to practise.

You'll want to know: اعتاد

اعتاد — i^{c}tāda — "to get used to".

> الليل في العمل على الممرضة اعتادت.
>
> i^{c}tādat al-mumarriḍa ^{c}alā al-^{c}amal fī al-layl.
>
> The nurse got used to working at night.

Present: يعتاد, ya^{c}tād.
It takes على, or a direct object.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتاد (iᶜtāda) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-d, "to return" (Lane). ᶜĀda, a habit, which you know, is from the same root: a thing that keeps coming back.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜtāda
- Say it: iᶜtāda, once more
- Say it: iᶜtādat al-mumarriḍa ᶜalā al-ᶜamal fī al-layl. — The nurse got used to working at night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a trainee, then the Arabic for to practise, then say iᶜtāda again

Before you move on

What does اعتاد mean? ("To get used to".) Say it once more.

520.2 مناوبة (munāwaba) — a shift, a turn on duty

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to practise, then the Arabic for to get used to.

You'll want to know: مناوبة

مناوبة — munāwaba — "a shift, a turn on duty".

الليل في مناوبة الممرضة عند.

ᶜinda al-mumarriḍa munāwaba fī al-layl.

The nurse has a night shift.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مناوبة (munāwaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-b, "to come in turn" (Lane). Munāwaba is the verbal noun of Form III: taking turns.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: munāwaba
- Say it: munāwaba, once more
- Say it: ᶜinda al-mumarriḍa munāwaba fī al-layl. — The nurse has a night shift.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to practise, then the Arabic for to get used to, then say munāwaba again

Before you move on

What does مناوبة mean? ("A shift, a turn on duty".) Say it once more.

520.3 إجازة (ijāza) — time off, leave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get used to, then the Arabic for a shift.

You'll want to know: إجازة

إجازة — ijāza — "time off, leave".

العمل من إجازة أمي أخذت.

akhadhat ummī ijāza min al-ᶜamal.

My mother took time off work.

It also means a permit or a licence.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إجازة (ijāza) is built on the native Arabic root j-w-z, "to pass, to go through" (Lane). Jawāz, a passport, which you know, is from the same root: both let you pass.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ijāza
- Say it: ijāza, once more
- Say it: akhadhat ummī ijāza min al-ᶜamal. — My mother took time off work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get used to, then the Arabic for a shift, then say ijāza again

Before you move on

What does إجازة mean? ("Time off, leave".) Say it once more.

520.4 مهمة (mahamma) — a task, a mission

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a shift, then the Arabic for time off.

You'll want to know: مهمة

مهمة — mahamma — "a task, a mission".

اليوم صعبة مهمة عندي.

ᶜindī mahamma ṣaᶜba al-yawm.

I have a difficult task today.

Plural: مهام, mahāmm.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهمة (mahamma) is built on the native Arabic root h-m-m, "to care about, to be concerned" (Lane). Muhimm, important, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mahamma
- Say it: mahamma, once more
- Say it: ᶜindī mahamma ṣaᶜba al-yawm. — I have a difficult task today.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a shift, then the Arabic for time off, then say mahamma again

Before you move on

What does مهمة mean? ("A task, a mission".) Say it once more.

520.5 نفذ (naffadha) — to carry out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for time off, then the Arabic for a task.

You'll want to know: نفذ

نفذ — naffadha — "to carry out".

بسرعة الخطة العمال نفذ.

naffadha al-ᶜummāl al-khuṭṭa bi-surᶜa.

The workers carried out the plan quickly.

Present: ينفذ, yunaffidh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفذ (naffadha) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-dh, "to pass through, to go through" (Lane). Form II naffadha is to make a plan go through.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: naffadha
- Say it: naffadha, once more
- Say it: naffadha al-ᶜummāl al-khuṭṭa bi-surᶜa. — The workers carried out the plan quickly.
- Recall: say the Arabic for time off, then the Arabic for a task, then say naffadha again

Before you move on

What does نفذ mean? ("To carry out".) Say it once more.

Chapter 521

Pay and rewards

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a wage, a bonus and a promotion, and say that a manager promoted someone or that workers got tired.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 521: I can talk about a wage, a bonus and a promotion, and say that a manager promoted someone or that workers got tired.

521.1 أجر (ajr) — a wage, pay

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a task, then the Arabic for to carry out.

You'll want to know: أجر

أجر — ajr — "a wage, pay".

أسبوع كل أجره العامل يأخذ.

yaʾkhudhu al-ᶜāmil ajrahu kull usbūᶜ.

The worker takes his pay every week.

Plural: أجور, ujūr.

راتب is a monthly salary; أجر is pay for work done. Read ajara, the same letters are a verb, to reward.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أجر (ajr) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-j-r, "to reward, to hire" (Lane). Ījār, rent, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ajr
- Say it: ajr, once more
- Say it: yaʾkhudhu al-ᶜāmil ajrahu kull usbūᶜ. — The worker takes his pay every week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a task, then the Arabic for to carry out, then say ajr again

Before you move on

What does أجر mean? ("A wage, pay".) Say it once more.

521.2 مكافأة (mukāfaʾa) — a bonus, a reward

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to carry out, then the Arabic for a wage.

You'll want to know: مكافأة

مكافأة — mukāfaʾa — "a bonus, a reward".

مكافأة الموظفين الشركة أعطت.

aᶜṭat ash-sharika al-muwaẓẓafīn mukāfaʾa.

The company gave the staff a bonus.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مكافأة (mukāfaʾa) is built on the native Arabic root k-f-ʾ, "to be equal to, to match" (Lane). Kafāʾa, competence, which you know, is from the same root: a reward matches the work.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mukāfaʾa
- Say it: mukāfaʾa, once more
- Say it: aᶜṭat ash-sharika al-muwaẓẓafīn mukāfaʾa. — The company gave the staff a bonus.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to carry out, then the Arabic for a wage, then say mukāfaʾa again

Before you move on

What does مكافأة mean? ("A bonus, a reward".) Say it once more.

521.3 ترقية (tarqiya) — a promotion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a wage, then the Arabic for a bonus.

You'll want to know: ترقية

ترقية — tarqiya — "a promotion".

حصلت أختي على ترقية في عملها.

ḥaṣalat ukhtī ᶜalā tarqiya fī ᶜamalihā.

My sister got a promotion at work.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترقية (tarqiya) is built on the native Arabic root r-q-y, "to go up, to climb" (Lane). Tarqiya is the verbal noun of Form II: raising someone up.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tarqiya
- Say it: tarqiya, once more
- Say it: ḥaṣalat ukhtī ᶜalā tarqiya fī ᶜamalihā. — My sister got a promotion at work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a wage, then the Arabic for a bonus, then say tarqiya again

Before you move on

What does ترقية mean? ("A promotion".) Say it once more.

521.4 رقى (raqqā) — to promote

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bonus, then the Arabic for a promotion.

You'll want to know: رقى

رقى — raqqā — "to promote".

زميلي المدير رقى.

raqqā al-mudīr zamīlī.

The manager promoted my colleague.

Present: يرقي, yuraqqī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رقى (raqqā) is built on the native Arabic root r-q-y, "to go up, to climb" (Lane). Form II raqqā is to make someone go up.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: raqqā
- Say it: raqqā, once more
- Say it: raqqā al-mudīr zamīlī. — The manager promoted my colleague.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bonus, then the Arabic for a promotion, then say raqqā again

Before you move on

What does رقى mean? ("To promote".) Say it once more.

521.5 تعب (ta^{c}iba) — to get tired

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a promotion, then the Arabic for to promote.

You'll want to know: تعب

تعب — ta^{c}iba — "to get tired".

طويل يوم بعد العمال تعب.

ta^{c}iba al-^{c}ummāl ba^{c}da yawm ṭawīl.

The workers got tired after a long day.

Present: يتعب, yat^{c}ab.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعب (ta^{c}iba) is built on the native Arabic root t-^{c}-b, "to be tired, to toil" (Lane). Mut^{c}ab, tired, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}iba
- Say it: ta^{c}iba, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}iba al-^{c}ummāl ba^{c}da yawm ṭawīl. — The workers got tired after a long day.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a promotion, then the Arabic for to promote, then say ta^{c}iba again

Before you move on

What does تعب mean? ("To get tired".) Say it once more.

Chapter 522

Starting and stopping work

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone set to work or toiled, and talk about a resignation, a retired person and someone out of work.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 522: I can say that someone set to work or toiled, and talk about a resignation, a retired person and someone out of work.

522.1 باشر (bāshara) — to set to work, to start on

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to promote, then the Arabic for to get tired.

You'll want to know: باشر

باشر — bāshara — "to set to work, to start on".

الأحد يوم عمله الجديد الموظف باشر.

bāshara al-muwaẓẓaf al-jadīd ᶜamalahu yawm al-aḥad.

The new employee started work on Sunday.

Present: يباشر, yubāshir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

باشر (bāshara) is built on the native Arabic root b-sh-r, "the skin; to touch directly" (Lane). Form III bāshara is to put one's own hand to a task. Mubāshir, direct, which you know, is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: bāshara
- Say it: bāshara, once more
- Say it: bāshara al-muwaẓẓaf al-jadīd ᶜamalahu yawm al-aḥad. — The new employee started work on Sunday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to promote, then the Arabic for to get tired, then say bāshara again

Before you move on

What does باشر mean? ("To set to work, to start on".) Say it once more.

522.2 كدح (kadaḥa) — to toil

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get tired, then the Arabic for to set to work.

You'll want to know: كدح

كدح — kadaḥa — "to toil".

اليوم طوال الحقل في المزارع كدح.

kadaḥa al-muzāriᶜ fī al-ḥaql ṭūla al-yawm.

The farmer toiled in the field all day.

Present: يكدح, yakdaḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كدح (kadaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root k-d-ḥ, "to labour, to strive" (Lane). Lane gives yakdaḥu as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kadaḥa
- Say it: kadaḥa, once more
- Say it: kadaḥa al-muzāri^{c} fī al-ḥaql ṭūla al-yawm. — The farmer toiled in the field all day.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get tired, then the Arabic for to set to work, then say kadaḥa again

Before you move on

What does كدح mean? ("To toil".) Say it once more.

522.3 استقالة (istiqāla) — a resignation

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to set to work, then the Arabic for to toil.

You'll want to know: استقالة

استقالة — istiqāla — "a resignation".

كتب الموظف استقالته وأعطاها للمدير.

kataba al-muwaẓẓaf istiqālatahu wa-a^{c}ṭāhā li-l-mudīr.

The employee wrote his resignation and gave it to the manager.

The verb استقال, to resign, goes with it.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استقالة (istiqāla) is built on the native Arabic root q-y-l, "to release from a bargain" (Lane). Istiqāla is asking to be released.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: istiqāla
- Say it: istiqāla, once more
- Say it: kataba al-muwaẓẓaf istiqālatahu wa-aᶜṭāhā li-l-mudīr. — The employee wrote his resignation and gave it to the manager.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to set to work, then the Arabic for to toil, then say istiqāla again

Before you move on

What does استقالة mean? ("A resignation".) Say it once more.

522.4 متقاعد (mutaqāᶜid) — retired; a pensioner

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to toil, then the Arabic for a resignation.

You'll want to know: متقاعد

متقاعد — mutaqāᶜid — "retired; a pensioner".

متقاعد معلم جارنا.

jārunā muᶜallim mutaqāᶜid.

Our neighbour is a retired teacher.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متقاعد (mutaqāᶜid) is built on the native Arabic root q-ᶜ-d, "to sit" (Lane). Mutaqāᶜid is the participle of Form VI.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mutaqāᶜid
- Say it: mutaqāᶜid, once more
- Say it: jārunā muᶜallim mutaqāᶜid. — Our neighbour is a retired teacher.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to toil, then the Arabic for a resignation, then say mutaqāᶜid again

Before you move on

What does متقاعد mean? ("Retired; a pensioner".) Say it once more.

522.5 عاطل (ᶜāṭil) — unemployed, out of work

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a resignation, then the Arabic for retired.

You'll want to know: عاطل

عاطل — ᶜāṭil — "unemployed, out of work".

العمل عن عاطل عمي ابن.

ibn ᶜammī ᶜāṭil ᶜan al-ᶜamal.

My cousin is out of work.

The full phrase is العمل عن عاطل.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاطل (ᶜāṭil) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṭ-l, "to be empty, without use" (Lane). Muᶜaṭṭal, out of order, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāṭil
- Say it: ᶜāṭil, once more
- Say it: ibn ᶜammī ᶜāṭil ᶜan al-ᶜamal. — My cousin is out of work.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a resignation, then the Arabic for retired, then say ᶜāṭil again

Before you move on

What does عاطل mean? ("Unemployed, out of work".) Say it once more.

Chapter 523

Getting it done

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about an evaluation and production, and say that someone made plans, completed something or devoted themselves to it.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 523: I can talk about an evaluation and production, and say that someone made plans, completed something or devoted themselves to it.

523.1 خطط (khaṭṭaṭa) — to make plans

Before the new one: say the Arabic for retired, then the Arabic for unemployed.

You'll want to know: خطط

خطط — khaṭṭaṭa — "to make plans".

الصيف في لرحلة أخي يخطط.

yukhaṭṭiṭu akhī li-riḥla fī aṣ-ṣayf.

My brother is planning a trip in the summer.

Present: يخطط, yukhaṭṭiṭ.
It takes لـ for what is planned.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطط (khaṭṭaṭa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-ṭ, "to draw a line" (Lane). Khuṭṭa, a plan, which you know, is from the same root: a plan is lines drawn ahead.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭṭaṭa
- Say it: khaṭṭaṭa, once more
- Say it: yukhaṭṭiṭu akhī li-riḥla fī aṣ-ṣayf. — My brother is planning a trip in the summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for retired, then the Arabic for unemployed, then say khaṭṭaṭa again

Before you move on

What does خطط mean? ("To make plans".) Say it once more.

523.2 أتم (atamma) — to complete

Before the new one: say the Arabic for unemployed, then the Arabic for to make plans.

You'll want to know: أتم

أتم — atamma — "to complete".

الجامعة في دراستها أختي أتمت.

atammat ukhtī dirāsatahā fī al-jāmiᶜa.

My sister completed her studies at the university.

Present: يتم, yutimm.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أتم (atamma) is built on the native Arabic root t-m-m, "to be complete, whole" (Lane). Tamāman, completely, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: atamma
- Say it: atamma, once more
- Say it: atammat ukhtī dirāsatahā fī al-jāmi^{c}a. — My sister completed her studies at the university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for unemployed, then the Arabic for to make plans, then say atamma again

Before you move on

What does أتم mean? ("To complete".) Say it once more.

523.3 تفرغ (tafarragha) — to devote oneself

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make plans, then the Arabic for to complete.

You'll want to know: تفرغ

تفرغ — tafarragha — "to devote oneself".

التقاعد بعد لأسرته أبي تفرغ.

tafarragha abī li-usratihi ba^{c}da at-taqā^{c}ud.

My father devoted himself to his family after he retired.

Present: يتفرغ, yatafarragh.
It takes لـ for what you give your time to.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تفرغ (tafarragha) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-gh, "to be empty, free" (Lane). Fārigh, empty, which you know, is from the same root: Form V is to empty one's time for a thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tafarragha
- Say it: tafarragha, once more
- Say it: tafarragha abī li-usratihi baᶜda at-taqāᶜud. — My father devoted himself to his family after he retired.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make plans, then the Arabic for to complete, then say tafarragha again

Before you move on

What does تفرغ mean? ("To devote oneself".) Say it once more.

523.4 تقييم (taqyīm) — an evaluation, an assessment

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to complete, then the Arabic for to devote oneself.

You'll want to know: تقييم

تقييم — taqyīm — "an evaluation, an assessment".

حصل الموظف على تقييم ممتاز.

ḥaṣala al-muwaẓẓaf ᶜalā taqyīm mumtāz.

The employee got an excellent evaluation.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تقييم (taqyīm) is built on the native Arabic root q-w-m, "to stand, to rise" (Lane). Qīma, value, is from the same root: taqyīm is fixing a thing's value.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taqyīm
- Say it: taqyīm, once more
- Say it: ḥaṣala al-muwaẓẓaf ᶜalā taqyīm mumtāz. — The employee got an excellent evaluation.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to complete, then the Arabic for to devote oneself, then say taqyīm again

Before you move on

What does تقييم mean? ("An evaluation, an assessment".) Say it once more.

523.5 إنتاج (intāj) — production

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to devote oneself, then the Arabic for an evaluation.

You'll want to know: إنتاج

إنتاج — intāj — "production".

السنة هذه المصنع إنتاج زاد.

zāda intāj al-maṣnaᶜ hādhihi as-sana.

The factory's production increased this year.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إنتاج (intāj) is built on the native Arabic root n-t-j, "to bring forth young" (Lane). Intāj is the verbal noun of antaja, to produce.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: intāj
- Say it: intāj, once more
- Say it: zāda intāj al-maṣna^{c} hādhihi as-sana. — The factory's production increased this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to devote oneself, then the Arabic for an evaluation, then say intāj again

Before you move on

What does إنتاج mean? ("Production".) Say it once more.

Chapter 524

Talks, turns and headquarters

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that people held talks, worked hard, took turns on duty or were promoted, and talk about headquarters.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 524: I can say that people held talks, worked hard, took turns on duty or were promoted, and talk about headquarters.

524.1 فاوض (fāwaḍa) — to hold talks (with); to negotiate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an evaluation, then the Arabic for production.

You'll want to know: فاوض

فاوض — fāwaḍa — "to hold talks (with); to negotiate".

> فاوض العمال المدير على الأجر.
>
> fāwaḍa al-ᶜummāl al-mudīr ᶜalā al-ajr.
>
> The workers negotiated their pay with the manager.

Present: يفاوض, yufāwiḍ.
It takes على for the matter.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فاوض (fāwaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-ḍ, "to entrust, to share in" (Lane). Form III fāwaḍa is to talk a matter through with someone.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fāwaḍa
- Say it: fāwaḍa, once more
- Say it: fāwaḍa al-ᶜummāl al-mudīr ᶜalā al-ajr. — The workers negotiated their pay with the manager.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an evaluation, then the Arabic for production, then say fāwaḍa again

Before you move on

What does فاوض mean? ("To hold talks (with); to negotiate".) Say it once more.

524.2 اجتهد (ijtahada) — to work hard, to strive

Before the new one: say the Arabic for production, then the Arabic for to hold talks.

You'll want to know: اجتهد

اجتهد — ijtahada — "to work hard, to strive".

اجتهد الطالب ونجح في الامتحان.

ijtahada aṭ-ṭālib wa-najaḥa fī al-imtiḥān.

The student worked hard and passed the exam.

Present: يجتهد, yajtahid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اجتهد (ijtahada) is built on the native Arabic root j-h-d, "to strive, to exert oneself" (Lane). Mujtahid, hard-working, which you know, is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ijtahada
- Say it: ijtahada, once more
- Say it: ijtahada aṭ-ṭālib wa-najaḥa fī al-imtiḥān. — The student worked hard and passed the exam.
- Recall: say the Arabic for production, then the Arabic for to hold talks, then say ijtahada again

Before you move on

What does اجتهد mean? ("To work hard, to strive".) Say it once more.

524.3 ناوب (nāwaba) — to be on duty; to take turns

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to hold talks, then the Arabic for to work hard.

You'll want to know: ناوب

ناوب — nāwaba — "to be on duty; to take turns".

أسبوع كل مرة المستشفى في الطبيب يناوب.

yunāwibu aṭ-ṭabīb fī al-mustashfā marra kull usbū^{c}.

The doctor is on duty at the hospital once a week.

Present: يناوب, yunāwib.
Munāwaba, a shift, is its verbal noun.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناوب (nāwaba) is built on the native Arabic root n-w-b, "to come in turn" (Lane). Form III nāwaba is to take one's turn.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nāwaba
- Say it: nāwaba, once more
- Say it: yunāwibu aṭ-ṭabīb fī al-mustashfā marra kull usbū^{c}. — The doctor is on duty at the hospital once a week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to hold talks, then the Arabic for to work hard, then say nāwaba again

Before you move on

What does ناوب mean? ("To be on duty; to take turns".) Say it once more.

524.4 ترقى (taraqqā) — to be promoted

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to work hard, then the Arabic for to be on duty.

You'll want to know: ترقى

ترقى — taraqqā — "to be promoted".

بسرعة الشركة في خالي ترقى.

taraqqā khālī fī ash-sharika bi-sur^{c}a.

My uncle was promoted quickly in the company.

Present: يترقى, yataraqqā.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ترقى (taraqqā) is built on the native Arabic root r-q-y, "to go up, to climb" (Lane). Form V taraqqā is to rise step by step.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taraqqā
- Say it: taraqqā, once more
- Say it: taraqqā khālī fī ash-sharika bi-sur^{c}a. — My uncle was promoted quickly in the company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to work hard, then the Arabic for to be on duty, then say taraqqā again

Before you move on

What does ترقى mean? ("To be promoted".) Say it once more.

524.5 مقر (maqarr) — headquarters, a base

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be on duty, then the Arabic for to be promoted.

You'll want to know: مقر

مقر — maqarr — "headquarters, a base".

المدينة وسط في الشركة مقر.

maqarr ash-sharika fī wasaṭ al-madīna.

The company's headquarters is in the city centre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقر (maqarr) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-r, "to settle, to stay firm" (Lane). A maqarr is a place where a thing settles.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: maqarr
- Say it: maqarr, once more
- Say it: maqarr ash-sharika fī wasaṭ al-madīna. — The company's headquarters is in the city centre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be on duty, then the Arabic for to be promoted, then say maqarr again

Before you move on

What does مقر mean? ("Headquarters, a base".) Say it once more.

Chapter 525

Design and code

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone produced, designed or programmed something, and name a designer and a programmer.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 525: I can say that someone produced, designed or programmed something, and name a designer and a programmer.

525.1 أنتج (antaja) — to produce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to be promoted, then the Arabic for headquarters.

You'll want to know: أنتج

أنتج — antaja — "to produce".

> شهر كل سيارة ألف المصنع ينتج.
>
> yuntiju al-maṣna^{c} alf sayyāra kull shahr.
>
> The factory produces a thousand cars every month.

Present: ينتج, yuntij.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنتج (antaja) is built on the native Arabic root n-t-j, "to bring forth young" (Lane). Natīja, a result, which you know, is from the same root: what a thing brings forth.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: antaja
- Say it: antaja, once more
- Say it: yuntiju al-maṣna^{c} alf sayyāra kull shahr. — The factory produces a thousand cars every month.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to be promoted, then the Arabic for headquarters, then say antaja again

Before you move on

What does أنتج mean? ("To produce".) Say it once more.

525.2 صمم (ṣammama) — to design

Before the new one: say the Arabic for headquarters, then the Arabic for to produce.

You'll want to know: صمم

صمم — ṣammama — "to design".

العروس فستان أختي صممت.

ṣammamat ukhtī fustān al-^{c}arūs.

My sister designed the bride's dress.

Present: يصمم, yuṣammim.
With على it means to be determined: السفر على صمم.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صمم (ṣammama) is usually traced to the native Arabic root ṣ-m-m, "to be solid, closed up". Its older sense is to be firmly resolved; the sense of designing is modern.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣammama
- Say it: ṣammama, once more
- Say it: ṣammamat ukhtī fustān al-ᶜarūs. — My sister designed the bride's dress.
- Recall: say the Arabic for headquarters, then the Arabic for to produce, then say ṣammama again

Before you move on

What does صمم mean? ("To design".) Say it once more.

525.3 مصمم (muṣammim) — a designer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to produce, then the Arabic for to design.

You'll want to know: مصمم

مصمم — muṣammim — "a designer".

شركة في مصمما خالتي ابن يعمل.

yaᶜmalu ibn khālatī muṣammiman fī sharika.

My cousin works as a designer in a company.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مصمم (muṣammim) is the participle of Form II ṣammama, "to design", which is usually traced to the native Arabic root ṣ-m-m, "to be solid".

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: muṣammim
- Say it: muṣammim, once more
- Say it: ya^{c}malu ibn khālatī muṣammiman fī sharika. — My cousin works as a designer in a company.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to produce, then the Arabic for to design, then say muṣammim again

Before you move on

What does مصمم mean? ("A designer".) Say it once more.

525.4 برمج (barmaja) — to program (a computer)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to design, then the Arabic for a designer.

You'll want to know: برمج

برمج — barmaja — "to program (a computer)".

الحاسوب على لعبة أخي برمج.

barmaja akhī lu^{c}ba ^{c}alā al-ḥāsūb.

My brother programmed a game on the computer.

Present: يبرمج, yubarmij.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

برمج (barmaja) is a modern Arabic verb built from barnāmaj, "a programme", which you know; barnāmaj is usually traced to Persian barnāma. Arabic made a new four-letter root b-r-m-j from it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: barmaja
- Say it: barmaja, once more
- Say it: barmaja akhī luᶜba ᶜalā al-ḥāsūb. — My brother programmed a game on the computer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to design, then the Arabic for a designer, then say barmaja again

Before you move on

What does برمج mean? ("To program (a computer)".) Say it once more.

525.5 مبرمج (mubarmij) — a programmer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a designer, then the Arabic for to program.

You'll want to know: مبرمج

مبرمج — mubarmij — "a programmer".

بنك في مبرمجة أختي تعمل.

taᶜmalu ukhtī mubarmija fī bank.

My sister works as a programmer in a bank.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مبرمج (mubarmij) is the participle of barmaja, "to program", a modern verb built from barnāmaj, "a programme", which is usually traced to Persian barnāma.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mubarmij
- Say it: mubarmij, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}malu ukhtī mubarmija fī bank. — My sister works as a programmer in a bank.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a designer, then the Arabic for to program, then say mubarmij again

Before you move on

What does مبرمج mean? ("A programmer".) Say it once more.

Chapter 526

Trades and crafts

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a mechanic, a contractor, a house painter, a builder and a cobbler.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 526: I can name a mechanic, a contractor, a house painter, a builder and a cobbler.

526.1 ميكانيكي (mīkānīkī) — a mechanic

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to program, then the Arabic for a programmer.

You'll want to know: ميكانيكي

ميكانيكي — mīkānīkī — "a mechanic".

أبي سيارة الميكانيكي أصلح.

aṣlaḥa al-mīkānīkī sayyārat abī.

The mechanic repaired my father's car.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميكانيكي (mīkānīkī) is a modern loan, usually traced to French mécanique, from Greek mēkhanē, "a device", with the Arabic ending -ī.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mīkānīkī
- Say it: mīkānīkī, once more
- Say it: aṣlaḥa al-mīkānīkī sayyārat abī. — The mechanic repaired my father's car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to program, then the Arabic for a programmer, then say mīkānīkī again

Before you move on

What does ميكانيكي mean? ("A mechanic".) Say it once more.

526.2 مقاول (muqāwil) — a building contractor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a programmer, then the Arabic for a mechanic.

You'll want to know: مقاول

مقاول — muqāwil — "a building contractor".

الجديد بيتنا المقاول بنى.

banā al-muqāwil baytanā al-jadīd.

The contractor built our new house.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقاول (muqāwil) is usually traced to the native Arabic root q-w-l, "to say", the root of qāla: Form III qāwala is to talk terms with someone, and the muqāwil is the one who takes on the work by agreement.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: muqāwil
- Say it: muqāwil, once more
- Say it: banā al-muqāwil baytanā al-jadīd. — The contractor built our new house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a programmer, then the Arabic for a mechanic, then say muqāwil again

Before you move on

What does مقاول mean? ("A building contractor".) Say it once more.

526.3 دهان (dahhān) — a house painter

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mechanic, then the Arabic for a building contractor.

You'll want to know: دهان

دهان — dahhān — "a house painter".

الغرفة جدران الدهان دهن.

dahana ad-dahhān judrān al-ghurfa.

The painter painted the walls of the room.

The pattern fa^{cc}āl names a trade.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دهان (dahhān) is built on the native Arabic root d-h-n, "oil, grease; to anoint" (Lane). Dahana, to paint a wall, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dahhān
- Say it: dahhān, once more
- Say it: dahana ad-dahhān judrān al-ghurfa. — The painter painted the walls of the room.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mechanic, then the Arabic for a building contractor, then say dahhān again

Before you move on

What does دهان mean? ("A house painter".) Say it once more.

526.4 بناء (bannāʾ) — a builder

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a building contractor, then the Arabic for a house painter.

You'll want to know: بناء

بناء — bannāʾ — "a builder".

الحديقة حول جدارا البناء بنى.

banā al-bannāʾ jidāran ḥawla al-ḥadīqa.

The builder built a wall around the garden.

Without the doubled n the same letters read bināʾ, a building.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بناء (bannāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root b-n-y, "to build" (Lane). Banā, to build, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: bannāʾ
- Say it: bannāʾ, once more
- Say it: banā al-bannāʾ jidāran ḥawla al-ḥadīqa. — The builder built a wall around the garden.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a building contractor, then the Arabic for a house painter, then say bannāʾ again

Before you move on

What does بناء mean? ("A builder".) Say it once more.

526.5 إسكافي (iskāfī) — a cobbler

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a house painter, then the Arabic for a builder.

You'll want to know: إسكافي

إسكافي — iskāfī — "a cobbler".

أبي حذاء الإسكافي أصلح.

aṣlaḥa al-iskāfī ḥidhāʾ abī.

The cobbler repaired my father's shoe.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إسكافي (iskāfī) is an old Arabic word for a shoemaker or cobbler. Lane gives iskāf, a maker of boots or shoes, under s-k-f; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iskāfī
- Say it: iskāfī, once more
- Say it: aṣlaḥa al-iskāfī ḥidhāʾ abī. — The cobbler repaired my father's shoe.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a house painter, then the Arabic for a builder, then say iskāfī again

Before you move on

What does إسكافي mean? ("A cobbler".) Say it once more.

Chapter 527

Farmers, profits and savings

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a peasant farmer and a gardener, and say that someone made a profit, went bankrupt or put money aside.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 527: I can name a peasant farmer and a gardener, and say that someone made a profit, went bankrupt or put money aside.

527.1 فلاح (fallāḥ) — a peasant farmer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a builder, then the Arabic for a cobbler.

You'll want to know: فلاح

فلاح — fallāḥ — "a peasant farmer".

> الربيع في القمح الفلاح يزرع.
>
> yazra^{c}u al-fallāḥ al-qamḥ fī ar-rabī^{c}.
>
> The farmer sows wheat in the spring.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فلاح (fallāḥ) is built on the native Arabic root f-l-ḥ, "to split, to till the soil; to prosper" (Lane). A fallāḥ is one who splits the earth to till it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fallāḥ
- Say it: fallāḥ, once more
- Say it: yazra^{c}u al-fallāḥ al-qamḥ fī ar-rabī^{c}. — The farmer sows wheat in the spring.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a builder, then the Arabic for a cobbler, then say fallāḥ again

Before you move on

What does فلاح mean? ("A peasant farmer".) Say it once more.

527.2 بستاني (bustānī) — a gardener

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cobbler, then the Arabic for a peasant farmer.

You'll want to know: بستاني

بستاني — bustānī — "a gardener".

صباح كل الورد البستاني يسقي.

yasqī al-bustānī al-ward kull ṣabāḥ.

The gardener waters the roses every morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بستاني (bustānī) is built on bustān, "an orchard", which you know, with the ending -ī: the orchard man. Bustān is usually traced to Persian.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: bustānī
- Say it: bustānī, once more
- Say it: yasqī al-bustānī al-ward kull ṣabāḥ. — The gardener waters the roses every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cobbler, then the Arabic for a peasant farmer, then say bustānī again

Before you move on

What does بستاني mean? ("A gardener".) Say it once more.

527.3 ربح (rabiḥa) — to make a profit

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a peasant farmer, then the Arabic for a gardener.

You'll want to know: ربح

ربح — rabiḥa — "to make a profit".

السنة هذه كثيرا التاجر ربح.

rabiḥa at-tājir kathīran hādhihi as-sana.

The merchant made a big profit this year.

Present: يربح, yarbaḥ.
In a game it also means to win.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ربح (rabiḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-ḥ, "to gain in trade" (Lane). The noun ribḥ is a profit.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rabiḥa
- Say it: rabiḥa, once more
- Say it: rabiḥa at-tājir kathīran hādhihi as-sana. — The merchant made a big profit this year.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a peasant farmer, then the Arabic for a gardener, then say rabiḥa again

Before you move on

What does ربح mean? ("To make a profit".) Say it once more.

527.4 أفلس (aflasa) — to go bankrupt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a gardener, then the Arabic for to make a profit.

You'll want to know: أفلس

أفلس — aflasa — "to go bankrupt".

سنتين بعد الشركة أفلست.

aflasat ash-sharika ba^{c}da sanatayn.

The company went bankrupt after two years.

Present: يفلس, yuflis.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أفلس (aflasa) is built on the native Arabic root f-l-s and is usually traced to fals (plural fulūs), a small copper coin: to be left with coppers and no silver.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: aflasa
- Say it: aflasa, once more
- Say it: aflasat ash-sharika ba^{c}da sanatayn. — The company went bankrupt after two years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a gardener, then the Arabic for to make a profit, then say aflasa again

Before you move on

What does أفلس mean? ("To go bankrupt".) Say it once more.

527.5 ادخر (iddakhara) — to put aside (savings)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to make a profit, then the Arabic for to go bankrupt.

You'll want to know: ادخر

ادخر — iddakhara — "to put aside (savings)".

ادخرت أختي مالا لشراء سيارة.

iddakharat ukhtī mālan li-shirāʾ sayyāra.

My sister put money aside to buy a car.

Present: يدخر, yaddakhir.
وفر, to save, which you know, is the everyday verb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ادخر (iddakhara) is built on the native Arabic root dh-kh-r, "to store up" (Lane). Form VIII iddakhara, with dh turning into d, is to store a thing for later.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iddakhara
- Say it: iddakhara, once more
- Say it: iddakharat ukhtī mālan li-shirāʾ sayyāra. — My sister put money aside to buy a car.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to make a profit, then the Arabic for to go bankrupt, then say iddakhara again

Before you move on

What does ادخر mean? ("To put aside (savings)".) Say it once more.

527.6 Words from chapters 520–527 — a review

Say the Arabic for to get used to and a shift.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- to get used to, a shift, time off, a task, to carry out
- a wage, a bonus, a promotion, to promote, to get tired
- to set to work, to toil, a resignation, retired, unemployed
- to make plans, to complete, to devote oneself, an evaluation, production
- to hold talks, to work hard, to be on duty, to be promoted, headquarters
- to produce, to design, a designer, to program, a programmer

- a mechanic, a building contractor, a house painter, a builder, a cobbler
- a peasant farmer, a gardener, to make a profit, to go bankrupt, to put aside

Before you move on

To get used to? (اعتاد, iᶜtāda.) A shift? (مناوبة, munāwaba.) Time off? (إجازة, ijāza.) A task? (مهمة, mahamma.) To carry out? (نفذ, naffadha.) A wage? (أجر, ajr.) A bonus? (مكافأة, mukāfaʾa.) A promotion? (ترقية, tarqiya.) To promote? (رقى, raqqā.) To get tired? (تعب, taᶜiba.) To set to work? (باشر, bāshara.) To toil? (كدح, kadaḥa.) A resignation? (استقالة, istiqāla.) Retired? (متقاعد, mutaqāᶜid.) Unemployed? (عاطل, ᶜāṭil.) To make plans? (خطط, khaṭṭaṭa.) To complete? (أتم, atamma.) To devote oneself? (تفرغ, tafarragha.) An evaluation? (تقييم, taqyīm.) Production? (إنتاج, intāj.) To hold talks? (فاوض, fāwaḍa.) To work hard? (اجتهد, ijtahada.) To be on duty? (ناوب, nāwaba.) To be promoted? (ترقى, taraqqā.) Headquarters? (مقر, maqarr.) To produce? (أنتج, antaja.) To design? (صمم, ṣammama.) A designer? (مصمم, muṣammim.) To program? (برمج, barmaja.) A programmer? (مبرمج, mubarmij.) A mechanic? (ميكانيكي, mīkānīkī.) A building contractor? (مقاول, muqāwil.) A house painter? (دهان, dahhān.) A builder? (بناء, bannāʾ.) A cobbler? (إسكافي, iskāfī.) A peasant farmer? (فلاح, fallāḥ.) A gardener? (بستاني, bustānī.) To make a profit? (ربح, rabiḥa.) To go bankrupt? (أفلس, aflasa.) To put aside? (ادخر, iddakhara.)

Chapter 528

Single, engaged and married

Modes: voice (5) Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a fiance, marriage and a mother-in-law, say that someone is single, and that someone loves something passionately.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 528: I can talk about a fiance, marriage and a mother-in-law, say that someone is single, and that someone loves something passionately.

528.1 خطيب (khaṭīb) — a fiancé

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go bankrupt, then the Arabic for to put aside.

You'll want to know: خطيب

خطيب — khaṭīb — "a fiancé".

> أمس بيتنا أختي خطيب زار.
>
> zāra khaṭīb ukhtī baytanā ams.
>
> My sister's fiancé visited our house yesterday.

The same word also means a public speaker; خطيبة is a fiancée.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خطيب (khaṭīb) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṭ-b, "to address; to ask in marriage" (Lane). Lane gives the root both senses: speaking to people and asking for a woman's hand.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: khaṭīb
- Say it: khaṭīb, once more
- Say it: zāra khaṭīb ukhtī baytanā ams. — My sister's fiancé visited our house yesterday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go bankrupt, then the Arabic for to put aside, then say khaṭīb again

Before you move on

What does خطيب mean? ("A fiancé".) Say it once more.

528.2 زواج (zawāj) — marriage

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to put aside, then the Arabic for a fiancé.

You'll want to know: زواج

زواج — zawāj — "marriage".

الزواج من سنة بخمسين وجدتي جدي احتفل.

iḥtafala jaddī wa-jaddatī bi-khamsīna sana min az-zawāj.

My grandparents celebrated fifty years of marriage.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زواج (zawāj) is built on the native Arabic root z-w-j, "a pair, one of a pair" (Lane). Zawj, a husband, and tazawwaja, to marry, which you know, are from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: zawāj
- Say it: zawāj, once more
- Say it: iḥtafala jaddī wa-jaddatī bi-khamsīna sana min az-zawāj. — My grandparents celebrated fifty years of marriage.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to put aside, then the Arabic for a fiancé, then say zawāj again

Before you move on

What does زواج mean? ("Marriage".) Say it once more.

528.3 حماة (ḥamāh) — a mother-in-law

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fiancé, then the Arabic for marriage.

You'll want to know: حماة

حماة — ḥamāh — "a mother-in-law".

جمعة كل بيتنا حماتي تزور.

tazūru ḥamātī baytanā kull jumᶜa.

My mother-in-law visits our house every Friday.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حماة (ḥamāh) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-w, "a husband's or wife's kin" (Lane). Lane gives ḥam as the husband's father and ḥamāh as his mother.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥamāh
- Say it: ḥamāh, once more
- Say it: tazūru ḥamātī baytanā kull jum^{c}a. — My mother-in-law visits our house every Friday.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fiancé, then the Arabic for marriage, then say ḥamāh again

Before you move on

What does حماة mean? ("A mother-in-law".) Say it once more.

528.4 أعزب (a^{c}zab) — single, unmarried

Before the new one: say the Arabic for marriage, then the Arabic for a mother-in-law.

You'll want to know: أعزب

أعزب — a^{c}zab — "single, unmarried".

أعزب زال ما الكبير أخي.

akhī al-kabīr mā zāla a^{c}zab.

My older brother is still single.

عزباء is a single woman.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أعزب (a^{c}zab) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-z-b, "to be distant, remote" (Lane). Lane gives ^{c}azaba as to be far away: one far from marriage.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: a^{c}zab
- Say it: a^{c}zab, once more
- Say it: akhī al-kabīr mā zāla a^{c}zab. — My older brother is still single.
- Recall: say the Arabic for marriage, then the Arabic for a mother-in-law, then say a^{c}zab again

Before you move on

What does أعزب mean? ("Single, unmarried".) Say it once more.

528.5 عشق (^{c}ashiqa) — to love passionately

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mother-in-law, then the Arabic for single.

You'll want to know: عشق

عشق — ^{c}ashiqa — "to love passionately".

القديمة الموسيقى جدي يعشق.

ya^{c}shaqu jaddī al-mūsīqā al-qadīma.

My grandfather adores old music.

Present: يعشق, ya^{c}shaq.
The noun عشق is passionate love.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عشق (ᶜashiqa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-sh-q, "to love passionately" (Lane). Lane gives yaᶜshaqu as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜashiqa
- Say it: ᶜashiqa, once more
- Say it: yaᶜshaqu jaddī al-mūsīqā al-qadīma. — My grandfather adores old music.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mother-in-law, then the Arabic for single, then say ᶜashiqa again

Before you move on

What does عشق mean? ("To love passionately".) Say it once more.

Chapter 529

In-laws and break-ups

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a son-in-law, a daughter-in-law, an in-law and a brother-in-law, and talk about a divorce.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 529: I can name a son-in-law, a daughter-in-law, an in-law and a brother-in-law, and talk about a divorce.

529.1 صهر (ṣihr) — a son-in-law; a brother-in-law

Before the new one: say the Arabic for single, then the Arabic for to love passionately.

You'll want to know: صهر

صهر — ṣihr — "a son-in-law; a brother-in-law".

> الأثاث نقل في أبي صهري ساعد.
>
> sāᶜada ṣihrī abī fī naql al-athāth.
>
> My son-in-law helped my father move the furniture.

Plural: أصهار, aṣhār.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صهر (ṣihr) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-h-r, "kinship by marriage" (Lane). Lane gives ṣihr as a relation by marriage.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣihr
- Say it: ṣihr, once more
- Say it: sāᶜada ṣihrī abī fī naql al-athāth. — My son-in-law helped my father move the furniture.
- Recall: say the Arabic for single, then the Arabic for to love passionately, then say ṣihr again

Before you move on

What does صهر mean? ("A son-in-law; a brother-in-law".) Say it once more.

529.2 كنة (kanna) — a daughter-in-law

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to love passionately, then the Arabic for a son-in-law.

You'll want to know: كنة

كنة — kanna — "a daughter-in-law".

كثيرا كنتها جدتي تحب.

tuḥibbu jaddatī kannatahā kathīran.

My grandmother loves her daughter-in-law very much.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كنة (kanna) is an old native Arabic word for a son's or a brother's wife, usually traced to the root k-n-n, "to cover, to shelter"; how the sense grew is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kanna
- Say it: kanna, once more
- Say it: tuḥibbu jaddatī kannatahā kathīran. — My grandmother loves her daughter-in-law very much.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to love passionately, then the Arabic for a son-in-law, then say kanna again

Before you move on

What does كنة mean? ("A daughter-in-law".) Say it once more.

529.3 نسيب (nasīb) — an in-law

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a son-in-law, then the Arabic for a daughter-in-law.

You'll want to know: نسيب

نسيب — nasīb — "an in-law".

جاء نسيبي لزيارتنا في العيد.

jāʾa nasībī li-ziyāratinā fī al-ʿīd.

My in-law came to visit us at the feast.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نسيب (nasīb) is built on the native Arabic root n-s-b, "lineage, relationship" (Lane). Nasab, lineage, is from the same root: a nasīb is kin by marriage.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nasīb
- Say it: nasīb, once more
- Say it: jāʾa nasībī li-ziyāratinā fī al-ᶜīd. — My in-law came to visit us at the feast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a son-in-law, then the Arabic for a daughter-in-law, then say nasīb again

Before you move on

What does نسيب mean? ("An in-law".) Say it once more.

529.4 عديل (ᶜadīl) — a brother-in-law (by sisters)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a daughter-in-law, then the Arabic for an in-law.

You'll want to know: عديل

عديل — ᶜadīl — "a brother-in-law (by sisters)".

زوجتي أخت من متزوج عديلي.

ᶜadīlī mutazawwij min ukht zawjatī.

My brother-in-law is married to my wife's sister.

Two men married to two sisters are عديلان.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عديل (ᶜadīl) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-l, "to be equal, to be fair" (Lane). Lane gives ᶜadīl as an equal, a counterpart; the sense of two men with sisters for wives is usually explained from it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜadīl
- Say it: ᶜadīl, once more
- Say it: ᶜadīlī mutazawwij min ukht zawjatī. — My brother-in-law is married to my wife's sister.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a daughter-in-law, then the Arabic for an in-law, then say ᶜadīl again

Before you move on

What does عديل mean? ("A brother-in-law (by sisters)".) Say it once more.

529.5 طلاق (ṭalāq) — a marriage break-up; a divorce

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an in-law, then the Arabic for a brother-in-law.

You'll want to know: طلاق

طلاق — ṭalāq — "a marriage break-up; a divorce".

بعد الطلاق سكن صديقي وحده.

baᶜda aṭ-ṭalāq sakana ṣadīqī waḥdahu.

After the divorce my friend lived alone.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طلاق (ṭalāq) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-q, "to be free, to be let go" (Lane). Ṭalāq is the letting go of a marriage.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭalāq
- Say it: ṭalāq, once more
- Say it: ba^{c}da aṭ-ṭalāq sakana ṣadīqī waḥdahu. — After the divorce my friend lived alone.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an in-law, then the Arabic for a brother-in-law, then say ṭalāq again

Before you move on

What does طلاق mean? ("A marriage break-up; a divorce".) Say it once more.

Chapter 530

Babies

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that a woman is pregnant, talk about a cradle, and say that a mother breastfed, weaned or brought up a child.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 530: I can say that a woman is pregnant, talk about a cradle, and say that a mother breastfed, weaned or brought up a child.

530.1 حامل (ḥāmil) — pregnant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a brother-in-law, then the Arabic for a marriage break-up.

You'll want to know: حامل

حامل — ḥāmil — "pregnant".

> زوجة أخي حامل بطفلها الأول.
>
> zawjat akhī ḥāmil bi-ṭiflihā al-awwal.
>
> My brother's wife is pregnant with her first child.

It has no feminine ending, since only a woman is حامل.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حامل (ḥāmil) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-m-l, "to carry" (Lane). Ḥamala, to carry, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāmil
- Say it: ḥāmil, once more
- Say it: zawjat akhī ḥāmil bi-ṭiflihā al-awwal. — My brother's wife is pregnant with her first child.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a brother-in-law, then the Arabic for a marriage break-up, then say ḥāmil again

Before you move on

What does حامل mean? ("Pregnant".) Say it once more.

530.2 مهد (mahd) — a cradle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a marriage break-up, then the Arabic for pregnant.

You'll want to know: مهد

مهد — mahd — "a cradle".

المهد في الطفل نام.

nāma aṭ-ṭifl fī al-mahd.

The baby slept in the cradle.

المهد من is from the cradle, from early childhood.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مهد (mahd) is built on the native Arabic root m-h-d, "to smooth, to spread out" (Lane). A mahd is a bed made smooth for a child.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mahd
- Say it: mahd, once more
- Say it: nāma aṭ-ṭifl fī al-mahd. — The baby slept in the cradle.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a marriage break-up, then the Arabic for pregnant, then say mahd again

Before you move on

What does مهد mean? ("A cradle".) Say it once more.

530.3 أرضع (arḍaᶜa) — to breastfeed

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pregnant, then the Arabic for a cradle.

You'll want to know: أرضع

أرضع — arḍaᶜa — "to breastfeed".

الصباح في طفلها الأم أرضعت.

arḍaᶜat al-umm ṭiflahā fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

The mother fed her baby in the morning.

Present: يرضع, yurḍiᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرضع (arḍaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root r-ḍ-ᶜ, "to suck the breast" (Lane). Form IV arḍaᶜa is to give the breast.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: arḍaᶜa
- Say it: arḍaᶜa, once more
- Say it: arḍaᶜat al-umm ṭiflahā fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — The mother fed her baby in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for pregnant, then the Arabic for a cradle, then say arḍaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does أرضع mean? ("To breastfeed".) Say it once more.

530.4 فطم (faṭama) — to wean

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cradle, then the Arabic for to breastfeed.

You'll want to know: فطم

فطم — faṭama — "to wean".

سنتين بعد ابنها أختي فطمت.

faṭamat ukhtī ibnahā baᶜda sanatayn.

My sister weaned her son after two years.

Present: يفطم, yafṭim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فطم (faṭama) is built on the native Arabic root f-ṭ-m, "to cut off" (Lane). Lane gives faṭama, aor. yafṭimu, as to cut off: weaning cuts the child off the breast.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: faṭama
- Say it: faṭama, once more
- Say it: faṭamat ukhtī ibnahā ba^{c}da sanatayn. — My sister weaned her son after two years.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cradle, then the Arabic for to breastfeed, then say faṭama again

Before you move on

What does فطم mean? ("To wean".) Say it once more.

530.5 ربى (rabbā) — to bring up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to breastfeed, then the Arabic for to wean.

You'll want to know: ربى

ربى — rabbā — "to bring up".

أولاد خمسة أمي ربت.

rabbat ummī khamsat awlād.

My mother brought up five children.

Present: يربي, yurabbī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ربى (rabbā) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-w, "to grow, to increase" (Lane). Form II rabbā is to make a child grow.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rabbā
- Say it: rabbā, once more
- Say it: rabbat ummī khamsat awlād. — My mother brought up five children.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to breastfeed, then the Arabic for to wean, then say rabbā again

Before you move on

What does ربى mean? ("To bring up".) Say it once more.

Chapter 531

Growing up and growing old

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a teenager, a nanny and old age, and say that someone got older or matured.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 531: I can name a teenager, a nanny and old age, and say that someone got older or matured.

531.1 مراهق (murāhiq) — a teenager

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wean, then the Arabic for to bring up.

You'll want to know: مراهق

مراهق — murāhiq — "a teenager".

العالية الموسيقى ويحب مراهق جارنا ابن.

ibn jārinā murāhiq wa-yuḥibbu al-mūsīqā al-ᶜāliya.

Our neighbour's son is a teenager and loves loud music.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مراهق (murāhiq) is built on the native Arabic root r-h-q, "to come near" (Lane). Murāhiq is the Form III participle: one coming near to manhood.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: murāhiq
- Say it: murāhiq, once more
- Say it: ibn jārinā murāhiq wa-yuḥibbu al-mūsīqā al-ᶜāliya. — Our neighbour's son is a teenager and loves loud music.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wean, then the Arabic for to bring up, then say murāhiq again

Before you move on

What does مراهق mean? ("A teenager".) Say it once more.

531.2 كبر (kabira) — to get older; to grow up

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to bring up, then the Arabic for a teenager.

You'll want to know: كبر

كبر — kabira — "to get older; to grow up".

المدينة إلى وسافروا الأطفال كبر.

kabira al-aṭfāl wa-sāfarū ilā al-madīna.

The children grew up and went off to the city.

Present: يكبر, yakbar.

Kabira, yakbaru, is to grow older; kabura, yakburu, with the same letters, is to be big or great.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كبر (kabira) is built on the native Arabic root k-b-r, "to be big, great" (Lane). Kabīr, big, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kabira
- Say it: kabira, once more
- Say it: kabira al-aṭfāl wa-sāfarū ilā al-madīna. — The children grew up and went off to the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to bring up, then the Arabic for a teenager, then say kabira again

Before you move on

What does كبر mean? ("To get older; to grow up".) Say it once more.

531.3 نضج (naḍija) — to ripen; to mature

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a teenager, then the Arabic for to get older.

You'll want to know: نضج

نضج — naḍija — "to ripen; to mature".

الصيف آخر في التين نضج.

naḍija at-tīn fī ākhir aṣ-ṣayf.

The figs ripened at the end of the summer.

Present: ينضج, yanḍaj.
Of a person it means to grow mature.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نضج (naḍija) is built on the native Arabic root n-ḍ-j, "to be ripe, to be well cooked" (Lane). Nāḍij, ripe, which you know, is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: naḍija
- Say it: naḍija, once more
- Say it: naḍija at-tīn fī ākhir aṣ-ṣayf. — The figs ripened at the end of the summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a teenager, then the Arabic for to get older, then say naḍija again

Before you move on

What does نضج mean? ("To ripen; to mature".) Say it once more.

531.4 شيخوخة (shaykhūkha) — old age

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to get older, then the Arabic for to ripen.

You'll want to know: شيخوخة

شيخوخة — shaykhūkha — "old age".

الراحة إلى الإنسان يحتاج الشيخوخة في.

fī ash-shaykhūkha yaḥtāju al-insān ilā ar-rāḥa.

In old age a person needs rest.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شيخوخة (shaykhūkha) is built on the native Arabic root sh-y-kh, "to grow old" (Lane). Shaykh, an old man and an elder, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shaykhūkha
- Say it: shaykhūkha, once more
- Say it: fī ash-shaykhūkha yaḥtāju al-insān ilā ar-rāḥa. — In old age a person needs rest.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to get older, then the Arabic for to ripen, then say shaykhūkha again

Before you move on

What does شيخوخة mean? ("Old age".) Say it once more.

531.5 مربية (murabbiya) — a nanny

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to ripen, then the Arabic for old age.

You'll want to know: مربية

مربية — murabbiya — "a nanny".

النهار في بالأطفال المربية تعتني.

ta^{c}tanī al-murabbiya bi-l-aṭfāl fī an-nahār.

The nanny looks after the children during the day.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مربية (murabbiya) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-w, "to grow, to increase" (Lane). Murabbiya is the feminine participle of rabbā, to bring up.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: murabbiya
- Say it: murabbiya, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}tanī al-murabbiya bi-l-aṭfāl fī an-nahār. — The nanny looks after the children during the day.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to ripen, then the Arabic for old age, then say murabbiya again

Before you move on

What does مربية mean? ("A nanny".) Say it once more.

Chapter 532

A life and its end

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a parent, a stepson and kinship, and say that someone lived a life or died.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 532: I can talk about a parent, a stepson and kinship, and say that someone lived a life or died.

532.1 والد (wālid) — a parent; a father

Before the new one: say the Arabic for old age, then the Arabic for a nanny.

You'll want to know: والد

والد — wālid — "a parent; a father".

> المدينة إلى والدي سافر.
>
> sāfara wālidī ilā al-madīna.
>
> My father travelled to the city.

الوالدان means the parents; والدة is a mother.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

والد (wālid) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-d, "to give birth" (Lane). Walad, a boy, and mīlād, birth, which you know, share the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: wālid
- Say it: wālid, once more
- Say it: sāfara wālidī ilā al-madīna. — My father travelled to the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for old age, then the Arabic for a nanny, then say wālid again

Before you move on

What does والد mean? ("A parent; a father".) Say it once more.

532.2 ربيب (rabīb) — a stepson

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a nanny, then the Arabic for a parent.

You'll want to know: ربيب

ربيب — rabīb — "a stepson".

ابنه مثل ربيبه الرجل يحب.

yuḥibbu ar-rajul rabībahu mithla ibnihi.

The man loves his stepson like his own son.

ربيبة is a stepdaughter.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ربيب (rabīb) is built on the native Arabic root r-b-b, "a lord, an owner; to rear" (Lane). Lane gives rabīb as a wife's son, reared by her husband.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rabīb
- Say it: rabīb, once more
- Say it: yuḥibbu ar-rajul rabībahu mithla ibnihi. — The man loves his stepson like his own son.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a nanny, then the Arabic for a parent, then say rabīb again

Before you move on

What does ربيب mean? ("A stepson".) Say it once more.

532.3 قرابة (qarāba) — kinship

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a parent, then the Arabic for a stepson.

You'll want to know: قرابة

قرابة — qarāba — "kinship".

بعيدة قرابة جاري وبين بيني.

baynī wa-bayna jārī qarāba baᶜīda.

My neighbour and I are distant relatives.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قرابة (qarāba) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-b, "to be near" (Lane). Qarīb, near and a relative, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: qarāba
- Say it: qarāba, once more
- Say it: baynī wa-bayna jārī qarāba baᶜīda. — My neighbour and I are distant relatives.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a parent, then the Arabic for a stepson, then say qarāba again

Before you move on

What does قرابة mean? ("Kinship".) Say it once more.

532.4 عاش (ᶜāsha) — to lead a life

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stepson, then the Arabic for kinship.

You'll want to know: عاش

عاش — ᶜāsha — "to lead a life".

الريف في بسيطة حياة جدي عاش.

ᶜāsha jaddī ḥayāh basīṭa fī ar-rīf.

My grandfather lived a simple life in the countryside.

Present: يعيش, yaᶜīsh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عاش (ᶜāsha) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-y-sh, "to live" (Lane). The noun ᶜaysh is life and, in Egypt, bread.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜāsha
- Say it: ᶜāsha, once more
- Say it: ᶜāsha jaddī ḥayāh basīṭa fī ar-rīf. — My grandfather lived a simple life in the countryside.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stepson, then the Arabic for kinship, then say ᶜāsha again

Before you move on

What does عاش mean? ("To lead a life".) Say it once more.

532.5 مات (māta) — to die

Before the new one: say the Arabic for kinship, then the Arabic for to lead a life.

You'll want to know: مات

مات — māta — "to die".

الشتاء في العجوز الكلب مات.

māta al-kalb al-ᶜajūz fī ash-shitāʾ.

The old dog died in the winter.

Present: يموت, yamūt.
توفي is the polite word for a person.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مات (māta) is built on the native Arabic root m-w-t, "to die" (Lane). Mayyit, dead, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: māta
- Say it: māta, once more
- Say it: māta al-kalb al-ᶜajūz fī ash-shitāʾ. — The old dog died in the winter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for kinship, then the Arabic for to lead a life, then say māta again

Before you move on

What does مات mean? ("To die".) Say it once more.

Chapter 533

Looking after loved ones

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone looked after, spoiled, held or stood by a loved one.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 533: I can say that someone looked after, spoiled, held or stood by a loved one.

533.1 اعتنى (i^{c}tanā) — to look after

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to lead a life, then the Arabic for to die.

You'll want to know: اعتنى

اعتنى — i^{c}tanā — "to look after".

المريضة بجدتي أختي تعتني.

ta^{c}tanī ukhtī bi-jaddatī al-marīḍa.

My sister looks after my sick grandmother.

Present: يعتني, ya^{c}tanī.
It takes بـ for the person.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اعتنى (iᶜtanā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-n-y, "to concern, to occupy" (Lane). ᶜĀnā, to suffer, is from the same root; Form VIII iᶜtanā is to make a person your concern.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iᶜtanā
- Say it: iᶜtanā, once more
- Say it: taᶜtanī ukhtī bi-jaddatī al-marīḍa. — My sister looks after my sick grandmother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to lead a life, then the Arabic for to die, then say iᶜtanā again

Before you move on

What does اعتنى mean? ("To look after".) Say it once more.

533.2 دلل (dallala) — to pamper; to spoil (a child)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to die, then the Arabic for to look after.

You'll want to know: دلل

دلل — dallala — "to pamper; to spoil (a child)".

الصغير حفيده الجد يدلل.

yudallilu al-jadd ḥafīdahu aṣ-ṣaghīr.

The grandfather spoils his little grandson.

Present: يدلل, yudallil.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

دلل (dallala) is built on the native Arabic root d-l-l, "to direct; to be coquettish" (Lane). Form II dallala is to pamper. Dalla, to show the way, which you know, has the same letters.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: dallala
- Say it: dallala, once more
- Say it: yudallilu al-jadd ḥafīdahu aṣ-ṣaghīr. — The grandfather spoils his little grandson.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to die, then the Arabic for to look after, then say dallala again

Before you move on

What does دلل mean? ("To pamper; to spoil (a child)".) Say it once more.

533.3 حضن (ḥaḍana) — to cradle; to hold in one's arms

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to look after, then the Arabic for to pamper.

You'll want to know: حضن

حضن — ḥaḍana — "to cradle; to hold in one's arms".

حضنت الأم طفلها الباكي.

ḥaḍanat al-umm ṭiflahā al-bākī.

The mother held her crying child in her arms.

Present: يحضن, yaḥḍun.
It also means to foster a child.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حضن (ḥaḍana) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-ḍ-n, "to hold to the bosom; to rear" (Lane). Lane gives yaḥḍunu as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥaḍana
- Say it: ḥaḍana, once more
- Say it: ḥaḍanat al-umm ṭiflahā al-bākī. — The mother held her crying child in her arms.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to look after, then the Arabic for to pamper, then say ḥaḍana again

Before you move on

What does حضن mean? ("To cradle; to hold in one's arms".) Say it once more.

533.4 ساند (sānada) — to stand by

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pamper, then the Arabic for to cradle.

You'll want to know: ساند

ساند — sānada — "to stand by".

صعب وقت في أخي ساندني.

sānadanī akhī fī waqt ṣa^{c}b.

My brother stood by me at a difficult time.

Present: يساند, yusānid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ساند (sānada) is built on the native Arabic root s-n-d, "to lean on, to prop" (Lane). Form III sānada is to be a prop for someone.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sānada
- Say it: sānada, once more
- Say it: sānadanī akhī fī waqt ṣa^{c}b. — My brother stood by me at a difficult time.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pamper, then the Arabic for to cradle, then say sānada again

Before you move on

What does ساند mean? ("To stand by".) Say it once more.

533.5 حبيب (ḥabīb) — a loved one, a darling

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to cradle, then the Arabic for to stand by.

You'll want to know: حبيب

حبيب — ḥabīb — "a loved one, a darling".

سافر حبيبها وانتظرته سنة.

sāfara ḥabībuhā wa-intaẓarathu sana.

Her sweetheart went away and she waited a year for him.

Plural: أحباب, aḥbāb.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حبيب (ḥabīb) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-b-b, "to love" (Lane). Ḥubb, love, and aḥabba, to love, which you know, share the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥabīb
- Say it: ḥabīb, once more
- Say it: sāfara ḥabībuhā wa-intaẓarathu sana. — Her sweetheart went away and she waited a year for him.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to cradle, then the Arabic for to stand by, then say ḥabīb again

Before you move on

What does حبيب mean? ("A loved one, a darling".) Say it once more.

Chapter 534

Obeying and forgiving

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can say that someone obeyed, disobeyed, scolded or pardoned someone, and talk about respect.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 534: I can say that someone obeyed, disobeyed, scolded or pardoned someone, and talk about respect.

534.1 أطاع (aṭāᶜa) — to obey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to stand by, then the Arabic for a loved one.

You'll want to know: أطاع

أطاع — aṭāᶜa — "to obey".

> النوم إلى وذهب أباه الولد أطاع.
>
> aṭāᶜa al-walad abāhu wa-dhahaba ilā an-nawm.
>
> The boy obeyed his father and went to bed.

Present: يطيع, yuṭīᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أطاع (aṭāᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-w-ᶜ, "to comply, to be willing" (Lane). Istaṭāᶜa, to be able, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: aṭāᶜa
- Say it: aṭāᶜa, once more
- Say it: aṭāᶜa al-walad abāhu wa-dhahaba ilā an-nawm. — The boy obeyed his father and went to bed.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to stand by, then the Arabic for a loved one, then say aṭāᶜa again

Before you move on

What does أطاع mean? ("To obey".) Say it once more.

534.2 عصى (ᶜaṣā) — to disobey

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a loved one, then the Arabic for to obey.

You'll want to know: عصى

عصى — ᶜaṣā — "to disobey".

المطر في وخرجت أمها البنت عصت.

ᶜaṣat al-bint ummahā wa-kharajat fī al-maṭar.

The girl disobeyed her mother and went out in the rain.

Present: يعصي, yaᶜṣī.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عصى (ᶜaṣā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-ṣ-y, "to resist, to rebel" (Lane). Its last root letter y shows as alif in the past and as ī in the present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaṣā
- Say it: ᶜaṣā, once more
- Say it: ᶜaṣat al-bint ummahā wa-kharajat fī al-maṭar. — The girl disobeyed her mother and went out in the rain.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a loved one, then the Arabic for to obey, then say ᶜaṣā again

Before you move on

What does عصى mean? ("To disobey".) Say it once more.

534.3 وبخ (wabbakha) — to scold

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to obey, then the Arabic for to disobey.

You'll want to know: وبخ

وبخ — wabbakha — "to scold".

الخسارة بعد اللاعبين المدرب وبخ.

wabbakha al-mudarrib al-lāᶜibīn baᶜda al-khasāra.

The coach scolded the players after the defeat.

Present: يوبخ, yuwabbikh.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

وبخ (wabbakha) is built on the native Arabic root w-b-kh, "to blame, to rebuke" (Lane). Form II wabbakha is to rebuke sharply.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: wabbakha
- Say it: wabbakha, once more
- Say it: wabbakha al-mudarrib al-lāᶜibīn baᶜda al-khasāra. — The coach scolded the players after the defeat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to obey, then the Arabic for to disobey, then say wabbakha again

Before you move on

What does وبخ mean? ("To scold".) Say it once more.

534.4 احترام (iḥtirām) — esteem, respect

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to disobey, then the Arabic for to scold.

You'll want to know: احترام

احترام — iḥtirām — "esteem, respect".

باحترام المعلم مع الطلاب يتكلم.

yatakallamu aṭ-ṭullāb maᶜa al-muᶜallim bi-iḥtirām.

The students speak to the teacher with respect.

The verb احترم, to respect, goes with it.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

احترام (iḥtirām) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-r-m, "to be forbidden, to be sacred" (Lane). Iḥtirām is the verbal noun of Form VIII: treating someone as not to be touched.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iḥtirām
- Say it: iḥtirām, once more
- Say it: yatakallamu aṭ-ṭullāb ma^{c}a al-mu^{c}allim bi-iḥtirām. — The students speak to the teacher with respect.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to disobey, then the Arabic for to scold, then say iḥtirām again

Before you move on

What does احترام mean? ("Esteem, respect".) Say it once more.

534.5 عفا (^{c}afā) — to pardon

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to scold, then the Arabic for esteem.

You'll want to know: عفا

عفا — ^{c}afā — "to pardon".

الطالب عن المعلم عفا.

^{c}afā al-mu^{c}allim ^{c}an aṭ-ṭālib.

The teacher pardoned the student.

Present: يعفو, ya^{c}fū.
It takes عن.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عفا (ᶜafā) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-f-w, "to efface; to pardon; to give health" (Lane). ᶜAfwan, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜafā
- Say it: ᶜafā, once more
- Say it: ᶜafā al-muᶜallim ᶜan aṭ-ṭālib. — The teacher pardoned the student.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to scold, then the Arabic for esteem, then say ᶜafā again

Before you move on

What does عفا mean? ("To pardon".) Say it once more.

Chapter 535

Companions and quarrels

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a companion, an enemy and betrayal, and say that people fell out or that someone left a place.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 535: I can talk about a companion, an enemy and betrayal, and say that people fell out or that someone left a place.

535.1 رفيق (rafīq) — a companion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for esteem, then the Arabic for to pardon.

You'll want to know: رفيق

رفيق — rafīq — "a companion".

> الجبل في جدي رفيق الكلب كان.
>
> kāna al-kalb rafīq jaddī fī al-jabal.
>
> The dog was my grandfather's companion in the mountains.

Plural: رفاق, rifāq.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رفيق (rafīq) is built on the native Arabic root r-f-q, "to be gentle; to be a companion" (Lane). A rafīq goes along with you.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rafīq
- Say it: rafīq, once more
- Say it: kāna al-kalb rafīq jaddī fī al-jabal. — The dog was my grandfather's companion in the mountains.
- Recall: say the Arabic for esteem, then the Arabic for to pardon, then say rafīq again

Before you move on

What does رفيق mean? ("A companion".) Say it once more.

535.2 عدو (ᶜaduww) — an enemy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pardon, then the Arabic for a companion.

You'll want to know: عدو

عدو — ᶜaduww — "an enemy".

القصص في عدوان والفأر القط.

al-qiṭṭ wa-l-faʔr ᶜaduwwān fī al-qiṣaṣ.

The cat and the mouse are enemies in stories.

Plural: أعداء, aᶜdāʔ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عدو (ᶜaduww) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-d-w, "to run, to pass beyond" (Lane). An ᶜaduww is one who runs against you, who goes beyond what is right.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜaduww
- Say it: ᶜaduww, once more
- Say it: al-qiṭṭ wa-l-faʾr ᶜaduwwān fī al-qiṣaṣ. — The cat and the mouse are enemies in stories.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pardon, then the Arabic for a companion, then say ᶜaduww again

Before you move on

What does عدو mean? ("An enemy".) Say it once more.

535.3 خيانة (khiyāna) — betrayal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a companion, then the Arabic for an enemy.

You'll want to know: خيانة

خيانة — khiyāna — "betrayal".

خيانة صديق على الكذب.

al-kadhib ᶜalā ṣadīq khiyāna.

Lying to a friend is a betrayal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خيانة (khiyāna) is built on the native Arabic root kh-w-n, "to be false, to betray" (Lane). Khiyāna is the verbal noun of khāna.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: khiyāna
- Say it: khiyāna, once more
- Say it: al-kadhib ᶜalā ṣadīq khiyāna. — Lying to a friend is a betrayal.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a companion, then the Arabic for an enemy, then say khiyāna again

Before you move on

What does خيانة mean? ("Betrayal".) Say it once more.

535.4 تخاصم (takhāṣama) — to fall out (with each other)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an enemy, then the Arabic for betrayal.

You'll want to know: تخاصم

تخاصم — takhāṣama — "to fall out (with each other)".

المال على الأخوان تخاصم.

takhāṣama al-akhawān ᶜalā al-māl.

The two brothers fell out over money.

Present: يتخاصم, yatakhāṣam.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تخاصم (takhāṣama) is built on the native Arabic root kh-ṣ-m, "to dispute, to contend" (Lane). Form VI takhāṣama is to dispute with one another.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: takhāṣama
- Say it: takhāṣama, once more
- Say it: takhāṣama al-akhawān ᶜalā al-māl. — The two brothers fell out over money.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an enemy, then the Arabic for betrayal, then say takhāṣama again

Before you move on

What does تخاصم mean? ("To fall out (with each other)".) Say it once more.

535.5 هجر (hajara) — to abandon, to leave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for betrayal, then the Arabic for to fall out.

You'll want to know: هجر

هجر — hajara — "to abandon, to leave".

المدينة في وسكن قريته الشاب هجر.

hajara ash-shābb qaryatahu wa-sakana fī al-madīna.

The young man left his village and lived in the city.

Present: يهجر, yahjur.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

هجر (hajara) is built on the native Arabic root h-j-r, "to cut off, to forsake" (Lane). Lane gives hajara, aor. yahjuru, as to cut oneself off from someone.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: hajara
- Say it: hajara, once more
- Say it: hajara ash-shābb qaryatahu wa-sakana fī al-madīna. — The young man left his village and lived in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for betrayal, then the Arabic for to fall out, then say hajara again

Before you move on

What does هجر mean? ("To abandon, to leave".) Say it once more.

535.6 Words from chapters 528–535 — a review

Say the Arabic for a fiancé and marriage.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- a fiancé, marriage, a mother-in-law, single, to love passionately
- a son-in-law, a daughter-in-law, an in-law, a brother-in-law, a marriage break-up
- pregnant, a cradle, to breastfeed, to wean, to bring up
- a teenager, to get older, to ripen, old age, a nanny

- a parent, a stepson, kinship, to lead a life, to die
- to look after, to pamper, to cradle, to stand by, a loved one
- to obey, to disobey, to scold, esteem, to pardon
- a companion, an enemy, betrayal, to fall out, to abandon

Before you move on

A fiancé? (خطيب, khaṭīb.) Marriage? (زواج, zawāj.) A mother-in-law? (حماة, ḥamāh.) Single? (أعزب, aᶜzab.) To love passionately? (عشق, ᶜashiqa.) A son-in-law? (صهر, ṣihr.) A daughter-in-law? (كنة, kanna.) An in-law? (نسيب, nasīb.) A brother-in-law? (عديل, ᶜadīl.) A marriage break-up? (طلاق, ṭalāq.) Pregnant? (حامل, ḥāmil.) A cradle? (مهد, mahd.) To breastfeed? (أرضع, arḍaᶜa.) To wean? (فطم, faṭama.) To bring up? (ربى, rabbā.) A teenager? (مراهق, murāhiq.) To get older? (كبر, kabira.) To ripen? (نضج, naḍija.) Old age? (شيخوخة, shaykhūkha.) A nanny? (مربية, murabbiya.) A parent? (والد, wālid.) A stepson? (ربيب, rabīb.) Kinship? (قرابة, qarāba.) To lead a life? (عاش, ᶜāsha.) To die? (مات, māta.) To look after? (اعتنى, iᶜtanā.) To pamper? (دلل, dallala.) To cradle? (حضن, ḥaḍana.) To stand by? (ساند, sānada.) A loved one? (حبيب, ḥabīb.) To obey? (أطاع, aṭāᶜa.) To disobey? (عصى, ᶜaṣā.) To scold? (وبخ, wabbakha.) Esteem? (احترام, iḥtirām.) To pardon? (عفا, ᶜafā.) A companion? (رفيق, rafīq.) An enemy? (عدو, ᶜaduww.) Betrayal? (خيانة, khiyāna.) To fall out? (تخاصم, takhāṣama.) To abandon? (هجر, hajara.)

Chapter 536

Fishing and unwinding

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about fishing and a fishing rod, and say that someone went fishing, unwound or enjoyed something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 536: I can talk about fishing and a fishing rod, and say that someone went fishing, unwound or enjoyed something.

536.1 صيد (ṣayd) — hunting; fishing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to fall out, then the Arabic for to abandon.

You'll want to know: صيد

صيد — ṣayd — "hunting; fishing".

البحر في الصيد خالي يحب.

yuḥibbu khālī aṣ-ṣayd fī al-baḥr.

My uncle loves fishing in the sea.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صيد (ṣayd) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-y-d, "to hunt, to catch" (Lane). Ṣāda, to hunt, and ṣayyād, a fisherman, which you know, share the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣayd
- Say it: ṣayd, once more
- Say it: yuḥibbu khālī aṣ-ṣayd fī al-baḥr. — My uncle loves fishing in the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to fall out, then the Arabic for to abandon, then say ṣayd again

Before you move on

What does صيد mean? ("Hunting; fishing".) Say it once more.

536.2 صنارة (ṣinnāra) — a fishing rod

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to abandon, then the Arabic for hunting.

You'll want to know: صنارة

صنارة — ṣinnāra — "a fishing rod".

القارب في صنارته أبي نسي.

nasiya abī ṣinnāratahu fī al-qārib.

My father forgot his fishing rod in the boat.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صنارة (ṣinnāra), a fish hook and a fishing rod, was borrowed from Syriac ṣenārtā, "a fishing gaff, a hooked tool" (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣinnāra
- Say it: ṣinnāra, once more
- Say it: nasiya abī ṣinnāratahu fī al-qārib. — My father forgot his fishing rod in the boat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to abandon, then the Arabic for hunting, then say ṣinnāra again

Before you move on

What does صنارة mean? ("A fishing rod".) Say it once more.

536.3 اصطاد (iṣṭāda) — to go fishing; to hunt

Before the new one: say the Arabic for hunting, then the Arabic for a fishing rod.

You'll want to know: اصطاد

اصطاد — iṣṭāda — "to go fishing; to hunt".

كبيرة سمكة أخي اصطاد.

iṣṭāda akhī samaka kabīra.

My brother caught a big fish.

Present: يصطاد, yaṣṭād.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اصطاد (iṣṭāda) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-y-d, "to hunt, to catch" (Lane). Form VIII iṣṭāda, with t turning into ṭ, is to catch for oneself.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iṣṭāda
- Say it: iṣṭāda, once more
- Say it: iṣṭāda akhī samaka kabīra. — My brother caught a big fish.
- Recall: say the Arabic for hunting, then the Arabic for a fishing rod, then say iṣṭāda again

Before you move on

What does اصطاد mean? ("To go fishing; to hunt".) Say it once more.

536.4 استجم (istajamma) — to unwind

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a fishing rod, then the Arabic for to go fishing.

You'll want to know: استجم

استجم — istajamma — "to unwind".

أسبوعا القرية في أبي استجم.

istajamma abī fī al-qarya usbūᶜan.

My father unwound in the village for a week.

Present: يستجم, yastajimm.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استجم (istajamma) is built on the native Arabic root j-m-m, "to rest, to gather again (of water in a well)" (Lane). Form X istajamma is to rest until one's strength comes back.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: istajamma
- Say it: istajamma, once more
- Say it: istajamma abī fī al-qarya usbū^{c}an. — My father unwound in the village for a week.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a fishing rod, then the Arabic for to go fishing, then say istajamma again

Before you move on

What does استجم mean? ("To unwind".) Say it once more.

536.5 استمتع (istamta^{c}a) — to enjoy

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to go fishing, then the Arabic for to unwind.

You'll want to know: استمتع

استمتع — istamta^{c}a — "to enjoy".

كثيرا بالنزهة استمتعنا.

istamta^{c}nā bi-n-nuzha kathīran.

We enjoyed the outing very much.

Present: يستمتع, yastamti^{c}.
It takes بـ for what you enjoy.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

استمتع (istamta^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root m-t-^{c}, "to enjoy, to profit by" (Lane). Mumti^{c}, enjoyable, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: istamta^{c}a
- Say it: istamta^{c}a, once more
- Say it: istamta^{c}nā bi-n-nuzha kathīran. — We enjoyed the outing very much.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to go fishing, then the Arabic for to unwind, then say istamta^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does استمتع mean? ("To enjoy".) Say it once more.

Chapter 537

Hobbies indoors and out

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about camping, diving, photography, pottery and a crossword.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 537: I can talk about camping, diving, photography, pottery and a crossword.

537.1 تخييم (takhyīm) — camping

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to unwind, then the Arabic for to enjoy.

You'll want to know: تخييم

تخييم — takhyīm — "camping".

> نحب التخييم في الصحراء.
>
> nuḥibbu at-takhyīm fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ.
>
> We love camping in the desert.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تخييم (takhyīm) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-m, "a tent" (Lane). Khayma, a tent, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: takhyīm
- Say it: takhyīm, once more
- Say it: nuḥibbu at-takhyīm fī aṣ-ṣaḥrāʾ. — We love camping in the desert.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to unwind, then the Arabic for to enjoy, then say takhyīm again

Before you move on

What does تخييم mean? ("Camping".) Say it once more.

537.2 غوص (ghawṣ) — diving

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to enjoy, then the Arabic for camping.

You'll want to know: غوص

غوص — ghawṣ — "diving".

الماضي الصيف في الغوص تعلمت.

taᶜallamtu al-ghawṣ fī aṣ-ṣayf al-māḍī.

I learned diving last summer.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

غوص (ghawṣ) is built on the native Arabic root gh-w-ṣ, "to dive, to plunge" (Lane). Ghawṣ is the plunge under water.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ghawṣ
- Say it: ghawṣ, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}allamtu al-ghawṣ fī aṣ-ṣayf al-māḍī. — I learned diving last summer.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to enjoy, then the Arabic for camping, then say ghawṣ again

Before you move on

What does غوص mean? ("Diving".) Say it once more.

537.3 تصوير (taṣwīr) — photography

Before the new one: say the Arabic for camping, then the Arabic for diving.

You'll want to know: تصوير

تصوير — taṣwīr — "photography".

التصوير أختي هواية.

hiwāyat ukhtī at-taṣwīr.

My sister's hobby is photography.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تصوير (taṣwīr) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-r, "to form, to shape" (Lane). Ṣūra, a picture, and ṣawwara, to photograph, which you know, share the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taṣwīr
- Say it: taṣwīr, once more
- Say it: hiwāyat ukhtī at-taṣwīr. — My sister's hobby is photography.
- Recall: say the Arabic for camping, then the Arabic for diving, then say taṣwīr again

Before you move on

What does تصوير mean? ("Photography".) Say it once more.

537.4 فخار (fakhkhār) — pottery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for diving, then the Arabic for photography.

You'll want to know: فخار

فخار — fakhkhār — "pottery".

الفخار من إناء أختي صنعت.

ṣanaᶜat ukhtī ināʾ min al-fakhkhār.

My sister made a pot out of clay.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فخار (fakhkhār) is built on the native Arabic root f-kh-r, "to boast, to glory in" (Lane). Lane gives fakhkhār, under the same root as fakhūr, proud, as baked pottery and baked clay.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fakhkhār
- Say it: fakhkhār, once more
- Say it: ṣanaᶜat ukhtī ināʾ min al-fakhkhār. — My sister made a pot out of clay.
- Recall: say the Arabic for diving, then the Arabic for photography, then say fakhkhār again

Before you move on

What does فخار mean? ("Pottery".) Say it once more.

537.5 متقاطعة كلمات (kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa) — a crossword

Before the new one: say the Arabic for photography, then the Arabic for pottery.

You'll want to know: متقاطعة كلمات

متقاطعة كلمات — kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa — "a crossword".

صباح كل المتقاطعة الكلمات أمي تحل.

taḥullu ummī al-kalimāt al-mutaqāṭiᶜa kull ṣabāḥ.

My mother does the crossword every morning.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

متقاطعة كلمات (kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa), "crossing words", is a modern calque built from kalima, a word, and mutaqāṭiᶜa, "cutting across one another", from the native root q-ṭ-ᶜ, "to cut" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa
- Say it: kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa, once more
- Say it: taḥullu ummī al-kalimāt al-mutaqāṭiᶜa kull ṣabāḥ. — My mother does the crossword every morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for photography, then the Arabic for pottery, then say kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa again

Before you move on

What does كلمات متقاطعة mean? ("A crossword".) Say it once more.

Chapter 538

Needle and thread

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about embroidery and knitting, and say that someone embroidered, knitted or sewed.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 538: I can talk about embroidery and knitting, and say that someone embroidered, knitted or sewed.

538.1 تطريز (taṭrīz) — embroidery

Before the new one: say the Arabic for pottery, then the Arabic for a crossword.

You'll want to know: تطريز

تطريز — taṭrīz — "embroidery".

طفولتها في التطريز جدتي تعلمت.

ta^{c}allamat jaddatī at-taṭrīz fī ṭufūlatihā.

My grandmother learned embroidery in her childhood.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تطريز (taṭrīz) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-z, "to embroider, to figure a cloth" (Lane). Taṭrīz is the verbal noun of Form II.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taṭrīz
- Say it: taṭrīz, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}allamat jaddatī at-taṭrīz fī ṭufūlatihā. — My grandmother learned embroidery in her childhood.
- Recall: say the Arabic for pottery, then the Arabic for a crossword, then say taṭrīz again

Before you move on

What does تطريز mean? ("Embroidery".) Say it once more.

538.2 طرز (ṭarraza) — to embroider

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a crossword, then the Arabic for embroidery.

You'll want to know: طرز

طرز — ṭarraza — "to embroider".

الوسادة على وردة أمي طرزت.

ṭarrazat ummī warda ^{c}alā al-wisāda.

My mother embroidered a rose on the pillow.

Present: يطرز, yuṭarriz.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طرز (ṭarraza) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-r-z, "to embroider, to figure a cloth" (Lane). Form II ṭarraza is the usual verb.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭarraza
- Say it: ṭarraza, once more
- Say it: ṭarrazat ummī warda ᶜalā al-wisāda. — My mother embroidered a rose on the pillow.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a crossword, then the Arabic for embroidery, then say ṭarraza again

Before you move on

What does طرز mean? ("To embroider".) Say it once more.

538.3 حياكة (ḥiyāka) — knitting, weaving

Before the new one: say the Arabic for embroidery, then the Arabic for to embroider.

You'll want to know: حياكة

حياكة — ḥiyāka — "knitting, weaving".

الشتاء في الحياكة خالتي تحب.

tuḥibbu khālatī al-ḥiyāka fī ash-shitāʾ.

My aunt loves knitting in the winter.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حياكة (ḥiyāka) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-k, "to weave" (Lane). Lane gives ḥiyāka as one of the nouns of weaving.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥiyāka
- Say it: ḥiyāka, once more
- Say it: tuḥibbu khālatī al-ḥiyāka fī ash-shitāʾ. — My aunt loves knitting in the winter.
- Recall: say the Arabic for embroidery, then the Arabic for to embroider, then say ḥiyāka again

Before you move on

What does حياكة mean? ("Knitting, weaving".) Say it once more.

538.4 حاك (ḥāka) — to knit, to weave

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to embroider, then the Arabic for knitting.

You'll want to know: حاك

حاك — ḥāka — "to knit, to weave".

الصوف من وشاحا جدتي حاكت.

ḥākat jaddatī wishāḥan min aṣ-ṣūf.

My grandmother knitted a woollen scarf.

Present: يحوك, yaḥūk.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حاك (ḥāka) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-k, "to weave" (Lane). Lane gives yaḥūku as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥāka
- Say it: ḥāka, once more
- Say it: ḥākat jaddatī wishāḥan min aṣ-ṣūf. — My grandmother knitted a woollen scarf.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to embroider, then the Arabic for knitting, then say ḥāka again

Before you move on

What does حاك mean? ("To knit, to weave".) Say it once more.

538.5 خاط (khāṭa) — to sew

Before the new one: say the Arabic for knitting, then the Arabic for to knit.

You'll want to know: خاط

خاط — khāṭa — "to sew".

قميصي على زرا الخياط خاط.

khāṭa al-khayyāṭ zirran ᶜalā qamīṣī.

The tailor sewed a button on my shirt.

Present: يخيط, yakhīṭ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

خاط (khāṭa) is built on the native Arabic root kh-y-ṭ, "to sew" (Lane). Khayṭ, a thread, and khayyāṭ, a tailor, which you know, share the root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: khāṭa
- Say it: khāṭa, once more
- Say it: khāṭa al-khayyāṭ zirran ᶜalā qamīṣī. — The tailor sewed a button on my shirt.
- Recall: say the Arabic for knitting, then the Arabic for to knit, then say khāṭa again

Before you move on

What does خاط mean? ("To sew".) Say it once more.

Chapter 539

Games for all ages

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name dice and a swing, talk about gardening, and say that we had fun or swung on a swing.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 539: I can name dice and a swing, talk about gardening, and say that we had fun or swung on a swing.

539.1 نرد (nard) — dice

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to knit, then the Arabic for to sew.

You'll want to know: نرد

نرد — nard — "dice".

وفاز النرد أخي رمى.

ramā akhī an-nard wa-fāza.

My brother threw the dice and won.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نرد (nard) was borrowed from Persian: it is a Persian word, arabicized, for the game of backgammon and its pieces (Lane). Today it names the dice.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nard
- Say it: nard, once more
- Say it: ramā akhī an-nard wa-fāza. — My brother threw the dice and won.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to knit, then the Arabic for to sew, then say nard again

Before you move on

What does نرد mean? ("Dice".) Say it once more.

539.2 أرجوحة (urjūḥa) — a swing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to sew, then the Arabic for dice.

You'll want to know: أرجوحة

أرجوحة — urjūḥa — "a swing".

الحديقة في الأرجوحة على الأطفال يلعب.

yalᶜabu al-aṭfāl ᶜalā al-urjūḥa fī al-ḥadīqa.

The children play on the swing in the park.

Plural: أراجيح, arājīḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أرجوحة (urjūḥa) is built on the native Arabic root r-j-ḥ, "to outweigh, to go down (of a scale)" (Lane). A swing goes up and down like the pans of a scale.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: urjūḥa
- Say it: urjūḥa, once more
- Say it: yalᶜabu al-aṭfāl ᶜalā al-urjūḥa fī al-ḥadīqa. — The children play on the swing in the park.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to sew, then the Arabic for dice, then say urjūḥa again

Before you move on

What does أرجوحة mean? ("A swing".) Say it once more.

539.3 تسلى (tasallā) — to have fun

Before the new one: say the Arabic for dice, then the Arabic for a swing.

You'll want to know: تسلى

تسلى — tasallā — "to have fun".

المساء في الورق بلعب تسلينا.

tasallaynā bi-laᶜib al-waraq fī al-masāʾ.

We had fun playing cards in the evening.

Present: يتسلى, yatasallā.
الورق لعب is playing cards.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تسلى (tasallā) is built on the native Arabic root s-l-w, "to forget, to be consoled" (Lane). Form V tasallā is to take one's mind off things.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tasallā
- Say it: tasallā, once more
- Say it: tasallaynā bi-la^{c}ib al-waraq fī al-masāʾ. — We had fun playing cards in the evening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for dice, then the Arabic for a swing, then say tasallā again

Before you move on

What does تسلى mean? ("To have fun".) Say it once more.

539.4 بستنة (bastana) — gardening

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a swing, then the Arabic for to have fun.

You'll want to know: بستنة

بستنة — bastana — "gardening".

البستنة في وقته جدي يقضي.

yaqḍī jaddī waqtahu fī al-bastana.

My grandfather spends his time gardening.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بستنة (bastana) is a modern Arabic noun built from bustān, "an orchard", which you know: Arabic made a four-letter root b-s-t-n from it. Bustān is usually traced to Persian.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: bastana
- Say it: bastana, once more
- Say it: yaqḍī jaddī waqtahu fī al-bastana. — My grandfather spends his time gardening.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a swing, then the Arabic for to have fun, then say bastana again

Before you move on

What does بستنة mean? ("Gardening".) Say it once more.

539.5 تأرجح (taʾarjaḥa) — to swing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to have fun, then the Arabic for gardening.

You'll want to know: تأرجح

تأرجح — taʾarjaḥa — "to swing".

الأرجوحة على البنت تأرجحت.

taʾarjaḥat al-bint ᶜalā al-urjūḥa.

The girl swung on the swing.

Present: يتأرجح, yataʾarjaḥ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأرجح (taʾarjaḥa) goes with urjūḥa, "a swing", built on the native Arabic root r-j-ḥ, "to outweigh, to go down (of a scale pan)" (Lane).

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾarjaḥa
- Say it: taʾarjaḥa, once more
- Say it: taʾarjaḥat al-bint ᶜalā al-urjūḥa. — The girl swung on the swing.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to have fun, then the Arabic for gardening, then say taʾarjaḥa again

Before you move on

What does تأرجح mean? ("To swing".) Say it once more.

Chapter 540

Reading, clubs and passions

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about reading, passion and fondness, and say that someone subscribed or met up with a friend.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 540: I can talk about reading, passion and fondness, and say that someone subscribed or met up with a friend.

540.1 قراءة (qirāʾa) — reading

Before the new one: say the Arabic for gardening, then the Arabic for to swing.

You'll want to know: قراءة

قراءة — qirāʾa — "reading".

المفضلة هوايتي القراءة.

al-qirāʾa hiwāyatī al-mufaḍḍala.

Reading is my favourite hobby.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قراءة (qirāʾa) is built on the native Arabic root q-r-a, "to read, to recite" (Lane). Qirāʾa is the verbal noun of qaraʾa, to read, which you know.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: qirāʾa
- Say it: qirāʾa, once more
- Say it: al-qirāʾa hiwāyatī al-mufaḍḍala. — Reading is my favourite hobby.
- Recall: say the Arabic for gardening, then the Arabic for to swing, then say qirāʾa again

Before you move on

What does قراءة mean? ("Reading".) Say it once more.

540.2 اشترك (ishtaraka) — to subscribe; to take part

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to swing, then the Arabic for reading.

You'll want to know: اشترك

اشترك — ishtaraka — "to subscribe; to take part".

رياضية مجلة في أخي اشترك.

ishtaraka akhī fī majalla riyāḍiyya.

My brother subscribed to a sports magazine.

Present: يشترك, yashtarik.
It takes في.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

اشترك (ishtaraka) is built on the native Arabic root sh-r-k, "to share, to be a partner" (Lane). Sharika, a company, and shāraka, to share, which you know, are from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ishtaraka
- Say it: ishtaraka, once more
- Say it: ishtaraka akhī fī majalla riyāḍiyya. — My brother subscribed to a sports magazine.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to swing, then the Arabic for reading, then say ishtaraka again

Before you move on

What does اشترك mean? ("To subscribe; to take part".) Say it once more.

540.3 التقى (iltaqā) — to meet up (with)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for reading, then the Arabic for to subscribe.

You'll want to know: التقى

التقى — iltaqā — "to meet up (with)".

المقهى في بزميلي التقيت.

iltaqaytu bi-zamīlī fī al-maqhā.

I met up with my colleague at the café.

Present: يلتقي, yaltaqī.
It takes بـ, or a direct object.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

التقى (iltaqā) is built on the native Arabic root l-q-y, "to meet; to throw" (Lane). Ilā l-liqāʾ, see you, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: iltaqā
- Say it: iltaqā, once more
- Say it: iltaqaytu bi-zamīlī fī al-maqhā. — I met up with my colleague at the café.
- Recall: say the Arabic for reading, then the Arabic for to subscribe, then say iltaqā again

Before you move on

What does التقى mean? ("To meet up (with)".) Say it once more.

540.4 شغف (shaghaf) — passion

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to subscribe, then the Arabic for to meet up.

You'll want to know: شغف

شغف — shaghaf — "passion".

يتكلم المعلم عن الأدب بشغف.

yatakallamu al-muᶜallim ᶜan al-adab bi-shaghaf.

The teacher talks about literature with passion.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شغف (shaghaf) is built on the native Arabic root sh-gh-f, "the heart's covering; to strike the heart" (Lane). Lane gives shaghaf as love that reaches the shaghāf, the covering of the heart.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shaghaf
- Say it: shaghaf, once more
- Say it: yatakallamu al-mu^{c}allim ^{c}an al-adab bi-shaghaf. — The teacher talks about literature with passion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to subscribe, then the Arabic for to meet up, then say shaghaf again

Before you move on

What does شغف mean? ("Passion".) Say it once more.

540.5 ولع (wala^{c}) — fondness, keen love

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to meet up, then the Arabic for passion.

You'll want to know: ولع

ولع — wala^{c} — "fondness, keen love".

بالسيارات ولع ابني عند.

^{c}inda ibnī wala^{c} bi-s-sayyārāt.

My son is crazy about cars.

مولع بـ is keen on.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ولع (wala^{c}) is built on the native Arabic root w-l-^{c}, "to make eagerly desirous" (Lane). Lane gives Form IV awla^{c}a as to make someone eagerly fond of a thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: wala^{c}
- Say it: wala^{c}, once more
- Say it: ^{c}inda ibnī wala^{c} bi-s-sayyārāt. — My son is crazy about cars.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to meet up, then the Arabic for passion, then say wala^{c} again

Before you move on

What does ولع mean? ("Fondness, keen love".) Say it once more.

Chapter 541

At the exhibition

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name an artist, an exhibition, a sculptor and a painter, and say that someone carved a figure.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 541: I can name an artist, an exhibition, a sculptor and a painter, and say that someone carved a figure.

541.1 فنان (fannān) — an artist

Before the new one: say the Arabic for passion, then the Arabic for fondness.

You'll want to know: فنان

فنان — fannān — "an artist".

لجدتي صورة الفنان رسم.

rasama al-fannān ṣūra li-jaddatī.

The artist painted a picture of my grandmother.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فنان (fannān) is built on the native Arabic root f-n-n, "a sort, a kind; a branch" (Lane). Fann, an art, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fannān
- Say it: fannān, once more
- Say it: rasama al-fannān ṣūra li-jaddatī. — The artist painted a picture of my grandmother.
- Recall: say the Arabic for passion, then the Arabic for fondness, then say fannān again

Before you move on

What does فنان mean? ("An artist".) Say it once more.

541.2 معرض (ma^{c}riḍ) — an exhibition

Before the new one: say the Arabic for fondness, then the Arabic for an artist.

You'll want to know: معرض

معرض — ma^{c}riḍ — "an exhibition".

المدينة في الكتاب معرض زرنا.

zurnā ma^{c}riḍ al-kitāb fī al-madīna.

We visited the book fair in the city.

Plural: معارض, ma^{c}āriḍ.
الكتاب معرض is a book fair.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

معرض (ma^{c}riḍ) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-r-ḍ, "to appear, to come in the way" (Lane). A ma^{c}riḍ is a place where things are shown.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ma^{c}riḍ
- Say it: ma^{c}riḍ, once more
- Say it: zurnā ma^{c}riḍ al-kitāb fī al-madīna. — We visited the book fair in the city.
- Recall: say the Arabic for fondness, then the Arabic for an artist, then say ma^{c}riḍ again

Before you move on

What does معرض mean? ("An exhibition".) Say it once more.

541.3 نحات (naḥḥāt) — a sculptor

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an artist, then the Arabic for an exhibition.

You'll want to know: نحات

نحات — naḥḥāt — "a sculptor".

الرخام من التمثال النحات صنع.

ṣana^{c}a an-naḥḥāt at-timthāl min ar-rukhām.

The sculptor made the statue out of marble.

The pattern fa^{cc}āl names a trade.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نحات (naḥḥāt) is built on the native Arabic root n-ḥ-t, "to hew, to carve" (Lane). Naḥḥāt is the craftsman who carves.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: naḥḥāt
- Say it: naḥḥāt, once more
- Say it: ṣanaᶜa an-naḥḥāt at-timthāl min ar-rukhām. — The sculptor made the statue out of marble.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an artist, then the Arabic for an exhibition, then say naḥḥāt again

Before you move on

What does نحات mean? ("A sculptor".) Say it once more.

541.4 نحت (naḥata) — to carve

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an exhibition, then the Arabic for a sculptor.

You'll want to know: نحت

نحت — naḥata — "to carve".

الخشب من حصانا الفنان نحت.

naḥata al-fannān ḥiṣānan min al-khashab.

The artist carved a horse out of wood.

Present: ينحت, yanḥit.
The noun نحت, read naḥt, is sculpture.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نحت (naḥata) is built on the native Arabic root n-ḥ-t, "to hew, to carve" (Lane). Lane gives yanḥitu as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: naḥata
- Say it: naḥata, once more
- Say it: naḥata al-fannān ḥiṣānan min al-khashab. — The artist carved a horse out of wood.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an exhibition, then the Arabic for a sculptor, then say naḥata again

Before you move on

What does نحت mean? ("To carve".) Say it once more.

541.5 رسام (rassām) — a painter (artist)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a sculptor, then the Arabic for to carve.

You'll want to know: رسام

رسام — rassām — "a painter (artist)".

الغروب عند البحر الرسام رسم.

rasama ar-rassām al-baḥr ᶜinda al-ghurūb.

The painter painted the sea at sunset.

The pattern fa^{cc}āl names a trade or a habit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رسام (rassām) is built on the native Arabic root r-s-m, "to mark, to trace" (Lane). Rasama, to draw, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rassām
- Say it: rassām, once more
- Say it: rasama ar-rassām al-baḥr ᶜinda al-ghurūb. — The painter painted the sea at sunset.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a sculptor, then the Arabic for to carve, then say rassām again

Before you move on

What does رسام mean? ("A painter (artist)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 542

On stage

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a stage play, a scene, applause and acting, and say that people applauded.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 542: I can talk about a stage play, a scene, applause and acting, and say that people applauded.

542.1 مسرحية (masraḥiyya) — a stage play

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to carve, then the Arabic for a painter.

You'll want to know: مسرحية

مسرحية — masraḥiyya — "a stage play".

المسرح في مضحكة مسرحية شاهدنا.

shāhadnā masraḥiyya muḍḥika fī al-masraḥ.

We watched a funny play at the theatre.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مسرحية (masraḥiyya) is built on the native Arabic root s-r-ḥ, "to send out to pasture" (Lane). Masraḥ, a theatre, which you know, first named a pasture: a wide open place.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: masraḥiyya
- Say it: masraḥiyya, once more
- Say it: shāhadnā masraḥiyya muḍḥika fī al-masraḥ. — We watched a funny play at the theatre.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to carve, then the Arabic for a painter, then say masraḥiyya again

Before you move on

What does مسرحية mean? ("A stage play".) Say it once more.

542.2 مشهد (mashhad) — a scene; a view

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a painter, then the Arabic for a stage play.

You'll want to know: مشهد

مشهد — mashhad — "a scene; a view".

الأخير المشهد في أختي بكت.

bakat ukhtī fī al-mashhad al-akhīr.

My sister cried at the last scene.

Plural: مشاهد, mashāhid.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشهد (mashhad) is built on the native Arabic root sh-h-d, "to be present, to witness" (Lane). Shāhada, to watch, which you know, is from the same root: a mashhad is what is witnessed.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mashhad
- Say it: mashhad, once more
- Say it: bakat ukhtī fī al-mashhad al-akhīr. — My sister cried at the last scene.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a painter, then the Arabic for a stage play, then say mashhad again

Before you move on

What does مشهد mean? ("A scene; a view".) Say it once more.

542.3 تصفيق (taṣfīq) — applause

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a stage play, then the Arabic for a scene.

You'll want to know: تصفيق

تصفيق — taṣfīq — "applause".

الأغنية بعد طويلا تصفيقا سمعنا.

samiᶜnā taṣfīqan ṭawīlan baᶜda al-ughniya.

We heard long applause after the song.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تصفيق (taṣfīq) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-q, "to strike, to clap" (Lane). Taṣfīq is the verbal noun of Form II.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taṣfīq
- Say it: taṣfīq, once more
- Say it: sami^{c}nā taṣfīqan ṭawīlan ba^{c}da al-ughniya. — We heard long applause after the song.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a stage play, then the Arabic for a scene, then say taṣfīq again

Before you move on

What does تصفيق mean? ("Applause".) Say it once more.

542.4 صفق (ṣaffaqa) — to applaud

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a scene, then the Arabic for applause.

You'll want to know: صفق

صفق — ṣaffaqa — "to applaud".

للممثلين الناس صفق.

ṣaffaqa an-nās li-l-mumaththilīn.

The people applauded the actors.

Present: يصفق, yuṣaffiq.
It takes لـ for the one applauded.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صفق (ṣaffaqa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-f-q, "to strike, to clap" (Lane). Form II ṣaffaqa is to clap again and again.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣaffaqa
- Say it: ṣaffaqa, once more
- Say it: ṣaffaqa an-nās li-l-mumaththilīn. — The people applauded the actors.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a scene, then the Arabic for applause, then say ṣaffaqa again

Before you move on

What does صفق mean? ("To applaud".) Say it once more.

542.5 تمثيل (tamthīl) — acting

Before the new one: say the Arabic for applause, then the Arabic for to applaud.

You'll want to know: تمثيل

تمثيل — tamthīl — "acting".

الجامعة في التمثيل أختي درست.

darasat ukhtī at-tamthīl fī al-jāmiᶜa.

My sister studied acting at university.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تمثيل (tamthīl) is built on the native Arabic root m-th-l, "to be like, to resemble" (Lane). Mumaththil, an actor, which you know, is from the same root: acting is making a likeness.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tamthīl
- Say it: tamthīl, once more
- Say it: darasat ukhtī at-tamthīl fī al-jāmiᶜa. — My sister studied acting at university.
- Recall: say the Arabic for applause, then the Arabic for to applaud, then say tamthīl again

Before you move on

What does تمثيل mean? ("Acting".) Say it once more.

Chapter 543

Making music

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a melody, a rhythm, a composer and a choir, and say that someone played an instrument.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 543: I can talk about a melody, a rhythm, a composer and a choir, and say that someone played an instrument.

543.1 لحن (laḥn) — a melody, a tune

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to applaud, then the Arabic for acting.

You'll want to know: لحن

لحن — laḥn — "a melody, a tune".

> جميلا لحنا البنت غنت.
>
> ghannat al-bint laḥnan jamīlan.
>
> The girl sang a beautiful tune.

Plural: ألحان, alḥān.
In grammar لحن also means a mistake in speech.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لحن (laḥn) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-n, "to speak with a tone; to make a mistake in speech" (Lane). Lane gives laḥn both as a tone of voice and as a fault in speaking.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: laḥn
- Say it: laḥn, once more
- Say it: ghannat al-bint laḥnan jamīlan. — The girl sang a beautiful tune.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to applaud, then the Arabic for acting, then say laḥn again

Before you move on

What does لحن mean? ("A melody, a tune".) Say it once more.

543.2 إيقاع (īqāᶜ) — a rhythm, a beat

Before the new one: say the Arabic for acting, then the Arabic for a melody.

You'll want to know: إيقاع

إيقاع — īqāᶜ — "a rhythm, a beat".

الموسيقى إيقاع على الأطفال رقص.

raqaṣa al-aṭfāl ᶜalā īqāᶜ al-mūsīqā.

The children danced to the rhythm of the music.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

إيقاع (īqāᶜ) is built on the native Arabic root w-q-ᶜ, "to fall, to happen" (Lane). Īqāᶜ is the verbal noun of Form IV: making the beats fall.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: īqāᶜ
- Say it: īqāᶜ, once more
- Say it: raqaṣa al-aṭfāl ᶜalā īqāᶜ al-mūsīqā. — The children danced to the rhythm of the music.
- Recall: say the Arabic for acting, then the Arabic for a melody, then say īqāᶜ again

Before you move on

What does إيقاع mean? ("A rhythm, a beat".) Say it once more.

543.3 عزف (ᶜazafa) — to play an instrument

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a melody, then the Arabic for a rhythm.

You'll want to know: عزف

عزف — ᶜazafa — "to play an instrument".

قديمة أغنية أختي عزفت.

ᶜazafat ukhtī ughniya qadīma.

My sister played an old song.

Present: يعزف, yaᶜzif.
It takes على for the instrument.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عزف (ᶜazafa) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-z-f, "to turn away; to make a sound" (Lane). Lane gives yaᶜzifu as its present.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜazafa
- Say it: ᶜazafa, once more
- Say it: ᶜazafat ukhtī ughniya qadīma. — My sister played an old song.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a melody, then the Arabic for a rhythm, then say ᶜazafa again

Before you move on

What does عزف mean? ("To play an instrument".) Say it once more.

543.4 ملحن (mulaḥḥin) — a composer

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rhythm, then the Arabic for to play an instrument.

You'll want to know: ملحن

ملحن — mulaḥḥin — "a composer".

الفيلم موسيقى الملحن كتب.

kataba al-mulaḥḥin mūsīqā al-fīlm.

The composer wrote the music for the film.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملحن (mulaḥḥin) is built on the native Arabic root l-ḥ-n, "to speak with a tone; to make a mistake in speech" (Lane). Mulaḥḥin is the participle of Form II, to set to a tune.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mulaḥḥin
- Say it: mulaḥḥin, once more
- Say it: kataba al-mulaḥḥin mūsīqā al-fīlm. — The composer wrote the music for the film.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rhythm, then the Arabic for to play an instrument, then say mulaḥḥin again

Before you move on

What does ملحن mean? ("A composer".) Say it once more.

543.5 جوقة (jawqa) — a choir

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to play an instrument, then the Arabic for a composer.

You'll want to know: جوقة

جوقة — jawqa — "a choir".

المدرسة جوقة في ابنتي تغني.

tughannī ibnatī fī jawqat al-madrasa.

My daughter sings in the school choir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جوقة (jawqa) is a word for a band or company of people, and today a choir; the origin is not settled.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jawqa
- Say it: jawqa, once more
- Say it: tughannī ibnatī fī jawqat al-madrasa. — My daughter sings in the school choir.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to play an instrument, then the Arabic for a composer, then say jawqa again

Before you move on

What does جوقة mean? ("A choir".) Say it once more.

543.6 Words from chapters 536–543 — a review

Say the Arabic for hunting and a fishing rod.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- hunting, a fishing rod, to go fishing, to unwind, to enjoy
- camping, diving, photography, pottery, a crossword
- embroidery, to embroider, knitting, to knit, to sew
- dice, a swing, to have fun, gardening, to swing
- reading, to subscribe, to meet up, passion, fondness
- an artist, an exhibition, a sculptor, to carve, a painter

- a stage play, a scene, applause, to applaud, acting
- a melody, a rhythm, to play an instrument, a composer, a choir

Before you move on

Hunting? (صيد, ṣayd.) A fishing rod? (صنارة, ṣinnāra.) To go fishing? (اصطاد, iṣṭāda.) To unwind? (استجم, istajamma.) To enjoy? (استمتع, istamtaᶜa.) Camping? (تخييم, takhyīm.) Diving? (غوص, ghawṣ.) Photography? (تصوير, taṣwīr.) Pottery? (فخار, fakhkhār.) A crossword? (متقاطعة كلمات, kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa.) Embroidery? (تطريز, taṭrīz.) To embroider? (طرز, ṭarraza.) Knitting? (حياكة, ḥiyāka.) To knit? (حاك, ḥāka.) To sew? (خاط, khāṭa.) Dice? (نرد, nard.) A swing? (أرجوحة, urjūḥa.) To have fun? (تسلى, tasallā.) Gardening? (بستنة, bastana.) To swing? (تأرجح, taʾarjaḥa.) Reading? (قراءة, qirāʾa.) To subscribe? (اشترك, ishtaraka.) To meet up? (التقى, iltaqā.) Passion? (شغف, shaghaf.) Fondness? (ولع, walaᶜ.) An artist? (فنان, fannān.) An exhibition? (معرض, maᶜriḍ.) A sculptor? (نحات, naḥḥāt.) To carve? (نحت, naḥata.) A painter? (رسام, rassām.) A stage play? (مسرحية, masraḥiyya.) A scene? (مشهد, mashhad.) Applause? (تصفيق, taṣfīq.) To applaud? (صفق, ṣaffaqa.) Acting? (تمثيل, tamthīl.) A melody? (لحن, laḥn.) A rhythm? (إيقاع, īqāᶜ.) To play an instrument? (عزف, ᶜazafa.) A composer? (ملحن, mulaḥḥin.) A choir? (جوقة, jawqa.)

Chapter 544

Instruments

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name an oud, a violin, a drum, a reed flute and a band.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 544: I can name an oud, a violin, a drum, a reed flute and a band.

544.1 عود (^{c}ūd) — an oud, a lute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a composer, then the Arabic for a choir.

You'll want to know: عود

عود — ^{c}ūd — "an oud, a lute".

العود على جدي يعزف.

ya^{c}zifu jaddī ^{c}alā al-^{c}ūd.

My grandfather plays the oud.

Plural: أعواد, a^{c}wād.
It also means a stick of wood.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

عود (ᶜūd) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-w-d, "to return; wood" (Lane). The ᶜūd is the instrument of wood; English lute goes back to al-ᶜūd (EtymDB).

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜūd
- Say it: ᶜūd, once more
- Say it: yaᶜzifu jaddī ᶜalā al-ᶜūd. — My grandfather plays the oud.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a composer, then the Arabic for a choir, then say ᶜūd again

Before you move on

What does عود mean? ("An oud, a lute".) Say it once more.

544.2 كمان (kamān) — a violin

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a choir, then the Arabic for an oud.

You'll want to know: كمان

كمان — kamān — "a violin".

المدرسة في الكمان أختي تتعلم.

tataᶜallamu ukhtī al-kamān fī al-madrasa.

My sister is learning the violin at school.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كمان (kamān) was borrowed into Arabic and is usually traced to Persian kamān, "a bow": the violin is the instrument played with a bow.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kamān
- Say it: kamān, once more
- Say it: tataᶜallamu ukhtī al-kamān fī al-madrasa. — My sister is learning the violin at school.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a choir, then the Arabic for an oud, then say kamān again

Before you move on

What does كمان mean? ("A violin".) Say it once more.

544.3 طبل (ṭabl) — a drum

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an oud, then the Arabic for a violin.

You'll want to know: طبل

طبل — ṭabl — "a drum".

ضرب الولد على الطبل بقوة.

ḍaraba al-walad ᶜalā aṭ-ṭabl bi-quwwa.

The boy beat hard on the drum.

Plural: طبول, ṭubūl.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طبل (ṭabl) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-b-l, "a drum; to beat a drum" (Lane). Ṭabbāl is a drummer.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭabl
- Say it: ṭabl, once more
- Say it: ḍaraba al-walad ᶜalā aṭ-ṭabl bi-quwwa. — The boy beat hard on the drum.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an oud, then the Arabic for a violin, then say ṭabl again

Before you move on

What does طبل mean? ("A drum".) Say it once more.

544.4 ناي (nāy) — a reed flute

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a violin, then the Arabic for a drum.

You'll want to know: ناي

ناي — nāy — "a reed flute".

الليل في الناي صوت سمعنا.

samiᶜnā ṣawt an-nāy fī al-layl.

We heard the sound of the reed flute in the night.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ناي (nāy) was borrowed from Persian nāy, "a pipe, a flute", whose Middle Persian ancestor also meant a reed (EtymDB): the flute is a hollow reed.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nāy
- Say it: nāy, once more
- Say it: samiᶜnā ṣawt an-nāy fī al-layl. — We heard the sound of the reed flute in the night.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a violin, then the Arabic for a drum, then say nāy again

Before you move on

What does ناي mean? ("A reed flute".) Say it once more.

544.5 فرقة (firqa) — a band, a troupe

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a drum, then the Arabic for a reed flute.

You'll want to know: فرقة

فرقة — firqa — "a band, a troupe".

الحفلة في موسيقية فرقة غنت.

ghannat firqa mūsīqiyya fī al-ḥafla.

A band sang at the party.

Plural: فرق, firaq.
It names any group: فرقة مسرحية, a theatre troupe.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرقة (firqa) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-q, "to separate, to divide" (Lane). Farq, a difference, which you know, is from the same root: a firqa is a part set apart.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: firqa
- Say it: firqa, once more
- Say it: ghannat firqa mūsīqiyya fī al-ḥafla. — A band sang at the party.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a drum, then the Arabic for a reed flute, then say firqa again

Before you move on

What does فرقة mean? ("A band, a troupe".) Say it once more.

Chapter 545

Poets and directors

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a poet and a rhyme, and say that someone recited a song, created something brilliant or directed a film.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 545: I can name a poet and a rhyme, and say that someone recited a song, created something brilliant or directed a film.

545.1 شاعر (shāᶜir) — a poet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a reed flute, then the Arabic for a band.

You'll want to know: شاعر

شاعر — shāᶜir — "a poet".

البحر عن قصيدة الشاعر كتب.

kataba ash-shāᶜir qaṣīda ᶜan al-baḥr.

The poet wrote a poem about the sea.

Plural: شعراء, shuᶜarāʾ.
Shiᶜr, poetry, has the same letters as shaᶜr, hair.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شاعر (shāᶜir) is built on the native Arabic root sh-ᶜ-r, "to know, to perceive" (Lane). Shuᶜūr, a feeling, which you know, is from the same root: a poet is one who perceives.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shāᶜir
- Say it: shāᶜir, once more
- Say it: kataba ash-shāᶜir qaṣīda ᶜan al-baḥr. — The poet wrote a poem about the sea.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a reed flute, then the Arabic for a band, then say shāᶜir again

Before you move on

What does شاعر mean? ("A poet".) Say it once more.

545.2 قافية (qāfiya) — a rhyme

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a band, then the Arabic for a poet.

You'll want to know: قافية

قافية — qāfiya — "a rhyme".

القافية نفس له القصيدة في بيت كل.

kull bayt fī al-qaṣīda lahu nafs al-qāfiya.

Every line in the poem has the same rhyme.

بيت is a line of verse as well as a house.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

قافية (qāfiya) is built on the native Arabic root q-f-w, "to follow" (Lane). The qāfiya is the end of the line that follows the same sound each time.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: qāfiya
- Say it: qāfiya, once more
- Say it: kull bayt fī al-qaṣīda lahu nafs al-qāfiya. — Every line in the poem has the same rhyme.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a band, then the Arabic for a poet, then say qāfiya again

Before you move on

What does قافية mean? ("A rhyme".) Say it once more.

545.3 أنشد (anshada) — to recite (verse); to chant

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a poet, then the Arabic for a rhyme.

You'll want to know: أنشد

أنشد — anshada — "to recite (verse); to chant".

أنشد الطلاب نشيد المدرسة.

anshada aṭ-ṭullāb nashīd al-madrasa.

The students sang the school anthem.

Present: ينشد, yunshid.
The noun نشيد is an anthem or a chant.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أنشد (anshada) is built on the native Arabic root n-sh-d, "to seek; to recite verse" (Lane). Form IV anshada is to recite verse aloud.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: anshada
- Say it: anshada, once more
- Say it: anshada aṭ-ṭullāb nashīd al-madrasa. — The students sang the school anthem.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a poet, then the Arabic for a rhyme, then say anshada again

Before you move on

What does أنشد mean? ("To recite (verse); to chant".) Say it once more.

545.4 أبدع (abda^{c}a) — to create; to excel

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a rhyme, then the Arabic for to recite.

You'll want to know: أبدع

أبدع — abda^{c}a — "to create; to excel".

الحفلة في الفرقة أبدعت.

abda^{c}at al-firqa fī al-ḥafla.

The band was brilliant at the party.

Present: يبدع, yubdi^c.
أبدع في … is to do brilliantly at a thing.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أبدع (abdaᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root b-d-ᶜ, "to originate, to make a thing new" (Lane). Mubdiᶜ, creative, is its participle.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: abdaᶜa
- Say it: abdaᶜa, once more
- Say it: abdaᶜat al-firqa fī al-ḥafla. — The band was brilliant at the party.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a rhyme, then the Arabic for to recite, then say abdaᶜa again

Before you move on

What does أبدع mean? ("To create; to excel".) Say it once more.

545.5 أخرج (akhraja) — to direct films; to bring out

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to recite, then the Arabic for to create.

You'll want to know: أخرج

أخرج — akhraja — "to direct films; to bring out".

أخرج صديقي فيلما قصيرا.

akhraja ṣadīqī fīlman qaṣīran.

My friend directed a short film.

Present: يخرج, yukhrij.

Its first sense is to take out; the director, مخرج, is spelled like makhraj, an exit.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

أخرج (akhraja) is built on the native Arabic root kh-r-j, "to go out" (Lane). Kharaja, to go out, which you know, is from the same root; Form IV is to bring out.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: akhraja
- Say it: akhraja, once more
- Say it: akhraja ṣadīqī fīlman qaṣīran. — My friend directed a short film.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to recite, then the Arabic for to create, then say akhraja again

Before you move on

What does أخرج mean? ("To direct films; to bring out".) Say it once more.

Chapter 546

Match day

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a half and a supporter, and say that teams finished level, competed or passed the ball.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 546: I can talk about a half and a supporter, and say that teams finished level, competed or passed the ball.

546.1 شوط (shawṭ) — a half (of a match)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to create, then the Arabic for to direct films.

You'll want to know: شوط

شوط — shawṭ — "a half (of a match)".

> الأول الشوط في هدفا الفريق سجل.
>
> sajjala al-farīq hadafan fī ash-shawṭ al-awwal.
>
> The team scored a goal in the first half.

Plural: أشواط, ashwāṭ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شوط (shawṭ) is built on the native Arabic root sh-w-ṭ, "a run, a single course" (Lane). Lane gives shawṭ as one run of a course: one stretch of a race.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: shawṭ
- Say it: shawṭ, once more
- Say it: sajjala al-farīq hadafan fī ash-shawṭ al-awwal. — The team scored a goal in the first half.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to create, then the Arabic for to direct films, then say shawṭ again

Before you move on

What does شوط mean? ("A half (of a match)".) Say it once more.

546.2 مشجع (mushajji^c) — a supporter, a fan

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to direct films, then the Arabic for a half.

You'll want to know: مشجع

مشجع — mushajji^c — "a supporter, a fan".

الملعب في المشجعون غنى.

ghannā al-mushajji^{c}ūn fī al-mal^{c}ab.

The supporters sang in the stadium.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مشجع (mushajji^c) is built on the native Arabic root sh-j-^{c}, "to be brave" (Lane). Mushajji^c is the participle of shajja^{c}a, to encourage.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mushajji^c
- Say it: mushajji^c, once more
- Say it: ghannā al-mushajji^{c}ūn fī al-mal^{c}ab. — The supporters sang in the stadium.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to direct films, then the Arabic for a half, then say mushajji^c again

Before you move on

What does مشجع mean? ("A supporter, a fan".) Say it once more.

546.3 تعادل (ta^{c}ādala) — to finish level; to end in a draw

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a half, then the Arabic for a supporter.

You'll want to know: تعادل

تعادل — ta^{c}ādala — "to finish level; to end in a draw".

المباراة في الفريقان تعادل.

ta^{c}ādala al-farīqān fī al-mubārā.

The two teams drew the match.

Present: يتعادل, yata^{c}ādal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تعادل (ta^{c}ādala) is built on the native Arabic root ^{c}-d-l, "to be equal, to be fair" (Lane). Form VI ta^{c}ādala is to be equal to one another.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ta^{c}ādala
- Say it: ta^{c}ādala, once more
- Say it: ta^{c}ādala al-farīqān fī al-mubārā. — The two teams drew the match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a half, then the Arabic for a supporter, then say ta^{c}ādala again

Before you move on

What does تعادل mean? ("To finish level; to end in a draw".) Say it once more.

546.4 مرر (marrara) — to pass the ball

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a supporter, then the Arabic for to finish level.

You'll want to know: مرر

مرر — marrara — "to pass the ball".

مرر اللاعب الكرة إلى زميله.

marrara al-lā^{c}ib al-kura ilā zamīlihi.

The player passed the ball to his teammate.

Present: يمرر, yumarrir.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مرر (marrara) is built on the native Arabic root m-r-r, "to pass, to go by" (Lane). Form II marrara is to make a thing pass.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: marrara
- Say it: marrara, once more
- Say it: marrara al-lāᶜib al-kura ilā zamīlihi. — The player passed the ball to his teammate.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a supporter, then the Arabic for to finish level, then say marrara again

Before you move on

What does مرر mean? ("To pass the ball".) Say it once more.

546.5 تنافس (tanāfasa) — to compete

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to finish level, then the Arabic for to pass the ball.

You'll want to know: تنافس

تنافس — tanāfasa — "to compete".

البطولة على الفريقان تنافس.

tanāfasa al-farīqān ᶜalā al-buṭūla.

The two teams competed for the championship.

Present: يتنافس, yatanāfas.
It takes على for the prize.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تنافس (tanāfasa) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-s, "a soul; to be precious" (Lane). Form VI tanāfasa is to vie with one another for a precious thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: tanāfasa
- Say it: tanāfasa, once more
- Say it: tanāfasa al-farīqān ᶜalā al-buṭūla. — The two teams competed for the championship.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to finish level, then the Arabic for to pass the ball, then say tanāfasa again

Before you move on

What does تنافس mean? ("To compete".) Say it once more.

Chapter 547

Winning and prizes

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a win, a championship, a trophy and a medal, and say that a team qualified.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 547: I can talk about a win, a championship, a trophy and a medal, and say that a team qualified.

547.1 فوز (fawz) — a triumph; a win

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to pass the ball, then the Arabic for to compete.

You'll want to know: فوز

فوز — fawz — "a triumph; a win".

> احتفل اللاعبون بالفوز.
>
> iḥtafala al-lāᶜibūn bi-l-fawz.
>
> The players celebrated the win.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فوز (fawz) is built on the native Arabic root f-w-z, "to win, to escape safely" (Lane). Fāza, to win, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: fawz
- Say it: fawz, once more
- Say it: iḥtafala al-lāᶜibūn bi-l-fawz. — The players celebrated the win.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to pass the ball, then the Arabic for to compete, then say fawz again

Before you move on

What does فوز mean? ("A triumph; a win".) Say it once more.

547.2 بطولة (buṭūla) — a championship; heroism

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to compete, then the Arabic for a triumph.

You'll want to know: بطولة

بطولة — buṭūla — "a championship; heroism".

بالبطولة المدرسة فريق فاز.

fāza farīq al-madrasa bi-l-buṭūla.

The school team won the championship.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بطولة (buṭūla) is built on the native Arabic root b-ṭ-l, "to be void, to be idle; to be brave" (Lane). Lane gives the root both senses: baṭāla is idleness, and baṭal a brave man.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: buṭūla
- Say it: buṭūla, once more
- Say it: fāza farīq al-madrasa bi-l-buṭūla. — The school team won the championship.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to compete, then the Arabic for a triumph, then say buṭūla again

Before you move on

What does بطولة mean? ("A championship; heroism".) Say it once more.

547.3 كأس (kaʾs) — a trophy; a cup

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a triumph, then the Arabic for a championship.

You'll want to know: كأس

كأس — kaʾs — "a trophy; a cup".

رفع الفريق الكأس بعد المباراة.

rafaᶜa al-farīq al-kaʾs baᶜda al-mubārā.

The team lifted the trophy after the match.

It is also a drinking glass.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كأس (kaʾs) is built on the native Arabic root k-ʾ-s, "a cup, a drinking vessel" (Lane). Lane gives kaʾs as a cup with drink in it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ka^{ʔ}s
- Say it: ka^{ʔ}s, once more
- Say it: rafa^{c}a al-farīq al-ka^{ʔ}s ba^{c}da al-mubārā. — The team lifted the trophy after the match.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a triumph, then the Arabic for a championship, then say ka^{ʔ}s again

Before you move on

What does كأس mean? ("A trophy; a cup".) Say it once more.

547.4 ميدالية (mīdāliya) — a medal

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a championship, then the Arabic for a trophy.

You'll want to know: ميدالية

ميدالية — mīdāliya — "a medal".

ذهبية بميدالية أخي فاز.

fāza akhī bi-mīdāliya dhahabiyya.

My brother won a gold medal.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ميدالية (mīdāliya) is a modern loan, usually traced to Italian medaglia or French médaille, which go back to Latin metallum, "metal".

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mīdāliya
- Say it: mīdāliya, once more
- Say it: fāza akhī bi-mīdāliya dhahabiyya. — My brother won a gold medal.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a championship, then the Arabic for a trophy, then say mīdāliya again

Before you move on

What does ميدالية mean? ("A medal".) Say it once more.

547.5 تأهل (taʾahhala) — to qualify

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a trophy, then the Arabic for a medal.

You'll want to know: تأهل

تأهل — taʾahhala — "to qualify".

البطولة إلى فريقنا تأهل.

taʾahhala farīqunā ilā al-buṭūla.

Our team qualified for the championship.

Present: يتأهل, yataʾahhal.
It takes إلى or لـ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

تأهل (taʾahhala) is built on the native Arabic root ʾ-h-l, "a family; to be fit for" (Lane). Form V taʾahhala is to become fit for a thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: taʾahhala
- Say it: taʾahhala, once more
- Say it: taʾahhala farīqunā ilā al-buṭūla. — Our team qualified for the championship.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a trophy, then the Arabic for a medal, then say taʾahhala again

Before you move on

What does تأهل mean? ("To qualify".) Say it once more.

Chapter 548

In the pool and the ring

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about swimming and boxing, and say that someone wrestled, competed with others or punched.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 548: I can talk about swimming and boxing, and say that someone wrestled, competed with others or punched.

548.1 سباحة (sibāḥa) — swimming

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a medal, then the Arabic for to qualify.

You'll want to know: سباحة

سباحة — sibāḥa — "swimming".

صحية رياضة السباحة.

as-sibāḥa riyāḍa ṣiḥḥiyya.

Swimming is a healthy sport.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

سباحة (sibāḥa) is built on the native Arabic root s-b-ḥ, "to swim, to float" (Lane). Sabaḥa, to swim, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sibāḥa
- Say it: sibāḥa, once more
- Say it: as-sibāḥa riyāḍa ṣiḥḥiyya. — Swimming is a healthy sport.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a medal, then the Arabic for to qualify, then say sibāḥa again

Before you move on

What does سباحة mean? ("Swimming".) Say it once more.

548.2 ملاكمة (mulākama) — boxing

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to qualify, then the Arabic for swimming.

You'll want to know: ملاكمة

ملاكمة — mulākama — "boxing".

التلفاز على الملاكمة أبي يشاهد.

yushāhidu abī al-mulākama ᶜalā at-tilfāz.

My father watches boxing on television.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ملاكمة (mulākama) is built on the native Arabic root l-k-m, "to strike with the fist" (Lane). Mulākama is the verbal noun of Form III: hitting one another with the fist.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mulākama
- Say it: mulākama, once more
- Say it: yushāhidu abī al-mulākama ᶜalā at-tilfāz. — My father watches boxing on television.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to qualify, then the Arabic for swimming, then say mulākama again

Before you move on

What does ملاكمة mean? ("Boxing".) Say it once more.

548.3 صارع (ṣāraᶜa) — to wrestle (with)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for swimming, then the Arabic for boxing.

You'll want to know: صارع

صارع — ṣāraᶜa — "to wrestle (with)".

البلد بطل اللاعب صارع.

ṣāraᶜa al-lāᶜib baṭal al-balad.

The player wrestled the national champion.

Present: يصارع, yuṣāriᶜ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صارع (ṣāraᶜa) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-r-ᶜ, "to throw down" (Lane). Form III ṣāraᶜa is to try to throw one another down.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣāraᶜa
- Say it: ṣāraᶜa, once more
- Say it: ṣāraᶜa al-lāᶜib baṭal al-balad. — The player wrestled the national champion.
- Recall: say the Arabic for swimming, then the Arabic for boxing, then say ṣāraᶜa again

Before you move on

What does صارع mean? ("To wrestle (with)".) Say it once more.

548.4 نافس (nāfasa) — to compete with

Before the new one: say the Arabic for boxing, then the Arabic for to wrestle.

You'll want to know: نافس

نافس — nāfasa — "to compete with".

السباق في بنات عشر أختي نافست.

nāfasat ukhtī ᶜashr banāt fī as-sibāq.

My sister competed with ten girls in the race.

Present: ينافس, yunāfis.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نافس (nāfasa) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-s, "a soul; to be precious" (Lane). Form III nāfasa is to vie with someone for a precious thing.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nāfasa
- Say it: nāfasa, once more
- Say it: nāfasat ukhtī ᶜashr banāt fī as-sibāq. — My sister competed with ten girls in the race.
- Recall: say the Arabic for boxing, then the Arabic for to wrestle, then say nāfasa again

Before you move on

What does نافس mean? ("To compete with".) Say it once more.

548.5 لكم (lakama) — to punch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to wrestle, then the Arabic for to compete with.

You'll want to know: لكم

لكم — lakama — "to punch".

خصمه الملاكم لكم.

lakama al-mulākim khaṣmahu.

The boxer punched his opponent.

Present: يلكم, yalkum.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لكم (lakama) is built on the native Arabic root l-k-m, "to strike with the fist" (Lane). Lane gives lakma as a blow with the fist; mulākama, boxing, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: lakama
- Say it: lakama, once more
- Say it: lakama al-mulākim khaṣmahu. — The boxer punched his opponent.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to wrestle, then the Arabic for to compete with, then say lakama again

Before you move on

What does لكم mean? ("To punch".) Say it once more.

Chapter 549

The attic and the door

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name an attic, a bell, a handle, a bolt and a drain.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 549: I can name an attic, a bell, a handle, a bolt and a drain.

549.1 علية (ᶜulliyya) — an attic, a loft

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to compete with, then the Arabic for to punch.

You'll want to know: علية

علية — ᶜulliyya — "an attic, a loft".

> العلية في القديمة الصناديق وضعنا.
>
> waḍaᶜnā aṣ-ṣanādīq al-qadīma fī al-ᶜulliyya.
>
> We put the old boxes in the attic.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

علية (ᶜulliyya) is built on the native Arabic root ᶜ-l-w, "to be high, to rise" (Lane). The ᶜulliyya is the room at the top.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ᶜulliyya
- Say it: ᶜulliyya, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜnā aṣ-ṣanādīq al-qadīma fī al-ᶜulliyya. — We put the old boxes in the attic.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to compete with, then the Arabic for to punch, then say ᶜulliyya again

Before you move on

What does علية mean? ("An attic, a loft".) Say it once more.

549.2 جرس (jaras) — a bell

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to punch, then the Arabic for an attic.

You'll want to know: جرس

جرس — jaras — "a bell".

الصباح في الباب جرس رن.

ranna jaras al-bāb fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ.

The doorbell rang in the morning.

Plural: أجراس, ajrās.
الباب جرس is a doorbell.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جرس (jaras) is built on the native Arabic root j-r-s, "a sound, a low voice" (Lane). Lane gives jaras as a sound, and a bell that makes it.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jaras
- Say it: jaras, once more
- Say it: ranna jaras al-bāb fī aṣ-ṣabāḥ. — The doorbell rang in the morning.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to punch, then the Arabic for an attic, then say jaras again

Before you move on

What does جرس mean? ("A bell".) Say it once more.

549.3 مقبض (miqbaḍ) — a handle

Before the new one: say the Arabic for an attic, then the Arabic for a bell.

You'll want to know: مقبض

مقبض — miqbaḍ — "a handle".

الباب مقبض انكسر.

inkasara miqbaḍ al-bāb.

The door handle broke.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مقبض (miqbaḍ) is built on the native Arabic root q-b-ḍ, "to grasp with the hand" (Lane). A miqbaḍ is the place where you grasp.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: miqbaḍ
- Say it: miqbaḍ, once more
- Say it: inkasara miqbaḍ al-bāb. — The door handle broke.
- Recall: say the Arabic for an attic, then the Arabic for a bell, then say miqbaḍ again

Before you move on

What does مقبض mean? ("A handle".) Say it once more.

549.4 مزلاج (mizlāj) — a bolt, a latch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bell, then the Arabic for a handle.

You'll want to know: مزلاج

مزلاج — mizlāj — "a bolt, a latch".

أغلقت الباب بالمزلاج.

aghlaqtu al-bāb bi-l-mizlāj.

I shut the door with the bolt.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزلاج (mizlāj) is built on the native Arabic root z-l-j, "to slide, to slip" (Lane). Lane gives azlaja al-bāb as to make a door fast with the mizlāj. The pattern mifᶜāl names a tool.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mizlāj
- Say it: mizlāj, once more
- Say it: aghlaqtu al-bāb bi-l-mizlāj. — I shut the door with the bolt.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bell, then the Arabic for a handle, then say mizlāj again

Before you move on

What does مزلاج mean? ("A bolt, a latch".) Say it once more.

549.5 بالوعة (bālū^{c}a) — a drain

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a handle, then the Arabic for a bolt.

You'll want to know: بالوعة

بالوعة — bālū^{c}a — "a drain".

الشارع في البالوعة الأوراق سدت.

saddat al-awrāq al-bālū^{c}a fī ash-shāri^c.

Leaves blocked the drain in the street.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

بالوعة (bālū^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root b-l-^{c}, "to swallow" (Lane). A bālū^{c}a swallows the water. Ibtala^{c}a, to swallow, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: bālū^{c}a
- Say it: bālū^{c}a, once more
- Say it: saddat al-awrāq al-bālū^{c}a fī ash-shāri^{c}. — Leaves blocked the drain in the street.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a handle, then the Arabic for a bolt, then say bālū^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does بالوعة mean? ("A drain".) Say it once more.

Chapter 550

Keeping the house

Modes: 🚗 voice (5) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 5 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a chandelier and a vase, and say that someone shook out a carpet, polished shoes or took care of a thing.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 550: I can name a chandelier and a vase, and say that someone shook out a carpet, polished shoes or took care of a thing.

550.1 ثريا (thurayyā) — a chandelier

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bolt, then the Arabic for a drain.

You'll want to know: ثريا

ثريا — thurayyā — "a chandelier".

> كبيرة ثريا الجلوس غرفة في.
>
> fī ghurfat al-julūs thurayyā kabīra.
>
> There is a big chandelier in the sitting room.

الثريا is also the Pleiades, a cluster of stars.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ثريا (thurayyā) is built on the native Arabic root th-r-w, "to be many, to abound" (Lane). Lane gives al-thurayyā as the Pleiades, a cluster of many stars, and a cluster of lamps.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: thurayyā
- Say it: thurayyā, once more
- Say it: fī ghurfat al-julūs thurayyā kabīra. — There is a big chandelier in the sitting room.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bolt, then the Arabic for a drain, then say thurayyā again

Before you move on

What does ثريا mean? ("A chandelier".) Say it once more.

550.2 مزهرية (mazhariyya) — a vase

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a drain, then the Arabic for a chandelier.

You'll want to know: مزهرية

مزهرية — mazhariyya — "a vase".

المزهرية في الورد أمي وضعت.

waḍaᶜat ummī al-ward fī al-mazhariyya.

My mother put the roses in the vase.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مزهرية (mazhariyya) is built on the native Arabic root z-h-r, "to shine; a flower" (Lane). Zahra, a flower, which you know, is from the same root: a mazhariyya is a thing for flowers.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mazhariyya
- Say it: mazhariyya, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜat ummī al-ward fī al-mazhariyya. — My mother put the roses in the vase.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a drain, then the Arabic for a chandelier, then say mazhariyya again

Before you move on

What does مزهرية mean? ("A vase".) Say it once more.

550.3 نفض (nafaḍa) — to shake out (dust)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a chandelier, then the Arabic for a vase.

You'll want to know: نفض

نفض — nafaḍa — "to shake out (dust)".

الشرفة في السجادة أمي نفضت.

nafaḍat ummī as-sajjāda fī ash-shurfa.

My mother shook out the carpet on the balcony.

Present: ينفض, yanfuḍ.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

نفض (nafaḍa) is built on the native Arabic root n-f-ḍ, "to shake a thing to clear it" (Lane). Lane gives nafaḍa, aor. yanfuḍu, as to shake a cloth so that what is on it falls off.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: nafaḍa
- Say it: nafaḍa, once more
- Say it: nafaḍat ummī as-sajjāda fī ash-shurfa. — My mother shook out the carpet on the balcony.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a chandelier, then the Arabic for a vase, then say nafaḍa again

Before you move on

What does نفض mean? ("To shake out (dust)".) Say it once more.

550.4 لمع (lamma^{c}a) — to polish

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a vase, then the Arabic for to shake out.

You'll want to know: لمع

لمع — lamma^{c}a — "to polish".

الحفلة قبل حذاءه أبي لمع.

lamma^{c}a abī ḥidhāʾahu qabla al-ḥafla.

My father polished his shoes before the party.

Present: يلمع, yulammi^c.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

لمع (lamma^{c}a) is built on the native Arabic root l-m-^{c}, "to shine, to gleam" (Lane). Lāmi^{c}, shiny, which you know, is from the same root; Form II is to make a thing shine.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: lamma^{c}a
- Say it: lamma^{c}a, once more
- Say it: lamma^{c}a abī ḥidhāʾahu qabla al-ḥafla. — My father polished his shoes before the party.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a vase, then the Arabic for to shake out, then say lamma^{c}a again

Before you move on

What does لمع mean? ("To polish".) Say it once more.

550.5 صان (ṣāna) — to maintain, to look after (a thing)

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to shake out, then the Arabic for to polish.

You'll want to know: صان

صان — ṣāna — "to maintain, to look after (a thing)".

القديمة ساعته جدي يصون.

yaṣūnu jaddī sā^{c}atahu al-qadīma.

My grandfather takes care of his old watch.

Present: يصون, yaṣūn.
The noun صيانة is maintenance.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

صان (ṣāna) is built on the native Arabic root ṣ-w-n, "to preserve, to guard" (Lane). Lane gives ṣāna, aor. yaṣūnu, as to keep a thing safe.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṣāna
- Say it: ṣāna, once more
- Say it: yaṣūnu jaddī sāᶜatahu al-qadīma. — My grandfather takes care of his old watch.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to shake out, then the Arabic for to polish, then say ṣāna again

Before you move on

What does صان mean? ("To maintain, to look after (a thing)".) Say it once more.

Chapter 551

Sheets, cushions and a couch

Modes: 🚗 voice (6) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 6 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can name a bedsheet, a cushion, a basin, a mop and a couch.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 551: I can name a bedsheet, a cushion, a basin, a mop and a couch.

551.1 شرشف (sharshaf) — a bedsheet

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to polish, then the Arabic for to maintain.

You'll want to know: شرشف

شرشف — sharshaf — "a bedsheet".

> السرير شراشف أمي غيرت.
>
> ghayyarat ummī sharāshif as-sarīr.
>
> My mother changed the bedsheets.

Plural: شراشف, sharāshif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

شرشف (sharshaf) is usually traced to Persian chādar-shab, "a night sheet", which reached Arabic through Turkish.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: sharshaf
- Say it: sharshaf, once more
- Say it: ghayyarat ummī sharāshif as-sarīr. — My mother changed the bedsheets.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to polish, then the Arabic for to maintain, then say sharshaf again

Before you move on

What does شرشف mean? ("A bedsheet".) Say it once more.

551.2 مخدة (mikhadda) — a cushion; a pillow

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to maintain, then the Arabic for a bedsheet.

You'll want to know: مخدة

مخدة — mikhadda — "a cushion; a pillow".

رأسي تحت المخدة وضعت.

waḍaᶜtu al-mikhadda taḥta raʾsī.

I put the cushion under my head.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

مخدة (mikhadda) is built on the native Arabic root kh-d-d, "to furrow; the cheek" (Lane). Lane gives mikhadda as a pillow, so called because it is put under the cheek, khadd, which you know.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mikhadda
- Say it: mikhadda, once more
- Say it: waḍaᶜtu al-mikhadda taḥta raʾsī. — I put the cushion under my head.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to maintain, then the Arabic for a bedsheet, then say mikhadda again

Before you move on

What does مخدة mean? ("A cushion; a pillow".) Say it once more.

551.3 حوض (ḥawḍ) — a basin, a tub

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a bedsheet, then the Arabic for a cushion.

You'll want to know: حوض

حوض — ḥawḍ — "a basin, a tub".

ملأ الولد حوض الاستحمام بالماء.

malaʾa al-walad ḥawḍ al-istiḥmām bi-l-māʾ.

The boy filled the bathtub with water.

Plural: أحواض, aḥwāḍ.
حوض الاستحمام is a bathtub.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

حوض (ḥawḍ) is built on the native Arabic root ḥ-w-ḍ, "a watering trough" (Lane). Lane gives ḥawḍ as a trough or cistern for water.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ḥawḍ
- Say it: ḥawḍ, once more
- Say it: malaʾa al-walad ḥawḍ al-istiḥmām bi-l-māʾ. — The boy filled the bathtub with water.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a bedsheet, then the Arabic for a cushion, then say ḥawḍ again

Before you move on

What does حوض mean? ("A basin, a tub".) Say it once more.

551.4 ممسحة (mimsaḥa) — a mop

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a cushion, then the Arabic for a basin.

You'll want to know: ممسحة

ممسحة — mimsaḥa — "a mop".

بالممسحة الأرض نظفت.

naẓẓaftu al-arḍ bi-l-mimsaḥa.

I cleaned the floor with the mop.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

ممسحة (mimsaḥa) is built on the native Arabic root m-s-ḥ, "to wipe" (Lane). Masaḥa, to wipe, which you know, is from the same root; the pattern mifᶜala names a tool.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: mimsaḥa
- Say it: mimsaḥa, once more
- Say it: naẓẓaftu al-arḍ bi-l-mimsaḥa. — I cleaned the floor with the mop.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a cushion, then the Arabic for a basin, then say mimsaḥa again

Before you move on

What does ممسحة mean? ("A mop".) Say it once more.

551.5 كنبة (kanaba) — a couch

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a basin, then the Arabic for a mop.

You'll want to know: كنبة

كنبة — kanaba — "a couch".

فيلما وشاهدنا الكنبة على جلسنا.

jalasnā ᶜalā al-kanaba wa-shāhadnā filman.

We sat on the couch and watched a film.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

كنبة (kanaba) is a modern word, usually traced to French canapé, a sofa.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: kanaba
- Say it: kanaba, once more
- Say it: jalasnā ᶜalā al-kanaba wa-shāhadnā fīlman. — We sat on the couch and watched a film.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a basin, then the Arabic for a mop, then say kanaba again

Before you move on

What does كنبة mean? ("A couch".) Say it once more.

551.6 Words from chapters 544–551 — a review

Say the Arabic for an oud and a violin.

Your turn

Say these aloud:

- an oud, a violin, a drum, a reed flute, a band
- a poet, a rhyme, to recite, to create, to direct films
- a half, a supporter, to finish level, to pass the ball, to compete
- a triumph, a championship, a trophy, a medal, to qualify
- swimming, boxing, to wrestle, to compete with, to punch
- an attic, a bell, a handle, a bolt, a drain
- a chandelier, a vase, to shake out, to polish, to maintain
- a bedsheet, a cushion, a basin, a mop, a couch

Before you move on

An oud? (عود, ᶜūd.) A violin? (كمان, kamān.) A drum? (طبل, ṭabl.) A reed flute? (ناي, nāy.) A band? (فرقة, firqa.) A poet? (شاعر, shāᶜir.) A rhyme? (قافية, qāfiya.) To recite? (أنشد, anshada.) To create? (أبدع, abdaᶜa.) To direct films? (أخرج, akhraja.) A half? (شوط, shawṭ.) A supporter? (مشجع, mushajjiᶜ.) To finish level? (تعادل, taᶜādala.) To pass the ball? (مرر, marrara.) To compete? (تنافس, tanāfasa.) A triumph? (فوز, fawz.) A championship? (بطولة, buṭūla.) A trophy? (كأس, kaʾs.) A medal? (ميدالية, mīdāliya.) To qualify? (تأهل, taʾahhala.) Swimming? (سباحة, sibāḥa.) Boxing? (ملاكمة, mulākama.) To wrestle? (صارع, ṣāraᶜa.) To compete with? (نافس, nāfasa.) To punch? (لكم, lakama.) An attic? (علية, ᶜulliyya.) A bell? (جرس, jaras.) A handle? (مقبض, miqbaḍ.) A bolt? (مزلاج, mizlāj.) A drain? (بالوعة, bālūᶜa.) A chandelier? (ثريا, thurayyā.) A vase? (مزهرية, mazhariyya.) To shake out? (نفض, nafaḍa.) To polish? (لمع, lammaᶜa.) To maintain? (صان, ṣāna.) A bedsheet? (شرشف, sharshaf.) A cushion? (مخدة, mikhadda.) A basin? (حوض, ḥawḍ.) A mop? (ممسحة, mimsaḥa.) A couch? (كنبة, kanaba.)

Chapter 552

Doing up the house

Modes: 🚗 voice (7) 🚗 Hands-free start: all 7 lessons.

> By the end of this chapter: I can talk about a coat of paint, and say that someone renovated, decorated, furnished or dried something.
>
> Complete the last lesson of chapter 552: I can talk about a coat of paint, and say that someone renovated, decorated, furnished or dried something.

552.1 طلاء (ṭilāʾ) — a coat of paint

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a mop, then the Arabic for a couch.

You'll want to know: طلاء

طلاء — ṭilāʾ — "a coat of paint".

جف الطلاء الأزرق على الباب.

jaffa aṭ-ṭilāʾ al-azraq ᶜalā al-bāb.

The blue paint dried on the door.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

طلاء (ṭilāʾ) is built on the native Arabic root ṭ-l-y, "to smear, to coat" (Lane). Ṭilāʾ is what is smeared on.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: ṭilāʾ
- Say it: ṭilāʾ, once more
- Say it: jaffa aṭ-ṭilāʾ al-azraq ʿalā al-bāb. — The blue paint dried on the door.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a mop, then the Arabic for a couch, then say ṭilāʾ again

Before you move on

What does طلاء mean? ("A coat of paint".) Say it once more.

552.2 رمم (rammama) — to renovate, to restore

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a couch, then the Arabic for a coat of paint.

You'll want to know: رمم

رمم — rammama — "to renovate, to restore".

القديم البيت أبي رمم.

rammama abī al-bayt al-qadīm.

My father renovated the old house.

Present: يرمم, yurammim.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

رمم (rammama) is built on the native Arabic root r-m-m, "to repair, to mend" (Lane). Form II rammama is to put an old thing right.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: rammama
- Say it: rammama, once more
- Say it: rammama abī al-bayt al-qadīm. — My father renovated the old house.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a couch, then the Arabic for a coat of paint, then say rammama again

Before you move on

What does رمم mean? ("To renovate, to restore".) Say it once more.

552.3 زين (zayyana) — to decorate

Before the new one: say the Arabic for a coat of paint, then the Arabic for to renovate.

You'll want to know: زين

زين — zayyana — "to decorate".

للعيد الغرفة الأطفال زين.

zayyana al-aṭfāl al-ghurfa li-l-ᶜīd.

The children decorated the room for the feast.

Present: يزين, yuzayyin.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

زين (zayyana) is built on the native Arabic root z-y-n, "to adorn, to beautify" (Lane). Zīna, decorations, which you know, is from the same root.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: zayyana
- Say it: zayyana, once more
- Say it: zayyana al-aṭfāl al-ghurfa li-l-ᶜīd. — The children decorated the room for the feast.
- Recall: say the Arabic for a coat of paint, then the Arabic for to renovate, then say zayyana again

Before you move on

What does زين mean? ("To decorate".) Say it once more.

552.4 جفف (jaffafa) — to dry off

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to renovate, then the Arabic for to decorate.

You'll want to know: جفف

جفف — jaffafa — "to dry off".

بمنشفة الأطباق أمي جففت.

jaffafat ummī al-aṭbāq bi-minshafa.

My mother dried the plates with a towel.

Present: يجفف, yujaffif.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

جفف (jaffafa) is built on the native Arabic root j-f-f, "to be dry" (Lane). Jāff, dry, which you know, is from the same root; Form II jaffafa is to make dry.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: jaffafa
- Say it: jaffafa, once more
- Say it: jaffafat ummī al-aṭbāq bi-minshafa. — My mother dried the plates with a towel.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to renovate, then the Arabic for to decorate, then say jaffafa again

Before you move on

What does جفف mean? ("To dry off".) Say it once more.

552.5 فرش (farasha) — to furnish; to spread

Before the new one: say the Arabic for to decorate, then the Arabic for to dry off.

You'll want to know: فرش

فرش — farasha — "to furnish; to spread".

الجديدة الشقة فرشنا.

farashnā ash-shaqqa al-jadīda.

We furnished the new flat.

Present: يفرش, yafrush.

The word, taken apart — its root and its family

فرش (farasha) is built on the native Arabic root f-r-sh, "to spread out" (Lane). Firāsh, a mattress, which you know, is from the same root: a thing spread out.

What you've built

One more word for describing what you lived and felt.

Your turn

- Say it: farasha
- Say it: farasha, once more
- Say it: farashnā ash-shaqqa al-jadīda. — We furnished the new flat.
- Recall: say the Arabic for to decorate, then the Arabic for to dry off, then say farasha again

Before you move on

What does فرش mean? ("To furnish; to spread".) Say it once more.

552.6 The house — a last review

Say the Arabic for a coat of paint and to renovate.

Your turn

- Say it: a coat of paint, to renovate, to decorate, to dry off, to furnish

Before you move on

A coat of paint? (طلاء, ṭilāʾ.) To renovate? (رمم, rammama.) To decorate? (زين, zayyana.) To dry off? (جفف, jaffafa.) To furnish? (فرش, farasha.)

552.7 Doing up the house — once more

Say the Arabic for a coat of paint and to renovate.

Your turn

- Say it: a coat of paint, to renovate, to decorate, to dry off, to furnish

Before you move on

A coat of paint? (طلاء, ṭilāʾ.) To renovate? (رمم, rammama.) To decorate? (زين, zayyana.) To dry off? (جفف, jaffafa.) To furnish? (فرش, farasha.)

Pronunciation & Script — a reference

A reference, not a chapter — a place to look things up as you go, never a wall to climb first. Chapter 1 (the reading course) teaches you to decode the script from zero, letter by letter, each letter introduced as a word needs it; this page just collects the sound-and-script facts in one spot. Lessons name the sounds they need and link here.

Transliteration note: this curriculum writes Arabic in both the script (مرحبا) and a Latin transliteration (marḥaban), with a dot under a letter marking the "heavy"/emphatic or throaty consonants.

The script, in one breath

- Right to left. Eyes and writing both go right → left.
- Letters connect. Most letters join to the next, so a letter has up to four shapes (isolated / initial / medial / final). You don't drill these — you re-meet them inside real words.
- Short vowels are often unwritten. a, i, u are usually diacritics (harakāt) left off in everyday text; long vowels (ā, ī, ū) are written as letters (ا و ي).

Consonants with no English equivalent

- `ha-heavy` — ح (ḥ): a "heavy" h, breathed hard from deep in the throat (vs. the light ه h). marḥaban, ṣabāḥ.
- `kha` — خ (kh): a guttural scrape at the back of the throat = Scottish loch, German Bach, Spanish *j (jueves). khayr.

- `ayn` — ع (^{c}, "^{c}ayn"): a tightening deep in the throat, voiced. No English equivalent; approximate it. ^{c}alaykum, ^{c}afwan.
- `hamza` — ء (^{ɔ}): a glottal stop, the catch in "uh-oh." masā^ɔ.
- غ (gh): like a French/guttural r (gargled g). ق (q): a k made far back, at the uvula.

Emphatic ("heavy") consonants

- `emphatic-sad` — ص (ṣ), ض (ḍ), ط (ṭ), ظ (ẓ): heavier, deeper versions of s, d, t, dh, made with the tongue lower and the mouth fuller. They genuinely change the word (ص ṣ ≠ س s). ṣabāḥ.

Light consonants (close to English)

- `shin` — ش (sh) = English sh (shukran). س (s) = plain s. ب (b), ل (l), م (m), ر (r, a tapped/rolled r like Spanish), ن (n), ك (k), ت (t) — all near their English values.

The definite article and "sun/moon letters"

- `sun-moon` — ال (al-, "the") attaches to its noun. Before a sun letter (ن ل ظ ط ض ص ش س ز ر ذ د ث ت) the l assimilates and the letter doubles: al-salām → as-salām, al-nūr → an-nūr. Before a moon letter (the rest, e.g. ب ك ق خ) the l stays: al-khayr. You can hear the sun-letter rule fossilized in Spanish azúcar (← as-sukkar).

The root system (structure, not pronunciation)

- Most words are built on a three-consonant root carrying a core meaning, poured into fixed vowel patterns: k-t-b (writing) → kitāb (book), kātib (writer), maktab (office). Learn a root and a few patterns, and you generate a whole family. See the first lesson.

Glossary

This glossary collects every word and phrase taught in the book. Pronunciation appears when it differs from the written form; chapter numbers show where each entry is introduced.

ي -ī
my (possessive suffix -ī)
Introduced in Chapter 2.

أب أم ab umm
father and mother — ancient Semitic roots, cousins of Hebrew's own family words
Introduced in Chapter 10.

أبدا abadan
never, ever
Introduced in Chapter 170.

أباح abāḥa
to permit
Introduced in Chapter 410.

أبدع abdaᶜa
to create; to excel
Introduced in Chapter 545.

أبحر abḥara
to sail; to set sail
Introduced in Chapter 429.

أدب adab
literature
Introduced in Chapter 222.

أضاف aḍāfa
to add
Introduced in Chapter 230.

أدان adāna
to convict; to condemn
Introduced in Chapter 334.

أدار adāra
to manage, to run
Introduced in Chapter 195.

أداة adāt
a tool
Introduced in Chapter 110.

أدغال adghāl
a jungle; thick undergrowth
Introduced in Chapter 473.

أضحك aḍḥaka
to make laugh
Introduced in Chapter 498.

أذاع adhā^{c}a
to put on air; to make known
Introduced in Chapter 297.

أدمن admana
to become addicted
Introduced in Chapter 517.

أدرك adraka
to realize
Introduced in Chapter 367.

أضعف aḍ^{c}afa
to weaken
Introduced in Chapter 418.

أفاد afāda
to give news; to be of use
Introduced in Chapter 320.

أفلس aflasa
to go bankrupt
Introduced in Chapter 527.

أفرغ afragha
to empty out; to unpack
Introduced in Chapter 426.

أفرج afraja
to release, to set free
Introduced in Chapter 330.

أغضب aghḍaba
to make angry
Introduced in Chapter 498.

أغلبية aghlabiyya
a majority
Introduced in Chapter 387.

أغلق aghlaqa
to close (he closed)
Introduced in Chapter 59.

أحد عشر — عشرون aḥada ᶜashar — ᶜishrūn
11-15, plain "X-and-ten" compounds — then twenty, NOT "two-ten" but its OWN plural form of "ten"
Introduced in Chapter 20.

أهمية ahammiyya importance
Introduced in Chapter 368.

أحس aḥassa
to feel
Introduced in Chapter 161.

أهدى ahdā
to gift; to dedicate
Introduced in Chapter 336.

أحضر aḥḍara
to bring
Introduced in Chapter 225.

أهدر ahdara
to squander; to waste
Introduced in Chapter 467.

أَهْلًا ahlan
welcome
Introduced in Chapter 2.

أهمل ahmala
to neglect
Introduced in Chapter 368.

أحمر أزرق aḥmar azraq
red and blue — the same gendered color template as black and white
Introduced in Chapter 9.

أحيا aḥyā
to perform at; to revive
Introduced in Chapter 328.

أحيانا aḥyānan
sometimes
Introduced in Chapter 87.

أحزن aḥzana
to sadden
Introduced in Chapter 498.

أجاز ajāza
to authorize
Introduced in Chapter 411.

أجبر ajbara
to force
Introduced in Chapter 389.

أجنبي ajnabī
foreign
Introduced in Chapter 180.

أجر ajr
a wage, pay
Introduced in Chapter 521.

أجرى ajrā
to conduct, to carry out
Introduced in Chapter 302.

أكاديمي akādīmī
academic
Introduced in Chapter 376.

أكل akala
“he ate” — no new letters, no English cousin, and a Hebrew twin close enough to hear; the sixth verb, closing the set
Introduced in Chapter 30.

أخ أخت akh ukht
brother and sister — one shared Semitic root, gendered by a single added letter
Introduced in Chapter 10.

أخاف akhāfa
to frighten
Introduced in Chapter 489.

أخبار akhbār
news
Introduced in Chapter 99.

أخبر akhbara
to inform, to tell
Introduced in Chapter 226.

أخضر, أصفر akhḍar, aṣfar
green and yellow — akhdar's root also gives "vegetables" (echoing English's own "greens"), and asfar shares its root with sifr, "zero" — the very word behind English "zero" and "cipher"
Introduced in Chapter 22.

أخفى akhfā
to conceal, to hide
Introduced in Chapter 351.

أخفق akhfaqa
to fall short
Introduced in Chapter 372.

أخيرا akhīran
finally, at last
Introduced in Chapter 203.

أخلى akhlā
to vacate; to evacuate
Introduced in Chapter 441.

أخلاق akhlāq
morals, manners
Introduced in Chapter 237.

أخرج akhraja
to direct films; to bring out
Introduced in Chapter 545.

أكثر akthar
more
Introduced in Chapter 176.

ال al-
the (al- — the attached article)
Introduced in Chapter 1.

الأحد الإثنين الثلاثاء الأربعاء الخميس al-aḥad al-ithnayn ath-thulāthāʾ al-arbiᶜāʾ al-khamīs
Sunday–Thursday — Arabic counts its weekdays instead of naming them for planets
Introduced in Chapter 8.

الآن al-ān
now
Introduced in Chapter 87.

الحمد لله al-ḥamdu lillāh
praise be to God — the everyday answer to 'how are you?'
Introduced in Chapter 3.

السبت الجمعة al-jumᶜa as-sabt
Friday and Saturday — the two days that break the counting pattern
Introduced in Chapter 8.

الماضي al-māḍī
last, past
Introduced in Chapter 156.

القادم al-qādim
next, coming
Introduced in Chapter 157.

آلة āla
a machine
Introduced in Chapter 186.

ألم alam
pain
Introduced in Chapter 53.

ألف alf
a thousand
Introduced in Chapter 97.

ألغى alghā
to cancel
Introduced in Chapter 461.

أليف alīf
tame (of a pet)
Introduced in Chapter 242.

ألقى alqā
to deliver a speech; to throw
Introduced in Chapter 357.

ألصق alṣaqa
to stick, to glue
Introduced in Chapter 260.

أمل amal
hope
Introduced in Chapter 113.

أمام amāma
in front of
Introduced in Chapter 89.

آمن āmin
safe
Introduced in Chapter 146.

أمين amīn
honest, trustworthy
Introduced in Chapter 499.

أمير amīr
a prince; an emir
Introduced in Chapter 309.

أما ammā
as for
Introduced in Chapter 375.

أمس ams
yesterday
Introduced in Chapter 87.

أمسك amsaka
to hold, to grab
Introduced in Chapter 194.

أمطر amṭara
to rain
Introduced in Chapter 196.

أمتعة amti^{c}a luggage
Introduced in Chapter 215.

أمعاء am^{c}ā^{ɔ}
the intestines, the bowels
Introduced in Chapter 504.

آنذاك ānadhāk
at that time, back then
Introduced in Chapter 304.

أناناس anānās
pineapple
Introduced in Chapter 244.

أناني anānī
selfish
Introduced in Chapter 500.

أنار anāra
to light up
Introduced in Chapter 444.

أنف anf
a nose
Introduced in Chapter 50.

أنفق anfaqa
to spend money
Introduced in Chapter 457.

أنهى anhā
to finish (something)
Introduced in Chapter 165.

أنيق anīq
elegant
Introduced in Chapter 149.

أنجب anjaba
to have a child, to bear
Introduced in Chapter 311.

أنجز anjaza
to accomplish
Introduced in Chapter 371.

أنكر ankara
to deny
Introduced in Chapter 325.

أنقاض anqāḍ
ruins, debris
Introduced in Chapter 316.

أنقذ anqadha
to rescue
Introduced in Chapter 167.

أنشد anshada
to recite (verse); to chant
Introduced in Chapter 545.

أنت anta / anti you (anta m. / anti f.)
Introduced in Chapter 2.

أنتج antaja
to produce
Introduced in Chapter 525.

أنزل anzala
to unload; to bring down
Introduced in Chapter 428.

أقل aqall
less
Introduced in Chapter 176.

أقلية aqalliyya
a minority
Introduced in Chapter 387.

أقام aqāma
to hold an event; to reside
Introduced in Chapter 328.

أقر aqarra
to approve formally
Introduced in Chapter 411.

أقلع aqla^{c}a
to lift off; to take off (of a plane)
Introduced in Chapter 424.

أقنع aqna^{c}a
to convince
Introduced in Chapter 358.

أقرض aqraḍa
to lend
Introduced in Chapter 224.

أقسم aqsama
to swear
Introduced in Chapter 325.

أراد arāda
to want (he wanted)
Introduced in Chapter 61.

أرق araq
insomnia
Introduced in Chapter 514.

أربعون arba^{c}ūn
forty
Introduced in Chapter 97.

أرض arḍ
the floor; the earth
Introduced in Chapter 70.

أرضع arḍa^{c}a
to breastfeed
Introduced in Chapter 530.

أرهق arhaqa
to wear out
Introduced in Chapter 514.

أريكة arīka
a sofa
Introduced in Chapter 213.

أرجع arja^{c}a
to take back; to return (something)
Introduced in Chapter 458.

أرملة armala
a widow
Introduced in Chapter 337.

أرنب arnab
a rabbit
Introduced in Chapter 134.

أرسل arsala
to send (he sent)
Introduced in Chapter 61.

أرشد arshada
to guide
Introduced in Chapter 437.

أرز aruzz
rice
Introduced in Chapter 66.

السلامة as-salāma
the safety — Chapter 1's salām, plus a pattern and a feminine ending
Introduced in Chapter 4.

as-salāmu ^{c}alaykum
peace be upon you
Introduced in Chapter 1.

الساعة as-sā^{c}a hour / o'clock — and the same word Arabic uses for "clock" and "a while"
Introduced in Chapter 16.

أسد asad
a lion
Introduced in Chapter 79.

أسر asara
to capture, to take prisoner
Introduced in Chapter 333.

أساسي asāsī
basic
Introduced in Chapter 419.

أصدر aṣdara
to issue
Introduced in Chapter 434.

أشار ashāra
to refer
Introduced in Chapter 417.

أشعة ashi^{cc}a
X-rays; rays
Introduced in Chapter 510.

أشرف ashrafa
to supervise
Introduced in Chapter 392.

أشرق ashraqa
to shine; to rise (of the sun)
Introduced in Chapter 485.

أشعل ash^{c}ala
to set alight; to light
Introduced in Chapter 442.

آسف / آسفة āsif / āsifa
sorry (āsif masc. / āsifa fem. — a GENDERED adjective, from asifa "to grieve, regret")
Introduced in Chapter 7.

أصلح aṣlaḥa
to repair
Introduced in Chapter 225.

أصلي aṣlī
genuine, original
Introduced in Chapter 240.

أسرع asra^{c}a
to hurry
Introduced in Chapter 224.

أسود أبيض aswad abyad
black and white — color adjectives that change shape with gender, more than "sorry" did
Introduced in Chapter 9.

أسعد as^{c}ada
to make happy
Introduced in Chapter 498.

أسعف as^{c}afa
to give first aid
Introduced in Chapter 301.

الطقس aṭ-ṭaqs
weather — the SAME root also gives “rite, religious ceremony”; hot/cold are verbless adjectives, but rain gets its own personal verb
Introduced in Chapter 18.

أطل aṭalla
to overlook
Introduced in Chapter 443.

أتم atamma
to complete
Introduced in Chapter 523.

أطاع aṭāᶜa
to obey
Introduced in Chapter 534.

أطفأ aṭfaʾa
to switch off, to put out
Introduced in Chapter 160.

أثر athar
a trace, a mark; an effect
Introduced in Chapter 318.

أثار athāra
to stir up; to raise
Introduced in Chapter 361.

أثاث athāth
furniture
Introduced in Chapter 213.

أثبت athbata
to prove
Introduced in Chapter 358.

أثمر athmara
to bear fruit
Introduced in Chapter 468.

أثناء athnāʾa
during
Introduced in Chapter 203.

أطلال aṭlāl
remains of a dwelling, ruins
Introduced in Chapter 318.

أتقن atqana
to master
Introduced in Chapter 394.

أطعم aṭᶜama
to feed
Introduced in Chapter 230.

أو aw or — two letters, and the word an offer cannot be made without
Introduced in Chapter 38.

أوضح awḍaḥa
to clarify, to make clear
Introduced in Chapter 320.

أودع awdaᶜa
to deposit
Introduced in Chapter 452.

أوجب awjaba
to make obligatory
Introduced in Chapter 410.

أوقف awqafa
to stop someone; to arrest
Introduced in Chapter 317.

أوصى awṣā
to recommend
Introduced in Chapter 446.

أوصل awṣala
to give a lift; to deliver
Introduced in Chapter 440.

أمس أول awwal ams
the day before yesterday
Introduced in Chapter 349.

أولا awwalan
first, firstly
Introduced in Chapter 268.

أيضا ayḍan
also, too
Introduced in Chapter 175.

أين ayna
where
Introduced in Chapter 204.

أينما aynamā
wherever
Introduced in Chapter 400.

أيقظ ayqaẓa
to wake (someone) up
Introduced in Chapter 448.

الليل منتصف الظهر aẓ-ẓuhr muntaṣaf al-layl noon (also the name of the midday Islamic prayer) and midnight ("the half of the night")
Introduced in Chapter 15.

أزهر azhara
to bloom; to flower
Introduced in Chapter 468.

أظلم aẓlama
to grow dark
Introduced in Chapter 485.

أزمة azma
a crisis
Introduced in Chapter 386.

أزعج az^{c}aja
to disturb; to bother
Introduced in Chapter 448.

أعاد a^{c}āda
to give back, to return (something)
Introduced in Chapter 256.

أعفى a^{c}fā
to exempt
Introduced in Chapter 410.

أعجب a^{c}jaba
to impress, to please
Introduced in Chapter 491.

أعلن a^{c}lana
to announce
Introduced in Chapter 293.

أعطى a^{c}ṭā
to give (he gave)
Introduced in Chapter 59.

أعزب a^{c}zab
single, unmarried
Introduced in Chapter 528.

باب bāb
a door
Introduced in Chapter 72.

ببغاء babbaghāʾ
a parrot
Introduced in Chapter 185.

من بدلا badalan min
instead of
Introduced in Chapter 416.

بدأ badaʾa
to begin, to start
Introduced in Chapter 165.

باذنجان bādhinjān
an aubergine
Introduced in Chapter 120.

بديل badīl
an alternative
Introduced in Chapter 369.

بدلة badla
a suit
Introduced in Chapter 214.

بحث baḥatha
to look for (he looked for)
Introduced in Chapter 62.

بحار baḥḥār
a sailor
Introduced in Chapter 333.

باحث bāḥith
a researcher
Introduced in Chapter 391.

بهجة bahja
joy, delight
Introduced in Chapter 206.

بحر baḥr
the sea
Introduced in Chapter 77.

بكى bakā
to cry (he cried)
Introduced in Chapter 60.

بكالوريوس bakālūriyūs
a bachelor's degree
Introduced in Chapter 397.

بخيل bakhīl
mean, stingy
Introduced in Chapter 210.

بلد balad
a country
Introduced in Chapter 99.

بلدية baladiyya
a town hall; a municipality
Introduced in Chapter 450.

بالغ bālagha
to exaggerate
Introduced in Chapter 370.

بلاط balāṭ
a royal court; paving stones
Introduced in Chapter 340.

بلغ ballagha
to inform the police; to report
Introduced in Chapter 348.

بالوعة bālū^{c}a
a drain
Introduced in Chapter 549.

بنى banā
to build
Introduced in Chapter 166.

بنفسجي banafsajī
purple
Introduced in Chapter 271.

بند band
a clause
Introduced in Chapter 409.

بنك bank
a bank
Introduced in Chapter 91.

بناء bannā^{ʾ}
a builder
Introduced in Chapter 526.

بنزين banzīn
petrol
Introduced in Chapter 432.

بقرة baqara
a cow
Introduced in Chapter 79.

بقدونس baqdūnis
parsley
Introduced in Chapter 121.

بقال baqqāl
a grocer
Introduced in Chapter 191.

بقشيش baqshīsh
a tip (for service)
Introduced in Chapter 446.

برد barada
to get cold; to cool
Introduced in Chapter 483.

بارك bāraka
to bless; to congratulate
Introduced in Chapter 336.

براءة barāʾa innocence
Introduced in Chapter 334.

بارد bārid
chilly; cold
Introduced in Chapter 483.

بريد barīd
post, mail
Introduced in Chapter 252.

برلمان barlamān
a parliament
Introduced in Chapter 377.

برمج barmaja
to program (a computer)
Introduced in Chapter 525.

برميل barmīl
a barrel
Introduced in Chapter 278.

برنامج barnāmaj
a programme, a schedule
Introduced in Chapter 157.

برق barq
lightning
Introduced in Chapter 133.

برر barrara
to justify
Introduced in Chapter 370.

بري barrī
wild
Introduced in Chapter 242.

بصل baṣal
onions
Introduced in Chapter 68.

باشر bāshara
to set to work, to start on
Introduced in Chapter 522.

بسيط basīṭ
simple
Introduced in Chapter 145.

بصمة baṣma
a fingerprint
Introduced in Chapter 308.

بسطة basṭa
a market stall
Introduced in Chapter 455.

بستنة bastana
gardening
Introduced in Chapter 539.

بطل baṭal
a hero; a champion
Introduced in Chapter 303.

بطالة baṭāla
unemployment
Introduced in Chapter 381.

بطاطس baṭāṭis
potatoes
Introduced in Chapter 66.

بث baththa
to broadcast
Introduced in Chapter 259.

بطيء baṭīʾ
slow
Introduced in Chapter 83.

بطن baṭn
a belly
Introduced in Chapter 141.

بطة baṭṭa
a duck
Introduced in Chapter 135.

بطانية baṭṭāniyya
a blanket
Introduced in Chapter 123.

بطارية baṭṭāriyya
a battery
Introduced in Chapter 217.

بواب bawwāb
a doorman; a caretaker
Introduced in Chapter 443.

بوابة bawwāba
a gate; a gateway
Introduced in Chapter 423.

بيان bayān
a statement; a clear account
Introduced in Chapter 293.

بيض bayḍ
eggs
Introduced in Chapter 68.

بين bayna
between
Introduced in Chapter 102.

بينما baynamā
while, whereas
Introduced in Chapter 176.

بيطري bayṭarī
a vet
Introduced in Chapter 518.

باع bā^{c}a
to sell (he sold)
Introduced in Chapter 59.

بعد ba^{c}da after
Introduced in Chapter 88.

بعيد ba^{c}īd far
Introduced in Chapter 88.

بعوضة ba^{c}ūḍa
a mosquito
Introduced in Chapter 136.

بالضرورة bi-ḍ-ḍarūra
necessarily
Introduced in Chapter 402.

بجانب bi-jānib
beside, next to
Introduced in Chapter 103.

بخير bi-khayr
well, fine — literally 'in goodness'
Introduced in Chapter 3.

بالفعل bi-l-fiᶜl
already; indeed
Introduced in Chapter 156.

بالإضافة إلى bi-l-iḍāfa ilā in addition to
Introduced in Chapter 416.

بما أن bi-mā anna
seeing that; since
Introduced in Chapter 374.

بشرط أن bi-sharṭi an provided that
Introduced in Chapter 399.

بالتالي bi-t-tālī
consequently
Introduced in Chapter 374.

بداية bidāya
a beginning
Introduced in Chapter 171.

بضاعة biḍāᶜa
goods, merchandise
Introduced in Chapter 220.

بذرة bidhra
a seed
Introduced in Chapter 131.

بدون bidūn
without
Introduced in Chapter 268.

بطاقة biṭāqa
a card
Introduced in Chapter 220.

بطيخ biṭṭīkh
a watermelon
Introduced in Chapter 130.

بحيرة buḥayra
a lake
Introduced in Chapter 133.

بومة būma
an owl
Introduced in Chapter 137.

بني bunnī
brown
Introduced in Chapter 86.

برهان burhān
a proof
Introduced in Chapter 358.

برج burj
a tower
Introduced in Chapter 439.

بركان burkān
a volcano
Introduced in Chapter 173.

برتقال burtuqāl
oranges
Introduced in Chapter 68.

برتقالي burtuqālī
orange (colour)
Introduced in Chapter 271.

برودة burūda
coldness; a chill
Introduced in Chapter 483.

بوصلة būṣala
a compass
Introduced in Chapter 437.

بستان bustān
an orchard
Introduced in Chapter 173.

بستاني bustānī
a gardener
Introduced in Chapter 527.

بطولة buṭūla
a championship; heroism
Introduced in Chapter 547.

ضباب ḍabāb
fog
Introduced in Chapter 216.

دباسة dabbāsa
a stapler
Introduced in Chapter 253.

ضبع ḍab^{c}
a hyena
Introduced in Chapter 475.

دفن dafana
to bury
Introduced in Chapter 314.

دافع dāfa^{c}a to defend
Introduced in Chapter 322.

دفع dafa^{c}a
to pay; to push
Introduced in Chapter 192.

دفتر daftar
a notebook
Introduced in Chapter 73.

ضغط ḍaghaṭa
to press
Introduced in Chapter 259.

دهن dahana
to paint (a wall), to coat
Introduced in Chapter 166.

دهان dahhān
a house painter
Introduced in Chapter 526.

ضحك ḍaḥika
to laugh (he laughed)
Introduced in Chapter 60.

ضاحية ḍāḥiya
a suburb
Introduced in Chapter 454.

ضحية ḍaḥiyya
a victim
Introduced in Chapter 301.

دهشة dahsha
astonishment
Introduced in Chapter 490.

دجاج dajāj
chicken
Introduced in Chapter 69.

دجاجة dajāja
a hen
Introduced in Chapter 81.

ضجيج ḍajīj
noise; a din
Introduced in Chapter 448.

ضجر ḍajira
to be fed up
Introduced in Chapter 495.

ضجة ḍajja
a commotion, an uproar
Introduced in Chapter 352.

دخل dakhala
to enter (he entered)
Introduced in Chapter 63.

داخل dākhil
inside
Introduced in Chapter 88.

دخن dakhkhana
to smoke tobacco
Introduced in Chapter 517.

دليل dalīl
evidence, proof; a guide
Introduced in Chapter 308.

دل dalla
to show the way, to direct
Introduced in Chapter 195.

ضل ḍalla
to get lost
Introduced in Chapter 195.

دلل dallala
to pamper; to spoil (a child)
Introduced in Chapter 533.

دلو dalw
a bucket
Introduced in Chapter 125.

دم dam
blood
Introduced in Chapter 52.

دام dāma
to endure; to last
Introduced in Chapter 413.

ضمان ḍamān
a guarantee; a warranty
Introduced in Chapter 458.

ضمن ḍamina
to ensure; to guarantee
Introduced in Chapter 404.

ضمد ḍammada
to bind up (a wound)
Introduced in Chapter 511.

ضاق ḍāqa
to be too tight; to become narrow
Introduced in Chapter 456.

دقيق daqīq
flour
Introduced in Chapter 273.

دقيقة daqīqa
a minute
Introduced in Chapter 86.

درج daraj
stairs
Introduced in Chapter 102.

درجة daraja
a degree; a class (of travel)
Introduced in Chapter 480.

ضرر ḍarar
harm, damage
Introduced in Chapter 269.

ضريبة ḍarība
a tax
Introduced in Chapter 383.

ضريح ḍarīḥ
a tomb, a mausoleum
Introduced in Chapter 338.

دراجة darrāja
a bicycle
Introduced in Chapter 142.

درس dars
a lesson
Introduced in Chapter 74.

ضروري ḍarūrī
necessary
Introduced in Chapter 155.

داوى dāwā
to cure
Introduced in Chapter 510.

دوام dawām
working hours; office hours
Introduced in Chapter 450.

دواء dawāʾ
medicine
Introduced in Chapter 53.

دورية dawriyya
a patrol
Introduced in Chapter 317.

ضوء ḍawʾ
light
Introduced in Chapter 134.

ضيف ḍayf
a guest
Introduced in Chapter 56.

ضيع ḍayyaᶜa
to waste time; to lose
Introduced in Chapter 461.

ضيق ḍayyiq
narrow
Introduced in Chapter 150.

دعا daᶜā to invite
Introduced in Chapter 163.

ضعيف ḍaᶜīf
weak
Introduced in Chapter 154.

ضعف ḍaᶜufa
to grow weak
Introduced in Chapter 513.

دعوة daᶜwa
an invitation
Introduced in Chapter 184.

ذاب dhāba
to melt
Introduced in Chapter 261.

ذبل dhabala
to wilt; to wither
Introduced in Chapter 468.

ذهب dhahaba
“he went” — the track’s first verb, and the clearest possible view of the root-and-pattern engine, since the same three consonants also give “gold” and “a school of law”
Introduced in Chapter 28.

ذهبي dhahabī
golden
Introduced in Chapter 179.

ذاكر dhākara
to study for
Introduced in Chapter 392.

ذكر dhakara
to mention; to remember
Introduced in Chapter 299.

ذكاء dhakāʾ intelligence
Introduced in Chapter 421.

ذكي dhakī
clever
Introduced in Chapter 152.

ذاق dhāqa
to taste
Introduced in Chapter 160.

ذقن dhaqan
a chin
Introduced in Chapter 506.

مرة ذات dhāta marra
once, one time
Introduced in Chapter 156.

يوم ذات dhāta yawm
one day, once upon a time
Introduced in Chapter 295.

ذيل dhayl
a tail
Introduced in Chapter 217.

ذكرى dhikrā
a memory
Introduced in Chapter 239.

ذراع dhirāʿ
an arm
Introduced in Chapter 168.

ذبابة dhubāba
a fly
Introduced in Chapter 136.

ذعر dhuʿr
panic, alarm
Introduced in Chapter 489.

دفاع difāᶜ
the defence
Introduced in Chapter 334.

ضفدع ḍifdaᶜ
a frog
Introduced in Chapter 138.

ضفة ḍiffa
a riverbank
Introduced in Chapter 470.

ديك dīk
a rooster
Introduced in Chapter 137.

ضلع ḍilᶜ
a rib
Introduced in Chapter 505.

ضمادة ḍimāda
a bandage
Introduced in Chapter 262.

دماغ dimāgh
a brain
Introduced in Chapter 140.

ديمقراطية dīmuqrāṭiyya
democracy
Introduced in Chapter 379.

دين dīn
religion
Introduced in Chapter 267.

دراسة dirāsa
a study
Introduced in Chapter 391.

درع dirᶜ
armour; a shield
Introduced in Chapter 326.

ضيافة ḍiyāfa
hospitality
Introduced in Chapter 175.

دب dubb
a bear
Introduced in Chapter 80.

ضحى ḍuḥā
late morning, forenoon
Introduced in Chapter 234.

دخان dukhān
smoke
Introduced in Chapter 298.

دكتوراه duktūrāh
a doctorate
Introduced in Chapter 397.

دلفين dulfīn
a dolphin
Introduced in Chapter 185.

دمية dumya
a doll
Introduced in Chapter 126.

دش dush
a shower
Introduced in Chapter 447.

دستور dustūr
a constitution
Introduced in Chapter 377.

دولي duwalī
international
Introduced in Chapter 270.

دوار duwār
dizziness
Introduced in Chapter 232.

فاض fāḍa
to overflow, to flood
Introduced in Chapter 316.

فضل faḍḍala
to prefer
Introduced in Chapter 115.

فحص faḥaṣa
to examine
Introduced in Chapter 255.

فهد fahd
a cheetah; a leopard
Introduced in Chapter 475.

فهم fahima
"he understood" — the first verb whose middle vowel is not an a, marking it a state rather than a deed, and the done-to shape that turns it into the word for a concept
Introduced in Chapter 31.

فحم faḥm
coal; charcoal
Introduced in Chapter 465.

فجر fajr
dawn
Introduced in Chapter 233.

فجأة fajʾatan
suddenly, all of a sudden
Introduced in Chapter 294.

فخذ fakhidh
a thigh
Introduced in Chapter 505.

فخار fakhkhār
pottery
Introduced in Chapter 537.

فخم fakhm
luxurious
Introduced in Chapter 145.

فخور fakhūr
proud
Introduced in Chapter 491.

فاكهة fākiha
fruit
Introduced in Chapter 66.

فك fakka
to untie, to undo
Introduced in Chapter 229.

فكّر fakkara
"he thought" — the first verb that is not a bare root at all, but a root rebuilt by doubling its middle letter, and the mu- doer that comes with the rebuild
Introduced in Chapter 32.

فلاح fallāḥ
a peasant farmer
Introduced in Chapter 527.

فلسفة falsafa
philosophy
Introduced in Chapter 376.

فم fam
a mouth
Introduced in Chapter 50.

فن fann
an art
Introduced in Chapter 109.

فند fannada
to refute
Introduced in Chapter 365.

فنان fannān
an artist
Introduced in Chapter 541.

فقط faqaṭ
only
Introduced in Chapter 207.

فقير faqīr
poor
Introduced in Chapter 84.

فقر faqr
poverty
Introduced in Chapter 381.

فرامل farāmil
brakes
Introduced in Chapter 432.

فراشة farāsha
a butterfly
Introduced in Chapter 136.

فرش farasha
to furnish; to spread
Introduced in Chapter 552.

فراولة farāwila
strawberries
Introduced in Chapter 120.

فرز faraza
to sort
Introduced in Chapter 464.

فرضية farḍiyya
a hypothesis
Introduced in Chapter 363.

فارغ fārigh
empty
Introduced in Chapter 84.

فرح fariḥa
to be glad, to rejoice
Introduced in Chapter 257.

فريق farīq
a team
Introduced in Chapter 277.

فارس fāris
a knight, a horseman
Introduced in Chapter 341.

فرق farq
a difference
Introduced in Chapter 176.

فرو farw
fur
Introduced in Chapter 478.

فرع far^{c}
a branch office; a branch
Introduced in Chapter 452.

فساد fasād
corruption
Introduced in Chapter 388.

فشل fashal
failure
Introduced in Chapter 269.

فصل faṣl
a season
Introduced in Chapter 264.

فسر fassara
to interpret
Introduced in Chapter 363.

فتح fataḥa
to open (he opened)
Introduced in Chapter 59.

فطم faṭama
to wean
Introduced in Chapter 530.

فاتر fātir
lukewarm
Introduced in Chapter 243.

فتش fattasha
to search; to inspect
Introduced in Chapter 426.

فاتورة fātūra
a bill, an invoice
Introduced in Chapter 188.

فاوض fāwaḍa
to hold talks (with); to negotiate
Introduced in Chapter 524.

فوضى fawḍā
chaos, disorder
Introduced in Chapter 324.

فوق fawqa
above
Introduced in Chapter 89.

فورا fawran
immediately
Introduced in Chapter 202.

فوت fawwata
to miss (a chance); to let slip
Introduced in Chapter 461.

فوز fawz
a triumph; a win
Introduced in Chapter 547.

فيضان fayaḍān
a flood
Introduced in Chapter 236.

فيلسوف faylasūf
a philosopher
Introduced in Chapter 376.

فيروس fayrūs
a virus
Introduced in Chapter 509.

فاز fāza
to win (he won)
Introduced in Chapter 65.

فأر fa^{ɔ}r
a mouse
Introduced in Chapter 79.

فعالية fa^{cc}āliyya effectiveness
Introduced in Chapter 418.

في البداية fī al-bidāya
at first, in the beginning
Introduced in Chapter 294.

في نفسه الوقت fī al-waqt nafsih
at the same time
Introduced in Chapter 327.

في التالي اليوم fī al-yawm at-tālī
the next day
Introduced in Chapter 299.

في هذه الأثناء fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ
meanwhile, in the meantime
Introduced in Chapter 299.

في حال fī ḥāl
in case
Introduced in Chapter 399.

في تلك اللحظة fī tilka al-laḥẓa
at that moment
Introduced in Chapter 294.

في تلك الليلة fī tilka al-layla
that night
Introduced in Chapter 327.

فدية fidya
a ransom
Introduced in Chapter 347.

فهرس fihris
an index
Introduced in Chapter 396.

فيل fīl
an elephant
Introduced in Chapter 80.

فلفل filfil
pepper
Introduced in Chapter 128.

فيلم fīlm
a film
Introduced in Chapter 184.

فيما بعد fīmā baᶜd
later on, afterwards
Introduced in Chapter 299.

فناء fināʾ
a courtyard
Introduced in Chapter 266.

فراش firāsh
a mattress
Introduced in Chapter 122.

فرقة firqa
a band, a troupe
Introduced in Chapter 544.

فيزياء fīziyāʾ
physics
Introduced in Chapter 222.

فضولي fuḍūlī
nosy, curious
Introduced in Chapter 502.

فول fūl
beans
Introduced in Chapter 129.

فندق funduq
a hotel
Introduced in Chapter 92.

فرن furn
an oven
Introduced in Chapter 116.

فرصة furṣa
a chance
Introduced in Chapter 421.

فرشاة furshā
a brush
Introduced in Chapter 213.

فستان fustān
a dress
Introduced in Chapter 94.

فطور fuṭūr
breakfast
Introduced in Chapter 68.

غابة ghāba
a forest
Introduced in Chapter 76.

غدا ghadan
tomorrow
Introduced in Chapter 87.

غادر ghādara
to depart from; to leave (a place)
Introduced in Chapter 441.

غداء ghadāʾ
lunch
Introduced in Chapter 119.

غاضب ghāḍib
angry
Introduced in Chapter 147.

غضب ghaḍiba
to get angry
Introduced in Chapter 488.

غفا ghafā
to doze off
Introduced in Chapter 514.

غلى ghalā
to boil (of a liquid, intransitive)
Introduced in Chapter 254.

غالبا ghāliban
usually, mostly
Introduced in Chapter 202.

غلاية ghallāya
a kettle
Introduced in Chapter 278.

غمر ghamara
to submerge; to flood
Introduced in Chapter 487.

غامض ghāmiḍ
vague
Introduced in Chapter 417.

غني ghanī
rich
Introduced in Chapter 84.

غنى ghannā
to sing
Introduced in Chapter 228.

غار ghāra
to be jealous
Introduced in Chapter 492.

غرامة gharāma
a fine, a penalty fee
Introduced in Chapter 352.

غرب gharb
west
Introduced in Chapter 104.

غريب gharīb
strange
Introduced in Chapter 149.

غرق ghariqa
to go under; to drown
Introduced in Chapter 333.

غسل ghasala
to wash (he washed)
Introduced in Chapter 60.

غش ghashsha
to cheat
Introduced in Chapter 351.

غسيل ghasīl
laundry, washing
Introduced in Chapter 213.

غسالة ghassāla
a washing machine
Introduced in Chapter 181.

غثيان ghathayān
nausea
Introduced in Chapter 507.

غطى ghaṭṭā
to cover; to report on
Introduced in Chapter 356.

غوص ghawṣ
diving
Introduced in Chapter 537.

غاية ghāya
a purpose
Introduced in Chapter 112.

غيمة ghayma
a cloud
Introduced in Chapter 134.

غيور ghayūr
jealous
Introduced in Chapter 492.

غير ghayyara
to change
Introduced in Chapter 224.

غاز ghāz
gas
Introduced in Chapter 465.

غزا ghazā
to invade, to raid
Introduced in Chapter 339.

غزال ghazāl
a gazelle
Introduced in Chapter 135.

غلاف جوي ghilāf jawwī
the atmosphere
Introduced in Chapter 463.

غيرة ghīra
jealousy
Introduced in Chapter 492.

غراء ghirāʾ glue
Introduced in Chapter 279.

غطاء ghiṭāʾ
a lid
Introduced in Chapter 213.

غياب ghiyāb
absence
Introduced in Chapter 422.

غبار ghubār
fine dust; dust in the air
Introduced in Chapter 466.

غول ghūl
an ogre, a ghoul
Introduced in Chapter 335.

غراب ghurāb
a crow
Introduced in Chapter 137.

غرفة ghurfa
a room
Introduced in Chapter 69.

غروب ghurūb
sunset
Introduced in Chapter 233.

غصن ghuṣn
a branch
Introduced in Chapter 131.

هبط habaṭa
to land; to go down
Introduced in Chapter 424.

حبة ḥabba
a pill, a tablet
Introduced in Chapter 169.

حبيب ḥabīb
a loved one, a darling
Introduced in Chapter 533.

حبل ḥabl
a rope
Introduced in Chapter 187.

هدف hadaf
a goal, an aim
Introduced in Chapter 114.

هدم hadama
to knock down, to demolish
Introduced in Chapter 166.

حضن ḥaḍana
to cradle; to hold in one's arms
Introduced in Chapter 533.

حضارة ḥaḍāra
a civilization
Introduced in Chapter 318.

حدث ḥadatha
to happen
Introduced in Chapter 198.

هدأ hadaʾa
to calm down; to grow quiet
Introduced in Chapter 448.

هضبة haḍba
a plateau; a hill
Introduced in Chapter 472.

حاد ḥādd
sharp
Introduced in Chapter 148.

حدد ḥaddada
to specify
Introduced in Chapter 364.

هدد haddada
to threaten
Introduced in Chapter 324.

حضر ḥaḍḍara
to prepare
Introduced in Chapter 225.

حذف ḥadhafa
to delete
Introduced in Chapter 165.

حذر ḥadhdhara
to warn
Introduced in Chapter 324.

حديقة ḥadīqa
a garden
Introduced in Chapter 72.

حادث ḥādith
an accident
Introduced in Chapter 262.

حديث ḥadīth
a conversation, a talk
Introduced in Chapter 216.

حديثا ḥadīthan
recently
Introduced in Chapter 156.

هدية hadiyya
a present
Introduced in Chapter 118.

حفر ḥafara
to dig
Introduced in Chapter 198.

حافظ ḥāfaẓa
to protect; to preserve
Introduced in Chapter 467.

حافة ḥāffa
an edge; a rim
Introduced in Chapter 472.

حفيد ḥafīd
a grandson
Introduced in Chapter 246.

حافلة ḥāfila
a bus
Introduced in Chapter 91.

حافز ḥāfiz
an incentive
Introduced in Chapter 371.

حفظ ḥafiẓa
to keep, to memorize
Introduced in Chapter 110.

حفلة ḥafla
a party
Introduced in Chapter 275.

حاجة ḥāja
a need
Introduced in Chapter 114.

هاجم hājama
to attack
Introduced in Chapter 339.

حجر ḥajar
a stone
Introduced in Chapter 76.

هاجر hājara
to emigrate
Introduced in Chapter 332.

هجر hajara
to abandon, to leave
Introduced in Chapter 535.

حجز ḥajaza
to reserve; to book
Introduced in Chapter 423.

حاجب ḥājib
an eyebrow
Introduced in Chapter 138.

حاجز ḥājiz
a checkpoint; a barrier
Introduced in Chapter 317.

حاج ḥājj
a pilgrim
Introduced in Chapter 3.

حجم ḥajm
volume; size; bulk
Introduced in Chapter 456.

حاك ḥāka
to knit, to weave
Introduced in Chapter 538.

حكى ḥakā
to tell (a story); to relate — the verb for passing a story on
Introduced in Chapter 284.

حكم ḥakama
to pass judgment; to rule
Introduced in Chapter 305.

حاكم ḥākim
a governor; a ruler
Introduced in Chapter 340.

حكيم ḥakīm
wise
Introduced in Chapter 501.

حك ḥakka
to scratch
Introduced in Chapter 508.

حال ḥāl
state, condition — the thing Arabic actually asks about
Introduced in Chapter 3.

حلف ḥalafa
to take an oath
Introduced in Chapter 325.

حالما ḥālamā
as soon as
Introduced in Chapter 327.

حليب ḥalīb
"milk" — the opposite case to shāy: a home-grown noun sitting straight on the verb for milking, and a Hebrew twin that is the same word
Introduced in Chapter 33.

حل ḥall
a solution
Introduced in Chapter 206.

حلل ḥallala
to analyse
Introduced in Chapter 364.

حلاق ḥallāq
a barber
Introduced in Chapter 282.

حلق ḥalq
the throat
Introduced in Chapter 168.

حلوى ḥalwā
sweets
Introduced in Chapter 273.

حماة ḥamāh
a mother-in-law
Introduced in Chapter 528.

حمل ḥamala
to carry (he carried)
Introduced in Chapter 65.

حمامة ḥamāma
a pigeon
Introduced in Chapter 135.

حماس ḥamās
enthusiasm
Introduced in Chapter 111.

همس hamasa
to whisper
Introduced in Chapter 199.

حامض ḥāmiḍ
sour
Introduced in Chapter 152.

حامل ḥāmil
pregnant
Introduced in Chapter 530.

حملة ḥamla
a campaign
Introduced in Chapter 379.

حمال ḥammāl
a porter
Introduced in Chapter 436.

حمام ḥammām
a bathroom
Introduced in Chapter 101.

حنين ḥanīn
nostalgia, longing
Introduced in Chapter 494.

هنأ hannaʾa
to congratulate
Introduced in Chapter 196.

حنون ḥanūn
affectionate, tender
Introduced in Chapter 502.

حقيبة ḥaqība
a bag
Introduced in Chapter 74.

حقيبة ظهر ḥaqībat ẓahr
a backpack
Introduced in Chapter 427.

حقيقة ḥaqīqa
a fact
Introduced in Chapter 365.

حقل ḥaql
a field
Introduced in Chapter 76.

حق ḥaqq
a right
Introduced in Chapter 108.

حقق ḥaqqaqa
to investigate; to achieve
Introduced in Chapter 308.

حارب ḥāraba
to wage war; to fight against
Introduced in Chapter 307.

هرب haraba
to escape, to run away
Introduced in Chapter 167.

هرم haram
a pyramid
Introduced in Chapter 318.

حرم ḥarama
to deprive
Introduced in Chapter 408.

حرارة ḥarāra
temperature
Introduced in Chapter 262.

حرب ḥarb
a war
Introduced in Chapter 307.

حريق ḥarīq
a blaze, a fire that spreads
Introduced in Chapter 298.

حرير ḥarīr
silk
Introduced in Chapter 219.

حرق ḥarq
a burn
Introduced in Chapter 201.

حرك ḥarraka
to stir, to move (something)
Introduced in Chapter 260.

حرر ḥarrara
to edit; to set free
Introduced in Chapter 296.

حسب ḥasaba
according to
Introduced in Chapter 268.

حسد ḥasada
to envy
Introduced in Chapter 492.

حصد ḥaṣada
to harvest
Introduced in Chapter 199.

حسم ḥasama
to resolve; to settle
Introduced in Chapter 373.

حسنًا ḥasanan
all right, fine, very well — the backchannel this track had no word for, and the first way a learner can agree with somebody
Introduced in Chapter 38.

حاصر ḥāṣara
to besiege, to surround
Introduced in Chapter 322.

حساء ḥasāʾ
soup
Introduced in Chapter 130.

حشرة ḥashara
an insect
Introduced in Chapter 185.

حشد ḥashd
a crowd, a gathering
Introduced in Chapter 352.

هش hashsh
fragile
Introduced in Chapter 212.

حاسبة ḥāsiba
a calculator
Introduced in Chapter 282.

حساسية ḥassāsiyya
an allergy
Introduced in Chapter 200.

حاسوب ḥāsūb
a computer
Introduced in Chapter 116.

حسود ḥasūd
envious
Introduced in Chapter 492.

هتف hatafa
to cheer, to chant
Introduced in Chapter 353.

هطل haṭala
to pour down (of rain)
Introduced in Chapter 481.

هاتف hātif
a telephone
Introduced in Chapter 245.

حتما ḥatman
inevitably
Introduced in Chapter 402.

حتى ḥattā
even; until
Introduced in Chapter 207.

لو حتى ḥattā law
even if
Introduced in Chapter 404.

حطاب ḥaṭṭāb
a woodcutter
Introduced in Chapter 344.

حوالة ḥawāla
a money transfer
Introduced in Chapter 452.

حاور ḥāwara
to hold a dialogue; to interview
Introduced in Chapter 302.

هواء hawāʾ
air
Introduced in Chapter 247.

حوض ḥawḍ
a basin, a tub
Introduced in Chapter 551.

هوية hawiyya
an identity card
Introduced in Chapter 215.

حول ḥawla
around
Introduced in Chapter 105.

حيوان ḥayawān
an animal
Introduced in Chapter 276.

إن حيث ḥaythu inna
given that
Introduced in Chapter 374.

حي ḥayy
a neighbourhood
Introduced in Chapter 101.

حزم ḥazama
to pack (luggage)
Introduced in Chapter 479.

هزم hazama
to defeat
Introduced in Chapter 315.

حظر ḥaẓara
to ban
Introduced in Chapter 451.

هزيمة hazīma
a defeat
Introduced in Chapter 315.

حزين ḥazīn
sad
Introduced in Chapter 54.

حزن ḥazina
to grieve, to be sad
Introduced in Chapter 488.

حظ ḥaẓẓ
luck
Introduced in Chapter 239.

هز hazza
to shake
Introduced in Chapter 199.

حبر ḥibr
ink
Introduced in Chapter 274.

حداد ḥidād
mourning, a period of mourning
Introduced in Chapter 319.

حذاء ḥidhāʾ
a shoe
Introduced in Chapter 95.

هجرة hijra
migration
Introduced in Chapter 387.

حكاية ḥikāya
a tale, a story told aloud
Introduced in Chapter 295.

حكة ḥikka
an itch, itching
Introduced in Chapter 508.

حمار ḥimār
a donkey
Introduced in Chapter 81.

حينما ḥīnamā
when — the clause joiner that puts one event beside another in time, with the same ما inside it the last chapter taught twice
Introduced in Chapter 40.

حقبة ḥiqba
an era, a long period
Introduced in Chapter 304.

حساب ḥisāb
an account
Introduced in Chapter 220.

حصان ḥiṣān
a horse
Introduced in Chapter 78.

حصن ḥiṣn
a fort, a stronghold
Introduced in Chapter 322.

حوار ḥiwār
a dialogue, a conversation
Introduced in Chapter 302.

هواية hiwāya
a hobby
Introduced in Chapter 186.

حياكة ḥiyāka
knitting, weaving
Introduced in Chapter 538.

حزام ḥizām
a belt
Introduced in Chapter 96.

حزام أمان ḥizām amān
a seat belt
Introduced in Chapter 424.

حزب ḥizb
a political party
Introduced in Chapter 379.

حب ḥubb
love
Introduced in Chapter 98.

هدنة hudna
a truce
Introduced in Chapter 341.

حدود ḥudūd
borders
Introduced in Chapter 205.

حضور ḥuḍūr
attendance
Introduced in Chapter 398.

هدوء hudūʾ
calm, quiet
Introduced in Chapter 489.

حجة ḥujja
an argument
Introduced in Chapter 358.

حكومة ḥukūma
a government
Introduced in Chapter 377.

حلم ḥulm
a dream
Introduced in Chapter 113.

حمى ḥummā
a fever
Introduced in Chapter 53.

حمص ḥummuṣ
chickpeas
Introduced in Chapter 128.

هنا hunā
here
Introduced in Chapter 90.

هناك hunāka
there
Introduced in Chapter 90.

حقنة ḥuqna
an injection
Introduced in Chapter 201.

حرية ḥurriyya
freedom
Introduced in Chapter 208.

حوت ḥūt
a whale
Introduced in Chapter 276.

حطام ḥuṭām
wreckage, debris
Introduced in Chapter 354.

إبهام ibhām
a thumb
Introduced in Chapter 263.

ابن بنت ibn, bint
son and daughter — one pair gendered by a single added ت, exactly as أخ and أخت were, and the ibn that stands in the middle of names English already knows
Introduced in Chapter 35.

إبرة ibra
a needle
Introduced in Chapter 124.

إبريق ibrīq
a jug, a teapot
Introduced in Chapter 116.

ابتلع ibtala^{c}a
to swallow
Introduced in Chapter 194.

ابتسم ibtasama
to smile
Introduced in Chapter 257.

ابتعد ibta^{c}ada
to move away, to keep away
Introduced in Chapter 345.

ادخر iddakhara
to put aside (savings)
Introduced in Chapter 527.

ادعى idda^{c}ā
to claim
Introduced in Chapter 366.

إذا idhā
if
Introduced in Chapter 207.

إذن idhan
so, then
Introduced in Chapter 174.

إذاعة idhā^{c}a
a radio station; broadcasting
Introduced in Chapter 297.

إضراب iḍrāb
a strike
Introduced in Chapter 382.

افتخر iftakhara
to take pride (in)
Introduced in Chapter 491.

افتقر iftaqara
to lack
Introduced in Chapter 406.

افترض iftaraḍa
to assume
Introduced in Chapter 359.

افترس iftarasa
to prey on
Introduced in Chapter 476.

افتتح iftataḥa
to inaugurate, to open officially
Introduced in Chapter 357.

افتتاحية iftitāḥiyya
an editorial
Introduced in Chapter 355.

إغماء ighmāʾ
fainting, a faint
Introduced in Chapter 515.

إحباط iḥbāṭ
frustration
Introduced in Chapter 494.

احتفل iḥtafala
to celebrate
Introduced in Chapter 163.

احتاج iḥtāja
to need
Introduced in Chapter 114.

احتجز iḥtajaza
to detain, to hold
Introduced in Chapter 317.

احتج iḥtajja
to protest
Introduced in Chapter 382.

احتال iḥtāla
to swindle
Introduced in Chapter 351.

احتل iḥtalla
to occupy, to take up
Introduced in Chapter 339.

احتمى iḥtamā
to take shelter
Introduced in Chapter 487.

احتمل iḥtamala
to tolerate; to allow for
Introduced in Chapter 401.

اهتم ihtamma
to care about
Introduced in Chapter 368.

احترم iḥtarama
to respect
Introduced in Chapter 258.

احترق iḥtaraqa
to burn down, to get burnt
Introduced in Chapter 298.

احتباس حراري iḥtibās ḥarārī
global warming
Introduced in Chapter 463.

احتفال iḥtifāl
a celebration
Introduced in Chapter 249.

احتجاج iḥtijāj
a protest
Introduced in Chapter 382.

احتمال iḥtimāl
a probability
Introduced in Chapter 401.

اهتمام ihtimām
interest
Introduced in Chapter 113.

احترام iḥtirām
esteem, respect
Introduced in Chapter 534.

إيجابي īījābī positive
Introduced in Chapter 419.

إيجار īījār
rent
Introduced in Chapter 158.

إجازة ijāza
time off, leave
Introduced in Chapter 520.

إجماع ijmā^{c} consensus
Introduced in Chapter 360.

إجراء ijrāʾ
a procedure
Introduced in Chapter 406.

اجتهد ijtahada
to work hard, to strive
Introduced in Chapter 524.

اجتاز ijtāza
to pass (an exam)
Introduced in Chapter 256.

اجتهاد ijtihād
diligence
Introduced in Chapter 421.

اجتماع ijtimāᶜ
a meeting
Introduced in Chapter 221.

اجتماعي ijtimāᶜī
sociable
Introduced in Chapter 210.

اختفى ikhtafā
to disappear
Introduced in Chapter 167.

اختلف ikhtalafa
to disagree, to differ
Introduced in Chapter 258.

اختنق ikhtanaqa
to choke; to suffocate
Introduced in Chapter 466.

اختار ikhtāra
to choose
Introduced in Chapter 115.

اخترع ikhtaraᶜa
to invent
Introduced in Chapter 342.

اختصر ikhtaṣara
to shorten; to cut short
Introduced in Chapter 462.

اختطف ikhtaṭafa
to kidnap; to snatch
Introduced in Chapter 347.

اختتم ikhtatama
to conclude, to bring to a close
Introduced in Chapter 357.

اختبار ikhtibār
a test
Introduced in Chapter 393.

اكتسب iktasaba
to acquire
Introduced in Chapter 394.

اكتشف iktashafa
to discover
Introduced in Chapter 312.

اكتشاف iktishāf
a discovery
Introduced in Chapter 421.

أن إلى ilā an until
Introduced in Chapter 327.

الغد إلى ilā l-ghad see you tomorrow — literally 'until tomorrow', reusing the same ilā ('until') already met in see you later
Introduced in Chapter 24.

اللقاء إلى ilā l-liqāʾ see you — literally 'until the meeting', the structure Spanish borrowed a word for
Introduced in Chapter 4.

إلغاء ilghāʾ
a cancellation
Introduced in Chapter 461.

أن إلا illā anna
yet; but
Introduced in Chapter 375.

إذا إلا illā idhā
unless
Introduced in Chapter 399.

التحق iltaḥaqa
to enrol
Introduced in Chapter 390.

التقى iltaqā
to meet up (with)
Introduced in Chapter 540.

التزم iltazama
to comply
Introduced in Chapter 410.

التهاب iltihāb
an inflammation
Introduced in Chapter 508.

التواء iltiwāʾ
a sprain
Introduced in Chapter 516.

إمبراطور imbarāṭūr
an emperor
Introduced in Chapter 331.

إمكانية imkāniyya
a possibility
Introduced in Chapter 106.

امرأة imraʾa
a woman
Introduced in Chapter 56.

امتد imtadda
to extend, to stretch
Introduced in Chapter 331.

امتحان imtiḥān
an exam
Introduced in Chapter 221.

امتنان imtinān
gratitude
Introduced in Chapter 491.

إناء ināʾ
a vessel
Introduced in Chapter 123.

انبعاث inbiᶜāth
an emission; a release
Introduced in Chapter 463.

اندهش indahasha
to be amazed
Introduced in Chapter 490.

اندلع indalaᶜa
to break out
Introduced in Chapter 316.

انضم inḍamma
to join
Introduced in Chapter 389.

إنذار indhār
an alarm; a warning
Introduced in Chapter 324.

انفجر infajara
to explode, to burst
Introduced in Chapter 294.

انحنى inḥanā
to bend down
Introduced in Chapter 516.

انهار inhāra
to collapse
Introduced in Chapter 316.

انحاز inḥāza
to take sides
Introduced in Chapter 373.

إنجاز injāz
an achievement
Introduced in Chapter 415.

انكسر inkasara
to get broken
Introduced in Chapter 460.

انخفض inkhafaḍa
to drop; to fall (of a level)
Introduced in Chapter 480.

انقلب inqalaba
to overturn, to turn over
Introduced in Chapter 301.

انقرض inqaraḍa
to die out; to become extinct
Introduced in Chapter 467.

انقطع inqaṭaᶜa
to be cut off
Introduced in Chapter 444.

انسحب insaḥaba
to withdraw, to pull out
Introduced in Chapter 339.

انتبه intabaha
to pay attention
Introduced in Chapter 197.

انتهى intahā
to end, to finish
Introduced in Chapter 165.

انتهك intahaka
to violate
Introduced in Chapter 388.

إنتاج intāj
production
Introduced in Chapter 523.

انتخب intakhaba
to elect
Introduced in Chapter 378.

انطلق inṭalaqa
to set off
Introduced in Chapter 226.

انتقد intaqada
to criticize
Introduced in Chapter 370.

انتقل intaqala
to move (house)
Introduced in Chapter 162.

انتقم intaqama
to take revenge
Introduced in Chapter 344.

إنترنت intarnit
the internet
Introduced in Chapter 248.

انتصر intaṣara
to win a victory; to triumph
Introduced in Chapter 315.

انتشر intashara
to spread
Introduced in Chapter 353.

انتظر intaẓara
to wait (he waited)
Introduced in Chapter 64.

انطباع inṭibā^{c} an impression
Introduced in Chapter 359.

انتخاب intikhāb
an election
Introduced in Chapter 378.

انزلق inzalaqa
to slip
Introduced in Chapter 167.

انزعاج inzi^{c}āj annoyance
Introduced in Chapter 495.

انعكس in^{c}akasa
to be reflected
Introduced in Chapter 414.

انعقد in^{c}aqada
to convene, to be held
Introduced in Chapter 357.

انعطف in^{c}aṭafa
to turn off; to turn (left or right)
Introduced in Chapter 431.

إقامة iqāma
a residence; a stay
Introduced in Chapter 441.

إيقاع īqā^{c}
a rhythm, a beat
Introduced in Chapter 543.

إقلاع iqlā^{c}
takeoff
Introduced in Chapter 424.

اقتبس iqtabasa
to quote
Introduced in Chapter 395.

اقتحم iqtaḥama
to break into, to storm
Introduced in Chapter 353.

اقتلع iqtala^{c}a
to uproot
Introduced in Chapter 469.

اقتنع iqtana^{c}a
to be convinced
Introduced in Chapter 365.

اقترب iqtaraba
to approach, to come near
Introduced in Chapter 345.

اقترض iqtaraḍa
to borrow
Introduced in Chapter 224.

اقترح iqtaraḥa
to suggest
Introduced in Chapter 359.

اقتصد iqtaṣada
to economise; to save
Introduced in Chapter 459.

اقتراح iqtirāḥ
a suggestion
Introduced in Chapter 112.

اقتصاد iqtiṣād
the economy
Introduced in Chapter 383.

إرهاق irhāq
exhaustion
Introduced in Chapter 514.

ارتاب irtāba
to be suspicious
Introduced in Chapter 403.

ارتبك irtabaka
to get flustered
Introduced in Chapter 497.

ارتفع irtafa^{c}a
to increase; to rise
Introduced in Chapter 480.

ارتاح irtāḥa
to feel relieved
Introduced in Chapter 496.

ارتجف irtajafa
to tremble
Introduced in Chapter 516.

ارتعش irta^{c}asha to shiver
Introduced in Chapter 489.

ارتياح irtiyāḥ
relief
Introduced in Chapter 496.

إصابة iṣāba
an injury
Introduced in Chapter 169.

إيصال īṣāl
a receipt
Introduced in Chapter 158.

إصبع iṣba^c a finger
Introduced in Chapter 51.

إسفنجة isfanja
a sponge
Introduced in Chapter 279.

إسهال ishāl
diarrhoea
Introduced in Chapter 507.

إشارة ishāra
a signal; traffic lights
Introduced in Chapter 431.

اشتبه ishtabaha
to suspect
Introduced in Chapter 346.

اشتد ishtadda
to grow stronger; to intensify
Introduced in Chapter 482.

اشتهى ishtahā
to crave
Introduced in Chapter 517.

اشتكى ishtakā
to complain
Introduced in Chapter 448.

اشتاق ishtāqa
to long for
Introduced in Chapter 111.

اشترى ishtarā
to buy (he bought)
Introduced in Chapter 58.

اشترك ishtaraka
to subscribe; to take part
Introduced in Chapter 540.

اشترط ishtaraṭa
to stipulate
Introduced in Chapter 404.

اشتعل ishta^{c}ala
to catch fire, to blaze
Introduced in Chapter 298.

اشتراك ishtirāk
a subscription; a travel pass
Introduced in Chapter 435.

إسكافي iskāfī
a cobbler
Introduced in Chapter 526.

إصلاح iṣlāḥ
reform
Introduced in Chapter 388.

اسم ism
name
Introduced in Chapter 2.

اسمي ... ismī ...
my name is... (with no "is")
Introduced in Chapter 2.

استبدل istabdala
to swap; to exchange (for another)
Introduced in Chapter 449.

استبعد istabᶜada
to rule out
Introduced in Chapter 401.

اصطاد iṣṭāda
to go fishing; to hunt
Introduced in Chapter 536.

استضاف istaḍāfa
to host, to have as a guest
Introduced in Chapter 302.

استدل istadalla
to infer
Introduced in Chapter 366.

اصطدم iṣṭadama
to collide, to crash into
Introduced in Chapter 301.

استدار istadāra
to turn around
Introduced in Chapter 435.

استفاد istafāda
to benefit
Introduced in Chapter 408.

اصطف iṣṭaffa
to queue, to line up
Introduced in Chapter 261.

استفسر istafsara
to enquire
Introduced in Chapter 451.

استغل istaghalla
to exploit
Introduced in Chapter 388.

استغاث istaghātha
to call for help
Introduced in Chapter 310.

اصطحب iṣṭaḥaba
to take along; to bring along
Introduced in Chapter 439.

استحم istaḥamma
to bathe, to have a shower
Introduced in Chapter 160.

استحق istaḥaqqa
to deserve
Introduced in Chapter 380.

استهلك istahlaka
to consume; to use up
Introduced in Chapter 465.

استجاب istajāba
to respond
Introduced in Chapter 420.

استجم istajamma
to unwind
Introduced in Chapter 536.

استكشف istakshafa
to explore
Introduced in Chapter 439.

استلم istalama
to receive
Introduced in Chapter 192.

استلقى istalqā
to lie down
Introduced in Chapter 515.

استلزم istalzama
to entail
Introduced in Chapter 407.

استمر istamarra
to continue
Introduced in Chapter 165.

استمع istamaᶜa
to listen
Introduced in Chapter 228.

استمتع istamtaᶜa
to enjoy
Introduced in Chapter 536.

استنكر istankara
to condemn
Introduced in Chapter 422.

استنتج istantaja
to deduce; to conclude
Introduced in Chapter 362.

استقال istaqāla
to resign
Introduced in Chapter 195.

استقل istaqalla
to become independent; to board
Introduced in Chapter 329.

استقر istaqarra
to settle down
Introduced in Chapter 332.

استقبل istaqbala
to receive guests; to welcome
Introduced in Chapter 336.

استرد istaradda
to get back (money); to recover
Introduced in Chapter 453.

استراح istarāḥa
to rest
Introduced in Chapter 161.

استرخى istarkhā
to relax
Introduced in Chapter 515.

استشهد istashhada
to cite
Introduced in Chapter 395.

استسلم istaslama
to surrender, to give in
Introduced in Chapter 315.

استطاع istaṭāᶜa
to be able to, could
Introduced in Chapter 107.

استثمر istathmara
to invest
Introduced in Chapter 383.

استثنى istathnā
to exclude
Introduced in Chapter 405.

استوعب istawᶜaba
to grasp
Introduced in Chapter 367.

استيقظ istayqaẓa
to wake up
Introduced in Chapter 159.

استأجر ista^{ʾ}jara
to hire; to rent (from someone)
Introduced in Chapter 427.

استعاد ista^{c}āda
to regain, to get back
Introduced in Chapter 313.

استعد ista^{c}adda
to get ready
Introduced in Chapter 462.

استعمل ista^{c}mala
to use
Introduced in Chapter 225.

استبيان istibyān
a questionnaire
Introduced in Chapter 391.

استمارة istimāra
a form (to fill in)
Introduced in Chapter 183.

استقالة istiqāla
a resignation
Introduced in Chapter 522.

استقبال istiqbāl
reception; a welcome
Introduced in Chapter 441.

استقلال istiqlāl
independence
Introduced in Chapter 329.

استقرار istiqrār
stability
Introduced in Chapter 389.

استراحة istirāḥa
a rest stop; a break
Introduced in Chapter 440.

استثناء istithnāʾ
an exception
Introduced in Chapter 405.

إسعاف is^{c}āf
an ambulance; first aid
Introduced in Chapter 262.

إطار iṭār
a tyre; a frame
Introduced in Chapter 433.

إطلاقا iṭlāqan
not at all
Introduced in Chapter 402.

إتقان itqān
mastery
Introduced in Chapter 106.

اتضح ittaḍaḥa
to become evident
Introduced in Chapter 417.

اتفق ittafaqa
to agree
Introduced in Chapter 226.

اتهم ittahama
to accuse
Introduced in Chapter 305.

اتصل ittaṣala
to phone, to call
Introduced in Chapter 255.

اتسع ittasaᶜa
to have room for; to widen
Introduced in Chapter 462.

اتفاق ittifāq
an agreement
Introduced in Chapter 239.

اتجاه ittijāh
a direction
Introduced in Chapter 172.

ازداد izdāda
to become greater; to increase
Introduced in Chapter 412.

ازدهر izdahara
to flourish, to thrive
Introduced in Chapter 331.

ازدحام izdiḥām
congestion; a traffic jam
Introduced in Chapter 431.

إعاقة iᶜāqa
a disability
Introduced in Chapter 513.

إعجاب iᶜjāb
admiration
Introduced in Chapter 490.

إعلام iᶜlām
the media; informing
Introduced in Chapter 320.

إعلان iᶜlān
an advert, an announcement
Introduced in Chapter 158.

إعصار iᶜṣār
a hurricane; a whirlwind
Introduced in Chapter 482.

اعتبر iᶜtabara
to consider, to regard
Introduced in Chapter 197.

اعتاد iᶜtāda
to get used to
Introduced in Chapter 520.

اعتذر iᶜtadhara
to apologise
Introduced in Chapter 226.

اعتمد iᶜtamada
to depend on, to rely on — with ᶜalā, 'on'
Introduced in Chapter 292.

اعتنى iᶜtanā
to look after
Introduced in Chapter 533.

اعتقد iᶜtaqada
to believe
Introduced in Chapter 164.

اعتقل iᶜtaqala
to arrest, to detain
Introduced in Chapter 300.

اعترض iᶜtaraḍa
to object
Introduced in Chapter 360.

اعترف iᶜtarafa
to confess, to admit
Introduced in Chapter 325.

جبل jabal
a mountain
Introduced in Chapter 75.

جبان jabān
cowardly; a coward
Introduced in Chapter 500.

جبين jabīn
a forehead
Introduced in Chapter 138.

جبيرة jabīra
a splint, a plaster cast
Introduced in Chapter 511.

جدل jadal
a controversy
Introduced in Chapter 360.

جادل jādala
to argue
Introduced in Chapter 360.

جاد jādd
serious
Introduced in Chapter 241.

جد jadd
a grandfather
Introduced in Chapter 54.

جدة jadda
a grandmother
Introduced in Chapter 55.

جدد jaddada
to renew
Introduced in Chapter 434.

جدف jaddafa
to row
Introduced in Chapter 430.

جديد jadīd
new
Introduced in Chapter 82.

جدول jadwal
a timetable, a table
Introduced in Chapter 158.

جفاف jafāf
drought; dryness
Introduced in Chapter 484.

جاف jāff
dry
Introduced in Chapter 151.

جفف jaffafa
to dry off
Introduced in Chapter 552.

جفن jafn
an eyelid
Introduced in Chapter 506.

جاهز jāhiz
ready
Introduced in Chapter 240.

جلس jalasa
to sit (he sat)
Introduced in Chapter 57.

جليد jalīd
ice
Introduced in Chapter 236.

جلسة jalsa
a hearing, a session
Introduced in Chapter 334.

جمل jamal
a camel
Introduced in Chapter 81.

جمارك jamārik
customs (at a border)
Introduced in Chapter 426.

جميل jamīl
beautiful
Introduced in Chapter 86.

جامعة jāmi^{c}a
a university
Introduced in Chapter 144.

جمعية jam^{c}iyya
an association
Introduced in Chapter 385.

جناح janāḥ
a wing
Introduced in Chapter 217.

جنازة janāza
a funeral
Introduced in Chapter 314.

جنوب janūb
south
Introduced in Chapter 104.

جار jār
"neighbour" — the person you introduce most often, built on a hollow root whose middle letter hides exactly as qāla's does
Introduced in Chapter 35.

جرادة jarāda
a locust
Introduced in Chapter 476.

جرف jarafa
to sweep away
Introduced in Chapter 487.

جرس jaras
a bell
Introduced in Chapter 549.

جريدة jarīda
a newspaper
Introduced in Chapter 117.

جريح jarīḥ
a wounded person; wounded
Introduced in Chapter 301.

جريمة jarīma
a crime
Introduced in Chapter 300.

جريء jarīʾ
bold, daring
Introduced in Chapter 500.

جر jarra
to tow; to drag
Introduced in Chapter 433.

جرب jarraba
to try (on)
Introduced in Chapter 193.

جراح jarrāḥ
a surgeon
Introduced in Chapter 232.

جواب jawāb
an answer
Introduced in Chapter 74.

جواز jawāz
a passport
Introduced in Chapter 118.

جودة jawda
quality
Introduced in Chapter 249.

جولة jawla
a tour; a round
Introduced in Chapter 438.

جوقة jawqa
a choir
Introduced in Chapter 543.

جورب jawrab
a sock
Introduced in Chapter 94.

جوال jawwāl
a mobile phone
Introduced in Chapter 245.

جيب jayb
a pocket
Introduced in Chapter 95.

جيش jaysh
an army
Introduced in Chapter 307.

جيد jayyid
good
Introduced in Chapter 82.

جزر jazar
carrots
Introduced in Chapter 67.

جزيرة jazīra
an island
Introduced in Chapter 131.

جزار jazzār
a butcher
Introduced in Chapter 220.

جاء jāʾa
"he came" — the partner of dhahaba, and the first root whose middle letter is weak enough to vanish, showing that even Arabic's irregularities are patterned
Introduced in Chapter 28.

جاع jāᶜa
to get hungry
Introduced in Chapter 517.

جدار jidār
a wall
Introduced in Chapter 70.

جدا jiddan
very
Introduced in Chapter 207.

جذر jidhr
a root
Introduced in Chapter 131.

جهاز jihāz
a device
Introduced in Chapter 248.

جلد jild
skin
Introduced in Chapter 141.

جناية jināya
a felony, a serious crime
Introduced in Chapter 348.

جنسية jinsiyya
nationality
Introduced in Chapter 387.

جسم jism
the body
Introduced in Chapter 168.

جسر jisr
a bridge
Introduced in Chapter 92.

جبن jubn
"cheese" — and an honest limit on the root system, because the very same three letters also spell cowardice and the two are not one idea
Introduced in Chapter 34.

جغرافيا jughrāfiyā
geography
Introduced in Chapter 190.

جمجمة jumjuma
a skull
Introduced in Chapter 505.

جملة jumla
a sentence
Introduced in Chapter 282.

جندي jundī
a soldier
Introduced in Chapter 307.

جرح jurḥ
a wound
Introduced in Chapter 200.

جرثومة jurthūma
a germ
Introduced in Chapter 509.

جرعة jur^{c}a
a dose
Introduced in Chapter 511.

جوع jū^{c} hunger
Introduced in Chapter 54.

كبد kabid
the liver
Introduced in Chapter 504.

كبير kabīr
big
Introduced in Chapter 81.

كبر kabira
to get older; to grow up
Introduced in Chapter 531.

كبسولة kabsūla
a capsule
Introduced in Chapter 511.

كدح kadaḥa
to toil
Introduced in Chapter 522.

كذب kadhaba
to lie, to tell a lie
Introduced in Chapter 258.

كذلك kadhālika
likewise
Introduced in Chapter 375.

كاذب kādhib
untruthful, false
Introduced in Chapter 499.

كدمة kadma
a bruise
Introduced in Chapter 201.

كفى kafā
to suffice
Introduced in Chapter 406.

كافح kāfaḥa
to struggle against
Introduced in Chapter 411.

كفاءة kafā^{ʾ}a competence
Introduced in Chapter 107.

كف kaff
a palm
Introduced in Chapter 140.

كهف kahf
a cave
Introduced in Chapter 132.

كاحل kāḥil
an ankle
Introduced in Chapter 168.

كهرباء kahrabāʾ
electricity
Introduced in Chapter 444.

كلب, قط kalb, qiṭṭ
dog and cat — kalb is a solid, well-attested Semitic root (cousin of Hebrew's own dog-word), unlike the tangled dog-words of Spanish, Hindi, and English; qitt belongs with the cat-word that travelled across the Mediterranean, the one behind Latin cattus/gato/chat/Katze, though where that word started is not settled
Introduced in Chapter 21.

كلمة kalima
a word
Introduced in Chapter 75.

كلمات متقاطعة kalimāt mutaqāṭiᶜa
a crossword
Introduced in Chapter 537.

كلف kallafa
to cost
Introduced in Chapter 192.

كم عمرك؟ kam ᶜumruka
how old are you? — literally "how much [is] your lifetime?"; age as a NOUN you possess, not a verb you conjugate
Introduced in Chapter 17.

كما kamā
as, in the same way as
Introduced in Chapter 207.

لو كما kamā law
as if
Introduced in Chapter 404.

كمان kamān
a violin
Introduced in Chapter 544.

كاميرا kāmīrā
a camera
Introduced in Chapter 217.

كمية kammiyya
a quantity
Introduced in Chapter 249.

كمون kammūn
cumin
Introduced in Chapter 121.

كان kāna
to be (in the past); was — the verb the present leaves out
Introduced in Chapter 283.

كنبة kanaba
a couch
Introduced in Chapter 551.

كنس kanasa
to sweep
Introduced in Chapter 223.

كنة kanna
a daughter-in-law
Introduced in Chapter 529.

كنز kanz
a treasure
Introduced in Chapter 312.

كرم karam
generosity
Introduced in Chapter 237.

كرامة karāma
dignity
Introduced in Chapter 382.

كربون karbūn
carbon
Introduced in Chapter 463.

كره kariha
to hate
Introduced in Chapter 113.

كريم karīm
generous
Introduced in Chapter 210.

كرّر من فضلك karrir min faḍlik say it again, please — the second half of a repair kit whose first half arrived four chapters ago, and the first command this book has ever given
Introduced in Chapter 41.

كرتون kartūn
cardboard
Introduced in Chapter 250.

كسب kasaba
to earn
Introduced in Chapter 224.

كسر kasara
to break
Introduced in Chapter 161.

كشف kashafa
to uncover, to reveal
Introduced in Chapter 312.

كسول kasūl
lazy
Introduced in Chapter 153.

كتب kataba
"he wrote" — the chapter's payoff, where one root and the patterns you already own hand you a book, a writer, an office and a library with nothing new to memorise
Introduced in Chapter 31.

كتم katama
to hold back (a feeling)
Introduced in Chapter 497.

كثيب kathīb
a sand dune
Introduced in Chapter 466.

كثيرا kathīran
often, a lot
Introduced in Chapter 171.

كتف katif
a shoulder
Introduced in Chapter 51.

كوى kawā
to iron
Introduced in Chapter 223.

كوكب kawkab
a planet
Introduced in Chapter 205.

كي kay
so that, in order to
Introduced in Chapter 174.

كيف kayfa
how
Introduced in Chapter 3.

كيف أصل إلى kayfa aṣilu ilā
how do I get to — kayfa aṣilu ilā, after min faḍlik, to ask a stranger the way
Introduced in Chapter 287.

كيف حالك؟ kayfa ḥāluka / kayfa ḥāluki
how are you? — literally 'how [is] your state?', gendered -ka / -ki
Introduced in Chapter 3.

كآبة ka^{ʔ}āba gloom, low spirits
Introduced in Chapter 494.

كأس ka^{ʔ}s
a trophy; a cup
Introduced in Chapter 547.

كعب ka^{c}b
a heel
Introduced in Chapter 140.

كعكة ka^{c}ka
a cake
Introduced in Chapter 130.

خباز khabbāz
a baker
Introduced in Chapter 144.

خبأ khabba^{ʔ}a to hide (something)
Introduced in Chapter 166.

خبير khabīr
an expert
Introduced in Chapter 376.

خدم khadama
to serve; to wait on
Introduced in Chapter 446.

خدع khada^{c}a
to deceive, to trick
Introduced in Chapter 351.

خضع khaḍa^{c}a
to be subject to
Introduced in Chapter 411.

خد khadd
a cheek
Introduced in Chapter 138.

خاف khāfa
to be afraid
Introduced in Chapter 257.

خفض khaffaḍa
to lower; to reduce
Introduced in Chapter 457.

خفيف khafīf
light (in weight)
Introduced in Chapter 85.

خجل khajila
to be shy, to be embarrassed
Introduced in Chapter 227.

خجول khajūl
shy
Introduced in Chapter 210.

خال khāl
an uncle (mother's brother)
Introduced in Chapter 55.

خالف khālafa
to break a rule
Introduced in Chapter 410.

خلل khalal
a malfunction; a defect
Introduced in Chapter 460.

خلط khalaṭa
to mix
Introduced in Chapter 254.

خلع khalaᶜa
to take off (clothes)
Introduced in Chapter 193.

خلف khalfa
behind
Introduced in Chapter 102.

خليج khalīj
a gulf; a bay
Introduced in Chapter 471.

خل khall
vinegar
Introduced in Chapter 119.

خلاط khallāṭ
a blender
Introduced in Chapter 187.

خمسون khamsūn
fifty
Introduced in Chapter 97.

خان khāna
to betray
Introduced in Chapter 341.

خانق khāniq
stifling; suffocating
Introduced in Chapter 484.

خرج kharaja
to go out (he went out)
Introduced in Chapter 64.

خارج khārij
outside
Introduced in Chapter 89.

خريطة kharīṭa
a map
Introduced in Chapter 74.

خرطوم kharṭūm
a hose
Introduced in Chapter 219.

خروف kharūf
a sheep
Introduced in Chapter 79.

خشب khashab
wood
Introduced in Chapter 219.

خشن khashin
rough
Introduced in Chapter 212.

خصب khaṣib
fertile
Introduced in Chapter 469.

خسر khasira
to lose
Introduced in Chapter 110.

خصم khaṣm
a discount
Introduced in Chapter 188.

خصر khaṣr
a waist
Introduced in Chapter 139.

خاص khāṣṣ
private, special
Introduced in Chapter 178.

خس khass
lettuce
Introduced in Chapter 120.

خصص khaṣṣaṣa
to allocate
Introduced in Chapter 384.

خاط khāṭa
to sew
Introduced in Chapter 538.

خطب khaṭaba
to propose marriage; to make a speech
Introduced in Chapter 306.

خاتم khātam
a ring
Introduced in Chapter 95.

ختم khatama
to stamp; to seal
Introduced in Chapter 426.

خطر khaṭar
danger
Introduced in Chapter 482.

خاطر khāṭara
to take a risk
Introduced in Chapter 343.

خطأ khaṭaʾ
a mistake; wrong
Introduced in Chapter 85.

خطيب khaṭīb
a fiancé
Introduced in Chapter 528.

خاطف khāṭif
a kidnapper
Introduced in Chapter 347.

خطير khaṭīr
dangerous
Introduced in Chapter 146.

خط سير khaṭṭ sayr
an itinerary
Introduced in Chapter 437.

خطط khaṭṭaṭa
to make plans
Introduced in Chapter 523.

خوف khawf
fear
Introduced in Chapter 206.

خوخ khawkh
peaches
Introduced in Chapter 244.

خيال khayāl
imagination
Introduced in Chapter 365.

خيمة khayma
a tent
Introduced in Chapter 173.

خيط khayṭ
a thread
Introduced in Chapter 124.

خياط khayyāṭ
a tailor
Introduced in Chapter 144.

خزنة khazna
a strongbox; a safe
Introduced in Chapter 443.

خبرة khibra
experience
Introduced in Chapter 109.

خدمة khidma
a service
Introduced in Chapter 446.

خطاب khiṭāb
a speech, an address
Introduced in Chapter 357.

خيانة khiyāna
betrayal
Introduced in Chapter 535.

خيار khiyār
a cucumber
Introduced in Chapter 129.

خزانة khizāna
a cupboard
Introduced in Chapter 122.

خوذة khūdha
a helmet
Introduced in Chapter 341.

خفاش khuffāsh
a bat (the animal)
Introduced in Chapter 475.

خرافة khurāfa
a myth, a superstition
Introduced in Chapter 303.

خصوصا khuṣūṣan
especially
Introduced in Chapter 238.

خطة khuṭṭa
a plan
Introduced in Chapter 114.

خطوبة khuṭūba
an engagement to marry
Introduced in Chapter 306.

خطوة khuṭwa
a step
Introduced in Chapter 269.

كيمياء kīmiyāʾ
chemistry
Introduced in Chapter 222.

كيس kīs
a plastic bag; a sack
Introduced in Chapter 479.

كتاب kitāb
a book
Introduced in Chapter 73.

كوب kūb
"a cup" — the word that opens Arabic's broken plural, where more than one is not made by adding anything but by re-pouring the word into a new shape
Introduced in Chapter 36.

كهولة kuhūla
middle age
Introduced in Chapter 323.

كوخ kūkh
a hut
Introduced in Chapter 1.

كلما kullamā
whenever
Introduced in Chapter 400.

كلية kulliyya
a faculty
Introduced in Chapter 390.

كمثرى kummathrā pears
Introduced in Chapter 244.

كرة kura
a ball
Introduced in Chapter 277.

كرسي kursī
a chair
Introduced in Chapter 70.

كشك kushk
a kiosk
Introduced in Chapter 436.

لا lā
no (lā)
Introduced in Chapter 5.

لا أفهم lā afham
I do not understand — the one hole in an otherwise strong repair kit, one present-tense form away since chapter thirty-one
Introduced in Chapter 37.

لبس labisa
to wear (he wore)
Introduced in Chapter 62.

لدى ladā
with, in one's possession
Introduced in Chapter 108.

لذيذ ladhīdh
delicious
Introduced in Chapter 150.

لف laffa
to wrap, to roll up
Introduced in Chapter 260.

لافتة lāfita
a sign, a placard
Introduced in Chapter 158.

لهب lahab
a flame, flames
Introduced in Chapter 354.

لاحظ lāḥaẓa
to notice
Introduced in Chapter 197.

لحق laḥiqa
to catch up with
Introduced in Chapter 347.

لاحقا lāḥiqan
later
Introduced in Chapter 202.

لحم laḥm
"meat" — one Semitic root that Arabic settled on meat and Hebrew settled on bread, with Bethlehem sitting on the seam between them
Introduced in Chapter 34.

لحن laḥn
a melody, a tune
Introduced in Chapter 543.

لحظة laḥẓa
a moment
Introduced in Chapter 202.

لجأ lajaʾa
to seek refuge
Introduced in Chapter 487.

لكم lakama
to punch
Introduced in Chapter 548.

لخص lakhkhaṣa
to summarize
Introduced in Chapter 394.

لكن lākin
but — the first word in this book that can set one clause against another, and three letters the reader has owned since chapter two
Introduced in Chapter 38.

لام lāma
to blame
Introduced in Chapter 498.

لمس lamasa
to touch
Introduced in Chapter 194.

لامع lāmiᶜ
shiny
Introduced in Chapter 212.

لمح lammaḥa
to hint
Introduced in Chapter 369.

لمع lammaᶜa
to polish
Introduced in Chapter 550.

لقب laqab
a title; a nickname
Introduced in Chapter 342.

لقاح laqāḥ
a vaccine
Introduced in Chapter 263.

لطيف laṭīf
kind, pleasant
Introduced in Chapter 147.

لوحة lawḥa
a painting; a board
Introduced in Chapter 186.

لولا lawlā
if not for
Introduced in Chapter 400.

لون lawn
a colour
Introduced in Chapter 98.

لوث lawwatha
to pollute
Introduced in Chapter 464.

لوز lawz
almonds
Introduced in Chapter 244.

ليل layl
"night" — the word already hiding inside muntaṣaf al-layl ('midnight'), and yawm's pan-Semitic partner, cognate with Hebrew layla
Introduced in Chapter 26.

ليمون laymūn
lemons
Introduced in Chapter 68.

ليس laysa
is not — the denial of the nominal sentence, which is the one thing this book teaches productively and could not deny
Introduced in Chapter 39.

لزج lazij
sticky
Introduced in Chapter 212.

لعل laᶜalla
it may be that; perhaps
Introduced in Chapter 421.

لاعب lāᶜib
a player
Introduced in Chapter 190.

لعب laᶜiba
to play (he played)
Introduced in Chapter 58.

لأن li-anna
because — the answer to the question the lesson before taught, and the same لـ with a complementiser behind it
Introduced in Chapter 40.

لذلك li-dhālika
therefore, so
Introduced in Chapter 174.

السبب لهذا li-hādhā as-sabab
for this reason
Introduced in Chapter 374.

لكي li-kay
in order to
Introduced in Chapter 374.

الأولى للمرة li-l-marra al-ūlā
for the first time
Introduced in Chapter 349.

لحية liḥya
a beard
Introduced in Chapter 139.

لماذا؟ limādhā?
why — the question this book has never been able to ask, built out of the preposition لـ and the word for "what"
Introduced in Chapter 40.

لسان lisān
a tongue
Introduced in Chapter 141.

لص liṣṣ
a thief
Introduced in Chapter 300.

لثة litha
the gums
Introduced in Chapter 506.

لياقة liyāqa
fitness
Introduced in Chapter 169.

لغة lugha
a language
Introduced in Chapter 99.

لغويات lughawiyyāt
linguistics
Introduced in Chapter 376.

لعبة lu^{c}ba a toy, a game
Introduced in Chapter 126.

ما mā
what
Introduced in Chapter 2.

ما اسمك؟ mā ismuka
what's your name?
Introduced in Chapter 2.

مبدأ mabda^{ʾ}
a principle
Introduced in Chapter 358.

مبنى mabnā
a building
Introduced in Chapter 101.

مبروك mabrūk
congratulations
Introduced in Chapter 249.

مضغ maḍagha
to chew
Introduced in Chapter 194.

مادة mādda
a school subject
Introduced in Chapter 252.

مدينة madīna
a city
Introduced in Chapter 93.

مضيق maḍīq
a strait
Introduced in Chapter 477.

مدخل madkhal
an entrance
Introduced in Chapter 105.

مدرج madraj
a runway
Introduced in Chapter 423.

مدرسة madrasa
a school
Introduced in Chapter 73.

مدعو mad^{c}uww
an invited guest
Introduced in Chapter 328.

مفهوم mafhūm
a concept
Introduced in Chapter 363.

مفصل mafṣil
a joint
Introduced in Chapter 505.

مفتوح maftūḥ
open
Introduced in Chapter 146.

مغص maghaṣ
a stomach cramp
Introduced in Chapter 201.

مغرور maghrūr
conceited, vain
Introduced in Chapter 500.

مغسلة maghsala
a sink, a washbasin
Introduced in Chapter 181.

محلي maḥallī
local
Introduced in Chapter 270.

مهمة mahamma
a task, a mission
Introduced in Chapter 520.

محار maḥār
oysters; shellfish
Introduced in Chapter 477.

مهارة mahāra
a skill
Introduced in Chapter 109.

محطة maḥaṭṭa
a station
Introduced in Chapter 91.

مهد mahd
a cradle
Introduced in Chapter 530.

ماهر māhir
skilful, skilled
Introduced in Chapter 501.

محجوز maḥjūz
booked, reserved
Introduced in Chapter 270.

محكمة maḥkama
a court of law
Introduced in Chapter 305.

مهما mahmā
whatever
Introduced in Chapter 400.

محمية maḥmiyya
a nature reserve
Introduced in Chapter 467.

مهر mahr
a dowry, a bride gift
Introduced in Chapter 336.

مهرجان mahrajān
a festival
Introduced in Chapter 184.

محروق maḥrūq
burnt
Introduced in Chapter 209.

محصول maḥṣūl
a crop; a harvest
Introduced in Chapter 469.

محو الأمية maḥw al-ummiyya
literacy
Introduced in Chapter 398.

مجلة majalla
a magazine
Introduced in Chapter 117.

مجهول majhūl
unknown; a stranger
Introduced in Chapter 343.

ماجستير mājistīr
a master's degree
Introduced in Chapter 397.

مجاني majjānī
free (of charge)
Introduced in Chapter 177.

مجلس majlis
a council
Introduced in Chapter 385.

مكان makān
a place
Introduced in Chapter 104.

مخبز makhbaz
a bakery
Introduced in Chapter 172.

مخفر makhfar
a police station
Introduced in Chapter 451.

مخرج makhraj
an exit
Introduced in Chapter 105.

مخطوطة makhṭūṭa
a manuscript
Introduced in Chapter 342.

مكسور maksūr
broken
Introduced in Chapter 209.

مكتب maktab
an office; a desk
Introduced in Chapter 92.

مكتبة maktaba
a library; a bookshop
Introduced in Chapter 451.

مال māl
money
Introduced in Chapter 74.

ملابس malābis
clothes
Introduced in Chapter 94.

ملف malaff
a file, a folder
Introduced in Chapter 274.

ملك malaka
to own
Introduced in Chapter 110.

ملل malal
boredom
Introduced in Chapter 488.

ملأ malaʾa
to fill
Introduced in Chapter 160.

ملفوف malfūf
a cabbage
Introduced in Chapter 121.

مالح māliḥ
salty
Introduced in Chapter 145.

مالك mālik
an owner
Introduced in Chapter 108.

مليء malīʾ
full
Introduced in Chapter 154.

ملجأ maljaʾ
a shelter; a refuge
Introduced in Chapter 487.

مل malla
to get bored (of)
Introduced in Chapter 494.

ملعب malᶜab
a stadium, a sports ground
Introduced in Chapter 235.

ممر mamarr
a corridor
Introduced in Chapter 100.

مشاة ممر mamarr mushāh
a pedestrian crossing
Introduced in Chapter 435.

منارة manāra
a lighthouse; a minaret
Introduced in Chapter 430.

منع manaᶜa
to prevent, to forbid
Introduced in Chapter 198.

منبع manbaᶜ
a river source; a source
Introduced in Chapter 470.

منهج manhaj
a curriculum
Introduced in Chapter 396.

منشور manshūr
a leaflet; a post online
Introduced in Chapter 350.

منطق manṭiq
logic
Introduced in Chapter 362.

منظر manẓar
a view; scenery
Introduced in Chapter 439.

منزل manzil
a house
Introduced in Chapter 69.

منظور manẓūr
a perspective
Introduced in Chapter 359.

مقال maqāl
an article, an essay
Introduced in Chapter 296.

مقر maqarr
headquarters, a base
Introduced in Chapter 524.

مقاس maqās
a size (of clothes)
Introduced in Chapter 245.

مقبرة maqbara
a cemetery
Introduced in Chapter 338.

مقهى maqhā
a café
Introduced in Chapter 172.

مقلي maqlī
fried
Introduced in Chapter 177.

مقصورة maqṣūra
a compartment; a cabin
Introduced in Chapter 428.

مقعد maqᶜad
a seat
Introduced in Chapter 423.

مرفأ marfaʾ
a harbour
Introduced in Chapter 430.

marḥaban
hello / welcome — there is room for you
Introduced in Chapter 1.

مرهم marham
an ointment
Introduced in Chapter 232.

مريض marīḍ
ill, sick
Introduced in Chapter 53.

مرض mariḍa
to fall ill
Introduced in Chapter 507.

مرح mariḥ
cheerful, fun-loving
Introduced in Chapter 503.

مرجان marjān
coral
Introduced in Chapter 471.

مرجع marji^{c}
a reference
Introduced in Chapter 395.

ماركة mārka
a brand
Introduced in Chapter 455.

مركز markaz
a centre
Introduced in Chapter 204.

مرر marrara
to pass the ball
Introduced in Chapter 546.

مرسى marsā
an anchorage; a mooring
Introduced in Chapter 430.

مرعى mar^{c}ā
a pasture
Introduced in Chapter 478.

مصب maṣabb
a river mouth
Introduced in Chapter 470.

مسافة masāfa
a distance
Introduced in Chapter 427.

مسح masaḥa
to wipe
Introduced in Chapter 229.

مسار masār
a route; a lane
Introduced in Chapter 435.

مصاريف maṣārīf
expenses
Introduced in Chapter 459.

مساء الخير masāʾ al-khayr
good evening (masāʾ al-khayr — “evening of goodness”)
Introduced in Chapter 1.

مسبح masbaḥ
a swimming pool
Introduced in Chapter 454.

مصدر maṣdar
a source
Introduced in Chapter 320.

مشى mashā
to walk (he walked)
Introduced in Chapter 58.

مشغول mashghūl
busy
Introduced in Chapter 147.

مشهد mashhad
a scene; a view
Introduced in Chapter 542.

مشهور mashhūr
famous
Introduced in Chapter 145.

مشروع mashrūʿ
a project
Introduced in Chapter 112.

مشوي mashwī
grilled
Introduced in Chapter 209.

مسجد masjid
a mosque
Introduced in Chapter 92.

مسلوق maslūq
boiled
Introduced in Chapter 209.

مصنع maṣnaᶜ
a factory
Introduced in Chapter 142.

رأس مسقط masqaṭ raʾs
a birthplace, a home town
Introduced in Chapter 323.

مسرح masraḥ
a theatre
Introduced in Chapter 265.

مسرحية masraḥiyya
a stage play
Introduced in Chapter 542.

مسرور masrūr
pleased
Introduced in Chapter 148.

مسألة masʾala
a matter
Introduced in Chapter 361.

مسؤول masʾūl
an official, the person in charge; responsible — the one to ask for when something has gone wrong
Introduced in Chapter 288.

مات māta
to die
Introduced in Chapter 532.

مطار maṭār
an airport
Introduced in Chapter 100.

مطبخ maṭbakh
a kitchen
Introduced in Chapter 72.

مطبوخ maṭbūkh
cooked
Introduced in Chapter 177.

متحف maṯḥaf
a museum
Introduced in Chapter 235.

مثلا mathalan
for example
Introduced in Chapter 268.

متجر matjar
a shop
Introduced in Chapter 90.

مطاط maṭṭāṭ
rubber
Introduced in Chapter 250.

مطعم maṭᶜam
a restaurant
Introduced in Chapter 93.

موضوع mawḍūᶜ
a topic, a subject
Introduced in Chapter 218.

موضوعي mawḍūᶜī
objective
Introduced in Chapter 422.

موهبة mawhiba
a talent
Introduced in Chapter 110.

موجة mawja
a wave
Introduced in Chapter 247.

حر موجة mawjat ḥarr
a heatwave
Introduced in Chapter 484.

موكب mawkib
a procession
Introduced in Chapter 328.

مولود mawlūd
a newborn
Introduced in Chapter 311.

موقد mawqid
a stove
Introduced in Chapter 123.

موقف mawqif
a car park; a stop
Introduced in Chapter 173.

موقع mawqiᶜ
a website, a site
Introduced in Chapter 248.

مول mawwala
to fund
Introduced in Chapter 384.

موز mawz
bananas
Introduced in Chapter 66.

ميدان maydān
a public square, a field
Introduced in Chapter 100.

ميز mayyaza
to distinguish
Introduced in Chapter 364.

ميت mayyit
dead
Introduced in Chapter 242.

مزح mazaḥa
to joke
Introduced in Chapter 164.

مزهرية mazhariyya
a vase
Introduced in Chapter 550.

مزرعة mazraᶜa
a farm
Introduced in Chapter 265.

خبز ماء māʾ khubz
water and bread — one of Arabic's most irregular common words, and one built on a clean, ordinary Semitic root
Introduced in Chapter 13.

مع maᶜa
with
Introduced in Chapter 4.

مع ذلك maᶜa dhālika even so; however
Introduced in Chapter 375.

مع السلامة maᶜa s-salāma
goodbye — literally 'with safety', closing the greeting arc on the root that opened it
Introduced in Chapter 4.

معا maᶜan
together
Introduced in Chapter 268.

معبد maᶜbad
a temple
Introduced in Chapter 318.

معهد maᶜhad
an institute
Introduced in Chapter 391.

ماعز mā^{c}iz
a goat
Introduced in Chapter 79.

معكرونة ma^{c}karūna
pasta
Introduced in Chapter 273.

معلومات ma^{c}lūmāt
information
Introduced in Chapter 281.

معنى ma^{c}nā
a meaning
Introduced in Chapter 208.

معقول ma^{c}qūl
reasonable
Introduced in Chapter 272.

معركة ma^{c}raka
a battle
Introduced in Chapter 307.

معرض ma^{c}riḍ
an exhibition
Introduced in Chapter 541.

معرفة ma^{c}rifa
knowledge
Introduced in Chapter 367.

مبراة mibrāh
a pencil sharpener
Introduced in Chapter 253.

مضخة miḍakhkha
a pump
Introduced in Chapter 433.

ميدالية mīdāliya
a medal
Introduced in Chapter 547.

مذياع midhyā^{c}
a radio set
Introduced in Chapter 297.

مدخنة midkhana
a chimney
Introduced in Chapter 266.

مفتاح miftāḥ
a key
Introduced in Chapter 71.

مغرفة mighrafa
a ladle
Introduced in Chapter 278.

محفظة miḥfaẓa
a wallet
Introduced in Chapter 118.

مهنة mihna
a profession, a trade
Introduced in Chapter 518.

ميكانيكي mīkānīkī
a mechanic
Introduced in Chapter 526.

مخدة mikhadda
a cushion; a pillow
Introduced in Chapter 551.

مخلب mikhlab
a claw; a talon
Introduced in Chapter 476.

مكنسة miknasa
a broom
Introduced in Chapter 125.

مكواة mikwāh
a clothes iron
Introduced in Chapter 447.

ميلاد mīlād
birth
Introduced in Chapter 233.

ملح milḥ
"salt" — a plain Semitic word whose root also gives Arabic its sailor and its word for handsome, and which shows ḥāʾ in its final shape
Introduced in Chapter 34.

ملكية milkiyya
ownership
Introduced in Chapter 107.

ملعقة milᶜaqa
"a spoon" — the closing payoff, where the mi- tool shape stands beside the ma- place shape you already own, and where sound and broken plurals finally sort themselves out
Introduced in Chapter 36.

ممحاة mimḥāh
an eraser
Introduced in Chapter 143.

ممسحة mimsaḥa
a mop
Introduced in Chapter 551.

فصاعدا الآن من min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan
from now on
Introduced in Chapter 157.

فضلك من min faḍlik please (min faḍlik — literally “from your grace”)
Introduced in Chapter 6.

جديد من min jadīd
anew, all over again
Introduced in Chapter 313.

ميناء mīnāʾ
a port
Introduced in Chapter 100.

منديل mindīl
a handkerchief
Introduced in Chapter 127.

منحة minḥa
a scholarship
Introduced in Chapter 390.

منشفة minshafa
a towel
Introduced in Chapter 122.

منطقة minṭaqa
an area, a district
Introduced in Chapter 204.

مقص miqaṣṣ
scissors
Introduced in Chapter 124.

مقبض miqbaḍ
a handle
Introduced in Chapter 549.

مقلاة miqlāh
a frying pan
Introduced in Chapter 116.

مقلمة miqlama
a pencil case
Introduced in Chapter 282.

مقود miqwad
a steering wheel
Introduced in Chapter 445.

ميراث mīrāth
an inheritance
Introduced in Chapter 337.

مرفق mirfaq
an elbow
Introduced in Chapter 139.

مروحة mirwaḥa
a fan
Introduced in Chapter 116.

مرآب mirʾāb
a garage; a car park
Introduced in Chapter 436.

مرآة mirʾāh
a mirror
Introduced in Chapter 71.

مصباح miṣbāḥ
a lamp
Introduced in Chapter 71.

مصفاة miṣfāh
a strainer
Introduced in Chapter 278.

مشجب mishjab
a coat hanger
Introduced in Chapter 279.

مشمش mishmish
apricots
Introduced in Chapter 130.

مسمار mismār
a nail
Introduced in Chapter 124.

مسطرة misṭara
a ruler
Introduced in Chapter 253.

مصعد miṣᶜad
a lift
Introduced in Chapter 100.

مثال mithāl
an example
Introduced in Chapter 208.

مثل mithl
like, such as
Introduced in Chapter 238.

مطرقة miṭraqa
a hammer
Introduced in Chapter 218.

مترو mitrū
the metro; the underground
Introduced in Chapter 428.

ميزة mīza
an advantage
Introduced in Chapter 269.

مزاج mizāj
a mood
Introduced in Chapter 169.

مظلة miẓalla
an umbrella
Introduced in Chapter 118.

ميزان mīzān
scales
Introduced in Chapter 218.

ميزانية mīzāniyya
a budget
Introduced in Chapter 459.

مزلاج mizlāj
a bolt, a latch
Introduced in Chapter 549.

معدة mi^{c}da
the stomach
Introduced in Chapter 504.

معصم mi^{c}ṣam
a wrist
Introduced in Chapter 263.

معطف mi^{c}ṭaf
a coat
Introduced in Chapter 95.

معيار mi^{c}yār
a criterion
Introduced in Chapter 364.

مبكرا mubakkiran
early
Introduced in Chapter 170.

مبلل muballal
wet
Introduced in Chapter 151.

مباراة mubārā
a match
Introduced in Chapter 277.

مبرمج mubarmij
a programmer
Introduced in Chapter 525.

مبرر mubarrir
a justification; a pretext
Introduced in Chapter 422.

مباشر mubāshir
direct
Introduced in Chapter 210.

مبدع mubdi^c
creative
Introduced in Chapter 501.

مدرب mudarrib
a coach, a trainer
Introduced in Chapter 190.

مُدَرِّس mudarris
a teacher
Introduced in Chapter 2.

مدونة mudawwana
a blog
Introduced in Chapter 355.

مدة mudda
a period, a duration
Introduced in Chapter 171.

مضحك muḍḥik
funny
Introduced in Chapter 241.

مدهش mudhish
amazing
Introduced in Chapter 272.

مذيع mudhī^c
a presenter, a broadcaster
Introduced in Chapter 281.

مضيف muḍīf
a flight attendant; a host
Introduced in Chapter 425.

مدير mudīr
a manager, a director
Introduced in Chapter 251.

مضطرب muḍṭarib
agitated, unsettled
Introduced in Chapter 497.

مفاجأة mufājaʾa
a surprise
Introduced in Chapter 343.

مفيد mufīd
useful
Introduced in Chapter 146.

مغالطة mughālaṭa
a fallacy
Introduced in Chapter 362.

مغامرة mughāmara
an adventure
Introduced in Chapter 343.

مغني mughannī
a singer
Introduced in Chapter 190.

مغبر mughbarr
dusty
Introduced in Chapter 466.

مغلق mughlaq
closed
Introduced in Chapter 146.

محاضرة muḥāḍara
a lecture
Introduced in Chapter 252.

محدد muḥaddad
specific
Introduced in Chapter 417.

مهدد muhaddad
endangered; threatened
Introduced in Chapter 467.

مهذب muhadhdhab
polite
Introduced in Chapter 241.

محاضر muḥāḍir
a lecturer
Introduced in Chapter 392.

محاكمة muḥākama
a trial
Introduced in Chapter 334.

محامي muḥāmī
a lawyer
Introduced in Chapter 280.

مهندس muhandis
an engineer
Introduced in Chapter 280.

محقق muḥaqqiq
an investigator, a detective
Introduced in Chapter 308.

محرك muḥarrik
an engine; a motor
Introduced in Chapter 432.

محرر muḥarrir
an editor
Introduced in Chapter 296.

محاسب muḥāsib
an accountant
Introduced in Chapter 189.

محول muḥawwil
an adapter; a transformer
Introduced in Chapter 444.

محبط muḥbaṭ
frustrated
Introduced in Chapter 494.

مهم muhimm
important
Introduced in Chapter 85.

محيط muḥīṭ
an ocean
Introduced in Chapter 471.

مهمل muhmil
careless
Introduced in Chapter 503.

محتمل muḥtamal
probable
Introduced in Chapter 401.

مجفف mujaffif
a dryer; a hairdryer
Introduced in Chapter 447.

مجمع تجاري mujamma^{c} tijārī
a shopping centre
Introduced in Chapter 454.

مجرم mujrim
a criminal
Introduced in Chapter 300.

مجتهد mujtahid
hard-working
Introduced in Chapter 178.

مجتمع mujtamaᶜ society
Introduced in Chapter 175.

مكافأة mukāfaʾa
a bonus, a reward
Introduced in Chapter 521.

مكالمة mukālama
a phone call
Introduced in Chapter 281.

مكلف mukallif
expensive, costly
Introduced in Chapter 177.

مكيف mukayyif
an air conditioner
Introduced in Chapter 181.

مخالفة mukhālafa
an offence; a traffic ticket
Introduced in Chapter 352.

مخيم mukhayyam
a campsite; a camp
Introduced in Chapter 442.

مخيف mukhīf
frightening, scary
Introduced in Chapter 243.

مخلص mukhliṣ
loyal, devoted
Introduced in Chapter 499.

مختبر mukhtabar
a laboratory
Introduced in Chapter 391.

مختلف mukhtalif
different
Introduced in Chapter 211.

ملحن mulaḥḥin
a composer
Introduced in Chapter 543.

ملاكمة mulākama
boxing
Introduced in Chapter 548.

ملخص mulakhkhaṣ
a summary
Introduced in Chapter 394.

ملون mulawwan
colourful
Introduced in Chapter 149.

ملوث mulawwath
polluted
Introduced in Chapter 464.

ملاءة mulāʾa
a bed sheet
Introduced in Chapter 443.

ملحق mulḥaq
a supplement; an annex
Introduced in Chapter 350.

ممرض mumarriḍ
a nurse
Introduced in Chapter 231.

ممثل mumaththil
an actor
Introduced in Chapter 281.

ممل mumill
boring
Introduced in Chapter 270.

ممتن mumtann
grateful
Introduced in Chapter 491.

ممتاز mumtāz
excellent
Introduced in Chapter 240.

ممطر mumṭir
rainy
Introduced in Chapter 179.

ممتع mumtiʿ
enjoyable
Introduced in Chapter 149.

منبه munabbih
an alarm clock
Introduced in Chapter 234.

مناخ munākh
climate
Introduced in Chapter 463.

مناسبة munāsaba
an occasion
Introduced in Chapter 184.

مناسب munāsib
suitable
Introduced in Chapter 240.

مناوبة munāwaba
a shift, a turn on duty
Introduced in Chapter 520.

منظم munaẓẓam
organized, tidy
Introduced in Chapter 503.

منظمة munaẓẓama
an organization
Introduced in Chapter 385.

مندهش mundahish
astonished
Introduced in Chapter 490.

منذ mundhu
since, ago
Introduced in Chapter 233.

طويل زمن منذ mundhu zaman ṭawīl
long ago; for a long time
Introduced in Chapter 304.

منحدر munḥadar
a slope
Introduced in Chapter 472.

منخفض munkhafiḍ
low
Introduced in Chapter 150.

منقذ munqidh
a rescuer; a lifeguard
Introduced in Chapter 310.

منتج muntaj
a product
Introduced in Chapter 455.

منتجع muntaja^{c}
a resort
Introduced in Chapter 442.

منزعج munza^{c}ij
annoyed
Introduced in Chapter 495.

منعطف mun^{c}aṭaf
a bend; a turning
Introduced in Chapter 434.

منعش mun^{c}ish refreshing
Introduced in Chapter 486.

مقابلة muqābala
an interview
Introduced in Chapter 189.

مقابل muqābil
opposite
Introduced in Chapter 172.

مقرر muqarrar
a syllabus
Introduced in Chapter 397.

مقاول muqāwil
a building contractor
Introduced in Chapter 526.

مقنع muqni^{c} convincing
Introduced in Chapter 359.

مربى murabbā
jam
Introduced in Chapter 120.

مربية murabbiya
a nanny
Introduced in Chapter 531.

مراهق murāhiq
a teenager
Introduced in Chapter 531.

مرشح murashshaḥ
a candidate
Introduced in Chapter 378.

مراسل murāsil
a correspondent, a reporter
Introduced in Chapter 293.

مريح murīḥ
comfortable
Introduced in Chapter 145.

مر murr
bitter
Introduced in Chapter 152.

مرشد murshid
a tour guide; a guide
Introduced in Chapter 437.

مرتفع murtafi^{c} high
Introduced in Chapter 150.

مرتاح murtāḥ
at ease, relaxed
Introduced in Chapter 496.

مرور murūr
traffic; passing
Introduced in Chapter 431.

مصاب muṣāb
injured
Introduced in Chapter 180.

مسافر musāfir
a traveller
Introduced in Chapter 142.

مسلسل musalsal
a TV series
Introduced in Chapter 248.

مصمم muṣammim
a designer
Introduced in Chapter 525.

مسطح musaṭṭaḥ
flat
Introduced in Chapter 180.

مساواة musāwāh
equality
Introduced in Chapter 380.

مصور muṣawwir
a photographer; a camera operator
Introduced in Chapter 356.

مشابه mushābih
similar
Introduced in Chapter 211.

مشاهد mushāhid
a viewer, a spectator
Introduced in Chapter 356.

مشجع mushajjiᶜ
a supporter, a fan
Introduced in Chapter 546.

مشكلة mushkila
a problem
Introduced in Chapter 206.

مشمس mushmis
sunny
Introduced in Chapter 211.

مشرف mushrif
a supervisor
Introduced in Chapter 392.

مشط mushṭ
a comb
Introduced in Chapter 122.

مشترك mushtarak
shared
Introduced in Chapter 420.

مشتريات mushtarayāt
purchases; the shopping
Introduced in Chapter 459.

موسيقى mūsīqā
music
Introduced in Chapter 99.

مستدير mustadīr
round
Introduced in Chapter 148.

مستحيل mustaḥīl
impossible
Introduced in Chapter 403.

مستهلك mustahlik
a consumer
Introduced in Chapter 459.

مستكشف mustakshif
an explorer
Introduced in Chapter 312.

مصطلح muṣṭalaḥ
a term
Introduced in Chapter 396.

مستمع mustamiᶜ
a listener
Introduced in Chapter 356.

مستنقع mustanqa^{c} a swamp; a marsh
Introduced in Chapter 473.

مستقبل mustaqbal
the future
Introduced in Chapter 171.

مستقل mustaqill
independent
Introduced in Chapter 418.

مستقيم mustaqīm
straight ahead
Introduced in Chapter 105.

مستشار mustashār
an adviser, a consultant
Introduced in Chapter 518.

مستشفى mustashfā
a hospital
Introduced in Chapter 53.

مستطيل mustaṭīl
a rectangle
Introduced in Chapter 279.

مستوى mustawā
a level
Introduced in Chapter 415.

مستاء mustā^{ɔ}
displeased, upset
Introduced in Chapter 495.

مستعجل musta^{c}jil
in a hurry
Introduced in Chapter 178.

مستعمل musta^{c}mal
second-hand
Introduced in Chapter 243.

متابع mutābi^{c}
a follower; an observer
Introduced in Chapter 356.

متدرب mutadarrib
a trainee, an intern
Introduced in Chapter 519.

متاح mutāḥ
available
Introduced in Chapter 270.

متحدث mutaḥaddith
a spokesperson; a speaker
Introduced in Chapter 302.

متحفظ mutaḥaffiẓ
reserved
Introduced in Chapter 502.

متحمس mutaḥammis
excited, keen
Introduced in Chapter 496.

متكبر mutakabbir
arrogant
Introduced in Chapter 500.

متقاعد mutaqāᶜid
retired; a pensioner
Introduced in Chapter 522.

متردد mutaraddid
hesitant
Introduced in Chapter 497.

مترجم mutarjim
a translator
Introduced in Chapter 189.

متسامح mutasāmiḥ
tolerant, forgiving
Introduced in Chapter 503.

متسخ mutassikh
dirty
Introduced in Chapter 151.

متواضع mutawāḍiᶜ
modest, humble
Introduced in Chapter 241.

متوتر mutawattir
tense, nervous
Introduced in Chapter 497.

متأخرا mutaʾakhkhiran
late
Introduced in Chapter 170.

متأكد mutaʾakkid sure, certain
Introduced in Chapter 272.

مثلجات muthallajāt
ice cream
Introduced in Chapter 182.

مثلث muthallath
a triangle
Introduced in Chapter 250.

مثير muthīr
exciting
Introduced in Chapter 272.

متهم muttaham
a defendant, an accused
Introduced in Chapter 305.

متعب mut^{c}ab
tired
Introduced in Chapter 147.

مواطن muwāṭin
a citizen
Introduced in Chapter 236.

موظف muwaẓẓaf
an employee
Introduced in Chapter 251.

مظاهرة muẓāhara
a demonstration, a march
Introduced in Chapter 353.

مزارع muzāri^{c}
a farmer
Introduced in Chapter 144.

مزيف muzayyaf
fake
Introduced in Chapter 243.

مزدحم muzdaḥim
crowded
Introduced in Chapter 155.

مظلم muẓlim
dark
Introduced in Chapter 149.

مزعج muz^{c}ij
annoying
Introduced in Chapter 243.

معدل mu^{c}addal
an average
Introduced in Chapter 393.

معاهدة mu^{c}āhada
a treaty
Introduced in Chapter 341.

معلم mu^{c}allim
a teacher
Introduced in Chapter 57.

معقد mu^{c}aqqad
complicated
Introduced in Chapter 272.

معطل mu^{c}aṭṭal
out of order
Introduced in Chapter 240.

معضلة mu^{c}ḍila
a dilemma
Introduced in Chapter 372.

معتدل mu^{c}tadil
mild; moderate
Introduced in Chapter 480.

نبح nabaḥa
to bark
Introduced in Chapter 230.

نبات nabāt
plant life; a plant
Introduced in Chapter 468.

نبض nabḍ
the pulse
Introduced in Chapter 504.

نادى nādā
to call out to
Introduced in Chapter 310.

ندى nadā
dew
Introduced in Chapter 485.

نادي nādī
a club
Introduced in Chapter 265.

ناضج nāḍij
ripe
Introduced in Chapter 153.

نضج naḍija
to ripen; to mature
Introduced in Chapter 531.

نادل nādil
a waiter
Introduced in Chapter 251.

نادم nādim
regretful
Introduced in Chapter 493.

ندم nadima
to regret
Introduced in Chapter 493.

نادر nādir
rare
Introduced in Chapter 211.

نادرا nādiran
rarely
Introduced in Chapter 171.

نفى nafā
to deny officially; to exile
Introduced in Chapter 355.

نفض nafaḍa
to shake out (dust)
Introduced in Chapter 550.

نفخ nafakha
to blow
Introduced in Chapter 199.

نفق nafaq
a tunnel
Introduced in Chapter 431.

نافس nāfasa
to compete with
Introduced in Chapter 548.

نفذ naffadha
to carry out
Introduced in Chapter 520.

نفد nafida
to run out
Introduced in Chapter 462.

نافذة nāfidha
a window
Introduced in Chapter 69.

نفط nafṭ
crude oil; petroleum
Introduced in Chapter 465.

نافورة nāfūra
a fountain
Introduced in Chapter 440.

نهب nahaba
to loot, to plunder
Introduced in Chapter 321.

نهض nahaḍa
to get up, to rise
Introduced in Chapter 515.

نحت naḥata
to carve
Introduced in Chapter 541.

نحات naḥḥāt
a sculptor
Introduced in Chapter 541.

نحيف naḥīf
thin
Introduced in Chapter 151.

نحلة naḥla
a bee
Introduced in Chapter 136.

نهر nahr
a river
Introduced in Chapter 76.

نحو naḥwa
towards
Introduced in Chapter 204.

نجا najā
to survive, to escape
Introduced in Chapter 310.

نجاح najāḥ
success
Introduced in Chapter 106.

نجار najjār
a carpenter
Introduced in Chapter 144.

نجم najm
a star
Introduced in Chapter 77.

ناخب nākhib
a voter
Introduced in Chapter 378.

نخلة nakhla
a palm tree
Introduced in Chapter 247.

نام nāma
to sleep (he slept)
Introduced in Chapter 57.

نما namā
to grow
Introduced in Chapter 413.

نمر namir
a tiger
Introduced in Chapter 80.

نملة namla
an ant
Introduced in Chapter 185.

نقاهة naqāha
convalescence
Introduced in Chapter 512.

نقل naqala
to pass on, to report; to carry
Introduced in Chapter 299.

ناقش nāqasha
to discuss
Introduced in Chapter 197.

نقدا naqdan
in cash
Introduced in Chapter 453.

نقي naqī
pure; clean
Introduced in Chapter 477.

نقش naqsh
an inscription; a carving
Introduced in Chapter 342.

نار nār
fire
Introduced in Chapter 78.

نرد nard
dice
Introduced in Chapter 539.

ناس nās
people
Introduced in Chapter 275.

ناسب nāsaba
to fit; to suit
Introduced in Chapter 456.

نصح naṣaḥa
to advise
Introduced in Chapter 369.

نسخ nasakha
to copy
Introduced in Chapter 162.

نشر nashara
to publish, to post
Introduced in Chapter 259.

نشأ nashaʾa
to be reared, to grow up; to arise
Introduced in Chapter 323.

ناشر nāshir
a publisher
Introduced in Chapter 350.

ناشط nāshiṭ
an activist
Introduced in Chapter 379.

نشيط nashīṭ
active, lively
Introduced in Chapter 147.

نشرة nashra
a bulletin, a news broadcast
Introduced in Chapter 296.

نشرة جوية nashra jawwiyya
a weather forecast
Introduced in Chapter 480.

نشال nashshāl
a pickpocket
Introduced in Chapter 321.

نسيب nasīb
an in-law
Introduced in Chapter 529.

نسيم nasīm
a breeze
Introduced in Chapter 482.

نسي nasiya
to forget (he forgot)
Introduced in Chapter 61.

نسر nasr
an eagle
Introduced in Chapter 138.

نصر naṣr
a victory in battle
Introduced in Chapter 315.

نص naṣṣa
to stipulate in writing
Introduced in Chapter 409.

نتج nataja
to stem from; to result
Introduced in Chapter 414.

ناطحة سحاب nāṭiḥat saḥāb
a skyscraper
Introduced in Chapter 454.

نتيجة natīja
a result
Introduced in Chapter 174.

نوى nawā
to intend, to mean to
Introduced in Chapter 157.

ناوب nāwaba
to be on duty; to take turns
Introduced in Chapter 524.

نورس nawras
a seagull
Introduced in Chapter 474.

ناي nāy
a reed flute
Introduced in Chapter 544.

نيء nayʾ
raw
Introduced in Chapter 177.

نزف nazafa
to bleed
Introduced in Chapter 513.

نظافة naẓāfa
cleanliness
Introduced in Chapter 443.

نزح nazaḥa
to be displaced, to flee one's home
Introduced in Chapter 332.

نزل nazala
to go down (he went down)
Introduced in Chapter 65.

نظرية naẓariyya
a theory
Introduced in Chapter 363.

نزيف nazīf
bleeding
Introduced in Chapter 232.

نظيف naẓīf
clean
Introduced in Chapter 84.

نزيه nazīh
upright, honest
Introduced in Chapter 499.

نزيل nazīl
a hotel guest; a lodger
Introduced in Chapter 441.

برد نزلة nazlat bard
a chill
Introduced in Chapter 507.

نظارة naẓẓāra
glasses
Introduced in Chapter 128.

نعى na^{c}ā
to announce a death
Introduced in Chapter 319.

نعم na^{c}am
yes (na^{c}am)
Introduced in Chapter 5.

نعامة na^{c}āma
an ostrich
Introduced in Chapter 474.

ناعم nā^{c}im
soft, smooth
Introduced in Chapter 152.

نعناع na^{c}nā^c
mint
Introduced in Chapter 121.

نعش na^{c}sh
a coffin, a bier
Introduced in Chapter 338.

نقابة niqāba
a trade union
Introduced in Chapter 385.

نقاش niqāsh
a discussion
Introduced in Chapter 239.

نسبة nisba
a proportion
Introduced in Chapter 412.

نسبيا nisbiyyan
relatively
Introduced in Chapter 402.

نية niyya
an intention
Introduced in Chapter 115.

نفايات nufāyāt
waste; refuse
Introduced in Chapter 464.

نفوذ nufūdh
influence
Introduced in Chapter 389.

نحاس nuḥās
copper
Introduced in Chapter 219.

نصب nuṣb
a monument
Introduced in Chapter 439.

نسخة nuskha
a printed copy
Introduced in Chapter 350.

نزهة nuzha
an outing; a pleasure trip
Introduced in Chapter 438.

قبض qabaḍa
to seize, to grasp
Introduced in Chapter 317.

قابل qābala
to meet (someone)
Introduced in Chapter 195.

قبيح qabīḥ
ugly
Introduced in Chapter 155.

قابلة qābila
a midwife
Introduced in Chapter 311.

قبيلة qabīla
a tribe
Introduced in Chapter 340.

قبل qabla
before
Introduced in Chapter 87.

قبر qabr
a grave
Introduced in Chapter 314.

قبول qabūl
admission
Introduced in Chapter 393.

قبو qabw
a basement, a cellar
Introduced in Chapter 266.

قاد qāda
to lead; to drive
Introduced in Chapter 339.

قضى qaḍā
to spend (time)
Introduced in Chapter 156.

قدم qadam
a foot
Introduced in Chapter 51.

قدر qadara
to be able to
Introduced in Chapter 107.

قديم qadīm
old
Introduced in Chapter 82.

قضية qaḍiyya
a public issue; a cause; a court case
Introduced in Chapter 361.

قفص qafaṣ
a cage
Introduced in Chapter 478.

قفز qafaza
to jump
Introduced in Chapter 259.

قافية qāfiya
a rhyme
Introduced in Chapter 545.

قاحل qāḥil
barren
Introduced in Chapter 473.

قهوة qahwa
“coffee” — the chapter’s payoff, where the tied tāʾ finally earns its keep as Arabic’s visible gender marker, and where you can order everything the chapter taught
Introduced in Chapter 33.

قال qāla
“he said” — the letter qāf finally named, and one root that yields a saying, an article, a speaker and a spoken thing
Introduced in Chapter 29.

قلى qalā
to fry
Introduced in Chapter 254.

قلم qalam
a pen
Introduced in Chapter 73.

قلب qalb
the heart
Introduced in Chapter 52.

قلق qaliqa
to worry
Introduced in Chapter 227.

قلل qallala
to reduce
Introduced in Chapter 412.

قلعة qalᶜa
a castle, a citadel
Introduced in Chapter 322.

قام qāma
to stand up (he stood up)
Introduced in Chapter 58.

قمر qamar
the moon
Introduced in Chapter 77.

قمح qamḥ
wheat
Introduced in Chapter 128.

قميص qamīṣ
a shirt
Introduced in Chapter 94.

قاموس qāmūs
a dictionary
Introduced in Chapter 274.

قناة qanāh
a channel; a canal
Introduced in Chapter 297.

قانون qānūn
a law
Introduced in Chapter 409.

قرابة qarāba
kinship
Introduced in Chapter 532.

قارن qārana
to compare
Introduced in Chapter 197.

قرار qarār
a decision
Introduced in Chapter 115.

قرأ qaraʾa
"he read, he recited" — hamza's three seats sorted out at last, and the one root in this chapter that really did give English a word
Introduced in Chapter 31.

قرض qarḍ
a loan
Introduced in Chapter 220.

قارب qārib
a boat
Introduced in Chapter 429.

قريب qarīb
near
Introduced in Chapter 88.

قريبا qarīban
soon
Introduced in Chapter 234.

قارس qāris
biting (of cold); bitter
Introduced in Chapter 483.

قرن qarn
a century
Introduced in Chapter 203.

قارة qārra
a continent
Introduced in Chapter 173.

قرر qarrara
to decide
Introduced in Chapter 157.

قرية qarya
a village
Introduced in Chapter 93.

قاس qāsa
to measure
Introduced in Chapter 193.

قشر qashshara
to peel
Introduced in Chapter 254.

قصيدة qaṣīda
a poem
Introduced in Chapter 216.

قسيمة qasīma
a voucher; a coupon
Introduced in Chapter 457.

قصير qaṣīr
short
Introduced in Chapter 82.

قصر qaṣr
a palace
Introduced in Chapter 309.

قص qaṣṣa
to tell a story; to cut
Introduced in Chapter 295.

قسم qassama
to divide, to share out
Introduced in Chapter 230.

قطف qaṭafa
to pick (fruit, flowers)
Introduced in Chapter 196.

قطع qaṭa^{c}a
to cut (he cut)
Introduced in Chapter 61.

قطيع qaṭī^{c}
a herd; a flock
Introduced in Chapter 478.

قطرة qaṭra
a droplet; a drop
Introduced in Chapter 511.

قوي qawī
strong
Introduced in Chapter 154.

قزح قوس qaws quzaḥ
a rainbow
Introduced in Chapter 485.

قايض qāyaḍa
to barter
Introduced in Chapter 458.

قيد qayd
a shackle; a restriction
Introduced in Chapter 330.

قيم qayyama
to evaluate
Introduced in Chapter 393.

قزم qazam
a dwarf
Introduced in Chapter 335.

قاعدة qā^{c}ida
a rule
Introduced in Chapter 208.

قلادة qilāda
a necklace
Introduced in Chapter 245.

قيمة qīma
a value
Introduced in Chapter 368.

قمة qimma
a summit; a peak
Introduced in Chapter 472.

قراءة qirā^{ɔ}a
reading
Introduced in Chapter 540.

قرد qird
a monkey
Introduced in Chapter 80.

قرش qirsh
a shark
Introduced in Chapter 477.

قصة qiṣṣa
a story
Introduced in Chapter 99.

قسط qisṭ
an instalment; a share
Introduced in Chapter 453.

قطار qiṭār
a train
Introduced in Chapter 92.

قطة qiṭṭa
a cat
Introduced in Chapter 137.

قطعة qiṭᶜa
a piece
Introduced in Chapter 218.

قبعة qubbaᶜa
a hat
Introduced in Chapter 95.

قبطان qubṭān
a captain (of a ship)
Introduced in Chapter 429.

قدرة qudra
ability
Introduced in Chapter 106.

قفاز quffāz
a glove
Introduced in Chapter 119.

قفل qufl
a lock
Introduced in Chapter 127.

قمامة qumāma
rubbish
Introduced in Chapter 125.

قماش qumāsh
fabric, cloth
Introduced in Chapter 214.

قنفذ qunfudh
a hedgehog
Introduced in Chapter 475.

قنصلية qunṣuliyya
a consulate
Introduced in Chapter 450.

قرصان qurṣān
a pirate
Introduced in Chapter 333.

قرط qurṭ
an earring
Introduced in Chapter 127.

قطن quṭn
cotton
Introduced in Chapter 214.

قوة quwwa
strength
Introduced in Chapter 108.

ربط rabaṭa
to tie
Introduced in Chapter 229.

ربى rabbā
to bring up
Introduced in Chapter 530.

ربيب rabīb
a stepson
Introduced in Chapter 532.

ربح rabiḥa
to make a profit
Introduced in Chapter 527.

ربيع صيف خريف شتاء rabīᶜ ṣayf kharīf shitāʾ
the four seasons — Modern Standard Arabic's set, though the classical calendar didn't always carve up the year this way
Introduced in Chapter 12.

ربو rabw
asthma
Introduced in Chapter 513.

رذاذ radhādh
drizzle; spray
Introduced in Chapter 481.

رفض rafaḍa
to refuse
Introduced in Chapter 257.

رفاهية rafāhiyya
well-being
Introduced in Chapter 408.

رافق rāfaqa
to accompany
Introduced in Chapter 440.

رفع rafaᶜa
to raise; to lift up
Introduced in Chapter 462.

رف raff
a shelf
Introduced in Chapter 181.

رفيق rafīq
a companion
Introduced in Chapter 535.

رغبة raghba
a desire
Introduced in Chapter 113.

رغم raghma
despite, in spite of
Introduced in Chapter 175.

رحل raḥala
to move out; to depart
Introduced in Chapter 332.

رحب raḥḥaba
to greet warmly; to welcome
Introduced in Chapter 446.

رحالة raḥḥāla
a great traveller; an explorer
Introduced in Chapter 438.

رهينة rahīna
a hostage
Introduced in Chapter 347.

راجع rājaᶜa
to check over; to go back to (an office)
Introduced in Chapter 451.

رجع rajaᶜa
to come back (he came back)
Introduced in Chapter 64.

رجح rajjaḥa
to consider likely
Introduced in Chapter 401.

رجل rajul
a man
Introduced in Chapter 56.

إطفاء رجل rajul iṭfāʾ
a firefighter
Introduced in Chapter 298.

ركض rakaḍa
to run (he ran)
Introduced in Chapter 58.

ركل rakala
to kick
Introduced in Chapter 230.

ركن rakana
to park
Introduced in Chapter 261.

رخيص rakhīṣ
cheap
Introduced in Chapter 83.

رخص rakhuṣa
to get cheaper
Introduced in Chapter 457.

راكب rākib
a passenger; a rider
Introduced in Chapter 425.

ركب rakiba
to ride, to get on (a vehicle)
Introduced in Chapter 192.

ركز rakkaza
to focus
Introduced in Chapter 368.

رمى ramā
to throw (he threw)
Introduced in Chapter 63.

رماد ramād
ash, ashes
Introduced in Chapter 354.

رمضان ramaḍān
Ramadan
Introduced in Chapter 264.

رمادي ramādī
grey
Introduced in Chapter 179.

رمل raml
sand
Introduced in Chapter 76.

رمم rammama
to renovate, to restore
Introduced in Chapter 552.

رقبة raqaba
the neck
Introduced in Chapter 51.

رقص raqaṣa
to dance (he danced)
Introduced in Chapter 60.

رقم raqm
a number
Introduced in Chapter 281.

رقى raqqā
to promote
Introduced in Chapter 521.

رسا rasā
to dock; to anchor
Introduced in Chapter 429.

رسب rasaba
to fail (an exam)
Introduced in Chapter 256.

رسم rasama
to draw, to paint
Introduced in Chapter 228.

رش rashsha
to sprinkle, to spray
Introduced in Chapter 260.

رشح rashshaḥa
to nominate
Introduced in Chapter 420.

رشوة rashwa
a bribe
Introduced in Chapter 388.

رصيد raṣīd
a balance (of an account); credit
Introduced in Chapter 452.

رصيف raṣīf
a pavement; a platform
Introduced in Chapter 235.

رسمي rasmī
official
Introduced in Chapter 178.

رسام rassām
a painter (artist)
Introduced in Chapter 541.

رطب raṭb
humid
Introduced in Chapter 179.

رثى rathā
to lament, to mourn in verse
Introduced in Chapter 319.

راتب rātib
a salary
Introduced in Chapter 143.

رتب rattaba
to tidy, to arrange
Introduced in Chapter 223.

روى rawā
to narrate, to relate
Introduced in Chapter 295.

روضة rawḍa
a kindergarten
Introduced in Chapter 398.

رأى raʾā
"he saw" — the dotless alif maqṣūra named at last, and a root whose seeing turns into opinion and into the word for a mirror
Introduced in Chapter 29.

رأس raʾs
the head — a Semitic root cognate with Hebrew rosh, and the source of "president" in Arabic itself
Introduced in Chapter 11.

رأي raʾy
an opinion, a view — what you see in a matter
Introduced in Chapter 285.

رعى raʿā
to graze; to tend (animals)
Introduced in Chapter 478.

رعد raʿd
thunder
Introduced in Chapter 133.

ريف rīf
the countryside
Introduced in Chapter 265.

ريفي rīfī
rural, country
Introduced in Chapter 180.

ريح rīḥ
wind
Introduced in Chapter 78.

رحلة riḥla
a journey
Introduced in Chapter 98.

رمش rimsh
an eyelash
Introduced in Chapter 506.

رسالة risāla
a letter, a message
Introduced in Chapter 117.

ريشة rīsha
a feather; a quill
Introduced in Chapter 474.

رواية riwāya
a novel
Introduced in Chapter 186.

رياضة riyāḍa
sport
Introduced in Chapter 277.

رياضيات riyāḍiyyāt
mathematics
Introduced in Chapter 190.

رعاية ri^{c}āya
care; welfare
Introduced in Chapter 408.

ربما rubbamā
perhaps, maybe
Introduced in Chapter 206.

ركام rukām
rubble, a heap
Introduced in Chapter 316.

ركبة rukba
a knee
Introduced in Chapter 52.

رخام rukhām
marble
Introduced in Chapter 250.

رخصة rukhṣa
a licence; a permit
Introduced in Chapter 434.

رمح rumḥ
a spear, a lance
Introduced in Chapter 326.

رمان rummān
a pomegranate
Introduced in Chapter 120.

رسوم rusūm
fees
Introduced in Chapter 252.

رطوبة ruṭūba
humidity; moisture
Introduced in Chapter 484.

رعب ru^{c}b terror
Introduced in Chapter 489.

سبب sabab
a reason, a cause
Introduced in Chapter 174.

صباح الخير ṣabāḥ al-khayr
good morning (ṣabāḥ al-khayr — "morning of goodness")
Introduced in Chapter 1.

سبح sabaḥa
to swim (he swam)
Introduced in Chapter 63.

صب ṣabba
to pour
Introduced in Chapter 160.

سباك sabbāk
a plumber
Introduced in Chapter 191.

سبورة sabbūra
a blackboard
Introduced in Chapter 274.

سابقا sābiqan
previously, formerly
Introduced in Chapter 203.

صبر ṣabr
patience
Introduced in Chapter 237.

صابون ṣābūn
soap
Introduced in Chapter 122.

صبور ṣabūr
patient
Introduced in Chapter 241.

سبعة sabᶜa
seven
Introduced in Chapter 96.

ساد sāda
to prevail
Introduced in Chapter 389.

صاد ṣāda
to hunt, to catch (fish)
Introduced in Chapter 166.

صادق ṣādaqa to ratify
Introduced in Chapter 386.

صداقة ṣadāqa
friendship
Introduced in Chapter 175.

صادر ṣādara
to confiscate
Introduced in Chapter 426.

صدق ṣaddaqa
to believe someone
Introduced in Chapter 366.

صديق ṣadīq
"friend" — the chapter's payoff, where a root meaning truth explains the word, the faᶜīl pattern turns up for the third time, and every family word you own lines up behind it
Introduced in Chapter 35.

صدر ṣadr
a chest
Introduced in Chapter 139.

صفا ṣafā
to clear up; to become clear
Introduced in Chapter 481.

صافح ṣāfaḥa
to shake hands with
Introduced in Chapter 163.

سافر sāfara
to travel
Introduced in Chapter 159.

صف ṣaff
a class
Introduced in Chapter 143.

صفق ṣaffaqa
to applaud
Introduced in Chapter 542.

صفارة ṣaffāra
a whistle; a siren
Introduced in Chapter 324.

صفحة ṣafḥa
a page
Introduced in Chapter 282.

سفينة safīna
a ship
Introduced in Chapter 142.

صغير ṣaghīr
small
Introduced in Chapter 81.

ساحة sāḥa
a square
Introduced in Chapter 142.

صاح ṣāḥa
to cry out, to shout
Introduced in Chapter 310.

سحابة saḥāba
a cloud
Introduced in Chapter 77.

سحب saḥaba
to pull; to withdraw (money)
Introduced in Chapter 225.

صحافة ṣaḥāfa
journalism; the press
Introduced in Chapter 296.

ساهم sāhama
to contribute
Introduced in Chapter 371.

سحر saḥara
to enchant, to bewitch
Introduced in Chapter 344.

صحيفة ṣaḥīfa
a gazette, a newspaper
Introduced in Chapter 293.

صحيح ṣaḥīḥ
correct, true
Introduced in Chapter 85.

ساحل sāḥil
a coast
Introduced in Chapter 132.

ساحر sāḥir
a magician, a sorcerer
Introduced in Chapter 335.

سهل sahl
easy
Introduced in Chapter 83.

سهم sahm
an arrow; a share
Introduced in Chapter 326.

صحن ṣaḥn
a plate
Introduced in Chapter 71.

سهرة sahra
an evening out, a soirée
Introduced in Chapter 264.

صحراء ṣaḥrāʾ
a desert
Introduced in Chapter 133.

صحو ṣaḥw
clear weather; cloudless
Introduced in Chapter 485.

سجن sajana
to imprison, to jail
Introduced in Chapter 330.

سجين sajīn
a prisoner
Introduced in Chapter 330.

سجادة sajjāda
a carpet
Introduced in Chapter 126.

سجل sajjala
to register, to record
Introduced in Chapter 162.

سكن sakana
to live (he lived)
Introduced in Chapter 64.

صاخب ṣākhib
noisy
Introduced in Chapter 242.

ساخن sākhin
hot
Introduced in Chapter 155.

سخن sakhkhana
to heat up
Introduced in Chapter 444.

صخرة ṣakhra
a rock
Introduced in Chapter 472.

صالة ṣāla
a living room, a hall
Introduced in Chapter 172.

سلب salaba
to rob, to snatch away
Introduced in Chapter 321.

صلاة ṣalāh
prayer
Introduced in Chapter 267.

سلام salām
peace / hello
Introduced in Chapter 1.

سلبي salbī
negative
Introduced in Chapter 419.

سلة salla
a basket
Introduced in Chapter 125.

صلى ṣallā
to pray
Introduced in Chapter 164.

صلصة ṣalṣa
a sauce
Introduced in Chapter 182.

سلطعون salṭa^{c}ūn
a crab
Introduced in Chapter 477.

سماد samād
fertiliser; manure
Introduced in Chapter 469.

سامح sāmaḥa
to forgive
Introduced in Chapter 258.

سمح samaḥa
to allow
Introduced in Chapter 198.

سمك samak
fish
Introduced in Chapter 65.

سماء samāʾ
the sky
Introduced in Chapter 78.

سميك samīk
thick
Introduced in Chapter 179.

سمين samīn
fat
Introduced in Chapter 151.

سمع samiᶜa
to hear (he heard)
Introduced in Chapter 57.

سام sāmm
poisonous
Introduced in Chapter 242.

صمم ṣammama
to design
Introduced in Chapter 525.

سماعة sammāᶜa
headphones, a speaker
Introduced in Chapter 217.

صان ṣāna
to maintain, to look after (a thing)
Introduced in Chapter 550.

ساند sānada
to stand by
Introduced in Chapter 533.

صنوبر ṣanawbar
pine trees; a pine
Introduced in Chapter 442.

سنوي sanawī
yearly, annual
Introduced in Chapter 234.

صنع ṣanaᶜa
to make (he made)
Introduced in Chapter 63.

صندل ṣandal
sandals
Introduced in Chapter 214.

ساق sāq
a leg
Introduced in Chapter 141.

سقى saqā
to water (plants)
Introduced in Chapter 229.

سقط saqaṭa
to fall
Introduced in Chapter 198.

سقف saqf
a ceiling
Introduced in Chapter 102.

صقيع ṣaqī^{c}
frost
Introduced in Chapter 483.

صقر ṣaqr
a falcon
Introduced in Chapter 474.

سراب sarāb
a mirage
Introduced in Chapter 473.

سرد sarada
to recount, to narrate in order
Introduced in Chapter 295.

صرف ṣarafa
to change money; to spend
Introduced in Chapter 452.

صرخ ṣarakha
to shout, to scream
Introduced in Chapter 164.

سرق saraqa
to steal
Introduced in Chapter 300.

صارع ṣāra^{c}a
to wrestle (with)
Introduced in Chapter 548.

صريح ṣarīḥ
frank
Introduced in Chapter 417.

سارق sāriq
a robber
Introduced in Chapter 321.

سرير sarīr
a bed
Introduced in Chapter 70.

سريع sarīᶜ
fast
Introduced in Chapter 83.

صراف ṣarrāf
a cashier; a money changer
Introduced in Chapter 188.

صراف آلي ṣarrāf ālī
a cash machine
Introduced in Chapter 453.

صرح ṣarraḥa
to declare, to state
Introduced in Chapter 293.

سطح saṭḥ
a roof
Introduced in Chapter 102.

ساوم sāwama to bargain
Introduced in Chapter 193.

سواء sawāʾ
whether
Introduced in Chapter 400.

صور ṣawwara
to photograph, to film
Introduced in Chapter 228.

صوت ṣawwata
to vote
Introduced in Chapter 378.

صيد ṣayd
hunting; fishing
Introduced in Chapter 536.

صيدلي ṣaydalī
a pharmacist
Introduced in Chapter 280.

صيدلية ṣaydaliyya
a pharmacy
Introduced in Chapter 231.

سيف sayf
a sword
Introduced in Chapter 326.

سيطر sayṭara
to control, to take control
Introduced in Chapter 331.

صياد ṣayyād
a fisherman, a hunter
Introduced in Chapter 191.

سيارة sayyāra
a car
Introduced in Chapter 91.

سأل saʾala
"he asked" — one root that builds a question, a problem, an asker and the word for being answerable, plus the Hebrew twin hiding inside the name Saul
Introduced in Chapter 31.

سعى saᶜā
to strive
Introduced in Chapter 371.

ساعد sāᶜada
"he helped" — a root that means good fortune, stretched by one long vowel into a verb aimed at somebody else, and the family name behind the word Saudi
Introduced in Chapter 32.

سعادة saᶜāda
happiness
Introduced in Chapter 488.

سعل saᶜala
to have a cough
Introduced in Chapter 516.

صعب ṣaᶜb difficult
Introduced in Chapter 83.

سعيد saᶜīd
happy
Introduced in Chapter 54.

صعد ṣaᶜida
to go up, to climb
Introduced in Chapter 159.

شاب shābb
young
Introduced in Chapter 154.

شبع shabi^{c}a
to be full (from eating)
Introduced in Chapter 517.

شد shadda
to tighten; to fasten
Introduced in Chapter 425.

شفة shafa
a lip
Introduced in Chapter 140.

شفقة shafaqa
pity
Introduced in Chapter 493.

شفاف shaffāf
transparent
Introduced in Chapter 212.

شغف shaghaf
passion
Introduced in Chapter 540.

شاهد shāhada
to watch
Introduced in Chapter 228.

شهادة shahāda
a certificate
Introduced in Chapter 107.

شحن shaḥana
to charge (a phone); to ship
Introduced in Chapter 226.

شاهد عيان shāhid ^{c}iyān
an eyewitness
Introduced in Chapter 305.

شهد shahida
to witness; to testify
Introduced in Chapter 325.

شاحن shāḥin
a charger
Introduced in Chapter 215.

شاحنة shāḥina
a lorry; a truck
Introduced in Chapter 445.

شهر shahr
a month
Introduced in Chapter 86.

شجرة shajara
a tree
Introduced in Chapter 75.

شجع shajja^{c}a
to encourage
Introduced in Chapter 369.

شخر shakhara
to snore
Introduced in Chapter 515.

شخص shakhṣ
a person
Introduced in Chapter 275.

شخصية shakhṣiyya
personality, a character
Introduced in Chapter 237.

شك shakk
doubt
Introduced in Chapter 239.

شكك shakkaka
to cast doubt
Introduced in Chapter 366.

شكوى shakwā
a complaint
Introduced in Chapter 449.

شاليه shālīh
a chalet
Introduced in Chapter 442.

شلال shallāl
a waterfall
Introduced in Chapter 132.

شمال shamāl
north
Introduced in Chapter 103.

شامل shāmil
comprehensive
Introduced in Chapter 419.

شمل shamila
to include
Introduced in Chapter 405.

شم shamma
to smell
Introduced in Chapter 194.

شمس shams
the sun
Introduced in Chapter 77.

شمعة sham^{c}a
a candle
Introduced in Chapter 126.

شرح sharaḥa
to explain
Introduced in Chapter 256.

شارك shāraka
to take part, to share
Introduced in Chapter 258.

شرارة sharāra
a spark
Introduced in Chapter 354.

شارب shārib
a moustache
Introduced in Chapter 139.

شرب shariba
to drink (he drank)
Introduced in Chapter 57.

شركة sharika
a company
Introduced in Chapter 251.

شريط sharīṭ
a tape, a ribbon
Introduced in Chapter 279.

شارع shāri^{c} a street
Introduced in Chapter 90.

شرق sharq
east
Introduced in Chapter 104.

شرع sharra^{c}a
to legislate
Introduced in Chapter 409.

شرشف sharshaf
a bedsheet
Introduced in Chapter 551.

شرط sharṭ
a condition
Introduced in Chapter 404.

شاشة shāsha
a screen
Introduced in Chapter 245.

شطيرة shaṭīra
a sandwich
Introduced in Chapter 182.

شوى shawā
to grill
Introduced in Chapter 254.

شوكة shawka
a fork
Introduced in Chapter 72.

شوق shawq
longing
Introduced in Chapter 112.

شوط shawṭ
a half (of a match)
Introduced in Chapter 546.

شاي shāy
"tea" — the first noun in this book with no Arabic root at all, and a word that reached Arabic and English from the same Chinese original by two different roads
Introduced in Chapter 33.

شيخوخة shaykhūkha
old age
Introduced in Chapter 531.

شيد shayyada
to erect, to build up
Introduced in Chapter 331.

شيع shayya^{c}a
to escort a coffin; to see off
Introduced in Chapter 314.

شعب sha^{c}b
a country's people; a nation
Introduced in Chapter 329.

شاعر shā^{c}ir a poet
Introduced in Chapter 545.

شعر sha^{c}r
hair
Introduced in Chapter 51.

شفاء shifāʾ
recovery, a cure
Introduced in Chapter 512.

شجار shijār
a brawl, a quarrel
Introduced in Chapter 352.

شيك shīk
a cheque
Introduced in Chapter 183.

شرير shirrīr
a villain; wicked
Introduced in Chapter 303.

شطرنج shiṭranj
chess
Introduced in Chapter 186.

شباك shubbāk
a ticket window; a window
Introduced in Chapter 436.

شجيرة shujayra
a shrub; a bush
Introduced in Chapter 468.

شجاع shujā^{c} brave
Introduced in Chapter 153.

شكرا shukran
thank you (shukran)
Introduced in Chapter 1.

شوكولاتة shūkūlāta
chocolate
Introduced in Chapter 273.

شرفة shurfa
a balcony
Introduced in Chapter 101.

شرطة shurṭa
the police
Introduced in Chapter 93.

شروق shurūq
sunrise
Introduced in Chapter 233.

شعور shu^{c}ūr
a feeling
Introduced in Chapter 237.

صبا ṣibā
boyhood, early youth
Introduced in Chapter 323.

سباحة sibāḥa
swimming
Introduced in Chapter 548.

سباق sibāq
a race
Introduced in Chapter 277.

سفارة sifāra
an embassy
Introduced in Chapter 235.

صحة ṣiḥḥa
health
Introduced in Chapter 200.

صحي ṣiḥḥī
healthy
Introduced in Chapter 209.

صهر ṣihr
a son-in-law; a brother-in-law
Introduced in Chapter 529.

سكة حديد sikkat ḥadīd
a railway
Introduced in Chapter 428.

سكين sikkīn
a knife
Introduced in Chapter 71.

سكرتير sikritīr
a secretary
Introduced in Chapter 518.

سلاح silāḥ
a weapon
Introduced in Chapter 326.

سلك silk
a wire
Introduced in Chapter 187.

سلعة silᶜa
a commodity; an item for sale
Introduced in Chapter 458.

صناعة ṣināᶜa
industry
Introduced in Chapter 384.

صنف ṣinf
a variety; a kind
Introduced in Chapter 456.

سينما sīnimā
a cinema
Introduced in Chapter 265.

صينية ṣīniyya
a tray
Introduced in Chapter 278.

سنجاب sinjāb
a squirrel
Introduced in Chapter 475.

سن sinn
a tooth
Introduced in Chapter 50.

صنارة ṣinnāra
a fishing rod
Introduced in Chapter 536.

سيرة ذاتية sīra dhātiyya
a CV; a life story
Introduced in Chapter 519.

صراع ṣirā^{c}
a conflict
Introduced in Chapter 386.

سر sirr
a secret
Introduced in Chapter 216.

سروال sirwāl
trousers
Introduced in Chapter 94.

ستارة sitāra
a curtain
Introduced in Chapter 127.

ستة sitta
six
Introduced in Chapter 96.

سوى siwā
apart from; except
Introduced in Chapter 416.

سوار siwār
a bracelet
Introduced in Chapter 127.

سياحة siyāḥa
tourism
Introduced in Chapter 438.

سياج siyāj
a fence
Introduced in Chapter 266.

سياق siyāq
a context
Introduced in Chapter 361.

سعر si^{c}r
a rate; a price
Introduced in Chapter 458.

صداع ṣudā^c a headache
Introduced in Chapter 168.

صدفة ṣudfa
a coincidence, chance
Introduced in Chapter 343.

صوف ṣūf
wool
Introduced in Chapter 214.

صحفي ṣuḥufī
a journalist
Introduced in Chapter 189.

سكان sukkān
inhabitants, population
Introduced in Chapter 236.

سكر sukkar
"sugar" — a word that crossed Asia and Europe, and the one that shows Arabic's own al- fused onto the front of a Spanish noun
Introduced in Chapter 33.

سكري sukkarī
diabetes
Introduced in Chapter 513.

سلحفاة sulaḥfāh
a turtle
Introduced in Chapter 135.

صلب ṣulb
hard, solid
Introduced in Chapter 152.

سلم sullam
a ladder
Introduced in Chapter 123.

سلطة sulṭa
authority
Introduced in Chapter 106.

سلطان sulṭān
a sultan; power
Introduced in Chapter 340.

صنبور ṣunbūr
a tap
Introduced in Chapter 187.

صندوق ṣundūq
a box
Introduced in Chapter 125.

سوق sūq
a market
Introduced in Chapter 93.

سور sūr
a city wall
Introduced in Chapter 322.

صورة ṣūra
a picture
Introduced in Chapter 75.

سرعة sur^{c}a speed
Introduced in Chapter 437.

ما سرعان sur^{c}āna mā
before long, soon after
Introduced in Chapter 313.

سؤال su^{ɔ}āl
a question — the noun of sa^{ɔ}ala, to ask
Introduced in Chapter 285.

سعال su^{c}āl
a cough
Introduced in Chapter 200.

صعوبة ṣu^{c}ūba
a difficulty
Introduced in Chapter 372.

صعود ṣu^{c}ūd
boarding; going up
Introduced in Chapter 423.

تبادل tabādala
to exchange (with each other)
Introduced in Chapter 479.

طبخ ṭabakha
to cook (he cooked)
Introduced in Chapter 60.

تبخر tabakhkhara
to evaporate
Introduced in Chapter 484.

تبنى tabannā
to adopt
Introduced in Chapter 416.

طبق ṭabaq
"a plate" — a second broken plural in the very same shape as akwāb, which turns a surprise into a pattern, and a root whose other child is a storey of a building
Introduced in Chapter 36.

تبرع tabarra^{c}a to donate
Introduced in Chapter 519.

طباشير ṭabāshīr
chalk
Introduced in Chapter 253.

تبين tabayyana
to become clear
Introduced in Chapter 415.

تابع tāba^{c}a
to follow
Introduced in Chapter 259.

طبع ṭaba^{c}a
to print
Introduced in Chapter 162.

طبيب ṭabīb
a doctor
Introduced in Chapter 54.

طابع ṭābi^c a postage stamp
Introduced in Chapter 183.

طابعة ṭābi^{c}a a printer
Introduced in Chapter 274.

طبيعة ṭabī^{c}a nature
Introduced in Chapter 205.

طبل ṭabl
a drum
Introduced in Chapter 544.

طابور ṭābūr
a line of people; a queue
Introduced in Chapter 450.

طبعة ṭabᶜa
an edition, a printing
Introduced in Chapter 350.

طبعا ṭabᶜan
of course
Introduced in Chapter 238.

تدهور tadahwara
to get worse; to deteriorate
Introduced in Chapter 486.

تضخم taḍakhkhum
inflation
Introduced in Chapter 383.

تضمن taḍammana
to contain
Introduced in Chapter 405.

تدرب tadarraba
to practise
Introduced in Chapter 519.

تضرر taḍarrara
to suffer damage
Introduced in Chapter 460.

تضاعف taḍāᶜafa
to double
Introduced in Chapter 412.

تذكر tadhakkara
to remember
Introduced in Chapter 164.

تذمر tadhammara
to grumble
Introduced in Chapter 449.

تذكرة tadhkira
a ticket
Introduced in Chapter 118.

تذكرة ذهاب وإياب tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb
a return ticket — word for word 'a ticket of going and coming back', beside tadhkirat dhahāb faqaṭ, one way
Introduced in Chapter 288.

تدريب tadrīb
training
Introduced in Chapter 397.

تدريجيا tadrījiyyan
gradually, step by step
Introduced in Chapter 313.

طفا ṭafā
to float
Introduced in Chapter 474.

تفادى tafādā
to avert
Introduced in Chapter 407.

تفاجأ tafājaʾa
to be surprised
Introduced in Chapter 490.

تفاقم tafāqama
to worsen
Introduced in Chapter 413.

تفقد tafaqqada
to check on; to inspect
Introduced in Chapter 447.

تفرغ tafarragha
to devote oneself
Introduced in Chapter 523.

تفاوض tafāwaḍa
to negotiate
Introduced in Chapter 386.

تفوق tafawwaqa
to excel
Introduced in Chapter 393.

تفضيل tafḍīl
a preference
Introduced in Chapter 111.

طفح جلدي ṭafḥ jildī
a rash
Introduced in Chapter 508.

تغلب taghallaba
to overcome
Introduced in Chapter 345.

تحدى taḥaddā
to challenge, to defy
Introduced in Chapter 345.

تحمل taḥammala
to put up with
Introduced in Chapter 495.

تحمس taḥammasa
to get excited
Introduced in Chapter 496.

تحقق taḥaqqaqa
to come true; to make sure
Introduced in Chapter 344.

تحسن taḥassana
to get better, to improve
Introduced in Chapter 255.

تحول taḥawwala
to turn into, to change
Introduced in Chapter 344.

تحليل taḥlīl
a lab test; an analysis
Introduced in Chapter 510.

تحقيق taḥqīq
an investigation, an inquiry
Introduced in Chapter 308.

تحت taḥta
below
Introduced in Chapter 89.

تاج tāj
a crown
Introduced in Chapter 309.

تجاهل tajāhala
to ignore
Introduced in Chapter 420.

تجمد tajammada
to freeze
Introduced in Chapter 261.

تجمع tajammaᶜa
to gather, to assemble
Introduced in Chapter 353.

تجنب tajannaba
to avoid
Introduced in Chapter 407.

تجسس tajassasa
to spy
Introduced in Chapter 346.

تجاوز tajāwaza
to overtake; to exceed
Introduced in Chapter 434.

تجول tajawwala
to wander around; to tour
Introduced in Chapter 438.

تاجر tājir
a merchant, a trader
Introduced in Chapter 222.

تجربة tajriba
an experience; a try, an experiment — something you went through and learned from
Introduced in Chapter 289.

تكلم takallama
to speak (he spoke)
Introduced in Chapter 65.

تكرر takarrara
to recur
Introduced in Chapter 413.

تخرج takharraja
to graduate
Introduced in Chapter 257.

تخاصم takhāṣama
to fall out (with each other)
Introduced in Chapter 535.

تخصص takhaṣṣuṣ
a specialization
Introduced in Chapter 390.

تخيل takhayyala
to imagine
Introduced in Chapter 303.

تخفيض takhfīḍ
a price cut; a reduction
Introduced in Chapter 457.

تخييم takhyīm
camping
Introduced in Chapter 537.

تاكسي tāksī
a taxi
Introduced in Chapter 215.

طلب ṭalaba
to ask for, to request
Introduced in Chapter 115.

طالما ṭālamā
as long as
Introduced in Chapter 399.

طلاق ṭalāq
a marriage break-up; a divorce
Introduced in Chapter 529.

تلوث talawwuth
pollution
Introduced in Chapter 464.

طالع ṭālaᶜa
to read up on
Introduced in Chapter 395.

طالب ṭālib
a student
Introduced in Chapter 143.

تلف talifa
to go bad; to be damaged
Introduced in Chapter 460.

تل tall
a hill
Introduced in Chapter 132.

تمدد tamaddada
to stretch out
Introduced in Chapter 516.

طمح ṭamaḥa
to aspire
Introduced in Chapter 518.

تمهل tamahhala
to slow down; to take one's time
Introduced in Chapter 445.

تمكن tamakkana
to manage to
Introduced in Chapter 372.

تماما tamāman
completely
Introduced in Chapter 238.

تمنى tamannā
to wish
Introduced in Chapter 114.

تمسك tamassaka
to hold on to
Introduced in Chapter 373.

طماطم ṭamāṭim
tomatoes
Introduced in Chapter 67.

تمتع tamattaᶜa
to enjoy a right
Introduced in Chapter 408.

تمر tamr dates
Introduced in Chapter 129.

تمرين tamrīn
an exercise, a workout
Introduced in Chapter 169.

تمثيل tamthīl
acting
Introduced in Chapter 542.

تمييز tamyīz
discrimination
Introduced in Chapter 381.

تنافس tanāfasa
to compete
Introduced in Chapter 546.

تنفس tanaffasa
to breathe
Introduced in Chapter 161.

تنهد tanahhada
to sigh
Introduced in Chapter 488.

تنكر tanakkara
to disguise oneself
Introduced in Chapter 346.

تنقل tanaqqala
to travel about; to move from place to place
Introduced in Chapter 436.

تناقض tanāquḍ
a contradiction
Introduced in Chapter 362.

تنازل tanāzala
to concede; to give up
Introduced in Chapter 373.

طنجرة ṭanjara
a cooking pot
Introduced in Chapter 249.

تنمية tanmiya
development
Introduced in Chapter 384.

تنورة tannūra
a skirt
Introduced in Chapter 182.

طاقة ṭāqa
energy; power
Introduced in Chapter 465.

تقدم taqaddama
to apply (for); to step forward
Introduced in Chapter 450.

تقلب taqallaba
to keep changing; to fluctuate
Introduced in Chapter 486.

تقلص taqallaṣa
to shrink
Introduced in Chapter 412.

طاقم ṭāqam
a crew; a set
Introduced in Chapter 424.

تقاطع taqāṭu^{c}
a crossroads, a junction
Introduced in Chapter 235.

تقيأ taqayya^{ʔ}a to vomit, to be sick
Introduced in Chapter 507.

تقليد taqlīd
a tradition
Introduced in Chapter 267.

تقليدي taqlīdī
traditional
Introduced in Chapter 180.

تقريبا taqrīban
almost, approximately
Introduced in Chapter 238.

تقرير taqrīr
a report
Introduced in Chapter 221.

تقويم taqwīm
a calendar
Introduced in Chapter 234.

تقييم taqyīm
an evaluation, an assessment
Introduced in Chapter 523.

طار ṭāra
to fly (he flew)
Introduced in Chapter 63.

طارد ṭārada
to chase, to pursue
Introduced in Chapter 346.

تردد taraddada
to hesitate
Introduced in Chapter 369.

تراجع tarājaᶜa
to back down
Introduced in Chapter 373.

ترك taraka
to leave (he left)
Introduced in Chapter 62.

طرق ṭaraqa
to knock (on a door)
Introduced in Chapter 260.

ترقى taraqqā
to be promoted
Introduced in Chapter 524.

ترشح tarashshaḥa
to run for office
Introduced in Chapter 379.

ترتب tarattaba
to follow from
Introduced in Chapter 414.

طرأ ṭaraʾa
to arise unexpectedly
Introduced in Chapter 407.

ترعرع taraᶜraᶜa
to be brought up
Introduced in Chapter 323.

تربية tarbiya
upbringing
Introduced in Chapter 398.

طرد ṭard
a parcel
Introduced in Chapter 183.

تاريخ tārīkh
a date; history
Introduced in Chapter 202.

طريق ṭarīq
a road
Introduced in Chapter 91.

طريقة ṭarīqa
a way, a method
Introduced in Chapter 208.

ترجم tarjama
to translate
Introduced in Chapter 256.

ترقية tarqiya
a promotion
Introduced in Chapter 521.

طرز ṭarraza
to embroider
Introduced in Chapter 538.

تصحر taṣaḥḥur
desertification
Introduced in Chapter 466.

تصالح taṣālaḥa
to make up, to reconcile
Introduced in Chapter 227.

تسلى tasallā
to have fun
Introduced in Chapter 539.

تسلل tasallala
to sneak in, to slip in
Introduced in Chapter 346.

تسامح tasāmuḥ
tolerance
Introduced in Chapter 422.

تساقط tasāqaṭa
to fall steadily (of snow or leaves)
Introduced in Chapter 486.

تسرب tasarraba
to leak, to seep
Introduced in Chapter 354.

تساوى tasāwā
to be equal
Introduced in Chapter 420.

تسوق tasawwaqa
to go shopping
Introduced in Chapter 193.

تصور taṣawwara
to conceive
Introduced in Chapter 367.

تساءل tasāʾala
to wonder
Introduced in Chapter 361.

تصفيق taṣfīq
applause
Introduced in Chapter 542.

تشاجر tashājara
to quarrel
Introduced in Chapter 227.

تشرفنا tasharrafnā pleased to meet you (literally "we have been honoured")
Introduced in Chapter 2.

تشخيص tashkhīṣ
a diagnosis
Introduced in Chapter 510.

تشريع tashrīᶜ
legislation
Introduced in Chapter 409.

تسمية tasmiya
a naming; a name given
Introduced in Chapter 311.

تصوير taṣwīr
photography
Introduced in Chapter 537.

تطلب taṭallaba
to require
Introduced in Chapter 406.

تطور taṭawwara
to evolve
Introduced in Chapter 413.

تطوع taṭawwaᶜa
to volunteer
Introduced in Chapter 519.

تطبيق taṭbīq
an app, an application
Introduced in Chapter 248.

تثاءب tathāʾaba
to yawn
Introduced in Chapter 514.

تطريز taṭrīz
embroidery
Introduced in Chapter 538.

تطعيم taṭᶜīm
a vaccination
Introduced in Chapter 509.

طوى ṭawā
to fold
Introduced in Chapter 223.

توابل tawābil
spices
Introduced in Chapter 273.

توفر tawaffara
to be available
Introduced in Chapter 406.

تولى tawallā
to take office; to take charge
Introduced in Chapter 340.

توقع tawaqquᶜ
an expectation
Introduced in Chapter 111.

تورم tawarrama
to swell (up)
Introduced in Chapter 508.

توصل tawaṣṣala
to arrive at
Introduced in Chapter 415.

توتر tawattur
stress, tension
Introduced in Chapter 262.

طويل ṭawīl
long, tall
Introduced in Chapter 82.

طاولة ṭāwila
a table
Introduced in Chapter 70.

توقيع tawqīᶜ
a signature
Introduced in Chapter 191.

توج tawwaǰa
to crown
Introduced in Chapter 309.

طور ṭawwara
to develop
Introduced in Chapter 418.

توأم tawʾam
a twin
Introduced in Chapter 246.

تيقن tayaqqana
to make certain
Introduced in Chapter 403.

طير ṭayr
birds
Introduced in Chapter 276.

تيار tayyār
a current (of water or air)
Introduced in Chapter 471.

طيار ṭayyār
a pilot
Introduced in Chapter 280.

تظاهر taẓāhara
to demonstrate
Introduced in Chapter 382.

طازج ṭāzaj
fresh
Introduced in Chapter 153.

تزلج tazallaja
to ski; to skate
Introduced in Chapter 479.

تزوج tazawwaja
to marry
Introduced in Chapter 163.

تأهل taʾahhala
to qualify
Introduced in Chapter 547.

تأخر taʾakhkhara
to be late
Introduced in Chapter 255.

تأكد taʾakkada
to make sure
Introduced in Chapter 427.

تألم taʾallama
to be in pain
Introduced in Chapter 512.

تأمل taʾammala
to reflect
Introduced in Chapter 395.

تأرجح taʾarjaḥa
to swing
Introduced in Chapter 539.

تأثر taʾaththara
to be affected
Introduced in Chapter 415.

تأبين taʾbīn
a eulogy, a memorial tribute
Introduced in Chapter 338.

طائرة ṭāʾira
a plane, an aeroplane — 'a flying thing', from the root of ṭāra, to fly
Introduced in Chapter 288.

تأجيل taʾjīl
a postponement
Introduced in Chapter 461.

تأخير taʾkhīr
a delay
Introduced in Chapter 170.

تأمين taʾmīn
insurance
Introduced in Chapter 416.

تأشيرة taʾshīra
a visa
Introduced in Chapter 215.

تأثير taʾthīr
an effect
Introduced in Chapter 414.

تعادل taᶜādala
to finish level; to end in a draw
Introduced in Chapter 546.

تعذر taᶜadhdhara
to prove impossible
Introduced in Chapter 407.

تعافى taᶜāfā
to recover
Introduced in Chapter 512.

تعلم taᶜallama
to learn (he learned)
Introduced in Chapter 61.

تعلق ta^{c}allaqa
to concern
Introduced in Chapter 405.

طعام ṭa^{c}ām
"food" — the chapter's payoff, where a root you have never met hands you the word for restaurant free of charge, because you already own the pattern
Introduced in Chapter 34.

تعمق ta^{c}ammaqa
to go deeper
Introduced in Chapter 394.

تعرض ta^{c}arraḍa
to be exposed (to); to suffer
Introduced in Chapter 486.

تعرف ta^{c}arrafa
to get to know (someone)
Introduced in Chapter 227.

تعثر ta^{c}aththara to trip, to stumble
Introduced in Chapter 167.

تعطل ta^{c}aṭṭala
to break down
Introduced in Chapter 447.

تعاون ta^{c}āwana
to cooperate
Introduced in Chapter 386.

تعب ta^{c}iba
to get tired
Introduced in Chapter 521.

تعليم ta^{c}līm
education
Introduced in Chapter 398.

تعليق ta^{c}līq
a comment; a commentary
Introduced in Chapter 355.

تعريف ta^{c}rīf
a definition
Introduced in Chapter 396.

تعويض ta^{c}wīḍ
compensation
Introduced in Chapter 449.

ثابت thābit
steady, firm
Introduced in Chapter 1.

ثلاثون thalāthūn
thirty
Introduced in Chapter 97.

ثلج thalj
snow
Introduced in Chapter 78.

ثلاجة thallāja
a fridge
Introduced in Chapter 126.

ثمن thaman
a price
Introduced in Chapter 2.

ثمانية thamāniya
eight
Introduced in Chapter 96.

ثمين thamīn
precious
Introduced in Chapter 155.

ثانوي thānawī
secondary
Introduced in Chapter 419.

ثقافة thaqāfa
culture
Introduced in Chapter 267.

ثقيل thaqīl
heavy
Introduced in Chapter 85.

ثار thāra
to revolt; to flare up
Introduced in Chapter 329.

ثرثار tharthār
talkative; a chatterbox
Introduced in Chapter 502.

ثروة tharwa
wealth
Introduced in Chapter 109.

ثور thawr
a bull
Introduced in Chapter 185.

ثورة thawra
a revolution, a revolt
Introduced in Chapter 329.

ثعلب tha^{c}lab
a fox
Introduced in Chapter 135.

ثقة thiqa
confidence; trust
Introduced in Chapter 501.

ثوم thūm
garlic
Introduced in Chapter 129.

ثم thumma
then, next
Introduced in Chapter 176.

ثقب thuqb
a hole; a puncture
Introduced in Chapter 433.

ثريا thurayyā
a chandelier
Introduced in Chapter 550.

ثعبان thu^{c}bān
a snake
Introduced in Chapter 80.

تذكار tidhkār
a souvenir; a keepsake
Introduced in Chapter 440.

طفل ṭifl
a child
Introduced in Chapter 56.

طحال ṭiḥāl
the spleen
Introduced in Chapter 504.

تجارة tijāra
trade, commerce
Introduced in Chapter 253.

طلاء ṭilāʾ
a coat of paint
Introduced in Chapter 552.

تلفاز tilfāz
a television
Introduced in Chapter 117.

تمساح timsāḥ
a crocodile
Introduced in Chapter 136.

تين tīn
figs
Introduced in Chapter 130.

طين ṭīn
mud, clay
Introduced in Chapter 205.

تنين tinnīn
a dragon
Introduced in Chapter 335.

تسعة tis^{c}a nine
Introduced in Chapter 96.

ترام trām
a tram
Introduced in Chapter 445.

طوب ṭūb
bricks
Introduced in Chapter 250.

تفاح tuffāḥ
apples
Introduced in Chapter 129.

تفاحة tuffāḥa
an apple
Introduced in Chapter 66.

طفولة ṭufūla
childhood
Introduced in Chapter 264.

طحلب ṭuḥlub
moss; algae
Introduced in Chapter 476.

تهمة tuhma
an accusation, a charge
Introduced in Chapter 348.

طموح ṭumūḥ
ambition
Introduced in Chapter 112.

تراب turāb
dust, soil
Introduced in Chapter 205.

تراث turāth
heritage
Introduced in Chapter 342.

تربة turba
soil; earth
Introduced in Chapter 469.

خير على تصبح tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr
"good night" — but honestly, it doesn't wish you a good NIGHT at all; it wishes you a good morning, reusing both roots from ṣabāḥ al-khayr and masāʾ al-khayr
Introduced in Chapter 27.

طوال ṭuwāla
throughout, all through
Introduced in Chapter 327.

توفي tuwuffiya
to pass away
Introduced in Chapter 314.

أذن udhun
an ear
Introduced in Chapter 50.

أغنية ughniya
a song
Introduced in Chapter 98.

أجرة ujra
a fare; a wage
Introduced in Chapter 435.

أمة umma
a nation
Introduced in Chapter 387.

أمنية umniyya
a wish
Introduced in Chapter 111.

أنبوب unbūb
a pipe, a tube
Introduced in Chapter 187.

أرجوحة urjūḥa
a swing
Introduced in Chapter 539.

أسبوع usbūᶜ
a week
Introduced in Chapter 86.

أسبوعي usbūᶜī
weekly
Introduced in Chapter 203.

أسرة usra
a family
Introduced in Chapter 246.

أستاذ ustādh
a professor
Introduced in Chapter 392.

أسطول usṭūl
a fleet
Introduced in Chapter 333.

أسطورة usṭūra
a legend
Introduced in Chapter 303.

أطروحة uṭrūḥa
a thesis
Introduced in Chapter 396.

و wa-
and — the commonest word in written Arabic, glossed once in chapter one inside a fixed reply and taught never
Introduced in Chapter 38.

وإلا wa-illā
otherwise
Introduced in Chapter 399.

وبخ wabbakha
to scold
Introduced in Chapter 534.

وابل wābil
a downpour
Introduced in Chapter 481.

وضع waḍaᶜa
to put (he put)
Introduced in Chapter 59.

ودع waddaᶜa
to bid farewell
Introduced in Chapter 332.

وادي wādī
a valley
Introduced in Chapter 132.

واضح wāḍiḥ
clear
Introduced in Chapter 178.

ودود wadūd
friendly
Introduced in Chapter 502.

وفاة wafāh
a death, a passing
Introduced in Chapter 338.

وافق wāfaqa
to approve; to agree to
Introduced in Chapter 360.

وفر waffara
to save (money)
Introduced in Chapter 192.

وفي wafī
faithful
Introduced in Chapter 499.

واحة wāḥa
an oasis
Introduced in Chapter 473.

وحيد waḥīd
lonely; only
Introduced in Chapter 271.

واحد اثنان ثلاثة أربعة خمسة wāḥid ithnān thalātha arbaᶜa khamsa
one through five — the Arabic WORDS for numbers, genuinely different from "Arabic numerals" (the written digit shapes 0-9), which actually trace back to India
Introduced in Chapter 19.

وحش waḥsh
a wild beast; a monster
Introduced in Chapter 479.

وجد wajada
to find (he found)
Introduced in Chapter 62.

واجه wājaha
to confront, to face
Introduced in Chapter 345.

وجبة wajba
a meal
Introduced in Chapter 182.

وجه wajh
a face
Introduced in Chapter 52.

واجب wājib
homework; a duty
Introduced in Chapter 221.

واجهة wājiha
a shop window; a front
Introduced in Chapter 455.

وكالة wakāla
an agency
Introduced in Chapter 320.

ولد walad
a boy
Introduced in Chapter 56.

ولع wala^c
fondness, keen love
Introduced in Chapter 540.

والد wālid
a parent; a father
Introduced in Chapter 532.

وليمة walīma
a banquet, a feast
Introduced in Chapter 328.

وقف waqafa
to stop (he stopped)
Introduced in Chapter 62.

وقع waqa^{c}a
to take place; to fall
Introduced in Chapter 294.

واقع wāqi^c
reality
Introduced in Chapter 365.

وقت waqt
time
Introduced in Chapter 88.

وقود waqūd
fuel
Introduced in Chapter 432.

ورم waram
a swelling; a tumour
Introduced in Chapter 509.

ورقة waraqa
a sheet of paper
Introduced in Chapter 73.

وراء warāʾa
behind
Introduced in Chapter 89.

ورد ward
roses
Introduced in Chapter 247.

وردي wardī
pink
Introduced in Chapter 271.

وارث wārith
an heir
Introduced in Chapter 337.

ورث waritha
to inherit
Introduced in Chapter 337.

ورشة warsha
a workshop
Introduced in Chapter 191.

وصل waṣala
to arrive
Introduced in Chapter 159.

وسط wasaṭ
the middle
Introduced in Chapter 103.

وصفة waṣfa
a prescription; a recipe
Introduced in Chapter 231.

وسخ wasikh
dirty
Introduced in Chapter 84.

وسيلة wasīla
a means
Introduced in Chapter 371.

وصية waṣiyya
a will, a testament; advice
Introduced in Chapter 337.

واسع wāsiᶜ
spacious, wide
Introduced in Chapter 148.

وثق wathiqa
to trust
Introduced in Chapter 196.

وثيقة wathīqa
a document
Introduced in Chapter 183.

وظيفة waẓīfa
a job
Introduced in Chapter 143.

وزير wazīr
a minister
Introduced in Chapter 377.

وزن wazn
weight
Introduced in Chapter 218.

وظف waẓẓafa
to employ, to hire
Introduced in Chapter 162.

وزع wazza^{c}a to hand out, to distribute
Introduced in Chapter 261.

وعد wa^{c}d
a promise
Introduced in Chapter 216.

وعي wa^{c}y
awareness
Introduced in Chapter 367.

وجهة wijha
a destination; a direction
Introduced in Chapter 425.

ولادة wilāda
childbirth; a birth
Introduced in Chapter 311.

ورك wirk
a hip
Introduced in Chapter 505.

وسادة wisāda
a pillow
Introduced in Chapter 123.

وشاح wishāḥ
a scarf
Introduced in Chapter 119.

وزارة wizāra
a ministry
Introduced in Chapter 377.

وصول wuṣūl
arrival
Introduced in Chapter 425.

يد yad
the hand — an ancient Semitic root, nearly unchanged since its Hebrew cousin
Introduced in Chapter 11.

يمين yamīn
right (side)
Introduced in Chapter 90.

نوفمبر أكتوبر سبتمبر أغسطس يوليو يونيو مايو أبريل مارس فبراير يناير ديسمبر yanāyir fabrāyir māris abrīl māyū yūniyū yūliyū aghusṭus sibtambir uktūbar nūfambir dīsambir
the Gregorian months — Latin names borrowed almost intact, running ALONGSIDE the Islamic calendar's own, entirely different lunar months
Introduced in Chapter 14.

ينبوع yanbū^c
a spring (of water)
Introduced in Chapter 470.

يقين yaqīn
certainty
Introduced in Chapter 402.

ياسمين yāsamīn
jasmine
Introduced in Chapter 247.

يسار yasār
left
Introduced in Chapter 103.

يوم yawm
"day" — a true pan-Semitic word, cognate with Hebrew yom (as in Yom Kippur)
Introduced in Chapter 25.

ما يوما yawman mā
someday, one day
Introduced in Chapter 349.

يوميا yawmiyyan
daily, every day
Introduced in Chapter 170.

يأس ya^{ɔ}s despair
Introduced in Chapter 493.

يمكن yumkin
it is possible
Introduced in Chapter 108.

زبادي zabādī
yoghurt
Introduced in Chapter 244.

زبون zabūn
a customer
Introduced in Chapter 188.

زف zaffa
to escort a bride; to bring good news
Introduced in Chapter 306.

زغرد zaghrada
to ululate for joy
Introduced in Chapter 306.

ظاهرة ẓāhira
a phenomenon
Introduced in Chapter 363.

ظهر ẓahr
the back
Introduced in Chapter 52.

زهرة zahra
a flower
Introduced in Chapter 75.

زخة zakhkha
a shower of rain
Introduced in Chapter 481.

ظلام ẓalām
darkness
Introduced in Chapter 134.

ظلم ẓalama
to wrong
Introduced in Chapter 411.

ظالم ẓālim
unjust
Introduced in Chapter 380.

زمن zaman
an age, a span of time
Introduced in Chapter 304.

زميل zamīl
a colleague
Introduced in Chapter 251.

زار zāra
to visit
Introduced in Chapter 255.

زرافة zarāfa
a giraffe
Introduced in Chapter 276.

زرع zara^{c}a
to plant
Introduced in Chapter 196.

ظرف ẓarf
an envelope
Introduced in Chapter 117.

زواج zawāj
marriage
Introduced in Chapter 528.

زاوية zāwiya
a corner
Introduced in Chapter 103.

زوج zawj
a husband
Introduced in Chapter 55.

زوجة zawja
a wife
Introduced in Chapter 55.

زورق zawraq
a dinghy; a small boat
Introduced in Chapter 430.

زود zawwada
to supply; to fill up (with)
Introduced in Chapter 432.

زور zawwara
to forge, to falsify
Introduced in Chapter 351.

زيت zayt
"oil" — one new letter that is only rā wearing a dot, and a second Spanish word carrying Arabic's article welded to its front
Introduced in Chapter 36.

زين zayyana
to decorate
Introduced in Chapter 552.

زعم za^{c}ama
to allege
Introduced in Chapter 366.

زعتر za^{c}tar thyme
Introduced in Chapter 121.

زفاف zifāf
a wedding
Introduced in Chapter 275.

ظل ẓill
shade, a shadow
Introduced in Chapter 134.

زلزال zilzāl
an earthquake
Introduced in Chapter 236.

زينة zīna
decorations
Introduced in Chapter 184.

زنزانة zinzāna
a prison cell
Introduced in Chapter 330.

زراعة zirāᶜa
agriculture
Introduced in Chapter 384.

زر zirr
a button
Introduced in Chapter 124.

زبدة zubda
butter
Introduced in Chapter 67.

ظفر ẓufr
a fingernail
Introduced in Chapter 140.

زجاج zujāj
glass (the material)
Introduced in Chapter 219.

زجاجة zujāja
a bottle
Introduced in Chapter 72.

زكام zukām
a cold (illness)
Introduced in Chapter 200.

زقاق zuqāq
an alley
Introduced in Chapter 101.

أحبّ ʾaḥabba
"he loved" — the chapter's payoff, closing the ladder of four verb shapes, and the root behind the ḥabībī of every second Arabic song
Introduced in Chapter 32.

أخذ ʾakhadha
"he took" — the last plain-shaped verb in the book, kept as the control against the three rebuilt verbs that follow, with a Hebrew twin reached by two regular consonant swaps
Introduced in Chapter 32.

عبر ᶜabara
to cross
Introduced in Chapter 159.

عبارة ᶜabbāra
a ferry
Introduced in Chapter 429.

عادة ᶜāda
a habit
Introduced in Chapter 109.

عدالة ᶜadāla
justice
Introduced in Chapter 380.

عضلة ᶜaḍala
a muscle
Introduced in Chapter 263.

عدس ᶜadas
lentils
Introduced in Chapter 128.

عض ᶜaḍḍa
to bite
Introduced in Chapter 199.

عداد ᶜaddād
a meter (that counts)
Introduced in Chapter 453.

عدل ᶜaddala
to adjust; to modify
Introduced in Chapter 427.

عذب ᶜadhb
sweet (of water); fresh
Introduced in Chapter 470.

عادي ᶜādī
ordinary, normal
Introduced in Chapter 211.

عادل ᶜādil
fair
Introduced in Chapter 380.

عديل ᶜadīl
a brother-in-law (by sisters)
Introduced in Chapter 529.

عدو ᶜaduww
an enemy
Introduced in Chapter 535.

عدوى ᶜadwā
an infection, contagion
Introduced in Chapter 509.

عفا ᶜafā
to pardon
Introduced in Chapter 534.

عافية ᶜāfiya
good health, wellbeing
Introduced in Chapter 512.

عفوا ᶜafwan
"you're welcome" (also "excuse me/pardon/sorry," depending on context) — root ᶜ-f-w, "to erase, to pardon"; grammatically the same construction as shukran itself
Introduced in Chapter 23.

عهد ᶜahd
a reign, an era; a pledge
Introduced in Chapter 304.

عجلة ᶜajala
a wheel
Introduced in Chapter 433.

عجن ᶜajana
to knead
Introduced in Chapter 229.

عاجل ᶜājil
urgent; breaking news
Introduced in Chapter 355.

عجوز ᶜajūz
old (of a person)
Introduced in Chapter 154.

عجز ᶜajz
a deficit
Introduced in Chapter 383.

على الأرجح ᶜalā al-arjaḥ most probably
Introduced in Chapter 403.

على الفور ᶜalā al-fawr
on the spot, at once
Introduced in Chapter 313.

الهواء على ᶜalā al-hawāʾ
on air, live
Introduced in Chapter 297.

عالج ᶜālaja
to treat (a patient)
Introduced in Chapter 510.

علامة ᶜalāma
a mark, a grade
Introduced in Chapter 252.

علاقة ᶜalāqa
a relationship
Introduced in Chapter 267.

علق ᶜallaqa
to hang (up)
Introduced in Chapter 223.

عملية ᶜamaliyya
an operation
Introduced in Chapter 201.

عميد ᶜamīd
a dean
Introduced in Chapter 390.

عامل ᶜāmil
a worker
Introduced in Chapter 189.

عميل ᶜamīl
a client
Introduced in Chapter 280.

عمل ᶜamila
to work (he worked)
Introduced in Chapter 64.

عميق ᶜamīq
deep
Introduced in Chapter 148.

عم ᶜamm
an uncle (father's brother)
Introduced in Chapter 55.

عمة ᶜamma
an aunt (father's sister)
Introduced in Chapter 246.

عمم ᶜammama
to generalize
Introduced in Chapter 370.

عن طريق الخطأ ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ
by mistake
Introduced in Chapter 349.

عانى ᶜānā
to suffer
Introduced in Chapter 381.

عانق ᶜānaqa
to hug
Introduced in Chapter 163.

عنيد ᶜanīd
stubborn
Introduced in Chapter 271.

عنكبوت ᶜankabūt
a spider
Introduced in Chapter 137.

عاقب ᶜāqaba
to punish
Introduced in Chapter 348.

عقبة ᶜaqaba
an obstacle
Introduced in Chapter 372.

عقد ᶜaqd
a contract
Introduced in Chapter 221.

عاقبة ᶜāqiba
a consequence
Introduced in Chapter 414.

عقب ᶜaqiba
right after, following
Introduced in Chapter 349.

عاقل ᶜāqil
sensible
Introduced in Chapter 501.

عقل ᶜaql
the mind
Introduced in Chapter 362.

عقرب ᶜaqrab
a scorpion
Introduced in Chapter 476.

عربة ᶜaraba
a carriage; a cart
Introduced in Chapter 428.

عارض ᶜāraḍa
to oppose
Introduced in Chapter 370.

عرض ᶜaraḍa
to display; to offer
Introduced in Chapter 455.

عرف ᶜarafa
"he knew, he recognised" — one of Arabic's two words for knowing, whose root reached Spain and named a palace in Granada
Introduced in Chapter 30.

عرق ᶜaraq
sweat
Introduced in Chapter 263.

عريض ᶜarīḍ
wide
Introduced in Chapter 150.

عريس ᶜarīs
a bridegroom
Introduced in Chapter 246.

عرقل ᶜarqala
to hamper; to hold up
Introduced in Chapter 445.

عرش ᶜarsh
a throne
Introduced in Chapter 309.

عروس ᶜarūs
a bride
Introduced in Chapter 275.

عصى ᶜaṣā
to disobey
Introduced in Chapter 534.

عصب ᶜaṣab
a nerve
Introduced in Chapter 506.

عصبي ᶜaṣabī
irritable, edgy
Introduced in Chapter 503.

عصف ᶜaṣafa
to blow hard (of wind)
Introduced in Chapter 482.

عسل ᶜasal
honey
Introduced in Chapter 67.

عاش ᶜāsha
to lead a life
Introduced in Chapter 532.

عشرة ᶜashara
ten
Introduced in Chapter 97.

عشاء ᶜashāʾ
dinner
Introduced in Chapter 119.

عشق ᶜashiqa
to love passionately
Introduced in Chapter 528.

عشية ᶜashiyya
the eve; the evening before
Introduced in Chapter 336.

عاصفة ᶜāṣifa
a storm
Introduced in Chapter 133.

عاصمة ᶜāṣima
a capital city
Introduced in Chapter 204.

عصير ᶜaṣīr
juice
Introduced in Chapter 69.

عصر ᶜaṣr
the afternoon; an era
Introduced in Chapter 264.

عاتب ᶜātaba
to reproach (gently)
Introduced in Chapter 493.

عتبة ᶜataba
a doorstep, a threshold
Introduced in Chapter 266.

عطس ᶜaṭasa
to sneeze
Introduced in Chapter 161.

عثر ᶜathara
to come across, to find
Introduced in Chapter 312.

عاطل ᶜāṭil
unemployed, out of work
Introduced in Chapter 522.

عطشان ᶜaṭshān
thirsty
Introduced in Chapter 153.

عوض ᶜawwaḍa
to compensate
Introduced in Chapter 449.

عيب ᶜayb
a fault, a defect
Introduced in Chapter 269.

عين ᶜayn
an eye
Introduced in Chapter 50.

عينة ᶜayyina
a sample
Introduced in Chapter 456.

عزف ᶜazafa
to play an instrument
Introduced in Chapter 543.

عزاء ᶜazāʾ
condolence; a gathering of mourners
Introduced in Chapter 319.

عظم ᶜaẓm
a bone
Introduced in Chapter 141.

عزى ᶜazzā
to console, to offer condolences
Introduced in Chapter 319.

عزز ᶜazzaza
to strengthen
Introduced in Chapter 418.

عيد ᶜīd
a feast day
Introduced in Chapter 1.

علاج ᶜilāj
treatment
Introduced in Chapter 231.

على علاوة ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā
moreover; on top of
Introduced in Chapter 375.

عمارة ᶜimāra
a block of flats; architecture
Introduced in Chapter 454.

عملاق ᶜimlāq
a giant
Introduced in Chapter 335.

عنب ᶜinab
grapes
Introduced in Chapter 67.

عند ᶜinda
at, by
Introduced in Chapter 105.

عصابة ᶜiṣāba
a gang, a band
Introduced in Chapter 321.

عيادة ᶜiyāda
a clinic
Introduced in Chapter 231.

عود ᶜūd
an oud, a lute
Introduced in Chapter 544.

عضو ᶜuḍw
a member
Introduced in Chapter 385.

عكاز ᶜukkāz
a crutch
Introduced in Chapter 232.

علبة ᶜulba
a tin, a can
Introduced in Chapter 181.

علية ᶜulliyya
an attic, a loft
Introduced in Chapter 549.

علوم ᶜulūm
science
Introduced in Chapter 222.

عملة ᶜumla
a currency
Introduced in Chapter 188.

عمق ᶜumq
depth
Introduced in Chapter 471.

عموما ᶜumūman
in general
Introduced in Chapter 403.

عنف ᶜunf
violence
Introduced in Chapter 381.

عنصر ᶜunṣur
an element
Introduced in Chapter 364.

عنوان ᶜunwān
an address
Introduced in Chapter 104.

عقوبة ᶜuqūba
a penalty, a punishment
Introduced in Chapter 348.

عرس ᶜurs
a wedding feast, a wedding
Introduced in Chapter 306.

عصفور ᶜuṣfūr
a sparrow, a small bird
Introduced in Chapter 276.

عشب ᶜushb
grass
Introduced in Chapter 131.

عطل ᶜuṭl
a breakdown; a fault
Introduced in Chapter 460.

عطلة ᶜuṭla
a holiday
Introduced in Chapter 98.

Review Questions

Try these without looking ahead. Every prompt comes from the same canonical lesson data as its chapter. Answers begin in the next section.

Chapter 3

3.1 ج، ڿ، ح — the dots trick, on a brand-new body
Where is the dot on ڿ?

Chapter 42

42.1 (reading) — six old words, with the training wheels gone
Which written word means tea?

42.2 (reading) — six lines that already know each other
Which written line asks for the other person's name?

42.3 (reading) — the first whole encounter
Which drink is accepted in the passage?

Chapter 284

284.1 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts
How did they travel back to the city?

284.2 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts
What was the friend doing in the evenings?

284.3 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts
What did they do after they got back to the hotel?

Answer Key

The first response is the canonical display answer. When a question accepts other authored forms, they appear underneath.

Chapter 3

3.1 ج خ، ح، — the dots trick, on a brand-new body
Answer: above
Also accepted: one above; above the body

Chapter 42

42.1 (reading) — six old words, with the training wheels gone
Answer: شاي
Also accepted: shay; shāy; tea

42.2 (reading) — six lines that already know each other
Answer: اسمك؟ ما
Also accepted: اسمك ما; ma ismuka; mā ismuka

42.3 (reading) — the first whole encounter
Answer: tea
Also accepted: شاي; shay; shāy

Chapter 284

284.1 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts
Answer: by train
Also accepted: بالقطار; bi-l-qitar; bi-l-qiṭār; train

284.2 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts
Answer: telling a long story
Also accepted: telling a story; yahki qissa; yaḥkī qiṣṣa; قصة يحكي

284.3 (reading) — a trip to the sea, told in both pasts
Answer: they read and drank coffee
Also accepted: read and drank coffee; drank coffee; qaraʔna wa-sharibna al-qahwa; قرأنا القهوة وشربنا

Index

Look up an English meaning, a dedicated language topic, or a chapter topic. Each linked reference opens the chapter where the material is introduced; the focus labels name only explicitly typed lesson sections.

0–9

11-15, plain "X-and-ten" compounds — then twenty, NOT "two-ten" but its OWN plural form of "ten" عشر أحد — عشرون (aḥada ᶜashar — ᶜishrūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 20, p. 121

A

a bachelor's degree بكالوريوس (bakālūriyūs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 397, p. 2417
a backpack ظهر حقيبة (ḥaqībat ẓahr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 427, p. 2607
a bag حقيبة (ḥaqība)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 74, p. 431
a baker خباز (khabbāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 144, p. 859
a bakery مخبز (makhbaz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 172, p. 1027
a balance (of an account); credit رصيد (raṣīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 452, p. 2763
a balcony شرفة (shurfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 101, p. 597
a ball كرة (kura)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 277, p. 1661
a band, a troupe فرقة (firqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 544, p. 3341

a bandage ضمادة (ḍimāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 262, p. 1571
a bank بنك (bank)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 91, p. 535
a banquet, a feast وليمة (walīma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 328, p. 1985
a barber حلاق (ḥallāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 282, p. 1691
a barrel برميل (barmīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 278, p. 1667
a basement, a cellar قبو (qabw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 266, p. 1595
a basin, a tub حوض (ḥawḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 551, p. 3383
a basket سلة (salla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 125, p. 743
a bat (the animal) خفاش (khuffāsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 475, p. 2907
a bathroom حمام (ḥammām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 101, p. 597
a battery بطارية (baṭṭāriyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 217, p. 1297
a battle معركة (ma^{c}raka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 307, p. 1853
a bear دب (dubb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 80, p. 469
a beard لحية (liḥya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 139, p. 829
a bed سرير (sarīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 70, p. 407
a bed sheet ملاءة (mulā^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 443, p. 2707
a bedsheet شرشف (sharshaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 551, p. 3383
a bee نحلة (naḥla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 136, p. 811
a beginning بداية (bidāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 171, p. 1021
a bell جرس (jaras)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 549, p. 3371
a belly بطن (baṭn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 141, p. 841
a belt حزام (ḥizām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 96, p. 565

a bend; a turning منعطف (mun^{c}aṭaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 434, p. 2651
a bicycle دراجة (darrāja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 142, p. 847
a bill, an invoice فاتورة (fātūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 188, p. 1123
A birth
chapter topic; Chapter 311, p. 1879
a birthplace, a home town رأس مسقط (masqaṭ ra^{ɔ}s)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 323, p. 1953
a blackboard سبورة (sabbūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 274, p. 1643
a blanket بطانية (baṭṭāniyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 123, p. 731
a blaze, a fire that spreads حريق (ḥarīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 298, p. 1797
a blender خلاط (khallāṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 187, p. 1117
a block of flats; architecture عمارة (^{c}imāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 454, p. 2775
a blog مدونة (mudawwana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 355, p. 2153
a boat قارب (qārib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 429, p. 2619
a bolt, a latch مزلاج (mizlāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 549, p. 3371
a bone عظم (^{c}aẓm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 141, p. 841
a bonus, a reward مكافأة (mukāfa^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 521, p. 3197
a book كتاب (kitāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 73, p. 425
a bottle زجاجة (zujāja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 72, p. 419
a box صندوق (ṣundūq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 125, p. 743
a boy ولد (walad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 56, p. 323
a bracelet سوار (siwār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 127, p. 755
a brain دماغ (dimāgh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 140, p. 835
a branch غصن (ghuṣn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 131, p. 781

a branch office; a branch فرع (far^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 452, p. 2763
a brand ماركة (mārka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 455, p. 2783
a brawl, a quarrel شجار (shijār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 352, p. 2135
a breakdown; a fault عطل (^{c}uṭl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 460, p. 2813
a breeze نسيم (nasīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 482, p. 2951
a bribe رشوة (rashwa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 388, p. 2361
a bride عروس (^{c}arūs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 275, p. 1649
a bridegroom عريس (^{c}arīs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 246, p. 1475
a bridge جسر (jisr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 92, p. 541
a broom مكنسة (miknasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 125, p. 743
a brother-in-law (by sisters) عديل (^{c}adīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 529, p. 3247
a bruise كدمة (kadma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 201, p. 1201
a brush فرشاة (furshā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 213, p. 1273
a bucket دلو (dalw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 125, p. 743
a budget ميزانية (mīzāniyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 459, p. 2807
a builder بناء (bannāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 526, p. 3227
a building مبنى (mabnā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 101, p. 597
a building contractor مقاول (muqāwil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 526, p. 3227
a bull ثور (thawr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 185, p. 1105
a bulletin, a news broadcast نشرة (nashra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 296, p. 1785
a burn حرق (ḥarq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 201, p. 1201
a bus حافلة (ḥāfila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 91, p. 535

a butcher جزار (jazzār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 220, p. 1315
a butterfly فراشة (farāsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 136, p. 811
a button زر (zirr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 124, p. 737
a cabbage ملفوف (malfūf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 121, p. 719
a café مقهى (maqhā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 172, p. 1027
a cage قفص (qafaṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 478, p. 2925
a cake كعكة (ka^{c}ka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 130, p. 775
a calculator حاسبة (ḥāsiba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 282, p. 1691
a calendar تقويم (taqwīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 234, p. 1401
a camel جمل (jamal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 81, p. 475
a camera كاميرا (kāmīrā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 217, p. 1297
a campaign حملة (ḥamla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 379, p. 2305
a campsite; a camp مخيم (mukhayyam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 442, p. 2701
a cancellation إلغاء (ilghā^{ɔ})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 461, p. 2819
a candidate مرشح (murashshaḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 378, p. 2299
a candle شمعة (sham^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 126, p. 749
a capital city عاصمة (^{c}āṣima)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 204, p. 1219
a capsule كبسولة (kabsūla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 511, p. 3133
a captain (of a ship) قبطان (qubṭān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 429, p. 2619
a car سيارة (sayyāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 91, p. 535
a car park; a stop موقف (mawqif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 173, p. 1033
a card بطاقة (biṭāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 220, p. 1315

a carpenter نجار (najjār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 144, p. 859
a carpet سجادة (sajjāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 126, p. 749
a carriage; a cart عربة (^{c}araba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 428, p. 2613
a cash machine آلي صراف (ṣarrāf ālī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 453, p. 2769
a cashier; a money changer صراف (ṣarrāf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 188, p. 1123
a castle, a citadel قلعة (qal^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 322, p. 1947
a cat قطة (qiṭṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 137, p. 817
a cave كهف (kahf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 132, p. 787
a ceiling سقف (saqf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 102, p. 603
a celebration احتفال (iḥtifāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 249, p. 1493
a cemetery مقبرة (maqbara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 338, p. 2047
a centre مركز (markaz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 204, p. 1219
a century قرن (qarn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 203, p. 1213
a certificate شهادة (shahāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 107, p. 633
a chair كرسي (kursī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 70, p. 407
a chalet شاليه (shālīh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 442, p. 2701
a championship; heroism بطولة (buṭūla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 547, p. 3359
a chance فرصة (furṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 421, p. 2567
a chandelier ثريا (thurayyā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 550, p. 3377
a channel; a canal قناة (qanāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 297, p. 1791
a charger شاحن (shāḥin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 215, p. 1285
a checkpoint; a barrier حاجز (ḥājiz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 317, p. 1917

a cheek خد (khadd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 138, p. 823
a cheetah; a leopard فهد (fahd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 475, p. 2907
a cheque شيك (shīk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 183, p. 1093
a chest صدر (ṣadr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 139, p. 829
a child طفل (ṭifl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 56, p. 323
a chill برد نزلة (nazlat bard)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 507, p. 3109
a chimney مدخنة (midkhana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 266, p. 1595
a chin ذقن (dhaqan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 506, p. 3103
a choir جوقة (jawqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 543, p. 3333
a cinema سينما (sīnimā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 265, p. 1589
a citizen مواطن (muwāṭin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 236, p. 1413
a city مدينة (madīna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 93, p. 547
a city wall سور (sūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 322, p. 1947
a civilization حضارة (ḥaḍāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 318, p. 1923
a class صف (ṣaff)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 143, p. 853
a clause بند (band)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 409, p. 2493
a claw; a talon مخلب (mikhlab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 476, p. 2913
a client عميل (ᶜamīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 280, p. 1679
a clinic عيادة (ᶜiyāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 231, p. 1381
a clothes iron مكواة (mikwāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 447, p. 2733
a cloud سحابة (saḥāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 77, p. 451
a cloud غيمة (ghayma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 134, p. 799

a club نادي (nādī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 265, p. 1589
a coach, a trainer مدرب (mudarrib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 190, p. 1135
a coast ساحل (sāḥil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 132, p. 787
a coat معطف (mi^{c}ṭaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 95, p. 559
a coat hanger مشجب (mishjab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 279, p. 1673
a coat of paint طلاء (ṭilā^{ɔ})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 552, p. 3391
a cobbler إسكافي (iskāfī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 526, p. 3227
a coffin, a bier نعش (na^{c}sh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 338, p. 2047
a coincidence, chance صدفة (ṣudfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 343, p. 2079
a cold (illness) زكام (zukām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 200, p. 1195
a colleague زميل (zamīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 251, p. 1505
a colour لون (lawn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 98, p. 577
a comb مشط (mushṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 122, p. 725
a comment; a commentary تعليق (ta^{c}līq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 355, p. 2153
a commodity; an item for sale سلعة (sil^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 458, p. 2801
a commotion, an uproar ضجة (ḍajja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 352, p. 2135
a companion رفيق (rafīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 535, p. 3283
a company شركة (sharika)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 251, p. 1505
a compartment; a cabin مقصورة (maqṣūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 428, p. 2613
a compass بوصلة (būṣala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 437, p. 2669
a complaint شكوى (shakwā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 449, p. 2745
a composer ملحن (mulaḥḥin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 543, p. 3333

a computer حاسوب (ḥāsūb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 116, p. 689
a concept مفهوم (mafhūm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 363, p. 2205
a condition شرط (sharṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 404, p. 2461
a conflict صراع (ṣirā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 386, p. 2349
a consequence عاقبة (^{c}āqiba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 414, p. 2525
a constitution دستور (dustūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 377, p. 2293
a consulate قنصلية (qunṣuliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 450, p. 2751
a consumer مستهلك (mustahlik)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 459, p. 2807
a context سياق (siyāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 361, p. 2193
a continent قارة (qārra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 173, p. 1033
a contract عقد (^{c}aqd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 221, p. 1321
a contradiction تناقض (tanāquḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 362, p. 2199
a controversy جدل (jadal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 360, p. 2187
a conversation, a talk حديث (ḥadīth)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 216, p. 1291
a cooking pot طنجرة (ṭanjara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 249, p. 1493
a corner زاوية (zāwiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 103, p. 609
a correspondent, a reporter مراسل (murāsil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 293, p. 1767
a corridor ممر (mamarr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 100, p. 591
a couch كنبة (kanaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 551, p. 3383
a cough سعال (su^{c}āl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 200, p. 1195
a council مجلس (majlis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 385, p. 2343
a country بلد (balad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 99, p. 583

a country's people; a nation شعب (sha^{c}b)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 329, p. 1991
a court of law محكمة (maḥkama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 305, p. 1841
a courtyard فناء (finā^{ɔ})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 266, p. 1595
a cow بقرة (baqara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 79, p. 463
a crab سلطعون (salṭa^{c}ūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 477, p. 2919
a cradle مهد (mahd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 530, p. 3253
a crew; a set طاقم (ṭāqam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 424, p. 2589
A crime
chapter topic; Chapter 300, p. 1809
a crime جريمة (jarīma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 300, p. 1809
a criminal مجرم (mujrim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 300, p. 1809
a crisis أزمة (azma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 386, p. 2349
a criterion معيار (mi^{c}yār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 364, p. 2211
a crocodile تمساح (timsāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 136, p. 811
a crop; a harvest محصول (maḥṣūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 469, p. 2869
a crossroads, a junction تقاطع (taqāṭu^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 235, p. 1407
a crossword متقاطعة كلمات (kalimāt mutaqāṭi^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 537, p. 3297
a crow غراب (ghurāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 137, p. 817
a crowd, a gathering حشد (ḥashd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 352, p. 2135
a crown تاج (tāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 309, p. 1867
a crutch عكاز (^{c}ukkāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 232, p. 1389
a cucumber خيار (khiyār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 129, p. 767

"a cup" — the word that opens Arabic's broken plural, where more than one is not made by adding anything but by re-pouring the word into a new shape كوب (kūb)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 36, p. 201
a cupboard خزانة (khizāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 122, p. 725
a currency عملة (ᶜumla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 188, p. 1123
a current (of water or air) تيار (tayyār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 471, p. 2883
a curriculum منهج (manhaj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 396, p. 2411
a curtain ستارة (sitāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 127, p. 755
a cushion; a pillow مخدة (mikhadda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 551, p. 3383
a customer زبون (zabūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 188, p. 1123
a CV; a life story سيرة ذاتية (sīra dhātiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 519, p. 3183
a date; history تاريخ (tārīkh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 202, p. 1207
a daughter-in-law كنة (kanna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 529, p. 3247
A day in the hills
chapter topic; Chapter 479, p. 2933
a dean عميد (ᶜamīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 390, p. 2375
a death, a passing وفاة (wafāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 338, p. 2047
a decision قرار (qarār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 115, p. 683
a defeat هزيمة (hazīma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 315, p. 1903
a defendant, an accused متهم (muttaham)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 305, p. 1841
a deficit عجز (ᶜajz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 383, p. 2331
a definition تعريف (taᶜrīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 396, p. 2411
a degree; a class (of travel) درجة (daraja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 480, p. 2939
a delay تأخير (taʾkhīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 170, p. 1015

a demonstration, a march مظاهرة (muẓāhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 353, p. 2141
a desert صحراء (ṣaḥrāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 133, p. 793
a designer مصمم (muṣammim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 525, p. 3221
a desire رغبة (raghba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 113, p. 671
a destination; a direction وجهة (wijha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 425, p. 2595
a device جهاز (jihāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 248, p. 1487
a diagnosis تشخيص (tashkhīṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 510, p. 3127
a dialogue, a conversation حوار (ḥiwār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 302, p. 1823
a dictionary قاموس (qāmūs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 274, p. 1643
a difference فرق (farq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 176, p. 1051
a difficulty صعوبة (ṣuᶜūba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 372, p. 2261
a dilemma معضلة (muᶜḍila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 372, p. 2261
a dinghy; a small boat زورق (zawraq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 430, p. 2625
a direction اتجاه (ittijāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 172, p. 1027
a disability إعاقة (iᶜāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 513, p. 3147
a discount خصم (khaṣm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 188, p. 1123
a discovery اكتشاف (iktishāf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 421, p. 2567
a discussion نقاش (niqāsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 239, p. 1431
a distance مسافة (masāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 427, p. 2607
a doctor طبيب (ṭabīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 54, p. 311
a doctorate دكتوراه (duktūrāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 397, p. 2417
a document وثيقة (wathīqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 183, p. 1093

a doll دمية (dumya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 126, p. 749
a dolphin دلفين (dulfīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 185, p. 1105
a donkey حمار (ḥimār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 81, p. 475
a door باب (bāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 72, p. 419
a doorman; a caretaker بواب (bawwāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 443, p. 2707
a doorstep, a threshold عتبة (^{c}ataba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 266, p. 1595
a dose جرعة (jur^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 511, p. 3133
a downpour وابل (wābil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 481, p. 2945
a dowry, a bride gift مهر (mahr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 336, p. 2035
a dragon تنين (tinnīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 335, p. 2029
a drain بالوعة (bālū^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 549, p. 3371
a dream حلم (ḥulm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 113, p. 671
a dress فستان (fustān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 94, p. 553
a droplet; a drop قطرة (qaṭra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 511, p. 3133
a drum طبل (ṭabl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 544, p. 3341
a dryer; a hairdryer مجفف (mujaffif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 447, p. 2733
a duck بطة (baṭṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 135, p. 805
a dwarf قزم (qazam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 335, p. 2029
a eulogy, a memorial tribute تأبين (ta$^{\supset}$bīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 338, p. 2047
a face وجه (wajh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 52, p. 299
a fact حقيقة (ḥaqīqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 365, p. 2217
a factory مصنع (maṣna^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 142, p. 847

a faculty كلية (kulliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 390, p. 2375
a falcon صقر (ṣaqr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 474, p. 2901
a fallacy مغالطة (mughālaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 362, p. 2199
a family أسرة (usra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 246, p. 1475
a fan مروحة (mirwaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 116, p. 689
a fare; a wage أجرة (ujra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 435, p. 2657
a farm مزرعة (mazra^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 265, p. 1589
a farmer مزارع (muzāri^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 144, p. 859
a fault, a defect عيب (^{c}ayb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 269, p. 1613
a feast day عيد (^{c}īd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1 a feather; a quill ريشة (rīsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 474, p. 2901
a feeling شعور (shu^{c}ūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 237, p. 1419
a felony, a serious crime جناية (jināya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 348, p. 2109
a fence سياج (siyāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 266, p. 1595
a ferry عبارة (^{c}abbāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 429, p. 2619
a festival مهرجان (mahrajān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 184, p. 1099
a fever حمى (ḥummā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 53, p. 305
a fiancé خطيب (khaṭīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 528, p. 3241
a field حقل (ḥaql)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 76, p. 445
a file, a folder ملف (malaff)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 274, p. 1643
a film فيلم (fīlm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 184, p. 1099
a fine, a penalty fee غرامة (gharāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 352, p. 2135

a finger إصبع (iṣba^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 51, p. 293
a fingernail ظفر (ẓufr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 140, p. 835
a fingerprint بصمة (baṣma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 308, p. 1859
A fire
chapter topic; Chapter 298, p. 1797
a firefighter إطفاء رجل (rajul iṭfāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 298, p. 1797
a fisherman, a hunter صياد (ṣayyād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 191, p. 1141
a fishing rod صنارة (ṣinnāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 536, p. 3291
a flame, flames لهب (lahab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 354, p. 2147
A flat tyre
chapter topic; Chapter 433, p. 2645
a fleet أسطول (usṭūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 333, p. 2017
a flight attendant; a host مضيف (muḍīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 425, p. 2595
a flood فيضان (fayaḍān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 236, p. 1413
a flower زهرة (zahra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 75, p. 439
a fly ذبابة (dhubāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 136, p. 811
a follower; an observer متابع (mutābi^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 356, p. 2159
a foot قدم (qadam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 51, p. 293
a forehead جبين (jabīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 138, p. 823
a forest غابة (ghāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 76, p. 445
a fork شوكة (shawka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 72, p. 419
a form (to fill in) استمارة (istimāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 183, p. 1093
a fort, a stronghold حصن (ḥiṣn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 322, p. 1947
a fountain نافورة (nāfūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 440, p. 2689

a fox ثعلب (tha^{c}lab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 135, p. 805
a fridge ثلاجة (thallāja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 126, p. 749
a frog ضفدع (ḍifda^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 138, p. 823
a frying pan مقلاة (miqlāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 116, p. 689
A funeral
chapter topic; Chapter 314, p. 1897
a funeral جنازة (janāza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 314, p. 1897
a gang, a band عصابة (^{c}iṣāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 321, p. 1941
a garage; a car park مرآب (mir^{ɔ}āb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 436, p. 2663
a garden حديقة (ḥadīqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 72, p. 419
a gardener بستاني (bustānī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 527, p. 3233
a gate; a gateway بوابة (bawwāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 423, p. 2583
a gazelle غزال (ghazāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 135, p. 805
a gazette, a newspaper صحيفة (ṣaḥīfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 293, p. 1767
a germ جرثومة (jurthūma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 509, p. 3121
a giant عملاق (^{c}imlāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 335, p. 2029
a giraffe زرافة (zarāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 276, p. 1655
a glove قفاز (quffāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 119, p. 707
a goal, an aim هدف (hadaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 114, p. 677
a goat ماعز (mā^{c}iz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 79, p. 463
a government حكومة (ḥukūma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 377, p. 2293
a governor; a ruler حاكم (ḥākim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 340, p. 2059
a grandfather جد (jadd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 54, p. 311

a grandmother جدة (jadda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 55, p. 317
a grandson حفيد (ḥafīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 246, p. 1475
a grave قبر (qabr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 314, p. 1897
a great traveller; an explorer رحالة (raḥḥāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 438, p. 2675
a grocer بقال (baqqāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 191, p. 1141
a guarantee; a warranty ضمان (ḍamān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 458, p. 2801
a guest ضيف (ḍayf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 56, p. 323
a gulf; a bay خليج (khalīj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 471, p. 2883
a habit عادة (^{c}āda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 109, p. 645
a half (of a match) شوط (shawṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 546, p. 3353
a hammer مطرقة (miṭraqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 218, p. 1303
a handkerchief منديل (mindīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 127, p. 755
a handle مقبض (miqbaḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 549, p. 3371
a harbour مرفأ (marfa^{ɔ})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 430, p. 2625
a hat قبعة (qubba^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 95, p. 559
a headache صداع (ṣudā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 168, p. 1003
a hearing, a session جلسة (jalsa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 334, p. 2023
a heatwave حر موجة (mawjat ḥarr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 484, p. 2963
a hedgehog قنفذ (qunfudh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 475, p. 2907
a heel كعب (ka^{c}b)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 140, p. 835
a helmet خوذة (khūdha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 341, p. 2067
a hen دجاجة (dajāja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 81, p. 475

a herd; a flock قطيع (qaṭīᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 478, p. 2925
a hero; a champion بطل (baṭal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 303, p. 1829
a hill تل (tall)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 132, p. 787
a hip ورك (wirk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 505, p. 3097
a hobby هواية (hiwāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 186, p. 1111
a hole; a puncture ثقب (thuqb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 433, p. 2645
a holiday عطلة (ᶜuṭla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 98, p. 577
a horse حصان (ḥiṣān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 78, p. 457
a hose خرطوم (kharṭūm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 219, p. 1309
a hospital مستشفى (mustashfā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 53, p. 305
a hostage رهينة (rahīna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 347, p. 2103
a hotel فندق (funduq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 92, p. 541
a hotel guest; a lodger نزيل (nazīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 441, p. 2695
a house منزل (manzil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 69, p. 401
a house painter دهان (dahhān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 526, p. 3227
a hurricane; a whirlwind إعصار (iᶜṣār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 482, p. 2951
a husband زوج (zawj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 55, p. 317
a hut كوخ (kūkh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1
a hyena ضبع (ḍabᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 475, p. 2907
a hypothesis فرضية (farḍiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 363, p. 2205
a job وظيفة (waẓīfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 143, p. 853
a joint مفصل (mafṣil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 505, p. 3097

a journalist صحفي (ṣuḥufī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 189, p. 1129
a journey رحلة (riḥla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 98, p. 577
a jug, a teapot إبريق (ibrīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 116, p. 689
a jungle; thick undergrowth أدغال (adghāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 473, p. 2895
a justification; a pretext مبرر (mubarrir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 422, p. 2575
a kettle غلاية (ghallāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 278, p. 1667
a key مفتاح (miftāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 71, p. 413
a kidnapper خاطف (khāṭif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 347, p. 2103
A kidnapping
chapter topic; Chapter 347, p. 2103
a kindergarten روضة (rawḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 398, p. 2425
a kiosk كشك (kushk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 436, p. 2663
a kitchen مطبخ (maṭbakh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 72, p. 419
a knee ركبة (rukba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 52, p. 299
a knife سكين (sikkīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 71, p. 413
a knight, a horseman فارس (fāris)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 341, p. 2067
a lab test; an analysis تحليل (taḥlīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 510, p. 3127
a laboratory مختبر (mukhtabar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 391, p. 2381
a ladder سلم (sullam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 123, p. 731
a ladle مغرفة (mighrafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 278, p. 1667
a lake بحيرة (buḥayra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 133, p. 793
a lamp مصباح (miṣbāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 71, p. 413
a language لغة (lugha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 99, p. 583

a law قانون (qānūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 409, p. 2493
a lawyer محامي (muḥāmī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 280, p. 1679
a leaflet; a post online منشور (manshūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 350, p. 2123
a lecture محاضرة (muḥāḍara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 252, p. 1511
a lecturer محاضر (muḥāḍir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 392, p. 2387
a leg ساق (sāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 141, p. 841
a legend أسطورة (usṭūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 303, p. 1829
a lesson درس (dars)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 74, p. 431
a letter, a message رسالة (risāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 117, p. 695
a level مستوى (mustawā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 415, p. 2531
a library; a bookshop مكتبة (maktaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 451, p. 2757
a licence; a permit رخصة (rukhṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 434, p. 2651
a lid غطاء (ghiṭāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 213, p. 1273
A life and its end
chapter topic; Chapter 532, p. 3265
a lift مصعد (miṣᶜad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 100, p. 591
a lighthouse; a minaret منارة (manāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 430, p. 2625
a line of people; a queue طابور (ṭābūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 450, p. 2751
a lion أسد (asad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 79, p. 463
a lip شفة (shafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 140, p. 835
a listener مستمع (mustamiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 356, p. 2159
a living room, a hall صالة (ṣāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 172, p. 1027
a loan قرض (qarḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 220, p. 1315

a lock قفل (qufl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 127, p. 755
a locust جرادة (jarāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 476, p. 2913
a lorry; a truck شاحنة (shāḥina)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 445, p. 2719
a loved one, a darling حبيب (ḥabīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 533, p. 3271
a machine آلة (āla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 186, p. 1111
a magazine مجلة (majalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 117, p. 695
a magician, a sorcerer ساحر (sāḥir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 335, p. 2029
a majority أغلبية (aghlabiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 387, p. 2355
a malfunction; a defect خلل (khalal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 460, p. 2813
a man رجل (rajul)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 56, p. 323
a manager, a director مدير (mudīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 251, p. 1505
a manuscript مخطوطة (makhṭūṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 342, p. 2073
a map خريطة (kharīṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 74, p. 431
a mark, a grade علامة (^{c}alāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 252, p. 1511
a market سوق (sūq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 93, p. 547
a market stall بسطة (basṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 455, p. 2783
a marriage break-up; a divorce طلاق (ṭalāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 529, p. 3247
a master's degree ماجستير (mājistīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 397, p. 2417
a match مباراة (mubārā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 277, p. 1661
a matter مسألة (mas^{ɔ}ala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 361, p. 2193
a mattress فراش (firāsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 122, p. 725
a meal وجبة (wajba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 182, p. 1087

a meaning معنى (ma^{c}nā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 208, p. 1243
a means وسيلة (wasīla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 371, p. 2255
a mechanic ميكانيكي (mīkānīkī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 526, p. 3227
a medal ميدالية (mīdāliya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 547, p. 3359
a meeting اجتماع (ijtimā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 221, p. 1321
a melody, a tune لحن (laḥn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 543, p. 3333
a member عضو (^{c}uḍw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 385, p. 2343
a memory ذكرى (dhikrā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 239, p. 1431
a merchant, a trader تاجر (tājir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 222, p. 1327
a meter (that counts) عداد (^{c}addād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 453, p. 2769
a midwife قابلة (qābila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 311, p. 1879
a minister وزير (wazīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 377, p. 2293
a ministry وزارة (wizāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 377, p. 2293
a minority أقلية (aqalliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 387, p. 2355
a minute دقيقة (daqīqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 86, p. 505
a mirage سراب (sarāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 473, p. 2895
a mirror مرآة (mir^{ɔ}āh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 71, p. 413
a mistake; wrong خطأ (khaṭa^{ɔ})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 85, p. 499
a mobile phone جوال (jawwāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 245, p. 1469
a moment لحظة (laḥẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 202, p. 1207
a money transfer حوالة (ḥawāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 452, p. 2763
a monkey قرد (qird)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 80, p. 469

a month شهر (shahr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 86, p. 505
a monument نصب (nuṣb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 439, p. 2683
a mood مزاج (mizāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 169, p. 1009
a mop ممسحة (mimsaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 551, p. 3383
a mosque مسجد (masjid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 92, p. 541
a mosquito بعوضة (baᶜūḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 136, p. 811
a mother-in-law حماة (ḥamāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 528, p. 3241
a mountain جبل (jabal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 75, p. 439
a mouse فأر (faᵓr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 79, p. 463
a moustache شارب (shārib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 139, p. 829
a mouth فم (fam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 50, p. 287
a muscle عضلة (ᶜaḍala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 263, p. 1577
a museum متحف (matḥaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 235, p. 1407
a myth, a superstition خرافة (khurāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 303, p. 1829
a nail مسمار (mismār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 124, p. 737
a naming; a name given تسمية (tasmiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 311, p. 1879
a nanny مربية (murabbiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 531, p. 3259
a nation أمة (umma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 387, p. 2355
a nature reserve محمية (maḥmiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 467, p. 2857
a necklace قلادة (qilāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 245, p. 1469
a need حاجة (ḥāja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 114, p. 677
a needle إبرة (ibra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 124, p. 737

a neighbourhood حي (ḥayy)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 101, p. 597
a nerve عصب (ᶜaṣab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 506, p. 3103
a newborn مولود (mawlūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 311, p. 1879
a newspaper جريدة (jarīda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 117, p. 695
A noisy night
chapter topic; Chapter 448, p. 2739
a nose أنف (anf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 50, p. 287
a notebook دفتر (daftar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 73, p. 425
a novel رواية (riwāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 186, p. 1111
a number رقم (raqm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 281, p. 1685
a nurse ممرض (mumarriḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 231, p. 1381
a page صفحة (ṣafḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 282, p. 1691
a painter (artist) رسام (rassām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 541, p. 3321
a painting; a board لوحة (lawḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 186, p. 1111
a palace قصر (qaṣr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 309, p. 1867
a palm كف (kaff)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 140, p. 835
a palm tree نخلة (nakhla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 247, p. 1481
a parcel طرد (ṭard)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 183, p. 1093
a parent; a father والد (wālid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 532, p. 3265
a parliament برلمان (barlamān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 377, p. 2293
a parrot ببغاء (babbaghāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 185, p. 1105
a party حفلة (ḥafla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 275, p. 1649
a passenger; a rider راكب (rākib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 425, p. 2595

a passport جواز (jawāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 118, p. 701
a pasture مرعى (mar^{c}ā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 478, p. 2925
a patrol دورية (dawriyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 317, p. 1917
a pavement; a platform رصيف (raṣīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 235, p. 1407
a peasant farmer فلاح (fallāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 527, p. 3233
a pedestrian crossing مشاة ممر (mamarr mushāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 435, p. 2657
a pen قلم (qalam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 73, p. 425
a penalty, a punishment عقوبة (^{c}uqūba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 348, p. 2109
a pencil case مقلمة (miqlama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 282, p. 1691
a pencil sharpener مبراة (mibrāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 253, p. 1517
a period, a duration مدة (mudda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 171, p. 1021
a person شخص (shakhṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 275, p. 1649
a perspective منظور (manẓūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 359, p. 2181
a pharmacist صيدلي (ṣaydalī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 280, p. 1679
a pharmacy صيدلية (ṣaydaliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 231, p. 1381
a phenomenon ظاهرة (ẓāhira)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 363, p. 2205
a philosopher فيلسوف (faylasūf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 376, p. 2287
a phone call مكالمة (mukālama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 281, p. 1685
a photographer; a camera operator مصور (muṣawwir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 356, p. 2159
a pickpocket نشال (nashshāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 321, p. 1941
a picture صورة (ṣūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 75, p. 439
a piece قطعة (qiṭ^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 218, p. 1303

a pigeon حمامة (ḥamāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 135, p. 805
a pilgrim حاج (ḥājj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 3, p. 41
a pill, a tablet حبة (ḥabba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 169, p. 1009
a pillow وسادة (wisāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 123, p. 731
a pilot طيار (ṭayyār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 280, p. 1679
a pipe, a tube أنبوب (unbūb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 187, p. 1117
a pirate قرصان (qurṣān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 333, p. 2017
a place مكان (makān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 104, p. 615
a plan خطة (khuṭṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 114, p. 677
a plane, an aeroplane — 'a flying thing', from the root of ṭāra, to fly طائرة (ṭāʾira)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 288, p. 1735
a planet كوكب (kawkab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 205, p. 1225
a plastic bag; a sack كيس (kīs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 479, p. 2933
a plate صحن (ṣaḥn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 71, p. 413
"a plate" — a second broken plural in the very same shape as akwāb, which turns a surprise into a pattern, and a root whose other child is a storey of a building طبق (ṭabaq)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 36, p. 201
a plateau; a hill هضبة (haḍba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 472, p. 2889
a player لاعب (lāᶜib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 190, p. 1135
a plumber سباك (sabbāk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 191, p. 1141
a pocket جيب (jayb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 95, p. 559
a poem قصيدة (qaṣīda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 216, p. 1291
a poet شاعر (shāᶜir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 545, p. 3347

a police station مخفر (makhfar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 451, p. 2757
a political party حزب (ḥizb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 379, p. 2305
a pomegranate رمان (rummān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 120, p. 713
a port ميناء (mīnāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 100, p. 591
a porter حمال (ḥammāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 436, p. 2663
a possibility إمكانية (imkāniyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 106, p. 627
a postage stamp طابع (ṭābiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 183, p. 1093
a postponement تأجيل (taʾjīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 461, p. 2819
a preference تفضيل (tafḍīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 111, p. 659
a prescription; a recipe وصفة (waṣfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 231, p. 1381
a present هدية (hadiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 118, p. 701
a presenter, a broadcaster مذيع (mudhīᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 281, p. 1685
a price ثمن (thaman)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
a price cut; a reduction تخفيض (takhfīḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 457, p. 2795
a prince; an emir أمير (amīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 309, p. 1867
a principle مبدأ (mabdaʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 358, p. 2175
a printed copy نسخة (nuskha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 350, p. 2123
a printer طابعة (ṭābiᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 274, p. 1643
a prison cell زنزانة (zinzāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 330, p. 1997
a prisoner سجين (sajīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 330, p. 1997
a probability احتمال (iḥtimāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 401, p. 2443
a problem مشكلة (mushkila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 206, p. 1231

a procedure إجراء (ijrāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 406, p. 2475
a procession موكب (mawkib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 328, p. 1985
a product منتج (muntaj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 455, p. 2783
a profession, a trade مهنة (mihna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 518, p. 3177
a professor أستاذ (ustādh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 392, p. 2387
a programme, a schedule برنامج (barnāmaj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 157, p. 937
a programmer مبرمج (mubarmij)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 525, p. 3221
a project مشروع (mashrūᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 112, p. 665
a promise وعد (waᶜd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 216, p. 1291
a promotion ترقية (tarqiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 521, p. 3197
a proof برهان (burhān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 358, p. 2175
a proportion نسبة (nisba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 412, p. 2511
a protest احتجاج (iḥtijāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 382, p. 2325
a public issue; a cause; a court case قضية (qaḍiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 361, p. 2193
a public square, a field ميدان (maydān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 100, p. 591
a publisher ناشر (nāshir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 350, p. 2123
a pump مضخة (miḍakhkha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 433, p. 2645
a purpose غاية (ghāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 112, p. 665
a pyramid هرم (haram)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 318, p. 1923
a quantity كمية (kammiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 249, p. 1493
a question — the noun of saʾala, to ask سؤال (suʾāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 285, p. 1713
a questionnaire استبيان (istibyān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 391, p. 2381

a rabbit أرنب (arnab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 134, p. 799
a race سباق (sibāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 277, p. 1661
a radio set مذياع (midhyā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 297, p. 1791
a radio station; broadcasting إذاعة (idhā^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 297, p. 1791
a railway سكة حديد (sikkat ḥadīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 428, p. 2613
a rainbow قوس قزح (qaws quzaḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 485, p. 2969
a ransom فدية (fidya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 347, p. 2103
a rash طفح جلدي (ṭafḥ jildī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 508, p. 3115
a rate; a price سعر (si^{c}r)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 458, p. 2801
a reason, a cause سبب (sabab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 174, p. 1039
a receipt إيصال (īṣāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 158, p. 943
a rectangle مستطيل (mustaṭīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 279, p. 1673
a reed flute ناي (nāy)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 544, p. 3341
a reference مرجع (marji^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 395, p. 2405
a reign, an era; a pledge عهد (^{c}ahd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 304, p. 1835
a relationship علاقة (^{c}alāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 267, p. 1601
a report تقرير (taqrīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 221, p. 1321
a rescuer; a lifeguard منقذ (munqidh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 310, p. 1873
a researcher باحث (bāḥith)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 391, p. 2381
a residence; a stay إقامة (iqāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 441, p. 2695
a resignation استقالة (istiqāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 522, p. 3203
a resort منتجع (muntaja^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 442, p. 2701

a rest stop; a break استراحة (istirāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 440, p. 2689
a restaurant مطعم (maṭᶜam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 93, p. 547
a result نتيجة (natīja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 174, p. 1039
a return ticket — word for word 'a ticket of going and coming back', beside tadhkirat dhahāb faqaṭ, one way تذكرة ذهاب وإياب (tadhkirat dhahāb wa-iyāb)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 288, p. 1735
a revolution, a revolt ثورة (thawra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 329, p. 1991
a rhyme قافية (qāfiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 545, p. 3347
a rhythm, a beat إيقاع (īqāᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 543, p. 3333
a rib ضلع (ḍilᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 505, p. 3097
a right حق (ḥaqq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 108, p. 639
a ring خاتم (khātam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 95, p. 559
a river نهر (nahr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 76, p. 445
a river mouth مصب (maṣabb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 470, p. 2875
a river source; a source منبع (manbaᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 470, p. 2875
a riverbank ضفة (ḍiffa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 470, p. 2875
a road طريق (ṭarīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 91, p. 535
a robber سارق (sāriq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 321, p. 1941
a rock صخرة (ṣakhra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 472, p. 2889
a roof سطح (saṭḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 102, p. 603
a room غرفة (ghurfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 69, p. 401
a rooster ديك (dīk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 137, p. 817
a root جذر (jidhr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 131, p. 781

a rope حبل (ḥabl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 187, p. 1117
a route; a lane مسار (masār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 435, p. 2657
a royal court; paving stones بلاط (balāṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 340, p. 2059
a rule قاعدة (qāᶜida)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 208, p. 1243
a ruler مسطرة (misṭara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 253, p. 1517
a runway مدرج (madraj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 423, p. 2583
a sailor بحار (baḥḥār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 333, p. 2017
a salary راتب (rātib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 143, p. 853
a sample عينة (ᶜayyina)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 456, p. 2789
a sand dune كثيب (kathīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 466, p. 2851
a sandwich شطيرة (shaṭīra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 182, p. 1087
a sauce صلصة (ṣalṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 182, p. 1087
a scarf وشاح (wishāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 119, p. 707
a scene; a view مشهد (mashhad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 542, p. 3327
a scholarship منحة (minḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 390, p. 2375
a school مدرسة (madrasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 73, p. 425
a school subject مادة (mādda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 252, p. 1511
a scorpion عقرب (ᶜaqrab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 476, p. 2913
a screen شاشة (shāsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 245, p. 1469
a sculptor نحات (naḥḥāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 541, p. 3321
a seagull نورس (nawras)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 474, p. 2901
a season فصل (faṣl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 264, p. 1583

a seat مقعد (maqᶜad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 423, p. 2583
a seat belt حزام أمان (ḥizām amān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 424, p. 2589
a secret سر (sirr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 216, p. 1291
a secretary سكرتير (sikritīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 518, p. 3177
a seed بذرة (bidhra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 131, p. 781
a sentence جملة (jumla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 282, p. 1691
a service خدمة (khidma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 446, p. 2725
a shackle; a restriction قيد (qayd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 330, p. 1997
a shark قرش (qirsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 477, p. 2919
a sheep خروف (kharūf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 79, p. 463
a sheet of paper ورقة (waraqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 73, p. 425
a shelf رف (raff)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 181, p. 1081
a shelter; a refuge ملجأ (maljaʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 487, p. 2983
a shift, a turn on duty مناوبة (munāwaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 520, p. 3191
a ship سفينة (safīna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 142, p. 847
a shirt قميص (qamīṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 94, p. 553
a shoe حذاء (ḥidhāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 95, p. 559
a shop متجر (matjar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 90, p. 529
a shop window; a front واجهة (wājiha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 455, p. 2783
a shopping centre مجمع تجاري (mujammaᶜ tijārī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 454, p. 2775
a shoulder كتف (katif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 51, p. 293
a shower دش (dush)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 447, p. 2733

a shower of rain زخة (zakhkha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 481, p. 2945
a shrub; a bush شجيرة (shujayra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 468, p. 2863
a sign, a placard لافتة (lāfita)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 158, p. 943
a signal; traffic lights إشارة (ishāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 431, p. 2633
a signature توقيع (tawqī^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 191, p. 1141
a singer مغني (mughannī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 190, p. 1135
a sink, a washbasin مغسلة (maghsala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 181, p. 1081
a size (of clothes) مقاس (maqās)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 245, p. 1469
a skill مهارة (mahāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 109, p. 645
a skirt تنورة (tannūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 182, p. 1087
a skull جمجمة (jumjuma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 505, p. 3097
a skyscraper سحاب ناطحة (nāṭiḥat saḥāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 454, p. 2775
a slope منحدر (munḥadar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 472, p. 2889
a snake ثعبان (thu^{c}bān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 80, p. 469
a sock جورب (jawrab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 94, p. 553
a sofa أريكة (arīka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 213, p. 1273
a soldier جندي (jundī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 307, p. 1853
a solution حل (ḥall)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 206, p. 1231
a son-in-law; a brother-in-law صهر (ṣihr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 529, p. 3247
a song أغنية (ughniya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 98, p. 577
a source مصدر (maṣdar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 320, p. 1935

a souvenir; a keepsake تذكار (tidhkār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 440, p. 2689
a spark شرارة (sharāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 354, p. 2147
a sparrow, a small bird عصفور (^{c}uṣfūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 276, p. 1655
a spear, a lance رمح (rumḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 326, p. 1973
a specialization تخصص (takhaṣṣuṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 390, p. 2375
a speech, an address خطاب (khiṭāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 357, p. 2167
a spider عنكبوت (^{c}ankabūt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 137, p. 817
a splint, a plaster cast جبيرة (jabīra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 511, p. 3133
a spokesperson; a speaker متحدث (mutaḥaddith)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 302, p. 1823
a sponge إسفنجة (isfanja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 279, p. 1673
"a spoon" — the closing payoff, where the mi- tool shape stands beside the ma- place shape you already own, and where sound and broken plurals finally sort themselves out ملعقة (mil^{c}aqa)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 36, p. 201
a sprain التواء (iltiwāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 516, p. 3165
a spring (of water) ينبوع (yanbū^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 470, p. 2875
a square ساحة (sāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 142, p. 847
a squirrel سنجاب (sinjāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 475, p. 2907
a stadium, a sports ground ملعب (mal^{c}ab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 235, p. 1407
a stage play مسرحية (masraḥiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 542, p. 3327
a stapler دباسة (dabbāsa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 253, p. 1517
a star نجم (najm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 77, p. 451
a statement; a clear account بيان (bayān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 293, p. 1767
a station محطة (maḥaṭṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 91, p. 535

a steering wheel مقود (miqwad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 445, p. 2719
a step خطوة (khuṭwa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 269, p. 1613
a stepson ربيب (rabīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 532, p. 3265
a stomach cramp مغص (maghaṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 201, p. 1201
a stone حجر (ḥajar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 76, p. 445
a storm عاصفة (ᶜāṣifa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 133, p. 793
a story قصة (qiṣṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 99, p. 583
A Story, In Order
chapter topic; Chapter 284, p. 1705
a stove موقد (mawqid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 123, p. 731
a strainer مصفاة (miṣfāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 278, p. 1667
a strait مضيق (maḍīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 477, p. 2919
a street شارع (shāriᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 90, p. 529
a strike إضراب (iḍrāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 382, p. 2325
a strongbox; a safe خزنة (khazna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 443, p. 2707
a student طالب (ṭālib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 143, p. 853
a study دراسة (dirāsa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 391, p. 2381
a subscription; a travel pass اشتراك (ishtirāk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 435, p. 2657
a suburb ضاحية (ḍāḥiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 454, p. 2775
a suggestion اقتراح (iqtirāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 112, p. 665
a suit بدلة (badla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 214, p. 1279
a sultan; power سلطان (sulṭān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 340, p. 2059
a summary ملخص (mulakhkhaṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 394, p. 2399

a summit; a peak قمة (qimma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 472, p. 2889
a supervisor مشرف (mushrif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 392, p. 2387
a supplement; an annex ملحق (mulḥaq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 350, p. 2123
a supporter, a fan مشجع (mushajji^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 546, p. 3353
a surgeon جراح (jarrāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 232, p. 1389
a surprise مفاجأة (mufāja^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 343, p. 2079
a swamp; a marsh مستنقع (mustanqa^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 473, p. 2895
a swelling; a tumour ورم (waram)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 509, p. 3121
a swimming pool مسبح (masbaḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 454, p. 2775
a swing أرجوحة (urjūḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 539, p. 3309
a sword سيف (sayf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 326, p. 1973
a syllabus مقرر (muqarrar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 397, p. 2417
a table طاولة (ṭāwila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 70, p. 407
a tail ذيل (dhayl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 217, p. 1297
a tailor خياط (khayyāṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 144, p. 859
a tale, a story told aloud حكاية (ḥikāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 295, p. 1779
a talent موهبة (mawhiba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 110, p. 653
a tap صنبور (ṣunbūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 187, p. 1117
a tape, a ribbon شريط (sharīṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 279, p. 1673
a task, a mission مهمة (mahamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 520, p. 3191
a tax ضريبة (ḍarība)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 383, p. 2331
a taxi تاكسي (tāksī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 215, p. 1285

a teacher مُدَرِّس (mudarris)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
a teacher معلم (mu^{c}allim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 57, p. 329
a team فريق (farīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 277, p. 1661
a teenager مراهق (murāhiq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 531, p. 3259
a telephone هاتف (hātif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 245, p. 1469
a television تلفاز (tilfāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 117, p. 695
a temple معبد (ma^{c}bad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 318, p. 1923
a tent خيمة (khayma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 173, p. 1033
a term مصطلح (muṣṭalaḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 396, p. 2411
a test اختبار (ikhtibār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 393, p. 2393
a theatre مسرح (masraḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 265, p. 1589
a theory نظرية (naẓariyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 363, p. 2205
a thesis أطروحة (uṭrūḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 396, p. 2411
a thief لص (liṣṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 300, p. 1809
a thigh فخذ (fakhidh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 505, p. 3097
a thousand ألف (alf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 97, p. 571
a thread خيط (khayṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 124, p. 737
a throne عرش (^{c}arsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 309, p. 1867
a thumb إبهام (ibhām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 263, p. 1577
a ticket تذكرة (tadhkira)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 118, p. 701
a ticket window; a window شباك (shubbāk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 436, p. 2663
a tiger نمر (namir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 80, p. 469

A Timetable, a Sign, the Rent, an Advert, a Receipt
chapter topic; Chapter 158, p. 943
a timetable, a table جدول (jadwal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 158, p. 943
a tin, a can علبة (^{c}ulba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 181, p. 1081
a tip (for service) بقشيش (baqshīsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 446, p. 2725
a title; a nickname لقب (laqab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 342, p. 2073
a tomb, a mausoleum ضريح (ḍarīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 338, p. 2047
a tongue لسان (lisān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 141, p. 841
a tool أداة (adāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 110, p. 653
a tooth سن (sinn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 50, p. 287
a topic, a subject موضوع (mawḍū^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 218, p. 1303
a tour; a round جولة (jawla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 438, p. 2675
a tour guide; a guide مرشد (murshid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 437, p. 2669
a towel منشفة (minshafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 122, p. 725
a tower برج (burj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 439, p. 2683
a town hall; a municipality بلدية (baladiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 450, p. 2751
a toy, a game لعبة (lu^{c}ba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 126, p. 749
a trace, a mark; an effect أثر (athar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 318, p. 1923
a trade union نقابة (niqāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 385, p. 2343
a tradition تقليد (taqlīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 267, p. 1601
a train قطار (qiṭār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 92, p. 541
a trainee, an intern متدرب (mutadarrib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 519, p. 3183
a tram ترام (trām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 445, p. 2719

a translator مترجم (mutarjim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 189, p. 1129
a traveller مسافر (musāfir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 142, p. 847
a tray صينية (ṣīniyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 278, p. 1667
a treasure كنز (kanz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 312, p. 1885
a treaty معاهدة (muᶜāhada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 341, p. 2067
a tree شجرة (shajara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 75, p. 439
A trial
chapter topic; Chapter 334, p. 2023
a trial محاكمة (muḥākama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 334, p. 2023
a triangle مثلث (muthallath)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 250, p. 1499
a tribe قبيلة (qabīla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 340, p. 2059
a triumph; a win فوز (fawz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 547, p. 3359
a trophy; a cup كأس (kaʾs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 547, p. 3359
a truce هدنة (hudna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 341, p. 2067
a tunnel نفق (nafaq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 431, p. 2633
a turtle سلحفاة (sulaḥfāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 135, p. 805
a TV series مسلسل (musalsal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 248, p. 1487
a twin توأم (tawʾam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 246, p. 1475
a tyre; a frame إطار (iṭār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 433, p. 2645
a university جامعة (jāmiᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 144, p. 859
a vaccination تطعيم (taṭᶜīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 509, p. 3121
a vaccine لقاح (laqāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 263, p. 1577
a valley وادي (wādī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 132, p. 787

a value قيمة (qīma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 368, p. 2237
a variety; a kind صنف (ṣinf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 456, p. 2789
a vase مزهرية (mazhariyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 550, p. 3377
a vessel إناء (ināʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 123, p. 731
a vet بيطري (bayṭarī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 518, p. 3177
a victim ضحية (ḍaḥiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 301, p. 1817
a victory in battle نصر (naṣr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 315, p. 1903
a view; scenery منظر (manẓar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 439, p. 2683
a viewer, a spectator مشاهد (mushāhid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 356, p. 2159
a village قرية (qarya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 93, p. 547
a villain; wicked شرير (shirrīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 303, p. 1829
a violin كمان (kamān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 544, p. 3341
a virus فيروس (fayrūs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 509, p. 3121
a visa تأشيرة (taʾshīra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 215, p. 1285
a volcano بركان (burkān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 173, p. 1033
a voter ناخب (nākhib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 378, p. 2299
a voucher; a coupon قسيمة (qasīma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 457, p. 2795
a wage, pay أجر (ajr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 521, p. 3197
a waist خصر (khaṣr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 139, p. 829
a waiter نادل (nādil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 251, p. 1505
a wall جدار (jidār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 70, p. 407
a wallet محفظة (miḥfaẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 118, p. 701

a war حرب (ḥarb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 307, p. 1853
a washing machine غسالة (ghassāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 181, p. 1081
a waterfall شلال (shallāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 132, p. 787
a watermelon بطيخ (biṭṭīkh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 130, p. 775
a wave موجة (mawja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 247, p. 1481
a way, a method طريقة (ṭarīqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 208, p. 1243
a weapon سلاح (silāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 326, p. 1973
a weather forecast نشرة جوية (nashra jawwiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 480, p. 2939
a website, a site موقع (mawqi^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 248, p. 1487
A wedding
chapter topic; Chapter 306, p. 1847
a wedding زفاف (zifāf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 275, p. 1649
a wedding feast, a wedding عرس (^{c}urs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 306, p. 1847
a week أسبوع (usbū^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 86, p. 505
a whale حوت (ḥūt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 276, p. 1655
a wheel عجلة (^{c}ajala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 433, p. 2645
a whistle; a siren صفارة (ṣaffāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 324, p. 1959
a widow أرملة (armala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 337, p. 2041
a wife زوجة (zawja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 55, p. 317
a wild beast; a monster وحش (waḥsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 479, p. 2933
a will, a testament; advice وصية (waṣiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 337, p. 2041
a window نافذة (nāfidha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 69, p. 401
a wing جناح (janāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 217, p. 1297

a wire سلك (silk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 187, p. 1117
a wish أمنية (umniyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 111, p. 659
a woman امرأة (imraʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 56, p. 323
a woodcutter حطاب (ḥaṭṭāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 344, p. 2085
a word كلمة (kalima)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 75, p. 439
a worker عامل (ᶜāmil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 189, p. 1129
a workshop ورشة (warsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 191, p. 1141
a wound جرح (jurḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 200, p. 1195
a wounded person; wounded جريح (jarīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 301, p. 1817
a wrist معصم (miᶜṣam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 263, p. 1577
ability قدرة (qudra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 106, p. 627
above فوق (fawqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 89, p. 523
absence غياب (ghiyāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 422, p. 2575
academic أكاديمي (akādīmī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 376, p. 2287
according to حسب (ḥasaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 268, p. 1607
Accountant, Journalist, Worker, Translator, Interview
chapter topic; Chapter 189, p. 1129
acting تمثيل (tamthīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 542, p. 3327
active, lively نشيط (nashīṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 147, p. 877
admiration إعجاب (iᶜjāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 490, p. 3003
admission قبول (qabūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 393, p. 2393
Adventures
chapter topic; Chapter 343, p. 2079
Advice and hesitation
chapter topic; Chapter 369, p. 2243

affectionate, tender حنون (ḥanūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 502, p. 3077
after بعد (baᶜda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 88, p. 517
After the blast
chapter topic; Chapter 354, p. 2147
After, Time, Far, Near, Inside
chapter topic; Chapter 88, p. 517
agitated, unsettled مضطرب (muḍṭarib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 497, p. 3047
Agreeing and objecting
chapter topic; Chapter 360, p. 2187
agriculture زراعة (zirāᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 384, p. 2337
Aims and means
chapter topic; Chapter 371, p. 2255
air هواء (hawāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 247, p. 1481
Air, Wave, Roses, Palm tree, Jasmine
chapter topic; Chapter 247, p. 1481
all right, fine, very well — the backchannel this track had no word for, and the first way a learner can agree with somebody حسنًا (ḥasanan)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 38, p. 215
Allowed or required
chapter topic; Chapter 410, p. 2499
almonds لوز (lawz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 244, p. 1463
almost, approximately تقريبا (taqrīban)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 238, p. 1425
already; indeed بالفعل (bi-l-fiᶜl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 156, p. 931
also, too أيضا (ayḍan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 175, p. 1045
amazing مدهش (mudhish)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 272, p. 1631
Amazing, Sure, Exciting, Complicated, Reasonable
chapter topic; Chapter 272, p. 1631
ambition طموح (ṭumūḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 112, p. 665
Ambulance, Temperature, Bandage, Accident, Stress
chapter topic; Chapter 262, p. 1571
an accident حادث (ḥādith)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 262, p. 1571

An accident on the road
chapter topic; Chapter 301, p. 1817
an account حساب (ḥisāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 220, p. 1315
an accountant محاسب (muḥāsib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 189, p. 1129
an accusation, a charge تهمة (tuhma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 348, p. 2109
an achievement إنجاز (injāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 415, p. 2531
an activist ناشط (nāshiṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 379, p. 2305
an actor ممثل (mumaththil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 281, p. 1685
an adapter; a transformer محول (muḥawwil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 444, p. 2713
an address عنوان (ᶜunwān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 104, p. 615
an advantage ميزة (mīza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 269, p. 1613
an adventure مغامرة (mughāmara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 343, p. 2079
an advert, an announcement إعلان (iᶜlān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 158, p. 943
an adviser, a consultant مستشار (mustashār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 518, p. 3177
an age, a span of time زمن (zaman)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 304, p. 1835
an agency وكالة (wakāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 320, p. 1935
an agreement اتفاق (ittifāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 239, p. 1431
an air conditioner مكيف (mukayyif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 181, p. 1081
an airport مطار (maṭār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 100, p. 591
an alarm; a warning إنذار (indhār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 324, p. 1959
an alarm clock منبه (munabbih)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 234, p. 1401
an allergy حساسية (ḥassāsiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 200, p. 1195
an alley زقاق (zuqāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 101, p. 597

an alternative بديل (badīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 369, p. 2243
an ambulance; first aid إسعاف (is^{c}āf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 262, p. 1571
an anchorage; a mooring مرسى (marsā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 430, p. 2625
an animal حيوان (ḥayawān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 276, p. 1655
an ankle كاحل (kāḥil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 168, p. 1003
an answer جواب (jawāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 74, p. 431
an ant نملة (namla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 185, p. 1105
an app, an application تطبيق (taṭbīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 248, p. 1487
an apple تفاحة (tuffāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 66, p. 383
an area, a district منطقة (minṭaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 204, p. 1219
an argument حجة (ḥujja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 358, p. 2175
an arm ذراع (dhirā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 168, p. 1003
an army جيش (jaysh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 307, p. 1853
an arrow; a share سهم (sahm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 326, p. 1973
an art فن (fann)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 109, p. 645
an article, an essay مقال (maqāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 296, p. 1785
an artist فنان (fannān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 541, p. 3321
an association جمعية (jam^{c}iyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 385, p. 2343
an attic, a loft علية (^{c}ulliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 549, p. 3371
an aubergine باذنجان (bādhinjān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 120, p. 713
an aunt (father's sister) عمة (^{c}amma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 246, p. 1475
an average معدل (mu^{c}addal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 393, p. 2393

an eagle نسر (nasr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 138, p. 823
an ear أذن (udhun)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 50, p. 287
an earring قرط (qurṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 127, p. 755
an earthquake زلزال (zilzāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 236, p. 1413
an edge; a rim حافة (ḥāffa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 472, p. 2889
an edition, a printing طبعة (ṭabᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 350, p. 2123
an editor محرر (muḥarrir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 296, p. 1785
an editorial افتتاحية (iftitāḥiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 355, p. 2153
an effect تأثير (taʾthīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 414, p. 2525
an elbow مرفق (mirfaq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 139, p. 829
an election انتخاب (intikhāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 378, p. 2299
an element عنصر (ᶜunṣur)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 364, p. 2211
an elephant فيل (fīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 80, p. 469
an embassy سفارة (sifāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 235, p. 1407
an emission; a release انبعاث (inbiᶜāth)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 463, p. 2833
an emperor إمبراطور (imbarāṭūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 331, p. 2003
an employee موظف (muwaẓẓaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 251, p. 1505
an enemy عدو (ᶜaduww)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 535, p. 3283
an engagement to marry خطوبة (khuṭūba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 306, p. 1847
an engine; a motor محرك (muḥarrik)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 432, p. 2639
an engineer مهندس (muhandis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 280, p. 1679
an entrance مدخل (madkhal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 105, p. 621

an envelope ظرف (ẓarf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 117, p. 695
an era, a long period حقبة (ḥiqba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 304, p. 1835
an eraser ممحاة (mimḥāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 143, p. 853
an evaluation, an assessment تقييم (taqyīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 523, p. 3209
an evening out, a soirée سهرة (sahra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 264, p. 1583
an exam امتحان (imtiḥān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 221, p. 1321
an example مثال (mithāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 208, p. 1243
an exception استثناء (istithnāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 405, p. 2467
an exercise, a workout تمرين (tamrīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 169, p. 1009
an exhibition معرض (maᶜriḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 541, p. 3321
an exit مخرج (makhraj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 105, p. 621
an expectation توقع (tawaqquᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 111, p. 659
an experience; a try, an experiment — something you went through and learned from تجربة (tajriba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 289, p. 1743
an expert خبير (khabīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 376, p. 2287
an explorer مستكشف (mustakshif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 312, p. 1885
an eye عين (ᶜayn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 50, p. 287
an eyebrow حاجب (ḥājib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 138, p. 823
an eyelash رمش (rimsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 506, p. 3103
an eyelid جفن (jafn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 506, p. 3103
an eyewitness شاهد عيان (shāhid ᶜiyān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 305, p. 1841
an heir وارث (wārith)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 337, p. 2041

an identity card هوية (hawiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 215, p. 1285
an impression انطباع (inṭibāᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 359, p. 2181
an in-law نسيب (nasīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 529, p. 3247
an incentive حافز (ḥāfiz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 371, p. 2255
an index فهرس (fihris)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 396, p. 2411
an infection, contagion عدوى (ᶜadwā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 509, p. 3121
an inflammation التهاب (iltihāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 508, p. 3115
an inheritance ميراث (mīrāth)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 337, p. 2041
an injection حقنة (ḥuqna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 201, p. 1201
an injury إصابة (iṣāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 169, p. 1009
an inscription; a carving نقش (naqsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 342, p. 2073
an insect حشرة (ḥashara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 185, p. 1105
an instalment; a share قسط (qisṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 453, p. 2769
an institute معهد (maᶜhad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 391, p. 2381
an intention نية (niyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 115, p. 683
An interview
chapter topic; Chapter 302, p. 1823
an interview مقابلة (muqābala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 189, p. 1129
An investigation
chapter topic; Chapter 308, p. 1859
an investigation, an inquiry تحقيق (taḥqīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 308, p. 1859
an investigator, a detective محقق (muḥaqqiq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 308, p. 1859
an invitation دعوة (daᶜwa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 184, p. 1099
an invited guest مدعو (madᶜuww)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 328, p. 1985

an island جزيرة (jazīra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 131, p. 781
an itch, itching حكة (ḥikka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 508, p. 3115
an itinerary سير خط (khaṭṭ sayr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 437, p. 2669
an oasis واحة (wāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 473, p. 2895
an obstacle عقبة (ᶜaqaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 372, p. 2261
an occasion مناسبة (munāsaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 184, p. 1099
an ocean محيط (muḥīṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 471, p. 2883
an offence; a traffic ticket مخالفة (mukhālafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 352, p. 2135
an office; a desk مكتب (maktab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 92, p. 541
an official, the person in charge; responsible — the one to ask for when something has gone wrong مسؤول (masᵓūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 288, p. 1735
an ogre, a ghoul غول (ghūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 335, p. 2029
an ointment مرهم (marham)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 232, p. 1389
an operation عملية (ᶜamaliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 201, p. 1201
an opinion, a view — what you see in a matter رأي (raᵓy)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 285, p. 1713
an orchard بستان (bustān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 173, p. 1033
an organization منظمة (munaẓẓama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 385, p. 2343
an ostrich نعامة (naᶜāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 474, p. 2901
an oud, a lute عود (ᶜūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 544, p. 3341
an outing; a pleasure trip نزهة (nuzha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 438, p. 2675
an oven فرن (furn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 116, p. 689
an owl بومة (būma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 137, p. 817

an owner مالك (mālik)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 108, p. 639
an umbrella مظلة (miẓalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 118, p. 701
an uncle (father's brother) عم (^{c}amm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 55, p. 317
an uncle (mother's brother) خال (khāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 55, p. 317
Analysing things
chapter topic; Chapter 364, p. 2211
Ancient civilizations
chapter topic; Chapter 318, p. 1923
and — the commonest word in written Arabic, glossed once in chapter one inside a fixed reply and taught never و (wa-)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 38, p. 215 anew, all over again جديد من (min jadīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 313, p. 1891
angry غاضب (ghāḍib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 147, p. 877
Animal, Birds, Sparrow, Giraffe, Whale
chapter topic; Chapter 276, p. 1655
annoyance انزعاج (inzi^{c}āj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 495, p. 3033
annoyed منزعج (munza^{c}ij)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 495, p. 3033
Annoyed and fed up
chapter topic; Chapter 495, p. 3033
annoying مزعج (muz^{c}ij)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 243, p. 1457
apart from; except سوى (siwā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 416, p. 2537
applause تصفيق (taṣfīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 542, p. 3327
apples تفاح (tuffāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 129, p. 767
apricots مشمش (mishmish)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 130, p. 775
Arguments and proof
chapter topic; Chapter 358, p. 2175
Arm, Body, Ankle, Throat, Headache
chapter topic; Chapter 168, p. 1003
Armies and wars
chapter topic; Chapter 307, p. 1853

armour; a shield درع (dir^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 326, p. 1973
around حول (ḥawla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 105, p. 621
Around the station
chapter topic; Chapter 436, p. 2663
arrival وصول (wuṣūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 425, p. 2595
arrogant متكبر (mutakabbir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 500, p. 3065
as for أما (ammā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 375, p. 2281
as if لو كما (kamā law)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 404, p. 2461
as, in the same way as كما (kamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 207, p. 1237
as long as طالما (ṭālamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 399, p. 2431
as-salāmu ^{c}alaykum* — hear, write, repair script and writing topic; explicit focus: writing; Chapter 1, p. 1
as soon as حالما (ḥālamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 327, p. 1979
ash, ashes رماد (ramād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 354, p. 2147
Asking for a Drink
chapter topic; Chapter 33, p. 175
Asking for Food
chapter topic; Chapter 34, p. 183
Asking Someone's Age
chapter topic; Chapter 17, p. 113
Asking The Way
chapter topic; Chapter 287, p. 1729
asthma ربو (rabw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 513, p. 3147
astonished مندهش (mundahish)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 490, p. 3003
astonishment دهشة (dahsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 490, p. 3003
at, by عند (^{c}inda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 105, p. 621
at ease, relaxed مرتاح (murtāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 496, p. 3041
at first, in the beginning البداية في (fī al-bidāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 294, p. 1773

At reception
chapter topic; Chapter 441, p. 2695
at that moment اللحظة تلك في (fī tilka al-laḥẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 294, p. 1773
at that time, back then آنذاك (ānadhāk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 304, p. 1835
At the bank
chapter topic; Chapter 452, p. 2763
At the exhibition
chapter topic; Chapter 541, p. 3321
At the gate
chapter topic; Chapter 423, p. 2583
at the same time نفسه الوقت في (fī al-waqt nafsih)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 327, p. 1979
At The Station
chapter topic; Chapter 288, p. 1735
attendance حضور (ḥuḍūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 398, p. 2425
authority سلطة (sulṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 106, p. 627
available متاح (mutāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 270, p. 1619
Avoiding trouble
chapter topic; Chapter 407, p. 2481
awareness وعي (wa^{c}y)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 367, p. 2231

B

Babies
chapter topic; Chapter 530, p. 3253
Bag, Money, Map, Lesson, Answer
chapter topic; Chapter 74, p. 431
Ball, Match, Team, Race, Sport
chapter topic; Chapter 277, p. 1661
bananas موز (mawz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 66, p. 383
barren قاحل (qāḥil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 473, p. 2895
Basement, Chimney, Doorstep, Fence, Courtyard
chapter topic; Chapter 266, p. 1595
basic أساسي (asāsī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 419, p. 2555

Bays and oceans
chapter topic; Chapter 471, p. 2883
beans فول (fūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 129, p. 767
Beans, Garlic, Cucumber, Apples, Dates
chapter topic; Chapter 129, p. 767
Beard, Moustache, Chest, Waist, Elbow
chapter topic; Chapter 139, p. 829
beautiful جميل (jamīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 86, p. 505
Beautiful, Brown, Week, Month, Minute
chapter topic; Chapter 86, p. 505
because — the answer to the question the lesson before taught, and the same لـ with a complementiser behind it لأن (li-anna)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 40, p. 231
Bed and view
chapter topic; Chapter 443, p. 2707
before قبل (qabla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 87, p. 511
before long, soon after ما سرعان (surᶜāna mā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 313, p. 1891
behind خلف (khalfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 102, p. 603
behind وراء (warāʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 89, p. 523
Being fair
chapter topic; Chapter 422, p. 2575
below تحت (taḥta)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 89, p. 523
Belt, Six, Seven, Eight, Nine
chapter topic; Chapter 96, p. 565
Beside, Left, Middle, Corner, North
chapter topic; Chapter 103, p. 609
beside, next to بجانب (bi-jānib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 103, p. 609
betrayal خيانة (khiyāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 535, p. 3283
between بين (bayna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 102, p. 603
Bicycle, Ship, Traveller, Factory, Square
chapter topic; Chapter 142, p. 847
big كبير (kabīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 81, p. 475

Bigger, Better, For How Long
chapter topic; Chapter 290, p. 1749
Birds
chapter topic; Chapter 474, p. 2901 birds طير (ṭayr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 276, p. 1655
birth ميلاد (mīlād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 233, p. 1395
biting (of cold); bitter قارس (qāris)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 483, p. 2957
bitter مر (murr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 152, p. 907
black and white — color adjectives that change shape with gender, more than "sorry" did أبيض أسود (aswad abyad)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 9, p. 85
Blanket, Pillow, Ladder, Stove, Vessel
chapter topic; Chapter 123, p. 731
bleeding نزيف (nazīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 232, p. 1389
Blender, Tap, Pipe, Wire, Rope
chapter topic; Chapter 187, p. 1117
blood دم (dam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 52, p. 299
boarding; going up صعود (ṣuᶜūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 423, p. 2583
boiled مسلوق (maslūq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 209, p. 1249
bold, daring جريء (jarīʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 500, p. 3065
Bones and joints
chapter topic; Chapter 505, p. 3097
Book, Notebook, Pen, Sheet of paper, School
chapter topic; Chapter 73, p. 425
booked, reserved محجوز (maḥjūz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 270, p. 1619
borders حدود (ḥudūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 205, p. 1225
boredom ملل (malal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 488, p. 2991
boring ممل (mumill)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 270, p. 1619
Boring, Booked, Available, International, Local
chapter topic; Chapter 270, p. 1619

boxing ملاكمة (mulākama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 548, p. 3365
boyhood, early youth صبا (ṣibā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 323, p. 1953
brakes فرامل (farāmil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 432, p. 2639
brave شجاع (shujāᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 153, p. 913
breakfast فطور (fuṭūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 68, p. 395
Breaking news
chapter topic; Chapter 355, p. 2153
Breaks and souvenirs
chapter topic; Chapter 440, p. 2689
bricks طوب (ṭūb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 250, p. 1499
Bride, Person, People, Party, Wedding
chapter topic; Chapter 275, p. 1649
broken مكسور (maksūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 209, p. 1249
brother and sister — one shared Semitic root, gendered by a single added letter أخ أخت (akh ukht)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 10, p. 89
brown بني (bunnī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 86, p. 505
Bucket, Broom, Rubbish, Basket, Box
chapter topic; Chapter 125, p. 743
burnt محروق (maḥrūq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 209, p. 1249
busy مشغول (mashghūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 147, p. 877
Busy, Tired, Active, Kind, Angry
chapter topic; Chapter 147, p. 877
but — the first word in this book that can set one clause against another, and three letters the reader has owned since chapter two لكن (lākin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 38, p. 215
butter زبدة (zubda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 67, p. 389
By boat
chapter topic; Chapter 429, p. 2619
by mistake عن طريق الخطأ (ᶜan ṭarīq al-khaṭaʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 349, p. 2117

C

Cabbage, Mint, Parsley, Thyme, Cumin
chapter topic; Chapter 121, p. 719
Calculator, Pencil case, Page, Sentence, Barber
chapter topic; Chapter 282, p. 1691
Calling for help
chapter topic; Chapter 310, p. 1873
Calling Somebody, and Asking Again
chapter topic; Chapter 41, p. 239
calm, quiet هدوء (hudūʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 489, p. 2997
Camel, Donkey, Hen, Big, Small
chapter topic; Chapter 81, p. 475
camping تخييم (takhyīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 537, p. 3297
Camps and resorts
chapter topic; Chapter 442, p. 2701
Cancelled and postponed
chapter topic; Chapter 461, p. 2819
Candle, Carpet, Doll, Toy, Fridge
chapter topic; Chapter 126, p. 749
carbon كربون (karbūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 463, p. 2833
Card, Loan, Goods, Account, Butcher
chapter topic; Chapter 220, p. 1315
cardboard كرتون (kartūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 250, p. 1499
Cardboard, Bricks, Marble, Rubber, Triangle
chapter topic; Chapter 250, p. 1499 care; welfare رعاية (riᶜāya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 408, p. 2487
Careers and ambitions
chapter topic; Chapter 518, p. 3177
careless مهمل (muhmil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 503, p. 3083
carrots جزر (jazar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 67, p. 389
Castles and walls
chapter topic; Chapter 322, p. 1947
certainty يقين (yaqīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 402, p. 2449
Chair, Table, Wall, Bed, Floor
chapter topic; Chapter 70, p. 407

chalk طباشير (ṭabāshīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 253, p. 1517
Chances and discoveries
chapter topic; Chapter 421, p. 2567
Change over time
chapter topic; Chapter 413, p. 2517
Changing weather
chapter topic; Chapter 486, p. 2975
chaos, disorder فوضى (fawḍā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 324, p. 1959
Charges and penalties
chapter topic; Chapter 348, p. 2109
cheap رخيص (rakhīṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 83, p. 487 cheerful, fun-loving مرح (mariḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 503, p. 3083
"cheese" — and an honest limit on the root system, because the very same three letters also spell cowardice and the two are not one idea جبن (jubn)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 34, p. 183
chemistry كيمياء (kīmiyāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 222, p. 1327
chess شطرنج (shiṭranj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 186, p. 1111
chicken دجاج (dajāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 69, p. 401
chickpeas حمص (ḥummuṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 128, p. 761
Child, Boy, Man, Woman, Guest
chapter topic; Chapter 56, p. 323
childbirth; a birth ولادة (wilāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 311, p. 1879
childhood طفولة (ṭufūla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 264, p. 1583
chilly; cold بارد (bārid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 483, p. 2957
chocolate شوكولاتة (shūkūlāta)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 273, p. 1637
Chocolate, Sweets, Pasta, Flour, Spices
chapter topic; Chapter 273, p. 1637
City buildings
chapter topic; Chapter 454, p. 2775
Claims and doubts
chapter topic; Chapter 366, p. 2225

clean نظيف (naẓīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 84, p. 493
cleanliness نظافة (naẓāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 443, p. 2707
clear واضح (wāḍiḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 178, p. 1063
Clear or vague
chapter topic; Chapter 417, p. 2543
clear weather; cloudless صحو (ṣaḥw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 485, p. 2969
clever ذكي (dhakī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 152, p. 907
Client, Engineer, Lawyer, Pilot, Pharmacist
chapter topic; Chapter 280, p. 1679
climate مناخ (munākh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 463, p. 2833
closed مغلق (mughlaq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 146, p. 871
clothes ملابس (malābis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 94, p. 553
Clothes, Shirt, Dress, Trousers, Sock
chapter topic; Chapter 94, p. 553
coal; charcoal فحم (faḥm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 465, p. 2845
Coast, Waterfall, Cave, Valley, Hill
chapter topic; Chapter 132, p. 787
"coffee" — the chapter's payoff, where the tied tāʾ finally earns its keep as Arabic's visible gender marker, and where you can order everything the chapter taught قهوة (qahwa)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 33, p. 175
Cold
chapter topic; Chapter 483, p. 2957
Cold, Cough, Allergy, Wound, Health
chapter topic; Chapter 200, p. 1195
coldness; a chill برودة (burūda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 483, p. 2957
Colour, Song, Journey, Holiday, Love
chapter topic; Chapter 98, p. 577
colourful ملون (mulawwan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 149, p. 889
comfortable مريح (murīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 145, p. 865
Companions and quarrels
chapter topic; Chapter 535, p. 3283

compensation تعويض (ta^{c}wīḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 449, p. 2745
competence كفاءة (kafāʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 107, p. 633
Competence, Certificate, Ownership, To be able to, To be able to
chapter topic; Chapter 107, p. 633
completely تماما (tamāman)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 238, p. 1425
complicated معقد (mu^{c}aqqad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 272, p. 1631
comprehensive شامل (shāmil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 419, p. 2555
conceited, vain مغرور (maghrūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 500, p. 3065
Conditions
chapter topic; Chapter 404, p. 2461
condolence; a gathering of mourners عزاء (^{c}azāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 319, p. 1929
confidence; trust ثقة (thiqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 501, p. 3071
congestion; a traffic jam ازدحام (izdiḥām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 431, p. 2633
congratulations مبروك (mabrūk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 249, p. 1493
consensus إجماع (ijmā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 360, p. 2187
consequently بالتالي (bi-t-tālī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 374, p. 2275
Contrast and addition
chapter topic; Chapter 375, p. 2281
convalescence نقاهة (naqāha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 512, p. 3141
convincing مقنع (muqni^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 359, p. 2181
cooked مطبوخ (maṭbūkh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 177, p. 1057
copper نحاس (nuḥās)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 219, p. 1309
coral مرجان (marjān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 471, p. 2883
correct, true صحيح (ṣaḥīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 85, p. 499 corruption فساد (fasād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 388, p. 2361

Corruption and reform
chapter topic; Chapter 388, p. 2361
cotton قطن (quṭn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 214, p. 1279
Cow, Goat, Sheep, Mouse, Lion
chapter topic; Chapter 79, p. 463
cowardly; a coward جبان (jabān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 500, p. 3065
creative مبدع (mubdiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 501, p. 3071
Criticism and excuses
chapter topic; Chapter 370, p. 2249
Crocodile, Mosquito, Fly, Bee, Butterfly
chapter topic; Chapter 136, p. 811
crowded مزدحم (muzdaḥim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 155, p. 925
Crowds in the street
chapter topic; Chapter 353, p. 2141
crude oil; petroleum نفط (nafṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 465, p. 2845
culture ثقافة (thaqāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 267, p. 1601 cumin كمون (kammūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 121, p. 719
Cupboard, Comb, Soap, Towel, Mattress
chapter topic; Chapter 122, p. 725
Cups, Plates, and More Than One
chapter topic; Chapter 36, p. 201
Currency, Bill, Discount, Customer, Cashier
chapter topic; Chapter 188, p. 1123
Curtain, Lock, Handkerchief, Bracelet, Earring
chapter topic; Chapter 127, p. 755
customs (at a border) جمارك (jamārik)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 426, p. 2601

D

daily, every day يوميا (yawmiyyan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 170, p. 1015
danger خطر (khaṭar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 482, p. 2951
Danger and warnings
chapter topic; Chapter 324, p. 1959

dangerous خطير (khaṭīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 146, p. 871
dark مظلم (muẓlim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 149, p. 889
Dark, Colourful, Elegant, Strange, Enjoyable
chapter topic; Chapter 149, p. 889
darkness ظلام (ẓalām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 134, p. 799 dates تمر (tamr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 129, p. 767
dawn فجر (fajr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 233, p. 1395
Day
chapter topic; Chapter 25, p. 139
"day" — a true pan-Semitic word, cognate with Hebrew yom (as in Yom Kippur) يوم (yawm)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 25, p. 139
Days of the Week
chapter topic; Chapter 8, p. 81
dead ميت (mayyit)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 242, p. 1451
Decision, To choose, To prefer, To ask for, Intention
chapter topic; Chapter 115, p. 683
decorations زينة (zīna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 184, p. 1099
deep عميق (ᶜamīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 148, p. 883
Degrees and training
chapter topic; Chapter 397, p. 2417
delicious لذيذ (ladhīdh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 150, p. 895
Delicious, Low, High, Wide, Narrow
chapter topic; Chapter 150, p. 895
democracy ديمقراطية (dīmuqrāṭiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 379, p. 2305
Denying, and Asking
chapter topic; Chapter 39, p. 223
depth عمق (ᶜumq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 471, p. 2883
Desert and jungle
chapter topic; Chapter 473, p. 2895
Desert, Lake, Lightning, Thunder, Storm
chapter topic; Chapter 133, p. 793

desertification تصحر (taṣaḥḥur)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 466, p. 2851
Design and code
chapter topic; Chapter 525, p. 3221
despair يأس (yaʾs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 493, p. 3021
despite, in spite of رغم (raghma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 175, p. 1045
development تنمية (tanmiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 384, p. 2337
dew ندى (nadā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 485, p. 2969
diabetes سكري (sukkarī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 513, p. 3147
diarrhoea إسهال (ishāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 507, p. 3109
dice نرد (nard)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 539, p. 3309
different مختلف (mukhtalif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 211, p. 1261
difficult صعب (ṣaᶜb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 83, p. 487
dignity كرامة (karāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 382, p. 2325
diligence اجتهاد (ijtihād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 421, p. 2567
dinner عشاء (ᶜashāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 119, p. 707
direct مباشر (mubāshir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 210, p. 1255
Direct, Generous, Mean, Shy, Sociable
chapter topic; Chapter 210, p. 1255
dirty متسخ (mutassikh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 151, p. 901
dirty وسخ (wasikh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 84, p. 493
Discoveries
chapter topic; Chapter 312, p. 1885
discrimination تمييز (tamyīz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 381, p. 2317
displeased, upset مستاء (mustāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 495, p. 3033
diving غوص (ghawṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 537, p. 3297

dizziness دوار (duwār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 232, p. 1389
Dizziness, Ointment, Surgeon, Crutch, Bleeding
chapter topic; Chapter 232, p. 1389
Dog and Cat
chapter topic; Chapter 21, p. 125
dog and cat — kalb is a solid, well-attested Semitic root (cousin of Hebrew's own dog-word), unlike the tangled dog-words of Spanish, Hindi, and English; qitt belongs with the cat-word that travelled across the Mediterranean, the one behind Latin cattus/gato/chat/Katze, though where that word started is not settled كلب, قط (kalb, qiṭṭ)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 21, p. 125
Doing up the house
chapter topic; Chapter 552, p. 3391
Dolphin, Parrot, Ant, Bull, Insect
chapter topic; Chapter 185, p. 1105
Doses and drops
chapter topic; Chapter 511, p. 3133
doubt شك (shakk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 239, p. 1431 drizzle; spray رذاذ (radhādh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 481, p. 2945
drought; dryness جفاف (jafāf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 484, p. 2963
dry جاف (jāff)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 151, p. 901
during أثناء (athnāʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 203, p. 1213
Dust and dunes
chapter topic; Chapter 466, p. 2851
dust, soil تراب (turāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 205, p. 1225
dusty مغبر (mughbarr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 466, p. 2851

E

Eagle, Frog, Cheek, Forehead, Eyebrow
chapter topic; Chapter 138, p. 823
early مبكرا (mubakkiran)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 170, p. 1015

Early, Daily, Delay, Late, Never
chapter topic; Chapter 170, p. 1015
Earthquake, Flood, Ice, Citizen, Inhabitants
chapter topic; Chapter 236, p. 1413
east شرق (sharq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 104, p. 615
easy سهل (sahl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 83, p. 487 education تعليم (ta^{c}līm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 398, p. 2425
effectiveness فعالية (fa^{cc}āliyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 418, p. 2549
eggs بيض (bayḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 68, p. 395
eight ثمانية (thamāniya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 96, p. 565
Elections
chapter topic; Chapter 378, p. 2299
electricity كهرباء (kahrabāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 444, p. 2713
elegant أنيق (anīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 149, p. 889
embroidery تطريز (taṭrīz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 538, p. 3303
empty فارغ (fārigh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 84, p. 493
Empty, Rich, Poor, Clean, Dirty
chapter topic; Chapter 84, p. 493
endangered; threatened مهدد (muhaddad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 467, p. 2857
Energy
chapter topic; Chapter 465, p. 2845
energy; power طاقة (ṭāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 465, p. 2845
enjoyable ممتع (mumti^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 149, p. 889
enthusiasm حماس (ḥamās)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 111, p. 659
Entrance, Exit, Straight ahead, Around, At
chapter topic; Chapter 105, p. 621
envious حسود (ḥasūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 492, p. 3015
Envy and jealousy
chapter topic; Chapter 492, p. 3015

equality مساواة (musāwāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 380, p. 2311
Eraser, Class, Student, Job, Salary
chapter topic; Chapter 143, p. 853
especially خصوصا (khuṣūṣan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 238, p. 1425
esteem, respect احترام (iḥtirām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 534, p. 3277
even if لو حتى (ḥattā law)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 404, p. 2461
even so; however مع ذلك (ma^{c}a dhālika)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 375, p. 2281
even; until حتى (ḥattā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 207, p. 1237
evidence, proof; a guide دليل (dalīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 308, p. 1859
excellent ممتاز (mumtāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 240, p. 1437
Exceptions
chapter topic; Chapter 405, p. 2467
Excited and relieved
chapter topic; Chapter 496, p. 3041
excited, keen متحمس (mutaḥammis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 496, p. 3041
exciting مثير (muthīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 272, p. 1631
exhaustion إرهاق (irhāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 514, p. 3153
expenses مصاريف (maṣārīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 459, p. 2807 expensive, costly مكلف (mukallif)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 177, p. 1057
Expensive, Free, Raw, Cooked, Fried
chapter topic; Chapter 177, p. 1057
experience خبرة (khibra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 109, p. 645
Eye, Ear, Nose, Mouth, Tooth
chapter topic; Chapter 50, p. 287

F

fabric, cloth قماش (qumāsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 214, p. 1279

Face, Blood, Knee, Back, Heart
chapter topic; Chapter 52, p. 299
Facing danger
chapter topic; Chapter 345, p. 2091
Fact and fancy
chapter topic; Chapter 365, p. 2217
failure فشل (fashal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 269, p. 1613
Failure, Step, Harm, Fault, Advantage
chapter topic; Chapter 269, p. 1613
fainting, a faint إغماء (ighmāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 515, p. 3159
fair عادل (ᶜādil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 380, p. 2311
Fairy-tale creatures
chapter topic; Chapter 335, p. 2029
faithful وفي (wafī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 499, p. 3059
fake مزيف (muzayyaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 243, p. 1457
Falling ill
chapter topic; Chapter 507, p. 3109
Family
chapter topic; Chapter 10, p. 89
Family, Grandson, Aunt, Twin, Bridegroom
chapter topic; Chapter 246, p. 1475
famous مشهور (mashhūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 145, p. 865
far بعيد (baᶜīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 88, p. 517
Farewells
chapter topic; Chapter 4, p. 57
Farmers, profits and savings
chapter topic; Chapter 527, p. 3233
fast سريع (sarīᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 83, p. 487
fat سمين (samīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 151, p. 901
father and mother — ancient Semitic roots, cousins of Hebrew's own family words أب أم (ab umm) explicit focus: etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 10, p. 89
fear خوف (khawf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 206, p. 1231

Feeling low
chapter topic; Chapter 494, p. 3027
fees رسوم (rusūm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 252, p. 1511
fertile خصب (khaṣib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 469, p. 2869
fertiliser; manure سماد (samād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 469, p. 2869
Festival, Invitation, Occasion, Decorations, Film
chapter topic; Chapter 184, p. 1099
Fever, Hospital, Ill, Pain, Medicine
chapter topic; Chapter 53, p. 305
Fields of study
chapter topic; Chapter 376, p. 2287
fifty خمسون (khamsūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 97, p. 571
figs تين (tīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 130, p. 775
Figs, Watermelon, Apricots, Soup, Cake
chapter topic; Chapter 130, p. 775
finally, at last أخيرا (akhīran)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 203, p. 1213
Finding the right size
chapter topic; Chapter 456, p. 2789
Finding the way
chapter topic; Chapter 437, p. 2669
fine dust; dust in the air غبار (ghubār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 466, p. 2851
Fines and quarrels
chapter topic; Chapter 352, p. 2135
fire نار (nār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 78, p. 457
Fire, Snow, Wind, Sky, Horse
chapter topic; Chapter 78, p. 457
first, firstly أولا (awwalan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 268, p. 1607
fish سمك (samak)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 65, p. 377
Fishing and unwinding
chapter topic; Chapter 536, p. 3291
fitness لياقة (liyāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 169, p. 1009
Fixing the room
chapter topic; Chapter 447, p. 2733

flat مسطح (musaṭṭaḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 180, p. 1075
Floods and shelter
chapter topic; Chapter 487, p. 2983
flour دقيق (daqīq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 273, p. 1637
fog ضباب (ḍabāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 216, p. 1291
fondness, keen love ولع (wala^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 540, p. 3315
"food" — the chapter's payoff, where a root you have never met hands you the word for restaurant free of charge, because you already own the pattern طعام (ṭa^{c}ām)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 34, p. 183
for example مثلا (mathalan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 268, p. 1607
For the first time
chapter topic; Chapter 349, p. 2117
for the first time الأولى للمرة (li-l-marra al-ūlā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 349, p. 2117
for this reason السبب لهذا (li-hādhā as-sabab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 374, p. 2275
foreign أجنبي (ajnabī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 180, p. 1075
Forest, River, Stone, Sand, Field
chapter topic; Chapter 76, p. 445
Fork, Bottle, Door, Kitchen, Garden
chapter topic; Chapter 72, p. 419
forty أربعون (arba^{c}ūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 97, p. 571
Four Core Colours
chapter topic; Chapter 9, p. 85
Four lines, and the joiner that is not a separate word script and writing topic; explicit focus: writing; Chapter 45, p. 253
fragile هش (hashsh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 212, p. 1267
frank صريح (ṣarīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 417, p. 2543
free (of charge) مجاني (majjānī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 177, p. 1057
freedom حرية (ḥurriyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 208, p. 1243
fresh طازج (ṭāzaj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 153, p. 913

Friday and Saturday — the two days that break the counting pattern السبت الجمعة (al-jumᶜa as-sabt)
Chapter 8, p. 81
fried مقلي (maqlī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 177, p. 1057
“friend” — the chapter’s payoff, where a root meaning truth explains the word, the faᶜīl pattern turns up for the third time, and every family word you own lines up behind it صديق (ṣadīq)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 35, p. 193
friendly ودود (wadūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 502, p. 3077
friendship صداقة (ṣadāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 175, p. 1045
Friendship, Society, Hospitality, Despite, Also
chapter topic; Chapter 175, p. 1045 frightening, scary مخيف (mukhīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 243, p. 1457
from now on فصاعدا الآن من (min al-ān fa-ṣāᶜidan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 157, p. 937
frost صقيع (ṣaqīᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 483, p. 2957
fruit فاكهة (fākiha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 66, p. 383
frustrated محبط (muḥbaṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 494, p. 3027
frustration إحباط (iḥbāṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 494, p. 3027
fuel وقود (waqūd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 432, p. 2639
Fuel and engines
chapter topic; Chapter 432, p. 2639
full مليء (malīʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 154, p. 919
Full, Young, Old, Strong, Weak
chapter topic; Chapter 154, p. 919
Funding and development
chapter topic; Chapter 384, p. 2337
funny مضحك (muḍḥik)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 241, p. 1445
fur فرو (farw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 478, p. 2925
furniture أثاث (athāth)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 213, p. 1273

Future, Period, Beginning, Rarely, Often
chapter topic; Chapter 171, p. 1021

G

Gains and losses
chapter topic; Chapter 408, p. 2487
Games for all ages
chapter topic; Chapter 539, p. 3309
gardening بستنة (bastana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 539, p. 3309
garlic ثوم (thūm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 129, p. 767
gas غاز (ghāz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 465, p. 2845
Gazelle, Fox, Pigeon, Duck, Turtle
chapter topic; Chapter 135, p. 805
generosity كرم (karam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 237, p. 1419
generous كريم (karīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 210, p. 1255
genuine, original أصلي (aṣlī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 240, p. 1437
geography جغرافيا (jughrāfiyā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 190, p. 1135
Germs and jabs
chapter topic; Chapter 509, p. 3121
Getting it done
chapter topic; Chapter 523, p. 3209
Getting ready to go
chapter topic; Chapter 462, p. 2825
Getting well again
chapter topic; Chapter 512, p. 3141
Gifts and blessings
chapter topic; Chapter 336, p. 2035
given that إن حيث (ḥaythu inna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 374, p. 2275
glass (the material) زجاج (zujāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 219, p. 1309
glasses نظارة (naẓẓāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 128, p. 761
Glasses, Pepper, Wheat, Lentils, Chickpeas
chapter topic; Chapter 128, p. 761

global warming احتباس حراري (iḥtibās ḥarārī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 463, p. 2833
gloom, low spirits كآبة (kaʾāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 494, p. 3027
Glove, Scarf, Lunch, Dinner, Vinegar
chapter topic; Chapter 119, p. 707
glue غراء (ghirāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 279, p. 1673
Goal, Plan, Need, To need, To wish
chapter topic; Chapter 114, p. 677
Going and Coming
chapter topic; Chapter 28, p. 147
Going up and down
chapter topic; Chapter 412, p. 2511
golden ذهبي (dhahabī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 179, p. 1069
good جيد (jayyid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 82, p. 481
good evening (masāʾ al-khayr — "evening of goodness") مساء الخير (masāʾ al-khayr) explicit focus: script, etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 1, p. 1 good health, wellbeing عافية (ᶜāfiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 512, p. 3141
good morning (ṣabāḥ al-khayr — "morning of goodness") صباح الخير (ṣabāḥ al-khayr) explicit focus: script, etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 1, p. 1
Good Night
chapter topic; Chapter 27, p. 143
"good night" — but honestly, it doesn't wish you a good NIGHT at all; it wishes you a good morning, reusing both roots from ṣabāḥ al-khayr and masāʾ al-khayr خير على تصبح (tuṣbiḥ ᶜalā khayr)
explicit focus: etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 27, p. 143
Good service
chapter topic; Chapter 446, p. 2725
goodbye — literally 'with safety', closing the greeting arc on the root that opened it مع السلامة (maᶜa s-salāma)
Chapter 4, p. 57
goods, merchandise بضاعة (biḍāᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 220, p. 1315
Government
chapter topic; Chapter 377, p. 2293
gradually, step by step تدريجيا (tadrījiyyan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 313, p. 1891

Grandmother, Uncle, Uncle, Husband, Wife
chapter topic; Chapter 55, p. 317
grapes عنب (ᶜinab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 67, p. 389
Grasping ideas
chapter topic; Chapter 367, p. 2231
grass عشب (ᶜushb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 131, p. 781
Grass, Seed, Root, Branch, Island
chapter topic; Chapter 131, p. 781
grateful ممتن (mumtann)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 491, p. 3009
gratitude امتنان (imtinān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 491, p. 3009
Green and Yellow
chapter topic; Chapter 22, p. 127
green and yellow — akhdar's root also gives "vegetables" (echoing English's own "greens"), and asfar shares its root with sifr, "zero" — the very word behind English "zero" and "cipher" أخضر, أصفر (akhḍar, aṣfar)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 22, p. 127
Greetings
chapter topic; Chapter 1, p. 1
grey رمادي (ramādī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 179, p. 1069
Grey, Golden, Thick, Humid, Rainy
chapter topic; Chapter 179, p. 1069
grilled مشوي (mashwī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 209, p. 1249
Grilled, Boiled, Burnt, Healthy, Broken
chapter topic; Chapter 209, p. 1249
Growing up and growing old
chapter topic; Chapter 531, p. 3259
Growing up and growing older
chapter topic; Chapter 323, p. 1953
Guarantees and swaps
chapter topic; Chapter 458, p. 2801

H

Habits good and bad
chapter topic; Chapter 517, p. 3171

hair شعر (shaᶜr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 51, p. 293
Hair, Foot, Finger, Shoulder, Neck
chapter topic; Chapter 51, p. 293
Hammer, Topic, Scales, Piece, Weight
chapter topic; Chapter 218, p. 1303
happiness سعادة (saᶜāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 488, p. 2991
happy سعيد (saᶜīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 54, p. 311
Happy, bored, angry and sad
chapter topic; Chapter 488, p. 2991
hard, solid صلب (ṣulb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 152, p. 907 hard-working مجتهد (mujtahid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 178, p. 1063
harm, damage ضرر (ḍarar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 269, p. 1613
"he asked" — one root that builds a question, a problem, an asker and the word for being answerable, plus the Hebrew twin hiding inside the name Saul سأل (saʾala)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 31, p. 159
"he ate" — no new letters, no English cousin, and a Hebrew twin close enough to hear; the sixth verb, closing the set أكل (akala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 30, p. 155
"he came" — the partner of dhahaba, and the first root whose middle letter is weak enough to vanish, showing that even Arabic's irregularities are patterned جاء (jāʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 28, p. 147
"he helped" — a root that means good fortune, stretched by one long vowel into a verb aimed at somebody else, and the family name behind the word Saudi ساعد (sāᶜada)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 32, p. 167
"he knew, he recognised" — one of Arabic's two words for knowing, whose root reached Spain and named a palace in Granada عرف (ᶜarafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 30, p. 155
"he loved" — the chapter's payoff, closing the ladder of four verb shapes, and the root behind the ḥabībī of every second Arabic song أحبّ (ʾaḥabba)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 32, p. 167

“he read, he recited” — hamza’s three seats sorted out at last, and the one root in this chapter that really did give English a word قرأ (qaraʾa)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 31, p. 159
“he said” — the letter qāf finally named, and one root that yields a saying, an article, a speaker and a spoken thing قال (qāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 29, p. 151
“he saw” — the dotless alif maqṣūra named at last, and a root whose seeing turns into opinion and into the word for a mirror رأى (raʾā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 29, p. 151
“he thought” — the first verb that is not a bare root at all, but a root rebuilt by doubling its middle letter, and the mu- doer that comes with the rebuild فكّر (fakkara)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 32, p. 167
“he took” — the last plain-shaped verb in the book, kept as the control against the three rebuilt verbs that follow, with a Hebrew twin reached by two regular consonant swaps أخذ (ʾakhadha)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 32, p. 167
“he understood” — the first verb whose middle vowel is not an a, marking it a state rather than a deed, and the done-to shape that turns it into the word for a concept فهم (fahima)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 31, p. 159
“he went” — the track’s first verb, and the clearest possible view of the root-and-pattern engine, since the same three consonants also give “gold” and “a school of law” ذهب (dhahaba)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 28, p. 147
“he wrote” — the chapter’s payoff, where one root and the patterns you already own hand you a book, a writer, an office and a library with nothing new to memorise كتب (kataba)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 31, p. 159
Head and Hand
chapter topic; Chapter 11, p. 95
headphones, a speaker سماعة (sammāᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 217, p. 1297
headquarters, a base مقر (maqarr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 524, p. 3215
health صحة (ṣiḥḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 200, p. 1195
healthy صحي (ṣiḥḥī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 209, p. 1249
Heat
chapter topic; Chapter 484, p. 2963

heavy ثقيل (thaqīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 85, p. 499
hello / welcome — there is room for you marḥaban
explicit focus: pronunciation, etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1
Herds and pastures
chapter topic; Chapter 478, p. 2925
here هنا (hunā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 90, p. 529
Here, There, Right, Shop, Street
chapter topic; Chapter 90, p. 529
heritage تراث (turāth)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 342, p. 2073
Heritage and inventions
chapter topic; Chapter 342, p. 2073
hesitant متردد (mutaraddid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 497, p. 3047
high مرتفع (murtafi^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 150, p. 895
Hobbies indoors and out
chapter topic; Chapter 537, p. 3297
Hobby, Chess, Novel, Painting, Machine
chapter topic; Chapter 186, p. 1111
Holding a celebration
chapter topic; Chapter 328, p. 1985
homework; a duty واجب (wājib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 221, p. 1321
Honest and loyal
chapter topic; Chapter 499, p. 3059
honest, trustworthy أمين (amīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 499, p. 3059
honey عسل (^{c}asal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 67, p. 389
hope أمل (amal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 113, p. 671
Hose, Wood, Glass, Copper, Silk
chapter topic; Chapter 219, p. 1309
hospitality ضيافة (ḍiyāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 175, p. 1045
hot ساخن (sākhin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 155, p. 925
hour / o'clock — and the same word Arabic uses for "clock" and "a while" الساعة (as-sā^{c}a) explicit focus: grammar, usage and culture; Chapter 16, p. 109

Hours and tasks
chapter topic; Chapter 520, p. 3191
how كيف (kayfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 3, p. 41
How Are You?
chapter topic; Chapter 3, p. 41
how are you? — literally 'how [is] your state?', gendered -ka / -ki كيف حالك؟ (kayfa ḥāluka / kayfa ḥāluki)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 3, p. 41
how do I get to — kayfa aṣilu ilā, after min faḍlik, to ask a stranger the way كيف أصل إلى (kayfa aṣilu ilā)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 287, p. 1729
How It Felt, What I Hope
chapter topic; Chapter 289, p. 1743
how old are you? — literally "how much [is] your lifetime?"; age as a NOUN you possess, not a verb you conjugate كم عمرك؟ (kam ᶜumruka)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 17, p. 113
How sure
chapter topic; Chapter 402, p. 2449
humid رطب (raṭb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 179, p. 1069
humidity; moisture رطوبة (ruṭūba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 484, p. 2963
hunger جوع (jūᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 54, p. 311
Hunger, Happy, Sad, Doctor, Grandfather
chapter topic; Chapter 54, p. 311
hunting; fishing صيد (ṣayd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 536, p. 3291

I

I do not understand — the one hole in an otherwise strong repair kit, one present-tense form away since chapter thirty-one لا أفهم (lā afham)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 37, p. 211 ice جليد (jalīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 236, p. 1413
ice cream مثلجات (muthallajāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 182, p. 1087
Identity card, Visa, Luggage, Charger, Taxi
chapter topic; Chapter 215, p. 1285

if إذا (idhā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 207, p. 1237
If and unless
chapter topic; Chapter 399, p. 2431
If It Rains
chapter topic; Chapter 291, p. 1755
if not for لولا (lawlā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 400, p. 2437
ill, sick مريض (marīḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 53, p. 305
imagination خيال (khayāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 365, p. 2217
immediately فورا (fawran)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 202, p. 1207 importance أهمية (ahammiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 368, p. 2237
important مهم (muhimm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 85, p. 499 impossible مستحيل (mustaḥīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 403, p. 2455
in a hurry مستعجل (musta^{c}jil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 178, p. 1063
in addition to إلى بالإضافة (bi-l-iḍāfa ilā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 416, p. 2537
in case في حال (fī ḥāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 399, p. 2431
in cash نقدا (naqdan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 453, p. 2769
In court
chapter topic; Chapter 305, p. 1841
in front of أمام (amāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 89, p. 523
in general عموما (^{c}umūman)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 403, p. 2455
In-laws and break-ups
chapter topic; Chapter 529, p. 3247
in order to لكي (li-kay)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 374, p. 2275
In the fairy tale
chapter topic; Chapter 344, p. 2085
In the harbour
chapter topic; Chapter 430, p. 2625
In the pool and the ring
chapter topic; Chapter 548, p. 3365

independence استقلال (istiqlāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 329, p. 1991
independent مستقل (mustaqill)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 418, p. 2549
industry صناعة (ṣināᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 384, p. 2337
inevitably حتما (ḥatman)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 402, p. 2449
inflation تضخم (taḍakhkhum)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 383, p. 2331
influence نفوذ (nufūdh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 389, p. 2367
information معلومات (maᶜlūmāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 281, p. 1685
inhabitants, population سكان (sukkān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 236, p. 1413
Injection, Operation, Bruise, Burn, Stomach cramp
chapter topic; Chapter 201, p. 1201
injured مصاب (muṣāb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 180, p. 1075
Injured, Rural, Traditional, Foreign, Flat
chapter topic; Chapter 180, p. 1075
ink حبر (ḥibr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 274, p. 1643
innocence براءة (barāʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 334, p. 2023
inside داخل (dākhil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 88, p. 517
Inside the body
chapter topic; Chapter 504, p. 3091
insomnia أرق (araq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 514, p. 3153
Instead and besides
chapter topic; Chapter 416, p. 2537
instead of من بدلا (badalan min)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 416, p. 2537
Instruments
chapter topic; Chapter 544, p. 3341
insurance تأمين (taʾmīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 416, p. 2537 intelligence ذكاء (dhakāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 421, p. 2567
interest اهتمام (ihtimām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 113, p. 671

Interest, To hate, Desire, Dream, Hope
chapter topic; Chapter 113, p. 671
international دولي (duwalī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 270, p. 1619
Internet, Website, App, Device, TV series
chapter topic; Chapter 248, p. 1487
Introducing Yourself
chapter topic; Chapter 2, p. 21
Invasions
chapter topic; Chapter 339, p. 2053
irritable, edgy عصبي (ᶜaṣabī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 503, p. 3083
is not — the denial of the nominal sentence, which is the one thing this book teaches productively and could not deny ليس (laysa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 39, p. 223
Issues and questions
chapter topic; Chapter 361, p. 2193
it is possible يمكن (yumkin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 108, p. 639
It is possible, With, Strength, Right, Owner
chapter topic; Chapter 108, p. 639
it may be that; perhaps لعل (laᶜalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 421, p. 2567

J

jam مربى (murabbā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 120, p. 713
Jam, Pomegranate, Strawberries, Lettuce, Aubergine
chapter topic; Chapter 120, p. 713
jasmine ياسمين (yāsamīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 247, p. 1481
jealous غيور (ghayūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 492, p. 3015
jealousy غيرة (ghīra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 492, p. 3015
journalism; the press صحافة (ṣaḥāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 296, p. 1785
joy, delight بهجة (bahja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 206, p. 1231
Jug, Frying pan, Oven, Fan, Computer
chapter topic; Chapter 116, p. 689

juice عصير (ᶜaṣīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 69, p. 401
Juice, Chicken, House, Room, Window
chapter topic; Chapter 69, p. 401
justice عدالة (ᶜadāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 380, p. 2311
Justice and fairness
chapter topic; Chapter 380, p. 2311

K

Keeping the house
chapter topic; Chapter 550, p. 3377
Kettle, Tray, Strainer, Ladle, Barrel
chapter topic; Chapter 278, p. 1667
kind, pleasant لطيف (laṭīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 147, p. 877
kinship قرابة (qarāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 532, p. 3265
Knights and treaties
chapter topic; Chapter 341, p. 2067
knitting, weaving حياكة (ḥiyāka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 538, p. 3303
Knowing and Eating
chapter topic; Chapter 30, p. 155
knowledge معرفة (maᶜrifa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 367, p. 2231

L

Landmarks
chapter topic; Chapter 439, p. 2683
last, past الماضي (al-māḍī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 156, p. 931
late متأخرا (mutaʾakhkhiran)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 170, p. 1015
late morning, forenoon ضحى (ḍuḥā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 234, p. 1401
later لاحقا (lāḥiqan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 202, p. 1207
later on, afterwards بعد فيما (fīmā baᶜd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 299, p. 1803

laundry, washing غسيل (ghasīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 213, p. 1273
Laws
chapter topic; Chapter 409, p. 2493
lazy كسول (kasūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 153, p. 913
Lazy, Brave, Thirsty, Fresh, Ripe
chapter topic; Chapter 153, p. 913
Learning well
chapter topic; Chapter 394, p. 2399
Leaving a mark
chapter topic; Chapter 415, p. 2531
Leaving home
chapter topic; Chapter 332, p. 2009
Lecturers and supervisors
chapter topic; Chapter 392, p. 2387
left يسار (yasār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 103, p. 609
Legends and heroes
chapter topic; Chapter 303, p. 1829
legislation تشريع (tashrīᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 409, p. 2493
lemons ليمون (laymūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 68, p. 395
lentils عدس (ᶜadas)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 128, p. 761
less أقل (aqall)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 176, p. 1051
Letters From Food, Noon and Going
chapter topic; Chapter 49, p. 279
Letters From Goodbyes and Pardons
chapter topic; Chapter 47, p. 263
Letters From Please, Sorry and Tomorrow
chapter topic; Chapter 48, p. 271
Letters From Your First Greetings
chapter topic; Chapter 46, p. 257
lettuce خس (khass)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 120, p. 713
Licences and rules
chapter topic; Chapter 434, p. 2651
Lift, Corridor, Public square, Airport, Port
chapter topic; Chapter 100, p. 591
light ضوء (ḍawᵓ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 134, p. 799

Light, Heavy, Correct, Mistake, Important
chapter topic; Chapter 85, p. 499 light (in weight) خفيف (khafīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 85, p. 499
Light, Shade, Darkness, Cloud, Rabbit
chapter topic; Chapter 134, p. 799 lightning برق (barq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 133, p. 793
Like, Completely, Of course, Almost, Especially
chapter topic; Chapter 238, p. 1425
like, such as مثل (mithl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 238, p. 1425
Likely or not
chapter topic; Chapter 401, p. 2443
likewise كذلك (kadhālika)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 375, p. 2281
linguistics لغويات (lughawiyyāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 376, p. 2287
Linking reasons
chapter topic; Chapter 374, p. 2275
literacy محو الأمية (maḥw al-ummiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 398, p. 2425
literature أدب (adab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 222, p. 1327
Living room, Bakery, Café, Direction, Opposite
chapter topic; Chapter 172, p. 1027
local محلي (maḥallī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 270, p. 1619
logic منطق (manṭiq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 362, p. 2199
Logic and the mind
chapter topic; Chapter 362, p. 2199
lonely; only وحيد (waḥīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 271, p. 1625
Long ago
chapter topic; Chapter 304, p. 1835
long ago; for a long time طويل زمن منذ (mundhu zaman ṭawīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 304, p. 1835
Long illnesses
chapter topic; Chapter 513, p. 3147
long, tall طويل (ṭawīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 82, p. 481
longing شوق (shawq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 112, p. 665

Longing, Ambition, Purpose, Project, Suggestion
chapter topic; Chapter 112, p. 665
Looking after loved ones
chapter topic; Chapter 533, p. 3271
love حب (ḥubb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 98, p. 577
low منخفض (munkhafiḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 150, p. 895
loyal, devoted مخلص (mukhliṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 499, p. 3059
luck حظ (ḥaẓẓ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 239, p. 1431
Luck, Agreement, Discussion, Memory, Doubt
chapter topic; Chapter 239, p. 1431
luggage أمتعة (amtiᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 215, p. 1285
lukewarm فاتر (fātir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 243, p. 1457
Lukewarm, Annoying, Frightening, Second-hand, Fake
chapter topic; Chapter 243, p. 1457
lunch غداء (ghadāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 119, p. 707
luxurious فخم (fakhm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 145, p. 865
Lying down and getting up
chapter topic; Chapter 515, p. 3159

M

Making a complaint
chapter topic; Chapter 449, p. 2745
Making music
chapter topic; Chapter 543, p. 3333
Making others feel, and blame
chapter topic; Chapter 498, p. 3053
marble رخام (rukhām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 250, p. 1499
Mark, Lecture, School subject, Fees, Post
chapter topic; Chapter 252, p. 1511
marriage زواج (zawāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 528, p. 3241
mastery إتقان (itqān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 106, p. 627

Match day
chapter topic; Chapter 546, p. 3353
mathematics رياضيات (riyāḍiyyāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 190, p. 1135
mean, stingy بخيل (bakhīl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 210, p. 1255
Meaning, Example, Freedom, Rule, Way
chapter topic; Chapter 208, p. 1243
Meanwhile
chapter topic; Chapter 299, p. 1803
meanwhile, in the meantime الأثناء هذه في (fī hādhihi al-athnāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 299, p. 1803
"meat" — one Semitic root that Arabic settled on meat and Hebrew settled on bread, with Bethlehem sitting on the seam between them لحم (laḥm)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 34, p. 183
medicine دواء (dawāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 53, p. 305
middle age كهولة (kuhūla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 323, p. 1953
migration هجرة (hijra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 387, p. 2355
mild; moderate معتدل (muᶜtadil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 480, p. 2939
"milk" — the opposite case to shāy: a home-grown noun sitting straight on the verb for milking, and a Hebrew twin that is the same word حليب (ḥalīb)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 33, p. 175
mint نعناع (naᶜnāᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 121, p. 719
Mirror, Lamp, Key, Plate, Knife
chapter topic; Chapter 71, p. 413
modest, humble متواضع (mutawāḍiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 241, p. 1445
money مال (māl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 74, p. 431
Months
chapter topic; Chapter 14, p. 103
Mood, Exercise, Fitness, Injury, Pill
chapter topic; Chapter 169, p. 1009
morals, manners أخلاق (akhlāq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 237, p. 1419
more أكثر (akthar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 176, p. 1051

moreover; on top of على علاوة (ᶜilāwatan ᶜalā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 375, p. 2281
moss; algae طحلب (ṭuḥlub)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 476, p. 2913
most probably على الأرجح (ᶜalā al-arjaḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 403, p. 2455
Mourning
chapter topic; Chapter 319, p. 1929
mourning, a period of mourning حداد (ḥidād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 319, p. 1929
mud, clay طين (ṭīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 205, p. 1225
Museum, Stadium, Pavement, Crossroads, Embassy
chapter topic; Chapter 235, p. 1407
music موسيقى (mūsīqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 99, p. 583
Music, News, Country, Language, Story
chapter topic; Chapter 99, p. 583
Must, Should, Will, Because
chapter topic; Chapter 286, p. 1721
my name is... (with no "is") اسمي ... (ismī ...)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
My own line — the first writing with no model
script and writing topic; explicit focus: writing; Chapter 43, p. 249
my (possessive suffix -ī) ي (-ī)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21

N

name اسم (ism)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
narrow ضيق (ḍayyiq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 150, p. 895
nationality جنسية (jinsiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 387, p. 2355
nature طبيعة (ṭabīᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 205, p. 1225
Nature, Dust, Mud, Borders, Planet
chapter topic; Chapter 205, p. 1225
nausea غثيان (ghathayān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 507, p. 3109
near قريب (qarīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 88, p. 517

necessarily بالضرورة (bi-ḍ-ḍarūra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 402, p. 2449
necessary ضروري (ḍarūrī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 155, p. 925
Necessary, Ugly, Precious, Hot, Crowded
chapter topic; Chapter 155, p. 925
Necklace, Size, Telephone, Mobile phone, Screen
chapter topic; Chapter 245, p. 1469
Needle and thread
chapter topic; Chapter 538, p. 3303
negative سلبي (salbī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 419, p. 2555
"neighbour" — the person you introduce most often, built on a hollow root whose middle letter hides exactly as qāla's does جار (jār)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 35, p. 193
Neighbourhood, Alley, Building, Bathroom, Balcony
chapter topic; Chapter 101, p. 597
Nerves before a big day
chapter topic; Chapter 497, p. 3047
never, ever أبدا (abadan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 170, p. 1015
new جديد (jadīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 82, p. 481
New, Old, Good, Long, Short
chapter topic; Chapter 82, p. 481
news أخبار (akhbār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 99, p. 583
next, coming القادم (al-qādim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 157, p. 937
Next, From Now On, a Programme, To Decide, To Intend
chapter topic; Chapter 157, p. 937
Night
chapter topic; Chapter 26, p. 141
"night" — the word already hiding inside muntaṣaf al-layl ('midnight'), and yawm's pan-Semitic partner, cognate with Hebrew layla ليل (layl)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 26, p. 141
nine تسعة (tis^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 96, p. 565
no (lā) لا (lā)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 5, p. 73
noise; a din ضجيج (ḍajīj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 448, p. 2739

noisy صاخب (ṣākhib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 242, p. 1451
Noisy, Dead, Wild, Tame, Poisonous
chapter topic; Chapter 242, p. 1451
noon (also the name of the midday Islamic prayer) and midnight ("the half of the night") الليل منتصف الظهر (aẓ-ẓuhr muntaṣaf al-layl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 15, p. 107
Noon and Midnight
chapter topic; Chapter 15, p. 107
north شمال (shamāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 103, p. 609
nostalgia, longing حنين (ḥanīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 494, p. 3027
nosy, curious فضولي (fuḍūlī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 502, p. 3077
not at all إطلاقا (iṭlāqan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 402, p. 2449
now الآن (al-ān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 87, p. 511
Number, Phone call, Information, Presenter, Actor
chapter topic; Chapter 281, p. 1685
Numbers Eleven to Twenty
chapter topic; Chapter 20, p. 121
Numbers One to Five
chapter topic; Chapter 19, p. 119

O

Obeying and forgiving
chapter topic; Chapter 534, p. 3277
objective موضوعي (mawḍū^{c}ī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 422, p. 2575
Obstacles
chapter topic; Chapter 372, p. 2261
of course طبعا (ṭab^{c}an)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 238, p. 1425
Offices and enquiries
chapter topic; Chapter 451, p. 2757
official رسمي (rasmī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 178, p. 1063
Official, Private, In a hurry, Clear, Hard-working
chapter topic; Chapter 178, p. 1063

often, a lot كثيرا (kathīran)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 171, p. 1021
"oil" — one new letter that is only rā wearing a dot, and a second Spanish word carrying Arabic's article welded to its front زيت (zayt)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 36, p. 201
old قديم (qadīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 82, p. 481
old age شيخوخة (shaykhūkha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 531, p. 3259 old (of a person) عجوز (ᶜajūz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 154, p. 919
Old weapons
chapter topic; Chapter 326, p. 1973
on air, live على الهواء (ᶜalā al-hawāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 297, p. 1791
On board
chapter topic; Chapter 425, p. 2595
On stage
chapter topic; Chapter 542, p. 3327
On the radio
chapter topic; Chapter 297, p. 1791
On the railway
chapter topic; Chapter 428, p. 2613
on the spot, at once على الفور (ᶜalā al-fawr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 313, p. 1891
once, one time ذات مرة (dhāta marra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 156, p. 931
one day, once upon a time ذات يوم (dhāta yawm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 295, p. 1779
one through five — the Arabic WORDS for numbers, genuinely different from "Arabic numerals" (the written digit shapes 0-9), which actually trace back to India واحد اثنان ثلاثة أربعة خمسة (wāḥid ithnān thalātha arbaᶜa khamsa)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 19, p. 119
onions بصل (baṣal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 68, p. 395
only فقط (faqaṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 207, p. 1237
Only, Very, Even, If, As
chapter topic; Chapter 207, p. 1237
open مفتوح (maftūḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 146, p. 871

opposite مقابل (muqābil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 172, p. 1027 or — two letters, and the word an offer cannot be made without أو (aw)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 38, p. 215
orange (colour) برتقالي (burtuqālī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 271, p. 1625
oranges برتقال (burtuqāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 68, p. 395
Oranges, Lemons, Eggs, Onions, Breakfast
chapter topic; Chapter 68, p. 395
Orchard, Tent, Car park, Continent, Volcano
chapter topic; Chapter 173, p. 1033
ordinary, normal عادي (ᶜādī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 211, p. 1261
Organizations
chapter topic; Chapter 385, p. 2343
organized, tidy منظم (munaẓẓam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 503, p. 3083
otherwise وإلا (wa-illā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 399, p. 2431
out of order معطل (muᶜaṭṭal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 240, p. 1437
Out of order, Ready, Genuine, Suitable, Excellent
chapter topic; Chapter 240, p. 1437
Outcomes
chapter topic; Chapter 414, p. 2525
outside خارج (khārij)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 89, p. 523
Outside, Above, Below, In front of, Behind
chapter topic; Chapter 89, p. 523
ownership ملكية (milkiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 107, p. 633
oysters; shellfish محار (maḥār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 477, p. 2919

P

pain ألم (alam)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 53, p. 305
Palm, Fingernail, Brain, Heel, Lip
chapter topic; Chapter 140, p. 835

panic, alarm ذعر (dhu^{c}r)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 489, p. 2997
Panic, terror and calm
chapter topic; Chapter 489, p. 2997
parsley بقدونس (baqdūnis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 121, p. 719
Parties and campaigns
chapter topic; Chapter 379, p. 2305
passion شغف (shaghaf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 540, p. 3315
pasta معكرونة (ma^{c}karūna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 273, p. 1637
patience صبر (ṣabr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 237, p. 1419
Patience, Generosity, Feeling, Morals, Personality
chapter topic; Chapter 237, p. 1419
patient صبور (ṣabūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 241, p. 1445
Pay and rewards
chapter topic; Chapter 521, p. 3197
Paying up
chapter topic; Chapter 453, p. 2769
peace be upon you as-salāmu ^{c}alaykum
explicit focus: pronunciation, etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1
peace / hello سلام (salām) explicit focus: pronunciation, writing, etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1 peaches خوخ (khawkh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 244, p. 1463
pears كمثرى (kummathrā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 244, p. 1463
people ناس (nās)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 275, p. 1649
People and nations
chapter topic; Chapter 387, p. 2355
pepper فلفل (filfil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 128, p. 761
perhaps, maybe ربما (rubbamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 206, p. 1231
Perhaps, Problem, Solution, Joy, Fear
chapter topic; Chapter 206, p. 1231
personality, a character شخصية (shakhṣiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 237, p. 1419
petrol بنزين (banzīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 432, p. 2639

philosophy فلسفة (falsafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 376, p. 2287
photography تصوير (taṣwīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 537, p. 3297
physics فيزياء (fīziyāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 222, p. 1327
pine trees; a pine صنوبر (ṣanawbar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 442, p. 2701
pineapple أناناس (anānās)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 244, p. 1463
pink وردي (wardī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 271, p. 1625
pity شفقة (shafaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 493, p. 3021
Planning a trip
chapter topic; Chapter 427, p. 2607
plant life; a plant نبات (nabāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 468, p. 2863
Plants
chapter topic; Chapter 468, p. 2863
Please
chapter topic; Chapter 6, p. 77
please (min faḍlik — literally "from your grace") فضلك من (min faḍlik)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 6, p. 77
pleased مسرور (masrūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 148, p. 883
Pleased, Spacious, Deep, Round, Sharp
chapter topic; Chapter 148, p. 883 pleased to meet you (literally "we have been honoured") تشرفنا (tasharrafnā)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
Plumber, Grocer, Fisherman, Workshop, Signature
chapter topic; Chapter 191, p. 1141
Pocket, Ring, Hat, Shoe, Coat
chapter topic; Chapter 95, p. 559
Poem, Conversation, Secret, Promise, Fog
chapter topic; Chapter 216, p. 1291
Poets and directors
chapter topic; Chapter 545, p. 3347
Points of view
chapter topic; Chapter 359, p. 2181
poisonous سام (sāmm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 242, p. 1451

Police, Market, Village, City, Restaurant
chapter topic; Chapter 93, p. 547
polite مهذب (muhadhdhab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 241, p. 1445
Polite, Patient, Modest, Funny, Serious
chapter topic; Chapter 241, p. 1445
polluted ملوث (mulawwath)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 464, p. 2839
Pollution
chapter topic; Chapter 464, p. 2839
pollution تلوث (talawwuth)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 464, p. 2839
poor فقير (faqīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 84, p. 493
positive إيجابي (ījābī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 419, p. 2555
Positive and negative
chapter topic; Chapter 419, p. 2555
Possibility, Authority, Success, Mastery, Ability
chapter topic; Chapter 106, p. 627
post, mail بريد (barīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 252, p. 1511
Postage stamp, Parcel, Cheque, Form, Document
chapter topic; Chapter 183, p. 1093
potatoes بطاطس (baṭāṭis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 66, p. 383
pottery فخار (fakhkhār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 537, p. 3297
poverty فقر (faqr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 381, p. 2317
Power and influence
chapter topic; Chapter 389, p. 2367
Power and light
chapter topic; Chapter 444, p. 2713
praise be to God — the everyday answer to 'how are you?' الحمد لله (al-ḥamdu lillāh)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 3, p. 41
prayer صلاة (ṣalāh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 267, p. 1601 precious ثمين (thamīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 155, p. 925
pregnant حامل (ḥāmil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 530, p. 3253

Present, Ticket, Passport, Wallet, Umbrella
chapter topic; Chapter 118, p. 701
Previously, Finally, During, Century, Weekly
chapter topic; Chapter 203, p. 1213
previously, formerly سابقا (sābiqan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 203, p. 1213
Pride and thanks
chapter topic; Chapter 491, p. 3009
Princes and palaces
chapter topic; Chapter 309, p. 1867
Printer, Ink, Blackboard, Dictionary, File
chapter topic; Chapter 274, p. 1643
Prison
chapter topic; Chapter 330, p. 1997
private, special خاص (khāṣṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 178, p. 1063
probable محتمل (muḥtamal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 401, p. 2443
production إنتاج (intāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 523, p. 3209
Protecting nature
chapter topic; Chapter 467, p. 2857
Protest
chapter topic; Chapter 382, p. 2325
proud فخور (fakhūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 491, p. 3009 provided that بشرط أن (bi-sharṭi an) explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 399, p. 2431
Publishing
chapter topic; Chapter 350, p. 2123
purchases; the shopping مشتريات (mushtarayāt) explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 459, p. 2807
pure; clean نقي (naqī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 477, p. 2919
purple بنفسجي (banafsajī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 271, p. 1625

Q

quality جودة (jawda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 249, p. 1493
Quantity, Quality, Celebration, Congratulations, Cooking pot
chapter topic; Chapter 249, p. 1493

R

Rain
chapter topic; Chapter 481, p. 2945
rainy ممطر (mumṭir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 179, p. 1069
Ramadan رمضان (ramaḍān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 264, p. 1583
rare نادر (nādir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 211, p. 1261
rarely نادرا (nādiran)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 171, p. 1021
raw نيء (nayʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 177, p. 1057
reading قراءة (qirāʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 540, p. 3315
Reading and quoting
chapter topic; Chapter 395, p. 2405
Reading, clubs and passions
chapter topic; Chapter 540, p. 3315
Reading — Words, Lines, and a First Encounter
chapter topic; Chapter 42, p. 245
ready جاهز (jāhiz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 240, p. 1437
reality واقع (wāqiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 365, p. 2217
Reason, Result, Therefore, So, So that
chapter topic; Chapter 174, p. 1039
reasonable معقول (maᶜqūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 272, p. 1631
recently حديثا (ḥadīthan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 156, p. 931
Recently, Already, Last, Once, To Spend (Time)
chapter topic; Chapter 156, p. 931
reception; a welcome استقبال (istiqbāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 441, p. 2695
recovery, a cure شفاء (shifāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 512, p. 3141
Rectangle, Coat hanger, Sponge, Tape, Glue
chapter topic; Chapter 279, p. 1673
red and blue — the same gendered color template as black and white أحمر أزرق (aḥmar azraq)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 9, p. 85

reform إصلاح (iṣlāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 388, p. 2361 refreshing منعش (mun^{c}ish)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 486, p. 2975
Regret and pity
chapter topic; Chapter 493, p. 3021
regretful نادم (nādim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 493, p. 3021
relatively نسبيا (nisbiyyan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 402, p. 2449
relief ارتياح (irtiyāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 496, p. 3041
religion دين (dīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 267, p. 1601 remains of a dwelling, ruins أطلال (aṭlāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 318, p. 1923
Remembering the dead
chapter topic; Chapter 338, p. 2047
rent إيجار (ījār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 158, p. 943
Report, Meeting, Contract, Exam, Homework
chapter topic; Chapter 221, p. 1321
Reporters and statements
chapter topic; Chapter 293, p. 1767
Research
chapter topic; Chapter 391, p. 2381
reserved متحفظ (mutaḥaffiẓ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 502, p. 3077
Responding
chapter topic; Chapter 420, p. 2561
retired; a pensioner متقاعد (mutaqā^{c}id)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 522, p. 3203
Revolts and independence
chapter topic; Chapter 329, p. 1991
rice أرز (aruzz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 66, p. 383
Rice, Fruit, Apple, Bananas, Potatoes
chapter topic; Chapter 66, p. 383
rich غني (ghanī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 84, p. 493
right after, following عقب (^{c}aqiba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 349, p. 2117
Right away
chapter topic; Chapter 313, p. 1891

right (side) يمين (yamīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 90, p. 529
ripe ناضج (nāḍij)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 153, p. 913
Rising empires
chapter topic; Chapter 331, p. 2003
Road, Bank, Station, Car, Bus
chapter topic; Chapter 91, p. 535
Robbers and gangs
chapter topic; Chapter 321, p. 1941
Rocks and peaks
chapter topic; Chapter 472, p. 2889
Roof, Stairs, Ceiling, Behind, Between
chapter topic; Chapter 102, p. 603
roses ورد (ward)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 247, p. 1481
rough خشن (khashin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 212, p. 1267
Rough, Sticky, Fragile, Transparent, Shiny
chapter topic; Chapter 212, p. 1267
round مستدير (mustadīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 148, p. 883
Routes and fares
chapter topic; Chapter 435, p. 2657
rubber مطاط (maṭṭāṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 250, p. 1499 rubbish قمامة (qumāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 125, p. 743
rubble, a heap ركام (rukām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 316, p. 1909
ruins, debris أنقاض (anqāḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 316, p. 1909
Rulers and tribes
chapter topic; Chapter 340, p. 2059
Rules and wrongs
chapter topic; Chapter 411, p. 2505
rural, country ريفي (rīfī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 180, p. 1075

S

sad حزين (ḥazīn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 54, p. 311

safe آمن (āmin)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 146, p. 871
Sailors and pirates
chapter topic; Chapter 333, p. 2017
"salt" — a plain Semitic word whose root also gives Arabic its sailor and its word for handsome, and which shows ḥāʾ in its final shape ملح (milḥ)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 34, p. 183
salty مالح (māliḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 145, p. 865
Salty, Luxurious, Simple, Comfortable, Famous
chapter topic; Chapter 145, p. 865
sand رمل (raml)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 76, p. 445
sandals صندل (ṣandal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 214, p. 1279
Sauce, Sandwich, Ice cream, Meal, Skirt
chapter topic; Chapter 182, p. 1087
say it again, please — the second half of a repair kit whose first half arrived four chapters ago, and the first command this book has ever given فضلك من كرّر (karrir min faḍlik)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 41, p. 239
Saying and Seeing
chapter topic; Chapter 29, p. 151
scales ميزان (mīzān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 218, p. 1303
Schooling
chapter topic; Chapter 398, p. 2425
science علوم (ᶜulūm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 222, p. 1327
Science, Chemistry, Physics, Literature, Merchant
chapter topic; Chapter 222, p. 1327
scissors مقص (miqaṣṣ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 124, p. 737
Scissors, Needle, Thread, Button, Nail
chapter topic; Chapter 124, p. 737
Season, Childhood, Evening out, Ramadan, Afternoon
chapter topic; Chapter 264, p. 1583
Seasons
chapter topic; Chapter 12, p. 99
second-hand مستعمل (mustaᶜmal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 243, p. 1457
secondary ثانوي (thānawī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 419, p. 2555

see you — literally 'until the meeting', the structure Spanish borrowed a word for اللقاء إلى (ilā l-liqāʾ)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 4, p. 57
See You Tomorrow
chapter topic; Chapter 24, p. 135
see you tomorrow — literally 'until tomorrow', reusing the same ilā ('until') already met in see you later الغد إلى (ilā l-ghad)
explicit focus: etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 24, p. 135 seeing that; since أن بما (bi-mā anna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 374, p. 2275
selfish أناني (anānī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 500, p. 3065
sensible عاقل (ᶜāqil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 501, p. 3071
serious جاد (jādd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 241, p. 1445
seven سبعة (sabᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 96, p. 565
shade, a shadow ظل (ẓill)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 134, p. 799 shared مشترك (mushtarak)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 420, p. 2561
sharp حاد (ḥādd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 148, p. 883
Sheets, cushions and a couch
chapter topic; Chapter 551, p. 3383
shiny لامع (lāmiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 212, p. 1267
Shop windows
chapter topic; Chapter 455, p. 2783
short قصير (qaṣīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 82, p. 481
shy خجول (khajūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 210, p. 1255
Sightseeing
chapter topic; Chapter 438, p. 2675 silk حرير (ḥarīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 219, p. 1309
similar مشابه (mushābih)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 211, p. 1261
simple بسيط (basīṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 145, p. 865
since, ago منذ (mundhu)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 233, p. 1395

Since, Dawn, Sunrise, Sunset, Birth
chapter topic; Chapter 233, p. 1395
Singer, Player, Coach, Mathematics, Geography
chapter topic; Chapter 190, p. 1135
Single, engaged and married
chapter topic; Chapter 528, p. 3241
single, unmarried أعزب (a^{c}zab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 528, p. 3241
six ستة (sitta)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 96, p. 565
Six lines about a trip
script and writing topic; explicit focus: writing; Chapter 292, p. 1759
skilful, skilled ماهر (māhir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 501, p. 3071
skin جلد (jild)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 141, p. 841
Skin trouble
chapter topic; Chapter 508, p. 3115
Sky and light
chapter topic; Chapter 485, p. 2969
slow بطيء (baṭīʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 83, p. 487
Slow, Fast, Easy, Difficult, Cheap
chapter topic; Chapter 83, p. 487
small صغير (ṣaghīr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 81, p. 475
Small creatures
chapter topic; Chapter 476, p. 2913
smoke دخان (dukhān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 298, p. 1797
snow ثلج (thalj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 78, p. 457
so that, in order to كي (kay)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 174, p. 1039
so, then إذن (idhan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 174, p. 1039
soap صابون (ṣābūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 122, p. 725
sociable اجتماعي (ijtimā^{c}ī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 210, p. 1255
Social problems
chapter topic; Chapter 381, p. 2317
society مجتمع (mujtama^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 175, p. 1045

Sofa, Brush, Lid, Furniture, Laundry
chapter topic; Chapter 213, p. 1273
soft, smooth ناعم (nāᶜim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 152, p. 907
Soil and crops
chapter topic; Chapter 469, p. 2869
soil; earth تربة (turba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 469, p. 2869
someday, one day ما يوما (yawman mā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 349, p. 2117
sometimes أحيانا (aḥyānan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 87, p. 511
son and daughter — one pair gendered by a single added ت, exactly as أخ and أخت were, and the ibn that stands in the middle of names English already knows بنت ابن (ibn, bint)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 35, p. 193
soon قريبا (qarīban)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 234, p. 1401
Sorry
chapter topic; Chapter 7, p. 79
sorry (āsif masc. / āsifa fem. — a GENDERED adjective, from asifa "to grieve, regret") آسف / آسفة (āsif / āsifa)
explicit focus: etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 7, p. 79
soup حساء (ḥasāᵓ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 130, p. 775
sour حامض (ḥāmiḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 152, p. 907
Sour, Bitter, Soft, Hard, Clever
chapter topic; Chapter 152, p. 907
south جنوب (janūb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 104, p. 615
South, East, West, Place, Address
chapter topic; Chapter 104, p. 615
spacious, wide واسع (wāsiᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 148, p. 883
specific محدد (muḥaddad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 417, p. 2543
Speeches and openings
chapter topic; Chapter 357, p. 2167
speed سرعة (surᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 437, p. 2669
Spending wisely
chapter topic; Chapter 459, p. 2807

spices توابل (tawābil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 273, p. 1637
Spider, Rooster, Cat, Owl, Crow
chapter topic; Chapter 137, p. 817
Spies and suspects
chapter topic; Chapter 346, p. 2097
sport رياضة (riyāḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 277, p. 1661
Springs and rivers
chapter topic; Chapter 470, p. 2875
stability استقرار (istiqrār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 389, p. 2367
stairs درج (daraj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 102, p. 603
Star, Cloud, Sun, Moon, Sea
chapter topic; Chapter 77, p. 451
Starting and stopping work
chapter topic; Chapter 522, p. 3203
state, condition — the thing Arabic actually asks about حال (ḥāl)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 3, p. 41
steady, firm ثابت (thābit)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1
sticky لزج (lazij)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 212, p. 1267
stifling; suffocating خانق (khāniq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 484, p. 2963 ً ٌ ٍ — stop, double, or add *-an script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 2, p. 21
Stopped by the police
chapter topic; Chapter 317, p. 1917
straight ahead مستقيم (mustaqīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 105, p. 621
strange غريب (gharīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 149, p. 889
strawberries فراولة (farāwila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 120, p. 713 strength قوة (quwwa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 108, p. 639
stress, tension توتر (tawattur)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 262, p. 1571
Stretching and shaking
chapter topic; Chapter 516, p. 3165
strong قوي (qawī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 154, p. 919

Stronger or weaker
chapter topic; Chapter 418, p. 2549
stubborn عنيد (ᶜanīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 271, p. 1625
Stubborn, Lonely, Orange, Pink, Purple
chapter topic; Chapter 271, p. 1625
success نجاح (najāḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 106, p. 627
suddenly, all of a sudden فجأة (fajʾatan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 294, p. 1773
Suddenly, it happened
chapter topic; Chapter 294, p. 1773
"sugar" — a word that crossed Asia and Europe, and the one that shows Arabic's own al- fused onto the front of a Spanish noun سكر (sukkar)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 33, p. 175
Suit, Sandals, Fabric, Cotton, Wool
chapter topic; Chapter 214, p. 1279
suitable مناسب (munāsib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 240, p. 1437
Sunday–Thursday — Arabic counts its weekdays instead of naming them for planets الأحد الإثنين الثلاثاء الأربعاء الخميس (al-aḥad al-ithnayn ath-thulāthāʾ al-arbiᶜāʾ al-khamīs)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 8, p. 81
sunny مشمس (mushmis)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 211, p. 1261
Sunny, Different, Similar, Rare, Ordinary
chapter topic; Chapter 211, p. 1261
sunrise شروق (shurūq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 233, p. 1395
sunset غروب (ghurūb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 233, p. 1395
Sure and unsure
chapter topic; Chapter 403, p. 2455
sure, certain متأكد (mutaʾakkid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 272, p. 1631
Surprise and admiration
chapter topic; Chapter 490, p. 3003
sweat عرق (ᶜaraq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 263, p. 1577
sweet (of water); fresh عذب (ᶜadhb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 470, p. 2875
sweets حلوى (ḥalwā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 273, p. 1637

swimming سباحة (sibāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 548, p. 3365

T

Tail, Wing, Camera, Headphones, Battery
chapter topic; Chapter 217, p. 1297
Tailor, Carpenter, Baker, Farmer, University
chapter topic; Chapter 144, p. 859
takeoff إقلاع (iqlāᶜ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 424, p. 2589
Takeoff and landing
chapter topic; Chapter 424, p. 2589
Taking a stand
chapter topic; Chapter 373, p. 2267
Taking, Thinking, Helping, Loving
chapter topic; Chapter 32, p. 167
talkative; a chatterbox ثرثار (tharthār)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 502, p. 3077
Talkers and the curious
chapter topic; Chapter 502, p. 3077
Talks, turns and headquarters
chapter topic; Chapter 524, p. 3215
tame (of a pet) أليف (alīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 242, p. 1451
"tea" — the first noun in this book with no Arabic root at all, and a word that reached Arabic and English from the same Chinese original by two different roads شاي (shāy)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 33, p. 175
Teacher, To drink, To hear, To sit, To sleep
chapter topic; Chapter 57, p. 329
Television, Newspaper, Magazine, Letter, Envelope
chapter topic; Chapter 117, p. 695
Telling a story
chapter topic; Chapter 295, p. 1779
Telling Time
chapter topic; Chapter 16, p. 109
temperature حرارة (ḥarāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 262, p. 1571
Tempers and habits
chapter topic; Chapter 503, p. 3083
ten عشرة (ᶜashara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 97, p. 571

Ten, Thirty, Forty, Fifty, Thousand
chapter topic; Chapter 97, p. 571
tense, nervous متوتر (mutawattir)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 497, p. 3047
Terms and theses
chapter topic; Chapter 396, p. 2411
terror رعب (ru^{c}b)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 489, p. 2997
Tests and admission
chapter topic; Chapter 393, p. 2393
Tests and treatment
chapter topic; Chapter 510, p. 3127
thank you (shukran) شكرا (shukran) explicit focus: script, etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 1, p. 1
That night
chapter topic; Chapter 327, p. 1979
that night في تلك الليلة (fī tilka al-layla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 327, p. 1979
the afternoon; an era عصر (^{c}aṣr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 264, p. 1583
the (al- — the attached article) ال (al-) explicit focus: script, grammar, etymology; Chapter 1, p. 1
the atmosphere غلاف جوي (ghilāf jawwī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 463, p. 2833
The attic and the door
chapter topic; Chapter 549, p. 3371
the back ظهر (ẓahr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 52, p. 299
the body جسم (jism)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 168, p. 1003
The climate
chapter topic; Chapter 463, p. 2833
the countryside ريف (rīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 265, p. 1589
the day before yesterday أول أمس (awwal ams)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 349, p. 2117
the defence دفاع (difā^{c})
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 334, p. 2023
The economy
chapter topic; Chapter 383, p. 2331
the economy اقتصاد (iqtiṣād)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 383, p. 2331
the eve; the evening before عشية (^{c}ashiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 336, p. 2035

The face up close
chapter topic; Chapter 506, p. 3103
the floor; the earth أرض (arḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 70, p. 407
The forecast
chapter topic; Chapter 480, p. 2939
the four seasons — Modern Standard Arabic's set, though the classical calendar didn't always carve up the year this way ربيع شتاء خريف صيف (rabīᶜ ṣayf kharīf shitāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology, usage and culture; Chapter 12, p. 99
the future مستقبل (mustaqbal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 171, p. 1021
the Gregorian months — Latin names borrowed almost intact, running ALONGSIDE the Islamic calendar's own, entirely different lunar months أغسطس يوليو يونيو مايو أبريل مارس فبراير يناير ديسمبر نوفمبر أكتوبر سبتمبر (yanāyir fabrāyir māris abrīl māyū yūniyū yūliyū aghusṭus sibtambir uktūbar nūfambir dīsambir)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 14, p. 103
the gums لثة (litha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 506, p. 3103
the hand — an ancient Semitic root, nearly unchanged since its Hebrew cousin يد (yad)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 11, p. 95
the head — a Semitic root cognate with Hebrew rosh, and the source of "president" in Arabic itself رأس (raʾs)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 11, p. 95
the heart قلب (qalb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 52, p. 299
the internet إنترنت (intarnit)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 248, p. 1487
the intestines, the bowels أمعاء (amᶜāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 504, p. 3091
the liver كبد (kabid)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 504, p. 3091
The media
chapter topic; Chapter 320, p. 1935
the media; informing إعلام (iᶜlām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 320, p. 1935
the metro; the underground مترو (mitrū)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 428, p. 2613
the middle وسط (wasaṭ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 103, p. 609

the mind عقل (ᶜaql)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 362, p. 2199
the moon قمر (qamar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 77, p. 451
the neck رقبة (raqaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 51, p. 293
the next day التالي اليوم في (fī al-yawm at-tālī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 299, p. 1803
The Past, Person By Person
chapter topic; Chapter 283, p. 1697
The People You Introduce
chapter topic; Chapter 35, p. 193
the police شرطة (shurṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 93, p. 547
The press
chapter topic; Chapter 296, p. 1785
the pulse نبض (nabḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 504, p. 3091
the safety — Chapter 1's salām, plus a pattern and a feminine ending السلامة (as-salāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 4, p. 57
The sales
chapter topic; Chapter 457, p. 2795
The same writing, with a clock
script and writing topic; explicit focus: writing; Chapter 44, p. 251
the sea بحر (baḥr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 77, p. 451
ُ ِ َ — the short vowels the abjad usually hides
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 2, p. 21
the sky سماء (samāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 78, p. 457
the spleen طحال (ṭiḥāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 504, p. 3091
the stomach معدة (miᶜda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 504, p. 3091
the sun شمس (shams)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 77, p. 451
The Tense That Was Missing
chapter topic; Chapter 37, p. 211
the throat حلق (ḥalq)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 168, p. 1003
Theatre, Cinema, Club, Farm, Countryside
chapter topic; Chapter 265, p. 1589

then, next ثم (thumma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 176, p. 1051
Then, While, More, Less, Difference
chapter topic; Chapter 176, p. 1051
Theories and concepts
chapter topic; Chapter 363, p. 2205
there هناك (hunāka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 90, p. 529
therefore, so لذلك (li-dhālika)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 174, p. 1039
thick سميك (samīk)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 179, p. 1069
thin نحيف (naḥīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 151, p. 901
Thin, Fat, Wet, Dry, Dirty
chapter topic; Chapter 151, p. 901
thirsty عطشان (^{c}aṭshān)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 153, p. 913
thirty ثلاثون (thalāthūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 97, p. 571
Through customs
chapter topic; Chapter 426, p. 2601
throughout, all through طوال (ṭuwāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 327, p. 1979
thunder رعد (ra^{c}d)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 133, p. 793
thyme زعتر (za^{c}tar)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 121, p. 719
Tiger, Elephant, Monkey, Snake, Bear
chapter topic; Chapter 80, p. 469
time وقت (waqt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 88, p. 517
time off, leave إجازة (ijāza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 520, p. 3191
tired متعب (mut^{c}ab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 147, p. 877
to abandon, to leave هجر (hajara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 535, p. 3283
to accompany رافق (rāfaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 440, p. 2689
to accomplish أنجز (anjaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 371, p. 2255
to accuse اتهم (ittahama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 305, p. 1841

to acquire اكتسب (iktasaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 394, p. 2399
to add أضاف (aḍāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 230, p. 1375
to adjust; to modify عدل (^{c}addala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 427, p. 2607
to adopt تبنى (tabannā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 416, p. 2537
to advise نصح (naṣaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 369, p. 2243
to agree اتفق (ittafaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 226, p. 1351
to allege زعم (za^{c}ama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 366, p. 2225
to allocate خصص (khaṣṣaṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 384, p. 2337
to allow سمح (samaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 198, p. 1183
To allow, To prevent, To happen, To fall, To dig
chapter topic; Chapter 198, p. 1183
to analyse حلل (ḥallala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 364, p. 2211
to announce أعلن (a^{c}lana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 293, p. 1767
to announce a death نعى (na^{c}ā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 319, p. 1929
to apologise اعتذر (i^{c}tadhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 226, p. 1351
to applaud صفق (ṣaffaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 542, p. 3327
to apply (for); to step forward تقدم (taqaddama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 450, p. 2751
to approach, to come near اقترب (iqtaraba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 345, p. 2091
to approve formally أقر (aqarra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 411, p. 2505
to approve; to agree to وافق (wāfaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 360, p. 2187
to argue جادل (jādala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 360, p. 2187
to arise unexpectedly طرأ (ṭara^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 407, p. 2481

to arrest, to detain اعتقل (i^{c}taqala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 300, p. 1809
to arrive وصل (waṣala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 159, p. 949
to arrive at توصل (tawaṣṣala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 415, p. 2531
to ask for, to request طلب (ṭalaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 115, p. 683
to aspire طمح (ṭamaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 518, p. 3177
to assume افترض (iftaraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 359, p. 2181
to attack هاجم (hājama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 339, p. 2053
to authorize أجاز (ajāza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 411, p. 2505
to avert تفادى (tafādā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 407, p. 2481
to avoid تجنب (tajannaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 407, p. 2481
to back down تراجع (tarāja^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 373, p. 2267
to ban حظر (ḥaẓara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 451, p. 2757
to bargain ساوم (sāwama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 193, p. 1153
to bark نبح (nabaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 230, p. 1375
To bark, To feed, To add, To divide, To kick
chapter topic; Chapter 230, p. 1375
to barter قايض (qāyaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 458, p. 2801
to bathe, to have a shower استحم (istaḥamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 160, p. 955
to be able to قدر (qadara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 107, p. 633 to be able to, could استطاع (istaṭā^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 107, p. 633 to be affected تأثر (ta^{ɔ}aththara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 415, p. 2531
to be afraid خاف (khāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 257, p. 1541
to be amazed اندهش (indahasha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 490, p. 3003

to be available توفر (tawaffara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 406, p. 2475
to be brought up ترعرع (tara^{c}ra^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 323, p. 1953
to be convinced اقتنع (iqtana^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 365, p. 2217
to be cut off انقطع (inqaṭa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 444, p. 2713
to be displaced, to flee one's home نزح (nazaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 332, p. 2009
to be equal تساوى (tasāwā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 420, p. 2561
to be exposed (to); to suffer تعرض (ta^{c}arraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 486, p. 2975
to be fed up ضجر (ḍajira)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 495, p. 3033
to be full (from eating) شبع (shabi^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 517, p. 3171
to be glad, to rejoice فرح (fariḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 257, p. 1541
to be in pain تألم (ta^{ɔ}allama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 512, p. 3141
to be (in the past); was — the verb the present leaves out كان (kāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 283, p. 1697
to be jealous غار (ghāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 492, p. 3015
to be late تأخر (ta^{ɔ}akhkhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 255, p. 1529
To be late, To visit, To phone, To get better, To examine
chapter topic; Chapter 255, p. 1529
to be on duty; to take turns ناوب (nāwaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 524, p. 3215
to be promoted ترقى (taraqqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 524, p. 3215
to be reared, to grow up; to arise نشأ (nasha^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 323, p. 1953
to be reflected انعكس (in^{c}akasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 414, p. 2525
to be shy, to be embarrassed خجل (khajila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 227, p. 1357
To be shy, To worry, To get to know, To quarrel, To make up
chapter topic; Chapter 227, p. 1357

to be subject to خضع (khaḍa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 411, p. 2505
to be surprised تفاجأ (tafājaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 490, p. 3003
to be suspicious ارتاب (irtāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 403, p. 2455
to be too tight; to become narrow ضاق (ḍāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 456, p. 2789
to bear fruit أثمر (athmara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 468, p. 2863
to become addicted أدمن (admana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 517, p. 3171
to become clear تبين (tabayyana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 415, p. 2531
to become evident اتضح (ittaḍaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 417, p. 2543
to become greater; to increase ازداد (izdāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 412, p. 2511
to become independent; to board استقل (istaqalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 329, p. 1991
to begin, to start بدأ (badaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 165, p. 985
to believe اعتقد (i^{c}taqada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 164, p. 979
to believe someone صدق (ṣaddaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 366, p. 2225
to bend down انحنى (inḥanā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 516, p. 3165
to benefit استفاد (istafāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 408, p. 2487
to besiege, to surround حاصر (ḥāṣara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 322, p. 1947
to betray خان (khāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 341, p. 2067
to bid farewell ودع (wadda^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 332, p. 2009
to bind up (a wound) ضمد (ḍammada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 511, p. 3133
to bite عض (^{c}aḍḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 199, p. 1189
to blame لام (lāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 498, p. 3053

to bleed نزف (nazafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 513, p. 3147
to bless; to congratulate بارك (bāraka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 336, p. 2035
to bloom; to flower أزهر (azhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 468, p. 2863
to blow نفخ (nafakha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 199, p. 1189
to blow hard (of wind) عصف (^{c}aṣafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 482, p. 2951
to boil (of a liquid, intransitive) غلى (ghalā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 254, p. 1523
to borrow اقترض (iqtaraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 224, p. 1339
to break كسر (kasara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 161, p. 961 to break a rule خالف (khālafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 410, p. 2499
to break down تعطل (ta^{c}aṭṭala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 447, p. 2733
to break into, to storm اقتحم (iqtaḥama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 353, p. 2141
to break out اندلع (indala^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 316, p. 1909
to breastfeed أرضع (arḍa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 530, p. 3253
to breathe تنفس (tanaffasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 161, p. 961 to bring أحضر (aḥḍara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 225, p. 1345
to bring up ربى (rabbā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 530, p. 3253
to broadcast بث (baththa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 259, p. 1553
to build بنى (banā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 166, p. 991
to burn down, to get burnt احترق (iḥtaraqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 298, p. 1797
to bury دفن (dafana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 314, p. 1897
to buy (he bought) اشترى (ishtarā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 58, p. 335
to call for help استغاث (istaghātha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 310, p. 1873

to call out to نادى (nādā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 310, p. 1873
to calm down; to grow quiet هدأ (hadaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 448, p. 2739
to cancel ألغى (alghā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 461, p. 2819
to capture, to take prisoner أسر (asara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 333, p. 2017
to care about اهتم (ihtamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 368, p. 2237
to carry (he carried) حمل (ḥamala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 65, p. 377
to carry out نفذ (naffadha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 520, p. 3191
to carve نحت (naḥata)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 541, p. 3321
to cast doubt شكك (shakkaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 366, p. 2225
to catch fire, to blaze اشتعل (ishtaᶜala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 298, p. 1797
to catch up with لحق (laḥiqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 347, p. 2103
to celebrate احتفل (iḥtafala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 163, p. 973
To celebrate, To invite, To marry, To shake hands with, To hug
chapter topic; Chapter 163, p. 973
to challenge, to defy تحدى (taḥaddā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 345, p. 2091
to change غير (ghayyara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 224, p. 1339
to change money; to spend صرف (ṣarafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 452, p. 2763
to charge (a phone); to ship شحن (shaḥana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 226, p. 1351
to chase, to pursue طارد (ṭārada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 346, p. 2097
to cheat غش (ghashsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 351, p. 2129
to check on; to inspect تفقد (tafaqqada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 447, p. 2733
to check over; to go back to (an office) راجع (rājaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 451, p. 2757
to cheer, to chant هتف (hatafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 353, p. 2141

to chew مضغ (maḍagha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 194, p. 1159
to choke; to suffocate اختنق (ikhtanaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 466, p. 2851
to choose اختار (ikhtāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 115, p. 683
to cite استشهد (istashhada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 395, p. 2405
to claim ادعى (idda^{c}ā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 366, p. 2225
to clarify, to make clear أوضح (awḍaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 320, p. 1935
to clear up; to become clear صفا (ṣafā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 481, p. 2945
to close (he closed) أغلق (aghlaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 59, p. 341
to collapse انهار (inhāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 316, p. 1909
to collide, to crash into اصطدم (iṣṭadama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 301, p. 1817
to come across, to find عثر (^{c}athara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 312, p. 1885
to come back (he came back) رجع (raja^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 64, p. 371
to come true; to make sure تحقق (taḥaqqaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 344, p. 2085
to compare قارن (qārana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 197, p. 1177
to compensate عوض (^{c}awwaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 449, p. 2745
to compete تنافس (tanāfasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 546, p. 3353
to compete with نافس (nāfasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 548, p. 3365
to complain اشتكى (ishtakā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 448, p. 2739
to complete أتم (atamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 523, p. 3209
to comply التزم (iltazama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 410, p. 2499
to conceal, to hide أخفى (akhfā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 351, p. 2129

to concede; to give up تنازل (tanāzala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 373, p. 2267
to conceive تصور (taṣawwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 367, p. 2231
to concern تعلق (ta^{c}allaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 405, p. 2467
to conclude, to bring to a close اختتم (ikhtatama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 357, p. 2167
to condemn استنكر (istankara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 422, p. 2575
to conduct, to carry out أجرى (ajrā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 302, p. 1823
to confess, to admit اعترف (i^{c}tarafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 325, p. 1967
to confiscate صادر (ṣādara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 426, p. 2601
to confront, to face واجه (wājaha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 345, p. 2091
to congratulate هنأ (hanna^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 196, p. 1171
to consider likely رجح (rajjaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 401, p. 2443
to consider, to regard اعتبر (i^{c}tabara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 197, p. 1177
to console, to offer condolences عزى (^{c}azzā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 319, p. 1929
to consume; to use up استهلك (istahlaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 465, p. 2845
to contain تضمن (taḍammana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 405, p. 2467
to continue استمر (istamarra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 165, p. 985
to contribute ساهم (sāhama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 371, p. 2255
to control, to take control سيطر (sayṭara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 331, p. 2003
to convene, to be held انعقد (in^{c}aqada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 357, p. 2167
to convict; to condemn أدان (adāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 334, p. 2023
to convince أقنع (aqna^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 358, p. 2175

to cook (he cooked) طبخ (ṭabakha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 60, p. 347
To cook, To wash, To laugh, To cry, To dance
chapter topic; Chapter 60, p. 347
to cooperate تعاون (ta^{c}āwana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 386, p. 2349
to copy نسخ (nasakha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 162, p. 967
to cost كلف (kallafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 192, p. 1147
to cover; to report on غطى (ghaṭṭā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 356, p. 2159
to cradle; to hold in one's arms حضن (ḥaḍana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 533, p. 3271
to crave اشتهى (ishtahā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 517, p. 3171
to create; to excel أبدع (abda^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 545, p. 3347
to criticize انتقد (intaqada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 370, p. 2249
to cross عبر (^{c}abara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 159, p. 949
to crown توج (tawwaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 309, p. 1867
to cry (he cried) بكى (bakā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 60, p. 347
to cry out, to shout صاح (ṣāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 310, p. 1873
to cure داوى (dāwā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 510, p. 3127
to cut (he cut) قطع (qaṭa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 61, p. 353
to dance (he danced) رقص (raqaṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 60, p. 347
to deceive, to trick خدع (khada^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 351, p. 2129
to decide قرر (qarrara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 157, p. 937
to declare, to state صرح (ṣarraḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 293, p. 1767
to decorate زين (zayyana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 552, p. 3391
to deduce; to conclude استنتج (istantaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 362, p. 2199

to defeat هزم (hazama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 315, p. 1903
to defend دافع (dāfa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 322, p. 1947
to delete حذف (ḥadhafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 165, p. 985
To delete, To begin, To end, To continue, To finish
chapter topic; Chapter 165, p. 985
to deliver a speech; to throw ألقى (alqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 357, p. 2167
to demonstrate تظاهر (taẓāhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 382, p. 2325
to deny أنكر (ankara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 325, p. 1967
to deny officially; to exile نفى (nafā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 355, p. 2153
to depart from; to leave (a place) غادر (ghādara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 441, p. 2695
to depend on, to rely on — with ^{c}alā, 'on' اعتمد (i^{c}tamada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 292, p. 1759
to deposit أودع (awda^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 452, p. 2763
to deprive حرم (ḥarama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 408, p. 2487
to deserve استحق (istaḥaqqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 380, p. 2311
to design صمم (ṣammama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 525, p. 3221
to detain, to hold احتجز (iḥtajaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 317, p. 1917
to develop طور (ṭawwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 418, p. 2549
to devote oneself تفرغ (tafarragha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 523, p. 3209
to die مات (māta)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 532, p. 3265
to die out; to become extinct انقرض (inqaraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 467, p. 2857
to dig حفر (ḥafara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 198, p. 1183
to direct films; to bring out أخرج (akhraja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 545, p. 3347

to disagree, to differ اختلف (ikhtalafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 258, p. 1547
to disappear اختفى (ikhtafā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 167, p. 997
to discover اكتشف (iktashafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 312, p. 1885
to discuss ناقش (nāqasha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 197, p. 1177
To discuss, To compare, To notice, To pay attention, To consider
chapter topic; Chapter 197, p. 1177
to disguise oneself تنكر (tanakkara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 346, p. 2097
to disobey عصى (^{c}aṣā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 534, p. 3277
to display; to offer عرض (^{c}araḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 455, p. 2783
to distinguish ميز (mayyaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 364, p. 2211
to disturb; to bother أزعج (az^{c}aja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 448, p. 2739
to divide, to share out قسم (qassama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 230, p. 1375
to dock; to anchor رسا (rasā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 429, p. 2619
to donate تبرع (tabarra^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 519, p. 3183
to double تضاعف (taḍā^{c}afa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 412, p. 2511
to doze off غفا (ghafā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 514, p. 3153
to draw, to paint رسم (rasama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 228, p. 1363
to drink (he drank) شرب (shariba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 57, p. 329
to drop; to fall (of a level) انخفض (inkhafaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 480, p. 2939
to dry off جفف (jaffafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 552, p. 3391
to earn كسب (kasaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 224, p. 1339
To earn, To borrow, To lend, To change, To hurry
chapter topic; Chapter 224, p. 1339
to economise; to save اقتصد (iqtaṣada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 459, p. 2807

to edit; to set free حرر (ḥarrara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 296, p. 1785
to elect انتخب (intakhaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 378, p. 2299
to embroider طرز (ṭarraza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 538, p. 3303
to emigrate هاجر (hājara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 332, p. 2009
to employ, to hire وظف (waẓẓafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 162, p. 967 to empty out; to unpack أفرغ (afragha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 426, p. 2601
to enchant, to bewitch سحر (saḥara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 344, p. 2085
to encourage شجع (shajja^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 369, p. 2243
to end, to finish انتهى (intahā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 165, p. 985
to endure; to last دام (dāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 413, p. 2517
to enjoy استمتع (istamta^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 536, p. 3291
to enjoy a right تمتع (tamatta^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 408, p. 2487
to enquire استفسر (istafsara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 451, p. 2757
to enrol التحق (iltaḥaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 390, p. 2375
to ensure; to guarantee ضمن (ḍamina)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 404, p. 2461
to entail استلزم (istalzama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 407, p. 2481
to enter (he entered) دخل (dakhala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 63, p. 365
to envy حسد (ḥasada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 492, p. 3015
to erect, to build up شيد (shayyada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 331, p. 2003
to escape, to run away هرب (haraba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 167, p. 997
to escort a bride; to bring good news زف (zaffa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 306, p. 1847
to escort a coffin; to see off شيع (shayya^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 314, p. 1897

to evaluate قيم (qayyama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 393, p. 2393
to evaporate تبخر (tabakhkhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 484, p. 2963
to evolve تطور (taṭawwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 413, p. 2517
to exaggerate بالغ (bālagha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 370, p. 2249
to examine فحص (faḥaṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 255, p. 1529
to excel تفوق (tafawwaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 393, p. 2393
to exchange (with each other) تبادل (tabādala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 479, p. 2933 to exclude استثنى (istathnā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 405, p. 2467
to exempt أعفى (a^{c}fā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 410, p. 2499
to explain شرح (sharaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 256, p. 1535
to explode, to burst انفجر (infajara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 294, p. 1773
to exploit استغل (istaghalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 388, p. 2361
to explore استكشف (istakshafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 439, p. 2683
to extend, to stretch امتد (imtadda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 331, p. 2003
to fail (an exam) رسب (rasaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 256, p. 1535
To fail, To pass, To explain, To translate, To give back
chapter topic; Chapter 256, p. 1535
to fall سقط (saqaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 198, p. 1183
to fall ill مرض (mariḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 507, p. 3109
to fall out (with each other) تخاصم (takhāṣama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 535, p. 3283
to fall short أخفق (akhfaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 372, p. 2261
to fall steadily (of snow or leaves) تساقط (tasāqaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 486, p. 2975
to feed أطعم (aṭ^{c}ama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 230, p. 1375

to feel أحس (aḥassa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 161, p. 961 to feel relieved ارتاح (irtāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 496, p. 3041
to fill ملأ (malaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 160, p. 955
to find (he found) وجد (wajada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 62, p. 359
to finish level; to end in a draw تعادل (taᶜādala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 546, p. 3353
to finish (something) أنهى (anhā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 165, p. 985
to fit; to suit ناسب (nāsaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 456, p. 2789
to float طفا (ṭafā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 474, p. 2901
to flourish, to thrive ازدهر (izdahara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 331, p. 2003
to fly (he flew) طار (ṭāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 63, p. 365
to focus ركز (rakkaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 368, p. 2237
to fold طوى (ṭawā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 223, p. 1333
to follow تابع (tābaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 259, p. 1553
to follow from ترتب (tarattaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 414, p. 2525
to force أجبر (ajbara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 389, p. 2367
to forge, to falsify زور (zawwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 351, p. 2129
to forget (he forgot) نسي (nasiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 61, p. 353
to forgive سامح (sāmaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 258, p. 1547
to freeze تجمد (tajammada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 261, p. 1565
to frighten أخاف (akhāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 489, p. 2997
to fry قلى (qalā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 254, p. 1523

To fry, To grill, To boil, To mix, To peel
chapter topic; Chapter 254, p. 1523
to fund مول (mawwala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 384, p. 2337
to furnish; to spread فرش (farasha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 552, p. 3391
to gather, to assemble تجمع (tajamma^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 353, p. 2141
to generalize عمم (^{c}ammama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 370, p. 2249
to get angry غضب (ghaḍiba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 488, p. 2991
to get back (money); to recover استرد (istaradda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 453, p. 2769
to get better, to improve تحسن (taḥassana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 255, p. 1529
to get bored (of) مل (malla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 494, p. 3027
to get broken انكسر (inkasara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 460, p. 2813
to get cheaper رخص (rakhuṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 457, p. 2795
to get cold; to cool برد (barada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 483, p. 2957
to get excited تحمس (taḥammasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 496, p. 3041
to get flustered ارتبك (irtabaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 497, p. 3047
to get hungry جاع (jā^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 517, p. 3171
to get lost ضل (ḍalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 195, p. 1165
to get older; to grow up كبر (kabira)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 531, p. 3259 to get ready استعد (ista^{c}adda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 462, p. 2825
to get tired تعب (ta^{c}iba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 521, p. 3197
to get to know (someone) تعرف (ta^{c}arrafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 227, p. 1357
to get up, to rise نهض (nahaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 515, p. 3159
to get used to اعتاد (i^{c}tāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 520, p. 3191

to get worse; to deteriorate تدهور (tadahwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 486, p. 2975

to gift; to dedicate أهدى (ahdā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 336, p. 2035

to give a lift; to deliver أوصل (awṣala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 440, p. 2689

to give back, to return (something) أعاد (a^{c}āda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 256, p. 1535

to give first aid أسعف (as^{c}afa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 301, p. 1817

to give (he gave) أعطى (a^{c}ṭā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 59, p. 341

to give news; to be of use أفاد (afāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 320, p. 1935

to go bad; to be damaged تلف (talifa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 460, p. 2813

to go bankrupt أفلس (aflasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 527, p. 3233

to go deeper تعمق (ta^{c}ammaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 394, p. 2399

to go down (he went down) نزل (nazala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 65, p. 377

to go fishing; to hunt اصطاد (iṣṭāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 536, p. 3291

to go out (he went out) خرج (kharaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 64, p. 371

To go out, To work, To live, To wait, To come back
chapter topic; Chapter 64, p. 371

to go shopping تسوق (tasawwaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 193, p. 1153

to go under; to drown غرق (ghariqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 333, p. 2017

to go up, to climb صعد (ṣa^{c}ida)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 159, p. 949

to graduate تخرج (takharraja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 257, p. 1541

to grasp استوعب (istaw^{c}aba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 367, p. 2231

to graze; to tend (animals) رعى (ra^{c}ā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 478, p. 2925

to greet warmly; to welcome رحب (raḥḥaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 446, p. 2725

to grieve, to be sad حزن (ḥazina)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 488, p. 2991
to grill شوى (shawā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 254, p. 1523
to grow نما (namā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 413, p. 2517
to grow dark أظلم (aẓlama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 485, p. 2969
to grow stronger; to intensify اشتد (ishtadda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 482, p. 2951
to grow weak ضعف (ḍa^{c}ufa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 513, p. 3147
to grumble تذمر (tadhammara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 449, p. 2745
to guide أرشد (arshada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 437, p. 2669
to hamper; to hold up عرقل (^{c}arqala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 445, p. 2719
to hand out, to distribute وزع (wazza^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 261, p. 1565
to hang (up) علق (^{c}allaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 223, p. 1333
to happen حدث (ḥadatha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 198, p. 1183
to harvest حصد (ḥaṣada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 199, p. 1189
to hate كره (kariha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 113, p. 671
to have a child, to bear أنجب (anjaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 311, p. 1879
to have a cough سعل (sa^{c}ala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 516, p. 3165
to have fun تسلى (tasallā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 539, p. 3309
to have room for; to widen اتسع (ittasa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 462, p. 2825
to hear (he heard) سمع (sami^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 57, p. 329
to heat up سخن (sakhkhana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 444, p. 2713
to hesitate تردد (taraddada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 369, p. 2243

to hide (something) خبأ (khabbaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 166, p. 991
to hint لمح (lammaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 369, p. 2243
to hire; to rent (from someone) استأجر (istaʾjara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 427, p. 2607
to hold a dialogue; to interview حاور (ḥāwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 302, p. 1823
to hold an event; to reside أقام (aqāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 328, p. 1985
to hold back (a feeling) كتم (katama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 497, p. 3047
to hold on to تمسك (tamassaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 373, p. 2267
to hold talks (with); to negotiate فاوض (fāwaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 524, p. 3215
to hold, to grab أمسك (amsaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 194, p. 1159
to host, to have as a guest استضاف (istaḍāfa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 302, p. 1823
to hug عانق (ᶜānaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 163, p. 973
To hunt, To build, To knock down, To paint, To hide
chapter topic; Chapter 166, p. 991
to hunt, to catch (fish) صاد (ṣāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 166, p. 991
to hurry أسرع (asraᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 224, p. 1339
to ignore تجاهل (tajāhala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 420, p. 2561
to imagine تخيل (takhayyala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 303, p. 1829
to impress, to please أعجب (aᶜjaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 491, p. 3009
to imprison, to jail سجن (sajana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 330, p. 1997
to inaugurate, to open officially افتتح (iftataḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 357, p. 2167
to include شمل (shamila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 405, p. 2467
to increase; to rise ارتفع (irtafaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 480, p. 2939

to infer استدل (istadalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 366, p. 2225
to inform the police; to report بلغ (ballagha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 348, p. 2109
to inform, to tell أخبر (akhbara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 226, p. 1351
to inherit ورث (waritha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 337, p. 2041
to intend, to mean to نوى (nawā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 157, p. 937
to interpret فسر (fassara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 363, p. 2205
to invade, to raid غزا (ghazā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 339, p. 2053
to invent اخترع (ikhtara^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 342, p. 2073
to invest استثمر (istathmara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 383, p. 2331
to investigate; to achieve حقق (ḥaqqaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 308, p. 1859
to invite دعا (da^{c}ā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 163, p. 973
to iron كوى (kawā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 223, p. 1333
to issue أصدر (aṣdara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 434, p. 2651
to join انضم (inḍamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 389, p. 2367
to joke مزح (mazaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 164, p. 979
to jump قفز (qafaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 259, p. 1553
to justify برر (barrara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 370, p. 2249
to keep changing; to fluctuate تقلب (taqallaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 486, p. 2975
to keep, to memorize حفظ (ḥafiẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 110, p. 653
to kick ركل (rakala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 230, p. 1375
to kidnap; to snatch اختطف (ikhtaṭafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 347, p. 2103
to knead عجن (^{c}ajana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 229, p. 1369

to knit, to weave حاك (ḥāka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 538, p. 3303
to knock down, to demolish هدم (hadama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 166, p. 991
to knock (on a door) طرق (ṭaraqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 260, p. 1559
to lack افتقر (iftaqara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 406, p. 2475
to lament, to mourn in verse رثى (rathā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 319, p. 1929
to land; to go down هبط (habaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 424, p. 2589
to laugh (he laughed) ضحك (ḍaḥika)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 60, p. 347
to lead a life عاش (^{c}āsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 532, p. 3265
to lead; to drive قاد (qāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 339, p. 2053
to leak, to seep تسرب (tasarraba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 354, p. 2147
to learn (he learned) تعلم (ta^{c}allama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 61, p. 353
To learn, To forget, To want, To send, To cut
chapter topic; Chapter 61, p. 353
to leave (he left) ترك (taraka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 62, p. 359
to legislate شرع (sharra^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 409, p. 2493
to lend أقرض (aqraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 224, p. 1339
to lie down استلقى (istalqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 515, p. 3159
to lie, to tell a lie كذب (kadhaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 258, p. 1547
to lift off; to take off (of a plane) أقلع (aqla^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 424, p. 2589
to light up أنار (anāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 444, p. 2713
to listen استمع (istama^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 228, p. 1363
to live (he lived) سكن (sakana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 64, p. 371
to long for اشتاق (ishtāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 111, p. 659

To long for, Expectation, Enthusiasm, Wish, Preference
chapter topic; Chapter 111, p. 659
to look after اعتنى (iᶜtanā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 533, p. 3271
to look for (he looked for) بحث (baḥatha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 62, p. 359
to loot, to plunder نهب (nahaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 321, p. 1941
to lose خسر (khasira)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 110, p. 653
to love passionately عشق (ᶜashiqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 528, p. 3241
to lower; to reduce خفض (khaffaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 457, p. 2795
to maintain, to look after (a thing) صان (ṣāna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 550, p. 3377
to make a profit ربح (rabiḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 527, p. 3233
to make angry أغضب (aghḍaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 498, p. 3053
to make certain تيقن (tayaqqana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 403, p. 2455
to make happy أسعد (asᶜada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 498, p. 3053
to make (he made) صنع (ṣanaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 63, p. 365
to make laugh أضحك (aḍḥaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 498, p. 3053
to make obligatory أوجب (awjaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 410, p. 2499
to make plans خطط (khaṭṭaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 523, p. 3209
to make sure تأكد (taʾakkada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 427, p. 2607
to make up, to reconcile تصالح (taṣālaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 227, p. 1357
to manage to تمكن (tamakkana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 372, p. 2261
to manage, to run أدار (adāra) explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 195, p. 1165
to marry تزوج (tazawwaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 163, p. 973

to master أتقن (atqana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 394, p. 2399
to measure قاس (qāsa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 193, p. 1153
to meet (someone) قابل (qābala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 195, p. 1165
to meet up (with) التقى (iltaqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 540, p. 3315
to melt ذاب (dhāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 261, p. 1565
To melt, To freeze, To park, To queue, To hand out
chapter topic; Chapter 261, p. 1565
to mention; to remember ذكر (dhakara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 299, p. 1803
to miss (a chance); to let slip فوت (fawwata)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 461, p. 2819
to mix خلط (khalaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 254, p. 1523
to move away, to keep away ابتعد (ibta^{c}ada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 345, p. 2091
to move (house) انتقل (intaqala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 162, p. 967 to move out; to depart رحل (raḥala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 332, p. 2009
to narrate, to relate روى (rawā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 295, p. 1779
to need احتاج (iḥtāja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 114, p. 677
to neglect أهمل (ahmala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 368, p. 2237
to negotiate تفاوض (tafāwaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 386, p. 2349
to nominate رشح (rashshaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 420, p. 2561
to notice لاحظ (lāḥaẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 197, p. 1177
to obey أطاع (aṭā^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 534, p. 3277
to object اعترض (i^{c}taraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 360, p. 2187
to occupy, to take up احتل (iḥtalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 339, p. 2053
to open (he opened) فتح (fataḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 59, p. 341

to oppose عارض (^{c}āraḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 370, p. 2249
to overcome تغلب (taghallaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 345, p. 2091
to overflow, to flood فاض (fāḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 316, p. 1909
to overlook أطل (aṭalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 443, p. 2707
to overtake; to exceed تجاوز (tajāwaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 434, p. 2651
to overturn, to turn over انقلب (inqalaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 301, p. 1817
to own ملك (malaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 110, p. 653
to pack (luggage) حزم (ḥazama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 479, p. 2933
to paint (a wall), to coat دهن (dahana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 166, p. 991
to pamper; to spoil (a child) دلل (dallala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 533, p. 3271
to pardon عفا (^{c}afā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 534, p. 3277
to park ركن (rakana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 261, p. 1565
to pass (an exam) اجتاز (ijtāza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 256, p. 1535
to pass away توفي (tuwuffiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 314, p. 1897
to pass judgment; to rule حكم (ḥakama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 305, p. 1841
to pass on, to report; to carry نقل (naqala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 299, p. 1803
to pass the ball مرر (marrara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 546, p. 3353
to pay attention انتبه (intabaha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 197, p. 1177
to pay; to push دفع (dafa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 192, p. 1147
to peel قشر (qashshara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 254, p. 1523
to perform at; to revive أحيا (aḥyā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 328, p. 1985

to permit أباح (abāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 410, p. 2499
to phone, to call اتصل (ittaṣala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 255, p. 1529
to photograph, to film صور (ṣawwara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 228, p. 1363
to pick (fruit, flowers) قطف (qaṭafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 196, p. 1171
to plant زرع (zara^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 196, p. 1171
To plant, To pick, To rain, To congratulate, To trust
chapter topic; Chapter 196, p. 1171
to play an instrument عزف (^{c}azafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 543, p. 3333
to play (he played) لعب (la^{c}iba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 58, p. 335
to polish لمع (lamma^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 550, p. 3377
to pollute لوث (lawwatha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 464, p. 2839
to pour صب (ṣabba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 160, p. 955
to pour down (of rain) هطل (haṭala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 481, p. 2945
to practise تدرب (tadarraba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 519, p. 3183
to pray صلى (ṣallā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 164, p. 979
to prefer فضل (faḍḍala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 115, p. 683
to prepare حضر (ḥaḍḍara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 225, p. 1345
to press ضغط (ḍaghaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 259, p. 1553
to prevail ساد (sāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 389, p. 2367
to prevent, to forbid منع (mana^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 198, p. 1183
to prey on افترس (iftarasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 476, p. 2913
to print طبع (ṭaba^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 162, p. 967
To print, To copy, To move, To register, To employ
chapter topic; Chapter 162, p. 967

to produce أنتج (antaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 525, p. 3221
to program (a computer) برمج (barmaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 525, p. 3221
to promote رقى (raqqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 521, p. 3197
to propose marriage; to make a speech خطب (khaṭaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 306, p. 1847
to protect; to preserve حافظ (ḥāfaẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 467, p. 2857
to protest احتج (iḥtajja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 382, p. 2325
to prove أثبت (athbata)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 358, p. 2175
to prove impossible تعذر (taᶜadhdhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 407, p. 2481
To publish, To broadcast, To follow, To jump, To press
chapter topic; Chapter 259, p. 1553
to publish, to post نشر (nashara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 259, p. 1553
To pull, To prepare, To repair, To use, To bring
chapter topic; Chapter 225, p. 1345
to pull; to withdraw (money) سحب (saḥaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 225, p. 1345
to punch لكم (lakama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 548, p. 3365
to punish عاقب (ᶜāqaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 348, p. 2109
to put aside (savings) ادخر (iddakhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 527, p. 3233
to put (he put) وضع (waḍaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 59, p. 341
to put on air; to make known أذاع (adhāᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 297, p. 1791
to put up with تحمل (taḥammala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 495, p. 3033
to qualify تأهل (taʾahhala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 547, p. 3359
to quarrel تشاجر (tashājara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 227, p. 1357
to queue, to line up اصطف (iṣṭaffa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 261, p. 1565
to quote اقتبس (iqtabasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 395, p. 2405

to rain أمطر (amṭara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 196, p. 1171
to raise; to lift up رفع (rafa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 462, p. 2825
to ratify صادق (ṣādaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 386, p. 2349
to read up on طالع (ṭāla^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 395, p. 2405
to realize أدرك (adraka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 367, p. 2231
to receive استلم (istalama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 192, p. 1147
to receive guests; to welcome استقبل (istaqbala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 336, p. 2035
to recite (verse); to chant أنشد (anshada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 545, p. 3347
to recommend أوصى (awṣā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 446, p. 2725
to recount, to narrate in order سرد (sarada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 295, p. 1779
to recover تعافى (ta^{c}āfā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 512, p. 3141
to recur تكرر (takarrara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 413, p. 2517
to reduce قلل (qallala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 412, p. 2511
to refer أشار (ashāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 417, p. 2543
to reflect تأمل (ta^{ɔ}ammala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 395, p. 2405
to refuse رفض (rafaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 257, p. 1541
To refuse, To graduate, To be glad, To be afraid, To smile
chapter topic; Chapter 257, p. 1541
to refute فند (fannada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 365, p. 2217
to regain, to get back استعاد (ista^{c}āda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 313, p. 1891
to register, to record سجل (sajjala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 162, p. 967
to regret ندم (nadima)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 493, p. 3021

to relax استرخى (istarkhā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 515, p. 3159
to release, to set free أفرج (afraja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 330, p. 1997
to remember تذكر (tadhakkara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 164, p. 979
to renew جدد (jaddada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 434, p. 2651
to renovate, to restore رمم (rammama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 552, p. 3391
to repair أصلح (aṣlaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 225, p. 1345
to reproach (gently) عاتب (ᶜātaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 493, p. 3021
to require تطلب (taṭallaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 406, p. 2475
to rescue أنقذ (anqadha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 167, p. 997
to reserve; to book حجز (ḥajaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 423, p. 2583
to resign استقال (istaqāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 195, p. 1165
To resign, To manage, To meet, To get lost, To show the way
chapter topic; Chapter 195, p. 1165
to resolve; to settle حسم (ḥasama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 373, p. 2267
to respect احترم (iḥtarama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 258, p. 1547
To respect, To forgive, To lie, To take part, To disagree
chapter topic; Chapter 258, p. 1547
to respond استجاب (istajāba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 420, p. 2561
to rest استراح (istarāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 161, p. 961 to revolt; to flare up ثار (thāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 329, p. 1991
to ride, to get on (a vehicle) ركب (rakiba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 192, p. 1147
To ride, To pay, To save, To receive, To cost
chapter topic; Chapter 192, p. 1147
to ripen; to mature نضج (naḍija)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 531, p. 3259
to rob, to snatch away سلب (salaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 321, p. 1941

to row جدف (jaddafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 430, p. 2625
to rule out استبعد (istabᶜada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 401, p. 2443
to run for office ترشح (tarashshaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 379, p. 2305
to run (he ran) ركض (rakaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 58, p. 335
to run out نفد (nafida)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 462, p. 2825
to sadden أحزن (aḥzana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 498, p. 3053
to sail; to set sail أبحر (abḥara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 429, p. 2619
to save (money) وفر (waffara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 192, p. 1147
to scold وبخ (wabbakha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 534, p. 3277
to scratch حك (ḥakka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 508, p. 3115
to search; to inspect فتش (fattasha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 426, p. 2601
to seek refuge لجأ (lajaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 487, p. 2983
to seize, to grasp قبض (qabaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 317, p. 1917
to sell (he sold) باع (bāᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 59, p. 341
To sell, To give, To put, To open, To close
chapter topic; Chapter 59, p. 341
to send (he sent) أرسل (arsala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 61, p. 353
to serve; to wait on خدم (khadama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 446, p. 2725
to set alight; to light أشعل (ashᶜala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 442, p. 2701
to set off انطلق (inṭalaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 226, p. 1351
To set off, To charge, To apologise, To inform, To agree
chapter topic; Chapter 226, p. 1351
to set to work, to start on باشر (bāshara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 522, p. 3203

to settle down استقر (istaqarra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 332, p. 2009
to sew خاط (khāṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 538, p. 3303
to shake هز (hazza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 199, p. 1189
to shake hands with صافح (ṣāfaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 163, p. 973
to shake out (dust) نفض (nafaḍa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 550, p. 3377
To shake, To bite, To blow, To whisper, To harvest
chapter topic; Chapter 199, p. 1189
to shine; to rise (of the sun) أشرق (ashraqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 485, p. 2969
to shiver ارتعش (irta^{c}asha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 489, p. 2997
to shorten; to cut short اختصر (ikhtaṣara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 462, p. 2825
To shout, To pray, To joke, To believe, To remember
chapter topic; Chapter 164, p. 979
to shout, to scream صرخ (ṣarakha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 164, p. 979
to show the way, to direct دل (dalla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 195, p. 1165
to shrink تقلص (taqallaṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 412, p. 2511
to sigh تنهد (tanahhada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 488, p. 2991
to sing غنى (ghannā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 228, p. 1363
to sit (he sat) جلس (jalasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 57, p. 329
to ski; to skate تزلج (tazallaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 479, p. 2933 to sleep (he slept) نام (nāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 57, p. 329
to slip انزلق (inzalaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 167, p. 997
to slow down; to take one's time تمهل (tamahhala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 445, p. 2719
to smell شم (shamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 194, p. 1159
to smile ابتسم (ibtasama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 257, p. 1541

to smoke tobacco دخن (dakhkhana)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 517, p. 3171
to sneak in, to slip in تسلل (tasallala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 346, p. 2097
to sneeze عطس (ᶜaṭasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 161, p. 961
To sneeze, To breathe, To break, To rest, To feel
chapter topic; Chapter 161, p. 961 to snore شخر (shakhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 515, p. 3159
to sort فرز (faraza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 464, p. 2839
to speak (he spoke) تكلم (takallama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 65, p. 377
To speak, To carry, To win, To go down, Fish
chapter topic; Chapter 65, p. 377
to specify حدد (ḥaddada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 364, p. 2211
to spend money أنفق (anfaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 457, p. 2795
to spend (time) قضى (qaḍā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 156, p. 931
to spread انتشر (intashara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 353, p. 2141
To sprinkle, To knock, To stick, To stir, To wrap
chapter topic; Chapter 260, p. 1559
to sprinkle, to spray رش (rashsha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 260, p. 1559
to spy تجسس (tajassasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 346, p. 2097
to squander; to waste أهدر (ahdara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 467, p. 2857
to stamp; to seal ختم (khatama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 426, p. 2601
to stand by ساند (sānada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 533, p. 3271
to stand up (he stood up) قام (qāma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 58, p. 335
To stand up, To walk, To run, To play, To buy
chapter topic; Chapter 58, p. 335
to steal سرق (saraqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 300, p. 1809
to stem from; to result نتج (nataja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 414, p. 2525

to stick, to glue ألصق (alṣaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 260, p. 1559
to stipulate اشترط (ishtaraṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 404, p. 2461
to stipulate in writing نص (naṣṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 409, p. 2493
to stir, to move (something) حرك (ḥarraka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 260, p. 1559
to stir up; to raise أثار (athāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 361, p. 2193
to stop (he stopped) وقف (waqafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 62, p. 359
to stop someone; to arrest أوقف (awqafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 317, p. 1917
To stop, To look for, To find, To wear, To leave
chapter topic; Chapter 62, p. 359
to strengthen عزز (^{c}azzaza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 418, p. 2549
to stretch out تمدد (tamaddada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 516, p. 3165
to strive سعى (sa^{c}ā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 371, p. 2255
to struggle against كافح (kāfaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 411, p. 2505
to study for ذاكر (dhākara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 392, p. 2387
to submerge; to flood غمر (ghamara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 487, p. 2983
to subscribe; to take part اشترك (ishtaraka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 540, p. 3315
to suffer عانى (^{c}ānā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 381, p. 2317
to suffer damage تضرر (taḍarrara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 460, p. 2813
to suffice كفى (kafā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 406, p. 2475
to suggest اقترح (iqtaraḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 359, p. 2181
to summarize لخص (lakhkhaṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 394, p. 2399
to supervise أشرف (ashrafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 392, p. 2387
to supply; to fill up (with) زود (zawwada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 432, p. 2639

to surrender, to give in استسلم (istaslama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 315, p. 1903
to survive, to escape نجا (najā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 310, p. 1873
to suspect اشتبه (ishtabaha)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 346, p. 2097
to swallow ابتلع (ibtalaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 194, p. 1159
To swallow, To chew, To touch, To smell, To hold
chapter topic; Chapter 194, p. 1159
to swap; to exchange (for another) استبدل (istabdala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 449, p. 2745
to swear أقسم (aqsama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 325, p. 1967
to sweep كنس (kanasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 223, p. 1333
to sweep away جرف (jarafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 487, p. 2983
to swell (up) تورم (tawarrama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 508, p. 3115
to swim (he swam) سبح (sabaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 63, p. 365
to swindle احتال (iḥtāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 351, p. 2129
to swing تأرجح (taʾarjaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 539, p. 3309
to switch off, to put out أطفأ (aṭfaʾa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 160, p. 955
to take a risk خاطر (khāṭara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 343, p. 2079
to take along; to bring along اصطحب (iṣṭaḥaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 439, p. 2683
to take an oath حلف (ḥalafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 325, p. 1967
to take back; to return (something) أرجع (arjaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 458, p. 2801
to take off (clothes) خلع (khalaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 193, p. 1153
To take off, To try, To measure, To bargain, To go shopping
chapter topic; Chapter 193, p. 1153
to take office; to take charge تولى (tawallā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 340, p. 2059

to take part, to share شارك (shāraka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 258, p. 1547
to take place; to fall وقع (waqa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 294, p. 1773
to take pride (in) افتخر (iftakhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 491, p. 3009
to take revenge انتقم (intaqama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 344, p. 2085
to take shelter احتمى (iḥtamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 487, p. 2983
to take sides انحاز (inḥāza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 373, p. 2267
to taste ذاق (dhāqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 160, p. 955
To taste, To pour, To switch off, To fill, To bathe
chapter topic; Chapter 160, p. 955
to tell a story; to cut قص (qaṣṣa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 295, p. 1779
to tell (a story); to relate — the verb for passing a story on حكى (ḥakā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 284, p. 1705
to threaten هدد (haddada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 324, p. 1959
to throw (he threw) رمى (ramā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 63, p. 365
To throw, To fly, To swim, To make, To enter
chapter topic; Chapter 63, p. 365
to tidy, to arrange رتب (rattaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 223, p. 1333
To tidy, To sweep, To iron, To fold, To hang
chapter topic; Chapter 223, p. 1333
to tie ربط (rabaṭa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 229, p. 1369
To tie, To untie, To water, To knead, To wipe
chapter topic; Chapter 229, p. 1369
to tighten; to fasten شد (shadda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 425, p. 2595
to toil كدح (kadaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 522, p. 3203
to tolerate; to allow for احتمل (iḥtamala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 401, p. 2443
to touch لمس (lamasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 194, p. 1159

to tow; to drag جر (jarra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 433, p. 2645
to translate ترجم (tarjama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 256, p. 1535
to travel سافر (sāfara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 159, p. 949
to travel about; to move from place to place تنقل (tanaqqala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 436, p. 2663
to treat (a patient) عالج (ᶜālaja)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 510, p. 3127
to tremble ارتجف (irtajafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 516, p. 3165
To trip, To slip, To rescue, To escape, To disappear
chapter topic; Chapter 167, p. 997
to trip, to stumble تعثر (taᶜaththara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 167, p. 997
to trust وثق (wathiqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 196, p. 1171
to try (on) جرب (jarraba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 193, p. 1153
to turn around استدار (istadāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 435, p. 2657
to turn into, to change تحول (taḥawwala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 344, p. 2085
to turn off; to turn (left or right) انعطف (inᶜaṭafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 431, p. 2633
to ululate for joy زغرد (zaghrada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 306, p. 1847
to uncover, to reveal كشف (kashafa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 312, p. 1885
to unload; to bring down أنزل (anzala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 428, p. 2613
to untie, to undo فك (fakka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 229, p. 1369
to unwind استجم (istajamma)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 536, p. 3291
to uproot اقتلع (iqtalaᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 469, p. 2869
to use استعمل (istaᶜmala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 225, p. 1345
to vacate; to evacuate أخلى (akhlā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 441, p. 2695
to violate انتهك (intahaka)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 388, p. 2361

to visit زار (zāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 255, p. 1529
to volunteer تطوع (taṭawwa^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 519, p. 3183
to vomit, to be sick تقيأ (taqayya^{ɔ}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 507, p. 3109
to vote صوت (ṣawwata)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 378, p. 2299
to wage war; to fight against حارب (ḥāraba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 307, p. 1853
to wait (he waited) انتظر (intaẓara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 64, p. 371
to wake (someone) up أيقظ (ayqaẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 448, p. 2739
to wake up استيقظ (istayqaẓa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 159, p. 949
To wake up, To go up, To arrive, To travel, To cross
chapter topic; Chapter 159, p. 949
to walk (he walked) مشى (mashā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 58, p. 335
to wander around; to tour تجول (tajawwala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 438, p. 2675 to want (he wanted) أراد (arāda)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 61, p. 353
to warn حذر (ḥadhdhara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 324, p. 1959
to wash (he washed) غسل (ghasala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 60, p. 347
to waste time; to lose ضيع (ḍayya^{c}a)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 461, p. 2819
to watch شاهد (shāhada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 228, p. 1363
To watch, To listen, To draw, To sing, To photograph
chapter topic; Chapter 228, p. 1363
to water (plants) سقى (saqā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 229, p. 1369
to weaken أضعف (aḍ^{c}afa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 418, p. 2549
to wean فطم (faṭama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 530, p. 3253
to wear (he wore) لبس (labisa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 62, p. 359

to wear out أرهق (arhaqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 514, p. 3153
to whisper همس (hamasa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 199, p. 1189
to wilt; to wither ذبل (dhabala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 468, p. 2863
to win a victory; to triumph انتصر (intaṣara)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 315, p. 1903
to win (he won) فاز (fāza)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 65, p. 377
to wipe مسح (masaḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 229, p. 1369
to wish تمنى (tamannā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 114, p. 677
to withdraw, to pull out انسحب (insaḥaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 339, p. 2053
to witness; to testify شهد (shahida)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 325, p. 1967
to wonder تساءل (tasāʾala)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 361, p. 2193
to work hard, to strive اجتهد (ijtahada)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 524, p. 3215
to work (he worked) عمل (ᶜamila)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 64, p. 371
to worry قلق (qaliqa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 227, p. 1357
to worsen تفاقم (tafāqama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 413, p. 2517
to wrap, to roll up لف (laffa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 260, p. 1559
to wrestle (with) صارع (ṣāraᶜa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 548, p. 3365
to wrong ظلم (ẓalama)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 411, p. 2505
to yawn تثاءب (tathāʾaba)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 514, p. 3153
together معا (maᶜan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 268, p. 1607
Together, According to, Without, For example, First
chapter topic; Chapter 268, p. 1607
tolerance تسامح (tasāmuḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 422, p. 2575
tolerant, forgiving متسامح (mutasāmiḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 503, p. 3083

tomatoes طماطم (ṭamāṭim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 67, p. 389
Tomatoes, Carrots, Butter, Honey, Grapes
chapter topic; Chapter 67, p. 389
tomorrow غدا (ghadan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 87, p. 511
Tongue, Belly, Leg, Skin, Bone
chapter topic; Chapter 141, p. 841
Tool, To own, To lose, To keep, Talent
chapter topic; Chapter 110, p. 653
tourism سياحة (siyāḥa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 438, p. 2675 towards نحو (naḥwa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 204, p. 1219
Towards, Area, Centre, Capital city, Where
chapter topic; Chapter 204, p. 1219
Town hall and consulate
chapter topic; Chapter 450, p. 2751
trade, commerce تجارة (tijāra)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 253, p. 1517
Trade, Ruler, Pencil sharpener, Chalk, Stapler
chapter topic; Chapter 253, p. 1517
Trades and crafts
chapter topic; Chapter 526, p. 3227
Tradition, Culture, Religion, Prayer, Relationship
chapter topic; Chapter 267, p. 1601 traditional تقليدي (taqlīdī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 180, p. 1075
Traffic
chapter topic; Chapter 431, p. 2633
traffic; passing مرور (murūr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 431, p. 2633
Train, Bridge, Mosque, Hotel, Office
chapter topic; Chapter 92, p. 541
Trainees and volunteers
chapter topic; Chapter 519, p. 3183
training تدريب (tadrīb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 397, p. 2417
Trams and lorries
chapter topic; Chapter 445, p. 2719
transparent شفاف (shaffāf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 212, p. 1267
treatment علاج (ᶜilāj)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 231, p. 1381

Treatment, Prescription, Clinic, Pharmacy, Nurse
chapter topic; Chapter 231, p. 1381
Tricks and lies
chapter topic; Chapter 351, p. 2129
trousers سروال (sirwāl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 94, p. 553
Two at Once
chapter topic; Chapter 38, p. 215

U

ugly قبيح (qabīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 155, p. 925
Under the sea
chapter topic; Chapter 477, p. 2919
Understanding, Reading, Writing
chapter topic; Chapter 31, p. 159
unemployed, out of work عاطل (ᶜāṭil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 522, p. 3203
unemployment بطالة (baṭāla)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 381, p. 2317
University life
chapter topic; Chapter 390, p. 2375
unjust ظالم (ẓālim)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 380, p. 2311
unknown; a stranger مجهول (majhūl)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 343, p. 2079
unless إلا إذا (illā idhā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 399, p. 2431
until إلى أن (ilā an)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 327, p. 1979 untruthful, false كاذب (kādhib)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 499, p. 3059
upbringing تربية (tarbiya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 398, p. 2425
upright, honest نزيه (nazīh)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 499, p. 3059
urgent; breaking news عاجل (ᶜājil)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 355, p. 2153
useful مفيد (mufīd)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 146, p. 871
Useful, Dangerous, Safe, Open, Closed
chapter topic; Chapter 146, p. 871

Usually, Immediately, Later, Date, Moment
chapter topic; Chapter 202, p. 1207
usually, mostly غالبا (ghāliban)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 202, p. 1207

V

Vaccine, Sweat, Wrist, Thumb, Muscle
chapter topic; Chapter 263, p. 1577
vague غامض (ghāmiḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 417, p. 2543
Vain, selfish, cowardly and bold
chapter topic; Chapter 500, p. 3065
very جدا (jiddan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 207, p. 1237
Victory and defeat
chapter topic; Chapter 315, p. 1903
Viewers and listeners
chapter topic; Chapter 356, p. 2159
vinegar خل (khall)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 119, p. 707
violence عنف (ᶜunf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 381, p. 2317
volume; size; bulk حجم (ḥajm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 456, p. 2789

W

Waiter, Manager, Employee, Colleague, Company
chapter topic; Chapter 251, p. 1505
Washing machine, Air conditioner, Tin, Sink, Shelf
chapter topic; Chapter 181, p. 1081 waste; refuse نفايات (nufāyāt)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 464, p. 2839
Water and Bread
chapter topic; Chapter 13, p. 101
water and bread — one of Arabic's most irregular common words, and one built on a clean, ordinary Semitic root ماء خبز (māʾ khubz)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 13, p. 101
weak ضعيف (ḍaᶜīf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 154, p. 919

wealth ثروة (tharwa)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 109, p. 645
Wealth, Experience, Habit, Skill, Art
chapter topic; Chapter 109, p. 645
Weather
chapter topic; Chapter 18, p. 117
weather — the SAME root also gives "rite, religious ceremony"; hot/cold are verbless adjectives, but rain gets its own personal verb الطقس (aṭ-ṭaqs)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 18, p. 117
weekly أسبوعي (usbūʿī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 203, p. 1213
weight وزن (wazn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 218, p. 1303
welcome أَهْلًا (ahlan)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
well-being رفاهية (rafāhiyya)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 408, p. 2487
well, fine — literally 'in goodness' بخير (bi-khayr)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 3, p. 41
west غرب (gharb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 104, p. 615
wet مبلل (muballal)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 151, p. 901
what ما (mā)
explicit focus: script, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
What I Think, And So
chapter topic; Chapter 285, p. 1713
What it takes
chapter topic; Chapter 406, p. 2475
What matters
chapter topic; Chapter 368, p. 2237
what's your name? ما اسمك؟ (mā ismuka)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
whatever مهما (mahmā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 400, p. 2437
Whatever and wherever
chapter topic; Chapter 400, p. 2437
wheat قمح (qamḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 128, p. 761
When buildings fall
chapter topic; Chapter 316, p. 1909

when — the clause joiner that puts one event beside another in time, with the same ما inside it the last chapter taught twice حينما (ḥīnamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 40, p. 231
When things break
chapter topic; Chapter 460, p. 2813
whenever كلما (kullamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 400, p. 2437
where أين (ayna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 204, p. 1219
wherever أينما (aynamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 400, p. 2437
whether سواء (sawāʾ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 400, p. 2437
while, whereas بينما (baynamā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 176, p. 1051
Why, That, and When
chapter topic; Chapter 40, p. 231
why — the question this book has never been able to ask, built out of the preposition لـ and the word for "what" لماذا؟ (limādhā?)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 40, p. 231
wide عريض (ʿarīḍ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 150, p. 895
wild بري (barrī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 242, p. 1451
Wild animals
chapter topic; Chapter 475, p. 2907
Wills and inheritance
chapter topic; Chapter 337, p. 2041
wind ريح (rīḥ)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 78, p. 457
Wind and storms
chapter topic; Chapter 482, p. 2951
Winning and prizes
chapter topic; Chapter 547, p. 3359
wise حكيم (ḥakīm)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 501, p. 3071
Wise, skilled and sure
chapter topic; Chapter 501, p. 3071
with مع (maʿa)
explicit focus: usage and culture; Chapter 4, p. 57
with, in one's possession لدى (ladā)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 108, p. 639

without بدون (bidūn)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 268, p. 1607
Witnesses and oaths
chapter topic; Chapter 325, p. 1967
wood خشب (khashab)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 219, p. 1309
wool صوف (ṣūf)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 214, p. 1279
Word, Picture, Tree, Flower, Mountain
chapter topic; Chapter 75, p. 439
working hours; office hours دوام (dawām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 450, p. 2751
Working together
chapter topic; Chapter 386, p. 2349
Worn out
chapter topic; Chapter 514, p. 3153
Would, And Six Lines About A Trip
chapter topic; Chapter 292, p. 1759
wreckage, debris حطام (ḥuṭām)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 354, p. 2147
Writing — Four Lines, And The Joiner That Is Not A Word
chapter topic; Chapter 45, p. 253
Writing — My Own Line
chapter topic; Chapter 43, p. 249
Writing — With A Clock
chapter topic; Chapter 44, p. 251

X

X-rays; rays أشعة (ashi^{cc}a) explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 510, p. 3127

Y

yearly, annual سنوي (sanawī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 234, p. 1401
Yearly, Late morning, Soon, Alarm clock, Calendar
chapter topic; Chapter 234, p. 1401
Yes and No
chapter topic; Chapter 5, p. 73
yes (na^{c}am) نعم (na^{c}am)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 5, p. 73

yesterday أمس (ams)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 87, p. 511
Yesterday, Tomorrow, Now, Sometimes, Before
chapter topic; Chapter 87, p. 511
yet; but إلا أن (illā anna)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 375, p. 2281
yoghurt زبادي (zabādī)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 244, p. 1463
Yoghurt, Peaches, Pears, Pineapple, Almonds
chapter topic; Chapter 244, p. 1463
you (anta m. / anti f.) أنت (anta / anti) explicit focus: script, grammar, etymology; Chapter 2, p. 21
You're Welcome
chapter topic; Chapter 23, p. 131
"you're welcome" (also "excuse me/pardon/sorry," depending on context) — root ᶜ-f-w, "to erase, to pardon"; grammatically the same construction as shukran itself عفوا (ᶜafwan)
explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 23, p. 131
young شاب (shābb)
explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 154, p. 919

Other

ء and أ — the glottal catch
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 2, p. 21 آ (alif madda) — the alif that opens آسف
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 48, p. 271
إ (alif with hamza below) — the alif that opens إلى
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 47, p. 263
ا and م — finish سلام without a cliff
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 1, p. 1 أن أتمنى (atamannā an) — I hope to
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 289, p. 1743 إذا (idhā) — if
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 291, p. 1755
أمطرت إذا (idhā amṭarat) — if it rains
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 291, p. 1755
مستقيما اذهب (idhhab mustaqīman) — go straight on
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 287, p. 1729
أن أعتقد (aᶜtaqidu anna) — I think that
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 285, p. 1713

من أكبر (akbar min) — bigger than
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 290, p. 1749

أكتب (aktub) — the tense that was missing
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 37, p. 211

أنّ (anna) — that
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 40, p. 231

أذهب أن (an adhhaba) — to go: the verb after an
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 286, p. 1721

أولا، ثم بعد ذلك (awwalan, thumma, baᶜda dhālika) — first, then, after that
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 284, p. 1705

ث ت ب — one bowl, three dot choices
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 1, p. 1

بسبب (bi-sabab) — because of
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 286, p. 1721

ح، خ ج — the dots trick, on a brand-new body
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 3, p. 41

خير and بخير — writing "good," and how you say you're well
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 3, p. 41

د (dāl) — the letter that ends الحمد
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 46, p. 257

ذ (dhāl) — the letter that opens ذهب
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 49, p. 279

ر and ح — two shapes inside marḥaban
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 1, p. 1

ز (zāy) — the letter inside أزرق
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 48, p. 271

س and ل — recall one shape, add one
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 1, p. 1

سوف (sawfa) — will, for a plan
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 286, p. 1721

ش (shīn) — the letter that opens شكرا
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 46, p. 257

ص (ṣād) — the letter that opens صباح
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 46, p. 257

ض (ḍād) — the letter inside فضلك
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 48, p. 271

ط (ṭāʾ) — the letter that opens طعام
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 49, p. 279

ظ (ẓāʾ) — the letter inside الظهر
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 49, p. 279

ع and ي — open ᶜalaykum gently
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 1, p. 1

ع (ᶜayn) — the eye that became an O
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 4, p. 57
عندما (ᶜindamā) — when, in a story
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 284, p. 1705
غ (ghayn) — the letter inside الغد
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 48, p. 271
ف (fāʾ) — the letter inside عفوا
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 47, p. 263
فاتني القطار (fātanī al-qiṭār) — I missed the train
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 288, p. 1735
ق (qāf) — the letter inside اللقاء
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 47, p. 263
ك and ر — an angular k, and an r that won't hold hands
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 3, p. 41
ك and و — complete the greeting after the sound
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 1, p. 1 كان يكتب (kāna yaktubu) — the past that is still running
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 283, p. 1697
كتبت (katabtu) — the past, person by person
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 283, p. 1697
كنت سعيدا (kuntu saᶜīdan) — I was happy
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 289, p. 1743
لا ... ولا ... — neither, nor
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 39, p. 223 لذلك، فـ (li-dhālika, fa-) — so
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 285, p. 1713
لو (law) — if it were so
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 292, p. 1759
ما (mā) — did not
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar, etymology; Chapter 39, p. 223 مع السلامة — the goodbye, and a word you already know
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 4, p. 57 منذ ثلاث سنوات (mundhu thalāth sanawāt) — for three years
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 290, p. 1749
ن، ت، ث — one bowl, four dot-patterns
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 2, p. 21 ه and ة — the loop, and the ending that means "feminine"
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 4, p. 57 هل (hal) — a question is coming
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 39, p. 223
ؤ (hamza on waw) — the catch inside سؤال
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 285, p. 1713 ى (alif maqṣūra) — the letter that ends إلى
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 47, p. 263

ئ (hamza on yāʾ) — the catch inside طائرة
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script, writing; Chapter 288, p. 1735
ي (yāʾ) — the last dot-letter, and "my name"
script and writing topic; explicit focus: script; Chapter 2, p. 21 يا (yā) — calling somebody grammar topic; explicit focus: etymology; Chapter 41, p. 239 أن يجب (yajibu an) — must, should
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 286, p. 1721 على يعتمد (yaᶜtamidu ᶜalā) — it depends on
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 292, p. 1759
يكتب (yaktubu) — the present, for everyone
grammar topic; explicit focus: grammar; Chapter 283, p. 1697